Three MLAs Air Kootenay Needs in Legislature

ROYAL LOVERS—The Netherlands' Princess Irene, 24, and fiance, 33-year-old Prince Carlos de Bourbon Parma of Spain wave to well-wishers as they stroll in Soestdijk Palace Gardens in Soesterberg. (Radiophoto)

Dutch Parliament In Hot Debate

THE HAGUE (Reuters) — Parliament angrily debated Holland's royal romance Tuesday night as an announcement said Princess Irene and Prince Carlos of Bourbon-Parma will be married in The Netherlands.

Premier Victor Marijnen made the announcement, adding it applied to both the civil and church ceremonies for the 24-year-old Dutch princess and her 33-year-old Spanish fiance.

The wedding date has not been set but late April or early May have been mentioned.

Irene and Carlos went for a walk in drizzling rain in The Hague during the day as the storm of criticism over their engagement broke in Parliament.

During the televised session the premier declared the policies of his government are "constantly directed toward safeguarding the interests of the constitutional monarchy in this country."

"We in The Netherlands," Marijnen went on, "favor the free choice for every citizen and every scion of the royal house in deciding matters of religion and life partner."

He denied emphatically that Irene's father, Prince Bernhard, had followed her in becoming a Roman Catholic, that he had negotiated with Spanish chief-of-state Francisco Franco on the succession to the Spanish throne or that Irene and Carlos already were secretly married.

Dental Mechanics Seek Protection From Dentists

VICTORIA (CP) — Dental mechanics want the B.C. government to give them more protection from the dentists.

The Public Dentures Society of B.C. issued a statment Monday charging dentists are still trying to prevent them from dealing with the public.

The society said it intends to seek a private act of the legislature setting out its rights.

The statement followed a meeting here Monday of 50 dental mechanics.

Dental mechanics make teeth. The Dental Technicians Act allows them to deal directly with the public to replace dentures or to make new dentures if they obtain a certificate from a dentist.

The mechanics said that dentists are charging exorbitant rates for these certificates.

They said the B.C. Dental Council has been taking disciplinary action against members who co-operate with mechanics.

"This is certainly unfair and is preventing denturists (mechanics) from carrying out the services for which they were licensed," the mechanics' statement said.

'Copters Were Hawks in Chickens' Eyes

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP)—The inability of chickens to distinguish between hawks and helicopters cost the U.S. government $80,000 last year for unlaid eggs.

During last summer's U.S. Army-Air Force manoeuvres, several South Carolina poultry farmers noticed that egg production dropped sharply.

Dr. Douglas Hamm, head of the poultry science division at Clemson College, said the chickens had mistaken helicopters, which frequently appeared overhead, for their mortal enemies, the chicken hawk. They simply broke up emotionally at the sight of a helicopter.

South Carolina farmers collected $80,000 in poultry claims most of which was for lost egg production.

Diefenbaker Sees Danger Of Inflation

OTTAWA (CP) — The old political feud over price stability and credit conditions is likely to flare up anew at the session of parliament opening Tuesday.

Opposition Leader Diefenbaker already has fired the opening shot by pointing to the sharp increase in the money supply over the last year and warning that Canada is in danger of "galloping inflation."

Finance Minister Gordon has stoutly defended the monetary expansion as being "in tune with the needs of our expanding economy."

Though it is a complex argument, the monetary course followed by any government can be a telling issue on the hustings.

The best illustration of this was the 1958 federal election campaign when Mr. Diefenbaker then prime minister, blamed a current economic recession on "tight money" policies inherited from the previous Liberal administration.

Enter James E. Coyne, then governor of the Bank of Canada.

Shortly before election day, March 31, Mr. Coyne said in his annual report the economic weakness had only become apparent in the second half of 1957 — after the Conservatives took over.

Canada had not had a tight-money policy, Mr. Coyne said. It was a "sound money" policy, allowing some expansion in the money supply but not allowing it to get out of hand.

SEVEN CLIMBERS SAFE AFTER 48-HOUR WAIT

VANCOUVER (CP) — Seven climbers walked safely down from the Lions mountain peaks Tuesday after being stranded there for 48 hours.

The climbers had intended to return Sunday night but were forced to seek shelter when caught in a white-out, a sort of mist which merges with snow to reduce visibility to nil.

But Jim Sinclair, 30, the leader, and climbers Tony Cousins, 26, Wade Chernencoff, 21, Duncan White, 17, Randy Hay, 15. Bob Laird, 17, and Drew Tait, 17 were making their way down the mountain when a rescue party came upon them.

Sinclair said the younger climbers, all students, performed excellently in the emergency and there was no danger at any time. The only problem was that the party which began the climb early Saturday, ran out of fuel during their enforced stay on the mountainside and had to eat cold meals.

They built three igloos to provide shelter Saturday night and Sunday.

Canning Firm Fined $1800

VANCOUVER (CP) — A Vancouver canning firm Tuesday was fined a total of $1,800 after pleading guilty to eight charges of selling canned goods which were contaminated, underweight and improperly labelled.

Magistrate Ralph Reid imposed the fines on Famous Foods Limited.

The company admitted selling tins of food which had contained dead insects and other foreign matter and selling tins of less weight than shown on the labels.

Minister Defends Welfare Policies

VICTORIA (CP) — Welfare Minister Wesley Black hit back at critics of British Columbia's welfare program Tuesday, accusing them of trying to generalize on the basis of single cases.

"I too, could recite single cases to you," he told the legislature. "But any single case that I, or anyone else, may cite doesn't necessarily prove anything."

Citing an example of one person stealing or cheating with respect to social assistance "does not prove that all people on social assistance are stealing or cheating — or the majority."

Mr. Black termed "completely false" statements "implying that the social welfare department is disintegrating; that there is no leadership; that the administration does not understand what it is attempting to do; that the social workers are untrained, unskilled and confused . . ."

He said the opposition has said the welfare department has no rehabilitation program. On the contrary, "B.C. was the first to get into this type of thinking."

"We have been accused of doing no research, whereas research is, in the main, our guide to changing policies," he said. "Without it, we would not possess one of the most efficient and generous welfare services in Canada."

During the speech the minister announced legislation will be introduced at the current session to reduce to six months from a year the time a couple must wait after taking custody of a child before they can apply to adopt the child.

He also announced that the starting salary for provincial social workers with bachelor of social work degrees will be boosted $38 a month April 1.

HIGHEST IN CANADA

The new salary of $423 a month would be "the highest in Canada."

Mr. Black said many of B.C.'s social welfare problems have been produced by the province's rapid growth.

"The building of bridges, roads and industrial plants . . . created a large floating population," he said. "Husbands looking for work became stranded far from families, and the weakened family ties created family breakups."

The department was aware of the problems "and we are doing something about it."

"However, we cannot take the expedient way out."

Mr. Black said figures have been cited by the opposition in an effort to show the numbers of provincial social workers are declining "while, in actual fact, the reverse was true."

He produced figures to show an increase of 128—to 407 from 284—in the department's staff since 1960-61.

The minister said that while he had been "only a poor, ignorant school-teacher," he had decided to conduct his own investigation into welfare problems.

"I have visited various conventions and read as much current literature as possible to come up to date with this knotty problem."

At one point in the minister's 90-minute speech his Social Credit colleagues in the legislature chamber numbered only 12 and opposition ranks had dipped to 13.

Leo Nimisck (NDP — Cranbrook) told the house the best possible location for a new provincial museum would be government house.

Admitting it wasn't the first time he had made the suggestion, Mr. Nimsick said it was impossible to tell from the government's expenditure estimates how much the lieutenant-governor's official residence costs to operate but it probably was costly.

"Is this NDP policy," shouted a government backbencher.

"No — it's my own idea," the NDP member replied.

Sailors Warned Against Illegal Strike

MONTREAL (CP)—About 14,000 Canadian sailors are being advised to avoid going on strike unless the board of maritime trustees say they have legal grounds to do so. The advice is contained in the first bulletin being sent by the board, to members of five maritime unions placed under control of the trustees.

Decision to issue the bulletin was made following recent meetings during which the Canadian Labor Congress urged the government - appointed trustees to place their point of view before the sailors in a forceful manner.

The bulletin emphasized that the trustees will "not deprive anyone of employment" and that its main aim is to "return a listing ship to even beam."

The trustees were appointed last October as recommended by Mr. Justice T. G. Norris' federal inquiry report on Great Lakes labor violence.

"The trustees are not political appointees," the bulletin says. It described Charles Millard, one of the trustees, as "one of the most militant labor leaders Canada has known." The bulletin said Judge Rene Lippe of Montreal, another trustee, "is well known to most of us for his work on the Montreal and Quebec City docks last fall" during the International Longshoremen's Association strike.

Say Ethiopia Violated Cease-Fire

CP from Reuters-AP

MOGADISHU, Somalia — Somali government sources charged Tuesday that Ethiopia has violated a cease-fire arrangement at a village on the Ethiopian border which has recently been the scene of fierce fighting between troops of the two countries.

The Somali government earlier in the day had ordered an immediate cease-fire at the village of Tug Wajeleh, straddling the Ethiopia-Somalia border.

Ethiopian military planes were reported here to have bombed and strafed the villages of Abdulkadir, Ina Guha and Badagorialeh. And Ethiopian troops were reported to have opened fire Tuesday afternoon on Ina Guha and Badagorialeh, where fighting continued.

Nimsick Asks Projects Fund For Jobless

VICTORIA (CP) — The provincial government should set up a special projects fund of $7,000,000 to get unemployed per*sons off* the welfare rolls, the legislature was told Tuesday.

Leo Nimsick (NDP — Cranbrook) said social welfare should look after those who can't look after themselves and jobs should be given those who can work.

In the United States, he said, one person in five have been bypassed by prosperity, did not have enough to eat and had little preventive medical care.

There was a similar situation in Canada and the provincial budget held nothing "to meet this challenge."

Mr. Nimsick suggested manual labor as the principal pursuit in the special projects, which could involve landscaping highways, developig parks and building access roads.

He wondered how members of the legislature would live on current welfare payments. A woman with one child received only $103 a month, yet needed $400 a month for subsistence.

But money wasn't the whole answer. The government was dealing with the effect rather than the cause and there was nothing in the budget to meet the challenge.

RESIGNS FROM WELFARE JOB

VICTORIA (CP) — A young university graduate is resigning from the Social Welfare Department because his job in northern B.C. "demands the impossible."

In a letter to Premier Bennett Tuesday, W. G. Du Temple of Fort St. John, says alcohol, prostitution and teenage promiscuity are reaching dangerous proportions in the north.

Mr. Du Temple's letter was released by opposition leader Robert Strachan, who got a copy.

The 23-year-old UBC graduate says he is responsible for welfare work in seven communities covering 1,100 miles of highway and every Indian reserve in the area.

He had no special training for welfare work.

"Such a responsibility demands the impossible," he says.

He joined the welfare department last April after getting an arts degree at UBC. He is quitting June 12.

Nelson-Creston Highway Deficiencies Stressed

Black Sees Industries for District With Columbia Power

VICTORIA (CP)—It was "Kootenays Day" in the legislature Tuesday afternoon — the first three speakers were all from the Kootenays area.

The budget debate was resumed by Welfare Minister Black, who began by asking Recreation Minister Kiernan to provide more parks and camping grounds "for the growing number of tourists in the Kootenays."

Mr. Black, member for Nelson-Creston, next complimented the highways department for such recent improvements to Highway 3 as the Kinnaird-Christina Lake route of the Salmo-Creston link.

"For these improvements we are indeed grateful," he said. "But near the western end of my constituency we have a section commonly referred to as the Brilliant Bluffs which is both narrow and winding."

Work also was needed on the road alongside Kootenay Lake and a start should soon be made on a connecting link between Nelson and Revelstoke.

Mr. Black predicted completion of the Columbia River power development will permit the Kootenays to become "the greatest area in the economic factor of our province."

"With plenty of low-cost power close at hand the Kootenays will attract industries of all kinds."

W. D. BLACK

Nimsick – Conservation

Next to speak was Leo Nimsick (NDP-Cranbrook). He joined Mr. Black in commending the conservation department for its announced plans for creating a 14,000-acre wildlife reserve in the Duck Lake area.

However, he felt conservation Minister Kiernan should follow up the announcement with an amendment to the law that permits hunting up to an hour before sunrise and after sunset. The rule was "of no value in mountain country."

He suggested visibility as the best criterion. Once it was too dark to see, no one should be allowed to shoot.

"How about moonlight?" inquired Mr. Kiernan.

"There's not enough visibility," Mr. Nimsick replied.

"Some people seem to think there is," returned the minister. The NDP member also asked Highways Minister Gaglardi to curb the "rapid change" of department engineers in the Cranbrook area. "They come in there, just get used to the area, and then they have to move on to some other place."

"Are you against promotions?" asked Mr. Gaglardi.

"I don't think they were all promotions."

Mr. Nimsick said the Salmo-Creston cutoff will be a "wonderful boon to the whole Kootenay area." But it should have been opened years ago.

He said the cost of the road will soon be made up from taxes paid by tourists who will no longer have to drive through the United States to reach the B.C. coast on good roads.

He called for an early start on a highway through Rose Pass; Nelson had been bypassed by the Salmo-Creston link and the new road would provide the needed compensation.

L. T. NIMSICK

Brothers – Sheep Lake Sanctuary

Donald Brothers (SC-Rossland Trail) suggested the conservation department send experts to the Sheep Lake area to set up a new wildlife sanctuary.

He also hoped Mr. Kiernan would follow through on a commitment by his predecessor as Recreation Minister, Earle Westwood ,to build a park for Beaver Creek on land given the government.

Appealing for more vigilance against water pollution, Mr. Brothers said there is danger Christina La', will soon be polluted to the point where its water will be unfit for human consumption.

Mr. Brothers suggested a new motto to the B.C. government—

"Keep B.C. Clean."

Donald Brothers (SC-Rossland Trail), who noted highways carry the motto, "Keep B.C. Green" said some parts of the province have become "one large garbage dump."

Rural residents without refuse services were dumping their garbage on the roadside.

The Columbia River banks were littered with old car bodies and garbage of every sort. The river had been clean as it flowed past Trail but it was becoming polluted and rocks along it were slimy.

The pollution control board in the East Kootenays "agrees with me that it's bad," Mr. Brothers said.

Some communities felt they had the "right and privilege" to put raw sewage into the Kootenay River. Mr. Brothers was sure all the communities would co-operate if the government agreed to assume some of the cost.

A pilot had been fined and charged last year after his plane sprayed Shuswap Lake, killing thousands of fish. "But there are no regulations governing this spraying."

Car Rally Run Toughest Yet

VANCOUVER (CP) — Jim Gunn of Toronto, organizer of the 4000-mile cross-Canada car rally, said Tuesday the Vancouver - to - Montreal run will be tougher than ever this year, but the rewards will be greater.

"We think we've found a more difficult route this year," he said at a press conference called to disclose details of the April 18-24 event.

"The one-hour repair time previously allowed at each overnight stop has been cut to 15 minutes. Instead of factory crews being permitted to work on the cars, only the driver and navigator may make repairs."

This year, the price has changed 13 times— eight decreases and five increases.

And in This Corner . . .

VANCOUVER (CP)—Conductor Meredith Davies lowered his baton in acknowledgment of defeat Sunday.

His musicians, after a valiant attempt to play Sibelius, sat throbbing as the beat of rock 'n' roll pulsated through the floor.

Vancouver Symphony manager Victor White, with 2000 patrons waiting, raced to the basement of the Queen Elizabeth Theatre to plead for quiet.

"You mean," said a member of Bobby Curtola's swingin' 11-man group, "that there are 80 guys playing up there and you can still hear us?"

Silence won, the symphony continued its concert.

Curtola, though denied full time for a rehearsal, moved on stage six hours later — to the delight of 2000 somewhat-younger patrons — and gave a concert of his own.

Harts Named Chairman of Advisory Group

J. S. M. Harts was elected chairman of the Nelson Advisory Planning Commission, Tuesday night.

Mr. Harts succeeds R. H. Procter, who said his duties as president of the British Columbia Hospitals Association would make it difficult for him to carry on as chairman.

G. A. Butling, city planner, gave the meeting an outline of city plans for the future.

He reported that when the snow is gone the city will proceed with removal of meters at major downtown intersections to provide more room for vehicles making right-hand turns. Such turns are allowed on the red light although cars must first stop and yield to pedestrians.

CAT-NAPPERS

As a nippy requiem night settled on the campus, a low, smooth-lined car drove quietly, stealthily, yet quickly away from LaSalette hall, mission accomplished. Cargo — Aphrodite, a tawny Siamese kitten.

In the meantime, the loss was discovered and a thorough check of rooms began, but to no avail. Aphrodite had been 'cat-napped.'

Days passed and three notes of ransom were received by her curious and anxious mistresses. Suggested ransom, a date? Not accepted .Three replies brought still no solution. But little did the concerned mistresses know that even the 'catnapers' were anxious and curious as to the whereabouts of the precious Aphrodite. For truly she had been "catnapped" from the "catnapers."

Then in the still of the dark shrouded night at NDU, Aphrodite returned—although not so quietly nor mysteriously. And still the Aphrodites roam — somewhere, unrecognized and unannounced.

Albertans' genius once again exemplified itself Friday when Prairie and mountain folk donned fringed chemises and racoon coats in flapper style. The Gents Band provided music for the evening of Alberta club's Roaring '20s with dancing beneath entwined blue and white streamers in St. Martin's Hall.

In a secluded room, meanwhile, plans, ideas are being mulled over as the annual staff finalizes layouts and theme for the '64 Pillars. Arrangements have already been made by the affiliated Annual Club and Camera Club to complete the photographing of individuals this week, beginning with the seniors Monday, and following through to the freshmen Wednesday and Thursday.

Activity at Notre Dame is at its peak in all departments. In junior hockey the Knights, practising weekly to keep in shape for March's invasion of Victoria, polished off Montana State University 5-4. At the same time, the intramural teams are heading into the playoffs.

The Mardi Gras dance has three candidates for queen: Loyola Bunz, Pat Leinweber and Carol Crookshank. One of these three pretty girls will be awarded the crown at the dance on Friday night. It will be a semi-formal at the Civic Centre.

Our basketball team has smashed its way almost to the finals with the win over Bon Ton in the first game of the semi-finals. The campus is entirely behind the team and wish all the luck to these boys.

In the entertainment field the Endyn Radio has provided a fine combination of good music, interesting news and expert commentating on school affairs. This closed circuit campus radio, we hope in the future, will become a permanent part of the NDU scene.

The school newspaper will be out this Saturday at last. Once established, we hope to have it published every two weeks. Student support will determine whether or not the Voces Nostrae will survive this rocky beginning. Ideas are still badly needed, but these will come in time.

Commemoration Services Held By Doukhobors

He was also responsible for the compiling of the Doukhobor Declaration, a code of ethics for all who wish to live within the Doukhobor faith.

Following the services at the tomb, the people trekked down to the Brilliant hall where the program concluded with speeches and singing of hymns.

Water Pageant Group Bids For Russ Hydrofoil Boat for Display

A Russian hydrofoil boat, a $30,000 craft, may visit Nelson in July.

Word that a hydrofoil boat was being shipped to the Canadian National Exhibition at Toronto via Vancouver and that attempts would be made to have a stopover at Nelson has been received by the Water Pageant International committee.

The committee had written to the Russian embassy suggesting the boat displayed in the east be sent here. A letter of reply said that the boat had been sold but that a second boat was coming to Canada.

A boat show is to be held at the pageant and in Vancouver this week seeking to interest boat dealers in the show is Walter Davis, committee secretary. He is attending the Rotary Boat Show there.

A retired chemical engineer and shipbuilder, Mr. Davis is devoting full time to plans for the pageant.

In an effort to gain interest and support throughout the community pageant committee members are addressing various Nelson organizations.

ONE OF LARGEST

R. E. Sawyer told the Kiwanis Club the committee was confident the pageant would be one of Nelson's largest water shows, and that it was expected to become a traditional event. Kiwanis Club once sponsored an annual regatta, which for two consecutive years saw Lakeside Park lawns and beach packed with spectators.

The pageant is being held in conjunction with the Midsummer Bonspiel and square dancing events in early July. In this connection, Mr. Sawyer said, it was hoped to organize a parade to the park and to arrange for lighting displays alon gthe route which would make it obvious to anyone that a water show was on.

The boat show would be held all week and from many letters sent to boat manufacturers, had come encouraging responses.

Among special acts planned was a helicopter rescue demonstration.

"SAIL PAST"

For a flag pageant in which there would be a "sail past" of flags, the Beta Sigma Phi sorority was preparing 25 flags.

A small regatta will be held, with at least one boat race, and there will be demonstrations of water skiing and jumping. To encourage people visiting the park prior to the event, it was hoped to stage a Doukhobor supper.

In the city, it was hoped to have a street museum formed of displays in store windows. These would include a great variety of displays.

To encourage participation in the pageant by other communities, a float was to be built to send to other communities such as Creston, home of the annual Blossom Festival.

Souvenirs and novelties will be made available and these were to be produced by the Kootenay School of Art. The art students were also building a dugout canoe for the program.

Lakeside Park is to be decorated under chairmanship of Ernest Marza, a Kiwanis member. It is hoped to obtain hundreds of lights owned by the city to be placed on trees in the park.

A fireworks finale will feature a fiery waterfall 500 feet long to be run off the Nelson Bridge and at the same time boats bearing about 45 torches will perform a serpentine parade.

Negotiations are under way to have a high diver brought from Toronto to perform from the bridge, a kite flier, an aquacar, an amphibious vehicle, and balloons.

A brochure being printed to publicize the event will promote the entire Kootenay area as well as Nelson.

The floating stage and band shell will float on 12 logs which will be 50 feet long and two feet in diameter. Wieghing nine tons, it will carry 40 persons at one time. It will be made available to other groups interested in staging band concerts and so on, for the shell would be built with proper acoustics.

Reeve Says Salvation Army Aiding and Abetting 'Sons'

AGASSIZ (CP)—Reeve James Fraser of Kent municipality has charged that the Salvation Army is "aiding and abetting" Sons of Freedom Doukhobors in camping outside Mountain Prison here.

He criticized the Army when it asked council of Kent, which includes this community, for a $200 donation toward its B. C. institutional work.

Reeve Fraser said he does not believe in keeping the Sons, who arrived here from Vancouver last summer after trekking from the Kootenay, "out there like a Gaza strip."

He said it is not good thing for Freedomites to be living under the conditions prevailing in the camp near the special prison built for convicted members of their sect.

Major Thomas Powell of Chilliwack, the Salvation Army's officer in charge of the area, said B.C. government vouchers worth $11,000 have been distributed to the Sons since last September

"My own personal view, and the Army's too, is that we are trying to meet a need. As an organization, the political aspects are not our concern."

Three Art Films To Be Shown

Kootenay Arts and Crafts Club will deviate from their Wednesday night hobbies of painting or making ceramics to see three color films. The club meets in the Civic Centre Blue Room. Non-members are invited to attend.

"An Adventure in Casein Painting" has two prominent artists demonstrating the versatility of casein, a new medium that permits painting in various techniques, of transparent water color, gouache, tempera and oil painting style.

The second film, "Water Color Landscape" by Rex Brandt, A.N.A., is a beautiful film with a brilliant musical background. It depicts a thunderous seascape and magnificent treatment of two California landscapes. Water color technique is masterfully demonstrated and fully explained in the realization and development of three paintings from start to finish.

Also on the versatile and stimulating program is a short film, "Beauty To Live With." Art classes in both the Junior and Senior High Schools and in the Kootenay School of Art at the Vocational School will also have the opportunity of seeing the film.

Who, Who? They Know Who

Two thieves are behind bars for stealing chickens at Robson.

One was caught at the H. R. Hardington home after killing 10 or 12 chickens; the other had killed most of the bantams at Allan Woodrow's zoo.

The thieves were owls now members of the zoo.

At the zoo, one owl would perch in a high tower all day without moving. At night it would swoop into a tall evergreen tree the chickens used at night, and devour his evening meal.

Mr. Woodrow finally caught it with a trap, and placed it, unharmed, in his zoo.

NEXT? Chess champion of Nelson district, Louis Dauda looks over chess board as he awaits his next tournament. He is the first winner of the Nelson and District Chess Trophy, at left. Mr. Dauda played a little chess in Hungary but took it up seriously here three years ago and plays in the regular Nelson club sessions at the Civic Centre. At left is a special chess clock, by which chess players must complete their moves within a set time. The Nelson club is seeking matches with other communities.

Power Surge Keeps Phone Crews Busy

SOUTH SLOCAN — B.C. Telephone Company crews are working overtime on breakages in the telephone lines in the South Slocan area, caused by a surge of power, resulting from breakdown in two stations of the West Kootenay Power and Light Company a few days ago.

The surge of power passed through the ground wire of the telephone lines and up the cable, bursting the cable and insulation to short the wire in many places. Cable splicers and repairmen are on the job continuously.

It is "rather tedious" work, said a company spokesman in Nelson Tuesday.

It is expected that service will be back to normal in two or three more days, but crews will not be finished with their work on the cables.

Telephone subscribers in the South Slocan townsite, business establishments, city power plant, Dominion construction office and industrial locations in Bonnington have been affected.

Company engineers will have the problem of trying to find a way to prevent a recurrence of such a mishap, when all the difficulties are finally unravelled.

Man Rescued From Well Cave-in

CRANBROOK — A 30-year-old man was rescued Tuesday night 4½ hours after he had been buried up to his nose in a caved-in well.

Elhard Bjorkman is reported suffering from shock in Windermere District Hospital after being pulled from the well at Canal Flats, 60 miles north of here.

His brother jumped in the well and managed to clear the sand from Bjorkman's face before calling for help.

Rescuers, including a mine rescue team from Consolidated Mining and Smelting operations at Kimberley, dug down as far as they could then had to stop for fear of starting another cave-in.

Bjorkman then dug himself out. Rubble had filled the bottom six feet of the 20-foot well.

Dr. John Martin of Invermere was called to Canal Flats to provide medical aid for Bjorkman.

Bjorkman was repairing the well, which supplies water to nearby homes.

Bennett Tells "Untruths" Says Nimsick

VICTORIA (CP) — Leo Nimsick (NDP — Cranbrook) suggested to the legislature Tuesday that Premier Bennett told "untruths" about the planned Bank of British Columbia.

Mr. Bennett had told reporters he had asked chartered banks to locate their head offices in B.C. and that they had refused, Mr. Nimsick said.

Yet the bankers had denied the premier had approached them on the matter.

When Mr. Bennett speaks, he said, "even if it isn't the truth, it sounds like the truth."

But Mr. Bennett had not denied the bankers' rebuttal and "so many times he has told untruths."

The Premier had said there would be no election last year and there was one.

Speaker William Murray asked the NDP member to withdraw his statements on untruths.

"What will you call it?" Mr. Nimsick asked.

"Fiction," suggested another NDP backbencher.

"Fiction is right," agreed Mr. Nimsick.

He said the government has "deceived" the public many times — "especially at election time."

He spoke during the budget debate.

4-H Clubs Plan For Busy March

CRANBROOK — Wycliffe 4-H Beef and Homemaker Clubs are preparing for a major event March 14 at one of the Cranbrook schools, when a day-long workshop has been arranged for leaders and assistant leaders in district 4-H Clubs. S. V. Peterson, B.C. supervisor for 4-H Clubs, Miss Carol Groves, 4-H home economist, and John Skelton, assistant manager of the Pacific National Exhibition, will be discussion leaders.

The evening of March 14 will be the date of the annual 4-H East Kootenay public speaking competition. Each of the five clubs, South Country Calf Club and Homemakers Club, Lister 4-H Club, and Wycliffe Beef and Homemakers Clubs will enter three speakers in the senior and junior competition for the two trophies put up by the Bank of Montreal. Senior range of subjects is in the international field with a rural or agricultural subject, while junior range is wider on a local subject. Senior trophy was won by Dorothy Kilgren, Lister, and junior trophy by Terry Shubert, Cranbrook, last year.

At the recent Wycliffe 4-H Clubs meeting the Homemakers had as their guest speaker Mrs. Alfred Clark of the Sew and Sew Shop demonstrating how to put in zippers. The Beef Club dealt with calf-feeding problems. This club membership is raising 21 calves this year in the program leading to the June Achievement Day for judging and auction of calves.

POOR STANDARDS

CALGARY (CP) — Substandard coffee shops in service stations are giving a bad name to the restaurant industry, Svene Ericksen of Lethbridge, a past president of the Canadian Restaurant Association, said Monday. He said it was impossible to enforce good standards in Alberta service stations because operators need no special qualifications to obtain a licence.

Tom Uphill Memorial On CBC Radio Program

FERNIE — A one-hour radio documentary about Tom Uphill, "Labor Member from Fernie," was heard on "CBC Saturday Evening."

It commemorates the second anniversary of the MLA's death and follows just a few weeks after the death of Mrs. Uphill. Tom Uphill, referred to in the publicity release on the radio program as "British Columbia's most remarkable political institution," died Feb. 17, 1962, in his 88th year. He served as Labor member for Fernie Constituency continuously from 1920 to 1960, when he retired undefeated.

Included in the CBC program, which was heard throughout B.C. on the Pacific Network, were reminiscences of 36 friends, relatives and associates. They ranged from Dick Beard and Sarah Uphill, who knew him in Wales before the turn of the century, to Premier Bennett, leader of the Opposition Robert Strachan, Uphill's Liberal successor in Fernie, Harry McKay, and Communist leader Nigel Morgan.

Also heard were six ministers in the present Social Credit government, as well as NDP MP H. W. Herridge and Harold Winch, NDP and Social Credit MLA's, members of the family and others.

They recall with affection, humour and insight, probably the most astute politician B.C. has ever known, one of the most colorful and dedicated of men, who served the working and farming people of B.C. whatever their politics or constituency, for two generations.

"Labor member from Fernie" was prepared by Laurence Nowrry from material gathered while travelling from the province's eastern to western extremities — from Victoria to the Crow's Nest Pass — and was produced in the CBC's Vancouver studios.

TUMBO HELD

DAR ES SALAAM, Tanganyika (Reuters) — Christopher Tumbo, a former Tanganyikan high commissioner to Britain, was being held in custody under the Preventive Detention Act, it was announced Monday. Tumbo, who was a Tanganyikan railroad union leader, was named high commissioner to London in March, 1962, but resigned the following August.

Coal Company Crew Sets Safety Record

NATAL — A Crow's Nest Pass Coal Company crew at Michel Colliery's A-North Mine has set a safety record by working all of last year, a total of 18,600 man hours, without an accident.

The nine-man crew, supervised by fireboss Ken Kniert, consists of M. Vercillio, Roy Smith, Kniert, Fred Hamilton, Willi Brown, Ken Galla and Paul P part.

In conventional mining, a cre at A West Mine worked 153 co secutive days, a total of 75,0 man hours, without a disabli injury.

Safety superintendent P Kusnir commented these are two outstanding accomplishments in safety, reflecting the miners' efforts to prevent accidents. The 1963 frequency of 1.13 accidents per 1,000 shifts worked is the lowest on record.

Natal Commission Takes Second Look at School Board's Budget

NATAL — A "go slow" policy was adopted by Natal village commission when it was presented with details of the annual budget of School District No. 1 (Fernie) at the last regular meeting.

Both chairman Ungaro and and commissioner Cimolini had attended the budget meeting of the school board as observers. Acting on commissioner Cimolini's suggestion, each commissioner will have the opportunity to study the budget and if necessary, Natal-Michel trustess will be called upon to explain details.

It was felt that so long as councils continue to accept yearly increases of the school budget without question, they will continue to increase.

Chairman Ungaro felt the mill rate of the village will have to be set at a much larger figure than at present in order to meet the demands and agreed that council should ask for a thorough explanation. Total expenditures for the coming year were listed at $43,870 in the village's own budget estimates passed by council. Estimated revenues amount to $45,790, leaving an expected surplus of $1,920.

The largest factor in the provisional budget is school levy, estimated at $14,300, a figure which is subject to change following final revision of the school district budget. General government is expected to cost $9,220, with public works, street lighting, garbage collection and protection to persons and property each requiring fairly large expenditures.

ANTICIPATE $3000 SURPLUS

The recently acquired Natal waterworks system showed a profit of $2,800 in 1963, according to figures in the provisional waterworks budget. The commission expects total revenue from the utility this year including the 1963 surplus, to be well over $9,000 and anticipates a surplus of over $3,000.

Natal village commission, obviously disappointed at the outcome of the water bylaw plebiscite which was turned down by property owners in a heavy vote Jan. 20, turned its attention to alternative means of supplying a plentiful supply of good water for the village. Following the official report to council by village clerk Loretta Montemurro of the vote results, chairman Ungaro told council it must make other arrangements to bring the water supply up to standard.

The commission's proposal to spend approximately $49,000 of borrowed funds to renovate the water system was rejected by 57 per cent of the voters. Underwood and McLellan, the firm of consulting engineers which had advised council on the proposed new system, will again be called in to advise on alternative measures.

Amount of water required daily by the village was estimated by council to be roughly about 50,000 gallons. According to information given council, effective chlorination can be attained only if the chlorine is present in the water for 20 minutes prior to use. This will probably mean installation of a large capacity storage tank.

The commission also considered an offer by Bud Henning, owner of a drilling company, to present council with a plan for provision of a satisfactory water supply. Both Mr. Henning and a representative of the engineering firm will be invited to a special meeting to discuss the matter. With defeat of the plebiscite, expenditures on the system must be limited to the amount already borrowed by the village in an earlier plebiscite plus any further borrowings which may be made within the village's authorized borrowing power.

Persistent rumors of impending highway changes are causing concern to the village council which foresees drastic reductions in tax monies and government grants in the event relocation of homes is forced by highway construction.

It was the general feeling of the commissioners that if a new three or four-lane highway is built to the west of the village, a large number of homes will have to be moved, with strong possibility the owners will build elsewhere than in Natal. The highways department will be asked to indicate what changes are contemplated, and when.

35 Attend CD Study Course in Kimberley

KIMBERLEY — Health problems that would result from a hypothetical influx of 5000 refugees, directed here from Calgary, formed the basis of a Civil Defence study held in Kimberley recently.

Taking part were CD coordinators E. Wilson, Fernie; G. Federuk, Natal; T. E. Gautier, Creston; C. McCracken, Chapman Camp, and A. K. Watson, Kimberley; Kootenay Zone coordinator W. W. Wait, Nelson, and East Kootenay coordinator W. K. McRae of Kimberley, as well as representatives of city departments and other organizations that would be involved in such a problem.

The E.K. Union Board of Health was represented by Dr. V. Baker, F. C. Ainley and A. A. Hindley. Here for the provincial organization was C. W. Burr, health supplies department. The press was also present.

As an introduction to the study, W. K. McRae of Kimberley gave a paper on "Study groups, their purpose, organization and scope."

The 30-odd present then divided into three syndicates to study the various problems. W. W. Wait of Nelson summarized the day's findings. It was apparent that the problems would be the same as those normally met in the community, magnified by the hypothetical influx, and that previous planning to involve all available personnel is vitally important.

C. W. Burr, provincial representative, emphasized the need for involving junior and senior high school students in such a study as a means of combatting public apathy to Civil Defence. He also gave information on the stockpiles established by the federal government for such emergencies.

Dr. Baker spoke of the set-up of the CD health organization in the East Kootenay, referring particularly to the hospital disaster plan, a requirement for hospital accreditation.

Mayor Swan congratulated the CD organization and others present on their active interest and emphasized the great comfort he personally derived from the knowledge that there is an emergency organization set-up to handle any disaster, large or small.

Responsibility for planning the course was in the hands of W. K. McRae and A. K. Watson of Kimberley and Mr. Wait of Nelson.

SCHOOL RAIDED

NANTON, Alta (CP)—About 160 students attending the public school here had a half-holiday Monday while RCMP investigated a Sunday night break-in at the school. Police said later two Nanton boys had been charged under the Juvenile Delinquents Act. Desks were overturned, books were scattered about the building and paint was smeared in the classrooms.

TUG VISITS

NANAIMO (CP) — The new Kingcome Navigation tug Harmac Spruce docked here during the weekend and was visited by many local residents. Capt. W. G. Dolmage and Capt. G. C. Ellwood of Kingcome Navigation were hosts. Harmac Spruce is a sister ship to the 65-foot Harmac Pine launched last fall. Kingcome is a subsidiary o MacMillan, Bloedel and Powell River Company.

The Beatles Are Britain's Revenge

NEW YORK (AP)—Who, besides squealing teen-age fans, likes the Beatles?

A symphony orchestra conductor for one. He comes from England, home of the mop-topped quartet.

Not evangelist Billy Graham, however. "I'm afraid I'm on a different wave length," he said Monday.

And from the U.S. press came editorial criticism. The Washington Post suggested that "the British are taking fiendish revenge" for U.S. exports of rock 'N' roller to the British Isle in past years.

The Beatles answered with one voice Monday when asked how they added up their success.

"Money," they chorused at a press conference.

The Beatles made their U.S. television debut Sunday night on the Columbia Broadcasting System's Ed Sullivan show. Hundreds of teenagers, mostly girls, mostly screaming, besieged the quartet at the studio and their hotel.

GOOD ENTERTAINERS

In Pittsburgh, John Pritchard, conductor of the London Philharmonic, said Monday: "Really, despite the fantastic ballyhoo, I find them good entertainers . . . their numbers are extremely good, absolutely technically all right—both harmonically and rhythmically."

Billy Graham, in Ann Arbor, Mich., said the Beatles were "part of the trend toward escapism."

In Houston, Tex., Principal George A. Skipper of Spring Branch High School, after dealing with half a dozen boys who tried to wear Beatle-bang hair styles, said: "I think they (the Beatles) look terrible and as far as I can tell they don't even have any talent."

The Washington Post opined: "The mop-like appendage on the Beatle skull produces a look of amiable idiocy that we fear will have fatal charm for American adolescents. . ."

The Milwaukee Sentinel said in its editorial: "Fortress America has been breached. The Beatles, unkept, untalented, lunatic noisemakers, are inside our gates.

"The kindest thing we can say about their homeland is that here is the final crushing evidence that the sun has finally set on the British Empire."

Green Home Shows $2113 Surplus, Still On Own Revenue

CRANBROOK — Almost exactly ten years after the proposal of the Royal Canadian Legion Branch that it sponsor a worthy memorial to Dr. F. W. Green, who had died a month earlier, the Dr. F. W. Green Memorial Home Society had its annual meeting.

The Home has been functioning for more than five years at capacity of 28 persons, is free of encumbrances to building, furnishings and equipment, except for mortgage bonds redeemable at $5,750 in March, 1968, for which provision is accumulated as planned, it was reported at the meeting.

Cost of the building is $93,820 and of its equipment and furnishing $15,696, all of which has been met.

SELF-SUFFICIENT

The home has operated on its own revenue as promised by the Society board of directors, without any public appeal. Miss Ida Gamache has been manager ever since it opened in August, 1958, and after the first fews months it has been fully occupied and has remained consistently so ever since.

As was Dr. Green's wish, the home was been open to elderly abled-bodied persons of long residence, whose continued residence in the area is contingent on a permanent living place.

ORIGINAL BOARD MEMBERS

The Society annual meeting saw continued services of four of its original board, Edward Gummer who has been president since its chartering, Mrs. Vincent Liddicoatt, elected to her fifth two-year term, Mrs. Sam DeLuca, midway in her fifth two-year term, and Ronald Bailey, CA, continuously secretary-treasurer since chartering.

Other directors are David Kaye, Vincent Downey, Dr. W. O, Green, Mayor George Haddad and Legion president Colin Anderson.

$2,113 SURPLUS

Annual operating statement of the Home showed income for 1963 of $34,573, of which resident rental income is $32,446 at an average of about $100 a month a resident. Operating expenditures tally $32,459 leaving an operating surplus of $2,113.

Largest operating expense is salaries and wages for staff at $18,818. Food costs for the year were $8,034, light and water $1,289.58, and fuel for heating $1,082.

Donations and memberships added $974.58 to the operating surplus to tally $3,088. This failed by $2,235 to meet the estimated annual depreciation of building and furnishing in 1963 of $5,323. Accumulated depreciation since opening of the Home amounts to $21,231.

To be considered in the 1964 program for the Home is redecoration inside and out, and grounds alterations which would improve the building access from the street, in the event the city 1964 program opens new streets and lanes in the vicinity of 17th Avenue and Third Street South.

Appointments Named for Creston Firm

CRESTON — A local company has announced two appointments in its Creston plant.

Ed Reber is general manager of Sunset Seed Co., Ltd., and Lawrence McKenzie is in charge of the feed and mill departments.

Mr. Reber has been associated with the firm for many years. He is well-known throughout the valley as a community worker. He is a member of the Kiwanis Club, past president of the Civic Centre Association, an officer in the Anglican church, and an ardent sports enthusiast.

Mr. McKenzie, also well-known throughout the valley, is a member and past director of the Royal Canadian Legion, and a past executive member of the Creston Curling Club.

Art Winter will act in an advisory capacity at Sunset Seed.

School Superintendents Discuss New Curriculum

CRESTON — The new curriculum and other problems related to implementation of the Chant Report on Education were major topics of discussion for the district superintendent of schools for the Kootenays at their semi-annul Zone Conference held here.

Attending were E. E. Hyndman, chief inspector of schools for British Columbia, and district superintendents G. C. Bissel of Castlegar, C. Cuthbert of Nelson, E. E. Lewis of Kimberley, C. S. McKenzie of Trail, P. B. Pullinger of Cranbrook and C. C. Wright of Creston.

Mr. Hyndman reported on departmental news and on the forthcoming Easter conference at Victoria for all superintendents of schools, and the July principals' conference, which will stress school organization at all levels from kindergarten to Grade 13.

Topics advanced by the superintendents included articulation of grade one and two arithmetic with the new mathematics program which has been introduced in grades three and four, testing programs and various phases of the new secondary school curriculum.

SECONDARY

At the secondary level, discussion centred around testing and promotional policy, problems of providing equipment and classroom space for new courses, the occupational program and course selection in the high school grades.

Most vital problem is to be sure that students in grades nine to ten elect the right qualifying options so they can enter programs they may wish in grades eleven and twelve.

Beginning in 1965, pupils in grades eleven and twelve will have the choice of academic programs in arts, science and technical options and of vocational programs in commerce, industrial education, service, fine arts and agriculture.

Creston Board Needs Increase of $57,000

CRESTON — Termed by school board finance chairman Herbert K. Legg as a "hatchet budget" the 1964 school district will need $57,000 more than last year to operate present schol and contemplated schools under a proposed $280,000 school referendum, which will be spread over a three-year period.

The $57,000 increase in the budget is strictly confined to increased school teachers' and lay staff salaries negotiated in 1963, and provision for eight extra teachers, janitor staff and school supplies in the proposed schools under the referendum.

The budget increase of six per cent now totals $947,234. Of this amount the government will return approximately $539,000 in grants. Based on last years' assessment this would mean an increase of 1.8 mills. As the government has not submitted any assessment figure the amount to be raised by the citizens within the school district cannot be accurately computed.

Examination of all school budgets to date in the province, shows Creston with the lowest increase. The budget was strictly designed to secure the maximum in school benefits and to protect industry and business which, under present legislation, has no tax relief.

Her is how the budget for 1964 is made up:

Administration $39,735; instruction, $609,058; operation account $98,651; repairs and maintenance, $50,675; conveyance of pupils $48,900; auxiliary services, $27,905; non-operating expense account, $4900; debt service, $66,410; total $947,234.

The budget was passed by the school board and will now go before the civic council for approval.

Budget Reflects B.C. Progress

As could be anticipated, Premier Bennett's record-setting and balanced budget reflects good governmental housekeeping, steady growth and progress of the province, continued and soundly-based optimism on the part of the administration, and a recognition that a still greater share of British Columbia's income must be turned into the categories of expenditure that come under the general heading of human betterment.

The financial chart of 1964-65 drawn by the premier in his capacity as finance minister is devoid of surprises, pleasant or unpleasant, except for the omission of two or three expected items — a further exemption of prepared meals from sales tax, for instance; a definite announcement of reduction of B.C. Hydro rates, and any mention of provision of money for a cultural grants commission.

The complete freeing of the provincial highway system from tolls was already laid on; so was the increase of $15 in the home-owner grant for this year, and the boost in civil service salaries was promised, although the amount — $3,625,000 — will be gratifying news to many government employees.

It could be taken for granted also that there would be increases in the province's expenditures on education and on health and welfare. If there is any surprise in this connection it may be at the modesty of the amounts, which will not satisfy everyone, though this is inevitable.

In the welfare field it will be how effectively the additional $2,257,000 for social allowances and child care and $1,250,000 for rehabilitation and correction services is spent that will be the true criterion of advancement, not the sum of dollars.

In education, which now as noted by the premier will take up more than 27 per cent of the budget, there will undoubtedly be some disappointment and concern in university circles that the increase in assistance to these institutions is not more than $6,651,000, with the total of $23,173,000 to be divided three ways. It will be a matter of some rivalry, also, as to how each of the three universities shares in the distribution.

There is a limit, however, to what the provincial economy can produce without a damaging increase in taxation, and credence can be given to Mr. Bennett's statement that "this administration fully appreciates the national importance of our provincial universities and will give maximum support within a balance of our essential social and capital expenditure."

Altogether, the budget presents a picture of British Columbia living wisely and increasingly well, within its resources. It is of the sort that can only foster confidence in this province as a good place to live and a good place to invest. And with that, who needs surprises?

Is 'Legal Care' Next?

Now the lawyers are worried about "medicare," wondering if they are next in line.

Two articles in Chitty's Law Journal (Toronto), both by barristers, are sharply self-critical. One asks about legal aid for people who cannot afford fees. The other demands reforms in "the hocus pocus science of the law," especially Canadian real property laws.

Lawyers, like doctors, sometimes give professional service free to needy persons; but it seems that as life's complications multiply this catch-as-catch-can arrangement is breaking down.

Soon, says Chitty's, there will be an organized system of paid legal aid. The lawyers are advised to set it up voluntarily (as British lawyers did long ago) or the government will do it for them. Then, they are warned, they will be like the doctors in Saskatchewan.

It would be no use replying that Saskatchewan MDs are doing all right. Whatever may be said about "state medicine," a state-run legal profession is an intolerable idea. The administration of justice, of which lawyers are a part, must be wholly free from state control.

Chitty's other writer is wrathfully eloquent. Speaking of real property law, he exclaims: "What featherbedding we indulge in! What nonsense we perpetuate!"

He describes Canadian property law as both absurdly complicated and antique. "Fees for useless work," he says, are the result. Example: Land titles are now searched by hand. There is no reason why they should not be searched by computer — except that the present system produces income for both lawyers and the government.

Again the advice to barristers is "do it yourself." They are urged to initiate a program of law reform. From a layman's point of view, this makes very good sense.

Why Do They Flee?

Much has been said recently of the success that the Soviet has attained in its educational program, but apparently it is not pleasing to all, including the professors and lecturers at the universities. Figures show that during 1963 there were 14 professors who escaped from behind the Iron Curtain, along with 20 students.

These figures bring the total numbers of refugees who were occupied in some branch of learning up to 1710 for the last six years. Nearly one-third of them were professors and lecturers.

There were 511 from the field of medicine; 486 from the arts, 216 from technology, 129 from agriculture and forestry and 92 from other fields.

The largest number — 298 — came from the Humboldt University in East Berlin, and 243 from research institutes of the Soviet Academy of Sciences. From Leipzig University came 207, from Halle University 155, from Jena University 104, from Rostock University 81, and from Griefswald University 63 researchers and instructors. During the same period Dresden's Technology University lost 95.

The Soviet offers no explanation for this exodus of educational authorities from behind the Iron Curtain. But there must be a good reason.

Tribal-Army Fighting Halted

BAGHDAD, Iraq (Reuters)—Baghdad radio announced Monday night that fighting between Kurdish rebel tribesmen and Iraqi Army forces in northern Iraq has been ordered halted.

Brig.-Gen. Abdul Karim Farhan, the Iraqi national guidance minister, said in a surprise broadcast that the Kurdish leader, Mustapha el Barzani, had called on the Kurds to lay down their arms.

Farhan said the Iraqi government would recognize the national rights of the Kurds. He said all Kurdish prisoners would be released and that the current economic blockade of Kurdistan would be lifted.

It was not immediately clear whether the announcement meant the Kurds had won their centuries-old demand for Kurdish autonomy.

Baghdad radio said Iraqi President Abdel Salem Arif would respect the rights of the Kurds and that he had issued a pardon to all rebels.

IGNORE ORDER

In June last year, following the revolt which brought Arif to power, the Iraqi government issued a 24-hour ultimatum to the Kurds to lay down their arms. The Kurds ignored it.

The Kurdish leader has been fighting Iraqi governments for autonomy since 1931, when he launched his first uprising, which was promptly put down.

Now in his 60s, El Barzani is a short, dark, grizzled man said to be "as tough as he looks."

There was a reward equal to $300,000 on his head at the time of the 24-hour ultimatum last June.

El Barzani was premier of the Soviet-backed Kurdish Republic in north Iran after the Second World War. When it collapsed he fled Iran to Russia and, according to some reports, became a general in the Red Army.

He returned to northern Iraq to renew the rebellion when the late Gen. Abdul Karim Kassem was in power.

Today In History

Gold was discovered in New South Wales, Australia, 113 years ago today—in 1851. Discoveries began near Clunes, at Anderson's Creek, near Buninyong and in amazing richness at Ballarat and Bendigo. The rush was on, and land prices and wages soared. In 1850, the population of New South Wales and Victoria was 265,503, but by 1860 it had jumped to 886,393. The gold boom began to decline after 1857 and many miners turned to farming.

1956—Twenty-two persons drowned when a Nile River ferryboat capsized near Mansama, Egypt.

1960—Fighting erupted between Israeli and United Arab Republic forces near Ashmura in Israel.

Says Treaty Not in Best Interests

To the Editor:

Sir — May I point out that the very great number of labor unions, farmers' organizations, women's organizations, economists, hydro engineers, reclamation engineers, conservationists, and private individuals who oppose the Columbia River Treaty do so because they feel that the Treaty is not in the best interests of Canada and future generations of Canadians?

Anyone who has read the correspondence between these organizations and individuals and the Prime Minister of Canada, the Minister for External Affairs, and the Minister of Northern Affairs and National Resources must realize this.

The revised Treaty states that we may divert water for "consumptive purposes only," but we may not generate power in this diversion. Therefore, any diversion to the prairie provinces becomes uneconomic.

Water diverted from the Columbia to the prairies could aid in the development of tremendous areas in our Central plain. In turn the Kootenays would benefit by the sale of a greatly increased tonnage of Cominco fertilizer, forest products, and such farm products as tree fruits and berries. In short, an enlarged prairie market would mean an expanding local economy on a firm basis.

Granted, a five-year boom must look very attractive to some businessmen of the district, but I do earnestly hope that these people realize that they are exchanging five years of prosperity for a lifetime of the same.

How many jobs would be created if Cominco doubled or tripled its sale of fertilizer? How many jobs would be created if the Kootenays could sell twice the forest products they do now? How many jobs would be created if we doubled the sale of fruit? And these would be jobs here in the Kootenays, with the resultant increase in local payrolls, and local spending.

This is just one aspect of the Treaty and I feel makes it a bad Treaty for Canada. There are many other reasons why I, as a loyal Canadian, object to this misbegotten document, and will continue to support and encourage all those who fight against it.

Answers Democrat

To the Editor:

Sir — From the letter which appeared in your issue of February 4, let me say that while circumstances do exist when people prefer not to be known personally, I prefer them to come out in the open, so if someone gets hit below the belt it is their own fault.

Let's be fair and this goes for news too, while we are credited with having a free press it is generally free for a purpose. For instance our paper did not tell us that Premier Lloyd was No. 1 Canadian for 1963 by popular vote; that Saskatchewan Unemployment rate was lowest in Canada, less than 1% compared with 4% in the Dominion; that Saskatchewan goes to the people every 4 years in June unless for some extraordinary circumstances. Now, it they can do these things why can't we? They have less of this world's goods to work with and a much more severe climate.

No doubt 30 years from now the Columbia River will be wending its way to the sea through the U.S.A. much as it does now, maybe a few hurdles more or less. The beauty of our moutains will still be here to see, BUT WAIT! If the population explosion takes place as our Statisticians and Economists predict on every good foundation, what of land to feed and house our people or water to sustain. The very secret way of withholding these terms of agreement leaves much to be desired. The very fact that in many instances U.S.A. Gov't has reneged in favor of U.S.A. when dealing with international waterways is cause for alarm. Uncle Sam has nothing to lose in forwarding money to build our dams, they hold the bag, but why should we sell our water rights, they are not ours to sell but directly the heritage of future generations.

Now Mr. Democrat is it quite evident to me that the people of Saskatchewan who gave their vote to Conservatives in the Federal Election were not the class of people who tramped snow banks in early 20's for wheat pool contracts. Wheat sales are more the result of climatic conditions in other parts of the world than any party politics. I am reminded of a caption I saw at the head of a small prairie paper many years ago — WHAT FOOLS WE MORTALS BE.

Prosperity in Fishing Seen in New Trawler

HALIFAX (CP) — The first steel trawler built in Nova Scotia came down the ways recently, a sign of the times in the province's fishing industry.

The ship was built by Dominion Steel and Coal Corporation's Halifax shipyards for Lunenburg Sea Products Limited, and is the first of three ordered from Dosco by Sea Products.

Built at a cost of $500,000, the Cape Anne is 141 feet long and 362 tons. With a 26-foot beam, she is 13 feet deep from the main deck.

Inside, she's designed for fish and fishing. The 8,000-cubic-foot capacity fish hold is refrigerated. Compartments, pens and shelves are arranged in it to keep the fish on top from damaging the fish on the bottom through excessive weight.

The Cape Anne is powered by a 750-horsepower diesel engine that will give a service speed of 11 knots, and there will be a variety of electronic equipment for navigation, communications and fish - finding installed before she sails on her first trip.

The Cape Anne, like the Tribal class destroyers built by Dosco, was constructed in sections in the shipyards' prefabrication shop. After the bow and stern sections of the ship were built separately, they were assembled on a building berth by yard cranes and welded together.

Unlike several other new trawlers in the Maritime fishing fleet which fish over the stern, the Cape Anne is designed for the more traditional over-the-side operations.

SHIP LAUNCHED

The ships three-eighths - inch steel hull is also welded and strengthened at vital points to resist pressure. Now that the hull is in the water, the Cape Anne's aluminum and steel superstructure will be added, and she will be completed inside.

The ship will provide fish for a new $8,000,000 plant being built for Sea Products at Lunenburg, N.S., to be officially opened in June.

A fleet of 16 trawlers will fish for the plant, which will be capable of processing 80,000,000 pounds of fish a year.

President C. J. Morrow of Sea Products says the new trawlers will play their part in meeting the challenge of continuing the progressive trend in the fishing industry.

Mr. Morrow says the next few years will be the decisive ones for Atlantic coast fishing. The industry must meet the demands of exacting domestic and export markets and the stiff competition of foreign countries whose large factory-ship fleets fish Atlantic waters in ever-increasing numbers.

The past 10 years have seen the demise of the deep-sea schooner fleet in favor of trawlers and draggers, and new catching and processing techniques have been adopted in the same period.

"The fishing industry today must continue this progressive trend," Mr. Morrow said.

Andrew To Cyprus For Talks

NICOSIA (Reuters) — Arthur Andrew, Canada's high commissioner to Cyprus and ambassador to Israel, arrived here Monday night for talks with Cypriot, U.S. and British officials.

Andrew called his trip to the Mediterranean island an "informative visit" and said he planned to return to Tel Aviv, Israel, Wednesday.

He added his visit was "not specifically" connected with the possibility of Canadian troops coming to Cyprus to join a force to keep the peace between warring Greek- and Turkish-Cypriots.

But he said that if Canadian troops did come it would be useful for him to know the set-up.

Andrew said his visit is not connected with any possible evacuation of the 20 or 30 Canadians living in Cyprus, most of whom work for the British Army and the United Nations.

FISHING BOAT RUNS AGROUND

KODIAK, Alaska (AP)—The 90-foot fishing vessel, Cape Spencer is aground on Akun Island, about 600 miles southwest of Kodiak.

The U.S. Coast Guard said an aircraft crew spotted survivors late Monday on the beach backed against towering bluffs but was unable to determine how many survivors there were. The fishing vessel was being battered apart by a strong sea and a storm is moving into the area.

Two rubber lifeboats were dropped to the shipwrecked fishermen and the coast guard cutter Storis was on the way from Kodiak with a helicopter aboard.

The Cape Spencer, registered out of Seattle, is owned by the New England Fish Company. The firm listed those aboard as George Hamilton, the skipper, Cal Watson, Don Tanner and Lloyd Brown, all of Seattle, and Don Hamilton, Ketchikan.

Rector To Curse Parishioners

BRIDGEWATER, England (AP)—A rarely used Church of England service that puts 10 curses on evil-doers will be used by Rev. Geoffrey Grubb, rector of nearby Spaxton, at Ash Wednesday services.

The 63-year-old rector has been feuding with some of his 750 parishioners. He says they once threw eggs at him. Last month he pronounced a curse on "anyone who gives false information to the press, the bishop or fellow priests."

The curses to be pronounced Wednesday are part of the commination service—a "denouncing of God's anger and judgments against sinners."

Each curse starts with the words "cursed is he that . . ." It condemns "the unmerciful, fornicators and adulterers, covetous persons, idolators, slanderers, drunkards and extortioners."

The rector wouldn't say what the quarrel with the villagers was about.

Income Tax for the Worker

By C. A. MILLER

Since I started writing this column on income tax, I have received hundreds of letters from husbands in regard to their wives becoming employed.

The instructions appear to be quite clear on page 2 of the short form return, but many are of the opinion that a wife's income should be added to that of the husband. This is not the case. A wife's earnings only affect the husband's exemption for her.

A wife may earn $250 before it reduces the husband's exemptions on her behalf. Any amount earned by her over $250 reduces the $1000 exemptions normally allowed to the husband for a wife. The easy computation of this is to deduct the wife's earnings from $1250 and the difference is his exemption for her. Follow the instructions as set out on the return and you cannot go wrong.

When the marriage has taken place in the taxation year, it is only the wife's income earned after marriage that must be taken into account by the husband. What she earned in the year, prior to the date she became his wife does not affect him at all. This is a common error made by newly married persons. See the following article which gives all details regarding marriages in the taxation year.

An employed wife must file her own income tax return and if there is a refund coming, it will be paid directly to her. She can write on the bottom of her return that the refund be transferred to her husband's account if he owes a balance of tax. Such authorization must be signed by her. A husband may not claim his wife's refund unless she authorizes it on her own return.

For personal replies pertaining to income tax problems please enclose a self-addressed five cent stamped envelope and 25c in coin for each question you wish answered and mail to the Daily News.

Question: My wife earned $2000 before we were married but nothing afterwards. How does this affect my return?

Answer: It has no bearing on your return as she was not your wife when she earned the money. Claim $1000 for her.

Question: My wife worked for three months in 1963. She did not earn enough to file a return. Can I claim her tax deductions amounting to $68?

Answer: No. She must file her own return as refunds are only made from returns filed by the taxpayer who has them coming.

MONTREAL (CP)—Icelandic Airways was reported Monday night to be near a decision to buy two four-engine turboprop planes from Canadair Limited for use on the North Atlantic.

Interpreting the News

By BORIS MISKEW
Canadian Press Staff Writer

A shadow of uncertainty continues to hang over the Malaysian situation despite the latest effort to prevent the dispute from blowing up into a major Asian crisis.

The latest attempt to resolve the conflict, born with the conception of the idea of a Malaysian federation, apparently ended in failure.

The conference on Malaysia—intended primarily to draw up an agreement to preserve the cease-fire in northern Borneo—opened last week on a somewhat optimistic note. But the ministers from Indonesia, Malaysia and The Philippines appeared somewhat less optimistic when the talks ended Monday.

The ministers attending the conference, in Bangkok, Thailand, had difficulty in drawing up a communique but finally managed to issue a statement promising that they will try to preserve the cease-fire.

EXPRESSED DOUBT

But Deputy Prime Minister Tun Abdul Razak of Malaysia immediately expressed doubt that the truce will be effective. He said the Indonesian-backed guerrillas who have crossed the 800-mile Borneo jungle border into Malaysian territory might make the truce "not fully effective."

The conference was called after U.S. Attorney-General Robert Kennedy, sent by President Johnson to look into the matter, obtained a promise from Indonesia that guerrilla raids would be stopped.

The guerrilla attacks began following the birth last September of Malaysia—a federation of Malaya, Singapore, Sarawak and Sabah (formerly North Borneo).

The Indonesians oppose the federation, arguing that it is just another form of British colonialism, while The Philippines are trying to claim part of Sabah.

At the opening of the six-day conference, the three countries reached an agreement on the general terms of a cease-fire.

Thailand was agreed upon as the country to conduct the policing over the cease-fire. The three countries then asked United Nations Secretary-General U Thant to designate Thailand as the UN agent responsible for the enforcement of the cease-fire.

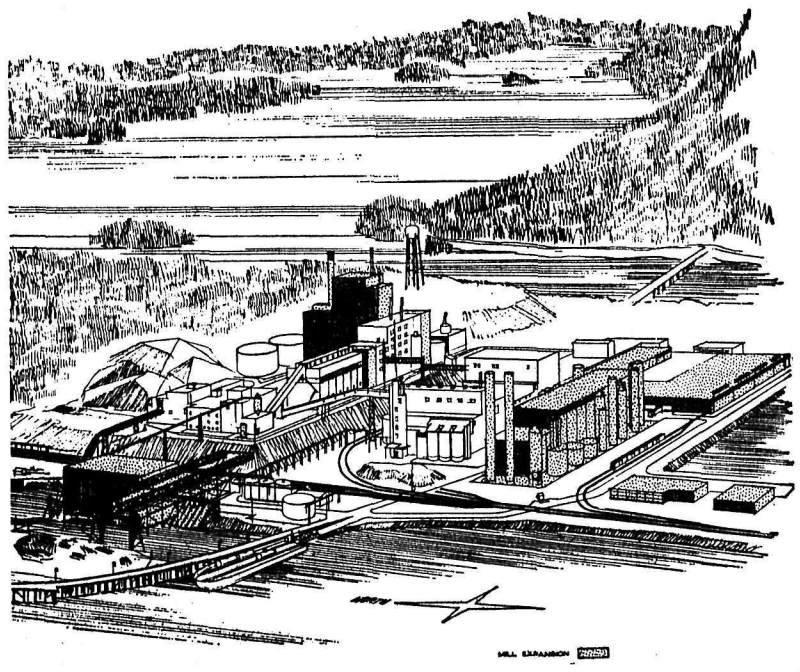
STATUS OF GUERRILLAS

The conference ran into difficulties when the status of the guerrilla bands came up. President Sukarno of Indonesia has ordered these bands to remain in their established pockets in North Borneo and not to surrender their arms.

Malaysia, on the other hand, wishes the guerrilla bands withdrawn, fearing that these groups may later claim that they have the right to the territory they had conquered.

Before winding up their conference Monday, however, the three countries agreed to hold another meeting at some later date to discuss Indonesia's threats to crush Malaysia and the claim to Sabah by The Philippines.

The next meeting will precede a proposed summit conference of Sukarnil Prime Minister Tunku Abdul Rahman of Malaysia and President Diosdado Macapagal of The Philippines—raising some hope that a solution might eventually be found.



NEW KRAFT PULP MILL expansion proposed for 1964 at the Prince Rupert pulp division of Columbia Cellulose Company is pictured here. Paul M. Marshall, president, announced that it was to be of 750-tons-a-day capacity and would cost about $70,000,000. An application has been filed for a new tree farm licence to support the venture. The new bleached kraft pulp mill, expected to be operating by 1967, will be closely integrated with an existing 500-tons-a-day sulphite dissolving pulp mill. The present mill is to be expanded by the year's end to a 600-ton operation.

Cut-Out Hearts, Real Flowers Ornament Hume School for Tea

Brilliant red valentine motifs, with attractively arranged red roses and yellow daffodills on the main tea table, presented a cheerful splash of color at the Hume School Parent Teacher tea and bake sale Monday.

Young Puppeteers Brighten Other Children's Lives

MONTREAL (CP) — Fourteen suburban St. Eustache children are picking up experience in the theatre and at the same time entertaining other children.

They are members of the Make-believe Theatre of St. Eustache sur le Lac, Que., which presents puppet shows for any children's organization requesting one.

The children design and build stage and scenery, fashion puppets and marionettes, use their own voices for characters and provide all sound and special effects.

"You'd be surprised at what some of these youngsters have accomplished," says theatre director A. D. McDermott. They are aged 10 to 15.

"At present, our repertoire consists of six plays, including such favorites as Rapunsel and Hansel and Gretel, which calls for the use of 100 different puppets and marionettes.

"Plans are being made to enable the youngsters to tape scripts in French so that they will be able to provide bilingual puppet shows."

A DRESS that compromises neatly between the absolute gala gown and the smart dinner dress isn't too easy to discover. It sometimes requires a long shopping expedition.

Not for Mrs. Philip Hulitar, however, who wears this beautiful dress made by her famous designer husband.

The rich, dark green silk satin gown is long of skirt and of sleeve, has a scooped neckline and is both simple and sumptuous.

A dress for many occasions.

Olney Woman Wins Pancake Dash in 1:6.4

LIBERAL, Kan. (AP) — The women of Olney, England, regained the international pancake racing title in their annual Shrove Tuesday contest with the girls of Liberal, Kan.

The victory, giving Olney an eight-to-seven edge in the series which began in 1950, came when Mrs. Bridget Lowrie crossed the finish line in the Olney leg of the race in one minute, 6.4 seconds.

That was 3.7 seconds better than the time of Miss Grace Kostreva, 22-year-old telephone operator who topped the field of 15 contestants at Liberal.

Times of the two winners are compared to determine the international champion.

Mrs. Lowrie's time for the 415-yard, S-shaped course was good, but it was slower than the record one minute 5.1 seconds posted by Mrs. Binnie Dick of Liberal in 1955.

The race in Liberal was run in clear, 25-degree weather.

Miss Kostreva finished about 15 feet ahead of her nearest competitor.

"I knew I had to give it everything I had because I had good competition," she said. "My legs hurt and I'm tired."

The event consists of women running the course flipping pancakes with frying pans.

Police Couple Live in Harmony

Husband Took Drop in Rank To Match Wife's

VANCOUVER (CP)—Call for a police officer around the Waters household and either a man or woman might answer.

Bob and Lois Waters are the only man-and-wife team on the Vancouver police force and one of the few in Canada.

Nobody can pull rank in the household because they're both constables. Bob took a reduction in rank from patrol sergeant when he married three years ago.

This created a precedent. If there is another marriage within the force, it's expected that man and wife will remain equal in rank.

Deputy Police Chief Gordon Ambrose says that, in theory, "the person with the higher rank could favor the other."

Lois joined the force after a diversity of jobs, including hospital cook, gift wrapper, lumber grader and truck driver, all of which were good training for her present job, she says.

"You have to be broadminded in this job. You have to accept people and things as they are."

The couple leave the police force behind when they enter their big white house. Their hobby is looking after miniature pinschers, and they have nine show dogs.

Lois does petit point, painting, crocheting and knitting. She also is three-time winner of the northwest policemen's revolver-shooting championships.

Bob flies throughout North America to judge at dog shows. He plans to retire at 55, three years hence, and devote himself to his hobby.

Florists Amalgamate, Open New Store in Nelson

Major Renovation Project

Take two Nelson businessmen (in this case in the florist business); add one large renovated building, and a thriving shop named Nelson Flowers Ltd. emerges.

City florists Mac's Flower Shop and Coventrys' Flower Shop have amalgamated their businesses in a new shop, offering more than 60 years of florist experience to Nelson's benefit.

Jack W. McClelland and Robert J. Coventry are now in joint partnership in their florist shop housed in the Gelinas Block in the 500 block, Baker Street.

Investment of more than $35,000 was involved in purchase of the renovated building. The greater floor space has allowed the new company to enlarge its present stock line but flowers remain the backbone of the business.

Ornaments, chinaware and planters are on one side of the 75-foot wall and another large section is devoted to candied specialties.

As an added attraction, an art cellar, depicting scenic oils by Hewitt Ferguson of Nelson hang from the walls for public perusal.

Mr. Ferguson will paint at the studio, located in the store's basement. The well-lighted room effectively enhances the 20 hanging oil paintings.

Mr. Ferguson is planning to deal with antiques later on.

The remaining portion will be converted to a gardening shop, a service previously curtailed by the size of the former establishments.

Work on the shop will start when the present stockpile is cleaned up.

The building's front facing is attractively encased in Roman and ceramic brick.

Mr. McClelland has been in the flower business here since 1938. Mr. Coventry is carrying on his father's business started in Nelson 35 years ago.

Other staff members are George Benwell, bookkeeper; John Christie, Anne Thicket and Freda Mawer, regulars, and high school students Marilyn Bonacci, Shirlie Reid, Darlene Christie and Pat Cutler.

Red China Imports Seen in Paris

PARIS (AP) — Silk kimonos from Shanghai, rice wine from Fukien and carved teak chests from Peking were a few of the items on display Tuesday as a leading Paris department store opened a month-long campaign to promote the sale of imports from Communist China.

The display, sprawled over an entire floor of the printemps department store, was another indication of the practical effects for Frenchmen of President de Gaulle's diplomatic recognition of Red China.

Throngs of shoppers, unusual for a Tuesday afternoon, flocked to the store.

Hansen Wins Third Title the Easy Way

PRINCE GEORGE (CP) — Ina Hansen of Kimberley won her third straight British Columbia women's curling crown Tuesday without throwing a rock in the day's competition.

Mrs. Hansen, two-time Canadian champion, scored two victories in Monday's play and needed one more Tuesday to clinch the B.C. title — a victory over Francis Wowchuk of Osoyoos.

However, before the Hansen rink ever hit the ice Audrey Isaacs of North Vancouver defeated Mrs. Wowchuk 9-8 and Jean Utas of Dawson City, Y.T., upset Joy Mitchell of Kitimat 7-4.

That eliminated Mrs. Hansen's only opposition for the title.

Later, she lost 10-2 to Mrs. Wowchuk — but it didn't matter.

Mahovlich Bargain Day Prices Are Here

TORONTO (CP)—The price has plunged on Frank Mahovlich.

A little more than a year ago Toronto Maple Leafs of the National Hockey League were reported to have turned down an offer of $1,000,000 for him.

Now bargain hunters around the league may be able to pick up the big left winger for a fraction of the 1962 prices.

Although club officials deny that he's in the shop window, sources close to management say the listless Leaf may be offered in exchange for two hustling left wingers.

The deal most often mentioned would send Mahovlich to Boston Bruins in exchange for energetic Andy Hebenton and Dean Prentice, veteran former members of New York Rangers.

It's no secret that Toronto manager-coach Punch Imlach and president Stafford Smythe are unhappy, not only with Mahovlich's offensive record of only 20 goals, but also his defensive play.

PASSED TO PILOTE

In last weekend's home and home series with Chicago Black Hawks, he was on the ice for three of the five Hawk goals, and on one of them he put the puck directly on the stick of defenceman Pierre Pilote while the Leafs had a man advantage. Pilote scored.

There have been some hints recently that a trade of sale involving the "Big M" is not the farthest thing from the minds of Toronto executives.

Harold Ballard, executive vice-president of Maple Leaf Gardens, said Monday: "I'd trade or sell anybody if the bait is good enough."

Ballard was instrumental in October, 1962, in turning down the $1,000,000 offer from Jim Norris, owner of the Hawks.

Imlach, who has said he has more than one player on his team he would not sell for $1,000,000, also said Monday:

"If you are asking me that way, there are no untouchables on our hockey club."

Although Mahovlich is still the highest scorer for the defending Stanley Cup champions, he's only the best of an unproductive lot, and his output has dropped sharply.

CHANGES LINES

Recently Imlach shifted the "Big M" from the Red Kelly-Jim Pappin line to a unit with Dave Keon and George Armstrong, the team's most productive centre and right winger.

The move apparently was designed to force Mahovlich to dig harder to keep up with the play.

Pappin and Kelly had been in the habit of setting up Mahovlich with long passes in the centre ice zone, often with the result that the plays fizzled if Mahovlich was unable to get away a good shot on his first try.

Keon and Armstrong are both puck carriers who work in close and scrap in the corners. Imlach's thinking apparently was that Mahovlich would have to work harder to keep pace with their tenacious style of play.

In Toronto's last 13 games, Mahovlich has scored only three goals, not up to par for a million-dollar man.

Tonight in Montreal he will have an opportunity against the league - leading Canadiens to prove he's not yet ready for Toronto's bargain basement.

SOLD TO L.A. . . . Howie Young, Chicago Black Hawks' tempestuous defenceman, was sold Tuesday night to Los Angeles Blades of the Western Hockey League. Hawks said Young had been sold to the Blades for cash and players to be named later and would not reveal the amount of cash or number of players. It could not be learned if Young, who said he would not go to the minors when placed on waivers by the Hawks recently, had agreed to report to the WHL club.

Ski Slants

By SITZMARK

Last weekend I sounded off in this column and warned you that the ski slopes might be a bit icy. I couldn't have been more wrong. The snow was perfect and skiers on the hill enjoyed one of the best weekends yet.

I'm sorry if anyone did not go out because they thought the hill would be too hard. This all goes to prove that you cannot judge conditions on the hill by the weather downtown. The best way to tell is to go out and see for yourself.

The weekend of Feb. 22 we hope to have a few races for our junior skiers. There will be three classes for boys and girls in the different age groups: 10 and under, 11-14 and 15-19.

Anyone can enter and there will be trophies presented for the first and second winners in each class. We hope all the youngsters will enter in their respective age groups. The courses will not be hard to ski and it should be fun.

The boys from the high school who have been practising the slalom will have a race of their own so they will not be skiing against those in the same age group who have not had racing experience.

By the way our high school ski team competed in a tournament last weekend at Vernon and did very well. I understand the team was rated fourth. However we do not have the official times so we'll wait till we get them before telling you how they actually finished.

Everyone who wishes to enter the races should give their name and age to Mrs. La Pointe in the lodge this weekend. Get out and do a little practising for the races this weekend.

OSOYOOS (CP) — Retired Royal Canadian Navy Captain Clarence Aubrey King, 77, a veteran of the First and Second World Wars, died Sunday at his home here. He received the Distinguished Service Cross during the First World War and received a bar for his DSC in the Second World War. He was also one of the few Canadians to receive the U.S. Legion of Merit medal. He is survived by his wife, two sons and two daughters. Another son was killed while fighting with the Seaforth Highlanders in Sicily.

Dynamiters Cool Jets' Charge 5-3

KIMBERLEY (Special to Daily News) — For the umpteenth time this season, the Kimberley Dynamiters have cooled off the charge of the Spokane Jets. Before 1200 fans here Tuesday night, the Dynamiters dumped the Americans 5-3 in a pressure packed "big" game for first place.

The win moved the Dynamiters five points in front of the Jets, who have seven games left to overhaul the Dynamiters.

The action moved from rough to polished to rough tempo of play as Spokane grabbed a 1-0 first period lead only to trail 4-2 at the end of the second. The two clubs split goals in the third in which the main interest was a near donnybrook between the two clubs, but ended in a test of muscles belonging to Farmer McDonald and Reo Touzin.

Onetime Spokane Flyer, Tic Beattie triggered the winner late in the second period when he tapped in Vincent's clear out pass from behind the net.

Les Lilley picked off a goal and an assist to leave himself four points shy of the century mark in total scoring. Other Dynamiter markers came off the sticks of Chuck Passmore, Dick Vincent and Wayne King.

The little men did the job for the Jets. Charlie Goodwin and John Kenney were standouts for the visitors, each flashing the red light once. Defenceman Vince Collins' blast from the point gave Spokane a 1-0 lead at 16:50 of the first.

The roughhouse tactics of the Jets were in full display in the first as men of coach Joe Benoit peppered goalie Bob Wardle with 22 shots. Wardle, who was replaced by Earl Betker in the second period, was sensational as Jets rained rubber at his cage while Kimberley played shorthanded.

In the second period the Dynamiters found their legs, outskated and checked the befuddled Jets into the ice and own zone. Spokane's defence, displaying the big hole created by the absence of Tom Hodges, fell apart as White clicked on a three on two pattern, as Passmore took advantage of no net protection as Lilley beat the lone defender to deke Ken Kuntz and Beattie got the winner.

In the third, Vincent deflected Lilley's shot while Kenney, each team playing three aside, polished off a passing attack.

The rhubarb broke out in the dying minutes when McDonald nailed Walt Peacosh. Assessed a minor, McDonald took after the doughed-up Peacosh once again. Touzin stepped into the fray and with a bit of high - sticking sent the Farmer to the dressing room on wobbly legs. Both clubs were assessed team majors when the players fled their respective benches to ward off other combatants.

Hodges is suspected to have hepatitis and will be out of the Spokane lineup for some time. Veteran Danny McDougall dug his blades out of retirement to help balance the blue line.

Spokane: goal, Kuntz; defence McGowan, McDonald, Collins, McDougall; forwards, Gibson, Morneau, Kenney, Turlik, Goodwin, Bahr, Nadeau, Bodman, Johnson.

Kimberley: goal, Wardle; defence, Touzin, Gallamore, Hooker, Steenson; forwards, Beattie, Peacosh, Sauter, Lilley, King, McTeer, Passmore, Manchester, White, Vincent.

Officials: Referee Johansson; linesmen, Armstrong, Sutherland.

First period—1. S. Collins (Morneau, Goodwin) 16:50.

Penalties: Bodman 5:15, Peacosh 5:15, Gallamore 7:10, Touzin (misconduct) 7:10; McGowan 9:15, Johnson 18:30.

Kabel Making A Noise in WHL Scoring

SEATTLE (CP)—Bob Kabel, kingpin of a suddenly potent Vancouver line with Dave Duke and Bob McCusker, last week scored nine points in Western Hockey League action.

The three-game output improved his ranking in the scoring race to only 13th place, but it won him Player-of-the-Week status in the league's statistical bulletin.

The scoring parade leaders, Guyle Fielder of Seattle and Lou Jankowski of Denver, were held pointless in three of their four games.

But Fielder, with 80 points, and Jankowski, with 72, still held a comfortable lead over the field. Art Jones of Portland is third with 68 and Phil Maloney of Vancouver fourth with 67.

Jankowski leads in goals with 35.

Portland's Mike Donaldson picked up two minor penalties to raise his season total to 155 minutes, goaltender Al Millar of Denver improved his leading average to 2.61 goals a game.

Curling Rift To Widen With Vancouver Bid

VICTORIA (CP)—The British Columbia Curling Association will take a "dim view" if the 1966 Canadian Curling championships are awarded to Vancouver, its secretary said Tuesday.

Walter Hobbs of Kelowna said making Vancouver the site would only worsen the "present animosity" between Interior and Coast curling bodies in view of the long-standing bid by Kelowna for the championships.

Officials of the Pacific Coast Curling Association, formed when Coast curlers broke away from the BCCA in 1961, announced Sunday a decision to bid for the 1966 championships with Vancouver as host city.

TAKE DIM VIEW

Mr. Hobbs said the BCCA for the last three years has asked the Dominion Curling Association to consider Kelowna for the championship. He predicted that "if the DCA bypasses us and awards the PCCA I'm sure the BCCA would take a dim view."

"If the PCCA outbids us I'm afraid it would increase the present animosity between our associations."

Don MacRae of Nanaimo, first vice - president of the PCCA, said "as far as I'm concerned there is no animosity between our associations."

Mr. MacRae said the DCA may consider that Kelowna doesn't have the facilities to host a championship.

Retorted Mr. Hobbs: "I feel we'll have the facilities in Kelowna, if we don't already have them."

Griffith and Rodriguez Set For Third Go

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Welterweight boxing champion Emile Griffith and former champion Luis Rodriguez will clash in a title bout in Las Vegas in June, two Nevada promoters said Tuesday.

Jack Doyle and Mel Greb of the Silver States Sports Club said the 15-round match will be June 12 in the Las Vegas Convention Centre.

They said it will be televised by the American Broadcasting Co., which is to pay $70,000 for the privilege.

Griffith, of New York, lost the 147-pound crown to Rodriguez in a 15-round decision last March 23 in Los Angeles.

Rodriguez, of Miami Beach, Fla., lost the title back to Griffith on points in a 15-rounder in New York June 8.

Warriors Bomb Smokies 11-7

ROSSLAND (Special to Daily News) — The mere presence of Seth Martin does wonders for the Rossland Warriors. The fourth place club welcomed back their regular goaltender by smashing the immediate playoff aspirations of Trail Smoke Eaters 11-7 here Tuesday night, but their victory was clouded with apprehension.

Martin was in the arena along with 300 other fans, but he wasn't minding the twine. The goaltender's leg which he injured at the Olympic Games in Austria is in a splint. It appears that the injury is serious enough to keep Martin out of action for the rest of the season.

The splint will not keep Martin from attending Friday's game here against Kimberley, as Rossland celebrates the Olympic heroics of its goaltender on "Seth Martin" night.

The sporadic fire power of the Warriors fired in unison again, bowling over the Smokies who now trail the last playoff berth by seven points.

"The "Sock Line" found its punch, slamming in six goals as centreman Dave Rusnell filled the skates of injured playing coach Hal Jones to knock in a hat trick. Winger Pinoke McIntyre matched Rusnell's firing power while the third member of the line, Ray Demore set up four goals.

Bill Martin with two, Bud Andrews, Alex Reid, and Wiggy Davis rounded out the scoring.

Coach Cal Hockley sparked the Smokies by beating Gerry Zanussi three times while Primo Secco, with two, Norm Lenardon and Russ Kowalchuk kept reviving Smokie hopes.

Warriors started off with a roar, catching the Trail defence flatfooted to lead 5-1 at the end of the first, increased it to 9-4 at the end of 40 minutes.

In the third period, Trail rallied as Hockley scored twice and Kowalchuk another to lower the score to 9-7. With Trail applying the pressure, Kowalchuk picked up a slashing penalty to cool offf the attack. In the last minute Rossland beat Zanier twice to settle the matter.

Trail will travel to Nelson tonight in the second game of their four games within a five day stint. Tuesday's loss left the hard road for the Smelter City crew to travel if it wants to gain the playoffs. The club must win a minimum of four of its last six games while Rossland loses their remaining games to nab a playoff berth.

Trail — Goal, Zanier; defence, Severs, Fergusion, Johnson, McLaren; forwards, Ferro, Unger, Secco, Lenardon, Hockley, Struthers, Penner Tambellini, Kowalchuk.

Rossland — Goal, Zanussi; defence, Hamilton, Gallamore, Andrews, Paolone; forwards, Martin, Godfrey, Davis, Legare, Demore, Brennen, Rusnell, McIntyre, Reid.

Smokies Gasping for Playoff Air Tonight

A befuddled and enraged Trail Smoke Eaters will arrive in the Civic Centre arena tonight with their playoff ambitions buried under by their chagrin.

Facing the crucial test of playing four games in five days in a drive towards the last playoff spot, the men of Cal Hockley fell flat on their faces last night in Rossland. The club they have to beat to gain the playoff spot, Rossland Warriors, found their gunnery sights after a long absence and mortified Smokies 11-7.

The win moved the Warriors to within three points of the Nelson Maple Leafs and seven up on the Smokies.

A loss tonight would practically kill Trail's playoff chances. They would have to win four of their last five games while Rossland lost their remaining eight games to qualify for a playoff spot.

Coach Bob Wiest doesn't plan any line changes but possibly will be shuffling his power unit. The club's power play has been the weak link in its play in recent games. The power play misfired repeatedly in the clubs last game, as Spokane shaded the Leafs 2-1 in the American centre.

LEAFS TO TAKE TO STAGE SATURDAY

If the Los Angeles Dodgers can do it, so can the Nelson Maple Leafs. The baseball champions have formed a night club act and are currently entertaining various niteries in the United States.

The Leafs' plans aren't that ambitious but on Saturday night, the club wil provide the entertainment for the Maple Leafs Booster Club Playoff dance to be held in the Civic Centre.

Just what skits and entertainment the Leafs are preparing have not been revealed but straight entertainment will be offered in the music of the Kootenaires.

Stan Mikita Needs a Babe Ruth Finish To Beat Dickie Moore

MONTREAL (CP) — Stan Mikita of Chicago is ahead of the pace set by Dickie Moore when he established a National Hockey League point - scoring record in 1958-59.

But the star Black Hawks centre will have to increase his speed if he hopes to surpass Moore's feat.

NHL statistics released Tuesday show Mikita with 70 points after 54 games. When Moore hit 96 points with Montreal Canadiens he had 59 points after as many games.

But the retired left winger closed that season in the same manner as Babe Ruth, who clouted an unprecedented 17 home runs with New York Yankees in September, 1927, to set his record of 60. Moore scored 37 points in his last 16 games.

At Mikita's current pace, he would reach 91 points, five short of Moore's mark.

SIX-POINT LEAD

Mikita opened his lead in the scoring race last week to six points over teammate Bobby Hull. He picked up three points, two more than Hull.

Mikita has 30 goals and 40 assists while Hull has tallied 33 times and picked up 31 assists. Montreal's Jean Beliveau is third with 19 goals and 41 assists for 60 points.

Chicago's Glen Hall played one more game than Charlie Hodge and Johnny Bower last week and his lead over the other Vezina Trophy contenders was slightly reduced.

'NUTHER ASSIST for Stan. Chicago Black Hawks' Stan Mikita and his wife get acquainted with Margaret Ann, their new daughter, at a Berwyn, Ill., hospital. Stan has been knocking in a scoring binge of late to lead the NHL in scoring and become a threat for the total point record.

Hall is charged with 123 goals in 54 games, while Bower's record is 128 in 51 Toronto games. Hodge is seven goals behind as Montreal has allowed 130 in 52 contests. Boston's Ed Johnston leads in shutouts with six.

Reg Fleming of Chicago picked up 18 minutes in penalties to regain the league lead. He has 132 minutes, two more than New York's Vic Hadfield.

The Hawks hold the team lead in penalty minutes with 890. Montreal is second with 762 and New York is the least penalized club with 544 minutes.

Inquiry Adjourned For Two Months

WHITE RIVER, Ont. (CP)— A hearing to decide procedure of a judicial inquiry into the affairs of the improvement district of White River and its chairman, Naldo Bracci, was adjourned Monday for two months.

Procedure was still not determined after seven-hours, and the hearing, at the suggestion of lawyer John Ryan, representing 122 ratepayers who petitioned for the investigation, was adjourned to April 15 by Judge James F. W. Ross of Port Arthur.

In the interval Mr. Ryan will submit to Judge Ross a list of points he intends to delve into and a list of witnesses he wants to call.

Most of the testimony came from Rev. John Kaptein, a Roman Catholic priest who described White River as a one-horse town, ruled and handled by one man.

He also complained that the separate school was not being serviced properly by the district's three-man board of trustees, of which Mr. Bracci is chairman.

Dog No Help In Capturing Escapee

GREENVILLE, S.C. (AP) James Robert Wilson escaped from O'Neal Prison Camp Thursday.

Police put two bloodhounds on his track. An automobile hit one dog and put him out of the race.

A posse followed the tracks of the other dog. The tracks of the dog and those on Wilson met, then continued side-by-side.

Wilson, it turned out, was part-time cook at the prison camp and also helped train the dogs.

The hunt was still on Tuesday for the convict and the defecting bloodhound.

MARKET TRENDS

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market averages posted historic highs Tuesday, only two sessions after their previous peaks made Friday. Trading was moderate.

A few blue chips accounted for the gains.

The over - all performance was lively and all but two of the 15 most active stocks were gainers.

The Dow Jones industrial average advanced 3.45 to 792.16, topping the Friday record of 791.5.

Trading dawdled at 4,050,000 shares compared with 4,150,000 Monday.

The achievement of new peaks in the averages continued to add a kind of lustre to the market even though the nature of the rise bred further caution in those continually predicting a correction.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks advanced 1.4 to a record 294.1.

An estimated $2,000,000,000 was added to the quoted value of stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange, based on the rise in the AP average.

Standard and Poor's 500-stock index made a record of 77.33 with a rise of .28.

Biggest news of the day was the fixing of a price of $100 a share by American Telephone on its rights issue by which each holder of 20 shares may buy an A.T. and T. share at that price, far below the market. A.T. and T. touched a high for the day of 146¼ before closing at 146, a net gain of 1⅞, on turnover of 53,000 shares, making it fourth most active stock.

General Dynamics soared to the top of the most active list as analysts spoke of a strong earnings picture and the chance that the company may resume common dividend payments. The stock rose 1⅞ to 27⅞ on 145,000 shares.

Canadian issues were generally higher and led by Walker Gooderham which gained 1¼. Canadian Pacific gained ⅜, Hudson Bay Mining and McIntyre Porcupine ¼ and International Nickel ⅛. Granby Mining fell ⅞ and Aluminium Ltd. ⅛.

TORONTO (CP) — Prices eased with most sections registering fractional losses in moderate trading on the stock market Tuesday.

Slater Steel fell 1⅛ to 12⅞ on 4,230 shares following an offer by the company to trade about $3,865,000 in its own stock for the 58 per cent of Canadian Foundation Co. it does not own.

Foundation advanced 20 cents to $4.90 on 8,353 shares.

Papers were stronger, Dominion Tar and Great Lakes Paper both ahead ½, Abitibi ¼ and Prince Brothers ⅛. Fraser Companies fell ⅝.

Banks were unsteady during the day and eased near the close.

Steels were mixed, Algoma ½ and Dominion Foundries and Steel off ⅜.

Labatt closed unchanged at 20 on heavy turnover among breweries and Walker-Gooderham slipped ½ among distillers.

SENIOR METALS DIP

Que. Trio Tours Western Canada

By IRA DRYSDALE

WINNIPEG (CP) — A slight dark-haired youth from nearby St. Boniface was among the crowd moving into the studio Monday as a Montreal trio prepared to tape a television program on what's happening in Quebec.

Approached by a reporter, he started to speak in French. Then, at the reporter's request, he switched to English and talked fluently.

"Last year I was a separatist," said 19-year-old Raymond Herbert. "This year I'm growing more and more away from it."

Herbert is to graduate this year from St. Boniface College, a French-language institution of about 300 students which offers the last four years of high school and university studies.

He said he moved away from separatism when he "discovered a separatist is a radical."

He said close to half the college's graduating class of 24 plan to go to Quebec after graduating to work or study. Herbert hopes to learn journalism there next fall.

MEET STUDENTS

Earlier Monday the Montreal trio visited the college and had a 1½-hour session with senior students.

One of the three, assistant editor Claude Ryan of the French - language Le Devoir, said he found the students, "quite preoccupied with the separatist trend in Quebec."

Another, consultant Guy Beaugrand - Champagne, said the students wondered about the consequences of separation on them as French-language pupils in another province.

Mme. Jeanne Sauve, an economist and wife of the federal forestry ministry, said later she felt the young person growing up in St. Boniface or another place surrounded by mostly English - speaking people would have a harder time than a counterpart in Montreal where a French - speaking person has more people with whom to identify himself.

Mme. Sauve, Mr. Ryan and Mr. Beaugrand - Champagne gave a press conference as well as visiting the college and taping the program with CJAY-TV.

IN EDMONTON

A tight schedule carries them to Edmonton, Vancouver, Calgary Thursday and Regina and Saskatoon from Friday night until Sunday.

The tour is under the auspices of the Canadian Association for Adult Education.

At the press conference and the studio Mr. Ryan said separatism is not advocated by important people at present.

However, it should not be concluded that separatism will not become important, he said.

He suggested that perhaps a better "framework" in which to live can be found for the people of Quebec.

At the press conference he listed three matters of concern to the French Canadian:

1. The image of Canada in Canada and abroad is unicultural.

2. The French Canadian has felt a lack of equality in educational opportunities.

3. The French Canadian had felt he has not had a fair chance in the economic life of Quebec.

Mr. Beaugrand - Champagne cautioned against linking Quebec's strivings entirely with matters of language or culture.

He suggested that even if Quebec were English speaking, "it would be raising many of the issues it is raising."

Mr. Ryan said that although he was warned beforehand he might find hostility in the West, he saw not "one ounce" of it during the first day of the tour.

Thieves Easy on Sir Winston

LONDON (Reuters). — Thieves with an apparently high regard for cigar-smoking elder statesman Sir Winston Churchill raided a tobacco store here Monday.

They stole a valuable stock of cigars from the store in London's Westminster district—but left behind a package of cigars bearing a label with Churchill's name on it.

World Briefs

LONDON (AP)—British actor Peter Sellers said Tuesday he will marry blonde 21-year-old Swedish actress Britt Eklund. The couple met only 10 days ago. Sellers phoned Miss Eklund in New York Monday to pop the question. Miss Eklund said Yes. Sellers is 36. His first marriage ended in divorce last March after 11 years.

JUMPS FROM HOTEL

NEW YORK (AP)—A 62-year-old man, scheduled for questioning in an investigation of theatre ticket scalping, plunged to his death Monday from the seventh floor of a West 46th St. hotel. The man, William Weiss, was wearing a toga-like garment, customarily donned by patrons of the luxor baths, which are located in the hotel.

MEMO TO ADVERTISERS

The Hallmark of Circulation Integrity

AUDITED PAID CIRCULATION ABC

In the same way that STERLING on silver signifies a standard of known value, so is this A.B.C. emblem a symbol of FACTS about the circulations of newspapers and periodicals. It is the emblem of membership in the Audit Bureau of Circulations* and is assurance to advertisers that the circulations of member publications are measured, audited and reported in accordance with the rigid standards that have been mutually approved and adopted by advertisers and publishers. Here's why our membership in the A.B.C. is important to our advertisers and ourselves: At regular intervals one of the Bureau's large staff of experienced circulation auditors makes a thorough inspection and audit of our circulation records. The results of this exacting audit show: how much circulation we have; where it goes; how it was obtained; and many other FACTS that advertisers need as a sound basis for their advertising investments. This audited information is published by the Bureau in easy-to-read A.B.C. reports which are available to our advertisers on request.

ABC Report

*The Audit Bureau of Circulations, of which this newspaper is a member, is a cooperative, nonprofit association of 3,575 advertisers, advertising agencies and publishers. Organized in 1914, A.B.C. brought order out of advertising chaos by establishing: A definition for paid circulation; rules and standards for auditing and reporting the circulations of newspapers and periodicals.

Butler Wants 1000 Canadians for Cyprus Peace Force

By DAVE McINTOSH

OTTAWA (CP)—British Foreign Secretary R. A. Butler has embarrassed Canadian officials with his surprise announcement that Britain wants 1,000 Canadian infantrymen for the proposed international police force in Cyprus.

Mr. Butler let his political cut out of the bag at a press conference Monday only seconds after External Affairs Minister Martin had said he couldn't be specific about subjects discussed at the two ministers' 90-minute meeting.

Mr. Martin said the preservation of order in Cyprus would cause the Canadian government to give sympathetic consideration to a request for a Canadian contribution to an international force.

Later, he said Canada is interested in helping to establish order on Cyprus where Greeks and Turks are at each other's throats, but that any peace-keeping force should be connected with the United Nations.

Mr. Martin's suggestion falls in line with the wishes of the Cypriot and Greek governments in negotiations for the proposed peace-keeping force.

AGAINST PLAN

U.S. and British negotiators have been against a UN-sponsored force on the ground that it would give the Soviet Union a chance to interfere.

Mr. Butler said the UN should be kept fully informed but offered no comment on whether an international force should be placed under UN auspices.

He said Britain would contribute 4,000 to the force and that Denmark would be "glad" to provide a contingent.

He said the aim is a force with NATO, Commonwealth and possibly some neutral countries participating.

Canada has long maintained a standby infantry battalion—about 900 men—for UN or other service. This standby unit now is the 1st Battalion, Royal 22nd Regiment (Van Doos), of Camp Valcartier, Que.

The possible formation of a Cyprus force appeared to be the focal point of talks Monday between Prime Ministers Pearson and Sir Alec Douglas-Home.

Mr. Butler caused some relief for the Canadian government when he said Britain shouldn't find it necessary to ask for a Commonwealth force for East Africa where army mutinies broke out recently in Kenya, Uganda and Tanganyika.

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP)—Richard de Heaulme, a French planter kidnapped by Communist guerrillas a month ago, was released Friday night, the South Vietnamese news agency reported Monday.

Brought in the Heavy Artillery

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP)—A charge that illegal ammunition was used in the "annual" Sarasota High School orange fight was voiced Monday by one group of participants.

"They started throwing grapefruit," complained a spokesman for the youthful warriors.

$50,000 FLQ Reward Urged By Quebec Attorney-General

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Payment of a $50,000 reward for information leading to the arrest of terrorists of Le Front de Liberation Quebecois last spring has been recommended by Quebec Attorney - General Rene Hamel.

Mr. Hamel said in the legislature Monday it was up to the minister of finance, Premier Lesage, to say whether the reward has been paid or not.

"It is not in the public interest that I give further details," Mr. Hamel said when Opposition Leader Daniel Johnson asked whether the recommendation had been for a group or one person.

The City of Montreal offered a $10,000 reward which it says has been collected, but again, it wouldn't say by whom.

In Manitoba, Premier Duff Roblin Monday announced a plan to permit students of parochial schools to share the services of tax-supported public schools. His plan will be studied by a special committee of the legislature.

WOULD AFFILIATE

The plan calls for private schools to remain independent and devoid of public financial support, but students of private schools affiliating with a public school division or district would be entitled to the facilities and possibly classroom instruction of public schools at public expense.

Other legislatures in session are Saskatchewan, Nova Scotia, British Columbia, and Ontario. The Prince Edward Island session starts Tuesday with Premier Walter Shaw's Progressive Conservatives holding 18 of the 30 seats.

Halifax — Premier Stanfield said federal tax incentives to industries locating in areas of heavy unemployment "are not bringing industry to Nova Scotia."

"We need more positive inducements, far less timidity and far more imagination from the federal government and its agencies." He said during throne speech debate.

Quebec—Premier Lesage denied suggestions that he and his brother Alexandre, a Quebec City lawyer, had ever interfered with decisions made by the Quebec provincial transport board.

DELICATE SUBJECT

Mr. Lesage said his brother had once represented a client before the Quebec liquor board, but because the subject was "delicate" he had asked him not to go before that board again. He said at the same time his brother agreed he would not represent persons presenting private bills to the legislature.

Toronto — Economics Minister Stanley Randall said automation, although it means dislocation of some workers, cannot be held back merely to keep workers from being put out of their jobs.

"We are vitally concerned with the channelling of workers freed by these machines into useful occupations."

Regina — Liberal Opposition Leader Ross Thatcher said a bumper wheat crop rather than the CCF government deserves credit for Saskatchewan's current prosperity.

He said it was "fanciful fiction" to claim, as the government had, that economic development in Saskatchewan was as good as it could be.

Victoria — Opposition Leader Robert Strachan began the budget debate with a 2½-hour speech predicting rehabilitation "will remain almost non-existent" in the social welfare program.

A budget notation that social welfare costs were continuing to rise despite the buoyancy of B.C.'s economy is the key to Social Credit's failure, he said.

Budget Forecast: Higher Spending

By ALAN DONNELLY

OTTAWA (CP)—Finance Minister Gordon has dropped a couple of hints about this year's budget speech: Spending will be higher and major tax changes are unlikely.

Together, they indicate another deficit for next fiscal year when Mr. Gordon presents his second budget speech in the new session of Parliament opening next Tuesday.

But the deficit for 1964-65 seems certain to be reduced from this year's on the strength of the country's continued economic expansion and a built-in revenue boost of some $330,000,000 from tax increases enacted last session.

The 58-year-old finance minister tantalizingly dropped his pre - budget hints in three speech - making appearances two weeks ago. They will be his last public speeches until he presents his budget to Parliament. He is accepting no more speaking dates.

FIRST BUDGET RUSHED

Mr. Gordon's first budget speech last June 13 was hustled into shape under the 60-day deadline set by the Liberal government when it took office last year. This time he has been able to take a more deliberate course, and officials say budget preparations are well advanced.

There has been no indication whether the budget will be presented before or after Parliament's Easter recess which, if custom is followed, will run for 11 days from March 26.

The federal and provincial governments will meet during the recess at Quebec City in a resumption of last November's fiscal conference, and some premiers have served notice they'll be pressing for a better tax deal from Ottawa.

Under these circumstances, there is speculation that Mr. Gordon might postpone his budget until some time in April.

But one official noted that the main topic of the Quebec conferences will involve shifts to the provinces of Ottawa's responsibility in some of the shared-cost programs. He said that since any such changes likely would not take place until 1965, Mr. Gordon might feel free to present his budget prior to the Quebec conference.

One big question mark in the budget is whether the finance minister will press forward with further tax moves to encourage Canadian ownership of industry and to offset the dominance of foreign-controlled firms in some areas of the economy.

In a Montreal speech Jan. 30, he said:

"We believe that it is imperative to slow down the extension of non-resident ownership and control, and in time to reverse the process. We should be aiming at a situation in which Canadian investors and foreign investors are more truly equal partners."

SAYS RESPONSE GOOD

However, he also said there had been an "encouraging" response to the measures in his last budget aimed at having foreign-controlled firms in Canada make available 25 per cent of their share ownership to Canadian investors.

The government's main spending program will be presented early in the parliamentary session, and Mr. Gordon already has said in an Edmonton speech that spending will be higher than the current year's $7,600,000,000—a figure that includes some $800,000,000 for the universal $75 monthly old age pensions.

He also told a press conference at Edmonton that he expects to make no major tax changes, while awaiting the report of the royal commission on taxation expected late this year.

For next year the federal treasury will be feeling the buoyant effects on revenue from economic growth.

There will also be extra tax revenues—an estimated $165,000,000—resulting from a speed-up in the way corporations pay their income taxes.

Besides this, there will be a two-stage increase in the sales tax imposed last year on building materials and production equipment. The tax will rise to eight per cent from four on April 1 and then to 11 per cent next Jan. 1.

New Long Term Wheat Deals With China Seen

TORONTO (CP)—Trade Minister Mitchell Sharp predicted Monday long-term agreements with China, the Soviet Union and Eastern European countries will insure markets for 75,000,000 to 100,000,000 bushels of wheat in each of the next two crop years.

Mr. Sharp told the annual meeting of the Central Ontario division of the Agricultural Institute of Canada the agreements assure a good level of exports to July, 1966.

The Soviet Union is unlikely to be a serious competitor in world wheat markets without radical changes in agricultural practices, he said.

Next Time Try A Shoe Horn

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—A 92-passenger Delta Airline Convair 880 with 58 persons aboard landed at the wrong airport Monday.

The landing was uneventful but posed the immediate problem of how to get the big jet back into the air.

Hawkins Field, where the plane came down, does not have the long runways required for jet takeoffs.

Passengers and luggage from Flight 928 were ferried across town by taxi to new Thompson Field.

The jet—thus lightened—took off with room to spare. It landed at Thompson Field, refueled, picked up its passengers and continued on to New York.

A Delta spokesman said it evidently was all due to "an error in judgment."

Two Escape Boat During Storm

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—The story of an escape from a sinking vessel was among the reports reaching here Monday in the wake of Sunday's storm that whipped Newfoundland with 120-mile-an-hour winds and piled up damage in the thousands of dollars.

Leo Dwyer and Robert Jones, two fishermen from Lewisporte, Nfld., reached Little Burnt Bay Monday and told how they escaped in a dory when their 60-ton schooner, Collin II, sank Sunday during the height of the storm.

They rowed about half a mile to shore and walked overland to Burnt Bay.

Meanwhile, the sealing vessel Terra Nova left Carbonear Monday to search for the tug Pugwash, which went adrift after breaking her moorings in Conception Bay Sunday night.

In St. John's, plate glass windows were blown in by gales. The roofs were ripped from three barns and a warehouse on the outskirts of the city and stained glass window in a church was shattered.

AQUARIUM RECORD

VANCOUVER (CP)—A record 19,782 visitors toured the Vancouver Public Aquarium in January, curator Dr. Murray Newman said Monday. There were only 13,391 visitors in January, 1963.

The baby received three blood transfusions before birth —6½ weeks premature—in a technique to counteract a strong RH antibody reaction by supplementing his blood supply with prenatal injections.

Mrs. Larrain said she had lost five babies in 18 years of marriage because of the RH factor. The newborn child was reported in satisfactory condition.

Dr. A. W. Liley of the National Women's Hospital developed the technique of injecting blood into the abdominal cavities of unborn babies. Mrs. Larrain read of it in a newspaper.
