$60 Million Bleached Kraft Pulp Mill Proposed

AMONG WHO'S WHOO residing at Six-Mile Point on Nelson's North Shore is this young Great Horned Owl. One of two young birds presently hunting at the Point, parents' hooting was often heard on winter nights. The fledglings are almost 18 inches tall, with needle-sharp talons over an inch long. Game Warden Ted Rutherglen reminds aspiring sharp-shooters that virtually all hawks, eagles and owls are protected by law, including these. Photo by Richard Cote.

Letters of Intent Filed; Gov't To Study Area Forests To See If They Will Support Pulp Mill

VANCOUVER (CP) — A $60,000,000 bleached kraft pulp mill is proposed for Nelson, president William Sloan of Pacific Logging Company said Thursday.

He said it will produce 600 tons of pulp a day for marketing and should be in production by 1968 or 1969 if necessary licences are granted.

Co-operating in the venture are Pacific Logging, a subsidiary of the Canadian Pacific Railwey, and Kootenay Forest Products Limited, a subsidiary of Eddy Paper.

The companies have filed a letter of intent seeking a reserve for a possible pulpwood harvesting licence over six Crown forests — the Slocan, Nakusp, Lardeau, Creston, Salmo and Arrowhead. Pacific Logging holds a tree farm licence in the area.

Mr. Sloane explained that a letter of intent is a preliminary step. The government now examines the proposed logging area to see if it will support a mill before granting a licence.

Possibility of a mill for West Kootenay was first reported in June, 1963, when Eddy Paper Co. announced it would investigate the area with intentions of construction.

In late June, 1964, the intial move toward establishing the mill was made when the companies submitted a joint application. At that time it was estimated the plant would be in the neighborhood fo $25 million.

The firms asked Lands and Forests minister Ray Williston then, to place four Kootenay Crown Forests under reserve for purposes of study.

Pacific Logging recently purchased the Passmore Lumber Co., a firm founded by the Burns family of Nelson and owned durthe past few years by U.S. interests under Axel Erickson.

Passmore has large holdings in the Slocan Valley and is constructing a mill at Slocan City.

PLC spokesmen felt it is still too early to announce the site for the Nelson area mill.

IN TWO YEARS

Construction would begin approximately two years after the letter, and all other necessary applications, received final approval from the government.

"Obtaining government approval should present no problem," Mayor E. T. Bodard said, "since the government has reported on various occasions that Nelson was a potential region for a forest management licence.

"I personally give my wholehearted support to the company securing a licence and ask and recommend that council and citizens do the same."

Tuesday E. J. Bechard, president of Eddy Paper arrives in Nelson for the quarterly director's meeting of Kootenay Forest Products.

H. Farenholtz, president of the Nelson Chamber of Commerce, feels the mill would be a wonderful thing for the economy of the area, should it come through.

16 Nations To Warn Cuba

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ministers of 16 Central and South American nations neared agreement Friday night on action to impose a diplomatic and trade embargo on Cuba and to warn the Castro regime it faces a possible armed attack if it continues subversive aggression.

The plan for action is contained in a resolution expected to be voted upon by the inter-American foreign ministers conference here today. Canada is not a participant in the conference.

The resolution warns Cuba that if the Castro regime persisted in acts of subversive aggression against any member of the Organization of American States, they preserved their right to use legitimate individual or collective defence even to armed force.

Another part of the resolution would call on other free world nations "to demonstrate effectively their solidarity for the effective achievement of the aims of this resolution."

This meant an appeal not to trade or give economic aid to Castro.

Delegates supporting the new resolution expressed confidence Friday night that it would win at least 13 votes, the two-thirds majority of the voting nations needed for its approval.

Man Killed During Bank Holdup

TORONTO (CP) — A bank customer was shot to death and a policeman wounded when they tried to stop a masked gunman Friday afternoon after he robbed a branch of the Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce in suburban Downsview.

Police said the bandit escaped with about $20,000.

The dead man was tentatively identified as Jack Blanc, 56, a skin diving instructor at the Young Men's Hebrew Association.

Witnesses said Mr. Blanc and the bank manager took after the gunman as he fled from the bank. Mr. Blanc apparently had the bank manager's gun and was reported to have taken a shot at the bandit as he was getting into a car.

The bandit, armed with what appeared to be an automatic rifle or a machine gun, got out of the car and fired directly at Blanc who was about 50 feet away.

There was an earlier police report that Mr. Blanc was seriously wounded, but later reports said he was shot dead on the spot.

Police Strike At Ku Klux Klan

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla. (AP)—Florida's special police force cracked down on the Ku Klux Klan Friday after a fire bomb was thrown into a motel that had been integrated temporarily.

Warrants were sworn out against five men charging them with burning a cross on private property without permission. One of them was also charged with wearing a hood that covered his face, a violation of a state law.

The warrants were the first to be sworn out against leaders of the Klan since this city's racial turmoil started two months ago.

Hours before the warrants were sworn out by the state's special police force, a gallon jug of inflammable liquid was tossed through a window of the motor lodge dining room, then ignited by two Molotov cocktails made with soft drink bottles.

No one was in the restaurant when the fire bomb went off.

State Attorney-General James Kynes pledged that law and order would be enforced under the governor's emergency powers.

CHIEF JUSTICE SHERWOOD LETT

Chief Justice Lett Dies

VANCOUVER (CP) — Chief Justice Sherwood Lett of British Columbia Court of Appeal died Friday night at his home after a sudden relapse in a prolonged illness.

The death of the 68-year-old jurist came almost a year to the day after an historic judgment that rocked the province.

On July 29, 1963, Chief Justice Lett declared unconstitutional the B.C. government's expropriation of the B.C. electric power, gas and transportation utility.

He would have celebrated his 69th birthday next Saturday.

He was named chief justice of the B.C. Supreme Court in 1955 after a brilliant career as scholar, soldier, statesman and lawyer. Last February he suffered a heart attack at the opening of the legislature and had never been well enough to return to the bench.

He was decorated in two world wars and severely wounded at Dieppe in 1942. A Rhodes Scholar, he became chancellor of the University of B.C. in 1951 and held the position for six years. He served as chief of the Canadian delegation on the international supervisory commission of the cease-fire in Indochina.

He moved in June, 1963, to the head of the Appeal Court with the title of Chief Justice of B.C.

Chief Justice Lett was born at Iroquois, Ont., the son of a minister. His mother was from a United Empire Loyalist family.

Egyptian Ship Explodes; 40 Killed, 165 Injured

CP from Reuters-AP)

ALGIERS — An Egyptian ship which blew up Thursday night at Bone in eastern Algeria was unloading ammunition, the ministry of defence here confirmed Friday night.

The ministry gave no casualty figures but authoritative sources said 40 people were killed and 165 injured. They said 30 of the 47 crew members of the ship, the 2,738-ton Star of Alexandria, were feared dead.

Frogmen were searching the wreck of the sunken ship for bodies.

An eyewitness said he saw mortar shells among the debris after the first explosion.

Hospitals were reported overflowing with the injured, and the provisional estimate of damage to the port area was 70,000,000 dinars ($14,000,000).

The newspaper Alger Ce Soir said certain signs pointed to sabotage, possibly by counter-revolutionaries.

MEDICS SUMMONED

Soviet and Bulgarian medical men doing relief work in the area were summoned for first-aid assistance.

Witnesses were quoted as saying a series of explosions was heard late Thursday night from deep inside the iron-hulled ship and that a fierce fire raged through the vessel.

The city's fire departments rushed to the scene with equipment abandoned by the French after Algeria won independence two years ago.

Explosions continued deep inside the ship as she settled into the water and finally sank about dawn Friday.

Sources on the scene said the explosions indicated the ship was carrying ammunition.

The ship had left Algiers a few days earlier. Bone is 260 miles east of Algiers, near the Tunisian border.

Student Loan Bill Approved; Goes to Senate

OTTAWA (CP) — The government's student loan legislation won approval in the Commons Friday in the eighth day of debate on the bill. It goes to the Senate Monday.

It went through third and final reading 137 to 14 after a formal vote was forced by the Creditiste group.

Normally, third reading is a formality that takes only a minute. But it required 45 minutes Friday because of three speeches and the roll-call voting procedure.

The bill lets the government guarantee bank loans of up to $1000 a year for five years for each needy university-level student. Ottawa will pay the interest charges while the student remains at school and for six months after. Then the student starts paying off the loan, taking between five and 10 years.

Gilles Gregoire (Creditiste — Lapointe) and Louis-Joseph Pigeon (PC — Joliette - l'Assomption-Maltcalm) repeated charges that the bill invades provincial education rights.

Arnold Peters (NDP—Timiskaming) also threw in a last-minute speech, claiming the legislation is a weak excuse for the Liberal election promise of 10,000 university scholarships a year.

Mr. Gregoire was interrupted by the chairman three times for getting off the subject and later was stopped when he tried to make a second speech. Rules limit MPs to one speech on third reading.

In the vote, six Quebec Conservatives and eight of the 13 Creditistes — the others were absent — voted against the loan bill.

U. K. POSTMEN WIN PAY HIKE

LONDON (Reuters) — Government and union leaders Friday night reached agreement on a new pay award to Britain's 123,000 postmen.

A statement issued earlier in the evening by the executive council of the postmen's union said a negotiating position had been reached.

The postmen's refusal to work overtime and a one-day wildcat walkout last week brought about a massive backlog of undelivered mail. It has been estimated mail deliveries in the London area are about five days behind.

MOBY DOLL IN NEW HOME

VANCOUVER (CP) — Moby Doll slipped into her new home Friday night, squealing loudly and casting angry eyes at her captors.

The sleek killer whale, first ever kept alive in captivity, was moved into a hole-in-a-wharf pen after a 10-hour operation that involved the navy, army, police department, an entire shipyard crew and a host of scientists.

After a stubborn cat-and-mouse battle with her captors, she finally slipped from a floating drydock and into her new pen.

Coast Couple Escape As Fire Sinks Boat

PORT ALBERNI, B.C. (CP) A middle-aged fisherman pulled his wife from the fire-swept waters of the harbor here Friday after a heavy blast sank their 45-foot trawler.

Severely injured and burned in the explosion and resulting fire were Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Branch and a repairman known only as Mac McClellan. They were taken to West Coast General Hospital here.

Residents of this city on the west coast of Vancouver Island felt the explosion as far away as five miles.

Police said the trawler Jalasu had taken on 500 gallons of diesel fuel and that McClellan was working on the vessel's radio when the blast occurred.

John Northcoate, employee of B.C. Packers, was nearby at the time.

"The ship was taking on fuel and was almost completed when it seemed to crack in half after a terrific explosion. Then i caught fire. I saw Bessie blown from the ship. Her husband dived overboard and dragged her to a nearby float where we tried to get a lifejacket on her.

"By that time, firemen and ambulance crew were there and assisted us."

Bessie Branch was carried unconscious to the ambulance. Her husband was assisted to a police car. McClellan walked to the car unaided.

The Jalasu sank after the blast, but its load of diesel oil spread across the harbor. Firemen were pouring water on the blaze hours later.

The Branchs' home town was not known.

Leaders Agree To Avoid Spurring Racial Tensions

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson and Republican presidential nominee Barry Goldwater conferred alone for 16 minutes Friday and agreed that "racial tensions should be avoided" in the campaign ahead.

White House press secretary George Reedy gave that account of their talk after Goldwater slipped in and out of the White House without seeing reporters.

"The president met with Senator Goldwater and reviewed the steps he had taken to avoid the incitement of racial tensions," Reedy said.

"Senator Goldwater expressed his position, which was that racial tensions should be avoided.

"Both agreed on this position.

Reedy said Johnson and Goldwater both reviewed the brief statement before it was issued.

"It was reviewed with Senator Goldwater," Reedy said. "He was aware that we were going to issue this statement."

He would not spell out in detail the tension-averting steps Johnson mentioned at the meeting.

Two hours before the meetings, Johnson told a press conference he doesn't see how civil rights can be removed as a campaign issue. He said he had no plans to make a pact with Goldwater to avoid civil rights as an issue.

Johnson said he intended to debate the hard and serious issues in an attempt to resolve them.

Goldwater said earlier that he had no specific proposals to present to Johnson. What he wanted was "a broad discussion of the campaign and what we both can do to avoid any inflating of trouble."

BUDAPEST (AP) — The one-piece bikini has been introduced to Hungary, but it was not topless.

Anna Neveloes, a young girl of Nziregyhaza in northeast Hungary, recently appeared in the local swimming pool with only part of her bikini.

Her bosom was modestly covered; the rest was bare.

"But worse was to follow," said the local paper Somogyi Neplap, which heported the incident Thursday.

Both were arrested and will be charged with having "caused a public scandal," the paper reported.

Rotarian John Mitchell spoke on his career in railroading.

He Doesn't Want Fish — He Just Wants Worms

Desmond Anthony is a man with a slippery problem, he can't seem to get hold of enough fish.

Mr. Anthony is doing research on the diphyllobothrium parasite of Kootenay Lake, which is infecting many of the lake's fish.

In his work he is required to disect dozens of fish to inspect the tapeworm's progress as it infects its host. Consequently Mr. Anthony is in constant need of fish, especially large Rainbow trout over four pounds. Mr. Anthony says he does not confiscate the entire fish, since only the internal organs hold his interest.

When a fisherman brings a fish to him at his fish hatchery headquarters he cleans it and returns it to the lucky angler At the time if the fish is infected the angler is told so, and can, if he wishes, contribute his catch.

Mr. Anthony also goes to the fisherman's residence if the angler is not able to come to the hatchery.

Also required are about three dozen Dolly Vardens to complete his survey on the dollies.

The tapeworm parasite invades all of Kootenay Lake game fish, especially the Kokanee and larger Rainbow trout.

The parasite invades the digestive tract of fish and slowly spreads into the meat. Human beings can contact the tapeworm only if the fish is raw or under-cooked. Normal cooking will kill the parasite and remove any danger.

Centres To Be Flooded To Be Included in Historians' Tour

CRANBROOK — Sunday, will be Interantional Day in the Tobacco Plains country, where a joint field trip is planned by the combined Pioneer Association of Eureka, Mont., and the Fernie and East Kootenay Historical Associations.

Plans call for all to meet at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Colin Sinclair in the Roosville Valley, 16 miles south of the junction of Highways 3 and 93 near Elko.

Following lunch, members of the Eureka group will tell something of the history of the early day places on their side of the border, and time will be spent in fraternizing and exchanging greetings and reminiscences.

Later a guided car tour will be made to the location of as many of these old places as time will allow. These will probably include Old Tobacco at Mill Springs, first white settlement in the area; Glen Lake, the old Sinclair Place, Eureka, Rexford and past the sites of old Hayden, White's Landing on the Kootenay River, and, if time allows, up to Gateway and Newgate.

These latter places have a special interest in that when the Libby Dam is completed and river waters backed up, the lake so formed will cover these and they will be wiped completely off the map. They were all riproaring boom towns in their heyday, first during the steamboating days, and later when the Great Northern Railway built their spur line from Rexford up to Fernie and Michel. Now there is little left of most of them but memories.

BANQUET AT FERNIE

The Fernie group is planning a banquet and open house there two days later, at the IOOF Hall. They are busy preparing several skits of old time scenes and events to help celebrate the anniversary of Fernie's incorporation as a municipality.

Cranbrook To Be Without Swim Pool

CRANBROOK — Ratepayers of Cranbrook turned thumbs down on a new heated swimming pool Thursday, when they voted against borrowing $175,000 for this purpose.

The vote results were 40.97 per cent affirmative.

It was reported that if the bylaw were turned down, the city would be without swimming facilities in the near future, since the old pool at Baker Park is in danger of collapsing at any time. Estimates for rebuilding the pool have reached as high as $350,000 and city council has recorded its feelings as being against this large expenditure.

The proposed pool was to have been heated and a Z-shape to provide three separate swimming areas.

It would include a 25-metre Olympic style swimming course.

Over 2000 property owners were eligible to vote. Returning officer was George Robertson.

Black, Martin, Robinson At Salmo Meeting

SALMO — A joint meeting of the Salmo Chamber of Commerce and the Salmo Village Commission Monday night was attended by Hon. W. D. Black, provincial secretary, D. F. Martin, regional engineer with the Department of Highways and R. Robinson of the B.C. Forest Service.

Some decision was asked on establishment of a campsite at the junction of the Kootenay Skyway with the highway south of Salmo at the south fork. This will be investigated. The Chamber has requested the forest service to construct its depot in that area and the matter is being considered.

Mr. Black said there has been no development so far as the Kinnaird highway link is concerned. No official word has been received on any Salmo highway bypass and there will be none until completion of the August survey.

The meeting heard that the picnic site at Erie Lake is opened.

Mr. Black spoke on centennial projects and procedure and of the official opening of the Skyway August 15.

KEEPERS FEWER

Only 36 civilian lighthouse keepers remain in service in the U.S. They will be replaced by Coast Guardsmen on their retirement.

Fire Chief Vernon Doll reported four fire alarms answered during the month, all minor fires in which no damage was reported. He also reported the Cranbrook District Ambulance service, operated by volunteers, dispatched 28 calls in June.

Works engineer Stinson reported oiling of 5½ miles of gravel streets, and repair of damaged asphalt streets during the month.

20-Year-Old Lumber Business Sells Out to Cranbrook Firm

CRANBROOK — Purchase of a 20-year-old lumber company has been announced by a large Cranbrook-based firm following a year's lapse since negotiations were carried out.

The planer and yard for lumber drying, stationary sawmill on Sundown Creek and extensive timber rights in Moyie-Yahk, Upper Moyie River and Perry Creek drainage areas have been sold by J.S. & B. Company to Crestbrook Timber Ltd.

The 20-year-old company was started on a cooperative basis by Roy Joyce, Robert Sparks and Walter Barrett, and at one stage had 15 partners. Purchase was from Mr. Barrett, Mr. Sparks, E. V. Horseman and John Currie. Some of the staff and employees will be transferred to other Crestbrook plants in East Kootenay.

Purchase was postponed when Crestbrook preferred shareholders directors in Vancoeuver proposed liquidation instead. This was what led to the company's reorganization of several months ago and subsequent expansion into Creston and Fort Macleod area, and into veneer, plywood and chips manufacture and to take an active part in forming Canal Development Ltd., which has a reserve until the end of the year on pulp harvest rights in East Kootenay.

Creston Hospital Report On Its Way At Last

The report is six months late in reaching this stage.

FRUIT FIRM MAKES CHANGES TO $130,000

Dr. Barrett, Bill Blair Honored at First Cub Camp

Men who were instrumental in getting Scout and Cub Camp Tweedsmuir on its feet were honored at the first cub camp held at the site.

Bill Parkins, Bill Johnsen, Carl Nielsen, Robbie Wallenger, of the first Rionde Pack, and Kenneth McDonad of Vancouver accompanied by Mrs. J. Tod and Bill Nelson (service scout) were joined by boys from Trail, Rossland, Castlegar, Kinnaird, S. Slocan, and Fruitvale for a week at Tweedsmuir.

There were 107 boys in camp and the weatherman cooperated well. Any rain came after the boys were in bed.

Badges earned were observers, swimmers, athletes, artist, and first aid.

Highlight of the camp was visitors' day, when 107 little "African natives" came out of the jungle wielding spears and other weapons to demonstrate their power against other tribes. Bill Johnsen scored a bullseye in the spear-throwing .contest The jungle day was complete with "witch doctors" (leaders) which were got rid of by throwing them to the "crocodiles" in the swimming pool.

Friday night saw the unveiling of the plaque to Dr. Barrett, who donated the first five acres of the Tweedsmuir campsite, and to Bill Blair, who donated many hours in building the camp to what it is to-day.

Visitors for this occassion were members of the Blair and Barrett families and many other Scouters, commissioners of the Trail Rossland District Council, also Dr. Resker, regional commissioner, who spent the night in camp and related the Baden Powell Story to the cubs at campfire.

Ignoring Siren Could Be Disastrous

The wail of a siren breaks through the city air telling of disaster, and yet some vehicles stubbornly refuse to move from the path of the hurrying emergency unit. This is a situation too often seen on Nelson District highways.

A prime example was the Ainsworth tragedy Sunday. Local firemen tearing to the scene of the accident were encumbered inside and outside of town by cars that refused to move to the side of the highway.

Rather than give way and hug the curb in a parallel position, as motorists are supposed to do, regardless of the direction in which they are travelling, these delinquents merrily proceeded.

Fire Chief Owens reports that these transgressors are not tourists. Local people constitute most of the offenders.

If the guilty lack the intelligence to steer to the curb when a siren is heard and a flashing red light seen, they can at least bear in mind that there is a fine. Offenders may be sure that they will be in court the day after their infraction, and may incur a debt of up to $500.

This fine is not just a penalty, it is meant as a reminder. By failing to stop one endangers not only the emergency vehicle but the occupants of one's car. An accident at high speed could mean death or injury.

Next time, we trust that our motorists will have common sense enough to make way for the ambulance or fire truck. Surely this is not too much to ask of responsible adults.

Wallace in Toronto

Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson rode through the streets of Calgary in an open car, watched by 175,000 Stampede celebrants.

What a contrast this was to the events which transpired in Toronto when Governor George Wallace of Alabama rode in a heavily guarded car to a speaking engagement in Maple Leaf Gardens.

We are surprised that the authorities considered it necessary to provide Governor Wallace with such protection. To be sure, there are hundreds of thousands of Canadians who despise everything that this segregationist Southerner stands for. But there are people in Calgary and other parts of Canada who don't have much use for Prime Minister Pearson's policies either.

The fact remains that it was not deemed necessary to exercise stringent security precautions in connection with Mr. Pearson's visit to Calgary, and we remain unconvinced that Governor Wallace's venture into the streets of Toronto required the protection of such a large contingent of local policemen.

It is even more regrettable that Alabama state security men, who have no status in Canada, were permitted to play a role in these unnecessary precautions.

Canada is not the United States, and Canadians as a whole show a respect for public order which is lacking in some other parts of the world.

It is to be hoped that the officialdom which decreed such heavy precautions for Governor Wallace is not trying to initiate a new trend in this country — a trend based on the assumption that controversial figures cannot appear in public without risking violence.

It was not surprising that Governor Wallace's visit created controversy. Even the most hospitable Canadian would find it difficult to give him a genuinely cordial welcome. Admittedly, there were demonstrators outside Maple Leaf Gardens on Thursday, and it is no cause for gratification that such a demonstration was staged. Whatever Mr. Wallace thinks, he has the same right as anyone else in a free country to speak what is on his mind. And speak he did, before the International Lions' convention.

But providing him with special police protection is another matter. He didn't need it.

Enterprise Tested

When the winds of change were sweeping the under-developed lands of Asia and Africa, most observers were confidently predicting that American enterprise would flood these countries to overflowing.

But, after several unsatisfactory years, American enterprise, always in the past willing to take long chances, is reluctant. It would seem that, from a business standpoint, the risks are too high. Among the risks was that, already proven in some Latin American countries, of losing not merely potential profits but invested capital by expropriation.

More, the high rates of profit assured under the stable governments of an earlier era are outrageous by present-day standards. In the old days, a company investing overseas could demand, and usually secure, enough profit to repay its entire investment in five years or even less.

Nowadays, no self-respecting country, however impoverished, would permit such profits at its expense.

In fact, most of the under-developed countries, far from conceding a reasonable profit in return for substantial benefits to themselves, question why there should be any profit, or why American investors should object to having their projects taken without any compensation at all.

Enterprise — especially American enterprise — has never been hesitant to take chances when assured a fair deal. But recent developments in under-developed lands have inspired a marked hesitation to take chances. — Kamloops Sentinel.

What Next?

Drinking in Scotland has long been considered a serious, if not a sober business. But that, like other seemingly immutable facts of life, is subject to change. Word comes from Glasgow that singing is to be permitted in 123 Glasgow pubs.

The late Will Fyffe would have appreciated this touch. But some Glaswegians, and many sober Scots in other burghs, will shake their heads and wonder if this is not a sign of decadence.

Scots have long been dominated by a Calvinist tradition which, though it may not have preserved them from sinning, tried hard to prevent them from enjoying it.

The move in Glasgow recalls the viewpoint, which found supporters at the Church of Scotland annual meeting a few weeks ago, that Sunday should be a joyous rather than a solemn day. This led to mumurs among the more traditionally-minded that there was danger of Sunday becoming "The Lord's half-day."

Arrow Lake Folk Being Treated With Fairness?

To the Editor:

Sir — In Tom Hazlett's recent article "Arrow folks in quandry" it is stated that Dr. Hugh Keenleyside, co-chairman of B.C. Hydro has said repeatedly the people who are about to have their homes appropriated will be treated fairly, sympathetically and generously. Each case being settled on it's merits, etc. The provincial government, which maintains recreational reserve on all waterfront lands, will waive this rule for people who wish to seek out waterfront property elsewhere.

I have just been visiting in this area where B.C. Hydro now has a man pricing and buying property. I was shocked to learn that the people there who live on some of the finest beaches in B.C. have been told they cannot expect to be paid for lakeshore frontage since they actually live on a river, not a lake! His reasons are that there is a slight current throughout, the depth of the lake fluctuates during the spring runoff and is a few degrees colder than in the Okanagan. Does this mean that our B.C. Hydro man is right and all our maps of B.C. wrong? Maybe the Great Lakes are rivers too!

It is true that the water is cooler than in the Okanagan, but they do not have the extreme heat we have here either, yet their cherry crop this year is second to none. If one goes to the "Rock" which is situated on the dam site he can see children swimming every day of the week. However swimming is not the only water sport. I noticed boats moored all along the water front and no built-in shelters are necessary such as are called for on Lake Okanagan. Several people were water skiing.

Is it not possible for this situation to be investigated before it is too late? We all know that the climate in the Arrow Lakes cannot be compared with any except in the Okanagan area.

One of the first questions being asked these people is "What did you pay for this property?" Just what does that have to do with the market price of today? If they are not being paid for water frontage how can they afford to replace with homes which compare favourably with what they now have?

Mrs. R. Van Wicklin,
Armstrong, B.C.

"Less Criticism, More Action"

To the Editor:

Sir — I notice your comment on Mrs. A. Stevenson's letter in Saturday's issue. No one expects perfection, but we can at least do our utmost to give Nelson, our home town a bit of a boost, and give credit where credit's due.

I, personally, hate a defeatist attitude. Let us strive for better things next year, always allowing for the vagaries of the weather. Let us have a little more action and less criticism, eh? After all, this is Nelson and we are Nelsonites.

CIVIL DEFENCE

For Autonomous Art School

To the Editor:

Sir — At other times I have criticized your editorials but now I would like to congratulate you on your editorial of June 29th, "Another Broken Promise?" It was an excellent presentation of the case for an autonomous Art School, it was well written and should arouse art lovers throughout the province to protest the action of the government in placing the Kootenay Art School under the direction of the Vocational School.

Which Third?

To the Editor:

Sir — Which page of your paper am I to believe? On page 2 of July 17, I see a statement "Topless suits joke in Nelson" with assurances below that none are available. On Page 5 of the same paper I find an ad from a fashion shop which says in part. "Summer and Party Dresses — Suits-1/3 off." Sounds to me like a clear description of the latest in topless wear!

Arabs Request Canada Act As Mediator

TORONTO (CP) — An Arab League spokesman Thursday urged Canada to act as a mediator to restore good relations between the United States and Britain on the one hand and the Arabs on the other.

In a service club address, Sami Hadawi, public relations director for the New York office of the Arab States delegations, said the West must weigh the advantages and disadvantages of friendship with Israel and its 2,000,000 Jews against the hostility of 100,000,000 Arabs controlling east-west transportation routes and two-thirds of the world's oil.

Mr. Hadawi, a former Palestinian civil servant, said "NATO would be a dead duck without the Middle East or the Arab world."

He said the events of the coming year would decide whether there would be war over the Jordan River waters. The Israelis have threatened to attack Arab territory when the Arabs divert the river's headwaters so that none will flow into Israel.

U.S.-Viet Nam Differ Over War Policy

By RICHARD MYERSCOUGH

SAIGON (Reuters) — The United States and South Viet Nam were reported at odds today over the conduct of the war against the pro-Communist Viet Cong.

A meeting between the American ambassador, Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, and Premier Maj.-Gen. Nguyen Khanh was reported to have revealed strong differences of opinion between Washington and Saigon.

Informed sources said the Americans asked that the differences aired at the Taylor-Khanh meeting not be made public.

But diplomatic sources indicated the United States was concerned by some of the "march northward" statements expressed in Saigon in the last week.

There was a feeling among American authorities that the Saigon government was trying to drag the U.S. into an extension of the war with the Viet Cong.

STATEMENTS BY KY

Reliable sources said the meeting between Khanh and Taylor dealt with statements by Air Commodore Nguyen Cao Ky Wednesday. Ky was reported to have attended the meeting Thursday.

The air force commander-in-chief said it was necessary to extend military action inside Communist territory.

He also said his men were "ready" for possible attack on North Viet Nam. He said guerrillas were being dropped into North Viet Nam.

The sources said apart from what Ky had said about a possible air attack on South Viet Nam, the U.S. felt there should have been no mention of any clandestine South Vietnamese guerrilla offensive that might be going on in the north.

The South Vietnamese defence ministry Thursday dissociated itself from Ky's statement and said if Ky did in fact make the statement it was his personal opinion and not the policy of the defence ministry.

AMERICAN KILLED

An American soldier was killed in a Viet Cong ambush Thursday 175 miles north of Saigon.

The ambush came late in the afternoon as a convoy of South Vietnamese irregulars travelled through the mountains of the central highlands.

U.S. soldiers were engaged in training the irregulars as a striking force for use against the Viet Cong supply trains from North Viet Nam.

N.Y. RACIAL VIOLENCE SURPASSES BIRMINGHAM'S

Relman Morin, twice winner of the Pulitzer Prize, covered the racial violence last year in Birmingham, Ala., and has revisited the city several times since then. In this report, he compares and contrasts the events in Birmingham and New York.

By RELMAN MORIN

NEW YORK (AP)—A little more than a year ago, violence in the streets made Birmingham, Ala., an ugly symbol of racial strife.

Today, New York is another such symbol, only worse.

You see essentially the same scenes . . . police clashing with crowds of Negroes . . . bricks and bottles flying . . . bloody and contorted faces . . . prostrate figures in the streets.

To a degree, the deep underlying causes of this are the same in New York as in Birmingham — Negro frustration, despair, resentment finally exploding into violence.

But at this point the comparison ends.

DIFFERENT TALE

The tale of the two cities is radically different.

*In Birmingham, the demon*strations were organized. Negro leaders notified the police as to when and where the next move would be made. They also notified news media since they wanted to publicize their demands.

In New York, the rioting seems aimless, random, violence without any clear purpose.

It was touched off nearly a week ago by the fatal shooting of a 15-year-old Negro boy by a white policeman. The officer said he fired in self-defence when the Negro came at him with a knife.

THEY HAD LEADER

In Birmingham, Dr. Martin Luther King, the organizer, and his lieutenants, Rev. Fred L. Shuttlesworth and Rev. Wyatt Tee Walker, were the leaders. And they led.

At one point, Shuttlesworth was able to say:

"I am willing to promise that the demonstrations are off, that we are not going to have any violence from Negroes, and that the community will come back to normalcy."

None of the persons named as heads of Negro organizations in New York could say that today and be sure the promise would be kept.

In Birmingham, the objectives of the demonstrations were clear-cut and specific—desegregation of some department store facilities, better job opportunities, the release of those arrested for demonstration, and the formation of a biracial committee to adjudicate racial problems.

SOME ACCOMPLISHED

Some of these, in the year that has passed, have been qui*etly accomplished* by whites and Negroes working together in the city.

But what are the purposes behind the Negro actions in Harlem and the Bedford-Stuyvesant section of Brooklyn

In the past, Negroes in New York as elsewhere demanded better housing, more job opportunities, equality, human dignity. But the recent rioting here appears to have been more the release of long-smouldering feeling rather than for civil rights.

Said state Senator Constance Baker Motley, Negro Democrat who represents Harlem:

"Whether it's true or not, Harlem believes the police are the enemy. They think they're not here for their protection."

In both Birmingham and New York, Negroes charged "police brutality." Yet, Rev. Shuttlesworth, calling on Governor George C. Wallace of Alabama to withdraw the state highway patrol, said, "we want the city police, whom we respect, to take charge."

REPORTS ARE COMMON

Throughout the South, there are always reports that there are Communists in the Negro movement.

"Hate groups" in New York are among those responsible for the riots, said Rev. Richard A. Hildebrand, branch president for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. He added:

"The Communists have been working on these hate groups and black nationalists . . . because they think they are the wildest and most extreme and, through them, they can promote the most unrest."

An incident in Birmingham points up the contrast:

Rev. King and a Negro woman went among the Negro community collecting weapons. "We must get rid of our knives and our guns," he said. "We don't need them. We must fight violence with non-violence."

The weapons were put in a basket carried by the woman. King spoke of "our white brothers."

MAY HAVE HATED

Individual Negroes may have hated whites in Birmingham during the demonstrations, but there were no "hate groups."

Hatred obviously burned in the hearts of some whites, as evidenced by the bombings of "Dynamite Hill," a Negro residential section, and the explosion that killed four little Negro girls in the church on Sixteenth Street.

The Birmingham law enforcement authorities had an advantage not enjoyed by the New York police—advance warning.

Sheriff Mel Bailey of Birmingham, having that information, said he went to work with civic groups and other organizations. "We quietly passed the word that the worst thing that could happen would be for this thing to turn into a race riot."

Hence, he said, he wanted to create a "buffer zone" between them and the Negro demonstrators.

CROWD OBEYED

This was done. During the worst of the disturbances, when a police officer ordered crowds of whites to "move back, move back a full block," they obeyed.

Birminghan police used police dogs and fire hoses to break up the demonstrations. In New York, officers used nightsticks and fired volleys of bullets over the heads of the Negroes.

In Bedford-Stuyvesant, some 350 store windows were smashed by rioters and there was widespread looting. In Birmingham, only one known case —a grocery store—was looted following the bombing of a Negro motel.

The greatest difference between the disturbances in the two cities probably is in the net result:

In Birmingham, the Negroes advanced their cause. In New York Negro leaders themselves say it has been damaged.

Alcoholic Drinking Quart Daily May Appear Normal

NEW BRUNSWICK, N.J. (AP) An alcoholic drinking almost a quart of whisky a day shows little sign of being drunk. In fact, says researchers, a high concentration of alcohol in the blood improves some physical and mental functionings of an alcoholic.

Other conclusions in a report released Friday by the Rutger centre of Alcohol Studies were that alcoholics show the same withdrawal symptoms as other types of addicts when their supply of liquor is cut off.

Also, while an alcoholic seems to stay relatively sober on 30 ounces of liquor a day, he becomes severely incapacitated when the dosage goes up to 40 ounces.

FEELS TIMING AND LUCK BASIS OF SUCCESS

VANCOUVER (CP) — Ted Charlton's formula for success is—be in the right place at the right time with the right product, then be lucky.

Nearly two years ago he decided he had hit upon the right product and that British Columbia was the right place to manufacture it. Just how right the time was, he had no idea.

Mr. Charlton's plan was to produce felt belts used in pulp and paper production. There was no other firm making the product in Western Canada and a Vancouver firm which recently started production on another item for the pulp industry found it had cornered 80 per cent of the market in its particular line.

This week he opened a 30,000-square-foot plant called Lockport Pacific Limited.

But a lot had happened in the last two years. Plans were announced for several new pulp mills and Ted Charlton now believes that the $2,000,000 market for felts—as he originally envisioned it—may now be double that.

TIMING WASN'T BAD

"Our timing wasn't bad, but I didn't think we'd be as lucky as it now looks like we are going to be."

Mr. Charlton admits he stumbled into felt production. He had sold his controlling interest in a firm of testing engineers and was looking for a new field.

"I had heard a lot about the need for secondary industry in the province so I began looking into the opportunities."

He went through the research department of a large public utility.

"I must have looked at every survey of business opportunities that they had ever done. Finally it began to look as if making felts for the pulp industry was a good bet."

LITTLE COMPETITION

He based his choice on the size of the market and lack of local competition.

Against him was the fact that it's a highly technical business and that there is a shortage of technicians in this field. No new company had entered the business in this century.

"It was obvious that I had to have a partner with the technical knowhow, so I went to the third-largest company in this field in the U.S. There was no point in going to the other two because they are already in Canada with plants in the East."

The partner is Lockport Felt Company Incorporated of Newfane, N.Y. It has taken a 50-per-cent interest in Charlton's $1,000,000 operation.

The felts will be used to cover the rollers of the giant machines which squeeze wood pulp into sheets of paper. They are needed because pulp contains about 98 per cent water when the process starts and cannot go through the rollers unless the felt is there to grip it.

The average belt is about 65 feet long and about 15 feet wide and sells for $1,500. Life expectancy of one felt is about one month.

Interpreting the News

By STEWART MacLEOD
Canadian Press Staff Writer

What discourages Canadian officials in planning aid for Malaysia is the realization that regardless of what help is offered, the federation's troubles with a threatening Indonesia will probably continue indefinitely.

This has been a common feature of all Southeast Asian flare-ups. Instead of briskly battling to a conclusion, there is a tendency to wage guerrilla warfare wearily until most of the world becomes a disinterested spectator.

But Malayasi's theat from the arrogant "confrontation policy" of Indonesia has stirred up far more interest in official Canada than other rumblings in the distant Asian jungles. This time a Commonwealth country is in danger, and Prime Minister Pearson is known to have strong feelings on the question of "family help."

PEARSON FOR SUPPORT

At the recent Commonwealth prime ministers' conference in London, Mr. Pearson stoutly supported the inclusion in the communique of a paragraph pledging support for the threatened federation. And when all African countries finally agreed to go along with the paragraph, the Canadian prime minister was clearly pleased. "It's going quite far for some of them," he said, "it really is."

Malaysian Prime Minister Tunku Abdul Rahman left the conference encouraged by the pledge of support. And now he is coming to Canada to look into the possibility of buying jet reconnaissance planes, and to talk with Mr. Pearson and other officials about possible Canadian assistance.

So far there has been no Canadian commitment for military assistance although it is generally believed that some way will be found to help Rahman acquire aircraft, or other equipment, in this country. And it is a widely - held view in Ottawa, that Malaysia will use a lot of replacements before its problems with Indonesia are settled.

SUKARNO'S REASONS

President Sukarno of Indonesia has several good reasons for goading Malaysia, and these reasons are not likely to dissipate overnight. First, about the only thing that his party and the Communist party of Indonesia have in common is the belief that there should be a showdown with Malaysia. Second, a policy of aggression serves to hide some fairly serious economic ills at home.

And if these were not reasons enough for a protracted campaign, neither Russia nor Red China have been tight - fisted with their military aid to Indonesia. China has also pledged political support for its policies.

Canada, ironically, contributes economic aid to Indonesia under the Colombo Plan, and this is likely to come under critical review unless there is a drastic change of policy there. Opposition Leader Diefenbaker said this aid should end "here and now."

SILVERTON NOTES

SILVERTON — Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Avison of Silverton have as their house guest for the next two weeks, Mrs. L. Harker of Egremont, England, a former school mate of Mrs. Avison.

Mrs. Harker, the former Florence Barbour, left Silverton 50 years ago and was a passenger on the ill-fated Empress of Ireland. She was rescued by the late Bob Crellin of New Denver.

This is her first trip back since leaving and although time has changed almost all she remembers, she is finding much happiness in her return trip.

Kootenay Hunting, Fishing Spots Familiar to Anniversary Celebrants

Well-known hunting, fishing and boating enthusiasts Mr. and Mrs. William Desjardins of the North Shore celebrated their golden wedding anniversary Wednesday with their family.

A dinner party was held at the home of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Danny McKay, overlooking the lake and the city from the North Shore.

An anniversary cake flanked by golden tapers centered the table.

Telegrams were received by Mr. and Mrs. Desjardins from Archbishop Martin M. Johnson, DD, of the Diocese of Vancouver, who sent a special message; from Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson; Hon. W. D. Black, provincial secretary; Lieut. Gov. George R. Pearkes and Premier W. A. C. Bennett.

Neighbors called to present Mr. and Mrs. Desjardins with a money tree and flowers and the Nelson City Council sent a bouquet to the long-time Nelson residents.

Married July 22, 1914, at Gravelbourg, Sask., by Rev. R. M. S. Magnan, Mrs. and Mrs. Desjardins moved to Nelson in 1919 and have made their home here since. They are members of the Blessed Sacrament Parish. Mr. Desjardins was the proprietor of a tire shop until he left to work for the provincial government, first with the Department of Public Works and then with the Ferry Authority. He retired in 1952.

Mr. and Mrs. Desjardins know the waterways in the Kootenay Lake and West Arm intimately and their boat, the Attagirl was a familiar sight to many.

Mr. and Mrs. Desjardins have two daughters, Mrs. Danny McKay (Dee) and Mrs. Alfred Cawley (Ella) of Victoria, also two grandsons, Ross and Rod.

Mr. and Mrs. Cawley have spent a week with Mr. and Mrs. Desjardins, having come up from the coast specially for the anniversary.

Mother, Daughters on Canoe Tour of Peace, Slave, Mackenzie

EDMONTON (CP)—Mrs. Connie Helmerick and her daughters Jean, 14, and Ann, 12, of Tucson, Ariz., are on a 2,000-mile trip to the Arctic Ocean but haven't left all their glamor behind.

"The girls refuse to travel without their huge pink plastic curlers and special shampoo and lipstick," said Mrs. Helmerick, who plans to use the trip to gather material for a book on northern adventure.

"We're no beauties in the bush, but all glamor isn't left behind," Mrs. Helmerick said in an interview.

The trip was cut short temporarily when Ann developed acute appendicitis after they had travelled 600 miles to Fort Vermilion, Alta., 350 miles northwest of Edmonton.

Ann was operation on at hospital in Fort Vermilion, but complications set in and they had to fly out to Edmonton for a second operation and further treatment.

The Helmericks started their trip June 17 at Taylor, B.C., when they set their 20-foot canoe into the Peace River.

"We do have a 9½-horsepower motor if we need it, but most of the time we drift or paddle," Mrs. Helmerick said.

Plans call for them to travel the Peace until it joins the Slave River at Lake Athabasca, Alta. Then they'll follow the Slave to Great Slave Lake and cross the lake to Yellowknife, N.W.T., completing the first stage of their trip.

The girls will be enrolled in school at Yellowknife in the fall.

The second stage of the trip calls for them to go down the Mackenzie River next summer. Eventually, they hope to reach the Mackenzie River delta and the Arctic Ocean.

"Ann will not be able to continue on this summer's part of the trip but will fly directly to Yellowknife. Jean and I will complete this stage by our Sept. 1 goal," Mrs. Helmerick said.

Mrs. Helmerick has spent 12 years, mostly in Alaska, exploring, photographing and writing about the North.

FILM STAR

Jean was three years old when she spent a year on the Arctic coast. A film entitled Jeannie of the North was made of her at the time.

Mrs. Helmerick's proposed book will be her seventh. She says Americans seem to like first-person adventure stories, "especially when it comes out of Northern Canada or Alaska."

The Helmerick's clothes are mostly wool—men's long-sleeved shirts, heavy socks and at least one set of medium-weight long underwear.

"Knee-length boots are a must —we've been plagued with mud. So is the Arctic Dew Line parka and the best of Arctic sleeping bags."

They have two rifles but have not fired them. "We have them mainly in case we need to summon help." They have arranged credit at posts throughout the North because money mildews.

Their diet consists of dried or canned food. Says Mrs. Helmerick: "We use the water straight from the river as northerners do. The pancakes might have a brownish color but taste fine. . . ."

Hints From Heloise

By Heloise Cruse

Dear Heloise: If you dislike the daily job of cleaning a gold fish bowl as much as I do, here is a hint you will love:

Goldfish are lovely and fun to watch but the children seem never to do the job.

When you have your morning coffee, pull a kitchen chair or stool over to the sink and have it there. Put the goldfish bowl in the sink and let a gentle stream of cool water run into the centre of the bowl.

Th ewater will stir up the stuff on the bottom and float it out over the top of the bowl. This will usually take care of cleaning it except for a good cleaning once a week.

Watch out that the fish do not float over the top of the bowl And never tap on the outside of the bowl. This might kill the fish.

Mrs. H. Serretti.

* * *

Ladies, this is a great idea for those of you who have to take care of your children's gold fish. And what mother doesn't?

I suggest that you take a piece of nylon net and put it over the top of the bowl, securing it with a rubber band before pouring in that stream of water. This will keep the goldfish from jumping out. Any kind of net or wire screen will do the job beautifully.

And if you have ever seen a precious fish go down the drain, you will know what I mean. It breaks your heart.

Heloise.

* * *

Dear Heloise:

Instead of sprinkling small items of clothing, here is a time saving idea:

Sprinkle a terry cloth towel with warm water and roll it up and let it absorb the moisture for a few minutes, then wrap the towel around the smaller end of your ironing board and pin it underneath.

This acts as a steam press and eliminates the problem of sprinkling and waiting for your clothes to get that perfect dampdry.

Barbara Mariano.

A LETTER OF LAUGHTER

"Now, Heloise, I shall visit a neighbor for a cup of coffee and listen to her complaints about her dirty floors and a messy house and the load of wash that is yet to be done.

Dear Heloise:

Square plastic dishpans when kept in bathroom cabinets and closets are fabulous for storing shampoos, soaps, etc., and suffice for pull-out-like drawers and spills are easily cleaned up.

My mother and I discovered in desperation that a drop of oil on the socket of the doll's arm or leg smooths-the-works when replacing lost limbs . . .

Dear Heloise:

A standard rice recipe kept in a rice jar, a favorite corn meal recipe in your corn meal container . . . can save much time when cooking.

Dear Heloise:

Do you ever take an overnight trip or spend several days away from home? If so, I find that it makes it easier to pack if I keep a generalized list in my suitcase of all clothing articles I might need on a trip . . . such as: dresses, slips, sweaters, skirts, underclothing, etc.

I also keep a second list of miscellaneous items, such as . . . toiletries, etc.

Such a list makes packing so much quicker and keeps me from leaving something behind which I should have taken with me.

Jean Peron.

GLITTER FOR EVENING — Costume jewelry should be harmonious at all times, especially with summer evening clothes. Too heavy a piece, or one that is to "gimmicky," can ruin the prettiest outfit. And there's no need for the real thing, either, with a summer costume. Just right, then, for wear with light-colored gowns, is this beautiful evening jewelry.

Newest Men's Fashion

Far-Out Fabric In Traditional Style

FLORENCE (AP)—There was fashion news for the men in Florence this week too—velvet suits for business and evening.

Several top Italian men's wear designers presented their new collections during the women's fall and winter fashion showings that ended here Thursday.

The velvet suits, from Fronzoni, created the biggest stir. Although the fabric was far-out, styling was traditional.

There was a three-button bottle green number for the office and a two-button navy blue formal for the opera. The velvets were dull-surface, heavy weight cotton types with much the same feel as men's wear corduroy.

Franzoni also used them for sports jackets worn with family checked turtleneck jersey pullovers. The sports jackets came in black, garnet and forest green.

Specific instructions on how to button three-button suits were given by both Litrico and Brioni. For the country: Button only the top two buttons. For the city: just the middle one.

Woodwork Painting "A First" in Home

Generally, it doesn't make too much difference whether you do the walls or the woodwork first when painting a home.

But if you're using a flat paint on the walls and a gloss or semi-gloss enamel on the woodwork, there is some advantage to doing the woodwork first, letting it dry and then doing the enamelling.

The reason: It's easier to remove flat paint from enamel than vice versa, in the event that the paint brush doesn't always follow your bidding.

"Mud Room" Handy For Family Dirt

Most everyone knows what a "mud room" is. If not, the name gives a strong clue.

A mud room is any enclosed area leading into a home where family members can wash their hands, take off wet or dirty boots and shoes, and maybe even take a full shower if gardening, energetic snow shovelling or exuberant playtime make it desirable.

A mud room is a wonderful convenience the year 'round — winter and summer. Wet boots are hard on clean floors and rugs, especially when clinging cinders and dirt com along with them.

Most every home has space for a mud room. It can be just a sink in the corner of the garage for instance. The utility room, too, is ready-made for such a purpose. Or a portion of what we used to call the "summer kitchen."

The mud room is fast becoming a special part of many newly built homes. In this case, it is often a small bathroom, with basin, water closet and shower, built adjacent to the kitchen or garage.

The man of the family has been known to insist, though, that it be near his workshop or do-it-yourself area.

Wherever it is located, access should be as close to an outside door as possible.

In most older homes, there is sure to be sufficient space in the basement, a roomy little-used pantry or similar area which may be converted to this convenient "clean up corner." It goes without saying the lady of the house considers a mud room a blessing to her in helping to keep her floors, linoleum and rugs clean.

A qualified plumbing contractor should be consulted when planning a mud room. His professional know-how enables him to suggest the best location and equipment which will prove most efficient and economical. And usually he will surprise you by suggesting a cost that is less than you imagined.

The Modern Home

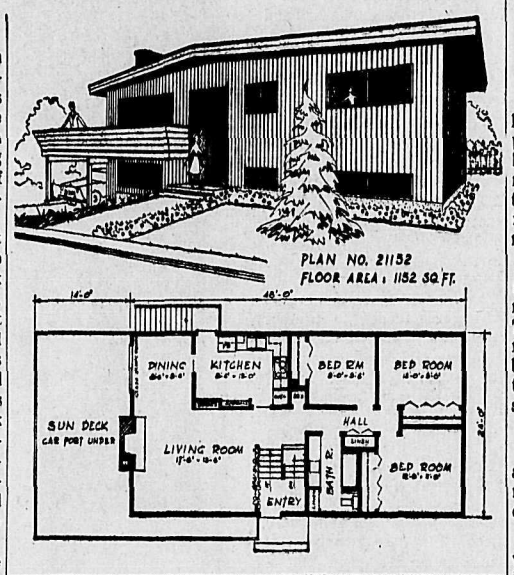
Plan No. 21152
(Copyright No. 117093)

Looking for a new and fresh approach to the popular cathedral entry design? Here is one that features copious use of wood on the exterior, with vertical and horizontal siding contrasting. Low pitched roof completes the attractive exterior.

Properly speaking for the best effect, the lot should slope to the side, so that the sun deck and carport can be included. The floor plan itself a compact arrangement around a central hall. The living room features an outside wall fireplace, and the dining all has sliding glass doors to the sun deck. Work saving kitchen has lots of cupboard space, and the three good-sized bedrooms have large closets for storage space. Full sized bathroom vanity adds to convenience in the bathroom.

The large, clear area in the basement provided by the cathedral entry could be used as a future suite if desired, or extra bedrooms. Windows above ground provide lots of light for the basement rooms.

This as a very attractive, yet economically built house, designed to the standards of the National Building Code of Canada. Blueprints are available from the Building Centre (B.C.) Ltd., 96 Kingsway at Broadway, Vancouver, B.C. New Plan Book, Select Homes Designs, is now available, including price list for blueprints and other building information. Send 50c to cover cost.



A Home of Your Own

BUYING OR RENTING

To buy or to rent, that is the question. Is it more rewarding to live in a home of your own, or can the same satisfaction be achieved in a rented house or apartment?

The answer cannot be the same for everyone. Some families may feel there is a decided advantage in renting over buying. No heavy down payment — no financing charges — no major repair bills — no taxes — no tied-down feeling if your job requires you to move from time to time.

Young married couples and senior citizens may also find it more convenient to live in rented quarters. But there is undoubtedly a great deal to say in favour of owning your own home, otherwise there would not be so many people doing it. Having your own home means pride of ownership, building up an estate and having certain municipal voting privileges.

The final choice of owning or renting is one for the individual family, based on its particular needs and means.

The National Housing Act, probably better known as the NHA, is, as its name implies, a law passed by the federal government to assist us in resolving our housing problems on a national scale.

This act is administered by CMHC or Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation which has offices in all major Canadian cities. Many hundreds of thousands of homes have been built in Canada with the help of this legislation. More than a billion dollars have already been invested by government in helping Canadians obtain decent homes.

The NHA insures loans made to home purchasers and where these loans are not available it provides for direct loans to qualified borrowers. But this represents only part of the NHA operations. Assisting our older citizens and families of lower-income — providing living accommodation for our university students — extending municipal sewage services — renewing those sections of our cities that have fallen into decay. All these things and many other benefits are made possible under the National Housing Act.

BUDGETING FOR A HOME

How much of your salary or income should you normally spend on your home? As a general rule a family can safely budget between 25% and 30% of its income on housing.

Familes who live in rented accommodation sometimes go beyond this figure, but it is not always considered wise to do so. Of course each family must take into account its particular living and spending habits. What will suit one family may mean real hardship to another. Families who purchase a new home with the help of an NHA loan are advised not to spend more than 27% of their income on repayment of their loan and property taxes combined.

There may be exceptons to the rule as in the case of those just at the begnnning of their career who can expect a substantial increase in earnings. But money is a precious commodity that should be handled carefully.

Budgeting is essential for most families when buying a home. Monthly payments have to be met on time just like rent. It is also wise to have a reserve set aside to meet unexpected situations.

New Fabrics
Use Embroidered Vinyl In Dinette Upholstery

CHICAGO — Individuals who like the practical function of plastic and other man-made upholstery fabrics will find a wide range of decorator touches in the new lines introduced at the international home furnishings market.

Embroidered vinly upholstery was used on dinettes, sofas, recliners, and specialty chairs. The upholstery comes in a wide range of back colors and is embroidered with gold-color nylon thread. Vinyl wallcoverings also are popular.

* * *

A combination of nylon, orlon, acrylic and antron produces a new family of two-to-four color effects.

A synthetic fabric blend is worked into patterns resembling a "tulip tree", a daisy cluster design and a flower sketch in pale tones.

A "fake fur" pile fabric used in coats has been worked into sofas, bedroom and occasional chairs.

Hard surface floor coverings offer many new interpretations of natural looking materials. Dimensional pebble effects, new colorations for travertine marble, and random chips are reproduced in vinyl. Newest in these products is the tortoise effect in bronzed, silver and gold shadings and translations of fabric patterns to high style flooring.

A brilliant paisley print is offered in one showroom while another has calico and posie patterns. Distinctive effects are achieved with tiles duplicating antique glazed ceramics in practical modern style.

Early American and colonial fans have tired of the traditional oval-shaped hooked rug will be able to have it in a concentric square this spring.

The market, largest of its kind in the United States, has attracted more than 40,000 wholesale furniture buyers. The furniture they buy here will be available to retailers in spring.

Care of Paint Brush Is Sign of Craftsman

A paint brush is rarely retained for what should be its natural life-time, which is virtually indefinitely in the case of one of good quality.

Somewhere along the line it is neglected, abused or misused finally being thrown out or moved from place to place until it disappears.

Far more important than the necessity of replacing the brush which is merely economic, is the fact that negligence in its care prevents anyone from ever getting the proper use of it.

The care of a paint brush begins before you even use it.

Twirl the handle between the palms of your hands for several minutes. This helps remove loose bristles. Suspend the bristles in linseed oil for about 12 hours. Note the word "suspend." Never stand a brush on the bristles.

One way to suspend the bristles is to drill a hole through the brush handle and place a rod or dowel through it. The rod should be long enough so that each end will rest on the container into which the linseed oil has been poured.

COMB BRUSH

After the brush has been removed from the oil, use a wooden stick to press out the liquid, twirl the handle in your palms, dip the bristles in turpentine and, when they are dry, comb them to be sure they are straight.

It sounds like a lot of trouble, but the whole thing can be done in less than five minutes.

Masonry Not So Protective

The notion that thick walls of solid stone or brick are protection against winter cold in a widespread misconception, experts say.

Heat actually leaks out through stone, brick and other masonry much faster than it does through ordinary wood walls. Masonry is an excellent heat conductor — the reason it is used for fireplaces and ovens.

Twice as much heat will leak out through a solid stone wall two feet thick as through an ordinary uninsulated wood frame wall only eight inches thick.

You would need a stone wall more than 10 feet thick to give the same heat retaining protection you would get from an ordinary frame wall with two inches of insulation. Brick, concrete and cinder block walls are almost as leaky.

Voters To Decide On Okanagan College

KELOWNA (C)—The official wheels have begun to move toward establishment of a regional college in the Okanagan.

Charles Buckland, chairman of Kelowna school district 23, announced to the school board Thursday night that authorization has been received from the minister of education for a plebiscite to determine whether voters favor such a college.

He said he would presume that all 14 school districts in the Okanagan had received such authorization for a plebiscite which will ask voters: "Are you in favor of establishment of a regional college in the Okanagan."

If the plebiscite is approved in the various regions a college council will be automatically set up. The council will be made up of two government representatives, the provisional principal of the college, one representative from each school board, and the district superintendent of schools.

Secretary of the college will be the secretary-treasurer of the school district where the college is to be built.

Can-Am League Leaders Lock Horns Here Sunday

The stage is set for a battle of the Can-Am Baseball League leaders, Sunday, as southern division pace-setting Spokane Orphans meet Nelson Braves, who are currently out in front in the Northern division.

Nelson will be out to avenge two humiliating defeats suffered at the hands of the American club on their last visit to the Queen city. That was in mid-June when the Braves were in the middle of a slump that saw them drop five out of six ball games. They are presently riding the crest of a winning streak, having won seven of their last eight encounters, the only loss being a 6-4 defeat by Valley Indians, in Spokane three weeks ago. The Braves roared back to win the second half of the twin bill, 13-0 on that occasion.

One of the main reasons for the Braves' success this year has been the solid pitching of veteran Les Hufty. Hufty boasts a 5-0 record which he will put on the line as he draws a starting assignment, Sunday.

John Miller, the 240 pound outfielder who slammed a 400 foot homer over the left field wall when the Orphans made their last appearance in Nelson, will not be in the line-up. He is in Detroit at the Lions training camp where he hopes to crack the team as a defensive end. Thirteenth draft choice of the Leos last year, Miller was an all-conference lineman with University of Washington.

The rest of the squad that clobbered the locals will be on hand however, including Steve Bell, a southpaw Los Angeles Dodger prospect, and Dick Washburn, hard-hitting third sacker who hopes to sign with the St. Louis Cards, for whom his brother Ray now toils.

Sunday's games are of prime importance to the local squad, as Trail Smoke Eaters will be attempting to move them out of first place when they journey to St. Johns to do battle with the Indians. Nelson bombed the Washington club 14-4 and 5-1 here, last Sunday.

Baltimore Regains Lead As Detroit Bombs Yanks

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Thanks to the work of two rookie pitchers, Baltimore Orioles bounced back into top spot in the American League standings Friday night by stopping Washington Senators 2-1 and 7-2 in a doubleheader.

Wally Bunker, just 19 ,hurled a five-hitter in the first game for his 11th victory against two defeats. Dave Vineyard, 23-year-old making his second major league start, pitched a no-hitter for six innings, then gave up consecutive doubles in winning the nightcap.

Baltimore got a helping hand from Detroit Tigers who thumped New York Yankees 10-5 in the first game of a twin bill.

However, Elston Howard clubbed a three-run homer in the sixth inning that provided the margin of victory as the Yankees bounced back to take the nightcap 6-3.

In other AL action, Cleveland Indians defeated Boston Red Sox 6-1, Minnesota Twins downed Chicago White Sox 6-3, and Kansas City Athletics edged Los Angeles Angels 1-0.

NL ACTION

In the National League, Philadelphia Phillies thumped St. Louis Cardinals 9-1, Milwaukee Braves downed Net York Mets 8-5, Houston Colts edged Chicago Cubs 1-0 and Cincinnati Reds shut out Pittsburgh Pirates 2-0.

San Francisco Giants and Los Angeles Dodgers tangled in a late game at Los Angeles.

The Orioles won the first game on Bob Johnson's pinch single in the ninth inning—his 13th safety in 23 attempts. Baltimore batters got to Steve Ridzik for four runs in the second game and added the others on solo homers by Luis Aparicio, Boog Powell and Sam Bowens.

Homers by Bob Allison, Zoilo Versalles and Frank Kostro were big blows for the Twins at Chicago. The victory ended their losing streak at eight games. Jim (Mudcat) Grant picked up his eighth victory against six losses.

TRIPLE WINS IT

Chuck Shoemaker clouted a triple in the third inning to give Kansas City the edge over Los Angeles. John O'Donoghue hurled a six-hitter to pick up the victory and set his record at 7-6.

At Cleveland, rookie Luis Tiant held Boston to six hits and Bob Chance drove in four runs to celebrate his wedding day. Chance, who was married Friday afternoon, put the Indians ahead 2-1 in the fourth inning with a two-run single.

Al Kaline's two-run homer launched an eight-run eighth-inning rally for the Tigers in the first game against the Yanks. Dick McAuliffe and Jerry Lumpe each got solo homers for the Tigers and Mickey Mantle, Joe Pepitone and Clete Boyer had circuit clouts for the losers.

Hal Reniff relieved starter Whitey Ford in the third inning of the second game to pick up his fourth victory. Ralph Terry came on in the eighth. Ford retired because of a recurring hip injury.

SPANGLER SINGLES

Al Spangler's single in the sixth inning scored Houston's only run. Hal (Skinny) Brown and Jim Owens teamed to shut out the Cubs.

Jim O'Toole pitched a four-hitter and drove in a run with a single for Cincinnati against Pittsburgh. The Reds got to Bob Friend in the seventh.

Cookie Rojas belted a triple and two singles in support of Chris Short's six-hit effort as the league-leading Phillies marked up their fourth straight victory. The Phillies jumped to a 2-0 lead in the first inning with the aid of four St. Louis errors.

Lee Maye and Gene Oliver each drove in three runs in powering Milwaukee to victory over the Mets. Frank Fischer picked up his seventh victory in 12 decisions, helping his own cause by singling twice and scoring both times.

San Francisco Giants batted for 30 minutes in the sixth inning as they walloped Los Angeles Dodgers 11-3 in a game on the coast.

The San Francisco victory left them two games behind the league-leading Phillies. The slugging spree before 54,026 gave Juan Marichal a worry-free ride to his 14th victory against five losses.

Venturi Moves Into Insurance City Lead

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — U.S. Open champion Ken Venturi shot a sizzling 63, one-putting on 10 greens, to share the half-way lead of the Insurance City Open golf tournament Friday with Bert Yancey and Al Besselink.

They were deadlocked after two rounds at 133, nine under par for the Wethersfield Country Club course.

Yancey and Besselink each shot 67s to go with their first round 66.

Friday, he went out in 30, equalling the nine-hole PGA record for the 6,569-yard course. He toured the back nine in 33 to finish eight under par for the day.

Al Geiberger, Thursday's leader with a 64, had a 70 to tie Jim Ferree at 134. Ferree added a 68 to his first-day 66.

The 40-year-old Besselink said he had "the best two rounds I've ever played." He is back on the pro tour after a three-year absence because of illness.

Sam Carmichael followed Geiberger and Ferree with 135.

Sam Snead shot a 68 for a total of 137. Billy Casper, last year's winner, had a 69 for 138. Toronto's Al Balding also fired a 69 for 138.

Bobby Nichols, the PGA champion, shot a 70 and Julius Boros a 71 to finish among the 140 group.

Wilf Homenuik of Winnipeg ended the tournament's second day with 68-73—141, surviving the cutoff.

Fifty-one players came in below the two-round par total of 142. A total of 68 players survived the cut off, set at 144.

JOSE STABLE SCORES TKO

NEW YORK (AP) — Jose Stable, second-ranked welterweight contender from Oriente, Cuba, scored an eighth round technical knockout over Gabe Terronez of Fresno, Calif., Friday night in a scheduled 10-rounder at Madison Square Garden.

Stable, who weighed 149¼, stopped Terronez, 147½, at 2:19 of the eighth.

The end came when Stable landed a left hook to Terronez' jaw.

Officially it was called a TKO but Terronez was helpless on his feet. He did not even attempt to raise his arms.

Henley Regatta

St. Catherines Nearing Fourth Straight Victory

ST. CATHARINES, Ont. (CP) The St. Catharines Rowing Club all but sewed up its fourth consecutive Maple leaf Trophy Friday, adding another pair of victories in the third day of competition at the 82nd Royal Canadian Henley Regatta.

It was the sixth set of gold medals for St. Catharines crews at the 1964 Canadian Rowing Championships, and ran the host club's point total to 240.

That's 164 better than second-place Buffalo West Sides in the chase for the regatta points title. Toronto Argonauts are third with 65 points and the Detroit Boat Club fourth with 57½.

The Don Rowing Club of Port Credit, which also came up with a pair of victories Friday, holds down fifth spot with 55 points, five more than the Leander Boat Club of Hamilton.

St. Catharines scored in the junior 145-pound eight and junior 155-pound four while Dons won the junior 135-pound four and junior 145-pound coxswain four.

BIGGEST VICTORY

It remained for Toronto Argonauts to come up with the day's biggest sweep oar victory, the junior eights.

The win was Argos' first in crew since the 1957 Henley and marked a comeback for the Toronto Olympic eight-oared hopefuls who rowed a poor third in Tuesday trials here. Buffalo West Sides were second and St. Catharines third.

Argos clocked a slow 6:46.5 for the 2,000 metres, but all of Friday's rowing was into a stiff headwind which cut down on the times.

Argonaut prestige had a severe setback when Olympic sculler, Leif Gottfredson, was soundly beaten by 19-year-old Jeff Kreger of Wyandotte, Mich.

Kreger, finished three lengths up on Gottfredson in 7:59.4. The 19-year-old Cornell University freshman is a former two-time Canadian Henley high school singles champion.

B.C. CREWS WIN

Vancouver scored its first victory at the Henely in Friday's rowing, winning the senior coxswain four by a deck over Buffalo. The crew, stroked by Daryl Sturyd, was the stern four of the Olympic eight.

Vancouver clocked 7:10.5 in winning with a second Vancouver crew third and another West Side entry fourth.

The quarter-mile dash also went to Vancouver, the combined Vancouver-University of British Columbia crew, which will represent Canada at the Olympics, splashed home in 1:16 to best Argos junior eight by a deck. Vancouver's reserve eight was third, followed by a crew of St. Catharines lightweights.

The event did not count in the point standing.

Bill Willson and Tom Voss of Oyster Bay, N.Y., won the junior double while Bob Hardegan of Philadelphia Vespers came up with his second 1964 Henley medal in the senior 155-pound single. He won Wednesday's junior race.

The junior 145-pound single went to Richard Manno of Philadelphia Undines while Tom Kletcatsky took the senior 135-pound single for St. Paul's Minnesota Boat Club. Today's 15 senior finals will windup to this four-day 1964 regatta. Highlighting the event will be a visit to the course by Prime Minister Pearson, the first official visit by a Canadian prime minister in Henley history.

Ullman, Barkley Garner Clinic Coaching Honors

Norm Ullman and Doug Barkley got some measure of revenge on Johnny Bower for his Stanley Cup thievery when teams which they coached downed those handled by the Toronto netminder, in three straight games here Friday.

The action came as a windup to the first session of the International Hockey Clinic.

Main event of the evening saw Ullman's Red Wings score a dramatic come-from-behind victory over Bower's Maple Leafs in a contest which featured the clinic's all-stars.

Gord Christianson of Moose Jaw, Sask., paced the winners with three goals, including what turned out to be the winning marker, at 16:50 of the third period. Bill Clarke, of Edmonton and Moose Jaw's Jim Jobbling notched two goals apiece while Casey Ryan, from Grand Forks, North Dakota, and Bob Riddell, a Shaunavon, Sask., product, got singles.

Nelson's Reg Chernenko picked up two goals and an assist for the Leafs, as did Craig Condron of Spokane. Dave Piole, of Millbray, Calif., Ken Stuart of Moose Jaw and Larry McIntyre, a native of Uranium City, Sask., scored the others.

Maple Leafs vaulted into a 4-2 first period lead. The score was tied 5-5 at the end of the second.

Jobbling scored at the seven second mark of the third frame to put the Wings ahead but two goals, in quick succession by Chernenko and Condron gave the Leafs a 7-6 lead.

Then, at the 13:48 mark, Christianson polished off a three-way passing play from C. and P. Ryan to tie the count. He blasted home his third goal of the night, three minutes later, to put the men of Ullman out in front to stay.

Jobbling finished off the scoring with less than two minutes remaining.

In other hockey action, Barkley took back to back wins from the Maple Leaf great. His Black Hawks downed Bower's Rangers 7-5 paced by the three-goal performance of Ted Plow, of Williams Lake. He duplicated his coaching triumph shortly afterward when his Canadians dropped the Bruins 5-1.

All-star action continues tonight.

Junior Judo Members Get Weber Award

NATAL — The Natal Judo Club held its annual summer junior party in the Union Hall recently, an event which is usually held outdoors, but due to the inclement weather was held indoors this year.

Parents of the junior members were also in attendance.

Highlight of the evening was the presentation of the "Weber Proficiency Trophy." This award was presented to Stuart Gerny in the age group 11 to 15 years and to Brent Bloxham and Ronnie Rankin in the 10-and-under group. Each boy also received a small trophy to keep.

The club has ceased operations for the summer months and will reopen sessions during September.

Club members are now actively engaged in building a new room in which to continue with the classes. Owing to the sale of the store in which the club is now located, a new room had to be located and obtained. The members are building a room in the skating arena, which the Community Club has offered to the Judo Club.

MRS. A. STAGG PASSES AT 88

STOCKTON, Calif. (AP) — Mrs. Amos Alonzo Stagg, who knew more about football than most men, is dead at 88.

The spritely Stella, who married Stagg in 1894 and spent her honeymoon chaperoned by the travelling University of Chicago team, succumbed to kidney failure Wednesday.

Survivors include her husband, who will be 102 on Aug. 16, a daughter Mrs. Ruth S. Lauren of Chicago, and two sons, Amos Alonzo Jr., of Chicago, and Paul, athletic director at University of the Pacific in Stockton.

Mrs. Stagg, the former Stella Robertson, met her husband shortly after he became the first football coach at the University of Chicago in 1892. One of his first recollections of her was of a "scrappy girl who could play basketball under men's rules."

After their honeymoon on the train taking the Maroons east to play Stamford, Mrs. Stagg began helping her husband. She would chart games and make notes on practise sessions.

Funeral services will be held Saturday at 3 p.m. in B.C. Wallace and Son Chapel, Stockton, with burial at Parkview Cemetery.

Guillaume To Compete

VANCOUVER (CP) — Two of Canada's top athletes have announced their withdrawal from the British Columbia team competing in the Olympic preview track and field meet here Sept. 19.

Jana Lundy of Vancouver, Canada's best long jumper, said she will withdraw to give some other athlete a chance for the Olympic squad.

She is 14 and too young to be eligible for the Olympic squad. Her place will be filled by Jill Guillaume of Trail, another long-jump star.

The second athlete to withdraw is Burnaby's Dave Steen, holder of the Canadian shot put record. He is recovering from weakness caused by a bout with monomucleosis. His place will be filled by Vancouver's Helen Bezdeck, a shot put-discus star.

Warriors Dump Trail In Midsummer Game

ROSSLAND (CP) — Rossland Warriors scored three goals in the first period and went on to defeat Trail Smoke Eaters 5-3 in a midsummer hockey game played here, Friday.

Rossland scoring was spread between coach Harold Jones, Ed Legare, Alex Reid, Terry Brennan and Bill Martin.

Albert Merlo, Gerry Mussio and Gary Ferro counted for Trail. Mussio is a rookie, up from Spokane Gonzaga University.

Rossland had blasted four goals past Smoke Eater goaltender, Don Holmes before Merlo put the Trail club on the scoreboard at the 1:48 mark of the second frame. Trail made the score 4-2 on Mussio's goal late in the second period but Bill Martin put the game on ice when he scored from a goal-mouth scramble early in the third. Ferro notched the final Trail tally from the blue line at the 5:29 mark to round out the scoring.

Blames Singapore Riots On Malaysian Extremists

CP from AP-Reuters

SINGAPORE — Chinese and Malays fought for the fourth day in Singapore Friday, raising the official death toll to 19. But police said the racial clashes were getting smaller and less frequent.

More than a dozen new incidents occurred during the daily morning break in the curfew to permit food purchases, but police and troops quickly restored order and herded stragglers off the streets at gunpoint.

Another curfew break was scheduled for the afternoon.

Official casualty figures showed 197 injured since the riots began, but the unofficial count placed the injured at close to 400.

More than 1,400 persons, mostly curfew violators, have been arrested by the 7,000 police and combat troops trying to check the riots on the island.

Malay and Chinese headmen of various communities on the island met Thursday night. They agreed on temporary arrangements to restore order, but details were not available.

Lee Kuan Yew, state premier of Singapore who is of Chinese descent, blamed the riots on Malay extremists.

He warned that the clashes, which began during a Moslem religious procession Tuesday posed "a very grave development" to the future of the 10-month-old Federation of Malaysia unless steps were taken to stop it.

MARKET SAGS

NANAIMO (CP)—Production of oysters in June was down 60 per cent from the same month last year as exports to the United States stopped completely.

DIGGING A DINOSAUR

MARMARTH, N.D. (CP)—A team of University of North Dakota geologists is trying to dig up remains of an 80,000,000-year-old dinosaur in southwestern North Dakota. The partially exposed skeleton of an ancient triceratops was found 15 miles north of here in Slope County last summer by Charles I. Frye, a University of North Dakota geology graduate student who was mapping the area.

Present B.C. Gas Market Brief

VANCOUVER (CP)—The frequency of change in gas price levels and differentials within British Columbia in recent years suggests competitive market adaptations rather than anti-competitive agreements or understandings, the royal commission on gasoline prices was told Thursday.

The statement came from Stanford Research Institute, an independent research organization, which presented a brief to the commission which it had prepared for Imperial Oil Limited.

The brief said that Imperial Oil tends to be a "barometric" price leader in the smaller B.C. gasoline markets but there is no clear leadership pattern in the turbulent history of prices at major B.C. centres.

"NO LEADERSHIP"

"Retail prices in the major centres," said the brief, "which account for the bulk of gasoline sales within the province, show no clear leadership pattern and display rather an extreme instability indicative of strong and diverse competition forces."

The brief said that in 15 significant price changes involving Imperial Oil there were seven price increases and eight decreases in Vancouver gasoline marketing between 1959 and 1963. Of the seven increases, two had been based on changes in the level of retail gasoline taxes.

Shell Oil, said the brief, had successfully initiated two of the Vancouver price movements and Imperial had scored two successes and one failure. One attempt by B-A Oil to raise prices by a cent a gallon was not sustained.

"The remaining movement, and indeed the governing forces on price developments over the entire period, must be credited to independent marketers and discount stations," said the brief.

"A similar pattern of price adjustment in various directions and amounts, originating with different firms in the market, can be shown for other principal market areas in B.C.

"The Victoria area presents a record only slightly less turbulent than that of Vancouver. There has been a similar history in the Fraser Valley," the brief said.

Claim Heart Disease Begins in Childhood

By CARL MOLLINS

TORONTO (CP) — Heart disease, the biggest single killer of man, should be considered a prime problem of infancy and childhood because that is where it all begins, a Toronto doctor-researcher said Thursday.

The current practice of treating heart circulation problems as an adult concern is probably misguided because dietary treatment then may be too late, Dr. Walter S. Hartroft said at the fifth congress of the International Diabetes Federation.

More attention would be paid to childhood diet, he suggested, with unsaturated fats replacing much saturated fat—corn oil instead of butter, for example.

Dr. Hartroft, director of research at Toronto Hospital for Sick Children, said a current study at the hospital has shown telltale lesions in coronary blood vessels of babies one day old. The incidence of lesions increases steadily with age, he said.

Studies indicate the lesions result from cholesterol—a product of fat—in the blood, he said.

PEDIATRIC PROBLEM

"Atherosclerosis (disorders in blood vessels) and heart disease should be considered a pediatric problem in the same way that rheumatic heart disease has been," Dr. Hartroft said in an interview.

"You are going to have a better chance in the young to arrest or reverse the trouble through diet than in adults, where the lesions have already calcified (hardened).

"The fuss about the composition of fat (saturated versus unsaturated fats) in the diet of the adult may be closing the door after the horse has gone.

"If the evidence favoring polyunsaturates in the diet is good enough for the American Medical Association to recommend it to adults, then it is better or no worse for the diet of children," he said.

Dr. Hartroft has studied through autopsies some 300 children from a day old to 15 years old and found the incidence and severity of coronary artery lesions increased in intensity directly with age.

But he found no comparable deterioration of the blood vessels in the brain, indicating that cerebral atherosclerosis is a development of later life. Coronary atherosclerosis is a cause of heart attacks while its counterpart in the brain is a cause of stroke.

Dr. Hartroft, discussing control of blood-vessel lesions in childhood, added fuel to the controversy over the merits and dangers of cholesterol-high saturated fats and cholesterol-low unsaturated fats in the diet.

He found a low incidence of atherosclerosis in both diabetic and non-diabetic rats fed on diets with up to 40 per cent unsaturated fat by weight and a high incidence of the disorder in diabetic and non-diabetic rats whose diets were heavy on saturated fats. The diabetic rats in the latter group developed blood-vessel lesions sooner than the non-diabetics.

In addition, Dr. Hartroft found that the higher the proportion of unsaturated fat in the diet the lower the incidence and severity of cholesterol - caused lesions.

Pearson Discusses Malaysian Aid

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Pearson said Friday that aid to Malaysia will not involve the use of Canadian troops.

"The question of sending men is not involved," he told Opposition Leader Diefenbaker in response to questions about possible forms of Canadian assistance to the federation.

Mr. Diefenbaker asked for comment on a Canadian Press story that said Mr. Pearson strongly supports the idea of Commonwealth assistance for a member country.

The prime minister said that all Commonwealth members "affirmed their sympathy and support" to Malaysia during the recent prime ministers' conference in London. But he said it would be premature for him to indicate what form of assistance Canada might give to the federation to help it fend off the threat of aggression from Indonesia.

He assumed requests for assistance, which will be discussed when Prime Minister Tunku Abdul Rahman of Malaysia visits here next week, would involve defence supplies and assistance in training.

Mr. Pearson didn't reply directly to Mr. Diefenbaker's question as to whether Canada would be willing to provide gifts of "aircraft and the like."

Goldwater Asks Johnson Avoid Rights Issue in Campaign

WASHINGTON (AP)—Against a backdrop of harsh words, Republican presidential nominee Barry Goldwater talked with President Johnson Friday about steps "to avoid any inflating of trouble" over civil rights in the presidential campaign before the Nov. 3 general election.

"I don't want to exploit the campaign in any way that will cause disorder," the Arizona senator said Thursday night.

He talked with reporters just after he had voted against Johnson's $947,500,000 program to combat poverty. The Senate passed the bill 62 to 33. It now goes to the House of Representatives.

Goldwater said he is not going to propose a formal agreement with Johnson to keep the explosive side of civil rights out of politics in the months ahead. And he said he does not want to discuss the new civil rights law, which he opposed in the Senate.

What he wants, Goldwater said, is a "broad discussion on the campaign and what we both can do to avoid any inflating of trouble."

Goldwater said he will offer Johnson his ideas on what can be done to avert a civil rights blowup, and seek the president's thinking in return.

Goldwater sought the White House session.

HUDDLE OF ADVISERS

To prepare for it, he called a huddle of his research advisers for a discussion of the message he will carry to the president.

Goldwater has said he wants to give the civil rights law a chance to work, even though he voted against it on grounds its sections on public accommodations and equal employment are unconstitutional, and said it will take "the creation of a police state" to enforce the measure.

Goldwater has, in effect, dared Johnson to make an issue of civil rights. Hours before he won the Republican nomination, the Arizona senator said in San Francisco:

"Having opposed civil rights until this year, let him make an issue of it. I'll just repeat back to him the thousands of words he has spoken . . .

"Lyndon Johnson is the biggest faker in the United States," Goldwater added. "Let him make an issue of it. He's the phoniest individual that ever came around."

Despite his criticism of the new law, Goldwater has declared himself "unalterably opposed to discrimination of any sort," and has said he will not inject civil rights tensions into the campaign.

White House Press Secretary George Reedy said Johnson "would not do anything to incite or inflame tensions."

Three Negro leaders said they hope there won't be an agreement between Johnson and Goldwater to keep civil rights out of the campaign.

Dr. Martin Luther King, James Farmer of the Congress Of Racial Equality, and John Lewis of the student non-violent co-ordinating committee, are in Mississippi to boost the predominantly Negro Freedom Democratic party.

"It would be a real tragedy if the civil rights issue is kept out of the campaign," said Dr. King.

All three said they considered Goldwater "an unacceptable candidate."

"It is utterly impossible to keep civil rights out of the campaign," said Farmer, national director of C.O.R.E.

Lewis, SNCC's national director, said he felt the civil rights issue should go before the voters.

Cause of Diabetes Traced to Cavemen

By CARL MOLLINS

TORONTO (CP) — Modern man can probably blame his caveman ancestors for the present scourge of diabetes and its associated disorders.

Primitive man's body developed self-preserving characteristics that now tend to encourage the onset of diabetes and shorten the life of modern man, Dr. G. E. Cahill, Jr., of Boston said in an interview Thursday at the International Diabetic Federation congress.

On the other hand, if primitive man had not developed these diabetes - producing functions he probably would have gone the way of the dinosaur and we wouldn't be here today, with or without a proneness to diabetes.

Dr. Cahill, here to report on research dealing with the effects of insulin on the body, discussed theories about the evolution of diabetes during a general discussion of the disease.

The caveman, whose food supply was sporadic, had to learn how to fast for long periods. His bodily functions adapted to this demand by developing delicate mechanisms designed to direct sparse amounts of energy-producing glucose during a fast to the place it was needed most for survival, the brain.

BLOCKED GLUCOSE

The mechanisms thus blocked glucose from travelling wastefully to fat and muscle tissues, which could call on their own stored energy reserves.

The same mechanisms nowadays inhibit the transport of glucose to body tissues with insulin's help and when exaggerated cause diabetes. A process developed to deal with fasting conditions backfires in conditions of plenty.

What Dr. Cahill and others now are trying to determine is precisely how this mechanism works.

The Boston researcher has found that the insulin secreted by persons with an inherited predisposition to diabetes works differently on different body tissues, sometimes more effectively on fat than on muscle, for example.

Determining why this happens would help explain other baffling factors connected with the disease.

Valley Forge Scouts Visited by President

VALLEY FORGE, Pa. (AP)—President Johnson told 52,000 cheering boy scouts at Valley Forge that the U.S. government "exists to protect the freedom and enlarge the opportunities of every citizen" and thus should "not be feared or attacked."

The government, he said Thursday night, "is to be helped as long as it served the country well, and changed when it neglects its duty."

Although Johnson did not mention Senator Barry Goldwater, the Republican presidential candidate, by name, it appeared that he was taking this opportunity to renew his defence of the government against Goldwater's criticisms.

The Arizona senator has frequently charged that the federal government has grown too large and too centralized.

The president received a tumultuous reception when he arrived to help the scouts close their sixth national jamboree and receive their top Silver Buffalo Award for "distinguished service to boyhood."

Jay T. Leekley, 15-year-old life scout from Appleton, Wis., was killed by a bus when he darted out behind a parked car, apparently running to catch up with his troop marching to the giant arena.

He was the first scout to die accidentally at a jamboree since they were started in 1937.

More than 400 Canadian scouts attended the jamboree.

AUTO INDUSTRY EARNINGS REACH A RECORD HIGH

NEW YORK (AP)—The big three U.S. automakers are earning more money than ever before.

General Motors Corp. and Chrysler Corp. reported Thursday that profits and sales soared to record levels in the second quarter and first half of this year. Ford Motor Co. issued a similar report earlier in the week.

General Motors' sales and earnings were the highest ever reported by any company.

Its chairman, Frederic G. Donner, and president, John F. Gordon, attributed the surge to expansion in economic activity and resulting consumer confidence.

The big three's reports of great prosperity came while they were negotiating with the United Auto Workers on new labor contracts.

Ken Bannon, UAW Ford department director, said in Detroit:

"It is obvious that Ford's profitability makes it possible for the company to cut prices, give Ford workers and their families equity, and still provide generously for its stockholders and executives."

SHARE EARNINGS UP

General Motors earned $602,000,000, equal to $2.11 a share, in the three months ended June 30, compared with $464,000,000, or $1.62 a share, in the second quarter of 1963. The previous record was $536,000,000, or $1.87 a share, in the 1964 first quarter.

First half earnings of the No. 1 automaker totalled $1,138,000,000, or $3.98 a share, compared with $878,000,000, or $3.07 a share, in the 1963 first half, which was the previous record.

Sales totalled $5,082,000,000 in the 1964 second quarter against $4,516,000,000 a year earlier. First half sales of $9,868,000,000 compared with $8,663,000,00 in the 1963 first half, the former record.

World-wide factory sales totalled 1,873,626 vehicles in the second quarter and 3,648,359 in the first half. This was up from 1,646,747 and 3,158,62 in the previous comparable periods.

Chrysler, third ranking automaker, earned $60,600,000, equal to $1.61 a share, in the three months ended June 30 against $41,700,000, or $1.13 a share, a year earlier. First half earnings totalled $114,400,000, or $3.05 a share, compared with $77,900,000, or $2.11 a share, in the 1963 first half.

Chrysler sales in the second quarter rose to $1,071,000,000 from $890,000,000 a year earlier and in the first half $2,062,000,000 from $1,687,000,000.

World-wide sales in the first half totalled 93,643 vehicles, up from 738,292 a year earlier.

Ford's profits in the second quarter amounted to $179,700,000, equal to $1.63 a share, on sales of $2,672,000,000. This compares with $155,900,000, or $1.41 a share, on sales of $2,544,700,000.

In the first half, Ford's earnings were $324,000,000, or $2.93 a share, compared with $277,200,000, or $2.51 a share. Sales rose to $5,088,200,000 from $4,434,100,000.

DE GAULLE'S PROPOSALS MEET COLD DISAPPROVAL

By GARVEN HUDGINS

PARIS (AP) — President de Gaulle's call for an international conference to bring peace to Indochina and his new challenge to U.S. leadership of the West drew cold rebuffs Friday from Washington and West Germany.

U.S. officials brushed aside as wholly unacceptable de Gaulle's proposal for a new 14-nation conference — with the United States, Russia, Red China and France as the principals—to settle the woes of South and North Viet Nam, Laos and Cambodia.

Officials in Washington rejected de Gaulle's contention that a military solution in South Viet Nam is impossible. They said the United States cannot seriously consider another Indochina conference until a new military balance is created in South Viet Nam.

The French leader's sharp notification to Washington that its post-war dominance of the Western world had ended hardened the impression among U.S. diplomats that the rift between de Gaulle and the United States is beyond healing.

In Bonn, de Gaulle's reassertion of his design for an independent Europe based on French-West German political co-ordination also drew rejections.

INTEGRATED ALLIANCE

Officials in Chancellor Ludwig Erhard's government repeated their insistence that West German policy is based firmly on a closely integrated alliance with the United States and, ultimately, partnership between a unified Europe and America.

However, former Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, de Gaulle's co-architect of post-war French-West German co-operation, said he agreed with the French leader's statements regarding various changes in the world's political structure.

De Gaulle told his semi-annual press conference Thursday:

"The division of the world between two camps led by Washington and Moscow no longer corresponds to the new world situation.

"We must, however, maintain the alliance with America because in the North Atlantic, both Europe and America are mutually interested as long as the Soviet menace persists. But the reasons for our subordination to America are being eliminated one after the other."

NO SUBORDINATION

West German officials said "subordination" did not describe relations between Europe and the United States in the Atlantic Alliance.

U.S. officials were irritated by de Gaulle's likening of Western Europe's growing independence to the weakening of Soviet control over the Communist bloc. They said that while the Soviet Union followed a deliberate policy of centralized control of the Communist world, U.S. policy since the Second World War was dedicated to building up Western Europe to a position of partnership in the Atlantic community.

De Gaulle also complained that the French-West German Treaty of Co-operation he and Adenauer signed is not working because, he said, "West Germany does not yet believe that European policy, the policy of Europe, must be European and independent."

WORDS WILL BE USED

The London Times says these words would be used by Adenauer and other critics of Chancellor Erhard's foreign policy "as evidence that (Erhard) has destroyed the greatest achievement of his predecessor."

"They will say," The Times adds, "that he has thrown away Franco - German understanding in exchange for out-of-date subserviance to America and the mirage of a Europeanized Britain. This accusation, even if obviously overdrawn, is bound to have some effect."

The Frankfurt Allgemeine Zeitung says it was not true that West Germany does not believe European policies must be "European and independent."

"Europe must first grow together and become unified before it tries to develop such a policy," the independent paper says.

The London Daily Telegraph sees repercussions from de Gaulle's remarks in the United States as well as Europe and says the emergence of Senator Barry Goldwater as the Republican candidate for U.S. president has provided a rallying point for isolationist sentiment in the U.S.

"If Gen. de Gaulle wants alliance with the United States, he is asking for it in tones which many Americans will resent; and they may express their resentment by their votes in November," the Conservative paper says.

The Guardian comments that de Gaulle's press conference could not have been timed better if his purpose was to sow further doubts in Germany about her Atlantic Alliance commitment.

GREATLY DIFFERENT

"An Atlantic Alliance would be greatly different with Goldwater at the head of it. The thaw would be at an end in Europe and the rolling back of Communism—one is not sure how—would presumably begin.

"Dr. Adenauer might enjoy the prospect. Dr. Erhard, Dr. Schroeder, (West German Foreign Minister Gerhard Schroeder) and a large part of the German people would not. A forward policy in Europe such as the Goldwater platform promises would expose them to the first risks."

The Guardian says a share in the French nuclear force might seem a more attractive prospect to the Germans than a guarantee from the Americans since the emergence of Goldwater.

"The upheaval in foreign policy and military planning which his victory would entail is enough to upset German calculations.

"For that reason the Gaullist attraction must seem stronger than before."

The French press appears to agree that "nothing unexpected" on the Franco-German issue was said by de Gaulle.

Le Figaro sees the conference as a majestic triumph for de Gaulle and says his speech was "an extraordinary mixture from which neither hope nor disappointment were absent. . . ."

Intermingled in the conference were "dreams of grandeur and feelings of solitude," the newspaper says, pointing to the president's warning to Erhard and his "bitter description" of the American role in the Far East.
