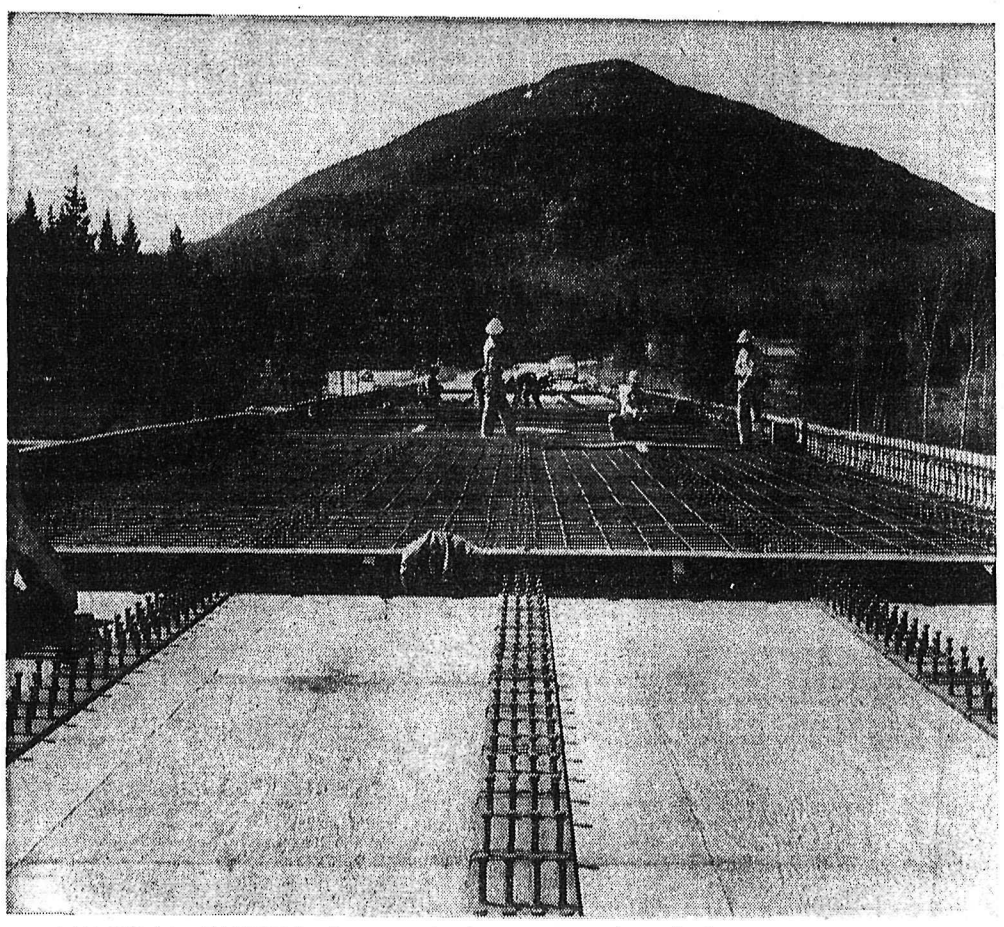
Conditional Licences for Three Dams Granted



POURING OF CONCRETE for decking on South Slocan railway overpass is scheduled to begin today with completion of laying of reinforcing steel. Workmen in centre are completing steel installation and more steel is to be laid next in area in foreground. Long-awaited overpass is a part of the No. 3 highway diversion project, eliminating winding drive through South Slocan.

Jungle Girl Finds Apes Are Tool-Makers

By DENNIS NEELD

LONDON (AP)—A willowy blonde with more time for monkeys than men told Monday how she spent 15 months in the jungle to study the habits of the apes.

Cambridge graduate Jane Morris-Goodall said she let her hair grow to her waist so that her animal friends would accept her.

Alone and unarmed, 27-year-old Jane (without a Tarzan) logged more than 1000 hours of chimp-watching in Tanganyika's Gombe River game reserve.

"I've lived for animals ever since I can remember," she said, and added that she was never frightened or bored during her lonely vigil.

"I like apes — in some respects I like them better than men," Jane confessed.

Jane's trip was financed by two American organizations, the Wilkie Foundation and the National Geographic Society.

The apes, she claims, are makers of primitive tools. She saw them pick dried stalks and poke them into termite nests. They withdrew them a few minutes later to lick off the insects clinging to them.

"When a stick could not be found the chimps stripped off the leaves from a twig to make one," she said. "That was primitive tool-making — a fascinating discovery because man is believed to have been the sole maker of tools."

Pensioners To Get Full $10 Increase

VICTORIA (CP) — The provincial government is ensuring that all pensioners get $10 increases in line with the new federal government grants.

The B.C. government is boosting the maximum for ald age assistance so that all recipients can get the full advantage of the $10 plus existing supplementary allowance paid by the province.

It is also boosting the actual payments for blind and disabled pensioners, with Ottawa sharing part of the cost of a $10 increase.

An agreement covering increases for the blind and disabled has already been signed and mailed to Ottawa for federal signatures.

It will be retroactive to April 1.

Premier Bennett's latest budget allowed $2,000,000 to pay for the pensions boosts, but no confirmation or details of the deal had been made until government officials confirmed it here Monday.

First move, already taken, was to boost the maximum pension allowed for pensioners over 70 eligible for old age assistance.

The old pension was $55 from Ottawa plus a special supplementary allowance of up to $24 from B.C. The maximum paid was $79.

The new federal pension is $65. This would have meant pensioners could only get a $14 supplementary allowance from B.C.

However, Premier Bennett has ordered welfare officials to continue paying the full $24, making a total maximum pension of $89.

At the same time B.C. has offered an agreement with Ottawa to boost old age assistance for people between 65 and 70, blind and disabled, by $10.

The increase will be shared 50-50 by Ottawa in B.C. for the blind, and 25-75 for the others.

In other words, B.C. will pay an extra $5 a month to its blind pensioners and an extra $2.50 to disabled and 65-70 year old pensioners.

Ottawa will pick up the rest of the tab up to $10.

The agreement, which will also boost the income ceiling for eligibility, was mailed to Ottawa Thursday.

Must Clear Two Acts Before Construction Can Begin On Mica, Arrow and Duncan

VICTORIA (CP)—Provincial water rights comptroller Arthur Paget announced here Monday he has issued conditional licences for the construction of the three dams called for under the Columbia River treaty.

This means that the newly-created British Columbia hydro and power authority could start construction immediately under provincial laws. However, there are two other federal laws which must be complied with.

The dams are at Mica Creek, Arrow Lakes and Duncan Lake.

Before B.C. can proceed the project must be cleared under the federal Navigable Waters Protection Act and International Rivers Act.

The licences call for a start on the Arrow and Duncan dams by next Dec. 31 and Mica by Dec. 31, 1963. The hydro authority can apply for an extension of time if there are sufficient reasons.

Mr. Paget and his staff held public hearings in the affected areas and in Victoria late last year. Major objections came from the residents who will be flooded out by the Arrow Lake dam.

The unconditional licence for this dam includes provision for the water rights bylaw branch to act as conciliators in cases where residents and the Hydro Authority cannot agree on the price to be paid for the expropriation of land.

In addition, the Hydro Authority must pay a total of $30,000 over the next two years to enable the recreation and conservation department to make study of measures necessary for the protection of wildlife and fish. The water rights comptroller will have the power to order the authority to carry out any conservation measures necessary.

RETAIN CONTROL

The branch will also have the power to direct B.C. Hydro and Power Authority as to how much water may be released at specific times—a move aimed at ensuring there is always sufficient faters to prevent streams from drying up.

The licences appear to strengthen Premier Bennett's hand in his latest demand that Ottawa ratify the treaty immediately so that work may begin this summer.

Speculation is that a move will be made to keep full control of the Columbia and its development in provincial hands.

Mr. Paget will soon begin a study on B.C. Hydro's request for a licence to develop the Peace River Power Project.

A bill merging the B.C. Power Commission and the B.C. Electric Company under the B.C. Hydro and Power Authority was approved at the recent session of the provincial legislature.

No Immediate Ratification Says Green

OTTAWA (CP) — External Affairs Minister Green said Monday that the Columbia River treaty won't be ratified immediately, despite the request by Premier Bennett of British Columbia.

Mr. Green, replying to Opposition Leader Pearson in the Commons, gave a flat "no" when asked if the Bennett request had modified the government's stand.

The federal and B.C. governments are trying to reach agreement on the multi-million-dollar Canadian project covered in the treaty signed with the United States last year.

The government said earlier that Parliament will be asked to approve the treaty after an agreement is reached with B.C.

Garbage Man Hero of the Day

VICTORIA (CP) — A garbage man's life does have its exciting moments.

Truck driver Vic Van-Hoeke played the hero in a spectacular dash from city hall to the waterfront as he wheeled his flaming garbage van through traffic here Monday.

Fire broke out beneath the smoking truck as he pulled up to a stop light in the downtown area.

A city hall official rushed from his office, whistled and shouted to pedestrians on the corner:

"Tell that driver his truck's on fire."

Orange flames were shooting out from underneath the van, close to the fuel tank.

Van-Hoeke jumped out, had a look and leaped back in, leaning on the horn as he gunned the vehicle toward the garbage wharf, streaming fire and black smoke.

Wharf tenders doused the fire without difficulty, limiting the damage to a box slung under the chassis where the garbage crew's rainwear was kept.

Superstitious Man Meets Fate

WINNIPEG (CP) —Businessman Alfred Kasprick was superstitious.

His sister Marjorie, 18, said Monday that he visited fortune tellers regularly.

Twice he had been told by them that he would be lucky to live until 30.

He was "deathly afraid" of Friday the 13th, walking under ladders and breaking mirrors.

Mr. Kasprick was driving alone on a highway 25 miles north of Neepawa, Man., where he worked as a dairy manager.

His car went out of control and rolled off the highway. He suffered a fractured skull.

It was Friday, April 13.

Two days later, Mr. Kasprick died in hospital.

He was 30 years old.

Motorist Survives by Miracle

VANCOUVER (CP) — Police Monday described as "fantastic" the escape of Roy MacFarlane, 24, whose car plunged down a 100-foot cliff and caught fire.

MacFarlane was discovered by police sitting on a rock suffering only cuts and bruises after his car was demolished Sunday in suburban West Vancouver.

The car shot over an embankment, bounced and rolled from boulder to boulder, wrapped itself around a tree then caught fire with MacFarlane trapped in the back seat.

Police said MacFarlane missed a curve after he was distracted by a raccoon scurrying across the rain-slicked highway.

A friend, Larry Foley, said MacFarlane told him it "seemed as if it took minutes for the car to roll each time he was thrown into the back seat."

"When the car finally stopped rolling—it hit a tree—Roy lay lay back and sighed, "Thank God!"

"But then he heard a fwoomp —gasoline set the car on fire."

He said MacFarlane's right leg pas pinned under the back seat and he could not move. He gave a terrific heave and pulled his leg free, then climbed out.

"It was the most fantastic escape I've even seen," said one police officer. "He's the most lucky guy in the world."

Watchdog Commission Suggested by Neutrals

Conference To Discuss Plan to Use International Scientists Team

GENEVA (Reuters)—Eight neutral nations came up Monday with a new "watchdog commission" plan aimed at ending the East-West impasse over a nuclear test ban at the 17-nation disarmament conference.

Both Russia and the West promptly promised to give the compromise plan close consideration.

The neutrals suggested an international scientists' watchdog commission which might make on-the-spot investigations of nuclear explosions or "suspicious events."

The scientists, from non-aligned nations, would process all data received from an agreed system of observation points.

The plan did not, however, come out for automatic, on-site inspection of suspicious events —the kind of international control system the West has been demanding and which Russia rejects.

The new proposal was made by Brazil, Burma, Ethiopia, India, Mexico, Nigeria, Sweden and the United Arab Republic.

The conference is expected to discuss the plan today.

TO STUDY PLAN

U.S. delegate Arthur Dean said his government would give the plan the most careful consideration, adding that necessarily there would be problems concerned with the location of central posts and with the timing and implementation of on-site inspections.

Soviet delegate Valerian Zorin said the plan was an attempt to solve "a burning international issue" and an attempt to move forward from a sterile position.

The U.S. has said it will resume atmospheric nuclear testing in the mid-Pacific later this month unless the Russians accept a verification system.

British delegate Joseph Godber said it was not clear from the neutrals' plan what sanctions could be applied against a country which cheated.

Gen. E. L. M. Burns, the Canadian delegate, called for an early session of the 17-nation "committee of the whole," which deals with measures related to plans for general and complete disarmament.

PRESSES FOR DECISION

Burns pressed the conference co-chairmen (Russia and the U.S.) for a decision on what was to be the next topic of discussion of the committee.

The last discussion concerned prohibition for war propaganda.

Burns urged that the conference should not lose sight of the importance of keeping this committee working steadily to reach early agreement on several issues which have been assigned to it.

He wants the committee to give top priority to a Canadian draft resolution on the peaceful uses of space.

Nova Scotia Senator Dies

HALIFAX (CP) —Senator John Alexander McDonald, a prominent Nova Scotia politician for more than 40 years, died in hospital here Monday night. He was 72.

Senator McDonald, Liberal senator for Kings since 1945 and a former Nova Scotia agriculture minister, died after a long illness.

One of Canada's foremost farming experts, Senator McDonald was born on a farm at MacDonald's Corner, Canard, Kings County, N.S., Sept. 24, 1889, and was known as an advocate of improved production, marketing and a better bargain for farmers.

Chrysler Strike Ends

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—An 8-week strike at Chrysler of Canada ended Monday when striking production workers overwhelmingly endorsed a new three-year collective agreement.

Results of the secret balloting done by most of the 3000 strikers were not announced, but a union spokesman said the new contract received 99 per cent support.

A company spokesman said full production would resume starting with the normal shift Wednesday morning.

WORK STARTS ON GREAT SLAVE LAKE RAILWAY

EDMONTON (CP) — The CNR awarded contracts Monday for stripping and grading the first 170 miles of the Great Slave Lake Railway.

Contracts were awarded earlier this year for clearing the first 176 miles of the 430-mile railway, which will run from near Peace River, Alta., to Hay River, NWT, with a branch to the lead and zinc deposits east of Hay River on the south short of Great Slave Lake.

POLICE FOIL ARMORY ATTACK

ORAN (AP) — Police smashed an attempt by the European Secret Army Organization to seize an armory in a suburb Monday, then ranged through the streets in half-tracks, blazing away at terrorist positions with heavy weapons.

Police also hit hard at terrorists in downtown Oran, a Secret Army stronghold, arresting 25 persons and seizing stolen military transport and arms.

The battle in the suburb of Gambetta was reported to have killed one policeman and wounded 12 other persons, 10 of them Secret Army commandos or other Europeans.

Chou Urges Higher Food Production

PEKING (Reuters) — Premier Chou En-lai has issued a "back to the land" call to increase production of food and daily necessities for Red Chinese millions.

Chou's speech to the Chinese National People's Congress (parliament) at the opening of a three-week session was published in an official communique as the session ended Monday.

No reporters or foreign observers were allowed to attend any of the congress meetings and the communique was the first extensive report of any of the proceedings.

Chou claimed that thanks to tremendous national efforts in overcoming natural calamities, the country's economic situation has now taken a turn for the better.

He attacked United States policies and urged efforts to "isolate U.S. imperialism to the maximum extent."

The communique did not, as in previous years, give any statistics of recent production and mentioned no targets for the current year.

Parliament Monday

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

External Affairs Minister Green denied a Liberal suggestion that there has been a change in the government stand against nuclear tests.

The Commons approved ratificaiton of the universal copyright convention, already endorsed by the Senate.

Azmeh New Syrian Premier

DAMASCUS (AP) — Dr. Bashir Azmeh, a 52-year-old physician, became premier of Syria Monday night.

His appointment ended 19 days of confused political stalemate following a military coup d'etat March 28.

Azmeh was named to head a 15-man transitional government to draw up a constitution and prepare elections for a new parliament.

Some members of the old cabinet and parliament, including deposed premier Marouf Dawalibi, were still in jail as a result of the army takeover.

A presidential decree announced Maj.-Gen. Abdel Kerim Zahreddin, army commander-in-chief, "assumes the powers and prerogatives of minister of defence."

Azmeh's appointment followed days of hard bargaining, with the army high command looming in the background.

Bus Driver, 16 Passengers Seek Asylum

HAVANA (Reuters) — The driver of a Havana bus crashed through the fence of the Brazilian Embassy here Monday and asked for political asylum.

As the bus ground to a halt inside the embassy grounds, 16 passengers, including at least two women and a small child, ran across the lawn to take asylum.

The conductor shouted that he was "a good revolutionary" and would have no part of the escape.

According to an eyewitness, he stalked off through the hole in the fence made by the bus, pursued by catcalls from about 40 Cubans already in the embassy.

Year Setback Forecast

VICTORIA (CP) —Construction of the Columbia River power project will be set back by a year unless the provincial and federal government settle their differences within the next few weeks, Dr. Hugh L. Keenleyside said Monday night.

Dr. Keenleyside, co-chairman of the B.C. Hydro and Power Authority which will construct the Columbia project when B.C. and Ottawa reach agreement on its financing, told the Northwest Public Power Association convention here:

"It will be very serious for any person or any government that fails, by inattention or any other reason, to bring the project about as soon as possible.

"We should hope that all those in a position of authority recognize the importance of immediate and positive action."

"If we don't get a decision from Ottawa in the next few weeks we will lose a whole year in consruction activity and in consequence the loss of a whole year in the returns which will come for both the U.S. and B.C. by getting things going."

"Will Be Put in Chains"

TORONTO (CP) — Economist Larratt Higgins, who worked for Canada on the International Joint Commission governing border waters, says Canada "will be put in chains" if it ratifies the Columbia River Treaty.

The treaty, signed 15 months ago by the Canadian and United States governments, provides for division of the Columbia power resources between the two countries. The treaty has been ratified by congress but a dispute between the Canadian and British Columbia governments has delayed ratification by parliament.

Mr. Higgins, a waterways energy expert who served for a year with the IJC, charged in an interview that under the treaty Canada is "a puppet dangling at the end of strings manipulated in Washington."

He supported charges levelled early this month by Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton, retiring Canadian chairman of the IJC, that Canada was "sold out" in negotiations on the Columbia treaty.

TORPEDOED PLAN

The economist said B.C. Premier W. A. C. Bennett "torpedoed" the Canadian government plan to divert Kootenay River waters into the Columbia and held out for the proposed system of storage dams on the Columbia with power installations in the United States.

DOLLAR UNCHANGED

NEW YORK (CP) — Canadian dollar unchanged at 95¼ in terms of U.S. funds. Week ago 95¼. Pound sterling 1-32 higher at $2.81 37-64.

The Canadian government should have rejected the Bennett stand and broken off negotiations with the United States rather than acting as an agent for the B.C. ideas, Mr. Higgins said.

Mr. Higgins said the treaty calls for the wrong dams to be built and commits Canada to provide in perpetuity more flood control for the United States than is needed.

The Columbia treaty jeopardizes Canada's future bargaining position on other international waters, he added.

Seamen Charged With Desertion

VANCOUVER (CP) — Four British seamen who refused to sail with their ship Saturday to Communist China, appeared before an Immigration Department board of inquiry Monday, facing charges as deserters.

Results of the inquiry are not expected until today.

The four, whose names have not been released, went to the Vancouver Immigration Department offices and were placed in detention pending Monday's inquiry.

LONDON (Reuters)—A married couple who had lived under the same roof for seven years without ever talking to each other were divorced Monday.

The pair stopped talking because the husband, George Lusher, 56, was 40 minutes late to lunch one day after a golf game.

The quarrel that ensued was so violent that Lusher and his wife, Gladys, 49, communicated with each other thereafter only by way of their two children.

Lusher was granted a divorce from his wife in an undefended action. He charged desertion.

LONDON (AP)—Mrs. Sybil Zablosky paid £50 to give her Alsatian dog Kim three months of obedience training. He graduated with honors.

But Mrs. Zablosky reported Sunday that her educated dog was lost. He ran away while she was taking him home from the obedience school and ignored her shouts to return.

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)—R. W. Richmond of Lexington saw his income tax return go down the drain Sunday.

He drove up to a curbside mailbox at the post office and attempted to drop the envelope in the letter slot. But he missed and it went through a street grating and into a storm sewer.

Firemen retrieved it after a brief search.

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Famed pianist Rudulf Serkin had to stop about two-thirds through his rendition of Beethoven's Fifth Concerto Sunday. The pedals fell off the piano.

While 3000 persons in the University of Miami Symphony concert audience waited, cellist Israel Greenfield came to the rescue. A skilled piano-tuner, Greenfield enlisted the aid of two maintenance men, took a hammer and replaced the pedals.

Serkin started over, finished without further technical troubles and won a resounding ovation.

Delegation Asks Council Action on Gordon Road

The dust has settled as high as it can go in homes on 800-900 blocks Fourth Street and Gordon Road as far as 67 residents of the area are concerned.

At city council meeting Monday night, a four-man delegation spoke to a petition bearing 67 names asking for immediate action to alleviate the dust problem, and general solution to end the area's woes.

"We are certainly fed up with the dust," spokesman William B. Kinahan of 622 Gordon Road asserted.

"You put that calcium chloride on and it kills everything. We've all got it on our property," he remarked concerning the city's efforts in past years to control the dust.

There is no middle ground in the area for during the wet season, "down in that block between Third and Fourth Streets it's a damn lake," declared Mr. Kinahan.

The group asked that measures be taken to improve the area or else a drastic cut be given in their assessment.

City works superintendent Dragutin Likar said the city was well aware of the problem, but owing to lack of finances in the past, had not been able to complete the program in the area.

Dummy pipes for storm sewers have been buried on Fourth Street and now all they await is the hook-up with the Gordon Road main line. Once this is completed blacktopping of the area can take place.

This work is included in the 1962 budget estimates and the matter was referred to city council as a whole to discuss at their budget meeting which reconvenes this morning.

Babakaeff Convicted In Tracks Bombing

A leader of the Sons of Freedom sect told assize court Monday he does not believe in a prophecy that the people he leads will come true.

Bill F. Babakaeff, a member of the Freedomite Fraternal Council, said under cross-examination, after giving evidence on his own behalf, that he did not believe in the prophecy that the sect would leave Canada through jails.

He was later convicted of the bombing of CPR tracks at Thrums August 24, 1960, by a 12-man jury in 35 minutes.

Main crown witnesses against Babakaeff were two Freedomites who took part in the offence with Babakaeff, both of whom were sentenced to long jail terms earlier in the assize.

Fred N. Davidoff told of leaving a meeting in Krestova on Aug. 24 two years ago with Babakaeff, Tim Jmaeff and three women. He said they proceeded to the Thrums area and on the way talked about putting a bomb in a railway car but placed it under the rail switch near the Thrums station instead.

Davidoff said that he let Babakaeff and Jmaeff out of the car and drove one-quarter mile before returning to the scene and picking up the two men.

"They got out of the car to place a bomb," he said.

Davidoff told court that the next morning he was driving past the area on his way to work and saw several policemen by the switch where the bomb was placed.

Tim Jmaeff testified that he placed the 12-stick dynamite bomb while Babakaeff acted as a lookout.

After the verdict was returned Mr. Justice Munroe commented, "Your verdict was, I think, fully jusitfied by the evidence."

Crown prosecutor George Murray, QC, of Vancouver, waived his right to address the jury.

Cross-examining Babakaeff on his testimony, Mr. Murray asked the accused, "With all the bombings and burnings going on in the last year, the Fraternal Council hasn't been successful in stoppnig them, would you say?"

Babakaeff replied that the Fraternal Council was attempting to thwart terrorism.

Notre Dame To Stage Melodrama

A three-act melodrama by George Bernard Shaw will highlight Notre Dame University College's thespian activities this year, it has been announced.

"The Devil's Disciple" revolves about the fate and fortune of one Richard Dudgen, a family black-sheep, and his efforts to keep the town minister from being hanged by the British during the American War of Indepedence, even at the risk of losing his black-guard reputation.

The melodrama — "a dramatic piece characterized by sensational incident and violent appeal to the emotions, but with a happy ending" — stars Gary Fillinger of Merritt in the leading role, Miss Anne Wasyliw of Quesnel as Judith Anderson, the wife of Minister Anthony Anderson, played by Barry Abbott of Penticton.

Fifteen students will be taking roles in the play, while another 25 will be working backstage. Rehearsals began in January.

The play is co-directed by Rev. J. Dulong and Mr. Brendan Foley o fthe College's English Department.

A one-night stand will be given at the Capitol Theatre in Nelson on April 27. A prior performance, sponsored by the Knights of Columbus, will be offered in Trail April 26. Nelson's tickets will go on sale this week, a College official disclosed.

VOLLEYBALL

Vamps captured first place in the women's volleyball league on Monday night, beating Babes in three games in the final game to decide the league champion.

The two clubs will meet next week to battle for the championship.

Vamps dropped the first game 15-9, but took the next two in two straight games, 15-9 and 15-10.

In other games Wonders defeated Lovelies in three straight games.

Agassiz Prison Only Temporary Says Fulton

Minister of Justice, the Hon. Davie Fulton, has assured the Kootenay Boundary Citizens' Committee on Doukhobor Affairs that the special maximum security prison being built in Agassiz will only be a temporary prison.

The justice minister also gave his assurance that members of the Freedomite Fraternal Council if convicted, will not be allowed to circulate among other Freedomites in prison.

Two members of the committee on Doukhobor Affairs, Tom McRae of Rossland, chairman, and W. T. Waldie of Castlegar, met with Mr. Fulton on the weekend in Kamloops.

Instrumental in arranging the meeting was Peter Dewdney of Trail, Progressive Conservative candidate for Kootenay West in the next Federal election.

Mr. Fulton told the two he would have his two senior prison officials meet with the committee later in the year to go over in detail problems of parole.

Missing Trio Returns Safely

CRANBROOK (CP) — A father, his son, and another man, missing since Sunday on a fishing trip near here, turned up safely Monday.

Willard Waldron, 35, Raymond, 4, and W. Lischynski, 42, had been sought by a ground party and plane.

Waldron said his car became stuck in the mud in the Yahk area and it took until Monday to free it.

Lecturer Points Out

Agrarian Reform Needed First in Latin America

Yankee, go home! sounds almost normal when compared to Canuck, go home! according to a Notre Dame University College professor.

Speaking at a public lecture in Nelson on "Canada and Latin America," Martin L. Brown, professor of Latin at the College said that it seems normal for underdeveloped countries to hate the donors who pour money into their countries. This is something that Canada has yet to experience, he added.

Professor Brown, who holds degrees from the UBC and who has done pre-Doctoral work at the University of Laval in Quebec City, pointed out that Canada has given money away, for example, through the Colombo Plan. But its effectiveness, he said, was a moot point, since Canada has given prestige donations: "opera houses before houses in the jungle . . . big hydroelectric projects while the peasant farmer tills the soil with a forked stick."

The lecturer said that the Latin American countries are trying to get from a feudal system to a highly industrialized system in one step and added that it cannot be done. Agrarian countries should not have to import foodstuffs, he said, yet most do. This is due to primitive farming methods, he added.

Only five per cent of the arable land is being used, he noted, and the large landowners are still using the mediaeval practice of allowing the land to lie fallow.

Peasants, particularly those in Andean America, look to Cuba for agrarian reform, Prof. Brown stated, and not because of any love of doctrine. Aid to these countries, he added, should be for the development of land, not for shoring up the economy or paying off past debts.

"Castro has tried to deal with the inequities,' he noted, "we have preached social justice and have done nothing about it." Canadians, he went on, are very reluctant to invest money in Canada and prefer U.S. blue-chip stocks. This means that money is fleeing Canada. The speaker asked if Canada is more secure than General Motors, and said he doubted it. The situation is the same in Latin America, he pointed out, but much worse. Next to agrarian reform, the speaker said, education is perhaps the most important problem since the key to the Latin American problem may lie in this field. He also noted that this is one enduring contribution which the U. S. and Canada are making in providing education at the "grass roots level" by means of missionaries.

Communism, he concluded, is the greatest threat. Latin America does not want a communist foothold in the west an more than the U.S. does, he said, and noted that Cuba needs external help. Canadian imports are insignificant, only $8,000,000, but Canada, he declared, should decide whether it is fighting its friends or its enemies. Canada should be realistic, Mr. Brown said, but it should set its own house in order before trying to solve the Latin American problems.

Newsman Dies

FORT WILLIAM (CP) — John P. Ferguson, a native of Fort William who worked on several newspapers in the U.S. and Canada during a long career, died here Sunday. He was 68.

A one-time financial writer for the New York World-Telegram, he was credited with organizing the first Canadian Legion post in New York City.

A veteran of the First World War, he later worked for the Winnipeg Tribune and Vancouver Sun. He started his newspaper career with the Fort William Times-Journal in 1914.

City Faces Court Action Over Rejected Plans

Court action awaits the city over plans of the Municipal Car Port as prepared by a Calgary engineering firm.

Solicitors McBride and Allan of Nelson, representing the firm of C. C. Parker, Whittaker and Co. Ltd. demanded that the city pay an invoice of $2800 for plans submitted by the Calgary firm.

If payment is not forthcoming, the correspondence warned, court action will follow.

The invoice is for three sets of blueprints the firm sent the city in January on the $133,000 project. Council has said it did not commission the drawings which have been sent back.

In January the firm in correspondence addressed personally to Mayor T. S. Shorthouse announced that unless it heard from the city it would begin drawings. The letter was the aftermatth of a meeting between the company representative and city council on January 6. At that time it was stressed that the company make its proposal in writing.

Mayor Shorthouse was unable to answer the letter as he was out of Nelson for about ten days during that period. It is believed that this long silence was interpreted by the Calgary firm as the "go ahead" signal to begin the drawings.

The McBride and Allan letter was referred to the city solicitor.

NANAIMO (CP) — Split between the International Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners and the Canadian Labor Council will only be a temporary one B.C. CCF—New Democratic leader Robert Strachan said Sunday.

Mr. Strachan said he feels that the carpenters will continue to support the NDP as they have in the past.

Differences Resolved

BONN (AP) — The West German government's press chief said Monday "evrything has been straightened out" between Washington and Bonn in their latest flurry over Berlin.

The press chief, Felix Von Eckhardt, said Chancellor Adenauer's administration was not objecting to the reported four points circulated to the Western Allies by U.S. State Secretary Rusk last week in preparation for a new round of talks with the Soviet Union.

The Bonn government has "the fullest confidence in the American negotiating position," Von Eckhardt told a press conference.

Completion of Trail River Wall Expected by Month End

TRAIL — Reconstruction of the river wall at Trail is expected to be completed by the end of the month, it was reported at city council Monday. Mayor Joe Palyga termed as "wonderful news" the announcement that David Walker, minister of public works, is to ask the treasury board for an increased grant for reconstruction of the Trail river wall, which collapsed during last year's flood. Walker, in a letter to Progressive Conservative candidate Peter Dewdney, said that he would ask the federal government to increase their grant to 37½ per cent of the total cost, which is about $275,000.

School District No. 11 issued a statement showing the final apportionment of the district taxation, 1962. Trail's share is $280,122.

The mill rate in Trail will be slightly lower this year, although the Trail school district budget is up more than $56,000. The drop in the mill rate is attributed to an increased grant from the provincial government.

Trail and District Council of Women in a letter expressed objection to the conversion of the esplanade park to a parking area. A recommendation of the council committee as a whole that the esplanade be retained as a park was approved.

A letter from Hon. P. A. Gaglardi advised that he was pleased that the lighting on the new bridge was satisfactory but at the present time he was unable to give any definite date as to the completion of the approaches to the Columbia River bridge due to a number of factors involved.

Due to several complaints, a licence issued to salesmen representing Maclean Hunter Publishing Company Limited, was rescinded by council.

School Board Seeking Loan Of $521,898

School Board trustees Monday night approved a $521,898 loan application for the construction, renovation and furnishing of schools in the district.

If approved, the loan will be used for the schools as needed.

Included in the program are expenses involved for:

Construction of Blewett School, $85,000; North Shore School, $35,000; Willow Point, $18,000; Rosemont School, $85,000.

The largest single item is to be for the renovation of the Central Elementary School and is expected to cost $188,198.

Purchase of two portable schools for Ymir and Remac, $18,000; and their furnishings $25,500; plans and supervision, $26,000; contingencies, $20,000.

Equipment will be bought for Salmo Junior High School, $6,200; L. V. Rogers High School, $7,500; Nelson Junior High School, $7,500.

Eight Appear Before Magistrate

Magistrate William Evans was busy Monday in provincial court as eight persons appeared before him on various infractions.

Harry Kidd of Nelson, was fined $20 and costs for an inadequate muffler on his vehicle. He had been warned previously by police to have it corrected which he failed to do. Kidd pleaded guilty.

Another man, Peter A. Makortoff of Shoreacres, was also charged with having an inadequate muffler. He pleaded guilty and was fined $15 and costs.

Ely Esovoloff of Thrums was charged with having care of a vehicle while impaired. He was parked on the highway near Brilliant and was sitting behind the wheel with ignition keys in the car. He pleaded guilty and Magistrate Evans fined him $100 and costs and suspended his licence one month.

For having no mud-flaps on his truck, A. J. Dow of Crescent Valley was fined $10 and costs.

F. L. Bourgeois of South Slocan was fined $15 and costs for speeding on Granite Road.

Speeding on the North Shore cost R. S. Martin, RR1, $10 and costs.

D. T. Coy of Nelson was also fined $10 and costs for speeding on the North Shore.

Magistrate Evans also fined a juvenile $10 and costs for parking on the wrong side of the street.

On Friday, R. L. Campbell of Spokane was fined $10 and costs for speeding on the North Shore.

R. G. MacLean of Nelson was charged with the same offence and was also fined $10 and costs.

The same charge but a $15 fine was applied to J. L. Katenikoff of Nelson by Magistrate Evans.

In police court Saturday, William Klee of Nelson was fined $20 and costs by Magistrate Nelson for causing a disturbance by fighting in a beverage room.

Michael Griffin, 19, was fined $20 and costs for driving without insurance.

PROBE INTO STEEL ISSUE GOES AHEAD

NEW YORK (AP) — A federal grand jury went ahead with its anti-trust investigation of the American steel industry Monday, despite action by leading steel companies rescinding a $6-a-ton steel price increase.

At the same time, subpoenas were received here from Washington by U.S. Marshal Thomas J. Lunney summoning officials of three steel companies before a Senate anti-monopoly subcommittee.

Fire Chief in Coast Hospital

Fire chief E. S. Owens may be in hospital in Vancouver for at least a month.

Chief Owens left here Sunday morning to see a specialist, on his doctor's advice.

If hospitalized, it is believed he could be absent for at least four or five weeks.

He has not been feeling well in recent weeks. Chief Owens suffered a neck injury when involved in an automobile accident several months ago, answering an emergency call.

BEASLEY BLUFFS went up with a puff and a roar Monday morning when a section of the bluffs was blasted in road construction to further widen that section of the southern transprovincial highway. For the spectacular blast shown above by Daily News cameraman Bob Blackmore, 32 boxes of 74 per cent dynamite were used. An estimated 15 men are working on the road widening. The spot where the blast occurred is about one mile west of the Bear Creek area pictured a few days ago.

Dr. Goresky Addresses Community Club Meet

SOUTH SLOCAN — At a recent meeting of the School and Community Club, a letter from Attorney General Robert Bonner was read. It was written in reply to one from the School and Community Club regarding the Doukhobors and terrorist activity in the Kootenay. Guest speaker was Dr. V. Goresky of Castlegar.

In lieu of the annual donation of ten dollars to the Mt. Sentinel scholarship fund, it was voted that this sum be donated for this year to the Summer School of Fine Arts Scholarship for Mt. Sentinel students, being sponsored by the Bonnington-South Slocan Women's Institute.

Mr. Nasmyth went over the proposed revised Mt. Sentinel Scholarship Award Constitution, as recommended by the committee set up to study such revision. The proposals were accepted. The committee consisted of R. Ring, principal of Mt. Sentinel; K. Ross, Mrs. N. Baker; Mrs. H. Street; and Mr. Nasmyth.

Hazel Street spoke briefly on a canvas for funds to be held in the community for the Canadian Peace Research Institute.

Dr. V. Goresky spoke on "Interpersonal relationships, domestic, business and social and general psychiatry and psycho-somatic medicine."

Dr. Goresky has recently published a book "Quick Technique in Mental Therapy" and has also had other articles widely published in Canadian and American medical journals.

In speaking to the group of parents at the meeting he stressed that parents should rear their children using the law of love, without rebellion. If we rebel against the laws of love, as specified and illustrated by the ten commandments, the the guilt established with our consciences creates the many illnesses humans can suffer.

Unselfishness is the basis for complete health, with consideration for the family first, the race second and ourselves third.

Simplicity and moderation in all things were also stressed.

POSTWAR KILLER

The great influenza epidemic of 1918-19 afflicted some 500,000,000 people and took an estimated 25,000,000 lives.

Department Approves Borrowing $5000 for Kaslo School Boiler

RIONDEL — The Board of School District No. 6, Kootenay Lake, at its April meeting in Balfour, was advised that the Department of Education has approved in principle the borrowing of $5000 as an emergency expenditure on installation of an oil-fired boiler at Kaslo school. Approval has already been received from most rural representatives, while the matter is now being considered by commissioners of the village of Kaslo.

The board decided to renew its study of the expected pupil populations at Kaslo, Riondel, and Meadow Creek. A forecast of the numbers expected within the next three years will be required as a basis for the decision on whether or not new classrooms will be built.

E. C. Colman, principal of the J. A. Cochran school at Riondel, has been selected as this district's representative to the principal's conference to be held from July 23 to August 3 on UBC campus.

Trustees decided to continue using the existing diesel-electric plant at Meadow Creek for the time being. However, offers for a new plant are being sought and reviewed.

Robert Boyd of Argenta was appointed as music teacher for the Kaslo school, effective Sept., 1962. He will also continue to teach music at the Jewett school.

AMALGAMATION

With regard to the proposed amalgamation of the Riondel and Crawford Bay schools, a letter from School District No. 5 (Creston) was received stating that such amalgamation would only be supported if Riondel became part of School District No. 5. In order to inform the residents of Riondel of the present state of affairs, a special school meeting has been scheduled for May 2, to be held at the J. A. Cochran school.

The secretary-treasurer reported that an advance on the 1962 tax requisition in the amount of $3600 had been received from the village of Kaslo. This will probably be sufficient to avoid the extra expense of temporary borrowing.

Trustee S. Comfort advised the meeting that the community preventive dental clinic at Riondel was scheduled to start April 10. The Kaslo clinic will be held afterwards.

A letter had been received from the Selkirk Health Unit thanking the board for its co-operation in the matter of TB control through tuberculin testing and X-raying of board employees.

O. L. Riley, janitor at the Kaslo school, has obtained his steam engineer's certificate.

The board decided to turn down a request for the use of the chairs of the Kaslo gymnasium for Victoria Day festivities in Vimy Park.

RECREATION COMMISSION SPONSORS WHIST

BALFOUR — Eight tables of progressive whist were in play at the Balfour Hall under the auspices of the Recreation Commission.

Master of ceremonies L. Stainton, assisted by L. Rutherford, had planned a variety of entertainment, with circulating prizes being won by Mrs. E. Noakes and M. Jernberg. First spot prize was won by Mrs. J. A. Heusten, second spot prize by G. Conrad. High score for the women was held by Mrs. Joan Trip, and consolation prize went to Mrs. T. Craigdallie; high prize for men, J. Walden, low J. Wellwood. Contest was won by Mrs. M. Wellwood.

Refreshments were served by the men at the close of the evening.

CEMETERY REPORT HEARD AT BALFOUR

BALFOUR — A report on the upkeep and general appearance of the cemetery was given by secretary-treasurer L. Stainton at a meeting of the Balfour cemetery committee, held at the Stainton home.

It was decided to have a work party for spring clean-up April 29.

M. Wellwood was appointed chairman of the committee following the resignation of J. MacDonald, who is no longer residing in the district.

Health Minister Asks Clarification of Issue

CRANBROOK — Health Minister Eric Martin has written city council seeking fuller understanding and asking precisely where he stands in the question of approval of a new hospital for Cranbrook.

Replying to a letter from Mayor George Haddad, the minister asks what group is prepared to undertake construction of the hospital and should it be built, who would administer it?

Present hospital administrators, Sisters of Providence of Charity, are reported unable to undertake construction or administration of a new hospital. This will put the hospital under district ownership and administration.

A local three-man committee has been negotiating with BCHIS since 1960 and its main concern meantime is not with future administration, but with getting a definite date and approval in principle.

At a meeting here last month, A. W. E. Pitkethly, BCIHS planning manager, assured the committee, local doctors and hospital management board that St. Eugene Hospital would get top priority so far as a survey is concerned.

Ald. J. H. Ward said recently it is a question now of having to have some sort of approval from Mr. Pitkethly. A hospital committee might possibly be composed of representatives from many organizations.

Declared Mayor Haddad, "If we start pushing it now we'll probably get some place." It was the mayor's opinion the hospital committee has been properly constituted.

Copies of the health minister's letter will go to St. Eugene Hospital board chairman James Gordon, and to Maurice Klinkhamer, chairman of the three-man planning committee.

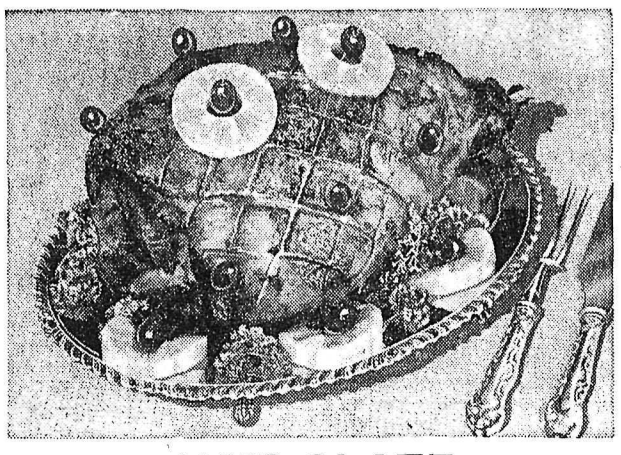
Quickest way to a tastier EASTER DINNER

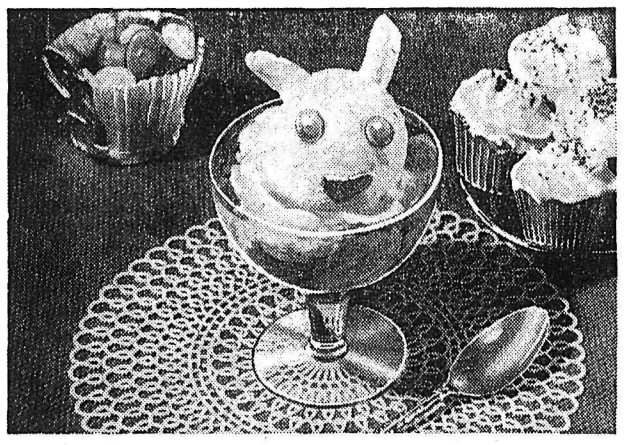


HAM GLAZE

This is the shiniest glaze possible. Thirty minutes before ham is done, remove from oven. Cut off heavy rind. Score fat with sharp knife. Decorate with whole cloves, maraschino cherries and pineapple. Drizzle Rogers Golden Syrup over all and return to oven for thirty minutes. OR mix Rogers Golden Syrup with prepared mustard, powdered ginger or any other spice. Drizzle over plain or decorated ham.

5 minute CANDIED YAMS

Boil 6 sweet potatoes, peel and slice in two, lengthways. Place in baking pan. Salt and pepper to taste. Combine ¼ cup Rogers Golden Syrup with ¼ cup butter and bring to boil. Pour over potatoes. Top with slivered almonds and pop under broiler for 5 or 6 minutes. OR make a delicious casserole by mashing potatoes first. 6 to 8 servings.



Rogers EASTER BUNNY

Half fill a sherbet glass with marshmallows. Use large scoop of ice cream for head, and strips of marshmallow for ears. Fasten ears to ice cream with toothpicks. Form eyes with halved jellybeans, and mouth from a cherry. Use toothpick to draw whiskers on ice cream. Pour Rogers Golden Syrup around base of ice cream. Children love this dessert.

A Negative Spirit

The Canadian Chamber of Commerce News Letter for March says, According to a recent report of the Canadian Institute of Public Opinion, Gallup Poll interviewers in Canada and the United States pose the following question, "Supposing you had to make the decision between fighting a nuclear war or living under Communist rule — how would you decide?" In the United States 81 per cent of those interviewed said they would fight a nuclear war and only six per cent said they would prefer to live under communism. In Canada 65 per cent said they would fight a nuclear war and 11 per cent said they would live under communism. There were far more undecided in Canada — 24 per cent — than there were in the United States, where only 13 per cent could not reach a decision.

In Great Britain, where the 'Red or Dead' issue has sparked great controversy, British Gallup Poll posed the question as follows, 'Would you yourself prefer risking an atomic war than live under communism?' Here are the startling results:

Only 21 per cent of those polled said they would risk atomic war, 31 per cent said they would prefer to live under communism (than being dead, of course) while 48 per cent were unable to make up their minds.

A great many conflicting conclusions and inferences could be drawn from the results of the above report, but one thing does seem clear — increased welfare-statism does not seem to stimulate resistance to communism.

It is not a conclusion which everyone will accept. There will be those who will regard it as merely coincidence and point out that the United States has been heavily indoctrinated against communism, and Canada to a lesser extent, that their replies reflect this; and they will suggest that the British replies were dictated by the knowledge that an atomic war could easily wipe out the entire nation.

It is easy, too, to carry opposition to the welfare state far beyond its logical conclusion. Whether we like it or not, all the Western countries are welfare states. Canada has family allowances, widows' pensions, old age pensions and pensions for veterans, butter support prices, grain payments, and subsidized wages for railway employees. No doubt, to others there will be other instances of which they know where government acts as a welfare agency.

In fact it may be argued that Canadians are no better than the British and that at heart they are welfare-statists ready to ask the government to do everything for them. It is this spirit which conflicts with free enterprise. It is a negative spirit which saps the initiative of the individual and, as the Canadian Chamber of Commerce contends, bring us closer to accepting communism. We can not afford to throw our freedom away.

Selling Job in Europe Needs Intensifying

British Columbia is not doing a good job of selling itself in Britain and continental Europe.

This seems clear from the comments of the office of the agent-general for British Columbia, in London, contained in the recently published 1961 report of the provincial department of industrial development, trade and commerce.

These state that visits to Europe have demonstrated that the publicizing of British Columbia and its potential must be increased greatly owing to lack of positive and effective information now available about the province.

With the question of the U.K. participating in the European Common Market still unsolved, the B.C. office in London notes that it is becoming increasingly apparent that if British Columbia goods are to maintain their place, further efforts must be made in the promotion of sales, not only in Britain, but more particularly in the countries of the Common Market and the Outer Seven. "It cannot be overemphasized that the sale of British Columbia goods within these areas must be planned and that British Columbia producers must take a more active part in the expanding markets of all the countries participating in these new and lucrative trading areas," the report states.

The answer here lies in more B.C. businessmen visiting Europe to make personal appraisal of trading possibilities, take time to make their own contacts, and where possible, establish their own branch sales offices in Europe.

One branch of British Columbia industry which is exploring all avenues for increasing its sales in the European market is the forestry industry, various segments of which are combining with the provincial government to bring in timber importers from Germany, the Netherlands, Belgium, France and Italy in May in an endeavor to promote increased use of B.C. timber, plywoods and other forest products throughout the Common Market countries.

Home for Six

The world is so full of examples of the inhumanity of man to man that the Ontario welfare department's faith in the goodness of human nature comes as a candle in the dark.

The welfare department is advertising for a home for six orphaned children from one family. The mere fact it believes that such a home can be found suggests the depth of its faith in mankind.

Sometimes it is asked why we don't hear more of what the good men do. The news seems too occupied with the bad.

The story from Toronto, the story of the success of the whole child placement program is good news.

The best news will be when a home is found and six children are assured of growing up together. We hope that story will be written soon.

Report From Victoria

By HON. W. D. BLACK
Provincial Secretary
Minister of Municipal Affairs
Minister of Social Welfare

Over 60 per cent of our tourists come from the United States. This statement, of course, will not surprise anyone but the annual rate of increase to British Columbia certainly is interesting.

Travellers vehicle permits issued to American motorists at Custom border points increased 13.8 per cent for the first 11 months of last year in comparison to the same period in 1960.

The attractions of British Columbia are emphasized when we note the average increase for Canada, as a whole, was 5.8 per cent for the same period.

When I became aware of these figures, I became curious as to the number of behicles crossing into Canada through customs points within reasonable reach of the Nelson and Creston areas. The total 1961 figures were not available at the time so I compromised on the 1960 figures.

Ignoring the easterly crossing points of Roosville and Flathead, I acquired a total for Kingsgate, Rykerts, Nelway, Waneta and Paterson. The total for 1960 was 40,714 vehicles which was approximately 10½ per cent of the total crossings for British Columbia. It will be noted that I did not include the westerly points of Cascade, Carson, Midway and Osoyoos.

As we know, this is the month that the Seattle World's Fair opens, or Century 21 as it is called. It is estimated by the professionals that this Fair will result in an additional one million people visiting British Columbia this year. So, with this in mind, let us consider the 40,714 vehicles which entered our area in 1960.

I am informed that a conservative estimate is three passengers per vehicle. This in turn means that the 40,714 vehicles carried 122,142 persons into our area in 1960. This figure increased by over 13 per cent in 1961 and will be subject to a similar normal increase in 1962, plus the share of the estimated one million additional visitors generated through Seattle's Century 21.

We may bear in mind that every citizen has a stake in the tourist dollar, not just the hotel and restaurant operators. The tourist dollar is not somthing intangible — it is just as real and tangible as any other dollar earned. It is everybody's business because the money filters down to everyone. Let's roll up our sleeves and encourage and welcome the tourists to our area.

SAIGON (Reuters)—A squadron of H-34 helicopters from the United States has arrived in South Viet Nam.

The helicopters were reported today to have flown to Soc Trang in Ba Xuyen province, about 140 miles south of here, after leaving a carrier transport.

It was the fourth detachment of U.S. helicopters, flown by U.S. marine pilots, to arrive in South Viet Nam.

Detroit Still Without Two Daily Newspapers

DETROIT (AP) — This city was without its two regular daily newspapers again Monday following an announcement Sunday night that neither the morning Free Press nor the evening News would attempt to publish Monday editions.

There were also indications that neither of the newspapers would have presses rolling again until after the settlement of a contract dispute with the Teamsters union.

Detroit News executives announced the paper would lay off employees in several departments. The action was similar to that taken earlier by Free Press executives.

A combined News-Free Press Sunday edition, published Sunday, was the first newspaper delivered to subscribers of either since the Teamsters went on strike against the Free Press last Wednesday night.

The chief hope for a break in the situation appeared to hinge on a scheduled meeting Tuesday night on rank-and-file members of Teamsters Local 372, which represents circulation department employees at both papers.

HOFFA JOINS TALKS

Teamsters president James Hoffa, who joined the negotiations during the weekend, said Local 372 members will hear details of a new contract offer by the News.

Hoffa's union has walked out only at The Free Press but The News has not published because of an agreement that a strike against one newspaper is considered to be a strike against both.

Both papers, however, are bargaining on new contracts to replace those that expired last Nov. 15.

The Detroit World, a recently-established weekly, announced it will continue to publish daily editions as long as the two regular dailies remain idle.

The combined Sunday edition carried the names of both papers and had pre-printed supplements and editorial staff articles from both. The papers have a combined Sunday circulation estimated at more than 1,500,000.

The Free Press has a regular daily circulation of about 550,000 and The News' circulation is about 723,000.

Letters to The Editor

Letters to the editor on any topic of genuine interest are welcome if they are brief, accurate and fair. Gov't-Controlled Sweeps Urged

To the Editor:

Sir — The time has come to give serious and unbiased thought to the astounding amount of capital which is leaving this country illegally on lotteries and sweeps to other countries.

Where these countries have been wise enough to legalize and government control such lotteries, using same among others for the research of cancer, heart and alcohol control, we are lagging far behind through biased opinion, making it an act of dishonesty.

In countries where lotteries have been legalized and government controlled they will tell you of its great merits. Serving the good of the whole country instead of making multi-millionaires of the few who have previously conducted these lotteries.

Therefore, it may be wise for the householder favoring sweeps to discontinue giving to house-to-house canvassers covering Cancer, Heart and Red Cross, etc. until the time has come whereby lotteries are legalized, we can honestly buy a ticket and know that our donation is going into a pool in our country to be used to the greatest extent for the killers of the race.

I quote New Zealand as one of the finest examples of government controlled sweeps, where the proceeds are pouring in, to further the cause of a drive for a healthy race.

If we study this thing with unbiased thought, there can be no doubt as to the outcome.

Asks Politicians To Wake Up

To the Editor:

Sir — Your paper of April 7 — CANADA SOLD DOWN RIVER McNAUGHTON.

Oh no, not red ink, just common concern, Freedomite bombs, Red Ink burns somebody's fingers. But something that can and will seriously effect the lives not only of us all but countless generations of Canadians does not count much.

It is of primary significance that a man of McNaughton's ability who defintely knows what he is talking about, having personally traversed the complete area with a training and years of experience in this class of work, at an age when he will not personally have any reward and in opposition from Governments at Ottawa as well as at Victoria.

We till have a thin red line of true Canadian statesmen who cannot be bought.

Methinks that High Arrow still smells very strongly of Kaiser of six or seven years ago. Am no detective but powers that can and do influence others in authority and with a pearl of such price as this, no price is too great. Whenever will our politicians wake up or have they been befuddled so long they cannot see wood for trees.

DISGUSTED.

4000 Youths Give Standing Ovation To Russ Leaders

MOSCOW (Reuters) — Some 4,000 delegates to a Communist youth congress Mnnday gave Premier Khrushchev and other Soviet leaders a five - minute standing ovation when they arrived at the opening session in Moscow's Kremlin.

An address of greeting was delivered before the Soviet Communist Youth League (Komsomol) congress by Frol Kozlov, generally considered to be Khrushchev's chief aide.

Foreign delegates were on hand from Communist China, Cuba and capitalist countries of Europe, North America and Africa.

The congress unanimously elected a 35-man presidium, including cosmonauts Yuri Gagarin and Gherman Titov.

General Strike Cripples Oran

CP from Reuters-AP

ORAN, Algeria — A general strike paralyzed Oran Mondav as the Secret Army Organization again displayed its power here after taking over the centre of the city for 5½ hours Sunday.

On orders from the right-wing extremist Europeans, workers cut off electricity, gas and public transport services in a one-day walkout of this Western port city.

The strike followed similar actions in Algiers and the eastern city of Phillippeville protesting the death sentence passed by a Paris military court on former Gen. Edmond Jouhaud, captured Secret Army chief in Oran.

A Secret Army commando team of about 100 men, half of them wearing army uniforms, occupied the telephone and telegraph exchanges in the city's main post office Sunday for 5½ hours.

SET UP ROAD BLOCKS

Roadblocks as far away from the building as 500 yards were manned by the extremists and, in effect, the entire centre of the city was in terrorist hands.

Before the invasion, an armored truck drove up to the post office and announced to riot police guards there that the terrorist band was going to move in.

Under orders from their headquarters, the policemen filed out of the building before the Secret Army arrived.

A police official said the guards were told to leave because they could not be left isolated in the city centre.

The only shooting during the take-over were pot-shots by the occupying gunmen at French army helicopters and a B-26 which circled overhead. A mob lynched two Europeans near Algiers Sunday in the first act of mass Moslem violence since the March 19 ceasefire.

SET CAR AFIRE

Enraged youths stopped a car in the Maison Carre, industrial suburb nine miles southeast of Algiers and dragged out the three men inside. They beat them with rocks and sticks and set the car afire. Two of the Europeans were killed and the third critically injured.

Police said they did not know the immediate provocation for the attack. Elsewhere in Algeria white terrorists killed four Moslems and wounded 28.

Secret Army terrorists driving through Moslem suburbs have machine-gunned Moslem civilians to death nearly every day since the cease-fire. At least 250 Moslems have been killed in Algiers alone.

The terrorists are trying to provoke the Moslems into reprisals on a civil-war scale that will block Algeria's advance toward independence.

The Algerian nationalist command issued a sharp warning from its Tunis headquarters for France to show more energy in breaking the right-wing European resistance to Algerian independence.

"This situation has lasted too long," said nationalist leaders as they gathered for a strategy session in Tunis to plan their takeover in Algeria.

"Every day administrative and economic anarchy has been growing in Oran and certain parts of Algiers and Bone," said the nationalist government - in-exile.

THREE KILLED

VANCOUVER (CP) — Three men died in separate traffic accidents in the Vancouver area during the weekend. Bus driver Duncan Hugh McLaren, 42, was killed when his car smashed into a highway overpass in Richmond; H. J. Lawrence, 76, was struck on a crosswalk in New Westminster; and Ernest Albert Gratrix, 69, was hit by a car when he stepped on to a street between two parked cars.

Twenty-Four of 32 Accidents Due to Highway Mishaps

By The Canadian Press

Twenty-four of the 32 accidental deaths in Canada during the weekend occurred in highway mishaps.

Newfoundland and Manitoba were the only provinces reporting no accidental deaths in a Canadian Press survey from 6 p.m. Friday to midnight Sunday.

Ontario topped the list with 11 road deaths. Four persons died on the highways in Quebec, three in British Columbia, two each in Nova Scotia and Saskatchewan and one each in Prince Edward Island and Alberta.

Fires claimed one life in Ontario, New Brunswick and Quebec. One drowning occurred each in Quebec and Alberta. Two deaths were caused by asphyxiation in Quebec and one persons died after a fall in Ontario.

The list does not include industrial accidents, known suicides or slayings.

Three Excommunicated In Seregation Feud

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The Roman Catholic archbishop of New Orleans Monday excommunicated three persons in a segregation feud, including Louisiana political boss, Leander H. Perez Sr.

Archbishop Joseph Francis Rummel also excommunicated Mrs. B. J. Gaillot Jr. and Citizens' Council official Jackson G. Ricau.

Mrs. Gaillot, 41, leader of a small segregation group, Save Our Nation, picketed the archbishop's residence the day he ordered parochial schools to be desegregated.

Perez is a long-time political boss of St. Bernard and Plaquemines parishes (counties). He has been a leading figure in the fight against integration in Louisiana.

Ricau is executive secretary of the pro-segregation Citizens' Council of South Louisiana.

APPEAL TO VATICAN?

Mrs. Gaillot said: "His excellency has no right to make that official without notifying me first. His accusations are false. And the Vatican will have to intervene."

Msgr. Charles J. Plauche, chancellor of the archdiocese, read the excommunication order at a press conference. The order read:

"Despite the paternal admonition of his excellency, the Most Rev. Joseph Francis Rummel, archbishop of New Orleans, cautioning certain members of the church against any further attempt through word or deed to hinder his orders or provoke the devoted people of this venerable archdiocese to disobedience, or rebellion, in the matter of opening our schools to all Catholic children, the following subjects of the archdiocese, by flagrant disregard of his fatherly counsel have incurred the spiritual penalty of excommunication of which he warned them in his 'personal and confidential' letter of March 31, 1962:

"Mr. Leander H. Perez Sor., Mr. Jackson Ricau, Mrs. B. J. Gaillot, Jr.

"This spiritual penalty may be remitted only by the ordinary (archbishop) or by his delegates."

The archbishop closed the door on any possible audience with Mrs. Gaillot with a statement Sunday night contending he became "convinced that Mrs. Gaillot obviously intended to use this interview to gain further widespread publicity. . . ."

Excommunication bars a Catholic from the church's sacraments and if invoked in its most stringent form prohibits other Catholics from associating with excommunicants.

Apartheid Haunts Thousands in Johannesburg

JOHANNESBURG (Reuters) — Several thousand non - white residents of Johannesburg face the prospect of having to leave their homes within a year under an apartheid regulation.

The affected persons — Negroes and "coloreds" (mixed race)—live in areas declared "white" by government proclamation under a law laying down where different races can reside and do business. Those affected by the proclamation receive a year's grace in which to move out.

Correct Exercises Can Protect Heart

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Are you tired, tuckered out?

Would you like someone to foot your bill for several weeks in a beautiful vacation spot, away from the turmoil and stresses of daily life?

In Russia, Germany, Austria and Switzerland many persons get just that kind of break every year, Dr. Wilhelm Raab, a Vermont physician, said Monday.

But they don't simply sit around and loaf. They're taught to exercise every day to overcome "loafer's heart" and help themselves avoid the future heart attack, he said.

Raab, of the University of Vermont College of Medicine, is an exponent of exercise as one means to safeguard the heart from the seemingly - sudden heart attack.

In Russia and other European countries, millions of persons have had the benefits of "preventive reconditioning" to reduce their chances of heart attacks, he told an opening session of a symposium on coronary heart disease.

Governments, industries and social health insurance organizations have paid for the programs, Raab said.

He explained that many persons have "loafer's heart" from too little physical activity. The heart doesn't develop the ability to stand up under stress either from sudden physical demands or sudden excitement.

Chemicals from the adrenal glands ordinarily stimulate the heart, regulating its beat, blood pressure and its response to stress. But this same chemical stimulation can sometimes overtax the heart.

The "loafer's heart" cannot shoot in enough blood to supply the oxygen needed when these chemicals are released in reaction to stress, or the heart isn't trained to counteract the overdose chemical stimulation, Raab said.

Regular exercise can help the heart build the reserves and the means of handling this stress, he said.

Gromyko Visits Belgrade

BELGRADE (Reuters) — Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko arrived here Monday for a 5-day visit. Gromyko is the first senior Russian official to travel to Yugoslavia for more than four years.

Foreign Secretary Koca Popovic headed a party of government officials who welcomed Gromyko as he stepped out of a Soviet jet airliner at Batajnica Military Airport, about 12 miles from Belgrade.

During his stay the Soviet minister and Popovic will discuss "the most important problems in international politics" and Yugoslav-Soviet relations, Yugoslav sources said.

Soviet sources said it is likely Gromyko will see President Tito during his stay.

Gromyko's visit comes at a time when Soviet-Yugoslav relations, many times strained in the past by ideological quarrels, have been showing signs of improvement.

U.S. Jew Congress Bans Sectarian Observance

NEW YORK (AP) — The American Jewish Congress has gone on record against any sectarian observances in public schools such as Bible-reading, prayer recitation and religious holiday celebrations.

Among the religious holidays the congress listed Christmas and Hanukkah, the eight-day Jewish Festival of Light.

Five hundred delegates unanimously asserted at the final session Sunday that sectarian practices "impair religious freedom, violate the principle of church-state separation and interfere with fulfilment by the schools of their educational function."

The delegates also said they opposed any federal aid for parochial schools as a "clear violation of the constitutional principle of separation of church and state. . . ."

Potato Worth More Than Its Weight to Britons

LONDON (AP)—The potato is the hot item these days for British hijackers and Irish smugglers, due to a shortage in Britain.

Raiders got a good haul during the weekend. At Manchester a truck carrying 2½ tons of potatoes was stolen. Another two tons was hijacked at Liverpool. Somebody got away with 43 sacks of 112 pounds each from a lonely warehouse near Colchester, Essex.

At the Manchester warehouse, manager John Wilson brought in two Alsatian dogs to guard the remaining stocks. Guards were mounted on other warehouses and on produce markets in Britain's major cities.

Ireland restricts the export of potatoes, and smugglers are busy there. They buy from farmers at £20 a ton, truck and potatoes over lonely back roads into Northern Ireland, then ship the loot to England. There the spuds fetch £38 a ton in the wholesale market.

Potatoes should be scarce in Britain for the next few weeks. There are only 330,000 tons in the country — not enough to meet the full rate of consumption. The crop due from the Channel Islands next month has suffered from frost, gales and salt spray. No new potatoes are expected before June.

Farmers are planning a protest march against the Potato Marketing board in London Tuesday. They and housewives contend the board caused the shortage by restricting the amount grown.

Both Conservative and Labor members of Parliament plan to question the board's activities in the Commons Tuesday.

Royal Purple Colors Centre Table at Tea

Purple and white, colors of the Royal Purple, were chosen for the tea table centrepiece at the Nelson lodge's spring tea and bake sale held in the Silver Room of the Hume Hotel Saturday.

An arrangement of purple and white flowers was flanked by purple tapers and small vases of spring flowers brightened individual tea tables for the social event.

Honored lady, Mrs. Neil C. McLeod was general convener and received guests at the door. The cashiers were Mrs. Bruce Malcolm and Mrs. Robert Laidlaw.

Mrs. J. C. Muir, Mrs. Austin Moore and Mrs. Beldon Stafford were in charge of arrangements.

Serviteurs were Miss Anne Rudulovich, Miss Vera Vesper, Miss Olga Poznekoff, Mrs. Edward Irwin, Mrs. F. R. Graves, Mrs. Cecil Alexander and Mrs. A. H. Wilson. In charge of the bake table were Mrs. C. M. McNown, Mrs. L. E. Blackwell and Mrs. A. W. Feller. Mrs Ray Stafford, Mrs. Park Hartzell and Mrs. William Henke were in charge of the sewing table.

Presiding at the tea table were Mrs. Albert Maida, Mrs. Herbert Lust and Mrs. Maud Valentine.

Serviettes were decorated with pansies, emblem of the Order.

Parcels from 45 of the other 59 lodges in B. C. were received for the parcel post sale.

The Nelson lodge recently was honored with a visit from district Deputy Supreme Honored Royal Lady Mrs. Kate Shaw of Trail, and 10 members from the Trail Lodge. Mrs. Shaw was presented with a white and purple corsage and a pansy cup and saucer.

Mrs. Jorgenson Nelson Delegate To WI Conference

Mrs. W. B. Jorgenson was chosen delegate to the district Women's Institute conference to be held at Harrop at a recent meeting of the Nelson Women's Institute.

A demonstration was given on making articles from nylon and felt.

A parcel of clothing and knitted articles will be sent to UNESCO.

Six more children will receive glasses through the Mary E. Davidson Memorial Fund.

Mrs. George Sutherland and Mrs. W. Carruthers were tea hostesses.

Describes UN Women's Commission

SUDBURY (CP) — A recent sitting of the United Nations' status of women commission was described Friday night by Mrs. Virginia Beirnes of Vancouver who was among representatives of 21 nations at the conference.

Mrs. Beirnes told the Sudbury Business and Professional Women's Club that the commission is improving the conditions of women throughout the world. She attended a three-week sitting as a spectator.

Most countries represented grant equal rights to women in politics, work and wages, she said, but the conference stressed the need for political education among women.

Women Still Not Allowed On Juries in 3 Provinces

By DAVE BRACEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Most of the bastions against equality of the sexes have come tumbling down but the polished walnut walls of the jury box are resisting to the bitter end.

A Cross-Canada Survey by The Canadian Press shows that although there are only three provinces that bar women from jury service, they are never seen in two others and rarely in another four.

Ontario is the exception. Not only are women called for jury duty (about one in every 100 is a woman) but the attorney-general has asked for more.

The seven provinces that officially allow women jurors are Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, Ontario, Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia. There are plenty of loopholes for women who don't want to serve.

In Newfoundland, Prince Edward Island and Quebec women jurors are unknoawn.

WOMEN LOBBY

Ontario has long had women on its juries. Recently, however, women's organizations have been lobbying for better representation. Attorney - General Kelso Roberts subsequently asked sheriff's officers to oblige when they next call juries.

Unlike men, women may be exempted simply by filling a form claiming exemption. They don't need an excuse.

Mrs. L. G. Lymburner, president of the 38,000-strong Federated Women's Institutes of Ontario, says she doesn't approve of it being made so easy for women to beg off. Every woman, she said, should be prepared to serve unless her duties as a mother prevent it.

In Nova Scotia, women have been permitted to serve as long as men. But it wasn't until Halifax Alderman Abbie Lane headed a protest by women's organizations three years ago that they ever reached the jury box. Even now they serve only in Halifax.

NO DEMAND

"No one has pressed for women on juries in the rest of the province," said a spokesman for the Nova Scotia attorney - general's department. "Therefore, nothing has been done."

Elsewhere in the Maritimes, juries are ultra-masculine.

New Brunswick in 1954 gave women the right to include their names on jury panels but none has ever served.

In Prince Edward Island jury service is confined to males by law. No one has made much noise in favor of a change.

Under Quebec's Juror's Act, revised as recently as 1941, women are not allowed to serve. If they were, the majority would probably be excluded by the property qualification. There is a growing demand for the right.

Mrs. Gerard Pelletier, wife of the editor-in-chief of Montreal La Presse and a writer herself, commented that the disqualification of women for jury duty in Quebec "follows the usual procedure of ignoring women . . . or not holding them responsible."

MAY PRACTISE LAW

Women have been allowed to practise law in the province since 1942. One of them, Gervaise Brisson of Montreal, said women should be allowed to sit on juries. Pauline Cazelais, president of the Quebec Association of Women Lawyers, agreed.

She recalled pleading a case before a jury for a man charged with manslaughter and said: "I think it would have been better for me if there had been a woman on the jury. I think women are more humane."

In Newfoundland there is little prospect of women crashing juries. Attorney-General Leslie R. Curtis said his department has been thinking it over for several years but so far he hasn't seen enough of how it works on the mainland to be convinced it is practicable or desirable.

Mrs. A. W. Parsons, IODE regent in St. John's, said women in the 45-60 age group should be allowed to sit on juries. The younger ones would not have the time.

Manitoba permits women jurors, subject to the same qualifications as men, and also provides them with a set of legal exemptions of their own.

NURSES EXEMPTED

Members of religious orders who live in convents or other religious communities may claim exemption. So may registered or practical nurses, wives of law officers, judges, coroners and jailers.

Women may also be released from duty because of the nature of evidence involved or the issues to be tried.

In 1961 only three women actually served on juries in Manitoba. Forty had been summoned and 25 claimed exemption. At this year's spring assizes 28 were called. Eighteen begged off, 10 reached the panel, but none served.

Court officials said this is about average. Women have been allowed to serve since 1952 in Manitoba but for some reason, officials said, both Crown and defence lawyers usually challenge women.

The situation is similar in Saskatchewan. Some are called for service but nearly all are excused. A woman may claim exemption under the same 19 categories as men but she even has the right to release merely because of her sex.

Alberta hasn't seen a woman in the jury box for 10 years. They have the right to be chosen for civil juries but not criminal cases, and Chief Justice C. C. McLaurin of the Alberta Supreme Court said there have been no civil jury trials in the province for 10 years. In addition, 95 percent of criminal cases were handled by judges without juries.

Premier E. C. Manning, who is also attorney - general, said no woman can be compelled to serve as a juror unless she signs a document, before a jury summons is presented, signifying her willicngness.

Under some circumstances a woman litigant in Alberta may apply to have women included on the jury hearing hercase.

British Columbia's Jury Act covers both men and woman. Women are exempted only on the same grounds as men but they must be notified in writing when their names are placed on preliminary lists. The number of women who eventually serve is minimal.

Frank Cotton, New Westminster sheriff, said women jurors are as able as men on most cases "but they are at a disadvantage in rape cases where the evidence is usually not very wholseome."

Mrs. Bertrand Galloway, president of the Provincial Council of Women said: "There would be times when the situation might be delicate and difficult. But the evidence in rape cases would certainly be no worse than some of the books and movies some women take in these days."

Numbers of men and women on juries should be equal, she said. "Too many women would get carried away and too many men would be inclined to forgive the sinners. The same number of men and women would balance this out."

Her reason for opposing the idea of an all - woman jury? "There wouldn't be enough jails to hold all the men."

Ice Maker Finds Curlers Prone to Squawks, Alibis

AFTER THE BALL WAS OVER—A fan in dead center field in the new Dodger stadium in Los Angeles holds up the first home run ball hit in the park during game between Dodgers and Reds. Wally Post of the Reds hit it before 52,564.

MONTREAL (CP) — Four years as an ice-maker have convinced Ed (Etchy) Dubiel that curling needs a new morality.

"Something has to be done soon or the players are going to be swinging at each other with the brooms," he says.

Dubiel is 25, a chunky six-footer of affable mien. But he makes his points about curling with hand gestures and unmistakable bitterness.

"Sure the game is booming," the former semi - pro baseball umpire said in an interview after the season windup at Montreal's four-sheet Greystone Curling Club.

"But what riles me is the attitude of the newcomers to curling—and they make up most of the players.

"More so than in any other sport, there is squawking and alibiing.

"No one is ever a loser, at least not in his own mind. They'll find someone or something to blame for every failure."

A sampling of locker room beefs and excuses:

"That ice fell off to one side like a ski slope."

BLAME THE ROCKS

"How can you curl when the rink is like an ice box?"

"You would think they would scrape the ice at least once in a while."

"No one is going to tell me those rocks were all the proper weight."

Seasoned curlers, fellows who have been at it for 10 years or more, are exempted by Dubiel.

"They seldom say much."

And women, for the most part, fall into the same category.

But in mixed competition they undergo a big change, shedding all docility.

"They pick up their cue from the men and then they're just as bad," he said.

His pet peeve, however, is the "glass skip."

"He's the fellow who sits in the gallery behind the glass with a drink in hand and plots strategy for someone else's game.

"He never misses a shot."

Johansson Moves On Comeback Trail

STOCKHOLM (AP) — Former world heavyweight champion Ingemar Johansson of Sweden scored a fifth-round knockout Sunday night over Wim Snoek of The Netherlands and took another step forward in his comeback effort to regain the title.

The end of the scheduled 10-rounder came after one minute, 15 seconds of the fifth round when Johansson cut loose with a long left followed by a right hook to Snoeks' chin.

Johansson weighed 202 pounds, Snoek 197.

The former heavyweight king had Snoek down for an eight-count early in the fifth, but the Dutchman managed to regain his feet. Johansson's solid left and right hooks staggered Snoek before the big Swede came up with the payoff blows.

Snoek started furiously, catching Johansson with a series of blows to the Swede's jaw that sent Johansson to the canvas with his head lying on the ring's bottom rope. Johansson was up at the count of five, but Swedish referee Bengt Lowendahl held him back until he had counted eight.

Johansson now has won 24 of his 26 professional matches — 16 of them on knockouts. He has been knocked out twice, both times by world heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson.

It was the second knockout defeat for 34-year-old Snoek who has fought 65 matches as a professional.

Bill Casper Takes Greensboro Open

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — Bill Casper recovered from a three-stroke deficit in the last nine holes Sunday to win the $35,000 Greensboro open golf tournament by one stroke over Mike Souchak.

Casper finished with a three-under-par 68 for a 275 total to win top money of $5300. Souchak turned in a 69 for 276 and runner-up money of $3400.

Sam Snead, playing with Souchak in the final threesome, also scored 69 for 278 and third money of $2200.

Al Johnston of Montreal finished out of the money Sunday with a 44-36—80. His total for the tournament was 303. George Knudson of Toronto was eliminated Saturday.

The victory for Casper boosted him into second place in the year's money list with $22,600 in earnings.

Souchak played the last four holes in four over par to let victory slip away. He shot the back nine in 38.

Casper had rounds of 69-70-68-68 and Souchak 68-69-70-69. They were the only competitors in the field to better par in every round in the $35,000 tournament.

Kamloops To Host Fish, Game Meet

The 1962 convention of the B.C. Federation of Fish and Game Clubs, to be held in Kamloops May 3-5, will open with a speech by a B.C. cabinet minister and close with a speech by a federal cabinet minister, federation president William N. Wallinge of Riondel announced Fiday.

Mr. Wallinger said the Hon. Earle C. Westwood will make the customary opening address to the assembled representatives of more than 150 fish and game organizations, and the Hon. Walter Dinsdale, minister of northern affairs and national resources, will speak to a luncheon which will be the closing event of the convention.

In between, speakers will discuss such matters as sportsmen's insurance, problems of access on to crown lands, the Criminal Code and its relationship to hunting accident, and other topics of vital interest to sportsmen of the province.

Keynote speaker at the annual banquet to be held in Elks Hall, Kamloops, on May 4, will be B.C. Game Director Frank R. Butler, whose address will be entitled "Milestones in Fish and Wildlife Administration in B.C."

Mr. Butler retires this year after an almost record period of service to the province, so will be honored by the federation by being moved up from his customary position as speaker on the affairs of the fish and game branch, to that of keynote speaker.

An economist from Washington state will speak on conservation budgets. He is Dr. James A. Crutchfiled of the University of Washington who has specialized in the economics of fish and wildlife.

During the banquet, awards will be made to individuals and organizations in the federation. The Bert Palmer Big Game Memorial Trophy will be awarded the hunter who has bagged the animal which rates highest in records in North America during the past year, and the club which has performed the greatest public service in the field of conservation will be awarded the O'Keefe Conservation Trophy.

KINGS WIN

BRANDON (CP) — Edmonton Oil Kings will have a one-game margin when they meet Brandon Wheat Kings here tonight in their second game of the Memorial Cup junior hockey semi-final series. The Oil Kings took the opening game of the best-of-seven series 3-1 here Saturday. After tonight's encounter, the remaining games will be played in Edmonton. Saturday's victory was the 10th straight for the Oil Kings who overcame Calgary Buffaloes, Kamloops Rockets and Moose Jaw Canucks to reach the western final.

Army Asked to Train Canada Puck Teams

CALGARY (CP)—The Canadian Army is asked to train and sponsor Canada's hockey team for the 1964 Olympics in a resolution passed at the semi-annual meeting here Sunday of the Alberta Amateur Hockey Association.

The resolution asks the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association to consider letting the army take over the 1964 Olympic hockey club and stock it with promising juvenile and junior players.

The motion requested that the CAHA make a direct approach to army chief of staff.

Under the plan Canada would be grooming young hockey clubs in a manner similar to Russia, Czechoslovakia, and other European nations.

"I think this is the only way to form a good national hockey club and keep it amateur and together for at least a year," Stu Peppard of Calgary said.

Peppard said the team could be selected prior to the 1963 hockey season.

The nucleus of the club would consist primarily of Canada's most promising junior and juvenile hockey players with enough army service veterans to add depth and experience to the lineup.

The club would be controlled and trained by the army, devoting a complete schedule to hockey. This would allow the team to play and practise as a unit for several months, Peppard said.

After the Olympic Games the players could be discharged from the army if they desired.

If the team lost in Allan Cup play on non-Olympic seasons, the victorious club would represent Canada in the world hockey championships.

But in Olympic years the army team would be the only one eligible in terms of semi-professional and true amateur ratings.

AAU Committee Being Passed Up by Sport Advisory Council

By JACK SULLIVAN
Canadian Press Sports Editor

Ken Twigg of Toronto is a perturbed and puzzled young man. In case the name escapes you, he is national chairman of the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada track and field committee.

He isn't really mad at anybody, but he wonders why the sports advisory committee, the group that is helping the government spend $5,000,000 a year on physical fitness and amateur sport, would pass up his committee. He's waiting for an explanation from any council member.

Twigg almost flipped the other day when he read in the newspapers that $19,500 had been set aside for the AAU's boxing, fencing, gymnastics, weightlifting and wrestling committees and $50,000 for the Royal Canadian Legion's 1962 track and field program.

Twigg's committee got nothing.

NIL IN KITTY

"Id just like to know what this is all about," Twigg said in an interview.

"I have nothing against the Legion. I think it is doing a tremendous job for track and field in Canada, probably more than anybody else, but I always thought the AAU was the governing body of the sport in this country. I guess we're out in the cold.

"We got zero from the council."

For council's enlightenment, that is exactly what Twigg has in the kitty.

"My budget from the AAU is $50 a year. I took office last November and the 50 bucks was spent in two months. People in track and field send me telegrams and they're always collect. I've issued four bulletins since taking office and these took care of the rest of my budget."

Twigg said he had asked for $10,000 to stage the Canadian track and field championships and British Empire Games trials at Toronto next August.

WANTS NATIONAL MEET

"We need between $5,000 and $10,000 to get athletes from every province to compete. We haven't had a truly national track meet in years simply because our athletes haven't the money to travel across the country."

Twigg noted that the Legion would conduct coaches' clinics. "These are fine, and I'm all for them, but what's the point if we can't get our young athletes to compete in Canadian championships because they can't afford the travelling and other costs?"

Announcement of the grants, including $2,500,000 to the provinces for their own fitness programs, was made in the House of Commons by Health Minister Monteith.

One council member, who wished to remain anonymous, appeared to be surprised at the government's announcement. "It must have been an oversight," he said in reference to lack of funds for the AAU track and field committee.

Patterson to Meet Liston in New York

NEW YORK (AP) — Heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson probably will defend his title against Sonny Liston either Sept. 17 at Yankee Stadium or Sept. 26 at the Polo Grounds in New York, Tom Bolan, president of Championship Sports Incorporated, announced Monday.

Monday was to have been the day of decision on a site and date for Patterson's defence of his world heavyweight boxing title against his No. 1 challenger. Patterson, who is to call the shot under the terms of the contract, didn't show up at a luncheon meeting of the Boxing Writers Association of New York where an announcement had been expected.

Bolan told the writers about the probable dates in the two New York ball parks.

Julius November, Patterson's attorney, spoke about the $1,000,000 offer from "a Texas group" during the weekend. He said all parties had agreed to extend the deadline to Thursday noon in order to let the Texans put it in writing, and put the money in a bank.

SIGNED IN MARCH

Contracts for the fight were signed March 16 with Championship Sports as the promoter.

Patterson, 27, has a 38-2 record for 40 pro fights. He won the title in 1956 and defended it successfully four times before he was knocked out by Ingemar Johansson, June 26, 1959. He became the first heavyweight champ to regain the title when he knocked out Johansson June 20, 1960. He stopped Johansson again last year and stopped Tom McNeeley Dec. 4 in Toronto in his last bout.

Liston, also 27, has 33-1 record for 34 bouts. He stopped Albert Westphal of Germany Dec. 4 in the first half of an electronic closed circuit TV doubleheader topped by the Patterson-McNeeley bout.

CANUCKS WIN

PRINCE GEORGE (CP) — Dawson Creek Canucks won the Northern Interior intermediate hockey championship Sunday despite an 8-7 loss to Prince George Mohawks. Dawson Creek won the four-game total-goal series 22-16. The Canucks defeated the Mohawks 7-2 Saturday night.

Clemente's Homer Extends Bucs Streak to Five Games

By The Associated Press

Roberto Clemente's three-run homer and the tight relief pitching of Lefty Diomedes Olivo, 42-year-old rookie, sent the unbeaten Pittsburgh Pirates to a 6-5 victory over the winless Chicago Cubs Monday.

The Pirates stretched their winning streak to five games and left the Cubs with six defeats, five of them to left-handed hurlers.

Elsewhere in the National League, Cincinnati squeaked by Milwaukee 2-1 and St. Louis Cardinals knocked out Philadelphia 12-6.

A scheduled game between Houston and the New York Mets was cancelled by cold weather.

No games were scheduled in the American League. At Cincinnati Joey Jay, pitching his way out of trouble in seven of the nine innings, won his first game of the season tonight as he hurled Cincinnati Reds to a 2-1 victory over his old Milwaukee teammates.

LOST TWO STARTS

Jay, a 21-game winner last year, had lost his first two starts this season.

He was helped by two brilliant Redleg double plays.

Frank Robinson drove in both Redleg runs with a bases loaded double in the sixth.

Bob Shaw, was the loser.

A single by Mack Jones and Hank Aaron's double gave the Braves their run in the seventh.

At Philadelphia the Cards dumped the Phils on five-hit pitching by Ernie Broglio who came on in relief of starter Bob Gibson in a wild first inning in which each team scored six times and nine walks were issued.

Gene Oliver's solo homer in the third inning put the Cards ahead to stay.

At Chicago, Olivo, collected the victory with his stint from the fourth into the eighth inning. He was knocked for four hits and one run.

In a late game played at San Francisco, the Giants whitewashed Los Angeles Dodgers 19-8 on home runs by Felipe Alou, Jim Davenport and Willie Mays. Tommy Davis homered for L.A.

Montreal Advances to Allan Cup

MONTREAL (CP) — Montreal Olympics Monday night defeated Kapuskasing GMs 3-2 to take the best-of-seven Eastern Canada Allan Cup hockey final in four straight games.

The Olympics shut out the Ontario champions 2-0 and 3-0 in the first two games, played in Kapuskasing, then downed them 8-1 here Sunday.

The Olympics now meet either Trail Smoke Eaters or Saskatoon Quakers for the Allan Cup, emblematic of Canadian senior amateur hockey supremacy.

Traill eads Saskatoon 2-1 in their best-of-seven Western Canada final series.

Michel Labrosse starred for the winners, scoring twice, while Noel Picard picked up Montreal's other goal.

Greg Hicks and Russ Beliveau were the Kapuskasing marksmen.

Cleroux, Folley To Meet

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Canadian heavyweight champion Bob Cleroux of Montreal moves into one of his toughest professional bouts Wednesday night when he takes on Zora Folley of Chandler, Aroz., in a scheduled 10-rounder.

Both men aspire to meet world heavyweight king Floyd Patterson. Cleroux, who has a record of 31 victories, two losses and one draw, is ranked fourth in world ratings by Ring Magazine and sixth by the National Boxing Association. Folley is rated third by both Ring and the NBA.

Folley knocked out Henry Cooper of England last December and kayoed Mike Dejohn Feb. 15, giving him 57 victories in 64 fights. Cleroux has knocked out 26 men.

Brandon Blanks Edmonton 4-0 in Brawling Game

BRANDON (CP) — Brandon Wheat Kings of the Manitoba Junior Hockey League scored a 4-0 victory over Edmonton Oil Kings of the Central Alberta League here Monday night to even the best-of-seven Memorial Cup semi-final series 1-1.

Edmonton won the opening game of the series 3-1 here Saturday.

Goals went to team captain Ted Taylor, Gerry Kell, Marc Dufour and Bob Woytowich, picked up from Winnipeg Rangers.

There were 25 penalties called, 15 to Edmonton, defending western champions.

A full-scale brawl at the end of the second period had almost all members of both beams involved after Kell and Edmonton's Max Mestinsek bumped in front of the players' boxes.

The brawl before 4,088 fans, took more than five minutes and a number of policemen to stop. Edmonton's Greg Pilling and Brandon's Bob Ash received match penalties for attempting to injure other players while six other players shared eight minor and major penalties.

Harrison Gray blocked 34 shots for Edmonton while Henry Goy, picked up from St. Boniface Canadiens, blocked 22 in the Brandon goal.

The next three games of the series are scheduled for Edmonton Wednesday, Friday and Saturday.

Herb Elliott Retires From Track Circles

CAMBRIDGE, England (AP)—Herb Elliott publicly announced his retirement from international competition in a British newspaper Monday and brought to a sudden close one of track and field's most spectacular careers.

The 23-year-old runner from Australia who raised the art of mile racing to heights never before achieved goes out unbeaten over his favorite distance.

In all, he cracked the four-minute barrier for the mile 17 times and his world record of 3:54.5 stood for nearly four years until it was finally cracked by New Zealander Peter Snell last January.

He announced his retirement to only one newspaper — the London Daily Mail — and then disappeared from his home four miles from this university town.

Snell topped Elliott's mark with a 3:54.4 performance in New Zealand. But the two runners never competed against each other.

HERB ELLIOTT

Little League Ball Future in Jeopardy

Nelson Little League and Babe Ruth Baseball League may be obliterated from the summer sports calendar unless a solution answering the perennial interest problem can be found.

Only eight interested people attended the annual league meeting Wednesday night in the Civic Centre, indicating the lack of interest. Of those attending the meeting, two were newcomers.

President Jack MacMillan stated that if no further interest was shown at a meeting to be held Wednesday evening at the Civic Centre at 8 p.m., then the league executive will have no alternative but to reduce the teams and possibly drop the Babe Ruth League.

Those at the meeting agreed that the interest lag stemmed from the parents and players. It was pointed out that in past years parent support had been high, thereby raising the level in interest in the players. But parent support in the coaching and umpiring areas had diminished sharply last year and the league had become disrupted.

Mr. MacMillan stated that if the interest was higher at the next meeting then spring training would begin immediately with the leagues opening in early May.

"East-West, Home's Best," Find Maple Leafs, Chihawks

CHICAGO (AP)—The Stanley Cup hockey playoffs are proving there is no place like home, and Chicago Black Hawks were preparing themselves mentally today to follow this theme.

After blanking Toronto Maple Leafs 3-0 Sunday night in Chicago Stadium, Hawks are thinking in terms of another home victory today to square the best-of-seven final series at 2-2.

Toronto took the first two games in its bailiwick, just as Montreal Canadiens did against the Hawks in the opening two matches of the semi-finals in Montreal. Chicago then swept four straight from the Canadiens.

In the nine playoff games involving the Hawks to date—six with Montreal and three with Toronto—eight were won by the home team.

Coach Punch Imlach called a practice for several of his Leafs on stadium ice Monday while the Hawks were ordered to rest. Neither team had any injuries.

NO CAKE WALK

"This isn't going to be any cake walk," said Imlach. "The Hawks out-hustled us last night and we did the same to them in our first two games in Toronto. The stadium rink is smaller than ours (about 15 feet shorter) and if you're hustling, you're going to hit them sooner because there's just so much ice. We've got to get control of the game—we certainly couldn't last night."

The rest Chicago got in the break between the series' second game in Toronto Thursday and Sunday night's match was just what the club needed, said Hawks coach Rudy Pilous.

"We're just getting the vigor and bounce back after those six rough skating games with the Canadiens," he added. "I figure we should be even stronger tomorrow night. We'll have to be because it's the key game. I would hate to think of going to Toronto Thursday down 3-1."

The sixth game, if needed, will be in Chicago Sunday, and again, if necessary, the seventh will be in Toronto April 24.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

MARKET TRENDS

NEW YORK (AP) — Steels were battered Monday in a stock market which declined only slightly on average.

Steels took losses running to 3 points or more as steel companies faced a cloud of subpoenas resulting from the crisis last week in which major companies were forced by government pressure to rescind a price boost.

The backwash from Washington was in addition to the cross the steel industry already bore —failure to establish what it regarded as a necessary price increase. The result was that steel stocks were sold heavily.

U.S. Steel and Bethlehem, No. 1 and No. 2 in the industry, were the No. 1 and No. 2 volume leaders, down 3½ and 1½ respectivley. Inland Steel was third most active steel stock, down 1½ at 43¼, althought it broke ranks with other major producers by refusing to raise prices, thus paving the way for President Kennedy's final victory last week.

The Dow Jones industrial average fell 3.84 to 684.06, but rails and utilities were irregularly higher.

AVERAGE FALLS

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was down a moderate .50 to 251.20. Of 1,287 shares traded, 648 declined and 396 advanced.

Volume was 3,070,000 shares compared with 3,470,000 Friday.

Farm implements, aerospace issues, non-ferrous metals, electrical equipments, airlines and drugs declined. Chemicals, oils, motors and rubbers were mixed.

Losers on the Canadian list off ⅝, International Nickel, ½, and Canadian Pacific ⅜.

On an irregular American Exchange, Fargo Oil and Scurry Rainbow Oil were off ⅛ each, while Preston moved up ¼ and Jupiter ⅛.

TORONTO (CP)—The stock market wavered between gains and losses Monday during the lightest trading this month, closing slightly above Friday's level.

Industrials showed the only rise on index; western oils fell more than one point.

Papers were firm in the main list, with Abitibi and Consolidated both up ¼ and Price Brothers ahead ⅛.

Steels showed weakness, with Algoma and Steel Company of Canada both down ¼, Atlas off ⅛ and Dominion Foundries and Steel off ¾. Trans-Canada Pipe Line dropped ⅜ to 23¾—its lowest this year.

On the exchange index, industrials rose .48 to 620.19. Golds dropped .33 to 86.63, base metals .33 to 206.36 and wesern oils 1.12 at 116.03. Closing volume was 2,707,000 shares compared with Friday's 3,438,000.

In base metals, Hudson Bay Mining fell ⅝, Noranda ⅛ and International Nickel ¼, while Ventures rose ½. Speculatives saw Lake Dufault decline 15 cents to $5.25 and Northgate five cents to $6.40.

Among western oils, Dome dipped ¼, as did Great Plains Development, while Pacific Petroleum fell ⅜ and Home B ⅛.

MONTREAL (CP) — Stocks were mostly a shade lower at the close of moderately light trading on the Montreal and Canadian exchanges Monday.

Price Brothers was a prominent loser, falling 1½ to 50½. Trans - Canada Pipe Lines at 23⅞ dropped ¼.

Among papers, Abitibi added ¼ to 47¼, while Calgary Power fell ¼ to 22½ among utilities.

In base metals Noranda added ⅛ to 60⅜ in active trading and Hudson Bay at 58½ and International Nickel at 81 both lost ¼.

Among oil stocks, Imperial Oil dropped ⅝ to 47⅞ and Canadian Oil fell ½ to 31.

On index, banks were up 0.07 at 69.97, utilities off 0.1 at 136.5, industrials off 0.5 at 342.3, combined of 0.3 at 2737, papers off 2.3 at 506.2 and golds up 0.08 at 76.62.

Young Father Refuses Transfusions

MERIDIAN, Miss. (AP) — "I think Billy's got more faith than any of us," says the brother of a young man near death after refusing blood transfusions because of his religious beliefs.

Billy Faulkner, 22, a grocery-store clerk and a former high school athlete, may die if he doesn't get the transfusions, doctors say.

"Billy made his own decision," said his brother, Buddy, 18.

Billy, the father of three, became a Jehovah's Witness—his wife's religion—when he was married. Jehovah's Witnesses contend the Bible forbids blood transfusions.

Faulkner was admitted to a hospital a week ago with internal hemorrhaging from ulcers. Doctors said Sunday his hemoglobin count has dropped from a normal 14 to four. A transfusion would build up the count to a point where surgery could be used to halt the internal bleeding.

'HAS NO HOPE'

His parents have pleaded with him to change his mind but his wife, who converted Faulkner to her religion only prays.

"He has no hope unless he takes some blood," said the younger brother.

Relatives are tying to get a court order to require Faulkner to accept the transfusion, but according to legal opinion, such a directive cannot be issued while the patient is mentally competent.

Faulkner has signed releases to the hospital and doctors absolving them of the blame if he dies.

Appoint Ontario Man to Revive Art of Walking

GUELPH, Ont. (CP) — Philip Gosling, a Guelph real estate consultant and appraiser, has been assigned the task of introducing Canadians to the pleasures of the lost art of walking.

Gosling, 33, appointed by the Ontario Federation of Naturalists to conduct a comprehensive survey of the proposed Bruce Trail, has set himself the challenge of prying Canadians from their cars so they may learn the beauties of the outdoors by walking.

The proposed route of the trail runs between Queenston, near St. Catharines on the Niagara Peninsula, and Tobermory at the tip of the Bruce Peninsula.

The direct air mileage between Queenston and Tobermory is 12 miles but the twisting and turning of the trail makes it much longer from a walker's standpoint.

The trail, Mr. Gosling said, will be laid out and marked to encourage maximum use by all interested in the outdoors.

"We anticipate that in the early years some trail sections will be used by only a few people for the simple reasons that we Canadians have got to learn to walk again.

French Conversation at Early Age Thought Aid to Learning Tongue

By ALEXANDER FARRELL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

It's one thing to be able to conjugate a French verb. It's often quite another, to be able to order breakfast or ask for directions on a trip through the Quebec countryside.

Many graduates of English-speaking Canadian high schools out learning how to speak it.

A Cross-Canada Survey by The Canadian Press shows that attention is being centred on this problem as never before.

The ideal solution, in the opinion of many, would be to expose children to French at an early age when they can learn more simply by listening and imitating they by any conscious effort. This frequently happens on the reverse side of the problem—in Quebec, where many children exposed to English acquire this second language more easily than they would if confined to school instruction.

Dr. Wilder Penfield, the noted Montreal neuro - surgeon and long-time advocate of bilingual education in Canada, says children can easily learn two or more languages if they start between the ages of four and 10 — "preferably nearer four."

ORAL METHOD

The method Dr. Penfield recommends is the direct or oral method—learning a language without translating, or reference to any other language. It is the way a child acquires his mother-tongue.

But suppose it is not a bilingual community? Education departments in most English-speaking provinces say they do not even have an adequate supply of French-speaking teachers.

Dr. Archie MacKinnon, research director for the Toronto board of education, says no one has found the answer to the basic problem of teaching a language effectively when that language is seldom spoken in the pupil's environment.

The traditional method of teaching French in Canadian high schools has been that of formal study—learning vocabulary, grammar and syntax from textbooks and then applying this material by translating from and into French.

French is usually required for full matriculation and, if this is the main purpose in teaching it, Dr. MacKinnon says, "the teaching has been expert."

"But if we say one of the objectives is to make persons conversant or competent in speaking the language, we have failed."

EARLY IN QUEBEC

Quebec's English schools start French in Grade III, two years before the French schools start English, and in both cases the direct method is used exclusively in the first three years. Nevertheless, bilingualism is widespread only among people whose mother-tongue is French.

This situation is influenced by the fact that English is dominant in business and in all the rest of Canada -and the United States. It is a paradox that, in the heartland of French culture in North America, many doors in business and industry are closed to him who speaks only French, few to him who speaks only English.

An Ontario educationist and legislature member, Maurice Belanger of Windsor, says teachers and parents must try to impress upon pupils the value of bilingualism.

Mr. Belanger, a teacher at a bilingual primary school for 28 years, makes equal use of French and English as languages of instruction but finds that his pupils invariably speak English among themselves, although they come from French-speaking families.

He says more schools should start French in the lower grades, because "children are more interested and quicker to learn in their junior years."

The instruction should be given through the medium of oral drills and conversation. It was a mistake to start out with a formal study of grammar and literature before a pupil could speak the language.

MACHINES HELP

In some of the larger cities schools are putting the direct method into practice in language laboratories, where the student can hear French spoken on records or on tape and try to imitate it.

In Halifax, for example, the school board plans to have four laboratories in operation next fall. The labs, each with space for 20 students at a time, will be set up in two senior and two junior high schools.

There is a trend in many parts of the country toward starting French earlier and devoting the first year or two to oral instruction.

In New Brunswick, where French is the mother-tongue of 40 per cent of the school population but English is th eofficial lation but English is the official started earlier than in any other English - speaking province.

English - speaking schools in New Brunswick may start French in Grade V and must start it by Grade VII. Starting next fall, it will be permissive from Grade III and compulsory from Grade V.

D. A. Middlemiss, director of curriculum and research for the New Brunswick education department, says the present program "places emphasis on the conversational approach but, unfortunately, many teachers who are not too fluent rely on a formal study of the language. Consequently, the program has not been as effective as it might be."

Nova Scotia makes the second earliest start, in Grade VII. For several years, however, Halifax schools have been starting French in Grade V on a strictly oral basis and last year it was started in Grade IV in some cases.

Ontario's regular program calls for French to be started in Grade VIII but, since 1955, local school boards have been able to get permission to start it in primary school. Some 85 boards have done so—"a very small fraction" of the total, says G. A. Pearson, superintendent of elementary schools—and their experimental programs concentrate on oral instruction, leaving textbook work until secondary school.

Ottawa's public schools have been starting French in Grade II since 1958, using the direct method exclusively.

Prince Edward Island begins French in Grade VIII except in a few urban schools where it may start in Grade VII. The starting level was lowered from Grade IX last fall as an expe-

CHANGE IN B.C.

British Columbia will start French in Grade VIII next fall, instead of Grade X as at present. The change was recommended by a recent provincial royal commission on education.

The provincial education department says instruction will be mainly oral in Grade VIII but will remain more formal in the higher grades.

An experiment in starting oral French in Grade V has been under way for four years in 22 classes throughout B.C., particularly in the Victoria area, and will be evaluated at the end of the present school year.

At the other end of the country, in Newfoundland, French officially starts in Grade V but so severe is the shortage of qualified teachers that most schools do not start it until Grade IX. Several schools, mostly in the St. John's area, have introduced oral French in Grade VI.

In Manitoba a local school board may start oral French in Grade IV and textbook courses in Grade VII, but it is not compulsory until Grade IX. The provincial education department does not plan to introduce an earlier start but has required an emphasis on oral instruction where French is given in the lower grades and is increasing the use of language laboratories in the upper grades.

SPECIAL COURSE

Experimentally, a three-year terminal course will be launched in several parts of Manitoba next fall for high school students not intending to go to university. French, presented along conversational lines, will be one of the optional subjects available.

French normally starts in Grade IX in Saskatchewan also, but a school may introduce it in Grade V if a bilingual teacher is available.

Henry Janzen, curriculum director for the Saskatchewan education department, says local boards are encouraged to start French earlier than Grade IX "but it is a matter of obtaining qualified teachers."

Pupils were seldom taught to speak French "but this is one of our aims." As better teachers became available, more use would be made of the oral approach.

French makes it latest start in Alberta, in Grade X, but it has been introduced in Grade IV in some Edmonton, Calgary and Lethbridge schools as an experiment. The method remains largely formal and is not intended to equip the pupil for fluent conversation.

Dr. T. C. Byrne, chief superintendent of schools for Alberta, says the education department feels that "all that is required, indeed all that is possible, is that the student have a basis on which to build if he is ever thrown into a French-speaking community."

East German Paper Seems Optimistic

BERLIN (Reuters) — Neues Deutschland, East Germany's main Communist newspaper, says the latest reported U.S. ideas on international control of access to West Berlin constitute an "approach to reality."

The comment appears in its front page story on the reported differences between the U.S. and Western Germany over a West German "leak" of a U.S. working-paper on Berlin. The paper will form the basis of new Soviet-American exploratory talks on the Berlin and German problems.

The paper mentions the possibility of forming an international authority, in which East Germany would be represented, to control access routes between West Berlin and West Germany.

Neues Deutschland, quoting Western news agencies for this proposal, comments: "This approach to reality has caused an obvious outbreak of rage in Bonn."

Previously East Germany has demanded complete control over West Berlin's access routes and has rejected international control.

Your Individual Horoscope

By Frances Drake

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

For Wednesday, April 18, 1962

MARCH 21 to APRIL 20 (Aries) — Solicit ideas. Energize them to full capacity. Terminate any thoughts of retreat or excuse-delays. Pacify disgruntled associates who could throw a crimp into adequate performance.

APRIL 21 to MAY 21 (Taurus) — Some limitations, especially along new-venture lines. Cooperation with right fellowmen important. Observe trends: Do your share trying to mold opinion toward peace with honor.

MAY 22 to JUNE 21 (Gemini) — Mercury's aspect in semi-neutral position. Don't speak without sufficient deliberation. An unique period for proper and pepped up handling of novel as well as routine items.

JUNE 22 to JULY 23 (Cancer) — Travel broadens, educated. If time permits, fine! If not, supplement of selective reading, discussion groups, joining civic interests. Coordinate efforts for mutual good of all.

JULY 24 to AUGUST 23 (Leo) — Sun between an extra auspicious aspect and less favorable one. You bridge your gaps with sterling effort. Augment by introducing helpful extras of interest, knowledge.

AUGUST 24 to SEPTEMBER 23 (Virgo) — Time is precious, tendency is to squander it. At last moment we hope to pick up the incomplete pieces and weld into a marketable composite! But the success way is not to delay at beginning.

SEPTEMBER 24 to OCTOBER 23 (Libra) — Likely one of those nondescript days. You are expected to do something definite to offset dullness. Constructive approach primary. Walk before running, into plan or action.

OCTOBER 24 to NOVEMBER 22 (Scorpio) — Not overly stimulating aspects. Note all hints, conditions, angles, steps proposed. Examine closely setup you Are using. After respect for fair play comes attractiveness of the issue.

NOVEMBER 23 to DECEMBER 21 (Sagittarius) — Galvanize attention on business and personal matters needing processing. Compensate for delays, employ sharper plan, rapid execution of primary phases, eliminate waste motion.

DECEMBER 22 to JANUARY 20 (Capricorn) — Saturn's configuration urges neutralizing problems. Recognize that we all are faced with obstacles in degrees: sensible attitude, faith, a smile pave the strong, attainable roads.

JANUARY 21 to FEBRUARY 19 (Aquarius) — A thoughtless word, a careless action! Remove these irritants from your presence. They can offset, nullify worthy efforts you are making; could even send you in wrong direction.

FEBRUARY 20 to MARCH 20 (Pisces) — Your special Neptune auspicious toward personal affairs, improving occupational interests, odd benefits. Due restraint, economy of expenditures and energies are order for day.

YOU BORN TODAY are under Aries, the Pioneer. Basically a creative nature with overtones of down - to - eath exploratory and solid-enterprise tendencies. Action your spice in life; diversified interests hold your attention. Your problem is not to have too many of them operational at same time. The old saying, "a house divided against itself, etc." applies also to energies you distribute excessively. Maintain a governor on speculation, then can you be the dynamo that carves a responsible niche for himself (herself) in far-reaching fields. Others admire you, your accomplishments. As leader, you assume duties courageously (don't hurry over those details!), and your astute thinking sends profits high. Birthdate of: Augustus, Roman Emperor; many renowned statesmen, psychologists, organizers.

Charges Laid in Car Accident at Castlegar Ferry

CASTLEGAR (Staff) —A Grand Forks man will be charged for driving without due care and attention resulting in an accident at the Castlegar ferry slip Saturday morning.

Edward Podovinokoff was driving off the Castlegar ferry at what RCMP described at a high rate of speed when his vehicle struck a parked car belonging to Mike Nazaroff in the ferry lane in the Robson side.

There were no injuries.

Police estimated total damage to both vehicles at about $500.
