AIR RAID PRECAUTION . . .The first of five air raid sirens to perch atop poles in Nelson, was set up Friday on Douglas Road near Chatham Street. The siren is composed of a relay box strapped tightly to a cage near the top of a 45-foot pole and the siren on top of the pole. The siren can be seen in the left background. The relay cage has been strapped to the pole before raising. (See Story Page 2). —Daily News Photo.

Premiers Bargain on Municipal Loans, Compulsory Pension Plan

Lesage, Robarts Take Firm Stands

By JAMES NELSON

OTTAWA (CP) — Provincial premiers and representatives put their strongest bargaining positions before the federal government Friday on its controversial municipal loans and contributory retirement pensions plans.

After the day's two lengthy sessions in a closed West Block conference room a federal government source said that changes are likely in the legislation to establish a $400,000,000 municipal development and loan fund and the government still hopes to have it passed by Parliament next week.

The strongest positions were taken by Quebec Liberal Premier Lesage and Ontario Conservative Premier Robarts.

Mr. Lesage said his firm intention is to "contract out" of both the loan fund and the pensions plan. He would like Quebec's share of the federal money turned over to the provincial treasury, together with the responsibility of administering it.

Premier Robarts said that while Ontario agreed in principle with the spirit of the federal proposals, there were many points on which they did not fit Ontario's need.

On the municipal loan fund, Premier Lesage asked for 30 per cent of the $400,000,000 — roughly equivalent to Quebec's share of Canada's population.

Premier Robarts said that since the federal government intended to forgive repayment of 25 per cent of the loans made from the fund, $100,000,000 should be turned over to the provinces as direct federal grants, which the provinces could allocate to the municipalities.

STATE POSITIONS

After the day's meetings, a federal briefing officer told reporters that the eight premiers and representatives of Alberta and British Columbia stated their positions, and then there was a general discussion of the municipal loans in which most of the six federal ministers attending also participated.

"The provinces were stating their bargaining positions—stating, naturally, all that they would like to obtain," he said.

Premier Lesage's proposal to stand aloof from the federal-provincial arrangement was "listened to," but contracting out was not discussed as a principle. The federal government has not taken a stand on whether contracting out is practical in connection with the loan fund.

The principle of contracting out was suggested by the federal Liberal party in last years election platform. Prime Minister Pearson told reporters that a province which does not *want to join fully in a federal-*provincial program will not be financially penalized.

The briefing officer said it is not impossible that a municipal loan fund be established for nine provinces alone, but the federal government does not think that is desirable.

"There is an infinite graduation between a completely federal plan and various forms of provincial participation," he said.

RESUMES TODAY

The conference resumes today at 10 a.m. EDT with more discussion of the municipal loans and it is "probable" that the federal government and the provinces will arrive at agreed positions, the briefing officer said.

It is not intended that the conference try to reach agreement on the Canada pensions plan since legislation on it is not regarded as so pressing before Parliament recesses next week for the summer, he added.

Health Minister Judy LaMarsh told reporters after the meeting she has not had a chance to explain the pensions plan fully, and felt that some criticisms of it were based on confused and distorted figures.

The conference started with an opening statement by Prime Minister Pearson announcing the federal government is willing to divide the $400,000,000 fund among the provinces according to population.

Premier Robarts of Ontario, the first to speak, said the federal bill is discriminatory in that it will help smaller communities when the need for help in promoting more public work is the big cities which have the highest unemployment figures.

Mr. Robartd also said the privinces must retain control over the indebtedness of their municipalities.

Premier Lesage simply restated the views he expressed public earlier, fearing an invasion of provincial autonomy, and said he would contract out of both federal plans.

MOST KEEP MUM

The other premiers and their representatives followed in the order of seniority in Confederation. Most of them kept their detailed comments within the closed conference room.

Premier Lloyd of Saskatchewan issued the text of his remarks, however, and they were a stinging attack on the government for moving into the municipal loan field without prior consultation with the provinces.

The plan meant the government is throwing the onus for curing unemployment on the municipalities; and requires property owners to face higher taxes to pay off the loans, he said.

British Columbia's position was outlined in a statement issued by Premier W. A. C. Bennett's office in Victoria. The premier is represented in Ottawa by Provincial Secretary Wesley Black.

The statement said B.C. supports the federal municipal loans and portable pension plans in principle, but asked for several modifications. The municipal loans should be at lower interest rates and should apply to existing capital projects. The statement called for an immediate $10 increase in old age pensions, instead of early next year as scheduled by the federal government. It added that the Canada pension plan should not be compulsory for provincial and municipal employees and teachers already covered by existing pension plans.

2,000 Believed Killed In Yugoslavia Quake

City Smashed in Worst Natural Disaster in Yugoslav History

CP from AP-Reuters

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia — Possibly 2000 persons were killed Friday when a violent earthquake sent buildings toppling in the city of Skopje. A massive mercy operation is under way in the shattered Macedonian city where many thousands were reported injured.

The lightning upheaval left a nightmare of rubble and death when it smashed the city. It was the worst natural disaster in Yugoslav history.

Borba, the biggest newspaper in this Communist nation, reported Friday night that 2,000 of Skopje's 270,000 residents died in a matter of minutes under the rubble where Moslem mosques and minarets and modern skyscrapers once stood.

But officials in Belgrade and refugees pouring out of Skopje expressed fear the final toll toll will be many times that.

At United Nations headquarters in New York, Security Council President Ahmed Taibi Benhima of Morocco interrupted a council debate to announce that 10,000 persons had been killed and 100,000 left homeless in the disaster. However, he said later he based his announcement on unofficial dispatches reaching the UN headquarters.

The violent upheaval struck the heart of Skopje at dawn. Nine more tremors shook the southern Yugoslav area but were less severe.

Fires broke out. Great clouds of dust rose over the city of 270,000 people as buildings came crashing down. Thousands of persons fled to streets and squares in panic, clad only in night clothes.

Reuters news agency said semi-official reports estimated the number of dead and injured at between 6000 and 8000. More than 100,000 persons were reported homeless.

Radio Belgrade said there were "thousands of injured" but it was impossible to say yet how many died although the number "must be very great."

It was feared a number of foreigners, including Canadians, were in the ancient city when it was blasted by the nine-degree quake—one degree below the top grading on the Mercalli scale for earth tremors.

A report from Canada said 29 Toronto tourists of Macedonian ancestry were believed to be in the stricken city.

The Toronto visitors flew to Yugoslavia June 17 and were to spend two weeks in Skopje before returning home.

Mrs. Hope Christoff of Don Mills, Ont., organizer of the trip, said in Canada that many of the party were booked into the new Macedonia Hotel which the Yugoslav news agency Tanjug said was levelled with a loss of many lives.

MANY RELATIVES

Many of Toronto's 35,000-40,000 residents of Macedonian origin have relatives in the Skopje area.

President Tito decreed Friday and Saturday days of national mourning and messaged his sympathy over the "catastrophic earthquake."

Rescue squads rushed to Skopje, 210 miles southeast of Belgrade. From all over Yugoslavia trucks and buses were pressed into service to evacuate victims.

At nightfall, rescuers still were digging through the rubble from which screams and calls for help could be heard.

Tens of thousands of persons stood in the ruined streets, some weeping, others just staring blankly at the wreckage of their homes. Many still were in their night clothes.

As a safety precaution, all citizens were ordered to stay out of their homes for the next 24 hours.

It was recalled that Skopje was destroyed by an earthquake in 518 AD and a nearby town, Zashka, disappeared completely in 316 AD.

Hellyer Confirms Petersen Dismissal

VICTORIA (CP) — Defence Minister Hellyer has endorsed the dismissal of former Navy petty officer Eric Petersen of Victoria, who says he was fired because his father-in-law was a member of the Communist party 30 years ago.

Victoria lawyer Lloyd McKenzie said Friday he has received a letter from Mr. Hellyer who said he had satisfied himself "that the action in not re-engaging Mr. Petersen was in accordance with long-established policy."

Mr. Petersen, who served in the Navy as an electrician for 10 years, was a petty officer aboard HMCA Cape Breton in June, 1961, when his re-engagement came up.

The reason given at the time for not re-engaging him was that there was to be a "re-adjustment in the ranks," said Mr. Petersen.

But he was told the real reason was that his father-in-law had once been a member of the Communist party.

"In respect to the right of employment, employers must exercise discretion as to the suitability of applicants for the particular type of employment being offered," Mr. Hellyer said in the letter.

Mr. McKenzie replied that the defence minister's letter "appears to offer no real justification."

"His senior officers told him (Petersen) that the reason for letting him go was his father-in-law's connection with the Communist party of Canada in the 1930s. Your letter does not even confirm this but simply surrounds an already inexplicable decision with further mystery.

" . . . There should be just cause for such decision and in the present case that just cause is unknown."

Khrushchev Presses Non-Aggression Pact

MOSCOW (AP) — Premier Khrushchev, a partial nuclear test-ban treaty initialled, called on the West Friday to press ahead with negotiations for a non-aggression pact between NATO and the Communist bloc.

He called the test treaty a step toward ending cold war tensions, adding that Britain and the United States had agreed in the talks to negotiations on the non-aggression question.

Khrushchev's views were released to the newspapers Pravda and Izvestia as he conferred in the Kremlin with State Undersecretary W. Averell Harriman on the thorny problem of Laos. The United States wants Khrushchev to use his influence to get the fighting stopped in that Communist-threatened Southeast Asian kingdom.

Their talk went on so long that it ended only when the two moved over to a banquet Khrushchev gave in honor of Harriman and the British nuclear negotiator, Lord Hailsham, science minister.

No details of the talk on Laos were disclosed.

While Harriman was at the Kremlin, Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko gave the Soviet Union's chief European allies a fill-in on the talks. Leaders from all the eastern European Warsaw Pact powers have been here for an economic meeting.

Tass news agency reported they all approved of what was accomplished.

PEKING DISAGREES

Communist China, however, did not. A Radio Peking broadcast assailed the treaty and hinted that China would have its own nuclear weapons in the not too distant future.

Khrushchev himself called the treaty an event of "great international importance," a view voiced earlier by Harriman.

Khrushchev, in his interview with the two main Soviet newspapers, hailed the treaty banning all but underground nuclear tests as a breakthrough in East-West relations.

"As a result of the agreement on the prohibition of nuclear weapon tests," he declared, "favorable opportunities have arisen enabling progress to be made in the solution of fundamental international problems."

"It is necessary to embark on this work at once."

Asked what should come first, he answered that a non-aggression pact was the most urgent.

Both Britain and the United States have refused to be drawn into any pact which could be interpreted as giving NATO recognition to East Germany. President Kennedy has indicated, however, that he might consider exchanging bilateral declarations with the Soviet Union not to go to war to change the status quo in Europe.

Harriman, Hailsham and Gromyko talked about this problem during the test ban negotiations and Khrushchev interpreted the result as a go-ahead from the two Western powers.

"It was agreed to continue the discussion of this question—following consultations by each side with its allies—with a view to achieving an agreement satisfactory to all parties," Khrushchev said.

Khrushchev also listed discussion of a German peace treaty and the "normalization of the situation in West Berlin" as a top priority item for negotiation.

Nothing to Gain, River to Lose, Says Douglas

VANCOUVER (CP) — New Democratic party leader T. C. Douglas said Friday the British Columbia and federal governments are victims of an efficient and powerful American Columbia River lobby.

He said at a press conference both governments are guilty of "culpable shortsightedness."

"I don't see what we gain — except we lose control of a river," he said in a reference to the Columbia River Treaty that has been ratified by the United States but not by Canada pending clarification of some points.

He said Americans are power and water hungry.

The day would come when a well of water would be more important than a well of oil. Under the treaty Canada would end up getting none of the Columbia power and the price it receives for the power in the U.S. would just pay off indebtedness

Logger Jailed

VANCOUVER (CP) — Logger John Thomas Wilson, 32, of Vancouver, was sentenced to two years in prison after he admitted taking a purse containing $75 from a bus depot counter. A woman had left the purse when she went to purchase a ticket.

Election in Fall?

VANCOUVER (CP) — The Sun says that speculation is mounting in British Columbia political circles that Premier Bennett will call a provincial election in the fall.

The newspaper says:

"A poll of top party officials has indicated a growing feeling the premier will seek a mandate for his controversial power policies after the B.C. Supreme Court announces its findings in the B.C. Electric takeover case. The decision is expected next week."

Test-Ban Pact Sign of Hope —Kennedy

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy said Friday night that the nuclear test ban accord initialled in Moscow is a victory for mankind and a step away from a war that could wipe out 300,00,000 lives in less than an hour.

But the president also was cautious and grave.

He warned that the treaty to halt nuclear tests in space, the atmosphere and under water is no milennium and will not resolve all conflicts, cause the Communists to give up their ambitions or eliminate the dangers of war.

Yet he said, it offers to all the world a welcome sign of hope.

And, in a radio-television address that began the build-up to obtain Senate ratification of the pact, the president solemnly assured the country that "our security is not . . . impaired by the treaty I am discussing."

DOLLAR UNCHANGED

NEW YORK (CP)—Canadian dollar unchanged at 92 37-64 in terms of U.S. funds. Week ago 3-32. Pound sterling unchanged at $2.80 3-64.

MONTREAL (CP) — The United States dollar in terms of Canadian funds was down 1-32 at $1.08.

Pound sterling was down ⅛ at $3.02½.

Provincial Sales Tax Yields $9 Million Over Estimate

VICTORIA (CP) — B.C. shoppers gave Premier Bennett a $9,500,000 bonus last year.

Figures released by the provincial government Friday showed provincial sales tax revenues for the year ending last March as $96,947,000 against an estimated return of $87,500,000.

Liquor sales brought in $2,500,000 which the finance minister didn't expect in liquor and gasoline users scratched together an additional $2,200,000 over their estimated contribution.

Petroleum and natural gas rights created a $6,700,000 windfall and income tax payments produced $2,800,000 which wasn't in the budget.

Net result of these miscalculations was $25,900,000 in unexpected revenue.

Welcome as it undoubtedly was, it really wasn't needed because the government's list of underexpenditures from original estimates was almost as impressive — savings totalled $21,000,000.

Some notable departmental underexpenditures were:

—Highways $8,700,000 (actual spending $68,800,000).

—Hospitals $4,000,000 (actual expenditure $31,900,000).

—Public Works $2,300,000 (actual spending $10,500,000).

—Education $2,200,000 a(actual spending $82,900,000).

—Forests $1,500,000 (largely resulting from a good fire season).

Major revenue sources listed in the government's annual financial and economic review published Friday were:

Sales tax $96,900,000; income and succession taxes $67,600,000; gasoline and motive fuel taxes $43,100,000; liquor profits $31,200,000; timber sales $28,200,000; petroleum sales $28,200,000; petroleum and natural gas leases $22,400,000.

Net result was that before the late-year decision to pay off $15,500,000 of toll bridge debt the province was heading for an annual surplus of $27,400,000.

Reduced to an $11,900,000 surplus as a result of the bridge payment, the year's under-estimating and underexpenditures increased the revenue surplus acount to $40,600,000.

On April 1, the first day of the new fiscal year, a further $15,400,000 was drawn off to retire more bridge debt with the result that the surplus account was left with $25,100,000.

The economic review showed contingent liabilities of $1,346,000,000 — an increase of only $4,300,000 over the previous year.

Woman Kills Self After Stolen Baby Returned

CHICAGO (AP) — Mrs. Mary Anne Dunlap, a 39-year-old childless widow accused of kidnapping a baby girl last week in Metropolis, Ill., has taken her own life.

Mrs. Dunlap, a nurse, died in hospital Thursday of a chest wound that authorities said was self-inflicted with a .25-calibre pistol. She had been found several hours earlier on the floor of a room in a motel by a passerby who noticed the door ajar.

Mrs. Dunlap was accused of taking the infant, Lori Burnham, from the baby's home July 17 after telling the child's mother that she had been chosen winner of a baby-of-the month contest.

The child was taken on a pretext that her picture was to be taken. When the baby was not returned her mother, Mrs. Rose Burnham, 18, notified authorities.

MRS. DUNLAP

The FBI located Mrs. Dunlap and the 18-day-old child in Mrs. Dunlap's apartment here July 18. She told authorities: "I just wanted something to love."

Parliament Friday

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Labor Minister MacEachen said unemployment may be higher this fall and possibly this winter than last year.

The House considered an additional $7,000,000 expenditure to speed government projects in wintertime high employment areas.

Works Minister Deschatelets said a major renovation is being planned for the main Parliament buildings.

State Secretary Pickersgill promised swift appointment of six new Atlantic Development Board members.

The Commons approved most of the transport departmental estimates.

Curlers vs Commission Issue To Be Settled This Week

The long and heated argument between the Civic Centre Commission and the Nelson Curling Club will be solved one way or another within the week.

Mediator between the two groups, Mayor T. S. Shorthouse told City Council the negotiations would terminate within the next few days, during a special meeting Friday afternoon.

Mayor Shorthouse has met with both parties during the week and he hopes to outline counter claims made by the curling club to the commission tonight.

He reported the recent negotiation talks have accomplished more towards better understanding than in the past during council meetings.

Mayor Shorthouse said it was most important to reach an agreement so that winter curling and bonspiel schedules could be drawn up.

The Curling Club decided to build their own rink when the two groups failed to agree to a long-range lease with satisfactory stipulations in the contract.

Council also approved three recommendations made by the executive finance committee Thursday.

R. W. Headen was appointed acting assessor, in the absence of G. A. Butling, who is ill. The $485 - monthly appointment becomes effective immediately.

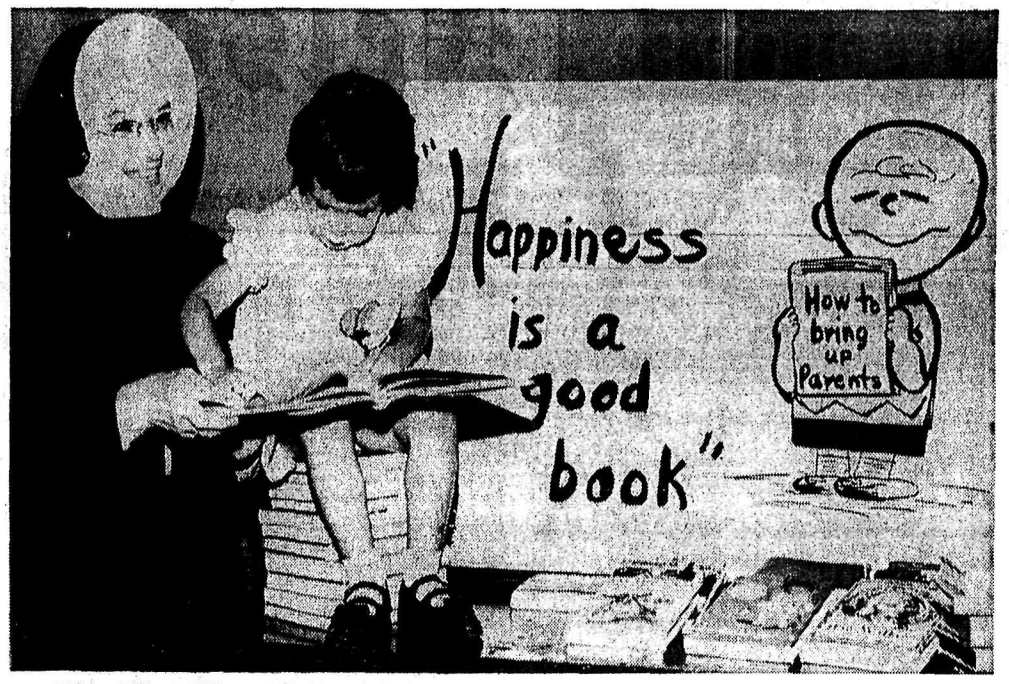
Council also approved a correspondence course in business administration of Real Estate and Appraisal for Mr. Headen. An advance of $135 was granted for the first year diploma course from University of British Columbia, starting in September, as the certification is now necessary under the Municipal Act.

The United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America Locals, 1719, 2318 and 2458 who had applied to be certified for a group of employees of Nelson, were refused.

The request, referred to City Solicitors, with instructions to oppose the application as they felt this group of employees was already covered by existing certification of the Nelson Civic Employees Local Union No. 339.

Council learned newly appointed pound keeper is Emile Heroux 806 Vernon Street. His duties start as soon as possible at $300 monthly and $25 additional a month for car allowance.

A $1207.50 police car purchased from Beacon Motors Ltd. in May will be paid from the July budget, city administrator C. W. R. Harper said.



OVERSEEING THE ARRANGEMENT of books to be displayed at a Children's Literature Seminar at Notre Dame University of Nelson is tiny Allison Malacko, three-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jim (Shorty) Malacko of 819-10th Street. Explaining the pictures to Allison is Sister Mary Anthony, SSA, of Dawson City, Yukon, a student at Notre Dame's Summer Session. R. Bain Oliver will be guest speaker, and Mrs. M. MacMillan, professor of English at the University will chair the event Monday evening in the main building of the University at 8 p.m.

Train Was a Slow Starter

What happens when a 135-car train, weighing approximately six thousand tons rolls to a standstill between Lakeside Park and the Canadian Pacific Railway terminal?

Firstly, it cuts off all access roads to the lake shore from the park to city centre, secondly it aggravates waiting drivers and thirdly it just doesn't go anywhere.

Such was the case early Friday evening when the CPR experienced the breakdown blues.

The three-unit train pulled out of the terminal, on its long pull to Yahk. A short distance from the station one of the units developed trouble in the ground relay. It was fixed. A short distance later, it happened again and once again the breakdown was eradicated. This was repeated six times during which period the train had logged two miles, as far as the park.

Finally the train was thrown into reverse and backed up to the terminal, exchanging the faulty unit and at the same time adding another as a precaution.

Again the train started slowly down the track. This time it went only as far as the Highways garage on Front Street, before a weak connecting knuckle cracked. After another delay the train was ready to move once again and chugged away from Nelson with crew hoping for no more breakdowns.

Former Nelsonite To London Post

A former native of Nelson, Robert S. Thain, 39. of Ottawa, has been appointed deputy defence research member with the Canadian Joint Staff in London, the defence research board said Friday.

Mr. Thain is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Thain, 707 Radio Avenue.

He received his public schooling here before serving with the Royal Canadian Air Force in World War II.

Following his discharge at the end of the war he attended University of British Columbia, graduating in 1949 with a Bachelor of Arts degree in physics.

After graduation he left for Ottawa serving with the Defence Department. In 1950 he married the former Miss Barbara Rowson of Mission City.

The Thains sailed Friday for England from Montreal with their children, Sandra, 12, Derek, 10 and Andrea, eight.

Mr. Thain also has a sister, son. He is the second youngest Mrs. Neil Derby residing in Nelof six children. His father, is a charter member of Branch 51, and served for many years on the executive committee. He is a member of the Great War Veterans' Association and has a long record of service behind him in the Royal Canadian Legion since its formation in 1925. He worked as secretary-manager and has long been interested in Legion welfare work.

Mr. Thain, a staff officer with the Ottawa research board, replaces A. F. Burke Stannard of Ottawa and Rabbit Lake, Sask., who will be loaned to the Emergency Measures Organization as scientific adviser to the director. He will return to Ottawa after his three year stint overseas.

Air Raid Sirens Being Installed

The first of five sentinels which at any given moment can erupt with the wail of a thousand cats, was strapped to its lofty perch Friday.

The sentinels are air raid sirens which will be placed strategically throughout the city.

First of the sirens was put in place Friday by the Canadian Comstock Company from Vancouver. It is located on Douglas Road near Chatham Street. Other warning equipment will be posted at Eighth and Kokanee Streets, South Pine and Trevor Streets, Falls and Delbruck Streets and behind the RCMP building, between Victoria and Silica Streets.

The warning equipment consists of a three-foot-high siren which is bolted atop a pole 45 feet above ground and a relay box which activates the siren.

A special technique is used for putting the awkward equipment in the proper position. The relay box is bolted to a cage which in turn is bolted to the pole. The pole is then placed eight feet in the ground. Last to be put in place is the 250-pound siren which is pulled to the pole top with a crane and then bolted to a circular steel plate.

The relay box is connected to a telephone relay, making the siren remote-controlled.

The Canadian Army is responsible for installation and placement of the sirens, which is done outside the realms of the local Civil Defence unit.

Spraying in Trail Area To Be Investigated

TRAIL (CP) — Donald Brothers, member of the legislature for Trail-Rossland has asked the provincial government to investigate an aerial spraying over four communities north of here this week.

Mr. Brothers, a Social Credit said the legality of the spraying in the Riverdale, Blueberry, Genelle and Birchbank areas was "highly questionable."

The Cominco Social Club hired a Cranbrook firm to conduct the spraying as a deterrent against mosquitoes and black flies.

Brothers said protests that gardens have been contaminated by an oily substance prompted him to seek an investigation.

He said indiscriminate chemical spraying contains dangerous implications to wild life and human health.

Travelcade Leaves Today

A silver stream of Avion trailers leaves Nelson today to continue westward on its six-week tour.

With warm memories of Nelsonites' hospitality, the Avion Travelcade Club will hit Grand Forks tonight.

During their four-day stay here the 53-trailer calvacade have been entertained by local groups, of which Fire Chief E. S. Owens has been chief organizer.

Their last day in Nelson was spent touring the Celgar plant at Castlegar and Krestova.

Following their stay in the Boundary country, they will travel through the Okanagan Valley to Kamloops, back down to Hope and after several days at Steveston, near Vancouver will disband, August 16.

Hotel Being Refurbished

A former New Westminster resident with 15 years' hotel experience has taken over the Civic Hotel on Vernon Street.

Val Wonnick and his wife Betty acquired the hotel in early June. The hotel was formerly owned by R. M. McKee, who was killed in a plane crash near Trail last August.

Mr. Wonnick for the past four years has been manager of the Turf Hotel in New Westminster.

Since taking over the hotel the Wonnicks have started an extensive renovation and modernizing program. So far 16 rooms have been completely remodelled and refurnished.

Mr. and Mrs. Wonnick have two children, Susan, 5 and Tom, 21, a member of the RCMP at Winnipeg.

Lightning Found Death Cause

NAKUSP (Staff) — A coroner's inquiry here, conducted by Dr. F. B. Maxfield, said Charles Frederick Burrows, 47, rancher of Cherryville died instantly when struck by a bolt of lightning.

Burrows died while loading hay on his truck at Edgewood, Monday morning, with his son, Russell, 16.

Funeral services were held in Cherryville.

Square Dancers To Come From Distant Points

More than seventy people from distant points in Canada and the United States are expected to attend the second annual Canadian Capers Square Dance Institute in Nelson next week.

The institute, to be held July 29 to August 2, is the only one of its kind to be held in British Columbia and is designed for callers and advanced square dancers. It offers almost everything which larger American square dance institute have to offer.

Two top American instructors Dave Taylor of Grosse Point Farms. Michigan and Bob Page, of Hayward, Calif., will do the tutoring. Another Hayward family Scotty and Doris Garrett will conduct round dance sessions. The husband and wife team are recognized as experts in this field.

The daily program will consist of both square and round dancing, with emphasis on square dancing. Clinics and workshops featuring timing, phrasing, music, sound and other aspects necessary to make a successful square dance caller. will be conducted for callers.

The 70 dancers, as well as 10 children accompanying their parents, come from distant points including Utah, Colorado, California, Washington, the Prairies and British Columbia. Mr. and Mrs. V. Graves are the lone Nelson participants.

Mayor T. S. Shorthouse will officially open the institute at an informal banquet at the Nelson Hotel.

Martin to Stop Hour At Castlegar

CRANBROOK (CP) — External Affairs Minister Paul Martin will make a personal inspection of the Columbia River basin next weekend, it was announced Friday.

The government announcement said Mr. Martin and James Byrne, member of parliament for Kootenay East, will be among a party of 12 federal officials who will fly here from Ottawa.

The party will spend Saturday and Sunday making inspection flights of the various dam sites proposed under the Columbia River Treaty between Canada and the United States.

The treaty has been ratified by the U.S. Congress but Canadian ratification has been delayed pending agreement of certain changes being sought by the federal and British Colmbia governments.

The party is expected to land at Castlegar and spend an hour there meeting civic officials.

The announcement said Mr. Martin is making the trip to familiarize himself with the actual terrain prior to entering talks on the treaty revision.

G. S. Blaney, War I Vet Dies

A World War I veteran died in Nelson Friday, aged 74.

George Steele Blaney was born in Kirkfieldbank, Lanark, Scotland, served in the Black Watch and Royal Engineers from 1914 to 1919 and following World War I was a member of the Edinburgh Constabulary until coming to British Columbia in 1921.

He then joined the B.C. police serving in Nanaimo, Prince Rupert, Anyox and Nelson. He served in Nelson from 1935 until the Royal Canadian Mounted Police took over in 1951, when he joined the city jail service retiring in 1955.

He was a member of the Masonic Order.

He is survived by his wife, Velma, whom he married in 1942, and several nieces and nephews in Scotland. He was predeceased by two sisters and two brothers.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate space committee voted 6 to 5 Thursday to kill an administration move to locate a $50,000,000 space research centre in the Boston area. The project had been considered by many as a prize political plum for Senator Edward M. Kennedy (Dem. Mass.), President Kennedy's youngest brother.

Cars Checked At Road Block

Nelson drivers on Baker Street passed through a rigid mechanical scrutiny as city police conducted a full-scale vehicle check Friday night.

Assisted by the Civil Defence Auxiliary Police, all mechanical fixtures were checked during the hour and three-quarter period, in the 700 block Baker Street.

Heading the list were defective headlights, with horns and mufflers following.

Over 100 cars where checked and most received a sticker which read, "this vehicle has passed safety lane by Nelson city police."

The others received a reject slip telling of the defect. They will be given time to have the repairs made and if they fail to do so a summons to court will be issued.

Although most of the cars were new, Sgt. Joseph Vecchio was not too disappointed.

"We know which cars went through by the stickers and we can watch for the older cars."

Four city police and eight auxiliary police conducted the car check. The auxiliary was led by Emile Heroux with Mrs. Heroux, a policewoman, in the same capacity assisting on the screen, by checking headlights.

Groups To Discuss Industrial Expansion

CRANBROOK — A joint committee will investigate the possibilities of industrial expansion in the Cranbrook area.

Suggestion for formation of such a group came following a remark by Alderman Sam McLeary at this week's council meeting that "we have lots to offer industry" that would help alleviate the tax burden. "We have lots of power and water."

Mayor George Haddad suggested incorporation with the senior chamber of commerce industrial committee and junior chamber of commerce representatives.

A joint meeting will be held August 26.

N. Denver Officer Cadet Touring Army Stations

Having concluded their visit to the Royal Canadian School of Artillery at Camp Shilo, Man., 190 officer cadets are continuing on to the Canadian Joint Air Training Centre at Rivers.

Among the cadets is Bob Lepsoe of New Denver, son of G. Lepsoe, teacher at that Slocan Valley centre.

At Rivers, the cadets are being given demonstrations of air support and parachute training.

The visits are part of a cross Canada tour of Canadian Army Training schools for the officer cadets, who are going through university under the army's Regular Officer Training Plan. The tour is an annual event in their introductory training phase.

Universities in all the Canadian provinces including the Services Colleges at Royal Roads, B.C., St. Jean, Quebec and Kingston, Ont., are represented. Conducting officer for the cross Canada swing is Major R. V. B. Caldwell, an officer of the Royal Canadian Dragoons serving with the directorate of military training at Ottawa.

During the week-long visit to the school of artillery, the future armed services officers were given an insight into the types of training, and equipment they might expect, if they select to serve as Gunner officers on graduation from their university courses.

The Shilo tour included a firing demonstration and visits to the guided missile, radar and meteorological sections of the school. They will also have the opportunity of riding to the top of the 260-foot high Shilo parachute tower.

The cross Canada tour will conclude with a visit to the Royal Canadian School of Military Engineering at Camp Chilliwack, B.C.

NEW DENVER OFFICER CADET AT SHILO — As part of their introductory training phase under the Army's regular Officer Traning Plan, 191 officer cadets are now touring Canadian Army installations across Canada. At the Royal Canadian School of Artillery, Camp Shilo, Man., Master Gunner (WO1) Bob Sutherland explains the use of a radio controlled aerial target to cadets from the College Militaire Royals at St. Jean, Quebec. In the group are (l-r) Officer Cadets Norman Nault of Trois Rivieres, PQ., Mike Moldaver of Ottawa, Richard Champagne of Montreal, Bob Lepsoe of New Denver and Brian Stipe of Duncan. — National Defence Photo

Edmonton Minister To Take Over Creston Church Duties

CRESTON—The new minister for the Creston Trinity United Church will be Rev. F. F. Cline, presently of Edmonton.

Mr. Cline is a native of Saskatchewan and graduated from the University of Saskatchewan in 1948 with his BSA degree.

After working three years with the dominion government, Mr. Cline entered St. Andrew's College in 1951 and was ordained in 1964.

Mr. Cline was married to Frances Taylor of Edmonton in India in 1954. Returning to Canada in 1960, Mr. Cline attended the Biblical Seminary at New York, emerging with the degree of Master of Religious Education in 1961.

The Clines have a family of three children ranging in age from three months to six and a half years.

The famly is due to arrive in Creston July 30. Rev. R. Smith of Kimberley and Rev. A. J. McIntosh of Cranbrook will conduct the induction service in Trinity United Church, Creston, at 7:30 p.m.. July 31. Following the induction service, a social hour will be held, enabling the new family to become acquainted with some of the district residents.

Mr. Cline's first service is scheduled for August 4.

60 TONS HAY BURN AFTER LIGHTNING

CRESTON — Sixty tons of hay were consumed by fire, allegedly by a lightning strike at the Lister farm of J. Pogany, jr. during a recent thunder storm.

Mr. Pogany was on Kootenay Flats when the hay shed caught fire and although Mrs. Pogany was at home, no help was available to help put out the fire.

Mr. Pogany reported the hay shed was not insured and police are investigating the incident.

Meantime, local farmers on Kootenay Flats are opening up bales of hay and spreading it out for drying purposes. It is understood this hay will be re-baled as soon as it is dry.

Chamber Plans Poll For Incorporation

NAKUSP — A survey of Nakusp residents will be carried out Monday night to poll the opinion of taxpayers on proposed incorporation.

If residents are in favor, a series of public meetings will be held and a plebiscite called for.

The subject of incorporation was brought up at the recent Chamber of Commerce meeting, held in the Centennial building, chaired by president Hugh Wilson. The chamber will ask for volunteers for canvassing.

The chamber will proceed as originally planned for organization of Nakusp and neighboring boards of trade into a single organization.

Graham Elder was named as tourist booth attendant. The new site is in the building adjacent to a shoe repair shop on Broadway.

It was felt that the booth attendant might be prepared to supply news items to both tourists and the press.

E. B. Gates reported on the new brochure just off the press which includes the schedule of the three local car ferries.

BELGIAN KIMBERLEY RESIDENT DIES

KIMBERLEY — Celestine D'-Hondt, 355 Diamond Street, Kimberley, widow of Cryiel D'Hondt, died Monday at Kimberley District Hospital. She was born 80 years ago at Cortmaris, Belgium, and came to this province with her husband 52 years ago. They lived in Cranbrook to 1928 when they moved to Kimberley and he died there in 1944.

Surviving are one son, Andrew, at Trail; one daughter, Mrs. Mary Foulkes, Kimberley, seven grandchildren and four great-grandchildren. Rosary was sung Wednesday evening at McPherson Funeral Chapel in Kimberley and requiem was at Sacred Heart Church Thursday morning.

Mining seismic devices will be used by an expedition seeking the tomb of King Antiochus I, of 100 BC, in Turkey.

Anticipate Minister's Visit Soon

Cranbrook To Ask Martin For New Airport Building

CRANBROOK — City council has been told that Hon. Paul Martin, minister of external affairs will be visiting this district soon, and a delegation plans to approach him on the matter of a possible new administration building for the Cranbrook Municipal Airport.

East Kootenay official visit of public libraries in August by Miss Rose Vainstein, currently serving the B.C. Library Commission on a survey of the service and neds of public libraries in the province, was reported to council by Miss Patricia Smith and city council has approved a meeting with her the morning of August 26. Cranbrook is depot headquarters for the East Kootenay Branch of the Public Library Commission, and also has an active public library in a separate centre, with both these facilities handicapped by lack of adequate space for the service they offer.

City council gave its approval to a proposed series of articles for a local newspaper by its town-planner, Dieter Naumann of a coast engineering firm, outlining his proposals for orderly city development, providing articles were first passed by the city planning committee and that there would be no cost to the city for this literary project.

Tender of Cobbes' Plumbing and Heating of $2,685.30 for conversion from oil to gas of the power master boiler at the city fire hall, heating sources for the three municipal buildings on Tenth and Eleventh Avenues, was accepted from the three bids submitted.

Approval was given application of Leo Nimsick Jr. for an extra-municipal water connection to the Highlands Estates south of Pinecrest, with recommendation he install a pressure pump, and to Nestor Johnson for a similar water connection on Little Van Horne, both to be done at the applicant's expense.

RETIRED FARMER BURIED IN RC CEMETERY

CRANBROOK — Burial in the Roman Catholic Cemetery followed funeral rites for Alexis Degand, retired farmer of Cranbrook, who died suddenly at Vancouver where he had gone for treatment. He was born in France 78 years ago and came to Canada to homestead at Dollard, Sask., in 1908.

He retired 15 years ago and moved to Cranbrook, where he had lived since then. His wife predeceased him and he has no surviving relatives here.

Rosary service and requiem preceded interment. Rt. Rev. A. L. McIntyre was celebrant.

Political Tones in Education Result Regional College Creation

VERNON (CP) — The president of the B.C. School Trustees Association said Thursday the creation of regional colleges has put a political edge of education.

R. E. Lester of Haney, here for a special meeting of the association's Okanagan branch, said in an interview this is good thing.

Controversy about the community or regional colleges, approved at the last session of the legislature, had stimulated public interest in education to a point where education would become part of the next provincial election.

"I'm inclined to think this is good because education is so completely interwoven with all areas of community activity."

CREATED INTEREST

The colleges had created tremendous public interest because of the prestige and status to be derived in communities where they would be constructed.

This interest would filter down and bring about an awareness of public school education.

At the same time it would result in a more astute, active and educationally-informed approach to the problems of education by school trustees.

Interest of trustees was changing from bricks and mortar to curriculum.

Mr. Lester warned that community colleges should not be limited to something which is "university - oriented, academically oriented and designed to feed people in degree-granting institutions."

NO ENOUGH

"There just aren't enough people who want university training."

The report on higher education by Dr. John Macdonald, president of the University of B.C., which led to the creation of community colleges, was designed to alleviate the strains and pressures on the university.

It was not designed to suggest the types of institutions needed in post secondary education. The report should not be regarded as a formula for post - secondary education in theprovince.

INTERMENT AT WESTLAWN FOR SWISS PIANIST

CRANBROOK — Funeral rites were held at Christ Church for Mrs. Walter Ellis, who was taken suddenly ill at her Skookumchuck ranch home and died while being brought to the hospital here. She was 62 years old.

She was born Simone Therese Chenuz at Montricher, Switzerland, and came to Canada and Skookumchuck with members of her family in 1918. She was married there in 1925 and had made her home there ever since. She was an accomplished pianist.

Surviving her are her husband at home, two sons, Arnold at Canal Flat and Camille at Skookumchuck; one daughter, Mrs. Paul Shypitka at Radium Hot Springs; three grandchildren; two brothers, Roger in Cranbrook and Renee in Vancouver, and a sister, Mrs. Edmee Manigley, in Switzerland.

Rev. R. W. S. Brown conducted the funeral service and burial was in Westlawn Cemetery.

Nakusp's Cenotaph To Be Moved

NAKUSP — The war memorial at Nakusp will be moved, following a public hearing at the Royal Canadian Legion Hall sponsored by the Legion and the War Memorial committee. The Legion has been prime agitant in the cenotaph's removal.

Following much discussion and a little opposition, it was decided to move it to the southeast corner of the Nakusp Recreation Park, opposite the hospital.

It was thought that the cenotaph was a traffic hazard at its present location, although one adherent said she felt a traffic control would be needed at the present cenotaph site if it is removed.

It was felt also that the present location does not indicate proper respect for the memorial.

The cenotaph committee will be dissolved and any money and records turned over to the Nakusp Branch of the Legion.

$25,000 POST OFFICE FOR RADIUM JCTN.

INVERMERE — The Windermere District Liberal Association has received word from James Byrne, MP for Kootenay East, now at Ottawa, that a small post office will be erected at Radium Junction at a cost of $25,000.

This will be built under the federal winter works program.

HAPPY DAY NO. 1:

Dear Mum and Dad:

We were all here about 11:30 and ready for a hearty meal. Our first task was getting into our cabins and there were so many friends from previous camps, we had a lot to talk about. There are are 55 campers this year, quite a few less than last year.

The cabins are as follows:

Cabin 2 (Kingfisher's Kove): leaders, Janet Anderson (Andy), Betty Tebo (Amos); Susan Duff (Little Chief), Pat Haukedal (Scribe), Mickey McLean (Sportie), Marijke Harts, Diana Ross, Susan Whitehead, Lynda Craig, Frances Barukoff, Sandra Davenport, Lana Storvold.

Cabin 3 (The Web); leader, Mrs. G. Webb (Dad); Wendy Laithwaite (Little Chief), Lorna Robinson (Scribe), Norma Jean Clark (Sportie), Kristine Griswold, Janis Glover, Marjorie Millard, Louisa Fleming, Virginia Lundgren, Donna Walper.

Cabin 4 (Beatnick Bay); leader, Mrs. Geo. Morris; Jo Ann Langridge (Little Chief), Terry Lyon (Scribe), Diane Woodruff (Sportie), Karen Olsen, Maureen Fox, Christine Hearn, Lois Murdock, Ann Urquhart, Elaine Stromme, Janet Iwanick.

Cabin 5 (The Hive): leader, Mrs. J. Stevens (Bee); Janice Ellison (Chief Camper), Jane McKenzie (Little Chief), Marilyn Benson (Scribe), Edith Low (Sportie), Lois Callbeck, Janis Martin, Mary Jean McLeod, Georgetta Wuori, Sharon Price.

Cabin 6 (Rabbitt Hutch): leader, Mrs. Gwen Le Moigne, (Bunny); Louise Simcock (Little Chief), Judy White (Scribe), Diane Mitchell (Sportie), Sue Whitely, Dorothy Miller, Donna Wilson, Lynne Johnston, Jane Casselman.

Cabin 7 (K--nine Kennels): leader, Mrs. McMichael (Kay); Diane Ingledew (Little Chief), Chris Turner (Scribe), Angela Offerman (Sportie), Lynn Williamson, Lene Simmonsen, Faye Clark, Shirley Smith, Janet Halloway, Daryle Fredrikson.

Our director is Mrs. H. E. Stevenson (Stevie); nurse, Mrs. Geo. Morris; sportie, Miss Claire Fraser.

We had mostly free time and the odd job around the camp during the day. Early in the evening we had a short vesper service and then our opening ceremonies. Gee, mum, if the camp is anything like it was last year (according to 162 campers) we should have a real ball.

Colleges Tailored to the Community Needs

Public interest is still acute over the establishment of junior colleges in British Columbia, and if progress seems slow in this direction it is probably not because of government reluctance in setting them up, but the need for careful preparation, for this is a new departure in British Columbia's educational system. It is, above all, necessary that the colleges be established on a sensible and solid basis.

The U.S. has long been regarded as the home of the junior college. Once regarded as the step-child of the universities, the junior college has now attained a position of importance in that country, with many more being established. Dr. Lamar Johnson of the University of California has had much to do with the establishment of new junior colleges. Speaking at the Conference of Regional Colleges at UBC on Thursday, he elaborated on four points which have to be considered before such colleges are established.

When junior colleges were first established, Dr. Johnson said their single purpose was to offer two years of work acceptable to universities; now the junior college is assuming sharply increased responsibility for upper division work at universities and other senior institutions. If this is the trend in the U.S., then our junior colleges should also be considered, not as offering only a two-year course, but preparing students for advanced work in universities.

Despite this preparation for transfer to the university, the junior college is a multi-purpose institution which has responsibility, Dr. Johnson says, for occupational education, general education and adult education. This is the purpose most clearly in the minds of the general public in British Columbia, so that junior colleges should work hand in hand with vocational schools and the university.

The location of new junior colleges can be a matter of controversy. Dr. Johnson says that the aim should be to establish them within commuting distance of all students. This is recognized in B. C., but where two cities are competing for the location of the college in their areas it might be as well for each to operate one, despite the expense, for cordial support is important if the junior college is to succeed as a community college.

This is Dr. Johnson's last point, that the offerings and programs of the junior college are planned to meet the needs of their communities —and also to elicit the participation of citizens. It should not be handicapped by tradition and should provide curricula adapted to local conditions and thus in our own particular area we shall expect the junior college to be concerned with the needs of the basic industries of the Kootenays — mining, smelting and lumbering.

Narcotics Control, a New Approach?

Serious students of drug addiction long have advocated a change of method in dealing with this subject in the United States. Their voices have become stronger in recent months.

The advisory council of judges of the National Council on Crime and Delinquency opposes long mandatory prison sentences for first offenders in narcotics cases, saying these have filled the prisons but had little effect on the "dope" racket. The treatment of addicts, they urge, should be placed in the hands of the medical profession.

Medical opinion is by no means uniform. Some physicians point toward the British system of making drugs available at low cost to known addicts under medical supervision. Others assert that the only successful treatment is complete withdrawal from the drug.

Whether narcotics laws should be revised is a question for jurists, sociologists, and other experts. What is hopeful is that more and more states are providing facilities for treatment of addiction. One clue is offered by the chairman of the American Medical Association's committee on drug addiction, who says that in almost every case this bondage is a symptom of an underlying personality or emotional problem.

Cherry Pie

Senator Philip A Hart of Michigan found in a Washington grocery store some eight-inch frozen cherry pies with only 40 cherries in each. To one who comes from the state that produces 60 per cent of the nation's cherries, this was significant and saddening.

An old song used to express concern over a young man's choice of a bride in the refrain, "Can she bake a cherry pie, Billie Boy?" Senator Hart perhaps feels that the question should be addressed to the commercial packers who put up wares for supermarket freezers. What he proposes, however, is a "truth-in-packaging" bill which presumably would give the consumer some inkling of the paucity of cherries in the cornstarch filling.

Indeed, comparing the frozen pies with the generously fruited kind served in the Senate cafeteria, Mr. Hart estimated that an eight-inch pie baked by the latter recipe would contain an average of 108 cherries.

The Michigan senator's researches may or may not persuade a committee to report his bill. The findings may have more immediate significance in the area of merchandising than of lawmaking. For somewhere there must be a juicy market waiting for a 108-cherry pie.

—Christian Science Monitor.

Tax Reform

The executives in the revenue department at Ottawa have discovered the job of working out percentages in compiling the income tax return was just too much for one-fifth of Canadian taxpayers. One in every five persons who have mailed in their returns fumbled the test in arithmetic. There were glaring errors in their completed returns.

So there will be changes made in the forms for next year—to make the calculations conform more closely to simple arithmetic. This may be termed real tax reform.

Those of us who were always poor in mathematics, and who may be included in the 20 per cent who failed this most recent examination, may find a speck of consolation in the fact we had so much company. Misery loves company, and, than filling out an income tax return, there is no greater misery.

Must Stop 'Spitting on Street' Before Accepting Social Obligations

A trip through the Deep South left Harold Morrison, Canadian Press Washington correspondent, with mixed impressions of the Negro's plight. In this story he discusses present-day conditions in the light of 3½ centuries of Negro history.

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Shunned and ridiculed, often savagely treated, the American Negro has come a long way from 17th-century slavery when he bore the white man's brand and was forced into his terror-filled sea voyage from Africa.

Of the 19,000,000 Negroes now in the United States, many claim they still are not free; that their life in the black ghettos of the northern cities and the slums of the South is as much slavery as it was a century ago.

Their protests are pounded out to the throb of freedom marches throughout the country.

The picture is not all monotone, however. While many live in barren shacks unfit for humans, others have triumphed on the stage and in sports, in literature and music.

Some, such as business tycoon Arthur G. Gaston of Birmingham, Ala., have amassed wealth and wield political power.

"Before the Negro takes on more social obligations and responsibilities he should learn to quit spitting on the streets and to take his socks off the front veranda," says millionaire Gaston, who made his money in banking, insurance, real estate and other ventures.

MAJORITY POOR

Negroes run the full spectrum of American society. Some are militant leaders, hardened and self-disciplined. Other leaders have become weak and corrupted by power.

But most often they are found among the poor, the underprivileged. In the Deep South, where an attempt to use the white man's lavatories can bring a prison sentence, citizenship and equality are words with shallow meaning.

In large measure the Negro is still unacceptable 3½ centuries after the first natives were dragged from the jungle to serve America's destiny.

Will whites and Negroes of the United States ever become fully integrated? One Negro clergyman suggests the "acid test" will come when intermarriage is allowed, a thought that sends Southern whites into hysteria.

The wife of Rev. Martin Luther King Jr., a national Negro leader and spokesman for Birmingham Negroes, maintains there would be much intermarriage now but for the pressure of an unyielding society.

"The whites of the South talk about miscegenation but for 300 years their ancestors had their way with Negro girls," Mrs. King said in an interview in Atlanta, Ga. "How else, do you think, did we get those with brown skins or those who have white skins but are really Negroes?"

WHITE MAN'S CHATTEL

From the time of the first recorded landings of African Negroes—indentured servants—in 1619 to the freeing of the slaves by Abraham Lincoln in 1863, the Negro was seldom more than the white man's chattel, to be used and abused until death.

Just as the white man now conveniently passes local laws against Negro street demonstrations and the freedom rides, so did early white pioneers pass laws to nail the Negro to slavery.

Branded, colored and penniless, the Negro slave could not run far. His sanctuary was Canada but Canada was a long way from the Deep South. The penalty for being caught espenalty for being caught esto the cheek, the split nose, the sliced ear or the rope.

If the use of police dogs in Birmingham dredges up memories, they may be memories of bloodhounds tracking down the runaway slave before emancipation.

The South never forgave the North for freeing the slaves, nor did some of the big northern cities take to the new citizens easily. From the chains of slavery the bewildered Negro rushed into the arms of the exploiters, the night riders and the lynchers.

NEW YORK RIOTS

Even in the year of emancipation a century ago Negroes were victims of rioting New Yorkers who murdered their victims and hanged them from lamp posts.

When Negroes first tried to mould themselves into a potent political force the dreaded, masked Ku Klux Klan appeared. A Negro had but to look sideways at a white girl and he would be seized and beaten, sometimes hanged. If the Southern white could not keep the Negro as a slave he would destroy him.

In the dying days of the 19th century, riders would pluck Negro babies from their mothers and smash them to the ground. There was no pity; no remorse.

But instead of disappearing, the Negro grew in strength. Laws were passed, even in the South, forcing the KKK to unmask, though by this time some of their bloody work had paid off. Millions of Southern Negroes—2,000,000 alone in 1915 —had moved north.

Today street demonstrations are a major weapon in the Negro's campaign for equality and account for much of the publicity. But the courts and two world wars provided the initial thrust.

NEEDED TO FIGHT

Wars required manpower. The brawn of Negro field hands was reshaped into technical skill. And with the growth of Negro confidence came a cultural awakening which caught the white man's imagination.

Louis Armstrong, Fats Waller, Duke Ellington, Cab Calloway, Marian Anderson and Paul Robeson sang, played and danced their way into the white man's heart.

New Negro leaders were born, carefully schooled in law and politics.

Riots, bombings and lynchings continued through the '20s and '30s but gradually the number declined. KKK influence was on the wane.

In 1946 the U.S. Supreme Court ruled illegal the separation of whites and Negroes in interstate bus travel. In 1947 Jackie Robinson was called up from Montreal by Brooklyn Dodgers to become the first Negro in major league baseball. In 1950 Ralph Bunche, an American Negro with the U.N. won the Nobel Peace Prize for his work as Palestine mediator.

As each succeeding court decision weakened the walls of segregation, it was followed by white rioting. The 1954 Supreme Court decision outlawing segregation in public schools brought more bloodshed.

State governors in the Deep South openly defied the court. Central High School in Little Rock, Ark., became the symbol of resistance. Federal troops were called in to enforce the court's decision there in 1957.

MANY INTEGRATED

Last year at Oxford, Miss., two men died and scores were injured when Negro James Meredith enrolled at the state university — with the help of 12,000 soldiers.

In many states school integration is almost complete. In others, especially in the heart of Dixie, it is only a barebones, token compliance with the law. In Mississippi almost nothing has changed.

But now the Negro is better organized, if not completely united. There are Negro extremists to match white extremists. There are Negro politicians, such as Representative Adam Clayton Powell of New York, crying to his fellow men: "The whtie man is afraid . . . keep him on the run."

"We have come a far journey from a distant era in the 100 years since the Emancipation Proclamation," says the U.S. Civil Rights Commission. "At the beginning of it there was slavery. At the end there is citizenship. Citizenship, however, is a fragile word with an ambivalent meaning. The condition of citizenship is not yet full-blown or fully realized for the American Negro. There is still more ground to cover."

Centennial Club Appreciates Opinions, Suggestions

To the Editor:

Sir — As Chairman of the Nelson Centennial Club I would appreciate the opportunity to thank the Nelson Daily News for the very extensive coverage they gave the meeting which resulted in the formation of the Nelson Centennial Club.

As indicated in the story covering the formation of the Club, this organization's objective is to develop not only a special project to commemorate Canada's 100th anniversary as a Dominion, but also a program in Nelson for the year 1967 that will do justice to such an important occasion.

I also appreciated your editorial of July 25th in respect to the Centennial Club and the various projects already mentioned. To have you express your thoughts about the various projects suggested, has a great deal of value. I trust that many other organizations and individuals will respond in the same manner so that we, the Nelson Centennial Club, can make a final decision as to what project we should undertake.

Your action in commenting on the project is one of the prime reasons for our group favoring Mr. James' proposal that we call ourselves the Nelson Centennial Club and not a committee.

Most decisions are left up to the committee in charge but in this particular instance it was the wish of the group that the entire City of Nelson participate in the Centennial year. With every citizen as a member and having a voice in the Centennial Club, it will mean that those who are elected to fill the various offices will be confident that they are carrying out the wishes of the citizens of Nelson.

Clubs are not only groups gathered together to enjoy fellowship but they can and do accomplish great things. Such things as Gyro Park, Kiwanis Senior Citizens Villa, Kinsmen Selkirk Health Unit, Rotary Pool are just a few of the things that have been accomplished by clubs and organizations.

In view of this, Mr. Editor, I think you will have to agree that if all citizens will participate in our Centennial Club, then Nelson's part in the Centennial year will be the best on record.

I thank you for your fine support and suggestion and I do know that the Nelson Daily News will be one of our strongest club members and their staff will also work for the club as individual members.

E. T. BODARD,
Chairman,
Nelson Centennial Club.

Says Rank and File Against Treaty

To the Editor:

Sir — In answer to the letter Wednesday, July 17 stating that the Columbia byelection refutes Mr. Herridge's statement, that the rank and file in B.C. are against the Treaty. In spite of the results of the byelection Mr. Herridge is still right. The people of Columbia voted to save their homes. They do not trust the B.C. Government. In being moved they felt no doubt, that on account of the lowering of their assesment they would move at a loss. We feel the same. So it amounts to this in most cases. Go ahead and flood Arrow Lakes and leave our valley alone. Which has been proved isn't economically a good policy.

Mr. Herridge's office is being flooded with letters, telegrams, phone calls by the thinking public, because this Columbia deal is a bad piece of business for the B.C. people. It's a fast buck deal. With no thought of the future a beautiful productive valley turned into a horrible bogmire producing power and water for the U.S.A. which means production in the U.S.A., both in produce and employment.

Then that Jericho dam, a hideous looking thing, hindering progress in this country, and a great danger to the City of Trail and the other places below it. In East Trail there is a mountain of pure sand with a rock cap on top of it. What is going to happen if it can be traced to anywhere above the High Arrow Dam even in a smaller vein. I also understand that Mr. Bennett has been assured of juggling moneys from the Columbia to the Peace. So what is the future of a country that is mugged around that way. If our country is going to be wrecked in this fashion who will help the flood victims as there will be outbreaks large and small and a great risk of being a calamity as you can not tamper with nature and not expect some trouble.

The Columbia election does not mean a thing as far as the economy of the country goes. There is only a small percentage of the people think outside their immediate neds. Some would even rather die than think. It is too much trouble that's the world's trouble. What do I get out of it next week.

The NDP is a party with no juggling. They have set their faces towards a better order live or die. The others don't seem to care about the future. They blindly go on hoping for the best.

ELIJAH BALAAM.

CIVIL DEFENCE

Survival of a nation in this age of nuclear weapons could depend on "self-help". This, Civil Defence urges, would mean the acquiring of some elementary knowledge about first aid, home nursing, fire fighting and emergency cooking, and know what sort of reserves of food and water to have in the house.

Your Individual Horoscope

By Frances Drake

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars,

For Sunday, July 28, 1963

MARCH 21 to APRIL 20 (Aries) — Stress geniality, gentleness, sincerity and diligence—diligence for the things you know belong to this day and your role in life. It should be a pleasant day.

APRIL 21 to MAY 21 (Taurus) — As with Aries, this day should be ruled by the mind and spirit. There's no need to fall behind in chores and regular obligations or miss out on recreation. Emphasize discretion, whole-heartedness.

MAY 22 to JUNE 21 (Gemini) — Determination to maintain a wise course, directness, and your usual warm nature will accomplish more than all material power. Offer someone a lift.

JUNE 22 to JULY 23 (Cancer) — A special day to encourage your special gifts. Positive action well directed, can result in more than anticipated benefits. Listen for new ideas, methods; add your own suggestions.

JULY 24 to AUGUST 23 (Leo) — How you use your privileges and exercise your talents will boost this day out of the ordinary, or otherwise. Set a logical pace for logical ends.

AUGUST 24 to SEPTEMBER 23 (Virgo) — To get away from tedious routine is intelligent if it is done at the right time and for the purpose of relaxation, renewing energies for doing better when you resume work. Enjoy friendships.

SEPTEMBER 24 to OCTOBER 23 (Libra) — Continue to study changing trends, evaluate and separate essentials from the useless. Vigorous support of important causes by You is needed. Heartily endorse what your better sense approves.

OCTOBER 24 to NOVEMBER 22 (Scorpio) — A philosophical outlook and conservative action needed now. It is a period of adjustment, and advancement, especially in communication, interchange of ideas, sports, religion.

NOVEMBER 23 to DECEMBER 21 (Sagittarius) — Neighbors, companions, family may have more demands on your time than anticipated. Divide energies sensibly, not forgetting those whom you should not.

DECEMBER 22 to JANUARY 20 (Capricorn) — Accept others' good will at face value, then study the situation and their environment seriously. Much can be gleaned from the diversities in life. Reciprocate; help rehabilitate.

JANUARY 21 to FEBRUARY 19 (Aquarius) — Magnetic forces are at work, and you can be at your most persuasive best. You should enjoy this, if you do not permit fear of disapproval to hamper. Do be wary of frauds.

FEBRUARY 20 to MARCH 20 (Pisces) — Neptune, in fine aspect, encourages all your interests now. Augment happy beginnings, keep a good thing going. Lend your dexterity.

YOU BORN TODAY are endowed with progressive idealism and conservatism yet have sufficient verve to keep the ball rolling in business, work or other interests once you take the initiative. Never let yourself get into a rut, nor become gloomy about anything. You gain information in a friendly way, and can keep a secret; make able secretaries, confidantes, military strategists, diplomatic couriers.

The first successful transatlantic cable was completed 87 years ago—in 1876 —with the landing of the 2,134-mile cable at Heart's Content, Nfld. The first cable, laid in 1858, failed three weeks after it was completed. A second success was achieved that year when cable that had parted while being laid the previous year was spliced and completed.

1953—The Korean armistice was signed.

1955—Austria regained her independence.

Interpreting the News

By JOSEPH MacSWEEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

It may be an exaggeration to call it Mac's Pact but Prime Minister Macmillan doesn't object when newspapers use that tag.

It is generally agreed in Britain that no one has worked more consistently than Macmillan for a nuclear test ban treaty —and no one stands to gain more from its successful conclusion.

All the sensations and political disasters of the last few months failed to shake his determination to make a full British contribution to such a treaty, and in this one thing at least he has enjoyed solid backing throughout the country.

The prime minister stated his attitude in the House of Commons June 18 at a time when some United States spokesmen were stressing obstacles in the way of a treaty, including differences between the Soviet Union and the West on the need for on-site inspections.

"This is a question of the will to reach agreement," he said. "If there is the political will on both sides, I feel certain that some solution can be found to the so-called technical problems."

CLIMATE CHANGED

Macmillan has given his critics a lesson in political science by so far surviving the sex-security scandal that caused John Profumo.

Even his worst political enemies concede success at the Moscow negotiations should strengthen his position further. This doesn't mean his troubles are over, but the political climate certainly has changed since a month ago when people were talking about Macmillan being banished in disgrace.

The British ardor for a treaty puts Macmillan in a happy position since there is no question of Parliament's approval — the "door is open," as one source put it. President Kennedy, on the other hand, has the task of getting the treaty through the U.S. Congress.

LEFT OUT

There is concern in London, however, that France would apparently not consider itself bound to eschew nuclear tests, not to mention Red China when it develops nuclear weapons.

One newspaper cartoon develops nuclear weapons.

One newspaper cartoon depicts Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko, Lord Hailsham and Averell Harriman peering over a fence while President de Gaulle and Chairman Mao Tse-tung parade with a banner urging "ban the test ban."

The hope also is expressed that the nuclear treaty would lead to a real start on general and complete disarmament, the point being made that even without nuclear weapons the world could be wrecked by the use of conventional arms at their present stage of development.

Business Spotlight . . .

Corner Gas Station Like a Supermarket

VANCOUVER (CP) — The struggle for business is changing the face of the corner service station.

These days if you want peat moss, herring bait, chinaware, golf balls, ice cream, a portable barbecue or even a sleeping bag, the corner gas station has them.

At least most of them do.

Imperial Oil, which started the trend in these parts with the offer of a $4 flash camera with gas purchases, now has a laundromat in one of its Vancouver stations. In interior B.C. it is planning a station where truck drivers can shower, eat and fall into bed.

Standard has burly gas attendants selling dainty, made-in-Japan chinaware — a four-piece setting for 99 cents with every seven-gallon gas purchase. And the buyer can put it on his credit card.

Shell stations offer goods ranging from garden equipment to sporting goods; Mohawk carries plastics, paints, brooms and garden tools.

The trend follows one begun in the United States and now reaching full gallop there. One service station in New Orleans has an airconditioned lounge, a dining patio and a children's play yard. Six major U.S. oil companies are experimenting with vending machines with electronic ovens for heating frozen foods. One of them is building 160-seat restaurants and motels into new service stations.

The move here has had repercussions in the form of protests from merchants who regularly stock the items offered. But the oil company men reply their move was forced by two things—the price squeeze on gasoline and the fact that regular retailers like the big department stores went into the gas-selling business.

C. L. Goddard, B.C. region manager for Imperial Oil, put it this way: "With service stations we have a fixed investment in a piece of land and we need something else to take the profit load off gasoline. . . . The public today is more receptive, more willing to accept new ideas.

"All the old concepts have gone out the window."

A spokesman for Home Oil agreed: ". . . Few properties can support a service station on gas alone. A dealer has to branch out."

Some of the companies have yet to take the plunge. Texaco is not involved but its dealers can do what they like. Royalite has not encouraged it to date and British American Oil says it has no set policy on sales of this type.

Cathedral Mary Immaculate Scene Gilchrist-Duckworth Nuptials

Rt. Rev. F. J. Monaghan was celebrant when marriage vows were exchanged at Cathedral of Mary Immaculate in Nelson between Elizabeth Ann (Betty) Duckworth and Mr. Bruce David Gilchrist of Prince Rupert at a double ring wedding ceremony of wide interest in Nelson and other B.C. points on Saturday, July 20.

MR. AND MRS. BRUCE DAVID GILCHRIST OF PRINCE RUPERT.

Softest pink shades complemented bridal white to provide a pretty color theme for her attendants' gowns when the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter A. Duckworth of Nelson walked down the aisle to exchange vows and rings with the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Gilchrist of Ocean Falls, B.C.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was exquisitely gowned in full-length white peau de soie, and was preceded by her attendants in streetlength frocks of the same material in a rose shade.

The scooped neckline of the bride's gown was embroidered with seed pearls and crystal beads and the sleeves were lily point. Back interest was provided by a bustle effect falling en train. A single rose of peau de soie held her shoulder-length veil and she carried a cascade bouquet of pink and white roses.

Miss Terry Kluck of Vancouver as maid of honor, and bridesmaids Barbara Gilchrist, young sister of the bridegroom, and and Miss Eleanor White of Vancouver were identically gowned in rose peau de soie with matching jackets and headpieces, the latter featuring small veils. Their bouquets were white carnation nosegays.

The bride's mother chose beige embroidered chiffon over taffetta with beige accessories and Talisman rose corsage. Her grandmother, Mrs. C. F. MacDougall, wore a beige silk print suit with red rose corsage.

The mother of the bridegroom was unable to attend due to illness.

Mr. Gordon Widston of Prince Rupert supported the bridegroom Ushers were Mr. Jim Duckworth brother of the bride, and Mr. Colin Mangan, cousin of the bride, from Penticton.

During signing of the register, Miss Mary Kay Murison sang Gounod's Ave Maria, accompanied by organist Miss Imelda Buckley.

RECEPTION

A reception was held in the Garden Ballroom of Peebles Motor Inn. The three-tiered wedding cake, embedded in pink tulle was set on a lace-covered tablecloth. The cake, topped with pink roses, was cut with a silver knife.

Master of ceremonies was Mr. Jack MacDougall, uncle of the bride. In charge of guest book was Miss Terry Moran.

Telegrams were read from Prince Rupert, Ocean Falls, Vancouver, Port Coquitlam and Boston, Mass.

Toast to the bride was proposed by Mr. Grant Duckworth of Langley Prairie, B.C. Mr. Mike Mangan, uncle of the bride proposed a toast to the bridesmaids.

Monsignor Monaghan spoke briefly to the bride and groom.

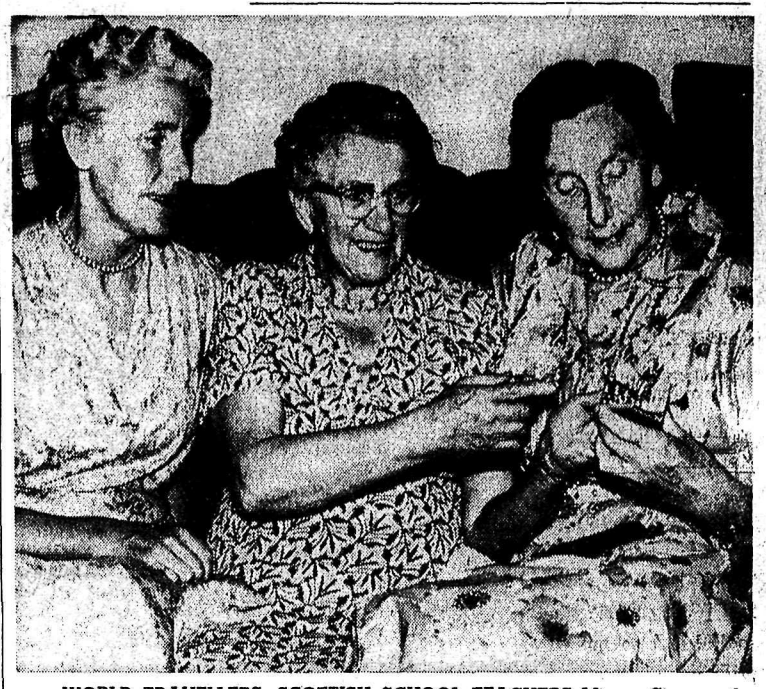
OUT OF TOWN GUESTS

Out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Grant Duckworth of Langley Prairie, B.C., Mr. L. G. Gilchrist, father of the groom, Mr. Howard Gilchrist, brother of the groom, and Mr. Scott Vannatter, all of Ocean Falls; Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Mangan and sons Tom and Dan, Mr. and Mrs. Jack MacDougall and family of Penticton; Miss Naomi McDougall of Calgary; Miss Terry Moran of Cranbrook, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Denny and Mr. Jim Watson of Kamloops.

Before leaving, the bride presented her bouquet to her grandmother, Mrs. MacDougall.

For travelling, the bride changed into a two-piece pure silk suit in pink, with matching accessories and white rosebud corsage.

Following a wedding trip to Spokane, Vancouver and Ocean Falls, the newlyweds will reside at Prince Rupert. The bride is a graduate of UBC and taught school at Ocean Falls. The bridegroom is a representative of Fidelity Life Assurance Company in Prince Rupert.



WORLD TRAVELLERS, SCOTTISH SCHOOL TEACHERS Misses Cissy and Betty Dougal today leave Nelson, where they have been visiting their cousins, Mrs. J. T. McKinlay, 711 Vernon Street, and Mr. and Mrs. J. W. McClelland, and will fly from Vancouver to New York and hence to their home in Glasgow, Scotland. Miss Cissy Dougal is a retired teacher and Miss Betty Dougal teaches high school students in Glasgow. During past years the travel enthusiasts have been around the world and have visited the western European countries, the Scandinavian countries, central Europe, Canada and the United States. Junior College Stepping Stone

VANCOUVER (CP) — Most students who enrol in two-year junior colleges do so because they are short of money, emotionally immature, fail in college entrance requirements, have records of poor marks or don't know what to do.

Rodney Berg, president of the Everett, Wash., Junior College said Thursday if a young person has any of these problems the junior college can provide either a stepping stone to a university or serve as an end to itself by providing a general education.

He said at a one-day seminar at the University of B.C. more than 20 per cent of all United States college enrolment is now in junior colleges.

He said the colleges serve as a distribution agency for those who may decide later to get other training.

They fit community needs and may be used increasingly for adult education if the work week continued to shrink.

Fred T. Giles, professor of higher education at the University of Washington, said junior colleges should provide courses that would prepare a welder and a dental technician for a job and a future scientist for further training.

A junior college was intended to extend education two years beyond high school, to serve community needs, to train those who would not advance farther and to catch those who suddenly showed themselves able to do advanced university work.

Dr. Lamar Johnson of the University of California at Los Angeles said junior colleges take over the job of preparing students for higher work at universities.

Detachment Head Transfers To P. Rupert

CRANBROOK — RCMP Staff Sergeant M. H. McLeod, officer in charge of Cranbrook Detachment, has notified city council of his transfer in the same capacity to Prince Rupert Detachment, effective September 1.

Staff Sergeant McLeod, during his three years here, has been active in community affairs, including offices in the Cranbrook Scout Association and Parent-Teacher Association, and he is chairman of the Cranbrook District Fire Protection Area, nearing its final stage of organization.

At Prince Rupert he succeeds Staff Sergeant J. F. Gregory, for several years highway patrol officer with the B.C. Police, then with the RCMP in Cranbrook district in the 1940's. Staff Sergeant Gregory is resigning from the RCMP to become chief of the Victoria Metropolitan Police Force.

Daughter of Robson Couple Wed at Invermere Church

INVERMERE — A garden reception in Invermere followed a pretty wedding in Christ Church, Invermere, July 20.

Principals were Bernice Audrey Heslop, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Heslop of Robson, B.C., and Mr. Sergio Antonio Pasin of Toby Creek, the son of Mr. Luigi Pasin of Treviso, Italy. Officiating was Rev. John Stainer.

Pink gladioli and white 'mums in gold and white stands decorated the altar, and pink and white carnations were effectively used throughout the church. The organist was Mrs. George Duthie.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother-in-law, Mr. T. A. Sanford of Robson. Her bridal gown of white nylon chiffon over taffeta had a white scoop neckline and lily point sleeves, and featured bell shaped skirt. Seed pearls trimmed the bodice.

She wore the gift of her groom, a single cultured pearl, and her bouquet was composed of dusty pink roses, white carnations and baby's breath.

Mrs. T. A. Sanford, a sister of the bride, was her only attendant. She wore a spruce green frock of organdy with a white lace bodice and carried a bouquet of pink carnations and baby's breath.

The groom was attended by Mr. Frank Pellazari of Toby Creek, and the ushers were Mr. Remigin Dalcastagne and Mr. Amelio Anemone, both of Toby Creek.

The garden reception was held at the Invermere home of Mr. and Mrs. James Magee. Receiving with the principals and Mr. and Mrs. Magee was the bride's mother, who had chosen for her daughter's wedding a dress of leaf green with a matching jacket. Her accessories were green and black, and she wore a yellow rose corsage.

A cake made by the matron of honour centered the bride's table. It was nestled in white tulle and pink roses and flanked by white and pink carnations.

For her honeymoon to Vancouver and Victoria, the bride travelled in a beige linen jacket dress. Her accessories were orange and black and she wore a yellow rose corsage.

The young couple will reside at Toby Creek, where the bride was on the teaching staff and where the groom is employed at the Mineral King mine.

Out of town guests were:

Mrs. James Heslop, Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Sanford; Misses Dawne and Lynne Sanford, all of Robson; Mrs. F. Campbell, Balzac, Alberta; Miss Florence Campbell, Calgary; Mrs. Omand and Misses Deborra and Bonny Brown, Trail, and Miss Sheila Smith, Calgary.

Queen's Bay

Mr. and Mrs. G. T. German. Powell River, and daughter Sandra who is "Miss Powell River" for 1963, were guests this week of his brother, N. R. German and Mrs. German.

Visitors this week at the Basil Aylmer's were Miss Helga Sandburg, Washington, D.C., author and daughter of American poet Carl Sandburg; Mr. and Mrs. Robert McCann and family of four from Palo Alto, California. Mr. McCann is editor of Stanford University literature; Mrs. L. Fahnestock of Pasadena, California, Lady Aylmer and Mrs. Bert Barwis.

Mrs. Silma Ericson has returned to her summer home for a few weeks in Queen's Bay.

Big Nursing Graduate Reunion at Cranbrook in Nature of Farewell

CRANBROOK — About one-half the 209 listed nursing graduates of St. Eugene Training School, which operated from 1911 to a final graduation ceremony in 1950, have responded to the invitation to a reunion this week-end at the St. Eugene Nurses' Home.

Sisters of Providence of Charity have announced discontinuation of St. Eugene Hospital operations the end of 1965, and graduates are assembling as a farewell.

ALL BUT TWO CLASSES

First class graduated in 1914, and the final class as a group at St. Paul's Hospital, Vancouver, where they completed their final year of training. All but two classes, 1916 and 1919, will be represented at the gathering here July 26, 27 and 28.

Special guests will be two of the three instructors over the years, Miss Matilda Dietrichs, RN, of Regina, and Rev. Sister Mary Celina, school director for many years, and now of Calgary.

Registration at the Nurses Home was Friday evening with coffee and a social gathering. Business session will be this morning.

TEA, BANQUET TODAY

This afternoon St. Eugene Hospital Women's Auxiliary is tendering a tea for graduates which is also open to Cranbrook friends of the visitors. A cocktail hour is being given the graduates later in the afternoon by the F. W. Green Clinic.

Highlight banquet follows when Cranbrook people closely associated with the training school during its half century have been also invited.

Cominco is sending corsages to all the graduates for this function.

SUNDAY EVENTS

Sunday, the visitors have a choice of golf and luncheon in Cranbrook, an informal beach gathering at the Moyie Lake summer home of Mrs. Rudy Jaster, or a luncheon at Kimberley given by James Byrne, MP and Mrs. Byrne, nee Margaret Stewart, and herself a graduate of St. Eugene.

Chairman of the arrangements for the reunion is Mrs. W. E. Walsh (nee Kay Jocobiec) secretary, Mrs. Arthur Gordon (also a former Margaret Stewart) both of Kimberley, with Mrs. H. M. Neily (nee Connie Spence) preparing the book history, Mrs. J. C. Little (nee Mary Roberts) hospitality chairman and Mrs. Walter Millar (nee Alice Brown) program chairman, all three Cranbrook residents.

Crowe Named CD Coordinator For Salmo

SALMO — Commissioner Crowe was appointed civil defence coordinator for the Village of Salmo at this week's Commission meeting.

A representative of West Kootenay Power and Light Company was present to discuss street lighting for the village. He is to supply the Commission with cost figures for replacing 13 of the present street lights in the business district with mercury vapour lamps which give approximately four times as much illumination. A decision based on these figures will be made as soon as they are available.

A report from the Department of Transport inspector contained a good deal of praise for condition of the Salmo airstrip. The report classed the field as "up to the standards of a licensed airport."

Arrangements were made to carry out repainting of the boundary markers and a few other minor tasks outlined in the report.

Building permits for the month totalled $14,500, and included proposed construction of one house and the basement of another new house.

Is Your TEACHING CERTIFICATE Lying Idle?

The need for qualified teachers in British Columbia's Public Schools remains critical, particularly in rural areas, in some specialist secondary fields such as Commerce, French, Home Economics and Girls' Physical Education, and in Primary grades.

If you possess an unused teaching certificate, decide NOW to put it to work this year. Consult the classified columns of the metropolitan daily newspapers, and let us make sure ALL our classrooms are adequately staffed.

A Home of Your Own

BUYING A NEW HOUSE

By far the greatest number of homeowners buy their houses ready-made Why? There are several reasons. When you buy a ready-built house you can see exactly what you are paying for and you will know just how much it is going to cost. One big advantage is that you will probably pay less when you buy than if you build. That's because there's economy in quality. Builders, large or small, get a better price on large quantities of material. Things like the excavation cost less per unit when all the work is done at the same location. Experienced workmen keep construction going at a rapid pace and the overhead expenses are spread out over the total number of houses. All this is reflected in the selling prices of the houses. It boils down to the fact that you are reaping the benefits of mass production.

SUITABLE DESIGN

What should you look for before comitting yourself to buying a ready-built house? Suitability of design and of location are major concern. Ask yourself whether the layout of the house fits your family's way of life. Will it mean you will have to buy more furniture? Are you near work, schools, stores and churches? These are just a few of the items you will have to consider before making a decision.

Buying a house is the average family's biggest single investment and it deserves careful consideration of all the factors involved. Since you will likely live in the house for a long time, make sure that the quality is good. Probably your best guide to this is the reputation of the builder for quality workmanship and materials. It is important that you inspect the house carefully or arrange for an expert to check it for you.

BUILDING YOUR HOUSE

Under what circumstances should you build a house instead of buying? There are several answers. You may have difficulty in finding a ready-built house that meets you particular needs. It may be better to build if you hold strong opinions on what special features a house should have. Location of available houses for sale might not be satisfactory to you. Whatever the reasons, the ideal way to go about building is to engage an architect. His experience will enable you to get the house you want at the price you're willing to pay. And the architect takes over all the worries that go with building. His fee is well worth the time and trouble that you save. Another way is to buy stock plans and have a contractor build from them. But be sure that you have a suitable location and that the design you choose is adaptable to the site.

Food Units Keep Top Quality

In the new electric refrigerators and freezers, more food is kept at top-quality longer. Thinner, more efficient insulation gives more space for storage. The food is easier to see and to reach. Shelves slide, roll, or swing out to make food more accessible. Some shelves can be moved up or down to make room for bulky items. Door shelves hold tall as well as short bottles, jars and containers.

The freezer sections in the combination units are completely separated by insulation from refrigerator sections, have roll-out baskets, some of them removeable, as well as ice ejectors and bins or automatic ice makers. Some freezer doors have juice dispensers and "bookshelf" food holders which make it easier to organize and find frozen foods.

The food preservation itself has been improved. Cold air within the refrigerator section is circulated in some models to keep the entire food storage space evenly cooled. Some also have extra cold compartments to keep meat fresh a week or more without freezing. Larger crispers hold a week's supply of fruits and vegetables.

The new models are easier to care for. Many of them never need defrosting and some others are defrosted by merely pushing a button. Some of the two-door models never need defrosting in either the refrigerator or freezer section.

Ward Has Variety He Says

CP from Reuters-AP

LONDON — Osteopath-artist Stephen Ward angrily denied at his vice trial Friday that he made money from prostitution by his girl friends and refused to agree with a prosecution suggestion that his sexual desires were "absolutely insatiable."

"I don't think I have any more sexual relationships than any other people of my age," the doctor said under cross-examination on the fifth day of his vice trial. "But possibly the variety is much greater."

In a fist - banging outburst shortly before the trial recessed for lunch he protested the "atmosphere of villainy" surrounding the case.

"Anyone who comes in from the street . . . can say I am lying," he said. "Apart from this case I am considered to be a truthful person."

Ward denied Christine Keeler's claim that he had full control of her mind or that he introduced her to smoking marijuana cigarettes.

SAYS VICKIE LIED

He said his defence must depend on proving that prostitute Vickie Barrett was lying when she said he took her to his fashionable apartment for the purposes of prostitution and that she whipped and caned men there.

Ward electrified the courtroom when he said:

"I am merely saying if this girl is telling the truth then I am guilty. My case must depend on saying that this girl is lying, and why she is lying we must find out."

After lunch break, the prosecution lawyer said: "If you are telling the truth, Vickie Barrett is lying, and lying throughout practically the whole of her story?"

Ward replied:

"Yes, this is the bottom of the bucket. If they question 150 or 160 people it is easy to find at least half a dozen willing to come forward through some motive—malice, cupidity—who will make the statements against a person, especially a person who has some sort of irregularities in life such as I have and lays himself open to this type of misrepresentation."

IN BOX 5 HOURS

Ward was in the witness box a total of 5½ hours.

Early in Friday's thestimony, Ward said he had "a pretty shrewd idea" that Miss Keeler was having sexual relations with war minister John D. Profumo in Ward's apartment in 1961.

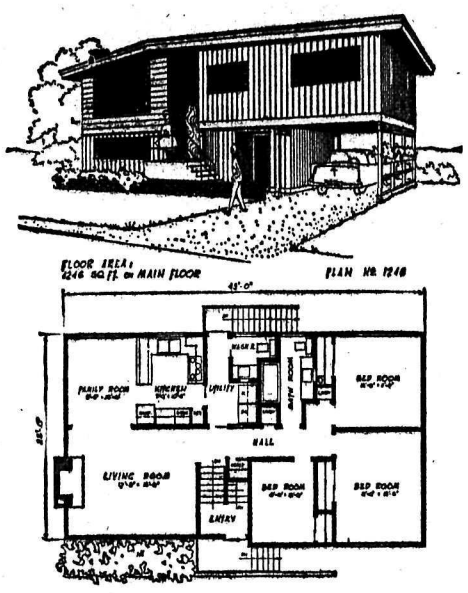
Modern Home



This is a split or "cathedral" entry house that has been especially designed to suit a a level lot.

1246 square feet is the floor area, and in this area, we show a large living room with outside wall fireplace . . . family room adjacent to the U shaped kitchen . . . three bedrooms and a bathroom . . . ALL this, PLUS an additional wash or "mud" room, and utility are for the location of the washer/dryer units at the rear entrance. Maintaining the contemporary effect, the house features sloping ceilings.

Because this split entry is specifically designed for a level lot, daylight windows are shown throughout the basement area, and of course, the carport under makes it especially suitable for building where too much frontage is available. A low porch with five risers, glamourized by a wrought iron hand rail, brick planters, etc. all add to the appearance of this delightful family home.

Designed for N.H.A. approval, the working drawings of this house are available ffrom the Building Centre (BC) Ltd., 96 Kingsway at Broadway, Vancouver, B.C.

Old Bathroom Outdates Home

Interested in riddles? Try this one. It's about a room in a house. "Used by everyone, seen by no one. Which room is it?"

The answer is "the bathroom." It isn't literally true, of course, that it is seen by no one but the fact is that the family members are so familiar with it, they take its appearance for granted. They see it alright but with less critical eyes than your friends who visit.

It's a strange thing but many homeowners, who have long since replaced the mohair upholstered furniture and other reminders of an earlier day. continue to accept the drab. dull, even shabby bathroom appointments of a bygone era. Such bathrooms definitely date a home. Actually, the bathroom could and should reflect the very latest in style and convenience.

There is no other place in the the home where such significant improvements in appearance and utility can be made at such moderate cost as in the bathroom, the Canadian Institute of Plumbing and Heating points out.

Bathroom modernization starts with the fixtures. It is by the replacement of old-style fixtures with attractive and colorful new equipment that the most striking changes and the up-dating of middle aged houses can be effected.

Plumbing fixtures today offer a wide variety of new, smart designs and in matching colors which make their choice a field day for the decorator minded. A new concept of convenience is achieved in faucets with single level control, permitting you to regulate and control both temperature and water flow with a finger tip.

Also, the modern bathroom has twin "his and hers" wash basins with ample ledge and counter-top space for shaving accessories and cosmetics. A smartly styled wall-hung water closet, offering off-the-floor convenience for cleaning, completes this picture of bathroom elegance.

Because fixtures are the key to any bathroom modernization project, it is well to start by discussing plans with a plumbing and heating contractor. The contractor will be able to offer advice on the selection of fixtures and piping materials. He will also be in a position to make valuable suggestions on the arrangement of the fixtures for utmost utility and convenience.

Take a really good look at your present bathroom. Is it as modern and attractive as the rest of your rooms? If not, it can be made as fresh and up-to-date and usually at far less cost than you may suppose.

PARKLAND IS SACRED

VANCOUVER (CP) — Land now dedicated to parks and recreation should never be converted to other uses, the Lower Mainland Parks Advisory Association decided Thursday. The Association is made up of 22 Lower Mainland municipalities. The resolution was prompted by the use of Burnaby parkland for the site of the new Simon Fraser University.

Room Additions Can Often Solve Space Problems

Americans spent nearly $1 billion dollars last year adding space to their homes — proving that a new room is sometimes a better solution than a new home.

A survey of these families indicates that most of them had outgrown their present homes. However, they liked their present neighbors and neighborhood, had children in nearby schools, were located near their place of employment, had a mortgage with a favorable interest rate, and did not want to pay the real estate and moving costs involved in buying a new house. Many families also reported that they had not been able to get their price when they tried to sell their house, so they decided to "stay put" and add a room for greater convenience.

Most families add a 12x16 foot or 16x20 foot family room or parents' bedroom, depending upon their most urgent needs. New bedrooms usually include a half-bath. Family rooms are the most popular additions, because they provide leisure and entertainment space that is lacking in most three-bedroom homes today Costs range from $14 to $18 per square foot, depending upon the amount of plumbing and wiring needed.

Ideas for those who are thinking about expanding their homes are offered by the Douglas Fir Plywood Association in an "Add-a-Room-Manual." It shows how to add a bedroom or family room to the side or rear of a one-story or split-level house. There are also helpful tips on financing, decoration and chosing a contractor. For a copy of the Manual, send 15c to the above Association at 1119 "A" Street, Tacoma 2, Wash.

Pool Within Reach Of Average Family

Families by the thousands are now "getting in the swim" — in their own backyards!

Until quite recently, the matter of cost made ownership of a private swimming pool a luxury to be enjoyed mainly by movie stars and the wealthy.

Today, the price of installing a backyard pool has been reduced to a point that is well within the reach of the average homeowner.

There are currently in the neighborhood of 425,000 swimming pools in America, with more being installed every day as people learn that you no longer have to be rich to own your own pool.

The backyard pool eliminates the inconvenience of traffic-congested drives to and from the beach or lake and is an investment that pays handsome dividends in outdoor living and informal entertaining.

EASY TO FINANCE

It has the added advantage of being an improvement that greatly increases property value. Many banks and finance agencies are willing to arrange convenient time payment plans for such a project.

Great progress has also been made in pool construction methods. The home owner choosing a pool is offered a wide and varied choice of installations to suit every site requirement and family need.

Pool design is no longer restricte dto rectangular shape. Interesting free-form pools can now be built at reasonable cost, thanks to the development of "guniting," a process by which sand, cement and water are sprayed under high pressure to form the pool shell.

New lines of plastic fittings and equipment are winning enthusiastic acceptance. These new plastics offer lower cost, greater permanence and safety, and are easily maintained. Plastic pool liners, fabricated to shape and size of the desired pool, make any structure water-tight and eliminate periodic pool paintings.

Another development is the increasing use of stainless steel for deck and filter equipment.

Other break-throughs in the field have simplified the task of keeping pools clean. The newer methods are for more efficient, and in the future lies the exciting possibility of a truly self-cleaning pool.

Livestock

CALGARY (CP) — Light receipts at the Calgary Public Stockyards Friday were mainly replacement cattle. The balance was cows and butcher steers of mixed quality. There were 250 cattle and 10 calves on offer in active trade.

All grades of butcher steers and heifers were closing steady to week's advance. Cows were closing steady to the week's decline.

Bulls were steady. Replacement cattle were scarce and in keen demand at firm prices. There were insufficient stock or butcherweight calves to establish a market.

Hogs were unsold Thursday and no light sows were on offer. Heavy sows and lambs were steady.

Choice steers 25.25-25.90, good 23.75-25. Choice heifers 23-23.90, good 21.50-22.75.

Good cows 16-16.50. Good bulls 18-19.25.

Ex-Trail Coach May Join Leafs

Kromm Interested In Playing Here

There is a strong possibility that Bobby Kromm, firey ex-coach of the Trail Smoke Eaters, may play for the Nelson Maple Leafs if the team is re-organized and enters the Western International Hockey League this season.

In an interview last night, Kromm, commenting on a rumor that he may coach or play for Nelson this year, said that although he has not been officially approached by anyone, he was "definitely interested" in the possibility of playing for the Maple Leafs.

"If Nelson does form a team I would most certainly be interested in playing if the right party contacted me," he said.

The right party would probably mean a member of the yet unformed Maple Leaf executive

"If everything could be worked out and if the Nelson team could make it worth my while, I would definitely be interested in helping the club as a player, not as coach."

"There are plenty of good men in Nelson capable of handling a team and I wouldn't mind playing under any of them," Kromm said.

Asked what he thought about the re-organization of the league the former Trail coach said he was "glad to see Spokane back in action" as an amateur club and he would also "like to see Nelson back in the circuit."

Kromm said he felt Nelson could "do all right" if it joined the league comprised of Trail Smoke Eaters, Rossland Warriors, Kimberley Dynamiters and Spokane Jets.

"Nelson is too good a hockey town to let senior hockey die. I know by my experience, by playing and coaching there against former clubs." He added, "there is no reason why Nelson should not be a good hockey town again."

Kromm mentioned the possibilit, of a booster club being started to help revive interest in the Maple Leafs, publicize the senior hockey situation in the city and get some definite action started.

Commenting on the recent break-up of the Smoke Eaters, Kromm said he felt there were "some who wanted to break up the team." The general opinion of observers seems to be that the club is too strong for the rest of the league, but Kromm said, "I figure the other clubs should be building up and trying to attain the calibre of a team that Trail did." This would make a stronger and more competitive league."

However, Kromm's chances of joining the Maple Leafs, or the chance of the club even being formed this year, seem slim.

If a performance bond is not posted with the WIHL by August 3, the team will not be allowed to enter the circuit this year.

Kromm said he didn't know of this development but hoped something was done soon."

"I hate to be out of hockey, but I'm not considering playing or coaching anywhere but in Nelson this year," and he added, "I feel I could help the Maple Leafs and I would consider any offer made by the team if it wants my services."

Trust Money Available For Senior Hockey Team

Over $400 is being held in trust for any person, or group of persons, interested in organizing a senior hockey team in Nelson.

Howie Hornby, promoter and organizer of the 1963 Midsummer hockey game between Nelson Maple Leafs and Trail Smoke Eaters, announced Friday the $452.30 net profit from the game will be turned over to anyone who organizes a Nelson entry in the Western International Hockey League this season.

If the proceeds from the game are not used for senior hockey purposes, they will be turned over to the Nelson Minor Hockey Association to purchase protective headgear for minor hockey players.

Concerning the Midsummer game, Hornby said he would like to thank all fans who attended as well as all persons whose support and effort made the game, "one of the most successful we have had."

"I would especially like to thank Johnny Bower and Metro Prystai for taking part in the game, Art Misisco and Len Kaiser of Trail for the part they played in helping solve our equipment problems, and the Trail Intermediate Hockey team for the use of its equipment," said Hornby.

Smoke Eaters used the Intermediate club's gear for the contest after it was learned it would cost $50 to use the Smoke Eater hockey team's own equipment for the game.

Following is the financial statement from the midsummer game:

Hawkins Continues To Lead Tourney

By JERRY LISKA

CHICAGO (AP)—Long-hexed Fred Hawkins continued his blazing mastery of the tricky Beverly Country Club course Friday with a three-under-par 68, giving the lean Texan from El Paso a sizzling 36-hole total of 135 at the halfway mark of the 60th Western Open Golf tournament. Hawkins opened Thursday with a pacesetting 67.

That put Hawkins—whose only official PGA triumph in 16 years was the 1956 Oklahoma City Open—four strokes ahead of a pair of rallying stars, U.S. Open Champion Julius Boros and inimitable Sam Snead, who fired 67 and 68, and consistent Bob McCallister, whose 69-70 also gave him 139.

A third star perking in the second round of the 72 - hole chase for the $10,000 top swag in the $50,000 meet was leading money winner Arnold Palmer, rebounding to a 67 after a shaky opening 73.

On the other hand, National PGA and Masters champ, Jack Nicklaus, slumped to 76 after a 69 and fell to a one-over-par 143.

Palmer played in the same threesome with Snead and Art Wall, who shot even par 71, and the intermingling of Arnie's Army and Snead's Faithful produced a gallery including most of the announced attendance of 13,100.

BOROS BIRDIES

Boros, 43, whose $65,546 this season tops previous campaign earnings in his PGA career, got his 67 after an opening 72 mainly with a hot streak of four successive birdies from the 10th through the 13th.

Snead, 51, after an opening 71, nailed his 67 by staying out of trouble as he hit 16 greens.

Bracketed with Palmer at 140, five strokes off the pace, were Lionel Hebert, 1957 PGA champion, with 71-69, and Joe Campbell, former NCAA champion from Purdue, with 68-72.

Hawkins required only 26 putts. He used 23 taps Thursday, giving him a total of only 49 putts for 36 holes.

Mexico Takes Davis Cup Series Openers

By DENNIS ORCHARD

VANCOUVER (CP) — Mexico took two opening singles matches Friday afternoon and threatened a sweep over Canada in their best-of-five Davis Cup series.

In the day's opening match, Rafael Osuna of Mexico defeated Canada's No. 2 man Francois Godbout of Waterloo, Que., in straight sets 6-3, 6-1 and 6-2.

Then Antonio Palafox came on to whip Harry Fauquier of Toronto, also in straight sets, 9-7, 6-4 and 6-1.

Mexico should clinch the series and enter the second round of the American-zone play with a victory in the doubles match today.

Mexico's doubles team will be the same pair, Osuna and Palafox, who this month took the unofficial world doubles championship at Wimbledon.

Canada was to use Keith Carpenter of Montreal and Fauquier. Godbout was suffering from a foot ailment but team captain Jim Macken said Godbout lost his place on the team due to Fauquier's great play Friday afternoon.

FOOT BOTHERS

Godbout said the chronic condition flared up Thursday and bothered him during his match with Osuna.

If the doubles match is won by Mexico, the two singles matches still will be played but will only be a formality.

Outlaws to Play Doubleheader At Nakusp Sunday

Nelson Outlaws, undefeated leaders of the Kaslo, Slocan, Arrow Lakes Baseball League, travel to Nakusp for a league double-header Sunday.

Outlaws have yet to meet the Nakusp squad, winner of its last three outings. The first scheduled meeting between the teams was rained out.

Nelson, forced to go the distance before taking close victories in its last two games, will be shorthanded for the weekend twin bill.

Les Hufty, the club's star right hander, will miss the games as will outfielder Frank Hufty and first sacker, Roy Hammond.

Outlaw coach, Ron Nash, announced Friday that his club was forced to turn down a weekend doubleheader with Kimberley Seniors because of the previous league commitments at Nakusp.

He said however, it is hoped Nelson baseball fans will get another chance to see the Kimberley squad in action here at a later date.

Nash also said a home and home series with Creston has been arranged for the near future.

The number of cigarettes smoked per head of population in Canada tripled between 1943 and 1963.

Rossland Warriors Sign Seth Martin, Dave Rusnell

Rossland Warriors, a member of the four team Western International Hockey League, announced Friday that the club has signed goal tender Seth Martin and forward Dave Rusnell for the 1963-64 season.

"Mac" McCann, president of the Warriors, said Rossland has secured the releases of Martin and Rusnell, both formerly with the Trail Smoke Eaters, from the Trail club.

The newly acquired players will join another pair of ex-Smokies Pinoke McIntyre and Hal Jones signed earlier this month by the Warriors. Jones joined the club as coach.

Rossland officials hope the foursome, all ex-WIHL regulars and all with world hockey tournament experience, will form the backbone of a strong contender in the re-organized league.

The other members of the league are Trail Smoke Eaters, Kimberley Dynamiters and Spokane Jets.

TRAIL GIRL WINS EVENT AT B.C. MEET

NEW WESTMINSTER — Wilf Wedman, 15, of Vancouver jumped five feet, 11¾ inches Friday to set a Canadian midget high jump record in the British Columbia age class track and field championship.

Wedman's jump broke the Canadian record of five feet, 9¾ inches previously held by Stan Metcalfe of Regina.

A B.C. native mark was set by Bev Patterson of Burnaby who threw the shot 37 feet, 6¾ inches, to break the midget shotput mark of 34 feet, four inches held by Kimberley's Gloria Seradick.

Trail's Gil Guillaume won the juvenile women's board jump with a leap of 18 feet, 11 inches, well short of the record.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X B
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

MARKET TRENDS

NEW YORK (AP)—Late buying Friday enabled the stock market to post its second advance in 13 sessions as trading shrank to the lightest pace of 1963.

Volume dropped to 2,520,000 shares from Thursday's 3,700,000 and was the lowest since the Oct. 12, 1962, session when 2,020,000 changed hands.

The dull trading reflected extreme caution, brokers said, and this was heightened by the uncertainties of the weekend ahead and the fact that there have been 14 successive "blue Mondays" in the Dow Jones industrial average.

Steady investment demand for oils was the outstanding feature of the day. The big oil companies remained in favor due to record profits for Standard Oil (New Jersey) and a bright earnings picture for many others.

Doubts about the economy, due to the overhanging rail strike threat—merely postponed but not yet settled—was increased early in the day by an eight per cent decline in machine tool orders from May to June.

Later in the day, however, came news that living costs in the United States for June took their longest leap forward in nine months. Rising prices are always bullish for the stock market.

The Dow Jones industrials advanced 1.67 to 689.38. The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose .8 to 264.8. Of 1,259 issues traded, 570 advanced and 414 declined.

Among Canadian issues, Aluminium Ltd., Granby Mining and International Nickel each lost ⅛, Canadian Pacific ¼ and McIntyre Porcupine ⅞. Dome Mines was up ¼.

Prices on the American Exchange were mixed. Scurry Rainbow Oil and Canadian Javelin gained 1¼.

TORONTO (CP) — Prices shifted during slow trading on the stock market Friday.

The industrial index declined 1.31 after wandering about on the minus side all day. Base metals also fell more than a point.

Abitibi dipped 1½ to 43 in main industrial losers and CPR and Walker - Gooderham declined ⅜. Losses of ¼ went to Calgary Power, Bell Telephone, Dominion Electric, Industrial Acceptance and Moore.

On the up side, Royal Bank advanced 1¼ to 75¼, B.C. Telephone climbed ⅝ and Trans-Canada Pipe Lines ½.

Senior base metals slipped, Falconbridge one to 57, Noranda dropped ¼ and International Nickel fell ⅛.

Canadian Delhi rose 50 cents to $4.15 and Medallion advanced 10 to $3.25 in western oils.

On index, industrials dipped 1.31 to 615.23; golds fell .11 to 89.41; base metals slipped 1.26 to 203.17 and western oils rose .14 to 113.67. Volume was 2,192,000 shares compared with 2,113,000 at the same time Thursday.

MONTREAL (CP) — The stock market slumped Friday in the slowest trading in many months. At the close of the Montreal and Canadian exchanges, prices were lower in every sector.

Senior base metals were mixed. Hollinger and Hudson Bay Mining were better by ¼ and Consolidated Mining added ⅛. Falconbridge fell a full point, International Nickel dropped ½ and Aluminium was down ⅜.

In utilities, B.C. Power and B.C. Phone both gained ¼. Quebec Phone lost ⅜ and Bell Telephone dropped ¼.

Canada Steamship Lines climbed 1¼, Imperial Oil was up ⅜ and Distillers Corp. added ¼.

Steels were weaker, Standard Structural fell ½ and Dominion Foundries was off ¼.

Banks were mixed, staging a slight rally late in the day. Royal added ⅝ and Provinciale and Montreal both gained ¼. Nova Scotia and Imperial were down ½ and Toronto-Dominion dropped ⅛.

Dominion Tar was off ⅛ and Foundation fell ¼.

In mining issues, South Dufault was most active, climbing four cents and Dumagami gained 10 cents. Mercury - Chipman fell one cent and Equity added a like amount.

Weekly Bond Review

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Money market securities improved substantially in price this week.

Dealer short-covering and the United States announcement of a partial exemption to Canada in regard to the proposed tax on foreign securities placed in the U.S. market, sparked the improvement.

Most issues under three years improved more than one full point Monday and closed the week up 1½ points.

Government of Canada 3¾, 1965, closed at 98.60-65 and 3½, 1966, at 97.95-98.

Yield on the 91-day treasury bills was 3.41 per cent compared with last week's 3.48; while the 182-day bills averaged 3.56 compared with 3.68.

Long - term governments recovered two points Monday. Canada 4½, 1983, were quoted at 92¼-¾ and the 5, 1988, at 97¼-¾.

Provincial securities were inactive. Ontario Hydro 5, 1983, were quoted at 95½-96.

The corporate bond market was relatively quiet. Two fairly active issues were Weston 5½, 1983, quoted at 99-100, and Rio Algom 5¾, 1983, quoted at 98½.

CLAIM REFUTED

TEL AVIV (AP)—An Israeli Army spokesman describes as a lie a Cairo claim that United Arab Republic fighters shot down an Israeli plane in a dogfight over the Sinai Desert Tuesday. The spokesman said the two Israeli planes returned safely to base after they were ordered not to pursue two U.A.R. MiG-17s that violated Israeli air space. Previously the Israelis said the MiGs fled after one of them was hit.

Gov't Steps Into Fisheries Dispute

VANCOUVER (CP) — The British Columbia government has informally stepped into a fisheries dispute that has made nearly 10,000 workers idle on the British Columbia coast.

The action came as signs of dessention appeared within the ranks of the striking fishermen's union and the Indian association associated with it in the almost two-week-old strike over wages and fish prices.

Although prefacing his action with a statement that the strike cannot be technically called a labor dispute, labor Minister Peterson Thursday night called a meeting of both sides for this morning here.

The chairman would be conciliation officer Reg Clements.

ARRIVED UNANNOUNCED

The minister made his announcement after a delegation of striking fishermen, including members of the United Fishermen and Allied Workers Union (Ind.), from Vancouver Island arrived in Victoria unannounced and demanded he step into the dispute.

The minister later met with union and management then announced the meeting.

He said the labor department has no official jurisdiction because the strike is actually a contract dispute over the price of fish between buyers and vendors. He did not mention shoreworkers who are demanding a wage increase.

Reports of dessention came from the delegation and from a fishermen's meeting at Prince Rupert. In both cases some delegates said that strikers should have the right to vote on a settlement offer made by the Fisheries Association of B.C., representing employers.

Trade Minister Bonner, who met the island delegation with Mr. Peterson, said later that there is increasing concern from "ordinary people" that they have no opportunity of expressing their opinion.

The same thing had happened before but the situation appeared more critical this time. While the strike continued other countries were reaping the benefits of bumper catches.

American fishermen are reported making large catches of salmon heading for the Fraser River here while Canadian fishermen sit idly by.

Larry Grais, a Nanaimo member of the delegation, said about 80 per cent of the fishermen he talked to wanted government intervention.

He and Bryan Berg, also of Nanaimo, said the union refused to let members vote on the new employer offer.

Said Mr. Berg: "We want the democratic right to vote. Our main concern is that we feel there is something wrong with the union and they are not doing their job for the members."

READ RED BOOKS

He said there is Communist influence in the union.

When a member had gone to Vancouver after getting in trouble with the union for moving his boat while the strike was in progress officials just sat around "reading Communist magazines."

The Prince Rupert meeting of more than 400 striking fishermen and representatives of the Native Brotherhood of B.C., representing Indian fishermen, passed a vote of confidence in the union central committee and asked for the fastest possible settlement.

Union public relations officer Tom Parkin said the meeting discussed problems that had come up since the strik started.

Some fishermen said after the meeting the union should have permitted a vote on the company offer.

The fishermen would not permit their name sto be used. One said the strike had turned into a capitalist-Communist battle.

Some said there was talk of asking the union to hold a vote on whether to continue the strike.

The employers' last offer is 34 cents a pound for sockeye salmon, 24 for coho, and 10 for pinks. The union is demanding 36 cents for sockeye, 30 for cohoe and 15 for pinks. Last year's prices were 33, 24 and 11.5 cents.

The union is also asking a 4½-per-cent wage increase for shoreworkers who have a base pay ranging from $1.61 an hour to $1.87. The company has offered three per cent.

Meanwhile, a British Columbia Supreme Court justice has reserved decision on an application for an injunction which would have the effect of lifting a union ban on halibut fishing, a fishery not involved in the strike.

Farmer Blasts Milk Increase

CLOVERDALE (CP) — A farmer with the needs of the "working stiff" at heart is bucking a provincial trend to increase milk prices.

Warren Crawford, an independent producer-vendor here, said Thursday he will leave his price at 25 cents a quart, one cent less than the recently-increased price on the Lower Mainland.

The price is also being raised to 26 cents in the Okanagan and West Kootenay.

"Fluid milk should be selling for 23 cents a quart," Mr. Crawford said.

"The fellow who is using milk is the working stiff with a big family of kids, who can't afford the increased price. When milk could be sold for less, I don't see why the price should keep being jacked up."

BLAMES ACT

He blamed the Milk Industries Act of 1956 and the Milk Control Board for the increased prices.

"The Act created a surplus of milk in the Fraser Valley when it gave farmers quotas based on their total production of milk rather than on market capacity.

"The surplus above the quota was turned into powdered, condensed milk and other by-products which brought lower returns. The increased price for a bottle of milk at the door is going to subsidize these manufactured milk products."

Discussing the quotas based on production, Mr. Crawford said that after the act was passed farmers increased their production so their quotas would also be increased.

LOWER RETURNS

"When it was found that the fluid market wouldn't take any more milk the excess was turned into manufactured products from which the farmer realized lower returns.

"With the increased production costs and the lower returns on the milk used in manufactured products the farmer had to raise the price of fluid milk to offset the other costs.

"So the consumer pays for the act's error when it set quotas on production rather than on fluid sales to consumers.

"In an attempt to cure this situation the board brought in an equalizations system under which a farmer pays 25 per cent on his returns into the milk board to be distributed amongst farmers who are also shipping to a manufactured market.

"This way, a farmer dealing only in fluid milk receives more than somebody shipping 45 per cent to the fluid market and 55 per cent to a manufacturer. The 25-per-cent is divided among these farmers to offset losses.

COULD SELL FOR LESS

"In this way both the consumer and farmer dealing only in fluid milk are subsidizing the powdered and evaporated milk business, even though they don't have anything to do with the market.

"Given the quota and unequalized return I had before the Milk Industries Act in 1956 I could sell milk for 23 cents a quart and still make a profit.

"The whole set-up is a vicious circle, and with higher production costs it's driving us out of business."

NANAIMO (CP)—The chairman of the B.C. Milk Board said Thursday night a new board order on the price of milk virtually changes nothing.

E. C. Carr said after a meeting with directors of the Vancouver Island Dairymen's Association that the order embodies former orders in a simplified form.

The dairymen had met with Mr. Carr to seek clarification of the order under which the milk price to producers is set at a previous month's surplus price plus $3 per hundred.

"A new order over a period of five to 10 years will be better for all B.C. dairymen generally," Mr. Carr said.

WINNIPEG (CP) — Nineteen Manitoba Boy scouts left by train Thursday night on the first leg of a trip to Marathon, Greece, to join 17,000 other boy scouts for a month-long world jamboree. A total of 340 Canadian scouts are to take the trip.

Prairie News

WINNIPEG (CP) —The Manitoba government announced Thursday it is working on a subsidization plan to help industry train unskilled employees. The aim of the plan is to help business meet problems created by the government's decision to increase the province's minimum wage by nine cents an hour.

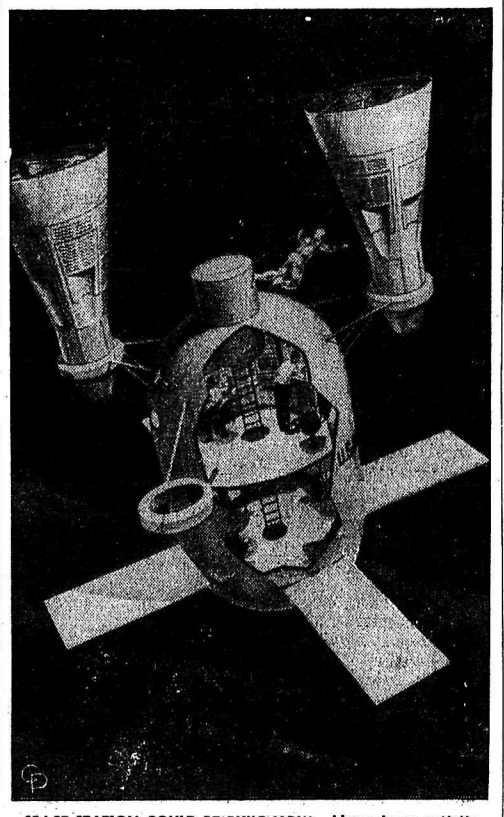
ESTEVAN, Sask. (CP) —Margaret Dantow, 24, a Calgary registered nurse, was killed Thursday when her sports car went out of control and overturned in a ditch 15 miles southeast of here near the U.S. border. She was alone and no inquest will be held. Her parents live in Saskatoon.

TORNADO STRIKES

PLAMONDON, Alta. (CP) — Highway crews were clearing roads Thursday in the wake of tornado which smashed through this district 100 miles northeast of Edmonton Monday. Buildings and trees had to be cleared from the highways. Some telephone lines still were not in operation.

CHILD DROWNS

DENCROSS, Man. (CP) — Philip Jacob Hofer, 5, of the Greenwald Hutterite colony near here drowned Thursday evening when he fell into the swift-flowing Brokenhead River. He was reported to have slipped while playing on the bank with five other children. Dencross is 35 miles northeast of Winnipeg.



SPACE STATION COULD BE BUILT NOW—Above is an artist's conception of a four-man space station which, it was said in Washington, could be built by the United States now. The space station would be boosted into orbit unmanned, followed by two men each in a pair of Gemini capsules that would dock in baskets attached to the station. The men could live inside without protective clothing. The photo is from the Air Force/Space Digest.
