Immigration Inquiry Slated

Charge Immigrants Kept in Jail Without Reason; to Be Investigated

By RONALD LEBEL

OTTAWA (CP) — A formal inquiry is being launched to investigate charges by opposition MPs and certain lawyers that the immigration department has kept many immigrants in jail for weeks and months without real justification.

The surprise announcement was made in the Commons Thursday by Immigration Minister Rene Tremblay, who has been under fire for several weeks over his department's handling of immigrants fighting deportation to their native countries for major and minor offences.

When Opposition Leader Diefenbaker repeated his request for an independent inquiry Thursday, Mr. Tremblay said the government has decided to appoint a one-man commission to study all allegations against the department.

The minister said the commissioner — not an official of the immigration department — will be named early next week. His terms of reference would be published at the same time. The report of the inquiry would be referred to a Commons committee for detailed study.

Mr. Tremblay added that he will supply detailed information about various protracted deportation cases when his department's spending estimates come up for debate again shortly.

CHARGES VOLATION

Mr. Diefenbaker charged that the immigration department has been acting in an arbitary way and violating the traditions of Magna Carta. The ancient document stipulated that justice shall not be denied anyone, nor delayed.

He said the latest deportation case to come to light, that of a 20-year-old Greek seaman named Josif Vergakis, was "another very sordid example of administrative lawlessness."

Vergakis had been held in custody from May 6 to June 14 in Vancouver for refusing to answer questions even though he had been prepared to put up bail, Mr. Diefenbaker said.

Mr. Tremblay said this was not correct. He said Vergakis was detained from April 28 to May 6 only and has been free on $1,000 bail awaiting trial on a charge of entering Canada illegally.

An immigration department official said June 9 that 17 Greeks and one Spaniard were being detained in jail in Toronto alone. Most are charged with jumping their ships and entering Canada by stealth.

Mr. Tremblay told the Commons May 28 that 16 immigrants were then in custody across Canada awaiting deportation for illegal entry or other offences of immigration laws.

Need to "Go to Britain" On Amendment Deplored

OTTAWA (CP)—Quebec's Premier Lesage blocked Conservative plans for a contributory national pension plan, Opposition Leader Diefenbaker said Thursday in the Commons.

The Conservative chief also contended that Canadian failure to achieve a unified country is responsible for the fact that Canada has to go "cap in hand" to Britain for permission to amend its own constitution.

Mr. Diefenbaker launched his political attack as the House began debating a resolution to seek British parliamentary permission for a constitutional amendment that will allow survivor benefits under the proposed Canada Pension Plan.

All the provinces have agreed to the change — the Quebec legislature approved it — and the government has interrupted the flag debate in the Commons to introduce the resolution. Speed is vital because the British election expected in October could lead shortly to dissolution of the Parliament at Westminster.

Prime Minister Pearson said the need to go to Britain for amending permission is obsolete and inappropriate but "all we've got at the moment."

The prime minister said that Section 94a of the British North America Act will be changed to make clear that the federal government has the power to legislate for supplying benefits to surviving or disabled persons irrespective of age. That was the only major change, he said.

An amendment had been necessary in 1951 when the flat-rate pension system—now paying $75 monthly at age 70 and over—was established.

Stanley Knowles (NDP—Winnipeg North Centre) said the number of delays in pension plan planning are to be regretted.

Mr. Diefenbaker said it was a "unique irony" to halt the flag debate and talk of national symbols to apply to the British Parliament for permission to amend the Canadian constitution.

The Conservative government had tried to repatriate the constitution, he said. Starting in 1960 in talks with the provinces, it had come close to success.

There had been no justification in the last 40 years for the need to ask Westminster for permission to amend the British North America Act. It was a position unique in the Commonwealth.

The Conservatives while in office had a pension plan ready but Quebec was the only province to block it. Premier Lesage, he said, took the "untenable" position that a province has the right to be first given full details of the federal government's intentions.

SUGGESTS FORMULA

Mr. Knowles proposed a formula for speeding repatriation of the Canadian constitution.

He suggested legislation by the Canadian Parliament declaring the British North America Act and existing amendments to be statutes of Canada. Then, in future, the Canadian Parliament could make changes as it wished without having to go to Britain.

The provinces would need to be consulted first but none of them ever had opposed the principle of repatriation, he said. Objections had been aimed at some proposed amendment tied in with the act of repatriation.

Mr. Knowles said that under his formula future amendments to the BNA Act would take the form of an address to the Governor-General rather than an address to the Queen, as in this case.

. . . And That's Something!

MANILA (AP) — Acting Postmaster Belarmino P. Navarro and Philippine newspapermen are at swords' point over his action in banning an issue of Time magazine containing a color reproduction of Goya's The Naked Maja.

Navarro said the picture was obscene. The journalists criticized the ban, asserting the picture was universally recognized as a work of art. They called his action censorship and a threat to a free press.

Navarro struck back with a harsh attack on newspapermen in general.

"Journalists," he concluded, "are far worse than all the crooks in government put together."

200 Prisoners Ordered Freed At Oakalla

VICTORIA (CP) — Attorney-General Robert Bonner Thursday ordered the release of close to 200 prisoners serving terms in Oakalla jail for drunkenness.

Mr. Bonner said the action follows a ruling by Chief Justice J. O. Wilson of the B.C. Supreme Court quashing the conviction of a Vancouver woman jailed for 20 days by Magistrate Douglas Hume of Vancouver March 9.

Justice Wilson found no information of the charge had been given to the court by the Vancouver prosecutors' office before the plea of Mrs. Winnifred Johnson was taken.

Normal procedure is that details of a charge are read to a court.

Mr. Bonner said an investigation by his department showed the Vancouver prosecutor's office had been skipping the formality for "some duration."

The attorney-general said sentences of those to be freed range from a few days to several months.

"In the circumstances these people would be entitled to be released if they made some application," he said. "It could probably be demonstrated they were illegally detained."

Mr. Bonner said he was waiving the necessity for any appeal to the courts, although any resulting civil claims would be up to the individuals involved.

He said the prosecutor's office has agreed with his decision and has corrected its procedures.

SEX STUDY?

NANAIMO (CP) — The Nanaimo District Education Council is considering undertaking the study of sex education courses in schools. A. U. W. Gascoyne, council chairman, said the council will have achieved its purpose even if it finds the problem too difficult to discuss.

Cease-Fire Arranged On Cyprus

MANSOURA (AP) — Reinforced Swedish UN patrols arranged a cease-fire Thursday after Greek and Turkish Cypriot villagers on Cyprus' northwest coast exchanged fire off and on for six hours.

The UN reported casualties were relatively light—one Turkish Cypriot fighter killed and a Turkish woman wounded.

President Archbishop Makarios' Greek-Cypriot government said seven Greeks were wounded in this action, an extension of trouble that broke out Monday.

The Swedes seized two mortars and one bazooka from a Turkish emplacement after the Turks opened mortar fire from the coast on a Greek village in the pine-covered hills above. Turkish leaders objected to UN interference and threatened to demand that the Swedes be removed from the area.

Swedish reinforcement brought the UN strength in the area to about 150 men. The UN troops, who are unmistakable in their bright blue berets, were fired on, but were unable to say whether the shots came from Greek or Turkish villages.

11 CHARGES—FOUR YEARS

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Robert Readman Keough, 42, of Vancouver was sentenced Thursday to four years in penitentiary after he pleaded guilty to 11 charges involving worthless cheques, stolen cars, fraud and false pretence in seven Canadian cities.

Last February Keough stole a car from a Vancouver rental firm and drove it to the East Coast by way of Las Vegas, Nev. He arrived in London, Ont., where he was arrested May 1 on the false pretences charges.

The court was told Keough graduated from New York state University in Ithica, N.Y., in 1947, in "economics, specializing in transportation."

Internal Strife Flares in IWA

VANCOUVER (CP) — The smouldering split between opposing factions in the International Woodworkers of America (CLC) broke out into the open again Thursday.

Jack Moore, IWA regional council president, and four other council officers said in a statement that some leaders are trying to undermine the union's strength.

They warned that this disruption will lead to defeat of democracy in the IWA and they will not be blackmailed into deviating from the decision of the membership.

Plastic House Creates Stir

WINNIPEG (CP) — A startling concept in Canadian construction — a plastic house — was unveiled Thursday at the Red River Exhibition.

The house, nicknamed The Casseta by its manufacturer, is a thin-shell structural form, moulded under pressure, of polyester combined with a foam plastic sandwich core. The builder claims it will not rust or deteriorate, is virtually maintenance-free and has great strength.

The house is a flexible dwelling unit which can be used as a one-room apartment or combined with a similar unit to form an exciting complex of many variations. Each unit costs approximately $2300.

The basic unit is 11 feet, six inches high by 15 feet wide at the front. Its sweeping lines taper gracefully to a 10-foot width at the rear. Length is 31 feet at the roof line and 24 feet at the base.

The ends are cut back and enclosed in glass to provide a dramatic architectural effect. Each unit encloses a living area of 320 square feet.

The main Casseta display at the Red River Exhibition is a combination of two units and a connecting section of attractive curved roof to complete a small home.

The centre section contains the main entrance, bathroom and screened kitchen fitted with a breakfast nook. One unit has two large bedrooms and the second contains a dining room and living room.

Parliament

By The Canadian Press

A move to call the editor of the Ottawa Citizen before a Commons committee was defeated 107-94.

Terry Nugent (PC — Edmonton-Strathcona) based his motion on an editorial which he said contained "deliberate lies" and insulted MPs.

Immigration Minister Tremblay announced a one-man commission will study charges his department has detained immigrants unlawfully.

Opposition Leader Diefenbaker assailed the fact Canada still is unable to amend its own constitution, the BNA Act.

OAPs Seek Pension Hike

PENTICTON (CP) — British Columbia old age pensioners unanimously endorsed Thursday a series of resolutions calling for an increase in the old age pension.

Typical was one from North Burnaby which called for an increase in the $75-pension to $100 a month retroactive to Jan. 30, 1964.

Others asked for a pension increase to $85 and some for a pension of $75 with free medical treatment for all over the age of 65.

All were adopted and passed to the executive for action. The annual convention of the B.C. Old Age Pensioners Association opened here Wednesday, the first time the organization has convened anywhere outside of coast cities.

Close to 150 pensioners from throughout the province are attending.

CBC Financial Affairs Come Under Scrutiny

By DON HANRIGHT

OTTAWA (CP)—Another hard look at CBC affairs was begun Thursday—this time by the public accounts committee of the House of Commons.

On the motion of Douglas Harkness (PC—Calgary North), the committee decided to call CBC officials for questioning on the financial affairs of the publicly-owned corporation.

Date of their appearance was left to the committee's steering group.

Mr. Harkness' motion specifically seeks information on what, if anything, the CBC has done about recommendations on management and organization made last year in the fourth report of the Glassco royal commission on government organization.

"You can say without fear of contradiction that the CBC has become the world's most-investigated broadcasting agency," a corporation official said when he heard of the decision.

ONE EVERY 18 MONTHS

By the CBC's own count, since its inception in 1932 it has been examined by three royal commissions, 16 parliamentary committees, plus the recent so-called "troika" whose report led in turn to appointment of the new Fowler committee on broadcasting.

Completed studies average out to about one every 18 months.

The troika comprised CBC President Alphonse Ouimet, Dr. Andrew Stewart, chairman of the Board of Broadcast Governors; and Don Jamieson, president of the Canadian Association of Broadcasters.

Its job was to define the industry's views on major problems.

As soon as the troika's report was tabled in the Commons, State Secretary Lamontagne announced a new advisory committee on the subject.

It is headed by R. M. Fowler, 57, of Montreal, who chaired the 1956 royal commission on broadcasting.

In the Glassco's commission's report, the need for extensive management reorganization of the CBC was underlined. However, the commission itself did not say precisely how this should be done.

"Incoherence" in CBC organization was reported by the commission. It said that for lack of positive goals, the CBC management and organization had "proved unequal to the task of securing the orderly conduct of operations in the fact of pressures brought about by rapid expansions."

Neon Light Flag Barometer of Times

REGINA (CP)—It weighs 100 pounds and it flashes. It's a distinctive Canada flag designed by Regina artist Ted Godwin.

The flag stands on steel legs and is made up of neon lights.

The design is of a single maple leaf, vertical blue bars on the edges and 10 lights surrounding the maple leaf and representing the 10 provinces of Canada.

The color and intensity of the 10 lights can be varied with the changing fortunes and moods of the provinces, says Godwin, who has the flag in front of his home. Blue can signify a time of disaster for a province and gold a time of economic buoyancy.

The single maple leaf represents Canadian unity.

The flag flashes on and off at variable speed.

"Slow in time of peace and fast in war to keep the national anger up," Godwin says.

"Any flag is good as long as you believe in it," he adds. "This one is contemporaneous with the times — the age of electronics."

Gordon Mum On CNR Trucking

OTTAWA (CP) — Donald Gordon, president of the Canadian National Railways, declined Thursday to discuss the CNR's entry into the highway trucking business.

He told the Commons railway committee that Canadian trucking industry is contesting in a Quebec court action the CNR's power to operate a for-hire trucking business except in relation to its rail services.

On the advice of CNR lawyers, he said he should not give any answers which may bear on the court case. The MPs accepted his view.

Mr. Gordon said his testimony before previous Commons committees was capable of misinterpretation. He added the trucking industry had used his testimony in cases before the Quebec transport board and was also trying to bring it before the Quebec court.

"Our progress in the trucking business, operated in association with our railway operations and designed to give the shipping public the best transportation service possible, has been significant," he declared.

Industry Urged Aid Education

TORONTO (CP) — A leading Canadian industrialist Thursday called for greater contributions by business to higher education and said that if business does not increase its contribution, government could force it to do so.

A. A. Cumming, president of Union Carbide Canada Ltd., and the Canadian Manufacturers Association, said "if business is apathetic towards higher education and its rising cost, then government has the power to make it contribute," through higher corporation taxes.

Mr. Cumming was speaking to the annual meeting of the Business Newspapers Association of Canada here. Text of his speech was given to the press prior to delivery.

"The business community must face up to the fact that it has to give money, and big money, to universities in the next 10 years," Mr. Cumming said, adding that "it will need a complete re-evaluation of our present position and a resolution in what we think we can spare."

NEW YORK (CP) — Canadian dollar up 1-32 at 92 33-64 in terms of U.S. funds. Week ago 92 17-32.

GETS 14 DAYS FOR IMPAIRED DRIVING

KAMLOOPS (CP) — Roscoe Everett Deal, convicted Wednesday on his first impaired driving charge, has been sentenced to 14 days in jail.

Magistrate D. M. MacDonald, in sentencing Deal, said the danger to human life that resulted from the offence, left the court with no alternative but to assess a short jail term.

Magistrate MacDonald also placed Deal on a one-year's bond to use his driver's licence for employment purposes only.

Defence counsel Patrick Dohm filed notice he intends to appeal the sentence on grounds it was excessive and contrary to law.

Prior to Deal's case, Magistrate MacDonald had warned he would impose jail terms on first offences involving impaired driving, unless the case was minor in nature or involved a physically or mentally ill defendant.

Quebec Women Gain "Full Legal Capacity"

QUEBEC (CP) — A bill giving a majority of married women what the provincial government calls "full legal capacity" received royal assent Thursday in a ceremony in the Quebec legislature.

The legislation, which comes into effect July 1, gives most married women wider legal powers than they have had in the past.

It affects women with a marriage contract — a document signed before marriage and which makes husband and wife separate as to property. It is estimated that 60 per cent of women married in Quebec have a contract.

The government says legislation will come later to cover women without a contract.

Commission Reports on Health Services Today

OTTAWA (CP) — A lengthy and detailed study of Canada's health services will be climaxed today with recommendations from a seven-member royal commission on how to assure all Canadians the best medical care.

The commission's report has been two years in the writing following almost a year of cross-country hearings in which the main issues were set out.

Basically, the issue boiled down to whether Canada should have an all-out, tax-supported medicare program under full government control or one in which government involvement is strictly limited.

The medical profession and business organizations generally argued in favor of the government providing only for citizens unable to provide medical care for themselves. Organized labor and groups representing large numbers of consumers called for a government-run scheme to cover everybody.

But there were several related subjects to be considered —mental illness and facilities for treating it and medical education and the doctor-population ratio.

The commission was appointed June 20, 1961, under the chairmanship of Emmett Hall, at that time Saskatchewan's chief justice but since then named a judge of the Supreme Court of Canada.

Mr. Justice Hall and his six commissioners, given broad terms of reference by the former Progressive Conservative government, are reporting to Liberal government in a main report of more than 900 pages containing their key recommendations.

Prime Minister Pearson told the Commons Thursday he would table the report at 1 p.m. today.

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—A Yale student emerged from a ventilation shaft on campus after graduation this week with a strange story to tell — he's lived in the shaft for seven months.

"It was a little cold," said Allan Kornfeld, 22, of Tulsa, Okla. "In the winter I used an electric blanket. But ventilation wasn't a problem."

His living quarters for most of the year consisted of a brick passageway feeding air into the squash court in Silliman College, one of Yale's 12 residential colleges. The blind passageway was about 10 feet high, eight feet wide, and 40 feet long.

University officials, campus police and most of the college's more than 300 residents never found out.

Kornfeld said that only a few of his closest friends knew about his living quarters.

Kornfeld's problem was this:

He was taking an extra year to get into medical school. Although he had a scholarship the previous four years, the university does not extend aid to fifth-year special students.

Mine, Mill Heads Would Reject Report of Conciliation Board

KIMBERLEY (CP)—The bargaining committee of the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers' (Ind.) Thursday night recommended rejection of a majority conciliation report in its contract dispute with the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company of Canada.

Some 6,000 union members, employed at Cominco's giant smelter at Trail and the Sullivan lead, zinc and silver mine here, will vote on the report early next week.

The majority report, released Thursday in Victoria by the Labor Relations Board, recommends wage increases ranging between 18 and 35 cents an hour in a two-year contract retroactive to last March 1.

It also called for a premium of 20 cents an hour for work done on weekends, an eight-hour working day, a 40-hour work week and seniority protection. Job classification changes would give some journeymen an additional 17 cents an hour.

Existing base wages range from $1.97 to $2.85 an hour.

The two locals involved, Local 480, Trail and District Semlter Workers' Union, and Local 651, Kimberley Mine and Mill Workers, had demanded an immediate 15-cent hourly wage boost plus full overtime rates on weekends.

The majority report, signed by chairman B. W. Dysart and company nominee Charles H. Mitchell, suggested an immediate basic increase of 10 cents an hour retroactive to March 1, when the previous contract expired, and a further eight cents March 1, 1965.

In a minority report, Charles Stewart, representing Mine-Mill, recommended wage increases and fringe benefits totalling an average of 40 cents an hour.

He urged consideration be given to maintaining parity with workers in B.C.'s lumbering industry.

A union spokesman said a strike vote would probably be called "in the near future" if the membership rejects the majority report.

Extensive Mapping Program Planned in Kootenay Mine Area

Mines Minister Outlines Program at Nelson Dinner

The completion of geological mapping of the North Kootenay Lake Area is scheduled for this year Hon. D. L. Brothers, minister of mines, informed 90 mining men at a dinner in his honor Thursday.

J. T. Files will carry out the mapping as well as a study of the lead-zinc deposits between Ruddock Creek northwest of Revelstoke and Upper Arrow Lake and in the Slocan area. In the latter he will be assisted by M. S. Hedley.

A detailed mapping of silicified palaeozoic rocks adjacent to the palaeozoic-triassic contact in select parts of the Hedley-Greenwood areas will be carried out by N. D. McKenie.

Mr. Brothers said an examination of quartz deposits in the Okanagan-Nelson areas will be carried out by J. W. McCammon.

MAPPING PROJECT

He also outlined an airborne magnetometer survey to be made over an area of approximately 1000 square miles centred near Revelstoke. He termed the operation, "The first aeromagnetic mapping project in an area of high relief undertaken on a co-operative basis by the Federal Department of Mines and Technical Surveys and the B.C. Department of Mines and Petroleum Resources."

He suggested several reasons for B.C.'s current mining boom, stressing the importance of Japanese investment.

Because of its vast size and exceedingly rugged terrain, large sections of the country yet remain to be thoroughly prospected.

"Three recent mineral discoveries have established that B.C. not only possesses a great variety of minerals, but also some exceedingly large deposits that can be mined by open pit method utilizing the modern earth and rock moving equipment," he said.

"Demand for metals on the world markets, particularly in the United States and Japan is providing a rapidly expanding outlet for a variety of ore concentrates and refined metals."

EXCELLENT CLIMATE

Mr. Brothers declared that the climate for investment is excellent with favorable mining laws and tax incentives.

G. B. McGillivray, president of the B.C. Division, Canadian Petroleum Association, Victoria, outlined oil and gas exploration and development activities in northeastern British Columbia.

Notable progress was being made in discoveries there, he said, principally in gas, although there were "substantial reservoirs" of oil and it was hoped more would be found.

In the Conchi and Clark Lakes area were the biggest gas reserves in the world in country once considered "absolute wasteland" before it was proven by the oil industry. Roads were now being put through and permanent settlements were proposed.

The minister's deputy, P. J. Mulcahy, a frequent visitor to the Kootenays, explained recent Mineral Act amendments.

Others speaking briefly were J. B. Donald, Chamber of Mines president and property superintendent, Bluebell Mine, Riondel, who was chairman; G. F. Warning, president, Nelson division, Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy; and A. J. Richardson, secretary-treasurer of the West Kootenay Mine Safety Association, who substituted for R. R. McMichael, president.

Civic welcome was given by Mayor E. T. Bodard, who drew chuckles during a question period when he asked the minister if an "access road" could be built by the mines department through Rose Pass. This would provide at least preliminary access to East Kootenay as the mines department had done in pushing a road through to Lardeau Valley, once reached only by boat.

Mr. Brothers, with a twinkle, promised to present a request for such a road to the cabinet if the department chief, H. C. Hughes, "who gives a great deal of consideration as requests come in," recommended it.

Kootenay Nearing Peak Runoff

Authorities will be able to know this morning if the Kootenay River has reached its peak runoff at Nelson.

Joseph Palyga, assistant hydrologist, West Kootenay Power and Light Co. Ltd., said Thursday the runoff at Nelson has been more or less steady for the last few days.

The water level increased three-hundredths of an inch in a 24 hour period prior to Thursday morning. Thursday reading was 13.49 feet above the base standard.

He said it appears that shower activity in the area for the past week is having illtle influence on the runoff.

It is expected that the Columbia River peak runoff at Trail will arrive on Saturday. He estimated that the peak may be a half foot higher than Thursday's reading of 39.37 feet above the base level.

CAPTAIN FINED

NANAIMO (CP) — Magistrate Eric Winch assessed a $350 fine and $300 costs against the Liberian freighter Comet and her captain G. Fren for dumping oil in Tahsis Harbor May 28.

CIVIC CENTRE POST STILL TO BE FILLED

Some 40 applications have been received for the post of Civic Centre secretary manager.

The Nelson Civic Centre Commission began the long job of processing the applications from all over western Canada to find a replacement for F. M. Boates, who resigned May 15 at its bi-weekly meeting Wednesday.

It is reported that the field has been narrowed down to half and these will be considered at another meeting next week.

The commission has also agreed to install only two electrical radiant heaters in the Civic Arena for next season.

Minister Decides To Stay in Nelson

Just returned from the Canadian Lutheran Conference in Toronto, Rev. C. J. Hennig of St. John's Lutheran Church of Nelson has declined a call to a two-congregation parish west of Wetaskiwin.

A minister here for 10 years, Mr. Hennig was offered the post at Brightview and Peace Hill parish.

Nearly 600 More Donors Sought by Clinic Today

Cool wet weather foiled the Nelson Blood Clinic's hope of getting the jump on its quota of 1000 pints of blood in its first day of operation.

Nurses counted 426 bottles after the doors closed at the Royal Canadian Legion Thursday night, leaving 574 donors to descend upon the clinic today if the city is to reach its objective.

Last year the clinic accumulated 443 bottles in its first day operation, the giant step towards a record 840 bottles for Nelson and district.

The rush Thursday was between 7 p.m. and 9 p.m. as the weather brightened. The wet weather of the afternoon appeared to dampen the enthusiasm of prospective blood donors as the beds and bottles kept pace with donors.

The only donor group to make an appearance was the RCMP, conveniently located across the street from the clinic.

Mrs. Stan Morris reminded prospective donors to avoid the 4:30 closing time and be early.

The clinic will be open between the hours of 1:30 p.m. and 4:30 p.m. and from 6:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. today.

Howser Asks Gaglardi For Helicopter Service

Howser residents appealed Thursday to Hon. P. A. Gaglardi, minister of highways, for emergency helicopter service to their stranded Duncan Lake community.

The small settlement has been virtually isolated since the 40-year-old converted railroad bridge at 12-mile in the Lardeau collapsed under the weight of a log hauler Monday afternoon.

The department of highways began construction of a 3½-mile detour from Marblehead to Howser Hill road, just above Howser Thursday.

The residents claimed that the other bridges on the road are in the "same rotten state" as the 12-mile one.

D. F. Martin, regional highways engineer, challenged the assertion. "If our four-ton dump trucks can go over them, surely they can go in their cars," he said. He felt the request for a helicopter was needless as the back road is open to light traffic.

The road in question is the "Howser Back Road" over which a station wagon travelled Thursday and the dump trucks Wednesday.

The text of the telegram, a copy of which was also sent to Hon. R. G. Williston, lands and forests minister, reads:

"Require your immediate attention on collapse of Howser Bridge at 11-mile. Road being flooded out. No arrangements being made for school attendance. Request helicopter service for emergency. Other bridges in the same state . . . rotten."

It was signed, "The Citizens of Howser."

May's Low Patient Rate Slashes Hospital Revenue

Patient days in May were the lowest in 1964 and drastically affected revenue, W. P. F. Green reported at the Kootenay Lake General Hospital Board meeting this week.

This coupled wth the lack of new budget rates and salary increments for all categories made a difficult operating month he continued.

Mr. Green said that at the end of June, quarterly adjustments from the physical inventory will give a more accurate picture.

Referring back to the West Kootenay regional meet in Grand Forks where amalgamation of Kootenay Hospital Districts was considered, the board agreed it would be a good move, with only one problem arising.

C. H. Bland pointed out that the West Kootenay representative would have to be kept on the British Columbia Board of Directors, to have adequate representation.

The present bylaw is being changed to achieve this, Mr. Procter informed him.

A brief report on discussions with the Health Minister on future planning for the chronic care field was given by Mr. Procter. Generally, the report on the Royal Commission on Health Service was awaited before added definition of policy. The Commission report was ready, but translation to French was awaited before its Canadian distribution.

Dr. R. S. Smith., a member of the medical staff since June, 1961, has tendered his resignation effective June 25 to pursue post graduate studies at McGill University.

Dr. Smith joined the Medical Associate Clinic in 1961 after practising at Quesnel and Powell River.

During his membership at the hospital Dr. Smith, a graduate of Queen's University, served as chairman of the therapeutics committee and latterly as chairman of the medical service.

He has taken a leading part in arranging medical educational program.

Appointment of Dr. Samuel Bitnun as an intern pending a firm recommendation from the credentials committee was approved by the board.

Dr. Bitun is completing post-graduate studies as a resident at University of Washington Hospital, Seattle.

He is a 1931 graduate of Cape Town University, South Africa, and has served at hospitals in Durban, S.A., in Kingston, Ontario, in Surrey, England, at Children's Hospital, Montreal; University Hospital at Saskatoon and Texas Children's Hospital at Houston.

It was announced Raymond R. Boyd of Bow Island Hospital, near Calgary, will be taking charge of Kaslo Victorian Hospital in September.

Also learned was that Lyall Swenerton, formerly of Salmon Arm, is taking charge of the proposed new Cranbrook Hospital construction project.

The Education Committee of the B.C.H.A. has prepared a series of 12-minute tapes to be issued to regions. The first tape on trusteeship was prepared by a group headed by F. W. Laird of Penticton board of directors, and was heard by Nelson directors following their meeting.

Trustee Mrs. L. G. Catley told the board 262 bed patients were attended in May compared to 328 for the corresponding period last year.

The average daily occupancy was 69.8 bed patients.

Mrs. E. Welsh, director of nursing, said that with the low occupancy last month there was no staff shortage problem.

The practical nursing course held in conjunction with the B.C. Vocational School has completed one month of a six-month course, she informed the board.

A $1118 resuscitator will be purchased for the hospital with a one-third grant made by the BCHIS and the balance financed by the Women's Auxiliary to the hospital.

Mrs. Catley reported that the Junior Women's Auxiliary and Nelson Junior High School Red Cross had earned $125 and $100, respectively, for purchase of hospital equipment.

Grants amounting to $504 were received from the BCHIS for purchase of equipment.

Capital purchases for $100 metal blinds for the laundry room and a $100 tape recorder were approved.

A $2000 painting program is being completed at the hospital this week, bringing wards and most other areas up to new condition, property chairman L. N. Renwick reported.

Included in the painting was renewal of all fire exit signs on veneer pads to facilitate wall painting. Other direction signs have been similarly prepared.

An additional 300 yards of fill have been added to the 400 received in May to dress the cafeteria North bank. Grounds investment so far this season has been about $1000, excluding expenditures on plants and trees, Mr. Renwick said.

Approval of $1022 expenditure for carpenter projects was given.

Run-Around Suggested in Trail Project

TRAIL — Trail Rotary Club members heard a report Wednesday of the club's proposed nursing home project.

Rotary members George Wilson and Doug Stevenson had discussed the matter with deputy minister of health Cox at Victoria last week.

Mr. Cox stated that he did not wish to discuss the steps necessary to get the nursing home project under way as neither the Rotary Club or anyone else had approval to proceed with the aid of a government grant.

He also pointed out that the order-in-council prohibiting payments of grants in cases where capital funds would be retired from operating revenue was still in effect. He suggested that if the club could put up the capital funds or raise tax funds in the community then this would be another matter.

George Wilson indicated to the deputy minister that the Rotary Club felt that it was getting the "run-around" and that it appeared the government wished to stall any action on the project. The project hinges on the implementation of the Hall report.

Mr. Cox assured the delegates that if the implementation of the Hall report is delayed the provincial health minister would take the necessary steps to amend the current legislation to permit projects such as the nursing home to proceed.

REDUCE PERSONNEL

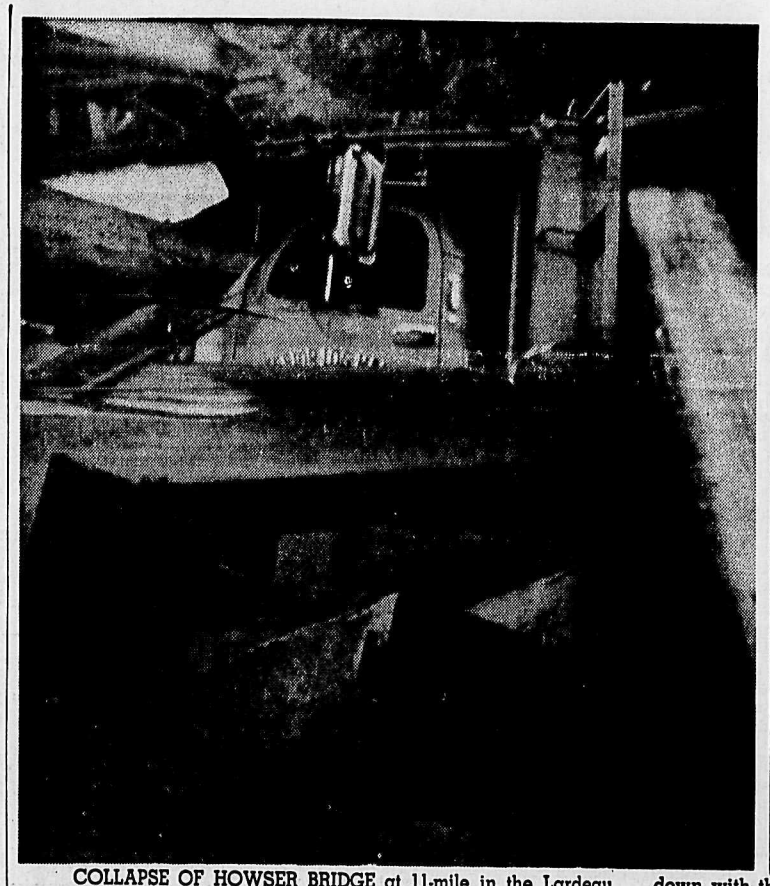
OTTAWA (CP)—The defence department reduced the number of military and civilian personnel by 5,955 between April 30, 1963, and April 3 this year, a parliamentary return for Eric Winkler (PC — Grey - Bruce) showed Wednesday. Number of civilians was reduced by 3,712 and number of military personnel by 2,243. The latter number breaks down to 724 sailors, 848 soldiers and 671 airmen.



COLLAPSE OF HOWSER BRIDGE at 11-mile in the Lardeau Valley pictured here resulted in telegram of protest sent yesterday to Highways Minister Gaglardi by Howser residents. At left can be seen the cab of the truck in which Bill Chernenko narrowly escaped serious injury or death when his logging vehicle crashed down with the bridge Monday, and at right the Lardeau River is seen swirling through the opening. The former railway bridge was 160 feet long. A suitable detour is being sought to enable restoration of traffic by Kootenay Forest Products logging trucks and other traffic.—*Photos by Marion I. # Pearkes' Visit Marks Kaslo's Awards Day

KASLO — Kaslo School auditorium - gymnasium was filled to capacity for the annual Awards Day.

Always one of the special events of the school year this one was made outstanding by the visit of Major-General the Honorable George Pearkes V.C. and Mrs. Pearkes and Commander G. Dixon, his secretary.

Opening with selections by the Junior Orchestra under R. Boyd the 20 items on the program were under the chairmanship of Principal J. V. Humphries.

The first three cups presented were House trophies. The Elementary cups donated by Dr. A. Barrera were received by Heidi Sonnenberg, captain of the Leopards, from Mrs. Marion Abey, a member of the School Board; the K.R.A. High School House Trophy presented by Mrs. C. Saalfeld, chairman of the Board, and the P.T.A. Field Day cup presented by Mrs. W. Higgins, president, were both received by Miss Marguerite Butler, captain of the Panthers.

Mr. Humphries explained the P.T.A. Bursary would not be awarded until September as the marks received for the governmental examinations written by the students at the end of June were considered in the awarding of this bursary.

PINS TO CLASS

The Graduating class, dressed in the green and gold gowns donated by the P.T.A., was given pins, a gift from the Students' Council and P.T.A. combined, and booklets and letters from the Kaslo Board of Trade.

Norman Wolfe was presented with a Past-President's pin to mark the end of his year as Students' Council president.

A special Math. Award was won by Ted Bildstein, as the student having made the highest marks in the team of three from Kaslo School competing in the annual B.C. Math. competition. Kaslo School rated 29th of the 69 schools taking part.

Merit bars were presented to the students receiving an "A" rating in the main subjects during the school year. Tom Handley received an "honor student" award as he had accumulated 10 bars.

FIELD DAY CUPS

Elementary Field Day Cups were presented to Dianne Hansen, Mary Linn and Larry Langille by Mrs. Saalfeld, and the High School girls' cup was presented to Karen Murphy by Mr. Maharajh, and the boys' cup to Allan Jones by Mr. Don Angus of the teaching staff.

Twenty-one students from Grades 1 to 12 were awarded certificates for perfect attendance and punctuality.

After selections by the Senior Band the presentation of cups continued. Norman Wolfe presented the Students' Council Trophy to Alan Matthews for showing the most improvement both academically and socially. Similar cups for Elementary School students were donated and presented by Mr. and Mrs. J. Cochran to Anne Baba and Billy Habart.

Citizenship cups were won by Johnny Matthews of the Elementary School and Susan Perkins, a Grade 12 student for the High School. They were presented by Mr. W. Kerby and Mrs. C. Cameron of Wasa. The High School Citizenship cup was donated several years ago by Mrs. Cameron in memory of her mother, the late Mrs. Margaret MacQueen, who was one of Kaslo's best "Good Citizens" during a lifetime spent here.

John Humphries Jr. accompanied by Tom Handley pleased the audience with a clarinet solo. This was followed by the Valedictory Address given by Tom Handley.

It was after this part of the program that the Lieutenant-Governor and his party arrived and were escorted to seats on the platform by Principal Humphries, who welcomed them to Kaslo School.

Major-General Pearkes spoke to the students and visitors for several minutes then requested the principal to declare a one-day holiday for the students in honor of his visit. The date of this will be anounced later as examinations are scheduled for the next two weeks.

CUPS PRESENTED

Mrs. W. Tyers, wife of the executor of the Curle estate, presented the Curle Proficiency cups to Teena Aaasen, a Grade 6 student, and Tom Handley of the Graduating class.

A special Proficiency award was presented to Larry Shuto by the Lieutenant Governor. This was followed by the T & H Sawmills Bursary of $100 which was won by Tom Handley.

The last number on the program was the list of recommendations read by Mr. Humphries.

After this the Lieutenant Governor and party, the graduates and visitors were entertained at a tea given by the Kaslo School staff. A number of High School girls and Mrs. J. Shutty assisted the staff members in serving the guests.

First Phase of Columbia Power Expansion Completed

ATHALMER (CP) — Field crews have completed phase one of a two-year B.C. Hydro and Power Authority plan to expand power facilities in the province's southeastern Columbia Valley area, Hydro announced Wednesday.

Sixty-five miles of transmission line, extending north from Canal Flats to Spillimacheen, have been rebuilt to operate at 66,000 volts. Previously voltage was 33,000.

Phase two of the $2,000,000 project to be completed by winter involves construction of 40 miles of new 66,000-volt line north from Spillimacheen to Golden.

Hydro said the project will make four times as much power available to customers in the area. Power to the Columbia Valley is provided from the Spillimacheen hydro - electric generating station. Additional power as needed is purchased from the East Kootenay Power Company at Ta Ta Creek where the two utilities link.

Hydro also announced that its crews have begun work on a 19.6-mile distribution line extension to bring electricity to customers in the Skookumchuk area. The single-phase circuit will serve 19 year-round and 13 seasonal residences, 12 irrigation consumers and four commercial consumers in that area of the Columbia Valley.

P. C. Grant, principal of the Mount Baker School for the past several years, has been appointed department of education superintendent.

Low bid for the addition of two classrooms and household economics and industrial arts rooms to the Laudie Elementary School among the six tenders was A. E. Jones Construction Ltd., at $81,-000. Additions will be to the west and north, and the school board hopes to have them ready for the fall term.

TERRACE (CP) — A pole peeling machine and related equipment valued at $100,000 were destroyed Tuesday night in a fire at the Little, Haughland and Kerr mill here. The operation, a wholly-owned subsidiary of an American firm, peels power line poles and piling for export to points throughout North America.

New Line To Serve Skookumchuk

ATHALMER — B.C. Hydro crews have begun work on a 19.6-mile-long distribution line extension to bring electricity to customers in the Skookumchuk area.

The single-phase circuit will serve 19 year-round and 13 seasonal residences, 12 irrigation accounts and four commercial accounts in this area of the Columbia Valley.

Jack Davies of Athalmer, Columbia Valley district manager for B.C. Hydro, said a 15 per cent anual load growth was expected in the Skookumchuk area. He said the project should be completed in late summer.

Estimated cost of the extension is $58,340, with customers making a small contribution to the overall capital cost.

The project also entails installation of a transmisson substation on a 66,000-volt transmission line passing through the area, at an estimated cost of $17,500.

A Little Blood in The Bank Doesn't Hurt

The amazing thing about the Red Cross Blood Clinic is that it is still a voluntary service. In an age where brotherhood is interpreted in the capital letters "ME", this throwback to humanitarian principles and good samaritan spirit is an invigorating change.

Why the Red Cross hasn't followed in the mercenary footsteps of other organizations and established a blood bank on a truly monetary basis is open to comment. Possibly, if it did adopt the deposit and withdrawal system of the banking world, the importance of the dollar might make more people realize the value of the donor service.

Its shunning of financial manipulations means that it relies on the good faith of the individual, though often he has to be stimulated to action by urgent appeals.

The latest innovation to stir the public to assist this vital free service is the issuing of Red Cross decals for car windows. This is a far superior inducement than a French plan.

The Northern French Blood Donors Association issues a key stamped with the owner's blood type, with each motor vehicle licence. Like the decal the aim is to save time in highway smash-ups, and consequently cut down highway loss of life.

The fallacy is that in speeding up transfusion it is quite possible the wrong blood may be pumped into a victim. The possibility exists that the injured may be using a borrowed car with a borrowed key and hence, borrowed blood type.

The decal is much simpler and just as an effective method of alerting necessary authorities. It signifies that this vehicle carries a blood donor. A search of personal effects is required before the proper blood type can be determined. A general search of an injured group would also reveal other donors involved in the accident.

The speed at which blood is wasted on the traffic lanes makes it appear to be a cheap product. Needless to say, it isn't, as evinced by the time and effort expended by the collection service which believes a pin prick now may heal a larger wound later.

Busy Bankrupts

Too many debts? Just go bankrupt and let your creditors do the worrying. Then, free of debt, you can go back into business under a different name. This was the course followed by some of the 3700 business firms which went bankrupt in Canada last year, with total liabilities of close to $200 million.

Action should be taken to stop it, says Mr. Donald H. Jupp, president of the Canadian Construction Association. He protests "the ease of re-entry into business by bankrupts, and the apparent existence of premeditated fraud in some bankruptcy proceedings." Mr. Jupp told a CCA luncheon in Montreal:

"By declaring bankruptcy, a debtor can receive an absolute discharge from his business debts with his creditors being left to divide the residue of the business assets. Then, without any further debt restrictions, the bankrupt can set himself up in business again under a different name, obtain credit relatively easily under present-day credit competition, and go on his way with a clean sheet either to succeed or once again go bankrupt."

Many such complaints have been coming from Canadian businessmen over a long period. Some have suggested formation of a bankruptcy fraud squad operating under the Department of Justice. Mr. Jupp proposes that where there is an indication of fraud, the Crown itself should initiate and carry through the necessary action. Parliament should take another look at our bankruptcy legislation and procedures — particularly since the people most badly hurt in any bankruptcy are the small, unsecured creditors.

Good News for Milk Drinkers

To the consumer, it doesn't matter whether Prairie farmers or local hay-growers are responsible for the traces of pesticides reported in Fraser Valley milk. The important thing is to have any contamination removed.

Thus the news that the provincial government will immediately set up a laboratory to test for pesticide residues in milk should be welcomed by every British Columbian.

The poisonous elements in modern pest-killing sprays pose a threat that is hard to assess because they can accumulate and be distributed in many ways. Normal filtering and pasteurizing processes will not remove them from milk or detect their presence.

A few months ago pesticides were found in Manitoba and Saskatchewan supplies of butter and cheese as well as milk, indicating their amazing survival ability.

Scientists have proved that they accumulate in the human body. The effects of this are not fully known, but similar accumulations in the bodies of fish have almost wiped out the fish population of the lower Mississippi River.

Although the traces of toxic chemicals found in local milk are reported too slight to be dangerous, their appearance in a vital food is, to say the least, unpleasant.

The B.C. agriculture department will soon be able to spot pesticides in our milk; we hope provincial and federal authorities will be able to move as surely toward eliminating any chance of their occurrence.

Effective pesticide control must begin when the poison sprays are first applied.—Vancouver Province.

Affluent Teenager Influential Citizen

Whether you realize it or not, that teenager with a transistor radio glued to his ear is an influential citizen. One out of every eight persons in the United States is a teenager and this considerable slice of the population, according to a study made by the National Education Association, represents a growing business potential.

The average teenager, says the NEA, has an annual income of $489, or $9.40 a week. Last year teenagers spent $11 billion on food, recreation, clothes, cosmetics and grooming aids. By 1970 the annual income of teenagers is expected to hit $21 billion.

The NEA is concerned about the teenager with money jingling in his pocket. The educators are of the opinion that the teenagers might not know how to handle their funds. So they have suggested that public schools systems add financial management to the home economics classes. — Chicago Sun-Times.

Fishermen Ask Exclusive 12-Mile Rights

Definite Borderline, End Of Ancient Treaties Urged by Union

OTTAWA (CP)—A west coast fishermen's organization said Thursday the government is allowing a further rape of Canada's fisheries for the sake of a questionable alliance with the United States.

The charge was levelled by the United Fishermen and Allied Workers' Union in calling for major amendments to make the proposed extension of the fishing limit to 12 miles fully effective as a boon to Canadian fishermen.

Homer Stevens, the union's secretary - treasurer, outlined the British Columbia fishermen's stand in a 30,000-word brief to the Commons marine and fisheries committee.

"We have no desire to hold up progress but we would call for the defeat of the bill if it is not amended in a positive way to strengthen Canada's position and to speed the day when Canada's fishermen will enjoy exclusive fishing rights for a full 12 miles outside a clearly defined baseline," he said.

The bill was being opposed because it was not definite; it did not spell out the extent of Canada's internal waters; did not define the territorial waters nor Canadian sovereignty in respect of fishing rights; gave no definite dates for decisive action; gave no stated intention regarding termination of historic, traditional or treaty fishing rights by other countries; and granted too much power to the cabinet to compromise Canadian interests.

REITERATES DESIRE

The union reiterated its desire for a new all-inclusive North Pacific fisheries treaty, development of a Canadian high seas fishery, and expanded program of rehabilitation of B.C. salmon resources.

"The present Canadian approach appears to be to avoid any open conflict involving markets even if the price is complete capitulation to American demands for continuation of 'treaty' and 'historic' fishing rights, forever," the brief said.

The union said the time had come for Canada to take its courage in both hands and act decisively in the interests of Canada's fishermen.

"If justice prevails, we are convinced Canada could win any moral or legal claim for complete sovereignty over the 12-mile sea measured from a baseline. . . .

"In our view, unilateral action by Canada should begin with approval by Parliament of a definite headland to headland baseline drawn to enclose bodies of water such as Hecate Straits, Dixon Entrance, the Bay of Fundy, the Gulf of St. Lawrence, Strait of Belle Isle, Hudson's Bay."

URGES SPECIFIC ACTION

The union urged the committee to make specific recommendations to Parliament for renegotiation of treaties with France and the U.S. to end their special fishing privileges. Subsequently, new special arrangements or agreements could be negotiated—subject to Parliament's approval.

"It would be a tragedy for Canada if we were to adopt legislation which enables the cabinet to bargain away our resources by continued recognition of antiquated concepts of 'historic' rights or 'traditional' rights or of foreign - imposed 'treaty' rights."

Mr. Stevens said the original treaties were negotiated by Great Britain and not by Canada as a sovereign power.

From next Jan. 1, the Canadian government should no longer permit fishing operations by any vessels or nationals of any other country in Canadian territorial or internal waters, except as specially approved by Parliament.

The union official said Canada need not fear American trade reprisal in fish products. But greater efforts should be made to diversify Canadian exports which would place the Canadian industry in a healthy position to meet any changes in U.S. tariffs or in demand in the American market.

Interpreting the News

By ROD CURRIE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

R. A. Butler's mission to Moscow may help the British Conservative party's chances in the fall general election but, paradoxically, it is unlikely to accomplish much else simply because it comes so soon before the voting.

The Labor party took not-so-quiet delight from the foreign secretary's announcement Tuesday during the House of Commons foreign affairs debate.

They can be expected to charge Butler with electioneering, as they did former prime minister Macmillan when he bought himself a fur hat and flew off to Moscow shortly before launching into the successful campaign of 1959.

And it's the same charge the Tories, in turn, made when Opposition Leader Harold Wilson went to Russia a few weeks ago. Labor MPs reply that this trip was more justified in that Wilson has a good chance of becoming prime minister in October and thus had a right, indeed a duty, to make himself better known to the men at the top in the Kremlin.

Butler's announcement came a few hours after Prime Minister Douglas-Home had summoned a full cabinet meeting to discuss battle plans for the election. It is understood some colleagues expressed alarm that the Conservatives have not been more successful in improving their position in the various public opinion polls, all of which still show Labor with a substantial lead.

They are concerned, particularly, with Wilson's ability to stay in the limelight, with such manoeuvres as his Moscow trip, and no doubt welcomed news of Butler's visit.

Butler, who became foreign secretary last October, has never been to Russia. He will be anxious to assess first-hand the increasing influence the Chinese - Russian split appears to be having on the Kremlin's foreign policy. And he and Russia's Andrei Gromyko are bound to discuss also a wide variety of other problems, particularly Laos, Southeast Asia in general and disarmament.

But although Butler may find the meetings personally profitable, there is little expectation that any new initiative will develop since Russia seems intent on simply preserving the status quo — at least until after the British elections in October and the United States presidential election in November.

If nothing else, however, the invitation to Butler should help the Conservatives squelch the impression fostered by Wilson that Moscow takes it as a foregone conclusion that he will be prime minister before the year is out.

Pat Burns of Hot Line Replies to BBG Charges

By DAVE STOCKAND

VANCOUVER (CP) — Pat Burns is a radio broadcaster with a booming bullfrog voice who does his happiest swimming in swirls of controversy and hot water.

Complaints about his phone-it-yourself radio program—Burns' Hot Line from CJOR Vancouver—were expressed Tuesday in Ottawa by members of the Board of Broadcast Governors.

Characteristically, Burns boomed back over the airwaves and then listened to a chorus of praise from his fanatic supporters—and to the acid-etched attacks by those who hate his guts but can't resist listening.

Either way, Burns is happy.

His radio show is one of those where you can phone in on any subject under the sun. Your comments and his are broadcast.

Burns, 37, is dapper, dark-haired, Montreal Irish in family background, five - foot-six, and married with no children.

QUIET ABOUT SALARY

Since May 13, 1963, he has become probably the hottest radio property in Canada. He won't say how much he is making.

The Hot Line is on 4½ hours daily on weekdays, from 9 a.m. to 10 a.m., noon to 1 p.m., and from 9:30 p.m. to midnight. There is a Saturday morning show. Sunday is free.

Burns took issue with criticisms of BBG members that open-line shows are not meeting BBG policy on political and controversial programs — policy calling for balanced treatment, the right to reply and equal access to the air.

He said in part:

". . . I would remind the board or anyone else that there is equal access to the air. There is no IN on this hot line, there is no black book; there are no favorites; there are no topics barred.

"If a person happens to be a Communist and wants to get on the line he stands just as much chance as if he were a Liberal or a Social Crediter, if he is for or against something . . . it is not rigged, this is your equal access if you wish to persevere. Sure, it's tough to get the line, but it's equally tough for all of you and I don't bar the topics."

MAKES PEOPLE THINK

To an interviewer, Burns said he welcomed any and all topics; that he believes the greatest achievement of his program is that it makes people think—whether the subject be medical quacks, sales pitches he believes to be fraudulent, Canada's habitual criminal laws, abortion or drug addiction.

He agreed he is opinionated—but not that he "often indulges in wild opinionizations," as stated by BBG Vice-Chairman Carlyle Allison.

"I don't form an opinion lightly, but having formed it, it is awfully difficult to get me to budge from it," Burns said.

A feature of the morning and afternoon shows is to place calls to world personalities at the listeners' suggestions. Harry Truman came on the Hot Line. So did Cheddi Jagan. A member of the Goldwater retinue has promised that Barry will return the call.

Once a CCFer, an unsuccessful candidate for Parliament, he describes himself now as a left-wing Liberal but one with no thoughts of running for office.

"I think I can do more good behind this microphone than as an obscure back-bencher in Victoria or Ottawa," he says.

Possible Punitive Measures Against Apartheid Studied

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — The United Nations security council Thursday voted a new condemnation of South Africa's apartheid policies and ordered a study of possible punitive measures.

A compromise resolution, sponsored by Norway and Bolivia, was approved 8 to 0 with France, the Soviet Union and Czechoslovakia abstaining. The South African government has ignored similar condemnations in the past.

The council once more sidestepped a direct showdown on African, Asian and Soviet demands for immediate economic penalties (sanctions) to force the end of apartheid (race separation) policies.

Instead, the resolution established a committee of experts representing the 11 countries now on the council, to study the feasibility, effectiveness and implications of measures which might be taken by the UN against South Africa.

IBL Has Record Sales, Slight Net Decline

VANCOUVER (CP) — Interior Breweries Ltd. had record sales of $2,400,000 in the year ended March 31, E. R. McFarland, company president, reported Wednesday.

The figure showed a five per cent increase over sales of $2,100,000 the year previous, he said in an annual report.

However he said net profit for the period declined slightly to $184,452 from $186,163 a year earlier because of the cost of changing over to the new stubby bottles.

The changeover cost the company $57,000, which was absorbed in the cost of sales, he said.

Working capital increased by $223,000 during the year, prompting the company to redeem $240,000 of its $400,000 in debenture debt and a further reduction in long-term debt is planned this year, he said.

Company directors are confident the present sales volume will continue, the report added.

Swashbuckling Indian General Heads UN Cyprus Peace Force

NEW DELHI (AP)—He has ridden a horse into a harem, fired a 31-gun salute in honor of a girl, and become a combat hero and soldier-diplomat.

This is Gen. K. S. Thimaya, India's most famous soldier, who has been asked to assume command of the United Nations peacekeeping force on Cyprus.

Thimaya fought bandit tribesmen on the old Northwest Frontier, opposed the Japanese in the Second World War, and earned an international reputation for honesty and fairness as director of prisoner repatriation during the Korean War.

The harem - on - a - horse bit came in 1927 when Thimbaya was a junior officer in what then was the British-run Indian Army. He was given the job of helping protect the palace of Iraqi King Faisal I in Baghdad. He told American author Humphrey Evans about it:

"I suddenly heard some female shrieks. Without thinking, I galloped into the palace grounds. I had a vague idea of rescuing damsels in distress."

Thimaya and his horse narrowly escaped the swords of the harem's Arab guards.

Thimayya, 58, says it was luck that his escapades did not finish his military career before it got started. Using ceremonial guns to salute a girl acquaintance could have finished him off, he says.

But Thimaya compiled an enviable combat record starting with the Indian Army's campaigns against the northwest tribes and by the time the Second World War broke out he was highly regarded by the British. They chose him as the first Indian to command a brigade.

Heavily decorated by the British after campaigns against the Japanese in Bruma, Thimaya stayed in the army when India became independent in 1947.

His first big job was helping stamp out Hindu-Moslem religious rioting that killed hundreds of thousands of persons in northwest India.

In 1948, he commanded India's forces against Moslem tribesmen in the fight for the Himalayan state of Kashmir.

In 1953, he got the job that made him an international figure—chairman of the neutral nations repatriation commission which had the task of returning to their homelands prisoners taken by Communist and United Nations forces.

Disaster for India and Thimaya struck in 1962 when the Communist Chinese attacked along India's northern frontiers. Thimaya argued bitterly with the then defence minister, V. K. Krishna Menon, on how to counter Chinese attacks. Thimaya at one point submitted his resignation but Prime Minister Nehru persuaded him to retain command.

However, Nehru did not extend Thimaya's term as chief of army staff, as he did a few months later for the air force and navy chiefs of staff, and Thimaya retired.

On Cyprus, he replaces Indian Gen. P. S. Gyani who is reported to have requested retirement.

Hydro-Quebec May Hold Key To Quebec Industrialization

MONTREAL (CP) — Jean-Claude Lessard, president of Hydro-Quebec, believes expropriation of privately-owned Quebec power companies is "the tap of the magic wand which, for the first time, has allowed Quebec to think of industrialization of some regions."

Privately - owned power companies were expropriated last year and since then several small co-operative power groups have offered to sell out to the government - owned Hydro-Quebec. The co-ops now are gradually being taken over by Hydro.

"For the first time," Mr. Lessard says, "Quebec can contemplate responsibilities which belong to the modern state and which can be translated into one word, often besmirched but containing the solution to most problems which confront societies: planning."

Hydro-Quebec had been able to make its rates uniform across the province, since expropriation. "If you convert this to the industrial field, it can be seen immediately what a corporation like Hydro-Quebec can mean to Quebec's economy."

By making rates uniform, the hydro-electric commission "has put order into its affairs. . . It can facilitate the establishment of an industry in any given area. This already has been done."

'BUY QUEBEC' POLICY

As far as Hydro's "buy Quebec" policies are concerned, Mr. Lessard says in a statement:

"Without wishing to become involved in narrow nationalism, Hydro-Quebec is duty-bound to practise a form of nationalism.

"If Quebec has given itself a corporation with assets of $2,250,000,000, it is because it really intends to get something out of it. That is why, without secrecy or deviation, Hydro practises the policy of buying at home which has brought astounding results.

"In awarding contracts, Hydro doesn't hesitate to favor Quebec enterprises in order to stimulate the economy. Better still, because of this stubbornness, foreign companies have come to establish themselves in Quebec. They no doubt have not done this because we're good-looking but have only one principle: locate where there is purchasing power.

"The $250,000,000 Hydro spends each year in the Quebec market surely count for something in the economic reawakening of Quebec, but all this money, if it weren't handled rationally, would not bring as much value for collective prosperity.

"It is by drawing industries to Quebec that Hydro can render the greatest service to the province."

N.W.T. WHARF EXTENSION TO COST $75,529

OTTAWA (CP)—A $75,529 contract for construction of a wharf extension at Hay River, N.W.T., was awarded by the federal works department Thursday to Square M. Construction Limited and Coleman Collieries Limited of Edmonton. Work will start immediately and is to be finished in eight months.

Helmsman Says He Fainted Prior To Collision

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—The helmsman of the tugboat Rebel Jr. says he fainted and apparently fell against a steering lever which drove the tug and its barges into the Lake Pontchartrain Causeway.

The barges knocked out a 224-foot section of the 24-mile long bridge Tuesday and tumbled a bus into the water, killing six of the eight persons aboard.

Clifford Milley, 26, said Wednesday in an interview from his hospital bed he must have fallen on the lever after blacking out, turning the tug on its collision course in the pre-dawn hours. He was alone in the pilothouse.

Tug Capt. Ned Palmer, 40, testified at a U.S. Coast Guard inquiry that Milley never had complained of blackouts or dizzy spells.

The coast guard recessed the hearing.

Vernon Tot Dies After Mercy Flight To Coast

VANCOUVER (CP) — Kim Taylor, 2, flown here from Vernon Wednesday for treatment of injuries suffered in a fall, died Thursday in hospital.

RCMP said the little girl fell from a 10-foot retaining wall at the home of her parents.

She was brought to Vancouver aboard an RCAF plane which also carried Wayne Dunsford, 20 - year - old logger who was picked up at Kamloops. He suffered a neck injury and paralysis when struck by a log at a logging operation. His condition in hospital here is fair.

DENIES RUMORS LaMARSH SEEKS PARTY LEAD

TORONTO (CP)—Gordon Edick, executive director of the Ontario Liberal Association, said Wednesday night there is no factual background to stories that federal health and welfare minister Judy LaMarsh will run for the Ontario Liberal leadership.

"I don't think she has any intention of running," he said.

Miss LaMarsh had been quoted as saying of the leadership: "The job would be an interesting one. It certainly would be a challenge."

CAMPING IN THE SCOUT HALL at Nelson, the Rebels, Girl Scout Troop from Portland, Oregon, found many hands to help them prepare for bed Tuesday night. Shown above with two of the 17 visitors from the United States are Nelson Girl Guides Pat Hoople, left, and Elizabeth Haines, centre, who were entertained by Portland Girl Scouts when they were en route to visit in Covina, California, last year. # Rebels Entertained In Nelson by Guides, Mothers

The Rebels invaded Nelson Tuesday from south of the border and left again Wednesday with high praise for the city's hospitality.

The Girl Scout Troop, No. 833 of Portland, Oregon, called the Rebels, was represented by 17 of its members and four leaders, who are enjoying a goodwill tour lasting eight days from Portland, through Washington, and around by Kootenay Lake, visiting points of interest along the way.

The girls, from 14 to 18 years old, are accompanied by seven adults, including two men. The two fathers accompany them in a pick-up truck with tools, to cope with any trouble along the road, and their camping equipment.

The girls are benefitting from the trip in making new friends and renewing friendships made last summer when Canadian Guides were entertained in Portland while on their way to Covina, Calif., says their leader, Mrs. W. E. Child.

The cavalcade of four cars and truck arrived in Nelson around 12:30 a.m. Tuesday and were met at the bridge by Mrs. J. S. Hamilton, Division Commissioner, who settled them in at the Scout Hall.

In the afternoon they went on a tour of the Nelson Subdivision RCMP administration building, and were served soft drinks and cookies.

A turkey dinner was served to them at the Scout Hall with Mrs. J. D. Hoople, vice-president of the district association of Girl Guides, in charge of preparations. Guest speaker was Lloyd Galbraith, district Cubmaster, who gave the girls local knowledge of the Kootenays including dams, industry and mining ghost towns.

Following dinner, a campfire was held, with Nelson District Guide Patrol Leaders and Boy Scouts from the various troups in Nelson joining the American visitors. Highlight of the campfire was showing of three colored films by Peter Stewart, depicting wild life in the Kootenays.

The girls were taken to various homes for a "fresh-up" before bedding down at the Scout hall.

Wednesday morning the girls were served a breakfast of pancakes and sausages. At 10:30, the caravan left for Trail and their overnight stay at Camp Rory.

School was out in Portland around June 4, so the group left Portland at 6 a.m., Saturday, and drove as far as Pasco, Wash. They were taken to nearby Richland for a tour of the atomic energy plant, and the girls were billeted in private homes.

Sunday they drove to Crawford Bay where they slept in tents in the garden of Mrs. H. Haverstock, Kootenay Lake District Commissioner.

Monday, they toured the Blue Bell mine, going down to the fifth level.

Leader is Mrs. W. E. Child, with Mrs. A. D. Johnson as assistant leader. Drivers are Mrs. Child, Mrs. Robert Lower, Miss Janice Child and Mrs. Glen Barnado, Mr. Child and Mr. Lower are accompanying them with the truck.

The Guides gave the American Scouts each a Provincial Guide Emblem and the Girl Scouts gave the guides souvenirs from Oregon.

Mrs. Hamilton and Mrs. J. R. Storey, District Commissioner, were each presented with a Trail Blazer Badge by Mrs. Child.

Cranbrook Nurses Pick Award Winners

CRANBROOK — At its June meeting in the form of a supper at the Jaster home on Moyie Lake, Cranbrook Chapter, Registered Nurses Association, reviewed applications of 1964 graduates for their two scholarships.

Announcement of award of $100 to each will await acceptance for hospital training. Terms of scholarship allow a further $100 loan for the final year of training. This is the fifth year of this academic award, with one candidate now graduated, and seven at some training stage.

The Chapter had to elect a new slate of officers, since Mrs. A. W. Johnson, Mrs. P. C. Grant and Miss Dine Conroy who are president, vice-president and secretary, are all leaving Cranbrook.

Named to office were Mrs. D. R. Wood, president, Mrs. Wally Tymchina vice-president, and Mrs. W. M. MacKay secretary to complete the year. Meeting program included reports by Mrs. Johnson, Mrs. Wood and Mrs. Dusan Tadey on the B.C.R. RNA annual meeting at Vancouver in May.

The Loan Cupboard, stock of sick room and invalid equipment maintained at the Nurses' Home, and operated by Mrs. Beryl Wilson and Mrs. Ron Jenkins, was reported short of crutches which had been loaned to injured persons and had not been returned. Otherwise the cupboard was reported well stocked with the various nursing items most homes do not offer.

Hints From Heloise

By Heloise Cruse

Dear Heloise:

After washing and drying diapers, take time to fold them to the right size, sprinkle baby powder on each diaper while you are folding them, then give an extra fold to hold the powder in . . .

Each diaper will be ready when needed, and there is no running around looking for that can of powder . . .

Dear Folks:

Never, never, clean the keys on your piano or organ with benzene, rubbing alcohol, denatured alcohol, lacquer thinner, or any type of cleaning fluid They just might be damaged beyond repair. Many of you are writing me that you use these methods.

The only thing that is recommended is to take a soft cloth and dip it in a mild soap solution (notice that we did not say detergent), and wring it out as dry as you can. Then wipe over the keys. Perhaps you will find that your cloth will turn dark. This is carbon from the air in your home. Do not use this same cloth to wipe the black keys.

After wiping the keys with your cloth, rinse off with another cloth, that has been wrung out in plain water and wrung extremely dry. Then buff with a facial tissue.

After checking with many piano companies, we know that this is the only safe way. Be sure that the wtaer does not drip down between the keys.

Dear Heloise:

Before I let down the hems of my daughter's dresses, I sew across the old hem, making a tuck about one-fourth inch from the bottom of the hem with my sewing machine .. . thus forming a new tuck . . .

This eliminates that faded line which usually shows when the dress is let down. The little pleat above the new hem makes the dress even more adorable.

If I have an extra large hem, I add an extra large pleat . . .

After making preserves, if I have any left over melted paraffin wax, I always re-heat this and pour it into the bottom of my garbage cans. It makes the cans last longer, prevents rusting, and they are far easier to clean.

Dear Heloise:

I recently attended a baby shower and wanted to take something especially nice.

I bought a small wastebasket made especially for the baby's room with little animals, etc., painted on it. Then I filled the basket with small packages. I used packages of wash cloths, baby socks, some bibs I embroidered, a feeding spoon, a rattle, and a pacifier. I also included an assortment of baby soap, creams, powder, etc. and topped it all iwth a stuffed toy

Everyone thought that it was would share it. It made a unique shower gift for the new mommie . . .

Columnist Tells Bride How to Set Up Pantry

By MARGARET CARR

The first question brides ask about cooking is usually:

"What should I have on hand when I start?"

The complete list depends on what the bride and bridegroom like to eat. Chili fans, for instance, would count as basics, spices and herbs other cooks might never use.

Here's a lst divided into three categories. Some brides will want to add to each, others may delete items they'll not need. There's no point in buying items you'll not use for a long time.

When planning a pantry for two, it's important to remember that smaller packages of staples take up less space and stay fresh until they're used. "Economy" size packages may prove expensive because they aren't used up while fresh.

Experiment Shows Damaged Muscle Regenerates Itself

VANCOUVER (CP) — A surgical specialist from Africa says the medical world may have to revise accepted ideas about the treatment of injured muscles and limbs.

Dr. W. H. Kirkaldy - Willis, senior surgical specialist for the Kenya ministry of health, told 600 bone and muscle specialists here Wednesday that contrary to accepted theory, damaged human muscle can heal itself.

His statement to the specialists attending a convention for orthopedic associations from Canada, Britain, United States, South Africa, New Zealand and France, goes against the accepted theory that damaged muscle tissue automatically degenerates and dies.

And it means the practice of immobilizing broken limbs for weeks in casts may cost people use of muscles that could be saved.

Dr. Kirkaldy-Willis, describing the regenerative process, said "after a blow, the muscle is fragmented and starts to degenerate.

"But after about six days chains of cells appear to form. After 12 days there are ribbons of new fibres and in a few weeks the new fibres show a gradual return to normal."

TESTED ON MONKEYS

His observations had been carried out on monkeys whose legs had been artificially fractured with a trip-hammer device. The monkeys were allowed to climb and jump in their cages within two or three days of the injury and showed muscle regeneration.

A similar study of a patient with an immobilized limb showed very little muscle regeneration.

"The muscles fibres strangled in a sea of collagen"—an inert filler material in the body.

Dr. Kilkaldy-Willis said his experiments are not conclusive but added: "But it may well be physicians will have to revise their ideas about the treatment of injured limbs."

The international delegates also heard Dr. Lennox Baker, president of the American Orthopedic Association, say that the operating room of the future may present a picture of hooded figures with dark mask-like visors and bathed in an eerie purple glow working swiftly over a shrouded patient.

He said operating rooms should be bathed in ultra-violet light to prevent air-borne infections. Post-operative infections had been drastically reduced since use of ultra-violet light in operating rooms had been started at Duke University Hospital.

The doctors and nurses in such an operating room must wear hoods over their heads and dark visors to protect their eyes from the ultra-violet light radiation.

Most Cancer Causes Within Man's Control

HONEY HARBOUR, Ont. (CP)—Four out of every five cases of cancer develop from factors within man's control and thus could be prevented, a South African medical researcher said Thursday.

Dr. A. G. Oettle of the South African Institute of Medical Research in Johannesburg said he based his statement on studies that show the incidence of different forms of cancer can be correlated with diet, smoking, weather and methods of cooking.

However, he emphasized in an address to the sixth Canadian Cancer Research Conference here that he did not imply that four-fifths of existing cancer could be eliminated immediately.

John Colicos Draws Greatest Critical Acclaim of Season

STRATFORD, Ont. (CP) — John Colicos, playing the title role in Shakespeare's King Lear here Wednesday night, drew the greatest critical acclaim since the festival opened.

And his portrayal of Shakespeare's tragic king was matched by every part of Michael Langham's production, which brought the audience's approval in a thunderous standing ovation.

"I saw this greatness through a haze of tears in my eyes," said Herbert Whittaker, theatre critic of the Toronto Globe and Mail, of the production.

And Don Grant, writing for United Press International, said: "Colicos was the sun, moon and stars of this production, in a portrayal that will go into the record books as among the most memorable performances ever seen in Canada."

It was the third and final opening of the central plays of this year's festival. Shakespeare's King Richard II left critics battling over its merits Monday; while the concensus was that Tuesday's opening of Moliere's Le Bourgeois Gentilhomme unveiled a play that was great fun, but poor Moliere.

The three daughters of King Lear also won the praises of the critics. Martha Henry played Cordelia, the daughter who remains true both to her father and her principles, and who finally restores Lear's kingdom after his other daughters turn on him.

Frances Hyland and Diana Maddox, as Goneril and Regan, whose hideous machinations drive Lear mad, drew equal praise.

The acclaim, in fact, was shared by the entire cast.

Your Individual Horoscope

By Frances Drake

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

For Saturday, June 20, 1964

MARCH 21 to APRILL 20 (Aries) — Don't skim over things superficially. This day calls for a real down-to-earth attitude. A good outlook if you help keep the picture thus, rejecting and accepting offers judiciously.

APRIL 21 to MAY 21 (Taurus) — Venus favorably aspected. Rewards for past efforts indicated, and you are enjoined to carry on as expertly as ever to assure more benefits in the future.

MAY 22 to JUNE 21 (Gemini) — There's more than one way to lick a difficulty, hurdle the obstacles and catch the prize. You are adept at sensing a need for, and being able to switch quickly to, an alternate course; be ready.

JUNE 22 to JULY 23 (Cancer) — An artistic touch can brighten some spots, a purely diplomatic one solve others. Whatever you do, do not argue "at the drop of the hat."

JULY 24 to AUGUST 23 (Leo) —Aspects are not entirely friendly, but instinctively you should be able to differentiate, are advised to compare offerings discerningly. Weigh opinions, decisions carefully.

AUGUST 24 to SEPTEMBER 23 (Virgo) — Take time for careful reasoning. Don't make abrupt assertions and contradictions. The prudent, politic way is your best recipe for a successful day.

SEPTEMBER 24 to OCTOBER 23 (Libra) — An excellent spot in which to dsplay your strength of character, your fine sense of justice, and for healthy interchange of ideas and discussion.

OCTOBER 24 to NOVEMBER 22 (Scorpio) — You may face some resistance, blockades to progress that you may not have anticipated. But you can find ways to skirt them. Mostly it will depend upon your perception, rationality and will power.

NOVEMBER 23 to DECEMBER 21 (Sagittarius) — A show of strength is sometimes merely a "show." You build more solid ground by digging for facts, hearing all sides, and Being Willing To Learn, a First requisite.

DECEMBER 22 to JANUARY 20 (Capricorn) — You abhor discord but often do not realize what a big influence You can be in dispelng it. Try it and see. Avoid scattering energies, bickering, impracticality.

JANUARY 21 to FEBRUARY 19 (Aquarius) — You may encounter some "rain" in the form of hardship, impasses, restraint. All could lead to eventual good. Take benefits and bumps with equal aplomb.

FEBRUARY 20 to MARCH 20 (Pisces) — Offerings may come from many sides. Take sufficient time choosing — in anything. Yet do not be a slow-poke. Strive for the sensible medium.

YOU BORN TODAY are always eager for new means to achieve, unusual projects to handle. You love life in its full sense; are a keen judge of public opinion, and usually hit the nail on the head in general appraisals, but can be wrong in individual judgment because you sometimes forget to consider human frailties. Plan that big project; Also see it through. Don't be too detailed; Don't be disheartened: more comes of your earnest attempts than shows at first. Yours is a far-seeing mind.

Hunger Strike Prisoners Return Food Trays Empty

MONTREAL (CP)—Governor Albert Tanguay of Montreal's Bordeaux Jail said Thursday food trays delivered to the cells of six convicted terrorists ostensibly on a hunger strike always are returned empty.

"We don't keep watch on them after food trays are delivered to their cells," he said. "All we know is that we get the trays back empty. They may be eating the food, or throwing it down the toilets."

Members of the terrorist Armee de Liberation du Quebec, the six claim they have been on a hunger strike since Monday, consuming nothing but milk or coffee.

Governor Tanguay said his staff has no way of verifying this.

A similar hunger strike by four members of the terrorist Front de Liberation Quebecois, smashed last year, was called off Tuesday.

In both cases, the no-eating campaign was launched to support demands that LQ and FLQ members be treated as political prisoners.

U.S. Would Halt Production Of Fissionable Materials

GENEVA (Reuters) — The United States said Thursday it is prepared to accept a complete verified "cut-off" in the production of fissionable materials for use in nuclear weapons.

William C. Foster, the United States delegate, told the 17-nation disarmament conference that the U.S. government made this offer in order to slow down the arms race.

"We are prepared to accept a complete, verified cut-off in the production of fissionable material for use in nuclear weapons," Foster said.

"We are willing to accept this as a measure separate from and prior to agreement on stage one of general disarmament and the establishment of an international disarmament organization as envisaged in the U.S. treaty outline."

The U.S. delegate said he believes the verification involved for such a measure could be limited in scope.

"In addition to nuclear powers, we believe that non-nuclear powers may wish to accede to a cut-off agreement," he said.

Foster said from the U.S. view, a cut - off arrangement should include the following four points:

1. Each party would agree to halt, prohibit and prevent the production, at facilities under its jurisdiction and control, of fissionable material for use in nuclear weapons.

2. Each party would also agree to refrain from rendering assistance to anyone for the purpose of production anywhere of fissionable material for use in nuclear weapons.

3. Each party would agree to accept appropriate inspection.

4. The agreement should contain a withdrawal clause, perhaps one similar to that incorporated in the partial test-ban treaty.

Pool Incident Causes Near-Riot

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla. (AP) A near-riot broke out and many demonstrators were arrested in a new flareup just as this troubled city appeared to be reaching a settlement of its racial troubles.

The near-riot broke out when six Negro men and women jumped into a pool in which whites were swimming at the Monson Motor Lodge.

Whites yelled to the Negroes to get out and the motel manager, Bill Brock, poured two gallons of muriatic acid in the pool, sloshing it at the Negroes.

A policeman leaped into the pool, grabbed one Negro around the neck and they began fighting. Then club-swinging officers surrounded the pool, hitting at the Negroes in the water.

Arrest them!" cried some of about 100 whites watching the struggle. "Get the dogs!"

Finally the Negroes climbed out of the water, some bruised by clubbing on backs, arms and shoulders and were taken to jail.

A short time earlier, about 50 persons, including a group of rabbis, were arrested during an attempt to get service in the lodge restaurant.

The rabbis from several states joined Negroes for a march Wednesday night through a white residential section of St. Augustine. It was something new in the way of racial demonstrations in the oldest city in the United States.

THREE HARRISON MILLS FAMILIES FLOODED OUT

HARRISON MILLS (CP) — Flood waters from the Harrison River poured Thursday through a 40-foot breach in a municipal dike and forced three families to evacuate at this farming community 12 miles west of Agassiz.

Neighbors helped the three families move about 100 herd of cattle to safety.

Another 20 families living on the south side of the Lougheed Highway are being threatened by the flood and have made ready to evacuate at a moment's notice.

Crews were sandbagging a road in the area in an attempt to protect other threatened farmland.

At Mission City, meanwhile, the Fraser River dropped several inches overnight.

Officials said it was a recurring trouble spot and the only one in the valley at the moment. They did not expect further trouble since the Harrison River is also dropping.

Braves Meet Goliaths From Kellogg Sunday

A powerful band of Kellogg Metalworkers, weighing in at an average of 190 pounds will stage the first American invasion of the 1964 Can-Am baseball season, when they take on the Nelson Braves in a double-header at Civic Grounds, Sunday.

Leading the pitching brigade will be 19-year-old Larry Sappington, a sensational all-round athlete who is an all-state basketball and football player at University of Idaho. Sappington stands 6' 2" and weighs 195 pounds. He posted a 10-2 record i nsemi-pro ball in Idaho last year.

He will probably oppose Ed Messinchuk in the curtain raiser.

Also included in the Metalworkers' line-up are Rich Porter, who lettered in baseball at Idaho University from 1959 to 1962 and batted .322 in semi-pro ball last summer, and Fred and John Bardelli, a pitcher-first sacker brother team. Both boys were scouted by major league teams while at U of I.

Playing manager John Beckworth, 25, a 205-pound relief pitcher who won three games and lost none last season will also see action.

Interviewed by telephone, Thursday, Beckworth informed the Daily News that the Metalworkers had played two league games thus far, dropping both halves of a double header to Spokane Orphans last weekend.

He said that in his opinion the 1963 pennant winning Orphans were definitely the team to beat in the southern division of the Can-Am Baseball League.

He feels that Kellogg and St. Johns are fairly evenly matched and that Opportunity (Wash.) Palmers are the weakest club in the division.

The Orphans play a double header against Nelson Braves Sunday, June 28.

Braves' management announced today that the starting time for Sunday's game has been advanced to 1 p.m. to assure sufficent time to complete both contests before an R.C.M.P. band concert takes over Civic Centre Grounds.

Beat 'Dancer as Two Year Old, Grand Garcon Will Try Again

By JERRY GLADMAN

TORONTO (CP)—If Northern Dancer's memory serves him right, E. P. Taylor's three-year-old colt will recall finishing second to a horse called Grand Garcon in the Cup and Saucer Stakes last September.

Frank Sherman's Grand Garcon still holds the distinction of being the only Canadian-bred colt to defeat the winner this year of the Kentucky Derby and the Preakness Stakes.

In Saturday's 105th running of the Queen's Plate, Grand Garcon will get another chance to finish ahead of the Dancer, although the 1-to-9 odds in favor of the latter make it seem unlikely.

Grand Garcon also holds another victory of sorts over Northern Dancer, dating back to 1962 when both colts, as well as Pierlou, were up for grabs at Taylor's yearling sale.

Pierlou, expected to finish no worse than third in the $50,000 added mile - and - a - quarter classic, went to J. Louis Levesque of Montreal for $12,500. Sherman of Hamilton picked up Grand Garcon for $10,000. The Dancer, because of his small size, was turned down with a $25,000 price tag hanging around his neck.

BEATEN NEAR FINISH

In the Cup and Saucer Stakes, jockey Ron Turcotte took the Dancer to the front immediately and planned to stay there. However, Grand Garcon came on strong at the end and swooped by the Dancer to take the win. Pierlou was third.

Despite the fact that this approach led to Northern Dancer's downfall in the Cup and Saucer, trainer Horatio Luro has whipped up the same strategs for the Plate.

"There'll be no slow pace in this race," Luro said. "We'll make it fast ourselves if necessary. This horse is quite capable of such a thing."

Aside from the Dancer, Pierlou and Grand Garcon, there will be five other horses in the Plate. This was decided Thursday when the owners came up with the $500 final payment.

The others are All Seasons, owned by Larry McGuinness of Toronto; Later Mel, owned by Wilf Farr of Weston, Ont.; Top Ruler, owned by J. B. Carmichael of St. Catharines, Ont.; Return Tip, owned by Max Bell of Calgary, and Langcrest, owned by Sidney Langill of Montreal.

Later Mel, winner of the Canadian Oaks last Saturday, is the only filly in the race and will carry 121 pounds. All others will carry 126.

The Dancer drew the rail position and is likely to still be a 1-to-9 favorite at 5:20 p.m. EDT when the race starts. It will be broadcast on the CBC television network.

Gross purse for the classic is $74,075 with the winner receiving $49,075. The second horse will get $12,500 with the third and fourth horses receiving $7,500 and $5,500 respectively.

The Dancer has won 13 of 17 races and taken in a total of $531,572 in purses. In 1963 he won eight races and $440,937 in purses.

Pro-Files

BOSTON'S BRAVES of 1914 were dead last in the eight-team National League in mid-July and went on to win the pennant. They humiliated the great Philadelphia Athletics in the series, 4-0, causing Connie Mack to break up his $100,000 infield.

Agree Montreal Likely Cup Site

MONTREAL (CP)—Delegates to the Canadian Football League's semi-annual meeting agreed Thursday that Montreal is a likely choice for the 1965 Grey Cup game.

General managers of the nine teams, who begin a two-day meeting in Montreal today, said if the CFL is assured the new Alouettes stadium will be ready the national final would probably be played here.

The Alouettes have guaranteed their new stadium will be ready.

"It would be illogical if it wasn't," said coach Jim Trimble. "We couldn't play football at home in 1965 because our lease at McGill Stadium expires at the end of this season."

Representatives of both the Eastern and Western conferences met separately in closed sessions Thursday to iron out minor problems and discuss the 22-item agenda for the meeting. Spokesman said the proceedings were routine but fireworks could develop today.

On the agenda is the "funny Canadian" situation. Some teams, led by Ottawa, are pressing for a limit on the number of American imports with Canadian citizenship while other clubs are strongly opposed.

Ottawa's general manager, Red O'Quinn, plans to propose that naturalized Canadians be limited to three a team while Hamilton, which boasts such new Canadians as Bernie Faloney and John Barrow, is firmly against such restrictions.

Arnold Palmer Leads U.S. Open Tourney

By WILL GRIMSLEY

WASHINGTON (AP) — Masters king Arnold Palmer hammered the monster course of the Congressional Country Club to its knees with a two-under-par 68 Thursday for a two-stroke opening round lead in the United States open golf championship.

The muscled capitalist from Latrobe, Pa., bidding for a professional grand slam, missed a birdie seven-foot putt on the final hole which would have given him a greater margin.

About a third of the 150-man field was still on the course but none appeared in a position to wrest first place from the game's greatest money winner.

Until Palmer had surged in one of his fabled finishes, the 7,053-yard course had baffled the world's best golfers. None had been able to break the 35-35—70 par over the long and frustrating layout, with its hump - backed greens, abundance of traps and water hazards, and only Bill Collins had matched it.

Tomy Lema, hottest man on the tour after two straight tournament triumphs, shot a 71 for a tie with long - hitting Johnny Pott and a little-known home pro from Modesto, Calif., Joe Zakarian.

SNEAD FAR BEHIND

Sam Snead, at 52 making his 24th bid for the title he's never won and the sentimental favorite of millions, four-putted the fourth hole and took three putts on the sixth in a collapse thaf ended his dreams quickly. He finished with a 77 and was in jeopardy of failing to make the cut Friday when the field is shaved to the low 50 and ties.

Jack Nicklaus, battling Palmer for world golf honors, registered a 72.

He was bracketed with more than a dozen at this figure, including the left-handed British Open champion from New Zealand, Bob Charles, Ken Venturi and Bruce Crampton of Australia.

Charles, a bean - pole of a man, had a rather bizarre round. He was five over par through the first five holes. Then he started turning on the steam at the eighth and closed with a back-nine 32. No one else played the back nine of Congressional's dreaded acres with such contempt.

FINDS PUTTING TOUCH

Palmer, driving badly on the front nine, found the range after the turn and also discovered an old putting touch which he said he feared he might never find again.

He had only 26 putts and on none of the massive greens did he take three strokes.

Nicklaus, saying "I played awful," scrambled to keep under par through the first 15 holes. At that point, he said, "my sins caught up with me." He hit his iron approach into the rough at the 16th, drove into the rough and failed to recover on the 17th. At the 18th he again drove into the rough—his eighth trip there in 14 driving holes—and missed a seven-putt needed for his par.

Canadian Open Gets U.S. Coverage

MONTREAL (CP)—The $50,000 Canadian open golf championship, scheduled for July 30-Aug. 2 over the nearby Pinegrove course, will be televised in the United States for the first time, it was announced Thursday.

The announcement, by the tournament sponsors, said the U.S. part of the television coverage will be co-produced by Television Productions of America and Beacon Sports Productions.

CBC equipment, including 14 cameras, will be used and most of the U.S. stations taking the telecast are affiliates of networks in the U.S. The U.S. section will have its own commentators.

The Royal Canadian Golf Association announced that there will be a qualifying round July 27 for Canadian and American professionals and amateurs not on the exempt list. Maximum field for the championship's start will be 154.

Cater's First Homer Powers Phils To Win

By The Associated Press

Two-run homers by rookie Danny Cater — his first homer in the majors — and veteran Johnny Callison powered Philadelphia Phillies to a 6-3 victory over Chicago Cubs Thursday.

The Cubs, losing their first series since May 21, were beaten in the first three innings. Cater homered after Richie Allen beat out an infield hit in the first inning and Callison homered in the third after pitcher Chris Short singled.

The triumph boosted the Phillies' National League edge to one game over second-place San Francisco Giants, who lost 7-6 at St. Louis.

Julian Javier slammed a homer, double and single for the Cardinals, driving in five runs, while Ray Sadecki won his seventh game against five losses.

In the only other NL game scheduled, Donn Clendenon and Willie Stargell blasted homers in support of Vern Law's three-hit pitching as Pittsburgh walloped New York Mets 10-0.

For Law, it was his fourth victory in the last five starts and evened his record at 5-5.

Chicago White Sox gained the American League lead and dropped Baltimore seven percentage points behind by beating the Orioles 2-0 on homers by Mike Hershberger and Al Weis.

Frank Kreutzer and Hoyt Wilhelm combined to shut out Baltimore on seven hits.

New York Yankees beat Boston 6-3 as Rollie Sheldon went all the way for his first victory of the season. Elston Howard socked a two-run triple in the Yankees' four-run first inning uprising and Tom Tresh homered with a man on in the seventh to wrap up the New York scoring.

Kansas City's Ed Charles beat former teammate Ed Rakow, hitting a leadoff homer against the Detroit pitcher in the ninth for the As' 3-2 victory. Bill Freehan had pulled the Tigers into a tie with a seventh inning homer.

The other clubs were not scheduled.

Film Featured At Rod-Gun Meeting

Department of Recreation and Conservation officer Ted Rutherglen will show the fish and game branch moving picture "Swan Valley," the story of Duck Lake bird sanctuary, at the monthly meeting of the Nelson Rod and Gun Club Tuesday.

The sanctuary has long been a pet project of the Rod and Gun Club.

In calling the meeting, president Harold Hall announced that another large payment has been made on the club's outstanding inherited debt and that all indications pointed to its being completely in the black by its previously-set deadline, July 31.

The club intends to institute a greatly expanded junior firearms program of activities which will extend throughout the winter. To this end several new rifles were recently purchased.

The meeting will get under way at the Legion hall at 8 p.m.

Dynamos Win Second, Drop Cranbrook 4-1

KIMBERLEY (Special to the Daily News) — Veteran player-coach Elgin Smith hurled a two hitter and struck out 14 batters to lead Kimberley Dynamos to a 4-1 victory over Cranbrook Canucks, Thursday.

The win was the second in succession for the last placed Dynamos. They surprised the league leading Nelson Braves 6-5 in Kimberley, Sunday.

Dynamos drew first blood in the first inning when Mel Johnson got the first of seven hits off Cranbrook pitcher Wally Tymchyna, stole second and came home on Joe Posnikoff's single.

They added two more runs in the second frame. Smith got life on an error at third and came home when Harold Cox smashed a home run over the left field fence.

Smith had a no-hitter going until the top half of the sixth inning when Bob Carter hit a blooper into right field. He advanced to second on a fielding error and scored when Pete Lieman got Cranbrook's second and last hit.

Kimberley rounded out the scoring in the bottom of the sixth.

Smith walked and went around to third on an error by Tymchana. He scored on a squeeze play, the result of Colin Patterson's bunt.

MAYFLOWERS WHIP QUEENS

SLOCAN PARK — Mayflower Service dumped Queen's Hotel 14-3 in an exhibition softball tilt Monday night.

C. Savitskoff was brilliant in victory as he went all the way for the winners. J. Austen took the loss for the Nelson squad.

P. Kabatoff, H. Zarchikoff and C. Savitskoff hit home runs for the winning Slocan Park club.

Red Mountain Votes "Yes" on Chairlift

ROSSLAND (CP) — Members of the Red Mountain Ski Club Wednesday night approved construction of a double chairlift at a cost of $219,000.

It will be 8200 feet long, will extend from the lodge to the top of Granite Mountain bowl and have a capacity of 650 skiers.

It will be constructed by Interior Construction Limited and be similar to the lift at Vancouver's Grouse Mountain.

The construction firm is prepared to start on the project this year.

Financing of the project has not yet been determined but the sale of debentures is under consideration by the executive.

REVOKE LICENCE IN RING DEATH

MANILA (AP)—The Philippines Games and Amusements Board Thursday revoked the licence of Sandalio del Corro as a ring referee because he was slow in stopping a fight that proved fatal to one of the boxers Saturday.

Del Corro, a referee with 38 years' experience, officiated in the four-rounder at Araneta Coliseum in which Rey Romero was knocked out by Roger Aganan in the fourth round. Romero died of a brain injury Tuesday.

Jet Fighters Protect Soviet Leader's Plane

CP from Reuters-AP

COPENHAGEN — NATO jet fighters from the Danish air force formed a high - altitude protective umbrella over Russian Premier Khrushchev as he left here in a Scandinavian Airlines plan Thursday to spend a full day studying farming in Denmark.

He headed for the rich dairy farming island of Fuen, between the Jutland Peninsula and Zealand to visit three farms and an agricultural college.

Later in the day he planned to visit the home of fairy tale writer Hans Christian Andersen in Odense.

Khrushchev had frequently pointed to the Scandinavian countries' intensive cultivation of their limited farmland as a model for Soviet farmers.

The Russians in talks Wednesday with Danish Premier Jens Otto Krag indicated they are interested in introducing Danish breeds of cattle and pigs into the Soviet Union.

MARKET TRENDS

NEW YORK (AP)—A tired stock market stumbled into irregularity Thursday, having advanced in six of the previous seven sessions. Even though more stocks declined than advanced, the Dow Jones industrial average kept a slight gain of .63 at 823.98.

Volume settled back to 4,760,000 shares from 5,290,000 Wednesday.

Texas Gulf Sulphur once again provided most of the excitement. It erased an early gain of about a point and took a net loss of 1¾ at 50 on 410,400 shares, making it by far the most active stock. The selling in Texas Gulf followed a company report on its mineral find at Timmins, Ont. The report more than doubled the original estimate of the amount of ore reserves in the area and upped the quality of the ore.

Among reasons given for the drop in Texas Gulf despite apparently good news was one that traders "sold on the news," to realize profits.

Of 1,346 issues traded, 544 declined and 502 advanced. New highs for the year totalled 57 and new lows 20. The Associated Press average of 60 stocks dipped .4 to 308.2 with industrials down .1, rails down .6 and utilities down .1.

Of 16 most active stocks, eight fell, six rose and two were unchanged.

Richardson - Merrell reported that it had been found innocent in the first damage suit against its anti - chloresterol drug, Mer-29. The stock spurted 3¾ to 46⅛.

After the close, the New York Stock Exchange announced that in the latest month, the short interest had decreased 174,458 shares to 6,378,677 shares, the lowest level since April 15. A decrease had been expected.

Among Canadian issues traded, Distillers Seagrams and International Nickel each advanced one point, Granby Mining ⅜ and Aluminium Ltd. ⅛. Canadian Pacific, Dome Mines and Hudson Bay Mining were unchanged.

A few more stocks declined than advanced on the American exchange. Among Canadian issues, Molybdenite gained ⅛, while Canadian Marconi and Scurry Rainbow each lost ⅛ and Canadian Javelin ⅜. Brazilian Traction and Fargo Oil were unchanged.

MONTREAL (CP) — Prices on the Montreal and Canadian Stock Exchanges were narrowly higher in moderately active trading Thursday.

The composite index edged up 0.2 to 146.6 and advances outnumbered declines 86 to 81.

Industrial turnover was 170,800 shares and mines and oils 722,200 shares.

Papers led the advances, rising 1.3 to 136.4. B.C. Forest picked up a point to 29¾.

Industrials added 0.5 to 151.6. Asbestos and Dupont rose ¼ each to 21 and 50¼.

Utilities declined 0.4 to 138.1. Interprovincial Pipe Line fell ⅜ to 88¼. Trans-Canada Pipe Line was up ⅜ to 88¼.

International Nickel gained ⅞ to 84⅞ and Hudson Bay ⅜ to 65 among senior base metals.

Among food and beverage issues, Distillers Seagrams rose 1⅛ to 57⅞.

In senior oils, Texaco added ¼ to 59½ B.A. ¼ to 33¼, and Husky ⅛ to 9.

In speculative mines on the Canadian Exchange, Equity Exploration lost two cents to 16 cents and Fano ½ cent to 16½ cents on a volume of 120,500 shares. East Ventures gained 12 cents to 50 cents.

TORONTO (CP) — Mining stocks had a mild flurry of activity and industrials recorded their seventh consecutive advance on the stock market Thursday.

The speculative section made a slight move when Texas Gulf Sulphur announced that its copper - zinc - silver orebody near Timmins indicated approximately 55,000,000 tons of ore. Rowan reacted with a seven-cent gain to 20 cents. The real standout was Genex which traded more than 1,000,000 shares and gained nine cents to 54 cents.

Industrials were paced by foods. Weston B moved to a 1964 high of 20¾ with a 1⅛ gain while General Bakeries added 1 to 24, also a 1964 high. Molson A and B each dipped 1¼ to 34 and 33¾ in profit taking.

Internation Nickel gained 1 to 85 and Revelstoke 1¼ to 11½.

Western oils were quiet and Home B was down ¼ to 19¼.

On index, industrials were up .52 to 156.21 and the Exchange index .40 to 145.76. Golds were down .78 to 133.88, base metals .48 to 62.84 and western oils .11 to 97.69. Volume was 5,036,000 shares compared with 4,954,000 Thursday.

CONTRACT AWARDED

REDLANDS, Calif. (AP)—The navy has awarded a $4,200,000 contract for development of a system engineers say might have saved the ill-fated submarine Thresher. The plan calls for installing solid - propellant rocket engines in submarine ballast tanks to quickly expel water during a deep-sea emergency. The Thresher went down off New England April 10, 1963, with all 129 aboard, after an emergency developed during a deep test dive.

Pope's Statement on Atrocities Clarified

WASHINGTON (AP)—A state department document represents Pope Pius XII as saying he thought "it was plain to everyone that he was referring to the Poles, Jews and hostages" when he condemned wartime atrocities in his Christmas 1942 message.

And he is reported as saying he did not mention the Nazis by name because he could not do so without mentioning "the Bolsheviks and this he thought might not be wholly pleasing to the Allies."

The late Pope's views were reported by Harold H. Tittmann, assistant to president Franklin D. Roosevelt's personal representative to Pius, and released with other diplomatic documents by the state department last week.

Tittman talked with the Pope for 40 minutes and reported:

"The Pope gave me the impression that he was sincere in believing that he had spoken therein (in his message) clearly enough to satisfy all those who had been insisting in the past that he utter some word of condemnation of the Nazi atrocities and he seemed surprised when I told him that I thought there were some who did not share his belief . . .

"He stated that he 'feared' there was foundation for the atrocity reports of the Allies but led me to believe that he felt that there had been some exaggeration for purposes of propaganda . . ."

The Pope's comments have a bearing on the controversy aroused by a contemporary German play, The Deputy, by West German Raold Hochhuth, now being shown on Broadway in shortened form. It accuses Pope Pius of having refused to condemn the Nazi murders of Jews for "reasons of state."

To Look Into Delay Of MacPherson Bill

By ROBERT RICE

OTTAWA (CP)—CNR President Donald Gordon said Thursday he and CPR President N. R. Crump would seek a "talk with government" if the long-promised MacPherson railway legislation has been shelved until later.

Mr. Gordon said any decision to delay the legislation based on the far-reaching proposals of the MacPherson royal commission would have serious repercussions on both railways.

The CNR president made the comments during testimony before the Commons railways committee.

He was asked about a press report that the government has dropped the MacPherson legislation from its list of priority action.

WOULD BE CONCERNED

Mr. Gordon said that as the matter now stands, the railways have been told the legislation is included in the priority list. If this were changed, then both railways would be concerned and would want to discuss the matter with the government.

He said the CNR was relying on early government action on the proposals of the MacPherson commission, made in 1961 and 1962 after a cross-country inquiry into railway problems.

Eugene Rheaume (PC—Northwest Territories) raised the question of a new delay for the MacPherson legislation when Transport Minister Pickersgill was attending the committee session.

Mr. Pickersgill sidestepped the issue and suggested the committee should deal with the CNR annual report.

Federation of Labor Calls Union Heads

NANAIMO (CP)—A meeting of all union locals affected by a strike at MacMillan, Bloedel and Powell River Limited's Port Alberni complex has been called by officials of the B.C. Federation of Labor.

Pat O'Neal, secretary of the federation, made this announcement following a meeting of a union strategy committee Tuesday night. He declined to give any details.

He said, however, the company's attitude toward union security for striking office workers—or a closed union shop—precludes the possibility of a quick end to the strike.

The walkout of office workers, which began May 19, resulted in 3,000 other workers refusing to cross Port Alberni picket lines. A further 1,000 loggers in the woods were later laid off because the mills were not running.

Points Out Danger of Easy Life, Over-Nutrition in Youth

OTTAWA (CP) — Over-nutrition and easy life during childhood and young adult years may lead to heart attacks, strokes and sudden deaths among middle-aged citizens, heart specialist Dr. Paul Dudley White said Thursday.

Addressing a luncheon meeting of the Senate and Commons voluntary committee on health, the Boston cardiologist called for more intensive research into the causes of heart disease.

"We must do more than diagnose and treat patients who already have evidence of cardiovascular disease," he said. "We must prevent the causative factors. This should be the very first priority."

Dr. White, who treated former president Eisenhower following his heart attack, said cardiovascular diseases, particularly atherosclerosis and hypertension, are a serious epidemic but physicians trying to control them are optimistic.

"We must begin the protection against the scourge of atherosclerosis practically at birth, for there is indication already that it is the over-nutrition and soft life of our children and young adults that leads to the sudden deaths, the heart attacks, and many of the strokes in our middle-aged citizens."

The committee is a voluntary group of doctor MPs and senators and others interested in health problems.

Slain Body Returned In Elevator

NEW YORK (AP)—Only minutes after Mrs. Selma Simpson saw her husband precede her into their apartment building, the self - service elevator returned to the lobby with his slain body.

The victim of the macabre murder Wednesday night was Leonard Simpson, 63, a lawyer.

He was slain by a single bullet that passed through his heart, Dr. William J. Brady, assistant medical examiner, reported after conducting an autopsy.

Police earlier had expressed belief he was stabbed, possibly with an ice pick.

Police put out an alarm for a man Mrs. Simpson and others saw leaving the building.

Police said the victim's wallet was empty of bills, although Simpson's younger son, Victor, 23, told police his father usually carried about $50 in bills.

As the elevator doors opened, disclosing his body, face down, Mrs. Simpson screamed and said: "Oh my God. Wait a minute. It looks like my husband."

Just before the elevator doors opened, Mrs. Simpson and two men who also were waiting for the elevator noticed a tall, gaunt Negro with a moustache, who came down the stairs, waved to them in a friendly way and left the building, located on 90th Street near Broadway.

For the first time, the number of overseas visitors to New Zealand in 1963 passed the 100,000 mark.

Mother Said To Have Strangled Small Daughter

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — The mother of a two-year-old white girl told police Thursday that she wrote a race-hatred note and left it beside the child's body after strangling her with a strip of bed sheet.

Homicide Lieut. Spurgeon Davenport said Yvonne Robbins, 23, said "I can't stand to see anything suffer" and added her little girl, Terri Odett, was in pain from being hit on the head with a brick by a neighbor child.

Davenport said Mrs. Robbins said the injury occurred Wednesday and she had been afraid to take the child to a doctor because she feared she might be accused of striking the girl.

Mrs. Robbins and her husband Joseph, a sign painter, had reported she found the girl dead early this morning beside a note which read:

"We don't like white kids. Move away or we are going to get another one."

Police immediately were sceptical because there had been no racial tension in the integrated area in northest Indianapolis.

The Robbins have two other small children who were sleeping in other rooms.

What is a father?

To a boy a father is sometimes two huge hands. They put worms on hooks better than any other hands in the world.

A father is the man who sits at the head of the table. Someone nice to be near when there's thunder and lightning . . . or trouble.

A father understands when a boy thinks he's too old to be kissed goodnight. He is the one who teaches a son how to knot a tie, who buys a young man his first razor, who gives permission to take the car.

A father spends most of his life reaching into his pocket for money to give someone for something. His favourite words are, "Now when I was your age . . ."

A father is the person boys want to be like when they grow up. He can be ignored, but he can never be forgotten. A father is a small boy grown taller and wiser.

A good father's wisdom is shown in many ways. And not small among them is his practice of moderation in all things, including the use of whisky. On the occasion of Father's Day, 1964, The House of Seagram says once again: True happiness springs from Moderation.
