THE NORTH COAST

DEVOTED TO THE INTERESTS OF THE COAST DISTRICTS AND NORTHERN INTERIOR

VOL. 1. No. 34. PORT SIMPSON, BRITISH COLUMBIA. SATURDAY, MARCH 28, 1908.

LOCAL JOTTINGS

Mr. Lacey will do barbering in H. B. cabin No. 8, Wednesdays and Saturdays.

Mr. P. R. Fleming, C. P. R. agent, was taking the round trip on the May this week.

Mr. B. Pinder of Dawson, was a passenger on the Princess May, going back to Dawson for the summer.

Mr. John Smith of the North Coast Commercial Co. at Port Essington, is a guest at the Hotel Northern.

Miss Frances McCoskrie has quite recovered from her recent illness at the hospital, and is able to be up and around again.

Among the passengers going south last Sunday by the Camosun were Miss Rachel Alexander, Messrs. W. H. Vickers and Mr. MacFarland.

Mr. John Wallace returned to town on the Venture Thursday morning. He will return to Arrandale by the tug Nagasaki, due here at any time.

Mr. and Mrs. Regan of Aberdeen, Wash., arrived from the south last Sunday. They intend to remain in the north, look around and not miss anything.

Mr. W. A. Wadhams, manager of Wadham's Cannery at Port Essington, came up by the Venture last Tuesday evening and registered at the Hotel Northern.

Mr. J. McClellan, the assayer, returned here Thursday night by the May after a visit of three or four months to the old country. All are glad to see him back once more.

Mr. M. M. English, manager of the Balmoral cannery, arrived by the Venture, accompanied by his new bookkeeper, Mr. Rosseau. They returned to the Skeena by the Venture.

Mr. Millichamp, representing the dry goods firm of Gault Bros., was registered at the Hotel Northern until the Capilano put in an appearance, when he left for a visit to the Naas canneries.

W. Goldbloom, representing the firm of Goldbloom & Co., of Vancouver, arrived from that city a few days ago and has, much to the delight of the ladies, been displaying some novel spring suits.

For the week ending Saturday, March 21st, the members of the Womans' Auxiliary met at the residence of Mrs. John Conway Thursday afternoon, where a very successful meeting took place.

Next week will be published the prize list for the Port Simpson Exposition to be held next fall. The list is a large one, and the amount of money prizes will be three times larger than that of last year.

Last Monday evening Miss Knox, lady superintendent of the hospital, entertained a number of young ladies at dinner in honor of the Misses Rita and Gipsey Johnston, before leaving for Hartley Bay.

It is reported here that Capt. J. H. Bonser will be master of the steamer Caledonia during the coming season's work on the Skeena. The Caledonia is at present tied up at Prince Rupert, being used as a hotel.

The Princess May cleared from this port of entry last Thursday night, carrying something like 200 passengers. As the night was perfect almost everyone [illegible] to the steamer to see friends was down [illegible] north. and relatives going [illegible]

Mrs. Alexander of Roc[illegible]ton Point, and Miss Paul, of the Crosby Ho[illegible]me, both [illegible]ppe figured among the victims of la gri[illegible] during the past week. All will be glad to know that the patients are regaining their good health once more.

The following item appeared in The Province of the 18th: "Mr. J. W. Stewart, a member of the firm of Foley Bros. & Larson, which has the contract for the first section from the coast eastward, left Chicago for the coast recently to commence operations."

Mr. McBain, manager of the British America and North Pacific canneries on the Skeena, came up by the Venture the other evening and left for Ketchikan by the Princess May, where he will visit the Bell Irving cannery there.

Government Agent Manson returned from Jedway via Victoria by the Princess May Thursday night. Mr. Manson has been absent about a month from the government office, Mr. H. Young acting as government agent.

Mr. F. Graham, who has for some months past been in the service of the Hudson's Bay company at this post, will leave tomorrow for Victoria to join the new sternwheeler Port Simpson as purser. His many friends wish him much success and bon voyage.

On Tuesday evening last the steamer Venture, Capt. Goulding, entered from the south, and after making the usual run to the Naas canneries and other northern points, returned here and beached for repairs. Owing to the small tides the Venture was unable to get away south until Friday night.

The tug William Joliffe, Capt. Stratford, entered Thursday afternoon. The following day the Joliffe attended to our harbor lights, putting them in good shape for the summer. Mr. Halcot of Ottawa, superintendent of lighthouse work, was aboard the Joliffe and was given a hearty welcome by his friends here.

A. J. Dawson, colonial editor of the London Standard, has arrived in Winnipeg, accompanied by C. E. Hoer. Mr. Dawson intends issuing a huge Canadian supplement of the Standard, and for this purpose is making a tour of the country collecting facts and data from close personal observation and investigation.

G. T. Michell, representing the hardware firm of Pryor & Co., Victoria, came ashore from the Venture Friday, being chaperoned around town by the genial freight clerk, Mr. Harry Brown. We have not heard as yet whether they got back, as the last we saw of the two dromeos they were going in the wrong direction.

J. F. Moodie, of Moodie Brothers, of Calgary, was in Revelstoke recently completing the final arrangements for the incorporation of the Big Bend Mica Company, Limited, which company intends to commence operations in the Big Bend almost immediately. The new company has secured 26 mica claims in the Big Bend in the vicinity of Big Mouth creek, northwest from Kinbasket lake and directly south from where Canoe and Wood rivers enter the Columbia.

On Monday evening last Mr. and Miss Lockerby entertained a few of their friends at their home in honor of the departure of Mr. Graham, Mr. Lockerby's brother officer. The evening was a pleasant one, closing with the usual "Auld Lang Syne" and "He is a Jolly Good Fellow." Those present were the Misses McGill, O'Neill, Minnie and Annie Alexander, LePage, Sophie and Margaret Brentzen, the Messrs. James Sharp, F. Graham (honorary guest), H. Young and W. O'Neill.

The old-timers of Port Simpson, who knew the Rev. A. E. Green thirty years ago, will read with interest that Mr. Walter V. T. Green and Miss Doris Stedham were married at San Francisco on Wednesday, March 18. Walter, who is the eldest son of the Rev. A. E. Green, Inspector of Indian schools, is a native of Port Simpson, born in the old mission house in 1878. He is a successful engineer in the employ of the C. P. R. The bride formerly resided in Vernon, and for the last year and a half in California. In future their home will will be in British Columbia.

Last Sunday, during the evening service at St. Catherines church the Rev. Mr. Hogan gave out from the [illegible]it on behalf of the citizens of this pulp[illegible]pressing most earnestly the place exp[illegible] departure of Mr. and regret felt by the [illegible] family, com- Mrs. Chas. Johnston and [illegible] plimenting them on their popularity and thanking them for their many kindnesses which have during the past year won the hearts of the people of Port Simpson, who in return extend their best wishes and earnest hopes for the welfare and success of Mr. and Mrs. Johnston in their future new work.

B. C. LED IN MINERAL OUTPUT

Banner Mineral Province Again Largest Producer in 1907.

Canada's mineral production for 1907, says The Province, reached $86,182,000, or over eight times that of 1886, which was $10,221,000.

This is shown in a preliminary report just issued. The metallic output reached a value of $42,434,000, the non-metallic $31,317,000, cement, slate and other structural material $12,000,000. The output of coal reached 10,500,000 tons and a value of over $24,500,000.

The copper production reached 57,380,000 pounds, and a value of $11,478,000, Britise Columbia supplying 72 per cent of the total output and Ontario second with 19 per cent. British Columbia, in fact, led in the total output of all the minerals, although its production of gold last year shows a falling off compared with other years.

In this connection the report says:

"The total gold output in 1907 was $8,270,000. Four years ago gold was relatively the most valuable mineral product in Canada, but in 1907 it has fallen to fifth place. A continued shrinkage has taken place in the output of the Yukon from $22,265,000 in 1900 to about $3,150,000 in 1907. The effect of this shrinkage was to some extent lessened by the continued increase from British Columbia, but in 1907 this province also shows a falling off both in placer and lode output, a decrease of over 13 per cent. Less than half as much gold was obtained from the Yukon in 1907 as in 1906. Of the total gold output in 1907, about 47 per cent was obtained from placer and hydraulic workings, and 53 per cent from sulphuret and quartz ores."

FOR SKEENA RIVER.

Boats Are Being Made Ready for the Spring Rush.

Capt. S. B. Johnson, formerly commodore of the Hudson Bay boats in Northern British Columbia, when recently in Vancouver, stated that navigation on the Skeena river will be opened about the 25th of next month. This season he will be skipper of the new freight steamboat now being built at Victoria for the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway, and which will be placed on the Skeena river run. The boat will be launched early in May. The new steamboat under construction at Victoria for the Hudson's Bay company is nearly completed, and will be engined shortly. It will go into commission on the Skeena soon after the opening of navigation. Owing to the rapid development of Northern British Columbia and the railway building operations, the volume of traffic on the Skeena river during the coming season promises to assume enormous proportions.

FINDLAY RIVER RUSH.

Large Numbers Leaving for the New Eldorado.

The rush to the north has begun in deadly earnest, says The World. Not a single berth was available on the Princess May on her last trip north, not even a seat in the smoke room. Premiums were offered for accommodation, but to no purpose, and from now on, for another month at least, it expected that every boat going to northern British Columbia ports will be crowded.

The Empire cannot turn out a single issue without getting off a few scurrilous remarks, the latest being an attack on The North Coast. Poor indeed is the taste of the editor, when all he can turn his pen on is the union manager of this publication. Were the paragraph referred to not a deliberate lie, it might go unpast, but for the benefit of Editor Houston, we can assure him that the manager of The North Coast obtains three squares a day at the local hotel, WHICH ARE NOT COOKED BY A CHINESE STOMACH DESTROYER. If Houston would mind his own business, and not make such a bally ass of himself by meddling in affairs that do not concern him, he would be better appreciated. Perhaps, inside of two years, he will be TOO DEAD TO SKIN EVEN RUPERT.

FROM THE EXCHANGES.

At last the outside world knows exactly the rank of Morocco among the powers, although the rank is somewhat of an inflated nature. It was reported recently that Abdul Aziz had a balloon stowed away in a corner of the huge bazaar, which serves as the arsenal of the imperial palace. It turns out now that there are three balloons there. The reason of there being three balloons in the possession of Abdul Aziz is said to be due to the fact that when the ingenious agent of a foreign firm was demonstrating to Abdul Aziz the great necessity of military balloons for Moroco, seeing that the other great military powers possessed them, Abdul Aziz asked how many balloons were owned by France and by Germany. He was told about fifty and forty respectively. Then he asked how many were owned by Portugal, and he was told Portugal had two military balloons. "Oh," replied the monarch, "then make me three without delay." It ought to be pointed out that in the opinion of Abdul Aziz, and as he has frequently explained, Morocco comes immediately before Portugal in the scale of the great powers; therefore, the Moors ought to own three military balloons.—The Province.

The Chinese government has granted two years' leave of absence to Sir Robert Hart, after repeated applications for permission to get "one more sight of home and friends before the final adieu must be said," as he wrote recently to a friend. Sir Robert Hart is 73 years of age and few men have received such world-wide homage. He has been decorated by Belgium, Austria, Italy, Holland, Prussia, Portugal and England, while China, of course, has loaded him with her peculiar favors in the form of buttons and feathers. Speaking of his much desired leave of absence, Sir Robert Hart wrote: "The months and years are slipping away and both youth and middle age are things of the past. I am now an old—a very old man."—The Province.

General Porfirio Diaz has been president of Mexico for 27 years. There was an interruption between the years 1880 and 1884, but after the latter year the repeated re-election of the chief executive ceased to be repugnant to the Mexican constitution. At the end of the present term General Diaz means to retire, as he will then be 80 years old and fully entitled to rest for the remainder of his life.

The Dominion government in response to a numerously signed petition has decided to establish a system of telegraph communication between Prince Rupert and the Queen Charlotte Islands. It will also build a telegraph or telephone line to connect the islands of the group, and will install a system of gas buoys at various points on the islands, including Jedway.

When we read of United States fishing schooners loading up with halibut in British Columbia waters, in defiance of our laws, we feel, sometimes, that we would like to ask Professor David Starr Jordan whether he does not think that we ought to brand our halibut—just to see the sort of expression that would come over his face.—The Colonist.

Blessed be the blissful bed, and we hope it has come to stay.

THE EDITOR'S LECTURE.

A popular editor tells the following, which he considers a joke on his power of attraction as a speaker. He was one of several citizens who visited the city jail in the town in which his paper was published. Passing along the corridor, he was halted by a voice from one of the cells exclaiming "Say, Cully, that was a good article on lead which you published in last week's issue—I used to write as good as that myself."

"Why," exclaimed the editor, "were you ever an editor?" "Well, I had a good job once as city editor on a daily paper till booze got hold of me and I went from bad to worse, when I landed here."

After listening to the story of the man's downfall, the sympathetic editor drew closer to the bars across the door of the cell and delivered a few words of good advice, and with which the cell inmate seemed to be greatly impressed. As he was about to depart, the prisoner exclaimed: "Don't go yet, pard! Just give me a few more tips, will you?"

The editor, pleased with the reception of his little lecture, and with the thought that his advice might be of some comfort to an ex-brother editor, followed it up with additional counsel. To this the man with an intent expression on his face, pressed against the bars and only a few inches from that of the editor, listened attentively.

When the latter made another movement as if to join his friends who were about to depart, the prisoner, with tear-filled eyes, begged him to stay a moment longer and give at least a few more words of good advice.

"I can only repeat what I have already said," replied the editor, deeply flattered and honestly thanking that any words of his might do some little good.

"Tell it over again," exclaimed the prisoner, pleadingly. Come nearer that I may not miss a word.

After talking for a minute or two longer he noted that the man gave a sigh of apparent contentment and satisfaction.

"And now," he continued, "I've got to go, but I'm awfully glad that any words of mine have done you any good, my friend, and—". "Twasn't your words that did me good," interrupted the prisoner. "Twas your breath. I haven't had a drink since I was pinched two months ago.

A Wrong Statement.

The Empire of the 21st inst. makes the following statement:

"Two of his majesty's J. P.'s sat at Port Simpson one day last week and heard a case of supplying liquor to Indians and another case of drinking liquor by Indians. The man who supplied the liquor, said to be an old offender, was fined $8. The two Indians who drank the liquor and got drunk were fined $30. Such is blind but even-handed justice as is dispensed at Port Simpson, the ancient seat of Hudson's Bay Company traders."

The Empire is wrong in this statement. The facts are as follows: Three Indians were fined respectively $7, $10 and $29, and the man who supplied the liquor was fined $53.

Cut Your Tailoring Bill in Half.

Cut out the coupon printed below, fill in your name and address, mail it to us, and you will have taken the first great step in the direction of clothes economy.

Our easy self-measurement blank gives clear, explicit directions so that you can be measured in the privacy of your own home, by some friend or relative just as easily and efficiently as in our tailor shop.

One trial of our tailoring way will conclusively prove to you that you can wear clothes as good as you are now wearing for half the money, or wear twice as many clothes for the same money.

$15, $20 and $25 are our prices for suits and overcoats, made-to-measure and made to fit. The only way you can judge of their value is to examine the fabrics we put into these clothes.

Fill in the following blank and mail it to us today:
