Tshombe Awarded General Amnesty in Surrender to UN

Promises UN Co-operation In Unifying Katanga, Congo

By ROBIN P. MANNOCK

LEOPOLDVILLE (AP)—Katanga President Moise Tshombe gave up his secessionist fight Tuesday. He quickly won assurance of a general amnesty that he had asked as his only condition for Congo unity under UN Secretary-General U Thant's reconciliation plan.

"We are ready to proclaim immediately before the world that Katanga's secession is ended, to allow United Nations troops freedom of movement and to return to Elisabethville to supervise the modalities (methods) of applying U Thant's plan," Tshombe announced at Kolwezi, his emergency capital.

He pledged loyal co-operation with the United Nations.

Thant, often sceptical of Tshombe's declarations in the past, welcomed this one. At UN headquarters in New York, he expressed hope that it will be put into effect promptly and fully "and thus bring an end to the conflict and destruction which have been needlessly experienced in Katanga."

Tshombe's capitulation came in the 19th day of a United Nations—Katangan war, the third such conflict since he led his copper-rich province from The Congo after Belgium freed this former colony in 1960. Western diplomatic and economic pressures contributed to his downfall.

There was no immediate assurance that military operations will end. Tshombe's white soldiers still talked of a last skirmish Monday against a UN column at a Dikulwe River bridge about 60 miles east of Kolwezi. But they appeared to feel the shooting was as good as over. Nine cleared out of Kolwezi to Northern Rhodesia. They probably will be followed by others.

A New York spokesman for the United Nations said UN military action at the moment was at a standstill, but the troops were preparing for the time when they could take over Kolwezi—"peacefully, I hope."

RIOT AT EMBASSY

Bitterness of the long struggle spilled over into a riot by 1,000 Congolese youths against the British embassy in Leopoldville.

Accusing Britain of supporting Tshombe in his months of manoeuvring against reunification, they stoned the embassy, smashed its windows, ripped out telephone lines and spilled files into the street. Three staff members were injured by flying glass.

Tshombe showed little emotion as he read a three-page communique to a small group of reporters in Kolwezi, a strategic mining centre 150 miles northwest of Elisabethville.

He appealed to the Leopoldville regime for amnesty for himself, his ministers and all the people who have worked under their control—a provision implicitly covering the several hundred white men who have helped to train and lead Katanga's armed forces.

Both Adoula and Congo President Joseph Kasavubu pledged this amnesty in messages to the secretary-general.

Kasavubu affirmed a pardon offer he extended last Nov. 26, which said: "I hereby proclaim that a general and complete amnesty will be granted to all those who return to our country, to the great Congo of ours, whatever political offences they may have committed."

Daylight Time Begins April 28

VICTORIA (CP) — Daylight Time begins April 28 this year and lasts until Oct. 27.

The cabinet approved the dates Tuesday.

Daylight Time begins at 2 a.m. on the last Sunday in April — the traditional date.

This year B.C. will follow a new principle established in 1962, allowing an extra month of Daylight Time — to the end of October instead of September.

Coast Mayor Raps UBC Head

VANCOUVER (CP) — British Columbia municipal leaders aren't interested in contributing to the higher-education kitty.

The suggestion that municipalities be asked to "share generously" in providing funds was made in a speech here Monday by Dr. J. B. Macdonald, president of the University of B.C.

Municipal spending on elementary and secondary education is already extremely heavy, most leaders said, and any expenditure on higher education could prove an intolerable burden.

"I don't know where Dr. Macdonald expects us to get the money," said Mayor Bill Rathie of Vancouver. "He obviously hasn't studied the municipal tax base."

"Responsibility for financing education should properly rest with the provincial and federal government," Reeve Alan Emmott of Burnaby said.

CHARGES UNION LEADERS USING HALF-TRUTHS

VANCOUVER (CP) — Two union leaders were accused Tuesday of using half-truths to support a brief before a one-man royal commission on the British Columbia Workmen's Compensation Act.

J. A. Bourne, counsel for the B.C. Mining Association, said a statement by Harvey Murphy, western president of the Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers' Union, was confusing, incorrect and only partly true.

David Sigler, counsel for the compensation board, said that Mr. Murphy and Al King, western general secretary of the union, were asking witnesses leading questions on the basis of statements and facts which had not been proved at the hearing.

Chief Justice A. C. DesBrisay, the commissioner, said he was aware of this, but it was up to lawyers Sigler and Bourne to object to the methods.

"I have been aware that much that has been said by King and Murphy was aimed at gaining propaganda advantage," said the commissioner.

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP)—An Assize Court hearing into a charge of non-capital murder against Mrs. Anne Yeomans, 54, of Mission opened Monday. She is alleged to have shot her husband Fred Yeomans, also 54, with a .22-calibre rifle last Nov. 20.

Officers said two state patrol cars chased Heslin who forced at least six cars off the road by driving straight at them.

He finally drove off a freeway ramp and crashed into a wall.

The Wien Alaska Airlines twin-engine Beechcraft hit the ice pack three miles east of the airstrip, just off the northeast Alaska coast, 392 miles from Fairbanks.

Former Togo Premier to Form Gov't

LOME, Togo (AP) — Former premier Nicholas Grunitsky agreed Tuesday to form a new civilian government to replace the committee of unemployed soldiers who seized power Sunday and killed President Sylvanus Olympio, Grunitsky's brother-in-law.

Grunitsky, 49, who as leader of the Progress Party opposed Olympio's non-alignment policies, immediately announced a policy of African unity and alignment with the Union of Africa and the Malagasy Republic, made up of former French colonies. Togo was a French colony until independence three years ago.

First indications were that this policy would not be favored by Kwame Nkrumah, president of neighboring Ghana.

Grunitsky said that he had not yet chosen any ministers and power remained with the military revolutionaries, former French colonial soldiers whose sympathies apparently lie with France.

The revolutionaries disclaimed any political or religious motivations for their coup. They seemed most of all to want to return to conditions as they were under France, when as soldiers they felt they had a role in this tiny sliver of West Africa.

JOSE BACK HOME?

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP)—Actor Jose Ferrer, divorced last May by singer Rosemary Clooney, is back in their home. But he would not comment on reports of a reconciliation. "You can draw your own conclusions," Ferrer told a reporter.

Camping Banned On Lawns of Legislature

VICTORIA (CP)—The provincial cabinet Tuesday endorsed new regulations banning camping or loitering on the lawns of the legislative buildings — a move apparently aimed at Sons of Freedom Doukhobors now encamped at Hope.

The new regulations provide a $25 a day fine for offenders.

The regulations do not mention the Freedomites but government spokesmen said: "Draw your own conclusions."

The 1000 Freedomites have been reported readying to move from Hope for an unknown destination and there have been suggestions they might go to Victoria for the legislative session opening Jan. 24.

A group of 49 of them spent 29 hours on the front steps of the legislative buildings in December, seeking government action.

The camping and loitering regulations affects all crown property and was prepared months ago but was only endorsed into law Tuesday.

Diefenbaker Scoffs At Ill Health Reports

Says Thinks Liberals Feel Badly That He Feels so Well

By KEN KELLY

OTTAWA (CP)—"Do you want to go me a race?" challenged Prime Minister Diefenbaker Tuesday as he denied reports that he is in poor health and accused the Liberals of a "perfidious" campaign to undermine him.

Mr. Diefenbaker met head-on a report in Montreal Le Devoir that three ministers, delegated by their colleagues, suggested he resign on health grounds. The newspaper said Mr. Diefenbaker, 67, is believed suffering from Parkinson's disease, also known as shaking paralysis.

Still showing traces of tan from his Bahamas vacation, Mr. Diefenbaker first challenged any reporter to match him in a physical examination.

"The hopes and expectations of the Liberal party in propagating that type of perfidious comment are their own answer," he said.

"I never felt better and I think that is one reason they feel so badly."

HAD SOME EXPERIENCE

He smilingly recalled that Canada's first prime minister, Sir John A. Macdonald, went through the same sort of thing in 1882. Sir John had remarked that "If my health were influenced by the prayers of my opponents, I would be awfully sick."

When reporters pressed him later for a specific statement about the report that three ministers proposed his resignation, he issued the challenge to a race.

He'd been good at running once, he remarked, adding with a sly grin, "I'll be awfully good running again soon." He paused for a few seconds then added: "In the next year or so."

Then he turned serious and said "the wish expressed by the Liberal party for so long is not being achieved."

Had colleagues made the suggestion? asked a reporter.

"You get your answer from my cabinet colleagues on that," he replied.

MINISTERS DEFEND HIM

"They weren't named (in the story)," noted a reporter.

"They certainly weren't. I'm not going to become involved in all the falsehoods and falsities that have become part and parcel of the National Liberal Federation program."

Several ministers came to his defence as reporters awaited his appearance for a cabinet meeting. His longtime friend, Veterans Minister Churchill, bluntly described the report as "the culmination of the most insidious campaign of vilification that has occurred in Canada" and said it was completely untrue.

Revenue Minister Hugh John Flemming said the report's author was using his imagination. Defence Production Minister O'Hurley called it a "hodge podge."

The prime minister has given reporters no indication of poor health in recent weeks, especially since his vacation in the Bahamas over Christmas and New Year's.

While reporters were questioning him in the East Block corridor, Senator Allister Grosart, retiring national director of the Conservative party, and the newly-named campaign committee chairman, Dalton Camp, held a press conference elsewhere.

Mr. Grosart was questioned about reports of resolutions for the Conservative Association convention later this week expressing lack of confidence in Mr. Diefenbaker.

He said about 11 resolutions affirmed confidence in Mr. Diefenbaker as Conservative leader. There were none condemning the prime minister.

Fulton to Go Back to Law

VICTORIA (CP) — Federal Public Works Minister Fulton said Tuesday he will return to his law practice to help pay his way in a bid to become new leader of the B.C. Progressive Conservative Party.

"I need it to keep going," Mr. Fulton said.

He disclosed his plans at breakfast with press gallery reporters.

He said he is going back to work for his Kamloops law firm, which also has an office in Vancouver.

Mr. Fulton is giving up a salary of $27,500 a year as a cabinet minister and member of parliament for Kamloops in his quest for the Progressive-Conservative leadership.

He will resign the cabinet post in February if he wins the provincial leadership at a party convention Jan. 24-26 in Vancouver. He will quit his seat in parliament "some months" later.

Mr. Fulton said he was not concerned about any personal economic hardship through his move.

"The province of B.C. is worth a good deal of effort and I propose to put that effort into it."

He made his objective clear: "to unseat the Social Credit government."

Thalidomide Victims To Be Aided in Quebec

QUEBEC (CP) — The Quebec speech from the throne Tuesday forecast provincial aid to victims of the drug thalidomide.

The speech said: "The government, deeply moved by the tragic moral and material distress suffered by the parents of infants, victims of the drug thalidomide, intends, within the limits of its powers, to come to their assistance."

An official of the provincial health department told a reporter that the number of victims in Quebec is not known. He said a survey is being taken to establish as nearly as possible the number affected.

SAO PAULO, Brazil (AP)—A crippled Brazilian airliner with 45 persons aboard crashed into a row of houses near Sao Paulo Tuesday and burst into flames. It was attempting an emergency landing in a steady rain.

Of 40 passengers and five crew members aboard, nine were killed and their bodies recovered. Four other persons on the plane were unaccounted for.

Among the 32 known survivors was Liliana Berozczcy, 18, identified as a Canadian. Her hometown was not known immediately.

RCMP Denies Scherle's Phone Tapped

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

An RCMP spokesman denied Tuesday the charge of Hope Village chairman Paul Scherle that his telephone had been tapped for three days as police investigated reports he was a Doukhobor.

The senior police spokesman said it was ridiculous to say Mr. Scherle's phone had been tapped adding: "There is certainly no truth to his claims.

"We are not interested in his ancestry."

The village chairman of the Fraser Valley community where 1,000 Sons of Freedom Doukhobors have been camped for months, said his telephone was tapped and an RCMP officer was sent to investigate him following reports originating in the Kootenays that he was a Doukhobor.

Mr. Scherle has been spearheading a move to move the Freedomites to Victoria in an attempt to get government action to solve their problem of living space.

'STUBBIES' TO GO ON SALE

VANCOUVER (CP) — Stubbies, those fat little 12-ounce beer bottles, will be on B.C. liquor store shelves come spring.

The system of paying a deposit on bottles will remain unchanged, the association said.

Surcharges Give No Lasting Improvement, Says McCutcheon

VANCOUVER (CP)—Senator M. W. McCutcheon said Tuesday night that while Canada's import surcharges "may have to be retained a little longer," they cannot form a part of any program for the lasting improvement of the country's financial position.

The former Toronto business man, now a minister without portfolio in the Diefenbaker government, made the assertion in a speech to the Vancouver Board of Trade in which he said 1962 had been a "good year" despite the exchange emergency.

He predicted that 1963 will be "another good year but it may well be an uneasy year."

Senator McCutcheon, former vice-president of the Argus Corporation and regarded s a business expert, said there are dangers in Canada having to rely on massive capital inflows to finance continuing large deficits The country's balance of payments deficit must be chopped and eventually wiped out.

MUST MAKE EFFORT

Nor could Canada sit by and wait for a more favorable turn of events in the United States "or for the pendulum to swing back in our favor in world commodity markets." Canadians must make every effort to promote stronger industries and increase multi-lateral trade.

Such measures as our import surcharges were essential in overcoming the immediate exchange emergency of last summer and may have to be retained a little longer, but they cannot form part of any program for the lasting improvement in our current account position.

"Such measures, if retained too long, would defeat our purpose by making Canadian industry less competitive at a time when we must become more competitive. Nor does this objective mean that we shall cease to make foreign capital welcome in this country or to maintain an hospitable climate for foreign investors.

"We will continue to need net imports of capital for some time to come—we may always need it at times of rapid resource development."

Cat Sand, Toothbrushes in SIU Case

By ROBERT RICE

OTTAWA (CP) — Hal C. Banks, president of the 15,000-member Seafarers' International Union of Canada, estimated Tuesday that the SIU is spending $200,000 on presenting its case in the federal investigation of Great Lakes labor strife.

The $200,000 price tag was given as the six-foot, 250-pound union chief faced cross-examination by Maurice Wright, lawyer for the Canadian Labor Congress and four CLC-affiliated unions.

Mr. Wright aimed his initial fire at Mr. Banks' expense account items attributed to the federal inquiry—including bills for a dozen toothbrushes, cat sand, groceries, dry cleaning, Chinese food and boat repairs.

The Ottawa lawyer raised a quizzical eyebrow about an $8.78 bill for a dozen toothbrushes, listed under expenses of the SIU leader for the Norris inquiry.

At first, Mr. Banks suggested they were took brushes for painting the SIU's boats.

'NO WHITEWASH'

"You're not suggesting, Mr. Wright, that they are whitewash brushes," quipped Mr. Justice T. G. Norris, who is conducting the one-man inquiry.

"There was no whitewash connected with them at all," snapped Mr. Banks, whose expenses in the last four years have totalled $80,000.

Mr. Wright produced the original bill for a dozen 69-cent toothbrushes.

Mr. Banks then said they were used by people involved in the inquiry. He said he was "happy" to provide toothbrushes for anyone who had forgotten theirs.

Mr. Wright produced another bill—$1.29 for cat sand, also attributed to inquiry expenses.

"One day we are discussing $98,000,000 for income tax, and the next day $1.29 for cat sand," said Mr. Justice Norris, shaking his head.

"You've got cats in your home?" asked Mr. Wright.

"I have," said Mr. Banks.

He said the cat sand was purchased, with SIU funds, for a pet kept at the union head quarters in Montreal.

"My cat don't need sand," said Mr. Banks. "He goes outdoors."

Mr. Banks said the groceries and dry cleaning bills were expenses for guests connected with the inquiry who stayed at his suburban Montreal home.

Asked about Norris - inquiry expenses for boat repairs, Mr. Banks said the money was used for overhauling the SIU's boats.

Charged With Extortion Try

VICTORIA (CP)—A 22-year-old man was charged with attempting by threat to extort money from an Oak Bay man after he told police that he had received a series of threatening telephone calls.

John H. Todd told police he received the calls over a 10-day period. Mr. Todd, member of the Todd fish-packing family, is well known in swimming circles and as a volunteer coach.

He said the mysterious caller alleged he had tape recordings and pictures damaging to Mr. Todd's reputation, and demanded $2500 to keep quiet.

AUGUSTA, Me. (AP)—That question about color of hair will be eliminated from Maine's drivers licences, but not until next year at the earliest.

Maine's State Secretary Paul A. MacDonald said Tuesday that "it will be okay to remove the hair coloring question" as suggested by Representative Catherine I. Hendricks (Dem. Portland) in a recent letter.

MacDonald agreed with Mrs. Hendricks that the question has no value if the ladies are tinting, dyeing, and otherwise altering the appearance of their hair as frequently as she says they are.

"And I've certainly noticed that some of the ladies I thought had grey hair have suddenly become redheads while some of the redheads have become blondes," he added.

But, said the secretary, this year's licences are all printed with the question there.

Admirable Response to Appeal For Aid for Burned-Out Family

The excellent response of Nelsonites in aiding Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Barclay and their five children has provided them with a completely furnished home, Fire Chief E. S. Owens said.

"People in this town are terrific," the chief said of the generosity shown to the homeless family.

Fire destroyed the home at Blewett of the family of eight Monday afternoon, taking the life of their infant daughter, Hope.

Coroner William Evans said Tuesday he found an inquiry into the fire and death of the infant unnecessary. RCMP reported they found the charred body of three-week-old Hope in the ruins.

Mayor T. S. Shorthouse and the fire department have set up an assistance program, aided by the Salvation Army and Red Cross.

The Barclay family have been staying with neighbors since Monday.

HOUSE INSURED

Although the Barclay's possessions destroyed in the fire were not insured, George Talbot, owner of the house informed the Daily News Tuesday, his Blewett home was insured.

The Barclay family will be able to move into their rent-free dwelling for one month at 1023 Carbonate Street by Thursday, Chief Owens said.

The excellent response of private citizens and local businesses stemmed from a radio appeal over CKLN.

CO-WORKERS HELP

Mr. Barclay's co-workers at Kootenay Forest Products are contributing to a fund organized by a committee at the mill. The company will also be donating generously to the fund, George W. Barnes, a mill employees aid.

The company will be assisting in paying the rent and heating costs of Mr. Barclay's home.

The Barclay family has received $100 cash donation from the Eagles Lodge; $200 grocery and clothing donation from Red Cross; $25 from Kinsmen; Mayor T. S. Shorthouses' fund at City Hall totalled $300 this morning (the fund is still open) and Palm Dairies Ltd. offered free milk for one month. Many donations of household goods, clothing, bedding and appliances were also received.

Mothers March Objective $250,000

Nelson mothers will march on polio Saturday Feb. 2 in an effort to raise their share of a province-wide total of $250,000.

The announcement at the Kinsmen meeting Tuesday night, it was not stated how much is expected to be raised in the city and district. The Kinsmen sponsor the drive.

Last year the target was $2500. There will be more mothers marching this year than last and the club is making an all-out effort in promotion and advertising.

Frank Carlson, chairman of the Christmas Hamper fund reported that the club delivered nine food hampers to needy families in the city and district at a cost of $120.

Ron Corbett suggested that, since the club has been organized 29 years, it is not too early to consider a founder's night celebration next year and inviting all former Kinsmen to attend.

The club voted a $25 donation to Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Barcley who lost their three-week-old baby Monday when their home was destroyed by fire.

It was further announced the club's 1963 membership drive will commence immediately.

12 New Dial Systems Installed by B.C. Telephone

E. J. Davis, Interior Division Manager at Kamloops, said the approximate cost of construction in 1962 should exceed $8,000,000, of which dial installations will have been the single largest part.

As part of the company's continuing program to provide automatic service throughout the Interior Division, 14 new dial systems will be placed in service during 1963. Extensive additions to long distance microwave systems together with more land line facilities are also planned.

Construction costs for 1963 are estimated at nearly $8,500,000.

Council No Nearer Decision On Thorny Municipal Carport

City council gently probed a festering civic sore spot Monday and prescribed treatment rang of the past.

Mayor T. S. Shorthouse broached the touchy topic, municipal car port project, to inform the newest aldermen on the latest happenings and also to remind everyone that, by agreement, the street level building is to be ready by May 1.

The resulting discussion showed council split in two distinct groups and with divisions in each group concerning how the problem should be solved.

The problem facing council today is one of taxation. Under the municipal act, Kelly Douglas Co. Ltd., the prospective lessee for 15 years with a five-year option, is subject to taxation on the eventual three-level parking structure.

Prior to the knowledge of the compulsory taxation, Kelly Douglas had agreed to rent all 82 spaces at $600 a month and advance $25,000 interest free to aid the city in its initial construction.

Since then negotiations have been in a state of limbo as lawyers probe the act's taxation clause.

FAVORS RENT CUT

Mayor T. S. Shorthouse indicated Monday that he favored a reduction in annual rent to the wholesale firm equivalent to the annual tax on the structure.

This brought little encouragement from the opposition headed by Ald. E. T. Bodard. The alderman declared it is time the city asked Kelly Douglas whether it is prepared to pay taxation under the latest agreement. He did not imply what course of action he would advocate if the company rejected the taxation plus rent and held out for a reduction in rent equivalent to annual taxation.

Speaking of the 600 block Vernon Street project, Ald. Albert Maida reminded Council that the $139,000 steel constructed parking area is only the start. Eventually two other parking levels, at a cost of $44,000 apiece can be added and the ground floor converted into a city garage.

He said a business has shown interest in the present garage site on Josephine Street.

Speaking in favor of the project, Ald. J. S. M. Harts reminded the councillors that the city is bound to a commitment.

"If we don't honor our word, we might as well leave the city, leave the council," said the alderman.

Ald. Mrs. W. J. Van Maarion attacked this concept, comparing the project to a person making a purchase downtown for a certain price and then coming back later to find the purchase price had increased. A person would give a second thought to purchase under those conditions and was not bound by his original agreement, she contended.

A member of council when the agreement was first contemplated and passed, Ald. Van Maarion said she is not in favor of the revised agreement, increasing the rent.

She said when first mentioned, the project was to cost between $50,000-$75,000 and was to be self-liquidating.

Today the cost of the project is set at $139,000 not including architect fees, and purchase price for the two lots adjoining the city lots.

ADVISES SELL LOTS

"I cannot go along with the proposed project as negotiated between the city and Kelly Douglas because it is not self-liquidating," said Ald. Van Maarion, who contended the city lots should be sold to the private company so they could go ahead and build their own project.

Ald. Maida opposed the prospect of seeing the land leave city hands.

The only solution offered to end the lengthening controversy was one indicated in the past. Ald. Bodard recommended levelling the present area and hard surfacing it and building two stairways to Vernon Street. Such a parking area could accommodate 110 cars he said and the store could install its own escalator service for its customers. He realized that this was not top quality, but he felt it would solve the issue.

Ald. J. H. MacMillan, just returned to council after a two-year absence, and newcomer Ald. D. E. Porteous did not participate in the discussion.

In his campaign platform, Ald. Porteous opposed the project while Ald. MacMillan wanted the people to decide the issue by a vote.

At Creston

E.W. Barnes Killed In Traffic Mishap

An elderly man died, after being struck by a motor vehicle while attempting to cross Main Street in Creston, Tuesday morning.

Ernest William Barnes, aged 81 years, suffered a broken leg after being injured by a car driven by 35-year-old Thomas Good of Creston. Barnes was rushed to the Creston Hospital but died at noon.

Mr. Barnes was reported to have been on the crescent of Main and Canyon Streets at the time of the impact.

Police said they did not know at what speed Good was travelling, but indicated the speed limit was 20 miles per hour.

No charges have been laid but RCMP are still investigating.

Mr. Barnes has no known relatives. Funeral services will be conducted Thursday.

Mr. Barnes was born in Reading, England, in 1882 and came to Canada in 1923. The following year he moved to Canyon. He was an architect and member of the British Merchant Marine for many years.

He was empolyed as an orchardist in Creston but was retired at the time of his death.

An inquest was called Tuesday night by Dr. J. V. Murray of Creston.

McIntosh Heads Chamber of Mines

J. S. McIntosh, managing director of Sheep Creek Mines was elected president at the annual meeting of the Chamber of Mines of Eastern British Columbia which was well attended Tuesday night by members in Nelson and points throughout the Kootenays. Mr. McIntosh succeeds retiring president F. R. Thompson.

Mr. Thompson, manager of Reeves MacDonald mine at Remac gave an address on the present price of metals, particularly silver and lead.

Mr. Thompson reported U.S. gold stocks are at a record low; at the year-end the stock was below the 25 per cent required by statute, to support the dollar.

It is anticipated that the favorable exchange rate of the Canadian dollar will continue through 1963 and the price holds at about current level, he said.

Silver price at the year-end is close to the high of mid-October, he said.

Silver producers will derive a twofold benefit in the coming year from the favorable exchange rate of the higher prices.

Production of lead in the United States was the lowest recorded in 62 years. The stock at year end amounted to 240,000 tons of metal compared to 303,400 tons at the end of the previous year.

Canadian production of zinc showed an increase in 1962 over 1961. New production scheduled for 1963 will further increase production.

Copper stocks were maintained at a reasonable level during the past year. The outlook indicates copper will hod its price level.

The outlook normally is for our operating mines to continue operations on the current scale through 1963, Mr. Thompson concluded.

Newly elected operating officers at the meeting were president, J. S. McIntosh; first vice-president Robert G. Weber, property superintendent, of Canadian Exploration Ltd., Salmo; second vice-president, J. S. Donald, property superintendent, Bluebell Mine, Riondel and third vice-president, Roy McMichael, superintendent of mine, H. B. Mine, Salmo.

W. Roy Hunter, J. D. McDonald, and F. W. Cartwright were named to the finance committee.

Named to the administrative board were A. Allan (chairman), J. S. McIntosh, J. D. McDonald, W. R. Hunter, R. H. Dill, F. W. Cartwright and R. Palmer.

W. R. Hunter and E. W. Florendine were named life members.

Response has been light in the proposed lecture series for prospectors and others interested in the search of varied mineral reports J. D. McDonald reported.

Only 10 have enrolled and there must be at least 20 to warrant holding the classes Mr. McDonald said "If possible I would prefer 30," he said.

The series held by the Chamber in co-operation with the Department of Mines, will consist of varied subjects pertaining to prospecting. The series is slated to begin January 28 or the following week in the Chamber board room.

Chief subjects will include mineralogy, elementary geology, mining and prospecting, together with the correct methods of staking claims and other information which will be of practical value to the prospector in the field.

The financial statement showed a slight gain over 1961, F. R. Thompson reported.

December 31 of last year showed a balance of $2080, $312 more than for the 1961 total. (A fuller story will be carried in Thursday's paper.)

CORRECTIONAL SCHOOL FOR TWO RECOMMENDED

Three youths found guilty of conspiracy to commit arson were each sentenced to one year definite and one year indefinite in the Young Offenders Unit, Oakalla Prison Farm.

Sentenced were Bill E. Podmorow, Sidney E. Koftinoff and Fred Hoodicoff, all of the Krestova area.

Podmorow, found guilty on another count of arson received an additional sentence of one year indefinite and one year definite to run concurrently with his other term.

His Honor Judge E. P. Dawson recommended Podmorow and Koftinoff be transferred to New Haven School in Burnaby or Haney Correctional Institution.

Cranbrook Leads in House Construction

Housing starts and completions in Kootenay centers of 5,000 population and over were up slightly in 1962 from the previous year with Cranbrook showing the most noticeable increase.

Cranbrook recorded 94 building completions last year, 59 more than was recorded in 1961, but only 62 starts were recorded for 1962, four fewer than for the previous year. Five houses were under construction last December 31 at Cranbrook and 38 NHA starts were recorded.

Kimberley showed a decrease of five starts and three completions in 1962 from 1961 but an increase of two buildings under construction since Dec. 31. Three more starts were recorded in 1962 from 1961.

Nelson saw the loss of two completions in 1962 compared with 1961 but three more homes were under construction since Dec. 31 and one more NHA start.

Trail recorded 14 more building completions in 1962 compared with 1961. There were nine more homes under construction Dec. 1961 compared to the corresponding period last year and 16 more NHA starts.

Fernie Prepares for Long-Awaited Gala Ski Hill Opening Saturday

After two postponements, Fernie's new Snow Valley ski hill will officially open next Saturday. Original dates, both changed because of weather, were November 24 and December 15.

Activities will include a reception and luncheon in the Catholic hall at 12:00 noon; a ribbon-cutting at the chalet at 2:30; free skiing for everyone all day; and a free dance for all in the chalet at night. Refreshments will be served in the newly licenced dining lounge, "The Loft," and a smorgasbord is on the supper schedule.

Invited to the luncheon are government officials, mayors of communities from Edmonton to Grand Forks and Revelstoke to Kalispell; officials of Chambers of Commerce and ski club presidents from a similar area; newspaper, TV and radio representatives; shareholders of Snow Valley Ski Development Ltd., and Fernie Chamber of Commerce members. Free skiing, ribbon cutting and free dance are open to everyone. The 4500 T-bar and 500-foot rope tow will operate from 9:00 a.m. until 4:00 p.m. or later.

LUNCHEON SPEAKERS

Luncheon speakers will include Mayor Frank Sherring of Lethbridge and E. T. Dicks, president of Snow Valley. Mayor James White will welcome the guests on behalf of the City of Fernie. Harry C. McKay, MLA for Fernie, and Mayor George Haddad of Cranbrook will speak at the ribbon cutting. Mayors attending from the most widely separated communities will be asked to hold the ends of the ribbon. To avoid traffic congestion at the hill, plans call for buses to take visitors to the ski hill at 2:30 and return them downtown. Free buses operating from the bus depot and the King Edward Hotel at 1:00 p.m. will take the public to the hill. "Bud" Dicken, owner of Dicken Bus Lines Ltd., has announced the free service.

All details are not yet finalized but covering the ceremonies will be newspaper, radio and television crews from Lethbridge, Cranbrook, Nelson and other centres, possibly also Spokane. The Fernie Free Press is putting out a special supplement.

Fernie business people are decorating their premises and staff members will dress to suit the occasion. "Welcome Skiers" signs are being distributed by Fernie Chamber of Commerce. The Chamber is handling arrangement in conjunction with ski company officials.

Skiers using the hill since Christmas have described it as "fabulous," "wonderful," "excellent" and other superlatives. The chalet has been described in equally glowing terms. Snacks or full course meals will be served in the newly opened "Loft" and sundry types of wine, beer and liqour are available with meals. An attractive bar and beautiful natural-finish tables with table cloths and soft candlelights enhance the lounge motif.

Suggests Different Way to Save Timber

KELOWNA (CP) — Lumber executive J. Ross Gorman says the B.C. Forest Service is right in suggesting a sustained timber yield program for the Okanagan Valley, but wrong in the way it plans to set the scheme up.

It could force some small mill operations out of business and others to cut back operations to five or six months a year, the manager of Gorman Brothers Lumber and Box Company said Tuesday.

The service proposes to reduce each operator to 70 per cent of his average timber cutting on crown land, the average to be calculated over the past three years.

Mr. Gorman said the new scheme does not take into account timber from private land —a major part of income, but soon to be exhausted.

"We feel a better plan would be to base the allowable on specie rather than total cut," he said. Thus, restrictions would be placed on such overcut species as fir, spruce, larch and balsam.

"In that way, it would force the operator to clean out the lodgepole pine that are now left standing to die."

A hearing on the forest service program will be held here Friday.

Requiem Sung For Bruce Merlo

TRAIL — Funeral services were held Monday for Bruno Merlo, 49, who died suddenly Friday at the city warehouse in Glenmerry.

He came to Trail from Treviso, Italy, 36 years ago and gained employment at Cominco before becoming an employee of the City of Trail 12 years ago.

He was an avid curler and bowler and in his younger years gained enjoyment from outdoor life and playing soccer.

He was a member of the Cristoforo Colombo Lodge for 30 years and was also a member of the Smelter Social Club, the Trail Curling Club and St. Anthony of Padua Church.

He is survived by his wife, Mary; a son Dennis, three brothers, Angelo, Enrico and Antonio, all of Trail; and two sisters, Mrs. P. Ungaro and Mrs. J. Decembrini, both of Trail.

He was predeceased by a brother, Gildo, in October, 1961.

Requiem High Mass was sung on Monday by Reverend E. Rosaia at St. Anthony of Padua Church. Prayers were recited Sunday evening.

Interment followed in the Mountain View Cemetery.

Trail Branch KSHC Reviews Successful Year

TRAIL — Operations of the Trail branch of the Kootenay Society for Handicapped Children were described as "highly successful," by president Jack Varcoe who gave his annual report Wednesday in the Maple School.

He said that the society is moving closer to one of its main objectives — building of a home for the handicapped near Creston.

In a report presented by the teachers it was noted that many of the students were progressing towards a useful role in today's world.

The membership committee reported that membership was up approximately 300 per cent.

EXECUTIVE

Elected to the board of directors were T. Tillimans, R. Gould, H. Lins, Mrs. Johnson, Mrs. M. Smith and J. Hall.

Elected to the board of governors were Mr. H. Lins, Mr. E. E. G. Morley and Mrs. C. Billingsley.

Board Protests Collection Grade 7 Book Rental Fee

RIONDEL — A letter of protest will be sent by the School Board of Kootenay Lake District No. 6 to the minister of education concerning collection of book rental fees from grade 7 students.

The textbook branch of the department insists on receiving rental from grade 7 students for books used during the year. The Board feels that such fees are due only from secondary students and as grade 7 students are now elementary, they will collect them only under protest.

At the recent meeting of the board, held at Balfour, Mrs. T. Saalfied was elected chairman for the new year.

The only change in the schedule of committees made so far concerns the Selkirk Health Unit Committee. Mrs. Saalfield and Mrs. Abbey will now represent the School Board on the Selkirk Board of Health.

BUS RUN CANCELLED

The Board decided to cancel the run of the Jewett school bus to Lardeau, since there are at present only two school children left in that community. Starting January 14, the bus is now running to Howser instead.

Trustees learned that E. C. Coleman, principal of the J. A. Cochran School, will be absent for a period of probably up to six weeks due to illness. For this reason, Mrs. R. Linnville has temporarily joined the staff as a substitute teacher, while G. Futcher was appointed acting vice-principal during Mr. Coleman's absence.

All District schools, with the exception of the secondary grades of the J. A. Cochran School, will be closed on Feb. 15 to enable the teachers to attend the annual education conference in Nelson. Secondary teachers at Riondel will attend the East Kootenay conference on another date.

SCHOOL RELOCATION

Word has been received from the B.C. Hydro and Power Authority that their original agreement with the Board (concerning relocation of the Jewett School, provision of trailers, etc.) will be influenced by the fact that the school site at Meadow Creek turned out to be much smaller than the authority had presumed it was. They will get in touch with the board as soon possible if the Duncan Lake project goes ahead, to work out the timing of any moves required. The Department of Education had been asked to present the matter of the land exchange for the minister's consideration now, in order to save time at the commencement of construction. The department, however, wishes to postpone this mattter until such time as definite action is taken on the project.

$20,000 LOAN

The board decided to apply to the department of education for authority to obtain a temporary loan for operating expenses up to $20,000. Such a loan may be needed if grant advances, normally received during the first few months of the year, should be found to be too low.

The date for the board's 1963 budget meeting was tentatively set at January 23. The board will meet as committee of the whole to draw up its budget, which will then be submitted for approval to the Kaslo Village Commission and the rural reprseentatives of the District.

VANCOUVER (CP) — Police constable Leo Bergerman, 40, was convicted of impaired driving Monday and fined $200. Mr. Bergerman said he had five glasses of beer and was dazed after the accident because his face struck the steering wheel.

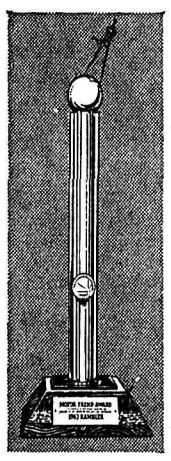
Here are the reasons why Motor Trend Magazine chose the 1963 Rambler as the "Car of the Year"



The coveted Motor Trend magazine "Car of the Year" award was won this year by the entire line of 1963 Ramblers. The popular Classic 6—the powerful Ambassador V8 and the compact American 6. The award was given to Rambler "for outstanding design achievement and engineering leadership." The panel of automotive experts took 26 pages in the February issue of Motor Trend magazine to outline the reasons for their choice of Rambler. The following are excerpts from their remarks to show you why Rambler is "Car of the Year" for 1963.

1 Uniside Construction "... this latest design represents a real advancement and the biggest single reason we chose Rambler Car of the Year. Not only does this new construction method save approximately 150 pounds over the older design, but it results in a unit so strong it'll take punishment longer and naturally hold its resale value."

2 Handling and Driving "... pleasingly light and responsive under all cornering conditions ... a good boulevard and highway ride. There isn't any pitch or choppiness noticeable even on rough roads."

3 Styling "Progress in design is the theme of Motor Trend's Car of the Year award. American Motors' Ramblers are this year's best examples of outstanding design achievement. New styling is based on lean, clean lines that are apparent from almost any angle."

4 Interior Room and Comfort "The lengthened wheelbase has given more room inside ... and this means increased driver/passenger comfort. The interior offers plenty of leg room. Reclining bucket seats with headrests are options well worth the extra expenditure."

5 Economy "There won't be many cars of this size delivering more fuel economy than the basic-engined Classic."

6 Value and Features "Quality has always been one of American Motors' largest selling points and continues to be on the new models. In addition to the long-recognized owner appreciation features inherent in all Ramblers, the factory has doubled the new-car warranty to 24 months or 24,000 miles.

In summing up, all we can add is that it looks like the new Rambler will be an even better buy than it has been in previous years."

That's what the experts say. They are echoing what Rambler owners have been proudly claiming for years. To prove to yourself Rambler's exceptional value see your Rambler dealer soon. Take a test drive in the "Car of the Year"—the 1963 Rambler.

Ask your Rambler dealer for your free reprint of the 26-page Motor Trend article.

Canada's Moral Position

Amid a chorus of disapproval from other parties Mr. Pearson comes out boldly with the statement that Canada should accept nuclear warheads for its forces in NATO and the North American Air Defence Command.

Left to itself, Canada, like many other nations, would be content to dwell in peace. She has no thought of aggression or of anything but a nominal defence force. Unfortunately, circumstances today are against this idyllic state of affairs.

We, with the rest of the Western nations, have to prepare for possible attacks by a great power. We are in no position to do this alone, but have agreed to accept the leadership of the United States in the matter. Our place in NATO and NAADC is the result of this agreement.

There is a strong sentiment in Canada against the acceptance of nuclear warheads and a belief that by abstaining from acquiring them we are serving the cause of peace. There is, however, no precedent in history to prove that unarmed or peaceful nations are forever immune from attack, but this, though it has a great deal of weight with many people, is not the real point at issue. What is important is our own national standard of international morality.

Mr. Pearson does not argue on any other grounds than that Canada should live up to its undertakings, and this is something which might well be given much more consideration. He thinks that, regardless of their sentiments, Canadians should live up to their responsibilities.

Though he will be most unpopular with many people, Mr. Pearson's arguments on these grounds are unassailable. In the end Canada must accept nuclear warheads or leave NATO. There is no middle road in an alliance. If, however, we do not accept nuclear warheads, what happens to us in this turbulent world?

King of the Castle

One doesn't doubt that Premier Bennett likes to be premier and thus king of the castle. Most men attaining this status are very pleased with it. Mr. Strachan would be equally delighted if he could take Mr. Bennett's place. And then, perhaps, someone would call him Jehovah.

This is the complex he says has overcome the Socred leader, whose government, he charges, has saddled B.C. with strife, decay and "spurious contingent liabilities."

The NDP leader should be more careful of his adjectives. Spurious means false, not genuine. One might wish the contingent liabilities were indeed spurious; as it is they are very real. And while not a direct debt they are a potential liability. The only falsity in this regard is Mr. Bennett's insistence that the province is debt free.

It is Mr. Strachan's role to find fault but surely he doesn't really believe that B.C. has become wealthier, as he concedes, yet at the same time is losing its strength through decay. Not many others at any rate will accept this contradiction.

One may always find legitimate complaint with any government, but it is nonsense to suggest that care for the aged, education and health measures are objectives steadily going beyond reach. Whether one credits the government or merely the natural growth of the province these are facilities currently at a higher level than ever before.

Mr. Strachan should be more specific and cite the details to support what sound like standing parrot-cry generalizations. If he hopes to win the next provincial election he will have to do much better than this.

He states further in another sweeping assertion that there is a continuous climate of strife that seems to "overwhelm our every effort." Actually this kind of climate affects every government in the country, no matter its political stripe, because it is generated mainly by opposing parties.

Mr. Strachan himself, for instance, warns that the next legislative session may be the stormiest on record, and that his NDP group will match Mr. Bennett in endurance. Here one may envision the climate of strife he is talking about.

The Bennett government is by no means perfect but the NDP leader will have to pinpoint its weakness much more precisely to avoid the suspicion he is simply playing opposition for opposition's sake.

Don't Spoon Feed The Child

Authorities on child behavior range from the "applied psychology" school—smack the little fellow on the bottom with a book concerning behavior tactics of children—to, "let him develop without inhibitions,"—the first school says the antithesis of this is engendered by corrective thumpings.

Personally, we go along with the wooden mixing spoon line of thought.

It is rarely necessary to use the spoon to tap the tot; just to show it is sufficient.

Children lick these spoons, used to conglomerate all sorts of tasty concoctions. They thus build up spoon reverence. It is not easy for a child to lick tastiness off a wooden spoon on one occasion, then have the object of his affection turned against him shortly after.

Traumatic shock can result.

The child will look with horror at a waving wooden mixing spoon, held by mummy, posed like the avenging angel. What mummy does not realize is that any immediate change in the offspring's behavior is not due to the physical threat, but to the fact that the spoon may be desecrated.

Let's again give the wooden spoon a "try".

Please believe, the youngsters will behave better.

—Penticton Herald.

The Gem

We will conquer the world with Love,
The gem we found in our own back yard.
This gem is a gem from above,
Oh, look at this gem from above
We found in our own back yard.
We found a gem in our own back yard,
Now we will never, never part
With this gem, we found in our own back yard,
So precious and dear to our heart.
We looked for this gem from above,
We travel the world through
But this gem was right in our own back yard.
Oh, friends, this gem is alive for you.

Real Estate Developer Predicts Renewal or Rot For Many Cities

By GREG MacDONALD
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Urban renewal or urban rot is a dilemma facing Canadian cities in 1963, says a Toronto real estate developer.

Alex J. Rubin, president of Revenue Properties Ltd., says that even if a quick start is made on urban renewal this year the problem will grow worse before it improves.

"In some cases, the urgency is such that delay means risk of financial problems and tax increases."

Canadian cities, he says, are far behind the United States in recognizing the seriousness of the situation.

There are more than 600 redevelopment projects currently under way across the border and an equal number planned for the next few years. "But in Canada the total since 1956 is only 15 projects completed and in progress in 10 cities."

"There is little prospect that in the years immediately ahead the activity will be any greater."

SAYS STUDIES FEW

Mr. Rubin says the federal government will pay three-quarters of the cost for city-wide studies of the problem of urban renewal but only 38 such studies have been started in the last six years and only 24 of these completed.

"Although city planners consider that terms under which federal government funds can be secured for urban renewal are not generous enough there is the curious probability that Canada's remarkable post-war prosperity may have been a major reason for failure to see the danger signals."

"The inflow of new Canadians new industry and new businesses along with record expansion of established ones produced a construction boom without precedent, privately financed.

"The function of municipal boards and officials was widely believed to be that of regulating builders and developers. At authoritative levels, there was more concern over urban sprawl, traffic and the exploding metropolis than over dying downtowns."

Housing, says Mr. Rubin, is only one of the problems involved in urban redevelopment. It is much more complex than is publicly recognized and the planning - negotiation stage is likely to be lengthy.

NEED MULTI-LEVEL HELP

He says that often four kinds of financing is required—federal, provincial, municipal and private funds.

"The business of the redevelopment corporation is new to Canada. Small, scattered and unco-ordinated real estate projects, common in the past, cannot today from the community viewpoint, match the value offered by larger and more comprehensive developments.

"But even the large organization faces pressurs to drop major dvelopment schemes in favor of those from which income can be realized quickly. These pressures can be lessened by the co-operation of governments to eliminate delays and much unnecessary expense."

Mr. Rubin says any practical formula for urban redevelopment must include a metho dof attractingindustry back to city centres, particularly employers with large payrolls.

"It must offer facilities at a cost attractive to industry as an alternative to suburban locations, an objective which can be achieved by greater co-operation between all levels of government and private industry."

Rival Networks Share Common Ground Urging Study Color TV

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's rival television networks share common ground in urging a co-operative industry-wide study of color TV before its introduction in this country.

In submissions filed with the Board of Broadcast Governors for a hearing Tuesday, the publicly - owned CBC and the privately-owned CTV Television Network Limited agreed that while color TV is bound to come, its inauguration in Canada at this time would be premature.

However, most set manufacturers and some private broadcasters said in their submissions that the BBG moratorium on color should be lifted, local stations be allowed to start color transmissions immediately and a deadline set for introduction of national color TV, perhaps by late 1964.

The BBG restriction was originally imposed in 1960 on the grounds the public was not ready for color TV and that technical standards had not been established by the federal transport department. Tuesday's public hearing was called to review the situation.

SHOULD GO SLOW

The CBC submission says that the corporation is tempted to say "let's go" on color TV but it believes the facts indicate it must still say "let's go slow."

"The CBC does not think we should enter color TV at a stage where Canada remains indefinitely in the color doldrums of but a few hours per week of non-Canadian color programs."

The corporation proposed formation of a Canadian color TV committee, including representatives of the BBG, the networks, private broadcasters, transport department and manufacturers, to pool information on color TV and develop common aims. Another major look at color should be made in about a year's time.

The CBC said it has worked out a tentative developmental plan to introduce color in four stages. The plan, costing approximately $17,000,000, would take about four to five years to implement fully.

The CTV network says that to proceed with costly expenditures involved in color transmissions before it is known that such a step is commercially acceptable and economically possible "would be to move in a very dangerous direction."

The CTV recommended continuance of the BBG moratorium and establishment of an industry - wide committee to meet the BBG and transport department to xplore the best way of introducing color TV.

The Canadian Association of Broadcasters, representing private broadcasters, said it feels the most desirable and useful atmosphere would be one in which stations are permitted to broadcast in color if they d-e sir.

Among individual stations asking to be allowed to start in the color field right away were CKCO-TV Kitchener and CHCH-TV Hamilton.

The Electronic Industries Association of Canada said color television is as inevitable as tomorrow and asked for a firm statement when it will be allowed in Canada.

It suggested that Canada is on the verge of falling behind in the color field and outlined a four-stage tentative program calling for production of live Canadian shows for national network viewing in two years.

The association said Canadians have approximately 4,500 color receivers. One Canadian manufacturer had started producing color sets and although the minimum price now was around $700, it was logical it would decrease as Canadian content and production increased.

Dominion Electrohome Industries Limited asked for the earliest possible removal of color broadcasting restrictions, a step which "in effect will restore basic free enterprise and enthusiasm into the orderly development of the color TV industry in Canada."

RCA Victor Company also urged that the introduction of color TV not be delayed any longer.

The Canadian Broadcasting League, a voluntary group representing various farm, labor, co - operative, university and women's organizations, said it is opposed to color at this time. It urged that money could be better spent in developing the full potential of black-and-white television.

Interpreting the News

By DOUG MARSHALL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

An African president is gunned down by soldiers in his own army as he scurries for the sanctuary of the U.S. Embassy.

Unlike the wide-screen Congo epic, the coup d'etat in the Togo Republic has the atmosphere of a tight half-hour drama on television. But the theme is similar and just as significant.

Several British observers say President Sylvanus Olympio's assassination shows up the complexity of the political and tribal feuds frustrating the development of the new African nations.

As with most African flare-ups, Ghana's president Kwame Nkrumah seems somehow involved. His dream of heading a black pan - African federation often leads him to add his influence either openly or behind the scenes.

The charges and counter-charges that have dominated Ghana's relations with her neighbor during the last year suggest the overthrow had Nkrumah's blessing.

MERGER POSSIBLE

Certainly the new Togo regime, whether led by former premier Nicolas Grunitzky or Ghana-based Antoine Meatchie, will seek closer relations with Accra and there could be an attempt soon to merge the two republics.

The quarrel between Ghana and Togo goes back to pre-independence days when a plebiscite allocated the intervening strip of British Togoland to the former British colony.

The new frontier split an important tribe, the Ewe, and much of Olympio's opposition came from tribe members who believed the road to unification lay with Togo becoming a part of Ghana.

Olympio, although opposed to joining Ghana, was friendly to Britain and polite to Togo's former ruling power, France. Britain's foreign office regards his death as a threat to future harmony between English- and French - speaking nations in West Africa.

Peace Man's Business

To the Editor:

Sir — I wish to comment on some "Letters to the Editor" that came out in your paper recently, the subject being: 'God Christ and Peace.'

Some people like to choose the easiest way out by allocating the task of establishing peace among men to God. This is a well known "let George do it" policy, only in this particular case such a policy sounds highly hypocritical.

How is it that we know how to wage wars, but do not know how to preserve peace? Do we consult God when we plan our international diplomatic poli- we spend billions of dollars on cies? Do we consult His when the so-called "Defence?"

Besides, it is not clear whether God is obliged to carry out our decisions, or how we are to compel God to do our bidding. God seems to have His own plan of actions, quite independent from man. As for us, homo-sapiens, He has supposedly endowed us with brains, heart and conscience and expects us to be able to cope with human affairs. Moreover, God has given us His explicit laws and commandments for our guidance. "Thou shalt not kill" is as imperative today as it was in the days of Moses. But the choice is ours. If we follow God's law, we find peace and happiness. But if we prefer to claw at each other's throats, or blast ourselves into oblivion, it is not God, but we ourselves who reap the consequences.

Therefore, whether we like it or not, the business of keeping peace is definitely man's business, for it is not God, but man, who created the present world tension. And if we are to be honest, we must stop deluding ourselves with lofty platitudes, but look at ourselves as we really are. And perhaps at this point it is fitting to ask ourselves some pointed questions:

Are we the fit material out of which a New World is to be built, or are we the withered fig trees? If mankind deliberately chooses to commit a wholesale suicide, why should God intervene? Of what use are we to him, dead or alive?

In conclusion I would say that the least we can do in this case is to be men enough to admit our responsibilities and not to expect God to clean up our sordid mess.

British Hope French Will Have Second Thoughts On Polaris

LONDON (AP) — The British government Tuesday expressed hope that France will have second thoughts about its rejection of U.S. Polaris missiles.

At the same time the foreign office, with the authority of Prime Minister Macmillan's cabinet, said the British intend to press on with the Common Market negotiations in Brussels.

President de Gaulle's rejection of the Polaris missile offer and his tough stand on Britain's entry into the Common Market were widely viewed in Europe as a double blow to the Western alliance.

Pending a full cabinet discussion of the crisis that has arisen in the wake of de Gaulle's declaration Monday, the comments of the foreign office were restrained.

However, on the specific question of de Gaulle's rejection of the Nassau agreement between President Kennedy and Macmillan—to promote a NATO nuclear force—a foreign office spokesman told a press conference:

"President de Gaulle was clearly referring to the Nassau agreement entirely from the French point of view.

"We ourselves regard it as a constructive contribution to the indivisible defence of the Western alliance and we would hope that other members of the alliance would so regard it.

"The NATO nuclear force is under discussion among all the NATO allies and we would hope that France herself would one day have second thoughts."

Informed sources here said the French leaders blunt summing-up of the conditions he thinks Britain must meet to join the common market came at a most embarrassing moment for Macmillan.

But the sources said de Gaulle's attitude will not affect Britains determination to push on with the present critical Brussels negotiations with the European "six."

Belgian Foreign Minister Paul-Henri Spaak, one of the strongest supporters of Britain's entry, declined to comment on de Gaulle's statements.

"No, No," said Spaak. "Not so early. I must be left some time to think it over. It is too important."

Italian Budget Minister Ugo la Malfa said: "Italy and the other countries of the Common Market cannot be treated like colonies."

La Malfa said he believes Italy should do everything possible to help Britain's entry, including the offer of a "special relationship" between Rome and London, similar to that being developed by France and West Germany.

Government sources in Bonn quoted some officials as saying privately the French president's attitude practically blocks full British membership in the six-nation trade alliance.

Another Split In Bank Stocks Asked

OTTAWA (CP)—Another split in bank stocks was sought Tuesday by the Canadian Bankers' Association.

The last sub-division was in 1944 when bank stocks were split 10 for 1. Since then the number of shareholders in the eight chartered banks has grown to 85,000 from 50,000.

No specific split was recommended by the association Tuesday in its brief to the royal commission on banking and finance. But it said:

"It seems to us desirable that widespread ownership of shares in the banks should be encouraged, and the price of each share should not be so high that small investors find them inconvenient to buy.

"We therefore recommended that the shares should be subdivided again."

The association said market prices of the various bank stocks now have reached levels that limit wider distribution.

A change in the Bank Act would be needed for such a split. The act comes up for its regular decennial review by Parliament in 1964. The royal commission is scheduled to report to the government next September.

Statutory par value for bank shares now is $10 each.

BBC Lifts Long Standing Jokes On Royalty

LONDON (AP)—The BBC Tuesday lifted a long-standing ban on jokes about royalty, sex and religion on its light entertainment television programs.

It scrapped a 15-year-old Code of Good Manners—which had applied only to light entertainment in peak viewing hours—had laid down an absolute "keep off" about cracks concerning:

Lavatories, effeminacy in men, immorality of any kind, honeymoon couples, chambermaids, fig leaves, prostitution, women's underwear, animal habits (especially in rabbits), lodgers and commercial travelers.

Scrapping of the code also automatically lifted the embargo from jokes about the Royal Family, abuse of political figures and acts of Parliament, and references to Jews or any other religious sect.

Explaining the change, a BBC official said:

"We now are relying on the discretion and good taste of program producers."

Canada's Chartered Banks Lose Out To Near-Banks

OTTAWA (CP)—The eight Canadian chartered banks Tuesday asked to be freed from "outdated and unnecessary restrictions" including the legal six-per-cent ceiling on bank lending rates.

They also asked for broader lending powers such as the freedom to make mortgage loans. They now are restricted to government - guaranteed National Housing Act mortgages and even had to vacate that field when the NHA rate went over six per cent in late 1959.

These were the two key recommendations made by the Canadian Bankers' Association in its voluminous brief to the royal commission on banking and finance. One of the commission's main tasks is to review the legislation under which the banks operate.

No specific recommendation was made by the banks about their competitors — the Quebec savings banks, trust and mortgage loan companies, credit unions, finance and small loan compaies, provincial government savings offices, and the post office savings banks.

BANKS LOSE GROUND

But the brief said the chartered banks have lost ground to these so-called "near-banks" in recent years. The banks still have the biggest share of the public's savings, but their share had dropped to 74 per cent in 1960 from 87 per cent in 1947.

Therein lies a major worry for the banks, the brief indicated.

It said that if this situation had been the result of free competition among the institutions involved, the public interest would have been served. But this had not been the case — the banks did not have the same freedom as their competitors.

A major factor is that the banking machinery is used by the Bank of Canada, the central bank, to regulate the price and supply of credit and hence the money supply.

The banks are required by law to keep a reserve of cash equal to eight per cent of their "deposit liabilities" — including loans. By action raising or lowering the pool of cash in the whole banking system, the central bank thus controls lending.

FEEL PINCH FIRST

Ultimately such action percolates through the whole financial system. But the banks are the first to feel the pinch.

The brief noted that when the Bank of Canada put the lid on the expansion of bank cash in 1959 and 1960, the banks had to hold down their loans. But the near-banks continued to expand rapidly.

In those two years, while chartered bank deposits went up 1.8 per cent, there was a 27-per-cent increase in the deposits of the other institutions.

The association said that as the relative position of the banks declines, it is logical that the Bank of Canada will have to be even more restrictive on the banks in order to get the same degree of "tight" or "easy" money in the economy.

Biggest cramp on bank operations is the six-per-cent lending ceiling, the brief said. It has not been changed since 1944. The near-banks can charge more, and hence can afford to pay higher interest on deposits than the banks.

Bainbridge - Kryger Vows Heard at Barrhead

Red and white of the bridal party's gowns and church floral decor provided a striking color theme for the recent wedding ceremony and reception held at Barrhead, Alberta, on November 24, 1962, when Hildegarde, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kris Kryger of Barrhead, became the bride of Mr. Robert Allan Bainbridge, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Bainbridge of Boswell.

Vows were exchanged in the Pentecostal Church at Barrhead, which was attractively decorated with red and white chrysanthemums and fern. Rev. Angus McLean read the marriage service.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown with bodice of silver thread brocade and full skirt of silk organza over nylon net and taffeta. Her shoulder-length veil was held in place by a little sequinned caplet. She carried a cascading bouquet of red rosebuds and fern. Her jewellery was a three-strand cultured pearl necklace, gift of the bridegroom.

The bride's sister, Lilly, as bridesmaid, wore a red brocade gown featuring a wide satin cummerbund. A white rose and net fashioned her headdress and she carried a bouquet of red and white 'mums.

Best man was Mr. David Bainbridge, brother of the groom, from Golden, B.C. Ushers were the bride's brother, Mr. Edward Kryger, and her brother-in-law, Mr. Irvin Brietkreitz.

During signing of the register, Mr. Lawrence Schindle sang "I'll Walk With God."

The bride's mother was charming in a blue crepe two-piece ensemble with white accessories, and the bridegroom's mother in a two-piece blue suit with accessories en tone.

A reception for 80 guests was held in the Lotus Hotel in Barrhead. The bride's table was centered by a three-tiered wedding cake surrounded by tiny bows of red and white ribbon.

Toastmaster was Mr. Oswald Kryger, who proposed a toast to the bride, to which the groom responded.

For a honeymoon at the Coast and U.S. points, the bride changed into a two-piece red wool ensemble with black accessories. The newlyweds are now living at Jasper, Alta., where the groom is employed by the dominion government and the bride is on the nursing staff of the Jasper hospital.

Out of town guests at the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. Jack Chesterman and family of Edmonton, Mr. and Mrs. David Bainbridge of Golden, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Bainbridge, Larry and Carol of Boswell and Miss Joyce Coleman of Jasper, Alta.

Patent Plastic For Surf Shown By Gernreich

NEW YORK (AP)—Slick, unsinkable suits, styled from the stuff of which shiny shares are shaped, will slip into the surf next season.

In gleaming red, yellow, black or coffee patent plastic "leather," the one- and two-piece suits are about as radical as Rudi Gernreich cares to go with bathing suit designs this year.

More than 100 fashion writers here to preview spring collections Sunday, sighed with relief. A few weeks ago Gernreich, a Californie designer, had predicted women will one day shed their modesty and designers will eliminate the tops of their suits.

This year, Gernreich merely pared the butterfly bra-top of one swim suit to inadequacy and settled for midriffs.

Ruffles on bulky wood plaid suits and jackets are pretty and unexpected on the cape coats and suit hems of another Californian, Bud Kilpatrick.

Still another California couturier, Daniel Werle, showed a collection full of one-of-a kind designs.

Usually a believer in black and white for night, Werle resorts to primary colors, splashy Hawaiian prints, and even zippy stripes to give dash to flashy chiffons and even dignity to demure dinner sheaths.

"Science May Yet Outstrip Conscience" Says Chancellor

OTTAWA (CP) — It is unfortunate that the "great breakthrough" in science has not been matched by parallel investigations into man's social and political conduct, Dr. Phyllis G. Ross chancellor of the University of British Columbia, said Tuesday.

In a talk to the Ottawa women's Canadian Club, Dr. Ross urged that education in the next 20 years be a highly personalized process "producing salubrious effects on every aspect of one's emotions, sentiments and rational processes."

She noted that Russia has said it will win in its conflict with the West "not by a passage of arms but by the possession of minds."

The chemist, the physicist and the mathematician had become the "shock troops" for a new kind of warfare.

Although it was desirable to compete in research and development with the rest of the world, it should not become the sole or principal goal of education to train academic and scientific prize fighters and shock troops.

FAILS TO KEEP PACE

Advances made by the great psychological and psychiatric schools during the last century had not kept pace "with the most refined of all areas of study—human behavior. . . . Science may yet outstrip conscience."

Education should refine, sensitize and quicken the intellectual curiosity of individuals.

The problem overshadowing all others was the search for qualified professors. The ablest young men and women should be encouraged and aided to prepare for teaching careers and recruiting would have to be done from graduate schools elsewhere in the world.

Artificial aids such as television, tape recorders, motion pictures, film strips and other instruments of education had their proper use but could not replace the role of the teacher.

"Unless measures are taken immediately to remedy this situation, we run the grave risk of dehumanizing education."

Decentralization had begun and while great universities developed where there was wealth, cultural resources and a critical mass of population, exciting and unique institutions must be developed with student bodies ranging between 500 and 2,000 students.

Red Amaryllis Blooms Add Cheer to Indoors

In six weeks' time, what looked like earth in a flower pot, a gift from Toronto for Mrs. C. Duff of Willow Point, has turned into a brilliant amaryllis, with luscious red, lily-like blooms brightening the winter indoors.

The plant has come along fairly slowly, in 60 degree temperature, until slightly forced a few days ago by higher temperatures, when the scarlet flowers unfolded.

Mrs. Duff was hoping to have the plant ready for a party she was giving at her home last Friday night, so she placed it near a lamp and with the heat and light from the lamp and additional heat from the fireplace, it produced quite satisfactory results.

Gray Creek Women's Club Adds To Handicapped Fund

GRAY CREEK — New president Mrs. Oscar Wirsig conducted the January meeting of the Gray Creek Women's Club, held at the home of Mrs. Frank Vicen, who is the new secretary.

Mrs. George Botham reported on the pot luck supper and the Christmas party. The sum of $65 is to be sent to the Dr. Endicott home for handicapped children. At the same time the club will ask for information on the progress of this fund and a statement of its financial position.

Retiring secretary Mrs. George Botham announced that she wishes her year's salary for the club to go to the cancer fund. This action was received with appreciation.

Members of the club were divided into three groups which will take turns handling refreshments for evenings at the Hall. Plans were made to hold a bingo evening on January 26, when "A" group will serve refreshments and "B" group undertake to prepare the Hall and look after the games.

The president spoke of the loss the club had suffered through the death of Mrs. Amanda Anderson, the only life member. Mrs. Lymbery told of Mrs. Anderson's constant help since foundation of the Porcupine Club in 1929. "She was always such a cheerful giver," said Mrs. Lymbery.

Mrs. Vicen entertained her guests by showing tricks she had taught her cat, Mitzie, who could not only sit up and beg but also catch the food in her paws and put in in her mouth.

Luis Aparicio Disappointed Over Trade

MARACAIBO, Venezuela (AP) Shortstop Luis Aparicio said Tuesday he is disappointed at being traded by Chicago White Sox to Baltimore Orioles but felt he now has a better chance to land in the World Series.

"The Orioles have better pitching, more youth and more drive," Aparicio said.

He warned Baltimore that his contract demands will remain the same. "I want $45,000," he said.

Aparicio and third baseman Al Smith were traded to Baltimore Monday for four players, including pitcher Hoyt Wilhelm.

Hawks Place Three On NHL All-Star Squad

MONTREAL (CP) — The league-leading Chicago Black Hawks account for half the players on the National Hockey League's first all-star team, chosen at the half-way mark of the 1962-63 schedule.

Toronto Maple Leafs placed two players on the team and Detroit Red Wings one.

Most votes went to Frank Mahovlich, high-scoring Toronto left winger who polled 89 of a possible 90 points in the balloting, results of which were released Tuesday.

Chicago's Stan Mikita netted 83 points at centre.

The first team, with points shown in brackets:

Goal—Glen Hall, Chicago (61)
Defence—Pierre Pilote, Chicago (66); Carl Brewer, Toronto (53)
Centre—Stan Mikita, Chicago (83)
Right wing—Gordie Howe, Detroit (67)
Left wing—Frank Mahovlich, Toronto (89)

HABS TAKE THREE

The second squad was heavily stocked with Montreal players. Canadiens took three spots, and one each went to Chicago, Detroit and New York.

Second team:

Goal—Terry Sawchuk, Detroit (51)
Defence— Elmer Vasko, Chicago (32); Jean-Guy Talbot, Montreal (30)
Centre—Henri Richard, Montreal (46)
Right wing—Andy Bathgate, New York (63)
Left wing—Gilles Tremblay, Montreal (16)

IS ONLY ONE

Mikita, a 22-year-old native of Czechoslovakia, is the only member of the first all-star team who was also named to the first team last season.

The other five first-half all-stars — Hall, Pilote, Brewer, Howe and Mahovlich—all moved up from last year's second team.

Three players on the 1961-62 first all-star squad — goalie Jacques Plante of Montreal, defenceman Doug Harvey of New York and Chicago right winger Bobby Hull—failed to make either of the first-half teams. Talbot and Bathgate both dropped to the second squad.

Harvey, a 38-year-old all-time great, was not on either team for the first time since the 1951-52 season. In the 11 years, he made the first team 10 seasons and the second team one season.

Plante, who missed 10-2-3 games at the season's start with a respiratory ailment, placed third among goalies with 30 points.

However, a weekend hand injury to Sawchuk that will keep him out of action for six to eight weeks could cause a shift in the voting for goaltenders on the second-half all-star teams.

Hull, who beat out Mahovlich for the left-wing post with a terrific second-half splurge last season, had 11 points for the first half of this season, 78 less than Mahovlich. Tremblay was 73 points behind Mahovlich with 16 points and Boston's Johnny bucyk had 13 points.

EDGES BATHGATE

The closest competition for a first-team spot was right wing, where Howe edge out Bathgate by four points. Montreal's Bernie (Boom Boom) Geoffrion came third with 27 points, 40 behind Howe.

Bathgate scored 38 points in his first 35 games, compared with Howe's 32. But apparently the Detroit star's leadership qualities and defensive ability gave him the edge.

No Calls for Dorohoy Yet

VICTORIA (CP)—Eddie Dorohoy thinks he can be of help to a professional hockey team.

He'll know later this week if any club shares his feeling.

Dorohoy, waived out of the Western League last week, said Tuesday night that he has wired hockey's central registry and applied for reinstatement as an amateur.

WHL teams apparently thought Dorohoy, who has never fully recovered from a broken leg suffered in the 1959-60 season, was a bad risk for the league waiver price of $2000.

But any of the clubs in other professional leagues can now claim Dorohoy for $750. Waivers end Friday night and if Dorohoy — second highest scorer in WHL history — is not claimed, he will get his amateur card back. The 33-year-old centre said Tuesday that chances of him landing the coaching job with Omaha of the U.S. International Amateur League appear slim. He said the job had been mentioned to him but that the Omaha club had apparently had a successful weekend under a new coach who was working on a trial basis.

Dorohoy, who has played sparingly since his injury, said he will decide "in a week or so" whether to accept an offer to go to Vienna, Austria, to coach and play with teams there for a six-week period.

VALETTA, Malta (AP)—The British luxury liner Canberra, which caught fire in the Mediterranean 10 days ago with more than 2,000 passengers on board, sailed for Belfast, Northern Ireland, Monday for repairs. The liner was bound for Australia when the fire forced her to put in here. Most of the passengers have been flown to Australia.

First Three Remain Same in NHL Point Race

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The first three slots in the National Hockey League's individual scoring race didn't change as a result of weekend games.

New York's Andy Bathgate, Toronto's Frank Mahovlich and Boston's John Bucyk each added two points to their previous totals.

Bathgate remains on top with 44 points on 21 goals and 23 assists. Mahovlich is one point back with 43 points on his league-leading 23 goals and his 20 assists.

Bucyk is three points off the pace with 41 points on 17 goals and 24 assists.

Gordie Howe's three weekend goals left him in fourth place with 40 points on 20 goals and 20 assists.

Henri Richard bounced back into contention with five assists, all in Saturday's game. The Montreal player and Chicago's Stan Mikita, who picked up two assists, are tied for fifth place with 39 points on 14 goals and 24 assists.

Murray Oliver slipped from sixth to seventh place although he scored a goal and counted an assist in weekend games.

Tommy McVie Moves up on Scoring Leader

SEATTLE (CP) — Portland's Tommy McVie has moved into the runner-up spot in the Western Hockey League scoring race on three goals and an assist in last week's games.

Teammate Gerry Goyer garnered 11 points in four road games to vault from 14th spot into a three-way tie for third place and pick up "player of the week" honors.

Statistics released by WHL headquarters Tuesday show Vancouver's Phil Maloney maintaining his lead. He has 19 goals and a league-leading 40 assists for 59 points, 14 more than McVie.

Jim Powers of Seattle continued to dominate the goal scoring department with 27.

Don Head remained the league's best goalie with a 2.48 goals-against average and Connie Madigan of Spokane topped the penalty list with 98 minutes in 34 games.

TOOK LIE TESTS—Rick Casares, 31-year-old fullback of the Chicago Bears, revealed in Chicago he had taken and passed two lie tests at the request of coach George Halas and Commissioner Pete Rozelle of the NFL in an investigation of possible point-shaving. Casares admitted, investigators said, that he had not obeyed an order from the late commissioner, Bert Bell, to stop seeing a Chicago gambler known as "Zaza." Halas said that he was convinced that not a single one of the Bears has ever tried to shave points or otherwise fix a football game.

Dock Goss, Golf's Genuine Hillbilly

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—The name is Dock Goss and if he isn't the longest hitter in golf he is the only admitted genuine hillbilly in the game.

He stands six feet 4½ inches on his rather ample feet, plays out of Knoxville, Tenn., and never ventured out of the hills until last December when he was 29.

Dock came to the wild west to make his debut on the winter golf trail.

He failed to qualify for the Los Angeles Open. Part of his troubles stemmed from the fact that he lost miles and many hours of sleep on the consarned freeways in California.

He came on to San Diego and did qualify for the tournament here.

Dock didn't fire any fancy scores in the $50,000 San Diego event. He picked up a 74 in the first round, a 72 in the second and was lopped at the 36-hole cuttoff.

Dock understandably is an ardent viewer of the television show Beverly Hillbillies and testifies:

"Them Beverly Hillbillies is the greatest. Now that's real hillbilly.

"I consider myself a real hillbilly. I sure do all the way."

Can he hit a ball as fur, pardon, as far as George Bayer, who is generally regarded as the longest hitter in golf?

Dock blushed a little and replied: "I don't know 'bout that but I've hit some good ones."

Gene Gregston, sports editor of the San Diego Evening Tribune, asked Goss how he got his first name.

It seems his parents were debating what to name the fourth of their seven offspring and the attending physician suggested:

"Why don't you name him after me?"

This sounded capital, so the baby was promptly named "dock."

SEEN TWO OCEANS

Dock said he had seen one ocean, presumably the Atlantic, when he played in Florida. Then last week he qualified for the San Diego tournament at the Torrey Pines Club, which overlooks the Pacific.

"Yeah, I seen one ocean before," Dock related. "But this is the first time I ever hit a-side one."

Goss is from Herman, Tenn., which he located as "near the foot of a mountain and a little bigger than Madisonville, Tinnysee."

Isn't Madisonville the home of United States senator Estes Kefauver?

Dock thought a moment.

"I'm sorry," he finally replied, obviously no name dropper, "I don't believe I know him."

Barlow Tallies Two in Seattle Win Over Calgary

CALGARY (CP) — Winger Bob Barlow tallied twice as Seattle Totems dumped Calgary Stampeders 4-2 in a Western Hockey League game before 2,069 fans Tuesday night.

Other Seattle snipers were Gerry Leonard and Wayne Hall. Norm Johnson and Milan Marcetta counted for Stampeders.

Totems led 2-0 at the end of the first period, increased the margin to 3-0 at the end of the second but scored only one goal while Stampeders counted twice in the final 20 minutes.

Expect To Name Collier Cleveland Coach Today

CLEVELAND (AP) — Cleveland Browns are expected to name the second football coach in their history today and all signs point to Blanton Collier getting the job.

Collier, 56, was with the Browns when Paul Brown started operations in 1946, leaving the club in 1954 to become head coach at the University of Kentucky. When Collier was removed from his college post after the 1961 season, he rejoined his old friend Brown as backfield coach.

Arthur B. Modell, Browns' president who fired Brown as coach and general manager last Wednesday, said he hoped to name the new coaching staff and general manager at a press conference today.

A source close to Modell said Collier definitely would get the job.

Collier has just completed his 34th season of football coaching, nine of them with the Browns.

GIVES TWO REASONS

The Akron Beacon Journal reported Tuesday in a copyrighted story that seven Cleveland players threatened not to return to the club in 1963 if Brown remained as coach. It quoted Modell as saying there was "as many as 25 reasons why I fired Paul Brown, but only two were really important."

The reasons Model listed were:

"First of all, in my considered opinion, I don't believe the maximum potential of the ball club was being realized.

"Secondly, it was reliably reported to me that, for various reasons, no less than seven key players — and these weren't rookies, believe me — weren't coming back next year under the same condition."

Brown was not available for comment on the Akron newspaper's story.

Model said Brown would remain with the club as a vice-president.

Another Honor For Theft Artist

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Maury Wills, Los Angeles Dodgers shortstop will be honored as the Athlete of the Year for 1962 at a banquet in Milwaukee Feb. 7, to be sponsored by the Fraternal Order of Eagles.

Wills was named Athlete of the Year by a wide margin in the annual Associated Press poll for stealing 104 bases, and breaking Ty Cobb's 1915 record of 96 stolen bases in a season. Wills alsd batted .299 and led all National League stortstop in base hits with 208.

The speedy infielder will be awarded the Frederick C. Miller Memorial Trophy by the Eagles, who have presented similar trophies to the winners of the AP poll each year since 1955. The trophies are given in memory of the widely-known Milwaukee brewer and sportsman who was killed in a plane crash in 1954.

Dawn Fraser, the Australian swimming queen who was selected in the recent AP poll as female Athlete of the Year for 1962, will not be here to accept her trophy, which will be sent to her. The 25-year-old Melbourne swimmer topped the voting for becoming the first woman to break the one-minute barrier for 100 metres.

CARDS TO OPEN CAMP FEB. 22

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The St. Louis baseball Cardinals said Tuesday spring training will begin Feb. 22.

General manager Bing Devine said pitchers and catchers will report on that date to manager Johnny Keane in St. Petersburg, Fla.

Forty of the 43 players on the Cardinals' winter list, plus eight major league prospects, are scheduled to report to the Cardinal camp, Devine said.

Devine said the three players who will probably miss spring training are pitcher Ray Sadecki and catcher Tim McCarver, who are in the army, and pitcher Bill Wakefield, a student at Stanford University.

DENVER (AP) — Clyde W. Thomas, 35, was seriously ill today after inhaling nerve gas fumes at the U.S. Army's nearby Rocky Mountain arsenal. Officials said Thomas was preparing to take samples for tests Monday when the gas spilled from a tank. Doctors described his chances for recovery as hopeful.

DAVE CHARNLEY PICKS UP EASY RING DECISION

LONDON (AP)—Dave Charnley, British and European lightweight champion, easily outpointed Jethro Cason of Philadelphia Tuesday night over 10 rounds at Royal Albert Hall stadium.

Charnley weighed 137 pounds and Cason 138 pounds.

The British fighter hurt Cason with hooks from both hands and in the late rounds slammed in damaging blows to the body.

Charnley is rated the world's seventh challenger for Carlos Ortiz' world lightweight crown. Cason is unrated.

PGA Turns Down Hogan Bid for Richest Tourney

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — The Professional Golfers Association has turned down Ben Hogan's bid for a $200,000 tournament here early in May, the Fort Worth golfing immortal said Monday.

It would have been the richest event in golf history if the PGA had accepted the tournament on its schedule on dates previously assigned the Colonial National Invitation.

The national golf group reportedly refused to accept the event, fearing it would detract from the PGA tournament in Dallas July 18-21. The Hogan tournament would have been played May 9-12.

Last World Series Game, Voted Top Thrill of '63

By MURRAY ROSE

NEW YORK (AP) — The seventh game of the World Series, a drama - packed affair from the opening pitch to the nerve-pounding final out, was named the sports Thrill of the Year in The Associated Press' annual year-end poll.

The climax game of the longest baseball season ever and the lengthiest World Series in 51 years was the choice of 97 of 179 sports writers and sportcasters who participated in the voting.

New York Yankees won the deciding game 1-0 over San Francisco Giants to take the world championship for the 20th time.

Baseball also provided the No. 2 thrill. That was the comeback of the Giants, who caught the floundering Los Angeles Dodgers on the final day of the season and then whipped them in a playoff, two games to one. The combination of the rallying finish and the tense third and deciding game drew 34 votes.

Sonny Liston's sensational knockout of heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson in two minutes and six seconds of the first round rated third with 27 votes.

Then came Maury Wills' record-breaking 104 stolen bases; New York Giants Y. A. Tittle's record seven-touchdown passing spree against Dallas in the final game of the National Football League regular season that enabled him to rack up a mark of 33 touchdown passes for the season; Roger Staubach's magnificent performance for Navy against Army in the service football classic; the Detroit Lions' 26-14 triumph over the all-conquering Green Bay Packers on Thanksgiving Day; Arnold Palmer's victory in the Masters golf tournament and Jack Nicklaus' triumph in the U.S. Open golf championship.

FINE RUSSIAN TRAWLER

WATERFORD, Ireland (AP) An Irish court fined a Russian trawler skipper $30 Monday night and ordered the confiscation of his catch and equipment. He was convicted of fishing inside Irish territorial waters. The trawler, the Paltus, skippered by Capt. Albert Kojhemjkin, was arrested off the Waterford coast, by the Irish corvette Maeva Jan. 7.

MARKET TRENDS

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market backed away from a continued rally and closed mixed Tuesday with most indicators showing slight losses. Trading was fairly active.

Volume dipped to 4,540,000 shares from the 5,000,000 which accompanied Monday's advance.

It was the first of 11 straight sessions in which more stocks declined than advanced, the score being 556 to 504, of the 1,315 issues traded. New highs in 1962-63 totalled 49.

The Dow Jones industrial average took a loss of .38 at 675.36.

The Associate Press average of 60 stocks was down .4 at 252.8 with industrials off .4, rails off .6, and utilities off .2.

TEN RISE

The continuing foundation of speculative and investment demand, however, was reflected by the list of 15 move active stocks, of which 10 rose, three fell and two were unchanged.

Chrysler was the star again, rising 2⅜ to 85⅝, after touching a 1962-63 high of 85¾.

Sperry Rand took first place among the volume leaders, rising ½ to 14¼ on 128,100 shares.

Ford gained ⅜ and Studebaker ⅛. IBM held a gain of ¾ at 415. Merck had a sharp gain of 3¼.

McIntyre Porcupine raised the dividend and gained ½.

Among other Canadian issues, Hudson Bay Mining gained ½ and Granby Mining and Walker Gooderham were up ¼. Aluminium Ltd., Canadian Pacific and Distillers Seagrams were down ¼ and International Nickel lost ⅛.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange were irregular with a numerical margin to the down side. Volume was 1,140,000 shares compared with 1,500,000 Monday. Jupiter Corporation lost ⅜. Other Canadian issues were unchanged.

TORONTO (CP)—The stock market succumbed to selling pressure Tuesday as the trading pace slowed considerably.

South Viet Nam War Is Lingering Death Struggle

By MALCOLM W. BROWNE

SAIGON (AP)—The war in South Viet Nam is a lingering death struggle in which both sides have cast aside all concepts of chivalry.

In this war medical centres are targets, women die on the firing line, food supplies are burned and even cows are gunned down.

Communist guerrillas rarely take wounded prisoners. Disabled government groups — including U.S. advisers—are usually shot to death by withdrawing Viet Cong rebel units.

Viet Cong troops wounded in battle and isolated behind government lines are generally left by their comrades where they fall.

The government regards the Viet Cong's jungle hospitals as fair targets for ground attack or air strikes.

U.S. military policy favors sparing enemy hospitals, but Americans here do not make the rules or name the targets. If Vietnamese commanders order an air strike on a medical centre, the planes bomb and strafe it, even when Americans are along as advisers or instructors.

Asked whether Americans officially condone such attacks, a U.S. military spokesman said there has not been a definite policy ruling for Viet Nam.

MARK OBJECTIVES

Some planes of the Vietnamese Air Force are piloted by Americans. But the objectives are designated by Vietnamese officers, who mark targers with smoke bombs. Americans are not authorized to pick targets, unless they are fired on. Many enemy hospitals have been demolished by government ground forces, but such installations usually have been evacuated by the enemy before the arrival of troops.

Drugs, medical and surgical equipment technicians, aid men and doctors all play vital roles in the war, and are treated accordingly.

The Saigon government has been tightening regulations on drug sales in an effort to cut off supplies from the Viet Cong. The Viet Cong has been trying, in turn, to capture medical supplies and kidnap men and women trained in using them.

Still in Viet Cong hands are three America missionaries, including a woman doctor, who were kidnapped from a leper colony north of Saigon. The last intelligence report received several months ago indicated the trio was being takn from hamlet to hamlet to treat Viet Cong casualties.

In the Vietnamese Army, soldiers carrying radios or wearing Red Cross arms bands are among the first hit by enemy fire. Military ambulances marked with red crosses are likely to be mined or ambushed.

At one time, the use of torture by Vietnamese troops to interrogate prisoners was common. Electrical devices, beating and choking with water were used. The practice is understood to have diminished. For some months, U.S. officers observing such incidents in the field have been under orders to report them to American authorities.

Cabinet Ministers Mum When PM Asked Them To Support Him

MONTREAL (CP)—Le Devoir says no cabinet minister replied when Prime Minister Diefenbaker asked them at a recent cabinet meeting if they would support him if a non-confidence motion came to the floor at the Progressive Conservative annual meeting starting Friday.

Le Devoir quotes "a source who occupies an important post in the Progressive Conservative party organization" as saying the prime minister was angered by five non-confidence motions that reached the annual meeting's resolution committee.

Mr. Diefenbaker is reported to have informed his colleagues of the development and to have asked them: "If these motions should be brought to the general convention assembly, would you support me?"

Le Devoir says not one of the ministers replied and the prime minister left, slamming the door.

DEMAND RESIGNATION'

The report quotes the same source as saying three cabinet ministers delegated by their colleagues then met Mr. Diefenbaker to demand his resignation "for reasons of health" and that they conferred for four hours.

The newspaper says the cabinet ministers called for the prime minister's resignation because "they were more and more aware that the spirit of indecision which characterized the Diefenbaker government, especially since June 18 would lose them power."

The report says the spirit of indecision which "exasperated" the cabinet ministers was motivated not only by the precarious government minority positions but also "it is believed, by a malady suffered by the prime minister known as Parkinson's disease."

Le Devoir says the disease, also known as shaking paralysis, provokes the kind of trembling "that many persons noticed the prime minister underwent during the June 18 election campaign."

The report says the resolutions committee of the convention will make sure that none of the five motions of non-confidence reaches the floor and that it is doubtful if a vote of confidence will be taken unless the convention overrules the president.

Ulbricht Calls On Red China To Settle Border Dispute

BERLIN (AP) — East German Communist leader Walter Ulbricht called on Communist China and India Tuesday to settle their border dispute at once.

In a speech to a world gathering of Communist leaders, Ulbricht criticized the Chinese for launching the border operation against India without consulting other Communist states.

He also denounced Peking's attacks on the policies of Soviet Premier Khrushchev and credited Khrushchev with saving the world from nuclear war by reaching a compromise in the Cuban crisis with President Kennedy.

Ulbricht proposed a vague solution of the problem of divided Berlin which would involve rmoving the NATO flag from the Western garrisons in the western part of the city and substituting a United Nations flag.

With Khrushchev listening from the stage, Ulbricht told the opening session of the East German Communist party's sixth congress that the Soviet premier's Cuban compromise kept communism alive in Cuba.

The Russian leader also had "prevented the world from experiencing the horrors of nuclear war." Khrushchev nodded agreement.

USES SAME LINE

Khrushchev, whose major policy speech is not expected until Wednsday, had charted the same line in a rip-roaring talk when his train pulled into Berlin Monday.

In evident warning to the Chinese, he declared he was not prepard to fight a war to bring about the victory of international communism.

"The burial of capitalism will be brought about by the working class in each country," Khrushchev declared, adding that he would still be alive to "shout hurrah when capitalism is buried."

Ulbricht, bald and spade-bearded, told the congress:

"Cuba was freed of the threat of aggression and now is able to build up its country on the basis of socialism."

Ulbricht also demanded the termination of Western occupation rights in West Berlin. He called for the United Nations to replace the United States, Britain and France in the western half of the divided city.

WANTS BASE REMOVED

"We demand the removal of the occupation status in West Berlin and the removal of the NATO base there," he declared.

The United States, Britain and France insist they are exercising war-won rights in keeping troops in West Berlin. Ulbricht did not make clear whether he was suggesting putting these Western troops into a United Nations command or replacing them by troops from other countries.

"We are for continued talks between the United States and the Soviet Union on Berlin and a German peace treaty," Ulbricht said, "and we are convinced that a solution can be found."

Khrushchev received a warm ovation from the delegates in East Berlin's barnlike Werner Steelenbinder sports palace.

The Chinese Communist delegation received only light applause. No major Chinese figure is here.

There was powerful applause for the Yugoslavs, back as full participants for the first time since Marshal Tito's break with Stalin in 1948. The delegates also had a big hand for the Cubans.

Ulbricht said 70 delegations were present.

Congolese Students Sack British Embassy

CP from AP-Reuters

LEOPOLDVILLE — Rioting Congolese students shouting "down with the English," sacked the British Embassy here Tuesday smashing windows and hurling papers and files into the street.

The rioters were protesting alleged British support of the secession of Katanga province.

They were finally dispersed after an hour of violence by Robert K. A. Gardiner, Ghanaian head of UN operations in The Congo. Congolese police made only ineffectual attempts to break up the riot.

One British official, John Ure, was seen with a blood-stained face during the outburst. But the embassy said he suffered only superficial face cuts from the flying glass, as did several other embassy employees. No one was severely injured.

The rioting started after a speech by a student leader from Louvanium University charging that British brains were behind Katanga President Moise Tshombe and his defiance of the central Congo government in Leopoldville.

"Hang Tshombe!" the students chanted.

OTHER STONES FOLLOW

The mob totalled about 1,000 Negroes, with a nucleus of about 200 students from the university.

A small boy hurled the first stone, and within seconds the air was filled with flying rocks. The first windows smashed were those of the Liberian Embassy, two floors below the British.

Students climbed onto the grilled gate at the embassy entrance and tried for more than half an hour to pry off the British coat of arms above the door, shouting: "It's made of Katangan copper."

Congolese gendarmes arrived about 50 minutes after the riot began. They unlimberd their rifles but mounted guard over a bank on the ground floor of the embassy building. The British occupy three floors of the building.

The students broke windows indiscriminately throughout the building, shouting, "it's the British who will have to pay."

"Today, we break everything. We'll kill the ambassador if we get the chance," shouted another.

TEAR DOWN SIGNS

Suddenly the iron grille parted at the entrance, and the Congolese swarmed up the stairs, tearing signs off the walls.

Then came a hail of papers and rolls of documentary films from the embassy's cultural centre.

Gardiner drove through the screaming crowd and drew it away from the embassy. Behind him came a jeepload of Nigerian UN police.

"What are you doing here?" screamed one student in English as Gardiner drove by. But the crowd followed him.

Later Gardiner entered the pillaged embassy and Nigerians sealed off the entrances to the building.

The demonstrators then gradually formed a marching column and went off past the United States Embassy, where there were scattered cheers.

'ESCAPE' TO EAST

LUBECK (AP) — Two West German youths rammed their car through a border gate Monday and fled into Communist Germany, police reported. Normally, a West German who wants to move into East Germany can cross over at any authorized checkpoint.

East German Red Had Trouble With Cubans

BERLIN (AP)—East German Communist technicians had trouble with Cuba Monday night.

In honor of Premier Khrushchev's visit, technicians put up a display designed to show the spread of communism.

Maps showed the world in 1914 (nothing red), in 1917 (Russia red), 1949 (the whole East bloc red). The red was supplied by lights behind the maps.

Then came 1962. The addition was Cuba. But the red light stubbornly flickered on and off.

The United States had about 900 reported cases of poliomyelitis in 1962—about one third less than in 1961.

"I'm not really a kook"

You can't roller-skate through New York, even if it's the best way to get around. You shouldn't really fly a kite from your balcony, even if there's a good wind. Not even if you're as well known and lovably wacky as Carol Burnett, who, although she calls herself "funny-looking", is really very good looking and "really a very serious girl", aiming for bigger and better things. Weekend Magazine tells about her, seriously and humorously, this week.
