Canada Will Meet Commitment

By BEN WARD

LONDON (CP)—Prime Minister Pearson said Wednesday he believes strongly in the need for disarmament but that his government intends to carry out its avowed policy on filling those defence commitments already made which call for the acquiring of nuclear warheads for Canadian forces.

Arriving for talks with Prime Minister Macmillan, the Canadian leader told an airport press conference that Canada's nuclear commitments in its defence alliances will be met "until the commitment is changed by agreement."

Pearson later paid a 40-minute courtesy call on Macmillan at Admiralty House and met with Lt.-Gen. E. L. M. Burns, chief Canadian negotiator at the Geneva disarmament conference, for a discussion on the latest behind - scenes developments at Geneva.

He was to begin formal conferences with the British prime minister this afternoon. He also is expected to see Labor Party Leader Harold Wilson today.

MET BY REPORTERS

Pearson arrived in mid-afternoon Wednesday after a 10-hour flight from Toronto aboard an RCAF Yukon aircraft and immediately headed into a combined press and television interview in a small reception room crowded with more than 50 Canadian and British reporters.

He said he intends to give Macmillan a complete view of his government's views on defence and economic matters.

But he added that he does not intend to have "large, specific decisions to announce after this first meeting." The emphasis would be on general discussions, with firm decision to be made during a process of inter - government consultations which would continue for months.

Pearson was faced with a barrage of questions on nuclear issues and trade.

He said he naturally will talk to Macmillan about the prospects for a multinational NATO nuclear force and indicated that he favors such a step. The more collective control over nuclear weapons achieved by NATO, the better it would be for the alliance.

TO CHANGE AGREEMENTS?

Pearson did not spell out whether his new government intends to change the NATO and North American Air Defence agreements which now call for the acquisition of nuclear warheads by Canadian forces.

On trade, he said he is "in complete sympathy" with the United States proposal for tariff reductions on an across-the-board basis.

On the Commonwealth tariff preference, Pearson said it should not be abandoned without some "suitable substitute."

He made it clear that Canada would welcome increased British exports, to help bring U.K. sales in Canada closer to the amount which Canada now sells annually here.

THE SEA CADET BAND of Trail and district took part in the official launching of Safety Month yesterday at the Trail plants of the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company. "Think Safety and Work Safely" is one of several slogans promoting safety throughout Cominco operations, including its mines at Salmo, Riondel and Kimberley.

Jubilant Communists Move To Form New Front in Italy

ROME (AP) — Flushed with national election gains, Italian Communists have boosted the idea of a new leftist front that could replace the Christian Democrat Party as Italy's major political force.

"The cause of unity, democrary and socialism advanced," the Communist newspaper L'Unita declares in a Wednesday headline on the selection of a new Parliament this weekend. "Italy goes left."

For the first time since the Second World War Italy, a partner in the North Atlantic Treaty rganization, has to face up to the possibly of a united Marxist left backed by more popular votes than those given the Christian Democrats, the Roman Catholic party of Premier Amintore Fanfani.

The Communists and Marxist Socialists — campaign opponents but once allied—won a total of 12,015,000 votes in the balloting for a new Senate and a Chamber of Deputies. The division of votes was roughly 2 to 1 in favor of the Communists, who lured 1,000,000 more adherents than they did in 1958.

EDGE REDUCED

The Christian Democrats, losing followers to other parties, got 11,763,418. This was a drop of nearly 750,000 from their showing in 1958. The party maintained its standing as the biggest in Parliament, but its edge was reduced.

For the present, at least, a new alliance of Communists and Socialists is only a dream of Communist boss Palmiro Togliatti and his followers.

Socialist leader Pietro Nenni indicated he would continue to pursue his year-old "opening to the left" partnership with the Christian Democrats.

But extreme left-wing Socialists were openly challenging Nenni and appeared eager to reunite with the Communists.

Trouble might also come from the Christian Democrat right. It never accepted Fanfani's dealings with Nenni. The election indicated defections to the rightist Liberal party, which also made unprecedented gains.

Christian Democrat rightists were expected to cite the election results to try to ease Fanfani out of office and replace his left-leaning government with a centre alliance of Liberals, Christian Democrats and Democratic Socialists.

If that happens, Nenni would have no alternative but go again into a popular front. His Socialists broke away from an alliance with the Communists after the Soviet repression of the 1956 Hungarian revolution.

Ice Floes Ram Houses, Health Hazards Mount

HAY RIVER, N.W.T. (CP) — Evacuation of about 300 residents from this flood-stricken community got under way Wednesday night.

The 300 were among 800 residents who have taken shelter in the separate school, located on high ground above swirling flood waters that cover three-quarters of the town to a depth of more than three feet.

Two Otter aircraft were loading passengers at the partially-flooded Hay River airport. The Otters, owned by Wardair Limited and Northwest Territorial Airways, are capable of carrying about one dozen women and children each. They will fly their passengers to Yellowknife, 117 miles north of here.

Three other aircraft—a DC-3, a C-46 and a Beaver owned by Pacific Western Airlines, were en route here from Yellowknife and Fort Smith, to assist in the evacuation.

The five aircraft are expected to fly a shuttle service throughout the night.

BOARD BOATS

The evacuees made the first and last part of their two-mile trip to the airport by truck. The road to the airport is cut in places by deep water and at three points the evacuees boarded small boats.

Mr. Bryan said there were about 800 persons in the separate school but it is hoped 300 of these may be moved out by air during the night.

The number of persons in the separate school was boosted earlier in the day when residents who had moved into the federal school were transferred by a raft towed by a bulldozer. The transfer was made after power to the federal school was cut.

Meanwhile, Mr. McBryan said a crack in lake ice has appeared 150 yards from shore and "It could mean relief earlier than we expected." He said army demolition crews were to report today on action they may take to further break up lake ice.

Mr. McBryan said that five miles of ice still remain jammed in the rampaging Hay River and the water level could climb another foot in the town.

BIG CLEANUP JOB

Earlier, the mayor said evacuation would be for the convenience of those who leave. A huge cleanup job faced the town and health hazards mounted as drinking water supplies dwindled and refuse from flooded open ditches and sewers floated about town.

The island town was all but isolated from the mainland on the south shore of Great Slave Lake by the rampaging Hay River, swollen by spring runoff and jammed with ice floes.

Ice floes rammed into houses and trailers. More than 50 were overturned or knocked from foundations. Seventy-five per cent of the island was under water.

The mayor said the water level dropped six inches in two hours to 2:30 p.m., "but this might not mean very much."

TO SEND SUPPLIES

An air force spokesman said a C-119 transport plane would leave Edmonton at 5 a.m. today for Hay River carrying 2,500 pounds of Red Cross emergency supplies.

The supplies were packed in 12 large wicker baskets to be dropped by parachute.

Mayor McBryan said the unpaved airport runway could be used by a DC-3 but not by the larger C-119. Part of the runway was covered by water.

He estimated damage to the town at more than $1,000,000.

Mayor McBryan said he asked the Canadian army's Western Command headquarters in Edmonton to arrange for a plane load of supplies, including 50 blankets, 1,500 paper cups, two cases of detergent, eight cases of evaporated milk, 12 dozen tea towels, three cases of hand soap, four cases of butter and "as much bread as you can bring."

After more than 36 hours of flood conditions a scene of desolation was reported by Jack Deakin of the Edmonton Journal, who flew over the town in a chartered plane.

TRAILERS UPSET

"Flying over the town presents a birds-eye-view of nature at its wildest," he said. "Whole sections of the town are under water. Trailer units, easily valued at $20,000, were literally picked up and tossed onto their sides or turned completely upside down.

"Many houses are completely surrounded by water and the only link, besides telephone for entrapped people in the settled area, is by helicopter. Row on row of houses have been smashed from their foundations.

"It is pitiful to see what once was an Indian village (of about 300) on the outskirts of town. The Indian families, living in tents, move their tents back as the water rises.

"A small, old church in the village stands isolated in a miniature lake. Other buildings in the village are tilted, pushed over or are partially seen above the murky, silt-sodden water."

HIGHWAY CUT OFF

Deakin said greatest fear is the ice jam cannot be broken and the water will continue to rise.

"If this should continue there will be few places flood-fleeing residents may go. The highway out of town is completely cut off and residents are moved across the swirling waters by helicopter."

One section of the island which so far escaped heavy flooding was West Channel, a village two miles from the town proper and the centre of a fishing industry.

More than 300 residents there remained in their homes. In most flood years this area is inundated.

In the schools people mingled in small groups. Some men played cards, others lounged in the gym. Many more just stood at the windows and watched the water rise and fall.

There was no shortage of food, the mayor said. Water supplies were a problem and propane stoves in home economic classrooms were used to boil what was available.

Supplies of typhoid vaccine reached the town and willbe used in a mass innoculation program when the flood ends.

CALL IN EXPERT

Mayor McBryan said the river-mouth jam backed more than six miles upstream. An army demolition expert, Maj. R. R. Buckley, who one week ago supervised blasting to ease a flood at Whitecourt, Alta., was scheduled to arrive in Hay River Wednesday to meet civic leaders and plan strategy.

Numerous difficulties forced residents to summon all the pioneering spirit they had. Helicopter pilot Roger Sexton used the roof of the RCMP detachment office as a landing spot while ferrying threatened families to safety. Several women approaching childbirth were taken to a Roman Catholic convent.

Electric power was restored Wednesday afternoon but service was limited because ice had knocked down many poles. Workmen concentrated on getting power to the hospital and Canadian National Telecommunications centre, heart of phone connections to Hay River and the North.

Only a single emergency telephone line remained in operation. Emergency calls had priority and calls by newspaper men were restricted.

El Paso Gas Turned Down

WASHINGTON (CP) — The federal power commission rejected Wednesday a proposed $151,000,000 west coast natural-gas pipeline project that eventually might have opened new markets for Canadian gas.

The commission said it voted to deny the proposals by El Paso Natural Gas Company and its associates to build a 1,200-mile pipeline on a horseshoe-shaped route from Texas to Wyoming and then down to California.

El Paso, an importer of Canadian gas through the West-coast Transmission Company pipeline cutting through British Columbia, had been competing against Tennessee Gas Transmission Company for the rich southern California gas market.

El Paso maintained that initially it would have increased use of gas reserves in Texas, New Mexico and Wyoming to serve the new market. But it also would have been alert to expand imports from Canada to fill any northern states gap caused by shifting U.S. reserves into the California area.

Tennessee had joined with associates to propose an alternative 1,400-mile line from the gulf coast of Texas direct to Los Angeles.

Report on Broadcasting To Precede Inquiry

TORONTO (CP) — State Secretary J. W. Pickersgill said Wednesday a report on Canadian broadcasting, which he indicated would be a prelude to a full government inquiry, will be prepared by the top officials of the Board of Broadcast Governors, the CBC, and the Canadian Association of Broadcasters.

He told the C.A.B. annual meeting here that both BBG Chairman Dr. Andrew Stewart and CBC President Alphonse Ouimet have requested there be such an inquiry.

Mr. Pickersgill said he is sure that about 400 C.A.B. members who represent most of Canada's private radio and television stations "also feel that there are many aspects of broadcasting which need further investigation before any new attempt is made to define public policy on the whole complex field of broadcasting."

Dr. Stewart, Mr. Ouimet and C.A.B. President Don Jamieson all were in the audience.

Fruit Rancher Found Dead

OLIVER (CP) — George Kilback, 68, pioneer fruit-grower, was found dead Tuesday in the basket of an aerial platform used in orchard operations.

Police said the machine was still running and that Mr. Kilback, who had been helping his son - in - law in pruning operations, may have been struck by a heavy limb and suffered a broken neck. Exact cause of death had not been established.

Claim Red Ship Torpedoed

TOKYO (AP) — Crew members of a Communist Chinese freighter which sank Wednesday in the Yellow Sea reported that the ship had been hit three times by torpedoes fired from an unidentified submarine, the Japanese maritime safety agency reported.

The agency quoted advices from the Japanese fishing boat Iki Maru, which said it had rescued all 59 crew members from the sunken freighter Yue Jin Ho (Leap Forward).

An official of the agency said he was doubtful of the torpedoing report and suggested that the freighter might have grounded.

An agency spokesman said the 11,482-ton freighter sank about 5:15 p.m. Wednesday in the Yellow Sea. He said the crew reported that the craft was hit three times after being followed about four hours.

The sinking was reported to have taken place about 120 miles southwest of Cheju Island, off the tip of South Korea.

The maritime safety agency said patrol ships were sent to the scene.

The freighter left Tsingtao, China, heading for Japan with 14,000 tons of corn and sundry goods. The ship was originally expected in Moji Port, southwestern Japan, Wednesday.

Sugar Jumps At Coast

VANCOUVER (CP)—For the second time in two days the price of sugar jumped here Wednesday.

In the 33rd increase since September, the price jumped 20 cents to $13.15 a 100-pound bag at the refinery. Tuesday the price went up 25 cents.

Asked when the upward spiral is going to stop, an official of the British Columbia Sugar Refinery here said: "I don't know.

"All we know is the price of raw sugar is increasing. We have to pay more for it, so we have to charge more."

The price of raw sugar in London climbed 16 points to 8.3 cents Wednesday, he said. The New York price was 8.5 cents.

Drivers Watch as Truck Smashed by Ammunition

FORT NELSON, B.C. (CP)—"It was like throwing a box full of shells into a bonfire—only bigger."

Lloyd McFaul of Dawson Creek, B.C., was telling in an interview the destruction of a semi-trailer van full of explosives after it caught fire on the Alaska Highway.

"A rocket would explode in the van, blow a hole in the roof or side, and then there'd be a blow torch of flame shooting out 40 feet.

"Eventually the van was nothing but a pile of rubble."

Mr. McFaul and his fellow driver Doug Hartnell, also of Dawson Creek, were relief drivers taking the Alaska-bound load of U.S. Army rockets to this city 60 miles north of Prince George.

A 250-mile stretch of the highway was closed Tuesday while demolition experts investigated the wreck. Canadian Army engineers reopened the highway Wednesday night.

Mr. McFaul said he and Mr. Hartnell escaped after the van caught fire at Mile 20 seconds before the first rocket exploded.

They unhooked the truck and drove a quarter of a mile away and watched the destruction of the van from a hillside. Mr. McFaul hiked through bushland and set up flares on the highway to stop traffic.

The truck, owned by Garrison Transport of Seattle, was picked up by the two drivers at Dawson Creek at the start of the highway.

Former Cranbrook Missionary Would Abolish Reserves

VANCOUVER (CP) —A veteran of missionary and Indian education work in British Columbia has advocated the complete transfer of all federal government obligations to Indians to provincial governments.

Rev. James Mulvihill, writing in the current issue of Oblate News, calls for the eventual abolition of reserves. He says the harmful conditions outweigh the few advantages.

Father Mulvihill was principal of residential Indian schools in Kamloops, Cranbrook and Lejac, and has been involved in such work for 20 years.

He says a provincial takeover of Indian affairs would speed the integration process and remove a present drawback of reserve living, which he termed an obsolete way of life.

Now an executive secretary of the Oblate Fathers' Indian and Eskimo Welfare Commission in Ottawa, Father Mulvihill said provinces would compete to give Indians good treatment. (14)

Pleads Not Guilty In Skier's Death

RENO, Nev. (AP) — Thomas Lee Bean, 18, pleaded not guilty Wednesday to the mutilation rape-murder of a former British Olympic skier, and his lawyer said insanity would be the defence.

The dismembered body of Sonja McCaskie, 24, was discovered in her apartment April 5. Bean was arrested eight days later after police traced her pawned camera to the Reno high school youth. At that time, police said Bean admitted the crime.

Harry Anderson, the defence lawyer, asked Judge Grant Bowen to name at least two psychiatrists to represent Bean at his trial, scheduled to begin June 24. The judge did not rule on the request immediately.

Two Charged In Abortion Death

BALTIMORE (AP)—A Baltimore nightclub owner and a salesman were charged Wednesday with conspiring to perform an abortion of a New Jersey school teacher and causing her death.

Sol Goodman, 55, part owner of the Two O'Clock Club, and Ernest Fieni, 42, the salesman, were charged by Baltimore police in the death of Angela Lach, 26, of Sayreville, N.J.

Her body was found sprawled in the driveway of an estate in suburban Lutherville Monday when the owner returned home.

Dr. Russell S. Fisher, state medical examiner, said the woman died of an infected abortion performed while Miss Lach was in early pregnancy.

Lots Here for All, Says Premier

VICTORIA (CP) — Premier Bennett said Wednesday there will be no increase in taxation as long as he is premier.

"There's lots here for everybody," the Social Credit premier said in a press conference. "There'll be a distribution of abundance."

He had been asked if he planned to follow Manitoba's example and tax cigarettes.

Churchill Won't Seek Office Again

LONDON (Reuters)—Sir Winston Churchill, 88, announced Wednesday he will not run for Parliament in the next general election because he is unable to attend sessions of the House of Commons.

Churchill has represented the electoral district of Woodford in Essex County as a Conservative party member since 1945. For 19 years before that he represented Epping, east of London.

In a letter to the chairman of the Woodford Conservative Association, the elder statesman said he will not run for office again because of the accident he suffered last June in Monte Carlo when he fell and broke a thigh bone.

He said the accident "has greatly decreased my mobility and it has become difficult for me to attend the House of Commons as I would wish."

ELECTION COMING UP

The Conservative government of Prime Minister Macmillan still has about 16 months left of its five-year term. No one knows exactly when the next general election will be.

In his letter Churchill said:

"I need not tell you with what sadness I feel constrained to take this step.

"I have now had the honor and privilege of sitting in the House of Commons for more than 60 years . . ."

Political sources said Churchill's decision to leave the House of Commons by the next election is likely to revive speculation whether he might ultimately accept a peerage which would thus make him a member of the House of Lords.

Churchill added that he hopes Woodford would find a new candidate "who will have the opportunity of becoming well known in the constituency and himself getting to know you all."

Churchill already has two of the greatest honors the sovereign can confer on any subject—a knighthood of the Order of the Garter, Britain's highest order of chivalry, and the Order of Merit.

He now is the father of the House of Commons by virtue of having the longest period of continuous service.

According to latest reports Churchill is in good health and spirits, having just returned from a vacation in the south of France.

DIES IN CRASH

KELOWNA (CP) — Dennis Barnes, about 55, was fatally injured Tuesday when a car containing eight persons overturned in a ditch seven miles west of here.

Barnes, a resident of the nearby Westbank Indian reserve, suffered severe head injuries. He was dead on arrival at hospital.

Minor cuts and bruises were suffered by Mrs. Emily Michele, her son Ernie, 10, and Clifford Wilson. Four other passengers escaped injury. All were residents of the Westbank reserve.

Police said the car was travelling on a winding stretch of gravel road when it rolled over.

Unrest Continues in Haiti Capital

PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti (AP) — Haiti was reported Wednesday night to have offered safe-conduct passes for 15 of 22 Haitians who took asylum in the Dominican Republic Embassy.

Sources said a hitch could develop in the delicate negotiations between the Caribbean neighbors if the Dominicans insist on all 22 being allowed to leave Haiti.

Francisco Lima of El Salvador, a member of the inter-American peace mission investigating the dispute, said the Dominican charge d'affaires had asked time to contact Santo Domingo before making a decision on the offer by President Francois Duvalier's government.

Lima did not give the names of 15 Haitians he said would be allowed to leave Port au Prince for the Dominican Republic.

Informants said it was not known whether Duvalier had attached any conditions to his offer.

RUMORS CIRCULATE

A strong undercurrent of unrest and a burst of rumors prevailed in this capital. Censorship was clamped on all outgoing cables and telephone calls.

The United States sent another protest to the Duvalier government over the halting of the U.S. embassy's first secretary in his car Tuesday night. Guards forced him to stand with his hands up in the glare of his car's headlights until he identified himself.

Haitian internal violence was reporting continuing.

Four bombs exploded in the La Bosse section of Port au Prince Tuesday night and scattered shooting was heard, sources said.

The home of Clement Barbot, a former friend of Duvalier who broke with the president and pledged to seek his overthrow, was burned. Barbot is believed hiding inside the country.

And in This Corner . . .

LONDON (CP)—Prime Minister Pearson was asked at a press conference Wednesday whether he anticipates a meeting with Premier Khrushchev.

"Mr. Khrushchev already has his hands full," Pearson replied with a grin.

"He's got Charlotte Whitton over there at the moment. She's the mayor of Ottawa."

Even the British reporters joined in the general laughter. Mayor Whitton currently is on an extensive tour of Europe.

New Denver-Nelson Paving Completion Planned This Year

NEW DENVER — A paved surface should connect Nelson and New Denver by the end of the year, Kaslo-Slocan MLA Randolph Harding indicated to the Slocan District Chamber of Commerce this week.

He said that 1963 estimates call for 7.4 miles of road mix between Silverton and Slocan, from Ten-Mile Creek to Silverton, and that this virtually completes paving from New Denver to Nelson.

The provincial government has budgeted $219,000 for maintenance and $103,000 for capital expenditure in the riding this year.

Other work in the riding will see 1½ miles of road mix in the Coffee Creek area, replacing of Lemon Creek bridge, completion of Cedar Creek bridge, 25 miles of side road work to be completed, and two to four miles of reconstruction on the Monashee highway, plus seven miles of road mix.

He said there was a good possibility of the government gazetting the Celgar access road between Galena Bay and Nakusp as a public roadway. This has been the aim of the area for several years.

He said there is no definite plans for improving the Cape Horn stretch of road but it is possible that some work may be done.

Mr. Harding stated that in all likelihood the senior citizens' pavilion in New Denver will remain open, but if it did close, the occupants would be moved into the New Denver dormitory.

The Chamber endorsed a Rod and Gun Club committee recommendation to hold a Slocan Lake fishing derby. The week-long derby with a top prize of $50 will be held May 13-20 and weigh-in stations will be located at Slocan, Silverton, New Denver and Fairhurst Resort.

The group extended an invitation to the Kaslo and Nakusp Chambers to attend the Slocan regular meeting later this month for the purpose of deciding on joint publicity and advertising.

Parades, Rallies Launch Cominco Safety Month

TRAIL — May "Safety Month 1963" at all Cominco operations began Wednesday with bands, parades, giant rallies and presentations. (See picture on front page.)

Employees in mines, plants and shops in the Kootenays and other locations are participating in safety month with promotional ideas aimed at emphasizing safety, not only on the job but also in the home and on the road.

"Safety everywhere all the time" is one of the many slogans being used.

J. C. Ink, superintendent of safety and hygiene department, pointed out that while safety is stressed each day of the year, the campaigns held in May set a high standard of safety performance, something to aim for every month.

Safety month at Trail started in the morning with plant and shop rallies and with the naval cadet band and color party marching through some parts of the operations. Slogans, bill boards and displays were set up in many locations. Quizzes, competitions, rule book contests, safety draws, films and shop inspections are some of the activities taking place.

Valuable prizes will be distributed during the month and presentations made to employees and plants with long safety records. Outstanding individual safety performances will receive special recognition.

A feature of the opening day program was a simulated rescue from the high roof at the lead refinery in Tadanac. Ed Trembly and Ron Ramsden were overcome by escaping gas. The alarms were sounded and the fire department was instrumental in lowering the men to the ground from the top of the building, a distance of nearly 45 feet.

Cominco employees have major safety achievements on record at various operations. The H.B. Mine at Salmo was recently presented the Ryan Trophy for 1962, emblematic of top national safety performance. It is the fourth time in the last five years the H.B. Mine has been awarded the trophy. Rule book quiz department contests and safety talks are to be conducted during the safety month.

Cominco's Bluebell Mine at Riondel, along with contests, competitions and rule book questionnaires will deal with safety on the road which will include a program of safety seat belt installations.

Company operations at Kimberley in the Sullivan Mine and concentrator will conduct department contests, safety draws, safety talks, home quiz contests and will make presentations for long safety records.

A highlight of safety month at Trail will be the first aid competition for the Cominco Cup. Divisional winners of the two-man plant elimination first aid competition have been announced:

Metallurgical division, first, zinc tank rooms "A", R. W. Ross and A. Morrison; second refinery, No. 2, A. Orlando and C. Maletta; third, research, No. 1, R. W. Smyth and H. E. Poling; chemicals and fertilizer division, first carpenter shop, E. Secco and D. D'Andrea; second bolier and plumber shop, B. Muir and M. Bale; third phosphate repair, C. Evans and R. Davidson. Engineering division, first, carpenter shop, K. W. Hill and W. W. Goldber; second boiler shop, G. Secco and V. Parslow; third, welders, W. T. Crispin and L. T. Tremblay.

Forty-one teams entered the plant competitions.

Damage Minor As Car Hits Bridge

Damage was negligible after a motor vehicle hit the bridge crossing Cottonwood Falls, two miles west of Nelson on Ymir Road.

Dick Parker and Gary Kilpatrick, both of Nelson, were proceeding past Kline Service when the car hit the bridge, bending the guard rail.

RCMP said the road was muddy, causing the car to slide and hit the rail, about 7 p.m. Tuesday.

Wood Tick Bite Paralyzes Nelson Girl Temporarily

The first wood tick paralysis victim in the Kootenay in several years was reported in Ymir Wednesday.

Five-year-old Fern Thomas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Thomas of Ymir, had a large, bloated wood tick removed from the nape of her neck near the left ear in Kootenay Lake General Hospital Wednesday.

Mr. Thomas reasoned that from the size of the tick it had been on her person for at least a week.

The girl awoke yesterday morning partially paralyzed. "She couldn't stand up, couldn't dress herself, couldn't feed herself," said Mr. Thomas.

He said she had been acting strangely the past few days and was restless Tuesday night.

Close examination of the girl revealed the tick buried in the skin just above the hairline, hidden from normal view. It had not been discovered when the girl's hair had been washed Monday night.

Mr. Thomas said on the removal of the tick, the child's actions returned to normal and she is resting comfortably in hospital.

Being a paralysis tick, it is being sent away for analysis. Scientists have yet to uncover the secrets of this spring phenomenon which blankets the Kootenay.

Tick season is generally from March 1 to the end of May, depending on the altitude and the weather conditions in the area.

The minister will present the university president, Father Aquinas Thomas, SA, with a specially-bound edition of the act which incorporated Notre Dame as a four-year degree-granting university.

The banquet, chaired by Most Rev. W. E. Doyle, Bishop of Nelson, will be preceded by graduation ceremonies to be held the same day in the afternoon at St. Martin's Hall on the university campus with Most Rev. G. E. # Women Hurt In Cutoff Crash

A Nelson woman and her mother waited for an hour after their vehicle left the Kinnaird-Christina Lake Highway before assistance arrived to take them to Castlegar District Hospital Tuesday. A truck driver took them to hospital.

Mrs. Christina Schoelzel of Nelson was treated for abrasions and broken ribs while her mother Mrs. Amy Koeppen of Prince George was treated for cuts and bruises.

Driver of the vehicle, Mrs. Koeppen told RCMP that she had swerved to miss a deer at mile 20, hit the soft shoulder, lost control and rolled down the bank into a creek. The women climbed a steep 40-foot high bank to regain the highway and begin their long wait.

The small foreign car was declared a total wreck.

The science displays were created at home by the majority of students. Their parents viewed the displays Tuesday evening.

Winners of the various divisions follow:

Primary physics division, Ross Arlidge; primary biological division, Douglas Coletti; elementary physics division, Tony Arcuri; elementary biological division, Penny Freno; intermediate physics division, Patricia Shutty; intermediate biological division, Shirley MacDonald; junior high school physics division, Arthur Johnson; junior high school biological division, Pamela Pepin.

Says Use Fungicides For Gray Mold Rot

Gray mold fruit rot is a threat to strawberry production says the Canada Department of Agriculture in its Farm News.

The fungicides Thylate or captan will protect strawberry plants from gray mold infection.

Use two to four pounds of the fungicide to 100 gallons of water and apply 200 gallons of the diluted spray to the acre, advises C. O. Gourley of the federal research station at Kentville, Nova Scotia.

Spraying should begin just after the first blossoms appear and should be repeated every seven to 12 days (depending on climatic conditions) until harvest.

There is no restriction on the use of captan. It can be applied up to and between pickings if necessary. Thylate must not be used later than three days before harvest.

Both materials will also control other fruit and foliage diseases of strawberries.

The blossoms are the pathway through which fruit rot occurs.

As blossoms begin to fade or are damaged by frost, they are prone to infection by this fungus. The fungus can live in infected blossom parts in a harmless state until the berries begin to ripen.

During periods of wet humid weather, the fungus becomes active and spreads from the infected flower parts into the fruit.

Research shows that most fruit is infected in this way. It has also shown that few infections occur by direct penetration of the surface of the berry by germinating spores of the fungus.

Gray mold fruit rot will spread from an infected berry to a sound one in direct contact with it.

Horticulturist Warns Against Grasshoppers

Kootenay orchardists are cautioned to be on the lookout for an outbreak of tent caterpillars this season. Caterpillars are now hatching and in some orchards they are in sufficient numbers to cause severe defoliation of the trees if control measures are not carried out, says J. E. Swales, district horticulturist.

DDT is recommended for control of tent caterpillars. It is recommended that DDT 50% wettable powder be applied at the rate of 1½ pounds per 100 gallons of water in a dilute spray, or 12 pounds per acre in a concentrate spray. In orchards where only an occasional cluster of caterpillars appears, control may be obtained by removing and destroying infested branches.

Toyota Reports Proposed Cost Road Paving

CRESTON—Road paving came in for heavy discussion at the village commission meeting with Tak Toyota stating the cost of paving to the town would be 59 to 60 cents per square yard, depending on the fluctuation of oil costs.

The contracting company will be sent a civic-prepared contract, which states they will receive 39 cents per square yard for laying two inches of cold asphalt mix by paving machine.

The contract further states the town will supply oil and screen the gravel. The company will prime, mix and lay hard-surface material. Gravel cost will amount to 35 cents a cubic yard.

Work will commence July 1, if all factors are ironed out.

Over 1000 gallons of oil will be used in the proect, with basic work done at the Wynndel pit. Oil will be brought in by truck for convenience.

This year's work calls for 90,000 to 100,000 square yards of paving. The council allowed a two-cent increase per square yard for machine mix, and the idea of mixing by grader was suggested but discarded.

Mrs. L. Stainton and Mrs. M. Wellwood presented pupils with perfect attendance prizes.

Bibles were given to three members of the senior class Nancy Noakes, Tannis Trip and Kent Walkley, while Barbara Noakes, Berithe Nelson and Kathy Stainton won books, having received their Bibles last season.

Intermediate activity books gave special mention to Jerod Stevenson, and tokens to Anna Erickson, Bronwyn Murray, Tim Stainton.

Good work in the Junior class gave credits to Carolyn Noakes, Dick Wellwood, Laura Kane, Mark Noakes, Kerry Stevenson, Kathy Bowles, with most interest shown by Tinker Walkley.

Hot dogs and marshmallows over a bonfire climaxed the day. Mrs. R. Stevenson and Leah Stainton supervised the hike on Balfour Bluffs.

Trail Man To Be Mt. Baker Vice Principal

CRANBROOK — Gordon Clements of Trail has been confirmed by Cranbrook District School Board as vice-principal of its Mount Baker Secondary School effective in the fall term. He succeeds longtime vice-principal J. S. Irvine, who reaches superannuation from the profession at the end of the spring term after many years service at Mount Baker School.

Oasis to Have Water Rate Poll

TRAIL — The Oasis Water Works District, which was incorporated in 1949, will hold a poll on May 6 on a bylaw to raise the water rate in the district.

The society, headed by Joseph Schumaker, has 32 lots and 28 landowners. The district is clear of all debt at the present time.

The present tank has a capacity of 3,500 gallons and the new tank would hold 12,000 gallons. The tank is located northwest of the village. Plans will have to be finalized for a new concrete tank before bids can be made.

The new water tank will not increase water pressure to a great extent. Water at Oasis has passed the health inspector's tests for non-contamination and thus the new tank will not be needed to get rid of pollution.

Cranbrook CMH Canvassing for Memberships

CRANBROOK — It was noted at the recent Cranbrook Branch meeting of the Canadian Mental Health Association that the drive last year enlisted 540 members through the area, who contributed about $1,500 for CMHA work.

Major parts of this work are research into causes, prevention and treatment of mental illness and public education toward understanding and accepting the facts of emotional and mental disturbance as a phase of physical illness.

In preparing for the current membership drive and for the Open House to be held at the White Cross Centre in the Phoenix Building the day before the drive, Cranbrook Junior Chamber of Commerce contributed $25 toward advertising these events. Jaycettes are serving coffee and cookies at Centre.

Serious illness of George Kenwood, CMHA director for the province, was reported at the meeting by the Branch delegates, Ron Powell, Mrs. Dorey and Mrs. Terry who attended the early April provincial CMHA conference at Vancouver.

New Attack On Lung Disease Among Miners

VANCOUVER (CP)—The British Columbia Workmen's Compensation Board says it has launched an all-out campaign to reduce the causes of lung disease among miners.

The board's 1962 annual report, released Tuesday, says silicosis and pneumonoconiosis are now being investigated by means of dust and ventilation surveys. Miners' unions have said the two diseases cripple hundreds of the province's miners each year.

The report says other atmospheric tests are being conducted to discover and eliminate the harmful effects of gases such as carbon monoxide and nitrogen dioxide. Recommendations were made for improvements in control devices when comparatively high dust or gas concentrations were found.

A Proposal Worth Following Up

One of the recommendations of the Glassco report which has attracted much attention is the need for more bilingual civil servants. There has been a disposition in the past to ignore French as Canada's second language so that the country is woefully short of those who can speak and write the two languages.

Now, with the separatist movement taking place in Quebec, the other provinces are trying to find means of overcoming this deficiency. Most of them would like to introduce French earlier in the schools but the practical difficulties of this are great. Premier Bennett has declared that this language will be part of the grade one curriculum but the Minister of Education, Hon. Leslie Peterson, has his doubts. He does not see where he will be able to find primary teachers with the ability to teach French.

Mr. Peterson would like all British Columbia children to speak with a pure Parisian accent but it is worthy of note that private kindergarten teachers have been teaching simple French for some time, probably with a Canadian accent. The point is that children at the age of five show an aptitude for learning another language.

To take advantage of the primary children's ability at this age the Department of Education should take the bold step of resorting to modern mechanical aids. The universities can have modern and expensive language teaching machines so that it should not be impossible to have a cheap and effective system for the elementary schools.

For years correspondence schools have been teaching languages by means of records and have proved that this can be done successfully. It could well be adapted for use in primary classes. Small records could be mass-produced cheaply. Each side could carry one short lesson and the records supplied to each primary child. If necessary most parents would be prepared to pay for them.

The teacher would have her oral language lessons with the aid of the record but the bulk of the learning would take place at home. Parents take a great delight in their six-year-olds learning and they would probably enjoy the child's attempts to copy the French of the records.

To assess the value of this suggestion the education department could experiment with one small school district so that it can develop the most effective teaching technique. It could, of course, use radio and television but these two media, good as they are, are not nearly so effective as co-operation between the school, the parents and the children.

Treaty Initiative Up to Canada

The formation of a new government in Canada by Liberal party leader Lester B. Pearson has brought new speculation in this country that "something should be done" about the 1961 treaty for cooperative development of the water resources of the Columbia River.

Failure of the Canadian parliament to ratify the treaty has been attributed to the inability of the province of British Columbia to reach agreement with the federal government on the financing of projects, export of power and similar questions.

The installation of Mr. Pearson as the new prime minister has not yet changed that situation which is, admittedly, a complex of issues north of the border.

The terms of the treaty were accepted by our United States Senate shortly after the treaty signing. American officials, in both our executive and legislative branches of the government, were led to believe then that the terms were also acceptable to British Columbia as well as the Ottawa government. Both had a part in drafting the agreement prior to American ratification.

Before the recent election in Canada, Mr. Pearson and several other influential Liberal party spokesmen urged that the treaty be renegotiated, although the issue was never a prime one in the recent national political campaign.

The Columbian treaty will no doubt be a subject for discussion between Mr. Pearson and President Kennedy at their scheduled conference May 11 and 12. After that meeting, Mr. Pearson is scheduled to confer with B. C. Premier W. A. C. Bennett, who is also involved with promoting the expensive Peace River project, which, at present, is highly competitive with the proposed Columbia projects in Canada.

It is not up to the United States government to propose a treaty renegotiation or to advance solutions to Canada's federal-provincial problems. Until the Canadians can settle their differences and decide their proper course, any official suggestion that our government repudiate the treaty is decidedly out of order.

See Your Own Country

This could be the year in which Canadians help provide their own country with record tourist business. Last year devaluation of the dollar produced a rather reluctant boost in the business of Canadians spending their vacations touring their own land.

Many had made plans to travel to the United States or Europe on their vacations when the financial crisis emerged. Some stuck to their plans in spite of the higher costs of travel. Others revised their itineraries and as a result, for the first time in history Ontario and Quebec licence plates outnumbered U. S. vehicles in the Maritimes, and Quebec was host to about half again as many visitors from adjacent provinces as in 1960.

With the devalued dollar seemingly here to stay over a goodly period of the foreseeable future, it's likely that junketing Canadians this year will discover Canada in greater numbers. The knowledge that travel in Canada can be accomplished with the dollar proving more elastic than it is in Paris or Miami is quite a clincher.

So in Canada. It offers untild attractions and scenic wonders for the vacationist. So dear fellow Canadians. Take a look around your own country. You'll be delighted with what you find. And you'll be doing one of our truly important industries a real good turn.

Dark Horse Partners With Alco?

VANCOUVER (CP)—The Province says that MacMillan, Bloedel and Powell River Ltd., may be a "dark horse" partner with the Aluminum Company of Canada in a proposed $80,000,000 pulp and paper complex at Kitimat.

The newspaper says that MacMillan Bloedel and Alcan are partners in Kitimat Pulp and Paper Company which has a long-standing application for a tree farm licence pending in the Kitimat area.

The Kipco application has been extended to Jan. 1, 1964, the newspaper says, at which time Lands and Forests Minister Williston will review the sit-

Alcan announced in December that it plans to have a pulp mill in production by the end of 1965. The Province says since then MacMillan-Bloedel has been surveying the forest resources.

The Province quotes a MacMillanAbloedel official as saying the survey is to determine whether the company goes ahead with Kipco or whether it utilizes its own timber in its existing plants.

Alcan announced in December that Canadian, European and Japanese interests would participate in the pulp venture.

The Province says J. V. Clyne chairman of the board of MacMillan-Bloedel, left this week for Japan "for a bit of a look round."

B.C. Highlights

SEARCH ENDED

VANCOUVER (CP) — Police have called off a search for the body of John Wulff, 55-year-old carpenter who disappeared from the ferry Saltspring Queen at the B.C. government ferry dock near the mouth of the Fraser River Friday. He is listed as missing and presumed drowned.

SALES DOUBLED

VANCOUVER (CP) — Executive director H. R. Watson says the Vancouver workshop of the Adult Cerebral Palsy Rehabilitation Society last year more than doubled its gross sales. In the society's annual report he says total sales reached $78,600 or 150 per cent above the figure for 1961.

Illinois Birth Control Program Wins Wide Study

By WILLIAM J. CONWAY

CHICAGO (AP) — The new Illinois program of birth control aid for relief recipients has attracted wide attention in the United States—but, thus far, has attracted produced no imitation.

The Illinois program is operated by the Illinois Public Aid Commission. Any woman on relief who has a husband or child can apply for a physician's advice on the rhythm method or prescriptions for contraceptive preparations or devices, with the bills to be paid with public cash.

The system went into operation April 1. During the first two weeks at least 25 women applied.

The Illinois plan has been attacked, especially by Roman Catholics, on grounds that it would give contraceptives to mothers who are unmarried or separated from their husbands.

Moves are under way in the courts and the Illinois legislature to limit state birth control help to married women living with their husbands.

The Illinois program is aimed at paring rising costs. About 425,000 persons are receiving some form of public assistance. And the Illinois commission is seeking $700,000,000 for the next two years.

A similar plan has been suggested for California by state Senator Alvin C. Weingand, a Democrat from Santa Barbara. But his resolution has not yet been scheduled for a committee hearing.

CONDEMNS PROPOSAL

A bill for an Illinois-type program has been offered in Wisconsin by state Senator Davis Donnelly, a Democrat from Eau Claire. He stated: "Eventually we've got to come to something like this in all states." Reaction of religion leaders was divided, but a Roman Catholic spokesman condemned the entire proposal.

The Colorado Senate approved a bill in March to permit state welfare workers to supply birth control information and contraceptives to persons on welfare rolls who ask for them. But the measure has been shelved by a House committee.

Weingand has noted that California is contributing about $80,000,000 to the aid of needy children program during the current fiscal year and that the contribution may rise to almost $95,000,000 next year.

"Where," he asked, "is it going to end?"

An Associated Press survey also shows there is some participation by one level of govoernment or another in scattered birth control programs. They are relatively small. Most of them are concerned with protecting health, not reducing future welfare rolls.

Richmond, Va., has a new program for distributing free contraceptive pills at the city's east end health clinic to medically indigent mothers who request them and who receive a prescription from a clinic physician.

The public welfare department in Westchester County, N.Y., pays for doctors' prescriptions for eligible public assistance recipients, including oral contraceptives if a physician deems them essential to a woman's health. The department stressed that it pays only for drugs, not mechanical devices. It did not estimate how many women received the pills, but they were reported to be few in number.

JULY 24 to AUGUST 23 (Leo) — A willingness to cooperate with the right sources and increase your work load will be a boon to progress. So much to be done! But take each matter in turn — and not too vigorously.

AUGUST 24 to SEPTEMBER 23 (Virgo) — You may run up against undue jealousies now. Take them, and all other annoyances philosophically. Concentrate on the essentials that are Yours.

SEPTEMBER 24 to OCTOBER 23 (Libra) — Your Venus now suggests that you be the instigator of, and momentum for fresh, healthy activity, a better trend, reorganization to improve methods — both your own and those of others.

OCTOBER 24 to NOVEMBER 22 (Scorpio) — Avoid going too far out on "the limb," it always presents added hazards, can even interrupt to a standstill a well-run plan or project. Tap reserve strengths which may be latent.

NOVEMBER 23 to DECEMBER 21 (Sagittarius) — Join in improvising and enhancing any worth-while project, methods. Just don't take sides before you know Why. Consult learned sources.

DECEMBER 22 to JANUARY 20 (Capricorn) — Do not let problems or discussions grow out of proportion. Hold yourself in check if dealing with children, elders, cooperative interests.

JANUARY 21 to FEBRUARY 19 (Aquarius) — A fairly productive period, waiting for you to inject the right, improved ingredients to increase potential. Use the investigative approach—but with tact.

FEBRUARY 20 to MARCH 20 (Pisces) — Recognize primary needs. Go about duties before thinking about week-end interests, except where appropriate. Consider the wise moves of the past, they could insure future security.

YOU BORN TODAY bring light and warmth into any room in which you enter — also enthusiasm, realism, and fantasy. You are eager for friendships; will work seriously for your credits, which, if you are developing your assets on the higher plane, will be numerous and outstanding. Taureans love their families, but can fight with them foolishly on occasion. Keep outside interests from interfering with domesticity. Taureans abide by rules, but once "fed up" with pressures or inadequacy, revolt quickly and fully. For safety's sake, arbitrate — it may prevent a needless rift. Do not overspend one day then pinch another — to extreme. You become able teachers, versatile actors, musicians, writers. Sometimes cryptic, you are always thinking rarely unskilled, but may "goof off" unexpectedly.

VANCOUVER (CP) — Police have charged Mrs. Isobel Boyer 47, with recording bets on horse races. The charges were laid following a gambling-squad raid on a Vancouver home.

Labor Day, May Day Celebrated Widely

LONDON (Reuters) — Trade union members throughout western Europe celebrated Labor Day Wednesday, while Communists from Havana to Peking attended traditional May Day rallies, parades and speeches.

Cuban Premier Fidel Castro was the star Communist attraction in Moscow. United States Ambassador Foy Kohler planned to boycott the event, embassy sources said.

Castro took his place beside Soviet Premier Khrushchev atop Lenin's mausoleum in Moscow's Red Square to watch the Soviet parade of military might.

European and many Asian workers were observing the day as a public holiday with merry-making and carnivals. Frenchmen went without newspapers under national law as they distributed the traditional emblem of May—lilies-of-the-valley.

The British National Council of Labor issued a strong manifesto declaring the achievement of properly - controlled all-around disarmament must have "overwhelming priority" in the present world crisis.

WILSON GIVES WARNING

British Labor party leader Harold Wilson warned the world now is faced "more deadly risks—and more brilliant possibilities—than ever before."

Portraits were displayed in the Moscow streets of Marx and Engels—the original Communist theoreticians—as well as of Lenin, father of the Soviet state, and Premier Khrushchev.

Reuters Peking correspondent, Adam Kellett - Long reported in the Chinese capital a huge portrait of Mao Tse-tung, the Communist party chairman, faced equally large pictures of those persons regarded in Peking as the "true prophets of communism" —Marx, Engels, Lenin — and Stalin. But there was no picture of Khrushchev.

officials in gaily-bedecked Peking said the celebrations would be on a bigger scale than any for the last two years. They said small parades and demonstrations in many parts of the city would continue to replace the big military parade last staged in 1959.

Despite Castro's absence, Cuba was celebrating with its biggest-ever May Day parade in which more than 130,000 workers were scheduled to march through Havana.

CLOSE SCHOOLS

Schools were closed in Paris, and only skeleton services operated. There were no newspapers and radio programs were reduced to recorded music and only two news bulletins until evening.

Italian workers celebrated in Rome with trade union rallies, speeches and country picnics. No evening newspapers were on sale and morning newspapers will not be published Thursday, to give reporters and printers a full day off.

West Berlin's Mayor Willy Brandt addressed a crowd expected to number about 500,000 in republic square, a few hundred yards from the Communist-built wall.

On the other side of the wall, about a mile away, Willi Stoph, East German first deputy premier, planned to address a similar East German rally.

In East Berlin, tanks and armored cars were taking part in a parade of factory workers. In West Berlin, workers were carrying slogans proclaiming "Berlin belongs to the free world."

Labor unions planned May Day demonstrations in most West German towns — despite the steel strike and the employers' retaliatory lockout in southwest Germany.

Provinces Still Quarrel Over Labrador Benefits

QUEBEC (CP) — Conflict lingers between the Liberal premiers of Quebec and Newfoundland over the vast natural resources of Labrador.

Quebec's Jean Lesage and Newfoundland's Joey Smallwood inherited the long-standing border dispute—it goes back to 1927—but now plans for developing Labrador have added to the complexity of the sitation.

At stake is how the benefits will be split up once Hamilton Falls in Labrador starts producing electricity and whether a proposed pelletizing plant is built on the Quebec or Newfoundland side of the border.

Mr. Smallwood indicated in the legislature at St. John's, Nfld., Tuesday that the power question has been resolved, with a slice of the profits going to Quebec.

He said the British Newfoundland Development Corporation (Brinco) sold 20 per cent of the shares of the Hamilton Falls Power Corporation to Quebec because it seemed the only way to get the power transmitted through Quebec to the United States.

'NO AGREEMENT YET'

In the legislature here meanwhile, Premier Lesage said no agreement has been reached concerning the transportation of power. There was no question of merely building transmission lines across Quebec province.

He said the power would be sold at the Quebec - Labrador boundary to Hydro-Quebec and integrated into the Quebec power grid. Hydro would "thus become owner of the power."

If there was a surplus, he said, it could be sold to the U.S.

The pelletizing plant—for handling ore—is planned by Wabush Iron Ore Company.

Mr. Lesage indicated Wabush made an "initial decision" to build the $50,000,000 plant at Pointe Noire on the Quebec side of the border.

But there was apparently a change and now his government's expert on the boundary issue feels the site is on the Newfoundland side.

He said he has "constantly continued steps" to have the plant in Quebec.

SEEKS SURPLUS POWER

Also an interested party in the issues is Consolidated Edison Company of New York which supplies electricity in much of the north-eastern U.S. and New York City.

The company has entered negotiations with Brinco to import whatever power is not consumed in Canada.

Mr. Smallwood said the $1,500,000,000 Hamilton Falls project has a maximum production potential of 7,000,000 horsepower and the cost would be relatively cheap.

Contracts for construction, he said, are expected to be awarded this fall with work to start in the spring. It would take 10 years to build. He called it the greatest hydro - electric project in the world.

The project would cost Brinco roughly $400,000,000 for construction along with a transmission line across Quebec to the U.S. border for a similar cost.

After Newfoundland's needs were filled, the power would be sold to Hydro-Quebec which in turn would take what it needed and resell the surplus to Consolidated Edison.

Interpreting the News

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

The threat of a Caribbean war between Haiti and the Dominican Republic has receded as Haitian President Francois Duvalier yielded to some Dominican demands.

The Organization of American States now has a fact - finding mission in the troubled area to find the root of the turmoil.

But United States authorities maintain this doesn't mean Duvalier's future now is secure. They anticipate the strongman, described in U.S. quarters as a tyrannical dictator, will be deposed, in one way or another, and that the life of his despotic government will be short.

The hand of the United States in the Dominican Republic's threat of war against Duvalier is not clear. The hatred between the two tiny countries on the Caribbean island of Hispaniola is deep enough to foment a death struggle without U.S. intervention but the U.S. has proclaimed it wants no part of Duvalier.

FAVORS DOMINICAN

U.S. sympathy is strongly on the Dominican side. And it is evident that if the Dominicans need help, the U.S. would be glad to supply it.

It also is evident that having suffered a defeat in Cuba—for Fidel Castro still rules—a victory of sorts in the Caribbean could help restore U.S. prestige.

Now that a great deal of anti-Duvalier sentiment has been whipped to a keen edge in the United States where newspapers refer to him as a corrupt tyrant, it would reflect to the advantage of the U.S. administration if Duvalier is eliminated. Clearly, the Negro leader is a marked man.

Yet so widespread is ignorance, poverty and illiteracy among the Haitians that the problem would become one of finding some democratic and enlightened politican who could extract sufficient popular appeal to exert effective leadership.

DUVALIER CONTRAST

What now is said about Duvalier is in contrast to his pre-presidential career as a country doctor who cured thousands of his countrymen of the yaws and other disease. He gained a great deal of popularity among the people.

He was loved and respected. But apparently power went to his head. His palace has been turned into a fortress and a palace guard and a civilian militia has been turned into a virtual gestapo.

Some in the U.S. appear ready to settle for Haitian rule by a military junta as an alternative. This junta might be just as oppressive as Duvalier but the argument in U.S. quarters is that the junta would be more responsive to U.S. wishes and that with increased U.S. aid, the Haitians may at least get some chance for a better life.

At the moment U.S. policy is to keep careful watch. There is a feeling in Washington the OAS fact-finding mission will find Duvalier in the wrong and that widespread diplomatic isolation of his regime will result—just as it was started against the late Dominican dictator Rafael Trujillo whose life was ended in assassination.

An OAS finding of guilt against Haiti likely will mark the beginning of the end forDuvalier.

Shareholders Heckle Cariboo Gold Directors

VANCOUVER (CP) — Disputing shareholders heckled the board of directors of Cariboo Gold Quartz Mining Co. Ltd., through most of the firm's annual meeting Tuesday but failed to defeat a proposed capitalization increase.

Capitalization was increased to 4,000,000 shares of $1 par value from 2,000,000 shares.

A split vote by show of hands was challenged and the proposal was finally approved by 647,055 shares to 115,095.

Directors told the shareholders the firm is short of cash and needs the additional shares for development and diversification.

"Unfortunately Cariboo doesn't have much money," said vice-president H. H. Huestis, "but the mine is in fairly good shape for a few months at least."

TOUGH TO FIND

Mine manager Marcel Guiget said Cariboo is driving at the 2,850-foot level towards interesting prospects at the Mosquito fault, where "at least two ore bodies, and possibly three," have been found.

The fight against the capitalization increase was led by Clarence Fidler of Port Angeles Wash., whose family owns a block of Cariboo stock.

Mr. Fidler said the directors had failed to prove a definite plan for using the new capital or to assure present shareholders of pre-emptive rights.

A woman heckler asked how much remuneration the directors were receiving.

They reported they had not paid themselves during the fiscal year.

"Does that mean they won't be paid during the coming year?"

"That remains to be decided," said the president, "but they did not receive any pay last year."

"They haven't deserved it," the woman responded.

CIVIL DEFENCE

Although, for various reasons, a role for Boy Scotus in nuclear warfare would be impractical, in natural disasters it could be invaluable. The following role is recommended — "Continue existing instruction in fire fighting, search and rescue, camp craft, rope work, sanitation, etc." Such knowledge an skills could be of value in times of emergency, i.e. fire, flood, hurricane and will be helpful to families in any post attack period.

Principals Siega-Pictin Wedding To Live in Trail

Cathedral of Mary Immaculate was the scene of a pretty wedding recently when Mary Anne Pictin of Nelson exchanged marriage vows with Mr. Mario Della Siega before Very Rev. F. J. Monaghan.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mike Pictin of Castlegar and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Emilo Della Siega of Italy.

Preceded by her attendants in soft aquamarine shades, the bride was lovely in her floor-length gown of white lace trimmed with sequins and pearls. The sequin trim was repeated in her coronet-style headdress which held a frothy veil.

The matron of honor, Mrs. B. Vidizzon, and bridesmaids Verna Lactin and Bonnie Muto, provided a striking background for bridal white with their aquamarine gowns and matching headpieces. They wore single strands of pearls.

Easter lilies ornamented the church for the wedding.

The bridegroom was attended by Mr. Bruno Vidizzon as best man and Mr. Lino Muto and Mr. Gordon Kleff were ushers.

For the wedding reception, the Eagles Hall was decorated with pink and white, the color theme repeated in the cake decor and white and pink flowers centering the tables.

For a wedding trip to Spokane, the bride changed into a flamingo suit with beige accessories and matching corsage.

The newlyweds are making their home at 134 Colley Street in Trail, where the bridegroom is manager of the meat department of Overwaitea, Ltd. The bride is a former member of the staff of the F. W. Woolworth Company in Nelson.

"Absolute music is that which owes its coherence to structure, even though the development of the emotional basis may be the outstanding feature of the work."

Thus were members of Alpha Xi Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi sorority informed at their recent meeting at which "Absolute Music" was topic of the cultural program.

Program conveners were Mrs. Frank Varseveld and Miss Elaine Dosenberger. The meeting was held at Kokanee Lodge, with Mrs. W. Blackwell as hostess.

"Absolute music in its purest form," said the program directors, "is music which makes no reference to the facts of life, depending for its comprehension not on imitation or suggestion, but on structure alone. It is always instrumental."

Cancer Dressings Annual Project Rose City Chapter

Cancer dressing stations are maintained in 55 centres in B.C., by the Order of the Eastern Star, one of these stations being located in Nelson, where the Rose City Chapter O.E.S. has made 6552 dressings during the past year.

Of these, 4324 have been dis*tributed to 15 patients. This has* entailed 552 hours of work for the 41 members of the chapter, who meet two evenings a month for this purpose.

Conveners for the past year in Nelson have been Mrs. P. D. Zacharias and Mrs. Joseph Holland. From May 1 for the current term, the station is being convened by Mrs. H. H. Hinitt, Mrs. Gerald Towgood and Mrs. Howard Moore.

Within the province, more than 6000 patients have been provided with 635,538 free cancer dressings through the work of the Order in the 55 B.C. stations.

This dressing service is only one phase of the Order's cancer work. It also supports several research projects and scholarships.

Funds for the work are raised by the various projects of the B.C. chapters.

One of the main projects of the Rose City Chapter is its annual Mothers' Day tea, and bazaar, to be held Saturday. A large portion of proceeds from this event is designated for the cancer fund.

Cancer patients requiring dressings are able to obtain them by contacting one of the Rose City Chapter dressing station conveners or their doctor or hospital.

Rossland Runner Wins Canada's Sixth Gold Medal in Record Time

SAO PAULO, Brazil (CP-AP)—Two British Columbia half-milers, with a one-two finish in the 800 metres, and a husky all-around athlete from Ontario with second place in the rugged decathlon, boosted Canada's track and field medals to six at the Pan-American Games Wednesday.

Don Bertoia of Rossland, B.C., won the gold medal with a strong finishing burst in the 800 metres and was followed across the finish line by Sig Ohlemann of Vancouver who took the silver.

Bill Gairdner of Thornhill, Ont., followed this by breaking his Canadian decathlon record to finish second behind John David Martin of the U.S. in the 10-event decathlon, one of the toughest competitions on the programs.

Bertoia, a five-foot, 10-inch 155-pound agriculturist, boosted Canada's over-all gold medal total here to six, including three in track and field and one each in rowing, diving and gymnastics.

HAVE 17 SILVERS

Ohlemann, a lanky six-foot, 1½-inch runner, and Gairdner pushed the Canadian silver-medal total to 17. Canada also has 20 bronze medals, including one in track.

The Canadian women's gymnastics team boosted Canada's medal totals by one silver and one bronze Wednesday night as the women's team placed second behind the U.S. and Gail Daley, 16, of Saskatoon won the bronze in individual competition.

Miss Daley actually placed fourth but was given the bronze medal when two U.S. girls — Dale McClements and Kathleen Corrigan — tied for second behind winner Doris G. Fuchs of the U.S. The two who tied will each receive silver medals.

Miss Fuchs scored 77.21 points, the second place pair 77.01 and Miss Daley 76.60. The U.S. six-girl team scored 383.18 points, Canada 376.67 and Cuba 345.87.

Gairdner's second-place showing in the decathlon was one of the highlights of Canada's performances here so far. He led in the competition after seven events, but when Martin cleared 14 feet, 11¾ inches in the pole vault to earn a whopping 1,122 points he was too far ahead to be caught.

Martin, 24, set a Games record of 7,335 points in winning.

Gairdner, 22-year-old University of Colorado student who runs for the Toronto Don Mills YMCA Track Club, scored 6,812 points to win the silver and crack his own Canadian decathlon record by 505 points.

Hector Thomas Martinez of Venezuela, the half-way leader, finished third with 6,751 points.

The program included pole vault, discus, broad jump, javelin, high jump, 100 - metre sprint, 400-metre and 1,500metre runs, 110-metre hurdles and shot put.

Bertoia won the 800 - metre run with a Games-record time of one minute, 48.3 seconds. Ohlemann finished in 1:48.7 and Lieut. Ernie Cunliffe of the U.S. Air Force, the early leader, finished third in 1:48.8.

U.S. DOMINATES GAMES

The United States, suffering in the track and field program, continued to dominate the overall Games picture however.

It took both gold medals in the star and lightning classes of yachting when the results of these—in which Canada did not compete—were announced Wednesday to boost its gold-medal total to 76. Brazil is next best with seven, followed by Canada and Argentina with six each.

Canada has several chances to add to its medal totals when the track and field program winds up Friday and Saturday after taking today off.

Jennifer (Jenny) Wingerson, a Toronto private secretary, easily qualified for the final Saturday in the women's 80-metre hurdles, winning her heat.

Of the six final track events run off Wednesday, including the decathlon which began Tuesday, the United States won only three events—the decathlon, the 10,000 metres and the women's 200-metre sprint.

Irish-born Peter McCardle of New York won the 10,000 metres by more than 200 yards over favored Osvaldo Suarez of Argentina, the 5,000-metre gold medallist. Doug Kyle, the Calgary geologist who won the silver in 1959 when he finished second to Suarez, was fifth.

VENEZUELAN WINS

A runner from Venezuela won the gold medal in the 200-metre dash, giving that country a sweep of both sprints, and Argentina's Juan Dyrzka grabbed the 400-metre hurdles by a foot and a half over favored Willie Atterberry of the United States.

It was the worst showing in track and field for the United States since the Games started in 1951.

And the U.S. didn't do any better in baseball. Cuba won the gold medal in the baseball tournament with a 6-4 victory over Venezuela for a 6-1 won-lost record. The U.S. took the silver with a 5-3 mark and Mexico got the bronze.

Officials presented medals to Cuba and Mexico but no one was there to receive the silver for the U.S. and there were distinct catcalls and boos in the baseball park. The U.S. team already had left for home.

The U.S. went over the 70-mark in total gold medal production as U.S. fencers finished 1-2-3 in the men's individual sabre tournament. Benedek (Ben) Simo of Montreal wound up seventh in the field of eight.

DROP FOURTH IN ROW

In women's basketball, Vancouver Maids, dropped their fifth straight, bowing to the United States for the second time by a one-sided margin 68-21 in the four-country doubles round-robin tournament.

The water polo team, made up primarily of Hungarian-born Canadians, lost 7-2 to Brazil in the seventh round. It was Canada's sixth loss against one win in the four - country double round-robin.

The track and field easily was the highlight of the 12th day of competition in the 16-day Games that wind up Sunday with the closing ceremonies.

Bertoia, a 23-year-old bachelor of science graduate in agriculture from Washington State University, finished about a yard in front of Ohlemann in the Games-record time of one minute, 48.3 seconds, clipping more than a second off the old mark of 1:49.4 set by Tom Murphy of the U.S. in 1959.

Ohlemann also was under the old standard in 1:48.7 and Lieut. Ernie Cunliffe of the U.S. Air Force who finished third in 1:48.8 cracked the mark, too.

Miss Wingerson, a long-legged five-foot-10 143-pounder, qualified for the women's 80-metre hurdles by beating out a Brazilian girl, Leda Texieira Dos Santos, in a two-girl race. The other three entries had been scratched.

Miss Wingerson's time of 11.6 seconds was not the best of the three heat winners, however.

Another Canadian girl, Dianne Gerace of Trail, B.C., was scratched from one of the heats.

Petrosyan Holds World Chess Lead

MOSCOW (AP) — The 16th game in the world chess championships was adjourned Wednesday after the 40th move with neither Mikhail Botvinnik, the defending champion, nor Tigran Petrosian, his Russian challenger, having an apparent advantage. Play will be resumed Thursday with a draw likely.

Petroysan, playing black in this game, leads 8-7 in the best of 24-match series. Botvinnik began play with the conventional queen's gambit opening. Both had lost their queens by the 22nd move.

WHERE TO, ANGELS? - - By Alan Maver

WIHL Meeting Called by Cook

A general meeting of the Western International Hockey League has been called by league president Ernie Cook of Trail.

The meeting, to be held in Kimberley May 11, was called in an effort to get the WIHL operating again after a one year lay-off. The league folded last year when Nelson and Rossland entries pulled out of the circuit, leaving only Trail and Kimberley to compete against each other. Eventually these two clubs also decided to drop their regularly scheduled games in favor of exhibition encounters, forcing the end of the WIHL for at least one season.

League officials are once again looking towards a Nelson entry as the key factor in the revival of the WIHL although the league may operate this season regardless of whether Nelson enters a team or not.

Clubs from Trail and Kimberley could almost definitely be counted on entering competition if the league is revived and other possible entries, besides Nelson, may come from Spokane or Rossland.

There is also some talk of forming a second Trail team.

OREGON SENATE SENDS HOUSE BOXING BILL

SALEM, Ore. (AP) — The Oregon State Senate sent to the House Wednesday a bill to regulate boxing.

The bill provides for padded ring floors, makes boxers wear mouthpieces, limits bouts to 10 rounds, and requires that gloves weigh at least 12 ounces.

The bill contains a rule that there must be four ring ropes, and that the floor must extend at least two feet outside of the ring. Boxing commissions could require boxers to wear protective headgear.

Fish, Game Clubs Open Convention In Vernon Today

VERNON (CP)—A resolution requesting a federal-provincial cost-sharing agreement for management of fisheries and wildlife resources is expected to receive unanimous approval at the annual convention of the B.C. Federation of Fish and Game Clubs opening here today.

The resolution, submitted by Nanaimo and District Fish and Game Protective Association, is one of 28 to be discussed by the 200 delegates attending the three-day sixth annual convention.

It asks for an agreement similar to those already dealing with such things as campsite and picnic site development.

Another resolution, one of the most controversial, asks that no plans for dams or reservoirs be submitted to the legislature unless accompanied by comments and recommendations from the department of conservation and recreation.

The resolution is submitted by Kimberley Rod and Gun Club.

Other resolutions deal with access roads, grazing rights, beer bottles and litterbugs, outboard motors and game reserves.

The Port Mellon Rod and Gun Club asks the government to establish a fund for persons suffering a hardship as a result of hunting accidents. It recommends that the government make 50 per cent of the payments to the fund with hunters paying the rest.

The Interior zone asks for amendments to the Game Act to make the minimum penalty for carrying loaded firearms in motor vehicles $100 and the maximum $300.

Giants Halt Pittsburgh Win Streak; Cards Lose

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Righthander Jack Sanford scattered seven singles Wednesday night as San Francisco halted a four-game Pittsburgh winning streak by winning 5-1.

Willie McCovey paced the San Francisco assault on three Pirate hurlers, banging a double and two singles and batting in two runs.

Pittsburgh's Bob Friend suffered his first setback after three triumphs.

Two balks were called, one against Sanford. The other, against Pittsburgh's Tom Sturdivant, forced in a run in the seventh inning.

In other National League action, Cincinnati edged Milwaukee 4-3. And Chicago defeated St. Louis 13-8. Los Angeles at Philadelphia and Houston at New York were postponed because of rain.

In the American League, Boston blasted Minnesota 14 - 5, Washington beat Detroit 4 - 1, Kansas City bombed Cleveland 11-3, and Chicago swept a twin-bill from Baltimore, 7-0 and 6-4.

Left - hander Bo Belinsky scored his first victory of the season with a four-hitter and George Thomas hit a grand slam homer as the Angels defeated the New York Yankees 5-3 in a night game at Los Angeles.

The Angels, beating the world champions for the second straight night, moved ahead of Baltimore and New York into fourth place in the American League standings.

Belinsky, who pitched a no-hitter against Baltimore a year ago this weekend, didn't allow the Yankees a hit until Roger Maris singled with one out in the fifth.

Jerry Lynch's two-run pinch homer in the seventh inning gave the Reds their victory over the Braves in a night game.

The Reds came up with three runs in the seventh after trailing the Braves 3 - 1 since the fifth inning. It gave Jim O'Toole his fifth victory in six decisions.

NEARS RECORD

Lynch's second pinch - hit homer of the season brought his career total to 13, within one of the record. George Crowe hit 14 with the Braves, Reds and Cardinals.

Ernie Banks drove in seven runs with two home runs and a single as Chicago snapped the Cardinals' four - game winning streak.

Dick Bertell, Ken Hubbs and Nelson Mathews also homered for Chicago.

The Cards still held first place in the National League by a game over Pittsburgh.

Boston bombed Minnesota pitching for 13 hits and 10 runs in the first five innings and went on to smash the Twins.

The win moved the Red Sox to within one-half game of first-place Kansas City, playing a night game against Cleveland.

The Red Sox chased southpaw Jack Kralick in the third. Boston's Earl Wilson settled down from a shaky start to even his record at 2-2 behind the booming support from his mates.

Eddie Bressoud hit a two-run homer for the Sox, as did Chuck Schilling. Schilling also belted two singles and a double.

Unbeaten Tom Cheney struck out 12 and turned in his fourth complete game in pitching the senators to victory over Detroit.

Don Leppert, Cheney's battery-mate, gave him all the hitting help he needed with a home run in the second and a double that broke a 1-1 tie in the seventh.

YIELDS FIRST EARNED RUN

Gus Triandos' double in the sixth accounted for the Tiger run and was the first earned run Cheney yielded this season. The 28 - year - old righthander had gone 32 1-3 innings before he was touched for an earned run.

Orlando Pena won his fourth game without a loss as Kansas City clobbered the Indians and kept their hold on first place in the American League.

Pena held the Indians scoreless until John Romano homered to lead off the eighth inning.

Jod Adcock also homered for the Indians in the ninth with a man on.

Wayne Causey, leading the league with a .400 batting average, led off the third inning for the Athletics with a homer and wound up with three hits for the evening.

Pena struck out nine and was backed by a 15-hit attack.

The White Sox took the first game from the Orioles behind Ray Herbert's four-hit pitching and the second 6-4 with a barrage against a parade of pitchers.

Herbert, getting his second shoutout of the season, did not allow a runner past second base and in one stretch retired 15 batters in order.

He also doubled and singled, but the Sox' big blows were a homer and triple by Jim Landis and a two-run single by Pete Ward.

The Sox slammed five opposing pitchers for 13 hits in the second game, disposing of starter Robin Roberts in a two-run sixth that put them ahead 4-2. Floyd Robinson's No. 2 homer and a perfect squeeze bunt by Sherm Lollar fired the rally after Robert's single with the bases loaded had put Baltimore in front 2-0 in the second inning.

Totems One Game Away

SAN FRANCISCO (CP) — All but tasting champagne from the Lester Patrick Trophy, Seattle Totems defeated San Francisco Seals 3-1 Wednesday night to move within a game of the Western Hockey League championship.

It was the second decisive loss in two nights for Seals and proved Totems more effective than ever in their 14th game since they took to the playoff trail 28 days ago.

Seattle now leads the best-of-seven series 3-1 in games and can take home its first league championship since 1959 with victory in the fifth game here Thursday.

A crowd of 6679 saw Bob Sabourin, George Konik and Bill MacFarland score for the winners and Len Haley spoil a shutout for busy Seattle goaltender Al Millar with a goal at 11:37 of the third period.

Dickie Moore, Montreal All-Star Left Winger, Retires From Hockey

MONTREAL (CP) — Dickie Moore, twice National Hockey League scoring champion and all-star left wing, said Wednesday he is retiring from the game.

One of the top performers during Montreal Canadiens' record five-year grip on the Stanley Cup, Moore said he told general manager Frank Selke of his decision after he had been informed he was up for trade.

Selke said he hopes Moore, who is 32, will reconsider his decision before next season but he will not "quarrel" with it.

"Dickie is still far too good a player to retire from hockey."

Selke said "no specific trade has been made or suggested but it has been made clear that some players could be traded and he (Moore) could have been one of them."

Moore reached the peak of his 12-season NHL career in the 1958-59 season when, with a mighty assist from centre Jean Beliveau, he scored a record 96 points and won his second consecutive scoring title.

He said Wednesday: "My future is in Montreal. I have no wish to play anywhere else.

"It's something I've discussed with my family for some time and the only answer is retirement."

Moore rose to stardom with a solid 58 points in the 1956-57 season and won the scoring title the next season with 36 goals a 48 assists for 84 points, taking up the slack after Beliveau and Bernie Geoffrion had been laid low by injuries.

His performance in 1957-58 sparked Canadiens to the first of five straight NHL titles and to a third straight Stanley Cup. But the best was yet to come.

The following year Moore was a distant third in mid-season scoring when coach Toe Blake, again saddled with an injury-riddled squad, put him on a line with Beliveau and Marcel Bonin.

Moore and Beliveau took off on a sustained two-man scoring streak seldom if ever equalled in the annals of the NHL. Moore got 60 points in the second half of the schedule to wind up with 96 points on 41 goals and 55 assists and Beliveau got 59 in the second half to wind up with 91 on 45 goals and 46 assists.

Moore was chosen all-star left wing in both 1958 and 1959 and he was second all-star left wing in 1961.

His capacity for a strong finish stood him in good stead again during the season just ended. Crippled by an old knee injury, he saw little action until January but closed with a rush to gain 50 points on 24 goals and 26 assists.

He winds up his NHL career with regular-season totals of 254 goals and 340 assists for 594 points. His 254 goals placed him fifth among all-time scorers still active at the end of the 1962-63 season.

Japan Adopts Eight Count Knockdown Rule

TOKYO (AP) — The Japan Boxing Commission ordered Wednesday observances of the eight-count knockdown ruling for all professional fights—title and non-title—in Japan as of May 1 to safeguard boxers from serious physical injuries.

The commission also said a match will be stopped when a boxer is knocked down three times in any single round in all matches. It will go down as a technical knockout.

The safety rules were invoked because of recent ring deaths in the world.

New York —Floyd McCoy, 178, New York, and Lew Moses, 181, New York, drew, 8.

Fight May Also Decide British Empire Champion

HALIFAX (CP)—Two championships may be on the line here Saturday when Canadian middleweight title-holder Blair Richardson of South Bar, N.S., defends his crown against Wilf Greaves of Edmonton and Detroit.

Co-promoters Gus MacLellan of Sydney, and A. M. Brown of Halifax, announced Wednesday they will apply to the British Boxing Board of Control to have the 12-round bout recognized as a British Empire championship battle.

The listed Empire title-holder is Dick Tiger of Nigeria who now fights out of New York and is currently recognized by the National Boxing Association as the world middleweight champion.

The New York and Massachusetts boxing associations recognize Paul Pender of Boston as the world middleweight king.

Greaves held the British Empire title after decisioning Tiger in Edmonton June 22, 1960, but Tiger won it back in November of the same year with a ninth-round TKO win over Greaves, also in Edmonton.

MacLellan said it appears Tiger is no longer interested in the Empire crown and has not defended it in more than two years.

"There's no reason why the Greaves-Richardson bout should not be sanctioned as an Empire title fight."

ARGOS TO OPEN ROOKIE CAMP

TORONTO (CP) — Toronto Argonauts of the Canadian Football League will open their rookie camp for Canadians at Exhibition Park June 9, Teddy Morris, director of Canadian talent, said Tuesday.

Morris said 50 players will attend the camp, which will last for two weeks.

Those who show to best advantage will be invited to attend Argos' pre-season training camp at Aurora, Ont., he said.

No Matter How You Look At It There Is Money in Wrestling

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN

CHICAGO (AP)—No matter how your look at professional wrestling—if you look at all—there's big money in human beings making pretzels out of each other.

"A million groans, a million dollars," says Fred Kohler.

Kohler, 60-year-old Chicago promoter, is iking of the ham market. He's been in the business 30 years.

One of his promotional tricks is to tape a television wrestling show, give it free to a local station, then several days after it has been telecast, move in with the same cast of anatomy benders to perform in the flesh.

"Back in the depression years of the 1930s, people who didn't commut suicide watched the shows," says Kohler. "And some wrestlers cleaned up. I remember Gus Sonenberg coming in off a tour with his suitcase stuffed with $85,000. He did not believe in banks and wasn't afraid anybody would try to to take it away from him."

Kohler says a wrestler must have three things: Ability, Showmanship and personality. "There are about 75 wrestlers in top demand today, but none has all three of these assets like Buddy Rogers.

"Buddy is in four or five shows a week, gets 11 per cent of the gates and travelling expenses. He makes better than $200,000 a year."

Kohler scoffs at charges of matches being out - and - out fakes.

"It depends on your definition of the world," he conceeds. "They aren't fixed. The better man usually wins. The thing is he doesn't always win as quickly as he can. This is entertainment, and prolonging it is good business.

CAN GET ROUGH

"It can get awfully rough. Rogers was out of action 13 weeks in 1962 with a broken leg."

Audiences are made up of 40 per cent women, 45 per cent men and the rest teenagers, says Kohler.

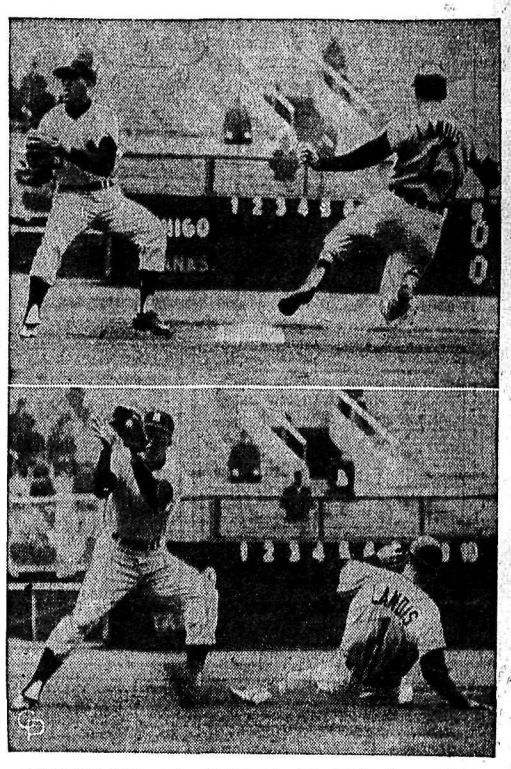
For every audience situation, Kohler has a wrestling type to use. Bo Bo Brazil draws a large Negro following. The Latins flip for Argentina Rocca.

Killer Kowalski has his Polish admirers. Germans go for the Bavarian boys. Good-looking Bob Konovsky, ex-Chicago Bear, gets squeels from the girls.

What is the most amazing thing to happen to Kohler?

"Watching 38,622 customers jam Comiskey Park June 30, 1961, to see Rogers meet Pat 'Connor," he says. "We had a gate of $141,345."

It was the highest price ever paid for ham.



1 FOR THE MONEY, 2 FOR THE GO—The White Sox outfielder, Jim Landis (No. 1) steals second base during game with Yanks in New York although Tony Kubek makes a real try on the play.

Stirling Moss Calls End to Racing Career

LONDON (AP) — Stirling Moss, 33-year-old British auto racing ace, announced his retirement Wednesday because "to continue racing would be dangerous for myself and for others."

Moss, long a contender for the world championship but never a winner, said he reached his decision while he was roaring around the empty Goodwood track, where he was severely injured in a crash a year ago.

He was unconscious for weeks after the crash. He suffered a serious brain injury and in the last few months has undergone surgery twice to cure defects in his vision resulting from the crash.

Moss said he reached speeds of 145 miles per hour during the 45 minutes he spent driving his 2 - litre sports car around the Goodwood Wednesday.

"I came to the conclusion while driving that it would be foolish to continue because I have lost a certain amount of dexterity," he said. "My reactions are down a little."

"Before, when I got into a slide I could correct it almost without knowing. Now I would feel the slide and correct it because I know how, but it would be later.

"I think it would be dangerous, endangering others and certainly myself, if I went on racing."

Moss also said his concentration was not as sharp as it was before the accident.

"If I looked down to see what the instruments were showing I would find I had gone past where I should be braking," he said. "Before I could look down and photograph in my mind what the instruments showed, look around to see who was there, and still brake."

Moss said he had no regrets at never having won the world championship.

"Fangio (Juan Fangio of Argentina) did it five times. If I had won it six times, would it make me better than Fangio? I know it wouldn't because I'm not. He is the greatest driver who ever lived."

Canada exports wheat... Canada imports Lemon Hart Rums

Canadian wheat is accepted as a standard all over the world because no one can match the combination of soil, climate, and experience that produces it. Rum, on the other hand, is not native to Canada. The best rums, like Lemon Hart, are distilled in the benign climate of the Caribbean... then transported to England where they mature quietly in underground caverns where neither the temperature nor the humidity varies more than a degree or two summer or winter, year in year out.

Obviously a good rum must be imported. And when Lemon Hart Rums reach Canada they are mature, well travelled rums, as distinguished in their way as Canadian wheat—and as well respected throughout the world.

Kentucky Derby Scene Quietest in Many Years

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — All was calm on the Kentucky Derby front Wednesday, three days before the big battle at Churchill Downs, when there came a slight disturbance from barn No. 6.

A Maryland colt named Investor, who will be upwards of 100 to 1 if he goes to the post Saturday in the $125,000 added classic for three-year-olds, is to challenge the likes of Candy Spots, Never Bend, No Robbery and others in the 89th derby. Investor is owned by J. . Cherock, of Watkins Glen, N.Y.

The authority for the entry, which came as a major surprise since Investor finished seventh Tuesday in the Derby trial stakes, was trainer Frank A. Smith, a former boxer from Hartford, Conn. Investor beat only one horse in the one-mile trial, and trailed the winner by 15 lengths.

This can be marked down as one of the quietest Derby weeks in many years. It's like the calm before the storm, with everyone waiting for 5:30 p.m. EDT Saturday and the big explosion from the starting gate for the 1¼-mile tussle.

After Patrice Jacobs' Bonjour won the Derby trial over Walnut Hill Farm's Gray Pet and Ambush Stable's n My Honor, it seemed a field of eight was certain for the Derby.

In addition to Candy Spots, Never Bend, Bonjour, Gray Pet, On My Honor, and Investor, others expected to start are Greentree Stable's No Robbery, B. J. Ridder's Royal Tower, and John W. Galbreath's Chateaugay.

Investor is a bay son of Market Wise-In The Blue, by Rico Monte. Stone said Frank Calico, a New Orleans lad of 19, who rode Investor in the trial, will ride him again.

Advice to the ambitious:

STAY IN SCHOOL

Staying in school when classmates leave to take jobs requires foresight and perseverance. More than that, it takes faith in one's self and in one's abilities and it usually means some measure of financial burden to the student's family.

Whatever the effort and sacrifice, we have yet to meet the person who is sorry he stayed that 'one more year', or proceeded to further training or education after high school.

The more you learn, the more interesting the search for knowledge becomes. The well-trained person enjoys the true satisfaction of challenging work, increased earning power, and a sense of greater community contribution.

The charges arise out of a $36,000 jewel robbery in the King Edward Hotel here in May, 1958, when diamond merchant Rafael Adler was ambushed in an 11th-floor room, pistol-whipped and robbed of a pouch of diamonds.

Ottawa Works On Scholarship Plan Fulfillment

VANCOUVER (CP) — Northern Affairs Minister Laing said Tuesday the federal government is working to fulfil its commitment to a $10,000,000-a-year scholarship plan for university students "as soon as we can."

Under the scheme, promised by the Liberals in the April 8 election campaign, the $10,000,000 wold be set aside from each federal budget to provide 10,000 scholarships of $1,000 each.

However, administration of the plan would be strictly up to the provinces and the universities.

Mr. Laing said in an interview the federal cabinet has not yet decided on the basis for distributing the money among the provinces—whether by population, student enrolment, or some other formula.

AWARDED ONE MERIT

He said that since the awards will be scholarships rather than bursaries, distribution will be on a basis of merit, not need. But the effect would be to make higher education possible for thousands of students who cannot raise the funds.

He emphasized that the federal role will be "merely as supplier of the funds." Under the British North America Act education is a provincial responsibility.

Soft Sell Best, Advertisers Told

TORONTO (CP) — Cartoonist Walt Kelly urged Canadian advertisers Tuesday to go for the soft sell.

"It is important that you not hit the public over the head with political or sociological ideas," Mr. Kelly told the Association of Canadian Advertisers, "or ideas of any kind, as far as I am concerned."

Mr. Kelly, creator of the syndicated comic strip Pogo, said he uses his comic characters "to tell the world what I have in mind."

"If I didn't use some sort of tomfoolery, I don't think anyone would listen to me."

He told the advertisers, holding their annual convention here, American advertising is often "a great deal too slick about too many things."

"They have so overburdened the air that I, for one, am inclined to confuse the issue and go out to buy one thing and end up buying another."

150 Extra Men, Aircraft Set to Battle Forest Fires

British Columbia's fire season was declared officially open today by the Forest Service.

From now on, normally for a period of six months, a special fire permit is required before anyone can light an outdoor fire for any purpose whatsoever within half a mile of any forest or woods. Fires set in approved facilities in provincial camp and picnic sites, and in supervised commercial camp grounds, are excepted.

Campfire permits are available from any Forest Service office or from establishments such as Interior R.C.M.P. stations, and some sporting goods stores, displaying a sign "Campfire Permits Issued Here."

Purpose of the fire season and the restrictions it imposes — access to the wods may be prohibited in periods of high fire hazard — is simply to reduce the number of preventable fires that break out each year and contribute heavily to the $3,000,000 damage that is done each year, on average, by forest fires.

The damage figure does not include loss of wages and other economic losses, and is separate from the $5,000,000 average annual cost of fire protection and fire fighting.

Last year there were 1536 reported fires, below the 10 year average of 1822 thanks both to weather and improved techniques, and an average 25 per cent of them were started by negligent campers and smokers. The Nelson Forest District reported one-quarter of all the fires.

This year another tremendous effort will be made to keep fire frequency low.

150 EXTRA MEN

In the Nelson District alone some 150 extra men will be employed for temporary service as assistant forest rangers, lookoutmen, patrolmen, drivers and suppression crewmen. Ten-man suppression crews, shock troops in the event of fire, will be located at Elko, Cranbrook, South Slocan and Kettle Valley.

The district will also have three Avenger water bombers at Cranbrook, with a light "bird dog" plane to lead them, one float-equipped patrol plane, and two helicopters, one at Nelson and one at Cranbrook.

Chartering aircraft and hiring and training personnel is only part of the elaborate pre-season preparation made by the Forest Service.

During the winter the Forest Ranger in each ranger district must put all his equipment into top shape, ready for immediate use. This includes hand-tank pumps, portable fire pumps, shovels, axes, Pulaski tools and three miles of fire hose, the basic issue to each ranger.

The complex communications system of radio and telephone between the ranger and his look outs must be in peak condition and every mile of telephone line checked to eliminate the possibility of failure at a crucial moment. He also works out a master plan on which he lists his contacts in industry in case of fire, available heavy equipment and sources of food supplies for fire fighters.

CHECKS MILLS

He also checks logging operations and mills to see that their suppression equipment and organization meet the standards required by the Forest Service, lists all available landing sites for his aircraft.

It's a complex and critical job, the Forest Service statement said. And it needs the help of everyone to make it work successfully.

Hon. Ray Williston, minister of lands, forests and Water resources, said: "We practice sustained yield management and intensive forestry as well as we can. We limit the amount of wood that can be harvested, we experiment to speed growth, we plant 10 to 12 million new seedlings every year. But none of this will be enough to maintain our forests if we let too many of them burn down."

Mr. Williston urged campers and smokers, loggers and industrialists and also all travellers to be extremely careful to prevent fires and report immediately, to any Forest Service office or police station, any fire they might see.

Wine Sales Up

VANCOUVER (CP) — E. C. Warner, managing director, announced Tuesday that sales of Growers' Wine Co. Ltd. rose 15 per cent in the fiscal year ended April 30 compared with the previous year.

Mr. Warner said the firm's stock is to be split four-for-one Aug. 15, immediately following the annual meeting, and is expected to be listed on the Toronto Stock Exchange about the same time.

He said the 15-per-cent sales increase was tops for the industry in Canada. Industry growth was five to seven per cent.

Canada May Be Asked To Help

By DAVE McINTOSH

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada may soon be called upon to help fill a truce supervisory role in a 14th country.

Officials say no decision has yet been taken by United Nations headquarters on composition of a UN observer team for Yemen, the tiny desert country at the southwest corner of the Arabian peninsula.

It has been proposed at the UN that the team be drawn from the UN Emergency Force in Egypt or from the UN truce supervisory organization in Palestine. Canadians comprise the largest group in both.

The Palestine group works in five countries: Egypt, Israel, Jordan, Syria and Lebanon. Eighteen Canadian Army officers are serving with it. About 950 Canadians are serving in UNEF.

Canadians are also doing UN police work in The Congo, Kashmir, Korea and West New Guinea and non-UN truce supervisory work in North Viet Nam, South Viet Nam, Laos and Cambodia.

The New Guinea task wound up Wednesday as the territory came under Indonesian rule. The RCAF team which has been there since October will soon start home.

TEAM HEADS HOME

Busy as Canada is with such UN work, there was no suggestion here that the team en route from West New Guinea drop in on Yemen for UN police duties there.

Saudi Arabia and Egypt have agreed to cease interference in Yemen. A UN teamof observers presumably would oversee withdrawal of the military forces of the two countries.

During the past week, we have started organizing for the annual Commencement ceremonies. This year, unlike in previous years, these ceremonies will be a combination of Commencement, Homecoming and Charter celebrations. As in the past, the freshmen are following the tradition of being partly responsible for planning and putting on the ceremonies, the banquet and the ball. About 100 dignitaries are expected to attend these functions.

The banquet, followed by the ball, will be held in the Civic Centre gymnasium.

The whole freshman class has been divided into groups, each group having a specific responsiblity. We hope to have an exciting and different ball.

In the girls' dorm, the girls are busily planning their wardrobes for the big night. Several of the girls have made their own dresses, and they have made beautiful jobs of them. Much time is being put into the organizing of hairdos, dresses, and matching shoes and accessories. We hope everyone will have a good time.

"German Resistance Against the Nazis" was the topic chosen by Felix Mueller as his contribution to the '62-'63 Contemporary lecture series.

Mr. Mueller, a native German who serves as Director of Development at Notre Dame, gave vivid true-life examples and told of actual experiences in his speech, which dealt with a wide variety of events such as attempts on Hitler's life and the cruel slaughter of many political prisoners.

Often flavored with an accent, the talk quoted from letters of convicted resistance members, giving an insight into their courrage and determinted spriits.

Pictures of court room scenes showing resistance leaders on trial enriched the realization of the situation for the audience.

Questions from those present brought to a conclusion the evening's dissertation.

Rev. Dr. L. R. McKenzie introduced and thanked the speaker. He also outlined and briefly described the '63-'64 lecture series to come, which will cover a range of subjects in the arts field.

The Notre Dame Kickers played two games against the Nelson Savoy Seniors in soccer last week. In Monday night's game, the Kickers held the mighty Savoy Srs. to a 3-3 tie. On Wednesday night, however the Savy Seniors defeated the Kickers by a score of 4-2.

In Monday's game, both teams scored two goals in the first period. Early in the second period, the Kickers went ahead 3-2 on the educated foot of Emil Aksel. With one minute to go in the game the Savoy Seniors capitalized on a penalty shot and the game ended 3-3.

On Wednesday night the Savoy Seniors brought out their full unit in an effort to dominate play. However, Silvano Vecchio, assisted by Orlando Zebalbo, scored for the Kickers in the first ten seconds of play. That was the last opportunity the Kickers had to show their power. For the Savoy Seniors, stung by this quick opening proceeded to dominate play from that point on, scoring one goal late in the first period and two more early in the second. The Kickers retaliated with a goal late in the second period. But the Savoy Seniors clinched the game with their final goal in the last two minutes of play.

In softball this week, the Pups defeated the Outlaws by a score of 11-4 on Saturday afternoon at Queen Elizabeth Park. On Sunday afternoon, the Puckers edged the Pooches 14-10 and the Outlaws were beaten by L. V. Rodgers teachers 15-1.
