B-52 Shot Down By Accident; Three 'Chute to Safety

Fate of Five Others Not Known; Men on Horseback on Way to Wreck

GRANTS, N.M. (AP) — An F-100 jet fighter plane accidentally shot down a B-52 jet bomber Friday over western New Mexico and the United States Air Force said three men had parachuted from the bomber before it crashed.

The three men were spotted by helicopter crews and were being flown to an Albuquerque hospital.

The air force, meanwhile said eight men were aboard the bomber when it was struck by a Sidewinder missile during a training mission with a New Mexico air national guard F-100.

The wreckage of the bomber was discovered about 15 miles northeast of Mount Taylor Peak, an 11,389-foot landmark in west central New Mexico.

The three survivors were found about 2½ miles northeast of the peak, where they had landed after parachuting from the stricken aircraft.

The fate of the other five men was not known.

Men on horseback were on the way to the crash scene along with men on tractors. There are roads in the general area but they are impassable this time of year. A late spring storm had swept through the area Friday, with snow and rain.

The United States Air Force had two helicopters flying over the area with three C-47 transports.

The crash of the B-52 turned a mock aerial duel high over New Mexico into tragic reality shortly after noon as a New Mexico air national guard F-100 accidentally fired a sidewinder missile into the bomber.

The huge eight-engined bomber crashed into rugged mountain country about 60 miles north of Grants.

The accident occurred as the fighter pilot from the 188th interceptor squadron of the New Mexico air national guard worked with the bomber crew on what the United States Air Force called "an authorized intercept mission."

The fighter had made five training passes at the B-52. Then, on the sixth pass the deadly Sidewinder somehow was released. The heat-seeking missile steered accurately into the bomber's motors.

WOMEN SEEK HIGHER TAX EXEMPTION

OTTAWA (CP) — The Canadian Federaton of University Women Friday asked that a wife be allowed to earn up to $950 before her husband's tax exemption is affected.

In a brief to the government the delegation, headed by Mrs. W. H. Gilleland of Ottawa, the central Canada vice-president complained that the present ceiling for a wife is $250 although other dependents may earn $950.

If a wife's wages exceed $250 her husband's exemption is reduced by the amount she earns.

The federation also asked for an amendment to the income tax act to enable a wife in a family business to have her pay deducted from the taxable income of her employer husband.

It was stated that a husband can claim wages paid other relatives as a business expense but cannot make the same claims for a wife's services.

The taxpayer who must employ full time household help to care for a dependent was the subject of a third amendment proposed in the brief to Finance Minister Fleming.

Union to Test Labor Law

VANCOUVER (CP) — A small union that could afford to lose may be chosen to test a portion of British Columbia's new law that restricts union participation in politics, it was reported Friday.

One section of the law, an amendment to the Labor Relations Act passed at the recent session of the legislature, forbids unions to use membership dues for political purposes.

Another section requires a trade union official to sign a statutory declaration that his union is complying and will continue to comply with the dues portion. Failure to file a declaration could result in a union losing its dues check-off rights.

It is reported that a plan to be put before a meeting of representatives of all affiliates of the 120,000-member B.C. Federation of Labor (CLC) later this month calls for selection of a small union to fight the statutory declaration section of the law.

The union would be one with all its members in one plant and thus could afford to lose its checkoff rights. The court fight, which unionists say could last two years, would be financed by the bulk of the unions in the province.

The union would provoke the court case by refusing to file a declaration.

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union has asked Britain for assurance that an immediate call for a cease-fire in Laos will not delay the opening of a 14-nation peace conference, informed sources said Friday.

SOMEBODY'LL BE WORKIN' ON THE RAILROAD—On the Northern Pacific, some 10 miles west of Ellensburg, Wash., that is. There are nearly 40 freight cars off the rails along this horseshoe curve which follows the Yakima River.

Gas Hearings Adjourned To April 14

VANCOUVER (CP) — A public utilities commission hearing in which four companies are seeking a certificate of convenience to distribute natural gas in the East Kootenay Friday was adjourned until April 14.

During the four-day hearing Inland Natural Gas Company, Cascade Utilities Limited, Great Northern Gas Utilities and Kootenay Gas Utilities Limited completed their cross-examinations on the various submissions.

Next Friday's hearing will be taken up with final submissions by counsel for the companies.

South Africa Stands Accused

UNITED NATIONS (CP) — A resolution accusing South Africa of imposing a reign of tyranny and racial terror over South-West Africa, a trust territory, was adopted without a dissenting vote by the United Nations General Assembly Friday.

Then the assembly's 99-member special political committee indulged in a 2½-hour chorus of condemnation on South Africa's apartheid but postponed vote on the subject until Monday.

So many delegations spoke in "explanation of vote" that the committee never got to the vote itself. It was indicated in the debate that South Africa will be bereft of Commonwealth support when the roll-call does come.

The resolution on South-West Africa, a huge former German territory under South African rule by virtue of an old League of Nations mandate, was approved by a vote of 84 to 0 with eight abstentions.

NATO Nuclear Partnership Asked

CAMBRIDGE, Mass, (CP) — Prime Minister Macmillan called Friday night for a NATO nuclear partnership, cementing of Europe's two rival trade blocs and expansion of trade and credit with the aim of better unifying the free world against communism.

"Unless we work for greater unity, we shall slide into division," the British leader said in an address to the centenary of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. "The time is short. Let there be no delay."

Macmillan, who winds up his talks with President Kennedy today suggested the West now may have sufficient nuclear power. With an apparent reference to the independent nuclear build-up in France, he warned against "wasteful duplication."

Two Jailed for Doctoring Coins

VANCOUVER (CP) — Two men were jailed for two years Friday on charges of doctoring coins in what prosecutor Stewart McMorran said would have been a $500,000 swindle if successful.

Paul Pankowe, 31, and John Romaniuk, 35, earlier pleaded not guilty to the charges.

The prosecutor said Pankowe was convicted in 1949 in the kidnapping of 66-year-old engraver Ernie Conduit who was chained to a bed for five days while masked men tried to scare him into helping with a counterfeiting plan.

The prosecutor added that if the coin plan was successful coin collectors would have been defrauded out of $500,000.

Swift Settlement In Congo Possible

By PETER GROSE

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (AP) — Congo central government and rebel leaders will meet Sunday in neutral Congolese territory to negotiate political and military differences.

Gen. Joseph Mobutu, military strongman of the Leopoldville government announced arrangements to meet the rebel commander in Oriental Province, Gen Victor Lundula, at Bumba, a river town on the neutral border between Equator and Oriental provinces.

Jean Balikongo, vice-premier of the Leopoldville regime, disclosed he will meet the Stanleyville rebel leader, Antoine Gizenga, the same day at the jungle village of Bundoki, about 30 miles from Bumba, on the same border.

The developments, indicating the possibility of an all-Congo settlement, followed swiftly a gesture by the central government toward reconciliation. The government lifted its four-month blockade of rebel Oriental and Kivu provinces.

HEADED BY GIZENGA

Taking part in the political talks will be Leopoldville Interior Minister Cyrille Adoula and Cleophas Kamitatu, the central government emissary who made contact early this week with Gizenga's regime. Gizenga himself is expected to head the rebel negotiators.

Economics Minister Jean-Pierre Dericoyard told a press conference that valuable copper shipments from the mines of Katanga Province, where secessionist President Tshombe holds sway, now are being routed through Portuguese Angola, depriving the central government of foreign exchange which would be realized if the ore went through a Congolese port.

But Tshombe is having his own economic troubles, Dericoyard said. Tshombe has forbidden sale of locally-produced goods to the rest of The Congo unless the payment is in his own Katanga francs, the currency he adopted early this year to demonstrate independence of the central government and bank, Dericoyard said. The ban cut off the supply of The Congo's most popular cigarets, the Belgas, produced in Katanga. For a month no Belgas have been shipped to Leopoldville.

In Elisabethville Friday night the Katanga government announced that its forces have captured the rebel-held town of Kabala in the northern part of the province.

There was no immediate UN reaction despite the fact that about 100 Ethiopian UN troops are in Kabalo.

Capture of the town — 400 miles north of here—is a further step in the Katanga Army's drive through northern Katanga wiping out resistance pockets.

A UN spokesman reported that some city traders are supplying the UN with fresh foodstuffs again—"but a partial boycott still seems to be operating."

Earlier, UN personnel were reported running short of fresh food such as bread and meat and relying on "UN supplies and C-rations."

The boycott was ordered by Tshombe as part of his demand for "general sabotage" against the UN. Although Tshombe has given assurances this demand had been rescinded, no official announcement to this effect has been made. Shops, restaurants and cafes still refuse service to UN personnel.

DOLLAR LOWER

NEW YORK (CP) — Canadian dollar 3-64 lower at $1.01 1-16 in terms of U. S. funds. Pound sterling 3-32 lower at $2.79⅞.

BED PUSHED 300 MILES

PENTICTON (CP) — Fifteen tired teenagers pushing a bed arrived back in Penticton Thursday night after completing a 300-mile return trip to Kamloops in approximately 60 hours.

The boys on both laps of their journey ran into difficulties. One bicycle wheel of their bed came off and it was necessary to carry one side of the bed for a considerable distance into Kamloops.

They ran into the same difficulty coming back, finally ending up with a three-wheel vehicle.

The boys said that everyone along the route treated them very well. Gas for the accompanying cars was supplied by both Kelowna and Penticton service stations. Cafes supplied food and refreshments.

The boys had to pay 50 cents each way on the Okanagan Lake Bridge.

The journey north took 24 hours but 27 were needed for the trip home.

Strange Flashes Reported in Sky

KAMLOOPS (CP) — Mysterious flashes in the early morning sky were reported over a wide area of the Interior of British Columbia Friday.

Residents of such widely scattered points as Vernon, Kamloops, Revelstoke and Salmon Arm reported brilliant flashes followed by a low, rumbling explosion.

An RCAF aircraft investigated a report of a flash and explosion in the sky over Bowen Island, near Vancouver, about 7:30 a.m. but found nothing.

Several tug boat operators reported the flashes.

An RCMP constable in Vernon said a brilliant blue light lit up the sky for 30 seconds around 4:15 a.m.

A Revestoke railway worker said a plume of smoke stayed in the sky for about an hour after the explosion.

Explanations for the phenomenon were sought from the RCAF and interior radar and telescope stations but none were forthcoming.

Layoffs Planned At Oakalla

VANCOUVER (CP)—A spokesman for 50 employees at Oakalla prison farm in suburban Burnaby who have been laid off or face layoffs later this year said Friday the Provincial government economy move will leave the prison with only one guard for every five inmates. He said the proper ratio for efficient operation of the jail is one officer for every three prisoners.

Attorney General Bonner earlier this week announced layoffs of 30 men at the prison immediately to keep costs within the $2,500,000 budget. A further 20 officers will be laid off in the fall.

There are just over 300 employees at present and about 1200 prisoners at the jail. In addition to taking care of the prison inmates, the staff has to perform services for other penal institutions in the province, making the true ratio higher.

Warden Hugh Christie said Friday the 12-man perimeter guard will have to be eliminated in view of the staff cuts and rehabilitation work will have to be cut down.

He said it is hoped some voluntary help can be enlisted to help out with rehabilitation work.

2 Murder Cases On Vernon Dock

VERNON (CP) — Two murder charges top the criminal docket at the Spring Assizes opening here April 24.

Edward Drachenberg of Kelowna is charged with the Nov. 10 death of his wife, while David Thomas of Salmon Arm is accused of murdering Lizzie Moyese Dec. 23.

James Tooley of Vernon and Arthur M. Bregoliss of Kelowna are charged with manslaughter in the death of Patrick Wilson in a street brawl here Dec. 10.

Doukhobors Peter Astaforoff, Mary Astaforoff and Nastia Hadikin of Grand Forks face an arson charge following the burning of a house in the interior city Jan. 1.

At least two other cases will be heard. No judge has yet been named to preside over the court.

Higher Gasoline Tax Looms for Manitoba

WINNIPEG (CP) — Premier Duff Roblin announced Friday night he will ask for increases in Manitoba's gasoline and road-use diesel fuel taxes as he presented his government's 1961-62 budget which provides for revenues totalling $105,773,400.

Mr. Roblin, who doubles as provincial treasurer, earlier this session tabled estimates outlining spending for the year totalling $103,856,514.

He said the government proposes a three-cent increase in gasoline tax to 14 cents a gallon. The proposed increase on diesel fuel will be six cents bringing it to 17 cents a gallon.

The premier said the changes will bring Manitoba's taxes on these commodities in line with the rates in other provinces.

He said the increase had been sparked by a report of a recent study of Manitoba road needs which "indicates the necessity for an entirely new approach . . . and that we must be prepared to invest funds in our highway system for a good many years at a level beyond anything previously contemplated."

He said the present charges for road use are inadequate to meet this new demand and do not place the burden where it properly belongs.

He said the increase in gasoline and diesel fuel taxes will result in an increase of revenue of about $5,000,000 bringing the total estimated revenue from these sources to $20,725,000.

TONGAY VISITS MONASTERY

VINA, Calif. (AP) — Russell Tongay, released from a Florida prison March 31, came to the Trappist monastery Friday but not to join the order.

"He will spend two weeks here as a guest of the monastery but he definitely will not be entering our community here or any other community of our order," a monastery spokesman said.

"He is trying to get oriented, to figure out what he is going to do and plan his life for the future."

Tongay was sentenced to 10 years in prison for manslaughter in 1955 after the death of his five year old daughter Kathy in a 33-foot dive. Kathy and her brother, Dubba, were the Aquatot swimming prodigies.

CCC Urges Lower Personal, Corporation Income Tax

OTTAWA (CP) — The Canadian Chamber of Commerce, advocating federal deficit financing in the 1961-62 budget, today urged lower personal and corporation income taxes.

The chamber said in an 84-page pre-budget brief to Finance Minister Fleming and Revenue Minister Nowlan that it opposes deficit financing "in normal circumstances," but added that a cash deficit now is appropriate.

It forecast a "substantial" government deficit in the federal year that started April 1.

The chamber's suggestions were part of a broad recommendation for federal co-ordination of all aspects of economic policy to lay the groundwork for increased economic growth.

It added: "It is recognized, of course, that business itself must take responsibility in various fields, but in many areas the initiative lies with the government."

The offensive to produce economic growth, it said, must be designed to stimulate employment, correct season unemployment.

Referring to deficit financing, the chamber's brief said that at present a budgetary deficit would be designed "to give temporary support to the economy and to prevent the development of a deflationary spiral during the period of readjustment."

The brief expressed the view of the chamber's executive council that there is no present need for "a massive injection of purchasing power" into the economy, suggesting that tax cuts would fill the need for more consumer buying power.

On tax reductions, it recommended:

1. A limited temporary reduction in the personal income tax in the form of a tax holiday or a reduction in the tax rate.

2. A reduction in the corporation income tax rate to stimulate business activity.

3. Government incentives to business to invest more in machinery and equipment and research. This would take the form of a $15,000 deduction from taxable income for every $10,000 spent on research, engineering and design.

And in This Corner . . .

MOSCOW (AP) — For years the official newspaper of Soviet Youth. Komsomol Pravda, has been blasting jazz as a capitalistic evil. Now it proposes what amounts to a network of jazz night clubs throughout the Soviet Union.

Komsomol Pravda says the string of new cafes should be decorated in a light and gay manner, with tables along the walls, sunken dance floors and platforms for student jazz bands.

The article concludes with a plea that the establishments avoid trite names as "youth" or "friendship" clubs and adopt names with "rather unusual flavor."

LONDON (AP) — Just as detectives hoped he would, Polly Jolley talked his way out of a kidnapping.

Polly, a parrot, was stolen with a flock of 200 rare birds from a private zoo at the weekend. He turned up Wednesday in the pets' corner of a London department store.

He was squawking: "Hey, diddle diddle . . . Baa, baa, black sheep, have you any wool?"

Then he chuckled and screamed his name and address. A stock clerk, who had read newspaper reports that the missing Amazon parrot was able to recite nursery rhymes and repeat his name and address, called the police.

The manager of the pets department said the birds had been bought from a bird dealer at Egham, in Surrey.

Detectives followed the trail back and found he had also bought the birds from another man.

Detectives are now questioning a man in Southampton.

And Polly Jolley and the other birds are now back in their private zoo at the Beak Hall bird farm at Hockcliffe.

B.C. Not Getting "Worst of the Bargain"

WENATCHEE, Wash. (AP) — British Columbia Lands and Forests Minister Williston said Friday the Canadian public has been misled and that it is not true that Canada is getting the "worst of the bargain" in the proposed Columbia River development treaty with the United States.

"Everyone in Canada closely associated with the treaty feels that a very fair and advantageous agreement has been reached by the two countries," he said.

In an address to the Northwest Public Power Association, Williston said the Canadian public had been led by press statements in the United States to believe otherwise.

He said that at one press conference former president Dwight Eisenhower held in Denver "tabulated information tended to show there was not a 50-50 division of the power benefits created, but that a far greater return has been secured by the United States."

In Canada, he said, it has not been the policy of the federal authority to make money available at a comparatively cheap interest rate for large projects in the national interest.

"There is one field in which our federal administration might well follow the example which has been set by the government of the United States."

British Columbia proposed two alternatives, either for the federal government to build the Arrow Lakes—Mica Dam—Duncan Lake projects and provide fair compensation in the area affected, or for the province to build them with assurance that the cost of delivered power at the major load centres would not be more than 4.25 mills.

"There is no indication that an amicable agreement cannot be reached," he commented.

Williston also declared untrue the "rumor" that British Columbia is more interested in developing Peace River than the Columbia River. It has never had any foundation except in political arguments against the government in power, he said.

It was true, however, that in the first years there would be a power surplus available for export.

"If the federal Canadian policy remains adamant that no export be allowed into the United States, the resulting development of both the power resources and the country will be delayed," he said.

Willston said that engineering should reach final stages on the projects before a signature is placed on the treaty.

"There would be no point in agreeing to fulfill an obligation which later proves impossible to achieve," he said.

New KFP Plant Under Construction

Research, the key to utilization and the door to stable marketing is becoming an integral part of modern forest product operations.

At Kootenay Forest Products Ltd., research has the objective of improving basic product lines and developing new products to expand sales without cutting more timber from the woods. To accomplish this, KFP has been active in the developing of new products and processes that will provide a greater number of products and, at the same time, increase the company's competitive position through up-grading low value lumber products.

KFP decided early in 1961 to construct the first stage of a building which will house gluing equipment for manufacturing new products and provide storage for the lumber to be used in their processing. Construction of the first stage of this building is expected to be completed sometime in June. After preliminary production it is anticipated that the factory building will be extended to accommodate more equipment and a larger production.

The building has been designed so that, as it is expanded, it will accommodate an overhead crane which will transport all the lumber to and from the gluing machines.

The first products that will be produced in this new plant will be laminated decking and laminated panelling. By using the correct combination of low and high grade lumber, the company will be able to produce superior products by laminating and market them at competitive prices, it is explained.

All production and quality control equipment is being designed by KFP personnel and fabricated in company shops. KFP expects in the next several years to expand new product lines to laminated beams and laminated special purpose panels for both structural and decorative uses.

In recent years, substitute products have been able to take away from markets that were traditionally lumber markets. This has caused "much concern" to all lumber manufacturers. KFP officials said Friday they believe glued wood products that are well engineered and are well promoted and marketed will recapture many of these markets for wood.

Oil Kings, Rangers Open Semis Monday

EDMONTON (CP) — The best of seven Memorial Cup hockey semi-final series between Edmonton Oil Kings and Winnipeg April 10, Art Potter, vice-president of the CAHA, announced here Friday night.

He said the second game will be played in Winnipeg April 12 with the third and fourth games in Edmonton April 15 and 17.

How the series stands after the fourth game will decide whether another game would be played in Edmonton.

Windermere Club Has Dance Group

INVERMERE — Windermere Community Club is sponsoring a square dance group under the tuition of Mr. and Mrs. R. Dearin.

Dances will be held on alternate Fridays.

School Monday, Oh Happy Day

"It's back to school, tra-la," is the happy thought coursing through the minds of little moppets as they lie misty-eyed in their beds this weekend dreaming of homework, teachers and books.

The 10-day holiday that started March 31 is the last breather for students before the final examinations in June. Monday sees them all back in their class rooms.

Most students wrote examinations before Easter so they have been able to enjoy themselves with a clear conscience. For junior high school students, however, the holiday was a chance to do some uninterrupted studies for the tests coming up when classes reconvene.

CLOSE INSPECTION of uniforms is the rule, Nelson's newest boy's group, the Navy League Cadets, learned early. Here Petty Officer (2nd class) Phillips inspects cadet's lanyard. The boys range in age from 12 to 14 years, and may join the older Sea Cadets at 14. Training is aboard the Hampton Gray VC quarters in the post office.

Man Product of System, Rotary Panelists Agree

Soft living and the cult of the organizations man has transformed North Americans into moral and spiritual cretins was the verdict of a panel discussion at the Friday meeting of the Rotary Club.

The discussion centred around a 45-minute tape of a speech given by Dr. William Moyer, a psychiatrist, at a meeting in Hawaii last year to probe the reasons for the moral decay that had taken place among American prisoners of war in Korea.

In the case in point 700 men whose combat officers had been killed surrendered to the Chinese. Because of the psychloogy used by the Chinese commandant — he told the soldiers they were fighting for the Wall Street capitalists; that he had no wish to ill treat them, they were throwing their lives away for nothing and so on — discipline became nonexistent, they murdered fellow prisoners for food and informed on each other to gain favors.

R. J. Grinsted felt that soft life and bad training was the major cause of the decay. The astonishing thing about it, he said, was that the group of prisoners "were a cross-section of American society from coast to coast." Drawing on his own military experience he failed to find any reason for the breakdown. He put the blame on the soldiers as individuals who should have stuck together and helped each other.

In direct contradiction the three other members of the panel, R. Blake Allan, M. N. Brandon and Dr. John G. McMurchy felt the blame rested on society as a whole.

PRODUCTS OF SYSTEM

Mr. Brandon felt the men were products of the system under which we live. "We are becoming less and less tolerant of personal discomforts," he stated. The rugged individualist is dying out. This means there is no one to take the responsibility or with the imagination to make decisions.

"Witness the big corporations. Here the decisions are made by boards of directors, while the managing is done by personality boys whose sole qualifications are that they know how to be popular. Thus we see weakness of command as a product of the system."

Dr. McMurchy and Mr. Allan agreed the "every man for himself" policy was a weakness produced by the system in which the individual thinks only of his own comforts, not of his fellows.

These last three felt that the greatest blame lay on the system which produced the men rather than the men themselves.

In other business conducted at the meeting, three new members were added to the Rotarian roster. They were J. M. Morley, Helmuth Mayrhofer and R. Bain Oliver.

Guests were Ray West of Oliver, who will shortly take up residence in Nelson, Dick Wheatly and Cy Foiler of Vancouver and Herb Peacock of Penticton.

Names were collected during the meeting to be sent to the Nelson Maple Leafs in Winnipeg, encouraging them toward the Patton Cup.

R. A. Lowe Heads Trail Red Cross

TRAIL — A meeting of the Trail branch of the Canadian Red Cross saw the election of R. A. "Bob" Lowe to the presidency and the addition of two new vice presidents to the executive.

The election resulted from the resignation of G. L. "Flip" Fillippelli. In tendering his resignation Mr. Fillippelli expressed regrets at finding it necessary to make such a move but explained that new duties with Cominco and a pending move from the district motivated his action.

Accepting the resignation, C. A. Macbey, speaking for the executive, wished the retiring president well in his new work and voiced regrets at losing him. He also lauded Mr. Fillippelli's past efforts on behalf of the Red Cross and in particular the exceptional work he had done in earlier years as chairman of the local blood donor clinics. The new vice presidents elected to the executive are D. M. R. "Danny" Williamson and R. J. "Dick" Thompson.

In business, prior to the election of the new officers, the dates for the annual Trail blood donors clinic were announced as June 21, 22 and 23.

As was the case last year, the clinic will operate in the afternoons and evenings only. The drive is to be under chairmanship of Jack Reid, assisted by Ron Hall and Lou Halliday.

Interim reports were presented by various committee chairmen. Mrs. Rose Kumorek for the "home nursing" committee expressed regret that, due to the inability of interest qualified personnel to head up the class, plans for a spring course had been abandoned. Every effort was being made to assure a fall class, however.

Mrs. Colin Guillaume, speaking for the loan cuboard committee, advised that her group was still very active and expressed the hope that a sponsoring group could be found to supply an additional wheel chair.

Arnold Calder reported on the annual meeting of the B.C. branch of the Red Cross which he attended in Vancouver. Key speaker at this meeting was General Alfred Gruenther, head of the American Red Cross, and former Supreme Commander of NATO forces in Europe.

FAIR CONDITION

VANCOUVER (CP)— Murray Stanley, 33 of Kincolith, near Prince Rupert, was reported in fair condition in hospital here today with head injuries suffered during a fight last weekend. Meanwhile, RCMP at Prince Rupert have charged Roger Norman of Kincolith with assault causing bodily harm as a result of the incident.

Nelson Artist's Work to Be Exhibited at Coast

A one-man exhibition of paintings by Zeljco Kujundzic, principal of the Nelson Art School, will be held in the New Design Gallery in Vancouver from April 20 to May 6.

Mr. Kujundzic, whose work is well-known in art circles both in Europe and North America, has exhibited widely in both continents.

The show will be opened April 20 by Dean Geoffrey Andrew, University of B.C. The same evening Dean and Mrs. Andrew will entertain at dinner for Mr. and Mrs. Kujundzic.

Auctioneers Again in Action Today

One hundred and ninety articles of furniture, including dressing tables, beds, chairs, writing desks and mattresses will go on the auction block today to raise money for Nelson Kiwanis and Silver King Ski clubs' community and winter ski tourism projects.

Kiwanis vice-president Don Appleton, successor to J. W. McClelland as chairman of the joint auction, said Friday many beds (including mattresses) will be sold at the auction.

Mr. Appleton and Roger Bell are in charge of the cash register committee and will also dispatch the clerks who help carry out the business transactions while moving through the crowd.

Lorne M. Craig and Joseph Kary will be auctioneers.

Scene of the auction will be the parking lot of the Hume Hotel, which will be fenced by rope to provide an enclosure. The buyers will have an opportunity to inspect the articles of furniture before the sale and as the auction proceeds.

Silver King Ski Club members expected to take part in the sale include Barry Ferguson, Randy Mulcaster, Earl Hooker and Walter Palmer.

Club members have moved all furniture to be sold from the third floor of the hotel to the basement. The articles are scheduled to be moved to the parking lot today before the auction commences.

The sale will be the second jointly-sponsored project by the two clubs. The first auction last fall earned about $400.

New Building, Expansion Programs Get Under Way

Fine weather has brought a sudden surge of building activity in Nelson with plans for two modern service stations off the drawing boards, construction begun, and the design for a new modern building which will be added to the main Baker Street throughfare is in the finishing stages.

Builders of the new service stations are the Shell Oil Company of Canada Limited, and the Standard Oily Company of B.C. Ltd.

J. T. (Tex) Mowatt, of Nelson, is putting up the new Baker Street structure, designed by David P. Fairbank, Nelson architect.

At the same time the demolition of two frame houses on a site next to the plant of the News Publishing Company at the westerly end of Baker Street has ended. This work makes way for enlargement of a third service station, Gordon's Texaco Service at 206 Baker Street. A parking lot will be finished by mid-summer.

Mr. Mowatt said Friday night he expects to announce final plans for his building at the early part of next week. Excavation work was begun Friday to lower the ground to about 10 feet six inches below sidewalk level. The building will occupy the area between the McCulloch Building which houses the Chamber of Mines of Southeastern B.C. office, and another building which is occupied at the 357 Baker Street address by Kootenay Plumbing and Heating Company Ltd.

Mr. Mowatt said the undertaking will be his sixth construction project in Nelson since coming to the city about 15 years ago. He operates the J. T. Mowatt and Company Ltd. typewriter and repair business here, and put up his first building at the age of 18.

CALIFORNIA STYLE

A $23,000 California-style service station complete with canopy-over-pump island will be complete about June 1 at Hall Mines Road and Kootenay Street. Contract for the job was awarded to Nelson building contractor Louis Maglio.

Standard Oil Company of B.C. Ltd., owner of the new station, has designated it a Chevron station because it will be operated by a lessee, not yet named. The building is of the latest design with the roof extending as a canopy over the outside edge of the two-pump island. Garage, painted in new colors of red, white and blue, will be composed of a two-bay area with one hoist and one flat work space.

Paul Corcoran, new Nelson branch manager for the the Standard company and a former resident of Victoria, said the location at Hall Mines Road and Kootenay Street is considered to be "one of the best in town."

A Shell Oil Company of Canada service station on Nelson Avenue opposite the Hume Elementary School of long-standing service to the city has been completely torn down to make way for a larger and more modern outlet. It will be rebuilt by the same company.

Louis Maglio Contractors also have the contract to build the station, which will be of modern design. Value of the proposed business was not available Friday.

Crews are nearing the end of the demolition of the familiar old Nelson Avenue land mark and lumber scraps were burned on Thursday and Friday under inspection of Fire Chief E. S. Owens.

J. M. Skellern, Shell Company representative in Nelson, is directing the construction of the new outlet.

Nearing completion are the B. C. Telephone building at the corner of Stanley and Victoria Streets, which will house million-dollar automatic equipment; and the B. C. Department of Highways addition on Front Street.

Post Office Revenue Up

Post office transactions were up slightly in March over the same month last year. Receipts and disbursments were $185,060 compared with $183,947 a year ago.

Sale of stamps and supplies accounted for $11,328 against $10,659 in March, 1960. Other revenue such as box rentals netted $882 compared with $1010 a year ago.

The number of money orders issued and number paid were, respectively, 4030 and 4541 this March. The respective figures for last year were 4064 and 4271.

Mrs. Samsonoff Passes at 81

A district pioneer, Mrs. Katty Samsonoff, 81, died in Nelson Wednesday.

She was born in Russia in 1879 and came to Canora, Saskatchewan in 1898 where she married. In 1910 she came to Brilliant and lived there until 1928, when she moved to Slocan Park. She had been living in Nelson since 1959.

Mrs. Samsonoff is survived by two sons, Nick, Slocan Park; Mike, Nelson; one daughter, Mrs. Mary Juraloff, Slocan Park; six grandchildren and four great grandchildren.

ASK MOURNING DOVES BE MADE GAME BIRDS

VERNON (CP) — A resolution that mourning doves be considered game birds and targets of an open shooting season will be one of the many discussed by 100 delegates attending the annual meeting of the Okanagan and Yale-Similkameen zones of the B. C. Fish and Game Association Saturday.

There is already an open season on mourning doves in some game management areas following an American theory that shooting causes them to reproduce more vigorously.

Other resolutions ask that pheasant hunting hours remain unchanged but the daily bag be increased to three with the season total remaining at 10 birds.

Pays $10 Fine

J. A. Sexsmith of Balfour was fined $10 for crossing a double line on the highway when he appeared in provincial court this week. He pleaded guilty before stipendiary magistrate Willam Evans.

ELECTRIC RAILWAY

A $480,000,000 system of electric railways, running 310 miles from Tokyo to Osaka, will be opened in Japan in 1965.

Iron Foundries Trace Origins Back to 1737

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

Canada Iron Foundries Ltd., Montreal-based industrial complex, traces its origins "in a straight line" from a blast furnace which went into operation near Trois Rivieres in New France in 1737, and whose product was sold at the king's stores in Quebec at 25 to 30 beaver skins per hundredweight.

As recorded in a new illustrated booklet entitled The Story of the Canada Iron Companies, the present name dates from 1915 and the company now heads 10 other companies and has 19 plants and numerous sales offices and warehouses across Canada. Sales in 1960 totalled $101,346,000.

Subsidiaries are C. W. Carry Ltd., Edmonton; Calgary Structural Steel Ltd.; Western Bridge and Steel Fabricators Ltd., Vancouver; and Dominion Structural Steel Ltd., Pressure Pipe Ltd., Tamper Ltd., Railways and Power Engineering Corporation Ltd., Paper Machinery Ltd., Paper Mill Equipment, Ltd., and C. M. Lovsted and Co. (Canada) Ltd., all with Montreal head offices.

The salesmen's division of the Vancouver real estate board has asked Public Works Minister Walker that the maximum home improvement loan obtainable under the National Housing Act be increased to $8,000, compared with a present maximum of $4,000 for a single-family dwelling, and that the amount be repayable over a period of 12 years.

The division also asks for guarantees for mortgages on existing homes, similar to NHA loans for building new ones.

Outlining the suggestions in a recent address, Dennis Shaw, president-elect of the division, said neither requires subsidy or expenditure of public funds and both are self-liquidating.

Jobless Figures at Year's Peak

CRANBROOK — Peak figure for unemployment this season was noted the last week in March at the Cranbrook office of the National Employment Service, covering the area from Elko to Kootenay Lake and north to Parson.

The list numbers 1,807 unplaced applicants at the end of March, the year's peak so far by a substantial margin. Tally was up 79 persons during the week.

Accounting for much of the high figure is seasonal layoff of bush workers for the spring run-off period, which lasts from six to eight weeks usually. Mill and planer workers at the centres through the area are continuing work in general with excellent stockpiles of logs or lumber for continued plant operations.

Analysis of the figure shows 1,535 men and 272 women listed. Total listings for the date a year ago were 1,759, of whom 1,441 were men and 318 women.

Programmes Branch Aims Shown at Meet

INVERMERE — Jon McKinnon of Cranbrook, recreation commission director for East Kootenay, addressed a zone meeting at Windermere attended by recreation commission representatives from Canal Flat, Radium, Windermere and Invermere.

Mr. McKinnon described aims and activities of the Community Programmes Branch, mentioning particularly leadership training and the possibility of a Kootenay Training School for leaders.

It was thought that East Kootenay communities would benefit by more intercommunity meetings with Recreation Commission executives.

Arrangements will be made for representatives to attend the annual Community Programme's Branch meeting in Cranbrook late this spring.

CRESTON FOREST ASSOCIATION INCORPORATED

CRESTON — Timber rights will be protected in the Creston area with formation of an incorporated society.

Creston Forest Association recently was incorporated as a society with its object to protect members' quotas; ensure as far as possible members are able to obtain timber up to their quotas; to act for the members in anything affecting timber operations in the Creston Sustained-yield Units.

LIBRARY BOARD NOW COMPLETE

CRANBROOK — Cranbrook Library Board election has been completed with C. W. Beasely chairman, Mrs. G. M. Robertson vice-chairman, Donald Miller treasurer and Mrs. Ronald Dale secretary, with directors Denis Horobin, G. A. Havers, Mrs. R. W. Slye, Mrs. M. C. Pennington and Mrs. T. E. Roulston.

The board has decided to resort to small debts court action for compensation of missing books if borrowers continue neglecting to return them.

Despite the daily afternoon borrowing service which has been in effect with a staff of volunteer librarians and limited facilities, the space problem is becoming more acute at the library location in the provincial government building. This is partly due to gradual establishment of a reference section from which books cannot be borrowed. High school students are finding this section of use in their studies and making heavy use of it.

Teaching Staff Resignations Announced

CRANBROOK — One year leave-of-absence for Gordon Walmsley, physical education instructor at Mount Baker School, was approved by Cranbrook District School Board. Mr. Walmsley will spend the year studying at University of British Columbia.

Teaching staff resignations effective in June have been received from Mrs. F. W. Purvis and Mrs. Olive Johnston, both home economics instructors at Mount Baker School, Miss Anne Briggs of Tenth Avenue School, Mrs. Catherine Rounsville of Amy Woodland Elementary School, and Edward C. Holman, music supervisor of elementary schools, who is returning to England after two years in Canada. T. A. Phillips was appointed night school supervisor for the 1961-62 school year.

The board also confirmed appointment of Mrs. Robert Berger as custodian of the Wardner elementary school, succeeding Mrs. John Koski, who is leaving the district.

BLACKFAULDS OLDTIMER DIES AT CRANBROOK

CRANBROOK — Longtime former resident of Blackfaulds, Alta. Mrs. Florence Jane McKay, died suddenly in Cranbrook. She was 80 years old and was born at Elderslie, Bruce County, Ont., but most of her life had been spent at Blackfaulds. She had come here three months ago to make her home with her son, Harold McKay. Also surviving are four sisters, Mrs. Margaret Breed of Vancouver, Mrs. Ida Currie of Toronto and Mrs. Mary Miller and Mrs. Annie Farewell of Blackfaulds.

The body has been shipped to Blackfaulds for funeral service and burial.

WINDERMERE DISTRICT GIVES $602 TO FUND

INVERMERE — Invermere Kinsmen Club has announced $602.33 collected in the Windermere District as proceeds of their annual "Mother's March" for crippled children and polio prevention and rehabilitation. This is an increase of $85 over 1960 donations.

A breakdown credits separate valley communities: Invermere $196.19; Edgewater $66.52; Wilmer $31.17; Athalmer $64.25; Toby Creek $15.40; Windermere $14; Radium $21; Canal Flat $128.38.

Campaign chairman was Stanley Frater.

Hospital Auxiliary Becomes Society

CRESTON VALLEY — Erickson Auxiliary to the Creston Valley Hospital recently was incorporated as a Society under the Societies Act.

Objects of the society are to add to the comfort and welfare of hospital patients; to raise funds by any means having the approval of the board of management of the hospital; foster good relations between the hospital and general public; and to generally co-operate with the board of management and the officers of the hospital.

The Bomb Still Necessary Evil

It is probably true that many of those who took part in the Ban-the-Bomb marches are idealists who sincerely believe that if America and Britain gave up the use of atomic weapons then Russia would follow suit and the horrors of atomic war averted.

On the other hand there may be some like Bertrand Russell whose life has been spent in espousing unpopular causes principally perhaps because they need to express their personalities.

And yet again there may be many who simply went along for the ride and among these must be counted the many young men and women carried away by a cause to which they have given little consideration.

But when all is said and done it may be just atavistic instincts manifesting themselves at the Spring of the year. The sunrise Easter Day celebration at English Bay is not Christian but was performed back in dim ages long before the birth of Christ. In some communities it is the custom to climb a high hill at this time of the year and it may be purely coincidental that Sons of Freedom strip in the spring, but history records that Russian communities used to mark the disappearance of the snows of winter by mass strippings.

The Ban-the-Bomb march has an antecedent in the Crusades. Here, too, idealism led the way. It seemed a noble thing to free the Holy Land from the infidel and the Crusades may have achieved some good, but they were an evidence of mass hysteria which culminated in the Children's Crusade. It seems inconceivable now that children could be drawn from all across Europe to die or become slaves before they ever reached the shores of Palestine, but the Bomb marchers have given little thought to what would happen if it were banned.

No one wants the hydrogen bomb used, everyone would be much happier perhaps if it had never been invented, but now that the world has it, it must adjust to its implications.

It is safe to say that if the West did not have it, Russia would, and if Russia gave up the use of it China would not. Mr. Macmillan coined the phrase the "wind of change" but even he did not foresee all the changes which are taking place.

The U.N., on which so much of the world pinned its hopes for peace, has degenarated into a series of blocs most of which are anti-white and it is becoming evident that in the not too distant future the struggle for supremacy will be by the Communist Asian countries against the Europeans — including Russia. If and when that happens it will be well for the West that it has the hydrogen bomb. China openly says that she can afford to lose half of her 600,000,000 people and still rule the world.

In the meantime the hydrogen bomb keeps the peace of the world. No country at present dares to contemplate war lest it unleashes all the horrors of atomic war. Despite everything the West cannot afford to ban the bomb.

Starlings Anonymous

We have followed with great interest the battle of the starlings which goes on endlessly in parts of the world.

The English have failed, miserably, in London with efforts to shoo the little building destroyers away from the metropolis. They have used everything from electric grids to bagpipes, have been frustrated by bird lovers who won't permit poison and shooting, and have wound up with the starlings in full command. What Hitler couldn't do once, the invading starlings do each night.

Now the United States proposes to mount an attack. Here is a challenge to American Know-How. And the Americans must be given marks for ingenuity and a real American gimmick —

A miceky.

The idea, to keep the birds away from airport runways, is to mix them a Mickey Finn in their natural food along the air strips. This, it is reasoned, would make the bird too tipsy to fly or too hung-over to want to. Then the bird would go away.

Want to bet?

Starlings Anonymous may be the result of the attempt to lead the birds to liquor. It may also prove that a starling with a load on may think it is an American eagle and take after the planes. This starling is a tough fellow.

We wonder about this serving of liquor. Will it come under state laws? Will they be served drinks before 11 a.m. and after 11 p.m.?

We can imagine the sour observations of humans stranded in a town and thirsty after closing hours. "Only a starling can get a drink in this burg."

It is worth a try. But only an incurable optimist will expect success.

—Calgary Herald.

The Wonder in Words

With that sad and sophisticated expression that monkeys reserve for the achievements of upstart civilization, the passenger on the Redstone Rocket peered from his space capsule while a photographer caught the curious blend of the primordial and futuristic. That was weeks ago. But the news in the picture was not the sort that fades like newspaper print.

It is more like the news in a great work of art—an influence that impels reflection, that asks a creative response. It reminds us that for human beings experience tends to remain incomplete without a telling of it.

Among the differences between mankind and beasts, this is one. The monkey's wise and even disdainful look does not deceive us that he is much the wiser for the trip

Some may ask whether we are much the wiser. The answer is that we shall be, when we have exchanged with one another the multiplicity of thoughts that it evokes.

It is unlikely the monkey will exchange his new thoughts, if any, with the older thoughts of monkeys whose space exploits have remained more or less at the same arboreal altitudes for monkeys' years. And this seems a pity from a simian point of view.

The power to communicate in this way, to build others' experience into our thoughts and others' thoughts into our experience, is, so far as we know, a peculiarly human capability. So the monkey looks out of his capsule window and we look in at him. He is silent. And, perhaps, so are we; but not for long.

Duncan Lake Labor Rumors Corrected

To the Editor:

Sir—I have been asked to comment on a rumor that local labor is failing to find a place in the "large labor force of upwards of 150 men employed by B. C. Hydro in engineering investigations at Duncan Lake".

The facts are that 42 men are presently employed in the area. Only one is a B. C. Hydro man, an engineer from our Victoria office. Our consultants employ 25, of whom 13 are local; and Boyles Brothers Drilling Company have 17 men on the job, nine of whom are local.

It must be evident, considering the technical nature of the work, that the employment of just over 50 per cent local labor is reasonable. Every attempt has been made to employ local men, and this long-standing B. C. Hydro policy will be continued.

LANCE H. WHITTAKER,
Chief of Information Services,

Interpreting The News

By JACK BEST
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Hardening of Canada's policy towards South Africa is dramatically illustrated by its support of a strongly worded resolution of apartheid now before the United Nations assembly.

The resolution, co-sponsored by three Commonwealth members — India. Ceylon and Malaya—is much tougher than the last apartheid resolution which came before the assembly and which Canada found too strong to vote for. She abstained.

Britain has made an even more remarkable switch.

Both countries, however, stopped short of supporting a still tougher declaration now before the assembly. Sponsored by 25 African states, it calls for diplomatic and economic sanctions against South Africa.

The India-Ceylon-Malaya resolution calls on UN members to take "such separate and collective actions as are open to them" to bring about an abandonment of South Africa's race policies.

In officially endorsing the resolution Canada expressly stipulated it did not condone the use of force or punitive measures.

The resolution sternly censures South Africa for its "continued and total disregard" of previous UN appeals and for its "determined aggravation of racial issues."

It denounces racial discrimination as reprehensible and repugnant to human society, and accuses South Africa of flagrantly violating the UN Charter ond the Universal Declaration of Human Rights.

All this is pretty strong stuff as compared to the 1959 resolution, which merely expressed deep regret and concern that the South African government had not responded to appeals to reconsider "policies which impair the right of all racial groups to enjoy the same fundamental rights and freedoms."

Instead of calling for actions by UN members, the 1959 resolution merely appealed for "their best endeavors as appropriate" to achieve the purposes of the resolution.

Canada's present support of a resolution which is far stronger than one it found too strong in 1959 is not at all paradoxical. Circumstances have changed. For one thing, the Sharpeville massacre has taken place.

Generally, it reflects the governments' impatience—part of that found in the international community as a whole—at South Africa's intransigence on the question of apartheid.

This intransigence—some would say arrogance—was the chief reason for the hostile attitude of last month's prime ministers' conference in London which produced South Africa's withdrawal from the Commonwealth.

Former Packers' Owner Admits Knowing of Firms' Investments

BRANDON, Man. (CP) — The former owner of Brandon Packers Limited admitted at a court session in his home Thursday that he had full understanding of the firm's investment in a company controlled by two men facing a conspiracy charge.

J. C. Donaldson testified under cross - examination that he discussed a $200,000 Brandon Packers investment in Fropak Limited before he sold the local meat packing plant in 1956 to Hubert Cox and Hugh Paton, both of Toronto.

The $200,000 forms nearly half of the $460,000 Cox and Paton are charged with conspiring to steal from Brandon Packers between Jan. 1, and Nov. 30, 1960.

Part of the preliminary hearing is being held in Mr. Donaldson's home because he is recuperating from a broken back.

He also admitted making a profit on shares he "picked up" cheaply from small shareholders, knowing he could sell them at $15 a share when the plant was sold.

SIGNED MINUTES

He said he and the company's secretary, Miss M. E. Peary, who together owned more than 90 per cent of the common stock in Brandon Packers, signed minutes of a directors' meeting ratifying the sale of the plant, and the Fropak investment, without calling the meeting.

Mr. Donaldson admitted that a letter authorizing a bank to deliver his common shares to the new owners, which he said Tuesday had been dictated in the bank office because the deal was new to him, was actually prepared in the Brandon Packers office the day before the deal.

He testified that his lawyer, N. W. Keer of Brandon, prepared the agreement for sale March 22, 1956, in Brandon. Mr. Donaldson said Wednesday the agreement had been prepared in Toronto.

He said the lowest he paid to shareholders before the sale was $10, and he had charged Paton and Cox $15 a share when he sold them. He did not know how much money he made by doing this because he didn't know if he still had his records.

At that time, Mr. Donaldson testified, it was not public knowledge that Brandon Packers was to be sold. He had completed an option agreement with Paton and Cox.

Income Tax Tips

By C. A. MILLER

(Designed and written for the taxpayer who is not in a position to employ the services of a professional accountant or visit an Income Tax Office.)

In this article we will deal with the type of dependent on whom the taxpayer may claim the equivalent to married status. To claim the equivalent to married status, which carries an exemption of $1000, the taxpayer must be single, divorced, legally separated or a widow (er).

If the taxpayer qualifies, this equivalent exemption may be claimed on a father, mother, brother, sister, niece, nephew, aunt or uncle, provided the dependent is wholly supported by the taxpayer in a self-contained domestic establishment. It is not compulsory that the taxpayer himself reside with the dependent. Paying their board and lodging in a hotel or rooming house is not sufficient to allow such a claim. The residence maintained for the dependent must be self-contained, with its own bathroom and be the place where the dependent eats and sleeps.

It must be noted that the equivalent to married exemption may be claimed on an aunt, uncle, niece or nephew, but if they do not qualify for the equivalent exemption there is no provision in the Income Tax Act whereby they may be claimed as other dependents.

In cases where the aunt and uncle raised the taxpayer from a child, he could claim them as foster parents rather than as an aunt or uncle. Regarding nieces and nephews, wholly supported by the taxpayer and residing with the taxpayer, they might possibly be claimed as adopted children. For income tax purposes adoption may be either in law or in fact. In cases such as this full details should be written on a separate sheet of paper and attached to the return.

Situations such as this will be covered more fully in a later article.

MYSTERY LETTER

VANCOUVER (CP) — A pilot with British Northern Pacific Airline learned Thursday that a huge H stamped in the snow means "helicopter Land Here," not Help. The pilot called Air-Sea Rescue when he spotted an H in the snow near Garibaldi Lake, about 75 miles north of here. Confused, the rescue unit checked with Okanagan Helicopter Limted, who solved the mystery.

Committee Advises Overhaul Of Alberta School Buses

EDMONTON (CP)—With last November's death of 17 students in the Lamont, Alta., bus crash a vivid memory, a government - appointed committee has suggested a general overhaul of all school bus operations in Alberta.

The committee's report, tabled in the legislature Thursday, contains 50 recommendations. They call for outright changes or improvements in school board policies, driver training and regulation, bus equipment and railway operations and level crossing warning signals.

Headed by Paul Lawrence, manager of the Alberta Safety Council, the three-member committee was established Nov. 30, the day after the school bus collided with a CNR freight train at a level crossing near Lamont, 45 miles northeast of Edmonton. In addition to the 17 students killed, 23 others and bus driver Frank Budney were injured.

Commenting on the fatal crossing near Lamont, the committee report said the grade was higher than the five per cent standard set by the department of transport and visibility was further impaired by a dip in the road.

HAVE ROAD TESTS

One major recommendation was that special operating licences should be required for school bus drivers. Such licences would require a road test in a school bus and an annual recommendation from the school board.

The committee said front doors should be kept open while vehicles are crossing railway tracks to lessen the chance of jamming should there be a collision.

If Budney had been required to stop, open the door and possibly the window on the driver's side, he "undoubtedly would have heard the horn of the diesel locomotive that struck" his vehicle at Lamont, the report said.

SUGGEST SUPERVISOR

The committee recommended that school systems with 40 or more bus routes should have a pupil transportation supervisor. Such a supervisor would plan routes, oversee drivers and conduct training programs for them, and keep track of mechanical condition of buses. A supervisor should be employed jointly by smaller school systems.

END BUS SALES

Another recommendation was that buses should be operated as publicly or privately-owned fleets rather than by individual operators and the sale of bus routes should be discouraged.

The committee said bus routes should be planned so that children will not have to cross four - lane highways or busy two-lane roads.

Turning to railway equipment, the report suggested revolving amber lights should be installed on roofs of locomotives and railway cars and attempts should be made to improve visibility on locomotives.

Other recommendations in the report:

No radios should be allowed to operate in a bus while it is carrying pupils;

Municipalities should conduct a survey to close level crossings not actually needed;

Pupils should be loaded and unloaded at special stops off the travelled portion of streets and highways;

Bus routes should be planned to minimize the number of times a bus must cross railway tracks.

Behan Too Sick To Appear in N.Y. Court

TORONTO (CP) — Brendan Behan was not able to appear in court Friday to face charges of creating a disturbance—he is too sick.

The Irish playwright is still in a private hospital here and will probably not leave his bed until late next week, said Eammon Martin, a close friend.

Mr. Behan is recuperating from an alcoholic seizure. He also suffers from diabetes and a heart condition.

Schools Wind Up Ontario Convention

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario Federation of Home and School Associations wound up its convention Thursday with a session of wrangling over a resolution that was finally rejected.

The thorny question to delete the world "Christian" from the Public Schools Act dealing with teachers' duties, was thrown out because the section of the act had been transferred to the Schools Administration Act Jan. 1, 19 1.

A substitute motion, to retain the term Christian morality in the Schools Administration Act, received overwhelming support.

A move to have conversational French taught in elementary schools and French composition and grammar taught in grades seven and eight was referred to committee.

The federation members were among 10,000 delegates at the 101st meeting of the Ontario Educational Association and the 18th Catholic Education Conference.

Beef Popular With Canadians

OTTAWA (CP) — Canadians went for beef cuts in a big way last year as per capita consumption of meat jumped 3.6 pounds to 146.5 pounds.

A report by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics says the average Canadian ate 69.2 pounds of beef in 1960, almost five pounds more than in 1959.

He also put away 55.2 pounds of pork, down three pounds from per capita consumption of pork in 1959, .4 pounds of canned meat, 7.6 pounds of veal, five pounds of fancy meat and 3.2 pounds of mutton and lamb.

The 146.5 - pound total compared with 142.9 pounds in 1959 and was 12 pounds above the 1951-55 average.

Controversy Raging Over Eichmann Trial

By RELMAN MORIN

JERUSALEM (AP) — Spread across six columns of discussion in the Israeli newspaper Jerusalem Post is the caption "Trying Eichmann — Triumph or Tragedy?"

This question is the subject of fierce controversy in Israel today with many clashing points of view.

He is charged formally with "crimes against the Jewish people and crimes against humanity." The indictment holds him responsible in the deaths of an estimated 6,000,000 Jews, slain in German extermination camps during the war.

STANDS ACCUSED

Israel contends he was operational director of the extermination plan known as the "final solution of the Jewish question." As such, he comes into court accused as one of the greatest arch-criminals in history.

Virtually every family of European Jews living in Israel today mourns one or more relatives who were victims of the Nazi death camps.

You might expect to find unanimity of opinion on this extraordinary case, the justification for kidnapping Eichmann in Buenos Aires last year, and the desirability of trying him in Israel.

But opinion is by no means unanimous.

A young Israeli, noting the immense labor in preparing for the trial, remarks: "One bullet in Buenos Aires would have made this all unncessary."

A shopkeer says: "The trial will cost a great deal of money and Israel is not a rich nation. It would have been better to give Eichmann to the Germans and let them try him. Only, of course, they don't want him."

OPINIONS DIFFER

Two distinguished Zionists, boty associated with this movement for more than 50 years, disagree about the trial's effects.

Meir Gossman says in the Jerusalem Post: "This is going to prove a great mistake. It will introduce strife and quarrels into the Jewish camp and will lead to vituperation and vilification of the Jews."

But Richard Lichtheim says in the same paper: "Israel had no alternative . . . The trial has an important educational aspect for the younger generations, both in Israel and Germany."

Jewish liberals abroad who worry about the trial are cowards, trembling in case Gentiles think badly of the Jews, Lichtheim contends.

So it goes—disagreement in Israel of virtually every point of this case.

Eichmann could draw the death penalty. Some Israelis, with strong religious convictions, feel it would be contrary to the spirit of their religion to execute Eichmann. Others ask: "Suppose he is executed, can anyone believe his remains would be buried in the Holy Land?"

Honor Salmo Bride-Elect

SALMO — Members of the Pythian Sisters Twin Temple No. 33 of Salmo were hostesses at a shower honoring Miss Ann Fletcher, whose marriage takes place today.

Guest of honor and her mother were presented with corsages and many gifts were received by the bride-elect. Games were played, refreshments served. The bride's cake was made and decorated by Mrs. Peggy Wrans.

Fruitvale Notes

FRUITVALE—Dave Farey has spent the Easter weekend in Seattle visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. Farey. He was accompanied by T. Becker.

Mrs. F. E. Haines and granddaughter, Alice, were in Portland to spend the Easter holidays visiting Mrs. Haines' cousin, Mrs. O. Wise.

Visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. Wilson during the weekend, were the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. Kovalcik, and her sister, Mrs. Irene Loik of Penticton.

Stefani-Elmes Vows Exchanged at Candlelit Evening Wedding Service

Candlelight reflected softly on bridal white and glowing yellow of the attendants' gowns when Audrey-Mae Elmes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Elmes of Nelson, exchanged marriage vows with Mr. Robert Oliver Stefani, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Stefani of Trail, at an evening ceremony in Fairview United Church.

Rev. H. R. Whitmore officiated at the service. White stocks arranged in standing beauty baskets provided floral background in the church, which was filled with many friends and relatives from Nelson, the Trail-Rossland area and other outside points.

Entering the church on the arm of her father, the bride was lovely in a white princess-styled floor-length gown of peau de soie, with lace yoke and bouffant skirt appliqued with lace flowers. She wore matching elbow-length lace gloves and her shoulder-length veil fell from a peau de soie rosette headdress. She carried a mauve cattleya orchid on a white Bible.

The bride was attended by her twin sister, Miss Muriel-Louise Elmes, as maid of honor and her bridesmaids were her cousin, Miss Roberta Stevenson and Miss Margaret Baker. Their full-skirted gowns of daffodil yellow were of cocktail-length taffeta brocade, and their yellow tulle headdress were held by a circlet of yellow satin roses. They wore matching shoes and gloves and carried Elizabethan colonial bouquets of white carnations and marguerites.

Little flower girl Elizabeth Ann Massey wore a yellow organdy frock trimmed with lace and carried a basket of white spray chrysanthemums and mauve heather.

Mr. William Stefani supported his brother as best man and ushers were brothers of the bride, Mr. Terence Elmes and Mr. Malcolm Elmes. The men wore dark suits with white carnation boutonnieres.

During the service, Miss Dorothy Foster sang "The Lord's Prayer" and "Wedding Prayer."

At a reception held in the Silver Room of the Hume Hotel, mothers of the principals assisted in the receiving line. Mrs. Elmes was gowned in champagne taffeta with mauve accessories and corsage of pink delight roses, while the mother of the bridegroom chose a dark brocaded silk with white accessories and pink delight rose corsage.

The bride's table was centered by a three-tiered wedding cake nestled in tulle sprinkled with pink roses.

Mr. Bob Davidson of Trail, master of ceremonis, read telegrams from friends who were unable to be present. A toast to the bride was proposed by R. B. Morris and the best man proposed a toast to the bridal attendants.

The Ida Elizabeth Group of Fairvew Unted Church convened the reception. Serviteurs were Mrs D. W. Laishley, Mrs. Jack Denny, Mrs. Tom Lockhart, Miss Shirley Gustafson, Miss Muriel Smith, Miss Jo McMullin, Miss Karen Gibson, Miss Judy Foster and Miss Beverlee Ward.

Punch was served by K. Yale and Mayor Harold Elmes of Rossland, assisted by Mr. Laishley and Mr. Denny.

Following a honeymoon trip to Seattle and Victoria, for which the bride changed into a mauve knitted suit with orchid corsage, the newlyweds will make their home at 1422 Green Avenue in Trail, where the bridegroom is principal of the Tadanac School and the bride is on the teaching staff of Trail Central School.

Ritual, Drill Teams of Eagles LA to Compete

The ritual and drill teams of the Nelson Ladies Auxiliary to the Fraternal Order of Eagles will compete at the zone conference Sunday in Trail.

Final plans for their attendance were made at a meeting of the auxiliary this week at which president Mrs. Mary Morrison presided.

The auriliary is preparing also to enter the ritualistic and drill teams in the northwest conference to be held at Missoula, Montana, May 6.

A special meeting and dinner party will be held Monday night to welcome Mrs. Mae Knight of Ladysmith, provincial president.

Mrs. A. Smith reported on a trip to Creston of 31 Eagles and their wives to attend the Creston aerie's tenth anniversary. At this event, Mrs. Smith, as past provincial president, was presented with a corsage from president Mrs. G. Hills.

Boswell Notes

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Lindsay of Calgary, who recently bought the Bert Hepher Ranch in Boswell, were down for the weekend.

Mrs. Kath Hepher has returned from Castlegar accompanied by her nephew, Michael Hygens, who will be her guest for awhile.

REPRESENTATIVE CHOSEN FOR DIOCESAN MEET

WILLOW POINT — At a meeting of the Women's Auxiliary to St. Andrew's-by-the-Lake held Thursday afternoon in the church hall, it was reported that the annual diocesan meeting would be held at West Summerland April 26 and 27.

Miss C. F. Ross will be representative of the Willow Point W.A.

It was decided that this summer the garden party will be held at the home of Mrs. R. A. Grimes July 12, and both afternoon W.A. and Evening Guild will be in charge.

Mrs. W. Edington was tea hostess for the afternoon.

Hat, Uniform to Be Purchased

FRUITVALE — Purchase of a hat for a Brownie leader and uniform for Mrs. S. Walsh, new Guide leader, were approved at a meeting of the Fruitvale Baden Powell Society, held at the home of Mrs. H. Godin.

Mrs. G. Metcalfe, president, welcomed Mrs. J. Moen as a new member.

Expenses were approved for sending district commissioner Mrs. K. Hubbersty to the provincial Guides annual meeting being held this year at Prince George.

The new coffee urn has arrived and was on display. Refreshments were served by Mrs. M. McLeod, Mrs. Walsh and Mrs. H. Salmon.

Kimberley Newlyweds To Make Home in Victoria

KIMBERLEY — Baskets of gladioli, potted 'mums and ribbon-tied floral pew markers decorated All Saints Anglican Church, when at 4 p.m. on Saturday, April 1st, Beverley Delayne Neal of Kimberley became the bride of Mr. Joseph Dan Martell of Victoria.

The bride is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey James Neal of Kimberley and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Martell, also of Kimberley.

Rev. Canon R. E. M. Yerbugh officiated. Mrs. G. Plant was organist and Mrs. K. Bonell, soloist, sang the Lord's Prayer and, during the signing of the register, "O Perfect Love."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was lovely in her bouffant, floor-length gown of Chantilly lace and net, styled with sabrina neckline and lily point sleeves. The long torso lace bodice was outlined with pearls and sequins and the full skirt was of net. Her chapel veil of illusion net net was held by a tiara of pearls and sequins and she carried a cascade bouquet of red rosebuds.

As matron of honor, Mrs. Lillian Ratcliffe chose a pale yellow brocade sheath with nylon chiffon overskirt and brocade summerbund, bandeau en tone, and white accessories. Her cascade bouquet was of white Easter lillies.

The two bridesmaids, Miss Janice Cox of Marysville and Miss Mary Ann Sahlein of Vancouver, wore gowns similar to that of the matron of honor, the former in lilac and the latter in aqua.

Best man was Mr. Bob Nesbitt of Kimberley, and ushers were Mr. Terry Neal, brother of the bride, and Mr. Jerry Bond, both of Kimberley.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Neal chose a gold lace over satin sheath with matching jacket, gold hat, bone pearl accessories and gold-tipped white carnations. Mrs. Martell wore a princess-line gown in dark turquoise with lighter turquoise hat and turquoise and black accessories. Her corsage was of pink carnations.

The wedding reception was held in the Union Hall which was decorated with pink and white streamers, bells and flowers. The bride's table was covered by a lace cloth made by her grandmother, Mrs. Annie Neal of Moose Jaw and centred by a 3-tiered wedding cake, embedded in pink tulle and tiny rosebuds and flanked by white tapers in crystal sconces and bowls of red roses.

A toast to the bride was proposed by Mr. W. Chandler and to the attendants by the best man. Mr. Jim Patterson, MC for the evening, read congratulatory telegrams. The guest book was in charge of Mrs. W. Campbell of Kimberley and Mrs. Dan Ferguson, Calgary.

MR. AND MRS. JOSEPH DAN MARTELL OF VICTORIA

The bride presented her bouquet to the groom's grandmother, Mrs. J. Green.

For a honeymoon to U. S. points, the bride chose a two-piece mauve suit with hat en tone, bone pearl accessories and white carnation corsage.

Mr. and Mrs. Martell will reside in Victoria.

Out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Grainger, uncle and aunt of the bride, Lois and Susan and Mr. Eddie Grainger, all of Calgary; Mr. and Mrs. J. Green, grandparents of the groom of Sardis, B. C., Mr. and Mrs. Dan Ferguson and Mr. and Mrs. K. Blenner Hasset of Calgary, Fred Stewart, Cranbrook, Miss Mary Sahlin, Miss Ileane Lilley and Gordon Samper of Vancouver; Mr. and Mrs. K. Sahlin of Yahk; Les Mawson, Creston; Mr. and Mrs. M. Martell, Lethbridge; Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Mawson, Cranbrook; Mr. and Mrs. Jack Green, Picture Butte, Alta.; Mr. and Mrs. V. Keller, Kipp, Alta.; Mr. and Mrs. J. Hayden, Vauxhall, Alta.; Mr. and Mrs. H. Sandham, Coalhurst, Alta. Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Wyllie, Shaughnessy, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Green, Enchant, Alta.

Variety Program Enjoyed By Senior Citizens

FRUITVALE — Variety entertainment and stories concerning early days in Fruitvale were enjoyed at a meeting of the Senior Citizens Fruitvale Branch No. 44 held at the home of Mrs. C. H. Paterson, with Mrs. O. Roseneau as co-hostess.

Program conveners were Mrs. Paterson and Mrs. Roseneau who presented a program including group vocal selections by W. Corbett, Mrs. Roseneau, Mr. and Mrs. Paterson, Mrs. A. DeBruyn, Mrs. H. Edmondson and A. Nash.

Readings by Mrs. E. Ganton, a vocal quartette selection by Mrs. DeBruyn, Mrs. Paterson, Mrs. Roseneau and Mrs. Edmondson and stories by P. McLaughlin followed. Mrs. DeBruyn read "The Strange Camel". Mr. Corbett, Mrs. Nash and Mrs. Paterson sang, "The Old Rugged Cross."

Guest speaker Mrs. K. Grupp presented the history of Fruitvale, referring to data gathered by the Women's Institute for their centennial book. Historical anecdotes were told by Mrs. E. Young, A. Webster, Mrs. E. I. Mason and Mrs. DeBruyn.

Season's Cosmetic News Is Soft "Chiffon Look"

By DEIRDRE MUNGOVAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP) — A soft, natural look has invaded the cosmetic world, supplanting last year's "movie star look" and Paris' "white look."

Marc Laurent calls it the "chiffon look" but no matter what it is labelled it definitely complements the latest hot colors in fabrics and the easy flowing lines of this season's fashions.

As one of Paris' prominent cosmetologists, Mr. Laurent is on a two-month tour of Canada to advise women on co-ordinating make-up with their clothes, complexion and color of eyes and hair. Mr. Laurent says make-up can be gayer for special evening occasions but always must be discreet and soft. This lighter look includes everything from eye make-up to lipstick.

With practice, any woman should be able to apply all her cosmetics within 10 minutes, he says.

CREAM NECESSARY

A model's face was cleansed with a cream which, Mr. Laurent insists, is an absolute necessity as a foundation. He dotted her face with a pale, beige-toned base which he blended smoothly, to give a "definition to the cheek bones," with a touch of light rouge.

"The make - up must match her complexion," he said. "If it is too ruddy, then use a base which is lighter. A paler complexion needs a darker base."

Mr. Laurent, in an interview following the demonstration, said he prefers a grey or light blue eye shadow which will suit almost any woman.

"The pastel tones accentuate the color of the eyes and make them sparkle. But gold is the most natural of all eye shadows, giving eye lids a light sheen. But be careful of going to extremes."

By using liquid eye liner and mascara in the same shades as the model's hair, Mr. Laurent showed how the eyes are widened and made more interesting. The brows were pencilled lightly and brushed along the natural brow line.

DARKER OUTLINE

With a lipstick brush of soft pink, he filled in the shape of the mouth and outlined it in a slightly darker pink to give emphasis.

"As long as the make-up is discreet, you can wear a little of everything during the daytime. But you can do anything you want with cosmetics for the evening as long as they are used softly.

"The most common mistake older women make is with heavy make-up in colors which are too bright, sparkling and sharp. They think this will help hide the wrinkles and sallow complexion. However, they appear years older and look ridiculous. They should use the soft pastel shades."

Here's a trick he says should help women who must wear glasses while applying makeup: Stand beside a sunny window and use one hand to hold a magnifying mirror and the other to apply eye make-up. Another solution would be to place the glasses on the end of the nose and look through them into the mirror.

Our Father's Business

What memorial Have You?

In Mark 14:9 we read "This also that she hath done shall be spoken of for a memorial of her." This is a beautiful incident of Christ's last days on earth. It is not likely that the woman knew that Christ was near the end of his life here. But the motive that prompted her act was fine and noble. And there was beautiful courtesy and grace in our Master's readiness to accept the offering and to step between the woman and her reproof.

First the incident gives encouragement to all who would perform acts of devotion or make gifts to God and his church. The remembrance of this woman is a pledge that God will not forget his people.

It is well to bear in mind also that the power of rendering service to God comes from the fact of being Christians. Knowing Who we serve and sure of being accepted, everything we have becomes a talent we can use for God.

In conclusion one may note that doing good is a pleasant way of getting ourselves remembered. All work done for Christ's sake is both remembered and recompensed.

We have often been interested at a wedding in seeing the gifts spread out, and someone who knows the secret behind each gift will take us around and say: "Mrs. so-an-so gave that. And Mr. so-and-so gave that. And the mayor of the city gave that. And this celebrated judge gave that."

We have often thought of the treasures that Christ some day may show to us, and he will say: "The widow in the temple gave this," and there will be the two mites which were her whole living. "An the Samaritan woman gave that, and the woman who came to the tomb on Easter morning gave these spices and the fine linen."

Among all the memorials that the Master keeps will be Mary's alabaster box, still broken, and the fragrance of the perfume filling both heaven and earth. And then we will say, "I wonder if he has anything of mine?"

Alberta To Go Ahead With School Finance

EDMONTON (CP) — The Alberta government will go ahead with its school-financing plan.

This was made clear in the legislature Thursday by Premier Manning who said "fullest consideration" will be given to points raised during two days of sittings by the House's agriculture committee.

Premier Manning said that "with new exceptions there does not seem to be any major criticism of the basic principles underlying the program," which is retroactive to Jan. 1.

Today the private bills committee at a morning sitting was to question witnesses who argues Thursday for and against a bill which would permit dental technicians to make and fit false teeth.

TO PROROGUE

Except for that one committee hearing, the only business to be handled by the House are bills and prorogation is expected some time next week, the eighth week since the regular session opened.

Of the 13 briefs on the government's school-financing plan, nine recommended delay for further study, two urged outright abandonment, one asked for more generous treatment of municipalities and the other gave qualified approval.

Premier Manning said the majority of the points raised during the hearings concerned the financial effects of application of the plan on individual municipalities.

If adjustments must be made, he added, they can best be put into effect as the program is applied.

The premier told the House it would be "extremely difficult" to come to worthwhile conclusions while the government and municipalities have nothing to go on but hypothetical situations.

CONTINUE PLAN

The government, he said, feels it should proceed with implementation of the plan but with "full assurance" to all municipalities and school boards that they will have an opportunity to discuss their difficulties with the government.

He added that it is the government's intention to give fullest consideration to the points raised and where problems are real and valid "we will do all in our power to iron them out."

A special cabinet committee would deal with all submissions.

Under the plan, all municipalities will pay into a provincial fund on the basis of 32 mills on an equalized assessment. The provincial government will add some of its own money and then distribute the fund to municipalities.

Any school board which wnats to spend more than the program provides will incur "unapproved" costs and would have to collect the money from its ratepayers.

Trust Fund Not Easy to Operate

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—City officials are anxious to liquidate a trust fund that has been on their books for the last 95 years. But they can't find anyone authorized to provide the necessary signature.

The fund originated in 1865 when the London Savings Bank wound up its operations, paid its debts and was left with a credit balance of $15,000. The bank's directors gave the money to the city, stipulating that interest on the sum should pay for the care of indigent hospital patients.

Although London had no hospital of any size at the time, the fund was duly established in 1872 with the mayor, the warden, the county judge and the chairman of the board of trade as signing officers.

Five years later, the London General Hospital was built on the site where Victoria Hospital now stands and the fund was put to its prescribed use.

W. N. Roberts, assistant superintendent of the Victoria, says that the $600-odd interest earned by the fund annually may have been a significant sum in 1872 but it is "peanuts" today. He suggested it could be put to better use in some specific project such as expanding the nurses' residence.

City Treasurer C. O. Logan agreed. But the bank holding the fund found the last authorized signing officers shown on its records were the mayor, warden and president of the Chamber of Commerce who held office in 1925.

SEPTEMBER 24 to OCTOBER 23 (Libra) — You have innate stability, use it to advantage. Keep your head though pressures are great, don't plunge forward without forethought. Have steadfast courage, hopeful attitude.

OCTOBER 24 to NOVEMBER 22 (Scorpio) — Don't seek only perfection in others and be not so disappointed, also others will be more tolerant of your imperfections. Reciprocity a big word, when really practiced is conducive to happiness.

NOVEMBER 23 to DECEMBER 21 (Sagittarius) — Helpful influences still linger since yesterday's fine Jupiter aspect. Should be good day to get the ball rolling for whole week — action, achievement, future planning.

DECEMBER 22 to JANUARY 20 (Capricorn) — Contrariness should have no place in your setup. Harmony, concord are right emblems to wear, you can pile up good returns and blessings for your efforts. Faith!

JANUARY 21 to FEBRUARY 19 (Aquarius) — Day may hold some complexities, irritating spots. They can be handled if you calmly direct attention to important aspects of matters and are cautious in judgment.

FEBRUARY 20 to MARCH 20 (Pisces) — No disorder indicated in your schedule so be up to your best, give full attention and service where due: you can have victory, gratification. Your sincerity, humbleness a real help.

YOU BORN TODAY: Original in thought, ambitious, impetuous; generous, sympathetic. Aries is strong-minded and capable but can also be fickle and self-centred. Up to you to analyze yourself (you can do it better than anyone else) and correct what can become hindering faults. Aries children are highly developed individuals, active, bright. They should be encouraged, helped to fine achievement through kindly understanding and patience. They will respond to praise and are then reasonable, happy. Need firmness, too. French Police Search For Algerian Killers

PARIS (AP)—French police made a nation - wide sweep against suspected Algerian and French terrorists Friday as killings and bombings increased after the collapsed of hopes for immediate negotiations to end the Algerian rebellion.

Paris police hunted an Algeran execution squad that carried the hit-and-run war between rival rebel factions into a suburban hospital Thursday, killing two persons and wounding 12.

In Algiers the U.S. consulate was bombed after it closed for the day and an attempt was made to burn the American cultural centre. Both attacks were attributed to French rightists retaliating for U.S. moves to get peace talks started between the French and the Algerian rebels.

Police rounded up known French extremists in Paris and the French provinces also for questioning.

SCUTTLED TALKS

Negotiations between the French and rebels were to have started today in Evian - Les-Bains. But the chief rebel group —the National Liberation Front (FLN)—refused to meet after the French announced they would hold simultaneous negotiations with a rival rebel group, the National Liberation Movement (MNA). The French rejected the FLN demand that it be designated chief spokesman for the Algerian natinalists.

There appeared to be little chance either side would make a serious move before Tuesday to get talks started. French President de Gaulle has scheduled a press conference for that day, and the rebels hope he will say something to clear the way.

The hospital raid Thursday in suburban Montfermeil was one of the most violent episodes in the war between the FLN and MNA, conducted from speeding taxicabs and dark doorways for 6½ years in Paris.

Six men in a taxi drove up to the hospital where Algerian victims of a recent FLN-MNA clash were in a surgical ward. Three of the raiders, wearing raincoats, charged up to the third floor.

POLICEMAN DISARMED

They disarmed a French po*liceman guarding the Algerians'* room and killed him with his own machine-gun.

Bursting into the room, they found Mohand Talba, believed to have been a member of the MNA, in bed. They poured a stream of bullets into him and he died within an hour. A second Algerian hid under his bed and escaped harm.

The gang then ran from room to room, spraying bullets. One of their victims was a seven-year-old French girl, wounded as she lay in bed.

The three gunmen then rushed to their waiting taxi, knocking out a ward attendant as they ran and beating a nurse with gun butts. In the ward, two policemen who tried to stop them were shot in the feet.

More than a dozen Algerians were later arrested at an Algerian hostel and an Algerian taxi driver was picked up for questioning.

British Honor Canadian Film

LONDON (CP)—A Canadian film, "Universe," has won the British equivalent of an Oscar for the best animated film showed in 1960.

The British Film Academy awards, sponsored by the Society of Film and Television Arts, are given annually in seven categories for the best films released in Britain during the previous year. Entires from other countries are considered.

In this year's animated film category, an American short, "The Interview," and a Yugoslavian entry, "Piccolo," were runners - up to the Canadian film.

"Universe" also has been nominated for the annual Hollywood Oscar for short films along with four other finalists. The awards will be announced about April 17.

It has been televised in Italy, and was recently bought by BBC television.

The 28-minute movie was produced by the National Film Board of Canada, which describes it as "a journey through space."

Ontario Court Upholds Arbitration Board

TORONTO (CP)—The Ontario Court of Appeal Thursday upheld the right of an arbitration board to award damages in an illegal strike.

The court was considering an appeal by Local 1 - 14, Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers' International Union (CLC), against a court order by Chief Justice J. C. McRuer upholding the award of an arbitration board in what it defined an illegal strike at the Polymer Corporation Limited Sarnia, Ont., plant in February, 1958.

Prof. Bora Laskin, arbitration board chairman and University of Toronto labor law specialist, made the award but deferred a hearing to assess damages pending outcome of the union appeal.

In the Appeal Court judgment Mr. Justice J. B. Aylesworth said the Industrial Relations and Disputes Investigation Act requires parties to bargain collectively in good faith and to include in an agreement a provision for settlement of differ- violation of the agreement.

ences concerning meaning and be remiss if they did not assess

He said the arbitrators would and award compensation for the violation of collective agreement.

GLOBE RAISES PRICE

BOSTON (AP) — The Boston Globe announced today that effective April 10 the price of its weekday editions at newsstands will increase two cents to 10 cents.

David Lewis, representing the union, said the only grievance the company and the union whether there had been a misinmight refer to the board was terpretation or violation of collective agreement.

Maroon Coach Blames Defeat on Complacency

Ankle Break Puts Fritz Out of Series

By BILL TAYLOR

Winnipeg Maroons, a team that has been known in Winnipeg circles to make checking look like child's play, relaxed for a few seconds Thursday night and it cost them a victory.

Winnipeg papers were loaded with excuses for the Maroon loss.

Maroon coach Gordie Simpson blamed the defeat on complacency. "I guess we have to lose one after each win to remind us this isn't in the bag."

"If we work up to our capabilities, there's no reason why we can't end this thing in six games. If not, we're through," Simpson allowed.

A tough break for the Leafs is the loss for the rest of the series of Fritz Koehle, who limped off the ice in the second period. Examination revealed a small bone had broken in an ankle and Fritz is wearing a cast. He will be able to hobble around with crutches, however.

Maglio is still looking for help in the scoring column from the guys who should be putting the puck in the net.

Three stars of Thursday's game were Gerry Koehle, Bill Juzda and Maglio.

Leafs held a tough workout on Friday morning, spending a lot of time on power plays and penalty killing. Leafs are looking forward to putting the Maroons behind the eight-ball for the first time this afternoon.

Marsh Severyn, Leaf defenceman, is on the limp with a bruised knee. He will be in action today, however.

Leaf replacement defenceman Gord Andre feels that if this series was being played in Nelson, Maroons would be lucky to win a game. Should the series go to seven games, the final game will be played in the Olympic rink here. The Olympic has a smaller ice surface which should be more advantageous to the Leafs' rugged style of play.

The Leafs were treated to a tour of the city Friday afternoon and team members took in the junior final game last night.

The giant telegram is now proudly displayed on the dressing room door leading to the ice surface.

The boys are hungry for victory and talk only of two weekend victories. Work, work and more work is the war-cry of the Leafs. I think we will take them.

Soccer Opener Here Sunday

Nelson and Spokane soccer teams will clash Sunday afternoon in a soccer league game.

A league executive meeting will also be held, when it is hoped a schedule will be drawn up.

Nelson players will be Ivan Lillico, F. Brenscheidt, Stan Grill, Richard Eggers, E. Tolles, Joe Jacoe, A. Szabo, R. L. Fields, J. Karasz, C. Stevens and G. Renk. Spares are H. Wolf and P. Bayerle. Others wishing to turn out are asked to contact coach Fred Taylor. Game starts at 2 p.m.

Other league teams will be from Trail and Grand Forks, and interest has also been found in Pullman, Wash., Kimberley, Cranbrook and Nakusp.

Buckaroos Down Comets 6-4

PORTLAND (CP) — Portland Buckaroos, doggedly coming from behind three times, whipped Spokane Comets 6-4 here Friday night to take a 2-1 lead in their best-of-five Western Hockey League quarterfinal series.

VANCOUVER (CP) — Right-winger George Ford scored the winning goal at 14:55 of the second sudden-death overtime period to give Victoria Cougars a well-earned 4-3 victory over Vancouver Canucks and a 2-1 lead in their best-of-five Western Hockey League quarterfinal series.

Sawchuk, Pronovost Out Of Hawks' Lineup Tonight

By W. R. WHEATLEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

DETROIT (CP) — Chicago Black Hawks and Detroit Red Wings flew Friday to Detroit, where they meet tonight in the second game of the Stanley Cup final, and the master minds of both teams professed an urgent neet to correct mistakes made in the series opener.

First business of the day for the Red Wings was to survey their injuries. They turned out to be serious.

Both goalie Terry Sawchuk and defenceman Marcel Pronovost are out of the lineup for the second game. The Wings announced that there is no chance of either playing as the club endeavours to pull even in the best-of-seven series.

Red Wings have called up Lou Marcon from Edmonton of the Western Hockey League. Marcon played parts of the last two season with Detroit.

WRENCHED SHOULDER

Sawchuk suffered a severely wrenched left shoulder in Thursday night's first game in Chicago, won by the Hawks 3-2, and had to be replaced after the first period by Hank Bassen.

Pronovost, one of the best defencemen in the National Hockey League, played little more than one period. His right ankle, injured by a shot a few days ago in practice, was hit by the puck again Thursday night.

Pronovost's loss is regarded as by far the most serious. Bassen is a capable goalie who split the chores with Sawchuk during the regular season and in Thursday night's game produced a workmanlike job in holding the Hawks scoreless from the time he took over.

The Hawks have no such serious injuries but are without Eddie Litzenberger, sent to hospital Thursday with a virus infection.

He was replaced in the opener by Chico Maki, a rookie, but the youngster was used little.

Meanwhile, the rival coaches were worried about mistakes of omission and commission.

Coach Rudy Pilous of the Hawks was thankful for the opening - game victory, giving his team the jump on the Wings, but fretted over what he considered physical and mental lapses.

Coach Sid Abel of the Red Wings, acknowledging a commendable improvement in Wings' play in the second and third periods, felt that earlier mistakes cost his club at least a chance of sending the game into overtime.

To most observers the bitter struggle, mistakes or no mistakes, had two phases: the Hawks' three-goal outburst in an all-out drive in the first period and the resurgent Red Wings' equally gallant comeback effort that fell short.

SNEAKY PASS

Before leaving Chicago with his Hawks, several hours after the Red Wings' departure, coach Pilous was still studying ways to foil what he calls Detroit's "sneaky, long pass."

It's a lonesome-forward play, with one player sprung loose and a well-timed pass fired at him so he can take it in stride.

"We haven't played the Red Wings in three weeks and we've got to revamp our defensive style again in order to meet that play," said Pilous.

"It was different when we met Montreal Canadiens in the semi-final. The Canadians usually attack with a whole line as a unit."

Pilous said he thought the tension of trying to hold the lead in Thursday's game forced his team into playing too carefully.

"It's simply a mental thing, with a 3-0 lead, but careful hockey just isn't our style," he said.

He was equally perturbed over Detroit's first goal, which came on the Wings' power play.

"We should have iced the puck, but one of our guys has to try to carry it out—tried to do tricks in our end. It looked easy but the Red Wings promptly closed in on him and in a matter of seconds had the puck."

Rod, Gun Zone Clubs Meet Here Sunday

Controversial proposal for a 100 per cent increase in annual dues for membership in the B.C. Federation of Rod and Gun Clubs will be discussed Sunday at the quarterly zone meeting of the West Kootenay Rod and Gun Club Association.

A recent federation meeting proposed the member's assessment be increased from 25 to 50 cents annually. A second proposal was a possible increase of member's assessment from 25 to 75 cents annually with a $100,000 liability insurance policy to be provided for the zone clubs.

Adam Doyle, William Smith and Ralph H. Northrup, president of the Nelson club, Nelson delegates to the zone meeting were instructed to "not commit themselves until they have more information" regarding the proposed $100,000 liability insurance policy.

Percy Dutton, Nelson, member, recently asked that more information be compiled as to the terms of the liability insurance policy.

Also expected to be discussed at the zone meeting will be proposed action to maintain Duck Lake as a resting place for wild life. The possibility of land at Duck Lake being reclaimed for agricultural purposes is also expected to be discussed at the annual meeting of the Associated Chambers of Sommerce of Southeastern B.C., T. J. Thompson, zone president, said.

Mr. Thompson said the associated chambers resolved last year that the provincial government should grant monies for the Fish and Game Branch to obtain the additional facilities and staff required to permit the continued development of hunting in the Kootenay district to its maximum potential. Mr. Thompson said about 15,000 hunters spend more than one million dollars annually in the East Kootenay District and are making a significant contribution to the district tourist industry.

TO HEAR REPORTS

The zone president said committee reports scheduled to be heard include the following:

Fish committee (Kootenay Lake Kamloops); Duck Lake committee (annual meeting of Chambers of Commerce of Southeastern British Columbia), safety committee; and Columbia River Committee.

Mr. Thompson said the rod and gun clubs are interested in the fish hatchery requirements necessary following Columbia River development. Also under study are additional game wintering grounds which should be provided by controlled burning of Crown Lands to preserve wildlife, Mr. Thompson said.

Member club reports will be heard.

The zone president said the agenda is intended to provide maximum scope for discussion.

"There are no contentious resolutions in at the moment, nor is there a backlog of work to contend with. The board is clear for new projects to further existing objectives," Mr. Thompson said.

L.A., 'Frisco Shopping Around for Hockey Clubs

SPOKANE (AP)—California's two biggest cities—Los Angeles and San Francisco — are shopping for hockey clubs and they could do their buying in the Pacific northwets's Western Hockey League.

WHL directors meet in Seattle Thursday to discuss awarding franchises to San Francisco and Los Angeles for next season.

Pacific northwest hockey sources feel southland clubs would draw big crowds—pointing to the more than 200,000 fans Portland Buckaroos drew during 35 home games in their first year in the Western Hockey League.

League president Al Leader said in Seattle Friday that Jim Pigott, owner of the league's Victoria franchise, has the inside track for the Los Angeles spot. He said Pigott requested a franchise shift two years ago.

At Spokane, Melvin Smith, president of the WHL's Spokane Comets, said if the team's franchise is moved, San Francisco will be the destination.

"We haven't made the decision to move to San Francisco," said Smith, "and we haven't definitely been assured a go-ahead from San Francisco. But we are studying and considering the move carefully."

Smith said: "I'm reluctant to make such a move, but a person has to face facts. There apparently isn't enough interest and fans in Spokane to support a professional team."

The crowds were better in Spokane this season, averaging about 2,700 a game, but costs had risen sharply, partly because of player purchases, Smith said.

WINNIPEG MAY MOVE

The Spokane spokesmen - Review said the Winnipeg WHL franchise, owned by Jack Perrin, also has been checking into a possible California move.

"There is a strong possibility," said The Review "that if the Comets go to San Francisco, it would be a joint operation with Perrin's Warriors."

Leader said the key man in the franchise shift talks is Bill Nicholas, general manager of the Los Angeles sports arena, who Leader said was making a final overture to the National Hockey League.

Leader said Nicholas was expected to tell NHL president Clarence Campbell that unless Los Angeles is admitted to the circuit this year, the California city will affiliate with the WHL.

"When I hear from Nicholas that playing dates are available," said Leader, "then the WHL will be able to take action."

He said the San Francisco Cow Palace is available and would be ready for play with a $220,000 ice surfacing job.

Spokane joined the WHL in the 1958-59 season, moving up from the senior amateur Western International League.

"As much as I don't want to take professional hockey away from Spokane," said Smith, "the situation is just that it isn't feasible to keep on subsidizing the Comets' operation."

Spokane manager Roy McBride said at Portland, "We've been looking over the California situation and I think they've been looking us over, too."

He added that the team has been in Spokane a long time and the fans in the past have indicated they could support a professional franchise. We're still a Spokane team and haven't cut any ties."

Broadcast of Game Assured But Need Funds

An additional $90 will ensure full broadcast of the game Sunday afternoon between the Nelson Maple Leafs and Winnipeg Maroons.

Radio Station CKLN's campaign for funds or sponsors to enable broadcasting of the game reached a point where a broadcast can be planned, manager Alan R. Ramsden said Friday night.

However, more funds are needed to take care of extra game time. Line facilities will be available at 12:30, at the end of the first period. Funds received so far will not take care of overtime periods.

If funds raised more than take care of expences, it is planned to turn any surplus over to the team. A strict account of all donations is being kept.

SWEDISH HAMLET

Ytterbium, yttrium, terbium and erbium are chemical elements, all named after Ytterby, a hamlet near Stockholm, Sweden.

Tubbs Says . . .

Spokane Will Have Hockey "Regardless"

SPOKANE (AP) — Spokane won't be without organized hockey if the professional Spokane Comets of the Western Hockey League shift their franchise to California.

"Regardless of whether the Comets leave or stay, we're going to continue to push to get senior Amateur Hockey back here," said Clarence Tubbs, spokesman from the Spokane Hockey Club, Inc. The club holds a franchise in the Senior Amateur Western International Hockey League.

Tubbs and a dozen other local businessmen have sought unsuccessfully for the last two years to get Colliseum ice dates for their proposed team, Spokane Jets.

Tubbs said he feels senior hockey is stronger than Eve in the area, citing the Trail Smoke Eaters' success in winning the World Amateur Hockey title in Europe.

He said the way it shapes up, the WIHL would be a five-team league with representatives from Spokane, Trail, Nelson, Rossland and Kimberley-Cranbrook.

Second Wire To Be Sent Maple Leafs

The morale boosting telegram signed by 600 Nelson Maple Leaf supporters also will boost the players' spirits to the tune of $120.

Fans behind a second telegram being organized Friday night said this amount had been placed in the bank for the team. Prime movers in the scheme, Jack Skellern, Bob Paterson and others set up shop on Baker Street in an effort to obtain 1000 names for the second wire.

Proceeds from this telegram would also go towards the Leafs fund, they said.

Strikes 'n' Spares

Results of Friday's mixed five pin bowling: Rockets 0, Pin Pushers 4; Whatsits 0, Spotters 4; Hot Shots 1, Mavericks 3; ladies' high single and aggregate, Shirley Illingsworth 323 and 689; men's high single, Alvin Floren 296; men's high aggregate, George Lane 681; team high single and aggregate Pin Pushers 1041, and 2786.

Couples' league: Eric 0, Eugene 4; George 1, Jack 3; Charlie 1, Arnie 3; Vern 1, Gus 3; Rio 0, Dave 4; Bob C. 1, Bob B. 3; ladies's high single Wilma Buckley 246; ladies' high aggregate Marlene Amorozo 585; men's high single and aggregate, Jack Little 301 and 699; team high single and aggregate, Eugene 489, and 1255.

Market Trends

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market was mixed Friday with a spotty advance carrying some issues up as much as four points, but the list was generally sprinkled with losses.

Trading climbed back over the 5,000,000-share mark for the first time in three days after a decline attributed to a call for caution on the port of investors by the president of the New York stock exchange.

Tpe Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks advanced 4.34 to 683.68, topping its previous 1961 high of 679.38 March 22.

The average now is nudging the all-time high of 685.47 established Jan. 5, 1960.

Among the oils, which attracted continued interest on further predictions by industry executives of increased oil demand, Cosden Petroleum spurted 3½. Texaco, Royal Dutch Petroleum and Kerr McGee gained fractionally.

Chrysler, accused by the justice department of illegally pressuring its dealers to stop handling Studebaker-Packard Larks, declined ¾. A Chrysler spokesman denied the charge.

SAM Says;

Myself and my Carpenters have been working carefully and diligently for the past several months, and have created this modern home which is literally a gem.

The HOME Says;

I am completely decorated in new, soft pastel shades. My kitchen is designed with maximum facilities and convenience.

My floor of durable hardwood oak have a lasting, shining finish.

I have central hall plan — three large bedrooms with built-in, sliding door, cupboards to contain your wardrobe.

My living room contains a cheery fireplace with raised hearth.

I have a full basement which is divided to contain separate entrance garage

I will be able to keep you comfortable all year round by your merely twisting a dial.

The AGENT Says;

It will be our pleasure to personally guide your inspection of this fine home located on Stanley Street in the 1300 block between Robson and Gore Streets.

Inspection Times:
SUNDAY and MONDAY—2 p.m. to 5 p.m. and —7 p.m. to 8:30 p.m.

PIONEER DIES

VANCOUVER (CP)— A link with British Columbia's past was broken here Wednesday by the death of Mrs. Alfreda Forslund, widow of one of the pioneers of a steamboat service in the Kootenay regions. Mrs. Forslund, 82, was the wife of the captain of two steamboats which served the Arrow Lakes area.

COOLEY IN HOSPITAL

BAKERSFIELD, Calif. (AP) Former western bandleader Spade Cooley, 50, charged with murdering his wife, was transferred from jail to hospital Thursday with a heart ailment. Physicians said his condition is not believed to be serious but that he probably should remain in hospital at least a week.

Odds... and Ends

... by M. D. B.

Here we are, well into the month of April and according to the weather watchers we are about two weeks ahead of time. I checked back to last year and found that on this date I was proundly announcing the blooming of my crocuses and I have had crocuses blooming for at least two weeks this year at the same time. My violets, which did not do too well last year for some reason (late frost I believe) are making up for their year's rest, growing beautiful long stems and giant blooms complete with unrivalled fragrance.

* * *

I did not repatch the pool this spring, perhaps I shall be sorry later on, but the old patching seemed to be holding well. I've planted the lily and water iris, so the garden looks "lived in" once again. I believe I have worked off most of the rock urge I mentioned in the last column (this accounts for the lack of columns lately) but I still have a goodly length of fence to put in — I have promise of help if needed — but I'm hoping to accomplish it on my own. It is reassuring though to know if I do get stuck aid is forthcoming.

None of my garden pets has appeared — Frog and Trilby. I feel certain Frog will be back, but I'm wondering whether I shall see the turtle again. I have come across a bit of information about turtles. Apparently they are found in the warmer parts of B.C. and are called the Western Painted Turtle. They can be distinguished by the brilliant colors on the underpart (as I recall, Trilby was sort of yellowish on his under parts, though he was with me so short a time I scarcely had time to take a good look at him. Fresh water turtles are called Terrapin and though they have no teeth, their jaws have chisel - like biting edges.

With the return of the golden honeymaker I have another note I have been hoarding over the winter on the sanitary ways of bees. A naturalist reports that should a bee die in the hive he is immediately pushed out by two of his fellow workers and the cell is aired out by two of the little creatures standing at the doorway using their wings as ventilators.

There, that wraps up all the oddments I have been collecting to spring on you at an unguarded moment. Now it is about time I toured the waterfront, for as you noted by the picture on front page Friday great changes are being wrought there.

Macmillan and Kennedy to Support South Viet Nam

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON (CP)—Prime Minister Macmillan and President Kennedy have agreed to seek ways of bolstering the pro-Western government in South Viet Nam to keep the political situation in the Southeast Asian country bordering Laos from deteriorating further.

They noted that as a result of Communist raids more people are being killed in South Viet Nam than in Laos.

The Communist Viet Cong rebels have stepped up their attacks in recent weeks in an apparent attempt to disrupt Sunday's general election in which South Viet Nam President Ngo Dinh Diem is heavily favored to be re-elected. Some of the Viet Cong hit-and-run attacks are reported to have reached battalion size.

(In Saigon Thursday Diem was reported seeking an increase in the $150,000,000 a year he gets from the United States so that he can bolster his 150,000-man army to crush the Viet Cong.)

Macmillan and Kennedy, a spokesman said, did not announce their strategy for South Viet Nam, but they were agreed the situation there must not be allowed to deteriorate further.

HELP DIEM REGIME

Ways will be sought to bolster the Diem regime to halt depletion of its trained personnel by Communist penetration, subversion, kidnappings and assassinations.

The spokesman noted that South Viet Nam has only a limited number of trained engineers, teachers, doctors and other professional persons.

Cruising down the Potomac aboard the 92-foot presidential yacht, Honey Fitz Kennedy and Macmillan Thursday sat at a cabin table in a two-hour afternoon conference that ranged over the world's trouble spots from Laos and South Viet Nam to Berlin and Russia, wrapping in the prospects of a nuclear test ban treaty and disarmament.

The talks were recessed today while Macmillan flies to Boston for an address at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

A final session of the two men and their advisers will be held at the White House Saturday morning after which they plan to issue what one official called a business-like statement on the range of their discussions. Macmillan leaves for Ottawa Sunday.

RESULTS OF MEETING

From authorities who participated in the meetings which brought the two men together for a total of 10 hours from Wednesday morning through Thursday night, the following picture of immediate and potential cold war trouble spots shapes up:

1. The British - U.S. negotiations with Russia for an agreement to prohibit the testing of nuclear weapons permanently under an international policing system are making little progress.

2. Since the test talks at Geneva have been regarded by the Western powers as a possible first step toward disarmament, a failure at Geneva would inevitably be considered as a blow to disarmament.

3. The chances of a new East-West confrontation over West Berlin were rated high, although Macmillan considered that Khrushchev may choose to exert primary pressure for Communist expansion in some of the underdeveloped countries in Africa and Asia. Both Macmillan and Kennedy agreed that Khrushchev's statement that he wants a solution of the Berlin problem this year must be given serious weight.

The Record Rack

by The Sour Notes

CONNIE FRANCIS AT THE COPA . . . Connie Francis who made it big with the teenage world is now firmly establishing herself with the adult crowd with her two most recent released albums. Through them she serves notice she is rapidly maturing into a versatile supper club performer.

The best example of the maturing of the young Brooklyn miss is on this recording, recorded live at the famed New York night spot. It gives a good cross section of the teenage queen's talent and voice toned to the adult appeal.

Backed by a driving orchestra conducted by Joe Mell, Miss Francis sticks strictly to singing and leaves the comics and dramatics to other artists.

The old Louis Armstrong stomper, Ol' Man Mose receives the light rock beat treatment. She then tosss in for variety the Jewish Hava Naguila and the Italian Mama, Jealous of You.

Warmed up she delights with an Al Jolson medley in a love letter tribute to the famed "Mammy" singer. The tunes are familiar but the lyrics are modern.

Topping the program she concludes with what has become an unofficial American tradition, "When The Saints Come Marching In" and interjects a few bars of "Bill Bailey Won't You Come Home" for spice.

Copa marks a successful New York nightclub debut for Miss Francis and a happy entertaining recording for the general public.

SONGS TO A SWINGING BAND (Connie Francis) . . . No smokey nightclub hubdub gackground but the clarity of the engineer's recording studio is Connie's surroundings for twelve standards treated with the big band sound.

The throbbing voice of the pert singer swings, croons, soars, torches before the shouting brass of the orchestra of Richard Wess, who also did double duty as arranger.

Several numbers are given the ballad with the beat treatment: "How Long Has This Been Going On," "It Might As Well Be Spring," old torch smoothies like: "Angel Eyes," "Gone With The Wind."

At the other end of the musical scale are the sizzling tempos of: "My Love, My Love." "Love Is Where You Find It," "Swanee," and the shuffle rhythms of Ol' Man Mose" and "You're Nobody 'Til Somebody Loves You."

Miss Francis, who sounds to us like a young Jo Stafford, lives up to the album title, a swinging singer.

ALLAN FUNT'S CANDID CAMERA . . . (produced by Kermit Schafer) . . . Lontime laughgetter of radio and recently television, the peeping tom microphone of Allan Funt has been transmitted to records by Kermit "Mr. Blooper" Schafer.

Somewhere in the transmission this novel approach to laughs has lost some of its charm. It could be its visual exposure on television or it could be that the situation heard are themselves, though novel, are not really hilarious.

The beauty of the recording is that the fall-guy's answer to the prompting questions of Mr. Funt are unrehearsed and true stunned feelings at that moment are freely expressed.

The two best tracts are "The Shoe Salesman," and "Chained."

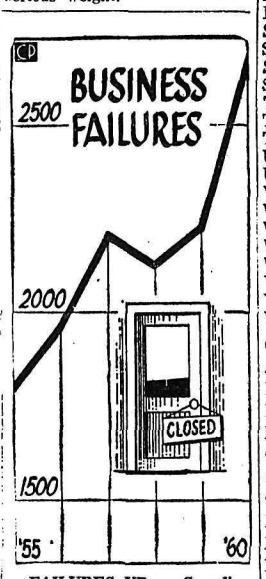
The first involving a miffed woman who has lost one of her shoes in a shoe store and refused to accept a substitute. The other is the dumbfounded reaction of a locksmith who finds a secretary chained to her desk.

Truth is stranger than fiction but the same cannot be said for comedy.



FAILURES UP — Canadian business failures totalled 2,699 during 1960, up 21 percent from the year previous. The bureau of statistics reports that the defaulted liabilities that resulted from the failures was up by more than half. Graph shows number of failures by years since 1955.—CP Newsmap.

Ten Days Hence Great Event Will Take Place

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The ballots are cast, campaigning has ceased, and now begins the wait for the 1960 Academy Awards.

Ten days hence, a new set of statistics will be added to the Motion Picture Academy's 33-year records.

Five have won the best-actress award twice — Bette Davis, Olivia de Havilland, Luise Rainer, Ingrid Bergman, and Vivien Leigh. Three have doubled for the best - actor honor —Fredric March, Gary Cooper and Spencer Tracy.

Walter Brennan is the only triple winner among the acting contenders; he got his in the supporting category. Anthony Quinn scored in support twice. No supporting actress has been able to win more than a single Oscar.

ONLY WOMAN HEAD

Miss Davis has two other distinctions besides her double win. She was the only woman president of the academy. And she owns the most acting nominations — nine.

Following here are Katharine Hepburn with eight nominations and Greer Garson with seven. Norma Shearer and Deborah Kerr have six apiece. Five - timers are Irene Dunne, Susan Hayward, Miss Bergman, Miss de Havilland and Jennifer Jones. The latter two include one support nomination apiece.

The male stars don't seem to repeat as frequently. Tracy is tops with seven nominations Laurence Olivier has been up six times. March, Paul Muni, James Stewart, Marlon Brando and Cooper made it five times.

Seek Tax Deal for Parents Of Handicapped Children

OTTAWA (CP)—An appeal for a better tax deal for parents of handicapped children was put before Finance Minister Fleming Friday.

The cost of all therapeutic treatments and special training of handicapped children should be allowed as medical expense exempt from income tax, it was urged in a joint brief by the Canadian Bar Association and the Canadian Institute of Chartered Accountants.

Their brief — aimed at Mr. Fleming's next budget — also called for an end to income tax discrimination against husbands who employ their wives in business and it proposed that the income tax appeal board be raised in effect, to the status of a court.

On that point, it said the five-member board has to a large extent provided taxpayers "a prompt and inexpensive determination of their rights." But some anomalies existed in the board's constitution.

SUGGEST CHANGES

Its members should be appointed on the same basis as supreme or superior court judges and receive comparable salaries. And it should be under the jurisdiction of the justice department—not the revenue department.

On the husband-wife employment issue, the brief said the revenue minister shouldn't have the discretion of adding the income of an employed wife to that of her employer husband for income tax purposes.

Instead, a reasonable income paid to a wife, where her husband is the employer, should be treated as a separate income. Moreover, her husband should be allowed to deduct the wages as a business expense.

The brief proposed a number of changes in the estate tax legislation, including one section which gives differing treatment in cases of infirm widowers depending on whether they have dependent children.

BASIC EXEMPTION

It said that at present, when a wife dies, there is a basic $40,000 exemption for her estate if she leaves a husband—healthy or infirm — without dependent children. But if there is an infirm widower with a dependent child, an additional basic exemption of $20,000 is allowed plus $10,000 for each child. No extra exemption is allowed for dependent children of a healthy husband.

The brief also tackled the thorny problem raised when a widow is left a life pension or annuity. The government sets an arbitrary value on the payments, based on the widow's life expectancy, and levies estate tax on that value.

The brief said this takes no account of cases where the widow remarries and her pension stops "so that in fact there may be tax paid on something which is never received." As well, the estate had to find money quickly to pay the tax, whereas a widow might not get the payments until later.

It proposed that an estate be given the option of paying the tax on 10-year instalments, with the installments ending if the pension stops as a result of the death or remarriage of the widow.

WHISTLES COST LIVES

LONDON (AP)—Wolf whistles cost two young London lads their lives, a coroner found Thursday after hearing evidence from two girl witnesses. Joan Taylor, 16, and Linda Parker, 14, said Brian Marley and Arthur Oddy, both 17, turned to whistle as they drove past on a motor scooter, swerved, hit a bus and were killed. The verdict was accidental death.
