Malaysia Claps Curfew On Territorial Waters

Braced for Expected Raids By Indonesian Guerrillas

KUALA LUMPUR (AP) — Malaysia imposed a curfew on territorial waters off the southern tip of its mainland of Malaya Tuesday in anticipation of new Indonesian guerrilla raids.

A number of Indonesian infiltrations have taken place in the region.

The curfew was the latest in a swift series of developments following reports of an Indonesian military buildup in bases surrounding Malaysia. British warships already patrol the area.

Indonesia's decision to quit the United Nations has been taken by Malaysia as further indication the Indonesians want to be free to mount a major offensive against the federation of the former British colonies of Malaya, Singapore, Sarawak and Sabah (North Borneo).

A British - aided drive to strengthen Malaysia's defences is under way. The vanguard of a 1,000-man British reinforcement contingent has arrived, with the rest expected in the next few days.

Also expected are several hundred Royal Navy men to man six warships being taken out of mothballs and added to the Singapore-based British Far East fleet.

Malaysian defence officials, meanwhile, scheduled a round of meetings with Britain's war secretary, Fred Mulley, who is scheduled to arrive in Kuala Lumpur Thursday.

SKS UN SUPPORT

In a letter to the UN Security Council, Malaysia asked whether it could expect support to end Indonesia's "crush Malaysia" campaign but did not ask for a council meeting.

Indonesia's withdrawal from the UN could lead to a close and dangerous alliance between Jakarta and Asia's Communist powers, said high-level Malaysians.

The reasoning is that Indonesia's decision to quit the UN has stripped it of its cloak of non-alignment, isolating it from the more moderate members of the world's neutralist club.

In Jakarta, a foreign ministry source said Indonesia has not legally left the UN but "practically we are out."

However, some other high-ranking Indonesian officials privately expressed their disapproval and disappointment to the decision to pull out of this country of 104,000,000 people from the world organization.

Indonesia said it was withdrawing because Malaysia was voted to membership on the Security Council.

Indonesian government sources indicated that Indonesia has used the Malaysia issue as a pretext to leave the UN.

Two Rail Lines Blocked By Derailments

VANCOUVER (CP) — Services were expected back to normal Tuesday following derailments on two of three rail routes linking this city with the B.C. Interior.

Four engine units and four boxcars left the Pacific Great Eastern railway tracks Monday night at Horseshoe Bay, 20 miles north of here, disrupting services to the North. There were no injuries and the line was to be cleared Tuesday night.

North and south-bound passengers were carried around the derailment by bus.

A two-car derailment 110 miles northeast of here stalled all traffic on the Canadian National Railways line Monday night, but traffic was expected to be restored late Tuesday.

Officials reported the wheels of two cars in the middle of a freight train left the track near Spences Bridge, but the cars remained upright.

An east-bound passenger train was turned back to Vancouver and its 110 passengers flown to Edmonton at CNR expense.

Westbound trains were held back.

Causes of the two derailments were being investigated.

Families in Eel River Delta Flee Flood Threat; 21-Foot Crest Anticipated

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — More than 600 persons were warned late Tuesday to flee immediately their ranch homes in the Eel River delta of northwest California — the area hardest hit by Christmas-week floods that claimed 40 lives and $1,000,000,000 in property damage in five Western states.

More than 50 other families were told to be out of their homes by nightfall because of fears of a levee break on the river that would engulf their Macintoch lumber mill community.

Both menaced areas are in Humboldt County on the coast 250 miles north of San Francisco. The evacuation warning was sounded in Eureka, the county seat, by Norman Robertson, county civil defence director.

About 200 families were evacuated from the Richfield area in Tehama County, south of Mount Shasta, after flooding Thomes Creek broke through a temporary dike.

Highway crews had been working to repair dike washouts which closed the Southern Pacific rail line and interstate highway 5 south of Red Bluff.

The Eel River country still was reeling from the devastation wrought by floods, starting Dec. 20.

Entire communities such as Pepperwood and Weott were wiped out in the Eel River delta. Washed-out bridges have so snarled highway travel that helicopters have been the main source of relief and supply.

'COPTERS MOVE OUT

Helicopters which had been moving Red Cross cargo out of Eureka were ordered to start evacuations of threatened lowland sectors around Ferndale, Fernbridge and Fortuna.

A civil defence spokesman at Eureka said it would be hard to estimate how many must get out of the delta because it is not known how many of the homeless went back after the earlier flood.

Ted Gumble, Eureka civil defence co-ordinator, said the Eel was expected to reach a crest of 21 feet and was rising at the astounding rate of three feet an hour.

Another flood-ravaged area—in the canyon - cut Siskiyou Mountains inland at the Oregon border—also was threatened. A forest service spokesman said both the Salmon and Klamath Rivers were rising and any mountain snow runoff would "put us right back where we were."

But Ivan Anderson, weather bureau forecaster at Eureka, said he expected the snow level in the mountains to hold at 2,500 feet with no major runoff.

NEAR FLOOD LEVEL

Yet another flood-struck sector of last month, along the Russian River 70 miles north of San Francisco, had its worries. to pass it by a couple of feet before morning.

"Another storm is churning inland across the coast of the Pacific northwest this afternoon," the weather bureau said.

The river forecast centre at Portland, Ore., said coastal streams were rising but no flood stages were expected.

Gales lashed the West coastline, whipping heavy rains and snow.

The Red Cross, which had closed many evacuation centres in northwest California, started reopening them.

More People Turning to Barbiturates

LONDON (CP) Despite constant warnings in the medical press against the dangers of drug addiction, more and more Britons are becoming dependent on barbiturates prescribed for emotional stress, depression and insomnia, says a psychiatrist's report published Tuesday.

Suicides, attempted suicides and fatal accidents from barbiturates have also been increasing since the early 1950s, says the report, published in the official journal of the British Academy for Forensic Sciences.

Barbiturates and other drugs affecting the central nervous system have accounted for one-fifth of all prescriptions issued under the national health service. In the six years 1953-59, consumption doubled to 162,000 pounds from 81,000 pounds.

Consultant psychiatrist Dr. M. M. Glatt and statistician Brooke, who compiled the report, say that in spite of warning articles consumption of the drugs continues unabated and "it is probable that there is also a rising prevalence of emotional and physical dependence on them."

Cody Caves Designated Government Reserve

VICTORIA (CP)—The cabinet placed a government reserve on the Cody Caves of Kootenay Lake area Tuesday, protecting them for future development into a tourist attraction.

The reserve covers 195 acres on a mountainside containing the limestone caves near Ainsworth Hot Springs.

An exploration party from the Parks Branch recently explored 1000 feet into the caves without locating an end to them.

Government spokesmen said there are no immediate plans for development of the caves.

Timber Block May Be Divided

VICTORIA (CP) — Forests Minister Williston said Tuesday he may settle a timber rights fight between two pulp companies by dividing the timber block between them.

Mr. Williston made the comment in an interview after hearing proposals from United Pulp Company and Weldwood of Canada Limited involving timber between Squamish and Quesnel.

Each promises to build a multi-million dollar pulp mill if it gets the timber but both want the same area.

Mr. Wiliston presided over the hearing in a crowded courtroom.

No Presidential Trips Scheduled

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. officials are looking for a favorable Soviet response to President Johnson's invitation to Soviet leaders to visit the United States. Johnson might go to Russia, but seems likely to travel first to Western Europe and Latin America.

Administration sources emphasized Tuesday that no specific presidential trips abroad are yet scheduled, nor have specific invitations been solicited or received. This groundwork is to be laid in the weeks ahead.

Johnson raised the prospect of visits by himself and the Russians in his message to the U.S. Congress Monday night.

Administration authorities said he was showing a general expression of interest rather than a specific plan.

It is believed that Johnson would particularly like to visit the big four NATO capitals—London, Paris, Bonn and Rome.

One possibility talked about for a Latin American tour is a swing through parts of South America late this spring. It was noted that an inter - American meeting is scheduled for Brazil next May.

Aides said Johnson is particularly interested in having the new Russian leaders personally see the economic strength of the United States.

In Moscow, the invitation to the Russian leaders was reported without comment by the Soviet goevrnment newspaper Izvestia.

Viet Cong Vanish "Like Ghosts"

DAT DO, South Viet Nam (AP) — The Viet Cong guerrillas vanished from the Binh Gia area again Tuesday as government forces, rebounding from their worst mauling of the war, formed up for a counter-offensive. Patrols hunted vainly in this area 12 miles to the south of Binh Gai for the Communist guerrillas.

"They are like ghosts," complained Brig.-Gen. Cao Van Vien commander of the South Vietnamese 3rd Corps. "They disappear when you go after them."

Winter Tough On Game Birds

EDMONTON (CP) — Brutal cold, suffocating snow drifts, birds of prey and motorists are decimating Western Canada's game bird population.

A winter that has brought an abnormal amount of snow to southern regions of Alberta and the coldest one in Saskatchewan since 1933, has resulted in the estimated loss of several hundred thousand pheasants and Hungarian partridge.

Wildlife officials said Tuesday about 50 to 60 per cent of the two breeds have died. Continued cold and snow could virtually wipe them out in some districts.

These estimates, and the sight of thousands of dead or half-starved birds along highways and around country grain elevators has brought action from several quarters.

N. A. Willmore, Alberta minister of lands and forests, said he would propose amending Alberta Game Act regulations this week to allow hawks and owls, which have been preying on the pheasants, to be shot until after the danger to the other birds had passed.

Prairie farmers have been asked to clear strips of land and to spread grain and gravel for the hungry birds. The Alberta lands and forest department has for the first time offered to pay for grain if farmers have none.

NDPs To Vote No Confidence If Gov't Action Not Taken

By KEN KELLY

OTTAWA (CP)—New Democratic Leader T. C. Douglas sees prospects of a rough, tough parliamentary session.

If the government doesn't investigate serious charges against it and the "unsatisfactory state of affairs in immigration and justice," he said in an interview Tuesday, the New Democrats are prepared to vote no confidence.

He reiterated his demand that Prime Minister Pearson appear before a Commons committee to explain misleading the Commons about the case involving Lucien Rivard, wanted in the U.S. on charges of narcotics smuggling.

Mr. Pearson said Nov. 23 Justice Minister Favreau advised him only a day or two earlier of charges of bribery and coercion against ministerial assistants. He admitted he was first advised Sept. 2.

The New Democrats want clarification of this and other aspects of the affair, said the NDP leader.

"Alleged improprieties and scandals have lessened the government's enthusiasm for going to the country. They'll weigh that against the possibility it might get worse.

FEELS EVASIVENESS

"I don't think we've got even a corner of the lid off. A lot of things are going on that don't fit together. You get a feeling of evasiveness."

He would like to know if two RCMP officers who were ordered retired from the service remained eligible for pension "to keep them in comfort or in silence."

The NDP leader was referring to the case of Superintendent Rene Belec and Sub-Inspector J. H. M. Poitras whose dismissal was reported to have been recommended by RCMP Commissioner George McClellan but who were ordered retired instead.

Mr. Favreau's replies on this subject had been "the kind of evasion we were getting after Nov. 23 on the Rivard case when we had to extract information an ounce at a time."

The NDP also wants a further statement from the government on the case of the Sefkind brothers "who fled to New York leaving behind more than $2,000,000 in debts."

YARMOUTH, N.S. (CP) — Fishermen and ship owners in southwestern Nova Scotia, aroused by the death of two lobstermen in a wild December gale, are suggesting a royal commission investigation into operation of the Canadian Coast Guard.

Body's Electricity May Soon Drive Pacemaker

By JOHN E. BIRD

OTTAWA (CP)—A research program has been launched by the National Research Council in an attempt to develop a pacemaker to stimulate the beat of a damaged heart which would be operated by electricity produced naturally by the human body.

Pacemakers now in use to control a heart condition known as heart stoppage are operated by small batteries which are implanted in the body. Patients face an operation every five years or so for replacement of the battery.

Pacemakers are used on patients whose heart beat has slowed down to the point where the output of blood from the heart is not sufficient to maintain normal life.

When the brain fails to produce a heart beat signal, the pacemaker generates a small electrical impulse which stimulates a heart beat.

The aim of the NRC program is to produce a device which would convert chemical energy produced by the body to electrical energy.

Orest Z. Roy, an engineer with the division, said Tuesday in an interview that the program so far has had some success and some failures.

Pearson U.S. Visit Informal

WASHINGTON (CP) — Inormality will be the keynote of Prime Minister Pearson's call on President Johnson here Jan. 15, officials of both countries stressed Tuesday.

The White House announced that Pearson will visit the president as the prime minister returns from a Florida holiday, begun Saturday.

Pearson said before leaving Ottawa he planned to visit Washington, but declined to say whether he would see the president.

There won't be a formal agenda.

RCMP Expect Bonanno Has Underworld Ties

By DAVE McINTOSH

OTTAWA (CP)—It is "quite possible" that Joseph (Bananas) Bonanno, a Mafia chieftain in the United States, has underworld connections in Canada, an RCMP spokesman said Tuesday.

He added laconically that Bonanno didn't give any reason for seeking landed immigrant status, first step toward Canadian citizenship, when he arrived as an "Arizona businessman" in Montreal last May.

The spokesman was commenting on New York press reports that Bonanno, who disappeared Oct. 21 the day before he was scheduled to testify before a rackets grand jury in New York, rules a gangster empire which extends into Canada.

The reports also said that a fugitive brother-in-law of Bonanno, Frank Labruzzo, acted as caretaker for Bonanno's Brooklyn operations while the latter was in Canada last year.

Bonanno didn't stay long in this country. He was picked up by the RCMP on instructions from the immigration department and charged with perjury for falsely claiming he had no criminal record.

Bonanno left Canada July 30 for Chicago. His Montreal lawyer, Raymond Daoust, has testified at the Dorion judicial inquiry that Bonanno left voluntarily but an immigration department spokesman has said he was expelled.

The RCMP spokesman said the force had no occasion to look into Bonanno's activities in this country once he had departed. Neither was it known exactly what his underworld connections in Canada might be.

The spokesman said Bonanno, a reputed one-time gun-runner for the Al Capone mob, had never been in Canada before for any length of time.

The New York rackets grand jury has been told that Bonanno- 59, has more than 60 racketeers in his Mafia "family" or branch. One of the Mafia's chief operations is international narcotics trafficking.

Bonanno's name has come up repeatedly at the inquiry headed by Chief Justice Frederic Dorion of the Quebec Superior Court into allegations of attempted bribery and influence-peddling by federal ministerial aides. The inquiry resumes at Montreal Jan. 12.

Nearly 80 Inches Of Snow Falls Here

A total of 79.2 inches of snow has fallen in Nelson since the beginning of the 1964-65 winter season, according to officially recorded figures. And the weatherman forecasts more snow for today and tomorrow as a ridge of cold air moves gradually southward from northern British Columbia.

On Tuesday the heavy snowfall was whipped by a sharp wind. The temperature rose to 32 degrees and hovered just above the freezing point until evening. Nine inches of snow were recorded Tuesday.

Highway crews battled around the clock on all highways in the district to keep traffic flowing but motorists reported travelling extremely rough, especially during the night.

All roads are reported in fair winter condition but chains or good snow tires are strongly recommended by highway officials. Meanwhile, police maintained regular patrols and impounded cars or fined motorists who impeded crews.

Robert Lister of Beasley was fined $20 and costs by Magistrate William Evans after police charged him with leaving his vehicle unattended on the highway. The impounded vehicle cost the owner from $5 up to reclaim.

In Trail, 82.6 inchbes of snow has been recorded, six inches more than the 30-year all-winter average of 76 inches. Cost of snow removal, too, continued to soar at a rate of $1000 a day.

City Aldermen Sworn In By Nelson Magistrate

Three aldermen returned to office by acclamation were sworn in by Magistrate William Evans at the statutory meeting of council Monday night.

Taking the oath of office for two-year terms were Aldermen Edith Van Maarion, D. F. Porteous and J. H. McMillan. The swearing-in ceremonies preceded a meeting attended by some 30 citizens, civic members and business officials.

Highlight of the session was an address by Mayor E. T. Bodard, text of which was printed in Tuesday's paper.

Following a brief business meeting, proceedings culminated with notes of thanks from committee chairmen, as well as Mayor Bodard.

Former transit chairman, Ald. H. Farenholtz, who will now head the public works committee, commended the effort of C. J. Connor, transit superintendent, "who is doing an outstanding job in keeping the equipment rolling." He also lauded the safety record of transit drivers for "keeping the transit system going without accidents."

Accolades were also given by Ald. Frank Beresford, former Park's Board chairman who was appointed finance committee head. Terming his association with his previous office a "very successful year," Ald. Beresford said, "I would like to thank superintendent of parks, Neil Derby for his co-operation."

He also had praise for H. A. Turik, Civic Centre recreation superintendent, as well as members of the Civic Centre Commission. "It certainly was a pleasure working with them," he added.

Mayor Bodard introduced Magistrate William Evans to the gathering, as well as Police Chief H. M. Tomlinson.

"I'd like to thank all of you for the splendid turnout," the mayor said, adding the wish for continued attendance at future council meetings "so that you may be conversant with city matters." He also expressed the hope there would be "sufficient money to take care of snow removal."

The mayor also stressed the need to "set down a working pattern" for council in that it was difficult for an alderman working on one committee to "appreciate the problems" of another committee.

Mayor Bodard also introduced two former mayors, N. C. Stibbs and Joseph Kary as previous guardians of civic rights which he described as "becoming a rarity now."

City Issues Regulations To Aid in Snow Battle

To cope with the mounting problem of snow removal from city streets, the public works department issued Tuesday parking restrictions for a 12-hour period on the following thoroughfares:

Bus route through city; Baker Street, from 100 to 800 block; Vernon Street from 500 to 900 block; Front Street; Latimer Street; Anderson Street; Stanley from Vernon to Latimer Street; Ward Street, from Front to Latimer Street; and Josephine from Vernon to Latimer Street. The directive says that any vehicle found parked longer than designated "shall be impounded at owner's expense."

Due to the extreme difficulty of keeping lanes open, refuse collection in residential areas will be made from streets only, and residents are requested to deposit garbage cans at, or near the roadside on their regular collection days. This does not apply to business areas, where the regular pattern of refuse collection will continue unchanged.

All owners, the notice continued, or occupants of business premises shall, in accordance with bylaw 1155, section 13, remove snow and ice from the sidewalk abutting their premises before 11:00 a.m., in the forenoon each day.

Owners of vehicles with no off-street parking facilities can avail themselves of the Civic ball grounds free of charge.

"It is with the utmost regret that it has been found necessary for our department to invoke these regulations. However, we trust that you will appreciate that it is for your own convenience that we are taking these steps," the notice, signed by Mayor E. T. Bodard, concludes.

Alert Dog Helps Policeman Foil Nelson Store Robbery

Nelson city police Tuesday credited a German Shepherd dog with preventing what might have been one of Nelson's most successful robberies.

Constable Ted Chayeski was on his regular night street patrol with his dog "Brett" shortly after 3 a.m. Tuesday morning when the robbery was discovered at Emory's Men's Wear.

Const. Chayeski stated that he was checking the premises of Andrew's Shoe Store in the 500 block Baker Street when his dog suddenly began to growl and led him to Emory's, where the officer noticed that the glass had been broken out of the front door.

With his dog in the lead he entered the building to investigate. As he was searching a back room, the dog, still on a leash, gave another growl and charged back into the front just as a man darted out of the building and onto the street.

Constable Chayeski stated that he gave chase with the dog and was ready to let go of the leash if the burglar got ahead of them, but they steadily gained ground as they ran north on Josephine Street and then west on Vernon.

The thief was captured and arrested in front of the post office. The accused was taken back to the police car, which was parked on Baker Street, and the officer summoned help.

CLOTHING PILED UP

With the prisoner locked up, police returned to the scene to find a large pile of clothing on the floor of the store, tied up with ties and raincoats.

Frank W. Nichols appeared before Magistrate William Evans in city police court later in the day and was sentenced to three years' imprisonment. He pleaded guilty to the charge of breaking and entering and theft.

Evidence presented included some change and set of cufflinks found in the man's pocket. The officer stated that Nichols tossed other cufflinks away during the chase.

The 22-yearold Nelson man also admitted to six previous charges, three of breaking and entering, one of robbery with violence, two of theft over $50 and one of theft under $50.

GLASS REMOVED

Investigations revealed that the glass window was completely removed from the door, the theory being that if a patrolman came along, his flashlight would not reflect on the broken jagged edges of the glass. The burglar also waited until the noise from near-by snow plows drowned out the sound of breaking glass.

Police feel the crime could have gone undiscovered for hours had the dog not led his master to the door.

Brett, a four-year-old German Shepherd, is privately owned and trained by Constable Chayeski. This was the second occasion that the dog assisted police in a capture, the first being a couple of months ago when police caught a peeping tom. "Brett" suffered an injury to his right foreleg during the chase.

Chief H. M. Thomlinson later stated his department has been a little hesitant in using the dog during a regular patrol. However, as recently as Monday he granted the officer permission to use the dog on patrol after 3:00 a.m. The robbery was discovered shortly after 3:00 a.m. on Tuesday.

An inventory revealed that $691 worth of clothing, including shirts, ties, pants and raincoats were piled on the floor.

Bodard, Harper To Coast Meet

Mayor E. T. Bodard and C. W. Harper, city administrator, will journey to Vancouver January 8-9 to take part in a symposium at the invitation of Hon. D. R. J. Campbell, Minister of Municipal Affairs.

Open to elected representatives and city administrators, the meeting is for the purpose of discussions on plans, urban renewal and housing related to National Housing and provincial legislation.

Prior to the motion by Ald. H. Farenholtz which approved the Vancouver trip, two other attempts to find council unanimity failed. It was initially proposed by Ald. D. F. Porteous that "all members attend", a view encouraged by Mayor Bodard, who thought that knowledge gained at the symposium would be "advantageous to the city".

A motion by Ald. Porteous that G. A. Butling, town planner, Mayor Bodard and C. W. R. Harper, city administrator, attend the Vancouver meeting was defeated with opposing votes by Aldermen F. Beresford, Edith Van Maarion and M. B. Ryalls.

Ald. Van Maarion thought the town planner alone should be sent to the meeting, which drew an objection from Ald. Farenholtz, who suggested sending the city administrator and Mayor Bodard. He said that information garnered at the meeting would be of interest to "more than the town planner."

Ald. Van Maarion's motion was also defeated with holdouts by Aldermen Porteous, Farenholtz and J. H. McMillan.

538 Placed On Dam Jobs

Gordon M. Meyer, manager of Nelson's National Employment Office, reports that 1964 was a successful year in terms of men and women placed in employment. The 1885 jobs filled by the office represented a 7.1 per cent increase over 1963 totals.

The major area industries of logging, lumbering, mining and construction all experienced good levels of activity. Indications for 1965 suggest that last year's successes should be repeated.

N.E.S. placements on the Duncan and High Arrow dam projects during 1964 totalled 536. Of these, 236 were workers from the Nelson area while N.E.S. at Trail placed 178 men, primarily on the High Arrow, which borders on the area served by the Trail National Employment Office.

In 124 instances suitably experienced union workers were brought in from other NES areas. Construction schedules on the Columbia River Development program suggest that hirings during 1965 will be considerably greater.

Keep An Eye On Wires, Residents Asked

Residents who don't want to find themselves suddenly bereft of electrical power should take care that ice build-up on lead-in power lines to their homes isn't excessive, says J. W. D. Cramb, city electrical superintendent.

"With the adverse weather and consequent need for the co-operation of our electrical customers," said Mr. Cramb, it is suggested that residents check their homes and keep them clear of ice where wires lead into the house." He added that too many broken wires at one time would tax the efforts of his department and inevitably "someone would be left without power for a long period of time."

Homes with lead-in wires under the eaves are particularly subject to ice build-up during a mild thaw, and too much snow on rooftops can also create a hazard to underlying wires if the mass should slide off in one piece.

BATHHOUSE BURNS

An early morning fire Sunday destroyed a small bathhouse on the property of William Makaroff in South Slocan.

The fire, discovered by passers-by at about 4:00 a.m., completely destroyed the small wooden structure and washing facilities and machines inside. Damage was estimated at approximately $1500.

An overheated stove is believed to be the cause of the blaze.

Light Bills To Carry City Message

A letter, to be included with regular light bills to ratepayers, asking the co-operation of city motorists during the current snowfall, was approved by city council at its statutory meeting Monday night.

The message says in part: "The city's public works department is currently working with all available city equipment in use, plus rented equipment, in order to keep traffic moving."

For motorists who persistently park in the streets, the letter cites section 40 (d) of bylaw 1165 which admonishes: "It shall be unlawful for any person in charge of any vehicle to park same in any street so as to interfere with the proper plowing of such street or lane by the city public works department and any infraction of this Section shall be liable to the penalties herein provided."

Continuing, the message says: "It is realized that snow conditions this year are extreme and city council would request your full co-operation in moving your vehicles when the snow plows are in your vicinity, especially move those vehicles which have been parked for long periods of time."

The letter is signed by Mayor E. T. Bodard.

FORTUNATELY no one was in the Airlines Service building in Trail when the 40-foot-square roof collapsed with weight of snow recently. The falling roof destroyed one car which was parked outside the building and damaged another, when the concrete and wooden walls fell outwards to strike the cars. Employee Jim Forbes missed injury by deciding not to go to work at the usual time, consequently was not in the building. Two buses were taken out minutes before the structure collapsed.—Photo by Louis Fryling.

Japanese Bus Generators Prove Faulty

EDMONTON (CP)—Four new Japanese-built buses have been pulled from service because their generators can't produce enough power to meet the city's new illumination standards, S. R. Davies, director of equipment for the Edmonton transit system, said Monday.

"It was our fault for not specifying what would be demanded of the generators," he said. They functioned well otherwise, he added.

Efforts are under way to increase the generators' output and one of the buses should return to service Wednesday, he said.

Edmonton bought Japanese buses for the first time this year after many years of using only Canadian products.

Sea Cadets' Vessel Thought Sunk by Vandals

KELOWNA (CP) — Seacocks opened by vandals may have been the cause of the sinking New Year's Eve of the Pandozi, a former ferry used on Okanagan Lake.

The ferry, retired in 1958 and later sold to the city for $1, had been tied up at a dock here and used by Sea Cadets.

E. F. Lawrence, city engineer, advanced the supposition that vandals opened the seacocks. He said the department would hire a diver to check the sunken vessel.

Last Saturday Mayor Dick Parkinson had said it was likely a storm that kicked up waves and spray on the lake "probably caused the actual sinking of the boat." He said water may have washed through open hatches on the deck.

Timber Frame Experiment To Start at Luton Soon

LONDON (CP) — An experimental development of 100 Canadian-style timber frame houses is to be put up at Luton, a prosperous light industrial town 40 miles northwest of London.

The announcement is one of the first signs that the Canadian government's three-phase program to boost timber framing in Britain is making a practical impact on British builders and local authorities.

The Canadian-style houses, which will be erected in pairs and small terraces of six or eight dwellings, were chosen by Luton's housing committee because these can be built faster than traditional bricks-and-mortar homes.

Councillor Peter Moore, committee chairman, said the houses would cost from £300 ($900) to £800 more than the average £2000 council-built homes, but it was felt the construction speed was well worth the extra expense.

"If the experiment is successful we shall consider building more."

The first house will be completed in about six weeks and from then on the dwellings will be put up at the rate of 10 a week.

Dismissal Motion Denied Purchasing Commission Chairman

VICTORIA (CP) — County Court Judge M. L. Tyrwhitt-Drake Tuesday said suspended provincial government purchasing commission chairman G. E. P. Jones must offer a defence on charges of accepting benefits.

He denied a motion for dismissal by defence counsel.

Giving his reasons orally for dismissing the motion, he said "There has been a great deal of incriminating material" adduced by prosecutor Lloyd McKenzie.

"There is evidence here to go to a jury," he said.

Judge Tyrwhitt-Drake noted a motion for dismissal such as that made by defence counsel Hugh McGivern on Dec. 23 can "only succeed if there is no evidence at all."

Three days of next week, starting Tuesday, have been set aside for the trial.

Jones was charged last fall under a criminal code section entitled "frauds upon the government" with unlawfully receiving benefits in connection with two car deals.

He was subsequently suspended by the cabinet from his purchasing commission job.

Charged with conferring the benefits is George Hankinson, president of the now-defunct Pacific Chrysler Products Limited.

Representing Jones in court Tuesday was Victoria lawyer T. P. O'Grady, who told the court Mr. McGivern could not appear because he is snowed in at his home in Vancouver.

PGE Derailment Affects Four Units, Four Cars

WEST VANCOUVER (CP) — Four engine units and four boxcars left the track at nearby Horseshoe Bay Monday night, disrupting service on the Pacific Great Eastern Railway.

Officials said all units remained upright and that there were no injuries.

Passengers were carried around the derailment Tuesday by bus. Crews said they hoped to have the line reopened later in the day.

Cause of the derailment was not immediately known.

Pr. George Fires Burn While Only Truck Breaks Down

PRINCE GEORGE (CP)—Two houses were destroyed in fires early Tuesday while the only fire truck was sidelined by a minor breakdown.

Mrs. Harold Mallery and her three children escaped in their night clothes from the fire in their house at Mile 4 of the Hart Highway.

Ninety minutes later another blaze a mile farther north destroyed a second house, which was empty at the time.

Heavy Snow Plays Havoc in East Kootenay Outage

Heavy snow causing flashovers and general transmission difficulties held up Cominco operations in Kimberley for about an hour Sunday.

West Kootenay Power and Light Company general manager W. K. Gwyer said the difficulties occurring at the Kootenay River plants resulted in an outage which affected also the Bluebell Mine at Riondel and Creston industrial and domestic users.

He thought that Creston was the most seriously affected. Slocan Valley users were also inconvenienced.

WKPL line crews worked nearly around the clock Sunday to restore normal power transmission and distribution.

Let's Declare War on the Snow

It might be that the City of Nelson is lacking in imagination in the matter of snow clearance.

While city crews and all available city equipment are working around the clock to keep the streets clear, and sanded, the results have been less than spectacular.

In many cases, snow plows are hampered by automobiles parked at curb-side, many of which have stood in the same location since before the first snowfall, in direct violation of section 40 (d), of bylaw 1155, which provides that it is unlawful to park on any city street "so as to interfere with the proper plowing of such street."

Automobiles in violation of this bylaw should be towed away and the owner prosecuted to the full extent of the law.

One Kootenay city finds it advantageous to plow the streets in such a way that the snow is piled in the centre of the road, from where it can easily be picked up by trucks and hauled away.

Surely this method is superior to the one used in Nelson which sees mountains of snow pushed to the curb where they bury parked cars, plug driveways, render parking meters useless and provides a difficult situation for pickup trucks attempting to dispose of it.

Perhaps snow clearance could be expedited if parking was permitted only on alternate sides of the street on alternate days.

Another suggestion is that entire cleared streets be opened for parking and closed to traffic while others are being plowed.

A method found satisfactory in certain cities is to post "No Parking" signs at each end of a downtown street which is to be cleared, thus allowing a thoroughfare to be completely cleared.

It appears that each day the snow gains a little more in its battle with city crews.

Obviously then, new and more imaginative methods must be forthcoming before the problem gets entirely out of hand.

97 Patrolmen for 23,000 Miles

Highways Minister Gaglardi wants to set up his own provincial highway police patrol to provide the strict enforcement of traffic laws advocated by B.C. safety officials.

An RCMP spokesman says such a patrol is unnecessary — all that is needed for more thorough enforcement is more men and equipment for existing RCMP traffic divisions.

However the enforcement is provided, it is clear that there is a pressing need for it. B.C.'s rate of serious traffic accidents is far above that of areas in North America where enforcement is intensive. And there are but 97 policemen available to patrol the province's 23,000 miles of rural highways and roads.

No matter how hard these men work — and nobody suggests that they are not doing the best job they can — it is simply impossible for them to provide anything approaching strict enforcement.

Since 1964 promises to be the worst year ever for traffic deaths, injuries and property damage in B.C., and since it is so obvious roads cannot adequately be patrolled by 97 men, why is nothing being done?

"My contention has always been that there should be more patrolling of highways," Mr. Gaglardi said recently. Why, then, has adequate patrolling not been provided? Is it because the many more policemen and additional equipment that would be required are thought to be too expensive?

Tens of millions of dollars are spent each year by the provincial government in building highways and bridges. This year almost $70 million will be collected by the government through gasoline tax and motor vehicle licence fees.

Is reducing traffic deaths and injuries less important than laying blacktop? On the subject of costs, what about the 20 per cent increase in car insurance premiums necessitated by the havoc on our roads?

Does the motoring public, faced with this extra burden, need to be convinced that money would be better spent on law enforcement that would reduce accidents?

There might be some merit in Mr. Gaglardi's idea for a provincial patrol force, but it would appear that the simplest and quickest way to step up traffic enforcement would be to increase the RCMP budget. It does not seem unreasonable to estimate that the force's traffic patrol strength could be tripled for about $2 million more per year.

This is a drop in the bucket compared with provincial government items like $25 million bridges.

Enforcement is a life-or-death problem that has been ignored far too long. It should be dealt with as an emergency at the next session of the legislature.

Propaganda in 'the War on Poverty . . .'

Since New Democratic Leader Douglas announced his plan to launch a "war on poverty" recently, a CBC program has tried to provide ammunition in the shape of some highly questionable statistics.

The broadcast painted a dreary picture of underheated schoolhouses, underfed Maritimers and underprivileged slum-dwellers. Half of Canada's farmers can't make a proper living, it said.

If this is true, then a major national crisis has crept over the land. Oddly enough, few Canadians seem aware of it — not even the farmers.

The prairie wheat farmers may have missed the news, however, since so many of them are wintering in places like Florida and California. Maybe we'll learn more about their poverty when they return for spring plantings.

But it might also be that much of this poverty which is to be warred on exists more on paper than in fact.

It can be said, for example, that a person who has no income is destitute. Thus all children and housewives can be classed as destitute — more than two-thirds of the population.

Add to this the chronic welfare cases, the bums and drifters, and you have a mighty impressive total in the no-income and low-income brackets. But is it realistic?

How does a CBC broadcaster — or anyone else — measure poverty? What exactly constitutes a "proper living?" Are Canadians starving or being forced to live in Hong Kong style ghettoes?

There is poverty, certainly, and probably there always will be. But it is dangerous to describe it in vague and sweeping generalities as this CBC program does, perhaps in striving for sensationalism.

In Mr. Douglas' case it may be mere wishful thinking, for his brand of politics is more apt to thrive in bad times than in good.

China as Nuclear Power Emphasizes Communist Relationship to Cold War

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

A mushroom cloud over China and a coup in Moscow gave a new look in 1964 to the cold war.

The two events which helped to produce the new climate were the Chinese Communist explosion of an atom bomb and the Soviet upheaval which sent Nikita S. Khrushchev into oblivion.

In Communist countries, the result of the events was to add confusion to disarray. Among European Communists dread over what the Soviet leadership change might mean was eased toward the end of the year as the Kremlin indicated it would hew to the line of internal economic development. Among impatient Communists in Asia and Africa, there was a quickening of pulse, a surge of new confidence produced by China's intrusion into the nuclear club.

Elsewhere, there has ben reluctant recognition that China, eager to keep violent revolution in motion, has laid claim to status as a nuclear power. There was uncertainty about how far the Kremlin might go toward meeting Peking's demands for a more aggressive policy, but at year's end Moscow seemed in a cautious mood.

How will these events affect the global political struggle? It will take time for the picture to unfold. From what is known today, some guesses can be made about things to come:

SEEM LESS TRUCULENT

There are both good and bad signs. On the credit side, the Kremlin's tone seems, if anything, less truculent than Khrushchev's had been. It professes to seek better relations with the United States and broadened trade relations over a long period with the entire West. Its 1965 budget emphasis on building the Soviet internal economy seems to indicate willingness to seek some sort of relaxation of tensions.

But Moscow's contest with Peking for leadership of world communism could impel the Kremlin to assert itself strongly in tinderbox areas. This may already be happening in Southeast Asia and Africa. Chinese efforts to shut the Russians out of such enterprises as Viet Nam and The Congo rebellion could spur the Kremlin to prove itself the genuine champion of revolution, and this could bring perilous showdowns.

Still, the new regime exhibited caution. One reason for Khrushchev's fall was his tendency to get in over his head, as witness his Cuban missile venture and his indiscriminate threats at the drop of a crisis.

Shouuld the Kremlin feel constrained to harden its policy gradually toward Washington, it could mean some aspects of peaceful coexistence were being sacrificed in the interests of doing political battle with Peking.

On the other hand, Kremlin pronouncements toward the year's end hinted it has little hope of persuading Peking to end the quarrel of Soviet terms. The Kremlin apparently prefers to persuade the world's Communists Moscow's line offers a more effective, if slower, route to power.

DANGERS SEEN

The Southeast Asian mainland can be regarded as the world's most dangerous single area. China's enhanced world authority can make it even more dangerous than it was.

In South Viet Nam, where the U.S. has committed 22,000 Americans and a flood of dollars to holding off a Communist take-over, there are signs that the Communist Viet Cong already sniffs victory. Attacks became bolder and stronger toward the year's end.

The least North Viet Nam and China seem to hope for is to force the South Viet Nam question to a conference table and some form of neutralization. This would be regarded by many as an initial step toward domination of the mainland by Peking.

A potentially worse sitnation could develop to the south, in the dispute betwen Indonesia and Malaysia.

President Sukarno of Indonesia, who has vowed to crush Malaysia, would welcome a far more militant Communist policy on this issue. His country has the third-largest Communist party in the world.

AUSTRALIA ALARMED

Indonesia with a population of 90,000,000, is well equipped with Communist arms. Its attitude toward Malaysia, a country of 10,000,000, so alarmed Australia that the Australians have begun to bolster their military power. Prime Minister Sir Robert G. Menzies said Australia would have to be prepared for any eventuality.

If China's nuclear explosion encourages Sukarno to take bigger risks, perhaps direct attack on Malaysia, Asia might be on the brink of general war.

The Chinese atomic explosion and the Soviet shake-up worry India. Moscow under Khrushchev had joined with the United States to protect India from Chinese threats. But part of the Chinese price for a truce in the Communist battle might be decreased Soviet aid to India. Late in the year, however, Indian confidence in Moscow's continued support semed to be reflected in India's posture.

Japan, too, had reason to worry. A changed Soviet policy could mean new pressures on Japan, already concerned about the emergence of a new nuclear power next door. But Japan, too, provided a point of conflict in Soviet and Chinese policy.

South Korea quickly felt the effects of the two events. There was a stepped-up Communist campaign against the presence of U.S. forces in South Korea and new calls for democratic reunification of Korea. Under either Soviet or Chinese auspices, such a campaign sounds ominous.

RUSSIA IS INDIGNANT

The Chinese long have attempted to convince the non-white world it should rally behind China, a campaign which aroused indignation and foreboding inside the Soviet Union.

The Chinese hand is manifest in events in The Congo, in arming and encouraging revolution against the Leopoldville government. Now a contest has developed between Russians and Chinese in The Congo. The Kremlin seems trying to prove it is indeed a genuine supporter of revolution.

Africans have not tended to trust Russians any more than they would trust other white men. There is latent distrust of Asians — including Chinese—in Africa, too. Africans have had harsh experiences with Asians. In many areas they dominate Africa's mercantile life.

However, the developments of 1964 are likely to produce an attitude of respect for China. This probably will be reflected next March in a new Asian-African conference in Algeria.

U.S. policy prospered in Latin America in 1964. Attempts of pro - Cuban revolutionaries to produce chaos in Venezuela were turned back. A far-left threat at the polls to take over Chile was turned back. Premier Fidel Castro, involved in deep economic trouble in Cuba, began to lose his glitter among the younger Latin American generation.

The 1965 Soviet budget and accompanying statements indicate, however, the Russians have just about given up hope of Communist unity on their own terms.

Interpreting the News

Indonesia's UN Withdrawal

By CARMAN CUMMING
Canadian Press Staff Writer

The United Nations, taking a holiday breather in one of its most bizarre assembly sessions, has been thrown into a tailspin by Indonesia's decision to pull out of the world body.

Diplomats hardly know whether to laugh or swear. Privately, some have done both.

"At first I thought it was just Sukarno's idea of a bad new year's joke," one commented. "But there doesn't seem to be much doubt now that he means business."

President Sukarno, 63-year-old dictator of 100,000,000 underfed Indonesians, has pulled surprises before, but never like this one.

There was little public reaction as UN delegations absorbed the shock Monday. But the prevailing attitude was one of puzzlement over what, exactly, Sukarno is up to and how his plans will affect the future of the UN and of Southeast Asia.

PLANNING ATTACK

Specifically, there was fear Indonesia was quitting the UN to clear the decks for an attack against neighboring Malaysia.

There was also rumor and speculation that Sukarno might be planning some sort of new international grouping among the non-aligned countries. But first reaction from such non-aligned leaders as Yugoslavia and Egypt indicated they have no wish to go into such a grouping, at least not under Sukarno's leadership.

Plans of this sort would fit with the past pattern of Sukarno's policies, which have pointed to a desire to embellish the country's image abroad, and to extend its sphere of influence throughout Southeast Asia.

Critics say he has followed this path at the expense of economic and social welfare at home—or even to draw attention away from the domestic plight.

Certainly there has been an unreal quality about some of the ways the regime has dealt with social ills. One Indonesian official suggested recently that the hunger problem and the rodent problem could be dealt with easily if the populace would only develop a taste for rates.

HELPED BY UN

The latest Sukarno manoeuvre seems to fall into the same pattern, particularly if it means the country must go without UN aid.

Since joining in 1950, Indonesia has received UN aid worth more than $24,000,000, and many more projects are on the books.

The UN, in fact, was instrumental in setting up the country 15 years ago when it put pressure on the Dutch colonial rulers to release Sukarno from prison and negotiate independence.

And two years ago the UN was considered by many to have furthered Indonesia's aims by supervising the Indonesian takeover of West Irian (West New Guinea) from Dutch control.

Despite all this, Indonesia now accuses the UN of becoming a tool of the U.S. and Britain, apparently because it has accepted the Malaysian Federation as a bonafide country despite its defence links with Britain.

Sukarno calls Malaysia a neo-colonialist plot to maintain British influence in the area and has attributed the withdrawal from the UN to Malaysia's election to the Security Council. But he has given no indication whether Indonesia will come back to the UN when Malaysia's one-year term ends.

Western diplomats say Sukarno's use of the neo-colonialist charge, which generally strikes sympathetic cords in the Afro-Asian bloc, has raised little enthusiasm in the case of Malaysia. Some even say they doubt that the Indonesian delegates themselves really believe it, although they faithfully echo Sukarno's policy line.

DEPENDANTS EXEMPTION (Children)

The basic exemption for children is $300 for those under 16 years and $550 for those over that age up to 21 years. At first appearance this would appear to provide no difficulty but numerous letters are received each year regarding claims under certain sets of circumstances.

A child born in Canada and living in Canada on December 31 of the taxation year cannot be claimed for more than $300, because the child is qualified for family allowances regardless of the fact that no allowance was received. However, if the taxpayer is supporting HIS child and the child has permanent residence in another country then $550 may be claimed as the child would not be qualified for family allowance.

$550 may be claimed for a child under 16 who became deceased at any time in the taxation year. This would apply even if the child died late in December and family allowance was received for the entire year.

There is no claim at all for still-born children. The child must have been born breathing to be qualified for the exemption. In cases where a child died shortly after birth, the taxpayer should attach a note from the doctor in attendance stating that the child actually breathed. In all cases like this the exemption is $550. Funeral expenses are not deductible.

Children of immigrants who have taken up residence in Canada during the taxation year and whose parents are in receipt of family assistance are treated just as if they were qualified for family allowance. However in the first year of residence, if it is to the taxpayers advantage he may claim such children for $550 if he adds the amount of family assistance received to his TAX PAYABLE under "Tax Adjustments."

For a personal reply, enclose a self - addressed FIVE cent stamped envelope, plus 25c for each question to C. A. Miller, care of the Daily News.

Question 1. Our baby died within an hour of birth. Can I claim any exemption?

Answer. YES. Claim $550.

Question 2. My son age 14 is now attending school in England. He will be there for three years. Can I claim $550 for him plus his school expenses?

Answer. You may claim $550 exemption but nothing at all for his expenses.

New Immigration Policy Topic for Parliament '65

By JOHN E. BIRD

OTTAWA (CP) — Parliament in 1965 may be asked to approve a new immigration policy designed to attract more qualified immigrants to this country.

Immigration Minister Tremblay made such a commitment in the Commons last August. However, he was no more specific about what may be done than any of his Liberal or Conservative predecessors.

Successive ministers of immigration have been promising a new deal in immigration ever since the Conservative government of John Diefenbaker took office in 1957. However, present policy is almost unchanged from that followed for more than two decades.

The Immigration Act and regulations last were amended by Parliament in June, 1953, during the Liberal administration of Louis St. Laurent. In that year Parliament removed a catch-all clause from the act and regulations under which the government had had the power to prevent the entry into Canada of any person it didn't want.

Changes in immigration policy in recent years have been accomplished by amendments to regulations under the act. This is done by cabinet order-in-council and does not require parliament approval.

AGREE ACT UNFAIR

The last changes in the regulations were made in 1962 during the Diefenbaker administration. They permit the entry into Canada of any persons regardless of race or color provided they have the skills and qualifications necessary for them to become absorbed in Canadian economic and social life.

Members of Parliament from all parties agree that the Immigration Act, in many respects, is unfair and discriminatory. They also agree that the minister of immigration has too many discretionary powers.

However, both Liberal and Conservative governments have found reforms are easier demanded than effected.

One of the main problems is to grant prospective immigrants certain rights without harming security arrangements Canada has with other countries for obtaining information on undesirable immigrants and for other security purposes.

The present Liberal administration apparently has found a way around these difficulties.

Mr. Tremblay told the Commons in August that he plans to ask Parliament to amend the Immigration Act to make possible a new, aggressive and positive policy to attract newcomers to Canada.

He said Canada has reached the point where such a policy should be adopted to attract immigrants and facilitate the movement of people who want to come to this country.

NEW APPEAL BOARD

The minister did not say when he would propose the amendments. He said this would be done following a complete reform of the administration of his department's services.

This reform likely will be completed early in 1965. If the government plans to go ahead with its proposal to amend the act, this probably will be done at Parliament's 1965 session.

At the same time, the government will propose the establishment of an immigration appeal board which would be independent of the department and the minister of immigration. Rulings of the present appeal board can be upset by the minister.

The act or regulations also may be changed in 1965 to take care of a problem created by a Supreme Court of Canada decision. The court ruled in a 6-to-3 decision that the minister of immigration does not have unlimited powers to order deportation.

The court's decision referred to persons ordered deported who are granted permission by the minister to remain in Canada for a stated period of time. It said that if such a person is not deported during this period the minister cannot after the expiration of the period rule that the deportation order be enforced.

MORE IMMIGRANTS

Meanwhile, increased efforts by the department to persuade more qualified immigrants to come to Canada are starting to pay off. The flow of immigrants for 1964 will exceed 100,000 for the first time since 1960. Arrivals totalled 104,111 in that year and declined to 71,689 in 1961, 74,586 in 1962 and 93,151 in 1963.

The 1964 immigration year was highlighted by charges in the Commons that the rights of foreign nationals have been abused under the Immigration Act. Opposition members said many of these nationals—mainly seamen in Canada illegally—have been kept in jail for weeks and months without real justification.

Toronto lawyer Joseph Sedgwick was appointed by the government to investigate all allegations about the maltreatment of aliens held in jail for long periods before their cases were dealt with or before being deported.

In 1919 farmers' candidates entered politics in Ontario and Alberta. In Manitoba, in 1920, 12 farmer candidates were returned in a general election. But the great drought and depression of 1929-35 weakened all farmers' organizations that had sprung up earlier in the century.

New York Fashion Designer Says

Top Couturiers Become Fewer, Exclusiveness Thing of Past

By JEAN SHARP

TORONTO (CP)—The days of exclusive haute couture are almost over, says New York fashion designer Geoffrey Beene.

In Toronto for a showing of his spring collection, Mr. Beene said he believes Paris is still the fashion centre of the world, although the differences among New York, Paris and Rome styles are becoming less and less apparent.

But, he said in an interview, there are fewer top couturiers than before the Second World War and some of those have added other businesses to their fashion work.

He speculates that women who can afford haute couture originals no longer want to take the time for fittings. And in this day of rapid communication, copies of originals in almost any price range can be bought as fast as the originals.

Pirated copies are a chronic problem in the fashion world, one against which North American designers have no legal protection. Mr. Beene said he has had a dress copied and on the market before he could supply his own buyers.

WINS FASHION AWARD

Mr. Beene, who has had his own business for only two years, is the winner of the Coty design award, given by United States press fashion critics.

His spring collection features long jackets and slender coats, with string and sash belts and dressmaker touches. Several evening gowns show an influence from the 1930s in flowing chiffon skirts and long overblouses. Others, in abstract designs, are slender shifts.

Mr. Beene said he put emphasis on a tailored look for daytime, a softer look for evening, with use made of a Beene specialty—bias-cut tops.

He said he aims for simplicity of both cut and style.

"It is the hardest thing to achieve, to have enough interest without too much. I think eventually fashion will end in stark simplicity."

Low Calorie Fried Chicken, Tuna-Pineapple Salad Add Zest

It's natural to become calorie conscious in January, after all the rich foods of the festive season. This does not mean a cutback in appetizing foods, but simply a reduction in calories through the method of cooking.

The Mennonite Treasury of Recipes compiled by the Steinbach committee and women of Niverville, Arnaud, Ste. Elizabeth and Grunthal, contains a section on low calorie dishes, which are attractive enough even for those who do not need to cut down calories.

FRIED CHICKEN: (115 cal. per serving, verus 235 cal. per traditional 4-ounce serving).

Cut three-pound fryer into serving pieces. Rub each piece all over with cut lemon, squeezing lemon as you rub. Then salt each piece with Lawrey's seasoned salt or onion salt, lifting skin and salting well underneath. Sprinkle with black pepper. Put pieces in covered dish and let marinate overnight in fridge. When ready to cook, melt one tablespoon butter in heavy skillet, brown pieces lightly on all sides, pressing down and moving the pieces around to prevent sticking.

Lift browned chicken into flat casserole.

Into the brown, crusty remainder on bottom of skillet, pour half cup boiling water and scrape residue until bottom is clean. Add salt to taste, perhaps a little sugar until nicely seasoned. Pour over chicken.

Cover casserole with aluminum foil tightly. Bake in 350-degree oven for 40 minutes. Remove foil, bake 10 to 15 minutes longer or until chicken is golden brown.

Harvard Beets, Devilled Cauliflower Pep Up Menu

A sure way to pep up meals in January is to add interest to the vegetable menu.

Harvard Beets and Devilled Cauliflower are a good contrast in both color and flavor.

HARVARD BEETS: ½ cup sugar, 1 tablespoon cornstarch, ¼ to ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ cup vinegar, ¾ cup water, 3 cups diced, cooked beets; 2 tablespoons butter.

Mix cornstarch, sugar and salt together in saucepan. Add vinegar and water gradually, stirring until smooth. Cook for about five minutes, stirring constantly, until mixture has thickened. Add beets to hot sauce, stir gently and let stand for several minutes. Before serving, bring beets to a boil and add butter. Stir once or twice and when butter has melted, serve piping hot.

Makes 6 to 8 servings.

DEVILLED CAULIFLOWER: 1 head (3 pounds) fresh cauliflower, boiling water, 1½ teaspoons salt, 1/3 cup butter or margarine, 2 teaspoons prepared mustard; ¾ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, ¼ teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon pepper, dash of cayenne.

Wash cauliflower and remove large outside leaves (leave the small, tender leaves attached to head). Place whole head in a saucepan with one inch of boiling water around it. Add the 1½ teaspoons salt. Bring to boil and cook, uncovered, for five minutes. Cover, and cook 12 to 15 minutes, turning head several times.

Meanwhile, melt butter in a saucepan, and remaining ingredients. Pour over cauliflower. Makes 6 servings.

JOINT EFFORT

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP)—A joint effort of neighboring municipalities is needed to combat the problem of air pollution, Mayor Stuart Gifford said in his inaugural address to council Monday. Mayor Gifford told the first meeting of the 1965 council that the city's smoke control committee was ineffective and suggested efforts be made by a combined attack by all municipalities on the Lower Mainland.

Hints From Heloise

By HELOISE CRUSE

Dear Heloise:

Here is a wonderful idea for those who sew:

Take the RED strip from a package of cigarettes and a piece of cellophane tape a little longer than the strip. Place the red strip carefully down the centre of the sticky side of the tape.

Measure five-eights of an inch (the usual seam allowance when sewing) to the right of the hole that your sewing machine needle goes into.

Lay the centre of the red cellophane strip on this mark and extend it straight up and down from this point.

Then cover completely again with more tape, making sure that the strip stays parallel with the side of the machine all the way.

Do this job very carefully and the little strip will stay on your machine for years.

Charlene Steele

* * *

Now, isn't that tricky? And lots of us oldsters, or those who wear bifocals or glasses can see the red tape more easily! I also caution you girls to be careful when applying the little red strip . . .

If the tape shrinks, gets dry, or looks like it is deteriorating around the edges, for goodness sake, tear it off and replace it.

Maple Leafs Increase WIHL Lead With 4-2 Victory Over Warriors

Toner, Steinke Play Steady Leaf Games

By MIKE BENNETT
Daily News Sportswriter

Nelson Maple Leafs took control of the play from the opening faceoff and never let up as they downed the Rossland Warriors 4-2 here Tuesday night to increase their lead in the Western International Hockey League to five points.

Taking a 2-1 lead at the end of the first period, the Leafs held out in a scoreless second frame and scored two more in the third stanza as the Warriors were unable to penetrate a tight Nelson defence.

Carl Chwachka, Danny Calles, Mike Laughton and Dave Toner each with singles, powered the Leaf attack, while Rossland winger Billy Martin and Sid Gallamore replied for the Warriors.

Kromm's Kids were first on the scoreboard when jolting Joe Conn went off for highsticking at 1:34.

Howie Hornby led the Nelson powerplay as he wheeled his way through the Rossland defence to rag the puck in the Rossland corner.

Taking a pass from Hornby, big Buck Crawford flipped the puck to Chwachka and the hard skating right winger made no mistake as he handily tipped it into the open corner.

The Warriors came back near the 11-minute mark on a fine 3-man rush as Ed Legare and Martin powered their way over the Leaf blueline to set up Gallamore who fired a high shot that caught the top left-hand corner.

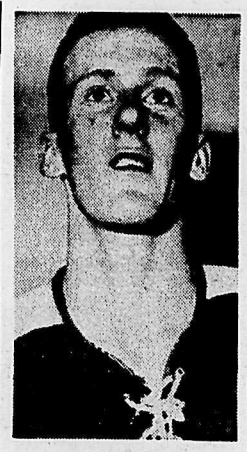
Leafs immediately took control of the play, swarming all around the Rossland cage.

Calles picked up the loose puck at the side of the net and drilled a hard shot that deflected off the skate of Warrior netminder Seth Martin and it trickled in behind him.

Play during the scoreless second period was hard-fought all the way and it was only due to the superb netminding acrobatics of Martin that the score did not change as Leafs threw everything but the waterjug at the cage.

Nelson assumed command from the beginning of the last 20 minutes of play as Leroy Mowery took the draw to fire a blazing slapshot at the Rossland net which Martin blocked nicely but failed to clear.

Chwachka swung in and took a shot as Martin came up with another great save but Laughton roared in to slap the disc home, as the Warrior defence failed to clear.



DAVE TONER
. . . showed Leaf sparkle

Toner, who has been a sparkplug for the Nelson club in the last few games, capped the Leaf scoring on a Nelson powerplay as Doren Hamilton was sitting out a tripping penalty at 13:50.

Playing coach Bob Kromm and Crawford started the play at centre ice and hemmed the Warriors in their own zone.

Accepting a pass on the point from Crawford, Kromm took a blazing shot that Toner neatly tipped in from in front of the goal.

Warriors attempted a comeback late in the frame when Martin capitalized on a goalmouth scramble after Conn and Gallamore set up the play from their own zone.

Bill Steinke, who continues to show fine offensive power, played an excellent game for the Leafs on defence, as he forechecked well and carried the puck with authority.

The win for the Leafs gives them a firm grip on first place in the WIHL as Kimberley Dynamiters trail by five points going into the late stages of the season.

The loss for Warriors, coupled with the 5-4 victory by Trail Smokies over the Spokane Jets gives the Silver City squad sole possession of fourth place with several games in hand.

WIHL action continues Thursday when Smokies host the Warriors.

Lenardon Leads Way As Trail Vacates Cellar

TRAIL (Special to Daily News) — A breakaway goal by Norm Lenardon with less than four minutes remaining capped a come-from-behind effort by the Trail Smoke Eaters and led the club to a 5-4 victory over Spokane Jets before 500 fans here Tuesday night.

The goal, Lenardon's second of the night was a patented Lenardon effort. He manoeuvred in behind the Spokane point man when play was in the Spokane end, gathered in a clearing pass from playing coach Cal Hockley and raced the length of the ice to beat Jet netminder Dave Cox with the winning marker.

The win was the seventh in eight starts for the resurgent Smokies and allowed them to dig out of the league basement for the first time since Hockley took over the reins last winter.

Gerry Penner, Mel Unger and Pinoke McIntyre scored the other Trail goals.

Former Calgary Stampeder, Jim Moro, Ken Cameron, Derek Gibson and Charlie Goodwin replied for the Jets who built up 2-0 and 4-2 leads at various stages of the contest.

TAKE EARLY LEAD

Spokane broke into an early lead with goals by Moro and Cameron in the first frame.

Penner took a pass from Dave Rusnell, gained a stride on a defenceman and roared in to score a beautiful power-play goal while Ray Hamilton sat out the period's only penalty and the frame ended with the Jets leading 2-1.

Lenardon knotted the count at 2-2 midway through the second period when he managed to poke the puck past Cox with one hand while off-balance after colliding with the Jet goalie.

But Gibson climaxed a three-way passing play from Joe Morneau and Ron Bahr at 14:45 and Goodwin took advantage of poor Trail clearing to give the American club a 4-2 cushion going into the final frame.

HIGH DEFLECTION

Mel Unger fired up the Trail squad with an unusual goal at 5:10 of the final period when he deflected George Ferguson's chest-high drive from the blueline into the upper left hand corner.

Pinoke McIntyre set the stage for Lenardon's winning tally when he took a pass from Hockley and picked the short side from a difficult angle at 11:23.

The win, combined with a 4-2 victory by Nelson Maple Leafs over Rossland Warriors in Nelson gave Trail sole possession of fourth place and set the stage for a crucial battle between the two teams in Trail Thursday night.

Alouettes Grab Faloney In Five-for-Three Swap

By JOE DUPUIS

MONTREAL (CP) — After four years of trying to get him, Montreal Alouettes finally acquired quarterback Bernie Faloney from Hamilton Tiger-Cats Tuesday, but had to give up four first-string players to do it.

In a no-cash, five-for-three deal, the Alouettes gave up Billy Ray Locklin, 27, who plays either offensive guard or defensive end; guard Dick Walton, 23, and defensive halfbacks Billy Wayte, 26, and Ted Page, 22, and Don Clark, 27, an all-star halfback who retired prior to last season to seek the security of a year-round newspaper job in Akron, Ohio.

The Ticats are hoping they'll be able to talk Clark into returning.

On their part, Hamilton gave up Faloney, 32, one of the game's great clutch players; and two defensive halfbacks, Ralph Goldston, 34, and Jackie Simpson, 29.

Alouette owner M. E. (Ted) Workman said the deal is binding even if the players involved don't want to report.

Goldston, a mainstay of the Tiger - Cat defensive backfield for nine seasons, reacted to the trade by saying he would come to Montreal only as a player-coach.

Jim Trimble, head coach of the Alouettes said Faloney was "favorable" to the trade.

HAS STANDINS

Hamilton coach Ralph Sazio said he agreed with the Faloney trade because Ticats had adequate replacements in either Canadian Frank Cosentino or Joe Zuger, an import.

Sazio said it would be difficult to determine from Faloney's play last season how many years he has left as a player.

"I would say that his play last year was as fine as any in his whole career.

"He'll make the Als a contender next year."

Workman said the Alouettes had obtained in Faloney "the one commodity missing in recent years in the football formula for success."

The "commodity" to which Workman alluded was quarterbacking, a vital position that was left gaping four years ago when Alouettes lost their great signal - caller Sam Etcheverry when a trade with Hamilton fell through.

Originally, the Alouettes traded Etcheverry and Hal Patterson to Hamilton for Faloney and defensive end Don Paquette. But the deal fell flat when Etcheverry insisted he had a no-cut, no-trade section in his contract and refused to report to Hamilton. He eventually went to the St. Louis Cardinals of the National Football League.

Faloney's credentials as a great quarterback after nine seasons of Canadian football are unquestioned. An agile six-footer at 198 pounds, he first gained fame in Canada in 1954 when he led the Edmonton Eskimos to the Grey Cup over the Alouettes. A native of Silver Springs, Md., he went to Hamilton in 1957 after missing a year in football.

He guided Hamilton to the Grey Cup final seven times, and won the big classic twice, in 1957 and 1963.

Pro Baseball Anti-Trust Strengthened

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Clement J. Zablocki, concerned over the prospective transfer of Milwaukee Braves to Atlanta, introduced legislation Monday to end the partial exemption of professional baseball from the antitrust laws.

Zablocki, a Wisconsin Democrat, said that the agreement to transfer the Milwaukee team and other recent activities have "dispelled any doubt that baseball is first a business and only secondary a sport."

The present exemption allows members of baseball leagues to agree on territorial rights and also sanctions control of players' services through such devices as the reserve clause in contracts.

Zablocki said that if the exemption were repealed, the way would be open to expanding the present major leagues or starting a third one. He said the Supreme Court had upheld the present exemption and remarked that if any changes were made, it should be by legislation.

Hec Gervais Upsets Lyle Dagg 12-3 In Tournament of Champions Play

By IAN MacLAINE

TORONTO (CP)—Ernie Richardson's near perfect draw shot on the second-last stone in the 10th-and-final end gave Saskatchewan a thrilling 9-7 squeaker over Hersch Lerner's Manitoba foursome in first-round play as the second annual Tournament of Champions Bonspiel got under way here Tuesday night.

The Saskatchewan-Manitoba tilt was the only one that provided any real down-to-the-wire action as Alberta romped over British Columbia 12-3. Prince Edward Island bombed the United States champions from Duluth, Minn., 15-4, and Ontario scored a handy 11-5 win over the Northern Ontario quarter tette of Bob Ash's 1964 Canadian high school champions from Kirkland Lake.

Manitoba's vice-skip Bob Lemecha was counting two rocks on the outside ring when Ernie Richardson drew inside. When Lerner removed that stone, Richardson then drew just shy of the button, leaving Lerner with only a takeout necessary to win the game.

But Lerner's take-out shot, which would have left the Manitoba crew with four rocks counting, went right through the house to give the four-time Canadian and world championship Richardson rink the victory.

Hec Gervais' Alberta rink scored a mild upset in their victory over the B.C. entry skipped by Lyall Dagg from Vancouver.

Dagg, the 1964 Canadian and world champion, was never in the contest as Alberta opened a 4-0 lead in the first end and never did look back despite some token opposition in the second and fourth ends when Dagg counted singles.

ONE SIDED

The P.E.I.-U.S. match was strictly no contest after the first end when Bob Magie's Minnesota foursome opened up a short-lived 1-0 lead.

Then the island team, skipped by Doug Cameron, went to work with two in the second, singles in the third and fourth, and broke it open with a big six-ender in the fifth.

Murray Roberts' entry from Unionville, Ont., didn't leave its match with the schoolboys in doubt for long, building up a 9-2 lead after seven ends before the Northern Ontario rink finally got untracked and came up with a big three-ender in the eighth.

Three rounds are slated for today, in the morning, afternoon and the evening round.

In the morning's second-round action Ontario meets the U.S., P.E.I. is pitted against Northern Ontario, B.C. plays Manitoba and Saskatchewan meets Alberta.

World Hockey League Proposed

MELVILLE, Sask. (CP) — The Canadian Amateur Hockey Association has approached Russia with a proposal for an international amateur hockey league involving the top five contending countries, Gordon Juckes, CAHA secretary-manager, said Wednesday.

Juckes, in a telepohne interview, said the CAHA had put forth the idea of a league involving the United States, Canada, Russia, Sweden, and Czechoslovakia to the Russians during a tournament last week at Colorado Springs, Colo. Canada finished last.

He said the idea was discussed with Russian hockey officials who planned to discuss it further with Sweden and Czechoslovakia when the Russians returned home. It was hoped that after such talks, the matter would be brought before the International Ice Hockey Federation at its annual meeting, to be held this year in Tampere, Finland during the world hockey tournament.

Juckes said the Russians showed interest in the proposal and said they would hold talks with the other European countries. He said they were not in a position to say what they could do about the proposal, but appeared generally enthusiastic.

Decision on the league would need support of the International Ice Hockey Federation. Juckes said he could not say how long it would take to set up such a league if it were approved.

He said the plan involved a 24-game schedule for each team. For instance, Canada would make one European tour, possibly late in December and early in January.

Canada would play each of the European teams three times during the tour. Later they would play three games in the United States with the U.S. Nationals.

Following that, each European team would make a tour of Canada and the United States, playing three games in each country.

Juckes said he thought the league could pay for itself if the crowds were good.

"I think, considering the support we've been getting at international games here, we would have no trouble pleasing large crowds if games were played in the major cities like Edmonton, Winnipeg, Toronto and Montreal," he said.

"And there is little doubt the crowds would be good in Europe." Juckes said the idea of making the tour late in the year would be easy on university students playing for the national team. They would be off school for Christmas at that time.

"Such a league would be of particular advantage to us, because it would give our national team good international competition before the next Olympics. It would also help cut down expenses of some of the European trips the team now has to make in order to get international competition.

Juckes said the idea was just an extension of the world hockey tournament prparations the CAHA has been using to date. He said Canada's choice for the proposed league would be its national team.

Your Individual Horoscope

By Frances Drake

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is ,according to the stars.

For Thursday, Jan. 7, 1965

MARCH 21 to APRIL 20 (Aries) — An auspicious outlook for those who are keen of eye and willing of hand, for good efforts ably channelled. If involved in a debate with no end in sight, re-evaluate, call in a disinterested party to aid.

APRIL 21 to MAY 21 (Taurus) — You may have a disagreeable disposition to deal with, or unexpected hazards. But your bright spirits and knowledgeability will turn things to advantage, if you remain up to standard.

MAY 22 to JUNE 21 (Gemini) —Work at work time, and stop to contemplate when that benefit is due. Do not switch your schedule around to its detriment. But gradually give more power and concern to prime endeavors.

JUNE 22 to JULY 23 (Cancer) — Surge forward confidently but not with abruptness. Speak with surety, but with tact. Presume and assume only after careful, thorough study of a subject.

JULY 24 to AUGUST 23 (Leo) — Some persons may be furtive and sly now, but Leo is usually above such tactics, so be careful not to fall into a trap. Some dandy advantages.

AUGUST 24 to SEPTEMBER 23 (Virgo) — Participate in activities which are "musts" first, then you will have time for the "desirables." Just so you do not put the cart before the horse and become witlessly involved!

SEPTEMBER 24 to OCTOBER 23 (Libra) — Shun break-neck speed, but neither delay nor be tardy in action. Both extremes, and others MUST be curbed. Group interests, partnerships favored.

OCTOBER 24 to NOVEMBER 22 (Scorpio) — Put past doubts, disappointments behind you; they only put limits on future success. Stress your versatility; you could add the twist now that boosts projects to success. Plan well.

NOVEMBER 23 to DECEMBER 21 (Sagittarius) —This may not be a "prime" type day, but it offers a lot of gains and enjoyment. Start with the will to make it better than the others this week, and you will be happy.

DECEMBER 22 to JANUARY 20 (Capricorn) — Analysis, conjectures, decisions, must be given a second look-see, studied further to prevent errors. Be alert.

JANUARY 21 to FEBRUARY 19 (Aquarius) — It is not easy to heed all suggestions and directives but, with all your strength and faith, back those you know to be authoritative and timely. There is more to this day than may be apparent at first.

FEBRUARY 20 to MARCH 20 (Pisces) — A good spot for your intuitive forces, your ingenuity, acuteness and inventiveness. See to it that you use them for sound purposes.

YOU BORN TODAY are progressive by nature; a sound reasoner, and one who remains active through life. You like to be with people who also like to do, achieve. You enjoy social functions, music, entertaining. The undeveloped of this sector tend to be moody, may apply their talents to dubious purposes, forget good companionships. Your ability to strive against odds and poor beginnings rarely deserts you, and if you use your tenacity and perseverance rightly, you can achieve great heights. Birthdate of: Gregory XIII, Pope, reformer of the calendar.

Catholic Schools Given Gov't Support in Prairie Province

By DOUG DULMAGE

REGINA (CP) — The bells heralding the beginning of 1965 also tolled the return of something Saskatchewan hasn't seen for more than 50 years—tax-supported separate secondary schools for Roman Catholic students.

More than 15 separate secondary schools have operated in the province during the past 50 years, but all were supported privately.

But the 1964 spring session of the provincial legislature passed a bill allowing the establishment of separate high schools. The legislation came in the form of an amendment to the Secondary School Act, which allowed separate school supporters to collect taxes for separate high schools without also having to support public schools. The Secondary School Act was passed in 1907.

After the 1964 legislation was passed, Roman Catholic ratepayers in Regina, Moose Jaw and Weyburn voted in favor of establishing tax-supported separate high school districts.

Estevan, Prince Albert and Saskatoon ratepayers abandoned the idea and reached agreements with the public collegiate boards.

The present arrangements in Regina call for the public collegiate boards to continue education of Roman Catholic students until June, 1965.

But, as New Year's Day passed the Regina separate high school district became a legal entity.

A separate high school board was set up under Chairman J. G. McIntyre, and a buildings and grounds committee, an education committee and a management committee were formed.

L. A. Reiderer, superintendent of the separate elementary school district, was named superintendent of the separate high school district. Mr. Reiderer said the new board would start advertising later this month for teaching staff to start employment in the fall.

CONFUSION ABOUNDS

Despite an apparent step-by-step program to get the separate high schools into operation, confusion abounded at this early date.

Two separate high schools, estimated to cost about $2,000,000, are to open in September, 1965. And it is expected a seven-classroom addition will be built at an elementary separate school site, also in Regina.

But the board members have yet to give consideration to construction of buildings. Nor have they given consideration to the matter of fees that will be payable to the public collegiate system for the 1,100 Roman Catholic students now attending public collegiates for the remainder of the 1964-65 term.

These fees will be paid in return for the taxes the separate high school district will collect for the first six months of the year while it is not providing school facilities for its students. The fees have not been specified.

It is not known how much tax money will be channelled into separate high school coffers—money that formerly went to the public collegiate board. Educated guesses have it between $600,000 and $800,000 — almost one-quarter of the total high school tax income.

'WILL BOOST TAXES'

Dr. A. E. Perry, retiring chairman of the public collegiate board, said he believed the move would result in an increase in taxes.

Compounding the revenue problem was a provision in the legislation which allowed both Roman Catholic and Protestant ratepayers to choose the system they want to support by filing a declaration.

"Frankly, the possibility of opting in and out of support for a system has us in a little bit of a flap," one city official said. "We'll just have to play it by ear. The ultimate effect of declarations is hard to estimate."

Starting in September, 1965, Grade 9 Roman Catholic students will continue in the separate school system. The number is estimated at 300. For the 1965-66 academic term, the public collegiate system will continue to educate about 800 Roman Catholic students in the higher grades.

Mr. Reiderer said full accommodation for separate high school students should be ready for the 1966-67 term.

Moose Jaw and Weyburn still are working on their proposed systems, but have yet to set up legal separate school districts.

Dockers Pressured To Work Weekends

By ROD CURRIE

LONDON (CP) — Leaders of Britain's dockworkers, under pressure from the government, have agreed to appeal again for members to report for weekend work in a bid to ease the congestion in British ports.

But they angrily deny charges that they alone in the industry are sabotaging the country's vital export drive, and insist that the recent public outcry against dockers is unfair.

The agreement came during a meeting Monday between officials of the Transport and General Workers' Union and Labor Minister Ray Gunter, who later reported to Prime Minister Harold Wilson.

There was doubt that the appeal would have much effect.

Jack Dash, a life-long Communist and head of the unofficial but influential Port Workers' Liaison Committee, called the appeal "a waste of time."

NO UNION BAN

TGWU head Harry Nicholas, while sympathetic to the government's plea, emphasized that although there is no union ban on more work, most dockers already put in 10 hours overtime a week and "we cannot expect them to flog themselves to death seven days a week."

The chaotic conditions building up over the last six months have been strangling Britain's renewed export drive.

The situation, aggravated by dockers taking unofficial holidays during the Christmas-New Year's season, came to public notice during the weekend when most British newspapers carried front-page stories. The Sunday Mirror led the attack by accusing dockers of being "bloody-minded, selfish, arrogant."

But Tuesday several papers tended to side with the dockers somewhat in blaming inefficiency on all sides for the trouble.

"No fair-minded man can absolve the docker for responsibility," says the conservative Daily Mail. "But, equally, no one should blame him for the appalling setup we call a dock system, which we expect to work."

Thousands of Snaps Taken by Navy Jets

By JOHN T. WHEELER

ABOARD U.S.S. RANGER (AP)—A startled woman caught in the midst of a backyard bath looked up as the sleek navy jet swept low over the Laotian countryside, photographing Communist installations along the Ho Chi Minh Trail.

The photograph and tens of thousands of others taken by navy reconnaissance jets in Laos and Communist-controlled portions of South Viet Nam are part of a massive intelligence program that could be a prelude to expanding the Viet Nam war.

If such expansion comes, Communist supply bases and key routes in Laos are likely to be the first targets for aerial bombardment.

A major source of information in the joint navy-air force program is the navy's RA-5C heavy reconnaissance twin-jet known as the Vigilante. A detachment of these supersonic planes operates an intensive flying schedule from the attack carrier Ranger off South Viet Nam.

HAVE WIDE RANGE

The Vigilantes' photo gear is capable of detailed snooping from just above the tree tops to above 40,000 feet.

Cmdr. Paul Werner, 40, skipper of the special reconnaissance detachment, and his crews are accompanied by jet fighter escorts.

"For us it's a strange side of the war," Werner said. "so far none of us have been shot at, but we may look up tomorrow and see the MiGs (Red Chinese jet fighters) coming in on us.

"It's hard to believe there is a war on the plaine (Plaine des Jarres), or in Viet Nam for that matter. The plain and the countryside in Laos and Viet Nam look so peaceful from the air."

Wrong Body Cremated, Hospital Denies Fault

VANCOUVER (CP)—Shaughnessy Veteran's Hospital here disclaimed any responsibility Monday for a mix-up that resulted in the cremation of the wrong body.

The mixup was discovered last Wednesday when the two sons of Joseph Sullivan, 94, went to a funeral parlor and found the body of a stranger dressed in their father's clothes in a coffin.

The body, later identified as Daniel Sullivan, 73, had been scheduled to be cremated.

"The matter is closed," Dr. C. C. Coverton, the hospital's assistant supervisor, said Monday night. "There was no mistake made at Shaughnessy Hospital. The right body was released to the right people."

"It was not," said A. W. Francis, funeral director of Simmons and McBride Chapel. "The unfortunate thing is that the other body was cremated. The Memorial Society (of B.C.) went up to Shaughnessy first and the orderly released the wrong body. . . ."

However, a spokesman for the Memorial Society said "there is no record of either pickup, so how do Simmons and McBride know who got picked up first?"

Records show that Joseph Sullivan died at Shaughnessy Dec. 26 and Daniel at the same hospital the following day. Daniel's family had arranged through the Memorial Society for cremation while Joseph was to be buried in the veteran's section of the cemetery.

Prisoners To Help Battle Snow on Lower Mainland

VANCOUVER (CP) — The services of prisoners were offered Monday night to hard-pressed municipal crews as old man winter kept its inclement icy grip on British Columbia's usually snow-free lower mainland.

The attorney-general's department announced about 100 prisoners at nearby Haney Correctional Institute would be made available for emergency snow removal upon the request of lower mainland municipalities, now in their fourth week of heavy snowfalls and freezing temperatures.

Work parties would consist of prisoners from the minimum security institution accompanied by guards.

Reeve Alex Forst of West Vancouver, a municipality buried under as much as 10 feet of snow, said council was studying the offer.

"We haven't turned down the offer but our engineer says we can't use them without equipment—we would need 20 or 30 trucks to take the snow away—there's no place to shovel it," said Reeve Forst.

Provincial officials said armed forces personnel had also been placed on a 24-hour alert to swing into action should municipalities be unable to cope with mounting snow.

FEAR FLOODING

Neighboring municipalities of North and West Vancouver, fearing serious flooding in the event of a sudden thaw, were considering the army help to clear drainage systems and roadside ditches.

In West Vancouver, nearly 7,000 school pupils were given a three-day break—until Wednesday—from classes.

More than 16,000 students returned to class at the start of the spring semester at the University of British Columbia here despite official fears student automobile traffic would create "havoc."

Near blizzard conditions Monday forced closure of schools in the Chilliwack and Agassiz areas of the Fraser Valley about 75 miles east of here. More than 8,000 students were affected. They were to remain closed today.

Elsewhere in the province, heavy snow falls and cold temperatures forced logging camps employing about 12,000 loggers to remain closed after the usual Christmas holiday.

On Vancouver Island, snow-clogged roads Monday forced closure of all but one school in the Ucluelet-Tofino school district, on the northwest part of the island. Three district schools were expected to reopen Tuesday.

CLEAR ENTRANCES

Crews Monday were clearing entrances to about 20 schools in the Alberni Valley in hopes that 6,000 students could resume classes. Tuesday.

Even the relatively snow-free provincial capital of Victoria was expected to receive some snow Tuesday and temperatures were expected to range from 25 to 35 for the next two days.

The weather station at Digby Island, 500 miles north of here near Prince Rupert, reported a record low temperature of 12 below zero Monday. The previous low of six below was recorded Jan. 23, 1916.

The coastal city of Prince Rupert was buried under a seasonal snowfall of five feet.

The West Kootenay city of Trail, accustomed to heavy snowfalls, has spent more than double its winter budget for snow removal. Snow was still falling early Tuesday but city roads remained open.

No respite for the province was indicated in the latest weather forecasts.

A predicted high of 38 above was forecast for Victoria, while an overnight low of 35 below was predicted for the north-central B.C. city of Prince George.
