PM Flies Through Cold For Japan's Warm Hello

By GRAHAM TROTTER

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker had a brief acquaintance with wintry weather when he stopped here today en route to Japan.

The ground was covered with snow and the temperature was 22 degrees in a bone-chilling wind as the prime minister reviewed a guard of honor of American servicemen drawn up at nearby Elmendorf Air Base. A booming 19 - gun salute greeted him.

The prime minister arrived at 1:30 p.m. anchorage time (7:30 p.m. EDT) aboard an RCAF Cosmopolitan turbo - prop aircraft, pressed into service after the air force Comet jet in which he left Ottawa Tuesday ran into undercarriage trouble and had to return to Vancouver an hour after takeoff.

Waiting at Anchorage to fly him to Shemya in the Aleutian Islands was the RCAF's luxury C-5 transport, diverted here from Whitehorse, Yukon. It was hoped that the Comet jet could be repaired in time to pick him up again at Shemya for the last leg of his flight across the North Pacific to Tokyo.

The prime minister, after leaving Anchorage at 4 p.m., planned to stay over at Shemya for approximately seven hours so as to arrive in Tokyo at 8 a.m. Friday to open his sttae visit to Japan that ends Oct. 31.

VANCOUVER (CP) — A red light flashed Wednesday on the instrument panel of an RCAF Comet jet carrying Prime Minister Diefenbaker on a state visit to Japan.

The warning light gave the first indication that an undercarriage door had failed to close after takeoff from Vancouver international airport.

Although there was no immediate danger, the incident forced the Comet crew and airport personnel to take crash landing precautions.

Crash trucks and ambulance crews lined the runway while the four-engined jet landed safely, one hour after the first takeoff.

Ninety minutes later, Mr. and Mrs. Diefenbaker and their party resumed the trip in an RCAF twin-engined Cosmopolitan turboprop.

TOKYO (AP) — Two major Japanese newspapers warmly welcome the coming visit of Canadian Prime Minister Diefenbaker.

The mass circulation Yomiuri says in an editorial: "We welcome him heartily—not only because of our close ties with Canada, but also because of what we have in common."

Yomiuri says Japanese and Canadian common interest is to increase trade with Communist China while maintaining close relations with the United States.

The financial newspaper Nihon Keizai Shimbun says in its editorial: "We heartily welcome his visit and ardently hope that our two countries can try to further reinforce their co-operative relations."

The prime minister is due for a big welcome at Tokyo international airport including an honor guard inspection. Japanese Premier Hayato Ikeda will head Japanese and foreign dignitaries at the reception.

LUNCH WITH EMPEROR

Diefenbaker and his wife will also meet and lunch with Emperor Hirohito and Empress Nagako at the imperial palace Friday.

Green, World Leader, Not Senate Benchwarmer

VANCOUVER (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker said at a press conference here Tuesday night that External Affairs Minister Green has become one of the world's leaders as a result of his fight for peace in the United Nations.

When reporters asked the prime minister about a report that Mr. Green would be appointed to the Senate, to be replaced by Justice Minister Fulton as external affairs minister, Mr. Diefenbaker said:

"Mr. Green — and I want to make this clear — enjoys my entire trust, and there is no intention whatsoever to make any change in that regard."

Due to an error in transmission, The Canadian Press in its account of the press conference reported erroneously that Mr. Diefenbaker said Mr. Green would be appointed to the Senate and Mr. Fulton would replace him.

Powers Must Agree on Peace

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko said Wednesday he and U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk agreed at their recent talks in New York and Washington that the two countries should find a way to make war impossible.

Gromyko, speaking to the Soviet Communist party congress, offered a new olive branch to the West by saying that his country would seek to take into consideration the Western point of view at the negotiating table if the West really seeks understanding.

In a speech that in tone and place appeared to be a major policy statement, Gromyko declared that President Kennedy and Premier Khrushchev "must be presidents in a period in which war becomes impossible."

It was Gromyko's first official declaration on the discussions in New York and Washington. The 5,000 delegates in the new Kremlin Congress Hall applauded him repeatedly.

He added that Russia is doing everything possible to achieve an understanding with the Western Allies.

Gromyko spoke to the Soviet Communist party congress as it finished its eighth day with new attacks on the Soviet anti-party group and Albanian Communist leaders, who disapprove of Soviet party policy.

U.S. Can't Find Copper Needle Sky Blanket

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Air Force can't find the 350,000,000 copper needles it thought it had released into space from an orbiting satellite.

It announced Wednesday night that its Lincoln Laboratories, in charge of "project west ford," reported that no radar contact has yet been established with the mass of minute needles, called dipoles.

While this was discouraging to those conducting the test, it was happy news for astronomers and others who had protested that the orbiting blanket of hair-like needles might interfere with their studies.

The idea is to use the blanket of needles for bouncing radio signals back to earth.

The air force announcement said:

"A continuing radar search is being made for the dipole fibres."

A Midas sattelite carried a load of the dipoles aloft last Saturday in a launching from Point Arguello, Calif.

RCMP Use Writs Too Generously Says Diefenbaker

VANCOUVER (CP) — Prime Minister Diefenbaker said Tuesday writs of assistance have been used too generously by the RCMP as a substitute for search warrants.

It would be up to the courts to decide whether the writs violate Canada's new Bill of Rights, he said in an interview during a stopover here while en route to Japan.

The prime minister said the writs of assistance, issued by the federal Exchequer Court, have been widely used in connection with the search for illicit liquor.

"The writ enables the individual who has it to make a search and carry on as though he had a particular search warrant designed for an individual purpose," he said.

"When I was a member of the bar (4½ years ago) there were occasions when I said the writs had been used rather too generously," Mr. Diefenbaker said.

TAKING THE CURE—Handcuffed, former child star Bobby Driscoll, 24, who won a special Oscar in 1949, leaves Los Angeles County Jail for the state narcotics rehabilitation center at Chino. A check charge got him in trouble, another in a series of arrests dating back seven years. He must spend at least six months taking the narcotics cure.

Fiancee's Death Drives Lover To Suicide

GRAND FORKS — A broken heart brought on by the death of his fiancee drove a 23-year-old Prince George man to suicide here Monday. His fiancee died after being struck by a car here Oct. 1.

Dead is Donald Morris, who worked in Grand Forks prior to moving to Prince George, where he was assistant engineer for the city.

Morris was found dead of a gunshot wound in his car at Grand Forks at 8:45 p.m. Monday. RCMP said a suicide note indicated he felt no desire to live without his fiancee, 20-year-old Greta Hermackin of Grand Forks, who was killed two miles east of the city.

Morris requested that he be buried next to Miss Hermackin in the Doukhobor cemetery just outside of the Boundary city.

John J. Verigin, spiritual leader of Orthodox Doukhobors, said Wednesday night that Morris will be buried there. He stated that, "Although unusual, it is not the first case of a non-Doukhobor being buried in a Doukhobor cemetery. Our people are very understanding in such matters," Mr. Verigin said.

An inquiry held earlier found that Morris died by his own hand by means of a gunshot.

World Political Committee Approves "Stop Bomb" Bill

Overrides Soviet Bloc, Cuba Protest

UNITED NATIONS (CP)—A resolution urging the Soviet Union to cancel a 50-megaton H-bomb blast was pushed through the UN political committee Wednesday night over bitter Soviet opposition.

By a vote of 75 to 10 with one abstention the committee approved an eight-nation resolution recommending that the UN General Assembly confront Moscow with a solemn appeal to refrain from testing the big bomb scheduled before the end of this month.

Only the Soviet bloc and Cuba voted against the appeal. Mali abstained.

The action capped a day in which the Soviet bloc—aided by some Afro-Asian nations—tried desperately to plunge the committee into procedural wrangles that would delay action.

But committee chairman Mario Amadeo of Argentina, a skilful lawyer-diplomat, guided the committee to the voting stage despite repeated attacks from the Communist bloc.

TACTICS REBUFFED

The Soviet bloc countries were rebuffed in two last-minute attempts to avert a vote. The first tried to have the committee adjourned, and then to prevent a closure of debate which paved the way for an immediate vote.

The General Assembly will meet this morning. Denmark proposed arrangements be made to get quick ratification of the committee action at that time.

The course of the debate the Soviet Union indicated it would reject any appeal to call off the 50-megaton blast. It declared manoeuvres by NATO nations would not deter the Soviet Union from perfecting its defensive capabilities.

At a morning session the committee choked off a Soviet-led filibuster and voted to set aside general nuclear debate to consider the resolution requesting Moscow to cancel the test.

Arthur Dean, U.S. delegate, said the U.S. still believes the most effective way to settle the nuclear test issue is by a treaty providing effective controls. But he said the United States would support the resolution.

Semyon Tsarapkin, the Soviet delegate said countries supporting the resolution are military allies of the United States who remained silent during U.S. tests in the atmosphere.

Sir Michael Wright, the British delegate, charged the Soviet Union with betraying its partners in the nuclear test ban negotiations.

He asserted that the current Soviet test series is putting the health and future of the peoples of the world in deadly peril.

Supporters of the appeal sought to push the resolution through committee and then get full assembly ratification before Oct. 30 or 31—the dates mentioned by Soviet Premier Khrushchev for testing the huge bomb. The Russians have already set off at least a 30-megaton bomb in its current test series.

Leforte to Hang For Girl's Death

VANCOUVER (CP) — Louis Leforte, convicted of murder in the beating death of a two-year-old girl at Prince Rupert earlier this year, will be hanged Nov. 14.

The date was set in B.C. Supreme Court Wednesday by Mr. Justice Harry Maclean following a decision by the Supreme Court of Canada which reversed a decision by the B.C. Court of Appeal granting Leforte a new trial.

Tina Marcelle McKay died following what medical evidence at the Prince Rupert trial described as a "severe beating."

NDP Launches Trade Union Campaign

OTTAWA (CP) — The New Democratic Party will soon launch a country-wide campaign to sign up trade union locals behind the party political program.

Party officials said Wednesday that application forms — in triplicate — are to be mailed out to union locals early next week, with full instructions on how to affiliate formally with the new party, founded this summer by the CCF and the Canadian Labor Congress.

About 6,000 individual locals of unions affiliated with the CLC in Canada will receive the application forms. Their total membership is more than 1,150,000 workers.

HOLIDAY FOR CIVIL SERVANTS

VICTORIA (CP) — The cabinet Tuesday gave civil servants a special holiday to make up for Dominion Day, which fell on a Saturday this year.

Jan. 2. has been set aside for the holiday and an order-in-council said if Dominion Day again falls on a Saturday civil servants will be given the following Monday off.

LOADED SHOTGUN

KAMLOOPS (CP) — Game branch inspector Len Smith says too many hunters are breaking the law by carrying loaded rifles and shotguns in their cars. He said 74 loaded firearms have been found in vehicles in the area this hunting season. One was a teenager, among four persons riding in the front seat of a truck, holding a loaded shotgun.

Knife, Blood, Half-Dragged Mother, Sisters Testify

WALKERTON, Ont. (CP)—Two attractive young sisters recalled in a murder trial court here Wednesday the nightmarish events surrounding the disappearance of their mother nine years ago.

Margaret Kendall Bell, now 20, and her sister Anne Kendall, 18, testified as Crown Witnesses at the Ontario Supreme Court trial of their father for capital murder. Arthur J. Kendall, 50, is accused of murdering his wife Helen, who vanished without trace Aug. 2, 1952, while she and her husband were living with their five children in a Bruce Peninsula cabin.

Kendall's dark - haired daughters, their voices almost a whisper at times in the hushed courtroom, recounted how as children they heard a night - time "commotion" between their parents, saw their father half-drag their mother outdoors and watched him dispose of a bloody butcher knife and bedclothes.

Anne, then nine years old, said the last words she heard her mother utter were "Arthur, please don't."

Margaret, 11 at the time, said she and her sister were awakened by a "commotion" in the early morning of Aug. 2, 1952, as they slept together above their parents in a double bunk.

WATCHED FATHER

Huddled together on their bed, under parental instructions never to make a noise or get up until called, the girls said, they silently watched their father place a bloody knife on a table, half - drag their mother out of the door of the one-room cabin, then return to take away the knife, strip his bed and wipe up a bloodstain on the floor.

Their father instructed them to tell anyone who might ask that their mother left home two days earlier. They said they followed the instructions until early this year, although questioned by police several times following their mother's disappearance.

Anne Kendall, who now lives in Brantford, said she decided to tell police everything she knew last January in the hope of recovering her mother's body to give her a decent burial.

Katanga, UN Trade Prisoners

ELISABETHVILLE (AP) — Katanga province and the United Nations exchanged prisoners Wednesday night, marking an end to the armed conflict between secessionist Katanga and the UN.

The government of President Moise Tshombe handed over the 190 prisoners — mainly Irish — captured in last month's fighting. UN forces had moved them to disarm foreign officers serving in Katanga. The action amounted to an attempt to bring the province back under control of the central Congo government in Leopoldville.

The UN returned some 250 Katangans, 45 of them here and the rest in other cities in Katanga. At the same time UN forces withdrew from the Elisabethville post office and other strongpoints held during the fighting.

No Cause for Fallout Worry In Canada

OTTAWA (CP)—Dr. A. H. Zimmerman, chairman of the Defence Research Board, said Wednesday there is no real cause for worry in Canada over fallout from current Russian nuclear tests even if the Soviet Union sets off a 50-megaton bomb.

Dr. Zimmerman said the fallout from the current Soviet series still was not as high as from the United States tests in 1958.

He said there has been a "terrible hullabaloo" about fallout.

"I don't want to gloss over the seriousness of the matter but as yet there is no real cause for worry in Canada," Dr. Zimmerman said in an interview.

"I am not alarmed personally," Canada's chief defence scientist said.

He said all radioactive fallout is "bad" and the situation could become worse if testing continued for a long time.

"But fallout has not yet reached levels where there is need to worry," he said.

Reds AM Claim "Ridiculous" Says Scientist

WASHINGTON (CP) — Dr. Ralph E. Lapp, a United States nuclear scientist who helped develop the first atom bomb, dismissed as "ridiculous" Wednesday Russian claims that it has developed a defence against intercontinental ballistic missiles.

"The Russians have not yet detonated any large nuclear device in space and I believe they must first do this before they can make any claim to an anti-missile missile," Lapp said in an interview.

"All the Russian explosions in their current series have been in the atmosphere. I am convinced they will have to try a space shot if they are to make any progress on an anti-missile missile.

"Even having done this, they will encounter a large number of difficulties including solutions to striking engineering problems in order to develop point - to - point defence," Lapp said.

"In my opinion there has been no significant breakthrough on either side," said the 44-year-old Lapp.

Tear Gas, Noise Bombs Disperse Trujillo Rioters

CIUDAD TRUJILLO (AP) — Police used clubs, tear gas and noise bombs Wednesday to break up a rioting crowd in Santiago, the Dominican Republic's second city. A number of persons were injured but no deaths were reported About 50 were arrested.

The violence erupted following funeral services for a victim of rioting last Friday in Ciudad Trujillo, Jose Cerda, 27. He was one of four persons reported slain in fighting that day between police and anti-government rioters.

Santiago had been partly paralyzed for three days, during a mourning period decreed by political opposition to the Dominican government for those who fell in Friday's fighting.

CIUDAD TRUJILLO (AP) — The government acknowledged Wednesday night that two members of the Trujillo dynasty — both generals and one an ex-president — left the country Wednesday to live in exile.

Hours before the announcement a Trujillo family yacht arrived in Bermuda, apparently to await the expected arrival of members of the family there.

VANCOUVER (CP) —Council Tuesday killed a new bid for a Sunday movie plebiscite. Members voted to take no action on a request by the British Columbia Exhibitors' Association which represents the theatre operators.

Security Council Deadlock Over Outer Mongolia Ends

UNITED NATIONS (CP)—The Security Council approved UN membership for Outer Mongolia and Mauritania Wednesday, breaking a deadlock that had endangered Nationalist China's seat in the United Nations.

Nationalist China had threatened to veto Outer Mongolia. In turn, the Soviet Union threatened to veto Mauritania. But both lifted their veto threats, sending the membership applications of the two small countries to the General Assembly, where final approval is assured. They will become the 102nd and 103rd UN members.

The package deal was concluded after weeks of backstage manoeuvring and appeals that reached to President Kennedy, who urged President Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalists not to jeopardize their UN seat by vetoing Outer Mongolia as they did in 1955. The Nationalists claim Mongolia is only a Communist puppet state and rightfully belongs to China.

STARTED BY U.S.S.R.

The deadlock was set up by the Soviet Union, which vetoed Mauritania last December and threatened to do so again unless the Mongolians were admitted.

CHAMBER MEETING

MONTREAL (CP) — The 1962 annual meeting of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce will be held Oct. 17-18-19 in Vancouver, it was announced Wednesday.

Succeeds Frost

London Lawyer Heads Ontario Progressive Conservative Party

TORONTO (CP)—John P. Robarts, 44-year-old London lawyer, Wednesday night was elected leader of the Ontario Progressive Conservative party in a fight that went right to the sixth and final ballot.

Mr. Robarts was presented to the 4,000 cheering delegates and public in Varsity Arena by Premier Leslie Frost—whose leadership mantle he now wears—who shouted:

"Here is your leader and next prime minister of Ontario."

Mr. Frost, mobbed by reporters to comment on a report that he might resign the premiership early next week, said:

"That is a matter I will have to discuss with him. The transition from one administration to another is not a matter of three days—more a matter of 10 days or so."

The leadership contest — in which seven candidates took the field—became a two-way fight right from the first ballot between Mr. Robarts, education minister in the Frost cabinet, and Attorney - General Kelso Roberts.

A total of 1,717 delegates were eligible to vote originally but many dropped out during the six-hour marathon balloting.

Mr. Robarts' winning total was 976 votes to 633 for the attorney-general.

In his acceptance speech, Mr. Robarts said:

"We have made a real connection with the grass roots of our party. This is probably the finest preparation for a general election we have ever seen."

UBC To Close Doors Slightly With Stiffer Entrance Exams

VANCOUVER (CP) — Stiffer entrance examinations will be introduced at the University of British Columbia next term.

University president Dr. Norman MacKenzie said Wednesday the new regulations will take effect at the start of the 1962-'63 term.

He said too many students are entering with minimum requirements and are unable to handle the work.

Under the new ruling, students who have to write supplementary high school examinations in August will not be allowed into UBC the following September.

Students who take senior matriculation the equivalent of first year university at high school will not be admitted unless they pass at least three of five subjects at June exams conducted by the department of education.

In the case of students from outside B.C., entry will be granted only if they have senior matriculation and if they meet entrance requirements in their own country or province.

If senior matriculation is not offered in their province, consideration will be given to entry with junior matriculation or other qualifications.

Dr. MacKenzie said surveys have shown that of students who have to write supplementals and pass, about 85 per cent fail their first year at university and less than two per cent pass all subjects.

Salmo Boys' Fund at Halfway Mark

A benefit fund drive for two boys injured by a dynamite cap explosion has reached half way toward its goal of $1,000.

Sponsored by the Salmo Shrine Club, the fund is to provide artificial body parts for Wayne Boychuk and Greg Fisher, injured Sept. 23 when dynamite caps blew up in their hands. The 13-year-old boys each lost an eye and young Fisher lost a hand and arm and is still in Vancouver General Hospital. Boychuk is home, but will have to return to hospital soon.

Started last week, the drive has been described as "very satisfying" by a Shrine spokesman.

Park Improvements Planned for 1962

Nelson's parks will receive a face-lifting, the Recreation Commission decided at a meeting Wednesday night.

At the request of Ald. J. S. M. Harts, who was representing the parks committee of city council, the commission decided to obtain facts and figures on improving recreation facilities in all city parks, and particularly Uphill, Gyro and Queen Elizabeth parks.

It was the opinion of the meeting that their decision should go before the people in the same by-law asking replacement of the arena floor in the Civic Centre. The floor is 27 years old and is in such a state that Civic officials fear the possibility of a damage suit.

The commission authorized supervisor of recreation Fred Boates to obtain all necessary data pertaining to city parks.

Ald. Harts requested the commission to "get the ball rolling so our parks will not be in the same condition next year." Improving facilities in city parks will be dealt with by the Recreation Commission and the Parks Committee.

R. A. Munro suggested obtaining the services of a professional consultant to survey the needs of Nelson's recreational parks. Once the work is completed properly little maintenance cost would be incurred, Mr. Munro stated.

Over 60 Seek Missing Hunter

CASCADE — Over 60 men joined in the search Wednesday for 62-year-old Edward Hartford of Christina Lake, lost since Sunday near here, but found no trace of the missing hunter.

Searchers are still being hampered by snow and the RCMP tracking dog "Stoney" has been taken from the scene.

Employess of Sandner Bros. sawmill and P. F. Law Construction formed part of the search party Wednesday. Residents of the United States also searched their side of the border in the area where Hartford is believed to be.

The immediate area in which Hartford was hunting has been searched, thoroughly, RCMP report.

Hartford is a married man and has a family.

A larger crew is expected to join in the search today, some coming from Rossland and Trail areas.

Peanut Drive Successful

Gross proceeds from the Kiwanis peanut drive was not 'peanuts' with 200 Hallowe'en packages sold Wednesday night, to bring the three-day total to over $1,000.

The sale is staged annually to raise funds for Kiwanis charities, notably a senior citizens' villa adopted by the club as its top project.

Most of the club's members participated in the house-to-house canvass the last three nights. A thorough canvass was made of the city and fringe areas with results not yet complete, club officials said.

Lorne Grummett Wins Trophy

A former Brilliant boy, Pvt. Lorne H. Grummett, has been awarded a trophy for being tops in the Drum and Bugle Corps of the U.S. Army Signal School Regiment at Fort Monmouth, N.J.

Private Grummett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Grummett of Brilliant, formerly well known Nelson residents, was a student in the department of specialist training of the school, but is now in El Paso, Texas.

Members of the bugle corps are selected for their musical ability, marching proficiency, military bearing and appearance. They form part of the school's ceremonial unit and undergo a tough training schedule.

Few finish the three-week try-out period required prior to acceptance into the unit. In off-duty time, the men are occupied in endless drill sessions and countless weekends spent in preparation for honor guard ceremonies, garrison reviews and off-post parades.

Home Nursing Favored For Salmo

SALMO — A meeting of village commissioners Tuesday night voted unanimously in favor of establishing a home nursing program for the village. Dr. A. S. Arneil of the Selkirk Health Unit and Mrs. K. Marshall, senior public health nurse, of Nelson attended the meeting.

The cost to residents of Salmo will be 10 cents per annum.

It is expected that the home nursing care service will go into effect in six weeks time.

One public health nurse will operate the program at the present time while a relief nurse will be on duty weekends and holidays.

Such a program is already in existence in Nelson and on the North Shore as far as Queen's Bay. An area from Nelson to South Slocan is under processing. There are 15 home nursing cases on the books and one of these, in Nelson, requires a daily visit.

Skiing Film Enjoyed Here

Studies on the art of deep powder skiing and breathtaking Gelaendesprungs were featured in the film "Deep Powder and Steep Rock" at the Capitol Tuesday night.

Set in the beautiful Canadian Rockies around the Banff and Lake Louise areas, the film was presented by the noted guide, photographer and ski mountaineer, Hans Gmoser. The film was narrated by Gmoser in person. It was sponsored by the Silver King Ski Club of Nelson.

Opening scenes showed the powder conditions around Alta, Utah, perhaps the best known powder snow ski area in North America.

Most of the film, however, centered around the mountain peaks of Banff and Lake Louise, just now coming into their own as excellent powder ski areas.

For over four weeks, Gmoser followed Jim McConkey and Ted Johnston and a few friends, literally from peak to peak. Framed by spectacular mountain scenery, the camera recorded a cross country tour to Mounts Assiniboine and Athabaska and slow motion sequences in powder skiing.

Skiing in isolated areas presents problems such as grizzly bears interrupting the sport. After a few days of dodging the animal the group managed to cage him and continue with the snow and slopes.

A highlight came when Rodney Hurich, of Alta, Utah attempted a backward somersault, high on a steep ridge of Mt. Athabaska. Unable to gain enough height, he landed on his head and ski tips and tumbled down the steep mountain side. The result — four cracked ribs and a spectacular movie sequence.

Part two of the 90-minute film, Gmoser and three others attempted the first ascent of the south face of Mt. Louis, a 2000-foot near vertical rock cliff in the Canadian Rockies.

Lions Raise $1300 in Drive

Things look bright for Lions Club charities after the club raised $1300 in their recent light bulb campaign.

Of this $550 is slated for Lions' charities, according to President Ross Mark. The amount was raised in just two nights.

The club held their "Good Fun Night" Tuesday night at the Nelson Hotel. They also entertained their little league ball team.

Lab, Dietetic Consulting New Hospital Services

The renewal of the regional pathologist service in early November is looked forward to by Kootenay Lake General Hospital, it was reported at the October directors' meeting.

Dr. J. C. Gnass, newly-arrived member of the Trail-Tadanac Hospital medical staff, is expected to visit the hospital here soon to consult with doctors and administration.

The new specialist is successor to Dr. Lawrence Duggan, now in the East, who formerly provided the service for hospitals at Rossland, Trail, Castlegar and Nelson.

A pathologist service encompasses reporting on examination of all tissue from surgical operations, supervision and standardization of laboratory practices, consultation, and some participation in medical conference and educational programs. Tissue service has been provided through St. Paul's Hospital laboratories, Vancouver, pending the arrival of the new regional pathologist. Dr. Gnass, since coming from overseas, has been at New York, Ottawa and Winnipeg.

Another service inaugurated for patients, doctors and nursing service is that of a consulting dietitian. Since the former hospital dietitian, Mrs. H. A. Sproule, joined the teaching staff of Nelson Junior High School, arrangements have been made for an advice program to assure food education for patients requiring it, such as diabetics, and conference with doctors and patient care staffs. Hospital dietitians are in short supply, and a number of B.C. institutions are seeking staff members. The hospital was fortunate to be able to arrange maintenance of the professional aspect of the service until a new appointment is arranged, Board members commented.

TO RETIRE

An employee of 14 years standing, Edward J. Boyes will retire from the orderly staff in November. Mr. Boyes, a well known Nelsonite completing his tenure November 6, is the second to retire here since a superannuation program was introduced to B.C. Hospitals July, 1960.

September, with only 1909 patient days, provided the least revenue in any month of 1961, according to Finance Chairman T. C. Lambert's report. It was evident the hospital, built with an unoccupied fourth floor to provide for the demands of a decade or more ahead, required more beds in operation.

The Board had been encouraged to probe further the development of a rehabilitative service for the chronically ill, by the reports of the Minister and Deputy Minister of Health at the B.C. Hospitals Association conference last week, delegate J. H. Coventry said. The Board vice-chairman advised government thinking that a 30-bed unit was a minimum for such a service had been revised. Ten and 12 bed units were regarded as practical in complementing an acute general hospital operation. A committee, chaired by a medical staff member, is carrying on a continuing study of the proposal here.

Over 700 delegates from over 80 public and private hospitals and auxiliaries attended the conference. Trail, Nelson and Rossland hospital of this region will continue to have two voting delegates under a new constitution adopted; other West Kootenay hospitals will have one each. Bed capacity determines the number of delegates. Bylaws revision committee chairman had been W. C. Nicholson of Kimberley, who had won commendation for an excellent job.

Job evaluation study, to be carried out jointly with employees, will be launched for hospitals of both East and West Kootenay, the personnel committee reported. Because this is a pilot study, arranged between employer and employees, it will have assistance from the Association research office. It will be the first ever carried out in B.C. hospitals, and preparation will begin November 20.

The Association planned only to study the various facets of a variable co-insurance rate; they had not requested such a move from the government, Mr. Coventry explained. Some reports indicated the hospitals were actively seeking an increase in the plan under which, qualified B.C. patients pay a $1 daily co-insurance for standard ward care.

The study would not be complete before the 1962 conference, he said.

A director of nursing section had been welcomed by the B.C. Hospital Association during the conference. Some 63 of 65 nursing leaders had favored the section. Hospital trustees, doctors, radiology technicians, dieticians, physiotherapists medical records librarians, administrators and auxiliary members formed the other seven sections of the Association.

Some 2000 cubic yards had been deposited on the six-acre hospital site in its landscaping improvement this year, it was reported. The City and various contractors had co-operated in the endeavor to beautify the area about the community health care centre, Chairman H. D. Harrison acknowledged.

Chamber To Decide Stand on Expropriation

Nelson Chamber of Commerce members will be asked to take a stand on the recent expropriation of the B.C. Electric Company at their meeting today.

They will be asked to decide whether the Chamber should support or reject the B.C. Chamber of Commerce stand, president J. H. Coventry said Wednesday.

The B.C. Chamber has stated there is public concern over the manner in which the expropriation was carried out, "especially with regard to the arbitrary fixing of the value of securities held by the public together with the absence of any provision for appeal."

New Garbage Service May Be Tested Here

Nelson may be the guinea pig in Western Canada for a new system of refuse collection.

L. C. Miller of Rossland approached city council this week with the possibility of contracting out is collection service to the privately operated "container refuse collection" method.

Dr. Miller imediately explained that he was no expert on the new method and that a Nelson service would be a trial one to discover the handicaps and advantages of the services.

He said that the system has been employed in three Ontario centres for the past eight months, and in Atlanta, Georgia, for two years. It is not being employed in western Canada at the present moment, he said, but Vancouver is studying its possibilities.

Under the system, large centrally located community containers would be placed in permanent sites in alleys, eliminating a garbage container for each household or business establishment. The amount of refuse would determine the number of steel container placement per alley.

SPECIALLY BUILT

A specially built truck collects the refuse. With a hydraulic life it picks up the containers and its stand, dumps the refuse into the compressor on the back of the truck. While poised in the air, the emptied steel containers can be sprayed with disinfectant. The containers, as one unit are replaced on their stand and the truck proceeds to the next stand.

Its advantage is that the system cuts the manpower cost.

"I might set this system up in Nelson no more than your present cost for collection, not disposal. That is collection," Mr. Miller cautioned, adding to exploit his initial overhead he would have to have a minimum five-year contract.

He indicated that the system would first be applied to the commercial area of the city, later branching into the residential zones.

First the household citizens would have to be educated for the new system, learning to use one common refuse container. In turn the company would supply plastic refuse containers for every household.

He said Nelson was desired for a test run because of its narrow alleys, hilly terrain and variable weather conditions.

It was referred to the public works committee and city works superintendent Dragutin Likar for study and report.

Jaycee Board Officers Change

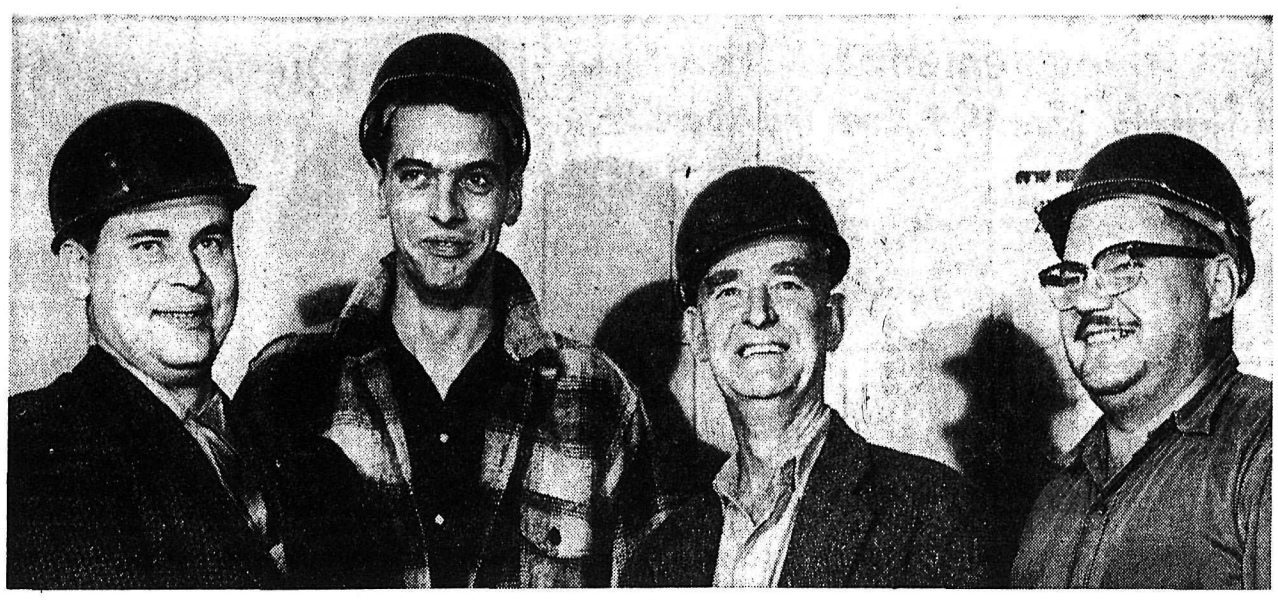
CRANBROOK — Kootenay Junior Chamber of Commerce Regional Board at its meeting here approved exchange of positions of its top officers, with Nick Voikin of Trail becoming new president, and Gerry Dorris, vice-president. This was necessitated when the latter resigned as president through pressure of business.

Next Regional Board meeting was set for Kimberley in February when the board met here recently.

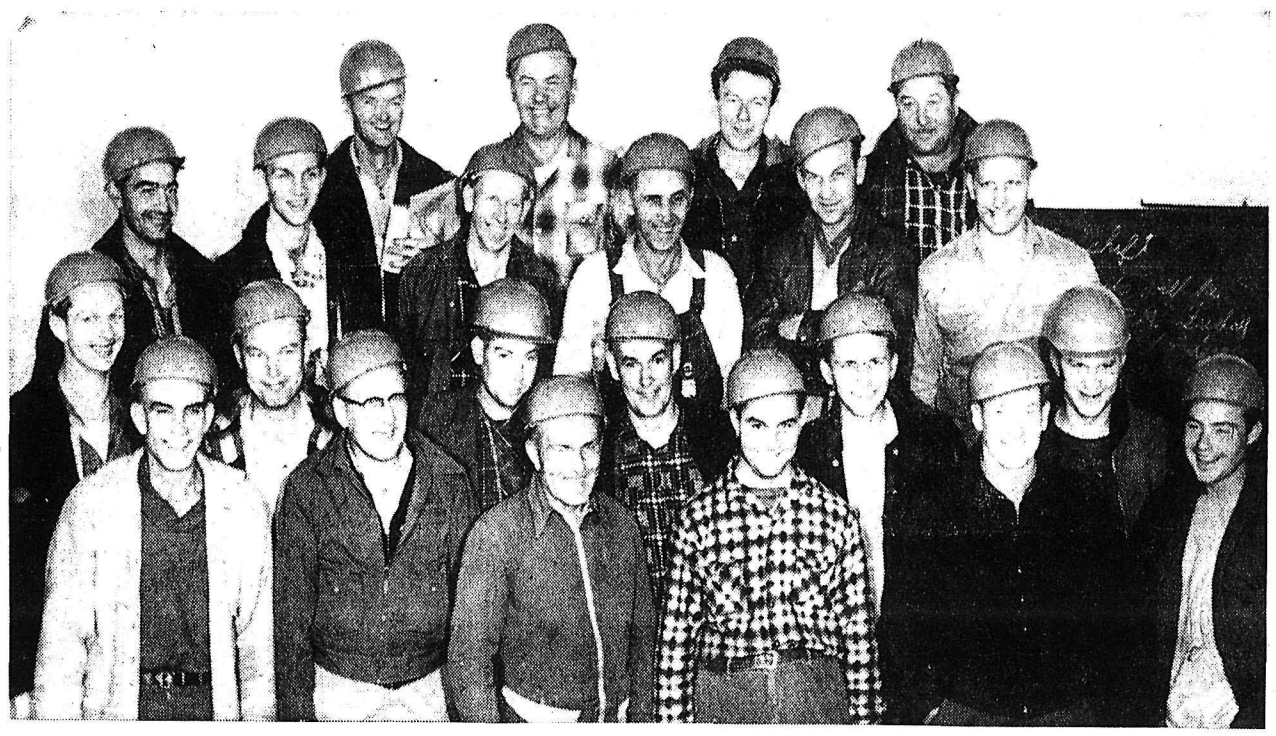
Guest speaker at the most recent Cranbrook Jaycee meeting was Mayor R. E. Sang, who outlined the tremendous municipal progress made in Cranbrook in recent years.

Speaker at the next meeting will be George Haddad, second candidate for this office in December municipal elections, outlining his plans for the office.

This is in keeping with Jaycee policy of being informed on municipal political matters.



SAFETY PRACTICES on job won three-year no-accident award buttons and certificates and personalized matchboxes for Kootenay Forest Products employees in Nelson. Written congratulations went from E. L. Vance, general manager, and entertainment at dinner and theatre were also enjoyed. Boiler room employees here are T. Schamhart, H. Moser, C. Bright and S. Veregin. Not present are J. Hamm, W. Burdenie and D. Perrin.



Sawmill No. 2 shift employees, not all present for picture, were P. Kotyk, P. Chernenko, J. J. Shukin, R. Welbourn, R. Cummings, I. Lillico, J. J. Zarikoff, A. Rilkoff, E. Tolles, H. Weinerth, G. PUC Ruling on Kootenay Gas Relayed to Council

CRANBROOK — City council has been notified by the Public Utilities Commission of its ruling last week cancelling the certificate of convenience granted in spring to Kootenay Gas Utilities to begin preliminaries for undertaking distribution of natural gas in southern East Kootenay.

Cancellation was on the grounds KGU had failed to show proof of gas supply source for the area, and had failed to raise through share sale the additional million dollars, conditions of the certificate.

The PUC has now called a meeting at Vancouver November 23 with the same four original applicants. The PUC has asked that the applicants not duplicate evidence already submitted and not altered by changed conditions, and limit their applications at the new hearing to amendments such as alteration of proposed rates and area applicants are prepared to serve, together with their preliminary financing plans.

The 36-inch Alberta Natural Gas trunk through this area from Crowsnest to Kingsgate for large scale export to the United States by Alberta and Southern Gas Ltd., and Westcoast Transmission is scheduled to be delivering gas southward by start of 1962.

At the February hearings here PUC chairman Dr. H. L. Angus stated price to consumer would be secondary to extent of supply area in the PUC decision, and at that time KGU was the only applicant willing to supply all six municipalities initially, while Inland offered lowest price for supplying the four central ones initially with later extension to Creston and Fernie.

GRAND FORKS CURLERS START 2 WEEKS EARLY

GRAND FORKS — November 1 has been set as opening date of the Grand Forks curling rink, where preparations for the season are going ahead.

The date is two weeks earlier than previous years. New fluorescent lighting has been installed over the houses and considerable work has been done to improve the ice surface.

Other improvements for the new season are bright new handles on the rocks, matched rocks and clearly painted houses. In addition to club games, several 'spiels and other events have been slated.

SAFETY CAMPAIGN

VANCOUVER (CP) — Less people have been injured in the first three weeks of Vancouver's pedestrian safety campaign than in the same period last year. The Vancouver Traffic and Safety Council said Tuesday pedestrian injuries have dropped 52 per cent since the campaign began on Oct. 2. It concludes on Nov. 30.

The Ultimate in Comfort

There may be a danger in going too far in one direction and there are many observers who feel that civilization is pressing too far with science, neglecting music, art, literature and those things which have to do with the development of the human personality.

They feel that the human body is being pampered beyond all reason at the expense of many valuable qualities and reading the publicity released about a new ship, the SS. France, one can well believe it. It says it will cater to the whimsies of its passengers in a variety of ways never before experienced at sea or ashore.

It says, "For example, this new ship, the longest liner in the world, will provide:

"An automatic signal in the nursery which tells the nurse attendant when a baby needs a diaper change;

"Funnels with airplane ailerons to disperse smoke away from the decks by exhausting it high and away from the sides of the ship.

"Interior lighting which does not drastically change from one public or private room to another, thereby assuring milady's looking her best wherever she may be.

"The longest 'canine promenade' afloat where canine passengers get treatment almost as fine as what their masters receive. This 'canine promenade' has a U.S.-style hydrant at one end and a typically French kilometer marker on the other to make the dogs feel right at home.

"Swimming pool with automatic 'roll-back top' for use in any kind of weather."

The world has got on very well without an automatic diaper change signal so far and the "canine promenade" fails to arouse our enthusiasm. The U.S.-style hydrant and a typically French kilometer-marker may be received with joy by American and French dogs but they might be equally well satisfied with a plot of grass and a few trees. Presumably they are as spoiled and pampered as their owners.

All this goes to show that if one has much money then any excuse will serve to spend it, that luxury is often a matter of gilding the lily and whatever sense of proportion one has it can easily become lost if material comfort is the only aim in life.

Pleasant Relations

It is not surprising that the West Kootenay Power and Light Company came to the rescue when Nelson has a problem on its hands.

It is unfortunate that the generator cover being taken to the City Power Plant broke loose and was damaged. No doubt our own plant employees, given time and the equipment, could repair it but the offer by the West Kootenay came at an opportune time. That company has highly trained personnel and adequate equipment which the city lacks and they can do the job with ease and despatch. It offered the city all its facilities and the mayor and council have gratefully accepted.

It is just another example of the good feeling which exists between the company and the communities with which it is associated.

Very Foggy Memories

Anyone for a London fog?

Reports from Britain that a couple of enterprising U.S. women living there have managed to bottle a bit of London peasouper for anyone who cares to have some are rather surprising.

There are many memories of London which would bring its expatriates up short with a choked-up feeling. None would choke them up quicker than the greatest bronchitis producer known.

It is hard to believe anyone could feel nostalgia for one of the chokers.

We can imagine someone having fond memories revived by a whiff of "Kew in Lilac Time." Even a bit of the cut-it-with-a-knife atmosphere of a British pub five minutes before the publican calls "time, gentlemen," would be acceptable if not attractive.

In spite of our admiration for the ingenuity of the U.S. women who canned the fog we cannot help but exclaim "Lor' Luv Us."

The possiiblities are tremendous, of course, for those with a bent for commerce. If people will buy tinned London fog why would they not pay cash for a bit of iced air, tinned at Portage and Main as the north winds sweep down and deep-freeze Winnipeg?

Or could it not be possible to fill up a jar of "Vancouver Gloom" in a November rain? Calgarians abroad would surely find tears in their eyes if they opened a jar of "Spring Dust From a Calgary Street." All of these would at least make the expatriates happier with their lot.

Any Torontonian foolish enough to be homesick could be cured by a spot of "August Humidity."

Counting Cattle

Out on the vast spreads of Alberta, ranchers probably only have a rough estimate of the number of cattle they own. But in Ontario cattlemen usually keep a close tab, especially if they have some out to pasture on other than the home farm.

Many farmers buy Western stock to fatten on the lush Ontario pastures. It isn't always easy to count these, as they are a bit leery of humans.

We were with a farmer when he made a count. He advised going up atop a knoll where he could see all the cattle, rather than just walk among them. He explained they were Westerners and rather scared of a man on foot. They would accept a man on horseback as commonplace or even, an insight into modern Western ranching, an automobile. Cattle born and reared in the East, however, would be unafraid of a man on foot, often following him along in curiosity or even nuzzling at him.

Letters to The Editor

Letters to the editor on any topic of genuine interest are welcome if they are brief, accurate and fair. They may be published over a nom de plume, but the name of the writer must be given to the Editor as evidence of good faith. Anonymous letters go into the wastepaper basket. Typewritten letters must be double-spaced.

No Protection

To the Editor:

Sir — It is a great pity that Mr. F. B. Pearce did not take the radiation monitoring course that was recently started in Nelson.

If he had he would have learned that "stuffing of the craks at windows and doors" would be no protection whatever against radiation fallout.

He would have learned that these rays penetrate practically every known material and would also have learned how to detect the presence of these rays and just what to have done to have beat the danger of these rays, which are the result of fallout following a nuclear explosion.

I am writing this letter only because of the fact that Mr. Pearce may have unconsciously persuaded some people that the mere fact of stuffing up the cracks at windows and doors would provide adequate protection in the case of fallout and which information, of course, is so completely erroneous.

J. G. JAMES.

(Editor's Note: Mr. Pearce explains that he was referring to dust, not the rays; that while the rays from radioactive dust will penetrate anything, the dust itself can be kept out of a house.)

U.K. Homicide Law Had Small Effect on Murder

By ROD CURRIE

LONDON (CP)—A slim, red-covered book entitled Murder, issued Wednesday by the home office, indicates that the 1957 law that all but did away with capital punishment has had little or no effect on the murder rate in Britain.

The Homicide Act passed four years ago confined the death penalty to certain types of murder, including that committed in the course of theft, in resisting or escaping from arrest or by shooting or by causing explosions. Those who kill for a second time or kill a policeman or prison officer also are liable to the death penalty.

Murder, compiled for Home Secretary R. A. Butler, shows that the increase in the number of murders in recent years has been small compared with the general increase in crime.

However, since it is impossible to say how many people convicted of mansalughter under the "diminished responsibility" clause of the Homicide Act would have been found guilty of murder before the act, these cases are listed as murders. The change in population also makes accurate comparisons difficult.

The 166 murders during 1960 is high, the report says, but not unprecedented and cannot be taken as an indication of any the murder rate.

POPULATION CLIMBS

The annual averages for the three decades 1931-40, 1941-50 and 1951-60 were 13, 152 and 149, respectively. The population increased about 15 per cent from 1931 to 1960.

The annual average for 1,000,000 of population during 1951-60 was 3.3. The average for 1960 was 3.7.

Some other facts in the report:

Less than 15 per cent of all murders are of the types now defined as capital murders. This proportion has not changed since passage of the act.

Nearly one-third of all victims are killed by persons who subsequently commit suicide.

The average number of murders for financial gain rose to 12 a year from six during the year before the Homicide Act, despite the fact murder in the course of furtherance of theft is capital murder.

MERCY KILLING LOW

Mercy killing amounted to only one or two a year and murders with an apparent sexual motive average eight a year.

About one-third of the murder victims were children under 16 and of those about three-quarters were killed by a parent or other relative.

In more than 40 per cent of murder cases in which a woman was the victim, the suspect was the husband. A relative or lover was the suspect in about one-quarter of such cases.

But few women kill their husbands or lovers. Men are more likely to be killed in fights or quarrels or in the furtherance of theft.

Favorite weapon of murderers in Britain is the blunt instrument. The bullet is least popular.

Usually only suicides and the mentally defected chose the gun as a murder weapon.

Gas poisoning was the most common method of family murder.

U.S. Military Police Escort Civilians Over Berlin Border

CP from AP-Reuters

BERLIN — The United States Wednesday asserted its right to free movement in Berlin by rolling an armed group of military police into Communist East Berlin for the second time this week.

The 12 military police, with fixed bayonets, escorted two American civilians in an army-licensed private car past East German police guarding the Communists' wall through Berlin. The East Berliners had refused to let the Americans through when they would not show identification papers.

Eight U.S. Patton tanks and a personnel carrier armed with a heavy machine - gun also took station at the Friedrichstrasse crossing point into East Berlin. They emphasized defiance of an East German order that all Allied personnel in civilian clothes must show identification papers to cross into East Berlin.

Immediately after the demonstrations of its willingness to use force if necessary to assert its right, the United State made a conciliatory gesture to the Reds.

ANNOUNCES BAN

The U.S. commander, Maj.-Gen. Albert Watson, announced a temporary restriction on the movements of American private vehicles into East Berlin.

A spokesman for Watson said persons in civilian clothes driving in army - licensed vehicles had been asked not to pass through the Friedrichstrasse checkpoint, the only entrance to East Berlin open to Allied personnel.

"We are seeking an incident-free period to permit the U.S. commandant in Berlin and the Soviet commandant to discuss this complicated situation," the spokesman said.

Watson asked for an appointment with the Soviet commandant in East Berlin, Col. Andrei I. Solovyev.

The demonstration of U.S. determination occurred shortly before 11 a.m.

DIDN'T SHOW PAPERS

The three U.S. military police jeeps escorted the private car through the zig - zag barrier erected at the checkpoint, drove past the East German police (Vopos) and went on into East Berlin, without stopping to show papers.

The car drove to the first intersection in East Berlin and then turned back to West Berlin again.

The excursion into Communist territory came after a heated argument between an American and a Soviet official and the deployment of American tanks and armed personnel carriers around the Friedrichstrasse crossing point.

One personnel carrier was moved right up to the border and about 50 American soldiers in bulletproof vests also were called up to the frontier.

Five tanks with barricade removers and three more armored troop carriers with heavy machine-guns stood by about 500 yards from the crossing point.

The area around the crossing point was ordered cleared of all civilians before the military police drove into East Berlin escorting the car.

Four military policemen armed with automatic rifles and with bayonets fixed rode in each of the escort jeeps. The East German police stood aside to let the jeeps and the car with the two civilians through.

When the East Germans turned the car back on its first attempt to go through into East Berlin, Howard Trivers, a member of he American mission here, crossed into Communist territory with an interpreter and talked for 30 minutes with a Soviet official.

Their argument was heated at times, with elaborate gestures by both men, but they were smiling as they parted.

Trivers returned to the Western sector, placed a telephone call, and then went back into the Communist zone. After four minutes, Trivers came back to the Western side, placed another telephone call, and the jeeps then moved up to escort the car across the border.

The refusal by the Communists to allow the two American civilians through unless they showed identification papers was the second in the last 12 hours.

Truck Hits Bus No One Badly Injured

KAMLOOPS (CP) — Six women and two children were taken to hospital here Tuesday when a fully - loaded tandem logging truck collided with a bus.

The truck plowed into the bus and the impact spun the bus across the road and onto its side.

Three of the women and two children were released from hospital after examination. Condition of the other injured persons was not believed serious.

Bus driver George Campbell of North Kamloops said he did not see the truck until the bus was in the middle of the intersection. He said he tried to get out of the truck's way, but couldn't make it.

Civil defence workers who arrived on the scene helped remove injured passengers.

Many Countries Take Steps To Counter Radioactive Fallout

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Countries throughout the world took steps Wednesday to counter the danger of radioactive fallout from Russia's big H-bomb explosions.

The British government announced plans to distribute dried milk to babies under a year old should Soviet testing cause contamination of liquid milk supplies.

Defence Minister Harold Watkinson told Parliament dried milk would be made available if radioactive iodine 131 in milk reached the danger level for babies.

Britain's Medical Research Council said the radioactive iodine concentration in milk would not reach the maximum permissible level unless tests continued.

Radioactive iodine is considered a threat because if enough of it got into a person's system, it could cause thyrod cancer.

Japan, lying squarely in the fallout path from the new tests, was alarmed at the possibility of radiation contamination.

'ASHES OF DEATH'

The fallout, dubbed "ashes of death" by the Japanese press, is expected to arrive over Japan Friday or Saturday on winds from Russias' Arctic test range where the 30- to 50-megaton h ydrogen bomb was exploded Monday.

Meteorlogical officials warned in radio and television broadcasts that no rainwater should be drunk because it could carry radioactivity to earth.

Anyone caught in a rain shower should immediately bathe in tap water, they said, and vegetables and fruit should be carefully washed before being eaten.

President Masatoshi Matsushita of St. Paul's University called the Soviet Union "a mentally deranged country . . . a mad dog."

French republic health officials said they were making a constant check on sea water, milk and food to check any change in radioactivity. No increase has so far been reported.

SHOULD SPACE BLASTS

Officials of the French Atomic Energy Commission said the closeness of the two blasts threatened a "massive pollution" of the atmosphere with radioactive products since there was insufficient time for radioactivity to diminish between the blasts.

Fallout over France would reach its peak in about a month, officials said. They added that for atmospheric reasons, fallout would be most dense in Canada, Japan and Scandinavia.

Swedish physicist Kurt Liden said that radioactivity in northern Sweden already was 100 times greater than in southern Sweden because of earlier Soviet tests.

But Swedish Prime Minister Tage Erlander said winds appeared to be carrying the fallout away from Scandinavia in the latest blasts.

In Denmark, a government committee was set up to consider plans for refitting bomb shelters as fallout shelters and constructing new public "protection rooms."

LEVEL STILL HIGH

In Canada, the health department reported that the level of fallout from the Soviet tests continued high for the first two weeks of Ocober, but a spokesman said the levels present no immediate threat to health.

U.S. health officials said it is too early to forecast if the fallout will create any significant health hazard either in the following few weeks or next spring.

Fallout specialists of the U.S. weather bureau said that if the present pattern of atmospheric winds prevail, the first fallout from the Russian test might reach North America Thursday or Friday.

Dr. Lester Machta, one of these specialists, said it's conceivable that the fallout debris now in the lower atmosphere constitutes as little as less than one per cent of the total debris loosed by the bomb. The remainder would stay in the stratosphere until next spring. It will begin to fall then in the Northern Hemisphere between latitudes 30 and 60 north, mainly in areas where rainfall is usually heaviest.

In Las Vegas, Nev., Dr. Glenn Seaborg, Atomic Energy Commission chairman, said the United States can set off an above-ground nuclear test "in a matter of weeks" and may have to do so to prevent the Russians from pulling ahead in the arms race.

Leading newspapers in both India and Ceylon condemned the Soviet superbomb blast.

Volta Dam Project Like Powder-Keg

By DENNIS NEELD

ACCRA, (AP)—Ghana's huge Volta dam project threatens to become a powder-keg issue in West Africa.

President Kennedy is sending a special mission to Ghana to review U.S. participation in the $292,000,000 Volta project.

The team of experts will try and determine the wisdom of putting some $170,000,000 of American money into what is becoming an authoritarian state under President Kwame Nkrumah.

Nkrumah has earmarked a smaller dam for building by the Russians. He is sending 400 army cadets to Moscow for training. And his Ghanaian Airways is partly equipped with Soviet Ilyushin planes.

Some Westerners here believe that a refusal to honor what Nkrumah considers the U.S. Volta undertaking might finally push the Ghanaian leader into the Soviet orbit.

SIGN OF WEAKNESS?

Others, however, feel it will be a sign of Western weakness to submit to any such "if you don't the Russians will" threat. In this view it is questionable business to provide Nkrumah with dollars, even as he is throwing opposition legislators into jail and virtually turning Ghana into a one-party state.

When completed, the dam will be the world's third largest. Piled up behind it will be a man - made lake 3,275 square miles in extent.

According to present plans, the United States, through the World Bank, Export - Import Bank, and Development Loan Fund, will put up $77,000,000 toward the cost of the dam itself. Britain is putting up the equivalent of $14,000,000 and Ghana must find the rest.

Accra plans that the dam should eventually generate 900,000 kilowatts with the first stage generating 589,000 kilowatts.

Most of this will be taken by a giant new aluminum smelter to be constructed by an American group—the Kaiser Aluminum and Chemical Corporation, Reynolds Metals, the Aluminum Company of America and Olin Mathieson.

This group hopes to get $96,000,000 from the Export-Import Bank to build the smelter and also is asking the U.S. government to guarantee its investment. That would bring the total U.S. commitment to more than $170,000,000.

KAMLOOPS (CP) —An official of the Royal Inland Hospital at Kamloops claims delay in construction of a hospital addition has been caused by lack of approval from Victoria. Donald R. Guy Fawkes Not the Villain History Tried To Paint Him

By DOUG MARSHALL

LONDON (CP)—Guy Fawkes has been cruelly treated by history.

On Nov. 5, 1605, he nearly blew up the British Houses of Parliament.

Anarchy no doubt, but something others have felt an urge to do now and again. The Germans once succeeded.

Fawkes, however, had the double misfortune of paying for he attempt with his life and becoming the chief scapegoat for more than three centuries of national grievances.

In most countries fireworks night is a festive occasion celebrating some joyous national anniversary.

But in Britain the rockets, bangers and glittering Catherine Wheels summon up remembrances of gunpowder, treason and plot.

Each Nov. 5 countless effigies of poor old Guy are incinerated on bonfires while troops of gleeful children chant near-pagan hymns of vengeance.

RELIGIOUS PROTEST

This would have been intolerable to Fawkes, a devout if fanatical Roman Catholic whose deed was intended as a protest against religious persecution of Papists.

Today most adults, especially policemen and firemen, have good but unhistorical reasons for wishing Guy Fawkes had never been born.

Nov. 5 has become an excuse not only for fireworks but also for a Hallowe'en spirit of teenage hooliganism.

The mixture is volatile. Every year on Guy Fawkes night people pour into Trafalgar Square, Piccadilly Circus and and on to all the heaths and commons throughout suburban London and other cities.

Crackers explode under unwary feet, rockets whiz into crowds, people are injured, riots start and the weary police cart off legions of youths to serve one - night sentences in unwarm cells.

PENNY FOR GUY

As a final insult, Guy's ghost is treated as a lucrative business proposition by most younger children.

Nowadays as early as Sep- stuffed dummies begin to appear on every street corner. The passerby is constantly assailed by plaintive cries of:

"Penny for the Guy, guy?"

"Do you use the pennies to buy fireworks?"

"Naw, guv, Dad gets 'em. We usually buys fags."

"Who was this Guy anyway?"

"Oh 'e was a bad man, guv. Tried to hexplode Parliament, 'e did."

"When was this?"

"Years ago, guv. Sometimes before the war. Penny for the Guy, ma'am?"

Sweeping Changes To Be Made in Passenger Jets

WASHINGTON (CP) — The U.S. Federal Aviation Agency and Douglas Aircraft, manufacturer of the DC-8s, have agreed to sweeping changes in the jet passenger planes following what FAA chief Najeeb Halaby called a series of malfunctions.

Halaby had disclosed this to a symposium of the Society of Experimental Test Pilots in Los Angeles last month and Douglas officials said all FAA - recommended changes would be made by the airlines' repair facilities.

Halaby added that the planes would not be grounded while the changes were made unless something unforeseen occurred.

The changes to be incorporated are:

1. Hydraulic reserve capacity will be increased to provide stepped up braking capacity, nose wheel steering, rudder power and more wing spoiler control during landings.

2. There will be additions to the hydraulic system to reduce leak-causing pressures.

3. Mechanical devices will be installed to make possible inadvertent application of reverse engine thrust during landings.

4. Further examinations of airline flight crews in emergency procedures in event of hydraulic failure.

5. FAA supervision of airline maintenance practices will be intensified.

Salt Lake City Clamps Down on Teen Smokers

By GERALD B. TRAPP

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Anyone under 21 caught smoking in this city gets a ticket from the police and must either pay a fine or attend a 2½-hour class that features two color movies and a lecture on "the evils of tobacco."

Strict enforcement of the 1907 law began several months ago. Juvenile Judge Regnal Garff Jr., started it, declaring that "almost all kids at delinquency hearings were smokers" and had the "attitude of 'I'll do what I want to do regardless of what the police, parents or court want'."

The state law prohibits smoking or possession of tobacco by anyone under 21. There is a companion statute making it illegal to give, sell or provide tobacco to anyone under 21.

The judge's announcement created a furore in a city where smoking is forbidden in most public places—a law that is violated about as often as the ban against teen-age smoking.

MORMON SUPPORT

There is support for the law in Mormon doctrine. The Word of Widsom, code of conduct of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, as defined by its founder, Joseph Smith, says :

". . . Tobacco is not for the body . . . and is not good for man."

Mormons make up 63 per cent of the state's 890,627 persons and 56 per cent of Salt Lake County's 383,035 residents.

Judge Garff, a Mormon, contends, however, the drive on smoking "is no moral or religious issue."

"It is just a matter of education. We want them (the juveniles) to stop flouting the law. . . . We can't condone violations of one law and try to enforce others."

Only 150 tickets for smoking were issued in 1960, most of them mere formalities to hold youths for questioning about something else. With the new drive, there were 130 smoking tickets last July alone. Police issued 39 in August but referred many more to the smoking school.

A city court appearance is necessary for violators 18, 19 and 20. But they, too, can attend the smoking school in lieu of a first - offence $10 fine. Youths under 18 report to juvenile court and are given a choice of attending the class or appearing before an official. All have picked the class.

Second offenders pay a fine of up to $10. Fines are doubled for the third violation and tripled for the fourth.

The only repeater so far, a 20 - year - old, was sentenced to five days in jail. After a day the judge relented and fined him $20.

Judge Garff joined forces with an anti - tobacco crusader, chest and heart surgeon, Dr. Robert J. Beveridge, to organize the class material.

Dr. Beveridge, a convert to the Mormon church, said "there is not one beneficial aspect in smoking . . . not one . . . and literally hundreds of reasons why you should not smoke."

Judge Garff said 33 states have similar anti-smoking laws. Since the program started here, Dr. Beveridge and Judge Garff have received more than 300 calls and letters from people throughout the United States. There was an inquiry from Montreal.

The class includes two films and Dr. Beveridge's lecture. The first film, Time Pulls the Trigger, shows a doctor dripping a drop of nicotine down the throat of a mouse, killing it in seconds. The second, produced by the American Temperance Union, is called One in 20,000. Its highlight is a lung cancer operation.

It is debatable whether enforcement has reduced the amount of smoking among juveniles. Judge Garff says he thinks that after the youths are exposed as smokers, "a lot of them will quit by themselves."

Then he added: "Maybe we'll send them underground. But that is okay. . . . At least they won't be flouting authority."

Canada Predicts Steady Wheat Sales To Chinese

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

TORONTO (CP) — Communist China, now making extraordinary wheat purchases from Canada, may be a substantial market for Canadian grain for quite few years, Max Forsyth - mith, Canadian trade commissioner in Hong Kong, said Tuesday.

He added that even when present demand, arising from crop shortages, subsides, China may still wish to buy Canadian grain so that she can export rice at good prices.

Mr. Forsyth-Smith, whose territory includes China, is in Canada to accompany the current Chinese trade mission or to make advance arrangements for it at the various centres it is visiting.

Speaking at a press conference here, he indicated that the mission hopes to increase sales to Canada from the present level of around $6,000,000 to perhaps $12,000,000.

ARE BIG BUYERS

Sales to China this year, with extraordinary wheat sales, will total between $140,000,000 and $150,000,000, thus making China one of Canada's biggest customers.

The current mission, headed by Chen Ming, director of the department of the ministry of foreign trade which has to do with trade with non-Communist countries, has already visited Ottawa, now is in Montreal, will come to Toronto Saturday and, after a fortnight's stay, will proceed to Winnipeg and Vancouver.

At each centre it meets firms interested in Chinese trade. In Toronto, for instance, about 150 firms have expressed interest. Although primarily here to sell, the mission is seeing about as many Canadian exporters as importers.

Mr. Forsyth - Smith said he thinks there is no question of Chinese ability to pay under the credit terms arranged for the wheat they have purchased. Outside of wheat, he didn't know of any requests for credit.

Possible exports from Canada to China include fertilizers, pulp, paper, metals, scientific instruments, medical equipment drugs, chemicals, plastic raw materials, synthetic rubber, special steels, as well as grain.

Possible imports from China run a wide range including food specialties, hardware, glass, musical instruments, tungsten, mercury, manganese ore, tin, feathers and down, bristles, rugs, hides, walnuts, tea, bamboo wares, spices and various handicrafts of ivory wood and pottery.

Mr. Forsyth-Smith is a graduate of Acadia University Wolfville, N.S., in economics, served in the Second World War with the West Nova Scotia Regiment and joined the trade commissioner service in 1947.

Resources For Tomorrow Conference Near Policy

By BEN WARD

MONTREAL (CP) — New workshop sessions were on tap today as the ambitious Resources for Tomorrow conference moved towards a firm declaration of national policy on resource development.

The 700 delegates headed into discussions on management, research, jurisdiction, administration and information.

The conference Tuesday dug into 15 workshop discussions on subjects ranging from the provision of new recreation sources to the control of pollution in water and air.

The conference of experts from the federal and provincial governments, industries, commerce and the universities is taking a hard look at the use of soil, forests, fish, wildlife, water and air.

Their aim is to find ways of using such renewable natural resources for greater national prosperity today and in the future.

Two of the national problems which drew most of the attention Tuesday related to pollution problems. The workshop groups ended up by calling for increased research and the coordination of efforts now being expended in those fields.

ENDANGERS HEALTH

Discussion leaders said both air and water pollution are increasing at a rate which endangers public health. The annual loss in damage from air pollution alone was estimated at about $500,000,000.

On agriculture, G. A. Kristjanson of the Manitoba agriculture department said impoverished farmers striving to make good on submarginal land should be directed into new trades through a government-sponsored program like the one which retrained returning veterans after the Second World War.

On wildlife, delegates suggested closer studies of animal life and the establishment at federal level of an "exotics expert" who would study the chances of successfully introducing new animal species.

On water, delegates disagreed sharply on whether water pollution is being held in check. Dr. Gustave Prevost of Quebec said pollution is growing across the nation.

On air pollution, the experts agreed that not enough is being said about the so - called "safe factor" and a federal-provincial responsibility exists for making such a study.

Alderman H. D. Wilson of Vancouver said car and truck exhausts are a major source of poison in the air. He said $25 attachments to cars to burn off some of the pollutant may become mandatory in Canada within a few years. Several United States cities already enforce this rule.

Sarto R. Plamondon of the University of Montreal concluded that Canadian industry and commerce could cut the rate of air pollution buildup by perhaps as much as 50 per cent if present control methods were enforced.

On inland fishing, biologist K. H. Doan of Manitoba said water levels must be controlled for the benefit of game fish if sports fishing is to survive in some sectors.

"In some provinces water control is done almost wholly from the agricultural standpoint. The objective seems to be to drain water off the land as quickly as possible," he said.

This haphazard control also destroyed water fowl and other wildlife.

Tshombe Accepts UN Cease Fire

LEOPOLDVILLE (AP) President Moise Tshombe has formally accepted ratification of the Katanga - United Nations cease - fire and agreed to hand over about 190 Irish and Scandinavian prisoners this afternoon, the UN command announced.

UN envoy Mahmoud Khairi of Tunisia at the same time will return to Katangan control the Elisabethville post office and radio station taken by UN troops during the week of fighting last month. The UN also will hand over 210 Katangan prisoners captured in the fighting.

A UN spokesman said Tshombe's acceptance was given to Khiari late Tuesday after a day-long conference.

The UN command had feared that the Katanga president might object to conditions attached to the accord by the UN secretariat so that it would in no way recognize Tshombe's claim to independence from the central Congolese government.

Central government Premier Cyrille Adoula originally objected to the cease-fire, claiming it strengthened Tshombe's position. With the secretariat's modifications and interpretations, however, Adoula has informed the United Nations he will not oppose final implementation.

Underdog Leafs Look for First Win Against Smoke Eaters

Nelson Maple Leafs travel to Trail tonight to match their young inexperienced team against the veteran, precisioned Trail Smoke Eaters.

Smokies, in the young WIHL season, have played two games, both with Kimberley Dynamiters, whitewashing the Dynamiters 12-0 and 6-0. Leafs in their only encounter this season were dumped by Rossland Warriors 6-2.

Leafs' coach Mickey Maglio expects a better showing from his club. He attributed Nelson's loss to overanxiousness. Maglio believes that Leafs will begin playing better, smoother hockey as players become more accustomed to his fellow player's hockey habits.

Nelson will start Al Wolf in goal again tonight to match his ability against the high flying Trail forwards. Leafs' regular goalie Gerry Koehle is unable to make the trip because of business committments. Koehle is expected to be between the pipes Saturday night when Nelson hosts Trail.

Out front of Wolf will be Ted Leboda, Reo Touzin. Dave Stewart and Shorty Malacko. Maglio was much impressed by the output of his blue line brigade last game both defensively and offensively. Reo Touzin was the big offensive star scoring both Nelson goals.

On the forward lines will be Jim Pilla, Vic Poirier, Bob Wales; Bob Walker, Howie Hornby, Wayne Farenholtz; Mike Laughton, Ron Carruthers, Charlie Burdett.

EXTEND SHUTOUT RECORD

Trail netminder Seth Martin will be trying to extend his shutout record to three games. Martin presently has 120 minutes of shutout goaltending.

Adolf Tambellini, high flying Trail forward, will be trying to increase his goal output, and looking for his third successive hat trick. Tambellini scored one trio in each game with the Dynamiters.

Patrolling the blue line for Trail will be Harry Smith, George Ferguson, Ed Pollesel and Ed Cristofoli. On the forward lines will be three of the best front line combinations in the league, Russ Kowlachuk, Gerry Penner, Adolf Tambellini; Dave Rusnell, Cal Hockley, Gil Desrosiers; Lawrie Bursaw, Harold Jones, Pinoke McIntyre.

Loser of the match will be out to seek revenge Saturday as the Leafs open their home stand against the same Trail Smoke Eaters.

Curlers To Open Season Saturday

Nelson Curling Club announced Wednesday night at its annual Fall meeting that the 1961-62 curling season will open Saturday.

The opening, a little eariler than in the past, is due mainly to an early drawing up of the contract with the Civic Centre Commission, on ice costs and ice time.

Actual club competition will not begin until Nov. 4. Object of the delay in competition is to give members a chance to practice and to introduce the new inexperienced curlers to the sport. During the week of practice veteran curlers will be able to arrange make-up games with other rinks.

Club president Art Waters announced that club dues will not be changed this season. Mr. Waters also brought up the topic of purchasing sweaters for the club. The sweaters, to be the club colors, green and white, will add "prestige and color to the Nelson curlers," he said.

H. "Fritz" Farenholtz, reported that the Dominion Curling Association frowns on cash prizes in bonspiel competitions. The question arose when one member asked if cash could be awarded rather than prizes.

Principle of the abolishment of cash prizes is that in the near future curling will be considered an Olympic sport. If a curler accepts money as a prize he is considered a professional and loses his amateur standing.

Bob Bruce, high school curling organizer, told the club members that the high school interest needs stimulation to raise it to its past level. He also told the club that this season one of the school foursomes has an excellent chance to win the district playdowns to compete for the provincial and dominion championship.

He asked that the club executive grant this rink permission to compete against curling club veterans so that the rink's skill will improve. It is hoped that the area playdowns will be held in Nelson in early January.

New Bowling Group Formed

A new life for Nelson bowlers was born Monday with the formation of the Nelson Five Pin Bowling Association.

The formation of the association, already boasting 105 members is another first for Nelson as the Queen City is the only town in the West Kootenay with such an organization.

Initial function of the association is to bring more enjoyment into bowling for bowling members. All monies received by the association from memberships, tournament sand club events during the year will be refunded to the members in form of prizes.

The association is also showing a keen eye to the future with hopes of holding an annual East-West Kootenay Bowling championship. This championship could be a small version of the Western Canada Five-Pin Championship.

From this Kootenay championship the association could choose 15 top notch bowlers from Trail, Rossland, Creston, Castlegar, Cranbrook, Kimberley and Nelson to represent this area at the Western Canada bowling championship.

Rangers, Hawks Battle to Tie

NEW YORK (AP) — Bob Turner and Ken Schinkel traded second period goals Wednesday night as New York Rangers and Chicago Black Hawks battled to a 1-1 National Hockey League tie before a crowd of 10,417.

The tie gave New York a one point lead over Montreal Canadiens in their fight for first place. It was Chicago's fourth tie in seven games. Montreal didn't play Wednesday night.

Turner, Chicago defenceman, gave the Black Hawks a 1-0 lead when the second period was only 57 seconds old. He picked up a loose puck at the New York bue line and blasted in a 30 - foot slap shot while New York goalie Marcel Paille was partially screened out.

The goal came only two seconds after a penalty to Chicago's Ab McDonald had expired. McDonald, however, had not left the penalty box so the Black Hawks were shorthanded when they got their only goal.

TIED SCORE

Schinkel tied it at 10:37, taking a pass from Harry Howell as he flashed across the blue line and fired a rising 20-footer.

Each team had numerous scoring opportunities later that period and in the third bu tgood net work by Paille and Chicago's Glenn Hall turned back all efforts.

It was Paille's second game in the New York nets after being called up from Springfield to substitute for New York's regular goalie, injured Lorne (Gump) Worsley.

New York's Andy Bathgate didn't pick up a point for the first time this season, ending an eight - game scoring streak.

Doe Season Suspension Studied by Gun Club

A motion asking that the doe deer season in certain parts of East Kootenay be suspended was tabled for further review at the Nelson Rod and Gun club meeting Tuesday night.

The motion came from one member's assessment that the deer situation in the East Kootenay was "grim" and that he thought it was due to the doe being killed.

Game Inspector C. E. Estlin confirmed that the deer population in East Kootenay districts is considerably less than what it was five years ago. He explained that all "barnyard" deer are gone because they were the easiest to shoot.

Mr. Estlin stated that one of the principles of his department was that a reduced deer population is a healthy population. He attributed the decline in the deer population partly to younger animals being slaughtered. Older animals use a browsing area which two younger animals could live from, he said.

Supporting his statement that a reduced population is healthy, he said, "We don't have as many deer as before but then we didn't have good management."

Mr. Estlin received some opposition from other club members on his statements. However, the motion was still tabled for further review and consideration.

The club was informed that a zone meeting of Rod and Gun clubs will be held in Creston on Nov. 5 and high on the agenda ill be the Duck Lake controversy.

Membership of the club supported the executive's decision that the annual game dinner be postponed until a later date rather than hold it late in November.

Reports were heard on Alberta and Manitoba hunting licence fees.

Following the business meeting George Colletti demonstrated to the club his ideas and methods on good field dressing of game.

Officials Hope To Form Western Soccer Loop

EDMONTON (CP) — Representatives of the Eastern Canadian Professional Soccer League and soccer officials from Edmonton, Calgary and Vancouver will meet here Saturday to discuss formation of a western pro soccer loop.

The eastern league has been operating professionally for a year in Hamilton, Toronto and Montreal, importing almost all its players from England, Europe and South America to ensure a high calibre of play.

The western cities are expected to propose a western league with two teams in Vancouver, one each in Calgary and Edmonton, and possibly an interlocking schedule with the EPSL.

Hugh Baker of Edmonton, first vice-president of the Canadian Soccer Association, said Wednesday contacts have been made with several European players interested in playing in Western Canada. He said Vancouver probably could field at least one team of good calibre Canadian pros. He described the coast city as a "hotbed of soccer."

FAN REACTION GOOD

Baker said fan reaction to professional soccer in Western Canada appeared to be good. Toronto City played exhibition games in each of the three western cities during the summer.

Should only one or two teams be formed in the west, Baker said, an interlocking schedule probably would have to be set up with the EPSL. He said there might be enough western teams to form a separate league.

The Canadian Soccer Association would have to approve the setting up of a western soccer loop. The pro soccer season probably would run from May to the beginning of August to avoid clashing with the Canadian Football League schedule.

Sam Donaghey, secretary-treasurer of the Alberta Soccer Association and acting general manager of the proposed Edmonton pro team, says the Saturday meeting will delve into all aspects of a league setup, including the number of games, the type of schedule and player fees.

Congo Gives Communists Second Chance

By LYNN HEINZERLING

LEOPOLDVILLE (AP)—The Russians been given another chance in The Congo.

Patrice Lumumba, the slain Congolese leader of last year's independence disaster, gave them their first chance. He invited them to help him crush all resistance to his high-handed rule.

The Russians responded enthusiastically. They sent in 10 Ilyushin planes to ferry his troops around the country. They sent 100 trucks to move the ammunition and a horde of propagandists disguised as technicians.

Lumumba was delighted. Two of the trucks stood in front of his house for a day or two. A special Ilyushin stood available for his use for months. The Russians pumped money into the country to create confusion and doubt. But they overdid it.

Col. Joseph Mobutu, then a 29 - year - old army officer, climbed on a table in a downtown hotel and announced he had given the Russian, Czech and Polish embassies 48 hours to close down and evacuate their personnel. They went out in the Ilyushins, leaving the trucks behind.

Now, the Russians, Czechs and Poles are back at government invitation. They came here from Stanleyville, where they had been supporting the rump government of Antoine Gizenga. Gizenga claimed to be Lumumba's heir. But in August he gave up this pretension and agreed to join the central government as second vice - premier.

The Russians hadn't been in Leopoldville long when Congolese officials noted that huge sums of money were being distributed. The Russians would like to see Gizenga or some other Lumumbist back in power.

The Communists have spent a great deal of money trying to create an image of Lumumba as the first Congolese martyr. They named streets, libraries, universities and youth clubs after him.

Operating under his name, their potentialities for creating trouble are endless. To millions of Negro Africans, who understand the events in The Congo only dimly, Lumumba is a martyr and the greatest Congolese.

Even in the moderate Western-oriented countries of Africa, Lumumba is accepted as the father of The Congro Republic and an authentic martyr to the cause of Negro progress. This belief is carefully nurtured by left-wing organizations.

With apprehension, diplomats and United Nations officials watch the Cyrille Adoulas' central government's efforts to prevail and rule. While they think the moderate, Western-oriented Adoula is firmly in control, something bizarre usually happens in The Congo to change the course of events.

Left - leaning Christophe Gbenye, interior minister, controls the police. He is a powerful Lumumbist and many believe he would become premier if the Adoula government should topple.

Riots and trouble could bring about Adoula's fall. Riots and trouble appear to be what the Communist - supported Lumumbists are seeking.

Everything seems to point to a large Communist operation in Leopoldville. But none of the Communist diplomatic missions has yet been recognized by the Adoula government. Too much enthusiasm by the Russians could cool off the government's decision to accept the Red diplomats.

Adoula may want to know why the Communist governments are so eager to be accredited in The Congo when they have contributed not one dollar to the United Nations effort to put The Congo on its feet.

DEMAND ELECTIONS

TEHRAN, Iran (AP)—Tehran university students demonstrated Tuesday for elections soon and shouted anti-government slogans. The students pounded the car of Premier Ali Amini, who had attended United Nations anniversary celebrations at the university. Amini said the demonstrations were instigated by Communist agitators.

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Northern Peace River Candidates Face Poll

PEACE RIVER, Alta. (CP)— About 6,500 persons are eligible to vote Thursday in the northern constituency of Peace River to decide which of three candidates will represent the mixed farming area in the Alberta legislature.

The candidates are J. W. Freeland, Liberal; E. F. Montgomery, Social Credit; and H.C. Sisson, Progressive Conservative.

The winner will fill a vacancy created by the recent death of Floyd Gilliland, Social Credit member since 1944.

Mr. Gilliland, a Berwyn, Alta. farmer, was re-elected in 1948, 1952, 1955, and 1959.

Mr. Montgomery, 46, also is a farmer, born and educated in the Peace River district and now living in Brownvale.

Mr. Sissons, who polled 1,190 votes in 1959 against Mr. Gilliland's 2,864, is a Peace River lawyer. He was born in Moose Jaw 40 years ago.

Trying for a Liberal upset is Wilbur Freeland, 45, born in the area, educated at the University of Alberta and now a lawyer. He has served as Peace River town solicitor and town councillor. He was defeated by Mr. Gilliland in 1955.

Liberal candidate James Mann polled 650 votes in 1959.

All three candidates stuck close to general party policies. Mr. Freeland and Mr. Sisson said a strong opposition is needed in the legislature.

Another seat in the House, made vacant by the death early this month of Karl Nordstrom, Social Credit member for Bonnyville, is to be filled in a byelection Nov. 27. Nomination day is Nov. 13.

Social Credit holds 59 of the legislature's 65 seats. A Liberal, Progressive Conservative, coalition and independent Social Crediter make up the four-man opposition.

Polls will open at 9 a.m. and close at 8 p.m. MST.

Friday 13th Lucky For Cranbrook Man

CRANBROOK — Irish Sweepstake drawing for the Cambridgeshire Handicap to be run Saturday produced a Cranbrook ticket, "Friday the Thirteenth," identified as E. L. Hedley. His ticket also drew a horse, Deton, listed among approximately 30 scheduled to run that day.

Mr. Hedley, provincial government agent here, was born on a Friday the 13th, which should prove something.

Among other Western Canadians who drew horses with their tickets is a lady in Taber, Alta., whose horse is listed as a favorite at present.

McFarlane Speaks At Cranbrook Meet

CRANBROOK — East Kootenay Progressive Conservative Association meeting here heard a report on the 1961 parliamentary session by Kootenay East member, Murray McFarlane, who was chief speaker at the gathering.

Nominating convention for the constituency was tentatively set for Cranbrook in 1962, when it will coincide with the annual meeting and the election of Association officers.

Odds . . . and Ends

. . . by M. D. B.

I find it a little difficult to bear when Christmas cards come out before Hallowe'en. Pretty soon we'll be having them thrust upon us in September. By the time Christmas gets here I'm so sick of seeing Christmas doo-dads — holly leaves me cold, carols have lost their charm, and all the trappings of Christmas look shopworn and tawdry, having lost their shine and sparkle under two months of dust and dusting. It seems to me we could at least give All Saints Day a decent burial before having to be faced with the green and the red and the holly and ivy. I'm certainly not anti-Christmas or anti-giftgiving, I just don't want to have to think about it for three months of the year.

* * *

All the mountain tops are dusted with snow and the wind's breath is chilly in our valley. Lawns at night are stiff with frost and the only birds that seem to be around my neck of the woods are saucy jays. I suppose most people have planted their fall bulbs by now and prudent souls have put up storm windows. I'm just waiting for the pear tree to finish dropping its leaves so I can put them round the roses. Glads have been pulled up and dahlias taken into the basement till spring.

* * *

The rye my neighbor sowed after digging up his potatoes is green and about five inches high — the birds let the seeds grow this year. I have a notion he planted it in the dark of night when the birds were asleep, because other years when he has scattered seed in the daytime the birds have gobbled it up almost as fast as he tossed it out. This rye certainly does wonders for his soil.

* * *

We were down to the park last week and came across a wonderful crop of mushrooms, so had a fine feed. The park, while it was sunny, still felt cold with the breeze from the lake. A goodly number of seagulls were standing around at the water's edge. It was busy as an airport as they kept taking off or coming in for graceful landings.

* * *

The school windows are gay with pumpkins and witches in honor of that night dear to the heart of childhood. My little eight-year-old friend was telling me there had been a few flakes of snow.

"I wish it would really snow," he said, with that sleigh-riding, snowballing look in his eyes, but he hastily added, "but not until after Hallowe'en."

Two Delegates To Be Elected

GRAND FORKS — Two delegates will be elected at the annual meeting of the registered owners of District No. 8 Grand Forks-Cascade of the B.C. Interior Vegetable Marketing Board.

The meeting to elect their representatives for the coming season will be held in the Grand Forks School auditorium November 7.

A registered owner is defined as any person registered in the books of any land registry office as the owner in fee — simple of any land within the area, or as the holder of the last agreement to purchase any land within the area, and includes the holder of an agreement to purchase land from the director of soldier settlement, or his predecessors, the Soldier Settlement Board, or director of the Veterans Land Act and who in any case grows or causes to be grown for sale upon such land, comprising one-quarter of an acre or more, any regulated produce, and any holder of a lease of land in the area, of which land not less than three acres is used for growing any regulated product for sale and which lease is for a term of three years or more.

Owners are required to register with the board.

SANTIAGO (AP) — Earth tremors shook Southern Chile Tuesday for the seventh consecutive day. The tremors caused panic in Concepcion and the adjoining area some 300 miles south of Santiago.

MARKET TRENDS

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market made its first advance of the week in moderate trading Wednesday.

Aircrafts, oils, steels, and utilities were up on balance. Key stocks advanced from fractions to about a point. A few wider advances were posted by the more volatile issues.

However, motors faltered and returned mixed late in the day.

The Dow Jones industrial average rose 3.48 to 700.72.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks advanced 1.00 to 257.60.

Honolulu Oil's "stamped" stock, representing what's left after the first liquidating dividend in the assets sale, was newly traded, active and closed at 5⅝.

Hudson Bay Mining gained ¾ among Canadian issues. McIntyre Porcupine rose ¼ and Dome Mines and Distillers Seagrams were up ⅛ apiece. International Nickel was down ⅝.

Prices rose on the American Exchange. Fargo Oil and Preston each gained 1-16 while Sapphire Petroleums dropped 1-16.

TORONTO (CP) — Seasoned industrials and fledgling speculatives battled with profit-takers and embittered traders in moderately heavy trading Wednesday and lost.

Lake Dufault, the 38-cent bitplayer that suddenly became an overnight star, edged closer to obscurity with a 55-cent drop to $4.80 on a volume of 88,181 shares.

Industrials were betrayed by losses among utilities, foods and papers, with widespread fractional falls predominant.

On index, industrials fell 1.77 to 593.52 and base metals .88 to 200.21. Golds rose .87 to 90.57, western oils .41 to 97.01, and the final volume was 3,099,00 shares compared with 3,081,000 Tuesday.

The senior base metals list was generally depressed in light turnover. Falconbridge, International Nickel and Consolidated Mining and Smelting sustained drops in the ¼ to ¾ range.

Gold trading was extremely light.

In weak and sporadic western oil bargaining, Dome, Canadian Devonian and Hudson's Bay Oil all rose in the five to 35-cent range, while Great Plains and Pacific Petroleum both lost ⅛.

MONTREAL (CP) — Papers, utilities and metals led a general decline in prices on the Montreal and Canadian stock exchanges Wednesday. Continuing the pattern of the week, banks rose to a new yearly high and oils edged higher.

Trading was moderate among the industrials, at 115,600 shares, and heavy in mines, totalling 665,300 shares.

For the third straight day, the papers section took the heaviest losses. Great Lakes fell ½ to 18⅛, MacLaren B dropped ⅜ to 23 and Price at 51¾ and MacMillan at 17½ both dipped ¼ on volumes of 1,165 and 3,965 shares respectively.

In the depressed base metals, International Nickel fell ½ to 82¾ on a turnover of 6,707 shares. Consolidated Smelters at 22⅜ lost ⅜.

West Coast Transmission V.T.C. fell 1¼ to 15 in the sagging utilities. Calgary Power dropped ½ to 24½.

In banks, Canadienne Nationale advanced ½ to 70½ and Montreal gained ⅜ to 70⅜.

Steels eased.

In mines Lake Dufault fell 20 cents to $5.00. Canadian Collieries dropped to a new low of 5¾, off ¼. Tache Lake was up ½ cent at 26½, and led mining volume with 170,100 shares.

On index, banks rose 0.19 to a new high at 68.69, utilities were off 0.9 at 142.4, industrials off 0.1 at 326.6, combined off 0.4 at 265.2, papers off 2.0 at 489.1 and golds unchanged at 85.97.

Clean Out Old Workings On Slocan Arlington Mine

Aumaque Gold Mines has been active in the search for a new property and in the summer of 1961 an exploration option was taken on the Arlington mine in the Slocan area of British Columbia.

This is a former high grade silver producer which was worked by primitive methods around the turn of the century.

Cleaning out of the old workings as a preliminary step to diamond drilling, is now under way. The possibilities of finding sufficient ore to warrant the installation of a milling plant appear to be favorable, A. W. Johnston, president, states in the annual report.

The company's sheet at April 30, 1961, showed $50,835 cash. In addition there were listed securities with a market value of $13,256. Current liabilities amounted to $1643.

The company has an authorized capitalization of 10,000,000 shares of which 6,625,000 were issued.
