142 Die as Three Trains Crash

Massive Pileup Occurs Near Tokyo Imperial Palace; 385 Injured in Double Disaster

TOKYO (AP)—Two commuter trains and a freight piled up in a grinding wreck at the end of a spring holiday Thursday, killing at least 142 persons and injuring 385.

The eerie scene of blood, escaping steam, tangled wreckage and frantic rescue was three miles north of Tokyo's Imperial Palace.

A steam freight and an outbound electric commuter train of six cars — homeward bound with a Constitution Day crowd — sideswiped 200 yards outside Mikawashim station at 9:30 p.m.

Police said no Westerners were known to be among the casualties.

It was the second-worst train disaster in postwar Japan. The worst occurred in February, 1947, when a derailment outside Tokyo took 184 lives and left 497 injured.

Then, while stunned and injured passengers were picking themselves off the floor and crawling through smashed windows and doors of derailed cars, a second commuter train of nine cars crashed into the double wreckage.

Most of the slaughter came from the second collision.

SCORES MORE CRUSHED

Because the left side was blocked by derailed freight cars, passengers were crawling onto the tracks on the right side parallelling a 30 - foot embankment when the second commuter train sheared through leading cars, crushing scores who still had not been able to escape.

Others on the tracks were cut down before they could move.

Still others leaped down the embankment only to be crushed under cars that plunged over the bank.

One young factory worker survived both crashes with only a broken leg.

"When the first crash came, blue electric sparks filled the air and, then everything went dark; people stumbled about, wailing and screaming," said Shoji Iwasaki. "I broke a window glass and jumped out and started to climb down the embankment.

CARS CRUSH OTHERS

"Then the other train came crashing into our wreckage. The leading car toppled down and pulled four others after it. It rolled down the embankment, pinning and squashing many people who were fleeing for safety.

"It was horrible. I saw several people tossed into the air as the coach hit them."

At Minowa Hospital near the disaster scene, a 21 - year - old nurse looked sick and exhausted. "It's something like hell," she said.

Tokyo police and fire departments poured ambulances, police cars and 2,000 emergency police into the area—but were hampered by narrow roadways choked by thousands of sightseers.

Despite the chaos, rescue workers managed to get all the injured out of the wreckage four hours after the crash. Only a few of the dead were left in the twisted cars — buried too deep for immediate removal.

550 Doctors Reject Gov't Medical Plan

By PHIL ADLER

REGINA (CP)—The CCF government's compulsory medical care insurance plan was denounced Thursday by more than 550 shouting and cheering members of the Saskatchewan College of Physicians and Surgeons.

The doctors heard Premier Woodrow Lloyd urge them to give the plan a fair trial as the "only ultimate test of its acceptability."

They voted to have nothing to do with it.

They agreed they would not practise under the plan.

The government says it will put the plan into operation July 1. The college, with a membership of 904 doctors, objects to government control.

The vote climaxed the opening session of a two-day emergency meeting called by the college to discuss the insurance plan. It was the only meeting open to the press.

Doctors offices throughout the province were closed as members of the college sat in a smoke-filled downtown ballroom to plot the future. The college said emergency treatment was available at hospitals.

The standing vote on the plan was called by Dr. H. D. Dalgleish, college president, after he said Premier Lloyd's hour-long address had nothing new to offer.

One doctor tried to make a statement when a vote was called to show those in favor of the government insurance plan. He was shouted down and Dr. Dalgleish recessed the meeting.

Dr. E. W. Barootes of Regina, a member of the governing council of the college who has taken part in negotiations with the government, described sections of the Medical Care Insurance Act as malicious.

He said the plan would make it impossible for doctors to practise medicine in the province the "way they have been accustomed to in the past."

Premier Lloyd's address was made about an hour after publication of Public Works Minister J. Walter Erb's announcement of his resignation as a member of the provincial cabinet and the CCF-NDP party.

Mr. Erb piloted the Medical Care Insurance Act through the legislature last fall when he was minister of public health. He blamed the act and CCF affiliation with the New Democratic Party for his resignation.

Laughter and hissing interrupted the premier three times as he explained the government's position.

Mr. Erb said one of his two reasons for quitting was that the principle that the medical care plan must be acceptable to both those providing the service and those receiving it had not been met.

"It was evident when the Medical Care Act was passed at the special session that the doctors of this province were unalterably opposed to it," he said in his letter, copies of which were given the press.

Mr. Erb's second reason for leaving was the labor affiliation with the NDP, and will cease to exist as such, and believing that ultimately labor unions will be in control . . . I cannot lend my support to the NDP."

Mr. Argue said when he resigned his reason was that a small labor clique was in control of the NDP.

Mr. Lloyd said of the resignation. "I think the main impact will be to strengthen further the energy of tens of thousands of people in Saskatchewan who want the medical care plan and who are not prepared to let the doctors of the province make the laws of the province."

Mr. Argue said the resignation was "conclusive evidence that my leaving the NDP on grounds of class control by a clique was fully justified."

SOME JOKE!

CARACAS (Reuters) — Raul Irigoyen, 32, was taken to hospital Thursday after a seven-hour fit of uncontrollable laughter after hearing a joke.

Doctors stopped the laughing with sedatives and Irigoyen was kept in the hospital with severe stomach pains.

The joke was not revealed.

U.S. Gets Nod From France, West Germany

ATHENS, Greece (AP) — The United States won agreement from Britain, France and West Germany Thursday night to continue explorative talks with the Soviet Union aimed at reaching a Berlin settlement, informed sources reported early today.

The desirability of continued U.S. sounding-out tactics was made apparent at a dinner given by U.S. State Secretary Rusk for Foreign Minister Schroeder of West Germany, Foreign Secretary Home of Britain and Foreign Minister Couve de Murville of France.

The dinner discussion followed a luncheon at which Rusk and Schroeder had smoothed over U.S. and West German tactical disagreements over the divided city surrounded by East Germany.

The get-together came on the eve of the annual spring session of the 15-nation North Atlantic Treaty Organization. The NATO foreign ministers, who are to begin closed meetings later today, are certain to give their approval to the U.S. initiative on Berlin.

Even the French, who have previously held somewhat aloof from President Kennedy's Berlin explorative policy, were reported to have joined fully in Thursday night's discussions.

To Double Capacity Of Pipeline

VANCOUVER (CP) — Western Pacific Products and Crude Oil Pipelines Limited announced Thursday it is doubling the capacity of its 505-mile all-B.C. pipeline at a cost of $1,500,000.

The company said installation of three new pumping units in existing stations and construction of two new pumping stations will increase the rated capacity of the line from 27,500 barrels a day to 45,000 barrels a day.

The line taps the oil-rich Peace River petroleum area and joins the Trans-Mountain Oil Pipeline at Kamloops.

Dollar Devaluation Adds Spice to Election Kettle

Retailers Consider Price Hikes to Cover Import Costs

By ALAN DONNELLY

OTTAWA (CP) — Reverberations were felt Thursday in business offices and on the election hustings across the country from the government's dramatic move to cut the Canadian dollar's exchange value and peg it at 92½ U.S. cents.

Stock market prices spurted ahead, especially on big export industries. Wheat prices went up five cents a bushel. Tourist officials applauded.

But some retailers talked about possible price increases resulting from the higher cost of imports. And provinces and municipalities with foreign-held bond debt complained it will mean added cost in interest and principal payments.

The government's surprise action, disclosed by Finance Minister Fleming Wednesday night in a pre-midnight statement, resulted in a drop Thursday of 2½ cents in the dollar's exchange value to 92¾ U.S. cents.

It also means a return to a pegged exchange rate after nearly 12 years of a "floating" rate. This move, urged on Canada by the International Monetary Fund, means the government is committed to keeping the dollar rate from moving more than one per cent higher or lower than 92½ U.S. cents.

At the pegged rate, it will take $1.08 Canadian to buy $1 American.

REASON FOR MOVE?

One official said the move is expected to bring an end to heavy losses of foreign exchange reserves in recent months, and indicated that this shrinkage was the main factor behind the government's decision.

The development adds a hot new issue to the election campaign.

Liberal Leader Pearson said in Calgary the move is a government confession of the complete failure of its economic policies.

Walter Gordon, Liberal party campaign committee chairman and economic spokesman, said the step points up "the financial crisis" of recent months. The government had failed in a "desperate attempt" to keep the dollar from falling and nervous foreign investors had been withdrawing funds from Canada.

Social Credit Leader Thompson said it was "a desperate measure to perk up a declining economy" and said living costs would rise in the long run.

Mr. Fleming, however, said in his statement that it's expected the move "will be of great advantage to the Canadian economy."

At a press conference in Toronto Thursday, he said a "highly speculative element" had been evident in the exchange market recently. The government thought its action should completely drive out speculators from transactions affecting the dollar.

RESERVES DRAINED

There has been a continuing heavy drain on Canada's foreign exchange reserves from the government's policy of seeking to offset strong downward pressures on the dollar in recent months.

The new pegged rate is the lowest since Oct. 2, 1950, when the Canadian dollar, then pegged at just over 90 U.S. cents, was set free to "float" in response to supply-and-demand market forces. For most of the time since then, the dollar has been at a premium. The peak of $1.06⅛ was hit August, 1957.

But the dollar has been at a discount since Mr. Fleming's budget last June 20 when he announced the government's exchange fund would be used to buy U.S. dollars to ensure the dollar fell to a "significant" discount. Since October, however, the fund has been selling U.S. dollars to prevent the dollar dropping too rapidly.

One of the main effects of the dollar devaluation will be an increased return in Canadian dollars from export sales, and a boost in the Canadian cost of imports.

90-Year-Old Delivers 80th Baby

GULL BAY, Ont. (CP) — A crippled, 90-year-old midwife delivered the 80th baby of her career here Monday, it was reported Thursday.

Grandma Robinson was trundled to the mother's bedside in a wheelbarrow in this tiny Northwestern Ontario Indian community, 82 miles northeast of the Lakehead.

The terrain was too rough for years, ever since a fractured hip had put her on crutches.

But she was pressed back into service this time because nobody else was available. The wheelbarrow was volunteered by a villager.

"I feel delighted to be back in action again," Grandma Robinson said after the successful delivery.

Thatcher Urges Election Now In Saskatchewan

YORKTON, Sask. (CP) — Liberal opposition leader Ross Thatcher said Thursday the CCF government in Saskatchewan should call a general election immediately.

He was commenting in an interview on the resignation of public work minister J. Walter Erb from the government and the CCF party.

"We feel that an election should be called without delay," Mr. Thatcher said. "Apparently the government is daily losing more support."

He said he expected "there will be additional defections."

The last general election was in June, 1960.

Mr. Erb was the second major politician to defect from the CCF-NDP group. Hazen Argue, the group's parliamentary leader, quit in February and joined the Liberal party.

Mr. Thatcher said there has been no official application for membership in the Liberal party from Mr. Erb but "if he does apply his application will be considered immediately by the executive."

"I personally have a high opinion of Mr. Erb," he added.

Justice Reserves Decision on BCE

By JIM PEACOCK

VANCOUVER (CP) — Decision was reserved Thursday on a motion to have the B.C. Electric Company struck out of court actions arising from the government's expropriation of the giant utility last August.

Chief Justice Sherwood Lett, in reserving decision, stated he could give no indication of when he would bring in his ruling on this request.

He also noted, for the third time in three days, that B.C. Electric is not represented in the court by counsel and said that he would not be responsible for bringing this to the attention of those interested again.

The motion to have the company struck out was brought by the B.C. Hydro and Power Authority.

Trial of the action brought by the B.C. Power Corporation, former parent company of B.C. Electric, will continue with the electric company remaining a party to the action while the judge considers his decision.

INTRODUCED TUESDAY

The motion to have B.C. Electric struck out was among several introduced Tuesday when trial of the corporation's case opened in B.C. Superme Court.

The corporation seeks to have the expropriation legislation, passed at a special legislative session last August, declared invalid. It also claims that amendments to the take-over legislation and new legislation merging B.C. Electric and the B.C. Power Commission under the B. C. Hydro and Power Authority is invalid.

If the laws are upheld by the court, the corporation wants an increase in the 171,000,000 paid in compensation for the common stock of B.C. Electric, all of which was held by the corporation which contends the value at the time of expropriation was not less than $225,000,000.

Strachan Offers Clear-Cut Policy

KEREMEOS (CP)—NDP-CCF provincial leader Robert Strachan said Thursday night the Social Credit government's power policies "are so confused and changeable that no one can say from day to day what the latest brainstorm in Victoria has produced in the way of desperate confusion."

In a speech to a political meeting here Mr. Strachan declared: "Social Credit has brought to our province an age of bumbling confusion and growing chaos."

An NDP-CCF government, he said, would introduce a clear-cut power policy, give "an honest accounting" to the people about the debt position, create a clear division of local and provincial financial responsibility and bring in a forest policy that would allow every operator equal opportunity.

A NDP-CCF government, said Mr. Strachan, would "restore parliamentary democracy to our legislature and put an end to government by order-in-council, government by press conference and government by cabinet decree."

$1,150 PAID CLERK, COURT MARTIAL TOLD

By DON HANRIGHT

OTTAWA (CP) — An army cipher clerk was paid $1150 for one of four opium deliveries totalling 121 pounds while on duty last year in Indochina, his court martial was told Thursday.

But the smuggling details remained secret as the court adjourned today to consider sentence on the clerk, Cpl. Maurice Hector Joseph Noel, 41, of Regina, for a breach of military discipline and order.

The five-man court was on the verge of getting a 14-page handwritten statement that Cpl. Noel gave to provost officers when he suddenly changed his plea to guilty, thus keeping the statement out of the record.

Maximum punishment he can get is dismissal with disgrace. Earlier, a guilty plea on a similar charge brought Cpl. Gerald Albert West the dual penalty of 30 days in an army jail and reduction in rank to private.

LIQUID FUEL USED IN TITOV'S ROCKET

WASHINGTON (AP) — Soviet cosmonaut Gherman Titov said Thursday the giant rocket that whirled him into space had six stages, all powered by liquid propellants. He also said he controlled his capsule by manual means along during two of his 17 orbits around the earth last August.

Titov's statement at an international space science meeting was the first Russian report on the number of stages of the rocket.

He indicated that the general power of the rocket was of the same order of the United States' still-under-development 1,500,000-pound-thrust rocket — MHE Saturn which has been tested but has not been used in any flight.

He said that the maximum thrust of all six engines of the launching rocket was 600,000 kilograms. A kilogram is about two pounds.

The astronaut said he controlled his space ship entirely by hand during the second and seventh orbits of his 17-orbit flight.

Russia Ready To Go on With Test Ban Talks

GENEVA (Reuters) — Russia agreed Thursday to continue negotiations with the United States and Britain on a nuclear test ban, but again insisted there could be no agreement if the West demanded international inspection.

The three-power test ban subcommittee — part of the 17-nation disarmament conference — met for the first time in five days. The meeting allayed fears that Russia might walk out of the subcommittee because of U.S. resumption of nuclear testing.

Russian chief delegate Valerian Zorin hinted before the test series started that Russia might walk out.

Sources said Russian nuclear delegate Semyon Tsarapkin told the subcommittee there could be no test ban agreement as long as the West stuck to its "old position" that international inspection was mandatory.

Tsarapkin urged the subcommittee to agree to two basic principles:

1. Acceptance of internal control by nuclear nations themselves.

2. International inspection by invitation only.

Cominco Benefits by Dollar Cut

TRAIL, B.C. (CP) — Pegging of the Canadian dollar at 92½ cents in terms of U.S. currency will be advantageous for the big Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company because of its substantial export operation, Vice-President R. D. Perry said Thursday.

Recently-released Cominco production figures showed the company exported 76 per cent of its lead and zinc products, 30 per cent of them to the U.S.

The new rate could also mean increased profit of about $70,000, based on last year's figures, for the sale of gold. The gold price is pegged at $35 an ounce in U.S. currency.

Liberals Will Deal With NDP Says Pearson

MELVILLE, Sask. (CP)—Liberal Leader Pearson told two Saskatchewan audiences Thursday that a Progressive Conservative defeat June 18 is the best way to remove the New Democratic Party from the national scene.

A Liberal government "will deal with the NDP," Mr. Pearson said in appearances at Yorkton and Melville. He travelled by charter aircraft and car after spending Wednesday in Alberta and B.C. He was to make a major agricultural address at Weyburn Thursday night.

The Liberal leader was met at Yorkton by provincial Liberal leader Ross Thatcher and Hazen Argue, the CCF member of Parliament for 17 years who bolted recently to the Liberal party. Mr. Argue seeks re-election in Assiniboia.

At a Yorkton luncheon of about 50 people, Mr. Thatcher dwelt briefly on the resignation of Walter Erb Thursday from the Saskatchewan CCF cabinet and party. He suggested that only NDP leader Douglas stands a chance of election in the province, and "even he is in trouble."

Science Students Get Break

OTTAWA (CP) — National and international recognition will be given for the first time in Canada next week to high school students planning carees in science.

It will be the same type of recognition already received by students in the fields of music, art, agriculture and athletics.

Some 40 boys and girls from secondary schools across Canada will gather at Carleton University here May 11 and 12 to take part in the first annual Canada-wide science fair.

The students, winners of regional and local science fairs during the last eight weeks, will compete for national prizes valued at $2,200.

The winners of two special awards — a boy and a girl — will be sent to London on an expense-paid trip to compete at the international youth science fortnight July 20 to Aug. 3. This event — giving international recognition to the work of science students — is under the patronage of Prince Philip.

Students taking part in the fair will demonstrate their creativeness and enterprise by exhibiting scientific displays.

No limitation is placed on the amount of bought or borrowed equipment a student may use but exhibits will be judged solely on the basis of creative ability, scientific thought, thoroughness, skill, clarity and dramatic value.

And in This Corner . . .

SEATTLE (AP)—Give spiders a little wine and they spin webs like crazy, a youthful exhibitor at the National Science Fair has found.

Joanne Fiscalini, 17, of Modesto, Calif., wanted to find out if spiders lose their inhibitions in the same way as humans. Apparently they do.

Normally, spiders spin symetrically and stop when they have what web they need.

"But with wine," said Miss Fiscalini, "they just go on and on spinning webs. And the webs go every which way."

The Modesto student injected wine in a dead fly, then fed the fly to the spider.

Miss Fiscalini's display, with photographs of the mixed-up spider webs, is one of nearly 400 showing Thursday at the Seattle World's Fair grounds.

Winners will be announced at a banquet Friday.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Waiting to go up to the top of the 55-foot Washington monument Thursday, Soviet cosmonaut Gherman S. Titov remarked:

"This is the first joint Soviet-American journey into space."

American astronaut John Glenn laughed when the translation came to him and replied there was a joke among American spacemen that the tall, needle-like monument "would never get off the pad."

Glenn was guiding Titov on a tour of Washington.

Liberals Choose Nick Oglow of Castlegar

TRAIL — A nominating convention of over 100 members of the West Kootenay Liberal Association nominated Nick T. Oglow of Castlegar, immediate past chairman of the village of Castlegar, as their candidate for the forthcoming federal election here Thursday night.

A. Lauriente of Trail and James Gagnon of Rossland declined nomination due to other commitments.

E. M. McGauley of Castlegar, in nominating the candidate, referred to his six years of service on the Castlegar village commission, of which four were as chairman. He also referred to the significance of his being a candidate living in the hub of the Columbia River controversy.

In his acceptance speech, Mr. Oglow referred to his belief in the Liberal party as representing all groups in Canada regardless of race, color or creed.

"The New Democratic Party is a party based on class prejudice and intolerance, pitting employer against employee, farmer against businessman, and group against group. Keep the politicians out of labor unions and let them run their own affairs," he declared.

With respect to Social Credit, he mentioned that despite the party's popularity in British Columbia and Alberta, the Socreds had not in an era of protest in 1958 elected a federal candidate.

Mr. Oglow blasted the Conservative government on unemployment, the "debacle" of the Columbia development and the Iron Curtain drawn between federal and provincial governments in the administration of Canadian affairs involving both levels of government.

W. A. Gilmour, B.C. Liberal Association president, addressed the meeting. He referred to the platform of the Liberal party as propounded at a Liberal rally in January 1961. He stated this is the only party, including the Tories, which has told the country what it stands for.

He referred to the public opinion polls and the "resurgence of Liberal support" as a sure indication of a Liberal victory at Ottawa.

If a satisfactory agreement with the United States is ever to be negotiated, and particularly with dispatch, no Canadian negotiator has ever proven himself more successful in the field of international diplomacy than Lester B. Pearson, leader of the Liberal party in Canada, he said. He is the only one capable of renegotiating a satisfactory Columbia River treaty, he declared.

Mr. Oglow resigned as Castlegar village commission chairman only last year. Well known businessman, he has also served as president of the Castlegar and District Chamber of Commerce.

21 Student Teachers In District

For two weeks, 21 student teachers are lecturing on the "three Rs" to students in Nelson School District No. 7, and in Slocan School District No. 8 (Slocan).

The teachers in the Nelson district have been distributed among the schools at South Nelson, Central and Hume schools, Nelson Junior High School and L. V. Rogers High School, all in Nelson, Willow Point and Salmo.

The two teachers in the Slocan district are stationed at New Denver and Mount Sentinel High School.

Three faculty members from the University of British Columbia assess their work periodically.

Custom Car Club To Aid City Cleanup

Young backs may be involved in the annual Arbor Day program after all.

Sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce, the annual clean-up this Saturday received surprise support from the members of the Selkirk Rod and Custom Car Club Thursday. Two members of the club informed the chamber that the club is willing to lend a hand in the city-wide mop-up of winter rubbish.

Six city trucks will be employed to meet the task, which is scheduled for a three-hour blitz period Saturday morning. Volunteers, who will congregate at the city building on the airport strip between 8:30 a.m. and 8:45 a.m., will be divided into six units. Each unit will cover a certain section of the city.

Membership in Mental Health Branch Grows

Nelson is on its way to a reasonably representative branch membership in the Canadian Mental Health Association.

With the returns of only three of 17 membership canvassers reported, membership enrolment by citizens already surpasses that of previous years. Mrs. Thomas Hubbard, a volunteer of the Hume School Parent-Teacher Association, Thursday night turned in membership cards for 30 residents of the Seventh-Eighth streets area. Enrolment of 20 of the Front Street area was reported by Mrs. G. E. Taylor, a volunteer canvasser also representing Hume PTA. These added to previously reported membership subscription by 25 Third Street residents.

Last year's membership was about 60, and the Nelson Branch, CMA, set its sights on an enrollment approaching that of neighboring communities, Cranbrook and Trail, which number several hundreds each.

Over $1000 Donated to Peace Institute

Nelson citizens have backed their interest in the Canadian Research Institute idea with contributions exceeding $1000.

Gifts volunteered at a collection station on Baker Street, to house-to-house residential, canvassers and in a business area drive was reported at the $1013 mark. A few additional contributions are expected to be received by Treasurer Vincent Fink before receipt books for the current drive are closed. Actually, it is indicated pledged amounts will continue to be received far into the future.

"Certainly one of the best achievements of the drive has been in public information and education," Mrs. J. H. Coventry acting chairman for Nelson branch, said.

Radio Station CKLN was credited with playing a major role with its public service broadcasts. Speakers addressed service clubs and women's organizations and a high degree of public interest in the scientific research for peace idea achieved.

Voice of Women organization conducted the residential canvass while the business canvass was conducted by Arthur Waldie, Robert Walkley, Donald Hunter and John Nichol.

Canvass committee comprised Charles Cuthbert, Mrs. Z. Kujundzic and Herbert E. Klein, while Dr. C. M. Robinson was chairman of publicity.

Word that recruitment interviewing of scientists by Dr. Norman Alcock, founder of the Canadian Peace Research Institute, had begun recently became public. It is likely the first centre will be located at McGill University.

New Terminal Mooted For Castlegar Airport

A new, larger, fully equipped terminal may spring up overnight at the Nelson-Castlegar-Kinnaird airport.

Ald. E. T. Bodard, city representative on the airport committee, said Thursday that the federal government has implied that a prefabricated terminal will be made available to the municipally owned airport.

The committee has been negotiating with Leon Balcer, minister of transport, for the past year for federal aid towards replacing the present small terminal.

Recently R. A. D. West of Castlegar, committee chairman, received word from Mr. Balcer that a prefabricated building erected two years ago at Prince Rupert will be made available soon.

Regional director of air service in Vancouver will be in touch soon with the committee to explain terms and conditions and to work out final details of the transfer of the 24-foot by 72-foot terminal, Mr. Balcer wrote.

A permanent structure is being erected at Prince Rupert, freeing the prefabricated structure which has catering facilities and is complete to the last detail, including wiring, said Ald. Bodard.

"We hope that we will be allowed to examine this building and all its facilities before the final negotiations," said Ald. Bodard.

"From knowledge we have of this particular building, it is well suited for our airport. It will be definitely a tremendous improvement over the limited facilities which we have had over the years.

"It will be indeed a pleasure to go out there and wait for a plane."

Ald. Bodard expected the cost for the building, whose estimates vary from $25,000 to $35,000, may be nominal.

AT REASONABLE FIGURE

"I believe we will be able to get it at a reasonable figure and will be able to finance it out of revenue of the airport operation, with no cost to the three co-operating municipalities," said Ald. Bodard.

A reasonable figure also appears to be the thought of Mr. Balcer. He wrote, "I doubt if we could obtain authority to provide this structure completely free of charge, but we would do our best to enter into a reasonable arrangement in regard to it."

The present terminal has been renovated several times and has been on the site since the airport opened for Canadian Pacific Airlines service in 1947.

Vocational School Land Bylaw Favored by 90 P.C.

As forecast, the $62,000 Vocational school land bylaw was passed with only a faint sign of opposition on a light vote Thursday.

Within 10 minutes after declaring the poll closed in the Memorial Hall last night, returning officer C. W. R. Harper proclaimed that the bylaw had been carried by a 90 per cent "aye" vote.

To become law it needed 60 per cent of the votes cast at the poll.

The money from the bylaw has been earmarked for the purchase of 25 acres on Silver King road, site of the $2-4 million provincial vocational school.

By paying John De Jong $61,250 for 25 acres, the city has fulfilled its committment to the government. When the government committee investigating possible sites for the schools called on Nelson last summer, the city promised to donate the land towards the project.

Yesterday only 23 per cent of the ratepayers exercised their franchise, but returning officer Harper believes this was quite good, considering there was very little controversy.

"It was a pretty good vote," said Mr. Harper.

"Considering the weather," added Ald. E. T. Bodard, who along with Ald. F. A. Beresford, was present when the ballots were counted.

Only 82 of the 793 ballots cast were negative. Two ballots were spoiled, leaving 709 to register "yes". The majority of the votes were pencilled in the last three hours. In the first nine hours only 350 voters had registered.

Ald. Bodard gave special thanks to radio station CKLN who all day urged voters to get out and mark their ballots.

Lumberjack Carving Approved by Chamber

CRANBROOK — Executive approval has been given by the Chamber of Commerce for the land parcel adjoining the B.C. Forest Service ranger offices on the highway section of Cranbrook Street south as site of this season's proposed Jaycee tourist information booth.

The Chamber executive has extended its approval also to commissioning of a carving of a 15-foot wooden lumber-jack of the early woods era by Bud Amy, to be located at one of the city entrances.

These decisions were made at a special executive meeting and were reported at Tusday's meeting of the Chamber executive by president Gordon Lyons.

The Chamber membership dinner meeting next Tuesday will feature a film on the Industrial Development Bank.

To be presented at the meeting by E. S. Brown and P. D. Winram of Vancouver, regional representatives for the Industrial Development Bank, it will show the purpose of this federal agency and how it can be used for starting a new business or expanding an existing business. The representatives will also answer any quetions of a practical nature.

Arrangements were decided upon at an executive meeting of the Chamber Tuesday.

The tourist committee reported arranging with the city for the three-day visit in early August of the Wally Byam Trailer Caravan of 500 to 800 people, with 250 to 300 trailers. Grounds of the Memorial Arena and that general vicinity will be available for this California-based party which will be on its third visit here.

SKI HILL INVESTIGATION

Jack Scott, appointed earlier to investigate possibilities of a ski hill development, reported a helicopter trip in Baker Mountain vicinity where the northern slopes appear practical for development, but he said ground reconnaisance with expert Sam Wormington would not be possible until July because of the heavy snow there.

Delegates to the B.C. Chambers of Commerce meeting at Victoria May 28 and 29 will be president Lyons and vice-president Lloyd Hoole.

The meeting accepted with regret the resignation of secretary-treasurer W. S. Johnston effective the end of May. Mr. and Mrs. Johnston are transferring their home to Kelowna this summer after more than 40 years residence in Cranbrook.

Look Beyond, Archdeacon Urges Boys at Banquet

BALFOUR — Archdeacon B. A. Resker chose as his address, "Look beyond, not just down at the ground to see the next step, but beyond to the future," when he was guest of honor at the annual father and son banquet at Procter Hall on Monday night.

Turkey dinner was served to 62 people attending by the Woman's Auxiliary to Scouts and Cubs of the Procter, Harrop and Balfour districts.

At the head table with Archdeacon Resker were Donald Cameron, chairman of the group committee, and master of ceremonies of the affair; Scoutmaster Ross Gleam and son Kenneth, Cub leader Colin Major with Bobby Parsons, A. Wilber, assistant Scoutmaster and son Gregory, and Mrs. J. W. Houston, den mother. Absent from the affair was Mrs. Grace Burge, also a den mother.

After dinner, the boys presented a short program including a skit, a semaphore, achievement games, and a competition in knots. Eight dollars was realized when the remainder of the apples from apple day were auctioned off.

WINS GOLD CANE

MONTREAL (CP) — Dr. William Boyd of Toronto Thursday night was awarded the gold cane by the American Association of Pathologists and Bacteriologists in recognition of his achievements as a medical teacher, writer and lecturer.

CONGRATULATIONS were extended to western Canada's top teen-age citizen, Terry Dalton, 18-year-old student at Stanley Humphries School in Castlegar, when word was received from Soroptimist International that he has been chosen as tops in character, service to the community, leadership, and integrity. Shown offering their congratulations are, left, Cathy McCutcheon, last year's student council president and now a student at UBC; Tony Dalton, Terry's brother, this year's council president; Terry, centre foreground; and right, Frank Perehudoff, who was president of the student council in 1957 when Terry first came to the school, and is now a student teacher there.

Tape On Retarded Adults Given KSHC

TRAIL — A tape recording by Dr. Edgar Dahl of Bellingham, Washington was presented to the Kootenay Society of Handicapped Children at a general meeting Tuesday night.

F. R. Meredith of Rossland presented the tape, which deals with progress of retarded adults.

Two representatives of Arthur Chapman Chapter, IODE, Mrs. C. Francine and Mrs. J. E. Carter, made a presentation of $100 to Dr. Endicott school.

Proceeds of $60, raised on a rug made by two boys of the Woodland School in New Westminster, were turned over to the boys.

It was announced at the meeting that plans are going ahead for the provincial conference to be held in Trail, May 18 to 20. Early registration indicates a large attendance.

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) — Syria's new government launched its program of "Arab socialism" by reinstating the country's 1958 land reform law Wednesday. The law, a keystone in the socialist program begun when Syria was a part of President Nasser's United Arab Republic, divided the country's large feudal estates among landless peasants.

Soroptimists Find Terry Dalton Western Canada's Finest Citizen

(Contributed)

In its North American search for outstanding teen-aged citizens, Soroptimist International has found in the village of Castleagr, an 18-year-old lad, it has deemed worthy of being called western Canada's finest teenage citizen.

Word has been received from Winnipeg that Terry Dalton, a Grade 12 student from Stanley Humphries secondary school, has been selected as one of two Canadian finalists. He and his compatriot from eastern Canada, together with 12 students from the United States make up the contingent of North American candidates for top honors. From these 14 outstanding young citizens, two will be selected to receive cash awards of $2500 each, to be presented in San Francisco on July 8 at the biennial convention of the Soroptimist Federation of the Americas.

One of the primary beliefs of this international organization is in the integrity, worth and ability of the youth of today, and it is dedicated to encourage young people to develop not only the highest concepts of patriotism but more effective cooperation in home, community, national and international affairs.

High standards were set in the screening of regional good citizenship candidates who were judged strictly on merit and worth.

QUALIFICATIONS

In order to qualify for consideration at all, they were obliged to fulfill the following requirements: Active service in home, in school, and in the community, with a high degree of co-operation, courtesy and consideration for others.

Execution of responsibilities with truthfulness, loyalty, and puncutlaity.

Demonstration of ability to lead — with self control, dignity, and responsibility.

Pursuance of selected endeavours with sincerity and integrity.

Substantiating evidence was required in each category, with documented proof and official records.

Impressive to the judges was the respect and admiration accorded young Dalton by those who know him best.

Hundreds of words of tribute poured in from all sides — neighbours, teachers, community workers, fellow students, customers on his former newspaper route, his many friends. They were unanimous in their opinion that here was a boy completely unassuming, unselfish, kind, who went through life with a friendly grin and a helping hand, who was always there in the background doing the thankless jobs, always good natured, courteous, gentle, and considerate.

ZEALOUS SPORTSMEN

He played sports with zest, took time to coach the younger fellows, was loyal and helpful to his school.

This loyalty was given even at personal sacrifice. When his father died unexpectedly some two years ago, Terry, despite his personal anguish, took his usual place in the school band at the Armistice Day service the following school day.

Now serving as vice-principal of Stanley Humphries' student council, he has given unstinting service, with no thought of self promotion. Most of his work is done quietly and in the background.

Three times at school honors day ceremonies, he has been awarded citizenship citations — a unique and distinctive accomplishment in this school which does not honor its students lightly.

Those who have been in closest contact with him say they have never seen him do or say na unkind thing. They have often marked the gentle and considerate manner he has with younger students. With this gentleness he combines great strength of character.

New Zone Plan

OTTAWA (CP) — The air transport board has set up a new system of zones for all of Canada to simplify rates charged by charter airlines.

The new system will go into effect Nov. 1, replacing the present helter-skelter arrangement under which each airline quoting rates by zones can define whatever zones it wants.

The result has been a hodgepodge of zones—and confusion for people trying to shop around for the cheapest charter service.

Working with the airlines, the air transport board has carved up Canada into 18 sections, setting the boundaries by parallels of latitude and meridians of longitude.

An Election, Not A Show

Prime Minister Diefenbaker has rejected Mr. Lester Pearson's suggestion that the two as heads, respectively, of the Conservative party and the Liberals, should debate on television the Conservative record and the Liberal proposals if that party is elected.

Mr. Diefenbaker is no stranger to television and often finds it of use when he wishes to address a large audience but he does not think that a debate of this nature is suitable for a Canadian election.

Such a debate bears no comparison to an American TV debate during a campaign for the presidency. In the last presidential election in the United States much use was made of the device and this may well have been of value since the issue was entirely a personal one between two individuals. The audience was able to choose between them on the basis of their speeches and appearance. Television, however, may not be without its disadvantages for it has even been suggested that Nixon lost because he gave the viewers the impression of being unshaven.

The Canadian election is not a contest between individuals but a matter of difference of political aims and policies. The Conservatives will be called upon to justify their actions and policy while in office and the opposition parties to try to show how poorly the Conservatives have done this. Both opposition parties will no doubt prescribe their panaceas for the ills, real and imagined, which presently afflict the country.

This election is a serious matter and not one for a television show. The printed word is, and will remain, the most valuable means of communication in the political field. All parties rely heavily on printed matter as well as meetings. Newspapers will carry all possible election news and this paper will continue as it has in the past to report accurately and impartially such political news as will enable the voters to form their own opinions. In the interest of good government, electors should read and consider all they can which will enable them to make a reasoned choice of a party to represent them.

Do-It-Yourself Spy Kit

It can't happen here eh?

Canada cannot become a police state because Canadians would never tolerate any infringement of their democratic freedoms, it is frequently said. The whole conception of informers, spies, block gauleiters, youth organizations with members duty-bound to inform authorities of all infringements of laws and regulations by anyone, including parents and relatives, and similar paraphernalia of the police state are wholly repugnant to Canadian thinking, is another popular argument.

That is the sort of fatuous nonsense that governed pre-Hitler thinking in Germany, that preceded Mussolini's rise to power in Italy, that has always been spoken by people ripe for enslavement.

Canada is no exception and, time and again, evidence is discovered that shows how precariously citizens of this country teeter on the brink of an abyss of national loss of cherished liberty.

In Toronto, only a few days ago, police stations received a supply of special forms available to any resident whose neighbor's car has a noisy muffler, a tail light not operating, or some other dangerous defect. All anyone need do is drop into the police station, obtain one of these forms and on it list the information about the neighbor's car, then mail the form to the Traffic Safety Bureau operated by the police. An officer will be assigned to investigate and, if necessary, advise the car owner to have his vehicle repaired or face charges.

Take particular note that it is not necessary for the person who lodges the complaint to sign the form or in ny way identify himself.

On the face of it this is a laudable tempt to promote traffic safety by covering unsafe vehicles before they have a chance to endanger the public. And Canadians have become so safety conscious that they consider almost anything permissible that promises a reduction in the volume of motor mishaps.

But, once the principle of the anonymous complaint about unsafe cars becomes established, what will come next?

There are the neighbors who hold noisy parties, who watch the late movie without reducing the sound volume on the TV set, who walk around on hot nights in scanty garb without drawing the window curtains, who fail to cut the grass regularly, or whose garage door squeaks every time it is opened. Surely it is possible to devise and make available a form that can be sent to the police calling attention to these offences without identifying the sender. The method is far more effective and less time-consuming than a telephone call which requires a desk-sergeant to take down details and names.

It is only another short step to the form on which can be noted a neighbor's common-law wife, a fellow worker's tirades against the government that come dangerously close to following the party line, a friend's illegal purchase of liquor, or a business rival's apparently excessive scale of living.

Since identification of the informant is unnecessary, strict accuracy and fear of a suit for defamation of character need not be considered. Suspicion or malice are all that is needed.

Undoubtedly such a system would be of great assistance to the police in the performance of their duty and would enable them to lay hands upon hundreds of law-breakers who might otherwise go unnoticed. Since police require informants the plan would enlist an army of stool-pigeons and informers at almost no cost at all.

A few months or years of such a regime and the entire population will have turned into a secretive, suspicious, terrified rabble ripe for the purpose of any dictator.

It all began in much this way in those scores of countries whose people have writhed under the heel of a tyrant. It can, unless civic vigilance is unending and every such iniquitous proposal is quickly detected and destroyed, follow the same course in Canada.—The Orillia Packet and Times.

Europeans Sell Businesses At Bargain Rates In Oran

By HENRY BUCKLEY

ORAN, Algeria (Reuters) — Real estate and businesses are going at bargain rates in this sunny but unhappy Mediterranean city.

Europeans engulfed in a swamp of pessimism are selling out for what they can get.

A barber on the Boulevard Clemenceau, Oran's smart shopping street, asked this reporter:

"Would you like a hairdressing business? You can have my shop for 20,000 new francs ($4,000). Two years ago, I turned down an offer of 100,000 new francs ($20,000)."

A photographer with a once-flourishing business said "As soon as I leave, I shall just abandon my shop. Who is going to buy it."

These attitudes reflect the wave of pessimism among the nearly 1,000,000 Europeans in Algeria, who, following the cease-fire agreement between France and the Algerian insurgents, must now prepare to live in a nation governed by the native people of the North African territory.

THINK WON'T HONOR

At present, they assume the Algerian Moslems of the National Liberation Front will not honor the cease-fire agreements and will expropriate the property of French nationals.

For this reason, they support the terrorists of the Secret Army Organization, hoping some miracle may yet overturn the agreements and enable them to continue in a dominating position.

Only a few of the Europeans in Algeria are rich landowners or industrialists. The majority are bus drivers, plumbers, shopkeepers, modest farmers or civil servants.

Some of them clearly will have no future here. But there will be a need for European collaboration if the Algerians honor the agreement and if European capital helps to industrialize this underdeveloped land.

But the economic situation is slowly running down. This once prosperous, dynamic port and business centre is already only a shadow of what it once was.

Pearson Says Ottawa Petulant Toward U.K. Overtures To ECM

By ARCH MacKENZIE

CALGARY (CP)—The government's response to British overtures to the European Common Market has been "petulant and sterile obstruction," Liberal Leader Pearson said Wednesday night.

Under Progressive Conservative rule, trade policy hinged on diversion and then dislocation.

A British free-trade offer, made in response to proposals to divert 15 per cent of Canadian trade to Britain from the United States, had been rejected. Then, when Britain turned toward the Common Market, the government indulged in childish behavior before it recognized that its attitude was out of step with Canadian opinion, Mr. Pearson said.

He spoke to an audience of about 900 filling a high school auditorium, summarizing the election campaign arguments he has emphasized since launching his bid for a June 18 victory a week ago in Prince Edward Island.

He was in strong voice before a crowd quick to applaud but he displayed weariness at the end of a day begun in Victoria and continued through Kelowna and Cranbrook in interior British Columbia — then Lethbridge and Calgary.

SPEAKS ON AGRICULTURE

Thursday he flew on to southern Saskatchewan for meetings in Yorkton and Melville. At night, he was to make his first major speech on agriculture at Weyburn. The Constituency in Assiniboia, where Hazen Argue, 17 years a CCF MP and now Liberal candidate, seeks re-election.

All 17 Alberta seats were Conservative after the 1958 election and 16 of Saskatchewan's 17—Mr. Argue excepted.

At Kelowna, he spoke briefly to about 200 persons gathered around a lavishly - appointed motel swimming pool. A small crowd of 100 at Cranbrook in the east Kootenays heard him pledge a new Liberal government to re-examination of the Columbia River treaty with the U.S.

The treaty situation is one of the "prize examples of government mixmanagement," Mr. Pearson said.

A Liberal government would not be opposed in principle either to export of electricity or to the sale of Columbia River power owed Canada by the United States for water-storage benefits, but each case must be judged on its merits.

His statement on power exports contrasted with a long-prevailing policy under previous Liberal governments that frowned on long-term, large-scale electricity sales to the U.S.

An extended Pearson statement included a nine-point program. It covers the treaty signed last year between Canada and the U.S. for a $458,000,000 storage and transmission system on the international river. The U.S. speedily ratified the program but the federal and B.C. governments have been stalled on financing plus disposal of the American-generated —or downstream benefit—power Canada will get.

DEPLORES QUARREL

Mr. Pearson called that altercation an "unseemly spectacle." He expressed confidence that the U.S. would agree to treaty re-examination — although B.C. agreement to such a step would be obtained first.

In Lethbridge, where he shook more hands, he was met by another small crowd and two pipers. His reception at Calgary was enlivened by a five-man orchestra which turned up at the night meeting to stimulate crowd enthusiasm.

In a beef-conscious city, he told an ancedote about his year's work after First World War service, in a Chicago packing plant. Then he tied into the government's record, while specifying that any government would have had problems in the last four years.

But the government by feebleness, indecision and confusion had failed to meet the challenge.

A Liberal government's endeavor would be to seek expanded trade in the Atlantic area and whole free world.

Liberal social security measures would cost money but an expanding economy would meet that cost. The Liberal party's past record in seeking world peace was a sound basis for contending that a Liberal government could do a better job in that field.

Astronauts Meet In Washington

WASHINGTON (AP) — Soviet cosmonaut Gherman Titov and U.S. astronaut John Glenn, already associates in high adventure, met face to face for the first time Thursday.

The meeting of the two conquerers of outer space was a simple one, with Glenn saying "hello" as they shook hands and Tigov replying "very pleased to meet you."

The encounter took place on the second floor of the National Academy of Sciences Building.

Both spacemen were accompanied by their wives, and only a few others were present at their meeting.

Both men had dates to address a meeting of space scientists later in the day.

About the only thing said between the spacemen before a pool reporter had to leave the room was this exchange:

Titov—"We are not trained for delivering speeches."

Glenn, with a grin—"I agree."

The astronauts and their wives had coffee together before the two went downstairs to the library of the academy to register for the third international space symposium of the Cospar organization.

The next item was a sightseeing tour of Washington with Glenn as guide, followed by a chat with President Kennedy at the White House.

Glenn, the first American to orbit the earth, went around three times, Titov 17. The first and only other person to make the trip was Russian Yuri Gagarin who made one orbit.

Fleming Accuses Liberal of "Seeking Personal Revenge"

TORONTO (CP) — Finance Minister Fleming Wednesday night accused his Liberal opponent in the June 18 federal election of entering the campaign to seek "personal revenge."

Without referring to him by name, Mr. Fleming described Mitchell Sharp, former deputy trade minister and Liberal candidate in Toronto Eglinton, as "a member of the bureaucratic brains trust" with "a personal axe to grind."

He said a speech his opponent delivered in Ottawa March 19 had bristled with "scurrilous and defamatory assertions", suggesting that members of the Diefenbaker government might be prepared to set aside Christian ethics in the struggle for political power.

The minister said:

"I do not recall any previous campaign in Eglinton into which any candidate has entered with a personal axe to grind, or seeking to make himself an issue or seeking personal revenge.

"That appears to be the mainspring of the present Liberal campaign."

ACCEPT NOMINATION

Mr. Fleming's attack on Mr. Sharp took up the major portion of a speech accepting the Progressive Conservative nomination in Eglinton, which he has held by wide majorities since 1945.

The minister said Mr. Sharp was attempting to "grind the axe" of his personal friendship with James Coyne, former governor of the Bank of Canada.

"One of the most constructive achievements of the present government has been to restore the Bank of Canada to its full potential usefulness for the benefit of all Canada," he said.

"A veritable transformation has resulted, notwithstanding the efforts of the Liberal party to make a political football of the subject. . . .

"My only regret in the light of hindsight is that we did not take this course four years sooner."

CANCELS REWARD

LONDON (AP) — An insurance company cancelled a reward offer today after £20,000 worth of missing diamonds turned up in the customs department at Paris' Orly Airport. The gems disappeared en route of an exhibition at the Louvre and the company offered a reward of £1,950. The company said they thought the mixup came about because the two packages arrived during a French national holiday.

Opinions Differ On Lower Dollar Value

By ALAN DONNELLY

OTTAWA (CP) — A boon to Canadian exporters and manufacturers — added costs for Canadian travellers and borrowers abroad — perhaps higher consumer prices.

Those are some of the effects expected from the government's move to cut the dollar's exchange value to 92½ U.S. cents and peg it there.

"Delighted," said F. D. Mathers, president of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, at Calgary. It would help exporters and "there is no doubt that it will be good for manufacturers."

Alberta Deputy Provincial Treasurer F. G. Stewart said it will cost Alberta from $100,000 to $150,000 this year in added costs of paying interest and principal of the province's borrowings in the U.S.

Metropolitan Toronto's finance commissioner, G. Arthur Lascelles, said it will cost Metro several hundred thousand dollars on foreign borrowings and "mostly it will come out of the taxpayers."

Not heard from Wednesday night, in the suddenness of Finance Minister Fleming's pre-midnight announcement, were any spokesmen for consumers.

Dollar devaluation boosts import prices, but the effect on consumer living costs is difficult to measure.

PRICE RISES SMALL

Last summer the Canadian dollar dropped from par to 97 cents and later to 95¼ cents. On top of that was a new three-per-cent sales tax in Ontario. But the consumer price index in the interval has moved only from 129.0 last June 1 to 129.7 on March 1.

Obviously the reactions to Mr. Fleming's surprise move are mixed.

Dollar devaluation boosts the Canadian dollar return of exports sold on world markets for world prices — generally U.S. dollars. And by increasing the Canadian dollar cost of imports, it gives a competitive margin to Canadian producers in their sales competition against imports.

Ed Nelson of Ponoka, Alta., president of the Farmers Union of Alberta, said farmers have always felt things were better when the dollar was at a discount below the U.S. dollar "but we didn't speculate on it being that far below."

The same increased value of the American greenback will have an impact on toruist travel. It will cost more for Canadian travellers in the U.S., while American tourists will find their dollars go further in Canada.

HAS OTHER EFFECTS

The fact that the Canadian dollar is not only being cut in value but also is being pegged at the new 92½-cent rate likely will have more intangible repercussions.

Alex N. McLeod, chief economist of the Toronto - Dominion Bank, said in Toronto the existence of a stabilized rate is "the important fact." It would allow producers to plan their operations on the basis of a firm exchange rate.

J. C. Whitelaw, general secretary of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, cautioned that foreign investors in Canada may not react favorably to the new situation.

Figures for the end of 1960 —the most recent available— show foreign investment in Canada and Canadian debts abroad totalled $26,100,000,000. Subtracting the estimated $9,300,000,000 value of Canadian-owned foreign assets, this left Canada's net international indebtedness at $16,800,000,000.

Peace Seekers In Good Company

To the Editor:

Sir — Whether people believe in the efforts of the "Voice of Women" — or the Canadian Peace Research Institute, is, no doubt their own business.

If others believe that Dr. Norman McKenzie of U.B.C. — Dr. Cyril James, President of McGill University, and Sir John Lovall of England are misguided cranks —that again is their affair.

But it might be as well to point out that they are in good company. I herewith submit resolutions put forth by the Executive Council of the General Synod of the Anglican Church of Canada.

It was moved by Dr. J. C. Flanagan, seconded by Canon G. S. Tanton:

COUNCIL FOR SOCIAL SERVICE

a. "That this Joint Annual Meeting of the C.S.S. and the Executive Council of General Synod of the Anglican Church of Canada urges upon the government the adoption of a more positive program for peace, including an international agreement ending the manufacture and testing of nuclear weapons and the cessation of all experimentation in chemical and biological methods of mass destruction and that we base our foreign policy on moral and Christian principles.

b. "That the billions of dollars presently wasted on Canada's defence budget be used instead to provide a much greater interchange between students and young workers of the different countries of the world.

c. "That this Council for Social Service urges Canada to give more extended aid to underdeveloped and underpriviliged nations of the world by supporting a world food pool through our agricultural and manufacturing surpluses and by massive educational and technical aid."

It was moved by the Bishop of Ottawa, seconded by Archdeacon Naylor:

"That the above resolution be referred to the Executive Committee of the Council for Social Service for study."

CARRIED.

It was moved by Bishop Reed, seconded by Archbishop Sexton: of the Province of British Columbia

"That this Annual Meeting of the Council for Social Service in joint session with the Executive Council of the General Synod of the Anglican Church of Canada records its appreciation of the clear stand taken by Canada's Secretary of State for External Affairs before the United Nations General Assembly against further testing of nuclear weapons in view of the grave danger to present and future generations of radioactive fall-out. We commend especially the Honorable Howard Green's reported statement, in the following terms:

"We take the strongest possible exception to having our present and succeeding generations exposed, through the actions of other states, to the danger of radioactive fall-out.

"This assembly and world opinion must insist that there be no further testing of nuclear weapons.

"The time has come when it is not sufficient merely to express concern and to record blame. We must find means of compelling the countries responsible to cease testing." "And This Annual Meeting Urges our Government to continue with vigor its efforts to secure, through United Nations, a ban on further such testing."

CARRIED.

Huxley Urges Less Money Spent On Space Flights

VANCOUVER (CP) — Biologist and author Sir Julian Huxley said Wednesday the world would be better off if it devoted a fraction of the money spent on atomic research and space flights to finding out how to control the birth rate.

He said world population is growing by 50,000,000 a year, a rate that will see it double in 20 years.

"We can't do that and keep up," said Sir Julian, here to speak to the Vancouver Canadian Club.

Without a slowdown, millions will be without jobs, and millions will die of famine and disease, he said.

Four-Year-Old Steals Show From Gaglardi

BOSTON BAR (CP)—A delightful four - year - old girl snipped a ribbon, spoke a few words, and stole the show Tuesday at the opening of the $5,000,000 China Bar tunnel, longest on the Trans-Canada Highway.

Janice Brown, recently named Miss Brown Eyes of this Fraser Canyon community. 90 miles northeast of Vancouver, left Highways Minister P. A. Gaglardi virtually speechless.

She took Mr. Gaglardi by the hand and led him to a pink ribbon before the tunnel entrance.

There she snipped the ribbon and accepted the scissors, which she said, "Mummy will put away until I am a big girl."

Mr. Gaglardi just couldn't get a word in. Passing motorists and invited guests applauded Miss Brown and the ceremony was over.

The 2,000 - foot tunnel, specially lighted and ventilated, cuts off one of the most treacherous sections of the old road.

In a luncheon address earlier Mr. Gaglardi said the tunnel, together with completion of Rogers Pass in Glacier National Park and the new Alexandra bridge over the Fraser River, will make 1962 an epic year in B.C. transportation.

Ferrer - Clooney Partnership Has Troubles

By JAMES BACON

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) Jose Ferrer, after hearing Rosemary Clooney accuse him of infidelity while she was raising five children at home, answered her by pleading for a reconciliation.

"I'd come home tonight," Ferrer said.

His blonde wife tearfully testified Wednesday in their divorce trial that Ferrer had "affairs with other women from the beginning of our marriage."

Asked to comment on Ferrer's desire to come home, the 33-year-old singer answered:

"I guess he would, if he could—and that's my only comment."

The trial, at which Miss Clooney has yet to give Ferrer as much as a direct look, is in recess until Tuesday.

FINANCES TANGLED

Superior Judge Mervyn Aggeler suggested that both sides use the time to resolve their tangled financial situations.

Both Ferrer, 49, and his wife have given graphic accounts of how it is possible in Hollywood to earn millions and still be broke.

Miss Clooney, for instance, testified that during eight years of marriage she grossed a total of $2,060,667.97 — and now owes $63,632.99.

"Besides being insolvent," she said, "my doctor told me a week ago that I have an ulcer."

Miss Clooney was choked with sobs as she accused her husband of sexual infidelity. The drama was so intense that Ferrer himself brushed away tears.

Then the singer described a meeting at which she said Ferrer told her that he could not promise to be a better boy. At this she cried uncontrollably.

Regaining composure after a few minutes, she asked her lawyer for a handkerchief. At this, Ferrer quickly jumped up and gave her his own. She accepted it without looking at him.

Tel Aviv Paper Repeats Eichmann's Offer to Adopt Canadian Girl

TEL AVIV (AP) — The Tel Aviv newspaper Haariv Thursday repeated its claim that Adolf Eichmann has agreed to "adopt" a 16-year-old orphan girl admirer from Canada.

It was commenting on a statement by Eichmann's defence lawyer Dr. Robert Servatius, describing the adoption story as "nonsense."

Maariv said "Israeli sources" confirmed that the girl's request was brought to Eichmann when his wife, Vera, visited him in Ramleh Prison Sunday.

The newspaper did not identify the girl.

In Cologne, West Germany, Wednesday Servatius, termed the adoption story "complete nonsense."

DECRIES ANTI-SEMITISM

Maariv, in another story on Eichmann's meeting with his wife, reports the former Nazi said a terrible wrong has happened to the Jewish people and everything should be done to prevent a repetition.

Eichmann is awaiting the outcome of an appeal from a death sentence imposed for his part in the Nazi slaughter of millions of Jews.

"Anti-semitism is a terrible mistake and anti-semitic movements should no longer be allowed," Eichmann was quoted as telling his wife. "A terrible wrong has been done to the Jewish people. What has happened cannot be undone, but everything should be done to prevent a repitition."

Rousseau Wins Calder Trophy

MONTREAL (CP) — Bobby Rousseau, a kid many tax as a future great with Montreal Canadiens, Thursday night was named winner of the Calder Memorial Trophy as the most proficient rookie in the National Hockey League last season.

The honor carries a $1000 award from the league.

A pair of first-year men with Boston Bruins, Cliff Pennington and Pat Stapleton, were runners-up.

But the 21-year-old Rousseau won easily, polling 141 of a possible 180 points.

They were awarded on a 5-3-1 basis in voting by a panel of hockey writers and broadcasters from the six NHL cities.

Rousseau, a five-foot-10 165-pound right wing for the Habs was the leader in the first-half balloting.

WIDENS MARGIN

But his edge over Pennington, was narrow — 53 to 51—at that point. Pennington, at 22 a year older than dashing Bobby, finished 71 points behind.

Stapleton, a chunky little defenceman of 21, wound up with 41 points.

Rousseau took part in all 70 of Montreal's scheduled games and scored 21 goals and 24 assists.

For most of the season, Rousseau played on a line with Jean Beliveau and Gilles Tremblay. He was also effective as a penalty-killer.

Other rookies named this year with points bracketed:

Wayne Connelly, Boston (24),; Bruce MacGregor, Detroit (12); Ted Green, Boston (12); Dave Balon, New York (8); goalie Don Head, Boston (5); Marc Boileau, Detroit (4); Wayne Hillman, Chicago (3); Larry Jeffrey, Detoit (3); Terry Gray, Boston (1).

The 1960-61 winner was Dave Keon of Toronto.

Rousseau is a native Montrealer from a hockey - playing family. In 1960-61, he appeared in 15 games for the Canadiens of the Eastern Professional Hockey League. He potted 34 goals and collected 26 assists in 38 games with the Montreal farm club.

Bud Poile Resigns Edmonton Flyer Post

HAMILTON (CP) — Norman (Bud) Poile, general manager and coach of Edmonton Flyers, resigned Thursday from the Detroit Red Wings organization.

Poile and Detroit owner Bruce Norris, who was chairman of a Red Wings management and scouting meeting here Thursday said the severing of relations was mutual.

Full details of the parting of the ways were not made public, but Poile admitted disappointment over not being named to succeed Jack Adams as general manager of the National Hockey League Red Wings. Adams retired recently and is being replaced by Wings coach Sid Abel.

Although quitting the Flyers, Poile indicated he hopes to stay in the Western Hockey League and said he plans to seek financial backing to purchase the Vancouver franchise. He has the support of financial interests in Edmonton.

Norris and Abel said no successor to Poile as chief of the Wings' western interests had been considered. The choice is expected ot be made by chief scout Jim Skinner.

Rampaging Giants Romp To Ninth Straight Victory

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

San Francisco's rampaging Giants romped to their ninth straight victory Thursday, beating Pittsburgh Pirates 8-4 with a four-run rally in the eighth inning.

Completing a 16-hit offence against four Pittsburgh pitchers, the National League leaders stashed it away in the eighth when an error opened the way and four hits made it a rout.

Jack Sanford went all the way for the seventh successive complete game by a Giant pitcher. Dick Schofield and pinch hitter Larry Elliot rapped Sanford for two-run homers but the right - hander finished up with a five-hitter for his third victory in four decisions.

In daytime action in the American League, Kansas City beat Detroit 6-4 in a game decided on a foul fly, Minnesota hammered Baltimore 8-4 and Boston ended a five-game losing string and dealt Washington its 14th loss in its last 15 games, 7-4.

Faulty base-running and the two homers put the pressure on Sanford and Giants, but matters were settled decisively in their eighth inning uprising. Jose Pagan led off against Harvey Haddix with a grounder that went through Dick Groat for an error, Jim Davenport singled and with one out, Chuck Hiller sent in the clinching run with another single. Willie Mays then doubled for this third hit of the day, chasing in two more, and rode home himself on Orlando Cepeda's single.

Pirate starter Al McBean lasted only four innings, making him the 23rd opposing starter in 23 games this season who has failed to go the distance against San Francisco. On the debit side, Sanford's wild throw in the third was the first Giant error in nine games and 335 chances.

Norm Siebern's long foul outside the left field line cashed in Kansas City's clincher in a back-and-fourth duel with Tigers. With Bobby Del Greco on third in the seventh inning and the score 4-4, Siebern lofted his foul and Rocky Colavito made a stumbling catch. The throw was late and A's were home free.

Fast - balling reliever Diego Segui was the winning pitcher and Tiger starter Doug Gallagher the loser.

Twins overpowered Milt Pappas and Orioles with three homers—Don Mincher's grand slam, rookie Bernie Allen's three-run job and a bases-empty swat by winning pitcher Jack Kralick.

A neat pitching effort by Bill Monbouquette and rookie Dick Radatz coupled with key hitting by Pete Runnels, Ed Bressoud and Jim Pagliaroni carried Red Sox over Washington. The loss went to ex-Boston bonus pitcher, Jim Hannan.

In a night game, Chicago White Sox snapped New York Yankees' seven - game winning streak Thursday night, whipping the American League leaders 1-0 on the five-hit pitching of John Buzhardt and a homer by Jim Landis.

Landis' homer off Whitey Ford leading off the fourth inning gave Buzhardt, a former Phillie, the only run he needed.

Elsewhere in the NL, Philadelphia edged Milwaukee 9-8 and St. Louis shut out Houston 4-0 behind Curt Simmons' seven-hitter.

Clay Dalrymple won it for the Phils with a ninth inning single that scored John Callison with the run that snapped an 8-8 tie. Hank Aaron kept the Braves in the game with a pair of homers, a triple and double.

Simmons (4-1) went all the way against the Colts for his second shutout. The Cards used the homer weapon for the triumph with Bill White hitting a two-run homer and Curt Flood tagging one with the bases empty.

JOFRE FAVORED TO RETAIN FIGHT CROWN

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—World bantamweight champion Eder Jofre remained the solid favorite Thursday to defend his 118-pound crown tonight against challenger Herman Marquez.

The Brazilian title holder was expected to enter the Cow Palace ring a 3-to-1 choice against the Mexican-born Marquez from Stockton, Calif.

Jofre has won 41 of 44 bouts and drawn in the other three. Marquez, a 28-year-old longshoreman whose ring record is 20-7-1, is given a fair chance to take the title if the bout goes the 15-round distance.

The Brazilian from Sao Paulo has won 31 of his fights by knockout including the last 11. The latest was his kayo over Ireland's Johnny Caldwell Jan. 18 that won him the title.

Under California rules, the bout will be scored by the referee and two judges. From one to five points are awarded the winner of each round with the loser getting nothing. No points are awarded for an even round.

Three - Way Tie For Masters' Tournament

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — The traffic in par golf was jammed at the top Thursday as four named professionals, led by favored Arnold Palmer, wound up the first round of the $5800 Tournament of Champions deadlocked at three-under-par 69.

Tied with Palmer, the three-time Masters and former U.S. National Open champion, were Mike Souchak, the 1959 winner; Doug Sanders and veteran Cary Middlecoff.

Twenty-eight players, each the winner of a major tournament in the last 12 months, toured the 7000-yard par 36-36—72 Desert Inn Country Club course.

Olympics May Use Oxygen In Do-or-Die Stand of Cup

TRAIL (CP) — Montreal Olympics, down 3-1 in games in their best-of-seven Allan Cup series with Trail Smoke Eaters, may try oxygen to pep up players in the fifth game Thursday night.

Montreal coach Maurice Filion said the oxygen idea was suggested to him as a way of overcoming the Olympics' third - period fatigue due to Trail's altitude.

He said he would consider it for Olympics' last-ditch stand following their 4-1 defeat Wednesday night when Trail banged in three goals in the final period.

"The third period is the one that is really killing the guys," said Filion. "We are a long way from home and the heights are no good for us. Then we lose guys like James and now John Mentis and it's just no good."

Forward George James was put out of action by injuries suffered in a third-game collision with Trail's rugged Russ Kowalchuk. Mentis and Trail's Ed Pollesel were ousted for the rest of the series by the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association following a wild stick-swinging duel in Wednesday night's game.

JUGGLES LINES

Coach Filion said he will go with his remaining players and "just juggle a few lines."

Trail coach Bobby Kromm wore a big smile but was not overconfident that Smokes could take the Canadian senior amateur hockey title in one more game.

"We'll be going all out tomorrow night," he said. "The boys have had a long season and are hungry for the win. It should be a rough one. Montreal will be throwing everything they have at us to make the series stretch out. But we'll be ready."

He said an extra man the team has been carrying—Ed Cristofoli—will replace Pollesel.

Despite a rain Thursday fans were lined up in front of the local arena all day seeking tickets.

SEND IN TROOPS

MANILA, Philippines (AP)—Two companies of constabulary troops were sent to Ilocos sur Province today following the ambush killing of a mayor and a gun battle in which nine persons died. Reports from Ilocos, where political differences often result in shooting, said the latest trouble began with the slaying of Mayor Filomeno Tadena of Santo Domingo.

Oil Kings Bounce Back, Rally for Close 5-3 Win

GUELPH (CP) — In a sharp reversal of form Edmonton Oil Kings bounced back into the Memorial Cup picture Thursday night, coming from behind twice to beat Hamilton Red Wings 5-3.

The series now will go to a fifth game in Kitchener next week. Hamilton leads the best-of-seven series 2-1 with the fourth game scheduled for Guelph Saturday night.

Led by a newly-formed unit that had Butch Paul at centre between Marc Dufour, a recruit from Brandon and Norm Beaudin, a recruit from Regina, Edmonton came from behind a 2-0 deficit to tie the score before the end of the second period. They again rallied early in the third period after a Hamilton power play had given the Wings a 3-2 lead.

Some 3,175 fans saw the game.

BEAUDIN SCORES TWO

Beaudin scored twice for Edmonton with singles going to Marc Dufour, Harold Fleming and Roger Bourbonnais.

Hamilton marksmen were Ron Harris, Wayne Rivers and Pit Martin.

The Oil Kings who were faulted for their failure to shoot in the earlier games in the series outshot the Wings 30-29 and had an edge in play in the second and third periods after a scoreless first period that saw Hamilton outshoot them 14-8.

Edmonton was also vastly improved in defence as they gave the free - wheeling Hamilton forwards little room to roam and the defence was much tighter behind their own blueline. Adding lustre to the Kings win was the fact that they drew nine of 13 minors handed out by referee Gord Kerr of Winnipeg.

Hamilton opened scoring on a power play goal by Harris who hit the wide side on a screened angle shot after taking a pass from Wayne Rivers.

Rivers ran the count to 2-0 just past the five-minute mark of the period when he rapped in Jimmy Peters' rebound after Earl Heiskala had set up the play. Max Mestinsek was just returning to the ice from serving a penalty when the goal was scored.

SCORES ESKS' FIRST

Dufour put Edmonton on the score sheet past the 12-minute mark in the period when he deflected in Beaudin's passout.

The goal sparked the Oil Kings and they tied it before the period ended when Fleming knocked down a high passout and whipped a fast shot by Buddy Blom.

Three goals were scored in a minute and 22 seconds before the two-minute mark of the third period as the game blew wide open. Martin regained the lead for Hamilton at the 19-second mark while Wayne Muloin was in the penalty box.

Wings' coach Eddie Bush lifted Buddy Blom with a minute and 15 seconds remaining in the period but the move backfired. Just seven seconds after Blom came out of the net the puck was in the net as Bourbonnais connected with a long drive from his own line.

Sir Gaylord, Ridan Head Cast Of 17 for Kentucky Derby Laurels

READY TO RUN FOR ROSES—Top choices in the 88th running of the Kentucky Derby include these colts, headed by Sir Gaylord as the early favorite. Sunrise County has "won" two big stakes this year but has been disqualified in both for interference in the stretch. Ridan was undefeated as a two-year-old and will get plenty of support. (Central Press)

Donut King May Scratch From Race

By JOHN CHANDLER

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—The entry box closed Thursday, two days before blast off, with 18 thoroughbreds named for the 88th Kentucky Derby at Churchill Downs. There were a few variations and complications in the star-studded cast headed by majestic Sir Gaylord and the imposing Ridan.

Only 17, and perhaps 16 horses were expected to face the starter at approximately 4:30 p.m. Saturday, depending on the vagaries of fate.

Doc Jocoy, who won the California Derby at Tanforan and the San Felipe at Santa Anita, 2as withdrawn because of a slight bruise on his left heel. But an unexpected entry came to fill the vacancy. Lee Town, a colt who finished second, six lengths behind Roman Line in Thuesday's Derby Trial stakes, was entered by J. V. Pischieri of Hinckley, Ohio.

HAS INFECTED HEEL

Another development left the status of Donut King, another of the California threats, in extreme doubt. Infection set in after Verne Winchell's colt bruised a heel, and Donut King was entered on the possibility that a veterinarian's treatment might get him back in shape by Saturday.

As planned, trainer Casey Hayes entered Cicada, the champion two-year-old filly of 1961, as insurance against something which might prevent Sir Gaylord from starting. Both are owned by Christopher T. Chenery's Meadow Stable. Cicada also was entered for the $35,000 Kentucky Oaks where she is a prohibitive favorite to smash five riva lfillies.

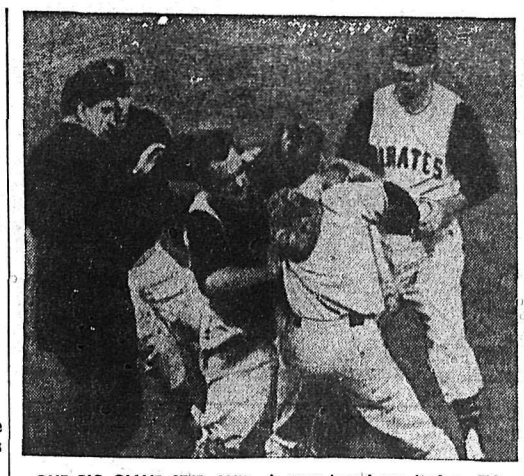
Cicada was nosed out by Ridan in the Florida Derby, and isn't figured to oppose the colts again in this run for the roses.

Sir Gaylord was listed as the 8-5 favorite along with Cicada, while Ridan, who races in the colors of Mrs. Moody Jolley, is next at 5 to 2.

RATED THIRD CHOICE

Townsend B. Martin's Sunrise County, disqualified in both the Flamingo at Hialeah and the Wood Memorial at Aqueduct, rated third choice at 6 to 1, with Fred Turner Jr.'s Sir Ribot next at 8-1.

Others entered were Fred W. Hooper's Admiral's Voyage, who won the Louisiana Derby and the Wood Memorial, Reverie Knoll Farm's Sharp Count, El Peco Stable's Decidely, Mrs. J. W. Brown's Green Hornet, Neil S. McCarthy's Santa Anita Derby winner Royal Attack, Golden Triangle Stable's Mister Pitt, Estopinal and Arnaud's Touch Bar, F. and B. Farm's Good Fifth, Crimson King Farm's Crimson Satan, T. A. Grissom's Roman Line, and Robert Lehman's Prego.



ONE BIG GIANT STEP AND—A near brawl resulted as Ed Bailey, Giants' catcher, is grabbed by catcher Don Leppert of the Pirates as Bailey was headed for pitcher Bob Friend (right rear) after a pitch sailed close to his head. Others got in the act, but order was restored and Bailey then parked one in the Forbes Field stands for a homer.

Doug Harvey Still Pondering Hockey Future With Rangers

MONTREAL (CP)—Time has just about run out, but Doug Harvey still hasn't decided whether he will return as playing-coach of New York Rangers next season.

Harvey, who lives in Montreal in the off-season, said Wednesday he is taking a few more days to ponder the decision, although his contract stipulates he must inform his New York employers of his plans by May 1.

He talked by telephone Tuesday with Muzz Patrick, general-manager of the Rangers.

He said he told Patrick he would decide one way or the other by the end of this week.

Harvey has a three-year contract. In his first year with Rangers last season he led the team to a playoff position and a record showing at the gate. He also was voted to the National Hockey League's first all-star team as a defenceman.

Harvey said he is undecided about playing next season or about coaching in the NHL. He found it awkward to move his family between Montreal and New York.

LADY WARD DIES

LONDON (AP)—Lady Ward, 78, daughter of the late Whitelaw Reid and widow of Sir John Hubert Ward, died Tuesday. She was a Dame of the Order of St. John of Jerusalem and a commander of the Order of the British Empire.

Warriors May Be Sold For $850,000

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Eddie Gottleib will ask the National Basketball Association today to approve the sale and transfer of Philadelphia Warriors to a group representing San Francisco. But Gottleib will come home to Philadelphia with a brand new franchise granted by the league.

The Associated Press learned from an unimpeachable source that the NBA will approve the sale and transfer of the Warriors, and permit Gottleib to reorganize a team composed mostly of local talent.

The new Philadelphia team would start with such players as Wayne Hightower, former Kansas star now playing in Spain and talent drafted by Gottleib such as Hubie White, Villanova University star.

The present Philadelphia team, including super-star Wilt Chamberlain would go to San Francisco for $850,000. The head of the group buying the Warriors from Gottleib is Bernard Solomon.

Kerwin Announces Ring Retirement

QUEBEC (CP) — Gale Kerwin, 27, of Ottawa, Canadian welterweight boxing champion, Thursday informed Gene Letourneau, commissioner of the Canadian Boxing Federation, that he is retiring.

Letourneau immediately announced the federation's approval of a bout between Joey Durelle of Baie Ste. Ane, N.B., and Peter Schmidt of Toronto for the vacant title. The bout will be in Trois-Rivieres, Que., in June.

FIND REMAINS

RENO, Nev. (AP)—Remains of a sixth person were found Wednesday in ruins of the New Golden Hotel, razed by fire April 3. They presumably were the remains of showgirl Carol Maye, 20, of Downey, Calif. Hers was the final name on a list of missing.

Bare-Knuckle Boxing Suggested by Panel

By JIM BECKER

MOUNT VERNON, N.Y. (AP) A return to bare-knuckle fighting might cut down on boxing injuries and deaths.

That was one of the suggestions Thursday of a panel of doctors who make a close study of sports injuries. The panel reported in Medicine in Sports, a newsletter issued by the Rystan Company.

Two of the six doctors on the panel called for abolishing professional boxing. The others recommended changes.

The panel made its comments after the death of former welterweight champion Benny (Kid) Paret.

Alexius Rachun, team physician at Cornell University, noting the frequency of "the symptoms of punch drunkenness" among professional boxers, called for an end of the professional game.

"On an amateur level the emphasis could be shifted to the scientific niceties, with a premium on skill and dexteity rather than the knockout punch," he said. He also called for a new type of glove to cut down chances of brain injury.

WOULD BAN GLOVES

But Allan J. Ryan, vice-president of the American College of Sports Medicine, came out for eliminating gloves. He said the fist, wrapped with yards of bandages and covered with an eight - ounce glove, "assumes some of the weight and rigidity of a hammer."

The unrpotected hand, he said, could not "be used with impunity against the head."

Dr. Ryan also called for outlawing professional boxing and concentrating on the amateur sport.

Harry A. Kaplan, a physician associated with the New York commission, said the knockout in boxing may actually be less damaging to the brain "than pummeling and exertion sustained in a 10-and 15 - round bout."

Gus Kyle Wants Back Into Hockey Action

By DENNIS ORCHARD

VANCOUVER (CP) — It took a large measure of self-confidence to jump at 39 from hockey coaching to a new career in investment.

Gus Kyle did it, and his venture has been a huge success, but there's a catch.

He wants back into hockey now, too.

The onetime cop, National Hockey League defenceman and sporting goods dealer tired last year of saying "yes" to his bosses in the Calgary Exhibition and Stampede board.

He quit as manager-coach of Calgary Stampeders of the Western Hockey League and took a turn at selling mutual funds out of Saint John, N.B. He has since moved to Vancouver as a branch manager and he's the golden boy of his young company.

He thinks he can stay in the work and if a nearby WHL club is interested, grace a coaching bench with his 245 pounds this fall.

Kyle resigned over a battle with Red Dutton, who insisted on running Stampeders from his presidential spot on the board, just as he rules his construction empire in western Canada.

Kyle would like to have stayed in Calgary, possibly in a double role as coach and area representative for the company. He had been studying the investment business for three years and negotiating with the firm for a job.

Dutton kept a tight hold on the club's purse strings, vetoed Kyle's plans to hire and fire players, and as Gus says, left his team with the impression Kyle was a "company man and the hell with the players."

Out he went, apparently through with the game after three bashing seasons with New York Rangers and Boston Bruins, a few more as captain of the Stampeders and four as manager-coach.

He had won two league cham*pionships, twice taking his club* to the playoff final, and sent a raft of players up to the NHL, including his favorite, Red Hay.

WANTS TO BE BOSS

If he can get back in now, he would like it on his terms: The coach's job only and power to buy and sell players as he wishes. He would like to answer to one boss and not seven or eight, and it would help if his club had a close tie-in with one from the NHL.

Four Managers to Lose Baseball Positions

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK (AP)—The baseball season is less than a month old but already there are rumblings of impending managerial changes.

According to the grapevine (whatever that is), two big league managers are on shaky ground while two others have decided to pass the job on to others at the end of the current campaign.

The uneasiest of all 20 major league pilots today must be Mickey Vernon, the soft-spoken gentleman who runs Washington Senators of the American League. The alarmists would have you believe that only a 2-1 victory over Boston Red Sox Tuesday saved Mickey's job. They think it's only a short term reprieve since the Senators are bound to fall into another long losing slump, similar to their recent 13-game debacle.

The same skeptics insist that Sam Mele, like his predecessor, Cookie Lavagetto a year ago, is feeling the hot breath of club owner Calvin Griffith on the back of his neck. Mele supposedly has been told Minnesota Twins must take a respectable bid for a first division finish—or else. The Twins, recovering from a slow start in the American League aren't doing badly, winning 10 of their first 19 games.

STENGEL TO RETIRE

A usually reliable source said that Casey Stengel already has informed George Weiss, the president of the National League New York Mets, to start looking for a prospective manager for the Mets for 1963. Casey will announce his retirement (again) immediately at the end of the 1962 season.

From Boston it's reported that Mike Higgins, the popular American League Red Sox manager, has decided to take off his uniform at the expiration of this season and move into the club's front office. Higgins' logical successor appears to be Johnny Pesky, the former Red Sox star shortstop, who returned this year to Seattle where he proved to be one of the top Pacific Coast League managers in 1961.

LEAVES ESTATE TO U.S.

NEW YORK (AP)—A jeweler's will directs that his $250,000 estate go to the United States government after the death of his mother, who is in her 80s. "I make this bequest in appreciation of the freedom and liberty afforded in this country to all citizens irrespective of race, creed or color," wrote William Berns, who died April 20 at the age of 59. His will was filed for probate here Wednesday.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

MARKET TRENDS

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market surprised some observers Thursday by carrying its rally through a third straight session.

Unlike the previous day, when some averages conflicted as to whether the market was up or down, there was no doubt about Thursday's advance. All the popular market barometers were up.

Wall Streeters reported a much more confident feeling in the financial community but in the morning the market took a while to make up its mind. International Business Machines, which has become a market keystone recently, dropped a couple of points in early dealings and the list as a whole showed no trend. In due course IBM wiped out the loss and closed with a gain of 9¾ at 482¼. Other stocks also improved and short sellers hastened to cover, further bolstering prices.

The Dow Jones industrial average regained 5.53 at 675.49.

The top steelmakers and utilities were lower on balance and motors were mixed. The trend was mostly higher among rails, oils, airlines, tobaccos, drugs, building materials, chemicals and electronics.

AVERAGE UP

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose 1.20 to 248.50.

Volume was 3,320,000 shares compared with 3,780,000 Wednesday.

A vogue for gold mining issues followed news that the Canadian dollar had been fixed at 92½ cents. The theory was that the Canadian mining companies would benefit from an increase in exports to the United States. Campbell Red Lake was active, rising ¾ to 14¾.

Less heavily traded gold mines included Homestake, up 2, Dome, up 1⅞, South American Gold and Platinum, up ⅜, and McIntyre, Porcupine, off ⅝.

Among other Canadian stocks Aluminium Ltd. was up ⅜, international Nickel lost ⅛. Hudson Bay Mining and Canadian Pacific each gained ⅛.

Prices were mixed on the American Stock Exchange where Giant Yellowknife rose 1¼. Shawinigan was ahead ⅜ and Jupiter Corp. ⅛. Canadian Marconi and Scurry Rainbow Oil were ⅛ lower.

TORONTO (CP) — Triggered by news the Canadian dollar has been fixed at 92.5 cents in terms of U.S. funds, the stock market shot skyward Thursday.

Industrials snapped their recent slump with the year's best index gain, golds and base metals both climbed more than four points, western oils jumped two points. Volume, however, was only slightly higher than Wednesday's.

Papers paced industrials, with Abitibi showing the way. It struck its best price this year —49¾—before easing to 49⅜, ahead 2½. Fraser Companies, Consolidated Paper, Price Brothers and Great Lakes Paper all gained in a 1⅜ to 1⅝ range. MacMillan, Bloedell and Powell River rose ⅞, showing a volume of more than 19,000 shares.

ALUMINIUM RISES

Aluminium rose a point to 25¾ despite being traded ex-dividend 15 cents. Falconbridge was up one point. BC Power came on strongly late in the day to gain 1⅜ on a turnover of more than 20,000 shares.

On the exchange index, industrials climed 6.82 to 617.40, golds 4.50 at 91.67, base metals 4.13 at 210.61 and western oils 2.20 at 112.92. Cloosing volume was 2,707,000 shares compared with Wednesday's 2,521,000.

Base metals shared the industrial enthusiasm. Hudson Bay Mining gained 1¾, International Nickel and Noranda 1½ each, and Ventures and Consolidated Mining and Smelting ⅞ each.

Golds were bolstered by a 2⅜ gain to Dome. Giant Yellowknife rose ¾ to a 1962 high of 12⅛, and McIntyre - Porcupine gained 1¼.

In western oils, Hudson's Bay was the pace-setter, rising 1⅜. Dome Petroleum added ⅝, Home B ½ and Home A and Pacific Petroleum ¼ each.

MONTREAL (CP)—Paced by a buoyant papers section, the stock moved ahead Thursday in heavy trading, reacting to Finance Minister Fleming's announcement Wednesday night that the Canadian dollar will be pegged.

Among papers, Abitibi jumped 2⅜ to 49⅜, Fraser added 1½ to 26¾, MacMillan rose ¾ to 20¼, Consolidated Paper gained 1¼ to 42¼, Price was up 1⅛ at 50 and Great Lakes improved 1⅜ to 19⅞.

CPR at 26¼ added ⅝ and Dome Pete rose ¾ to 12¼. Hudson's Bay Company was up ⅜ at 12½.

B.C. Power rose 1⅛ to 17¾ in heavy trading.

Canadian Dollar Cut Was Expected in Britain

By SIDNEY GAMPELL

LONDON (Reuters) — Only the timing of the pegging of the Canadian dollar's exchange value at 92½ United States cents came as a surprise to the London exchange market.

The announcement of the stabilization had been expected for some time.

Immediate impacts in London were short covering in Canadian dollars and a slight strengthening of the Swiss franc against the U.S. dollar.

West Germany's Deutch mark which has lately required support at slightly below its dollar par, edged up to slightly above the dollar par, though most of this change had occurred late Wednesday before the news was issued in Ottawa.

As is rather usual on these occasions, the first quotations of the Canadian dollar were in the upper part of its new trading range — and occasionally slightly above. People who had sold or stayed short of Canadian dollar in anticipation of the move, were covering and taking profits.

This year Canadian authorities have spent U.S. dollars fairly heavily to stop the Canadian dollar falling below 95 U.S. cents.

Now that Canada has deliberately put it down to 92½, they stand to get some U.S. dollars back.

Canada's reserves are large and even the uncertainties of a general election, they seem well able to hold their new rate.

The Canadian move was regarded as a considerable triumph for the IMF system of fixed par values. Since September, 1950 Canada's fluctuating rate had been the main problem in this system. In recent speeches Per Jacobsson of the IMF mentioned the Canadian dollar in terms which suggested that he desired and expected its stabilization.

B.C.'s Dormant Volcanoes Due To Erupt at Any Time

By RUSSELL ELMAN

OTTAWA (CP) — A prominent Canadian geologist says dormant volcanoes in northern British Columbia are due to erupt—but it's anyone's guess when.

Dr. James M. Harrison, chief of the Geological Survey of Canada, considers it "agood bet" that Canada's only known active volcanic region—the Telegraph Creek area of northern B.C.—will explode again.

"Whether it will be in our lifetime, we don't know," he said in an interview. "However, there is no scientific reason to suppose that there will not be more volcanic activity."

Dr. Harrison said the last known volcanic eruption in Canada is thought to have occurred about 200 to 300 years ago near Telegraph Creek, 600 miles northwest of Vancouver. New knowledge of this volcanic region had been recently revealed through extended geological mapping and aerial photography.

AT TOKYO MEETING

The Regina - born scientist, who is also president of the International Union of Geological Sciences, was senior Canadian delegate at an international conference on volcanology at Tokyo in May. It provided an opportunity for a first - hand glimpse of Japanese volcanoes currently in action.

"Through the study of volcanoes, Canada can make a contribution to science and eventually the economic life of the country," he said.

Canada had as geologically a complete record of volcanic activity as any country in teh world but in the past there had been no serious attempt to investigate Canada's volcanic history.

Mount Royal, the 900-foot-high wooded park dominating Montreal, was an ancient volcano which blew its top 300,000,000 years ago. Much of the Maritimes, the Gaspe peninsula and Laurentian hills were once volcanic areas of an even older vintage. Chances of a volcanic revival in these regions were considered negligible.

KEY TO MINERALS

"Mineral deposits of many kinds are found in volcanic rocks and rocks closely associated with them. It is possible that a comprehensive study of these materials and their relation to mineral deposits will provide important clues that will enable us to find other deposits that now are unsuspected."

The University of Manitoba, he said, is preparing a study of volcanic rocks on the edge of the pre-Cambrian Canadian shield, which contains half of Canada's known metallic wealth.

It was also important from the viewpoint of the history of the earth to learn what geological changes have taken place. A study of Canada's volcanoes might throw new light on how the North American continent was formed.

Campaigning Prime Minister Encounters Fog and Liberals

By JIM NELSON

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker, confronted with fog and traditional Newfoundland liberalism, carried his June 18 election campaign into Newfoundland Wednesday.

Making his first visit of the campaign to this Liberal stronghold—Liberals held five of the seven Newfoundland seats in the last Parliament—Mr. Diefenbaker had to log some unexpected road miles and pass up some of his original program.

Fog and low - hanging rain clouds forced the prime minister to cut short his St. John's visit today, just as it delayed his arrival Wednesday. His chartered airliner could not land here and he planned an early - morning departure by road along the 85 rough miles he drove Wednesday from the United States Navy base at Argentia.

He will speak in Corner Brook tonight before returning to Ottawa to prepare for the big formal opening speech of his campaign in London, Ont., Saturday night.

CROWD DEFIES RAIN

Mr. Diefenbaker, in peak oratorical trim, drew 1,000 to the Church Lads Brigade armories here Wednesday night. Despite the fog and rain, the crowd was about the same as turned out a week ago to hear Liberal Leader Pearson.

Mr. Diefenbaker's hour - long speech and a 15 - minute local television appearance were built on the theme that the achievements of the Conservative government in the last five years form the foundation of future accomplishments if the Conservatives are re-elected.

He said that since his government took office in 1957, federal payments to Newfoundland have risen to $68,000,000 from $25,700,000 and Premier Smallwood's Liberal government would not have been able to provide the services it has without the increase.

"That doesn't look as though we have failed to meet the needs of this province," he said. "We didn't have to do it. It wasn't for the support we were getting from this province. It was done to strengthen Confederation."

TELLS OF TALKS

Mr. Diefenbaker said his talks this week with Prime Minister Macmillan on Britain's entry into the European Common Market had emphasized once again that Britain would insist on protecting Commonwealth trade preferences.

"Where would your exports be if there was a 20-per-cent increase in the tariff wall?" the prime minister asked. "Where would be your lumber, your fish, and the other products exported to Britain now from your island province?"

His government had faced great difficulties in the past five years.

"They speak of the government having deficits . . . If we had not doubled the expenditures we have made to the provinces in the past four years, we would not have had the deficits. We have endeavored to raise standards everywhere in Canada. I am asking you in all parts of this province to join with us — not in appreciation, but because we have endeavored to do what we thought should be done."

Mr. Diefenbaker said the government is negotiating hard through diplomatic channels for the establishment of a 12 - mile exclusive - rights fishing zon off Canada's shores. He noted that Mr. Pearson had said here that Canada should declare the 12-mile limit unilaterally, but the prime minister said that to do so might invite retaliation by those countries which provide Canada with big foreign markets.

India To Hold Check-Points On Red China

NEW DELHI (Reuters)—Prime Minister Nehru said Thursday India will hold new checkpoints on the Communist Chinese border and refuse Chinese demands for a withdrawal.

Nehru reported that Indian forces have set up checkpoints behind Chinese outposts in the disputed Ladakh area of Kashmir and the Chinese are "nervous" about it.

He told Parliament "we propose to remain where we are and not move because of Chinese threats."

He said there had been no cases of clashes between Indian and Chinese troops in the 14,000-square mile Aksaichin Plateau in Ladakh.

He also reported India has not yet received the full text of the reported Chinese demand for the withdrawal of Indian soldiers from two new outposts in Ladakh.

But Nehru said a summary of the protest note had been received by telegraph. He described it as "one of the protests from Peking."

It was based on the assumption that Indian posts had been set up on Chinese territory. But India believed that particular territory to be hers, he said.

REFERS TO THREAT

Referring to threatened new Chinese patrols, he said:

"As a matter of fact, at no time had they (the Chinese) stopped patrolling these areas, now the position arises that when we establish checkposts it is often behind their checkpoints.

One or two Chinese soldiers crossing into India and later withdrawing did not constitute "invasion," Nehru told Parliament.

But he added if larger groups entered India at any place across any border they would be checked.

Nehru told Parliament Wednesday: "Broadly speaking, we do not want — we dislike intensely—a war with China. But that is not within our control.

"Therefore we have to prepare for the contingency. We are growing stronger to face it."
