B.C. Purchasing Commission Chairman Charged With Fraud

Cancer Society Executive Charged in Funds Theft

CALGARY (CP) — Robert Neville Talbot, 56, charged with theft of $100,000 from the Alberta division, Canadian Cancer Society, was remanded to Oct. 9 in magistrate's court Friday.

Talbot, executive director of the Alberta division, showed no emotion in his brief court appearance. He wore a topcoat and dark glasses, and was not represented by counsel.

Bail was set at $25,000 after Talbot reserved plea.

Police said the theft, which they believed was the largest recorded in the city, occurred over a period of approximately nine months, starting Jan. 1.

They said the theft occurred through manipulation of cheques issued to non-existent society employees supposedly hired to perform housekeeping duties for cancer patients.

Claudia Tennant of Lethbridge, president of the Alberta division, said she and other provincial executive members were unaware of the situation before Talbot's arrest Thursday.

"No one on the provincial executive had any indication of this," she said. "We are all deeply shocked."

Miss Tennant said she would call a meeting of the provincial board of directors as soon as possible. Representatives of the national executive would fly from Toronto to attend the meeting.

She noted all employees of the society are fully bonded.

Police said they were called after another society employee started a routine check of society payments. Records were seized after Talbot's arrest, and Miss Tennant flew to the city Thursday night.

Talbot, a society member since 1947, was required to issue cheques for services performed for the society in Alberta.

Police said several months of investigation would be required in Canada and the United States before details were known.

Society officials did not disclose Talbot's salary. Talbot is married, and has no children.

STANDIN CAMPAIGNER—Mrs. Christopher Soames, wife of the British agriculture minister and Sir Winston Churchill's youngest daughter, talks with George Wakeham during a campaign visit to the Old Folks Home in Sharnbrook, England. Johnson Pledges Peace Parley If He's Elected

By FRANK CORM ER

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson Friday promised to call a White House conference on peace in 1965—if he's elected.

"You can't be a statesman unless you get elected," Johnson told citizens who watched him sign a proclamation designating 1965 as International Co-operation Year.

The president said:

"If I am here—I'm speaking now politically and not physically—I intend next year . . . to call a White House conference to search, explore and thoroughly discuss every conceivable approach and avenue of co-operation that could lead to peace."

Johnson called on his listeners, who included a number of prominent Republicans, to dedicate themselves to the cause of co-operation and peace as "the assignment of the century."

But he said that if they take his advice, they can expect to be labelled idealists, crackpots or worse than that by some people.

"Some may say you're soft or hard and don't know what things are all about," he said.

Senator Barry Goldwater has charged that the president is "soft on communism."

GAVE NO DETAILS

Johnson gave no details on the planned White House conference. Such sessions normally bring together prominent private citizens to discuss problems and topics of major concern under official auspices. The role of conferees on such occasions has been advisory.

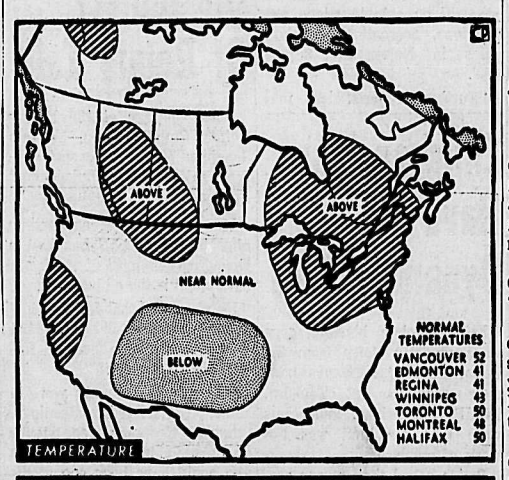
Johnson said he is excited about trying to promote peace and hopes his commission on heart disease, cancer and stroke can come up with some remedies "so we can all live beyond 100 and participate."

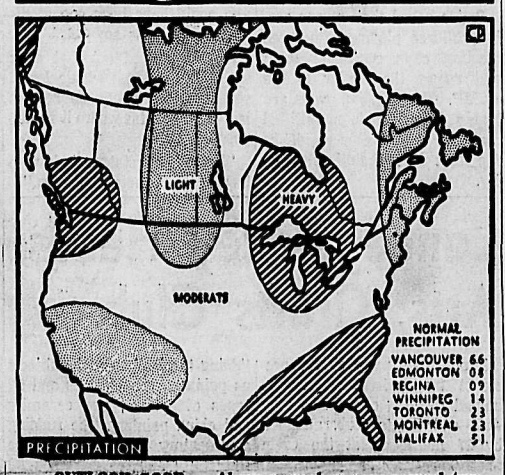
As he signed the proclamation carrying out a United Nations recommendation that member countries observe International Co - operation Year, Johnson summoned several well-known Republicans to stand behind him for a photo. When some of them hesitated, he exclaimed, "I'm not going to use this on a billboard—come on."

So up walked Henry Cabot Lodge, the 1960 Republican vice-presidential candidate and former ambassador to South Viet Nam; Christian Herter, secretary of state in the Eisenhower administration; and James J. Wadsworth, U.S. representative at the United Nations during the early Eisenhower years.

ALCOHOL A FACTOR

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Aviation Agency said Thursday that among more than 470 private pilots killed in flying accidents in the United States last year, a significant number showed evidence of alcohol in the bloodstream. Dr. M. S. White, federal air surgeon, said the FAA obtained autopsies on one-third of all the pilots killed in light plane accidents. "We found the presence of alcohol in significant amounts in the blood of over 35 per cent of these—56 of 158," White said.





OUTLOOK GOOD — Above normal or near normal temperatures are forecast for most of Canada during October. The 30-day outlook from the United Statse Weather Bureau indicates the only exception will be the eastern part of Newfoundland and Labrador where the readings will be below normal. Precipitation is expected to be heavy in most of Ontario and the southern half of British Columbia. The outlook is not a specific forecast and changes in weather pattern may occur. (CP Newsmap).

Victoria Car Firm Official Also Arrested

VICTORIA (CP)—Acting on orders from the B.C. attorney-general's department, RCMP arrested the chairman of the government's purchasing commission Friday and charged him under a section of the Criminal Code dealing with "frauds upon the government."

Friday afternoon the provincial cabinet, in an emergency session ordered that the 53-year-old chairman, George E. P. Jones, be relieved of all duties "until further order."

The police also arrested an official of a Victoria car firm, alleging he gave a benefit accepted by the chairman. Both were remanded to next Tuesday on $2,000 bail each.

Jones is alleged to have accepted a Dodge convertible at a price below cost from Pacific Chrysler Products Limited.

George Hankinson, managing director of the now-defunct firm, is accused of providing Jones with the car without the consent of the government.

Jones, commission chairman since 1956, also is charged with letting the car firm forgive $1,577 he had owed on purchase of another car.

The charges allege the offences took place last Oct. 30 and Feb. 7. They also state that Pacific Chrysler was a firm which did business with the government.

RCMP said they had been investigating the case for some time. Attorney-General Robert Bonner said the charges were laid on instructions from his department.

Both Jones and Hankinson were arrested in their offices.

Charges against the two were laid under the same section of the Criminal Code used to convict Robert Sommers, a former B.C. forests minister sentenced to five years in prison in 1958.

Sommers was found guilty of conspiracy to accept bribes and on five specific charges of accepting bribes.

Other members of the three-*man purchasing commis*sion are R. G. McKee, deputy forests minister, and Arnold Webb, deputy works minister.

Thousands Flee Before Might Of Hurricane

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Hurricane Hilda drove its terrifying 130-mile-an-hour winds late Friday toward a Louisiana Gulf coast from which more than 125,000 persons had fled.

The massive storm churned northward through a raging Gulf of Mexico at a sluggist six m.p.h. It appeared to be shifting east just enough to cause concern to sprawling, below-sea-level New Orleans.

Refugees from Hilda's expected fury choked roads leading north. Many carried their pets along, leaving a string of abandoned, ghost cities in Louisiana's Cajun country.

Frank G. Spiess, acting state civil defence director, estimated 125,600 persons had left the low-lying coastal areas with the count not yet complete. It was probably the largest mass evacuation in the history of Louisiana.

As Hilda ploughed north, uncertain of its exact land target, *more than 1,000,000 South Lou*isianians kept a constant watch on its progress.

The U.S. weather bureau's early evening advisory put the giant centre of the hurricane about 225 miles southwest of New Orleans.

Hilda's swirling top winds slacked off from 150 to 130 m.p.h. but the forecasters said she was only catching her breath.

Inland shelters were rapidly filling beyond capacity as refugees from the coastal marshlands checked in.

Two special Missiouri Pacific trains from New Orleans packed 3,400 persons aboard 90 boxcars at Franklin and carted them north to Red Cross shelters at Lafayette.

Cowboys herded cattle north out of Cameron parish, where 1957 Hurricane Audrey killed 500 people and 35,000 head of stock.

Gov. John J. McKeithen ordered national guardsmen and civil defence forces "to check and double check" to make cer*tain Louisiana's coastal areas* were 100 per cent evacuated ahead of Hilda.

Out of Jail, Daniel Does It Again

OTTAWA (CP) — Daniel O'Connell, a 62 - year - old transient, has done it again.

On Friday—for the 70th-odd time—he was convicted of breaking into the Dominican Fathers monastery here.

Magistrate Joachim Sauve sent him to jail for eight months — guaranteeing Daniel food and shelter over the winter.

Daniel has baffled police *for years. He's been exam*ined by psychiatrists and social workers but no one has been able to determine why he heads for the monastery like a homing pigeon every time he completes a sentence.

B.C.-Yukon Merger Proposal "Serious"

VICTORIA (CP)—Premier W. A. C. Bennett has described his proposal that the Yukon enter a political merger with British Columbia as "a serious suggestion."

The premier told a press conference Friday he made the proposal at the recent B.C.-Alaska - Yukon conference in Whitehorse, Y.T., because "there is no real development in the Yukon."

The last two federal governments had said they favor northern development but hadn't done anything about it.

"Mr. Diefenbaker talked of northern vision but it was only high-sounding words — no vision."

The present government at Ottawa talked about co-operative federalism "yet it has no national highway program, let alone other national policies."

Mr. Bennett saw the Yukon as having only three choices: to remain as it is ("under remote control by Ottawa—'I'd gather hardly any are satisfied with that"); to become a new province ("it hasn't the tax base needed by a province"); or to join B.C. ("the logical choice").

He renewed his pledge to embark immediately on a $300,000,000 road-building program in the Far North if the merger takes place.

Declaring there should be an early plebiscite on his proposal, the premier said an affirmative vote would lead to union "within three to five years."

"Let's stop talking about northern vision and start northern action."

Joint Catholic, Protestant Bible Translation Proposed

By JOHN ORAN

VATICAN C TY (Reuters)—Proposals for Roman Catholic and Protestant scholars to work together on joint translations of the Bible came before the Vatican ecumenical council Friday.

Bishop Jan Van Dodewaard of Haarlem, Holland, a member of the council's theology commission, presented the sixth chapter of a draft decree on divine relation—how God reveals himself to Christians in the bible and in other ways.

He said this chapter, which will be debated next week, recommended that accurate translations of the Bible should be made in various languages.

Where possible, they should be produced as "common effort without separated brethren," so they could be used by all Christians.

Theologians later told a press briefing such "common Bible" projects were already under way in Germany, the Netherlands, Tanganyika, Ceylon and Ugnda.

PUBLISH VERSION

A Roman Catholic version of the Protestant revised standard version of the Bible has already appeared in Britain and will soon be published in the United States.

But experts pointed out that the council draft decree was proposing something different—that Roman Catholics and other Christians should work together on joint translations.

Meanwhile two cardinals clashed at the council Friday on how the Bible should be interpreted by modern scholars.

Behind their opposing views lay a new movement of scripture study which has been taken up with enthusiasm by many Roman Catholic scholars —using archaeology, textual criticism, philogy, historical research, and other ancient Sem*itic texts to dig deeper into the* Bible's meaning.

'TOO MUCH FREEDOM'

"The "conservative" archbishop of Palermo, Sicily, Ernesto Cardinal Ruffini, told the 2,200 council fathers the text gave "too much freedom" to Biblical commentators and research scholars.

A leading "progressive" council member, Archbishop of Vienna, Franziskus Cardinal Koenig replied that modern science had opened new doors to understanding the Bible.

Koenix pointed out there were geographical and historical mistakes in the Bible, but this did not weaken the authority of scripture. It showed, he said, that God used the authors of the Bible despite their human defects.

Quebec Terrorists Move To Foment Demonstrations

MONTREAL (CP)—A terrorist Front de Liberation Quebec*ois news shet advises support*ers to greet the Queen in Quebec City with a forceful, it not violent, demonstration.

La Cognee (The Hatchet), a mimeographed pamphlet distributed in the thousands, said in its Aug. 29 issue separatist failed to prevent the Oct. 10-11 visit by peaceful protests so should aim at "creating a riot or putting on a show of force."

Anti-terrorist police forces have been aware the news sheet has been circulated for seven months but can't find the authors or their machines. They have seized several thousand copies of La Cognee in raids.

The issue concentrated on agitator tactics, including distribution of bricks, stones and eggs to demonstrators and what to do in case the police open fire.

However, La Cognee made no mention of harming the Queen. A police spokesman in Montreal said the sheet is being examined to determine whether there has been any breach of the Criminal Code.

REVEALS PLANNING

"This sheet is part of their revolutionary methods and we'd be crazy not to find out everything about it," he added. Police found La Cognee was valuable, giving them indications of what the FLQ is doing, thinking and planning.

The terrorist group, organized in cells, has not been held responsible for any violence in the province since police broke up a ring last year following six weeks of dynamite blasts in the Montreal area.

One person was killed in the terrorist blasts and another severely wounded.

The Aug. 29 issue instructed all FLQ supporters "who have no specific instructions" to take part in Rassemblement pour l'Independance and Front Republicain pour l'Independance separatist group demonstrations to protest the royal visit.

It claimed cases of arms have been stolen on the Montreal waterfront recently but that authorities have kept this hidden from the public. A Montreal police spokesman said he was unaware of any such thefts.

*The FLQ pamphlet said agi*tators should concentrate the attention of the crowd on a specific target and said this was done in the 1962 Montreal demonstration against CNR President Donald Gordon. The article said the crowd was instructed to attack the doors of the Queen Elizabeth Hotel.

"The individual plunged into a demonstration is an irrational being dominated by his passions, needing only a spark to set off his aggressiveness and lead him to unscrupulous acts and transgressions," La Cognee said. It advised the agitator to control the spark for his own ends.

Survivors Seen After Airliner Crashes in Sea

From AP-Reuters

MADRID (CP) — A four-engine airliner with 80 persons aboard plunged into the Mediterranean off the southeast coast of Spain Friday, U.S. and Spanish military sources reported.

Radio reports from the scene indicated that there might be some survivors.

The DC-6, operated by the French Union des Transports Aeriens (Union of Air Transports—UTA), left Paris Thursday night on a flight to Nouakchott, capital of Mauritania. The plane carried 73 passengers and a crew of seven, the line said.

The U.S.-Spanish air base at Moron said it had received ra*dio reports from the French* air-sea rescue service that survivors had been sighted amid wreckage 45 miles south of Mazarron, a town near the Mediterranean port of Cartagena.

These reports also said an unidentified British tanker picked up 20 bodies from the sea. Spanish naval craft searched the area. The Spanish air ministry confirmed the reports.

Hoover Warns Protection Plans Could Introduce Gestapo Tactics

WASHINGTON (AP) — FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover was quoted Friday as expressing deep concern that "we don't become hysterical and go too far in setting safeguards for the U.S. president's safety.

The Washington Evening Star said he gave as an example to the Warren commission a visit to Chicago by President Johnson which Hoover said resulted in several people who belong to subversive organizations being placed "almost in house arrest" by local authorities eager to cooperate with the U.S. secret service.

Hoover cautioned that absolute safeguards for the president are impossible without establishing police state or using Gestapo tactics. He also was said to have revealed to the commission existence of a U.S. state department document *indicating that Lee Har*vey Oswald, the slain assassin of President John F. Kennedy, was a safe risk and had changed his mind about communism.

In a copyrighted story, the Star said the commission has not made Hoover's testimony public. But the newspaper said it had obtained a transcript.

CRITICIZED FB

The commission's report issued Monday referred to Hoover's testimony and criticized the FBI as taking "an unduly restrictive view of its role in preventive intelligence work" before Kennedy's assassination. The report suggested that the FBI should have told the secret service of Oswald's presence in Dallas before Kennedy's visit.

While the FBI has not commented on this, officials of the agency have indicated they take the criticism bitterly.

Hoover's testimony as reported by The Star stressed that none of the FBI information about Oswald indicated any tendency toward violence.

The state department report on Oswald, Hoover said, was based on an interview with Oswald by the U.S. embassy in Moscow before he returned to the United States. The document indicated Oswald "was a loyal man now and had seen the light of day," Hoover told the commission.

'DEDICATED COMMUNIST'

He added that there is no doubt in his mind that Oswald was a dedicated Communist.

The FBI head said he is "not very happy" about the new criteria for furnishing the secret service names of potential risks, about 10,000 subversives and extremists. The previous lists were limited to potential killers or those who might exert violence.

Progress of Canada Held Back —Jodoin

REGINA (CP) — Claude Jodoin, president of the Canadian Labor Congress, said Friday night opponents of progressive labor legislation are impeding Canada's progress as an industrial nation.

He spoke at a Saskatchewan Federation of Labor banquet held to give formal recognition to the progress achieved by the former CCF provincial government in the field of labor legislation.

Quebec Voters To Cast Ballots in Four Byelections

By CY FOX

MONTREAL (CP)—The fight by Quebec's new solicitor - general for a seat in the legislative assembly and a Liberal bid to displace the opposition Union Nationale from a seat it now holds promise to capture the major share of attention in four provincial byelections Monday.

A total of 125,495 voters are eligible to go to the polls in the contests which result from the deaths of three assembly members and the appointment of a fourth to the legislative council, Quebec's upper house.

The Liberals, headed by Premier Jean Lesage, hve 59 of the 95 assembly sets. The mier Nationalt has 30 and there is one independent member.

In Montreal - Verdun, who has promised a crackdown in crime in the province, is running against Arthur Therrien of the Union Nationale and an independent, Henri Paquet, for the seat formerly held by Liberal George O'Reilly.

Marcel Blais seeks to retain Dorchester won for Union Nationale in 1962 by the late Joseph Nadeau. He is opposed by Liberal Francis O'Farrell and Bernard Dumont, an inde*pendent Creditiste.*

In Saguenay, Liberal Pierre Maltais opposes Ernest Bruyere, Union Nationale, for the seat won in 1962 by the late Rodrigue Thibeault, Liberal.

In Matane, the government has Jacques Bernier, seeking to hold the seat won in 1962 by the Late Joseph-Philippe Castonguay. His opponents are Jean Blanchet, Union Nationale, and Onesime Canuel, an independent.

East Kootenay Lake Residents Protest Mail Service Change

Residents of the Kootenay Bay area have sent a letter to Ottawa protesting a proposed change in the mail service.

The letter to H. W. Herridge, MP for Kootenay West, said that starting Nov. 1, "the present excellent mail service will be discontinued and a sub-contract let for carrying mail from Creston to Riondel to serve lake points.

"In effect," the letter continued, "this will mean that mail to or from Nelson will have to go via Creston and lose 24 hours. Insufficient time will be allowed for answering letters and mailing out again the same day.

"The change in the route of the mail truck will give the excuse for reducing our winter ferry service still further. We understand that the highways department is already considering withdrawal of the 12 p.m. and 2 a.m. ferries. In this case no one will be able to attend any functions, recreations or shoppings in Nelson after 8 p.m. PST.

"Further repercussions may occur if our present freight truck service is deprived of the express which could be carried by a local mail contractor between Creston and Riondel.

"We fell that while most parts of the Kootenay are enjoying a progressive economy, our section along the lake is lagging more and more behind, largely due to withdrawal of these vital public services."

Earlier, the letter referred to loss of Greyhound bus service last year in protesting "continual withdrawal of public services in this area."

Children May Have Stolen Dynamite Caps

Fifty electric blasting caps were recently stolen from the Department of Highways powder magazine at Taghum, RCMP said Friday. Indications were that the theft was the work of children.

Police asked that anyone seeing children playing with these blasting caps confiscate them and report the matter to the RCMP. The blasting caps are highly dangerous in unqualified hands as the ycan be set off by the least dose of static electricity.

Oil Subject Of Rotary Talk

Guest speaker at the Friday Rotary Club luncheon, Kenneth Jennings of Calgary, spoke on the subject, "The Independent Approach to the Oil Business."

Mr. Jennings, an ex-wartime pilot in the USAAF has had a varied career, most of which has been spent in the oil business.

He remarked that fortunes had been made in the oil business but at the same time greater fortunes had been lost.

"It might interest you to know," remarked Mr. Jennings, "that the Kootenay area, but for an upheaval millions of years ago could have been one of the largest oil fields anywhere."

He als pointed out that even with all modern geological and seismological inventions no one is ever sure oil is where it is supposed to be.

"Luck," he stated, "plays a large part in the oil business."

$20,000 Objective Set By Community Chest

An objective of more than $20,000 has been set for the annual Nelson and District Community Chest drive which gets under way Monday and continues all next week. R. C. Hawes is campaign chairman.

W. K. Gunn, executive secretary, expects this year's total to exceed the amount pledged last year, and encourages all those contacted to give as generously as possible.

"We will have as many as 108 volunteer canvassers in the field this year and many others will continue to contact the local businessmen."

Each year this organization, dedicated to aiding the blind, the sick, the needy and youth, canvasses the Nelson and district area in order to raise money to support 23 different agencies.

Literature and brochures are being distributed today to the volunteer workers by the local campaign committee plus identification tags and pledge cheque blanks. Most volunteers are members of the agencies.

National welfare agencies are the Canadian National Institute for the Blind, Crippled Children (Lions Club), Cerebral Palsy Association, B.C. Cancer Society, Multiple Sclerosis Society, St. John Ambulance Association, Crippled Children's Hospital, B.C. Borstal Association, Canadian Arthritis and Rheumatism Society and Mental Health Association.

Local and District agencies which benefit from the fund drive are the Ladies' Auxiliary to the Royal Canadian Legion, Women's Auxiliary to Kootenay Lake General Hospital, Hospital Auxiliary, Mount St. Francis, Soroptimist Club (Children's Ward) and Nelson Ministerial Association Relief Fund.

Local and District Youth Organizations are Camp Lourdes, Camp Koolaree, Camp Galilee, Kootenay Pentecostal Camp, Nelson Boy Scouts Association, Girl Guides Association, Navy League of Canada, and the Air Cadet League of Canada.

Castlegar Resident Dies

A long time Castlegar and district resident, Mrs. Elaine Sherstobitoff, wife of Nick G. Sherstobitoff, died in Kootenay Lake General Hospital Thursday evening, aged 58.

Born in Canora, Sask., in 1906, she came to Brilliant with her family in 1919. She was married in 1922 in Brilliant and lived there for a few years before moving to Raspberry Village, near Castlegar, where she had resided since.

Besides her husband, she is survived by two sons, Mike and Nick, both of Castlegar; two daughters, Mrs. Peter (Polly) Kalmakoff, of Shoreacres and Mrs. Jack (Verna) Voykin of Passmore; her stepmother, Mrs. Polly Koftinoff and her her half-brother, Peter Koftinoff, both of Manteca, California and ten grandchildren.

In the Courts

Frank R. Smith of Nelson was convicted in provincial court before Magistrate William Evans with driving without due care and attention.

RCMP officer giving evidence stated that Smith's car passed two other cars and collided with another. Smith was fined $100 and costs and had drivers licence was suspended for six months.

In family court, a juvenile was charged with speeding and fined $25 and costs when he appeared before judge William Evans.

Odette Tharrien of Nelson was convicted in city court with failing to yield right of way. She pleaded not guilty. Upon being found guilty by Magistrate Evans she was fined $25 and costs.

Mrs. Cursons Laid at Rest

Funeral services were held Friday afternoon in the Thompson Funeral Home for Mrs. Pearl Cursons, who died Monday in Lister, aged 79, Ven. Archdeacon F. D. Wyatt officiating.

Hymns were "The Old Rugged Cross" and "Abide With Me." Organist was Mrs. W. A. Manson.

Pallbearers were Elwood McGregor, Thomas Imming, Clarence Ward, Horace Ward, Robert Walton and F. C. Stewart. Interment followed in the IOOF Plot, Nelson Memorial Park.

Cominco To Build Plant in U.S.

MONTREAL (CP) — Consolidated mining and smelting reported Friday construction will start immediately on a $20,000,000 fertilizer plant in southeastern Nebraska by Cominco Products, Inc., of Spokane, Wash., a subsidiary of the parent company.

The plant will produce granular ammonium nitrate and ammonium nitrate solution. It will also market aqua and anhydrous ammonia.

F. E. Burney, president of the company, said the plant is scheduled to be ready in late 1965.

Deer licence sales in Ontario increased to 120,599 in 1963 from less than 4,000 in 1899.

Lance Stacey Heads Arts, Crafts Club

Lance Stacey was elected president by acclamation at the annual meeting of the Kootenay Arts and Crafts Club, attended by 27 members, at the Civic Centre.

Other officers elected were Mrs. Dorothy Draper, vice-president; Mrs. Edith Edgar, treasurer; Mrs. Marita Bright, secretary; Mrs. Rose Bradshaw, publicity.

Conveners appointed were:

Mrs. Gwen Marquis, ceramics paints and supplies; Mrs. Stacey, clay for group participation; L. Stacey, graphics; Mrs. Edgar, painting supplies.

Last year the club met once a week, but because of the popularity of the ceramics the activities have been expanded to two nights this year, so will accommodate painters and graphics on Monday evenings and ceramics and pottery on Wednesday.

Three clinics have been proposed for this year, one having already been held Sept. 20, 21 and 22. This was a successful painting clinic under Bev Harris of Windermere and 22 painters responded to his tuition.

Two more will be held with dates to be set. These will be conducted by Miss Anne Farrell, a local post graduate student. One will cover the graphic arts and the other ceramics and pottery.

Once a month, slide lectures from the University of Alberta will be shown to members. The slides cover a wide range of information and actual pictures of "doing the job" on such subjects as painting, graphic arts and all types of pottery, and ceramics and china painting. The running commentary is provided by the University and the Club has its choice of a range of subjects. These will also be shown to the Procter group.

In the future the club anticipates an Artists' Jamboree. Taking its cut from the UBC group of student artists and architects brought in each year and housed at the Civic Centre the Jamboree would last three or four days. With approximately 20 in a group and a leader and travelling by bus or car, painting and field trips could be undertaken. This process of learning from each other and comparing results is proving to be a popular one in art circles.

In reviewing the year of 1963, it was noted that in November an interesting talk was enjoyed by the members given by Rev. Father Monaghan on paintings of the Madonna by Raphael. He illustrated his address by various prints of the beautiful oils which he has collected from time to time.

Two films were shown in January, depicting the use of cassein paints.

In April a good many of the ceramics group travelled to Metaline Falls, Wash., where a clini cin ceramic painting was held

The combined efforts of painters and ceramists culminated in the Club's Exhibition in April when the results of the year were shown to the public at the Civic Centre. Early in May the painting group with 10 present gathered for a field trip to Taghum and painting clinic under Mr. Harris at the Civic Centre.

During the swearing in ceremony of the new Chief Constable I didn't recognize the city's finest dressed in civvies. Just goes to prove that looks are deceptive.

* * *

One of my financial accomplices informs me that over $10 million is sitting in our city banks in personal savings. Not bad for a small town.

Have you ever wondered where city council members vanish to so rapidly after council concludes its business? So I hear they congregate in the rear of a downtown restaurant for a cup of coffee. Must sneak in there one night and see what the score is around the table.

TO MY MANY FRIENDS . . .

As of October 1st, I am no longer associated with David P. Fairbanks, Architect, and I wish to thank you for your courtesies and your confidence during the last 17 years.

Sincerely,

ART MORTON.

Expect Firm Teams To Bid on Duncan

VANCOUVER (CP) — The Province, Vancouver's morning newspaper, predicts tenders on the Duncan Lake dam to be opened Tuesday will include bids from at least two major consortiums "and perhaps one or two Italian firms."

The newspaper says the consortium sponsors include Mannix Co. Ltd. of Calgary and John Laing and Son (Canada) Ltd. of Vancouver, whose parent company is based in England.

It says a number of large U S construction firms may be teaming up with Canadian firms.

Bids from Italian construction firms are "expected," the newspaper says. Specifications on the first of the Columbia River Treaty dam projects in B.C. were taken out by the Italian Economic Corp., a bank, on behalf of clients.

The B.C. Hydro and Power Authority has estimated the cost of Duncan Lake dam at $38,800,000, a figure believed to include other than construction costs.

The dam site is 60 miles north of Nelson on the Duncan River in the B.C. Kootenay area. It will take the form of a 6,700,000-cubic-yard earthfill wall 2,600 feet long nd 120 feet high. a

The dam will control a 925-square-mile drainage area and hold back a 28-mile-long reservoir. The dam must be completed by April 1, 1968, by which time work will be in progress on the High Arrow and Mica Creek dams.

UNEMPLOYMENT PICTURE IMPROVES — The number of unemployed in Canada in mid-August was estimated at 247,000, down 18,000 from mid-July and 23,000 lower than in mid-August, 1963. The Dominion Bureau of Statistics and federal department of labor estimated the jobless total at 3.4 per cent of the labor force, the lowest mid-August unemployment rate since the boom year of 1957. The jobless rate in July was 3.7 per cent and in August last year it was 3.8 per cent. Seasonally adjusted, the rate was 4.8 per cent, down from 5.4 per cent a year ago. Graph shows monthly totals, including persons without jobs and looking for work, and those on temporary layoff. (CP Newsmap).

MARKET

By THE CANAD AN PRESS

Prices were higher and trading was active on the Canadian bond market this week.

Day-to-day money increased to $258,000,000 from $203,000,000 last week. The day rate was 3½ per cent, down ⅛.

The long-term government of Canada market was strong with the 5¼ per cent of 1990 closing at 99 to 100.

The provincial market featured Quebec Autoroutes which closed at 101 to 101½, up about a point on the week.

Corporate issues were firm with good offerings scarce. Trans-Canada Pipe Lines five-per-cent, due Dec. 1, 1989 closed at 121 to 121½, up two points on the week.

Thursday's treasury bill tender showed a decline in yield, with 91-day bills selling at 3.73 per cent and 182-day bills selling at 3.55 per cent.

The municipal market was active with a good anumber of new issues being well received.

WILL HOLD MEETING

NEW DELHI (Reuters) — Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri said Thursday he will hold an informal meeting with Pakistan President Mohammed Ayub Khan Oct. 12. The Indian news agency, Press Trust of India, said the talks would not be "in the nature of a summit meeting," but Shastri has said he would like to discuss Indo-Pakistani relations with Khan.

DEATHS SET RECORD

CHICAGO (AP) — Traffic deaths in the United States smashed records for any single month ini August and for the first eight months of any year. The National Safety Council said Thursday the August toll of 4,870 broke the one-month record of 4,410 set in July this year. The August total brought traffic deaths for the first eight months of 1964 to 30,500. The previous eight-month record of 27,320 was set last year.

SEEK SHORTER WEEK

OTTAWA (CP) — The Civil Service Association of Canada meets here Oct. 5-9 to consider 344 resolutions. Resolutions ask for a work-week cut to 35 hours (it's now 37½ to 40 for classified employees), a four-day week, extra pay for bilingualism, addition of Boxing Day and Jan. 2 as statutory holidays, and an extra day off when an employee's wife has a baby.

Site Here, Make It Attractive For Industry, Cranbrook Told

CRANBROOK — Cranbrook is in a good position for future industrial expansion, according to Minister of Trade and Industry Ralph Loffmark, who spoke to local businessmen on a recent visit to the city.

The meeting was sponsored by the Cranbrook Chamber of Commerce.

Mr. Loffmark said that one of the prime problems in the establishment of industry was industrial sites. "In B.C. there are four main areas with suitable sites, the Lower Mainland, Peace River, Prince George and East Kootenay with Cranbrook as the centre," declared the minister.

Industry looks for level land, raw materials, power services and freight facilities.

A most important matter that Cranbrook should be considering said Mr. Loffmark, is the availability of prime power at competitive rates with the rest of the province. "You should get your industrial committee working on this right now," he declared.

Cranbrook and East Kootenay is also high on the priority list of the department for a complete economic survey. Number one area is the Peace River, followed by East Kootenay.

INDUSTRIAL COMPLEX

Development of the Peace and Columbia power, combined with Cominco producing steel in Kimberley, could, he felt, create an industrial complex in this area.

With this development in mind, Mr. Loffmark suggested that the land picture becomes most important as far as attracting industry is concerned.

"Land should be available at fair and reasonable prices," he pointed out.

He suggested that the municipality give some thought to acquiring land and subdividing it into serviced industrial lots. This would give a selling point to industry and prevent land speculation.

This had been carried out most successfully by B.C. Hydro in Langley and by the PGE in Prince George, he stated.

Mr. Loffmark also had words of caution in respect to zoning bylaws. "Council members should thrash out zoning bylaws and come up with something that makes it easy and reasonable for industry to establish.

"No company wants to come in and have its public image harmed by being placed in the middle of a zoning bylaw fight."

The minister offered the Cranbrook Industrial Committee the full co-operation of his department in any type of endeavor from the preparation of an industrial brochure to direct assistance with establishing specific industries in the area.

Soil Testing Final Move Before Call For Work Tenders

WARFIELD— Final soil samples have been taken this week in a preliminary move toward calling tenders for the proposed water system and paving program.

Dr. V. S. Pendakur and Carl Corcoran were in Warfield this week to prepare for the $145,000 improvement scheme, for which tenders will be opened October 15.

Actual construction would commence at the beginning of November to coincide with the start of the winter works program. It is expected to be completed in the spring "within the limits set by the winter works progarm," said village clerk John Murray.

"POMPADOUR"—The French Leather Industries style show in Paris featured this all-suede copy of an 18th century costume called "Madame Pompadour."

Paish Scores Gov't for Lack of Information on Reservoir Plans

CRANBROOK — East Kootenay Wildlife Association is continuing its fight for provincial government action on clearing of the proposed Libby Dam reservoir project, part of the overall Columbia River power and water storage development.

Howard Paish, past president of the association, complained at a meeting of East and West Kootenay wildlife associations about lack of provincial government information available regarding its plans for the Canadian side of the reservoir which will extend some 40 miles into Canadian territory.

He told the meeting that the American Army Corps of Engineers has already made known to the public its clearing plans, and the B.C. government should be doing the same.

Mr. Paish stressed the importance of studies that should be made to determine the effects of the project on wildlife in the area, and the need for adequate compensation for loss of potential recreational facilities when the land is flooded.

TOO LITTLE FROM ARDA

Mr. Paish also claimed B.C. is not getting full benefits from the federally sponsored ARDA scheme. He said that B.C. had the least number of ARDA projects of all the provinces.

Earlier at the meeting, D. J. Robertson, of the provincial fish and game branch, stated that his department had received $25,000 under the ARDA plan for land use and soil development studies in East Kootenay, Prince George, Quesnel, and Vanderhoof areas. The money will be used in the coming year.

Mr. Paish claimed that the total value of the six ARDA projects in this province was less than one million dollars, and that five of the projects were designed solely for agricultural purposes. Other provinces are receiving much more for recreational development, Mr. Paish said.

Inquiry Ordered Into Kinnaird Man's Death

CASTLEGAR — Funeral service was held in Trail Monday for a 60-year-old Kinnaird man, Rudolph Gabana, who was found dead in the bush about 1½ miles from his home early Friday evening. An inquiry into the death will be held.

Mr. Gabana had gone out hunting and when he did not arrive back at suppertime a neighbor, Sam Babakaiff at the urging of Mrs. Gabana, started a search.

Mr. Gabana's car was found about 1½ miles out on the Kinnaird-Christina Lake highway and the dead man was discovered about 100 yards from the car on a bush trail.

RCMP say he died from a shotgun wound to the head. A 12-gauge shotgun was found near the body and foul play is not suspected.

The RCMP have completed their investigation and coroner Dr. J. R. Harrigan of Trail has ordered an inquiry, although the date for it has not yet been set.

Mr. Gabana was born in Italy and arrived in Trail in 1920. In 1933 he returned to Italy to marry his wife, Elizabeth. They moved from Trail to Kinnaird in 1955. He was employed by the Municipality of Tadanac as a road foreman.

Mr. Gabana was a member of the Cristoforo Columbo Lodge.

He was predeceased by a brother, Antonio, and is survived by his wife, Elizabeth, a sister-in-law, Mrs. A. Gabana of Trail and three nephews.

Mass of solemn requiem was said at St. Anthony's Church Monday.

Interment followed in Mountain View Cemetery.

Cost Sharing Same As for School Costs

CRANBROOK — Cost sharing for construction of the proposed new hospital should be the same as for school costs.

This point has been agreed upon between the two parties involved, Rocky Mountain Hospital Improvement District trustees, representing unorganized area included in the Cranbrook and District Hospital Society, and Cranbrook city council.

This breaks down into 62.94 per cent responsibility and 37.06 district.

Rough estimate of the proposed new hospital cost equipped and furnished is slightly under $3 million. After provincial and federal grants and other special sources, local financial responsibility is about $1300 and this is the amount city and district will vote on the basis of the percentage sharing.

Providing BCHIS approves the preliminary planning and cost estimate, the money bylaws on 20-year debentures could come before Cranbrook and district voters on annual municipal election day the first week in December.

Scholarship Given by Lodge On Anniversary

KINNAIRD — A scholarship award and presentation to work with handicapped children highlighted a social evening marking the third anniversary of Nordic Lodge No. 76 held in Nordic Hall at Kinnaird.

Allan Johnston of Kinnaird, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Johnston, was presented with a $50 scholarship. He is presently studying in grade 13 and plans to make engineering his career.

Mrs. Fitzpatrick received a cheque to aid in her work with handicapped children. The money for this project was received from Varden Junior Lodge of New Westminster as proceeds from an entertainment presented in Kinnaird Hall. The presentation was made by G. Selvig, who was in charge of their visit.

A Norwegian silver tray was presented to Mrs. Maisie Zinio in recognition of her interest and leadership in the teaching of folk dances and music to the junior dance groups.

Social director Mrs. Kardaal was in charge of the program for the evening.

Here Are Suggestions For The Centennial Committee

As the Nelson Centennial Club seems to be having difficulties in arriving at decisions regarding the Centenntial project, here are some suggestions to assist them in reaching a rapid conclusion.

Our first suggestion is that Centennial funds be allocated to the endowment of a Teachers' Education Library at Notre Dame University. The education faculty is seriously hampered in its program by the lack of sufficient literature. This endowment could be known as the "Nelson Centennial Endowment".

The library would be used in furthering education of badly needed teachers whether attending Notre Dame University or otherwise.

Secondly, the Centennial funds could be utilized to endow one or even two major science laboratories at the university. This project could be completed for approximately $60,000, which is not an unreasonable figure compared to the suggestion for construction of a $250,000 indoor heated swimming pool, which will eventually cost the taxpayers money to run ad infinitum.

With the ever-increasing student enrollment at Notre Dame University, the Board of Governors will be faced with an accommodation problem. Funds could be used to partially endow a new students' residence. If not wholly, then a substantial part. A stipulation could be that the premises be named "Nelson Centennial Hall".

These suggestions are worthy of serious consideration. When the university enrollment attains the 1000-mark Nelson will benefit economically. Even today the student buying power is large. The university payroll is now in the region of $350,000, and it may be assumed that most of this finds its way into our merchants' cash registers.

During the last Centennial Club meeting, a suggestion was made that the electorate be responsible for choosing the final Centennial year project. We disagree. Why should the electorate have to decide this question? What do we have a Centennial Club for, if not to provide a decision?

If the Centennial Club decides to build a swimming pool, why not construct one in or adjacent to the high school? This would ensure its continued use on a continuing basis. Maybe the Department of Education would provide some financial backing, which would eliminate additional funds being sought from public participation.

The Nelson Centennial Club can provide a lasting monument to our Canadian Centennial Year, but they will have to forego the departmentalized concept of operations which has been much in evidence at the various meetings held so far. They should learn to work as a team. Then results will be forthcoming.

How Do You Feel About Boys With Long Hair?

One of the comforting aspects of British civilization, to which we can turn when puzzled by our own, is the refusal of the British to become excited by matters that would leave our own citizenry running.

When we have topless bathing suits or zoot suits or Madison Avenue suits, we immediately begin worrying about the phenomenon or phenomena and doing so in public. We wring our hands. We call on psychiatrists for psychiatric studies. We view with considerable alarm, and we do it all publicly. The British? Not they.

We learn now how many British girls have snipped off their winsome locks and how many young men have let their hair grow during the summer months. The result has been what they hoped it would be—girls and boys look alike and sometimes parents and friends cannot tell them apart when the blue jeans are on.

Not long ago, one American tourist from Kansas stopped a young person in London and, addressing the young person as Miss, asked the way to a post office. The Miss turned out to be a Young Mister. He was wearing a bright pink shirt and tight trousers that looked like slacks. He wore long brown hair that skimmed along his collar like a Mary Martin hairdo for Peter Pan.

But the British refuse, as a rule, to get excited. Oh, there are incidents. In Stratton the other day three long-haired schoolboys were ordered to tie up their flowing locks with yellow ribbons into pony tails. Their teacher noted that if they wanted to look like girls they must tie up the hair with ribbons.

Neolithic Thought

Dr. Gerald Hawkins of the Harvard-Smithsonian Observatory reports that Stonehenge, that mysterious circular group of huge standing stones in Wiltshire, England, is nothing less than the remains of a gigantic neolithic computer.

After several months of intensive study in which he employed modern electronic devices to verify his findings, the professor is convinced that the builders of Stonehenge not only knew all about the sun but possessed an even greater knowledge of the far more complex motions of the moon.

Stonehenge, he found, could have been used some 34 or more centuries ago to calculate where the midwinter and midsummer moon would rise and set; it could have kept track of the sun and moon at the spring and autumn equinox, and above all it could have been used to predict eclipses of both sun and moon, up to 300 years ahead.

According to Dr. Hawkins the builders of Stonehenge understood the complicated motions of the moon. The midwinter moon does not rise at the same point on the horizon every year. In fact, it oscillates — taking about eighteen and two-thirds years to return to the same point — and solar and lunar eclipses tend to follow the same cycle.

It is now clear, he says, that Stonehenge is built up on this cycle, or more precisely, on the number 56, which is three times eighteen and two-thirds. For instance, outside the main stone circles there is a ring of 56 pits called the Aubrey holes. Until now no one knew their purpose, but now, thanks to Dr. Hawkins, they are revealed as a kind of measuring device for orienting Stonehenge so that its users could keep track of the movements of the sun and moon.

Dr. Hawkins' discovery that our stone-age forefathers were possessed of such advanced intelligence will provide much thought for those of us living at a time when so many of the world's leaders seem not only convinced that the earth is flat, but that it is in the main peopled by squares.

ART AUCTIONEER TRIPS OVER $9000 DOORSTEP TREASURE

By EDDY GILMORE

LONDON (AP) — An expert from Sotheby and Company—perhaps the world's greatest art auctioneers — tripped over an object as he was leaving a London residence.

"I'm terribly sorry," apologized the owner of the house. "It's that wretched doorstop again. . . ."

A. J. B. Kiddell, the man from Sotheby's, righted himself, turned in the shadowed gloom of the old mansion, stopped and studied the chunk of something that had almost up-ended him.

"What is it?" he asked.

"Don't rightly know," was the reply. "Just something we've used for years as a doorstop."

"Doorstop?" commented Kiddell as he lifted the object from the floor, moved into a better light, and turned it over in his hands. "Unless I'm mistaken your doorstop is a Ming jade buffalo."

At a Sotheby auction a few months later it sold for £6000 ($18,000).

On another occasion Sotheby's Fred Rose journeyed to Berkeley Castle to look over the silver. At the end of his inspection he asked if there were anything more to see.

"Only the dinner service," he was told.

"Is it of interest?" asked Rose.

"Not really," he was told. It's valued at only £3000 ($9000).

REJECTED OFFER

Appraised by Sotheby's a few days afterwards, it was identified as pre - revolutionary French dinner service.

Hearing about it, a collector offered the owners £50,000 ($150,000). Greatly tempted, the owners wanted to sell, but Sotheby's talked them into rejecting the offer and putting it up for auction.

They agreed and the auction was held on June 16, 1960.

The French government—anxious to retrieve such a national heirloom — bid £206,000 ($618,000) for the glittering array of table hardware.

The French government didn't get it, though.

Shipping magnate Stavros Niarchos raised the bidding to £207,000 ($621,000) and it was knocked down to him.

Magnanimously, Niarchos announced he would will it to France. In the meantime he will, presumably, eat off it.

Sotheby and Company can relate dozens of cases in which its experts, many of them surprisingly young, have set owners straight on the real value of art objects.

The people with whom the auctioneers deal are by no means confined to the titled or the wealthy.

A shabby old man once walked into the premises with a painting wrapped in a rumpled piece of brown paper.

Unwrapping his parcel, he asked:

"Is this worth a fiver ($15)?"

QUICK JUDGMENT

At that moment a director entered the room and gave a quick judgment, saying:

"Good heavens, sir, you have an early Samuel Palmer there."

"I know it's a Samuel Palmer," replied the elderly caller. "He gave it to my grandmother. What I want to know is it worth a fiver?"

Sotheby's auctioned it off for the man. It brought £5600 ($16,800).

Art and literary auction sales —said to be a Dutch invention —were introduced into England in 1676.

The first auctions were of books, and were mostly held by dealers, who discovered by degrees that consignments imported from the European continent could be disposed of more advantageously by competitive public sale than through ordinary retail outlets.

In 1744, a man named Samuel Baker is believed to have held the first of continuous series of sales, which made him the first professional book and art auctioneer.

Baker took in a partner, George Leigh, in 1767 and shortly afterwards retired, leaving his gavel to the business. When Baker died, his newphew, John Sotheby joined the firm.

John was the first of three generations of Sothebys, who among them carried on the company for nearly a century and stamped the firm with the name which has become an international talisman in the fine art world.

It's become known around the world despite the fact that a large number of persons still have difficulty in pronouncing it.

Correctly, it should be said in three syllables—Soth—er—bee.

RETAINED THE NAME

The last of the Sothebys died in 1861, but the successors—as is often the way in England—retained the name.

Sotheby's has moved through wars, fires and progress to a gross of $36,000,000 for the 1963-64 season.

Despite the astronomical prices brought by some objects, of the 54,000 lots of stuff auctioned during the 1962-63 season, 13,000 objects were bought for £100 ($300)—or less.

The moving figure behind Sotheby's is its chairman, Peter Wilson.

Wilson and nine other directors own it.

At the age of 51, Wilson must be the world's champion off-loader, an elegant auctioneer, the possessor of the fastest gavel in the west.

"You must dominate your audience—but inconspicuously," he explains. "You must be serious, not flippant, and believe in the object you're selling. Selling pictures is a cross between working in a gambling casino and an art museum."

Interpreting the News

China: State of Transformation

By BORIS MISKEW
Canadian Press Staff Writer

The war-weary face of China has assumed in the last 15 years the disciplined expression of a confident totalitarian state bent on entering the nuclear age.

The revolutionary government of Mao Tse-tung lifted China, the world's biggest country by population, from decades of economic strife and impotency, and transformed her into a land with a strong centralized administration capable of looking after her own affairs.

China has achieved this status in a relatively short period despite political isolation from many countries, including Canada and the United States, who have refused to recognize the Communist Chinese government.

IMPERIALIST PREY

The prey of imperialist powers in the 19th century, China herself now has emerged as a potential imperialist power and one that is increasingly attempting to spread her influence throughout Asia, Africa and even Latin America.

Statements by Paul Martin, Canada's external affairs minister, and by U.S. State Secretary Dean Rusk, that China will soon explode a nuclear device will no doubt reduce the element of surprise when the actual blast takes place.

Chinese sources in Peking, however, termed the statements a fabrication "without root of leaves" although Washington is understood to have been aware for some time that the Chinese are about ready to release a nuclear explosion.

China so far has been able neither to solve her food shortage nor build a powerful industrial machine but she has made respectable strides that have caught the attention of a number of Asian lands.

CHINESE INFLUENCE

Chinese attempts to cast her influence among non-aligned nations of the world are being watched, and checked where possible, by the United States, while the Soviet Union has gone out of its way to let the Chinese know that they will not receive the backing of Russia in any reckless adventures.

But, as the Soviet - Chinese ideological struggle continues, often silently, and the Americans try to decide whether to pull out of South Viet Nam or to engage the Chinese-backed North Vietnamese in total war, the Chinese influence continues to spread.

A nuclear explosion would certainly bolster Chinese influence as China joins the so-called nuclear club, though it would take a number of years before China is able to build up a nuclear arsenal.

Perhaps by that time the Chinese government will be represented in the United Nations, where such issues as arms control and the outlawing of nuclear weapons can be considered.

Yachtsmen Bothered by Torpedoes

HALIFAX (CP) — Yachtsmen sailing on Bedford Basin are occasionally treated to an unusual spectacle.

If they happen to be present at the right moment, they may see a torpedo break the surface and shoot straight up in the air before falling back with a splash.

First impressions might suggest an effort to launch an underwater missile is being made.

In fact, it's an experiment by the Naval Research Establishment to study hydrodynamic characteristics of moving underwater bodies.

A torpedo is hauled down tail-first to the bottom of the basin by means of a cable secured to a concrete - block anchor. Empty except for a small instrument package, it rises free to the surface 20 feet above when the cable is let go.

The torpedo has a speed of more than 30 knots by the time it clears the surface and continues some distance into the air.

During the torpedo's ascent through the water the instruments record, for later computer programming, the drag exerted by the water. The flight into the air yields little information but does offer entertainment for spectators who may never have seen a torpedo, let alone one going straight up.

American Way of Life Amazes Cubans

By RENNIE AIRTH

HAVANA (Reuters) — Cubans continue to cling—at least on the surface — to the American style of living.

Visitors to Cuba are amazed to see how American culture, tastes and customs still dominate the Cuban scene, now more than five years after Castro came to power.

Baseball is still the national sport with the premier one of the country's most ardent fans.

Cubans still follow the results of the major leagues in the United States and such baseball heroes as Mickey Mantle, Willie Mays and Sandy Koufax are household names.

The ubiquitous Coca Cola bottle is still in evidence in Cuba—though seldom filled with Coke.

Orangeade, lemonade and a soft drink made from apples are sold in the bottles and occasionally liquid which resembles Coca Cola in appearance, but hardly in taste.

Restaurants and snack bars sell hamburgers and hot dogs and hotel guests are still asked if they want their coffee "Cubano" or "Americano."

U.S. INFLUENCE

Although the American influence is greatly reduced in the cultural world, the vestiges enjoy extraordinary popularity with the people.

A 12-year-old American film will draw packed audiences for weeks while the newest products of Russian, Czechoslovak and Polish film studios play to half-empty theatres.

Similarly, favorite films of television viewers are American productions of the 1930s and the war years which are repeated interminably on late night shows and seem to be rapidly acquiring the status of folk legends.

Cubans have seen, for example, the John Huston masterpiece Treasure of Sierra Madre 15 times, will sit through it happily a 16th time and tell anyone who cares to listen exactly what is going to happen next.

American jazz and pop music is still most popular and singers such as Frank Sinatra, Ella Fitzgerald and Peggy Lee are much admired.

Airline Has Enviable Safety Plan

SYDNEY, Australia (Reuters)—Australia's airlines claim they have the best safety record of any country in the world.

The record shows that there have been only 36 deaths in 13 years, or less than three fatalities a year.

"Safety on the wing" is the airlines' motto. This was emphasized recently when American-built turbo-prop Electra, a mainstay of the Australian air transport system, became suspect for a few days.

Government inspectors grounded one plane because of cracks in the upper skin of an Electra wing. The "cracks" finally proved to be merely minute corrosion marks.

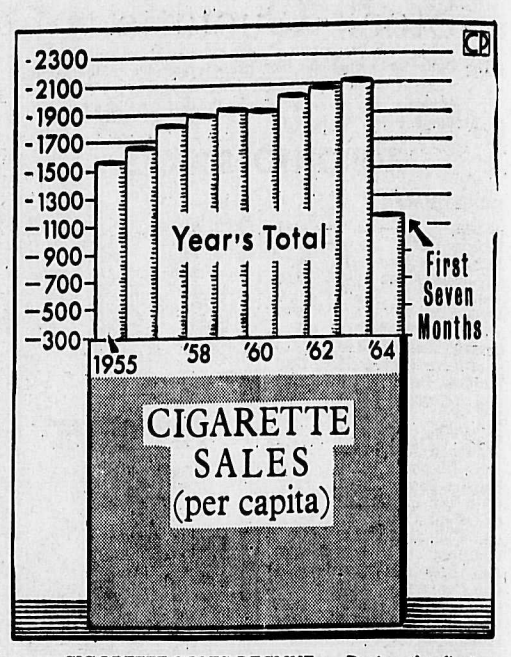
The incident indicated that no aircraft flying in Australia can ever really grow old.

As each component becomes worn or "tired," it is replaced with another, under the rigid scrutiny of department of civil aviation engineers, recognized to be among the most exacting in the world.

MUST REPLACE

Every component, whether it is worn or not, must be replaced after a certain number of hours.

All passenger aircraft flying in Australia undergo regular inspections, but at set intervals they are taken into hangars for major overhauls during which they are stripped down to a skeleton and meticulously checked.



CIGARETTE SALES DECLINE — During the first seven months of 1964, per capita sales of cigarettes in Canada showed a decline. Figures at July 31, based on the purchase of excise tax stamps by manufacturers, indicate sales of 1,174 cigarettes a person for the period. Sales were estimated at 146 per capita in July compared with about 208 in June and about 172 in May. Per capita sales to the end of July, 1964, were lower than the half-year level, in 1963. — (CP Newsmap)

Englishmen Protest Obstructed Landscape

By DOUG MARSHALL

LONDON (CP) — Stark, 160-foot-high steel pylons are beginning to stalk across England's green and pleasant land.

And every Englishman who ever heard a cuckoo sing or cherished a glimpse of golden daffodils is writing protesting letters to government ministers, local councils, the Central Electricity Generating Board and, of course, The Times.

At the centre of this storm is the electricity board's disarmingly charming chairman, Sir Christopher Hinton. Hinton says he was born in the age of oil lamps and is perfectly willing to go out that way.

"But my wife wouldn't care much for having to trim oil lamps every day," he adds, putting the convenience-versus-beauty problem in a neon-lit nutshell.

WILL REDUCE COST

The protests are prompted by plans for a new 400,000-volt network of electrical transmission lines—called the "super-grid"—to be superimposed on Britain's already extensive grid system.

By forming direct links between groups of generating stations and areas with a high demand for electricity, the super-grid system will considerably reduce the cost of ordinary electric power.

But unfortunately many of the power lines and their ugly five - to - a - mile pylon supports will be forced to march across national parks and areas designated as being of outstanding natural beauty.

Some of the areas affected are the rolling South Downs, the Chiltern and Cotswold Hills and the south coast of Devon and Cornwall. Naturalists deplore the prospect of having historic views — some barely changed from Chaucer's day—punctured by garish symbols of the 20th century.

Hinton counters with the argument that Britain's grid systems are a cheaper and pleasanter way of conducting power than hauling tons of coal by rail.

INSULATING PROBLEMS

Moreover the power lines mean the smokey, coal-powered generating stations that provide most of Britain's electricity can be sited far away from urban areas. Even when the nuclear power stations are fully developed, he says, people will want them far away from where they live.

Why can't the cables go underground? Because of insulating problems, the cost would soar—to about £1,182,000 a mile for underground cables from the current &54,000 a mile for pylon cables.

So it seems that despite the anguish of the outdoor-lovers, the new super - grid will go ahead. Even with their hatred of central heating, Britons still like to turn on an electric heater in winter.

And Sir Christopher believes that some day tradition-loving Britons will come to treasure their pylons for their aesthetic and historic value. He has already submitted one of his latest pylon designs to the Royal Fine Art Commission.

All 39 persons aboard an American Overseas Airlines plane were killed 18 years ago today—in 1946—when it crashed into Hare Hill, near Stephenville, Nfld. At that time it was the worst civil aviation disaster in U.S. history. The plane was bound for Shannon, Ireland, from New York when it crashed 10 minutes after takeoff from Harmon Field, Nfld., where it had refuelled.

One Million Books To Fill Libraries

LONDON (CP) — A scheme that has provided more than 1,000,000 books for parts of the Commonwealth badly in need of library facilities has won praise from the Duke of Edinburgh, who calls it a "tremendous achievement."

In his message of congratulation to the Ranfurly Commonwealth book scheme sponsored by the English-Speaking Union, of which he is president, Prince Philip added:

"I want to send my thanks and congratulations to all the children and grown-ups in Britain, Canada, Australia and New Zealand who have collected and given books to this scheme. Their generosity has made this scheme a practical possibility, but I must also pay a tribute to those who redistribute the books overseas according to local needs and standards of education.

"I very much hope that this scheme will grow and flourish with the years. This voluntary effort has an immense practical value to education in many Commonwealth countries but it is also a most effective way of bringing many people of the Commonwealth into contact with each other and so strengthening the Commonwealth idea all over the world."

The scheme, which collects, sorts, packs, ships and distributes books of all kinds—free of charge — particularly children's books, classics and textbooks — was started by the Countess of Ranfurly in 1959. She found that a shortage of reading material in many underdeveloped parts of the Commonwealth was limiting education and leading to illiteracy.

All nine Canadian branches of the English-Speaking Union participated in the book-gathering scheme. They are in Montreal, Ottawa, Toronto, Hamilton, Quebec City, Vancouver, Victoria, Winnipeg and Wellington, Ont.

Montreal branch in particular was singled out as being "specially active" in the scheme by a spokesman for the English-Speaking Union in London. "Whatever anybody else does, Montreal always seems to do that little bit better," the official said.

Eastern Canadian Writers Win Top Press Club Awards

WINNIPEG (CP)—The Canadian Women's Press Club Thursday announced prizes and medals to six writers in the annual members' Memorial Awards competition.

First place in the column category went to Dulce Waller of The Hamilton Spectator for a column entitled Jaimie about a little boy living in an institution whose mother never kept a promise to take him home for Christmas. Miss Waller also won honorable mention in that category and in the news category.

Phyllis Griffith of The Toronto Telegram won the news category for her story The Strange Disappearance of the Willowdale Widow.

Other winers:

Features — Celine Legare, Montreal La Patrie.

Canadian Topic — Michelle Lasnier, Chatelaine French Edition.

Fashions—Kay Rowe, Brandon Sun.

Best Women's Page — Zoe Bieler, Montreal Star.

Honorable mentions:

News—Dorothy Howarth, Toronto Telegram, and Miss Waller.

Features — Patricia Young, Vancouver, for an article in Chatelaine and Dorothy Eber, Toronto, for an article in The Star Weekly.

Column—Pat Pearce, Montreal Star, and Miss Waller.

Canadian Topic — Anne Francis, Ottawa, and Jean Sweet, Saint John Telegraph-Journal.

RESIDING IN NELSON, Mr. and Mrs. Darrell Trevor Penny were united in marriage at Fairview United Church, with Rev. Peter W. Faris officiating. The bride is the former Heather Georgina Esawaloff, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Esawaloff of the North Shore, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Penny of Bonnington. The bride was supported by her sister, Linda Gayle May, and her cousin Wendy Fardoe of Winnipeg. The bridegroom's twin brother, Dennis, supported him as best man and ushers were Mr. Brian Wallace of Revelstoke and Mr. Ron Marshall of Bonnington. A reception was held at the North Shore Hall, where the wedding cake was cut by the aunt of the bride, Mrs. D. Lawrence of Vancouver, assisted by another aunt, Mrs. E. Fardoe of Winnipeg. One hundred guests gathered to congratulate the newlyweds. Master of ceremonies was Mr. C. Westwood.

Out of town guests included Mr. and Mrs. H. Golz of Merritt, B.C., Mr. and Mrs. W. Wallace of Revelstoke, Mr. and Mrs. G. Pike of Montreal, Mr. Alex Stewart of Vancouver, Mr. and Mrs. D. Lawrence of Vancouver, Mr. and Mrs. F. Fardoe of Winnipeg, Miss Dana Disney of Kelowna, Mrs. F. Smith of Edmonton, Mr. and Mrs. J. Stevens of Calgary, Mrs. A. McCann of Yorkton, Sask.

Former Nelson Man Wed at Grand Forks

Of wide interest in Nelson is the recent wedding ceremony which took place at St. John's United Church in Grand Forks when Mr. Donn Ashley Livingstone, son of Mrs. J. S. Livingstone of Nelson and the late Mr. Livingstone, took as his bride the former Margaret Ann (Marnie) Campbell. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. Kenneth Campbell of Trail.

Rev. Glen Betts officiated.

Baskets of summer flowers were placed at the church entrance and baskets of white gladioli, pink roses and dahlias graced the altar for the recent ceremony. Mrs. John Lancaster was organist and she accompanied Mrs. George Small who sang "O Love That Casts Out Fear."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was lovely in a chantilly lace gown designed with lily-point steeves. The fitted bodice was fashioned with scalloped neckline, etched with pearls and sequins, while the full hooped skirt was enhanced by bustle back outlined with tulle roses. Her shoulder-length illusion veil was secured by a pearl and sequin tiara and she held a heart-shaped bouquet of pink roses complemented by white daisies, stephanotis and blue cornflowers.

SOMETHING OLD

The bride wore a pearl necklace, gift from the groom, and carried a 150-year-old handkerchief for the traditional "something old."

Bridal attendants were Mrs. W. L. Workman, matron of honor, and sisters of the principals Miss Kathleen Campbell, Miss Patricia Campbell and Miss Joy Livingstone, bridesmaids.

Their floor-length Empire line gowns of soft pink dacron batiste were worn with pleated brim hats of self-material pinned with a tiny corsage of blue cornflowers in back. They carried nosegays of pink carnations, white daisies and blue cornflowers.

The groom chose Mr. W. Workman of Dawson Creek as best man. Mr. Guy Sexsmith of Vancouver, Mr. Ted Kardera of Victoria and Mr. Tom D'Aquino of Trail, ushered guests to pews marked by white gladioli and pink bows.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Campbell had chosen a mauve sheer over satin ensemble with accessories en tone. Mrs. Livingstone was attired in a rose-beige lace jacket-dress with matching accessories.

Mr. Bert Riley, close friend of the family, proposed the bridal toast at the reception held in the Sacred Heart Church hall.

HEIRLOOM CLOTH

A rose-covered bride's cake flanked by white tapers and summer flowers graced the bride's table, while the three-tier wedding cake was placed on a small table covered with an heirloom linen and lace cloth from Ireland. Following the first cut by the bride and groom, the cake was cut by Mrs. H. P. Hamilton and served by Miss Esme Rothman, Miss Nancy Wright, Miss Sandra Maber and Miss Kirsti Heinrichson. Pourers were the bride's aunts Mrs. W. H. Ashbury of Sooke and Miss Helen Campbell of Grand Forks.

Master of ceremonies was Mr. Workman and messages of congratulations from Brussels, London, Halifax, Victoria, Vancouver, Saskatoon, Keremeos and Trail were read. Miss Roz Izumi was in charge of the guest book.

For a wedding trip to Banff and Vancouver Island, the bride donned a grey tailored wool dress with red trim, accessorized in white.

Mr. and Mrs. Livingstone will reside in Vancouver. The bride is a 1964 UBC graduate in pharmacy, while the groom is in his final year of medicine at UBC.

Out - of - town guests included Mr. and Mrs. W. V. Riley, Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Sexsmith, Miss Elissa Sexsmith, Mr. and Mrs. Len Wright, Miss Nancy Wright, Bruce Wright, Mrs. Frank Willis, Mr. and Mrs. Eric Heinrichson and family, Mrs. S. Fingarson, Mr. and Mrs. G. Sexsmith, Mr. and Mrs. E. Kardera, Mr. and Mrs. K. Bull, Mr. and Mrs. A. McLarty, Mr. and Mrs. R. Mansfield, Mr. and Mrs. A. MacLean, Vancouver; Mrs. Ashbury, Rev. and Mrs. John Lancaster, Sooke; Mr. and Mrs. T. Henniker, Gibsons; Mr. and Mrs. Saul Rothman and family, Kimberley; Mr. and Mrs. B. Bradford and family, Riondel; Mr. K. Nixon, Cranbrook; Mr. George Nixon, Miss Glenda Yates, Commerce, Texas, as well as many friends from Trail and Nelson.

Hints From Heloise

By Heloise Cruse

Dear Heloise:

Here is a hint that is well worth the time it takes.

Take two crib sheets and sew them together like a pillow case and slip it over the crib mattress.

Baby cannot get the sheet up around and over his head.

My daughter found this very helpful with her baby.

Mrs. A. J. McMullen.

Old sheets could be utilized this way too. Try making big, big pillowslips for that light - weight baby mattress.

And thanks, grandmother for passing that along.

Heloise.

* * *

Dear Heloise:

Even with the modern kitchen equipment, I still like to use my hand-beater occasionally. But, as you know, beating anything in a bowl will cause splashes.

I solved this problem by taking a plastic bowl cover large enough to fit over the bowl, make a hole in the centre, and inserting the beater. The elastic around the edge of the cover will keep it in place and you can beat away with no more splashes.

Harriet Wilson.

* * *

Know what? This also works with an electric beater! Just make the hole oblong and larger.

Harriet, you are a honey to tell us this one. Lots easier to wash the cover than the wall . . .

Heloise.

* * *

Dear Heloise:

A short cut to clean and really gleaming crystal chandeliers and crystal candlesticks with prisms (usually so time-consuming to clean), is to unhook each piece and put them carefully in the automatic dishwasher in the basket where the table silver goes. I've tried this and will never wash prisms any other way.

Mrs. Stuart J. Goldberg.

* * *

Or, wrap teardrop pieces carefully in nylon net and place in the dishwasher. This will prevent the prisms bouncing out of the basket or rubbing against each other and scratching or chipping.

Heloise.

Dear Heloise:

I hope I am not too late in answering about shrunken draperies.

A few months ago a friend gave me four pair of draperies which she could not use because they had shrunk and were too short for her windows. I made cafe curtains out of them and when my friend saw them she said she wished she had thought of that idea. But I'm glad she didn't!

Maybe this idea will help others.

Rosena.

Dear Heloise:

I always felt it was a waste to throw out small pieces of soap. I made a pocket of a thin sponge by folding it over, sewed it with a needle and thread around two sides (use a square or oblong sponge), and slipped small pieces of soap into the pocket.

It is a handy bath size and always easy ot use and get a grip on. We never have to hunt for soap in our tub.

Dear Heloise:

When preparing hamburger balls or patties, I find it much easier to first make a roll of the meat.

I open up the wrapping paper the hamburger comes in, and with the meat inside, mold it to the desired width. Then I slice it into individual portions.

There is very little additional shaping necessary.

Ro Ann.

Dear Heloise:

Mothers and homemakers will enjoy this helpful hint when making divinity candy for home, or for candy sales at bazaars, etc. . . .

For easier handling at time of sale — place spoonsful of divinity on vanilla wafers and decorate each with a gumdrop!

No fuss nor mess — and very attractive.

Watch Out For 'Nanny Nappers'

NEW YORK (AP)—"Nanny-nappers" are prowling Central Park's sidewalks in broad daylight.

They are well-to-do women searching for nurses to take care of their children. First they "case" the white-clad nannies who walk their charges in the park, then they try to entice them away from their employers.

They offer more money, or less work or fewer children to take care of, or all three.

This is how they operate:

Uusually, they will sit on a park bench for a few days, observing the passing parade of nannies from the wealthy apartments in mid - Manhattan. They examine the nny's appearance and her manner with children.

Then, a chance encounter and a casual conversation.

"My, what a wonderful baby!"

"Thank you ma'am," says the nanny, a 25-year-old Swedish readhead.

"He seems so well - behaved."

"Thank you."

"Have you worked for his mother long?"

"For five months, ma'am."

"Are you happy there?"

"Well . . . . "

The nanny - napper learns that the Swedish woman earns $50 a week and that her employer tries to get her to do ironing and housework, and drinks a bit in the afternoons and becomes surly.

"How about coming to work for me? I'll pay you $65."

One mother, found pushing her own carriage through the park, expressed indignation when asked about her experiences with nannies.

" 'm finished with them," she said. "I've leaned over backwards. I've bought them all the special kinds of food they wanted. I've got in our closet at home all those white uniforms in six different sizes."

She had six nannies quit this summer.

Most nannies get between $35 and $65 a week, with room and board.

Your Individual Horoscope

By Frances Drake

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

For Sunday, October 4, 1964

MARCH 21 to APRIL 20 (Aries) — Some requests may annoy, but think them over carefully. Compliance COULD prove profitable in the long run — and bring you happiness as well.

APRIL 21 to MAY 21 (Taurus) — Venus influences, fairly generous, stimulate your artistic abilities and promise happy personal relationships. Be a good listener and let the other fellow know that you value his good will.

MAY 22 to JUNE 21 (Gemini) —Expect help if you feel it is deserved, but forget it if you do not receive it. Go on as if nothing had happened. This way makes it easier for all.

JUNE 22 to JULY 23 (Cancer) — Even if not prepared to conclude pending negotiations immediately, give careful thought to next week's business deals and commitments. Keep your own counsel for the time being and visualize the new records which you CAN make.

JULY 24 to AUGUST 23 (Leo) — Excellent solar influences, but you must cooperate in order to win all the fine gains possible. Capitalize on the Leoite's fine gift of salesmanship — not only of his wares but of his buoyant personality.

AUGUST 24 to SEPTEMBER 23 (Virgo) — If tasks are required, handle promptly, and with light heart and a twinkle in your eye. Your fine intentions will bring fine reward. New methods, better plans will add zest to your day.

SEPTEMBER 24 to OCTOBER 23 (Libra) — Planetary influences promise a relatively easy day once you get the gist of trends and go ahead at a steady tempo — not in fits and starts. An excellent period in which to gain cooperation through your inherent gifts of magnetism, friendliness and gentle persuasion.

OCTOBER 24 to NOVEMBER 22 (Scorpio) — Note Libra. Your outlook similar. Stellar influences now stimulate your all-around competence and kindliness — especially to those in need.

NOVEMBER 23 to DECEMBER 21 (Sagittarius) — Jupiter influences highly auspicious. Pep yourself up early and keep the ball rolling Emphasize your innate generosity and understanding of others.

DECEMBER 22 to JANUARY 20 (Capricorn) — Much activity still indicated, but an excellent Saturn aspect favors any number of good endeavors, including new enterprises you may be planning to launch. Sound out the competition.

JANUARY 21 to FEBRUARY 19 (Aquarius) — Fine advantages indicated now, even though you may have to ferret them out for yourself. In some cases you will be able to, should, build them from scratch. Watch for leads.

FEBRUARY 20 to MARCH 20 (Pisces) — Develop immunity to apparent slights, seeming lack of appreciation. Neither is usually meant as such and the cheerier you are, the better your endeavor and results.

YOU BORN TODAY are endowed with an extraordinarily well-balanced attitude toward life and a great sense of justice. In dealings of any sort, your appraisals are astute and you show remarkable clarity of vision. You can rise to great heights, no matter how humble your beginnings, yet along the way, often lack confidence in yourself and fear the criticism of others. Curb this trait. It only stands in your way. Your artistry and love of beauty are outstanding. Birthdate of: Rutherford B. Hayes, 19th U.S. President.

Faith of Japanese Christians Depicted in Mexican Church

By RELMAN MORIN

NEW YORK (AP)—Not long ago, in the old cathedral in Cuernavaca, Mexico, a little-known chapter in Christian history came to light.

Workmen were scraping paint from the cathedral walls, preparatory to renovation. As successive layers were removed, a set of murals began to emerge. Further cleaning showed the murals cover huge expanses of wall space on both sides of the cathedral. They lay hidden for perhaps 300 years.

And they depict a religious tragedy, not in Mexico, but on the other side of the world—in Japan. It is a scene of execution, of Japanese and Europeans dying by crucifixion or beheading. The contours of the ground in one mural strongly suggest that the site was a hill that came to be known as Martyr's Mount, near Nagasaki.

This is the story:

Toward the end of the 16th century, the rulers of Japan, being anxious for trade with the West, granted concessions to the Spaniards and Portuguese. At first, they permitted the Europeans to build churches and convert the Japanese.

BEGGED PASSAGE

A Spanish account, written in Manila at the time, indicates the zeal of the Christians to carry their faith into Japan:

"Not only the bare-footed friars of St. Francis but others of the orders of St. Dominic and St. Augustine, each one hurried to the Japanese ships and captains that were at the time in Manila and were then going back, to beg of them to take them."

The friars were notably successful. In a few years, they converted thousands of Japanese, from local lords to peasants. Some estimates put the figure at 300,000.

At this point, the shoguns (rulers) began to be uneasy—not on religious but political grounds. They apparently came to suspect that the Japanese Christians were a potential "fifth column" in the event of trouble with Spain.

Thereupon, edicts were issued, ordering the friars to leave Japan on pain of death, and designed to extirpate the foreign faith, root and branch, from Japanese soil.

The edicts met almost total defiance. The friars continued to preach openly, and the people continued to worship in the churches.

Then the terror began. At first, it took the form of executions. They did not achieve their purpose. This fragment of a letter from a condemned friar indicates the reason:

". . . For our Lord in His mercy, not looking at my sins, has been pleased to unite me to a company of 24 servants of God who die for love of Him; of whom six are friars of St. Francis and 18 Japanese. With the hope that many more will go by the same way, may your worship receive the last farewell and last embrace of all this company."

BECAME MARTYRS

The victims became martyrs. Japanese crept to the scenes of the executions and took bones, bloodstained garments, locks of hair as holy relics.

A more terrible sequence followed—torture. The effort now was to force the Christians to recant. Few did so. Even Japanese children, when offered pardon, replied that they preferred to die with their parents. An eyewitness, a Frenchman who was not involved in the holocust, said "the poor Christians endured the torments with a constancy to a miracle."

A Japanese account says 200,000 persons were "punished."

Christianity, to all appearances, vanished from Japan. But there is a sequel, a testimonial to the human spirit.

In the 19th century, when Westerners returned to Japan, they found that Christianity had not died out there. A few Japanese had been practising it in secret for more than two centuries.

Alberta Sets Hunting Rules To Keep Wildlife Balance

By BOB TRIMBEE

EDMONTON (CP)—A week-long antelope season in late October will be used this year by Alberta wildlife officials to test what they hope will prove to be the ultimate in game management.

The idea is to increase the number of antelope hunters by distributing them in a manner that will provide the maximum game harvest yet protect the antelopes from slaughter.

For almost a decade Alberta wildlife officials have been trying to solve a paradoxical situation—too many antelope hunters and an insufficient kill each season to maintain the best balance of wildlife antelope populations.

"We just haven't been able to get hunters to go into areas where large herds are known to live," said George Mitchell, chief wildlife biologist with the Alberta fish and game branch.

"For some unknown reason most of the people want to hunt in the extreme southeastern corner of the province and neglect antelope herds in other nearby areas.

"It's not a question of terrain nor distance because the most popular spots are the most difficult to travel to and the farthest away."

Mr. Mitchell now is completing a 10 - year study of the pronghorn antelope of Alberta.

LICENCES LIMITED

The antelope season was closed in 1950 because of an excess kill. It was reopened six years later, but wildlife officials limited the number of $5 licences issued and sold them to residents on a first-come, first-served basis.

By 1958 this was replaced by a draw system under which all applications were placed in a barrel and licences issued to residents whose names were drawn. Again the number of licences issued was limited by animal population checks and under the draw system a hunter was not eligible to reapply for a licence for three years after he was successful.

The latest plan was co-ordinated by wildlife officials this year.

The antelope country has been divided into seven numbered regions. Those seeking licences mark down, in order of preference, the region in which they would like to hunt.

A population count is made by the department and licences are issued by draw on the basis of how many hunters each region can support. If a hunter fails to obtain a licence in the region he likes best, he has an opportunity to get one in an area of lower preference. Each licence has the region number stamped on it.

Mr. Mitchell said: "This way we are ensuring that each hunter now has:

"A. An opportunity to hunt in the area of his choice; and

"B. The hunting pressure on antelopes will be co-ordinated with region populations to ensure proper conservation."

END WAITING PERIOD

Under the new system the three-year waiting period after once getting a licence has been abolished.

"We may have a surplus of hunters, but if the plan works we'll know we have given the maximum number an opportunity to hunt antelope and have kept antelope populations within the best limits based on local food supplies.

"While we can't guarantee a hunter an antelope, we can assure them each has the same opportunity to get a kill."

Mr. Mitchell said past records indicate between 85 and 92 per cent of antelope hunters are successful.

"One reason is that the antelope depends only upon its fleetness to escape. It does not try to hide in forests. Hunters can work in groups and chase herds across each other's paths."

Both male and female animals may be shot during the season, but only residents—people who have lived in Alberta six months—can apply for licences.

Warden Believes Guards' Status Has Improved

WINNIPEG (CP)—The ice is breaking between prisoners and guards in federal penitentiaries, says John de Varennes.

The new deputy warden of Stony Mountain penitentiary, 15 miles north of Winnipeg, said recently he thinks a friendlier feeling has grown between guards and prisoners in his 19 years of service in federal prisons.

No longer does the convict "consider the guard just a guard."

Twenty years ago, said the deputy warden, the man who made friends with "the crews" —prison slang for guards— wasn't trusted by the prisoner body as a whole.

At his new post he said "I found a spirit of co-operation among the inmates here and I was agreeably surprised."

Mr. de Varennes, 51, started in the federal prison service at Montreal's St. Vincent de Paul penitentiary in 1945 after serving in the Royal Canadian Signal Corps.

His move to Stony Mountain puts him behind bars for the first time in nearly four years. He had previously been the first superintendent at the minimum security prison at Springhill, N.S.

He finds his job interesting and "if a person wasn't interested, I don't see how he could stand it."

"I think it's because you're dealing with people. Even though they're not a particularly satisfactory group from most people's point of view they're still just people too."

He says he often thinks of the convicts he tends "there but for the grace of God go I."

The Sports Scene

By PAT McMAHON
Daily News Sports Writer

. . . Of this and that.

A gent by the name of John Wirth, writing in the fledgling East Kootenay Chronicle, advances some well considered comments on the subject of the Can-Am Baseball League.

After decrying the sloppy organization, the absurdity of an arrange-as-you-go schedule, and general turmoil which the loop found itself in last summer, he points out that as executives of participating teams, Northern Division president, Garnet Bannatyne, and his Southern counterpart, Joe Heslin, should not have been functioning as league governors.

He suggests that a league commissioner should be appointed and offers the names of Ron Nash of Nelson and Les "Sparky" James of Kimberley as possible candidates.

From this corner a loud rousing vote of "Yea!"

Not that anything can be taken away from Bannatyne's yeoman efforts on behalf of baseball last season. He was the only man in the area willing to take on the time-consuming, thankless job of administering the league's affairs. He worked hard in the face of near-intolerable conditions and deserves the thanks of fans and ball players alike.

But the suggestion of a league commissioner is the natural solution to the problems that have plagued Kootenay baseball for as long as most fans can remember.

The position should be a paid one and the commissioner should be in possession of a sizeable bond from each team, which would be subject to forfeiture for violation of league bylaws.

Then, if someone in city council should become farsighted enough to plug for lights for Civic Grounds, (yes we're back on that subject), perhaps we could look forward, next summer, to the biggest and best season of baseball Nelson has ever known.

Local ski buffs are wondering when the Silver King Ski Club is planning to call its first meeting of the season.

Calgary Stampeders appear to have a good one in the making.

Gerry Shaw, a slick pass catching end with Washington State, who doubles as a defensive halfback (and Oh, how those Cowboys need a defensive halfback) is a native of Calgary, who was sent to Saskatchewan Roughrider star, Hugh Campbell's alma mater, to learn the business.

Shaw is among seven ends still alive in the American Football Coaches Association's balloting for All-American honors.

Oklahoma Sooner ace, Allen Brown, looms as favorite to nab one end position on the dream team. Shaw is considered a prime contender for the other. Whether he is named to the All-America squad or not, you can bet the Stamps will find themselves competing with NFL and AFL teams for his services.

Any truth to the rumor that Nelson Maple Leafs have been in touch with Russ Kirk, who tended the twine for the Edmonton Oil Kings when they won the Memorial Cup in 1962-63?

Kirk is reported to be studying at University of British Columbia.

And wouldn't he look good packing around a Notre Dame Students' Union card?

From the Department of Recreation and Conservation comes a warning to hunters that improper use of game tags by some hunters is causing concern to game management officials. The bulletin points out that hunters must cancel the appropriate tags by cutting out the day and month as soon as an animal is taken. It is required that tags must be placed securely on the animal ensuring they cannot be pulled or torn off.

Proper tagging is imperative if proper game management is to be maintained.

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Two first period goals by Reg Fleming and Murray Balfour gave Boston Bruins a 2-1 win over New York Rangers in a National Hockey League exhibition encounter here Friday night. It was the fifth win in six games for Boston, and the second in three meetings with the Rangers.

Badminton Season Starts Tuesday

Nelson Senior Badminton Club president, Fred Wastfall, anounced Friday the club's 1964-65 season's activities will get under way at Civic Centre Tuesday, Oct. 6 at 8 p.m.

The club, membership of which approached the hundred mark last season, plays Tuesday and Thursday evenings and Sunday afternoons.

Last year's membership encompassed shuttle artists ranging in age from early teen to players in their late sixties.

The club's executive has issued a special invitation to beginners and newcomers to the area.

Mets Put Halt to Cardinal Drive; Yankees Drop Cleveland

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Last-place New York Mets stalled St. Louis' pennant drive 1-0 Friday night, but the Cardinals maintained their precarious half-game National League lead.

The loss, which ended an eight-game St. Louis winning streak, left the Cardinals ahead of the second-place Cincinnati Reds who lost to Philadelphia Phillies 4-3.

The Mets stunned St. Louis behind the five-hit pitching of left-hander Al Jackson and Ed Kranepool's run-scoring single in the third inning.

The Cardinals have two games remaining, both with the Mets, and the Reds have one left, against the Phillies Sunday.

In order for Cincinnati to win the pennant, the Reds must defeat the Phillies in their last game Sunday while the Cardinals must drop their last two contests with the Mets. The Reds and Phillies do not play today.

A Cincinnati victory and a Cardinal split would end the regular season in a tie for the top.

Kranepool's two-out hit decided a brilliant duel between Jackson (11-16) and right-hander Bob Gibson (18-12).

With one out in the third, ex-Cardinal George Altman had stroked his second straight single, stole second and was sent to third on Joe Christopher's ground out. Kranepool then lashed a single to left, scoring Altman with the run.

The Phillies edged the Reds on a four-run rally in the eighth.

The Phillies struck in the eighth against Jim O'Toole, who had limited them to three hits

Pinch hitter Frank Thomas beat out a hit back of second. Johnny Briggs ran for Thomas and moved to second as O Toole walked Cookie Rojas. Tony Taylor then singled, scoring Briggs and sending Rojas to third.

Billy McCool went in for O'Toole, but Richie Allen followed with a triple, scoring Rojas and Taylor with the tying runs. Alex Johnson stroked a single and Allen scampered across with the winning run.

ASSURED OF TIE

New York Yankees clinched at least tie for the American League pennant, defeating Cleveland Indians 5-2 behind the four-hit pitching of Whitey Ford.

The Yankees need only a victory in one of their two remaining games with the Indians or a Chicago defeat to win their fifth straight pennant.

The Yankees play the Indians today and Sunday and the White Sox play Kansas City on those days.

New York's triumph over the Indians eliminated third-place Baltimore Orioles from the race.

The Indians grabbed a 2-0 lead after two innings, but Ford settled down and held Cleveland hitless the rest of the way for his 17th victory against six defeats. He retired the last 16 batters he faced.

SWEPT DOUBLEHEADER

Chicago White Sox swept a doubleheader from Kansas City 3-2 and 5-4. The second-place White Sox now are two games behind New York.

The White Sox won the second game in the ninth inning on Bill Skowron's bases-loaded single, scoring Don Buford with the winning run. Wes Stock was the loser.

Juan Pizarro won his 19th game against nine defeats in the opener although he departed for reliever Hoyt Wilhelm in the sixth inning.

Pizarro also singled across two runs in the fourth after the Sox loaded the bases.

The Orioles crushed Detroit Tigers 10-4 as Brooks Robinson, in a strong closing bid to become the AL's most valuable player, knocked in four runs while banging out his 28th homer and two singles.

The four RBI's increased Robinson's league leading total to 117, and his batting average jumped to .367—only six points behind league leader Tony Oliva of Minnesota Twins.

Jerry Adair drove in three Orioole runs with a bases-loaded double during a six-run second inning off loser Joe Sparma.

DRIVES IN THREE

Felix Torres drove in three runs with a pair of singles as Los Angeles Angels defeated Minnesota Twins 5-4 and clinched a tie for fifth place in the AL.

Torres singled home two unearned runs in the first inning after losing pitcher Jim Kaat's error opened the door for the Angels. Torres singled in one of two runs in the third and Bob Rodgers' eighth inning homer completed the Angels' scoring.

Chuvalo Stops Doug Jones

NEW YORK (AP) —George Chuvalo of Toronto stopped Doug Jones in the 11th round at Madison Square Garden on Friday night and became the leading contender for the heavyweight boxing title.

The end to the scheduled 12-rounder opening the Garden's new series of non-televised boxing came suddenly.

Only one judge had Jones, a 184-pound New Yorker, and the favorite, ahead, 6-3-1, when the Canadian champ brought about the unexpected ending.

The second judge and the referee had Chuvalo ahead after 10 rounds, 6-3-1.

Standing head to head and fighting out of a crouch, the 211-pound Chuvalo hit Jones with a left to the stomach. Jones reeled backwards. Chuvalo followed up quickly with a solid right that drove Jones into the ropes. As he bounced off, Chuvalo landed another hard right and Jones sprawled to the canvas.

He was up at six but had to take the mandatory eight-count. When Chuvalo attacked savagely and again drove Jones into the ropes, referee Art Mercante stopped the action.

Basketball Player's Mother Dies

TORONTO (CP)—John Dacyshyn, a Toronto member of Canada's Olympic basketball team, cut short his stay in Japan when he learned his mother had died.

Dacyshyn postponed leaving with the team to take part in the pre-Olympic elimination tournament because of his mother's illness but left two weeks later when he felt she had improved enough for him to join the team in Japan.

He was notified by cable that Mrs. William Dacyshyn died early Thursday, just four days after she entered the Mayo Clinic in Rochester, Minn., for a routine checkup.

Jimmy Clark Tops Trials

WATKINS GLEN, N.Y. (AP) James Clark of Scotland, in a team Lotus, turned in the best practice time Friday for the Sunday running of the American Grand Prix auto race.

Clark's time of 1:13.23 for the 2.3-mile lap broke the record of 1:13.4 set by Graham Hill last year. The Lotus' speed was 113.11 miles an hour compared to Hill's old record of 112.81.

John Surtees' Ferrari had the second best time in the first day of the two-day practice runs. Surtees, of England, covered the dry, winding course in 1:13.8 for a speed of 112.2 m.p.h.

HARDLY A SCALE MODEL—At least as far as high school football players go. This one, John Lee, a defensive guard for St. Mel High in Chicago, weighs in at 374 pounds, wears size 52 football pants, and has to be weighed at a nearby meat market. Coach Warren Jones is at left and the market proprietor at right.

Perennial 'Horse of Year' Aims for Earnings Record

NEW YORK (AP)—Today is the day for Kelso. The seven-year-old gelding from Mrs Richard S. duPont's Bohemia stable has reached the time where he can become the world's leading money winning race horse by taking the $100,000-added Woodward at Aqueduct.

Five others, including the fleet Gun Bow and the hard-hitting three-year-old Quadrangle, were named Friday to oppose the four-time Horse of the Year in the 1¼-mile race. If all start, the Woodward will gross $109,200 with $70,980 earmarked for the winner. Kelso needs only $38,738 to top Round Table's $1,749,869. It's got to be a victory, second place money will not be enough.

Kelso, who failed to show any of his old-time fire until he whipped Gun Bow by less than a length in the Aqueduct Stakes on Labor Day, has started 53 times in nearly six years of racing. He has won 34 races, finished second in 11 others and went unplaced in eight for earnings of $1,711,132.

The track handicapper has made Kelso the 4-to-5 favorite with Gun Bow, a four-year-old owned by Gedney Farm, the second choice at 6 to 5.

Paul Mellon's Quadrangle, a strong contender for three-year-old title honors, completes the Woodward's big three. W. R. Hawn's South African champion, Colorado King, George A. Pope Jr.'s Decidedly and R. L. Dotter's Guadalcanal, round out the field.

Balding Slips to Third In Fresno Open Tourney

FRESNO, Calif. (AP)—Bob McCallister broke loose Friday with a four-under-par 68 and 36-hold total of 137 to grab a three-stroke lead in the $35,000 Fresno Open golf tournament.

The 190-pounder from Corona, Calif., displaced the first round co-leaders, Al Balding of Toronto and Jack McGowan of Toledo, Ohio, deadlocked at 67 on the opening day.

Both fell back of Gardner Dickenson of Florida, who charged into second place with his second straight 70.

McGowan carded a 74 to drop into a three-way third-place tie at 141 with Jerry Steelsmith of Glendale, Calif., who put a 71 with his opening 70, and veteran Jay Hebert of Lafayette, La., who had a 69 second round.

Canadian PGA champion George Knudson of Toronto carded a three-under 69 which, with his first round 73, put him in a tie at 142 with Frank Beard, 73-69, and Balding, who faltered to a 75 Friday on the sun blistered San Joaquin Country Club's 7,181-yard course.

The tournament lost one of its most colorful contenders when Chi Chi Rodriguez was forced out because of illness.

Rodriguez, who had a 73 Thursday, turned his first nine Friday with a 38, but gave up on the 12th.

Gene Littler fired a two-under par 70 Friday for a 143. He was tied with Bob Panasiuk of Windsor who had a 72 Friday. Charlie Sifford had a 74, Dick Lotz 72, and Bob Goalby 73, bunching them with 144 totals.

Defending champion Mason Rudolph, fighting back from a 77, scored a 70 for a two-day total of 147.

Injured Ex-Grid Star to Be Honored

OTTAWA (CP) — It will be "Karl Hilzinger Night" at Lansdowne Park Tuesday when Saskatchewan Roughriders meet Ottawa Rough Riders in an interlocking game of the Canadian Football League.

Hiltzinger played halfback for Ottawa, Saskatchewan and Montreal Alouettes.

Earlier this year he was seriously injured in a car accident and had both his legs amputated above the knees.

A plaque will be presented by captains Kaye Vaughan of Ottawa and Reg Whitehouse of Saskatchewan which will be turned over to Hilzinger in hospital in Montreal.

Canuck Woman Wins $48,000

DETROIT (AP)—A 23-year-old housewife from Windsor, Ont., at a thoroughbred track for the first time in her life, was reported Friday by the Detroit race course to have been the holder of Thursday's twin-double worth $48,555.40.

The track identified her as the mother of a two-year-old son and said she was paid by cheque, but it refused to disclose her name.

The track allowed the U.S. internal revenue service to cream off $7,283 in income taxes, but quoted the woman as saying the remainder would not be taxable as a capital gain in Canada. Besides, she would gain $3,641 in converting U.S. to Canadian money.

The race course earlier this year also kept secret the name of a horse trainer there who hit the twin-double for more than $46,000.

Both the Canadian woman's and the horse trainer's tickets were the only ones held on the winning combinations among thousands of bettors.

Her winning combination, made up of four long shots, was 5-3-6-3.

The track quoted the woman as saying: "We paid our taxes last week and had just $5.50 left in our bank account. I've been doing work at home as a typist to earn a little extr money. I was tired of the routine and decided to give myself the day off."

Sterner Signs With Rangers

WINNIPEG (AP) — Ulf Sterner of Sweden became the first European ever to sign a National Hockey League contract when he agreed to terms with the New York Rangers Wednesday.

Sterner, 22-year-old centre and left winger, will be assigned to the Rangers' St. Paul farm club in the Central Professional League.

Eastern Grid Clubs Host Crucial Weekend Games

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The West comes East this weekend to highlight Canadian Football League play and a victory for any of four teams could shake up the standings in both divisions.

Half the spotlight in the East will be shared by British Columbia Lions and Toronto Argonauts at Toronto tonight. The Lions will be looking to strengthen their lead in the West as well as stretching their unbeaten streak to 10 games.

The Argos, who appear to be in better shape than they have been all season, can use a victory over the Lions to break a deadlock with the idle Montreal Alouettes for third place in the Eastern Conference.

Sunday at Hamilton, Saskatchewan Roughriders and the Tiger-Cats will move onto the stage and a victory for either club could prove to be vital. Win for Coach Ralph Sazio's Cats will give them a share of first place along with idle Ottawa Rough Riders. The B.C.-Toronto game will be televised nationally over the CBC network starting at 8 p.m. EDT Saturday and the Saskatchewan - Hamilton battle will be shown over the full CTV network starting at 2 p.m. EDT Sunday.

CHANCE TO LEAD

Depending on how the Lions fare against Argos, the Roughriders will have an opportunity to either take over the lead in the West should Vancouver lose, or remain one point back.

Not to be forgotten, however, is a Western Conference game Sunday afternoon in Winnipeg where the cellar - dwelling Blue Bombers play host to Calgary with Saskatchewan for second place, can also bring about an interesting situation with a win.

Argos, who not too long ago looked to be a sure bet for last place at the end of the season, returned from a swing West with a win over Winnipeg, a near miss against Calgary and a new outlook on life.

LIONS FAVORED

The Lions, rated as seven-point favorites to beat Argos, are considered to have a good chance of winding up the season without a loss, a feat which has never before been done in the CFL. Five of their remaining nine games are against second division clubs.

Much of their success can be attributed to the defensive corps which has given up only 82 points in nine games, an average of just a little more than nine points a game. Also, no team has scored more than two touchdowns against them in any match.

Hamilton, 1963, Grey Cup champions, have undergone some changes since returning from the West where they battled to a 16-16 tie with the Lions last Saturday and defeated Edmonton Eskimos Monday.

A Saskatchewan triumph would stretch the club's win streak to six games—longest of any CFL club this season and longest in the modern history of the Riders.

The westerners have added import centre Milt Crain, who will play on the offensive line against Hamilton. Crain was cut earlier this season by Montreal. Regular centre Ted Urness will shift to tackle. End Dick Cohee was placed on waivers to make room for Crain.

Calgary will be looking for its seventh consecutive WFC regular season win over Winnipeg, once the powerhouse of the CFL. The last time the bombers managed to beat the stampeders was Aug. 30, 1962.

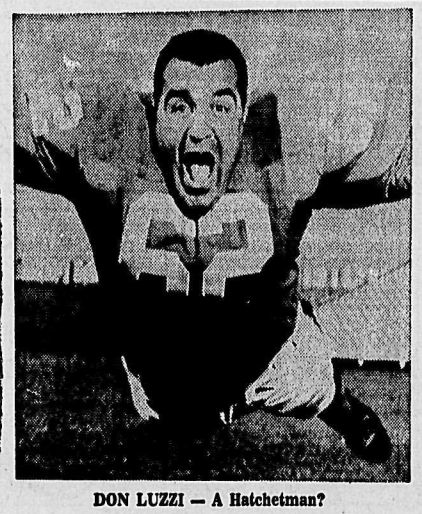
HOPES LOW

Winnipeg, hindered by injuries throughout the season, can hope to finish no better than fourth in the five - team loop. A win would remove them from the cellar, one point ahead of the Eskimos.

Their strength sapped by injuries to 17 players, the Bombers have lost nine of their first 11 games—the last eight in succession—to slide beyond reach of the playoffs.

Montreal Alouettes return to action Monday when they play at home against the Lions.

Saskatchewan moves on to Ottawa and Winnipeg to Edmonton for games Tuesday night.



DON LUZZI — A Hatchetman?

Luzzi Can Expect Cool Welcome in 'Peg Tonight

WINNIPEG (CP) — Calgary tackle Don Luzzi may find it downright unfriendly in Winnipeg Stadium for Sunday's Western Football Conference meeting with the Blue Bombers.

Winnipeg coach Bud Grant says his players are still riled at the former all-star lineman for injuring Bomber quarterback Kenny Ploen in a Sept. 7 game at Calgary.

Ploen was sidelined with a torn rib cartilage. The Bombers claimed game films showed that Luzzi drove in after the whistle on Ploen in a deliberate attempt to injure.

Grant said the other day he will warn officials before Sunday's game that his players will be difficult to restrain if Luzzi tries something similar again.

"Our players have had just about enough of that guy," Grant said.

It was Luzzi who put Ploen out of commission for a while last season with a tackle that the Bombers claim came from behind when Ploen did not have the ball.

IS 'HATCHETMAN'

Grant says Luzzi is one of the "hatchetmen" of Canadian footbal. By Grant's definition this is a player always looking for an opportunity to get in a telling blow, hitting somebody who is unprotected or piling on.

Calgary will likely go with the same lineup that defeated Toronto 30-25 Tuesday night. Halfback Leroy Jackson is a doubtful starter with a pulled muscle. Ron Payne will definitely stay in at tight end in place of Herm Harrison out with an injured knee.

Halfback Jim Dillard will stay on the injury list of the Stampeders, in a second-place tie with Saskatchewan.

The last-place Bombers, with only a victory and a tie in 11 starts, have only a single day's rest after the Calgary game. Winnipeg meets the Eskimos in Edmonton Tuesday.

BASEMENT BATTLE

The contest amounts to a battle to avoid the basement with the Eskimos one point ahead of the Bombers.

Edmonton coach Neill Armstrong, an old Bomber player, says guard Ray Ash, acquired from Winnipeg, is fitting in nicely.

"He's a man of quick movement and fast," Armstrong said. "He'll help us."

Armstrong said he wants his rebuilding Eskimos to take the Bombers because the club still has a chance at a playoff spot. "Lose and we go into the basement," he said. "We think we can win."

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:
A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

PUBLIC NOTICES

INVITATION TO TENDER

INSTALLATION OF WATER SUPPLY SYSTEM TO THE FORT STEELE RESTORATION

SEALED TENDERS are invited for the installation of a water supply system for the Fort Steele Restoration Foundation at Fort Steele, British Columbia.

The works consist of site preparation and excavation; the supply of machinery, labour and materials; site rehabilitation, and all other work necessary to install the water supply system as specifically described in the contract documents. The proposed location of the water system is in District Lots 55A and 51 in the Kootenay Land District, at Fort Steele, British Columbia.

Plans and specifications may be obtained from the District Engineer, Water Rights Branch, Court House, Nelson, British Columbia, upon deposit of eight dollars ($8.00). In the event that a contractor fails to submit a tender, his deposit will be refunded if the plans and specifications are returned prior to the closing date for tenders.

Tenders should be sealed and endorsed "Tender for Water Supply System." Each tender shall be accompanied by a certified cheque, payable to the B.C. Minister of Finance, in the amount of eight per cent (8%) of the tender price, plus an Undertaking of Surety signed by a Surety Company in the amount of forty per cent (40%) of the tender price. The certified cheques will be returned to unsuccessful tenderers.

The tenders shall be addressed to, and be received by the undersigned up to 5 p.m. Pacific Standard Time, 15 October 1964.

The Fort Steele Restoration Foundation reserves the right to reject any or all of the tenders.

G. J. A. KIDD, Comptroller of Water Rights, Parliament Buildings, Victoria, B.C. —231-233

Trade Delegation Comes To Spend Large Amounts

VANCOUVER (CP) — A 22-man Japanese trade mission backed by billions in financial assets arrives here Sunday to begin a 25-day Canadian tour.

The scope of the delegation is unprecedented in Canada-Japan trade relations.

The mission's principal interests lie with the import of iron ore and coking coal, but it represents as well interests in flour milling, construction, farm and electric machinery, automobile manufacturing, banking and finance.

Members will talk trade on behalf of industrial groups employing more than 275,000 persons and accounting for more than $7,500,000,000 in annual sales and more than $8,000,000,000 in assets.

The mission has the support of the Japanese government and the advice of two government officials assigned to the tour.

The leader is Yoshihior Inayama, president of Yawata Iron and Steel Co. Ltd., and his deputy is Yoichiro Makita, executive managing director of Mitsubishi Heavy Industries Limited.

Talks with businessmen and government trade and industry officials begin here Monday. The mission is in Victoria Oct. 8-9; in the Alberta centres of Lethbridge, Calgary and Banff Oct. 10-13; Regina Oct. 14-15; Winnipeg Oct. 16-19; Edmonton Oct. 20-21; Toronto Oct. 22-23; Niagara Falls, Ont., Oct. 24; Ottawa Oct. 25-26; Montreal Oct. 27 and Quebec City Oct. 28.

While in Ottawa the delegation will meet Prime Minister Pearson and the ministers of external affairs, finance and trade and commerce.

Japan, which now is Canada's third best trading partner behind the United States and Britain, began her postwar iron ore buying in B.C. in 1955. The first copper concentrates were shipped from B.C. to Japan two years later.

Since these initial purchases her iron industry has bought from Canada 690,000 tons of coal, 1,886,000 tons of iron ore and 157,000 tons of iron scrap, together worth more than $47,000,000.

Millions have been advanced to assist Canadian—and particularly B.C.—mines into production. Japanese companies hold contracts to buy hundreds of millions worth of concentrates of iron, copper, nickel and molybdenum.

Japan's flour-milling industry alone has bought 1,303,000 tons of wheat worth $100,000,000 from Canada.

Alan MacNaughton Proves Lenient as House Speaker

By JAMES NELSON

OTTAWA (CP)—Alan Aylesworth Macnaughton is a Montreal lawyer who did postgraduate work at the London School of Economics and Political Science, and has had wide experience in the field of international finance.

At one time he was president of four firms and a director of four others, and he has held office in such organizations as boards of trade and chambers of commerce.

But in his present capacity—Speaker of the House of Commons—he has shown traits that rarely are connected with business and finance in most minds.

One of them is a flexible attitude when it comes to applying the letter of the law as embodied in the rules of the House of Commons. Another is a readiness to virtually toss the rule book aside when dealing with questions involving the fundamental rights of an individual caught up in the snare of government regulation.

Mr. Macnaughton hasn't exactly won kudos from either the cabinet or the Liberal backbenchers when he has demonstrated these traits to their embarrassment.

DOESN'T BOTHER SPEAKER

The discomfort of the Liberals—his political brothers when he was elected in Montreal's Mount Royal Riding, first in 1949—doesn't seem to bother Mr. Speaker Macnaughton in his black silk robes of office.

There is, for instance, the case of Opposition Leader Diefenbaker and—to a lesser degree, in this context—of Prime Minister Pearson. The rules of the Commons are supposed to be applied equally among all MPs. The prime minister of the day is only the first among equals, and the leader of the opposition is at least second.

But Mr. Diefenbaker and Mr. Pearson have on numerous occasions this session done things to the rules in the heat of political and parliamentary warfare that few practiced backbenchers would attempt.

When this was pointed out to Mr. Macnaughton some months ago he said it was his philosophy that while the rules do in fact apply equally to all MPs, the prime minister and the leader of the opposition do occupy special positions. This was particularly so of a leader of the opposition who has been prime minister, he added.

So, this week, when Stanley Knowles, NDP whip and MP for Winnipeg North Centre said it was his interpretation of the feeling of the House that observance of the rules should be tightened up, everyone expected a crack-down on the two big party leaders. Not so.

SHOWS ANOTHER TRAIT

And in the same sitting, Mr. Macnaughton demonstrated his other distinguishing trait as Speaker. It was during some Creditiste questioning of Labor Minister MacEachen about the rights of two union men involved in a labor hassle.

The House groaned at the insistance of the voluble Creditistes about an incident which seemed at first glance to matter little. But Mr. Macnaughton let the quizzing go on.

"I have allowed fuller questions than are usually allowed," he said, "in order to give some recognition to the rights of individuals. . . ."

Last spring, on a similar question involving someone caught up in a maze of government machinery, Mr. Macnaughton gave this opinion when Justice Minister Favreau complained that questions weren't being put in the correct form, according to parliamentary rules.

"There seems to be a great deal to be said in criticism of the way in which the questions were asked but as to the right of members of the House of Commons to inquire into matter affecting the right and liberty of any citizen, it seems to me that that is the overriding consideration and the legality should step aside for the moment."

MARKET TRENDS

NEW YORK (AP)—A lagging and uncertain stock market gathered enough strength late Friday to post a small gain, its second this week.

Volume fell off to 4,400,000 shares from Thursday's 4,460,000 and was the lightest since Sept. 16, when 4,240,000 shares changed hands.

Late buying in some of the leading oils, some coppers, utilities and assorted blue chips helped boost the market averages into plus territory by a narrow margin.

The late improvement, came despite news that the strike against General Motors, entering its second week, is beginning to affect the steel industry. GM's Fisher body division advised its steel suppliers to halt deliveries for the next two weeks because of a shortage of storage space.

Even so, all top three steelmakers made fractional gains.

The Dow Jones industrial average ended with a gain of .65 at 872.65.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose .6 to 326.0.

Of 1,335 issues traded, 545 rose and 497 fell. New highs for the year totalled 49 and new lows 9.

TORONTO (CP) — The stock market faltered in moderate trading Friday and closed with all indexes on the downside.

Most industrial groups were off. John Labatt and Bathurst Power and Paper each fell ½ to 20⅛ and 26, while Bank of Nova Scotia fell a point to 77 and Doscoe and Aluminium ⅝ each to 17⅝ and 31⅞.

Alberta Gas Trunk A and CPR were each off ⅛ to 33¾, and 53¾, while Algoma Steel, Dofasco and Inland Natural Gas declined ¼ each to 73¾, 24 and 9¾.

On index, industrials fell .11 to 165.03, the TSE index .12 to 154.13, golds 1.59 to 146.59, base metals .03 to 70.93 and western oils .15 to 95.71. Volume was 3,693,000 shares compared with 3,091,000 shares traded Thursday.

MONTREAL (CP) — Stocks traded at a fractionally lower level throughout the day Friday on the Montreal and Canadian stock exchanges.

Trading was moderate with industrial turnover at 187,500 shares and mines and oils 790,100 shares.

Composite was off 0.3 on index to 155.3 as advances outnumbered declines 114 to 84.

Industrials were off 0.1 on index to 160.9. Du Pont of Canada led the decline dropping 1½ to 57.

Utilities were unchanged. B.C. Telephone picked up ½ to 62½.

Papers were up 0.6 at 148.0. Fraser led the advance, adding ½ to 32. Consolidated, Great Lakes and Price Bros. each advanced ¼ to 42⅞, 27¼ and 47½. Domtar declined ¼ to 22¾ and Abitibi ⅛ to 14⅞.

BASE METALS MIXED

Senior base metals were mixed. Consolidated Mining and Smelting dropped ⅜ to 40⅛, Noranda ¼ to 49 and nternational Nickel ⅛ to 91¾, Hollinger and Hudson Bay Mining both gained ½ to 30 and 71½.

Quebec Jaycee Blasts Federal Organization

QUEBEC (CP)—Rodrigue Pageau, president of la Federation des Jeunes Chambres de Commerce du Canada Francais, criticized Bill Rowe, president of the Canadian Junior Chamber of Commerce, in a speech Thursday night.

He told the Quebec City Jeune Chambre that Mr. Rowe demonstrated "stupidity, childishness, imperialism and the spirit of discrimination" in his attempt to prevent la Federation from joining the International Association of Junior Chambers of Commerce.

"Why is he determined to depict us as extremists and angry young men?" Mr. Pageau asked. "Why, if not for fear of seeing the end of Canadian Jaycee domination, if not for their fear of no longer being the only 'Canadians?' "

La Federation, which split from the Canadian Jaycees last February, plans to make application to join the international group during the latter's Oklahoma convention later this month.

RAISED OBJECTIONS

Mr. Rowe recently raised objections to la Federation move, saying it would be an unwelcome precedent for a "two nation" concept of Canada, one French-speaking and the other English.

Mr. Pageau said the argument for national unity "has always been problematic and dubious."

"Once gain I will leap to conclusions and say Anglo-Saxon arrogance, imperialist mentality and attachment to the political system prevents them from understanding that French speaking Canadians are able to raise their heads and speak as strongly as they do." He said la Federation will be known in other parts of the world and will not necessarily partake in the opinions of the Canadian Jaycees.

"As long as English-speaking Canada will not accept its responsibilities towards our ethnic group, it will see the dissatisfaction of French-speaking Canadians continue," he said.

The most popular painting in Paris' Louvre Museum is the Mona Lisa.

SOVIET CUTS PRICES

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union decreed Thursday 10- to 20-per-cent price cuts on such consumer goods as shoes, coats and medicines. Women's high heeled shoes, for example, were cut from the equivalent of $20 to about $18. The more popular imported brands, whose prices start at $50, were not affected.

BECOMES 35th PRESIDENT

PANAMA (AP)—Marco Aurelio Robles was sworn in Thursday as the 35th president of Panama. He said in his inaugural message that negotiation of a new Panama Canal treat with the United States would have priority in foreign affairs.

INTRODUCTION

"FOR WHAT IS A MAN PROFITED, IF HE SHALL GAIN THE WHOLE WORLD AND LOSE HIS OWN HEALTH" (With apologies to the Grand Old Book)

It was with this objective in mind that the Health Food Centre was formed. (Although the writer belongs to no religious denomination he still has the same beliefs.)

Again in Genesis 1-29, God said "BEHOLD, I HAVE GIVEN YOU EVERY HERB BEARING SEED, WHICH IS UPON THE FACE OF ALL THE EARTH AND EVERY TREE, IN WHICH IS THE FRUIT OF A TREE YIELDING SEED: TO YOU IT SHALL BE FOR MEAT."

The seeds and grains used in our products are "CERTIFIED."

Our Laxative Tablets, Vegetable Powders, and Nutritional Vegetable Tablets are made from uncooked leaves and roots. Any other method used would be found useless in the promotion of "HEALTH THROUGH NUTRITION." WE ASK YOU TO JUDGE OUR PRODUCTS BY ONE THING ALONE — "RESULTS".

We fully realize that there are cheaper products on the market today (we can buy fumigated grains at $2.00 per sack less.) But we are in the HEALTH BUILDING BUSINESS NOT THE HEALTH WRECKING BUSINESS."

Remember that "BUYING A CHEAP PRODUCT TO SAVE MONEY" is like stopping the clock to save time.

If at any time you wish any literature or advice in the promotion of "PROPER NUTRITION" rest assured that over 120 pages of Applied Nutrition Guides are free, just ask for it.

Sincerely Yours,
HEALTH FOOD CENTRE
924 Davies St. Nelson, B.C.

P.S. The cause of our diseases are nutritional, that is a definite fact, and no man can dispute that statement. There is no substitute for the work of the Great Creator, and those who are tempting you with these substitutes instead of telling you the real causes of your ailments, are mocking God's nutritional laws for the purpose of monetary gain.

M. P. H.
