Heavy Water Plant To Be Built in Cape Breton

STATE BUSINESS MUST GO ON—President Lyndon Johnson, putting his feet firmly in the stirrups as Chief Executive, confers in Washington with key aides. Army Explosives Experts Help in Probe of Crash

STE. THERESE, Que. (CP)—Teams of investigators, including Canadian Army explosives experts, concentrated Monday on a widespread search for clues that would explain the crash and explosion of a Trans-Canada Air Lines DC-8F jet with the loss of 118 lives.

Two phases of the investigation were carried out by the federal transport department and the Quebec attorney-general's department.

The department of transport is concerned primarily with the cause of the crash last Friday night near this town 20 miles north of Montreal. The plane had taken off four minutes earlier for Toronto.

The Quebec attorney-general's department has jurisdiction over Quebec Provincial Police and would be directly concerned with any suspicion of a criminal act.

There has been no official announcement of any kind as to possible causes of the crash.

A spokesman for TCA said Monday that the presence of explosives as a possible cause has not been ruled out; nor has it been indicated that explosives may have been the cause.

It has been the same for other possible causes, he said.

ACCOUNTS DIFFER

There has been no definite information so far as to the precise time of the explosion. Eyewitnesses differed. Some said there was an explosion while the jet was in the air. Others said the explosion came with the terrific impact of the huge craft when it plowed into a marshy field.

Announcement that Canadian Army explosives experts had entered the investigations was made in Ottawa by Transport Minister McIlraith.

He said also that experts from many sources have been called in—the transport department, TCA itself, National Research Council, National Aeronautical Establishment, RCAF, RCMP and Canadian Airline Pilots' Association.

Three United States investigators have been lending assistance and studying details of the crash.

Fog Keeps Fans At Vancouver

VANCOUVER (CP) — Grey Cup stragglers trickled out of Vancouver Monday, leaving a fog-bound city behind them.

Fog that came into the lower mainland too late to mar the Hamilton-British Columbia Grey Cup game Saturday socked in airports, causing delays and flight cancellations.

Some Edmonton fans who were supposed to have left on a charter flight Sunday finally got off the ground at noon Monday.

Airlines reported delays on scheduled flights as passengers had to make a 30-mile journey to Abbotsford where the skies were clear over the airport.

Christmas Cheer Goes to Posts In Arctic

FROBISHER BAY, N. W. T. (CP) — A giant RCAF Hercules transport was on its way back to its Edmonton base Monday after dropping 12,000 pounds of Christmas supplies to 20 Arctic posts.

Engine trouble forced a weekend stay at this base where the plane landed Friday for refueling.

The 8300-mile trip, dubbed "Operation Santa Claus," will end in Edmonton early today, said an air force spokesman.

Supplies and mail were dropped in baskets and by parachutes at the remote posts. Some of the posts are radar and weather bases.

$30 Million Plant To Produce 200 Tons Heavy Water Yearly

By JOHN E. BIRD

OTTAWA (CP)—The federal government decided Monday that Canada's first heavy water plant will be built in Cape Breton, a decision expected to result in strong protests from Western Canada.

Industry Minister Drury announced in the Commons that the $30,000,000 plant will be built by Deuterium of Canada Limited, the Canadian subsidiary of the Deuterium Corporation of America. Coal used in the plant will be subsidized by the federal government.

Later it was announced that the plant will be built in the coal-mining community of Glace Bay. Small amounts of heavy water previously were produced at the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company plant in Trail, B.C.

The unsuccessful bidders in the race to enter the rich heavy water business were Dynamic Power Corporation Limited, Calgary; Imperial Oil Limited, Toronto, and Western Deuterium Company Limited, Victoria.

The Cape Breton plant will produce a minimum 200 tons of heavy water annually for the first five years of production, Mr. Drury said.

BUYS HEAVY WATER

Canada at present buys heavy water from the U.S. at $26 a pound.

The sale of the first five years of production will be underwritten by the federal government.

However, Mr. Drury said that in view "of the keen interest at home and abroad in the Ca*nadian reactor program,* the prospects for the sale of heavy water appear most promising."

"The production of heavy water is a further important step *in Canada's program of develop*ing nuclear sources of energy," he said. "The facilities of the new plant will be available to supply the requirements of heavy water in Canadian-designed reactor stations in Canada and abroad."

Heavy water is used in Canadian-designed nuclear electric *stations to make the atomic fis*sion process possible within the reactor. It also is used to remove heat from the reactor to turn ordinary water into steam to drive electric turbines.

The three unsuccessful bidders had proposed to build a plant in either British Columbia, Alberta or Saskatchewan where low-cost coal, gas and oil is available to generate the tremendous quantities of heat re*quired to produce heavy water.*

EXPECT PROTEST

They are expected to protest the decision because Nova Scotia coal for the Cape Breton plant will have to be subsidized by the federal government. During negotiations leading up to the awarding of the plant, expected to be located near Sydney, the western bidders contended they would not require federal subsidization.

M. Drury said in reply to Douglas Harkness (PC—Calgary North) that the federal subsidy on coal used in the plant will be 91 cents a ton. However, this was not fixed and would vary from year to year.

A government official estimated that the heavy water plant, to be built in conjunction with a thermal electric power plant, would use some 100,000 tons of coal a year. On this basis, the subsidy would amount to some $91,000 annually.

The western companies contended that coal can be mined economically in B.C. at something less than $3 a ton. However, they said the minimum delivered cost of Nova Scotia coal is about $11 a ton.

High Tribute Paid DesBrisay

VANCOUVER (CP) — Legal and political leaders Monday paid tribute to the late B.C. Chief Justice A. C. DesBrisay.

Chief Justice Sherwood Lett announced that both divisions of the B. C. Court of Appeal would be adjourned at noon Tuesday for the funeral of the retired 75-year-old jurist and his 70-year-old wife, Ella Helen DesBrisay.

Th eretired Chief Justice died in hospital Saturday and 12 hours later his wife died at the family home of a heart attack.

"The late chief justice was for many years prior to his appointment to the bench a greatly re*spected member of the legal pro*fession of Canada," said the chief justice.

"During his term of office as chief justice of B. C., he maintained the highest traditions of the office and made a substantial contribution to the jurisprudence of the province."

Former external affairs minister Howard Green referred to the late chief justice's years of service in the Progressive Conservative Party prior to his appointment to the bench.

He said the late chief justice was "one of the soundest lawyers that British Columbia has produced and who brought to the bench a deep understanding of people as well as the law."

M. M. McFarlane, treasurer of the Law Society of B. C., termed the late chief justice a "great servant of the law" who was held in "great respect and af*fection by our profession.*"

HUNTER SOUGHT

VERNON (CP) — RCMP intensified a search Monday for Jean Hubler, 60, missing on a hunting trip near Fintry Estate.

Hubler, a handyman at the estate, left on a deer hunting trip early Sunday, promising to return at noon.

$74,000,000 Pared From Defence Budget

Gov't Cuts Down On Plane Orders

By DAVE McINTOSH

OTTAWA (CP) — The defence department has chopped some $74,000,000 from its 1963-64 budget. The axe fell mainly on RCAF weapons programs.

Informed sources said Monday it now is calculated that defence expenditures in the current fiscal year, which ends March 31, 1964, will amount to some $1,560,000,000 against the revised estimate of $1,634,000,000 after pay increases for the 122,000 servicemen.

The $1,560,000,000 figure will be approximately the size of the 1964-65 defence budget which will be presented to Parliament early next year, informants said.

The $74,000,000 cut was achieved mainly through De*fence Minister Hellyer's deci*sions not to buy more CF-104 low-level nuclear bombers for the RCAF air division in Europe or more CF-101B Voodoo jet interceptors for RCAF Air Defence Command at home.

The defence department also decided to purchase fewer CF-104 two-seat trainers than the RCAF had requested and it deferred, perhaps indefinitely, the program to build some 45 unmanned radars to detect low-flying planes.

EXPENDITURES DOWN

Consequently, expenditures on weapons and equipment, originally calculated at $279,441,000, has fallen to the smallest amount in more than a decade. Meanwhile, expenditures on personnel, operations and maintenance have continued to rise to more than $1,100,000,000.

Given a $1,560,000,000 defence budget in 1964-65, Mr. Hellyer would be in the same predicament next year: Comparatively few funds to spend on new weapons and equipment.

However, officials said, he plans to tackle this problem by reducing the number of defence establishments in Canada and by cutting the manpower strength of the armed forces by some 10 per cent.

Informed sources said, for instance, it is likely that Fort Churchill, Man., will be closed down as an army base though retained by the Defence Research Board for research rocket launchings and other experiments.

It is also planned to shut down about half-a-dozen radar stations in the Pinetree net*work in southern Canada. These* stations cost about $2,000,000 each annually to operate.

CLOSE RADAR STATIONS

It is understood that a list of establishments which will be closed or pared down is in preparation and may be included in the defence white paper which Mr. Hellyer plans to issue early next year.

Mr. Hellyer warned the Commons Oct. 28 that some changes are "absolutely essential" and that not all will be politically palatable. He added:

"You either want a large establishment and a small operational force, or you want to put more of your resources into the forces and have a smaller overhead. . . . This is going to cause some hardship in some cases, and it cannot be avoided."

300,000 MOOSE

KITIMAT (CP)—Ron Gadsby, co-ordinator of services of the department of recreation, says there are between 300,000 and 500,000 moose in British Columbia, all in excellent condition. He said the populations could stand up to a 35,000-40,000 harvest with no detrimental effects.

Two Freighters Blaze in Harbor

MONTREAL (CP) — Two ocean - going freighters were afire early today near the Jacques Cartier Bridge across the St. Lawrence River, the Montreal harbormaster said. No details were available immediately.

Th harbormaster identified the ships as the Lionel and the Manchester Merchant. He could not say whether they had collided.

Lloyd's register of shipping lists the Lionel as a Norwegian freighter of 4,490 deadweight tons and the Manchester Merchant as a 9,790-ton British vessel.

Parliament Monday

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Transport Minister McIlraith said a large team is investigating the TCA jet crash but the cause won't be known for some time.

Prime Minister Pearson said there was no capitulation to Quebec at last week's federal-provincial fiscal conference.

Opposition Leader Diefenbaker said the federal-provincial conference had taught the government a lesson in co-operation.

NDP Leader Douglas said the *new tax-sharing formula indica*ted a behind-the-barn deal had been made with Quebec.

Gilles Gregoire (Creditiste — Lapointe) said Ottawa should talk with each province separately and abandon full-scale conferences.

Judgment Reserved In Freedomite Case

OTTAWA (CP)—The Supreme Court of Canada reserved judgment Monday in the case of a young Freedomite Doukhobor convicted of bombing a power pole in the Grand Forks, B.C., area just before Christmas, 1961.

George Demenoff, a 24-year-old illiterate, was convicted last January and sentenced to four years in prison, although he repudiated at his trial a confession he had given the RCMP in jail at Nelson. He has appealed the conviction.

Demenoff was arrested by the Mounties on information given them by two other young Sons of Freedom Doukhobors awaiting trial in Nelson provincial jail. Ten days after his arrest, he made a statement about the power-pole bombing and implicated a friend, Leonard Markin.

Sidney B. Simons, Demenoff's lawyer, argues that Demenoff was under the influence of former Doukhobor leader, John L. Lebedoff, whom Demenoff believed was trying to arrange emigration of the sect. Demenoff claimed he implicated Markin — subsequently acquitted—because he did not want to see Markin left behind.

Mr. Simons argued that even though a statement to police is voluntary in the sense it has not been obtained by threats or inducements, the trial judge has a discretion to rule out such a statement "if it is obtained by unfair or oppressive methods."

Trial evidence was that Lebedoff was working with the RCMP, Mr. Simons said.

". . . The evidence shows that the mind of the appellant was so turned or intoxicated by the exhortations and promises of Lebedoff and the other inmates that he was no longer in a voluntary state of mind.

"He had no appreciation of the consequences of making a confession and the police did nothing to disabuse him of what they knew Lebedoff had been saying and to restore his self control."

British Columbia Appeal Court turned down Demenoff's appeal last July.

Pope Extends Bishops' Power

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope Paul sent word to the Vatican ecumenical council Monday that he would issue an apostolic letter Tuesday extending new powers to all bishops.

The document apparently will be aimed at resolving council dispute over the concept of shared power between bishops and the Pope.

The announcement of the Pope's intention came during the last working meeting of the council's second session.

The council fathers in St. Peter's Basilica also received assurances from Augustin Cardinal Bea that controversial declarations on the Jews and on religious tolerance "certainly will come up next fall" at the council's third session. The declarations had been put aside at this session.

In another development, Bishop Frantisek Tomasek suggested a council of both Roman Catholic and Orthodox bishops. He suggested such a two-church council could rotate its working sessions in various cities. He specifically mentioned Rome, Istanbul, Turkey; Alexandria, U.A.R. and Moscow.

Home May Visit Pearson, Johnson

LONDON (CP)—The London Times says British Prime Minister Sir Alec Douglas-Home will visit Prime Minister Pearson in Canada during February after his trip to Washington to confer with President Johnson. The Daily Telegraph also mentions a possible Canadian visit.

Douglas-Home said he did not base his forecast about more constructive relations with the Soviet Union on the economic difficulties it faced or its needs.

"Rather I risk it on the Soviet leaders' appreciation of the devastation brought by the nuclear bomb and the effect of China on the Soviet Union border which in a fairly short time will have nuclear weapons itself.

"An ideological war on two fronts would be bad enough, but to face the prospect of physical confrontation on two fronts would be nearly unthinkable," he added.

"I am fairly convinced that we are approaching a period when we can have more constructive relations with the Soviet Union . . . . " he declared.

And in This Corner . . .

VANCOUVER (CP)—City election officials began investigating Monday to determine how 14-year-old Donald Mitchell got on the civic voters' list for this month's civic elections.

Donald doesn't know how but he got an official card in the mail telling him where to vote.

His mother doesn't know either: "There was no city enumerator around here that I can remember. The only way they could have got his name is from the mail box."

Last year a somewhat familiar case turned up when a three-year-old pomeranian called Wahoo got on the voters' list through the efforts of a practical joker.

VANCOUVER (CP) — A cigarette-smoking, beer-drinking duck was the cause of one of the many fights Saturday night during Grey Cup celebrations.

The story was told Monday.

Bruce Erickson said he walked into a pub with a quacking duck under his arm.

He had a beer and so did the duck. He had a smoke and so did the duck.

Waiters and customers began protesting but Erickson and duck kept on drinking and smoking.

Trouble started after the fifth beer.

A man offered him $5 for the duck but Erickson declined.

Erickson started backing out with the duck under his arm.

A man sprang to his feet and charged Erickson with pulling feathers out of the duck and making it bleed.

The man let go a haymaker to Erickson's nose.

A second man repeated substantially the same charge. Erickson was knocked cold.

"When I came around the society for the prevention of cruelty to animals had taken the duck away."

Royal Stork Faces Busy Spring; Margaret, Tony Await Second

LONDON (Reuters)—Princess Margaret, the Queen's 33-year-old sister, is expecting her second child at the end of April, it was announced Monday.

Princess Margaret's press secretary said the princess and her husband, Lord Snowdon, former society photographer Anthony Armstrong-Jones, were delighted.

Princess Margaret, described as feeling "very well," was being attended by the Queen's gynaecologist Sir John Peel. He attended her at the birth of her first child, Viscount Linley, in November, 1961.

Princess Margaret's child will eventually be seventh in succession to the throne. It could start out life temporarily in sixth place if it beat the Queen's child into the world .The Queen also is expecting a baby in the new year.

ALSO EXPECTING

Monday's announcement meant that 1964 will be a bumper year for royal babies.

Besides the Queen, who is ex*pecting her fourth child,* the Queen's cousin Princess Alexandra, who married Scottish businessman Angus Ogilvy in the spring, is expecting a baby.

The Duchess of Kent, married to Princess Alexandra's brother, is also expecting a child.

The expected order of arrival of the four royal babies was not known but it appeared likely Princess Alexandra's first child will be the first on the scene, followed by the Queen's fourth.

*It was understood that Prin*cess Margaret's baby would be born at Kensington Palace, a royal residence in London where the couple recently moved into a newly-constructed apartment.

If it is a boy he will be known as the Honorable (Christian name) Armstrong-Jones.

If it is a girl, she will be known as Lady Armstrong-Jones.

WANTED SECOND CHILD

Princess Margaret and her husband, Lord Snowdon, also 33, are known to have wanted a second child as company for their two-year-old son.

Their son, Viscount Linley, was born at Clarence House, the London home of Queen Mother Elizabeth.

Princess Margaret hopes to carry out three of four engage*ments planned for this month.* She is to attend a service of Christmas music at St. Paul's Cathedral Thursday and hopes to visit Bertram Mills Circus with Lord Snowdon at London's Olympic Hall Dec. 19.

She also plans to attend a gala 50th anniversary performance at the Royal Academy of Dramatic Art Dec. 20.

Princess Margaret married her society - photographer husband in May, 1960. While there was some concern in royal circles at her choice of a commoner, rather than a husband of royal blood, there was general public delight that the princess had found happiness.

Snowdon now is artistic adviser to The Sunday Times.

Armstrong-Jones baby due in April, one of four royal births expected.

PMs Chat Over New Cable Link

By ROBERT RICE

OTTAWA (CP)—Alec, Mike, Bob and Keith chatted Monday night like old pals seated in the same room.

Actually they were thousands of miles apart, talking on the telephone—perhaps the longest party line hookup since Alex*ander Graham Bell first in*vented the device.

Alec, Mike, Bob and Keith all are prime ministers.

When the new trans-Pacific cable linking Britain, Canada, Australia and New Zealand was inaugurated Monday night by Queen Elizabeth the four were given an opportunity for a free long-distance chat.

"Is that you, Mike?" said Sir Alec Douglas-Home, prime minister of Britain in London.

"It's me, Alec," replied Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson in Ottawa.

Along with Australia's Sir Robert Menzies and Keith Holyoake of New Zealand, they cracked jokes, talked politics, compared the weather and praised science.

The four prime ministers were talking via 15,000 miles of underwater cable and cross-Canada microwave facilities.

LIVE ON TV

Their wisecracking conversation, carried live by CBC television, marked the inauguration of the telecommunications cable across the Pacific.

In Ottawa, more than 200 dig*nitaries listened to the cere*monial opening by Queen Elizabeth—each monitoring the conversation on an individual telephone.

"Today a new link has been forged between the peoples of the northern and southern hemispheres," said the Queen, praising the imagination and skill that produced the communications hookup.

Mr. Pearson, who discarded a formal speech before the official inauguration because time ran out, hailed the new telecommunication system as "another monument to technology's dramatic mastery of distance."

For him, it was supper time—just after 6 p.m. But for Sir Alec in London, it was bedtime —almost midnight.

Halfway around the world, it was just after breakfast—about 9 a.m. Tuesday, Dec. 3—for the New Zealand prime minister, and almost lunchtime—after 11 a.m. — for Australian Prime Minister Menzies.

Mr. Menzies was so impressed with the idea of talking to his Commonwealth confreres by telephone, he suggested the cost of future prime ministerial conferences could be saved by holding them on the phone.

Hawkes To Complete Aldermanic Term

TRAIL — R. E. Hawkes was sworn in at city council chambers Monday evening to complete the remaining year of office, vacated by Alderman J. E. Nicholson. The one-year vacancy was unopposed.

Three seats are to be contested by Ald. L. Landucci, Ald. D. W. Mawdsley, Ald. U. A. DeBiasio and William Black.

Alderman Landucci reported that Trail is officially without a city engineer. Applications are being considered.

Former city engineer, Bill Dipasquale, has left Trail to take an appointment at Kelowna. His resignation was given a month ago.

Alderman DeBiasio turned in a report from the medical health officer showing ninety-eight per cent of the students have taken the Sabin oral polio vaccine, establishing what the medical health officer thought was a record in B.C.

Alderman DeBiasio also had good news from the hospital report, saying that it was in the black for the first time in many years. He credited the good work of hospital administrator, Douglas Stevenson, for the excellent condition of hospital finances.

Alderman Landucci was disappointed in the news of a reduced government grant for the municipal library. He said that it would be a struggle to hold the budget without the grant they had hoped to get from the provincial government.

Advance Poll Opens Today

No advance poll will be held for the regional college plebiscite, school board returning officer Robert Collinson said Monday.

The advance poll for the municipal elections will begin today. The poll is being held in the city hall between the hours of 9 a.m. to 12 noon today and tomorrow for electors who expect to be absent from Nelson on Thursday.

The civic election poll will be held Thursday from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. in St. Saviour's Memorial Hall at the corner of Ward and Carbonate Streets.

L. V. Rogers Revives "Hi-Ways"

L. V. Roger's High School went back four years to step ahead with an informative media of high school news.

Instead of a weekly mimeographed paper of about 30 sheets, the Newspaper Club is reverting to a style of newpaper entitled "The Hi-Ways," a monthly edition being printed by the Nelson Daily News.

In 1959 the paper was well-received by the students but lacked strong support. In an editorial the student council said a layout such as the Hi-Ways is much more interesting and readable, thus partially justifying the change.

The staff plans to print six accompanying copies, going to press around the 15th of each month, except for April, when exams are on.

The first edition in November proved both informative and imaginative with all high school events, business, social and sports found in the four-page tabloid.

The Daily News printed about 350 copies.

Calbick Scores Public Apathy at Brief Meeting

An aldermanic candidate tripped over the main plank in his platform at a public meeting in the Royal Canadian Legion Monday night.

E. A. Calbick's one-man political machine presented an example of his main plank in action, a public meeting to hear beefs and suggestions about city administration to serve as a guide for council but only four other persons besides the reporter appeared.

Mr. Calbick met the cost of the public meeting himself, and it lasted only 20 minutes, with the candidate taking only nine minutes for his main address.

In addition to expressing disappointment, Mr. Calbick scored public apathy.

"If they (the people) do not come out to meetings like this they deserve to be disregarded," he said. "If they don't want to take an interest then what are they beefing about?"

City-sponsored public meetings have been the main plank in Mr. Calbick's platform. His plan would have the city arrange a meeting place for the public at no cost to the public, to allow an interchange of beefs and suggestions. These meetings, he said, would have no jurisdiction over council but would only serve as an indication of public taste.

Mr. Calbick ran his Monday meeting on the same basis of his proposed public meeting. He had a suggestion box containing several notations of civic interest He said each notation would be read out to the public, then it would be followed by discussion, followed by a popularity decision. When resolved, the outcome would be made known to council as guidance for public decisions.

Other planks Mr. Calbick hammered into his platform were:

On the curling dispute: "Nelson Curling Club should be given a fair deal but should not ask for unfair conditions."

Businesses should finance the construction of off-street parking.

Mayoralty candidate B. C. Affleck spoke briefly, criticizing the Nelson Daily News for its editorial Monday, which he said, claimed the city would have been just as well off if a number of certain civic projects had been carried out, contrary to present results.

New Columbia Talks To Begin Monday

VICTORIA (CP) — Canadian and American Columbia River negotiators will commence a new round of talks in Ottawa next Monday, Premier Bennett said Monday.

The talks are expected to get down to cases on how much the United States will pay for British Columbia's downstream power entitlement and in what form payment can be made.

Premier Bennett told a press conference he held two discussions on the Columbia with External Affairs Minister Paul Martin in Ottawa last week.

"There is 100 per cent confidence between the federal minister and myself," he said.

H expected the B.C. delegation would include at least one provincial minister, either Lands or Forests Minister Ray Williston or Attorney-General Robert Bonner, or both.

Until the U.S. had signed a purchase agreement it was too early to say when ratification of the Columbia River Treaty might come.

Mr. Bennett said he has no reason to believe the death of President Kennedy and his replacement by former vice-president Lyndon Johnson would affect proceedings.

"President Kennedy was very close to British Columbia and I hope the new president will be very close to British Columbia too," he said.

Births, Deaths Hit Year's Low

Nelson birth and death rate hit an all-time low for 1963 during November, officials reported Monday.

Th estork visited only 18 homes last month, down 23 from the October count, and six from the corresponding period's 24 total last year.

Four Nelsonites died in November, compared to 14 the previous month and nine in November, 1962.

Marriage vows joined five couples, half as many as recorded in October but up two from November 1962 total.

No births or deaths were recorded in the district and only two marriages.

During October, there were three deaths and two marriages recorded and in November 1962, two births and one death were recorded.

Nelson Woman's Story Published

"Story Night at Home," a tale written by Mrs. J. H. Coventry of Nelson, has appeared in the November edition of the United Church "Observer."

Mrs. Coventry, who was a former corresponding columnist for the Vancouver Sun, tells how Sunday night became a sacred rite in her family as their father unfolded exciting tales.

"Stoney Creek" was one of her favorites, and her father's story, although slightly embellished, was an adventurous account of Indian lore, she wrote.

In the Courts

Over $100 in fines on two separate offences were imposed on a Nelson log firm by provincial court magistrate William Evanis Monday.

Two charges of overloading trucks with log lengths were imposed on Interior Log Haulers' Ltd. Magistrate Evans fined the company $50 and costs on each count.

A. P. Jeffery of Nelson was fined $15 and costs for speeding at Thrums.

John Fletcher of Nelson and A. J. Albo of Rossland were both fined $10 and costs for speeding in a construction zone at Brilliant.

MRS. J. DRAPER

Mrs. Ada Draper, wife of John Draper of 413 Robson Street, died in Kootenay Lake General Hospital Monday morning, aged 77 years.

Born Ada Exton, March 22, 1886 at Wigan England, she married John Draper in St. John's Anglican Church in Lethbridge in September, 1911. They resided in Cranbrook where Mr. Draper was employed as a machinist at the CPR shops.

In 1914 they returned to England, where Mr. Draper was employed as a munitions worker during World War I and came back to Cranbrook in 1919. The same year he was transferred to Field shops and to Nelson in February, 1920. He worked in the CPR shops here until his retirement in 1953.

The couple celebrated their golden wedding anniversary at St. Saviour's Pro Cathedral Parish Hall on Sept. 19, 1961.

Mrs. Draper was an active member of St. Saviour's Pro-Cathedral and in her early years was a Sunday School teacher. Warehouse Too Small for Mushroom Plan

The old Interior Breweries Ltd. warehouse on Latimer Street was not big enough for a full-scale mushroom producer, William Kalyniuk disclosed Monday.

The president of Consolidated Mortgage and Development Company reported that a Winnipeg producer recently investigated the mushroom potential of the three-storey frame building. He said that a Vancouver producer, on a smaller scale, will also inspect the building shortly.

He said that the Winnipeg producer was looking for a large, commercial scale year-round operation which would produce 300,000 pounds of mushrooms annually. Such an operation would involve a capital outlay of $300,000 to $500,000 which the warehouse building did not warrant.

Nut Drive Well Supported

The Order of Demolay reached the halfway point on their 3-day peanut drive which started on Monday night.

The nut drive has been held annually for the past six years, by boys ranging from 14 to 21 years. They plan to donate $100 to Kootenay Lake General Hospital for equipment purposes.

The first night, termed "highly successful" by Master Councillor Tim Allen, saw the Fairview area canvassed and $350 realized.

The remaining funds help to defray the group's yearly expenses.

The boys will be out in full force tonight and Thursday night to sell the remaining 310 boxes.

The group of young men, organized to promote better citizens, is sponsored by the Nelson Shrine Club No. 1.

Other officers are John Christie, senior councillor and Dave Langridge, junior councillor.

FEARED DROWNED

VANCOUVER (CP) —Donald Stankiewicz, 14, is believed to have drowned in the Fraser River south of Vancouver. He was crossing the river in a nine-foot duck punt when he disappeared. The small boat was later found overturned.

Junior Red Cross Council Told of Home for Retarded

A sense of purpose prevailed throughout the first meeting of the Kootenay Inter-High Junior Red Cross Council held in Nelson Saturday.

Highlight of the afternoon was a talk by Dr. E. C. Endicott on the founding of the Endicott Home in Creston.

Dr. Endicott told the 19 delegates of his coming to Trail in 1937 to establish a clinic where the general practitioners would work in specific fields.

Dr. Endicott said his interest in retarded children arose from the frequent encounters with them during his practice.

He said the first step in organization was defining the problem of retarded children in the area. The registry was the first account taken of the number of cases, he added.

It is a difficult problem as not all cases have been reported, Dr. Endicott told students.

He explained the emotional upset that a parent feels when their child's illness is known.

The Endicott Home in Creston would provide a home away from home for the retarded child and also a permanent home for the child in time of death or disability of parents, he continued.

He pointed out the parents would not lose contact or the sense of responsibility toward the child, while it was at the school.

Each child would be able to contribute in his or her own way without hindrance from the school, he concluded.

Following Dr. Endicott's address, delegates viewed a film, "Discovery," in which students told how they discovered their part in Red Cross.

A dinner followed with N. Nath, teacher co-ordinator of the council as official chaperone.

President, Dorothy Fieldhouse, said the council's purpose was to give students an opportunity to gather and exchange ideas concerning what students are doing in their own schools and how they could further the aims and ideals of high school Red Cross.

Other executive members are Bonalyn Carmichall, first vice-president; second vice-president Harry Saad; secretary Phillip Scott; treasurer Laura McEachern and teacher co-ordinator Mr. Nath.

Dennis Stedile, delegate from the L. V. Rogers High School, gave a report on the study centre held in Haney last July. He explained the program and location of the Centre, and student activities carried out.

Delegates represented the Nelson Junior High, L.V. Rogers, and Prince Charles Senior Secondary of Creston.

The next meeting is slated for Creston in January.

Area Over-Represented, Will Elect One Trustee

CRAWFORD BAY — Communities at the north end of the Creston School District will elect one trustee instead of each having an area representative in the future.

At the Crawford Attendance Area annual meeting held recently at the hall, Crawford Bay passed a motion to join the other communities of Gray Creek, Boswell and LaFrance in concurring with this form of representation. It had been felt that the area was over-represented.

The meeting was informed that C. C. Wright, District superintendent of schools, was favourably impressed with the integration of Crawford Bay and Riondel schools, and felt the experiment was progressing satisfactorily.

Mr. Fraser presented a report on the financial statement of Creston School District No. 5, of which Crawford Bay is a part, and explained the breakdown of revenue and expenditures. Mr. Fraser commented on the introduction of new courses and expenditures entailed in introducing these courses.

BUILDING PROGRAM

The proposed building program was presented, and Mr. Fraser explained that the necessity for this program was due to increased enrolment in the district, and the return of grade seven to the elementary school.

Amounts already spent on improvements, grounds and buildings were shown affecting Crawford Bay as follows: two school buses operate in the Crawford Bay area at a cost per pupil per day of 22 cents — cost of the vehicles is 30 cents per mile each; hot water has been installed at Crawford Bay for the sum of $512; maintenance on grounds, $523; buildings, $1250; equipment, $173; painting, $512.

W. Fraser, trustee, chaired the meeting and G. Petrescu, principal, acted as recording secretary.

Discussion followed on in-service training for teachers, the new curriculum and its relation to Crawford Bay, especially in the field of vocational studies.

An enquiry was made regarding the possibility of widening the corner where Highway No. 3 meets the secondary road next to the school grounds. This is a hazard to pedestrian students and school buses.

Council Applies To Make Street Highway

CRANBROOK — Traffic committee approval of the present arterial highway pattern through the city on Van Horne Street from Third Street South to Fourth Street North has resulted in city council applying to the Department of Highways to make this permanent and to reconstruct it to provincial highway standard.

This will return Baker Street from Van Horne to Cranbrook Street and the entire length of Cranbrook Street to North Fourth to city maintenance and control. Principal alteration to city driving is establishment of the "Stop" for westbound traffic at Baker Street where it joins Van Horne.

Cranbrook Retail Merchants Association petition was considered by council and tabled, appealing for return to angle parking on Baker Street, replacing the present parallel parking, and providing much additional curb space.

Engineers Hear Of Adventure At Meeting

TRAIL — The route he followed of the Lewis and Clark expedition of 1804-1806 was shown to the annual meeting of the West Kootenay Branch of Professional Engineers of B.C. by one of the members.

The meeting was held in Trail.

J. Richardson of Trail was elected chairman; E. M. Coleman, vice-chairman; and J. Louie, secretary-treasurer. Past chairman is J. D. Mitchell.

Chamber Finds Concern In Members' Apathy

INVERMERE — The former Windermere District Board of Trade is now the Windermere District Chamber of Commerce. The name was changed in order to conform with the policy in the rest of Canada and the United States so as to avoid confusion.

President of the chamber is R. B. Harris of Windermere. A. M. Warren of Windermere is vice-president and the secretary is Mrs. Donald Sinclair, Invermere.

General apathy of members causing a low attendance at meetings is a source of concern to the executive, and a membership drive will be made before the annual meeting in December to arouse public interest.

Reports Progress On Grain Subsidy

CRESTON — Progress on extension of grain subsidies to Creston-Wynndel was reported when some 15 local grain farmers met with James Byrne, Liberal M.P. for Kootenay East last week.

Constitutional difficulties prevent the federal government paying subsidies to transport grain within the province. Mr. Byrne made it clear to the meeting that the best solution to the problem would be for the federal and provincial governments to co-operate on the payment of a subsidy to move Creston grain to the Okanagan and Vancouver markets.

Failing this, steps would be taken to cancel the subsidy now paid by the federal government to the Peace River Block.

The matter has lately been under consideration since Murray McFarlane, then Conservative MP for Kootenay East, read a telegram to the effect that if his party was elected it intended extending the federal subsidy to Creston-Wynndel. The matter has been under consideration by various governments since 1944, but Mr. Byrne now feels that the subsidy now enjoyed by the Peace River Block and the prairie grain producers will be extended to Creston.

It was noted that a good deal of correspondence had passed between local people, Mr. Byrne and the British Columbia Department of Agriculture, and that every effort was being made by all concerned to solve the difficulties presented by this problem.

As the situation now stands, grain from Southern Alberta can be shipped to Creston under subsidy and sold at a lower price than the going market price of local grain.

Similarly, grain from the Peace River Block of British Columbia can be landed in Vancouver under subsidy cheaper than grain shipped from Creston without subsidy.

The result is that local grain is not sold to its logical and traditional markets of the Okanagan and Vancouver.

CHAIRMAN, TRUSTEES BY ACCLAMATION

CRESTON — H. L. Dodd of Creston was elected by acclamation as chairman of the Board of Village Commissioners last week.

Mr. Dodd is well-known in Creston Valley, a member of the Creston Board of Trade, past chairman of the school board, a member of the Creston Lions Club and an RCAF veteran. Prior to the war, Mr. Dodd served on the staff of the elementary school.

Elsewhere on the local election front, W. Scott, Jr., and H. K. Legg were elected by acclamation to the board of School District No. 5. Mr. Scott was elected for a two-year term and Mr. Legg will serve a one-year term.

Wilf White was re-elected and Lyle Sweeting was elected as trustees to the school board, representing the outside areas. Mr. Sweeting has served on the school board previously.

"As a private citizen, and public servant, he will be sorely missed," Mr. Bennett said in a brief statement following his return from the Federal-Provincial conference in Ottawa last week.

Mr. DesBrisay was the sole commissioner inquiring into the Workmen's Compensation Act when he died.

You know what you like in whiskies. You've probably been living with the one kind for five, ten, maybe twenty years.
All we ask is one minute.
We think that's all it will take to change your mind. That, and merely one taste of a whisky called Time.
You'll find you have never known a rye like this. The taste is light, warm, smooth. A gentle whisky—but not at all kind to old habits.
It gives you a lot to think about for 60 seconds.
Time enough.

The forties—wonderful but vulnerable years

The forties are rich and satisfying years for most women. Children are less demanding by then, allowing Mother more time to relax and enjoy herself. And since income is often higher many women can turn to personal interests they couldn't afford before.

At the same time they can be vulnerable years. A woman widowed in her forties needs a substantial income to keep the home going. If she doesn't have this income she'll have to go out to work. Probably the kind of work she was doing before she married.

But twenty years have gone by. The methods she remembers, the equipment she's familiar with—all will be vintage 1940. She'll discover she's competing for jobs with younger well trained people. Life will be a tough row to hoe.

One sure way to prevent this tragic readjustment is to invest in Manufacturers Life's permanent insurance. It combines family income protection with the advantages of a sound personal investment. Voters Face Momentous Decision

An important issue for community benefit to be put before the electors at the next civic election besides who shall be mayor of the city or who shall be aldermen, is the plebiscite on the establishment of a regional college, put by the School Board.

This plebiscite is a necessary preliminary under the Public Schools Act. Through it the School Board obtains the opinion of citizens. It asks if they want a regional college built and operated to serve the district. If the vote is in the affirmative it gives the board no authority to build such a college, only permission to go ahead, to plan, and to prepare a money bylaw covering all its cost to submit to the taxpayers.

Information has now become available, but we feel City Council was justified in protesting the lack of it up to this point.

More must be provided if the voters of city and district are to vote intelligently.

For the sake of others as well as the City Council, this is an outline of what is proposed:

1. That the six school districts of Trail, Nelson, Castlegar, Arrow Lakes, Slocan and Grand Forks join together in building and operating a junior college.

2. That a central position such as Castlegar be chosen as the site.

3. When approved by plebiscite a College Council will be formed whose duties shall be to gather information as to the cost of buildings and operation, and to submit a bylaw to the taxpayers for approval. Only after this approval is given can the regional college council be formed.

For the voters the decision is a momentous one. The whole civilized world is expanding its educational facilities and British Columbia must of necessity expand hers. There is no escaping the fact that this expansion will cost money but it is the simple matter of paying more to keep abreast of educational advances or falling behind in the struggle for existence.

The good will and thoughtful understanding of everyone is needed in this matter.

Revitalizing Family Life

There has been increasing recognition in recent years that the family, as a unit, has been losing ground from the important position it has and should still hold.

Penologists and social workers state that broken homes are frequently at the bottom of delinquency and crime. Even where it does not go this far, the lack of family cohesion and loyalty makes for many troubles we could do without.

In an effort to do something to make Canadians more aware and more understanding of the vital importance of family life to the individual and the nation, a Canadian Conference on the Family is being held next June. It is being held under the patronage of Governor-General and Mme. Vanier and is considered of such importance that sessions will be right in Rideau Hall, the vice-regal residence. It is being actively supported by men and women high in the professions, in business and the church, by social workers and educationalists.

By the use of panels and projects it is hoped to renew a sense of responsibility within Canadians not only to family life as it should be, but to the problems arising from social change which has placed such a strain on family life.

Commendable as this formal effort is, we trust that those charged with it will not confine their work to a three-day conference. If the place of the family is to be returned to the high place it once commanded, it will not happen overnight, but by long, hard, concerted effort by conference members and the public generally.

Too many people these days rush into marriage without the slightest idea of what this greatest of all professions involves. Is it not time that some greater emphasis be placed on preparing young people for such a step — just as they are prepared over long periods for other vocations? Perhaps such a long term project can be launched by the conference next June.

—Kamloops Sentinel.

Finis

The former governor of the Bank of Canada, James E. Coyne, is getting his full pension of $25,000 a year. Finance Minister Walter Gordon has confirmed it. Now let us have an end to this unsavory discussion.

The pension should never have been a matter of public controversy. It became one when the raising of it from $11,900 a year to $25,000 was injected into the battle that raged over the attempt to dismiss him in 1961.

Making the pension a political issue was in bad taste then and would be in worse taste now.

The pension may appear large by the broad standards that apply across the land. In truth, it is small by comparison with what would be paid on retirement to an executive with comparable authority and responsibility in a large private business.

There are two overwhelming reasons why the governor of the Bank of Canada must be paid a substantial salary backed by a generous pension.

The first is that such a position must be filled only by a man of the highest qualifications and of unquestionable personal integrity. We cannot expect men to serve in this high office at great personal sacrifice.

The second is that the governor, who occupies a semi-autonomous role in guiding the finances of the nation and answers to Parliament, not the government, must not be deterred from resigning his office on a matter of great principle by the threat of a personal financial disaster.—Toronto Telegram.

A new and unusual scholarship has been established at Iowa State this fall, with the announcement of the Leonard W. Olson Scholarship in the amount of $1500 to be available to a talented baton twirler, to perpetuate the excellence of performance established by Joyce Rice, Iowa State's national champion twirler. The scholarship was created by Mrs. Emogene Criss of Ames and Mrs. Elsie H. Olson of Boone, in memory of L. W. Olson, husband and father. Mr. Olson, a resident of Boone, was a long-time supporter of Cyclone athletics. Selection of a qualified recipient will be made at a later date.

Labor Defeated in Down Under Voting

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The ruling parties on both Australia and New Zealand were firmly in power Monday after winning general elections Saturday against mainly Labor opposition.

In Australia, Prime Minister Sir Robert Menzies' 14-year-old Liberal-County party coalition was returned to power for another three years with a greatly increased majority, winning 71 of the 122 seats in the House of Representatives at stake.

The opposition Labor party lead by Arthur Calwell won 50 seats. Two other seats, with limited voting powers, were not contested. Labor holds both of them.

In New Zealand, Premier Keith Holyoake led his National party to win 44 seats in the 80-seat single-chamber Parliament. Menzies' hopes of a majority of 19 in the House increased as mail and absentee votes favored the government candidate in a still-doubtful seat in New South Wales.

Until the seat is decided, the coalition has a majority of 18 since it must appoint the Speaker, who does not have a standard vote.

In the old House, the coalition had a margin of only one vote, holding 62 seats to 60 for the opposition, but losing the vote of the Speaker.

Holyoake's victory was not as decisive as Menzies' but government officials appeared content to retain power with 44 seats.

In the old Parliament, the government had 46 seats and Labor 34.

Arnold Nordmeyer's Labor party won 35 seats in the voting and the Social Credit party won its first parliamentary place.

The Liberals and Communists failed in all the 23 seats they contested.

Former U.S. Irish Envoy Dies In Miami

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Grant Stockdale, 48, a close personal friend of the late president John F. Kennedy and a former ambassador to Ireland, plunged to his death Monday from the 13th floor of the Dupont building in midtown Miami.

Metropolitan detective Robert Utlis called it an apparent suicide leap, but police knew of no motive. No suicide note was found immediately.

The body of the big, handsomely grey Miami real estate executive landed on a fifth floor ledge and he apparently died instantly. Last rites were administered by a priest from the nearby Gesu Roman Catholic Church.

Before Kennedy became president, he was a frequent visitor in Stockdale's Miami home. In 1961, Kennedy named his friend ambassador to Ireland, a post he held for 15 months before resigning because of the pressure of private business.

Stockdale was reported despondent over the assassination of the president. Friends said that when he received the tragic news, he fell to his knees and prayed.

Stockdale, a graduate of the University of Miami, was a veteran of the Pacific fighting in the Second World War.

He served as administrative assistant to Senator George Smathers (Dem. Fla.) from 1946 to 1948, then served a term in the Florida legislature. He was the head of the real estate firm of Grant Stockdale and Associates.

Safe Driving Week

The automobile is no longer the luxury item that it was at one time considered. Over the years, with mechanical improvements of many kinds and first-class black-topped highways stretching across the continent, cars have become a way of life. Canada's motor vehicle population today exceeds 6,000,000.

On the other side of the picture, the unfortunate fact is that as our vehicle population grows, the amount of accidental deaths and injuries also increases.

This week was set aside as Safe Driving Week, with the object of reducing accidents by placing strong emphasis on the dangers of road traffic and on ways to avoid these dangers.

Safe Driving Week is sponsored by the Canadian Highway Safety Council and is actively supported by many groups. During the week, emphasis is being placed on many facets of driving such as obedience to laws, driver education, the use of seat belts, safety features built into cars, vehicle maintenance, and safe walking in traffic.

This is the eighth year that this special week has been observed and, through the efforts put forth at this time, accidents show a substantial reduction. It is hoped that the observance of safe driving practices during the week will be carried on for the whole year.

We have been told that among the accident causes improper driving contributes to most motor vehicle accidents. Speed too fast for conditions is a major cause of fatal accidents, followed closely by driving to the left of the centre line.

Following too closely is the principal cause of injury and property - damage accidents. Speed and failure to yield the right-of-way also rank high. At the same time, failure to yield is a much more common cause of property-damage accidents than speed.

Let's make our contribution to safe driving this week and all the weeks following.

Regional College Plan Criticized

To the Editor:

Sir—It is time that the citizens of Nelson awoke and realized that we are being sold down the river on the Regional College issue.

It is planned that this college is to begin operation as an academic institution. Why should we citizens of Nelson support this endeavor when we already have Notre Dame University? We possess a vocational school which will provide post high school education for those students who wish to seek a trade.

Unless this Regional College is to begin operation with a Technical Program I feel citizens of Nelson are paying for something they will not use.

Certainly if, as is proposed, it is to provide adult education, Nelson citizens will not benefit by this, as I am certain no one is prepared to travel an icy road to Castlegar at night, during the winter, when they have shown such poor support of a night school program here in Nelson.

Why should we send our children to a second rate institution at Castlegar which will cost about $1100 per year when we could send them to Notre Dame and save $300 on transportation? Or, if we so desire, for $1400 send them to UBC, a proven first rate university.

How does this college expect to obtain topnotch instructors when it is proposed to pay these people the same salaries as present day high school teachers?

Finally, is sufficient money going to be available to adequately equip this college, or will we in five years pay five mills instead of the present figure of one mill.

Defends Ford Letter

To the Editor:

Sir — In your issue Saturday morning your correspondent directed censure against Mr. J. R. Ford for some of his remarks relating to my candidature. It was stated that "If he had the welfare of the City at heart he would put his shoulder to the wheel and help rather than criticize."

If the writer had thought as far back as 1959, he would have remembered that Mr. Ford was the moving spirit that enlisted over eleven hundred citizens in a petition against a Council which had determined, by a split vote, on a course which had an overwhelming majority against it.

Mr. Ford is to be congratulated on his alarm at the impending proposal of Centennial Proposals in February, to be decided by the Council, as no Referendums may be held except at the annual elections.

The following is the text of the steering committee resolution which was adopted by the Centennial Committee. "The Committee recommends that the project, or projects, be presented to the City Council before the final date of formulation of the 1964 budget, preferably by the end of February, 1964." Carried.

LONDON (Reuters) — Prime Minister Sir Alec Douglas-Home said here Monday he is "fairly convinced" Britain is approaching a period of "more constructive relations" with Russia.

He also told a luncheon given in his honor by the parliamentary press gallery that Communist China would have its own nuclear weapon "in a fairly short time."

The island had been called Ile de France by the French, who had claimed it in 1715.

Native Girls Are Sexual Playthings Says Church Paper

TORONTO (CP)—The Canadian Churchman charges in a current edition that Canadians abroad use native women as "sexual playthings."

The 285,000 - circulation national publication for the Anglican Church based an editorial "Canadians abroad — A hindrance to Christ" on information it says it received from Central America.

"Our information relates to the scandalous relations with local girls of Canadian married men who are employed by Canadian-owned enterprises.

". . . To assume that women with dark skins are always available as sexual playthings is both degredation of womanhood and racial discrimination of the basest sort."

The editorial says this "latest demonstration of Anglo-Saxon deviation from Christian moral standards is the kind of thing which has hindred Christian missionary efforts in many parts of the world."

It says that whenever publicity is given the number of illegitimate children fathered abroad by United States servicemen, Canadians have been in the habit of "tut-tutting and thanking the good Lord that Canadians don't behave like that.

"Reliable information which has reached us from Central America suggests that certain Canadians are behaving far worse."

Editor Rev. A. Gordon Baker said Sunday his source for the editorial was "absolutely reliable—but confidential."

"I use the term 'sexual playthings' to describe a relationship whereby the man has absolutely no sense of responsibility toward the girl — a love-them-and-leave-them attitude."

He said he hoped more Canadian companies would send families abroad with their representatives.

Borneo Terrorists More Active

By JOHN WHEELER

BRUNEI (AP) — A high British military officer says terrorists based in Indonesian Borneo undoubtedly are planning more and heavier raids on East Malaysia.

The officer, stationed at the Brunei headquarters of Britain's North Borneo command, said he expects terrorist activity to spread along the 800-mile border between Indonesia and the Malaysian states of Sabah and Sarawak, which surround Brunei.

"Undoubtedly things will get worse," the officer said. "There will be more incidents as the terrorists try to bully the border people into shifting their allegiance from the Malaysian government."

In the last seven months, terrorist attacks have been confined to Sarawak. But some sources predict Sabah (North Borneo) soon may be a trouble spot. Indonesian commandos are reported in place on Sibatik Island, just off the east coast and shared by Malaysia and Indonesia.

Authoritative sources report some Indonesians working in Sabah have set up jungle training camps for guerrillas.

OFFICERS LEAD ATTACKS

The British military official said there is conclusive proof that Indonesia is behind the border incursions. He said some of the attacks were led by Indonesian regular army officers and that one Indonesian commando officer was killed on Sibatik while on a reconnaissance patrol.

Indonesia's present aim, the Briton said, is to weaken the will of the border tribes in Sarawak and Sabah and to encourage dissidents in the states in the hope they will revolt. Neither has happened, he said.

A government source in Sarawak said a third Indonesian aim is to create the impression that the peoples of Sabah and Sarawak are in revolt against the formation of Malaysia.

The British have adopted a strongly systematic destruction of terrorist bands in an effort to destroy the morale of the Indonesian-based guerrillas.

Starlet's Murder Probed

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Homicide officers worked in teams Monday to question Karyn Kupcinet's host of friends, hopeful of finding some lead to the strangler of the vivacious actress.

Miss Kupcinet, 22, a petite brunette who had appeared in a number of top television shows, was found Saturday night in her modest apartment. The body was nude and lay face down on a couch.

The actress was the only daughter of Irv Kupcinet, a Chicago newspaper columnist and television moderator.

Among those questioned was Andrew Prine, 27, a television actor identified as Miss Kupcinet's steady boy friend until a recent disagreement caused them to break up.

Prine, a co-star of the Wide Country series, told investigators he knew nothing of the slaying but had telephoned Karyn twice Wednesday night to discuss their differences.

Investigators said he may have been the last person to hear her voice when he placed his second call about midnight. Officers believe the slaying took place in the early hours Thursday.

Also questioned were two friends of Prine—Edward S. Rubin, 22, a free lance writer, and actor Robert F. Hathaway, 24.

LOCK THE DOOR

Rubin and Hathaway told detectives they watched television in the victim's apartment Wednesday night. They said Miss Kupcinet retired about 11:15 and they left a short time later, locking the door.

Detectives said the actress' body lay undiscovered—possibly for three days—until actor Mark Goddara and his wife, Marcia, 25, visited the apartment Saturday night. They were concerned, they said, about her failure to answer their telephone calls for two days.

The Goddards found the front door of the second-storey, four-room apartment unlocked.

Dr. Harold Kade, the autopsy surgeon, said the strangler exerted such force that the hyoid —a U-shaped bone at the base of the tongue — was fractured.

He found no immediate evidence of a sexual attack.

Miss Kupcinet had studied at the celebrated Actors Studio in New York. She had appeared on the stage, in a movie or two, and on such television programs as Hawaiian Eye, Surfside 6, The U.S. Steel Hour, the Red Skelton, Donna Reed and Gertrude Berg shows. She was featured in a Perry Mason program yet to be shown.

Meeker To Get 10 Years for Girl Attack

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP)—James Meeker, 35, was sentenced Monday to 10 years in prison for having improper relations with 12-year-old Alice Mathers whose body was found in a Fraser Valley gravel pit near Mission June 10.

Meeker's 30-year-old brother, farmhand Kenneth Meeker, has already been convicted of capital murder for the death of the girl and has been sentenced to be hanged March 17.

James Meeker pleaded guilty to unlawfully having intercourse with the little Mission school girl.

Evidence during the murder trial showed the Meeker brothers forced her into their car as she was walking home along the highway and took her to the gravel pit where Kenneth Meeker admitted he strangled her to death.

Mrs. Oswald Defends Son

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—Mrs. Marguerite Oswald, mother of Lee Harvey Oswald, said in an interview Sunday that she does not believe her son assassinated President Kennedy.

She also expressed a belief that her son, slain two days after the president, was not an atheist, and cited a time when he sought to have his child baptized.

Mrs. Oswald said her son attempted to arrange for the baptism of his daughter, June. She said he refused to go through with it when he learned he would be expected to contribute financially for the service.

She said he did not at the time have money enough for food and clothing.

Mrs. Oswald said she has received some 400 letters from the United States and foreign countries offering sympathy and material help since the assassination.

NEVER KNEW FATHER

In the interview with the Fort Worth Star-Telegram, Mrs. Oswald said Lee was born in New Orleans Oct. 18, 1939. His father died of a heart attack two months before his birth.

She said she received some $3,500 from her husband's insurance and sold the equity in her home to increase her resources.

Mrs. Oswald said she went to work and, when the Second World War began, it was impossible to find help to tend the children.

The two older sons, she said, were placed in a Lutheran home for children.

Lee was too young for admission, Mrs. Oswald said. He was admitted later when he was three, and remained until he was about five.

Mrs. Oswald said she left the two older children in the school after her remarriage and took Lee with her when she moved to Fort Worth.

The new marriage lasted only a few months, she said, and she continued to support her family in Fort Worth until Lee was 11.

She said she then moved to New York to be with her second oldest son, Robert, who was married and in the service. She said she enrolled Lee in a Lutheran school there, and later registered him in a public school in the Bronx.

Many tenants at the meeting, sponsored by the community council on housing, told of going weeks without heat or hot water. Some complained of rats

"The real dread," said, Jesse Gray director of the council "is now—at Christmas time—when the slum landlords take off for Florida and the supeintendents have to be tipped extra for service."

Decor Represents Sorority's Theme

KINNAIRD — The City Centre Banquet Room was scene of the second fall banquet of the Alpha Phi Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi.

The decor in predominating Sorority colours of black and gold symbolized this year's theme, "This is the way to the friendliest, the loveliest-minded and the most socially respected young women in the world."

A float fashioned upon a toy truck, draped with gold, featured a globe which rested at the top of a tiny stairway. Dolls were posed at intervals upon the stairs to represent the "climb" to the globe of the world by young women.

Original name tags and centre pieces complemented the table decor.

Three rituals were observed: the first was the Ritual of Affirmation, conducted by Mrs. T. Couch for all charter members. The second was the Ritual of Jewels, also conducted by Mrs. Couch, and was received by the following pledges, Mrs. S. Angus, Mrs. G. Baulkham, Mrs. S. Campbell, Mrs. J. Savoy (by proxy), Mrs. D. Leitch, Miss Olga Plotnikoff and Mrs. M. Wood.

The third ritual was the Ritual for Director, conducted by Mrs. J. Gormley, chapter president, and banquet chairman. This was received by Mrs. T. Couch.

Mrs. Gormley gave the welcome to visitors, Mrs. G. Rees and Mrs. F. B. Jones. Mrs. Gormley also made a special presentation to Mrs. D. Calder for perfect attendance last year.

A coffee hour rounded out the eventful evening.

Crippled Maple Leafs To Meet Warriors in Rossland Tonight

An unhappy Mickey Maglio, playing-coach of the Nelson Maple Leafs, takes his injury-ridden pucksters to Rossland for a Western International Hockey League game with the third place Warriors tonight.

Leafs, currently stalled in fourth place in the standings, three points behind Warriors, have been defeated in their last four outings and are desperately trying to reverse their plunge into the WIHL's second division.

Saturday the club fell to its lowest point of the season, both in its playing and is mental attitude, when the greatly improved, but still last place, Trail Smoke Eaters downed them 6-2 on their home ice. The Leaf loss was the second to the cellar-dwellars within a week and it cut Leaf morale to the bone.

"What can I say," said Maglio Monday. "Injuries and the lack of a few players, a number of things, have turned the club from the best in the league to what it is at present."

CLUB DISCOURAGED

"What it is at present," is a discouraged, short handed team that needs a win badly to bring back its early season confidence and highly potent attack. It is also a team that needs a few new players, plus some key men who are out with injuries.

Number one on the "key man" list is probably forward Doug Kilburn, who has been out for weeks with an injured leg. Kilburn was out skating at the Leaf practice Monday, but he isn't expected to return to action for some time yet.

Then there are defencemen, Marsh Severyn, benched because of three cracked ribs, and Frank Carlson, who has what is thought to be a dislocated elbow.

Carlson is expected to play tonight in Rossland despite the painful arm, but this is not definite. Severyn may also dress after a check today with the club doctor, but if his injury still bothers him he will miss the game.

FORLIN MAY PLAY

Altough netminder Gus Adams will make the trip, it is possible Bruno Forlin will be back in goal for the Leafs tonight.

Forlin, recovering from a groin injury, was out to practice Monday, and Maglio said he "looked good." The Leaf coach would like to use him and give Adams, who is suffering from a slight attack of the flu, a rest.

Other than that, the Leafs will go with the same lineup they had here Saturday night. This includes defencemen, Harry Smith, Shorty Malacko, and Dave Stewart, and forwards, Bobby Kromm, Mike Laughton, Mike Dimich, Howie Hornby, Alf Romer, Alf Wakelem, Charlie Burdette and Maglio.

What's the answer to the Maple Leafs' dilemma? Maglio is hoping its the same as it has been in the past.

"In all the years I've played in Nelson, he said, "the club has never seemed to settle until about the end of December. I'm hoping it will settle again this season."

STILL LOOKING

Maglio added that Leafs are still trying to get some outside player help, and are hoping some of the past Leaf stars in the city will be out to bolster the club. But he added, "it's almost impossible to get any outside players this late in the season."

In other WIHL action this week, Warriors are at Trail, Thusday, Kimberley Dynamiters take on the Leafs here Friday then play in Trail Saturday while Warriors head south to tangle with league leading Spokane Jets the same day.

PCL Becomes First Twelve Team Loop

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—The International League dopped two of its 10 teams Monday and the Pacific Coast League agreed to pick them up in 1964, becoming the first 12-team cicuit in the history of organized baseball.

Indianapolis and Little Rock are the two franchises shifting leagues. Indianapolis will have been in three different leagues in the space of three years. It was in the now-defunct American Association before joining the International League prior to the 1963 season.

With the changes, the PCL will have franchises in seven non-Pacific Coast states—Utah, Colorado, Texas, Oklahoma, Hawaii, Indiana and Arkansas. It's more than 4,500 miles from Indianapolis to Honolulu.

Baseball commissioner Ford C. Frick said before the winter baseball convention here that the major leagues would not continue to pay $78,000 a year to defray additional travel costs resulting from expansion of the International League.

NO CONCESSIONS

IL president Tommy Richardson then said his league would revert to its eight-club setup unless the majors changed their minds and agreed to continue the transportation subsidy.

That was the situation Monday and a meeting of the two sides produced no concessions.

The PCL, which operated in two five-team divisions in 1963, offered to expand to 12 teams should the IL evet to eight.

Last season, the PCL had franchises in Seattle, Tacoma, Spokane, Portland, San Diego, Denver, Salt Lake City, Dallas, Oklahoma City and Hawaii.

As an eight-club league, the IL will have franchises in Rochestre, Buffalo, Syracuse, Toronto, Jacksonville, Columbus, Atlanta and Richmond.

Nakusp Bonspiel Starts Friday

NAKUSP (Staff) — The Nakusp Curling Club's annual bonspiel will be held here Friday, Saturday and Sunday and will mark the opening of a new club room which is now part of the curling rink.

The club room, a community effort built through voluntary labor, is expected to add greatly to the bonspiel's appeal and to the comfort of curlers taking part in the spiel.

Club officials, R. Webb and J. Leonard said they hoped for a large entry of rinks from district curling clubs and added that anyone wishing more information on the three-day bonspiel should contact them as soon as possible.

CANADIENS LOSE ONE OF TOP SCORERS

MONTREAL (CP) — Montreal Canadiens announced Monday rookie left winger John Ferguson will miss the next three to four weeks of National Hockey League play, leaving the club without one of its two leading goal-getters.

The tendon of Ferguson's thumb on the left hand was severed Sunday night by the skate of Ed Westfall in a brawl between the two in Boston. Both drew major penalties.

Dave Balon and Ferguson rank tons among the Montreal scorers with 11 goals each.

Hawaii Gets Five Players From Angeles

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Los Angeles Angels trimmed their roster to 32 players Monday by selling the contracts of five players to their Hawaii affiliate in the Pacific Coast League.

The quintet included Felix Torres, who had been the Angels' regular third baseman the past two seasons. The others were pitcher Mike Lee and outfielders Bob Perry, Frank Kostro and Jackie Warner.

Torres, 31, batted .261 in 138 games last season. He hit four home runs and drive in 51 runs.

Lee, 22, a left-hander who received a $70,000 bonus from San Francisco Giants several years ago, came to the Angels last July from Hawaii where he had a 2-1 record for the Islanders. He had no record with Los Angeles.

Perry, purchased by the Angles last May from Tacoma of the PCL, batted .253 in 61 games. Kostro, acquired from Detroit last June, together with pitcher Paul Foytack in exchange for outfielder George Thomas, batted .225 in 74 games for the Angels and Tigers.

Warner, 20, hit .232 for Tri-Cities in the Northwest League and .295 with San Jose in the California League.

Grey Cup Revellers Got Lumps Monday

VANCOUVER (CP) — Grey Cup revelers got their lumps Monday.

In the wake of what some called the worst-ever aftermath of a Grey Cup game, young troublemakers filed past magistrates to receive their punishment.

Meanwhile, police said hoodlums were the main cause of near riot conditions Saturday night that followed Hamilton Tiger-Cats' 21-10 victory over British Columbia Lions in the Grey Cup championship.

As some of the 319 persons arrested were fined up to $100, Deputy Police Chief Gordon Ambrose officially commended his men for their conduct.

The bruised and battered police had had to deal with a shouting, cursing crowd of between 3,000 and 4,000 from which was thrown beer bottles, glasses, fireworks, eggs and tomatoes. Police reinforcements and police dogs were called in.

A "night of shame," said a headline in The Province, Vancouver's morning newspaper.

NIGHT DISORDERLY

Insp. F. C. Errington, in charge of special police details, said the night was the most disorderly in the history of four Grey Cup games played here.

"About 90 per cent of the people were peaceful citizens, just looking. The other 10 per cent were troublemakers."

Said Staff Inspector Dan Brown, in charge of 200 policemen who patrolled the downtown area:

"These are the same rowdy elements that give us trouble whenever they have a chance. Some of them are old familiar faces. They are the ones that riot at Halowe'en, at Grey Cup and any time they think they can get away with it."

Many of those appearing in court had long hair, tight pants, white sox and black pointed shoes. They mumbled their answers to the magistrate's questions after they had slouched into court.

Insp. Brown said the police showed great restraint in the face of great provocation during the night. They had arrested 132 persons Friday night and many had worked on the Grey Cup game during the day.

Police said one policeman vaulted from his motorcycle and over the roof of a car and dived into the crowd after a hoodlum who threw a beer bottle at a paddy wagon. The youth was dragged biting, kicking and cursing out of the crowd.

Along the street the crowd roared: "Fight, fight, fight."

Sunday hundreds lined up at the court clerk's office to produce bail.

One group with UBC (University of British Columbia) sewn to their jackets swaggered in but became sober-faced under the stern eye of a police sergeant.

One of the arrested men was in his mid 50s but most were youths.

It was 7 p.m. Sunday before some could arrange bail. Some could not raise it and had to stay in jail until Monday.

Los Angeles Tops Majors; Grabs 6 in Annual Draft

By JOE REICHLER

SAN DIEGO (AP)—The major leagues selected 63 minor league players—the most ever—at a cost of $691,000 in their annual draft as the first order of business at the winter baseball meetings Monday.

Led by Los Angeles Angels, who grabbed six players worth $99,000, the majors took 11 players with four or more years of experience and 52 first-year players.

The veteran minor leaguers brought $25,000 apiece. The first-year players were worth $8,000 each.

There were few big names on the list. The best known probably are three pitchers, Howie Koplitz, selected by Washington Senators; Bill Fischer, taken by Minnesota Twins and Jim Owens, grabbed by Houston Colts.

PITCHERS IN DEMAND

Pitchers were in great demand. There were 32 hurlers chosen including a pair of high-priced bonus boys. Los Angeles Dodgers' sole selection was Charles Bohling, a 19-year-old righthander who was reported to have received $50,000 when he signed with New York Yankees.

Milwaukee picked Bobby Daniel, a $75,000 Boston Red Sox' bonus player. The Yankees also lost outfielder Jim Kirkland, a $40,000 bonus boy to Kansas City Athletics.

Hardest hit were Pittsburgh Pirates, who lost eight players, while Boston Red Sox lost seven, all pitchers. Pittsburgh Pirates drafted only one player and the Red Sox four, all first year men.

YANKS ALSO BID

Most surprising was the activity of the Yankees, who in the past rarely took part in the draft business. They selected four first-year players, partly atoning for the six they lost.

Koplitz, a 25-year-old right-hander, had the distinction of being the first player to be picked among the veteran group. The new Senator once pitched briefly with Detroit Tigers.

The $25,000 draftees, in addition to Koplitz, are:

Infielder Bob Knoop of Denver and pitchers Bill Rivas of Tacoma and Bill Kelso of Spokane, all drafted by the Angels.

Pitcher Jim Owens of San Diego, drafted by Houston.

Second baseman George Williams of Atlanta, by Kansas City.

Pitcher Wayne Schurr of Tacoma, by Chicago Cubs.

Pitcher Jack Smith of Spokane by Milwaukee.

Outfielder Lou Jackson of Toronto, by Baltimore.

Pitcher Bill Fischer of Portland, by Minnesota.

Pitcher Camilo Estevis of Spokane, by Chicago White Sox.

Altough Nelson's Donald and Godfrey placed second in their battle, another Queen City pair, David Niven and Roger Kerby took first place in men's doubles "A" flight competition. They defeated Trail's Tom Dobie and Gordon Laurie, 15-12, 0-15, 15-12 in the finals.

Lions Hosted End They Hope to Have Playing Soon

VANCOUVER (CP) — B.C. Lions were Grey Cup hosts to an end they hope to have playing for them next year.

Jim McNaughton, a 230-pounder from Utah State, was invited to Vancouver by the team and attended Saturday's football classic in which Hamilton Tiger-Cats defeated the Lions 21-10.

Lions' halfback Steve Shafer, who played with McNaughton at Utah State, said: "McNaughton is good. He's big and he is very strong.

"He could help us a lot if he comes here."

LONDON KO's YANK; DRAWS BOOS FROM FANS

NEWCASTLE, England (AP)—Brian London, former British heavyweight champion, knocked out Billy Nielsen of Omaha in the fourth round with a controversial punch in their scheduled 10-rounder Monday night.

The fight ended in an unusual way.

The referee called a break when the fighters were clinching. Nielsen dropped his hands. London hammered a blow to the head and then a right to the body.

London got in two more before the American slumped to the canvas for the full count.

The end of the fight drew a storm of boos. Most of the boos were against London.

The fans thought London had hit Nielsen too soon after the break.

Afterwards Nielsen said: "I had been told there was to be no hitting on the break. I was fouled repeatedly.

"On those final punches, London should have been disqualified."

London weighed 210 pounds, Nielsen 197½.

NFL Player Draft Off to Slow Start

CHICAGO (AP)—Dave Parks, versatile Texas Tech end, was grabbed by San Francisco '49ers as the No. 1 pick of the National Football League annual player draft whih got off to a slow start Monday.

After the next two teams — Philadelphia Eagles and Washington Redskins—quickly chose guard Bob Brown of Nebraska and halfback Charles Taylor of Arizona State respectively, the first round bogged down for 2 hours, 39 minutes.

The delay came as the fourth team to pick, Dallas Cowboys, apparently were stymied by the drafting of Parks and Taylor, whom they reportedly planned as top choices and finally picked Scott Appleton, 235-pound Texas tackle.

After 3½ hours, only seven the 14 teams had made first round selections.

Detroit Lions, picking fifth, chose quarterback Pete Beathard of Southern California; Minnesota Vikings took Carl Eller, a heralded tackle fom University of Minnesota; and Los Angeles Rams selected quarterback Bill Munson of Utah State.

The six-foot-two, 193-pound Parks, No. 1 NFL pick, was a fourth-round choice by San Diego in last weekend's American Football League draft.

Brown, 269-pound Nebraska star, taken first by the Eagles, was also a first-round AFL choice by Denver. The fleet Taylor, fingered by Washington first was selected in the second AFL round by Houston.

The big Dallas-caused délay before picking 235-pound Appleton, was attributed by a Cowboy club spokesman as due to a hasty check of another prime prospect, Mel Renfro, Oregon halfback.

Alston Signs For 11th Year With Dodgers

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Walter Alston, dean of active major league baseball managers in point of continuous service with one club, signed for his 11th season with the world champion Los Angeles Dodgers Monday.

No salary figure was released but a reliable source said Alston will make $50,000, about $7,000 more than he received this year. Like all his previous Dodger contracts, this one runs one year.

Since Alston became manager in 1954 the Dodgers have won four National League pennants and three world championships. They have finished second three times, third once, fourth once and seventh once. They never won a World Series before he became manager.

Ahlston, 52, is the first National League manager to stay with one club more than 10 years since the days of John McGraw and Wilbert Robinson. McGraw was with New York Giants from 1903 to 1931 and Robinson managed Brooklyn Dodgers from 1914 to 1931. The only other man to manage one club more than 10 years in modern National League history was Fred Clarke, who was with Pittsburgh Pirates from -1900 to 1915.

Canadian Coach Turns Down Big U.S. Offer

By LORNE BRUCE

EDMONTON (CP) — Canada's most successful junior football coach has turned down an offer from a big United States university so that he can coach Canadian university teams.

Dennis Kadatz, who spent more than half his 25 years on a farm, has coached Edmonton Huskies to two consecutive national junior football titles.

Now attending University of Alberta after teaching high school in Edmonton for two years, he turned down a coaching scholarship offer from Brigham Young University at Provo, Utah.

"I received a $2,000 scholarship from the National Fitness Council of Canada, so decided to take my master's degree at the University of Alberta," he explained.

Working toward a master's degree in physical education, he wants to coach in Canada at the university level. "I think junior football is on a par with university football," he said. "I enjoy teaching that age group."

VERSATILE TALENT

Dennis Melvin Kadatz played high school football in Edmonton, junior football with the Huskies and varsity football with the University of Edmonton Golden Bears. He played every position, but was best known as an end.

He was born on a farm 15 miles southeast of Edmonton and lived there until he was 14. Last year he coached Huskies to a 7-3 win over Montreal Notre Dame de Grace Maple Leafs in the junior final at Hamilton, and this fall his Huskies beat the same team 47-3 in the final at Calgary.

Kadatz was only 24 when his team won its first national final, but this wasn't a record. Paul Dojack, veteran Western Conference referee, was only 21 when he coached Regina Dales to a national junior title in 1938.

Nor was Kadatz's national title the first for Edmonton this year. Just two days earlier University of Alberta beat Queen's Golden Gaels for the national intercollegiate title.

ESKIMOS HELP

The Huskies football club gets some help from the Edmonton Eskimos of the Western Conference. The pro team underwrites any losses in the Edmonton Junior League.

But the Huskie Athletic Association "looks after all the extras, such as training facilities, films, and extra coaching. The coaches, managers and trainers get small honorariums."

"It pays for the game," says Kadatz. "That's about all."

Married, and father of one daughter, Kadatz spends four or five hours a day, five months of the year, with the Huskies. In addition there is travelling, recruiting, scouting and games —"about 500 hours, easily."

A 1960 graduate of the University of Alberta, he taught physical education and science at Edmonton's Strathcona Composite High School for two years before returning to the university this fall. He should get his master's degree in the fall of 1964.

YOUNGSTERS BENEFIT

Kadatz loses 14 players from his 1963 title team but is hopeful about next year. "If I'm back, we'll still have a good backfield, but we'll miss some linemen."

Thirteen of the players will be over-age, and another, halfback Gary Neilsen, is going to Brigham Young University.

Two of the graduates from his team are at U.S. colleges—Larry Lee at Brigham Young and Manley Sarnowski at Drake. Four members of this year's team, in addition to Neilsen, are going to Brigham Young or Montana State College. These are tackle Tom Mahan, ends Ross Flehr and Ron Ferwick and fullback Al Gordichuck.

Kadatz gets no pay for coaching, "but when you see kids giving that much effort it makes everything worth while.

"Junior football has done a lot for many of the kids. Socially, mentally and physically they get a lot out of it. There is no other area in that age group where kids are willing to work so hard and get no pay but self-satisfaction.

"Somehow it helps to mature them, and they learn responsibility."

JUST BEING POLITE?—Far from it! The New York Rangers' goalie Gilles Villemure seems to be bowing politely but he's actually using his body and equipment in a vain effort to stop the puck from plopping into the net during a pro hockey game with the Toronto Maple Leafs in New York.

International League Threatens To Cut Loop

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—The International Baseball League has expressed determination not to continue its expanded 10-team setup unless its extra travel expenses are again underwritten by the major leagues.

And baseball commissioner Ford Frick has declared emphatically that the majors will not continue the transportation subsidy.

The two sides were scheduled to get together at the annual minor league convention here Monday but there was no evidence either would budge.

"If the commissioner still refuses to offer us any help, we are determined to go back to an eight-club setup," Tommy Richardson, president of the International League, said Sunday.

ADD TWO TEAMS

As part of a player development plan, the International League expanded to 10 teams from eight last year after dissolution of the American Association.

The International League was reluctant to enlarge but took in Little Rock, Ark., and Indianapolis when the majors agreed to pay $78,000 to cover added transportation costs resulting from the expansion.

Last September the majors notified the International League the subsidy would not be paid in 1964. The majors offered a different sort of financial relief, saying they would contribute $800 instead of $750 a month toward salaries of their minor league players. The majors also offered to pay $2,500 for every minor leaguer recalled by a major league team.

"We feel this would not compensate us for the loss of the transportation money," said Harold Cooper, general manager of the International League's Columbus Jets.

MAZZINGHI RETAINS WORLD BOXING TITLE

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — Sandro Mazzinghi of Italy retained his world junior middleweight boxing title Monday by beating Ralph Dupas of New Orleans, La., on a technical knockout in the 13th round.

A crowd of 9000 watched the scheduled 15-rounder.

Mazzinghi was favored. He weighed 153, Dupas, 150 ¼.

Mazzinghi won the title from Dupas on a ninth round technical knockout at Milan, Italy, last Sept. 7.

Mazzinghi was declared the winner Monday by referee Vic Patrick after he hit the American on the jaw with a terrific right one minute. 10 seconds after the start of the 13th round.

Earlier in this round, Dupas had been floored twice but got to his feet again in an effort to stay in the fight to regain the title.

Halter Says Mosca's Tackle Of Fleming Appeared Borderline

VANCOUVER (CP) — Sydney Halter, commissioner of the Canadian Football League, said Monday the tackle that knocked British Columbia Lions halfback Willie Fleming out of the Grey Cup game appeared to be borderline.

He said in a telephone interview from Winnipeg the tackle by Angelo Mosca of Hamilton Tiger-Cats occurred in front of where he was sitting at Empire Stadium Saturday.

"It looked to me as if the officials had it covered. It looked like a borderline case.

"I am practically certain that it was in the field of play and it appeared that Mosca had committed himself before Fleming was stopped."

Fleming suffered a slight concussion in the second-quarter tackle and was out the rest of the game, won by Hamilton 21-10.

Halter said he feels the officials did an excellent job of handling the game.

One of the officials, referee Ray Boucher of Ottawa, said the game was by no means rough.

"I thought both teams played very cleanly and very hard."

He had checked with officials closest to the Fleming tackle — head linesman Tom Cheney and umpire Al Dryburgh—and "both said there was no need for a penalty.

Officials of both clubs came to the defence of Mosca.

An angry Ralph Sazio, Hamilton coach, said: "We came here to play good, hard football . . . You've got to gang tackle players like Fleming and (quarterback) Joe Kapp."

B.C. general manager Herb Capozzi told Mosca just after the game not to let the booing and abuse of some fans bother him.

"Doesn't bother me," replied Mosca. "That's the way I play, as hard as I know."

"Yes," said Capozzi, "That's the only way anyone should play."

Capozzi said later he had no malice toward Mosca and did not think the game was excessively rough. No protests of any kind were planned.

Fleming, an all-star half and a major part of B.C.'s offence, was knocked out with a slight concussion when tackled by Mosca in the second quarter. Hamilton was leading 7-0 at the time and went on to win 21-10.

BOO MOSCA

Fans booed Mosca as he left the field. Some said he had deliberately sought to injure Fleming.

The Province, Vancouver's morning newspaper, said: "Actually it was no tackle at all. Fleming was already prone and immobilized after the type of run that makes him the outstanding halfback in Canada when . . . Mosca reached the scene . . . Fleming had been lying face down when he was hit. . . ."

The Sun said: "Fans and opposing players were united in condemnation of the man who crippled . . . Fleming with a seemingly unnecessary tackle. . . ."

Sazio, told of the charges replied: "Ridiculous . . . we've never, never tried to deliberately injure anyone."

"Every time the West loses you people start screaming and moaning about injuries and rough play."

DEFENDS PLAYER

"How can anyone say that Angelo was trying to play dirty football? Why, he attempted to go over top of Fleming.

"You've got to gang tackle players like Fleming and Kapp.

"Fleming is the type of player one man can't stop by himself. You grab him by the leg, arm or sweater and he squirms away for more yards."

Sazio said Fleming was being held by the leg by a Hamilton player and was still on his feet when Mosca came across the field to tackle him. Mosca could not have pulled up and "as it was, he tried to dive over Fleming."

Mosca said Fleming was still going so he went for him.

B.C. quarterback Joe Kapp and defensive half By Bailey refused to shake hands with Mosca after the game.

Mosca said he may be "what you call over-agressive" on the field.

"But I never go out there with the intention of deliberately injuring someone. You tackle and block hard. This is football. It's rough."

Cold Fans Wait Hours To Welcome Home Ti-Cats

HAMILTON (CP) — About 4,000 fans waited in the cold for four hours to welcome home the Grey Cup champion Tiger-Cats early Monday.

Police had to help the Grey Cup winners through the crowd to a platform set up in front of the Royal Connaught Hotel.

The players said they found it hard to believe so many people would wait for so long to greet them. The Ticats won the cup in Vancouver Saturday by defeating British Columbia Lions 21-10.

Crowds began to gather at about 8:15 p.m. when it was thought the Ticats would arrive at about 10 p.m.

But due to delays in Vancouver and Winnipeg their plane didn't land at Toronto until after midnight. They took a bus to Hamilton.

FANS KEEP ACTIVE

While waiting in the 20-degree weather, the fans kept active by honking horns, blowing bugles, dancing in the streets, throwing confetti and shouting Ticat cheers.

Speaking for the players, quarterback Bernie Faloney said: "What a great town to play football in."

Jake Gaudaur, president and general manager, said: "We were able to bring the Grey Cup to Hamilton for three reasons—we had the best coach, we had the best team and we had the best city and fans."

Head coach Ralph Sazio said: "You people made the players play as hard as they did."

So Boisterous and out-of-this-world happy were the fans that they almost did to their heroes what their heroes did to the British Columbia Lions—eat 'em raw.

The players had to be helped through the crowd to the platform set up in front of the Royal Connaught Hotel. Without police, they wouldn't have made it. At that they lost a shirt, tie, coat, and even a lock of hair.

1. Beer is much too lighthearted a drink for you to concern yourself as you drink it with the problems of the brewmaster.

2. Let him worry, as he is here, about maintaining the Ph factor or the specific gravity.

3. He'll check this brew at least a dozen times between brewing and bottling. But let him concern himself with the beer. You just concentrate on enjoying it. That's the moment the Interior Brewmasters and their men are dedicated to.

East, South U.S. Hit by Freeze

CHICAGO (AP) — Cold air, with snow in some northern areas, spread across broad sections from the Rockies into northern Florida Monday.

The mercury dropped to 30 degrees in Gainesville, Fla., early Monday as the cold air snipped deep into the southland.

Wintry weather, with heavy snow and temperatures near zero, hit upstate New York and parts of New England. Nearly a foot of snow covered areas east of Lake Ontario.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

U.S. Court To Review Passport Ban Decision

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Supreme Court agreed Monday to review a decision upholding constitutionality of a ban on passports for members of the Communist party.

The decision was given by a special three-judge U.S. district court here. It was appealed to the high tribunal by Mrs. Elizabeth Gurley Flynn, chairman of the Communist party of the United States, and by Herbert Aptheker, editor of Political Affairs, described as the theoretical organ of the party.

Mrs. Flynn and Aptheker said they wished to travel abroad for recreation and study, but were denied passports under a section of the 1961 Subversive Activities Control Act. The section makes it unlawful for a Communist party member to apply for a passport or renewal of a passport, and bans member use of a passport.

The two persons contended the section violated various guarantees of the U.S. constitution. The district court ruled it was a valid exercise of congressional authority, "based on the legislative determination that and dangerous to the security of the United States."

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Supreme Court decided Monday state courts may enforce state bans on agency shop lobar contracts.

Justice Douglas delivered the 8 to 0 decision.

Justice Goldberg, former secretary of labor, took no part.

Workers under agency shop contracts do not have to become union members but must pay such travel would be dangerous to the security of the United States."

TOULOUSE, France (AP) — Opera tenor Louis Tharaud, 85, died Sunday. Tharaud, born in Toulouse April 27, 1878, made his debut in 1907 in William Tell. He later sang in the Paris opera and toured the opera houses of Europe.

Firm Absorbed

NEW YORK (AP)—J. R. Williston and Beane, Inc., financially troubled firm suspended two days from the New York Stock Exchange, has been absorbed by Walston and Co.

The firms said Sunday night that Williston and Beane's 16 offices would open Monday, with Walston clearing and confirming orders.

Walston was one of two firms which provided loans totalling $500,000 to help Williston and Beane win reinstatement on the stock exchange. It was suspended Nov. 20.

Williston and Beane and Ira Haupt and Co., were suspended for failing to meet minimum capital requirements after a customer applied for bankruptcy. The stock exchange took over liquidation of Haupt.

Willison and Beane has about 9,000 account holders.

Will Investigate Play Scalpers

NEW YORK (AP)—The state attorney - general's office will conduct hearings next week on reports on collusion between theatre people to scalp tickets to hit Broadway shows for as much as $75 apiece.

The Dec. 10-11 hearings, announced Sunday by Attorney-General Louis F. Lefkowitz, also will investigate alleged bribes to theatre employees to supply blocks of choice seats, alleged kickbacks to producers from theatrical supply houses, and practices "which may have victimized some investors."

Lefkowitz said some investors in Broadway productions "never received an adequate accounting of their moneys or any report of how the money was spent."

Producers, directors and performers are expected to testify.

Lefkowitz said his office began the investigation more than eight months ago after investors in productions both on and off Broadway complained of loose bookkeeping practices by some producers.

"We've been told that the take on 'ice' in one recent musical was over a million dollars a year," a source close to the attorney - general's investigation was quoted by The New York Times as saying. "Ice" is the under-the-counter premium paid to a theatre employee for choice seats.

The source said that in most cases the "ice" went to persons controlling ticket distribution—box-office men, theatre owners and producers.

And, the source added, "it's almost a custom for scenery, costume and other (theatre) suppliers to kick back a minimum of a few thousand dollars to a producer."

State law restricts brokers to a maximum fee of $1.50 a ticket, plus a 15-cent tax. About 50 per cent of theatre tickets in the city are sold through about 80 licensed brokers.

Many theatregoers, however, rely on unlicensed scalpers when the legitimate broker cannot supply tickets.

Churchill's Silence in '40 Led to Victory

LONDON (Reuters) — Lord Beaverbrook says Sir Winston Churchill might never have led his people to final victory over the Germans in 1945 had he not refused to speak in 1940.

Canadian - born Beaverbrook, one of Churchill's closest friends, makes the statement in a special birthday tribute to Churchill who was 89 Saturday.

Writing in his Sunday Express, Beaverbrook tells what he calls "the hidden story" of how Churchill became prime minister.

In 1940, only the people were behind Churchill, says Beaverbrook.

Neville Chamberlain, ready to resign the premiership in face of British reverses, favored Lord Halifax as his replacement, the newspaper publisher writes. The House of Lords and King George VI also had wanted Halifax. The Labor party was against Churchill and the Conservative party majority preferred Halifax, Beaverbrook says.

STALIN KNEW BETTER

Only Stalin, he adds, knew better than all the politicans who opposed Churchill, that, in the long run, the British people would send for the "old warhorse."

Beaverbrook describes how Joseph Kennedy, then American ambassador in London, called on him and warned of an impending German attack on the Netherlands.

Immediately, Beaverbrook says, he went to see Churchill to urge him to take command but Churchill refused to stake his claim.

Then came the climax, according to Beaverbrook: Churchill met Chamberlain who asked him if he would be willing to serve under Halifax.

The "great silence" followed lasting, perhaps, as long as two minutes—a painful pause.

Beaverbrook adds that a government without Churchill would have been rejected by the people. Halifax was turned down. Churchill was accepted.

"The great silence was our salvation," Beaverbrook says.

Board To Review Application To Scrap Flights

OTTAWA (CP) — The application by TransAir Limited to scrap its Regina-Calgary passenger service is expected to be reviewed today by the air transport board.

The board announced Oct. 29 that it planned to let TransAir abandon the money-losing service at the end of the year unless public necessity required it to continue.

It set Nov. 30 as the deadline for receiving public representations on the abandonment of the service which links Regina, Swift Current, Medicine Hat and Calgary.

A board official said that no "particularly vehement representations" had been received in opposition to the move.

TransAir took over the service from Trans-Canada Airlines last April 1. The Regina-Calgary route was part of TCA's "milk run" from Winnipeg across the Pairies.

In its announcement Oct. 29, the board said TransAir had made all reasonable efforts to increase its traffic. Yet traffic on each flight over the Regina-Calgary route averaged between one and five passengers, with no indication of improvement in the foreseeable future.

"It appears that the financial losses to the licensee (TransAir) are so substantial as to threaten the continued service of the licensee and the other commercial air services it provides," the board said.

Odds... and Ends

by M. D. B.

I guess all the children were glad to see Santa looking so hale and hearty Saturday and his same jolly old self. When all the boys and girls had gone and he had a minute to himself, I was able to have a chat with him. I asked him if he'd had many letters and he patted one of his pockets which was literally bulging with them.

* * *

"Were they nice letters " I asked, secretly hoping he would let me peek at them. "Well," said Santa, "some of them were but some of the boys and girls put down an awful long list of things and I'm sure I won't be able to bring them everything they asked for."

* * *

"You know," said Santa, as he pulled out his stump of a pipe and settled himself for a little talk, "I think some of the grown-ups have given the children the wrong idea of Santa Claus," and his face, usually so merry, looked serious. "They say to the children, 'have you put in your ORDER to Santa Claus yet?' You've heard them, I'm sure, and I guess that's why some of my letters this year were not as pleasing as usual. Why, do you know some of my letters were full of the words "I want'. They said 'I want this' and 'I want this and this and this', till I thought the list would never end."

* * *

"It makes me sad when I get letters like that—it's so much nicer when the children say — 'please, Santa, could you bring me . . .' and list maybe two or three things but do you know, this year some wrote letters that looked like an order to a hardware store, instead of a letter to their old friend Santa Claus. Santa sat and puffed thoughtfully on his pipe. I felt a little sorry that he appeared disappointed in the children's letters for I know how he looks forward to them each year but I couldn't think of anything to say.

* * *

He brightened up, however, and said, "but I do get some really nice ones that make up for the others who don't say "please" and say 'I want' instead of 'please may I have,,' and he pulled out a bundle of letters and selected one which he gave me to read. It said, "Dear Santa, last Christmas you left me a buggy and it has been very nice. This Christmas I really would like a doll that walks and talks and has her own bag of clothes. But if you don't have such a big doll I would be happy with an ordinary dolly. Tannis won't say what she wants but you will know anyway, won't you. We will be watching for you on Christmas Eve. Happy New Year. K.J.D."

* * *

I smiled at Santa and handed the lovely letter back to him and he tucked it into the envelope and popped it back in his big pocket. "Well, Santa," I said, "I guess that letter makes up for the few from children who want a little too much. He agreed, stood up, stretched and said, "Well, I'd better be off, I have a deadline to meet, you know!"

GOV'T HAS POSITIVE PLAN FOR ANTI-SMOKE

VANCOUVER (CP) —The federal government is going to accentuate the positive in its anti-smoking campaign.

"We are not going in for a scare campaign," said health minister Lamarsh in an interview Sunday.

"We plan a positive program, with hockey and athletic heroes telling children why they do not smoke."

She said the recently - announced program will start next year. The $400,000, five-year plan would also include a research program into the possibilities of manufacturing a safe cigarette and a behavior study on why people smoke.

The campaign would be aimed mainly at persuading children and youths between 11 and 15 not to start smoking.

"Those are the years, I learned to my surprise, when they pick up the habit.

The minister was here to attend Saturday's Grey Cup game.

Senegal President Re-elected Amid Violence, Killing

DAKAR, Senegal (Reuters)—Senegal radio confirmed Monday the re-election of President Leopold Senghor in Sunday's bloody general election in which 11 persons died and some 60 others wounded.

The radio said Senghor's ruling Senegalese Progressive Union party won an absolute majority in the legislature. Senghor ran without opposition.

Armed clashes between police and demonstrators Sunday marred the elections—the first since Senegal became independent in August, 1960.

At least 11 persons were believed killed and 60 wounded before the government imposed a dusk to dawn curfew over the city.

Senegal radio said Senghor received 900,505 votes out of 1,320,000 eligible voters.

In the legislative elections, the Progressive Union party received 802,741 votes and the African Regroupment party — the only legal opposition — received 36,788 votes.

Interior Minister Abdoulaye Fofana announced Monday that an investigation has been started "to find the real authors" of the demonstrations.

He accused the African Regroupment party, the extreme left-wing banned African Independence party and "other dissident elements" of causing the trouble.

Form Company To Operate TV Antennas

LONDON (CP)—A new Canadian company, backed by an estimated $12,000,000 in British and United States capital, is being formed to operate 200 community antenna television systems in Canada, it was announced Monday.

Leslie A. Allen of Toronto, head of the Canadian television film company called Atlas Telefilm Limited, said the new firm will service the network of antenna systems with specially produced programs and with feature films from the Atlas library.

The company, to be a subsidiary of Atlas, will be called Canadian Home and Theatre Vision Limited.

Allen, who flew here last Wednesday to complete the British end of the deal, declined to name his British and American backers, saying they would make their own announcements. He said the Anglo-American investment would total up to $12,000,000.

Under the three-way partnership, Allen said Atlas Telefilm will in effect operate as managers of the antenna network.

It will also sell to the subsidiary company films from its library, such as Red Shoes, Hamlet, and Genevieve.

Atlas Telefilm will own 33 1-3 per cent of the new company. It will have full management control and will not contribute to the capital structure.

In Ottawa last Friday, Secrtary of State Pickersgill told the Commons that there must be some change in the Broadcasting Act to control broadcasters in the community antenna field. Pickersgill said legislation will probably be necessary.

UN Committee May Be Enlarged

UNITED NATIONS (CP)—UN diplomats predicted today the General Assembly soon would enlarge its 21-country steering committee by adding three more assembly vice-presidents from Asia and Africa.

But they saw trouble ahead for various ideas to enlarge the Security Council and the economic and social council to give more seats to the two continents with their newly independent countries.

The assembly's 111-nation special political committee scheduled an afternoon meeting to discuss recent private talks on how to expand the steering committee and the two councils.

The steering committee recommends the agenda for the assembly.
