Gov't Might Resign Over Flag Issue

Donna Billey Chosen To Reign Over Creston Blossom Festival

CRESTON — A charming miss from Canyon will reign as queen of the 1964 Creston Valley Blossom Festival, which swings into full action here this weekend.

Miss Donna Billey was announced as queen before a capacity crowd of about 1300 people in the Prince Charles Secondary School auditorium Friday night.

Her princesses are Joyce Rudy, Jill Armitage, Joan Phillips, Sharon Zorn, Cathy Ryckman and Loretta Salvador.

Judges were Mrs. G. E. MacNeill of Salmo; Mayor Joseph Salyga of Trail, and Mrs. E. Neilson of Marysville. Pacific National Exhibition rules were followed. Narrator was Mrs. D. S. Boynton.

The girls appeared first in casual wear, then in streetwear.

During demonstration of their special abilities, Miss Zorn played an accordion solo, including a composition of her own.

Miss Salvador spoke on sewing and home economics, using five of her own creations in demonstration.

Miss Rudy played a Chopin waltz and boogie woogie on the piano.

Miss Armitage appeared in a kiddy dress she had made and recited a poem, "When Day is Done," accompanied on the piano by Mrs. L. R. McClennan.

4H WORKER

Miss Phillips discussed her work in the 4H Club and the functions of the organization in which she has been a member for seven years. She has majored in home arts, dairy calves and cattle management.

Miss Billie presented a Ukrainian girl's dance dressed in traditional costume.

Miss Ryckman sang a vocal solo, "Cherry Pink and Apple Blossom White," accompanied by Mrs. G. Raglin.

Then each girl appeared in semi-formal evening gown.

The 1963 queen, Gail Paterson, was introduced by Clifford Carr, master of ceremonies. She outlined events of her reign during the past year.

Mrs. A. B. Staples and Mrs. Burton Bishop, who trained the girls, were called on to receive bouquets from Mr. Carr. Miss Patterson was presented with a bouquet by Tom Gautier of the Lions Club, chairman of the Queen Committee, on behalf of his club, the festival association and her sponsor.

Festival executive member Rich Wood presented each girl with a token of appreciation on behalf of the Lions Club.

The show was sponsored by the festival committee and was arranged by the Lions Club.

Festival chairman Tak Toyota was also a speaker, and told the crowd of the weekend activities to come. He said proceeds were for the festival association and would go for community projects.

Carpenters Take Strike Vote

VANCOUVER (CP) — Some 3000 carpenters from the Lower Mainland, Fraser Valley, Okanagan and Kootenay have voted in a union-supervised strike vote which seeks a pay boost of 46 cents an hour over a two year period.

The carpenters, employed by 165 independent contractors, are members of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners (CLC).

W. J. Cameron, president of the provincial council of carpenters, said the result of the vote will not be known until May 19 because several ballots have to be mailed from the Okanagan and Kootenay.

Pearson Asks for Legislative Step-Up

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Pearson told the Commons Friday that the government wants to pass more than 20 major pieces of legislation before there is any thought of a summer recess.

Opposition MPs giggled nervously as Mr. Pearson read his "pre-summer list" of "must" legislation, but their leaders generally agreed that they want to expedite the nation's business.

Gilles Gregoire (Creditiste — Lapointe) commented that the Commons has passed only a few minor bills in the first 64 sitting days of the session and it was time to get down to work.

Opposition Leader Diefenbaker said the opposition desired to expedite business at all times, but Mr. Pearson's list of 34 bills plus a few financial measures was so long it would "give Parliament an idea of the meaning of eternity."

Mr. Pearson's "must" list included an amendment to the constitution to authorize the proposed Canada Pension Plan to pay benefits to widows and orphans of pension contributors. This field is reserved for the provinces at present.

He hoped to introduce the amendment soon and then the revised pension plan itself.

Other major bills high on the priority list were the redistribution of Commons seats, the establishment of a single defence staff chief, the new tax-sharing arrangements with the provinces and the 12-mile territorial fishing limit.

There would be legislation to set up two new departments — treasury and rural development. Student loans and family allowances for students aged 16 and 17 would also be proceeded with before the recess.

WANT TO STUDY IT

New Democratic Leader Douglas said the "pre-summer list" contained more items of legislation than the throne speech read Feb. 18 at the opening of the session. He and Mr. Diefenbaker urged the government to place more of its proposed legislation before the Commons now so the opposition could study it in advance.

The NDP leader called for the elimination of resolutions that precede money bills to save time. House leaders of the five parties should get together to try to allocate time for the debate of various bills as was done in the British parliament.

Maple Leaf Motto Mooted; Party Lines Might Crumble

By STEWART MacLEOD

OTTAWA (CP)—The controversial issue of a distinctive Canadian flag may boil over in Parliament within a few weeks.

Sources close to the government Friday confirmed earlier published reports that if Parliament doesn't accept the government's proposed maple leaf flag, the minority Liberal administration will offer its resignation.

Prime Minister Pearson had told the Commons Tuesday that "when the time comes to submit the decision of the government in this matter to the House of Commons I would hope every member of the House would act as his conscience dictates and that there would be no question of confidence or non-confidence in a party sense."

Sources say that it will still be a "free vote" inasmuch as party whips won't be employed to work up support for party positions. However, these sources said, Mr. Pearson would regard a rejection of the flag as a defeat for the government and it would resign.

The prime minister is believed to favor a white flag with three red maple leaves and blue bars at each side of the flag. This would symbolize the "from sea to sea" motto.

QUESTION PEARSON

When the Commons met Friday, Opposition Leader Diefenbaker and New Democratic Leader Douglas fired a series of questions at Mr. Pearson based on newspaper stories.

"No decision has been taken . . . about the design or the time of the introduction of the resolution in question," said Mr. Pearson. He repeated this three times after similar questions.

While no decision has been taken by the cabinet, sources say the three-leaf flag would appear to be on the verge of selection. The cabinet is expected to be unanimous in its choice when the flag design gets before Parliament and the "free vote" will apply to backbenchers.

One reason the government is said to be anxious to get the flag issue settled is because of the growing pressure from members favoring retention of the Red Ensign. More and more members — particularly those from the Prairies and the Maritimes — are decorating their parliamentary doors with ensigns, and some are busy making speeches on its behalf.

The Liberal party has Red Ensign supporters within its ranks and there are indications that party lines may crumble in formal vote.

CITES OPPOSITION

A flag-conscious Conservative backbencher says he thinks the opposition to a new flag is gaining momentum within that party. "I am sure that 90 per cent of our members would vote against it."

It wasn't known how the various parties would divide on the issue in a free vote. Observers feel it will be close.

Meanwhile, the prime minister will face one of his stiffest tests on the flag when he speaks to the Dominion command of the Royal Canadian Legion in Winnipeg Sunday night.

The Legion leads the campaign for retention of the Red Ensign and Mr. Pearson is going to the organization's biggest annual gathering to present his argument for a distinctive flag. Sources close to him say he regards it as one of his most important speeches.

VANCOUVER (CP)—A Canadian flag must be bold, simple and arresting and should have color and an easily identifiable idea, a noted Canadian artist said Friday.

Jack Shadbolt of Vancouver said in an interview that it is time that Canadians started thinking how a new flag would appear on a flagpole.

Mr. Shadbolt, who has just finished designing a flag mural for the Fathers of Confederation Memorial Centre in Charlottetown, said he thinks the maple leaf is a "good, general and clear symbol." But a design of three leaves on a single stem that has received some publicity was ghastly, thin, spindly and naturalistic.

He suggested a single maple leaf on three broad horizontal bands: White at the bottom, representing snow; deep blue in the middle, representing dark land, the north, the horizon; clear yellow on top, representing the northern sky.

The bottom of the maple leaf is white, exploding into leaf green where it hits the yellow.

Fruitvale Boy Dies of Encephalitis

TRAIL, B.C. (CP) — Kenneth Kucher, 8, died Friday in Trail-Tadanac Hospital after a week-long coma produced by encephalitis or sleeping sickness.

Kenneth, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Kucher of nearby Fruitvale, was taken to hospital May 8 by the RCMP after he lapsed into unconsciousness.

Dr. Jack Harrigan, deputy coroner, said an autopsy was to be performed Friday at the request of the parents. No inquest will be held.

Cause of death was encephalitis, Dr. Harrigan said, but the source of the virus will not be known for about a month, when viral tests will be completed at laboratories in Eastern Canada.

Encephalitis is a virus disease which sometimes develops following measles, influenza or chicken pox.

Another type of the disease, west equine encephalitis, is found in horses and transferred to humans by insects. Birds are also carriers.

But deputy B.C. Health Minister Dr. J. A. Taylor said Friday he is convinced the Kucher boy was suffering from measles encephalitis, not the equine form.

"That was the presumptive clinical diagnosis and I am sure the laboratory tests will confirm it," he said.

"Measles is fairly prevalent in the area at present."

Commission Tired Of Studying South Africa Papers

CAPE TWN (AP) — Interior Minister Jan de Klerk announced in Parliament Friday that South Africa's press commission was being disbanded after 13 years in office.

He said that the commissioners asked to be relieved because of "the enormous volume of work involved" in studying South Africa newspapers. A report on the South African press will not be made, he added.

The commission issued a long report Monday recommending the creation of a statutory press council for "self control and discipline" of the South African press.

It said it found a preponderance of "bad and very bad reporting" on political and racial matters in outgoing news dispatches.

The council would have authority to impose unlimited fines on newspaper owners in cases where publication of matter complained about had increased the newspaper's revenue.

It is suggested also that the law setting up the council should provide statutory powers for a press code regulating conduct of newspapers and journalists. Publishers, journalists, the general public and parliamentary parties would have representative on the council.

There has been no move by the government to seek such action in Parliament. There was no word also on whether the government considers creating the council.

Bodies Buried

ADEN (Reuters)—The bodies of two British soldiers, killed and beheaded by dissident tribesmen April 30 in action in the Radfan area, were buried in a simple ceremony Friday.

The two soldiers, Capt. Robin C. Edwards, 27, and engineer John Warburton, 25, were found by a South Arabian federal army regular patrol Wednesday near Adi Taym.

The dead men were in a nine-man special air service patrol sent into the area by helicopter to obtain intelligence on enemy positions April 29.

CPR FIREMEN GET RAISE

MONTREAL (CP)—A contract settlement affecting some 1600 firemen and other operating personnel of the Canadian Pacific Railway was announced Friday.

The contract, which affects members of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen (CLC) across Canada, takes effect July 1 and lasts for three years.

It provides for a 6½-per-cent increase in five stages for passenger service firemen and four per cent in four stages for yard firemen.

Rescuer Drops Down From Sky, Shakes Hands With Survivors

VANCOUVER (CP) — With a Stanley-and-Livingstone greeting amid the evergreen jungle of rugged Coquihalla Pass, two surveyors were rescued from their wrecked aircraft Thursday.

An RCAF helicopter spotted smoke from the wreckage, which Donald Reece, 28, of Denver, Colo., and pilot Bruce Busby, 36, of neighboring Burnaby had prayed would attract the attention of the searchers.

Cpl. Bernard Fitzgerald of the RCAF's para-medical group was lowered from a helicopter.

"As I got to the ground Reece came over to me, shook my hand and said: 'So glad to see you.' "

Reece and Busby were then whisked to a hospital at Hope, about 100 miles east of here. Busby suffered a separated right shoulder; Reece was not injured.

The pair, employed by Electronic Geophysical Surveys Limited of Burnaby, left here Tuesday on a 150-mile flight to Nicola Lake to carry out aerial surveys.

Reece said Busby took the aircraft into a narrow pass in order to follow railway tracks but they missed a turn where the pass reverses direction.

"The pass was too narrow to turn around and we did not have enough power to climb out of trouble," said Reece.

The light plane struck some tree tops and plunged to the ground.

The two men spent much of their time in sleeping bags, hearing search planes circling overhead.

Reece fired the plane and his sleeping bag, and an RCAF search crew in a hovering helicopter spotted the smoke.

Smart Sees Shortage

VANCOUVER (CP)— The day of the big, centralized mental institution is going and psychiatric services now are being taken to the people, says Dr. Frank E. McNair, director of the Okanagan Mental Health Centre.

He told the B.C. Public Health Institute Friday of the devolpment of his centre which now serves the psychiatric needs of 150,000 persons in the North and South Okanagan and the Kamloops health units.

Since the centre was set up in 1960, he said, first admissions to mental hospitals from the area had been cut in half.

Now the Kelowna hospital, the newly - built Kamloops hospital and the projected Vernon hospital all were planning psychiatric wards.

Dr. M. R. Smart, director of the Selkirk Health Unit at Nelson, said regional mental health units are a step in the right direction towards comprehensive mental health care.

But there was an acute shortage of professional psychiatric personnel, particularly consultant health nurses who have training in the handling of mental illness cases.

"Apples and Oranges" Arithmetic

McNaughton Has Final Words, Wants Stripped-Down Project

By ARCH MacKENZIE

OTTAWA (CP)—Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton ended his testimony on the Columbia River treaty before the Commons external affairs committee Friday, firing final charges and drawing heavy shelling in return.

The arrangements for British Columbia river control and sale of power to the United States should be scrapped and a fresh start made, the chief critic of the treaty said.

He quoted a U.S. power official as proof that Canada's share of power is well below the advertised 50 per cent of benefits produced on the U.S. leg of the river by Canadian storage dams. There was a prompt rebuttal that the same authority categorically spells out an even split between the two countries.

The general said the U.S. has been handed a fat chunk of low-cost power to boost its industry in direct competition with Canadian industry — specifically aluminum — that must use higher-cost Peace River power.

Once again he was grilled about why he chose to remain silent publicly in his criticism of the treaty until he was retired in 1962 at age 75 as Canadian chairman of the International Joint Commission.

RECESS TO TUESDAY

The committee sat for about 1½ hours and then adjourned until Tuesday. After starting its intensive study April 7, it now hopes to conclude next week with External Affairs Minister Martin returning for a cleanup statement.

The general reiterated that a plan of Columbia River control wholly within Canada — and stripped of two controversial projects—is a better all-round scheme.

"The effect is, I warn you, that if this treaty and protocol should be approved, then Parliament will have permitted an immense irreplaceable resource of ever-increasing value to pass out from the sovereignty of Canada for no proper return and for all time," said the old soldier.

The proposed High Arrow Dam above Trail on the Columbia was unnecessary and a costly project — now estimated at $130,000,000—whose expense the committee had been unable to ascertain because the consulting firms hired by B.C. wouldn't disclose it.

His own scheme, he said, had been treated for government comparison purposes as a "straw project . . . a pretty musty one at that . . . a fabricated alternative." No special study had ever been done for comparison purposes on the plan he backed. It would rule out the Libby Dam in Montana holding control of Kootenay waters before they re-entered Canada.

SUBMITS STUDY

He submitted a study of comparison done by power economist Larratt Higgins, employed by Ontario Hydro but an independent witness, to argue that his scheme had better returns all round.

The general drew sharp crossfire in what he called the most important part of his conclusion —that Canada's share of power benefits in the U.S. work out to 19.5 per cent rather than 50 per cent as advertised.

He quoted as authority for this "bombshell" statement Charles F. Luce, administrator of the Bonneville Power Authority which is the U.S. federal agency in the Pacific Northwest. The general introduced calculations to support his assumption.

John Turner, parliamentary secretary to the federal resources minister, first accused the general of "apples and oranges" arithmetic that sought to compare two different things. Then he read from the same series of articles by Mr. Luce to show "categorically" that the U.S. official credited Canada and the U.S. with an even split on power benefits in the U.S. from Canadian storage.

There was another long exchange between the general and Walter Dinsdale, former Conservative resources minister who briefly was involved in the Columbia negotiations. It hinged on conflicting statements by former justice minister Fulton, chief Canadian negotiator of the 1961 treaty and now Conservative leader in B.C., and the general.

DIDN'T OPPOSE IT

Mr. Fulton told the committee that Gen. McNaughton, when asked personally before the 1961 treaty signing, did not oppose the treaty.

Gen. McNaughton repeated Friday this answer was incomplete and that he withheld recommendation and made his views plainly known to Mr. Fulton and former external affairs minister Howard Green a day or two later at a meeting.

"My staff told me I might have left the impression that I had chucked in my hand," said the general. "I took the very first opportunity to rectify it and it was straightened out before the treaty draft went to the cabinet for approval."

Mr. Dinsdale asked "whether it wouldn't have been the best thing for you to resign to give you complete freedom."

Gen. McNaughton said that was a "plausible course but not practical." He retained an opportunity, by not resigning, to make representations to the cabinet.

STILL HAD HOPE

It was perfectly true the treaty was to be signed shortly "but on the brink of disaster, even in the last few days you should make the best use of them . . . I was still praying at the last moment."

Mr. Dinsdale noted that Mr. Fulton had said he took the alternative of going directly to the people of B.C. on the Columbia issue in last September's provincial election, where he lost personally in Social Credit's sweep.

"This is a matter that affects all Canada, not just B.C.," said the general.

Cuba Charges U.S. Operating Bases

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — Cuba charged Friday that the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency is operating bases in Florida, Puerto Rico and Central America for attacks on Cuban territory and was sending over U-2 reconnaissance planes to pinpoint the attacks.

Cuban Foreign Minister Paul Roa sent a note to Secretary-General U Thant made public Friday. It warned that peace might be endangered by Wednesday's raid on a Cuban sugar mill by Cuban exiles and by an arms cache found earlier off the Cuban coast.

Roa said smuggled rifles, pistols, cartridge belts, plastic explosives, mines, detonators, fuses and uniforms found cached on a key off northern Pinar del Rio province were clearly "all of North American manufacture."

Rockefeller Scores Upset

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—New York Governor Nelson A. Rockefeller confounded the politicians and the pollsters Friday night by scoring a remarkable upset victory in Oregon's Republican presidential primary.

Rockefeller, cast as an underdog, made intensive personal campaigning pay off in a surge that all but buried the Republican nomination chances of Henry Cabot Lodge, U.S. ambassador to South Viet Nam.

Lodge, picked by all the pollsters to win handily, limped in second. He was ahead of Senator Barry Goldwater, of Arizona and former vice-president Richard M. Nixon, battling it out for third place.

In the contest for the state's 18 Republican nominating votes, the count from 2095 of 3251 precincts gave Rockefeller 51,896, Lodge 43,188, Goldwater 29,255, Nixon 27,109, Senator Margaret Chase Smith of Maine, 4,382, and Pennsylvania Governor William W. Scranton 2,527.

At that point Rockefeller was getting 33 per cent of the votes, Lodge 27, Goldwater 18, and Nixon 17.

Governor Mark O. Hatfield of Oregon, an aspirant for the Republican vice-presidential nomination, called Rockefeller's victory "the upset of the year."

Hatfield added that it proved "Oregon has independent voters who won't let the politicians and the polls tell them how to vote."

BLASTS ROCK MADRID

MADRID (AP) — Spanish Information Minister Manuel Fraga Iribarne Friday described 15 small bomb explosions in Madrid this week as "a phenomenon of spring." Some have blamed the bombings on leftists wanting to frighten tourists.

One Good Crow Deserves Another

By BORIS BOSKOVIC

SIPAN, Yugoslavia (AP) — Milka Cvjetkovic's kind heart finally got the best of her, and her anti-tourist rooster is no more.

This is the story of the loud mouthed rooster:

This picturesque island near the big resort of Dubrovnik attracts tourists who like its quiet ways for a restful vacation. There are no hotels. The tourists take rooms in the homes of the islanders.

Right in the middle of it all lives Milka Cvjetkovic, who had the loudest crowing rooster in these parts. Islanders insisted the rooster started crowing earlier than any other rooster, crowed later than any other rooster, and crowed louder than any other rooster. Tourists staying nearby grumbled. Their hosts carried the protests to Milka Cvjetkovic without avail all through the last tourist season.

The town tourist association held a special meeting and sent an official delegation to Milka asking her to move the rooster to the outskirts of town. She refused.

A citizens' meeting voted to offer her three hens for the rooster. She refused.

Citizens had her brought to court on charges of disturbing the peace. She paid a 1500 dinar ($2) fine — and kept the rooster.

It serenaded the last tourists out of town at the end of the tourist season. And all through the winter islanders racked their brains for a solution. Just before this tourist season opened, they found it. Friends called her with the sad news Ivo Dolina, a Sipan islander, was desperately ill. He could eat only poultry — and had his poor heart set on Milka's fat rooster.

She yielded the rooster to this desperate appeal.

Dolina has recovered nicely from the influenza.

And tourism on this quiet island is recovering nicely, too.

FIRST MINT

The first mint in North America was established in Mexico by a special charter of the Spanish crown in 1536.

Central School's History Told by One-Time Pupil

Central School's progress from a seed planted in 1892 to the newly renovated building today provided the topic for former pupil Mrs. C. E. Bradshaw's speech, "Education Over the Years," at the renovated school's opening.

In July 1892, confirmation of the present school site was received from the Deputy Commissioner of Lands and the building of the first portion of a public school in Nelson was started, Mrs. Bradshaw, school board trustee, informed the crowd.

In May, 1893 the grounds were ploughed, levelled and fenced and in July the school house was painted.

Nelson was growing rapidly and by August, 1897 tenders were called for the addition of a new room forming a T-shaped school.

Even though the new room was added, early in 1898 it soon became evident that a further room was required immediately and the renting of the Salvation Army Barracks was authorized by the Department of Education.

In 1898, $4000 was granted by the Department to erect four classrooms and pupils moved into their new accommodations the next year.

NEW HIGH SCHOOL

At the turn of the century plans were made to erect a new High School on City Block 49, the land to be donated by the Government. The legislature passed $5000 in May, 1901 and the four-room building was erected and the students took over in January, 1902.

The City took over the management of the schools in January, 1902.

Many changes took place in 1902; a wooden coal bin was put under the Mill Street entrance and for the first time the school ordered a carload of coal for each school at $6.75 a ton.

As 1905 approached, the Public School was again bursting at the seams and the Board asked the City Council to submit a by-law to raise $40,000 for a new brick public school building. This was turned down by a vote of 161 to turned down by a vote of 161 to 100. As a result a room in the basement of the Baptist Church across the street from the school and two floors of the I.O.O.F. hall had to be rented, the first for four years and the latter for a year.

The City at this time was launching debentures for the Power Plant so the school requirements had to be left in abeyance.

In 1907 the Board approached the City Council twice, the second letter requesting an extraordinary grant of $60,000 "to be used in erecting and equipping a new public school building of 12 classrooms, removing and altering the present buildings and grading and improving the grounds."

OPENED IN 1909

After a long hassle with Council the "yes" vote finally gave the Board the green light and the school was started in July, 1908. The official opening took place in 1909, the cost over $75,000 furnished.

In 1910 the Board was notified that $5000 had been voted for the purpose of brick-veneering the old part of the school and installing a ventilating system.

The Nelson Public School received a change of name to "Nelson Central" — probably after the advent of the Junior High — but this did not appear on the records.

Rotarians Urged To Fill Communication Void

The void left by lack of government understanding is an area Rotary International should fill.

This was the message brought to Nelson Rotary Club Friday by Bernard Sowton, Rotary International representative from Whitehaven, Cummerland, England.

Rotarians should attempt to communicate with the world through the theme "district to district," "club to club," and "Rotarian to Rotarian," he emphasized.

Brigadier Sowton was invited by Rotarians in District 508 for a two-week visit. Mrs. Sowton and District Governor Jack Winslett of Spokane were also head-table guests. Nelson was the 13th club he had addressed.

Although people are all different in pigmentation, habits and customs, the matter of grading is unimportant, Mr. Sowton said.

Differences should be honored and accepted as assimilation is much more difficult, especially in large groups which cling together and isolate others, the British speaker observed.

A large number of "Rotary Anns" joined their husbands at the luncheon.

Mayor E. T. Bodard presented Mr. Sowton with a gift on behalf of Rotarians and Mrs. Sowton accepted a gift from Mrs. Malcolm Brandon.

Trail Street Program To Be Launched

TRAIL — A special meeting of the City of Trail's works and services committee was held Wednesday evening to discuss the street reconstruction and repaving program.

The $360,000 program will be in full swing by Tuesday, said Ald. G. W. Barnsley, chairman of works and services. Work is to commence on Topping Street, then continue on Austad Lane, Elm Street and the upper part of Oak Street.

Excavation will first take place on the hillside areas for the replacement of water mains. City engineer R. S. Taylor said the old system is 40 to 50 years old and not much remains to be salvaged. The new pipes will be laid underneath the old mains. The work will be continued on Daphne Street and then along the road near the Moro apartments in Glenmerry.

It is the intention of the committee to keep reconstruction away from the downtown area until after Fiesta week to avoid the heavy traffic expected at that time.

In the downtown area a recommendation was approved that will save around $4000. The centres of some areas will be left intact as they are in good shape and only curbs and gutters will be required.

The work is to be done by the city department and about a year is expected to see most of the projects cleaned up.

Discussion also took place on a $200,000 waterworks improvement bylaw. It is expected that the bylaw will be ready for taxpayers' approval by fall.

River Development Committee Formed by Castlegar Chamber

CASTLEGAR — A Columbia River Development Committee has been formed by the Castlegar and District Chamber of Commerce which will seek to ensure that the area derives highest possible benefits from Columbia River Treaty developments.

The committee will also strive to see that there is a minimum adverse effect to individuals and communities; and where an adverse effect is unavoidable, to ensure that full compensation is negotiated. It will gather data divulging the government's and the crown corporation's specific plans in the development.

Councils, industry, organizations and individuals in the area will be asked to assist in obtaining the fullest understanding of problems which may arise from construction of High Arrow dam. The committee expects to offer assistance in turn to groups desiring the committee to work with them.

The committee heads said they do not plan to be active on problems where a duplication of efforts in progress or planned for the future may occur, unless the groups ask for committee activity.

Committee chairman is J. C. Enevoldsen and vice-chairman is N. T. Oglow. Secretary is N. T. Oglow.

H. Mottershead and A. Chevelda are in charge of relocation of inhabitants; C. A. Anderson, recreational and tourist facilities; Mr. Oglow and J. V. Hall, water pollution resulting from dam construction and flooding; W. T. Waldie, liaison with B.C. Hydro, area community councils, chambers and other organizations; J. E. Kraft, ex-officio member.

Holiday Events Of District To Attract Many

With a promise of sunny skies and warm temperatures Nelson and district residents are planning to take in Victoria Day celebrations at district points Sunday and Monday.

Besides the five-day Creston Blossom Festival packed with entertainment and gala events, May Day will be celebrated at Kaslo, New Denver and other Kootenay centres.

Highlighting the New Denver celebrations is a three-mile race from Silverton to New Denver which starts at 2 p.m.

The Kootenay Rainbow Trap Shoot will be held Saturday and Sunday.

In Nelson, banks, government departments and local businesses will be closed Monday.

No letter carrier service is scheduled for Monday. Wicket service at the post office is open from 10 a.m. to 12 noon with the exception of money order service.

The box lobby will be open from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Monster Picnic Planned By Scout Group

The Group Committee to the 2nd Nelson Cubs and Scouts met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. N. V. Hindle, 620 Houston Street. The group decided to end the season with a monster picnic June 14 at Twin Bays on Kootenay Lake.

The picnic is for all the Cubs and Scouts of 2nd Nelson, and their families. It is expected there will be approximately 400 in attendance. Games and competitions will be held.

Although the Group Committee will be inactive for the summer, the scouts have a busy schedule ahead of them.

On May 30 they are participating in the annual Scout Field Day. From June 28 to July 5, the troop will be away for a week on a lightweight camping trip that will have them hiking over the Gray Creek Pass to Marysville. En route they will meet and camp with scouts from two Cranbrook troops.

In July the Region is holding a High Level Hike through the Kokanee Glacier Park, which is open to scouts from this region and the States. Also, during this month, some of the scouts will be taking part in the World Jamboree at Valley Forge in Pennsylvania.

During August two scouts will be travelling right across Canada to take part in the New Brunswick Jamboree. Several side trips are planned in connection with both Jamborees.

Boy Given 12 Months For Theft of Car

A former Nelson youth, Garry McAfee, charged with theft of a car, was sentenced to 12 months definite and 12 months indefinite in the Young Offenders Unit at Oakalla Friday.

The Burnaby juvenile, 17, had his case transferred from Family and Children's Court to Provincial Court.

He pleaded guilty to stealing a vehicle owned by T. B. Halvarsen of Sproule Creek before Magistrate William Evans.

McAfee was driving the car near Castlegar when the owner, a passenger in another vehicle recognized his car and gave chase.

The accused left the car on the highway and ran into the wooded hillside. The RCMP tracking dog found him later.

This was his third offence for stealing a car, court was told. Previous to this charge McAfee was charged with theft of gasoline in Nelson but Magistrate Nelson adjourned his case, becuse he was charged with an automobile theft at Burnaby.

He was taken to Burnaby and before the trial was put in the care of his father, but he failed to appear and returned to Nelson.

Magistrate Evans recommended the youth learn a trade at Oakalla and also receive psychiatric treatment.

Two juveniles from the North Shore were placed on 12 months probation by Judge Evans following breaking, entering and theft at the Starlight Drive-in Theatre.

The youths stole cigarets and candy bars.

A Nelson juvenile was fined $10 and costs for driving a vehicle without a licence.

Judge Evans fined a Crescent Valley juvenile $20 and costs for being in possession of liquor.

In provincial court Paul Lorhan of Nelson was fined $10 and costs for speeding at Grand Forks. His case was waived to Nelson court.

K. J. Armstrong and Stewart Ross, both of Nelson, were fined $15 and costs each after pleading guilty to speeding on the North Shore.

Dance Tonight Sets Off Kaslo Victoria Day Celebration

KASLO — Plans for the biggest May Day celebration to date have been completed by the Kaslo Kinsmen Club. All they need to make a most successful holiday weekend is the cooperation of the weatherman.

Starting with a giant bingo Friday night, dance in the Legion Hall tonight; ladies softball, car rodeo and giant bonfire Sunday.

Climax will be the monster parade Monday, led by the Nelson City Band, and crowning of the new May Queen, Colleen O'Connor, at Vimy Park. This will be followed by adult sports and a Babe Ruth Little League baseball game.

President Ken Frie and his various committees have worked hard to make this celebration an oustanding success. Proceeds will be used for community projects.

Deer Park Road To Be Kept Open Says Brothers

CASTLEGAR—The Deer Park road is to be kept open under Columbia River development.

Mines Minister Don Brothers announced this week that it is government policy to keep the road open to provide access for permanent residents and summer home owners who wish to remain in that area, and to facilitate recreational use, particularly by hunters and fishermen.

(A B.C. Hydro and Power Authority spokesman recently told the external affairs committee hearings on the Columbia river treaty in Ottawa that it was the Authority's intention to abandon the Broadwater-Syringa Creek road.)

Mr. Brothers said he had taken the matter of the road up with Lands Minister Ray Williston and received assurances that it is government policy to provide road access to the Deer Park area.

HONG KONG (AP) — Plainclothes detectives kept a close watch Friday on the residence of U.S. Consul-General Edward Rice after a report that a Chinese had threatened to kill him. Both the consulate-general and the Hong Kong government declined to comment.

Chambers Converge On Nakusp

NAKUSP— The Vernon Chambers of Commerce and Highway 6 Committee of Vernon, Lumby, Lower Arrow Lakes and Slocan converged on the Nakusp Chamber of Commerce Monday.

Ninety-three people sat down to dinner in the Parish Hall. As the meal drew to a close each member was asked to introduce himself and state his business.

The Nakusp Chamber presented the Vernon Chamber with a framed aerial picture of Nakusp. A Kegel presented Mr. Lionel Harwood with a plaque showing Highway 6 in its entirety. The women of the group were taken on a tour of the local schools and ceramic shop better known as the Wheelhouse. The men enjoyed an industrial tour of Columbia Machinery and Celgar shops, where a fire fighting display was put on by the forestry division of Celgar Ltd.

Slocan-Nakusp Toastmasters Get Charter

NEW DENVER — The Toastmasters of the Slocan-Nakusp area received their Charter from Toastmasters International Saturday night at a charter party and ladies night.

Members of the Valhalla Club and their guests enjoyed a full program for the evening in the Memorial Hall, Silverton, which had been decorated with a Japanese motif by H. Meredith and S. Mathushita and members.

The festivities commenced with a buffet supper, then a regular club program, with Alden Anderson as Toastmaster. Stan Pedley as Table Topics Master had a lively and interesting period during which lady guests expressed their opinions on the topics suggested by Mr. Pedley.

The visitors were introduced by Al Roberts. They were Syd Manning of North Vancouver, Governor of District No. 21; Alan Hill, Governor-elect of District No. 21; Reg Dill from Nelson, Area Governor, and Mrs. Dill; visiting Toastmasters and their wives from the Toastmaster Clubs in Nelson, Castlegar and Trail, members of Valhalla Club and their ladies and guests.

Club speakers for the evening were J. Holt, subject: "Toastmasters International"; Benn Dean, "Toastmasters and the Individual"; Peter Nelson — "Fishermen and Fishing." Father F. Richards gave a reading entitled "Inferiority Complex" taken from Psychology and Pastoral Practice.

Howard Meredith was evaluator general for the meeting. Glenn Weatherhead, Jack Raven, Quintin Forsythe and Walter Thring were evaluators for the respective speakers and the reader, L. Webber counted the "Ahhs and Ehs."

Alan Hill, District Governor elect, installed the officers of the Valhalla Club. These are Dave Westaway, president; Stanley Pedley, administrative vice-president; Howard Meredith, educational vice-president; Al Roberts, secretary - treasurer; Dr. Ernie Baja, Sgt.-at-Arms.

Syd Manning, district governor, presented President Dave Westaway with the Charter for Valhalla Toastmaster Club from Toastmasters International in Santa Ana, California.

President Westaway accepted a gavel, rostrum and best speaker cup as gifts from the Castlegar, Trail, and Nelson Toastmaster Clubs.

Following these formalities those present enjoyed dancing. About midnight the dancing was interrupted by an international type of floor show. Miss Sachi Takahara performed two Japanese dances attired in native costume, Miss Linda Westaway gave a monologue entitled "Maud" in the style of Beatrice Lillie and Ernie Baja and Doug Pengelly brought audience back to the American continent with two songs in the styling of the Smothers Brothers.

Castlegar Hospital Expansion OK'd

CASTLEGAR — Government approval for a better than 50 per cent expansion of the Castlegar and District Hospital from 32 beds to 50 beds was announced Wednesday night by Mines Minister Don Brothers, MLA for Rossland-Trail.

Mr. Brothers said that because of the projected future growth in this area, "plans will be such as to cover further expansion."

The MLA said the provincial government will pay half of the construction costs of the hospital expansion.

Mr. Brothers said he feels "certain" that there will be need for yet further expansion at the hospital "within a very short time."

Paying tribute to the work of the hospital's board of management, the mines minister said the campaign of the board for expansion to the hospital has now resulted in government action and he was "pleased to assist them at arriving at this happy result."

Speaking from Vancouver Wednesday night, hospital board chairman L. V. Campbell described himself as "very, very happy with this news." He had been in Victoria on Tuesday meeting with Mr. Brothers and officials of BCHIS on the matter.

Mr. Campbell said Mr. Brothers then took the matter of expansion up "directly with the minister of finance (Premier Bennett) and there is no doubt in my mind that this is why we have our expansion approval right now."

It is expected that an architect will now be engaged, plans drawn up, a money bylaw prepared for submission to the ratepayers and tenders called.

Where Does It End?

Canada's consumer price index — the yardstick of urban living costs — has moved up to 135 points. This, the bureau of statistics reports, is the highest yet.

At the moment this occasions no particular interest — or surprise. With everyone seeking more pay or profit it would be a wonder if the index remained stationary.

But it is possible to foresee the time when the index will be watched with cat-like intensity by millions of Canadians.

Under the new Canada Pension Plan pensions are to be adjusted from time to time according to the cost of living.

It is clear from this that the cost of paying for pensions will also be geared to fluctuations of the index. And since the cost of living in future years is unpredictable the cost of paying for the pension plan also is unpredictable.

How much we may be paying for our old-age security payments in 1980 is something nobody knows. In the United States social security has undergone eight major revisions, including three increases in the pension tax, which has risen from 2 per cent (on employers and employees) and is now 7.25 per cent.

It is slated to rise to 8.25 per cent in 1966 and to 9.25 per cent in 1968.

Every time a Canadian goes after a pay increase it will be with the knowledge that it will help to force up the cost of living, which will mean higher pensions, which will mean higher pension taxes, which will mean higher wage demands . . .

By that time the living index will make us look like a dog chasing his tail.—Vancouver Province.

South Africa vs. The World

South Africa is again moving relentlessly toward centre stage in the unfolding drama of world crises.

A move is afoot to bring up once more in the Security Council the South African racial problem. South African Prime Minister Hendrik Verwoerd has replied to the moderate report of the United Nations special committee on apartheid by saying that his government would reject "out of hand" any outside pressure to get it to change its policy. And perhaps most poignant and inflammatory of all, the proceedings at the Rivonia trial in South Africa—where a handful of blacks and whites are on trial on capital charges arising from their political activity — are nearing their climax.

Virtually the entire outside world, including the governments of the United States and Britain, condemns Dr. Verwoerd's policy of apartheid. Virtually the entire outside world believes that that policy can end eventually only in disaster for the whites of South Africa. Virtually the entire outside world has told Dr. Verwoerd so. Yet Dr. Verwoerd, backed now by most of the whites of his country, goes persistently on. And ironically, white South Africans have never been economically better off.

It is this failure of outside pressure on South Africa to divert the republic's government from its mistaken course that is rousing the African (and Asian) members of the UN to try to get further punitive measures taken against the Verwoerd government by international agreement. And should the Rivonia trial end with capital sentences on such esteemed African nationalists as Nelson Mandela and Walter Sisulu, it is not hard to imagine how emotions would be even more stirred.

The report of the special UN committee pointed in the direction of economic sanctions. Such partial measures as have been taken against South Africa in that direction have so far had virtually no effect on the Verwoerd government. Advocates of sanctions would say that is because the United States and Britain have refused to co-operate. As the committee reported, "nearly 40 per cent of South Africa's exports go to the United Kingdom and the United States, and nearly 50 per cent of her imports are drawn from these two countries."

There is little doubt, then, that when the issue moves again to the Security Council, the United States and Britain will find themselves on trial nearly as much as South Africa. Yet the objective judgment of both Washington and London is still likely to be against economic sanctions.—Christian Science Monitor.

Is This an Answer?

Let juvenile delinquents be judged by their own peers — by young people who understand them.

This, in essence, is the thinking behind an interesting experiment taking place in Jacksonville, Florida, where the use of youth juries in juvenile courts is credited with causing a 50 per cent reduction in juvenile crime in the last 12 months.

The belief of those who support the idea is that such jurors would have a psychological advantage over the magistrate, because an adult often is not able to see either the obvious truth or the reasons behind a crime in the case of a juvenile.

There may be a deal of truth in this argument, but by the same token it appears questionable whether immature youngsters sitting on such a jury would not be swayed by emotional sympathy rather than commonsense observance of the law.

Social workers say teenagers are bored, frustrated, and often possess too much money and have too much freedom and that it needs a juvenile to understand a juvenile.

The experiment is certainly a bold one, and the juvenile crime rate reduction in Jacksonville certainly appears to suggest that maybe the fact that a young delinquent sees the scorn of his fellows for being stupid enough to be caught a far greater deterrent than we adults imagine.—Kamloops Sentinel.

Hup, One, Two, Three, Ugh

Note this fiendish approach to separating man from his cigarettes:

"We want to go to places where people cannot sneak away surreptitiously to buy cigarettes and, having broken a man of the smoking habit, we believe that it is essential to get him fit through organized exercise."

This comes from a group of Johannesburg doctors who have invited 100 happy slaves of tobacco to join a luxury safari which will take them far from the temptations of civilization. Push-ups, sit-ups, lectures and group discussions on health will be mandatory far out in the wilds among the lions and tigers.

It may be that an expensive trek into a primitive wilderness will do for the fearful what chewing gum, pills and will power won't.

But the thought of surly, snarly togetherheid on the veldt—("OK all you addicts, out for volleyball")—is soul-shrivelling and encourages us to cling to our addictions.

Vietnamese Troops Killed in Ambush

SAIGON (AP)—Slipping out of their jungle stronghold in D Zone north of Saigon, a Communist Viet Cong force smashed a government relief column in one of the bloodiest ambushes of the year.

From dug-in positions along Route 16, the Viet Cong opened up with heavy weapon and automatic rifle fire that killed 51 government troops. Another 30, including an American ranger officer, were wounded in the engagement Thursday 22 miles north of Saigon.

Ten soldiers were reported missing.

"We make the same mistakes all the time," a frustrated American adviser commented.

There is an average of one major Viet Cong ambush every week. American advisers are concentrating much of their effort on making the South Vietnamese ambush conscious.

The Viet Cong laid their trap Thursday in traditional style by attacking three outposts, the district town of Tan Uyen, 25 miles north of Saigon, and a strategic hamlet before dawn.

The attacks appeared coordinated around Tan Uyen.

By morning, three persons had been reported killed, 10 weapons lost and two radio transmitters stolen. A relief force headed up the road along the Dong Nai River.

Elements of a ranger and infantry battalion were in the relief force, which moved in vehicles, American sources said.

The Viet Cong had apparently moved in alongside the road Wednesday night. Reports of the ambush are still sketchy, but apparently the Viet Cong permitted part of the convoy to pass and then opened up.

The fact that 51 government troops were killed compared with 30 wounded indicated to American advisers in Saigon that the Viet Cong firepower was intense. Normally, there are three men wounded to one killed.

Other government units were rushed to the region but reported no contact with the Viet Cong.

Meanwhile, a Viet Cong company with heavy mortars attacked two outposts in the Tan Lap strategic hamlet near Tay Ninh Thursday and the frightened population of the hamlet fled.

A government spokesman said 100 of these civilians were rounded up and taken across the Cambodian border.

The ambush was the bloodiest incident since a three-day battle in Kien Long in mid-April in which 300 government troops were killed.

Interpreting the News

By ALAN HARVEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

The sounds of jubilation marking the completion of the first stage of the building of the Aswan High Dam will provide small cause for rejoicing in Britain and the United States.

As Premier Khrushchev and President Nasser exchange compliments, there are some who wonder whether it was ever really necessary to have pushed the Russian and Egyptian leaders into such a close embrace.

In London, the Daily Mail strikes a common note when it asks whether the dam should be called "Nasser's dream" or "Dulles' folly" — a reference to the abrupt way in which the late U.S. state secretary John Foster Dulles withdrew offers of financial aid in constructing the dam.

In a fit of pique, Nasser then seized the Suez Canal, provoking the Anglo-Suez intervention of 1956 that threatened to unleash full-scale war.

ORIGINAL VILLAIN

Some now see Dulles as the original villain of Suez, and former prime minister Sir Anthony Eden merely as the man who became the scapegoat. But there is also a strong feeling that Britain has a tendency to be emotionally unsound about Egypt, and to view everything Nasser does with irrational eyes.

When the Suez crisis was at its height, a fierce correspondence raged in the British press. Retired colonels condemned Nasserites as "wogs," said they would never be able to run the canal and doubted their capacities as dam-builders.

At a reunion dinner in Derby in December, 1956, a brigadier said the politicians don't know anything about the Middle East, the Far East, or any other East.

"They don't know Orientals like we do — they don't know that the only way to deal with them is to kick their backsides."

DAM ON SCHEDULE

As it turned out, the Suez Canal is still functioning and the first stage of the Aswan Dam has been completed, on schedule to the day.

"Our agitation in Britain about Egyptians is chronic," comments the Manchester Guardian.

The way Britons feel about Egypt, in fact, seems a reasonable facsimile to the American approach to Cuba. At the NATO meeting in The Hague, State Secretary Dean Rusk of the United States renewed the U.S. appeal for a restriction on trade with Cuba. Comments The Spectator, a London weekly:

"The Americans are behaving over Cuba much as some Britons would like to behave over Egypt."

The magazine sees little hope of any change until after this fall's British and American elections.

French Theme Planned For Coast Festival

By DENNIS ORCHARD

VANCOUVER (CP) — It was the fashion in 1963 for critics to scoff at the vaulting ambition of the Vancouver International Festival. It could be the rage in 1964.

The VIF promises Irma la Douce in English and The Merchant of Venice in French. It matches long-forgotten musical instruments and the grand-slam music-hall girls of Zizi Jeanmaire.

Opening July 1 for a month, it will be a festival on the French theme, and exchange of compliments between French and English cultures. And if the critics care to scoff again, says the festival, let them.

It's the seventh time around for VIF, which annually announces its deficit with one breath and its plans for another year with the next.

This season the festival sticks closely to a theme, orienting 10 varied major productions as closely as possible around France and its performing arts, with a bow to the 1964 Shakespearean anniversary. Lectures, recitals, choral performances and symposiums are tied in.

Underpinned by government and private grants of $150,000, the festival plans to spend at least $391,000 and will need more than 60 per cent capacity audiences to take care of the difference.

Highlights of the program:

. Stars of the Paris Opera Ballet, a classical anthology with Rosella Hightower and the rest. July 2, 3, 4, 6, 7.

VERREAU SINGS FAUST

. Berlicz' Damnation of Faust, with Richard Verreau singing Faust, Marilyn Tyler singing Marguerite and France's Charles Munch directing the Vancouver Symphony. July 5, 7.

. Shakespear's Merchant of Venice in French, by the Compagnie Canadienne du Theatre-club of Montreal. Same production that conquered Montreal and Quebec City in 1963. July 9-11.

. New York's Pro Musica Antiqua, playing instruments automatically recreated from the renaissance, baroque and mediaeval periods. July 12, 13, 15.

. Irma la Douce in English, by the Theatre du Noveau Monday, Jean and Gabriel Gascon with their Montreal production the musical verion; Gabriel playing Irma. July 13-Aug. 1.

. La Malade Imaginaire in French by La Troupe Moliere of Vancouver; so well received here in April that it won an invitation as the first amateur group every to perform at the VIF, July 4-5.

. West Side Story, Vancouver production directed by Aida Broadbent and starring original London leads Marlys Watters and Don McKay. July 18-25.

Zizi Jeanmaire with her 40 Parisians, and Roland Petio, presenting a double - barrelled program of music hall show and contemporary ballet. July 27 Aug. 1.

. Littlest Circus, the annual feature for the children; a stage circus created by Wolfgang Roth and Nelle Fisher. July 20-26.

Caution Urged With Dry-Cleaned Sleeping Bags

TORONTO (CP) — Sleeping bags, parkas and similar articles which have been dry-cleaned can be dangerous unless aired before use, the laundry and dry cleaning journal warns.

A recent issue of the magazine contains an article telling of the death of an American youth last summer after he used a sleeping bag in Northern Ontario which had been cleaned within the previous 24 hours, but had not been aired.

The article says any article that may come close to the user's face can be equally dangerous.

Gregory Taylor, 16, of St. Louis, Mo., was on a camping trip when he slept in the sleeping bag. After his family could not awaken him in the morning, he was taken to hospital in Duluth, Minn., where he died.

The Minnesota coroner's report ascribed death to inhaling perchlorethylene, a widely-used dry - cleaning agent which "should be perfectly safe."

BIG MEETING

VERNON (CP)—Every motel and hotel in the near vicinity will be filled this weekend as British Columbia's Kinsmen and Kinettes gather for their 35th annual district five "Kinvention". Already more than 1,000 delegates have registered for the convention which opens today and concludes Saturday.

Deplores Lack Of French in Ottawa

MONTREAL (CP) — A McGill University political scientist Thursday night described the virtual ban on the use of French in Ottawa as "a scandal and an outrage."

Professor J. R. Mallory, chairman of McGill's department of economics and political science, said the attitude toward the French language in the capital was "needless, stupid and deliberate" and reflected discredit on English-speaking Canadians.

Professor Mallory made the remarks in an address to the annual meeting of the Quebec Association of Teachers of History.

"It is a scandal and an outrage that French as a language is practically banned in Ottawa except as a means of communication between domestic servants," he said.

He said the only place French could be beard spoken in the city is in the kitchens of the Chateau Laurier, Ottawa's largest hotel.

Professor Mallory said Canadians are living in an exciting and dangerous time in which French Canada is entering the 20th century and reshaping social and political values.

English - speaking Canadians have little reason to be superior, since they "haven't had an idea in the last century."

Record Tourist Year Seen for Parliament Hill

By BEN WARD

OTTAWA (CP)—The annual tourist march on Parliament hill is off to a flying start this year.

At the current rate, an estimated 750,000 persons are expected to tour the majestic centre block of the Parliament Buildings, cracking the record mark of 564,000 visitors last year.

Warm May weather has brought them out in droves—mostly school children on organized bus tours. By mid-week, guards had counted 82,000 persons on tour in the building, 23,000 ahead of the same date in 1963.

Normally, the real rush does not hit until July when school is out and the daily changing of the guard spectacle begins unfolding on the hill's spacious front lawns.

Chief George Jones, who heads Parliament's 72-man uniformed protective staff, said Thursday the tourist flow seems to be hitting its peak earlier and earlier each year. "This is surely going to be the biggest year ever," he added.

It poses an extra problem for harried members of Parliament. A few years ago MPs from distant constituencies rarely had a visit from the home folks. Now it's not unusual to get five or six calls a day from visiting voters.

ATTRACTED BY FESTIVAL

Chief Jones credits the city-promoted May tulip festival with producing the early rush. About 1,000,000 tulips are in blossom now along the capital's driveways and public lawns. The flower beds on Parliament Hill are a riot of color and an increasingly-popular target for amateur photographers.

The pedestrian shopping mall along three blocks of downtown Sparks Street, just a block from Parliament Hill, also is building up a reputation as a tourist-getter.

Apart from the MPs, the RCMP detachment assigned to protect the Parliament Hill grounds has the biggest headache. The traffic in buses alone has become a tough one to handle.

Also, the RCMP are under strict instructions to give the tourists all possible co-operation, even if it means posing for Uncle Jim while Aunt Agatha drapes a bold arm around the Mountie's shoulders and cuddles up coyly.

As a result, the Mounties get their pictures taken oftener than cabinet ministers. Unlike the ministers, however, they're rarely smiling.

Unless, of course, they are asked to.

Will Increase Viet Nam Air Power

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States will increase by one-third the new striking power planned for the South Vietnamese air force, it was learned Friday.

The 75 Skyraider dive bombers now due in South Viet Nam this summer will be boosted to more than 100, informed sources told The Associated Press.

U.S. advisers also will step up the tempo and scope of training to double the present 400 South Vietnamese pilots and channel the best of them into flying the propeller-driven attack planes.

South Vietnamese flyers already are piloting single-seat Skyraiders and T-28 converted trainers in bombing and strafing certain kinds of transports, light reconnaissance planes and helicopters.

The objective of the expanded U.S. efforts in this field is to get more South Vietnamese to fly combat missions.

Informants said this is the meaning of Defence Secretary Robert McNamara's statement Thursday that it is desirable to increase by 100 per cent the number of Vietnamese pilots and to strengthen further the Vietnamese Air Force.

"This will be done very promptly," McNamara said at the White House after returning from Saigon and reporting to President Johnson.

About Books

A SUMMER BURNING
By Harry J. Boyle
Doubleday

Set in rural Southern Ontario in the early nineteen twenties, this is the story of a simple Catholic family and the shattering effect the decision to give shelter to a young Toronto hoodlum has on their lives, — particularly that of the teen age son.

Previously, young Joey Doyle's knowledge of the world was restricted to the confines of his father's farm.

But when tough Sammy Adams came to live with him, he was exposed to a world he never knew existed; a world of tobacco and alcohol; sex and prostitution; violence, crime and death.

Under Sammy's tutilage, 15-year-old Doyle becomes, if not happier, then at least a great deal wiser in the ways of the world.

In his first attempt at fiction, CBC radio supervisor Harry J. Boyle carries the reader through a fast paced story to an unusual climax when the death and robbery of an elderly recluse pushes a small Canadian town to the brink of mob violence, and shows Joey still another facet of his strange young friend's character.

Filibusters Not Undertaken In Committee – Herridge

To the Editor:

Sir — Several of the indignant residents of the Arrow Lake district have brought to my attention the news item in your paper of May 5: Arrow Lakes People Distressed By "Filibuster" Says Campbell.

According to this report Mr. Campbell has publicly stated that the House of Commons cannot approve the treaty "until Mr. Herridge and his fellow NDPers cease their southern-U.S. style filibuster in the external affairs committee." I wish to state most emphatically that this is a completely false statement without any foundation in fact.

The Honourable Paul Martin in the House and in the Committee extended an invitation to all organizations or persons who wished to present evidence and give their views on the Treaty and Protocol to advise the Chairman of the Committee of their wishes to do so. The Steering Committee of the External Affairs Committee, of which I am a member, is responsible for arranging the order of procedure and informing the witnesses of the date on which they will be heard.

Furthermore, a perusal of the Minutes of the proceedings of the External Affairs Committe the evidence clearly indicates that those members of the Committee who are opposed to the present Treaty have confined themselves to asking the questions required to bring out the facts, and have certainly taken less of the Committee's time than those members who support the Treaty.

Any person with a knowledge of the procedure followed by Parliamentary Committees would know that filibusters are not undertaken in Committee as the work of the members of the Committee is confined to asking questions of witnesses and not to make speeches.

The present Columbia River Treaty and Protocol is of great importance to the people of Canada, of B.C. and particularly to the residents of the Columbia River Basin in Canada. I was not elected by the people of Kootenay West to be a rubber stamp for any government or interest and will continue to do all I can to protect the interests and welfare of these and future generations of Canadians.

Sincerely yours,
HERBERT W. HERRIDGE,
Member for Kootenay West.

Offers Points For Study On High Water

To the Editor:

Sir — Living in a very sheltered bay on the Eastern side of Kootenay Lake I missed seeing the wave on the main Lake on Good Friday, no doubt due to the Alaskan earthquake.

I hope a fair report has been sent to the Columbia River Conference at Ottawa. The same day Radium Hot Springs were filled with mud and many would-be bathers were advised to go to Fairmont Hot Springs only a few miles East, where the water was clean. No doubt the engineers will be instructed by the B.C. Government to say the earth dam proposed to be built above Castlegar will never be affected by such a small tremor.

Having lived on the side of Kootenay Lake for the past 35 years I have found the Civil Servants of B.C. are obliged to agree to report as the Deputy Minister wishes. For many years, before the automatic gauges were installed I had charge of the gauge here and reported the level of the lake daily. Just before and after the high water I reported twice daily, very interesting work. In certain years rises of two feet or more in 24 hours were reported.

Before the Corra Linn Dam was built some high waters might cause damage but the water got away quickly. Some time before it was built an engineer came to see me and assured me that the new dam would be so built that the lake level would never again exceed 17 feet above zero. My house floors are 23.6" above zero and I have no basement. After talking to the engineer I ventured to build a very small basement in a building near by. Later on the International Joint Commission agreed to an extra allowance of a few feet being held in the lake for the six months of winter. Since then my basement has been flooded every third or fourth year.

My neighbors on the Arrow Lakes should study these little points and I am quite willing to answer any reasonable questions sent to me. I do not expect from the few hundred, or the thousand, who subscribed to the fund recently supporting the view that our member was misled about High Arrow. He has lived for many years on the side of the Arrow Lake and studied levels of the lower and upper lake.

HELD MOST PRISONERS

The largest prisons in the world are the Butirskaya Jail in Moscow and the Kharkov Jail, both of which have at times accommodated 40,000 prisoners.

Lamb Benefits Rugby, Teeth, Complexions

VANCOUVER (CP) — Some women claim its good for the complexion; South Africans attribute their rugby successes to it and New Zealand children cut their teeth on it.

Its lamb we're talking about —or at least Sir John Andrew is talking about. He's a big New Zealand sheep farmer now on a North American tour to promote the sale of lamb under the sponsorship of the New Zealand trade authorities.

In a recent Vancouver interview Sir John said New Zealand has 50,000,000 sheep—outnumbering the population 20 to 1—and earns two thirds of its national revenue from their wool and meat.

The nation consumes 93 pounds of lamb per person per year. Canadians, in contrast, outnumber sheep in their country 20 to 1 and eat only about four pounds of mutton per capita a year.

Although New Zealand has no surplus of sheep — there are plenty of good markets — it would like to sell more to Canada to earn dollar exchange and because they think it would be good for Canadians.

LAMB IS BEST

"After all," said Sir John who has 2,000 ewes at Hyde, New Zealand's South Island, "It's probably one of the best meats in the world."

In Japan, he said, consumption of New Zealand mutton in recent years has jumped to 40,000 tons from four tons a year. Japanese housewives think something in the meat is good for their complexions.

South Africans attribute their success on the rugby field to it, as do New Zealanders.

Sir John and New Zealand trade authorities want to bring New Zealand sheep producers into generous co-operation with Canadian domestic producers.

PROMOTION PLANNED

Basic aim, said Sir John, is a promotion to enlarge the lamb market by keeping a good supply available the year around.

When it's in season, fresh domestic lamb would hold the spotlight while New Zealand fills the shelves the rest of the year with frozen lamb in attractive new packages.

"If we don't keep enough lamb in the stores," said Sir John, "the new generation will get out of the habit of buying it."

He said the initial three months of a trial promotion campaign has won good results in Vancouver and Victoria. Lamb sales have doubled.

In a short while, he promised, a new 10-pound package containing a whole side of lamb, fully dressed and frozen, will become available to sell for about 60 cents a pound.

BUYS LIBRARY

CHICAGO (AP) — The Newberry Library, one of the finest private libraries in the United States, announced Thursday purchase of the Louis H. Silver collection of rare books and manuscripts for $2,750,000. The acquisition, only about 800 books and manuscripts, is believed to be the most costly by a library in modern times, a Newberry spokesman said.

NDU Instructor To Participate In Ottawa Panel

Director of the School of Medical Record Library Science at Notre Dame University of Nelson, Sister Mary Catherine leaves Sunday by plane for Ottawa where she will participate in the convention of the Catholic Hospital Association of Canada.

Monday, she will take part in a panel on "The Philosophy of the Catholic Hospital" with Most Rev. Remi DeRoo, Bishop of Victoria, as moderator. Tuesday she will address a medical records group on "Higher Education For Medical Record Librarians.

Sister Mary Catherine is attending at the invitation of Rev. A. L. M. Dano, executive director of the association. Also attending will be Sister M. Angelus, Provincial Superior of the SSA and vice-president of the Catholic Hospital Association of Canada.

The Medical Record Library Science course at NDU is the first degree course in Canada. There are 13 such courses in the United States.

MONTREAL — Venezuela will participate in the 1967 Canadian Universal and International Exhibition.

Blessed Sacrament CWL Names Conveners

Women, as the heart of the home, are also the heart of the parish, it was pointed out at a meeting of the Blessed Sacrament Catholic Women's League held in the Parish committee room, with president Mrs. Peter Klassen in the chair.

Mrs. Klassen outlined the meaning of C.W.L. to its members. As the heart of the home and parish, women form the C.W.L. as an organized group to assist with church duties.

New conveners were appointed for the year as follows: spiritual, Mrs. T. Naka; membership and Canadian League Magazine, Miss R. Campbell; education, Mrs. E. Gare; child welfare, Mrs. Ray Poulin; missions, Mrs. J. Molyneux; parish assistance, Mrs. B. Klein; citizenship, Mrs. G. Huiberts; hospital visiting, Mrs. T. Daloise; press and publicity, Mrs. Marc Poulin; immigration, Mrs. M. Darwin; centennial project, Mrs. A. L. Gustafson; historian, Mrs. M. Moisey.

Mrs. Naka read a few paragraphs of the diocesan spiritual convener's annual report. She also led the discussion on a First Communion breakfast, which was unanimously agreed upon. Mrs. E. Gare will convene it.

Mrs. Klassen elaborated upon the duties of the conveners as was directed by the last Diocesan convention, held in Rossland the weekend of May 1, 2 and 3.

Coffee and refreshments were served by St. Anthony's Circle.

Hints From Heloise

By Heloise Cruse

Dear Heloise:

I have a hint that won't be needed too often . . . I hope!

About three weeks ago I broke my ankle, so am in a cast up to my knee. As you know, said cast must be kept dry (meaning no showers — only "bird baths").

A neighbor suggested that I put my foot in a large plastic bag and fasten the bag securely above the cast. A heavy rubber band did the trick for me.

Now I can shower and still keep my cast dry.

Ilda Henley

• • •

This could also be used for those with broken arms. Real tricky. And I do hope your foot is better.

Dear Heloise:

Most mothers find it very difficult to keep a child's bedroom walls clean after they get finished pencil marking, painting, or coloring on them.

I found an ideal solution:

The last time I painted the bedroom of my smallest child, I painted the lower half of the wall (up to the top of the light switches) with semi-gloss enamel. The top half of the wall I painted in a matching flat wall paint.

Now the part of the wall which gets the most marking and fingerprinting washes very easily, and I haven't found anything yet which won't wash off. It surely is a time and wall saver.

Dear Heloise:

When icing an angel food cake or any kind of sponge cake with soft fluffy icing, it is best to cut the cake before icing it!

The icing does not stick to the knife and is much easier to cut. And the icing will hold the cake together.

Dear Heloise:

Recently, I cracked another glass on the sink water spout while washing dishes. Such accidents seem to come in bunches for me! This time I decided to try to do something about it.

I cut a small square from an old sponge, then cut a hole in the center of the square and put this over the end of the water spout. It acts as a marveolus "bumper" in case I hit the spout while washing or rinsing my glasses and china.

The sponge can be slipped off easily between dishwashings, if so desired. Sure saves my crystal and china from being chipped.

Dear Heloise:

I always had trouble keeping my earrings together in my jewelry box. Now I use a plastic ice cube tray.

No more searching for the missing one.

Dear Heloise:

I took your hint for using rubbing alcohol on the bathroom fixtures and it certainly does work well and saves loads of time.

One day I was vigorously scrubbing my stainless steel breadbox and canister set and thinking "There ought to be a better way" . . . and there sat the alcohol. Wow!

In five minutes I had every bit of stainless steel (and chrome, too) in the whole house absolutely sparkling.

Jackie Arnold.

Dear Heloise:

A cardboard or wooden box, such as fruit comes packed in, makes a wonderful sick-in-bed table for a child.

If it is cardboard, cut the two long sides out with a knife. If woden, use a hammer to remove the sides. This will leave you with a perfect bed tray. It is steadier than most trays and makes a fine table for coloring and cutting.

Pat.

Dear Heloise:

When you wash your chenille bedspread . . . hang the chenille sides together. As the wind dries them and rubs them together they will look like new again.

The friction fluffs the chenille.

Modern Living In A Modern Age

Better Your Living in 1964

The Modern Home

This charming three bedroom home, especially suitable for a narrow lot, displays adroit little touches of designing to set it apart from its neighbours.

Evidence of such deft designing is shown in the shutters on the outside of the windows, giving a hint of the Colonial, the stair well that is open to the upper part of the house, planter wall at the entry, and the louvred wall between the hall and living room, creates an effect of spacious airiness, which is maintained throughout the dining/kitchen section by the use of hanging cupboards, and an unusually large breakfast nook.

The three bedrooms are well provided with closet space. Note the double closets in the master bedroom. Bathroom features large vanity, while coats and linen closets are conveniently located.

Taking advantge of the slope of the lot, a garage under the house provides convenient housing for the family car. The rest of the basement area is taken up with future recreation room, furnace room, etc.

This is a home that combines all the necessary features of a family home, in an attractive concept of designing.

Designed for N.H.A. approval, blueprints are available from the Building Centre (B.C.) Ltd., 96 Kingsway at Broadway, Vancouver, B.C.

DISCOVERS FIRE

VANCOUVER (CP) — Police Sergeant William Martin snuffed out a fire at a city apartment block Thursday. He saw the flames coming from an oil soaked rug in the apartment hallway and extinguished them shortly before firemen arrived. Police said they believed juveniles were responsible.

'Operation Facelift' Raised Home Value

When it's time to plan remodelling projects, "Operation Facelift" should be one of the first on the list, say building experts. Applying a new "face" to a home's exterior, with the use of siding, does more than add lasting beauty.

By making a house safe against the elements, siding outside provides protection inside, thus guarding the appearance and value of any interior renovations and improvements. Then too, an exterior remodelling job is an investment for the future and a real enhancement of property values.

"Operation Facelift" might begin with the choice of siding materials, and there are many, each with its own advantages. Anything from personal preference to local climate could be the deciding factor.

There's the familiar standby, wood — practical, economical, easy to shape to fit any wall. Wood siding is available in many types, to create many architectural effects, and can be painted to carry out any color scheme preferred or stained for a rustic look. It does, however, require maintenance, through painting or varnishing, so the question of upkeep should be considered.

Modern low - maintenance materials include aluminum siding. Among its advantages are: no warping, rotting, danger from termites. In addition, it is available today in a variety of finishes and colors.

Easy to maintain, too, and long-wearing, is asbestos-cement siding. A fireproof, weatherproof substance made from a mixtures of asbestos fibers and Portland cement, it is resistant to rot, rust, decay, chemical salt air, and hardens through exposure.

It's made in a selection of shapes and textures, and in a range of colors from traditional whites to deep hues and soft pastels.

Thin masonry veneers are often used in combination with other types of siding. They include brick, stone and simulated stone. Here, too, color and pattern choice is excellent.

Durable and easy to handle, plywood siding is becoming a popular resurfacing meterial. Speed of application is one of its advantages, as it comes in large panels.

VERNON (CP) — Forestry department inspectors began a house to house search this week for a potentially serious pest—the European pine shoot moth which lives in ornamental pines imported from Europe. The department fears the moth may spread to native pines.

HIGH RISE PROJECT got under way in Nelson yesterday when a bulldozer began tearing out trees in the old tennis court site at the corner of Second and Davies Streets. Apartments suitable for all age groups, including families, are planned. Larger suites on the top floor containing private roof gardens are being considered. Home-type facilities will include rumpus rooms, swimming pool and hobby room.

Top Broker Kills Self

NEW YORK (AP) — Vernon C. Walston, president of Walston and Company, one of the largest brokerage firms in the United States, killed himself with a double blast from a shotgun at his Wall Street office Thursday night.

His chauffeur, who found the body, told police Walston talked repeatedly about suicide during a day-long drive around the city.

No note was found. Police said they had no clue to the reason for Walston's apparent despondency. His physician said Walston, 58, had been in good health, but may have been working too hard.

Walston and Company, which he founded in 1932, reported assets of $151,000,000 and a net worth of $17,500,000 last Aug. 30. It has nearly 100 branches.

Last December the firm absorbed J. R. Williston and Beane Incorporated, another brokerage house, which was one of the many victims of the $150,000,000 soybean oil scandal that broke in November.

Gustave Puigdollers, Walston's chauffeur, told police that after he watched Walston enter the office suite he went to a lobby telephone to call Mrs. Walston.

While he was talking with her, he said, he heard two shots, ran into the office, and found Walston sitting in front of his desk. A shotgun was on the floor beside him. He had shot himself in the mouth, police said.

NANAIMO (CP) — Property owners in the business section of this city voted Thursday in favor of a city bylaw which provides a $400,000 parking lot for 150 automobiles.

World Briefs

BOLOGNA (AP) — Luigi Palmerini asked Italian police Friday to help him recover a leather bag containing $50,000 worth of negotiable bonds. Palmerini put the bag on the fender of his car while he unlocked the door. Then he drove off with the bag still on the fender. When he got home, he remembered the bag but it had fallen off.

Baseball Roundup

White Sox Retain League Lead As Athletics Clobber Yankees

Chicago White Sox protected their American League lead Friday night, blanking Washington Senators 2-0 on John Buzhardt's three-hitter.

In other AL action, Baltimore Orioles downed Los Angeles Angels 12-0 and 6-1 to sweep a doubleheader, Cleveland Indians topped Detroit Tigers 10-6, Minnesota Twins blanked Boston Red Sox 1-0 and New York Yankees lost 11-0 to Kansas City.

St. Louis Cardinals defeated Milwaukee Braves 10-6 in the National League while Cincinnati Reds trounced Chicago Cubs 10-5 and Philadelphia Phillies whitewashed Houston Colts 4-0.

In late - night action, Pittsburgh was at Los Angeles and New York at San Francisco.

FRANK ROBINSON . . . two-run homer.

The White Sox scored an unearned run off Claude Osteen in the third inning at Washington and added a run in the sixth on Floyd Robinson's double and Dave Nicholson's single.

Jim King overran Gerry McNertney's high fly to right field in the third inning and McNertney reached second on the two-base error.

SCORES ON SACRIFICE

Buzhardt sacrificed him to third, and McNertney scored on Mike Hershberger's sacrifice fly.

The Senators did not get a runner past first base after the first inning.

Buzhardt, now 3-2, struck out nine and walked none.

Baltimore scored six unearned runs in the fourth inning, three on Jackie Brandt's home run, and went on to blank the visiting Angels in the second game. Milt Pappas was the winning pitcher.

The Orioles won the opener behind the four-hit pitching of bonus baby Wally Bunker.

Bunker, the 19-year-old rookie sensation who was in high school this time last year, hurled his third complete-game victory in 11 days.

A pinch two-run homer by Bob Chance in the seventh inning at Detroit sparked Cleveland to victory over the Tigers.

THROWS BALL AWAY

The Indians scored another run in the seventh after relief pitcher Larry Sherry threw the ball away while trying to pick Dick Howser off first base. Howser reached third, then scored on Leon Wagner's sacrifice fly.

Chance's homer was the first hit off Detroit starter Dave Wickersham this year.

Cleveland starter Pedro Ramos lasted just one inning, giving up a two-run home run to Norm Cash and a solo by Jerry Lumpe.

Minnesota defeated the Red Sox at Boston on an unearned run and Camilo Pascual's six-hit pitching.

Bill Monbouquette had checked the Twins on three singles and permitted no one to pass first base through seven innings. But in the eighth Harmon Killebrew reached first when Frank Malzone kicked away his grounder. Earl Battey sacrificed him to second, and Bernie Allen's double scored him.

Diego Segui handcuffed the Yankees on nine hits at New York and Rocky Colavito drove in two runs with his 10th homer and a single before he was injured in the 11-0 victory over Kansas City.

Colavito was forced to leave the game with a painfully swollen right ankle in the sixth after he was hit by Dick Green's foul smash while leading off third base. He was taken to hospital for x-rays.

It was the worst Yankee defeat since Aug. 24, 1962, when they lost to Baltimore 14-2.

St. Louis backed the fine relief pitching of Roger Craig with four home runs, including a grand slam by Julian Javier, for the win over visiting Milwaukee.

Consecutive homers by rookie Jeoff Long, with a man on, and Charley James in the seventh off losing pitcher Bobby Tiefenauer broke a 6-6 deadlock. James' homer was his second of the game.

Long, a first baseman started the game in place of Bill White, who was sidelined with a slight muscle strain. White had played in 284 straight games, longest streak in the National League.

Cincinnati shattered Larry Jackson's bid for a fifth straight pitching triumph with a six-run third inning at Chicago and went on to trounce the Cubs 10-5.

Jackson yielded eight hits, including Frank Robinson's two-run homer, before he was chased.

Bob Purkey was the winning pitcher although he gave up bases-empty homers to Billy Williams in the third and Andre Rodgers in the sixth.

Dennis Bennett pitched a five-hitter and singled in the deciding run at Houston, leading Philadelphia to victory over the Colts.

Bennett struck out six and walked one as he won his fourth game against two defeats. The 24-year-old left-hander drove in the Phillies' first run in the second inning.

Hockey Association Faces Big Deficits

By STUART LAKE

OTTAWA (CP) — Secretary-treasurer Gordon Juckes will have some bad news for delegates attending the 50th annual meeting of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association here next week.

He is expected to report that last season produced one of the biggest deficits the CAHA has ever suffered.

Failure of the four-game Memorial Cup finals in Toronto to draw more than 10,000 customers was a heavy blow and the CAHA is still feeling the financial effects of its venture into the publishing field. It stopped putting out the Hockey Monthly after several branches complained about adding the magazine's subscription fees to registration fees.

The magazine, hailed as a sound business venture two years ago, now is said by one CAHA official to have cost the association $30,000.

Relations between the CAHA and the National League also were strained in the last year.

COST TOO MUCH?

One instance occurred during the junior finals when CAHA president Art Potter of Edmonton charged that a reason Toronto Marlboros and Edmonton Oil Kings played to such small crowds was that Toronto's Maple Leaf Gardens had overpriced tickets to the games. Potter also clashed with the rink management when it refused to allow an Edmonton station to broadcast the games.

In the past, delegates have been bitter because they said professional hockey representatives on the joint rules committee made up of NHL and CAHA officials have consistently turned down changes advocated by the amateurs.

The Manitoba branch has a resolution to be discussed next week asking for a committee study of the rules committee. The resolution makes note of the NHL veto and says the CAHA, as the parent body of amateur hockey, "should stand on its own two feet both administratively and financially."

Delegates to the week-long meeting opening Monday also will hear a special report on junior hockey that may include a recommendation that stronger leagues compete for one trophy while weaker leagues battle for a second one.

Also up for consideration will be the permanent formation of a national team to represent Canada at international competitions. Most officers favor such a setup and preliminary talks already have been held with the fitness directorate of the national health department about possible financial aid.

Tim Horton Tops in Bonuses

MONTREAL (CP)—Defenceman Tim Horton of Toronto Maple Leafs made more money in bonuses for his National Hockey League play this season than the majority of Canadians earn in a year.

The all-star rearguard picked up $6,500 cash, $1,500 more in extra loot acquired from NHL bonuses than any other player, figures compiled by the NHL show.

His extra spending money is made up of $3,500 in playoff awards, $2,000 for being named to the first all-star team in each half of the season and in the final competition, $500 for Leafs' third-place finish and $500 for coming second in the James Norris Memorial Trophy voting for the league's best defenceman.

THE DANCER, WITHOUT MUSIC—The Derby winner, Northern Dancer, goes for a romp at Pimlico, Md., track where he seeks the second leg of Triple Crown in Preakness May 16.

Cool Weather Boosts Canuck Colt's Hopes

By ORLO ROBERTSON

BALTIMORE (AP)—The temperature dipped to 45 degrees at Pimlico Friday and there was joy in a barn where Kentucky Derby winner Northern Dancer awaits today's 88th running of the Preakness—the race that could give him two legs on the coveted triple crown.

"This is his kind of weather," said trainer Horatio Luro shortly before giving E. P. Taylor's Canadian-bred ace a blowout of three-eighths of a mile.

The dazzling Dancer, who again will be ridden by Bill Hartack, was full of vim as he pranced onto the track and then reeled off the three furlongs in 35 4-5. He galloped out the half-mile in 48 and 3-5.

That was the colt's final prep for today's 1 3-16-mile race against five other three-year-old thoroughbreds.

The weatherman said the thermometer would climb into the 70s for the big event scheduled to start at 5:45 p.m.

Although skies were overcast Friday, there was no rain in sight. That set up a fast track for the test of speed and stamina before a capacity crowd of some 30,000 and a national television audience. It will be covered on the CBC-TV network 5:30 to 6 p.m. EDT.

Hill Rise, 7-to-5 choice to square matters with Northern Dancer after being beaten by a neck in the Derby, also was on the track for his final blowout. The big California comet from El Peco Ranch toured a leisurely first quarter in 26 3-5 and went three-eighths in 40 flat.

"We are ready," said his his trainer, Bill Finnegan. Jockey Willie Shoemaker, who switched from Northern Dancer to Hill Rise prior to the Derby, is due in Baltimore early today from California.

Roman Brother, smallest horse in the field and carrying the hopes of Harbor View Farm completed his training with half-mile blowout of 48 4-5. The other three — Quadrangle from Rokeby Stable; Rex Ellsworth's The Scoundrel and Harriet N. Ball's Big Pete—each galloped once around the mile track.

WINNER GETS $124,200

With six starters the race will have a value of $176,700 with $124,200 going to the winner.

The track handicapper stood firm on his line making Hill Rise first choice with Northern Dancer second at 8 to 5.

Northern Dancer, never out of the money in 15 starts, is working on a string of six straight victories. Hill Rise, never out of the money in 11 starts, had won eight straight going into the Derby.

The Scoundrel, third in the Derby, remained the third choice at 5 to 1, followed by Quadrangle at 6 to 1, Roman Brother at 10 to 1 and Big Pete at 20 to 1.

Luro, who predicted a Derby record and then sent out the Dancer to set it in two minutes flat, declined this time to make any prediction.

"There are too many things involved," he said. "The track is a different surface, the field is smaller, and the turns are sharper."

Selke Retires; Pollock New Canadien Manager

MONTREAL (CP)—Sam Pollock became general manager of Montreal Canadiens Friday, replacing Frank J. Selke in a series of front-office moves announced by the National Hockey League club.

At 38, Pollock, farm system director since 1955, becomes the youngest club manager in the NHL.

Selke, 71, announced his retirement to a crowded press conference after 18 years as manager.

Another move brought Maurice (Rocket) Richard, 42, one of the all-time great players during 18 seasons with Canadiens, into the front office as assistant to the president. He is to have special responsibility for public relations and the development of new players.

Senator Hartland Molson, Canadiens' owner, said both he and Selke are stepping out of the team administration in favor of younger men, but they will remain active in the parent Canadian Arena Company. Molson is board chairman and Selke vice - chairman of the Arena Company.

David Molson, 35, a cousin of the senator, was appointed president of the Arena Company and the hockey club. Frank Selke Jr., 34, was named vice - president of the Arena Company for sales and publicity.

The sweeping changes ended a week of speculation about front-office movements following Ken Reardon's resignation as vice-president and assistant general manager of the club.

Richard, expressing delight to be back with the club, said he plans to meet David Molson shortly to "work out" his role in player development.

Pollock declined comment on what lineup changes may be in store for next season, saying the club that finished first this season "is still in a rebuilding stage." Asked who will replace him as farm director, he said: "I haven't decided yet."

Amid all the shuffling in the administrative ranks, it was announced that Toe Blake will carry on as coach.

Selke came to Canadiens in July, 1946, after several years in the Toronto Maple Leafs administration.

LITTLE LEAGUE

ACTs annihilated the Rotary team by a football score of 38-6 in the only Nelson Little League action Friday. Kanigan went all the way on the mound for the winners. Larsen was debited with the loss.

Cassius Clay Tour Begins

NEW YORK (AP) — Heavyweight champion Cassius ("call me Muhammad Ali") Clay and his six-man palace guard left by air Friday night for a tour of Africa and the Middle East.

The first stop is Accra, Ghana, the second is Nigeria. Travel plans are indefinite after that except that the trip will be climaxed by a visit to the holy city of Mecca.

"I got to walk around the black stone seven times—whatever that means," said Clay, most famous of the Black Muslims.

Omar Bey, Cassius' bodyguard, traveling companion and chief spokesman, said: "Muhammed Ali is taking this trip to meet all his millions of friends and admirers in and out of the Islam world. As far as I know, he's not going to do any fighting, not even exhibitions."

High School Track Stars Smash Twelve Records

Led by the record-breaking performance of Carl Crowe, House B stormed to a decisive victory in the L. V. Rogers High School track meet Friday.

Twelve records were broken as the winners ran up a total score of 194, to better House D's 166½ points by 27½. Only five points separated the second and last place teams. House A checked in with 163 to clinch third place while House C trailed with 160½.

Crowe broke the standing record for the 220-yard dash when he streaked to victory with a time of 23.9. He equalled the 100-yard dash mark, posting a time of 10.1, then shattered the boys' broad jump record with an amazing leap of 20' 10". He knocked two feet, one inch off the old standard, to cement his claim to the boys' aggregate title.

Runner-up for the boys' aggregate honors was Gary Johnson who represented House D. He won three events and cracked a record that had stood since 1953 when he ran the 440 in 56 seconds flat. Johnson's performance was the main cog in House D's climb into second place. It marked the first time in seven years the house has failed to occupy the cellar position in track meet standings.

Shining light for House C was 16-year-old Diane Inlgedew. She set new records in the intermediate girls' shotput and discus events. She tossed the discus 83 feet 2 inches to eclipse the old mark by almost four inches, then hurled the lead apple 28 feet to add a full foot to that mark.

Other athletes to set new records were:

Senior boys — 880 yards, Kit Knight, 2:11.9; hop, skip and jump, Mike Laughton, 41' 8".

Senior girls — Discus, Carol Green, 95' 10"; shotput, Cherie Harrison, 27' 4¼".

Intermediate girls—220 yards, Barb Wait, 29.1.

Division winners will represent L. V. Rogers High School in the West Kootenay district high school track and field championships to be held in Trail next Saturday. The Nelson school has won the Cominco Shield, emblematic of meet supremacy, for the past three years.

MARKET TRENDS

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market weathered some unsettling Wall Street News Friday and made its first advance in three sessions. Most gains were small.

Volume swelled to 5,060,000 shares from Thursday's abnormally low total of 4,750,000. The Dow Jones industrial average gained 1.78 at 826.23. Of 1,331 issues traded, 547 advanced and 488 declined. New highs for the year totalled 50 and new lows 28.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose .8 to 307.2 with industrials up 1.2, rails up 1.0 and utilities off .2.

Texas Gulf Sulphur surged ahead 5 points to 58¼ on a volume of 738,800 shares. Brokers said that short covering was in part responsible for Texas Gulf's renewed advance.

Xero xclimbed 3½ to 113¼. The averages were bolstered by Du Pont's 5 - point recovery from recent selling.

Among Canadian issues Dome Mines added ⅜, Canadian Pacific ⅛. Distillers Seagrams lost ½, Granby Mining and McIntyre Porcupine ⅛.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange were mixed Scurry Rainbow Oil gained ⅜, Preston ¼, Brazilian Traction, Canadian Marconi and Canadian Javelin ⅛ each and Fargo Oil 1-16.

TORONTO (CP)—Speculative interest in stocks with property in the Timmins Ont., area was rekindled and industrials moved to a record index level on the stock market Friday.

Among the speculatives, PCE Explorations climbed nine cents to 61 cents and Belleterre eight cents to 62. Trading was heavy.

The activity came in the wake of a gain of some $5 to Texas Gulf Sulphur on the New York Stock Exchange. Texas Gulf has a huge copper discovery in Kidd Township near Timmins.

Industrials were paced by Dominion Bridge which tacked on 1⅛ to 22⅝. Reichhold Chemical was ahead $1 to 30. Such pivotal issues as Alberta Gas, Algoma Steel, Imperial Bank of Commerce, Walker Gooderham and Bell Telephone had impressive advances.

BASE METALS QUIET

Senior base metals were quiet, but a firmer undertone prevailed. Noranda countered the trend with a loss of ⅝ to 48½.

On index, industrials were up .30 to 155.99, base metals ⅛ to 66.07 and the Exchange index .24 to 145.86. Golds dipped ⅛ to 137.67 and western oils ⅛ to 97.77. Volume for the day was 5,239,000 shares compared with 4,424,000 shares traded Thursday.

Alberni Residents Receive Payments

ALBERNI (CP) — The first payments were made Thursday to residents of the Alberni Valley who lost property in a tidal wave following the Alaska earthquake.

The payments, about 75 per cent of assessed losses, were made as a controversy over federal contributions to the relief fund continued.

About 200 people were on the receiving end of the cheques which will help reimburse them for lost property not covered by insurance.

Edward Benson, chairman of the Alberni Valley and West Coast Disaster Fund, said his committee hoped it could eventually increase payments to cover 100 per cent of the individual losses.

He said that although the compensation was based on the depreciated value of property, not its replacement value, most people were happy with the payments they received.

ERASE HARDSHIP

"We are getting people out of the disaster situation. Our committee is confident that we can erase all the real hardship. We don't consider what we are doing is perfect, but we're determined to do our best."

Mr. Benson said he was disappointed with a contribution of $150,000 by the federal government. "We're grateful for the $250,000, but I think it could have been a little more realistic."

The federal contribution was also criticized by Premier Bennett who said he considered it as only a "token payment."

He said the amount was only one third of what he suggested. "I would take this as an initial payment." The premier said the province had contributed a total of $800,000 and "that's our final figue . . . Now it's up to the federal government to do their share."

B.C. Liberal leader Ray Perrault said that the Alberni disaster underlined the immediate need for federal legislation to establish a permanent disaster fund.

He suggested a fund of $5,000,000 be kept aside to aid victims of future disasters.

Mr. Benson said the federal and provincial contributions together with other donations to the fund left it about $400,000 short of its objective of providing 100 per cent reimbursement.

Uninsured damage to homes and small businesses was estimated at $1,500,000.

Tories Hold 3 of 4 Seats In Byelections

LONDON (CP) — The ruling Conservative party retained the seat in Bury St. Edmunds, an East Anglia district, to win its third seat in four parliamentary byelections held Thursday.

It was the last major electoral test before the fall general election and boded well for Prime Minister Sir Douglas - Home's government which had slipped badly in recent byelections.

The Conservatives lost the Scottish constituency of Rutherglen to Labor as expected but surprised experts by holding on to its marginal seat at Devizes, in southern England. The other Tory victory came in the safe government seat of Winchester.

Conservative candidate Eldon Griffiths retained the seat in Bury St. Edmonds, the fourth to be declared in the "little general election." Griffiths polled 22,141 votes while Noel Hinsley, the Labor candidate, got 19,682 and Richard Afton, Liberal, 3,387.

Griffiths, a farmer, formerly was correspondent for Newsweek magazine in Britain and once worked as a speech writer for former prime minister Harold Macmillan.

MAJORITY DROPS

The Conservative majority was 2,459 votes compared with 7,962 in the 1959 general election when the seat was decided in a straight Tory-Labor clash.

The victory in Devizes embarrassed opposition candidate Irving Rogers, who predicted he would win the seat by 2,000 votes. Instead, he trailed by 1,670. The Conservative majority in 1959 was 3,838.

Tory candidate Charles Morrison captured Devizes with 19,554 votes. Rogers had 17,884 and Liberal Michael Fogerty 4,281.

But at Rutherglen, Labor won with double the majority scored by the Conservatives in 1959.

Labor candidates J. Gregor MacKenzie received 18,885 votes to Conservative Iain Sproat's 15,138. MacKenzie's margin was 3,747.

Young Intellectuals Challenge Canadians Build Dynamic Nation

MONTREAL (CP)—A committee of seven young Montreal intellectuals has published a manifesto challenging Canadians to build a more dynamic nation, based on human values.

The committee, calling itself the committee for political realism, says Canada—and Quebec — need policies "better adapted to our world and our times."

Rejecting the idea of an independent Quebec, the committee says: "We refuse to let ourselves be locked into a constitutional frame smaller than Canada."

However, it says: "Canada today is a country in search of a purpose. Emphasis on regional interests and the absence of leadership from the central government risk the utter disintegration of the federal state."

The manifesto appears in the original French in the current issue of Cite Libre and in English in the current issue of the Canadian forum and Thursday's editions of the Montreal Star.

The authors are professors Albert Breton, economist, and Pierre-Elliott Trudeau, political scientist, of the University of Montreal; professors Raymond Breton and Maurice Pinard, both sociologists, of McGill University; Dr. Yvon Gauthier, a psychiatrist at Ste. Justine's Children's Hospital; and lawyers Claude Bruneau and Marc Lalonde.

TREND TO HUMANISM

"The most valid trends today are toward more enlightened humanism, toward various forms of political, social and economic universalism. Canada is a reproduction of a smaller and simpler scale of this universal phenomenon.

"The challenge is for a number of ethnic groups to learn to live together. If Canadians cannot make a success of a country such as theirs, how can they contribute in any way to the elaboration of humanism, to the formulation of the international political structures of tomorrow?"

The authors call upon Canadians to discard attitudes based on regional or ethnic prejudice.

"It is on the basis of human criteria," their 10,000 - word manifesto says, "that we demand policies better adapted to our world and our times. This is our only motivation."

They say that "in the present context of Canadian politics, it is necessary above all else to reaffirm the importance of the individual, without regard to ethnic, geographical or religious accidents.

"The cornerstone of the social and political order must be the attributes men hold in common, not those that differentiate them. An order of priorities in political and social matters that is founded upon the individual as an individual is totally incompatible with an order of priorities based upon race, religion or nationality."

LEADERSHIP ABSENT

They describe absence of leadership in political affairs as one of the country's gravest problems.

Politicans proposed "goals so incoherent that the voters can never be sure of the relationship between what is said today and done tomorrow.

"Instead of explaining in plain terms the problems they face or the pollcies they propose, our politicans fall back on propaganda loaded with emotional slogans."

So it was in part, the manifesto says, with the successful 1962 election campaign by Quebec's Liberal government to expropriate private hydro-electric companies. And so it now was with some of the publicity on behalf of Quebec's projected steel industry.

The manifesto also condemns administration of justice in Canadian society as antiquated and inadequate.

BACKLOG IN COURTS

In Montreal alone there was a backlog of more than 17,000 cases before the Superior Court. Many had been delayed four or five years.

"Justice has become iniquitous in two respects: It is too slow and too expensive."

The committee calls for action to ensure that all citizens have access to adequate medical care, regardless of their economic status.

"Government and the medical profession tend to forget that sickness is still quite capable of suddenly destroying without warning the economic well-being of a great many people. Certainly, hospital insurance has solved important aspects of this problem, but it has not solved them all.

NATIONALISM BLAMED

The committee blames nationalism, in Quebec and Canada as a whole, for distracting attention from such problems.

It describes Quebec separatism as "not only a waste of time but a step backwards."

Nationalist thinking was supercharged with emotion, more concerned with appearance than reality, and had led to an exaggerated emphasis on constitutional problems.

The Canadian constitution was a relatively unimportant cause of current problems and changing it would accomplish little.

"The so-called building of a new constitutional structure is as futile as a huge game of blocks."

Creery Named Nieman Fellow

MONTREAL (CP) — Tim Creery, 35, of Southam News Services, Ottawa, has been named Canada's Nieman Fellow for 1964-65.

He was selected by a five-man committee from among 14 candidates for the fellowship, which entitles a Canadian newspaper man or woman to go to Harvard University for a year of informal background study. The fellowship, for which candidates must apply, is sponsored by the Reader's Digest Association (Canada) Limited.

Mr. Creery will go to Harvard in September as the ninth Canadian Nieman Fellow and will join 15 other fellows from various countries in working to broaden their abilities and background for newspaper work. Last year's Canadian winner was Guy Lamarche, 28, of Montreal la Presse.

The announcement of Mr. Creery's selection said he won the fellowship mainly for a series of articles on educational problems of French - speaking Canadians outside Quebec.

SPEAKS HALTING FRENCH

A native of Victoria, he speaks what he calls "halting French" after working at it through such methods as a four-month course at Grenoble University in France, study at Laval Summer School and living with a French-speaking family in Montreal.

His series on French education in Canada outside Quebec summed up:

"In the first half-century of Confederation, the English-majority provinces all but closed the doors on education in French, depriving their own French communities of the means of cultural survival. . . . It is up to them to open the doors again."

Mr. Creery, married and the father of two girls, will concentrate on economics during his stay at Harvard.

Air Pollution Must Be Solved Says Expert

VANCOUVER (CP) — Dr. Robert Kehoe of Cincinnati, a leading authority on industrial health, said Thursday air pollution is a problem that will have to be attacked and solved soon or it will become worse.

Dr. Kehoe told the British Columbia branch of the Canadian Public Health Association, that "every activity of human beings helps to contaminate the atmosphere."

"We must establish criteria for control and for reasonable safety of people. We can't simply dispense with industry or other activities—we must learn to live with them."

Dr. Kehoe said the pollution of the Ohio River near Cincinnati became so bad at one time that fish caught there tasted more like oil than fish.

However, a pollution control authority was set up to help reduce pollution by factories and communities and some progress was being made.

"Who knows all the effects of drinking such water, containing small amounts of all the chemicals used in manufacture?"

He said the entire field of hygiene is changing, due to the rapid changes of a technological society, but little is known or done about such changes.

Dr. Kehoe is known in the United States as "the printers' saviour" for his work in lead poisoning treatment and control.

50 in a Bed Sets Record

LONDON (AP)—"Four tons of humanity were on top of me," said 16-year-old Frazer Cartwright. "It nearly squashed the life out of me. I thought I was being killed. Never again, thank you."

Students at Wakefield Technical and Art College in Yorkshire decided Thursday night to try to break the world record of 42 students in one bed.

Frazer and four others volunteered to form the bottom layer. Forty - five more climbed on, to make a record 50.

As the last three students scrambled on the top of the writhing mass, Frazer yelled: "Get off . . . Quick . . . I'm ——"

He didn't finish the sentence.

Blood gushed from his nose and he fainted.

Other students watching the exploit shouted to thosen top to jump off. They jumped.

Frazer was unconscious and the other four on the bottom were woozy. Artificial respiration finally brought Frazer around.

"The iron ridge of the bedstead was pressing into my chest," he said. "I just couldn't breathe. It was the worst experience of my life."

"Cartwright's all right now," said Alfred Buckley, the school principal. "I'm very glad no serious harm was done, and I'm also pleased they broke the record of 42 in a bed, although I frankly don't know who set the record."

Soviets To Drill Crust In Kuriles

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet scientists hope to find a spot in the Kurile Islands north of Japan where they can drill through the earth's crust, a Russian scientist said Thursday.

The United States is planning to drill a hole in the floor of the Atlantic Ocean where the crust is thinner.

Scientists want to reach the mantle, the layer of earth below the crust, in order to learn more about its composition that seismic echoes and other present techniques can disclose.

Scientists from eight countries have discussed the subject here for the last four days. They belong to the international committee on the earth's upper mantle, set up by the International Geophysical Union.

The scientists were from the Soviet Union, the United States, Britain, Canada, Australia, Japan, France and Denmark.

The chairman of the meeting, V. V. Belousov of the Soviet Union, told a press conference his country is not planning to drill on ocean floors but is working on projects to drill in five land areas.

One is on the Kurile Islands in the Northwest Pacific, where the crust is of an intermediate type that is relatively thin.

Pilot, Passenger Found Alive

VANCOUVER (CP) — An American surveyor and his pilot were found alive Thursday in the wreckage of their small plane on the slopes of a mountain in the rugged Fraser Canyon 120 miles east of here.

Ronald Reece of Denver, Colo., and pilot Bruce H. Busby of Burnaby were picked up by a rescue team and taken to hospital at Hope, suffering from multiple fractures.

The men, employed by Electronic Geophysical Surveys Limited of Burnaby, had left Tuesday on a 150-mile survey flight to Nicola Lake. Their small plane hit some tree tops 18 miles north of Hope and crashed near a creek bed.

"I was shook up pretty bad," Reece said, "so I rested on Tuesday until I could get co-ordinated . . . Bruce was hurt and lying in the sleeping bag. He couldn't move. He hurt both his legs and his shoulder."

Wednesday, after hearing search planes, Reece crawled to the wreckage and set the plane on fire.
