Fees Now Directed Into General Revenue Meant for Sewer Fund

By DON KOLFAGE
Editorial Director, The News

Sewer rental fees, established by the 1965 Nelson City Council to provide funds for construction of a sewage disposal plant, are being channelled by the 1966 council into the general revenue fund where they can be used for general municipal purposes.

The current council's action, apparently, is being taken in disregard to a 1965 warning from the B.C. Pollution Control Board that the city must have a sewage treatment plant constructed and in operation by 1969 when the High Arrow Dam will be completed.

Ex-Mayor E. T. Bodard, Tuesday, confirmed that his 1965 council had decided on the sewer rental charges, and had also decided that funds derived would be used for the self-liquidation of debentures accrued through construction of a municipal sewage treatment plant.

Mr. Bodard also confirmed that until such time as the sewage plant was constructed, the council had decided that sewer rental funds would be utilized in three ways only: accumulated for use when a sewage plant was constructed; for financing the further separation of storm and sanitary sewers within the city; or for the acquisition of land for the construction of the sewage treatment plant.

FOLLOWED DEFEAT

The decision to charge sewer rental fees was made by City Council in 1965 after a bylaw to provide funds for construction of a sewage treatment plant was defeated in December 1964 at the polls.

Channelling of the sewer rental funds into the city's general revenue fund enabled Mayor Louis Maglio and the 1966 council to forestall a necessary further three-mill increase in the city's general tax rate.

The council's action also means that the sewer rental funds will not be available specifically for any of the three purposes for which they were designated in 1965.

Knowledge that a sewage treatment plant would be required by 1969, Mr. Bodard explained, came last year when the city notified the Provincial Government of its intention to channel boundary extension sanitary sewers into the city's existing system which, at present, dumps raw sewage into the West Arm of Kootenay Lake.

HYDRO POLLUTION

Mr. Bodard said the Provincial Government at first refused permission for the hookup. Attendance by Mr. Bodard at Victoria, where he pointed out to Government officials that B.C. Hydro, through the Columbia construction, was polluting the Kootenay and Columbia rivers, resulted in permission for the Nelson sewer hookup.

"The head of the Pollution Control Board indicated to me at that time," he continued, "that Nelson's pollution of the lake would have to end in 1969 when the High Arrow Dam would be completed."

Legislation under which the Pollution Control Board was established enables the Board to order construction of a sewage treatment plant without going to the taxpayers for approval of a money bylaw.

Mr. Bodard noted that the sewage treatment plant turned down by the ratepayers in 1964 would have cost about $220,000. The plant, today, he said, would cost an estimated $300,000.

ONE AT EXPO

The same type of plant as proposed for Nelson is being constructed to service the Expo '67 ground at Montreal.

Mr. Bodard said that funds derived from sewer rentals would retire the sewage treatment plant debentures, and leave an excess of funds of more than $10,000 that would have been utilized in continuing the city's program of storm and sanitary sewer separation.

He said that sewer rental scheme as adopted by his 1965 council would have made the city's sewage disposal system "self liquidating and would have alleviated the need for any increase in the mill rate for sewer purposes."

He questioned the right of the 1966 council to funnel the rental fees into the general revenue fund. "The fees were not established for this purpose," he asserted.

Mail Disruption To Be "Minimal"

OTTAWA (CP)—The post office said Tuesday expanded use of existing air and truck services will mean "minimal disruption" of the mails in case of a rail strike.

However, Postmaster - General Cote said in a statement that if the strike occurs an immediate embargo will be placed on mailing of perishable items except those prepaid for air delivery.

A partial embargo on parcel post, newspapers and third class mailings will also be necessary during the strike.

Parcel post, newspaper and third class mailings posted for delivery within the same province will be accepted as usual. They will be handled on a network of road services operated by the department.

AIR SERVICE CONTINUES

First class mail up to eight ounces will continue to be handled by air within Canada. First class mail above eight ounces will be delivered if prepaid at the air packet rate.

Air parcel post will be available as usual.

Where postal services are unavailable to move embargoed mails from one province or postal region to another, special arrangements may, be made between mailers and postal authorities.

This would allow publishers and mail order firms to transport their material for posting in areas where delivery can be made, Mr. Cote said.

Erhard Faces New Crisis

BONN (Reuters)—Chancellor Ludwig Erhard of West Germany had a deepening defence crisis on his hands Tuesday night with the commander of the armed forces seeking to resign, and his luftwaffe chief suspended from duty.

Gen. Heinz Trettner, inspector-general of the 436,000-strong bundeswehr, objected to Defence Minister Kai-Uwe von Hassel's decision to permit trade union activity inside barracks.

His air force colleague, Lt.-Gen. Werner Panitzki, was suspended Monday for a public attack on the defence ministry's handling of the U.S.-designed Starfighter jet plane which has suffered 61 crashes and killed 31 pilots during the last five years.

Panitzki also has submitted his resignation.

Both officers are dissatisfied with the civilian political leadership in the armed forces.

Labor Federation Demands Higher Wage Minimum

VANCOUVER (CP) — The British Columbia Federation of Labor urged the Board of Industrial Relations Tuesday to increase the provincial minimum wage by 75 cents to $1.75.

"There can be no doubt that the more-or-less floor rate existing today is woefully inadequate," said Ray Haynes, secretary-treasurer of the federation.

In a brief submitted to a board sitting here, Mr. Haynes said the $1 an hour scale is 20 cents below the $1.20 federal minimum wage which is based on the low wage regions of the country.

The $1.75 an hour rate is 91 cents an hour below the average wage level in B.C., the brief said.

The federation wished to voice "strong opposition" to discrimination between pay rates for female and male workers, the brief said.

"We would also like to express our dissatisfaction with so-called 'training rates,'" it added. This arrangement permits employers to hire workers for 85 cents an hour over a three-month training period.

Fires Spread In North

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (AP) — A 600,000-acre forest fire has burned across the Yukon border six miles into U.S. territory, forestry officials here reported Tuesday.

A spokesman for the U.S. Bureau of Land Management said the blaze started on the Canadian side of the border about July 1 near the Ladue River.

The spokesman said U.S. fire-fighting manpower is "spread very thin" and so far the border fire is unmanned. He said no Canadian forestry crews have been sent to battle the blaze on the Yukon side.

Sunken U.S. Freighter Blocks Saigon Lifeline

From Reuters-AP

SAIGON (CP)—Saigon's shipping lifeline to the sea was closed Tuesday night after a Viet Cong mine sank an American freighter in the river outlet.

The mine blasted a huge hole in the side of the Baton Rouge Victory as it steamed upstream from the South China Sea toward Saigon along the Lang Tao River.

The blast ripped a gaping hole in the port side of the 21-year-old, 7,601-ton vessel and killed seven of her 45 American crew members.

The ship sank to her main deck 22 miles southeast of Saigon.

The Viet Cong followed up with heavy fire on a U.S. patrol boat cruising on the My Tho River 25 miles southwest of Saigon.

The Baton Rouge Victory grounded at the south bank of a canal that is part of one of the two main channels for shipping between Saigon and the South China Sea. The vessel was out of the way of traffic but the Vietnamese Navy, as a security precaution, temporarily closed that channel.

The explosion capped a week of intensified Viet Cong attacks and sabotage. Officials said the mine, fired by wiring from the bank, may have been intended originally for an ammunition ship scheduled in the channel about the same time.

Meanwhile, the U.S. command Tuesday confirmed that six U.S. Super - Sabre showered bombs and flaming napalm Sunday on a group of sampans and junks. Thirty civilians were killed and 30 others injured.

A spokesman said the raids were made after an American spotter plane was fired upon in an area 25 miles southwest of Saigon.

Gunman Takes Canadian Tot From Mother in Berlin

BERLIN (Reuters) — Police Tuesday searched for Audrey Klewer, a four-year-old Canadian girl reported kidnapped a few hours after she landed in West Berlin with her mother.

According to the girl's mother, Regina Klewer, 28, of Montreal, Audrey was kidnapped by a masked man who held the mother at gunpoint, bound her and then chloroformed her.

The kidnapping took place Monday morning in the home of the mother's father in the fashionable Wannsee district of West Berlin. The mother was reported in a hospital suffering from shock. The two were alone in the house.

Sources said the kidnapper left a note asking for 35,000 marks ($8,600).

Audrey's grandfather, his second wife and one son, returned from vacation Monday for what was to have been a family reunion.

A second stepbrother of the mother was still being sought for questioning. He was reported to live in Hannover and was believed on vacation somewhere in Europe.

SEVERAL INVOLVED

Sources said police thought several persons were involved in the kidnapping which they said could have been plotted only by someone well acquainted with the circumstances of the Klewer family.

Well - informed sources said the girl and her mother arrived in Berlin Sunday morning and the kidnapping took place at 2 a.m. Monday.

CHARLOTTETOWN (CP)—Premier Alex B. Campbell said Tuesday night his government is prepared to declare an emergency in the province if the threatened railway strike results in cancellation of the main ferry service between P.E.I. and the mainland.

Million Dollar Computer Wrecked, Five Dead in Blast

By GEORGE ZUCKER

FORT WAYNE, Ind. (AP)—One body was recovered and four others were presumed buried in rubble in a wire-manufacturing company executive office building ripped by an explosion Tuesday.

Nineteen other persons were injured and a million-dollar computer was destroyed.

"We have one body out," said Sheriff Custer Dunifon at the scene just outside Fort Wayne, "and the four employees unaccounted for are presumed dead beneath the rubble."

The body of one victim found in the shattered two - storey brick structure was identified by Dr. Gordon Franke, coroner, as that of Margaret Sleesman, 24, a company secretary from Fort Wayne.

Three of the missing employees were identified as telephone switchboard operators and the fourth was a research executive who had come over from another building to attend an executive luncheon.

Unaccounted for and presumed dead were Marie Jackson, Ruth DeYoung, Virginia Becher and Earl Smith, all of Fort Wayne.

TELLS OF SCENE

"There were people running all over . . . others were scattered on the grass . . . some were draped over hedges . . . and we found four persons buried in evergreens," said District Fire Chief Charles Lancaster, first fireman to arrive at the Phelps-Dodge Copper Products Corp.

"With all the excitement and confusion," he said, "it was strange that it was so quiet. I didn't hear anyone moan. The injured were too busy helping the injured."

Paul Kleber, 46, a Fort Wayne ambulance driver, suffered a fatal heart attack at Lutheran hospital after delivering a load of injured.

Robert L. Boltz, president of Schwegman Wilfe Co., contractors working in the area, said his employees had "bled" some gas from lines into the building Tuesday morning but he asserted they first received clearance from the building superintendent.

SMELLED GAS

Employees said they smelled gas during the morning but no one suspected a dangerous concentration in the building.

No Way To Halt Friday Tieup; Pearson Calls for Moderation

By BEN WARD

OTTAWA (CP) — Railway and union leaders agreed Tuesday night to meet jointly with Labor Minister Nicholson today in a last-ditch effort to settle their wage dispute before a country-wide railway strike takes hold at noon Friday.

Negotiators for both sides were to gather at 10 a.m. EDT in Mr. Nicholson's office to set the ground rules for the mediation effort.

Even as the mediation talks were being agreed on, Prime Minister Pearson was making a coast-to-coast radio and TV appeal for "moderation and common sense" in resolving the thorny issues.

There appeared little hope, however, that the Friday tieup would be prevented. Union leaders had said earlier that any settlement terms reached in mediation would have to be put to a vote of almost 120,000 union members before the strike deadline could be put off.

Such a vote isn't possible in the hours remaining before the deadline, set at noon regional standard times Friday.

Mr. Pearson said a prolonged strike "could be disastrous" for the nation and would inflict a heavy loss of income on almost all Canadians.

"It is still my earnest hope that mediation—even at this date—will make strike legislation unnecessary," he said in his speech, carried on CBC and CTV television networks and on CBC radio.

"But, if it fails, we will be in a position to place proposals for a settlement before Parliament."

Parliament has already been called for Monday.

Earlier Tuesday night, Mr. Nicholson spent an hour in his office with a 12 - man union group, then went to a separate meeting with railway executives in the Chateau Laurier.

CNR President Donald Gordon, CPR Chairman N. R. Crump, CPR President Ian Sinclair, and N. J. MacMillan, executive vice - president of the CNR, spent more than two hours with the labor minister and his top departmental aides.

Mr. Nicholson said the mediation talks would begin with a brief plenary session involving all members of the negotiating groups, a total of about 30. He hoped quick agreement would be reached to reduce the actual bargaining team to a handful.

B. C. Smith of Montreal, chairman of one of the union negotiating committees, emerged from the minister's office and told reporters:

"We're off to a good start."

Others at the meeting included W. P. Kelly, a vice-president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen; W. J. Smith, president of the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway, Transport and General Workers; Tom Read, chief negotiator for the railway shopcraft unions, and Frank Hall of the Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks.

The Tuesday night developments followed a day-long session of the cabinet and a special cabinet committee working on the strike crisis.

Mr. Nicholson left the cabinet session briefly at noon to report on his plans for preliminary talks with the railway presidents and union leaders.

He said he remained optimistic about the chances of a voluntary settlement, though he wouldn't go so far as to predict that a tieup could be prevented by one.

"This is a very serious situation," he said grimly.

Children Believed To Have Set Fire

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP)—A team investigating Saturday's $10,000,000 fire at the Rayonier of Canada (B.C.) plant said Tuesday there is a "strong possibility" the blaze was started by children.

Provincial fire marshal Basil Nixon said after receiving a report from the investigators that all other possibilities have been eliminated.

Mr. Nixon said that earlier suggestions that children had started the fire were "pure speculation." But now investigators are almost positive children started the fire outside the Scott Paper Company plant, he said.

Flames swept through tinder-dry grass demolished two Scott Paper buildings before jumping a 20-foot-wide road to the Rayonier dry shed, and spreading to the remainder of the Rayonier operation.

Rayonier's loss has been estimated at slightly more than $10,000,000 and Scott Paper has revised an earlier damage estimate of $500,000 down to $300,000.

Mr. Nixon said an interim report was being prepared by the investigators for submission to New Westminster Mayor Stuart Gifford.

The fire marshal said the report will disclose the point of origin of the fire was in grass outside the Scott wire fence along the road separating the two plants.

Original reports said the children, who have not been located, were chased from the area by a Pinkerton guard employed by Scott.

Movie King Bushman Dies

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Francis X. Bushman, whose muscular figure, perfect profile and romantic manner made him "king of the movies" in the silent era, Tuesday fell in his kitchen and died.

The actor, 83, suffered another fall in his Pacific Palisades home Sunday, injuring his shoulder and hip as he stepped from the bathtub. Tuesday he slipped in the kitchen and lost consciousness. His wife called police and officers found him dead.

After 55 years in films, Bushman remained active to his death. He was scheduled to start work Monday in Huntsville, which would have been his first western in more than 300 movies.

Bushman was the first great romantic leading man of films.

Companies, Union Set Up Emergency Train Services

MONTREAL (CP)—CNR and CPR officials signed agreements with union leaders Tuesday providing for emergency train services during any fires or floods, and for maintenance of certain ferry services on the East Coast, if a nationwide rail strike begins Friday.

Following signing of the agreements the union leaders left for Ottawa where Labor Minister Nicholson will hold a round of talks with railway and union officials today on possible settlement of the threatened 120,000-man strike.

Mr. Nicholson was appointed government mediator in the dispute Monday by Prime Minister Pearson shortly after it was announced that a special session of Parliament will be called next Monday to consider legislation on the railway situation.

Earlier Tuesday, leaders of the four union groups involved met in Montreal to consider what action should be taken if Ottawa comes up with either a proposed or imposed settlement.

R. C. Smith, chairman of eight unions representing 54,000 rail workers, said later the meeting had reached no decision on whether any settlement would have to be ratified by a membership vote before the men returned to work, or whether the men could go back to work and then vote on acceptance.

But one union spokesman said there seemed to be a consensus among the leaders that no matter what happens in Ottawa the strike will go off as scheduled at noon local standard time Friday.

STRIKES DIE

Meanwhile wildcat strikes that erupted in three provinces last week, as rail workers walked off their jobs to protest alleged slowness in negotiations with the railways, seemed to be dying Tuesday.

In Montreal, where about 1,400 men were off their jobs Monday morning at the CNR's Pointe St. Charles shops, officials reported all the men back Tuesday.

A total of about 300 men who had been on strike during the weekend in Sydney, N.S., and London, Sarnia, Brampton, Ont., were also reported on the job Tuesday, intending to wait for the beginning of the official strike.

But in Toronto 800 strikers voted Tuesday to continue their walkout and in Windsor, Chatham and Oakville, Ont., another 175 men were still on strike.

Announcement of Friday's official strike date was made in Montreal Monday by officials representing three groups of non-operating rail unions — the 22,000-member associated shop crafts, eight residual unions with 54,000 members, the 22,000-man Brotherhood of Railway Transport and General Workers —and a fourth group of 20,000 trainmen and conductors.

TURN DOWN REPORTS

The first three groups have turned down conciliation reports recommending pay increases of about 45 cents an hour and are demanding increases ranging from 55 cents to $1.23 an hour from the CNR, CPR, and five smaller railways. These men now make an average wage of about $2.22 an hour.

The trainmen, who have turned down a conciliation report that made no specific wage recommendations, make salaries of more than $3.00 an hour.

The emergency service agreements signed Tuesday with the railways provide that trains carrying perishable goods en route when the strike begins will carry the goods on to the consignee.

Designers Livid Over Charge U.S. Girls' Figures Terrible

NEW YORK (AP)—A Briton's suggestion that U.S. females shun short-short skirts because they have second-rate silhouettes Tuesday roused roars of resentment and reams of rebuttal.

Basis of the transatlantic tizzy is the fact that those thigh-high dresses touted by London couturiers haven't really caught on in the U.S.

Safely home from a month-long stand with the London Symphony Orchestra at Daytona Beach, Fla., British violinist David Meshum was asked why. He told airport interviewers:

"American women have such terrible figures. They are doing themselves a favor by keeping them covered up."

Designers in the rival style centre of New York were livid.

"The figures of American women," declared Swiss-born Max Bernegger, "are better than anything Europe has to offer, and I know—I'm European. A skirt four or five inches above the knee is too short for any woman, no matter what she looks like."

AMERICAN'S CAREFUL

"I agree that our skirts are long by London standards," said designer Bill Blass, "but that's not because American figures are bad—they're great. It's just that American women are a little more careful about what they display."

An anonymous New Yorker who lived for years in London voiced another opinion.

"British girls tend to have legs which are practically straight up and down," he said. "But when they wear their hems north of the knee this shortcoming may escape the eye of the casual girl-watcher."

Raleighe Rogers, Boston fashion photographer and model agency operator, commented:

TAKEN 800,000 PIX

"I've taken more than 800,000 photos of American girls and I challenge any statement which knocks their legs. The average American girl has tapering calves and narrow ankles which have as much expression as their hands. Modesty is the reason she won't wear miniskirts."

Mrs. Donna Calkins, a 29-year - old model in Natick, Mass., observed:

"Ive seen pictures of some of those English girls in short-short skirts. With their legs they shouldn't wear them."

Adele Simpson, who runs a dress shop in New York, said the British dreamed up the short-short skirt in an attempt "to show that their fashions weren't as dowdy as everybody thought."

"American women have beautiful legs and feet," she said. "British women have terrible legs and feet. Sophisticated women, even in England, don't wear short-short skirts and don't need to."

Fishery Study Reveals

Alberta Shrimp May Be Responsible for Kootenay Lake Super-Fish

Equipment used in the researchers extensive studies of Kootenay Lake fish is examined by Harold Kniess (left) and research director Dr. A H. Acara (right).

By PETER RICKWOOD
News Staff Writer

Tiny Albertan shrimps may be helping to build up super-fish.

This is just one of the facets of information gleaned by the Nelson research station of the fish and wild life branch, during extensive research programs.

The small station which will soon be celebrating its first birthday, has been carrying out exhaustive studies into the behavior patterns of fish, their food, growth, and birth.

And the efforts of scientists peering through microscopes and examining fish stomachs, will one day help the angler.

Information gained by the Nelson fish boffins will be valuable towards building up future sports fishing in the lakes that will grow up behind dams in the Columbia River project.

For the man made lakes will have conditions similar to those in Kootenay Lake where the famed landlocked kokanees are found.

Nearly all the field research is going on in Kootenay Lake and the streams and rivers that run into it.

Dr. A. H. Arcara, director of the program, said yesterday that its object was to get all the necessary information about fish at the present time.

Prediction of changes could then be worked out from these statistics.

The gathering of information required constant surveillance of the lakes and their inhabitants, and on Kootenay Lake alone, there were nine observation points, checked every month, he said.

Across the Lardeau river, a fish fence had been constructed and this fall, 12 men will be employed around the clock counting kokanees on their way to the spawning grounds.

Already, a count of fry in the Lardeau and Meadow Creek, has been taken, and their mortality rate estimated at 90 per cent.

During the spawning season, water temperatures, ground samples and other important information were gathered.

Food and feeding habits are being studied by bearded researcher Ed Zyblut.

He says that since the small Alberta shrimps were introduced to the Kootenay Lake, the Kokanee had rocketed from an average half pound to a top weight of seven pounds.

For gathering all the information that is required by the researchers, an arsenal of equipment ranging from snow shoes to an echo sounder, has been collected.

It includes sample nets, fish tags — and most of it has been made to the scientists' specifications in the research centre's workshops.

What of the future? "This study will be completed in a few years time. You can't depend on data collected in just one year," says Dr. Acara.

It will be worth waitig for. Dr. Acara speaks of the possibilities of introducing fish management to the new lakes, and that will probably mean bigger and more fish.

There should be some happy fishermen around in a few years time.

Bearded researcher Ed Zyblut photographs plankton, the staple diet of many fish, through camera equipped microscope.

North Shore Assessing Prelude to Plebiscite

Assessment evaluations of North Shore residents are now being made by the Central Kootenay Regional District as a prelude to the possible financing of the North Shore Hall.

Regional planner R. T. Clegg said Tuesday that the Regional District Board agreed to purchase the hall and tax North Shore residents for an undetermined number of years to pay off the indebtedness.

He said that originally financing had been planned over a 20-year period, but as the cost would only be $16,250, the board is now considering two-five or ten year financing.

Before the purchase can be undertaken a plebiscite of the residents affected must be held, and Mr. Clegg said that date of the vote would be set at the meeting of the regional board on September 7, and would likely be held in October or November.

The estimated 500 North Shore taxpayers affected by the purchase must voice 60 per cent approval before the board can act. Prior to the plebiscite a series of public meetings is planned when details of the purchase, and the financial effect on taxpayers will be fully explained.

Mr. Clegg said the bulk of the taxpayers affected are residents of the North Shore.

If purchased, ownership of the hall will be vested in the North Shore residents, and it will be administered by a hall committee.

Revelstoke-Slocan NDP's Name Randolph Harding

Veteran Campaigner Randolph Harding was told Sunday for the eighth time in his political career: "You are the man we want."

Harding, whose political career has just come of age — he was first elected 21 years ago in 1945 — was New Democratic Party MLA for the Kaslo-Slocan riding.

But this election he will have more voters to call on, with the formation of the new Revelstoke-Slocan riding.

Well liked and one of Victoria's eloquent speakers, he was unanimously nominated candidate at Sunday's annual NDP picnic at Box Lake, near Nakusp.

Named at one time in his career as the likely man to take over the leadership of the NDP, Mr. Harding said that he preferred to stay where his family was.

A former schoolteacher, incumbent Harding, spends his free time logging in the Silverton area.

Married with four children, he is confident that even with the new constituents, he will be returned to Victoria.

Harding, born in 1912 at Silverton, where his home still is, started his campaign early.

During the last three weeks the NDP candidate has personally been visiting all new voters, urging them to become registered.

Married, Mr. Keenleyside has five children.

Explain System To Councillors

A $1,500,000 sewage system was explained to the Kinnaird Village council Tuesday night in a report presented by Don McMasters of Associated Engineering Services.

Speaking on the report, Village Chairman Carl Loeblich explained that the village is not going to start building sewer systems but is looking to the future so areas could be set aside for such treatment plants or lagoons as were mentioned in the statement as parts of the sanitary and storm sewer systems.

It was estimated that the total cost of such a project would run in the $1,500,000 region. A frontage assessment combined with a service charge would result in a yearly charge for the average home of approximately $103.80.

School Board, Union Agree

Two new agreements between Nelson District School Board and the Canadian Union of Public Employees, have been settled, and will be signed within the next two weeks.

The agreement will run for two years.

One covers stenographers and the other, the rest of the almost 70 people employed by the School Board, who are members of the union.

BOMBER TO PATROL

PORT ALBERNI CP) — A Martin Mars water bomber based at Sproat Lake near here will remain airborne three hours daily over central Vancouver Island with a full load because of the serious forest fire hazard. The plane's owners said Tuesday the plane can drop its load on any blaze in the area within 15 minutes of receiving a call.

Munro Seeks NDP Candidacy

JACK MUNRO

Jack Munro, 35, of Nelson, first vice-president and business agent of the IWA, Tuesday confirmed that he is seeking nomination as NDP candidate opposing Provincial Secretary Wes Black for the Nelson-Creston constituency seat in the September 12 provincial elections.

Mr. Munro is well-known in the riding where he has been IWA representative for the past four and a half years.

Born in Alberta, Mr. Munro came to British Columbia in 1958 as a machinist with the CPR. Prior to his duties with the IWA he was a mechanic and millwright with KFP.

He is also president of the Nelson-Trail and District Labor Council, a member of the Advisory Board of Notre Dame University, member of the millwright and mechanics advisory board of the B.C. Vocational School, member of the Winter Works Advisory Board, IWA rep. of the Millwright's Apprenticeship Plan, member of the regional executive board of the IWA, and a member of Trinity United Church.

Married, Mr. Munro and his wife Betty have two sons, Terry, 13 and Dale 11.

He is seeking nomination because "I feel that residents of the riding should have a person representing them in Victoria, something they don't have now."

Voters Increase Since Election

TRAIL (Staff) — An increase of voters by 214 over the number registered at the last election was reported for the Rossland-Trail riding.

Vic Arcuri, Rossland - Trail returning officer, states that 14,138 citizens are entitled to vote in the September 12 general election, compared with 13,924 at the last election in 1963.

Mr. Arcuri stated that the number of registrations from the Brilliant - Ootischenia area were disappointing. In the whole of the new area, which was taken into Rossland - Trail after a boundary revision, only 28 people registered to vote.

NDP To Choose Man Tonight

Nelson-Creston Constituency organization of the New Democratic Party will choose a candidate for the September 12 provincial election Wednesday night, the NDP executive announced Monday.

The decision was made at an executive meeting on the weekend.

Only one party, Social Credit, has named a candidate so far — W. D. Black, MLA for Nelson-Creston since 1952.

Progressive Conservative and Liberal party members have given no indication to date.

Report Forest Fire Now Under Control

CASTLEGAR (Staff) — Forest Ranger Hugh Wood, of the Costlegar Forest Ranger District reports that the 80-acre fire which was started Friday by school children is now completely under control.

Water bombers were brought in from Cranbrook to extinguish the blaze which began around noon on Friday and within two hours had completely burned the 80-acres. Ranger Wood said there was no estimable damage resulting from the fire as only grass and brush were burned.

Because of danger of the fire spreading to a group of nearby houses ,the water bombers were brought in. No damage was sustained by any of the homes, but full credit for this goes to the water bombers, said Ranger Wood.

A second fire, also started by children, was extinguished Monday morning, he added. Ranger Wood described this fire as a spot fire which was reported around 11 a.m. and was put out by noon.

A third fire of only minor importance brought fire patrols out at 6 p.m. Sunday. It was started by a cigarette thrown from a passing car and was extinguished within a few minutes.

Large Catch Made In Annual Derby

NATAL — Michel Aerie No. 1864, Fraternal Order of Eagles, staged their third annual fish derby in the Elk Valley district recently.

Headquarters for the day were based at Andy Billy's Ranch, situated some 10 miles west of Natal and up the Elk Valley. The fish derby, for members only, was held from 9:30 a.m. until 4:00 when the 20-odd fishermen competing, brought in their respective catches for weighing in.

Approximately 60 fish were brought in altogether with this year's overall catch showing larger fish than those brought in during last year's derby.

First prize for the heaviest species of fish caught and brought in during the required time limit went to Tom (Wigan) Littler of Michel who caught a speckled trout weighing two pounds and eight ounces. Second place went to Alex Senitar of Natal who likewise caught a speckled trout weighing two pounds and six ounces, only two ounces short of tying the winner.

The entire catch of fish was cooked and consumed.

Chief cook was Harry Sande.

Honeymoon Home Hinders Construction

CASTLEGAR — There's a song called "The railroad runs through the middle of the house," but to Mr. and Mrs. Mickey Kalmakoff the road is going to run through the middle of the house.

Their house is sitting spat dap in the middle of the road. This was not their intention when they built the house but they now find the road on both sides of them and heading straight through their living room.

On July 14, a proclamation inserted in the local newspaper stated that this plot of land would be taken over for the building of a highway.

In 1949 Mickey Kalmakoff bought this piece of land and built a house on it — his honeymoon home — near the present highway. His lot was later split in half by a back road allowance for the subdivision of these lots.

Mickey sold the front half of the lot with the house on it and moved away from Genelle for a while.

He came back later and built his home with the intention of living there for many years.

This house was the only one built on these back lots. Mickey thought that when he built there, other people would follow suit and Genelle would continue to grow.

But alas, Mickey finds, instead of vacant lots on both sides of him, he has a highway aimed right through the middle of his home.

This is progress.

Why are they still living there? Because it's their home say Mr and Mrs. Kalmakoff.

I asked what they intended to do. "What would you do?" said Mickey.

Me? I don't know.

METALS SURVEY STARTED

Silver, Lead and Zinc Supply Examined for World Demands

From the Chamber of Mines, Nelson, B.C.

SILVER SPARKLES

It has been reported that the federal Dept. of Mines and Technical Surveys is making a survey of the silver, lead and zinc resources of Canada in relation to world supply and demand for these metals.

Lead and zinc demand appears to be approaching a balance with production but this may be affected by new lead and zinc mines being brought into production in both Canada and the U.S. Silver is the big question mark at present due to many variables that may affect its price.

The present price is pegged by the U.S. government at $1.29 per oz. U.S. or a Canadian equivalent of $1.40 due to exchange. Most of Canadian silver is obtained as a by-product from lead and zinc mining operations and a few silver mines in Ontario and British Columbia. Cominco Ltd., and United Keno Hill Mines Ltd., are two of the largest producers. Free world consumption in 1965 was 388 million oz. whereas production was 221.5 million ozs. a deficiency of 166.5 million ozs.

Up to the present time the U.S. has been able to control the price of silver through release of the metal from their stock pile at the fixed price of $1.29 per oz. U.S., but their stock pile has been reduced from 1.8 billion ounces in 1961 to approximately 700 million ozs. at present, a drop of 1.1 billion ozs.

This large reduction has been caused by increased industrial use, redemption of U.S. silver certificates, coinage demand due to vending machines and widespread hoarding in hope of an increased price which will make the value of the silver content of the coinage more valuable than the face value.

To alleviate this situation the U.S. is to discontinue minting silver dollars and is practically eliminating the use of silver in the rest of its coinage. Canada will be faced with the same problem in the use of silver in its coinage, otherwise a drain will be caused by hoarding by both Americans and Canadians of our coinage for the silver content.

As recently as last year American citizens were picking up Canadian silver coinage which was circulated to alleviate their own shortage of coinage, being accepted without discount that possibly made the transaction profitable in some instances.

GAIN SEEN

Predictions of the future price for silver runs from $2.20 to $3.00 per oz. depending on what the U.S. Treasury can do to conserve the silver strategic stock pile by encouraging greater domestic production by subsidy such as proposed for gold, increase the price or devise some other means to produce more silver.

Properties in the Kootenays with past silver production could well be re-investigated for future profitable operation in the event of an increase in the price of silver which appears to be inevitable.

We have been informed that Lamint Mining Corporation Ltd., has obtained a lease on the Ottawa Mine of Slocan Ottawa Mines Ltd., at Slocan. Kirsch Silver Mines Ltd., has discontinued work on the Myrtle property at Slocan for the time being but is drifting and raising on the Anna in the same vicinity with about 300 feet to go in the drift to intersect the ore. This company is branching out and has recently incorporated an Idaho company called Kimex Inc., to explore and develop a large molybdenum property in this state that would be mined by open pit methods. They are also negotiating to acquire other properties in Idaho.

Johnsby Mines Ltd., has intimated to Western Exploration Co., Ltd., that it will probably suspend operations at the latter company's Standard and Mammoth property at Silverton. in the near future after having spent some $400,000 in exploration and development without encountering the projected reserves of ore.

NEW PROGRAM

Silmonac Mines Ltd., is well advanced on its new program of development at the Sandon properties. Two "cats" have been employed on stripping operations at both the Minniehaha lode and the Dorothy and Mascot workings with surface diamond drilling to follow. Underground work is to resume from where it was suspended in 1964. It is planned to advance the face on the main lode, and to raise in the section of the lode in which short high-grade shoots were found in previous work.

So far as we know Antoine Silver Mines Ltd., has not as yet intersected the Antoine vein in the Tom Moore crosscut but is close to where the ore was projected to be.

Buchanan Mines Ltd., is doing extensive work on the Colorado vein at this company's Retallack silver, lead, zinc property which is estimated to be 18 feet wide and extends into the Irene claim of Cominco's Whitewater property. Buchanan has obtained a lease of the Irene claim from Cominco so that work may continue into this ground.

Blue Star Mines Ltd., is concentrating on getting a raise through from the main level for ventilation before it can proceed with full scale mining to provide ore for its mill at Ainsworth. Compressor equipment, charging plant and other utilities are being installed to expedite the operation. It is thought that the limestone bands which contained the ore in the Whitewater mine may contain easterly into the Blue Star Caledonia property. If this is the case there might be a chance for an extensive orebody.

It is reported that Hillroy Mines Ltd., has found some nice specimens of tetrahedrite ore on the Winona property in the Jackson Basin near Retallack.

New Fortune Mines Ltd., announced it will drill a molybdenum property on Kootenay Lake. This would appear to be the J. C. Derbyshire property at Crawford Bay, B.C. but this has not been confirmed.

MILL STARTED

Giant Soo Mines Ltd., started up its 100-ton mill at its Estella property at Wasa, B.C., the first week in August and is now in the tune-up period. Work in the mine is being concentrated on stope preparation to ensure a continuous flow of ore to the mill.

Apolla Minerals Ltd., of Vancouver, a new company in the area, has acquired and staked over 70 mineral claims at the headwaters of Meacham Creek east of Snow Crest and White Grouse mountains east of Kootenay Lake.

Nakusp . . .

Hot Springs Title Going To Village

NAKUSP (Staff) — Owner of the Nakusp Hot Springs, Mrs. Florence Leary, has decided to donate her deed to these 45 acres to the Village of Nakusp for development.

Mrs. Leary, who is very concerned about the lack of development of the Hot Springs to promote tourism in the area decided to donate the land to the Village after she received a letter from the Hon. Ken Kiernan, minister of recreation and conservation. The minister advised her that the government could take no immediate action to develop the area as a Class "A" park in the event that she donated the land to the Crown Provincial because of the time involved to make a detailed topographic map of the area and also a development plan. After it was made a park, a decision would then have to be made as to when it should be developed in relation to other provincial parks.

Because of this lack of definite action by the government, Mrs. Leary told the village council that she is considering giving the title to the village in order that it be devolped immediately.

Creston . . .

Council Contracts With New Assessor

CRESTON (Staff)—The council of Creston signed a contract with the new assessor of the town, F. Banton for a payment of $2227 for this year and approximately $4000 for the next year.

Other items covered by council included the authorization of spending from the equipment by-law for a new 1000-gallon oil spray unit portable for civic trucks at $4700, the authorization of a letter to Creston Valley Rod and Gun Club of $7000 to purchase their property on 11th Avenue and the studying of legislation concerning the exemption of community halls from taxation. The latter was brought up after two representatives of the Creston Knights of Pythias told council that the K.P. hall should qualify under the Act.

A total of $762 was received from council by 56 welfare recipients. This amount as the town's welfare share will approximate the amount issued every month. In total, $4700 was sent out.

Local Resident Dies Aged 75

ROSSLAND (Staff) — A Rossland resident for 30 years, Rinaldo (Joe) Bielli passed away at the age of 75 at the Mater Misericordiae Hospital.

He was born at Taino, Varese, Italy, in 1890 and came to Canada in 1914. He settled first at Blairmore, Alberta, where he worked at lumbering. In 1936 he took over the operation of the Allan Hotel in Rossland and continued in that business until he retired in 1958. He was a member of the Sacred Heart Catholic Church.

Survivors include his wife Josephine; a son Joseph in Rossland; a daughter, Mrs. Lido (Amelia) Bertoia of Rossland; seven grandchildren; a sister Mrs. Maria Molina of Trail and a brother Carlo in Italy. Mr. Bielli was predeceased by two sons.

The couple were admitted to hospital, but later released.

Early Sunday morning another car was badly damaged and the driver received a broken arm and head lacerations.

Harry Cherniwchan of Vancouver was the driver of the car and his passenger Mrs. Eleanor Boettger of Robson.

Voice of the West

The consensus of the 400 or so Liberals who attended last weekend's conference at Saskatoon was that the meeting was a success. In retrospect that seems a fair assessment. It was an enthusiastic meeting, into which much preliminary work and thought had gone, and out of which came a number of policy resolutions, most of which will receive unanimous support from Western delegates when they are put to the national Liberal convention in Ottawa in October.

Broadly speaking, the resolutions reflected the geographic background from which they came. Western Canada has been, and is, dependent on a flow of investment capital from abroad to develop its rich resources. It has also been dependent on exports for its prosperity. So it is not surprising that the economic ideas of Ex-Finance Minister Walter Gordon were either ignored or argued down — both as they concern restricting foreign capital and the effects of foreign ownership of Canadian industry. On the contrary, the conference went solidly behind a resolution urging Ottawa to do all it can to encourage foreign capital to invest in Canada. Two resolutions endorsing the Canadian Development Corporation were argued down before coming to the floor of the conference. It was very clear that any resolutions at the national conference asking for restrictions on the flow of foreign capital to Canada will meet with solid opposition from the West.

The conference showed equal concern for the need for government policies that will stimulate exports.

One could not expect a Western conference to omit a program for agriculture but the resolutions on farm policy passed at Saskatoon were sufficiently innocuous as to be able to cause little dispute at the national convention. This lack was apparently recognized, for the conference set up a six-man committee whose job it will be to draft further farm resolutions and to report them to the national convention. — Winnipeg Free Press.

Parliament Summons

The report of the federal conciliation board on the dispute between the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen and the Canadian National and Canadian Pacific Railways is unusual, indeed startling. In effect the board chaired by Judge Walter Little, with labor represented by former New Democrat member of Parliament Douglas Fisher and the railways by R. V. Hicks, has recommended that the dispute be settled by legislation, that is, by compulsory arbitration imposed by Parliament.

Of the issue of automation and its effect on workers, the board said, "We believe that the differing viewpoints will not be resolved by negotiation. The only alternative therefore is legislation." Of the other major issue, wages, it said, "a wage increase is necessary," but it failed to make a wage recommendation. "It would appear that a more simplified and rational wage system should be developed to serve more adequately the interests of the employees and the (railways)," said the board, and added that while the ideal solution would be for both parties to get together and settle the problem, "we realize that this has substantial difficulties for the unions at the present time."

The board could scarcely more clearly have dumped the problem into the Government's lap, whether out of the conviction that nothing but arbitration will work, or out of the recognition that the Government has already so deeply involved itself in transportation negotiations this year — with its longshoremen and Seaway settlements — that it cannot escape involvement in this one.

In the meantime NDP Leader T. C. Douglas called upon the Government to appoint a mediator to bring the disputants together before recalling Parliament to impose compulsory arbitration. He refused to say how his party would vote if faced with a crippling railway strike. But faced with such strikes in the past the NDP has voted for compulsory arbitration.

There would, in fact, appear to be nothing for it but compulsory arbitration. The conciliation board was specific on this point so far as the problems of automation are concerned. It told the Government, in effect, that it was time legislative protection was given to workers disturbed or displaced by new technological developments.

As for the board's making a wage recommendation, what would have been the point? The unions already have Prime Minister Lester Pearson's guidepost of a two-year 30 per cent increase for the Seaway workers, which they would like to surpass. Only Mr. Pearson can convince them that the 30 per cent settlement is not a guidepost for the rest of the nation's workers.

French Somaliland - Oasis of Persistent Frenchmen

The French expect they will be out of French Somaliland in five or six years. Then either Somalia or Ethiopia will take over. Meanwhile the capital, Djibouti, thrives on prosperity derived from its busy harbor. The French atmosphere in this sun-scorched city is described by a Canadian Press reporter.

By CARL MOLLINS

DJIBOUTI, French Somaliland (CP) — Djibouti is an oasis of persistent Frenchness in the hottest place on earth, a gift of Gallic industry and flair on the sun-beaten African shore of the Gulf of Aden.

It is also a repository fo unsentimental French logic, which calculates semi - officially that this remnant of empire will remain perhaps five or six years more. Then it will succumb, at the age of 109 or 110, to the grasp of covetous neighbors.

The calculation fails to conclude whether it will be Ethiopia or Somalia—already half at war over a nearby stretch of wasteland — that inherits French Somaliland's 8,880 square miles of desert and dead volcanoes along with this prospering seaport and railway terminus.

The Ethiopians conduct more than half their trade through the port, Ethiopia's only outlet to the sea before it gained the Eritrean coast of the Red Sea from the Italians in the Second World War.

Ethiopia is part owner of the railway, a contribution of turn - of - the - century French engineers that runs 484 miles southwest and 8,000 feet uphill to Addis Ababa. One of Djibouti's primary streets is Rue d'Ethiopie and its main square is named for Menelik II, an imperial predecessor of Haile Selassie.

RACIALLY LINKED

But it is much too hot to try to assess just how these points in Christian Ethiopia's favor stack up against the strident claim of Moslem Somalia, which points to racial and religious compatibility and the geographical neatness of completing its possession of the Horn of Africa.

Sit quite still instead under a ceiling fan in the hotel that looks like a set from a Humphrey Bogart movie and you can reduce the perspiration rate to merely damp from dripping. The Alsatian lager is cold, or there is chilled rose wine from Anjou.

After sundown, get up and shoo away the Somali shoeshine boys, hand another franc to the blind Arab beggar around for the third time, then break away from the circling sidewalk merchants hawking duty - free Swiss watches and American cigars, Danakil daggers and Bedouin headrests.

Make your way past the row of Indian money-changers and across the square, crowded with lithe Somali men and handsome women, stout Greeks and Frenchmen, Foreign Legionnaires in short shorts and Senegalese policemen glistening black in starched uniforms.

MENU A DELIGHT

At the Restaurant Palmier en Zinc, savor a meal such as you cannot buy for 1,000 miles in any direction — asparagus vinaigrette, rare tournedos of beef, European cheeses. Everything imported and prepared in the French manner.

Between courses you can examine the artificial palm tree made of zinc that gives the restaurant its name. It is said to have been made by Frenchmen who came here last century to establish a coaling station for ships using the new Suez Canal and found the coral shore of Djibouti completely treeless.

Now the town is green with trees. Gardens and lawns flank the tidy bungalows and air - conditioned apartments occupied by 7,500 foreign settlers — French, Greeks, Italians, Indians—in a municipal population of 40,000, half the total for the whole territory.

The greenery is created by irrigation. But almost everything else except sand must be brought in through the harbor formed of three coral reefs and a quay constructed on top of a sunken ship.

PORT GROWS BUSIER

The port, once a poor neighbor of Aden across the gulf, has almost quadrupled its fueling and provisioning business in 10 years, servicing 2,000,000 tons of shipping last year compared with 600,000 tons in 1955.

Some of the ships that call—an average of 10 a day—are freighters and passenger liners frightened away from Aden by political unrest or attracted to this port's docking facilities. Aden harbor depends entirely on lightering service, but it still gets twice as many ships as Djibouti.

The French persist in making improvements to the harbor even while acknowledging that their days here are numbered.

The violent nationalism driving the British out of Aden has not yet erupted among the gentle-looking Somalis here, who voted in 1958 to remain a French territory while their neighbors in British and Italian Somaliland prepared for the birth of independent Somalia in 1960.

But there have been outbursts of political agitation here. After dark, a jeepful of armed French soldiers on patrol occasionally causes a mild chill of tension.

As the young French government official said with a Gallic shrug, "peut-etre cinq, six ans."

In the Nelson zone it is the aim to have one hospital each year hold an exercise to try out its disaster plan. This year the Kimberley hospital has been selected and the exercise will probably be about the middle of October.

Soviet Influence in Canada

By JOHN BEST

MOSCOW (CP)—The Soviet Union appears to be making its greatest effort to establish influence in Canada.

Indications are that the Kremlin intends to follow up the successful visit to Canada of Dmitry Polyanksy with a concerted program to strengthen its position there.

The remarks made by the first deputy premier on his return home suggest he found fertile ground for the further development of relations between Canada and the Soviet Union.

"The U.S.S.R. and Canada have fine prospects for developing comprehensive, mutually advantageous relations," he told the English-language Moscow News. "We have no territorial problems, no unsolved problems. Nowhere do Soviet and Canadian state interests come into direct conflict."

As he had done while in Canada, Polyanksy talked about exchanges of scientific information and specialists in such fields as agriculture, marine transport, mining and resources development. They could lead to expanded economic and political co - operation, he suggested.

Polyansky is an influential figure in Kremlin politics, both on the government side and on the Communist party side. In the government he ranks just below Premier Kosygin. He is also on the party's central policy-making body, the politburo, and many observers say he may one day be party boss, the No. 1 position in the Soviet Union.

MAY VISIT MOSCOW

Pravda, the party newspaper, carried a lengthy summary of the visit which said Canadians from Prime Minister Pearson and Opposition Leader Diefenbaker down were "as one" in desiring closer relations with the Soviet Union.

"The wish is already realized. The Soviet Union and Canada have become closer."

The rapport Polyansky established with Canadian leaders on his trip could lead to future high-level contacts between the two countries.

There are already prospects for visits before the end of next winter by Prime Minister Pearson and External Affairs Minister Martin. And it's not inconceivable that a visit by Pearson to Moscow would be followed by a Kosygin journey to Canada.

But even before Polyansky's trip (the initiative for which, incidentally, came from Canada) Russia was embarked on a drive to extend its ties with Canada.

There was the decision to participate in the Montreal world's fair and to inaugurate passenger steamship service between Montreal and Leningrad.

This shipping season, for the first time, Soviet cargo ships are showing the hammer and sickle prominently in Lake Ontario.

There have been signs that the Russians would like to send icebreakers into the St. Lawrence River during winter to open a path for grain ships, but Canadian authorities have so far balked at the idea.

WHEAT IS KEY

The pattern of expanding relations continued with the recently - signed air agreement providing reciprocal flights between Montreal and Moscow by Air Canada and Aeroflot.

But above and beyond all these are the massive Soviet purchases of Canadian wheat.

The Soviets, aware of the spurt the $1,800,000,000 worth of wheat and flour business has given the Canadian economy during the last three years, have apparently decided to make a virtue of necessity and play this commerce for what it's worth in political and other fields.

Though obviously aware that Canadians know they need the wheat, the Russians nevertheless see their big-time spending as something that makes many Canadians more favorably disposed toward them.

Sometimes there are even hints here that Canadians should be grateful for the boost Russia has given their economy. This is the sort of sentiment the Russians would like to capitalize on in wooing Canada.

Flouridation Idea Protested

To the Editor:

Sir — From the Daily News I gather that the question of water fluoridation will be brought before the citizens of Nelson in a plebiscite in December of this year.

I doubt very much that the public is sufficiently informed to intelligently cast a vote pro or con water fluoridation. So far, only the advocates for fluoridation have had a chance to publish their reasons why our drinking water should be medicated. The few conscientious and better informed individuals who are against fluoridation have not been able to bring their objections before the public. I do hope that you are courageous enough to present some facts that speak strongly against fluoridation. For that reason I am attaching a copy which I ask you to publish.

The majority is not right. National and personal liberties have been lost through majority-votes. It is one of a man's liberties to take his own medicine, or not, if he objects to it. Thank you for your space.

(MRS.) JACOB J. LOEWEN,
320 Chatham St.

(Editor's note: Mrs. Jacobs' enclosure was far too lengthy for this page. The article claimed that water fluoridation was designed to reduce the resistance of the masses to domination and control and loss of liberty. It was written in 1954.)

American inventor Thomas A. Edison applied for a patent for his motion picture camera 75 years ago today—in 1891—and the age of the movies began. Although earlier versions of the kinetoscope had been developed in Europe and America in the 19th century, Edison began research for a better model in 1887. He soon built a camera which used a new type of photograph film produced by George Eastman. Although the first models lacked projection and lasted only 13 seconds, several features of them are still standard today. After it was patented, Edison's invention stood idle in his laboratory until its first public appearance at a kinetoscope parlor on Broadway, New York City, in 1894—the beginning of the commercial history of the motion picture. Edison's invention served to bring genuine action into the graphic arts.

Traditional Sari Worn by Bride at Seattle Wedding

The merging of two cultures occurred at St. Joseph's Church in Seattle, Washington, when Muriel Gill of India and the Philippines and Melville John Walters of Montreal, Quebec, were united in holy matrimony.

The Very Reverend Leo J. Eckstein, SJ, officiated for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Karam S. Gill and the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Walters.

The bride approached the altar on the arm of her father radiant in an exquisite sari-inspired gown. The gown which is the traditional bridal sari, handwoven in silver and white threads, was imported from India and flown to the Philippines where it was fashioned by the family's couturier and one of Manila's finest fashion salons. Embroidered on its border were handbeaded, finely designed glittering Osmena pearls interwoven with pearl clusters which flowed along the oval shaped train. This pattern was repeated on the crown which held her two-tiered veil.

She wore white beaded shoes embosed with a Chinese design signifying good fortune and eternal happiness. A stream of white ribbons cascaded from her bouquet of white orchids. Another bouquet of multi-colored roses was laid at the foot of the statue of Our Lady of the Immaculate Conception.

DOUBLE-RING

Miss Myrna Gill, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Her gown was off-white Indian silk with gold borders. Her bouquet of pink carnations blushed against her gold headpiece. Her shoes were of white and gold beads. A stunning match was made by Myra Stella Sulit, niece of the bride, who was the flower girl. Bearing the rings on a white satin cushion was Michael Thomas Sulit, the bride's nephew.

Mr. Stephen Obertowich, lifelong friend of the groom, stood as his best man. The wedding sponsors were Philippine Ambassador to Portugal Estela R. Sulit and Philippine Consul-General to Vancouver, Francisco Oira.

The bride's mother was gowned in a silk chartreuse sheath with matching dress length coat with jade accessories and a corsage of lavender orchid.

The reception followed at the home of retired Captain M. S. Sulit and Ambassador E. R. Sulit. The breakfast, a blend of exotic and North American dishes was prepared by the Philippine War Brides Association of Seattle.

GOLD CHI-RHO

The huge cake, lavishly decorated with orange and yellow roses, with its raised third tier held a gold Chi-Rho, a fitting and perfect symbol uniting the couple. Champagne was enjoyed by an international medley of guests, diplomats and close friends. A toast by the best man and a reading of an original poem by Dr. I. C. Sharma, Indian author and philosopher, were given to the couple.

Telegrams from friends and relatives in various countries and a long-distance phone call from the groom's sisters at Montreal, Quebec, were received.

For their honeymoon drive to San Francisco, the bride chose a Hong Kong tailored electric blue silk dress with white orchid corsage. The bridal bouquet which was flown to San Bruno, Sali-fornia, was then offered by the couple on the resting place of the bride's sister Evelyn and her husband, Rodolfo R. Sulit.

The couple will reside in Ottawa, Ontario, where the groom will commence his graduate studies in Thomistic Philosophy at the University of Ottawa.

The bride received her Bachelor of Arts at Mary Kroll College, in the Philippines and was a teacher at St. Joseph's School. The groom who received his Bachelor of Arts in Philosophy at Notre Dame University this year was vice-principal at St. Joseph's School in 1963-64.

At Edgewood . . . Replacement of RC Outpost Pondered

EDGEWOOD (Staff) — Re-establishment of the Red Cross Outpost Hospital was discussed at the regular meeting of the Edgewood - Inonoaklin Women's Institute.

The members of Edgewood, Needles and Fauquier Women's Institutes had circulated a petition requesting the Red Cross to re-establish a nursing station as the present hospital will be flooded due to the Columbia River Dams. The Red Cross sent a favorable reply to the Institutes.

Also at the meeting, the Institute voted to pay its share of the Scholarship fund in order to make up the total of $125 to be presented to a graduate of the Needles Scondary School by the three institutes.

To fill the vacancy left by Mrs. F. B. Nesbitt, Mrs. E. J. Donslaar volunteered to act as Health and Social Welfare convener.

Psalm Verse Sermon Subject

"Great is our Lord, and of great power: his understanding is infinite." This well-known verse from Psalm 147 was the Golden Text for the Bible Lesson-Sermon on "Mind" read in Christian Science churches Sunday.

Included among the explanatory readings from the denominational textbook, "Science and Health With Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, were the lines: "Nothing is new to Spirit. Nothing can be novel to eternal Mind, the author of all things, who from all eternity knoweth His own ideas. Deity was satisfied with His work. How could He be otherwise, since the spiritual creation was the outgrowth, the emanation, of His infinite self-containment and immortal wisdom?"

Sergeant Ernie Boechler Honored at Farewell Party

A large group of parishioners gathered in the Cathedral Hall Saturday night to bid farewell to RCMP Sergeant Ernie Boechler and Mrs. Boechler.

Sergeant Boechler, who has been in charge of the highway patrol from the area of Grand Forks to the Alberta border since he arrived in Nelson five years ago, has been transferred to Kamloops and will be moving there September 1.

Before coming to Nelson Sergeant Boechler served in Oliver, Grand Forks, Greenwood, Trail, Salmo and Creston. He trained in Ottawa and Regina and for two years was a member of the famous RCMP Musical Rides touring all over Canada and the United States. Mr. Boechler was promoted to Corporal in 1960 and to Sergeant in May, 1966.

While in Nelson he was active in hockey, softball and curling. He was secretary for the Kinsmen Club for three years and served as Grand Knight for the Knights of Columbus in 1965-66.

Attending the farewell party were representatives of four parish groups — the Knights of Columbus, the Catholic Women's League, Our Ladies of Lourdes Circle and the Christian Family Movement — who each presented Sergeant Boechler with farewell gifts. Master of ceremonies and present Grand Knight Mr. Ted Imming presented him with a large framed color photograph of Kootenay Lake on behalf of the Knights of Columbus as a souvenir of Nelson.

Many of the parishioners arrived after attending the banquet given in honor of Lt. Gov. Pearkes and among these were Mayor Maglio and his wife. The mayor made a speech on behalf of the City of Nelson, thanking the Sergeant for his services and for the co-operation he has shown with the city.

Mr. Boechler, in thanking the parishioners, commented on the friendliness of the people of Nelson and stated he was sorry to leave Nelson and the many friends he has made here.

Wives Find Enjoyment Flying Their Pussycat

OTTAWA (CP) — You don't have to be Wonder Woman or Amelia Earhart to have a plane. Two Ottawa wives who admit to being over 40 have one, which they call Pussycat.

The plane's cute—a funny little single-engined Ercoupe—and so are its blonde, blue-eyed owners, Mrs. Doug Peacock and Mrs. Grover Book. They found the 20-year-old plane in a place called Buttonville, Ont., near Toronto, and had to wait to fly it because mice were living in it.

"As my husband put it, 'Your Pussycat has mice in its wings,'" says Dorothy Book. On their first flight, about 160 miles to Burlington, Vt., they had to hitchhike home by air when their nose-wheel cracked.

They'll admit it's the slowest plane flying out of Uplands airport. "The tower calls us 'the little one'," Pearl Peacock says. "Once we held up a DC-8 jet because we were scheduled to land first. And if you've never been only 100 feet under a DC-8, I wouldn't wish it on you."

Flying isn't any more expensive than sailing, they say. The plane cost $3,000 and insurance is $70, decreasing in cost as pilots pile up more air time. The girls get about 20 miles out of a 44-cent gallon of gas.

SHAKES OLD PILOTS

Pussycat has ultra - simple controls for climbing and turning but lacks the conventional rudder pedals.

"That shakes well-known pilots rigid," says Mrs. Peacock. "It's sort of like automatic transmission on a car. If they've learned to fly with three controls, they can't believe you can get along with two."

Most of the pair's flying since they bought their plane in January has been short-hop rallying around Ottawa. Actually, they're accomplished flyers.

Mrs. Peacock recently placed first in a spot-landing competition that included commercial pilots. Mrs. Book shared the controls with her husband when they flew the little red plane.

Both women have grown-up children and both work, Mrs. Book as a full-time teacher and Mrs. Peacock as a part-time secretary. Each of their husbands has served as president of the Ottawa Flying Club so they have expert advice close at hand.

They admit women are a minority in the air and sometimes unwanted.

"Some men don't like women around airports at all," said Mrs. Book.

"To heck with them," say the two Pussycat pilots.

VANCOUVER (CP) — Accomodation for 5,500 students at Vancouver's two universities is being sought with local householders. Spokesmen for the University of B.C. and Simon Fraser University said Tuesday students are willing to accept accomodation anywhere within campus.

Ainsworth

A tea was held at the home of Mrs. C. Lind, Scranton Road, on Monday evening with 12 ladies present. Mrs. C. Hartland of Kaslo was in charge. Several contests were enjoyed, and a delicious lunch was served by the hostess, Mrs. Lind.

Mr. and Mrs. John Hecker have as their guests their son, Ken nad Mrs. Hecker of Prince George.

Mrs. R. Butchart is visiting friends at Penticton.

Mrs. J. B. Fletcher is spending a holiday with friends in Vancouver.

DEAR HELOISE:

From time to time you mention shower gifts.

I would like to share an idea I dreamed up a couple of years ago.

By the time I had been invited to the third shower for my daughter-in-law-to-be, ideas were getting few and far between. One day, I happened to think of something I thought she would enjoy.

I bought a picture album, and started with the first picture ever taken of our son, and continued on from year to year, including their engagement pictures.

I also put in pictures of his parents, grandparents and his sister.

My daughter-in-law cherishes that gift more than any others she received.

As a teen-ager, I am always washing my tennis shoes.

Instead of hooking my tennis shoes to the clothesline with a clothespin — which leaves a mark on the shoes—I just wash them with the shoe strings in, and then tie them to the clothesline, leaving about two or three inches between the shoes and the knot.

This way the wind can blow the shoes around, and they dry a lot faster.

Cindy, you are a doll to pass along this hint.

You do avoid the mark on the shoes, and they can swing around so they will dry faster and air-out better.

DEAR HELOISE:

Try this instead of throwing away the little pieces of left-over soap in the bathroom or kitchen:

Cut a slit in a large, soft sponge—deep enough so that the little pieces of soap don't slip out when inserted in the opening — and use it while bathing.

By doing this, you can use up those little pieces of soap, and it lathers very well.

DEAR HELOISE:

When I make housedresses, I cut what amounts to an underarm shield right from the same material.

I sew it in place right along with the sewing of the dress.

I tack the outside edges lightly and I can't tell it's there. This forms a double underarm section, and the dress lasts longer.

Journalist Gives Views On China

In the following story, Per Kronvall, 19, a Swedish student journalist, reports some of his observations and experiences during a recent month-long stay in China with a Swedish educational project.

By PER KRONVALL
Written for The AP

It is hard to understand the fantastic enthusiasm in Communist China for the works of Mao Tse - tung. Newspapers there are filled with stories about people all over the world reading the writings of Mao.

The Paris correspondent for the Peking People's Daily reported that a group of Chinese students in the French capital was asked by a French youngster for a picture of Mao and inquired in his story whether this was not proof that it was only a question of time before the French would begin to study (Communist party) chairman Mao's works.

In Peking I met a New Zealander, Rewi Alley, who took part in the revolution and has been in China since 1926. I asked him what Mao's works had done for the Chinses people.

"Very much good," said the pro - Chinese Communist New Zealander.

In Mao's writing he gives examples of how you should look at your work, he explained. Mao tells small anecdotes and helps people get certain working spirit that they need, he added.

HUSBAND NEVER HOME

He gave an example: The wife of a brigade leader in Shensi complained that her husband was never at home to play with the kids and that his salary was just as high as everybody else's. She refused to mend his clothes and he always got cold food when he came home late. Then she got a copy of Mao's works, started to read them, and realized that she had been unjust to her husband. So she went and cooked a nice meal for him, repaired some of his old working clothes.

Later, on a train to Shanghai I talked with a passenger, an old man. He told me, through a Chinese engineer who served as an interpreter, that before the liberation he was a rickshaw driver, but then the day came when he was told that he should burn his rickshaw.

"You can't imagine how it is to burn the torture instrument that you had dragged around for years," the old man said. "Now I am going on a train trip down to Shanghai to spend some time with my son. He is one of the harbor captains. Think of it, before the revolution, he would have been a rickshaw driver, or a coolie, and have very little good. Thanks to Chairman Mao, he has a good and responsible job and I get 65 yuan a month as pension. I hope the revolution will come soon to the rest of the world."

LIVE DIFFERENTLY

Chinese youths also live a different life. In Shanghai I visited a big brick house, once belonging to an English bishop, which had been turned into a "children's palace" where members of the Communist Youth League, the Pioneers, assemble after school. I was met by applauding children, ages 7 to 18. Inside the building the first things that met my eyes were slogans and political cartoons, anti-American and anti-imperialist, and of course, Mao tse - tung posters. In another room on the ground floor was a device training the children to shoot down American planes. I tried myself and found it difficult.

Upstairs I was taken into a room where little girls about 10 or 12 danced and sang songs such as: We'd Like to Strangle You, L. B. Johnson and Thank You, Chairman Mao, for the Electric Light.

"The children are so keen on reading Mao Tse-tung's works," my guide told me.

"Be serious, children at that age don't like to read books on historical analysis," I said. "I've read it in translation, and I can assure you that it's no reading for a kid of 11 or 12 years old."

"Do you want to ask one of the children?" my guide asked me.

Even though I knew what the answer would be I asked a girl, through my translator:

"Well, how do you like chairman Mao's works?"

She said she thought they were very interesting and entertaining and she had read them for three years.

Pinch Hitting Britons Where Hurts

By CAROL KENNEDY

LONDON (CP)—Signs of a mass emigration of young doctors to North America and the threat of unemployment in the automobile industry, mainstay of British exports, show that the Wilson economic squeeze is beginning to pinch Britain where it hurts.

But economic experts predict there will be no recession or drop in production next year as a result of the deflationary measures introduced a month ago to stiffen the wobbly pound on world markets.

The squeeze will "put the economy on a path of very slow growth, about one per cent a year," says the National Institute of Economic and Social Research in its quarterly economic review published Thursday.

The institute forecasts exports will rise by five per cent in 1967, there will be a balance of payments surplus of between £250,000,000 ($750,000,000), and £300,000,000 ($900,000,000), and unemployment may reach only 475,000 — a much lower figure than some economists have feared.

FEARS RECESSION

A tougher assessment came from economist Sir Roy Harrord, who suggested Thursday there could well be a recession this winter arising from measures taken even before the July 20 emergency budget. He says the freeze should continue for two years to put a real edge on British export competitiveness.

Meanwhile, a revolt spread in Britain's understaffed hospitals among young doctors whose pay rise, promised last May, has been frozen for at least six months. Many work a 105-hour week for pay averaging 22 cents an hour. The 13-per-cent pay rise would have given a junior house doctor a maximum $3,900 a year instead of the $2,310.

A young staff doctor at Guy's, the big London teaching hospital, said 74 per cent of his colleagues are considering emigrating to Canada, the United States or Australia. Many had taken out mortgages and other commitments on the strength of the expected rise and could not afford to wait even six months.

ENTIRE STAFF GOES

The entire junior staff of a new hospital in the west-country industrial town of Swindon have also decided to quit Britain.

The threatened drain of doctors comes at a level where there already is a serious shortage in British hospitals — 46 per cent of posts below consultant level are held by foreign and Commonwealth doctors.

In the auto industry, workers in three companies have been told working hours may be cut in the next few months. The Vauxhall company warned that some of its 25,000 employees may be laid off.

In Belfast, a centre of chronic unemployment, the shipbuilding and aircraft firm of Short Brothers and Harland announced 550 aircraft workers will become redundant in November.

AUTO BUYERS FEWER

Reports from auto dealers indicate domestic demand has dropped for both new and used cars as a result of the higher minimum deposit for instalment buying — now 40 per cent instead of 25 per cent.

Demand for furniture, refrigerators and television sets has slumped for the same reason. A big radio and TV manufacturer will close a recently-opened, £400,000 ($1,200,000) assembly plant in October, throwing 500 people out of work.

The property market has been hit since banks and building societies cracked down on mortgages and overdrafts. The Sunday Telegraph reports more British houses are up for sale than at any time since the Second World War.

TRAVEL IS GOOD

The travel industry, however, expected to be hard hit by the slashed foreign currency allowance, has bounced back resiliently.

The fledgling package - tour trade to North America has suffered, but British Overseas Airways Corp. hopes the International Air Transport Association, which fixes fare levels, may approve lower fares to Canada at its September meeting. This would enable travel agents to devise attractive package holidays to coincide with Montreal's Expo 67.

A senior official at the Canadian government travel bureau, studying a chart showing how a British tourist could spend 14 days in Canada on the $150 allowance, estimated trade from Britain would only drop by 10 per cent at the most.

Three Franchises For Soccer League

CHICAGO (AP) — Detroit, Houston and Cleveland were granted franchises in the new North American Soccer League Tuesday and James P. McGuire of New York was elected league president.

The circuit will open May-to-August season play in 1968 but will stage a series of exhibition matches in 1967.

Charter members are Boston, Chicago, Los Angeles, New York, San Francisco, Toronto, Vancouver and Washington, D.C. The new franchises bring membership to 11 teams.

"Our next meeting will be Oct. 5 and we then hope to complete the league by granting a 12th franchise," said Art Allyn, owner of the Chicago White Sox and the Chicago Mustangs soccer team. "We have five applications, including one from Milwaukee from three different sources there."

He would not identify the other applicants.

SANCTIONED BY FIF

Allyn said the NASL is the only major professional league sanctioned by the United States and Canadian Soccer Associations and the Federation of International Football Associations.

He would not comment on the formation of another league—the U.S. National Professional Soccer League—which plans operation next April.

The new Detroit franchise is headed by William Clay Ford, Edwin J. Anderson, Wendell Anderson and other Detroit sportsmen.

Houston is headed by Judge Roy Hofheinz of the Astrodome, where the Houston team's games will be played. Cleveland is headed "by prominent citizens whose names will be announced shortly," Allyn said.

McGuire came to the United States in 1926 from his native Scotland. He played soccer in America as well as with the Glasgow Celtics in Scotland and North Hampton in England.

He is former president of the American Soccer League and the U.S. Soccer Football Association. Since 1954 he has been an executive manager of the Federation of International Football Associations and has been part of the organizing committee for World Cup competitions.

Platt Named Ski Coach

TORONTO (CP)—John Platt, a 29-year-old engineer from Trail, B.C., will become the new coach of Canada's national ski team, Pierre Alain, president of the Canadian Amateur Ski Association, anounced here Tuesday.

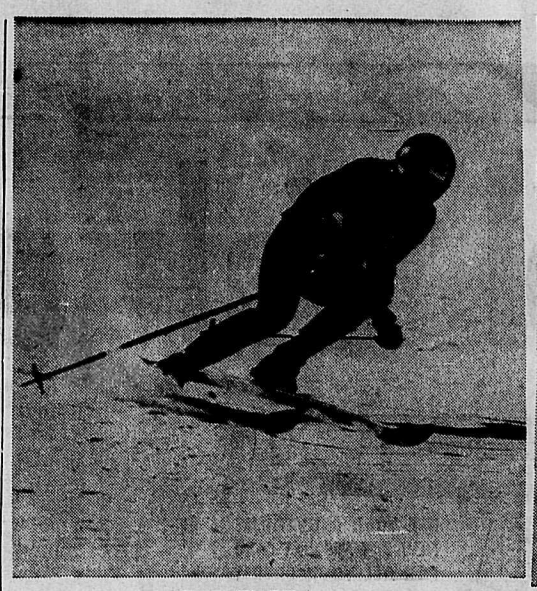
Platt, a member of the Federation Internationale de Ski and one of Canada's top skiers in Austria and France in 1958 and 1962, replaces Dave Jacobs who is retiring to open a ski boot manufacturing plant in Montreal.

Platt has been helping coach junior skiers in British Columbia for the last few years and also assisted in coaching the national team last Christmas at Nelson, B.C. The team is training in the Rockies for the 1968 Olympics at Grenoble, France.

TORONTO (CP)—Toronto Argonauts of the Eastern Football Conference have rejected trade offers from Calgary for Stampeders' quarterback Eagle Day.

Tee Time

With 23 ladies participating in Ladies' Night, Zillah Blunt captured the A class competition with Mary Stewart taking the B class and Norma Carlson winning the C class event, at the Nelson Golf Club Tuesday evening.



THE START . . .

. . . THE FINISH

Nancy Greene of Rossland, B.C., Canada's top international skier got off to a flying start in the downhill event at the recent FIS World Championships in Portillo, Chile (left) but fell on the last corner of the run to erase her chance to a gold medal. Miss Greene had the fastest time for the run until she fell. Fortunately she was not seriously hurt and finished fourth in the giant slalom.

Blue Bombers Take First Place; Hand Stampeders Fourth Defeat

By WALTER KREVENCHUK

WINNIPEG (CP) — Winnipeg Blue Bombers used two Calgary Stampeders infractions to drive for the deciding points as they vaulted into first place in the Western Football Conference with a 19-9 victory before 20,817 fans Tuesday night.

Ken Nielsen contributed two touchdowns to Bombers' fourth triumph in five outings, which placed them two points ahead of Saskatchewan Roughriders.

The injury-prone Stampeders stayed in fourth place with British Columbia Lions and lost defensive halfback Bill Gaskins.

Gaskins suffered a severed Achilles tendon in the second quarter, the same injury that knocked out Calgary veterans Lovell Coleman and Ted Woods earlier in the season, as Stampeders stumbled to their fourth defeat against a single victory.

Norm Winton kicked two field goals and a convert to complete Bomber scoring. Calgary got a touchdown from Terry Evanshen, on a 36-yard pass-and-run play with Peter Liske, two singles and a convert from Larry Robinson as they frittered away 7-3 and 8-6 margins in the first two quarters.

In the opening minutes it appeared Liske, whose presence sparked Stampeders to their first victory last week—26-1 over Saskatchewan—would keep the golden touch.

CHURNED THROUGH LINE

But the rough Bomber defence began to churn through the Calgary line, holding Stampeders to a virtual standstill in the second half and hauling Liske down for 49 yards in losses.

Frank Budd's infraction opened the door for the Winnipeg comeback. The Calgary flanker was called for roughing Bomber punter Ed Ulmer, a miscue that sustained a 91-yard Winnipeg drive to its first points, a 21-yard field goal by Winton.

Robinson made it 8-3 on the last play of the first quarter with a single on a wide 42-yard field goal try but Billy Cooper bounced Bombers further along the rally trail. He broke away on the left side, swung to the middle behind good blocks and galloped 68 yards. Winton's 20-yard field goal seconds later made it 8-6.

Halfway through the second period, Bombers got a second contribution from the opposition. Robinson's 54-yard field goal attempt was blocked and a scramble indicated Calgary had retained possession. But Stampeders were called for interference and Bombers moved to offence from the Calgary 45. Ploen used a combination of personal running and a one-yard pass to Nielsen to pick up the touchdown that put Winnipeg ahead to stay.

Tough defensive work featured a scoreless third quarter, then Calgary picked up another single when Robinson was wide with a 46-yard field goal attempt.

Maple Leafs Shut Out Mounties 6-0

Maple Leafs defeated RCMP 6-0 Tuesday night in Nelson Fastball League action at the Civic Centre, behind the three-hit pitching of Donnie Ball.

Ball limited the Mounties to two singles and a triple in recording the shutout. He struck out six and didn't walk a man as he demonstrated near-perfect control.

Stonoski, on the mound for the Mounties was touched for eight hits and gave up five walks while striking out one.

The Leafs scored their first runs in the third inning, when Bob Plager hit the only home run of the contest with one out. With two out, Bill Steinke, Gary Kilpatrick and Don Segur drew walks and Steinke raced home on a passed ball.

Three runs were scored in the fifth inning off Ball's double, Segur's single, two walks and two errors.

The final run was scored by Steinke when he walked in the sixth, and scored as Segur and Syd Benedetti singled.

The Mounties threatened to break the goose-egg only once in the game, that being in the fourth inning when Stonoski tripled with one out, but was stranded there as Ball struck out the next batter and threw out the final man to retire the side.

RCMP had only five base runners in the game, Stonoski being the only one to advance past second. Jangulg and Stonoski, who hit the singles were thrown out at second on forced plays that allowed two other runners to reach first on fielder's choices.

GAIL HOLDEN FIRST FORWARD TO SIGN WITH NELSON LEAFS

Gail Holden, 21-year-old centreman will be back with Nelson Maple Leafs again this season. Holden, who last year collected 20 goals and 29 assists in 44 games, is the first forward to sign with the Nelson club this year. He joins a pair of defencemen — playing coach Frank Arnett and Hugh Hooker — as definite returnees for the 1966-67 Western International Hockey League season.

The centreman last year sparked the Leafs in the first half of the schedule before being sidelined with a shoulder fracture early in December. At that point Holden was the leading scorer on the Nelson team with 35 points on 15 goals and 20 assists, but he never fully recovered from the shoulder injury throughout the second half of the schedule and failed to fully regain his form.

GAIL HOLDEN

One of the inspirational players on the Leaf squad, Holden set an excellent example for the rest of the club with his hard-working style of play and digging in the corners. Small, but mighty, the former Weyburn Junior Red Wing star, was particularly outstanding against the rough, tough Spokane Jets.

In his first year with Nelson last season, he attended Notre Dame University on an athletic scholarship and is expected to continue his education at NDU.

The Leafs are expected to announce further signing throu announce further signings throughout the next few weeks. Several surprises are in store for Nelson fans with at least four new players expected to attend the training camp next month.

Patterson Divorced

NEW YORK (AP) — Former heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson has divorced his wife of 10 years, the former Sandra Elizabeth Hicks.

Patterson's attorney, Julius November, said Mrs. Patterson obtained the decree last month in Juarez, Mexico.

The reason for the split, the attorney added, was that Patterson insisted on continuing his ring career over the objections of his wife who wanted him to retire. The divorce was amicable, November said.

Your Individual Horoscope

For Thursday, August 25, 1966

MARCH 21 to APRIL 20 (Aries) — Concentrate on personal advoncement within the framework of your abilities. Learn more about yourself, your latent talents. Be aware of constantly changing trends; analyze them.

APRIL 21 to MAY 21 (Taurus) — Your planet Venus urges a prudent look at todoy's calendar. Give precedence to matters that require immediate attention. Table such issues as could crowd your schedule or can safely be ignored.

MAY 22 to JUNE 21 (Gemini) — Tempting bait may be held out to you — which could cause you to lose momentum, and even your way. But your keen, agile mind can snatch realg, valued program from the welter of confusing offerings.

JUNE 22 to JULY 23 (Cancer) — Feel a bit rambunctious? This spirit, adequately controlled, can be the forerunner of substantial gain. Predicate action on current needs, quality, timeliness.

JULY 24 to AUGUST 23 (Leo) — Prominent stumbling blocks to progress will be indecision and missed opportunity. Key yourself to deliberate smartly and quickly so that you may reach proper conclusions. Be deftly aggressive.

AUGUST 24 to SEPTEMBER 23 (Virgo) — Orient yourself to beneficial changing conditions. Take a long, hard, objective look and come to an honest appraisal. From this you can pattern future movements with winning accuracy.

SEPTEMBER 24 to OCTOBER 23 (Libra) — Your Venus suggests that you remain on the careful side, advises you to be more painstaking. Keep up with obligations and allocate some free time to planning remainder of the week.

OCTOBER 24 to NOVEMBER 22 (Scorpio) — To avoid errors is your theme for the day. Grasp a clear understanding of your incentives, your motivations. There will be no easy, pat formula for success unless you call it WORK.

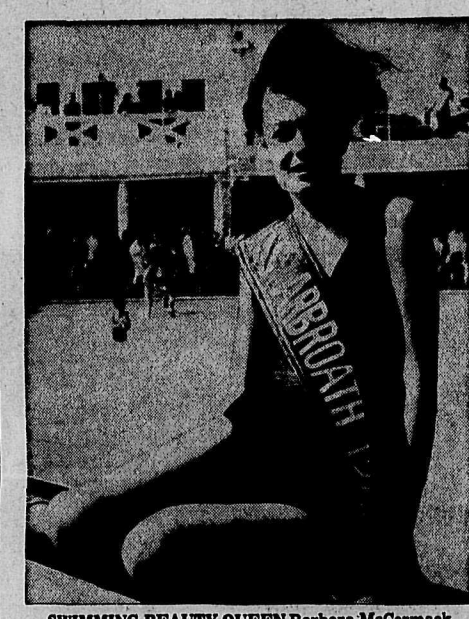
NOVEMBER 23 to DECEMBER 21 (Sagittarius) — The results of your efforts will be determined by what use you make of talents and opportunities. Stretch out; delve into those areas that give promise of delivering more.

DECEMBER 22 to JANUARY 20 (Capricorn) — A special way of saying the right thing at the right time will pay. Reward will be earned in direct proportion to endeavors expended. Be cognizant of "tricky" situations and handle as required.

JANUARY 21 to FEBRUARY 19 (Aquarius) — Uranus mildly favorable. Identify your goal early, and your method of procedure. Then, with the way charted, move steadily, concisely, increasing tempo as you progress.

FEBRUARY 20 to MARCH 20 (Pisces) — It may be simpler to agree with your associates or competitors now — without sacrificing principles, of course. A good day in which to make plans for the future.

YOU BORN TODAY are endowed with tremendous reserve energy and a retentive memory; usually have a fund of interesting stories and a ready wit to punctuate your conversation. You may be stubborn, possessive at time, but you act with the intention of assisting others. Your ability to lead a full life should more than balance your problems. Many intellectuals were born in Virgo; also excellent psychologists, public speakers. Birthdate of: James Lick, astronomer (Lick Observatory); Bret Harte, American author; Leonard Bernstein, symphony conductor.



SWIMMING BEAUTY QUEEN Barbara McCormack, 16, of Port Credit, Ont. was holidaying in Scotland when she entered a beauty contest "for laughs" and wound up being crowned Miss Arbroath, 1966. She accepted a challenge to get her suit wet and dived from a 15-foot board to swim the length of the pool—the first Miss Arbroath to do so in the history of the contest. It was a triumphant return for Clan McCormack; 300 years before Barbara's ancestors left Scotland for Nova Scotia.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X B
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

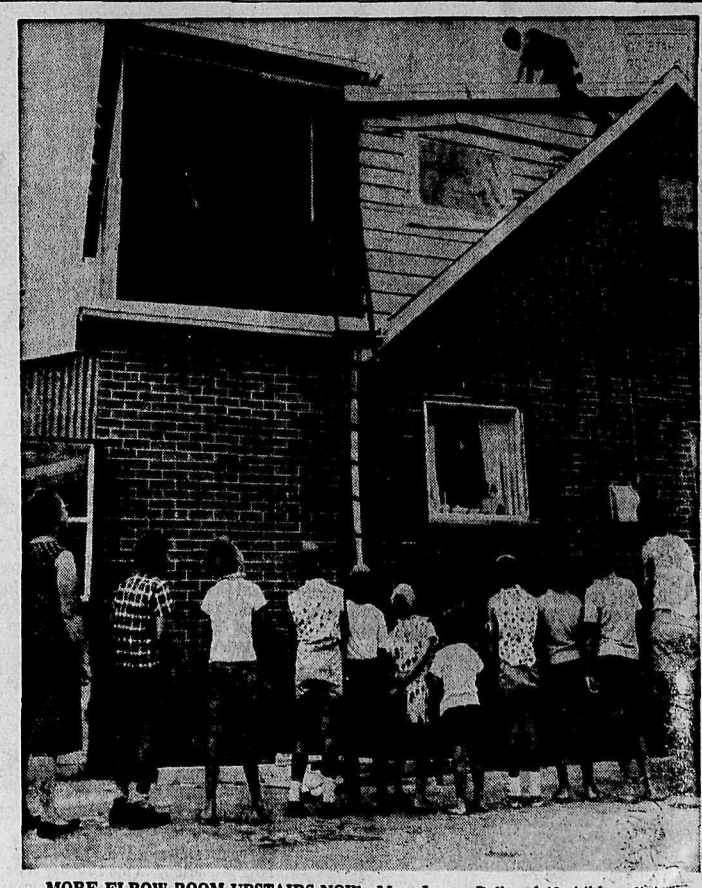
SAWS NOW OUTDATED

MADRID (AP)—The saw and the axe are "antique," Dr. F. F. P. Kollman of Munich University told delegates of 90 countries at the sixth world forestry congress. He said wood can be cut more efficiently by oscillating steel wires, high-pressure water jets, electronic rays or laser guns.



MORE ELBOW ROOM UPSTAIRS NOW—Mrs. James Bell and 10 children living at her home watch carpenter Mel Campbell on roof of room being added. Family had trouble over fire regulations, because basement rooms were used and fire exit was needed. The Bells decided to add a room. Four of children are Children's Aid wards. The rest of the children are boarding with Bells.

MARKET TRENDS

TORONTO (CP) — An attempted late rally Tuesday fizzled, sending prices on the Toronto Stock Exchange into their seventh consecutive day of decline.

The industrial index, closed at 148.46, down .35. It had been as low as 148.07 at noon.

As a result of the slump 121 issues fell to 1966 lows. Declines outnumbered gains 329 to 118 with 217 issues unchanged.

Although volume was higher than Monday's turnover, brokers say there appears to be no panic selling. Only 2,896,000 shares changed hands compared with 2,487,000 Monday.

Analysts say reasons for the decline include tight money, uncertainty over the international situation, higher interest rates and labor unrest.

Among industrials General Motors was off 2½ to 77½, Avco 2⅜ to 23½, Bank of Nova Scotia 1 to 65 and Royal Bank ¾ to 67½.

Western oils dropped .71 to a low of 99.35. Scurry Rainbow slid 2¾ to 24⅛ and Pacific Petroleum ⅛ to 9⅞.

In base metals Cominco retreated ⅜ to a low of 35¼ while Noranda gained ¾ to 49 and Inco ¼ to 88½.

On index, golds were off 2.65 to 174.29, base metals .65 to 87.38 and the TSE .42 to 141.55.

VANCOUVER (CP) — Trading at the Vancouver Stock Exchange was moderately active with 933,210 shares offered. Prices were generally down with eight mines and four industrials hitting new 1966 lows.

In the industrials, the most active stock was West Coast, trading 4000 shares, closing at $25, off .50. The four record lows were Alcan, dropping to $30.87, down .37; Massey lost .62 to close at $29.67, Neon closed at $6.75, down .25 and Okanagan Helicopters dropped .05 to $2.95.

In the oils, Royal American dropped .10 to $1.60.

The most active mine was Cascade Molybdenum which traded 216,100 shares. It closed at $1.96, up .14, after hitting a high for the day of $2.20.

The low mines were Brenmac closing down .07 at .80, Cowichan dropped .08 to .54. Dynasty closed at $7.85, down .40 after hitting a new low of $7.80 and Galaxy dropped .01 to .25. Haye Explorations hit a new low of .26, before closing at .28, down .01 and Western Mines which closed at $5.00, down .10 after hitting its new low of $4.95.

Gran Isle lost .25 to close at $4.40; Canusa was down .09 to .49 and Native Mines dropped .10 to close at .80.

The averages: Industrials 146.98, off 1.00; Western mines 174.66, off 1.93; and pipelines 129.33, off .33.

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market Tuesday ended with its seventh straight daily loss. Trading was heavy.

Volume was 9,830,000 shares compared with 8,690,000 Monday, was the largest since May 17 when 9,970,000 shares changed hands.

The Dow Jones industrial average lost 1.89 to 79.14.

"The type of erratic trading we saw today often occurs at important turning points," said Newton D. Zinder, market analyst for E. F. Hutton and Co.

Glamor stocks among the color televisions, other electronics, photography, office equipments and the like were among the pacemakers, both up and down. Airlines were clobbered.

MAGNAVOX ACTIVE

Magnavox, which has been written up recently, was the most active stock, rising 2⅜ to 52⅞ on 276,900 shares. One block of 150,000 shares of Magnavox was traded at a fractional gain.

General Dynamics was bought on blocks of 49,600 shares, 50,000 and 100,000. It rose 1½ to 41¼ on 248,100 shares.

Eight of the 15 most active stocks rose, six fell and American Telephone was unchanged.
