TEXAS RANGERS ENTER MEXICO AND SECURE BODY OF AMERICAN

Mutilated Body of Clemente Vergara Recovered from Cemetery.

Was Executed After Being Captured by Federal Force.

Austin, Tex., March 8.—Texas Rangers last night crossed the international boundary into Mexico, disinterred the body of Clemente Vergara, the Texas rancher who was lured into Mexico by federal soldiers and returned with the body to American soil.

Governor Colquitt who recently was refused permission by the state department to send the Rangers across the Rio Grande to pursue the alleged slayers of Bergara tonight would not make any comment on the incident or say whether Capt. Sanders, who commanded the Rangers, acted under instructions from him.

"We wanted Vergara's body to determine the manner of his death and we have it," the governor tersely added. "Some people may call this an invasion, but it was not."

The official report of Capt. Sanders on the incident was given out by the executive department. It simply said: "I proceeded to Hidalgo, procured Vergara's body and returned it to Laredo."

Was Executed.

Laredo, Tex., March 8.—Texas Rangers who secretly crossed into Mexico last night today brought to the American side the mutilated body of Clemente Vergaras, the Texas rancher, and established the fact of his execution, after he was seized by Mexican federals.

Vergara was shot twice through the head and once through the neck, his skull was crashed as by a blow from a rifle butt and the charred fingers of his left hand indicated that he had been tortured before being put to death.

Identification was made by Vergaras' son and by numerous friends, some of whom were in the party of nine, led by the state border patrol, which led the grim journey to the Hidalgo cemetery during the early morning hours today.

The body was not badly decomposed, despite its three weeks' burial. In addition to recognizing the features, young Vergara took a bit of cloth from the trousers on the body and matched it to the coat his father wore the day he crossed the Rio Grande. The body was brought into the United States at a point 45 miles north of Laredo, opposite Ridalgo, and near the Vergara ranch. American Consul Garrett, of Nuevo Leon, deputy sheriffs and other authorities were waiting to receive it and pending the arrival of an undertaker from Laredo, an armed force stood guard over the body.

Witness of Crime.

Recovery of the body was made by force of Texans, including friends of Vergara, acting with a troop of Texas rangers and Captain Sanders, who have been investigating for Governor Colquitt the circumstances of Vergara's seizure by the federals. A secret investigation in which many Mexicans have been questioned, is understood to have caused the trip into Mexico. Leading the force was a man who claimed to have been a witness to both the execution and burial of Vergara.

The force gathered near the Vergara ranch, not far from the spot where Vergara crossed the river to meet the Mexican federals who promised remuneration for stolen horses. Moving silently they began the overland march of about five miles to Hidalgo. They avoided the town, it is said, under cover of night and met no one to question their journey.

Ruse Was Success.

Vergara left his ranch near Balafox, Texas, Friday, February 13, and crossed the river into Mexico on a message from three federal soldiers that Captain Apolonio Rodriguez, of the Hidalgo garrison, wished to settle for eleven horses taken from Vergara's island pasture on the Rio Grande.

Mrs. Vergara pleaded with her husband not to risk seizure by the Mexicans, but disregarding her warnings, he crossed the river in company with his young nephew. Mrs. Vergara since has told how she saw her husband assaulted by the waiting soldiers and after being knocked unconscious carried off. Vergara's nephew, at the time of the attack on his uncle, escaped and hid in the brush until he could recross the river.

On the following day Mrs. Vergara went in search of her husband and found him in the Hidalgo jail. As far as known there was no charge against him. He had been cruelly beaten, according to the wife. She dressed the wounds, she said, and remained with him until forced to leave. That was the last time she ever saw him alive, for early next morning he was taken from the jail, supposedly to be transferred to Piedras Negras and disappeared.

Hung on a Tree.

When a search was begun for the missing American it was learned that a man had been shot and his body hanged to tree outside of Hidalgo early Sunday morning, February 15, and the body left hanging for several days. Soon after United States Consul Garrett at Nuevo Leon, Mexico, started inquiries, the body was removed, and a fresh grave was noticed in the old Hidalgo cemetery. It finally was determined by American investigators that he had been executed.

Persistent denial was made by the Mexican federals, however, and prior to this General Alvarez, commander at Piedras Negras, had promised American Consul Blocker at Piedras Negras that Vergara would be released and his captors called to account. This allayed the fears of his friends until his continued disappearance set in motion an executive investigation in which the United States government took part.

Pope in Normal Health.

Rome, March 8.—Pope Pius today received in private audience the Right Rev. Edmund Mitchell Dunne, Bishop of Peoria, Ill., with whom he conversed at some length. Bishop Dunne said after the interview that the pontiff was in normal health.

SIR GEORGE ROSS DIED SATURDAY

Toronto, March 8.—Sir George William Ross, Liberal leader in the Dominion senate and formerly premier of the province of Ontario, died yesterday after an illness lasting several weeks.

Like many other noted men in Canada, the late Hon. Sir George William Ross was a school teacher in his early life, also a moulder of public opinion as a newspaper writer and editor. Subsequently he became a lawyer and statesman, whose fame was not by any means confined to the province in which most of his political victories were won.

Born in the county of Middlesex, Ont., near Nairn, Sept. 18, 1841, the future premier of Ontario received the ground work of his education in the public schools, afterward passing through the Toronto normal school and Albert College, Belleville, from which he received the degree of LL.B. in 1883. The honorary degree of LL.D. was afterwards bestowed on him by five universities.

Always a strong believer in Liberal principles, Sir George took his first plunge into politics in 1872, when he was elected to the house of commons for the west riding of Middlesex, which he represented till November, 1883, when he entered Ontario provincial politics, taking the portfolio of education under Premier Mowat. In the legislature he also represented West Middlesex.

Became Premier.

On Premier Hardy's retirement, in October, 1899, Sir George succeeded him as premier, which office he held until the final defeat of his party at the polls in February, 1905; afterward acting as leader of the opposition in the legislature till his appointment to

SENATE LIBERAL MAJORITY REDUCED

Recent Deaths Alter Standing in Upper House—Two Vacancies.

Ottawa, March 8.—Owing to the recent deaths of Sir George Ross and Senator Cox, both Liberals, the standing of the two parties in the upper house has been to some extent altered. The standing in the upper chamber at present is: Liberals 53, Conservatives 32, vacancies 2.

When the vacancies are filled the Liberal majority will be 19. When the new senators from the west are appointed, the majority will be reduced to 10.

When Mr. Borden became premier the complexion of the senate was: Liberals 66, Conservatives 19, vacancies 2, Liberal majority 47. Mr. Borden filled the two vacancies with Conservatives, leaving the Liberal majority 47. During the past two years 17 senators have died, 13 of them being Liberals and four Conservatives. With the two vacancies already mentioned, the Liberal majority has been reduced to 21. Their successors will make the majority 19. There are 33 members of the upper house over 70 years of age, 21 being liberals and 12 Conservatives.

Ex-Premier Sir Mackenzie Bowell is the oldest man in parliament and is one of the most active. He is 91 years of age. Two Quebec senators come next in age, Hon. G. E. Dessaules of St. Hyacinthe, who is 87, and Hon. L. J. Shey of Quebec who is 85.

MAY OBSERVE SALMON DAY IN NEW WESTMINSTER

Following the steps taken by Seattle and other sound cities in making Friday, March 13 "Salmon Day" the suggestion has been made that the spirit of observing the day be promoted in this city. This is the second year that such a day will be observed on the other side, the preparations made last year paling into insignificance compared with the efforts made this year to bring to the notice of the American public the value of this delectable food. Thirty great railway systems will feature Salmon on their menu cards on Friday, transportation clubs in all the large cities in the United States will do what they can to add to the national tribute to the salmon, while the Salmon Day banquet at the New Washington hotel, Seattle, will be attended by 350 men of prominence and government officials.

The suggestion made here is that every hotel and cafe in the city and district make an effort to have salmon the prominent feature on the menu card for Friday and that the citizens in general co-operate by serving the king of fish at table. The movement started in Seattle will probably grow to the position touched annually on Apple Day and it is possible that a banquet along similar lines as the one to be held at the New Washington hotel in Seattle on Friday evening will be observed in New Westminster.

New Montreal Paper.

Ottawa, March 8.—Incorporation has been granted to the News Publishing Co., Ltd., of Montreal, with a capital stock of half a million dollars, with power to publish a newspaper and do a general printing business. It is understood that the company will shortly issue a new evening paper in Montreal, which will be edited by Edward Beck who figured prominently in the graft charges at Quebec.

Theft of Mails.

Calgary, March 8.—G. W. Wyer, employed as transfer agent of the Calgary postoffice was arrested yesterday, charged with having robbed the mails, and made a confession admitting his guilt, shortly after his arrest.

NEW BUILDING FOR ROYAL BANK

Three Storey Structure to Be Erected on Columbia Street by Financial Institution.

The fact that no renewals will be granted to the present lessees of the three stores owned by the Royal bank on Columbia street and that same expire on April 1, is being taken for granted that work will be commenced by the financial institution upon the erection of a handsome three storey block which is expected to eclipse anything yet built in the city by a banking house. The three ground floor stores in question are at present occupied by H. Morey, the Bank of Toronto and Union banks.

According to information obtained by The News, the present plans which are being directed from the Vancouver headquarters of the Royal bank, call for razing of the structures at present occupied by H. Morey and the Bank of Toronto, work on which it is understood will be commenced early in April. The Bank of Toronto has taken over the lease of the store formerly occupied by W. J. Kerr and company and will be established there by the end of the present month. The branch of the Royal bank at Sapperton will be discontinued after Saturday, March 14.

SCORES MEET FIERY DEATH IN ST. LOUIS HOLOCAUST

Flames Suddenly Burst from Windows of Athletic Club at Early Hour This Morning and Building Covering Nearly Whole City Block is Destroyed—Of 135 Roomers Not More Than Twenty Are Accounted for.

St. Louis, Mo., March 9.—Fire early this morning was discovered bursting from the windows of the lower four stories of the Missouri Athletic club. At 2:30 every fireman in the city was on the scene, but the blaze spread in all directions far beyond the control of the firemen.

Of the 125 roomers not more than 20 were accounted for an hour after the alarm was given and the remaining men are believed to have been trapped in the floors above the fourth storey. The entire building is a mass of seething flames.

At 2:45 the roof of the massive structure, occupying half a city block, caved in, carrying with it several floors and it is believed more than 100 persons.

Every available ambulance and police patrol in the city has been called to the scene. A careful census of those who escaped from the building was taken by the police and an officer of the club and not more than two dozen men are accounted for. It is almost certain all the others have been burnt to death.

HALIFAX MURDER FIRST IN 12 YEARS

Widow Brutally Killed With Sledge Hammer—Young Man Arrested.

Halifax, N.S., March 8.—Mrs. Margaret Brown, a widow, aged 50, was murderously attacked with a sledge hammer in her home early this morning and died of her injuries at the Victoria hospital tonight. James Murphy, a young Soctchman, was arrested by the police.

Family troubles are alleged to be the cause of the crime. Murphy is said to have been married to a daughter of the dead woman.

This is the first case of murder in this city for 12 years. The prisoner is about 26 years of age, a machinist, and came here six years ago from Glasgow. It is said that he had been drinking on Saturday.

DOES BLESSING OR CURSE AWAIT THEM?

Seattle Mayor, Speaking on Temperance, Says Must Prepare for Immigrants.

Every inch of seating space in the Queens Avenue Methodist church was occupied yesterday afternoon to hear Mayor George F. Cotterill, of Seattle, one of the foremost temperance workers of the Pacific northwest, speak on the temperance movement. The address which was arranged under the auspices of the local W. C. T. U. and the Citizens' league, was arranged to start at 8:30 o'clock, but considerably before that time the church was crowded.

Mayor Cotterill during his address proved himself an orator of high merit. He is tall, slightly portly and has a striking personality. He speaks in clear distinct tones which yesterday penetrated to the remotest corners of the large church. Seated on the dias of the church with Mr. Cotterill were Mayor Gray, Rev. W. W. Abbott, George Small, Moses Cotsworth and other prominent temperance workers of the city.

World-Wide Movement.

The visitor dealt yesterday with the world-wide movement of temperance propaganda. This is a subject he was in a position to handle from first hand information, having attended last year's international temperance congress at Milan, Italy, as the personal representative of President Wilson of the United States, and a previous international temperance convention in London four years ago as the personal representative of Ex-President Taft.

The story of the advance of the movement initiated about fifty years ago sounded like a fairy tale and repeatedly during his address Mr. Cotterill inspired his hearers to enthusiastic applause as he recounted victory after victory of the temperance workers in many different countries over the alcoholic interests.

Prepare for Immigrants.

After giving a detailed account of

WIDEN AND PAVE COLUMBIA STREET

Improvements to Be Carried Out in Sapperton—Sewer Scheme.

The completion of the Columbia street paving project past the B. C. penitentiary and the construction of a trunk sewer through the penitentiary grounds in connection with the Sapperton sewerage scheme was taken up at a special meeting of the city council Saturday morning.

Following a favorable report made by a Dominion inspector, everything is arranged for the extension of the paving scheme. The government agrees to pay $37,000 towards the paving which is expected to cost $71,000, and will also construct the sewer outlet through the prison grounds. Sand for the concrete work will also be provided from the sandpit in the penitentiary grounds. The road will be widened at a point opposite Pen Row, ten feet being taken off government property for the purpose.

The Dominion authorities asked that a new wharf be constructed at Sapperton, but this will likely be modified to the city repairing same to last a period of five years.

The city engineer and the penitentiary engineer will make a report on the wharf problem.

OSTRACIZED MEMBER RESIGNS HIS SEAT

Gustave Evanturel, Liberal Member of Ontario House, Accepts Inevitable and Will Resign.

Vankleek Hill, Ont., March 8.—Condemned by the leaders of the Liberal party in his native county of Prescott in a strongly worded letter and received coldly by the rank and file on account of his action in writing to the liquor interests asking for $10,000 to use his influence in their behalf, Gustave Evanturel accepted the inevitable here Saturday afternoon and announced that he would resign his seat in the Ontario legislature on Tuesday and in doing so would present a full statement of the situation to the house.

There are 30 members of the Liberal association executive of Prescott county and there were 22 of them in attendance at the meeting which sat in judgment on their provincial representative and unanimously endorsed the action of the ruling powers at Toronto in ostracizing him. The resolution adopted by the executive and afterwards endorsed in the open meeting held by the association as a whole was as follows:

"The executive of the Liberal association of the county of Prescott deplores the action of the representative of the county in the legislature, Gustave Evanturel. They assert that he had no justification in writing the letter which was read in the legislative assembly on Feb. 25 and distinctly disapprove and condemn it."

Ore Receipts at Trail.

Nelson, March 8.—Ore receipts at Trail smelter last week totalled 8114 tons, making a total for the year to date of 66,819 tons.

"HARDY, HE DO IT" SAID DYING YUEN

MOTIVE FOR CRIME IS NOT SHOWN

Case Attracts Interest and Several Theories Advanced—Many Believe It Was Suicide.

Fiske, Sask., March 7—R. A. Hardy, postmaster here, was committed for trial at the spring sitting of the supreme court in Kindersley on April 14 charged with the murder of Lee Yuen, who in a dying statement at the Rosetown hospital alleged the accused cut his throat in his shack and brought him to his death.

The preliminary hearing which began yesterday concluded today after Sergeant Thomas, of the R. N. W. M. P., had given his evidence, which consisted largely in relating as to the position in which he found various articles in the deceased's shack. A letter which was found and interpreted threw no light on the crime and the witness was not cross-examined to any extent by counsel for the defence.

The interpreter who took Yuen's dying declaration was put through a severe cross-examination and was forced to admit that he used words such as "slash" which he had never before heard of or spoken. The defence was reserved.

The case has attracted considerable attention in Saskatoon, where Hardy has several friends who are unable to conceive of any motive that would prompt him to commit such a crime. One man who returned from Fiske yesterday said he followed the evidence with more or less interest and found it to be quite contradictory. If anything, he thought the case was more mysterious now than when the preliminary hearing started.

May Be Suicide.

Friends of Hardy confidently assert that the Chinaman died from the effects of wounds self-inflicted and proof may be offered later with a view to substantiating the belief that he attempted suicide shortly before he was discovered on the roadside, half a mile from his laundry, bleeding profusely from a terrible gash in his throat, on the evening of February 25.

The theory is advanced that Yuen went into the cellar of his laundry and there slashed his neck with a knife, accounting for the blood stains in the cellar and the floor of the place. It is assumed that after cutting his own throat, the Chinaman pulled himself up through the trap door and in his excitement ran outside as far as he could before dropping from exhaustion.

The prosecution is largely on Yuen's statement that after he was found and his dying declaration to hold Hardy on the charge of murder. Almost the first words Yuen uttered when found on the side of the road were "Hardy, he do it," and subsequently repeated the statement.

On the morning following the tragedy, it is stated, Hardy went to a bank in Fiske and seemed to be very anxious to secure a loan, declaring he must have some money. Whether the prosecution will use that as a suspicious circumstance remains to be seen. It may not have any connection whatever with the case.

Blood of Man or Animal?

Probably the most suspicious circumstance as having any tendency to implicate Hardy was a blood stain found on his coast. The stain is being analyzed for the purpose of determining whether it is human blood or that of an animal. As Hardy conducts a butcher shop in connection with his business at Fiske it may show that the blood was from an animal. He insists that it was.

Two Theories.

Two theories in support of the suicide idea, are given by a man who is familiar with Chinese characters. One is a custom that is as old as China itself, but not practiced so much in this country. Yuen considered Hardy was his enemy and in order to throw suspicion on the postmaster tried to end his own life in the manner he did. This is not an uncommon occurrence in China, the idea of the would-be suicide being to wind up his own troubles and make serious trouble for his enemy.

Another theory advanced is that possibly the Chinaman became temporarily unbalanced through the use of some drug, and in a moment of frenzy slashed his throat.

GERMANY SECURES COLLIERY IN BRITAIN

London, March 8.—A sensation has been caused in Yorkshire by an announcement that German interests have secured a colliery there, paying one million dollars for it. This makes the third German-owned colliery in Great Britain, the supplies of hard coal in Germany being insufficient for that empire's needs.

DOMINION'S TRADE WITH U. S. MAKES GREAT STRIDES

Imports and Exports Show Large Increase for Year—Trade with Great Britain.

Ottawa, March 8.—According to figures just made public by the trade and commerce department covering Canadian trade for the past calendar year, the United States still provides the chief source of increase in Canada's annual trade growth. During 1913 imports from the United States increased by $39,026,515, while exports to the United States increased by $23,261,296. This makes a total trade increase with the United States during the year of $62,281,811. Imports from Great Britain increased by $6,477,256, while exports to Great Britain increased by $47,811,856, or a total trade increase from the mother country of $54,289,112.

The total trade with the United States during the year was $643,653,973, consisting of imports to the value of $441,302,354 and exports to the value of $193,351,619. The total trade with Great Britain was $364,326,938, consisting of imports to the value of $139,811,893 and exports to the value of $224,515,045.

The aggregate trade of Canada for the year was $1,147,648,243, as compared with $1,023,641,142 for 1912.

THE LATE SIR GEORGE ROSS.

In the death of Sir George Ross Canada loses an able son and the Liberal party is deprived of the services of one of its most seasoned and capable leaders.

A statesman and politician of positive qualities, such as the late Sir George Ross was could not fail to make during a long and active career many stiff political enemies, but it is certain that, however bitter the opposition he often was called upon to face in the heat of a campaign and on the floor of the house, the ties of personal friendship which bound him so closely to a host of men in both parties never were strained by conduct unworthy of a gentleman. He was a hard fighter, as every successful leader must be, but he was a fair one and behind it all lay a kindliness and broad-mindedness that earned him deep respect wherever he was known.

There are many Canadians who have differed with Sir George Ross on the subject of political creeds, but none of them could charge him with double-dealing or insincerity and make good the charge.

In some matters he was positive almost to the verge of obstinacy, but he was honestly so and he was loyal to his party, which, in these later days of turn-coat politics, is worthy of note. He was a Liberal of Liberals and, rightly or wrongly, but withal honestly, he believed with Tom Platt, the great American party-liner, that in the end the staunch party man was the best servant of his country.

Catching a place will be the principal endeavor in the session of the special assize court this morning.

A man dropped dead from heart failure in a Golden restaurant last week. Probably the waiter brought him a tender beef steak and the shock killed him.

According to a Rossland paper, the mayor of the mining town has called the chief of police "a liar." If the chief retorts in kind he'll probably lose his job.

Yukoners have presented the Duke of Connaught with a lamp. Probably they desire his royal highness to see matters affecting the far north in the most favorable light possible.

Reports say that Juneau, Alaska, is crowded with idle men. Juneau's population must be growing to enable even an imaginative correspondent to describe it as crowded.

Indians at Hazelton are prohibited from playing in the pool rooms. First they barred the red man from chasing the buffalo, now they won't let him buck the tiger. No more big game hunting for Poor Lo.

Should the Doukhobors live up to their threat to go about naked if the government enforces the registration of births and deaths, a little touch of the cat-o'-nine-tails might be employed to teach these foreigners where they really stand.

If Christians don't give more liberally to their church, says a Montreal bishop, salaries of the clergy will have to be cut. Evidently some of the church goers have been forgetting that the high cost of living hits the man in the pulpit as well as the listener in the pew.

The United Mine Workers of America, as a foreign organization, got a bad black eye the other day when the Nanaimo miners signed up with the coal company to go to work once more, in spite of the fact that the U. M. W. of A. is still saying "Strike."

WOMEN MAY HAVE BALLOT IN FRANCE

Commission Reports Favorably—Next General Election Will Probably Decide.

Paris, Mar. 8.—Women in France will probably have the ballot in local affairs before the end of the present year, according to Ferdinand Buisson, president of the universal suffrage commission, which is composed of forty members of the French parliament and which has reported favorably on the subject to the chamber of deputies.

Report Was Approved.

When the question was brought before the chamber last fall, M. Buisson alone was delegated to draw up a report on the subject, and his report has since met the entire approval of the commission. It is in part now before the chamber. It includes translations of large portions of the debate upon the same subject in the United States senate and three maps of the United States showing the progress of the women's movement there in recent years. It points out that in all the countries where total or partial women's suffrage has been in force during the last ten, fifteen or twenty years, there is not a single case of an attempt to rivise or restrict the rights already granted.

"I think I can prophesy with a certainty," said M. Buisson, "that there will be a majority in the new chamber in favor of giving the vote to women in France. We already have some 250 certain votes in the chamber as it is constituted even at present and I feel confident the general elections will return the extra fifty votes necessary for us to carry the house."

Supplies Machinery.

M. Buisson's report, besides dealing with the controversial side of the question of votes for women, supplies the machinery, approved of by the commission, for bringing women's suffrage into force. This merely consists of the addition of the three words, "of both sexes," to an article of the French suffrage law of April, 1884. An additional article, limiting the vote, will be placed before the house for consideration if desired. It reads: "The modification of the preceding article does not apply for the election of deputies, for which male electors only are eligible."

"The adoption of the second article," says M. Buisson, "will restrict woman's suffrage to so-called municipal affairs. It will, however, give women much more power in France than is generally realized. They will, for instance, vote for the conseil municipal, conseil general, the conseil d'arrondissement, and have a say in the electing the electors of the senate. The only right not given to them would be the right to vote in the election of deputies.

"I should be ready to vote for the immediate granting of universal suffrage to women, but if municipal suffrage only is passed by the parliament I shall be satisfied for the present. Universal suffrage is bound to come later."

SIR GEORGE W. ROSS DIED SATURDAY

the senate, of which body he was elected Liberal leader in the fall of 1912 on the death of Sir Richard Cartwright.

During his career as a school master and inspector, the future premier of Ontario studied law; became a solitior in 1883, and was called to the bar in 1887.

Always a staunch believer in reciprocity with the United States, Sir George, in 1882 introduced a resolution in the house of commons which subsequently gave rise to an agitation looking to that end. The agitation flickered and flared intermittently, till at last it culminated in the Fielding-Taft proposal of 1911, which met sudden death at the polls.

Some of the positions held by Sir George during his busy life, which brought him prominently into the public eye, were: Chairman of the Fielding testimonial committee, which raised $120,000 for that statesman; member of the Quebec Interprovincial Conference, 1897; vice-president of the British Association for the Advancement of Science, 1897; president of the Dominion Educational Association; represented Ontario at the coronation of King Edward and Queen Alexandra in Westminster Abbey in 1902; called to the senate by Earl Grey in January, 1907, and was knighted by King George in 1910.

A Free Mason and a Presbyterian, Sir George was an elder of St. Andrew's church, Toronto, and was twice a delegate to Pan-Presbyterian conferences, one in Glasgow in 1896, and one in New York in 1898.

Also an Editor.

As a member of the fourth estate, Sir George was for a time editor of the Strathroy Age; part proprietor of the Huron Expositor; conductor of the Ontario Teacher, an educational journal, and at one time one of the chief editorial writers of the Toronto Globe.

Always a strong temperance man, he was in 1879 elected most worthy patriarch of the Sons of Temperance in North America; attended the British and Colonial temperance congress in London in 1886, and was elected a vice-president of the Ontario Prohibition alliance in 1896.

He was married three times. First to Christina Campbell in 1862; secondly to Catherine Boston in 1875, and in May, 1907 to Mildred Peel, sister of the late Paul Peel, a Canadian artist whose fame extended far beyond the land of his birth, by whom he is survived.

A past president of the Canadian Authors' society, Sir George was the author of several brochures, among others: "Formative Influences in Canadian History," "Shall Canada be Always a Dependency of the Empire?" "The Making of Canadian Constitution," "The Historical Significance of the Plains of Abraham," and several treatises relating to the schools of Canada and other countries. He also collaborated with William Buckingham in "The Life and Times of the Hon. Alex. Mackenzie."

In "Getting into Parliament and After," his crowning literary work, published last year, Sir George gave, as the title of his book indicates, a resume of his political life, from the time he was first inoculated with the political virus to the memorable day in 1905 when he met his Waterloo. As he said in the preface of his book "My references to provincial politics for obvious reasons, close with the change of government in 1905."

While a member of the commons Sir George appears to have taken no very prominent part, judging by his reminiscences. After telling how, being unseated as member for the federal seat in West Middlesex, he was offered and accepted the legislative seat for the same riding, Sir George described conditions as they were in early days, when, as he said, "The legislature was under the spell of Sanfield Macdonald's economic fatalism."

The times of storm and stress brought about by the Gamey charges were not dilated upon by Sir George and calmly he told how his star began to set. In 1899 he became premier of Ontario with a majority of 1 and then in 1902 the majority was reduced to four. Then came the valedictory.

"For two years I grappled with my evil star. But in 1904, with the uncertainty of pending by-elections and the uncomfortable feeling that the government did not represent a majority of the electorate I decided to dissolve the house. January 25 following was the day fixed for the elections. When the polls closed there was no doubt as to the result. The time for a change, so long predicted, had come."

Enters Senate

Then in 1907, as Sir George said, "he graduated into the senate of Canada, to complete his political education. He had studied statescraft for 11 years in the house of commons and had 24 years' laboratory practice in the legislative assembly of Ontario. If long training was a qualfication for advancement I had a righ to promotion hororis causa."

Most of one long chapter in Sir George's book was devoted to a description of the traditions functions and "mistaken popular prejudices" against the senate, the sting to which was in the tail:

"The Canadian senate has spheres of usefulness not yet cultivated to any extent, which, if entered upon, would increase its influence and make it a more powerful factor in the body politic."

This thesis was further developed in his latest book, a history of the Canadian senate, issued only a few weeks ago.

More than 15 years ago Sir George gave this definition of success:

"Real success is only attained by the building up of character. All else is ephemeral. Attention to business will bring a measure of gain; to books an opening up of richer avenues of thought; to art a keener appreciation of life; to the world of life, a knowledge of men; but real success is only secured when all these contribute to the broadening of our sympathy with our fellow men and to a nearer union with our God."

SHOCK CAUSES DUMB TO SPEAK

Remarkable Cases of People Dumb for Years, Speaking.

The recent case of a young woman in England, who, after being deaf and dumb for 21 years, is slowly recovering both hearing and speech — the shock of the tragic end of her brother, who drowned himself in the Stour, being regarded as responsible for the miraculous example of shock succeeding where doctors have failed —recalls similar instances.

Some time ago the narrow escape of a boy from drowning off North Shields fish quay had a remarkable sequel. While efforts were being made to restore the apparently drowned boy to consciousness by means of artificial respiration, a man who had been deprived of speech two years earlier as the result of an accident, pushed through the crowd merely out of curiosity. As soon as he saw the prostrate boy, although not in any way related to him, the sight gave him such a shock that his speech suddenly returned, and he fell to the ground in a state of collapse. Upon recovering he continued to speak freely, and has suffered no further impediment since.

It is not many years since a remarkable case of dumbness excited great interest in medical circles in Germany. Twelve months earlier a Bavarian cattle dealer had been kicked by a horse, with the result that he completely lost the use of his voice. A year later he was riding a doomed horse to the knacker's yard, when the animal, who clearly had plenty of life in him, began to kick and plunge in a dangerous manner. The man, we are told, lost his head completely in wild excitement, and after a few minutes began to talk, completely regaining his speech to the boundless astonishment of his friends.

Trapping the Gossip.

Mrs. Pankhurst was complimented by a reporter one day on the way she subdues hecklers.

"We suffragists," said Mrs. Pankhurst, good-humoredly, "have wide experience with hecklers. At one time they upset me, but now I rather enjoy their foolish questions. If they are too persistent, though—that is different. A noisy audience is very disagreeable to a public speaker."

Mrs. Pankhurst, smiling, continued: "I can sympathize with the minister who was greatly disturbed by a certain set of women in his congregation who persistently gossiped in a loud tone during service.

"One Sunday morning he executed a plan which he had devised to stop this annoyance. At a given signal the choir stopped abruptly on a certain word in the middle of a hymn.

"Then one of the gossips, unable to check herself, was heard all over the church to say:

"'I always fry mine in lard.'

"'As we now know,' announced the minister, 'that she always fries hers in lard, we will proceed with the singing.'"

Fears British Decadence.

Sir James Crichton-Browne, in speaking recently at the annual meeting of the National League for Physical Education and Improvement in London, urged the importance of grappling with "the greatest catastrophe that could befall the world—the decadence and deterioration of the British race."

He asserted that in the large public schools of Britain to-day it would be impossible to find ten absolutely sound children. From the reports of medical officers it seemed as if almost every child had some flaw or blemish that interfered with his education or must mar more or less his prospect in life. It might look in vain, he added, for child-stuff out of which to build a Venus de Medici or the Apollo Belvedere.

Green Sunsets In England.

Green sunsets seen by the Russian explorers in the newly discovered polar land have been matched in England. Throughout November and December of 1883 the intensity and afterglows were of wonderful intensity and varied colors. At Chelsea especially the sun went down over the Thames and a blaze of unearthly beauty ranging from deepest red to green, as may be seen in a series of water color sketches made at the time and now preserved in the Chelsea free library. Sir Norman Lockyer and other astronomers attributed these winter sunsets to the volcanic dust projected by the great eruption of Krakatoa, in Java, in the previous August.

Scotland's National Badge.

The Order of the Thistle of which Lord Haldane is to be made a knight, dates only from the last day of 1703. Centuries earlier, however, the thistle was the national badge of Scotland, and the origin of its emblematic use is referred by tradition to the Danish invasion of Scotland. The invaders planned a night attack, and marching barefoot, had contrived to creep close up to the Scottish forces unobserved, when one of them stepped on a thistle and uttered a cry of pain. The alarm was given, and the attack failed. Out of gratitude the thistle was adopted as the insignia of Scotland.—London Chronicle.

Coppers In South Africa.

The penny famine in England is nothing to the dearth of coppers in South Africa. Pennies may be there, but one meets very few between Cape Town and Buluwayo, and even those one doesn't know what to do with. For the "tickey" (our almost obsolete threepenny bit) is the lowest coin used. Yet on the tramways in Cape Town there are three-ha'penny fares. Instead of change from the conductor you receive a voucher entitling you to another three-ha'penny tram-ride when you want one. Would the same practice be feasible and legal in penniless London?

GOOD-BYE TO "JIMMIE."

The closest friend of Capt. Robert Scott, the English explorer, who with three companions met death "like English gentlemen," last February while on the return trip from a polar expedition was J. M. Barrie, the author and playwright. Peter Scott, only son of the dead hero, is Barrie's godson and gets his first name from the playwright's "Peter Pan." Scott and Barrie, both quiet, retiring men and inveterate pipe smokers, were kindred souls for years and were constantly together in and about London. One of the last messages found beside the captain's body in his tomb of ice was directed to "Jimmie" Barrie. Written in lead pencil, and toward the end going off into almost indecipherable scratches, it closes with the abruptness of a thing written by a dying hand. A more poignant farewell one cannot conceive than the following:

"We are pegging out in a very comfortless spot. Hoping this letter may be found and sent to you, I write a word of farewell. I want you to help my widow and my boy—your godson. We are showing that Englishmen can still die with a bold spirit, fighting it out to the end. It will be known that we have accomplished our object in reaching the pole, and that we have done everything possible, even to sacrificing ourselves, in order to save sick companions. I think that the country ought to help those who are left behind to mourn us. Good-bye. I am not at all afraid of the end, but sad to miss many a humble pleasure which I had planned for the future on our long marches. I may not have proved a great explorer, but we have done the greatest march ever made and come very near to great success. Good-bye, my dear friend.

"We are very near the end, but have not and will not lose our good cheer. We have had four days of storm in our tent and nowhere's food or fuel. We did intend to finish ourselves when things proved like this, but we have decided to die naturally in the track. As a dying man, my dear friend, be good to my wife and child. Give the boy a chance in life if the state won't do it. He ought to have good stuff in him. * * * I never met a man in my life whom I admired and loved more than you, but I never could show you how much your friendship meant to me, for you had much to give and I nothing."

Stage Superstitions.

The ill-fortune which has led for the second time to the peremptory closing of the London Opera House will go far to substantiate the superstitions of stage folk. Actors have their own peculiar code of fancies. You must not whistle in the dressing room, under penalty of being thrust out (whatever your deshabille) to turn round three times in the passage before regaining admittance. For to whistle is to invite bad luck for "the show." Again in rehearsal the tag, or final words of the play must never be uttered. And you must not open an umbrella on the stage. Many other things are regarded as ominous in stageland, so can you wonder that Maiden lane shook its head when the London Opera House was opened on Nov. 13, 1911? There was confirmation when Mr. Hammerstein closed it on the thirteenth of a month—July 13 1913.

First Dublin Strike.

Probably the first Dublin strike occurred about 100 years ago, when the piers of Kingstown harbor were being constructed. The material was raised in the granite quarries at Killiney, close by, and "coasted" down a tramway. Major Sirr, who played a notorious part in Dublin during the insurrection of 1798, was walking up the tramway when he heard a discharge of artillery. He turned round just as a loaded wagon was started, and being right in the way would have been killed but for the promptness of the brakeman. When the news reached the quarries there was an instant strike. The workmen insisted on the dismissal of the brakeman on the ground that "it was none of his business to save the major's life."—London Daily Chronicle.

To Stop Violence.

The Bengal Government has announced that in view of the continuance of political and other dacoity in India, gun licences will be freely issued to merchants and other men of good standing in the rural districts, on condition that they employ pensioned sepoys as armed watchmen. There has been an increase in the number of murders in Bengal, the inspector-general reports; and he mentions that in many cases the crime is committed on the slightest provocation. The following instance is given: A man threatened that he would disinherit his son-in-law, who thereupon hired someone to murder him. Ten rupees ($3.75) was the price asked and given.

Halfpenny Dinners.

A large number of visitors were present at the opening of the halfpenny-dinner season for poor children at Brunswick Hall, Whitechapel. The meals are made by the London Vegetarian Society. A halfpenny dinners consists of a plate of soup, the ingredients of which are butter beans, lentils, split peas and barley. With this is served a slice of wholemeal bread. Then comes pudding, which is made of cocoanut fat instead of suet, wholemeal instead of white flour, with currents, candied peel, and sugar.

Noted British Tariff Reformer Is Described In Political Circles as the Real Leader of the Unionists and the Power Behind Bonar Law—Was a Conspicuous Cabinet Minister While In Power.

Austen Chamberlain, son of the famous "Joe" Chamberlain, long the Conservative power in England, is following in the footsteps of his sire. The fact that the other day Austen celebrated his 50th birthday awoke England to the fact that the "young man' is getting along and that time passes.

Austen is so much like his father that he imitates the elder leader even to the orchid in his buttonhole and the monocle that characterized the great political foe of Gladstone. Perhaps that is the great fault England finds with the young man. Certainly the country has no fault to find with his ability and industry.

As a matter of fact, Austen Chamberlain is the real leader of the Conservative party in England to-day, the titular head of the party, Bonar Law, being a compromise man.

He entered British politics in 1888, making his famous maiden speech in the Commons soon after 1892, a speech which Gladstone, the sworn foe of the elder Chamberlain said "must have ecomium, by the way," which they say brought tears to the eyes of the Hon. Joseph. For Austen has been the special pride of his father, who supervised his son's education and early training to a degree quite unprecedented in England. The young man was a Rugby school boy and a Cambridge man.

While the Conservatives were in power, Austen Chamberlain held responsible offices, discharging their duties with conspicuous ability. He was Civil Lord of the Admiralty, Postmaster-General and Chancellor of the Exchequer. It is because he knows the ins and outs of the last mentioned office that he is such a thorn in the flesh to Hon. David Lloyd-George, the present incumbent.

Personally, they say, Austen is a stickler for neatness. It is reported that he used to go over his desk and chair, when he was in office, with a white-gloved hand to find dust. If the glove was soiled there was a "call" coming for the luckless cleaner.

It was his father's idea that marriage hampered a young man's career, and Austen withstood all the darts of Cupid until seven years ago, when he surprised officialdom by marrying. It is said that, if the Tories were restored to power to-day, Austen Chamberlain would be made Premier.

Named After Statesmen.

It is regarded as a special honor when the British crown permits the name of one of its statesmen to be bestowed upon a new city. Queen Victoria was considered to have greatly distinguished in this fashion the late Earl of Kimberley, when she authorized him during his tenure of the secretaryship of state for the colonies, to give his name to the city of Kimberley, now one of the great centres of the diamond mining industry in South Africa.

The real economic and political metropolis of the huge commonwealth of Australia, that is, Melbourne, is indebted for its name to that Lord Melbourne, who was the first prime minister of Queen Victoria's reign, as well as her mentor, and instructor in statecraft.

Wellington, in New Zealand, takes its name from the Iron Duke, who won for England the battle of Waterloo and Auckland and Canterbury in the same Dominion, from Lords Canterbury and Auckland. Lewis Harcourt is now to be commemorated in a similar fashion; the only man to be thus honored since Lord Kimberley.

Prescription for Long Life.

Lord Frederick Fitzroy who has served the Empire in the navy and the army, and as a member of Parliament, ascribes his length of days to the fact that he has always had plenty to do. That, no doubt, is a most valuable prescription. But something also must be attributed to the inherent longevity of his family, for, while Lord Frederick is 91, his brother, the Duke of Grafton, is still hale and hearty at 93. About two years ago, he broke his leg and recovered from the accident. Lord and Lady Frederick have just celebrated their diamond wedding.

Statues In St. Paul's.

It is announced by the dean and chapter that no further memorials of the dead can be placed on the main floor of St. Paul's Cathedral in London without encroaching on the space reserved for worshippers. There is, however, room for statues in the crypt and on the walls.

Seattle, March 8.—Socialists of North Dakota met in Grand Forks recently and nominated a full state ticket to be submitted to the voters at the general primaries to be held in June.

One Million in Local Improvement Certificates Will Allow Early Street Work.

Victoria, Mar. 8.—Advices received yesterday indicated the flotation of $1,000,000 worth of one year local improvement certificates has been effected on the London market at a rate more favorable to the city than was anticipated. The finance committee of the city council recently wired the city's fiscal agents to float the loan at an interest rate of 4 1-2 per cent. or better. As a matter of fact, the rate secured is 4¼ per cent. To this must be added one quarter of one per cent. for the fiscal agent's commission. This added to the rate of exchange will probably bring the total cost for flotation to slightly over 4 1-2 per cent., so that the net amount to be received by the city will be practically $95.50 for each $100 issued.

Part of the money has been paid over to the credit of the city and the balance will be handed over immediately.

It is this loan for which the city has been waiting. It will permit of the immediate start on street improvement work. The most important part of this work will be the paving of such streets as Pandora avenue, Fairfield road, upper Fort street, Gorge road, etc.

MOTHER REBUKES SON'S WIFE IN HER WILL

Santa Barbara, Cal., March 8.—Mrs. Robert Louis Stevenson's will, disposing of the estate valued at $125,000, was filed for probate Saturday by Lloyd Osborne, her son. Under the term of the will the estate goes to Mrs. Stevenson's doughter, Mrs. Isobel Strong, with instructions to pay Lloyd Osborne, Mrs. Stevenson's son, $300 per month for life. Another provision of the will reads:

"To Katherine Durham Osborne of incredible ferocity, who lived on my bounty for many years, at the same time pursuing me with malicious slander, I leave $5."

Mrs. Katherine Osborne is the dead woman's daughter-in-law. She was the wife of Lloyd Osborne, but they were divorced recently.

When Business Booms

HARD TIMES! A prominent advertiser who spends a fortune every year in publicity has established a significant rule. Whenever he notices a slowing up of business he increases his advertising. This is the reason: "When business is booming it is unnecessary to fight for it—it comes of itself; but when business is slow I insist on having my share of it, and the easiest way to get it is by calling attention to my goods. I do not wait for hard times. I scent them in the distance, and before anybody else gets busy I make my contracts for advertising on a big scale and get my orders in before my competitors know what I am doing." The logic and common sense of the attitude of this gentleman account in large part for the remarkable success he has achieved

The Poor Man's University

"JONES knows more about motor cars than any other man I know," said a man to his friend. "He has obtained his knowledge chiefly from motor car advertisements, and the catalogues and booklets circulated through them."

"All I know about photography," declared a well-known amateur, "I have learned from the men who advertise cameras, plates, papers and films."

Advertisements have been well called "The Poor Man's University," but other than poor men have been schooled thereby.

Much of what the average individual knows concerning personal and domestic hygiene, modern office methods, books and authors, electricity, precious stones, investments, and almost everything else, he has learned from advertisements.

Advertisements have stimulated our intelligence, added enormously to our knowledge, and given us aspirations which have raised us to higher levels of thinking and living. Advertising is indeed "The Poor Man's University."

If you are doing a local business talk over your advertising problems with the Advertising Department of this newspaper.

If you are doing a provincial or national business it would be well for you to have the counsel and assistance of a good advertising agency. A list of these will be furnished, without cost or obligation, by the Secretary of Canadian Press Association, Room 503, Lumsden Building, Toronto.

AGED GERMAN TAILOR DIES IN HIS WORKSHOP

Spokane, Mar. 8.—Carl H. Klaus, prominent in German societies, died in his tailoring shop, in the Pacific hotel building on March 4. A porter found his body on the floor. Half an hour before Klaus had measured Reinhard Martin for a suit of clothes

Coroner S. P. Seaburg, who investigated, says Klaus had been subject to epileptic fits for the last eight years. The inference obtained by the coroner is that he was attacked by a fit, fell and struck his head, the blow breaking a blood vessel and causing cerebral apoplexy.

Klaus was born in Germany sixty-two years ago. He had been a resident of Spokane for 18 years or longer and a tenant in the Pacific hotel building for 12 years. He is survived by a wife and two step-sons. He took an active part in many of the affairs of the Germans and was a member of the Arion singing society and other organizations of Germans, and the Knights of Pythias. UNSUCCESSFUL ATTEMPT TO ESCAPE FROM TOILS

Calgary, March 8.—Homer Snyder, the Denver man who was arrested in Calgary Thursday on a charge of embezzlement, made a desperate attempt to get away from his captors at Great Falls Saturday according to advices received by Chief Cuddy of the local police.

Snyder attacked Detective Boyle, who was taking him to Denver, striking him a heavy blow with a water pitcher as he lay asleep in his room. The blow only partially stunned Boyle who drew his revolver and struck Snyder a blow that rendered him unconscious. He then handcuffed the prisoner, secured help and swooned from the injuries that Snyder had inflicted. Snyder is charged with having embezzled $8000 from a Denver cement concern and was captured in Calgary in company with Mrs. Bonnie Belle Sutherland, a prepossessing Denver society woman, with whom he eloped to Calgary.

ALLEGED THIEF SUICIDES IN CELL

Arrested for Stealing from Firm He Worked With for Over Thirty Years.

Portland, Ore., March 8.—Albert Howard, for 30 years an employee of Fleishner, Mayer and company, who with seven other men was arrested yesterday accused of wholesale thefts of linens from the firm extending over a long period, committed suicide in a cell at the county jail early today by cutting his throat with a penknife.

Howard had been implicated by the confession of Harry Estes, a fellow employee of the firm, arrested with him. Estes declared that Howard had never profited by any of the thefts but that he had connived at the removal of the stolen goods from the stock room. Howard at first protested his innocence, but finally admitted he had knowledge of Estes' thefts.

Howard was unable to furnish $5000 bail demanded after his arrest, but Estes obtained bail and was released. Of the others arrested were N. Gord, an auctioneer, charged with receiving stolen goods and held in jail; Alex. Gevurtz, a hotel proprietor, held on a similar charge, at liberty on bail; H. Bliebman, in jail in default of bail, and Robert Northerman and John Joseph, released on their own recognizance.

The eighth arrest was made at Oakland, Ore., late yesterday when Edward was taken into custody charged with having received a portion of the stolen goods. He was brought here today. He protests his innocence. While the detectives say the value of the goods stolen will reach as high as $40,000, the thefts having covered, it is asserted a period of two years, and $1000 worth of goods have been recovered. Officials of the company deny that the thefts will run this high. Nathan Strauss, a member of the firm, estimates the value of the stolen property at not more than $4000.

FIRE DESTROYS EIGHT HOUSES

Twenty-two Families Homeless in Montreal—Damage Estimated at $60,000.

Montreal, March 8.—Eight houses were completely destroyed and half a dozen more were badly scorched; 22 families, comprising over 120 people, were driven to the streets and several hair-breadth escapes figured in a fire that broke out in the centre of the block extending from 2213 to 2261 Beaudry street at 2 o'clock Saturday morning and ate the heart out of the block before it was brought under control.

For nearly two hours the fire continued its ravages. Water pressure was poor and hydrant after hydrant was tapped, but only thin streams were procured that did not help the firemen much.

At 3:50 the fire was under control. These houses each contain two or three families, and in two cases there were 11 children. These huddled in the streets in their night robes until taken in by neighbors. The damage is estimated at $60,000.

TROUBLE IN BRA IL IS GREATLY EXAGGERATED

Toronto, March 8.—Dr. F. S. Pearson, president of the Brazilian Traction, Light and Power Company, Ltd., has cabled to the Toronto office of the company in answer to an inquiry, as follows:

No revolution in Brazil; rumors caused by the political disturbances in the province of Ceara, in Northern Brazil, and the government has proclaimed martial law until March 31 to secure order. Nothing to be feared."

It is evident, therefore, that the reports of trouble in Brazil have been very much exaggerated and that the measures taken are precautionary only to insure a proper election as has been done on previous occasions.

DISCUSS DETAILS OF ANGLO-AMERICAN TREATY

Washington, March 8.—Secretary Bryan and Sir Cecil Spring-Rice British ambassador, discussed yesterday details of a peace treaty similar to those which Mr. Bryan has signed with 13 countries and to which Great Britain has assented in principle.

Great Britain has gone further in endorsing the "Bryan peace plan" than any other of the great nations of Europe, although the terms of possible convention have not been finally agreed upon.

The Netherlands pact which is used as a basis for the treaty with Great Britain does not contain a provision that hostilities shall not be entered into during the period of investigation.

ASTON VILLA LOOK LIKE ENGLISH CUP FINALISTS

Burnley Makes Great Showing at Sunderland—Two Draws—Other Results.

Burnley's draw at Sunderland was the feature of the four games played Saturday in the fourth round of the English cup competition. Going back 12 months one finds the same situation existing between Burnley and the Wearsiders, the latter finally winning and entering the finals against Aston Villa on neutral grounds. Burnley should win in the replay at Turf Moor.

Aston Villa was close pressed by Sheffield Wednesday at Birmingham, the Villans winning by the lone goal. Liverpool emerged victorious over Queens Park Rangers on the Anfield grounds 2-1. A draw featured the other contest, Manchester City failing to defeat Sheffield United on the Lancashire grounds. The Blades will have the advantage of home grounds in the replay this week.

All the home clubs won in the four first division games, Preston's defeat placing them in a precarious position and indicates the possibility of the Northenders being relegated to the second division after a year in senior company.

In the Scottish cup ties only one draw was obtained, Stevenston United pulling off a surprise at Third Lanark. Celtics and Hibernians both won away from home while St. Mirren accounted for Partick Thistle on the former's grounds.

CANADIENS WIN

Shut Out Torontos and Take First of Play-off Games—At Toronto on Wednesday.

Torontos have a two goal lead to overcome when they meet Canadiens at Toronto on Wednesday next, if the Blue Shirts are to capture the N.H.A. championship and the consequent right to meet Victoria, the coast champions, in the world's hockey series.

Before a record breaking crowd, hundreds being turned away at the rink, Jimmy Gardners' Canadiens downed Torontos two goals to nil on Saturday night in the first of the home and home games to decide the championship. On point of play the Canadiens deserved to win, superior stick work and endurance counting although sticky and slushy ice prevented anything like the speed that has featured the N.H.A. games this season.

Clean Game.

The contest was a clean one, with two exceptions, McGiffin, the stormy petrel of the Torontos, striking Donald Smith in the last period which caused a fist fight, while Davidson and Payan mixed things a few minutes later. Harry Scott scored in the first period, while Smith came through with a tally in the second stanza.

Lalonde made his first appearance since being injured, but did not shine, the French Canadian taking few chances of having his shoulder put out again. Jimmy Gardner was also an absentee

VICTORIA HOPEFUL

Will Ignore Con Jones and Retaliate Upon Big Four Clubs—After Royals.

Victoria, March 8.—"Victoria will have a professional lacrosse team this season, no matter what action Con Jones may take to gain a foothold in the B. C. L. A.," was the statement of Ed. Hill, one of the executive of the Victoria Lacrosse club, yesterday. "We are working quietly in order to get our players to come to the capital this summer and will hold a meeting next week, at which the names of the players who have agreed to play here will be made public."

It was further stated that Harry Ross will be a member of the executive this season and that the club now has an excellent body of hard-working officers—men who have the confidence of the citizens of this city to furnish them with the highest possible standard of lacrosse. Positions have been guaranteed for a number of the players, and working on a split-gate basis there is little danger of the club suffering a deficit.

As to the intentions of the eastern magnates to raid the coast clubs, the Victoria officers are not worrying a great deal. Salaries in the east ranged from $20 to $30 a week last season, and this is not tempting enough to lure the Westminster and Vancouver stars away from their home towns. Manager Harry Pickering has written the Victoria club, stating his terms, and the Vancouver star will be brought here next week to look over the situation.

A dispatch from the east states that R. J. Fleming, the Toronto magnate, has written to Len Turnbull, Buck Marshall, Cliff Spring and Gordon Spring asking for their terms to play in the east. The Victoria club is already in communication with the Spring boys and Len Turnbull and they will be seen here if they decide to leave the Royal City.

COQUITLAM DRAW

Overtime Struggle with B. C. E. R. in Mainland Cup Game—Score One All.

Overtime games in connection with the Mainland cup competition appear to go hand in hand with the Coquitlam football club, the team mixing in its fourth consecutive contest, three of which have been abortive of results. On Saturday on the Cambie street grounds, Vancouver, the Port City eleven failed to defeat their old rivals, the B. C. E. R., one goal each being scored in the two hour discussion.

The Electrics' forward line was the more aggressive, but with the exception of the one goal, the fine back display by Marshall and Miller repulsed everything shown. Coquitlam scored its goal late in the second half, a 30 minute overtime play coming to naught. The two teams will meet on the Coquitlam grounds probably in one week's time.

In the other Mainland cup game Kitsilano defeated the V. A. C. two goals to one.

VAUDEVILLE OPENS AT OPERA HOUSE

Splendid Program Will Inaugurate New Policy—Diving Act as Headliner.

The opera house will open tonight with a vaudeville show that is expected to prove the drawing card of the season. If the performances come up to the expectations of Manager Wells he states that the opera house will be kept open the balance of the season with vaudeville. The program is changed twice weekly with a matinee Wednesdays and Saturdays.

There are five or six acts on the program this week as well as two reels of up to date moving pictures and an orchestra.

The headline attraction will be the Diving De Young Sisters and company in their original aquatic spectacle, "Neptune's Daughter," or a trip to the bottom of the sea.

The opening scene of this wonderful act shows a fisherman equipped with a fish line pulling live ducks and dogs from beneath the water. He is surprised by the arrival of Father Neptune from the bottom of the sea who invites the young ladies to visit him in his watery home. One by one they dive into the water and disappear from view. While the girls are on their watery trip Miss Beatrice De Young, one of America's fastest and most powerful female swimmers, demonstrates the different swimming strokes.

Then comes a series of trick and fancy springboard dives filled with thrills and laughs.

The De Young sisters use the largest tank of any water act in vaudeville today. It is constructed in 155 separate pieces and is absolutely water tight.

"IN THE BISHOP'S CARRIAGE" FEATURE AT THE ROYAL

"In the Bishop's Carriage," the famous story published by The Bobbs-Merill Co., upon which a very successful and popular play has been based, will be shown at the Royal theatre Wednesday and Thursday of this week. The film version of this noted subject presents Mary Pickford in the absorbing role of Nance, who with Fate as stage director plays many strange parts, until she eventually adopts a role that leads to love and happiness. The play is a fascinating drama of the underworld that approaches tragedy and ends in romance.

The story as told in the pictures introduces Nance Olden as an inmate of the charity house. Falsely accused of theft and cruelly punished, she decides to rid herself forever of the matron's persecution. Pursued by the police, she takes refuge in the room of Tom Dorgan, the crook where later he finds her. Both refugees from a doubtful justice, their common lot inspires them to establish a partnership in crime. After a daring theft of jewels, the loss of which is almost immediately discovered, Nance, in terrified despair, eludes the police by jumping into "the bishop's carriage."

From this incident a chain of thrilling adventures progress, until Nance is again rescued from the police by the timely intervention of Obermuller, a theatrical manager, who is impressed with her mimic talents and who offers her a position on the stage and a chance to travel the straight road. Now occurs a bitter contest between Dorgan and Obermuller for the loyalty of Nance, which is culminated by the arrest and conviction of Tom. Nance's admiration for Obermuller ripens into a requited love, and she attains fame and fortune as an actress. And then a shadow of the past crosses her path: Tom escapes and returns to claim her; but his purpose is defeated by Obermuller. Only once more is she tempted by the old fascination; only once more she steals—and then she really conquers her preying weakness, marries Obermuller and drinks the sweets of a righteous existence.

"In the Bishop's Carriage" is a strong "vehicle" for Mary Pickford's charming art.

CONCLUDE COAL MINERS' STRIKE INVESTIGATION

Denver, Colo., March 8.—The subcommittee of the house commitee on mines and mining, which has spent four weeks investigating the Colorado coal miners' strike, departed today for Washington. It was expected that the investigators would hold a brief joint session in Chicago with the similar sub-committee which took testimony relative to the copper miners' strike in Michigan. The report of the committee will not be made for several weeks. After the record is printed, it will probably be two months before the briefs and reply briefs from the attorneys on both sides have been received.

BURIED IN COFFIN HE MADE BEFORE DEATH

Macon, Mo., March 8.—Arlington Simpson, 72 years old, was buried today at Callao, Mo., in a coffin made of walnut lumber, cut and prepared by him. Simpson, who died Saturday at his farm near here, made preparations for his funeral months ago, getting ready the materials for his casket and arranging for its manufacture, in order, he said, to defeat the "coffin trust."

Carpenters worked last night to put the coffin together. Recently Simpson had made several coffins that he offered at cost "to aid poor people," he announced, "in evading the burial combine."

Boxer Shot.

Columbus, O., March 8.—Johnny Albaneze, a former featherweight boxer, was shot and killed today by a stranger who escaped. According to William Caras, who was held by the police as a witness, a stranger demanded money from Albaneze and an argument ensued. Albaneze's last contest was with Johnny Kilbane, featherweight champion, here on Oct. 25, 1912. He was 22 years old.

Hagel and John Westlake, charged with assisting Jack Krafchenko to escape from custody. The application was made on the ground that the accused could not secure a fair trial on account of the reports that had been published in the newspapers and that at no time in the future would it be possible for them to secure a fair trial.

Found Dead in Room.

Winnipeg, March 8.—Murdoch McLeod, aged 45, was found dead Saturday night in a room at the rear of the bar of the Queen's hotel. He had been drinking during the day. The doctor declared his death was due to heart failure. He was a married man with a family.

CHARGED WITH FORGING ELECTION RETURNS

Welland, Ont., March 8.—Edwin C. Coulthurst, the Bridgeburg county returning officer charged with forgery in connection with the Canada temperance act election in January, was yesterday committed by Magistrate Mennehouse for trial before the county judge. Bail for $3000 was renewed.

At the recent scrutiny of the ballots Judge Livingstone held that the original certificate given by Coulthurst to the scrutineers showing 54 "wet" and 20 "dry" ballots for his poll was the true count, though another certificate found in the ballot box and signed by Coulthurst showed 63 "wet" and 12 "dry."

More Marconi Experiments.

Syracuse, Sicily, March 8.—William Marconi arrived today with apparatus for experiments in radio-telephony. He was received on board the battleship Regina Elena by the Duke of Abruzzi, who tonight gave a dinner in honor of the inventor. Mr. Marconi intends to spend ten days on the battleship exchanging wireles stelephone messages with points on the Mediterranean.

Union Membership is 1,700,000.

London, March 8.—The National Union of Railway Men yesterday accepted the invitation of the miners to join the conference with the transport workers with a view to united action in all future disputes. The total membership of the unions is 1,700,000 and they can, if they so choose, cause a serious paralysis of industry at any given time.

"DIE HARD" PEERS MAY FORCE ELECTION

London, March 8.—The eve of Mr. Asquith's statement of the concessions which the government is prepared to offer Ulster finds opinion rigening to a conviction in many circles that no matter what peace proposals may be made the "die hard" peers will force an election by either rejecting the annual army bill or so amending it as to insure its withdrawal. This belief is giving rise to the most lively comment.

Sir Henry W. Lucy the well known parliamentary correspondent, discussing this "unparalleled turn of events which promises a dramatic conclusion," says "the ministry regards the prospects with pleasing anticipation."

The government will then pass the home rule bill amended or unamended and the Welsh dis-establishment bill, under the parliament act over the lords' veto and will appeal to the country for their vindication in full confidence of the results.

FOUR MEN KILLED WHILE BLASTING

Premature Powder Explosion in Railway Tunnel—First Accident in Two Years.

Ellensburg, Wash., Mar. 8.—Four men were killed last Wednesday afternoon at the Milwaukee Pass tunnel by a premature powder explosion. The dead are:

Joe Ryan, foreman, Ernest Hartman, machine man, Charles Burke, machine man, Joseph Janovitch, helper.

They had drilled a set of ten holes and were to fire the shots just before leaving their shift. A ladder was to be the means of escape from the heading, but the first shot exploded before any of the men reached it. Two other men were holding ropes to steady the ladder and after the first shot heard the men below calling for help. The second shot was heard and nothing further was heard from the men.

Bodies Are Recovered.

Ten hours afterward the bodies were recovered from the mass of rock beneath which they had been buried. Three of the bodies were found piled up near the foot of the ladder and the body of Janovitch was found a short distance off.

Deputy Coroner Webb, of Cle Elum, after a thorough investigation of the accident, concluded that an inquest was unnecessary. The accident has not yet been reported to Coroner A. J. Rose here. He says his deputies report once a month.

First Powder Accident.

This is the first powder accident that has occurred in the tunnel, which was started two years ago and will be completed by January 1, 1915.

Mr. Webb explains, by way of detailing how the accident happened, that the Milwaukee tunnel is thirty feet high and that it was first opened by cutting the top part of the bore a depth of eight feet. Then to divide and hasten the work, shafts were sunk to the bottom at short intervals and this permitted small crews to cut the rock in either direction. When shots were fired the men had to climb out of the shafts and seek shelter on the bench above.

TEACHERS' CONVENTION PLANNED FOR APRIL.

Regina, March 8.—Arrangements are being made for the holding of the annual convention of the Educational association of Saskatchewan at Moose Jaw on April 14, 15 and 16. It is expected that fully 1200 teachers and educationalists from all parts of Saskatchewan will be in attendance.

Since this convention was held in Regina last year there has been a large increase in the membership of the association, and it is expected that this year's gathering will be in every way superior to that of 1913. Dr. James W. Robertson, chairman of the Dominion commission on technical and industrial education will be present and it is expected that his address on the growth of this form of education in the Dominion will prove one of the features of the annual meeting.

Prof. J. C. McLellan, of Toronto University, will also attend the convention. Another of the leading addresses will be delivered by A. H. BaBil, deputy minister of education in Saskatchewan, who will explain entire working of the school system of this province.

A local committee of management has been formed at Moose Jaw and arrangements for the convention are already under way, though it will be some time yet before they are completed.

KING AND QUEEN TO VISIT PARIS

London, Mar. 8.—It has been officially announced that the king and queen will go to Paris in April next on a formal visit to the president of the French republic.

An official visit to the head of the French nation by their majesties is a unique occasion. So far as can be ascertained, no British king and queen have ever made a state progress in company through the streets of the French capital, and the approaching entry into Paris of King George and Queen Mary is, therefore, an event of great historical interest, quite apart from its political significance as marking the cordial relations, which now, happily, exist between the two countries.

The following bills were given second reading:

Respecting the Calgary and Edmonton Railway company.

Respecting the Esquimalt and Nanaimo Railway company.

Respecting the Vancouver Life Insurance company, of Vancouver, B. C., and to change its name to "The Vancouver Life Insurance Co."

Respecting the Saskatchewan Central Railway company.

To incorporate the Peace River Tramway and Navigation company.

To incorporate the United Empire Loyalists Association of Canada.

TWO CAUGHT MAY BE MUCH-WANTED PAIR

Seattle, Mar. 6.—Following the arrest of John Marshall and George Yank as they left the Moore theatre Tuesday night, Detectives G. W. Humphrey and Ralph Jones have learned of nearly a dozen instances in which they were implicated in petty burglaries in rooming houses and hotels.

Yank and Marshall were arrested when they witnessed a performance at the Moore on tickets belonging to Edward Thompson, stolen from a room in the Oregon hotel. They were traced to the seats and taken to jail as they left the theatre. Yank was identified as a room worker who had served time in Portland.

Detective Humphrey and Jones are working with a view to learning the full extent of the operations of the pair since coming here a few weeks ago.

CURIOUS BREADS.

Made In Chains In the Balkans and Laundered In China.

Bread is made in different shapes and in different ways, according to the taste of the various nationalities. Mr. L. Lodian in Forest and Stream says:

"The bread of the Balkans, curiously made in the form of chains, is sold from the arms and necks of itinerant pedlers. In tent life in Balkania the detached links are often used for fun at quoits or serve a more useful purpose in suspending temporary curtains and awnings. Then when the campers run out of provisions they literally eat their curtain rings! The Japanese bamboo bread, so named from its shape, is a somewhat similar product. It is sliced and sold in strings.

"The sun dried bread sheeting of central Asia looks much like chamois leather and is made up in pieces of bed sheet size. It is compounded from flour and raisin sirup and is highly esteemed by coffee drinkers. In the bazaars of the caliphates it is frequently seen hanging in place of awnings to shield the stalls from the sun.

"One of the strangest crackers comes from Russia. It is known as fit the mouth begl and, besides being much appreciated as a tea biscuit, is quite commonly used by merchants ignorant of the three R's as a makeshift abacus in counting money, a lower string of ten serving for kopecks and an upper string of the same number representing roubles. More picturesque still is its usage as an extempore ring for marrying poor peasants with whom the gold is lacking.

"Most singular of all, however, is the peculiar pith bread of China, which, instead of being baked, is laundered out in narrow strips with a hot iron, much in the manner that a collar receives its finishing. It is made from the central tissue of the fatsia trees and is valued highly by the citizens of the 'flowery republic' as a dainty cracker to eat with their little cups of watery, unsweetened tea."

TORPOR OF THE TURK.

Shown In a Quaint Reason For Not Delivering a Message.

An interview in the New York Sun between one of its reporters and Mr. Bedros Keljik bears humorously on the Turkish situation and seems to indicate that what is needed is not increased political activity, but more attention to business. As an illustration of the everyday torpor one of the experiences of Dr Riza Tewfik, member of parliament for Adrianople, with a Turkish official may be cited.

Dr. Tewfik was visiting a friend at Kade Kony, across the Bosporus. About 10 o'clock at night he heard the watchman call, "Yangin var, Galatada yangin var!" ("There is fire, there is fire in Galata!"), the usual alarm given when fire breaks out in any quarter.

It happened that Dr. Tewfik's own home was in Galata, and he rushed to the nearest telegraph office to inquire concerning the safety of his family. He received no answer to his telegram, and his fears were roused. But as no boats cross the Bosporus at night he was obliged to wait till morning.

He got home at last to find everything safe. When he asked why his family had not answered the telegram he was told that they had not received any. So Dr. Tewfik went to the telegraph office and demanded an explanation.

One Osman Agha, to whom Dr Tewfik's telegram had been given for delivery, was called.

"Where is the effendi's telegram?"

Osman Agha fumbled in his pockets and drew forth the message.

"Why did you not deliver it?" demanded Dr. Tewfik angrily.

"Oh, effendi," answered the imperturbable Osman Agha, who had evidently perused the telegram to his own satisfaction, "it was needless. I knew that your house was not on fire."

Suspicious of Bankers.

In a remote farming district in which I once passed a few days I was told of a wealthy farmer whose friends, fearing he would be murdered, succeeded after an infinity of trouble in persuading him to take his money to a bank. When he interviewed the manager he asked how much the bank would charge for taking care of his cash. The manager replied that it would charge nothing, but would pay him something. "I always knew you were rascals!" he retorted, and marched off, money and all.—London Citizen.

Very Thoughtful.

"The clocks," said the bride, "are simply beautiful, and it was lovely of you to give them to us. But—you won't think me inquisitive?—may I ask why you gave us a pair of them? Of course it was perfectly"—

"I gave you two of them," interrupts the friend, "because I'm very fond of both of you, and if you ever get divorced you will each have something to remember me by."—Chicago Post.

Avoiding Comparison.

"What is your objection to me as a son-in-law? My character is beyond reproach."

"That's just it," said Mr. Olsport. "You don't suppose I want to go through the rest of my life having you held up to me as a shining example!"—Washington Star.

Leaving Earth.

She—My husband has just left earth. He—How's that—is he dead? She—No; he's just gone up in an aeroplane.—Pele Mele.

Never put all of your goods in the front window they may fade.

SOCIAL WORKER ARRESTED

Alleged to Be Extortionist—Caught with Marked Bill.

San Francisco, Mar. 7.—Mrs. Lillian May Evarts, long a familiar figure about the police courts and active in politics and social work, was arrested today with $425 in marked bills in her possession, alleged to have been given to her by Mrs. Virginia Holland, who accuses her of extortion.

Mrs. Evarts recently was expelled from Judge Lawlor's department of the superior court, where she was in attendance on the case of Mrs. Mary Vaughan, also accused of extortion.

Mrs. Holland's husband, a merchant was interested in a case of alleged swindling, which was decided in his favor. Mrs. Evarts said Mrs. Holland asserted that she had "fixed" the case and demanded a reward. On the advice of Chief White, she set a trap today, with the result that the arrest followed.

ADVERSE REPORTS BEARS STOCK DOWN

St. Paul Drops to 95¾, But Closes Stronger—Market Generally Irregular.

New York, March 7.—The market opened very active and lower with a bad break in St. Paul, carrying that stock down to 95¾. Steel was the strongest of the active stocks, making an opening on 4000 shares of 63 to 63¼, the latter price being the final price on Friday. Quite remarkable strength was shown by the market in the first half hour, the offerings being well absorbed at advancing prices and by 11 o'clock, vigorous rally was in progress.

This buying was not followed up, however, and enough offerings were met at the high prices to check the advance and in the last half hour selling again started in, which carried prices down to the opening prices.

The selling started with a bad break in Lehigh which carried this stock down nearly three points from last night's close and gave rise to stories that the same irregularities in bookkeeping discovered in St. Paul might be found in Lehigh.

The tone throughout the morning was very feverish and irregular. Generally the industrials stood up better than the rails. Sales 317,800.

NEWSPAPER COMMENT.

Herald—Traders draw the inference that the interstate commerce commission is in a mood to favor an advance in railway rates.

Commercial—Short covering serves to weaken the hitherto strong technical situation.

American—Further liquidation with lower prices will probably follow.

Sun—The operation of new financing upon which the street based many hopeful anticipations in the past appears to have become a bearish argument.

GOSSIP.

Financing rumors are persistently spread by the bear crowd because of the unfavorable reception in speculative circles.

Good coppers and steel are being bought with money realized from the sale of eastern trunk issues.

It is estimated that the average price of low priced railroad stocks has declined 50 per cent. in three years.

Authorities in the copper trade say price of the metal will probably remain around the present level until the decision on railroad freight rates is handed down.

Frank Lyon, of the Pittsburg Coal company, says 12 systems control 606 eastern roads which want higher rates. The Chicago board of trade favors U. S. investigation of grain exchanges. McReynolds bars Taft as Boston and Maine trustee. The American quotes Eugene Brieux, noted French authority: "Japan will force issue with the U. S. before the Panama canal opens."

The senate wishes Wilson to give reasons for tolls plea. Government experts begin the study of cotton grades in the New York market. An unfavorable bank statement is expected today. Eleven reserve bank cities are selected. The Frick Coal company buys large rural lands. More liquidation may be seen in the stock market. Professional element working for lower prices.

ALLEGE IRREGULARITIES.

Washington, March 7.—Serious irregularities were found in the accounts of the St. Paul and its subsidiaries and the C. M. and Puget Sound, according to the report of the interstate commerce commission, accounts of these roads are condemned by the commission. It is charged the St. Paul overstated its income in 1910 by five million and in the following year by juggling its revenues showed a falling off of two million. This was due, according to the road, because of inability to pay an increased rate and increased cost of labor. The commission declares the statement is not true and if proper report had been made an increase of $2800 would have been made.

MURDER SUSPECT OBJECT OF HUNT

Italian Wanted in Connection With Killing of Henry Werner—Widow Reticent.

Seattle, March 8.—Roderigo Rocco, an Italian, said by witnesses to have left the Werner farm at Issaquah a short time after the murder of Henry Werner Monday morning, was the object of an unsuccessful search yesterday. Rocco is considered a very important witness by the state, and Deputy Sheriffs John Roberts, Herbert Beebe and W. J. Sullivan, in an automobile completely covered the territory on the east side of Lake Washington, seeking in vain for word of the man.

The deputies were informed that Rocco left the Werner house half an hour after the time fixed as the hour of Werner's death in the barn on his ranch near Issaquah. Rocco's companion, Henry Paulone, known also as Henry Smith, is locked up in the county's keeping. Neither he nor Mrs. Werner, also at the county jail, will talk today.

Widow Refuses to Talk.

The widow who is held on an open charge pending further investigation by the authorities, is downcast and forlorn, but nevertheless continues steadfast in her refusal to talk about the case. This attitude, taken at the inquest Friday prevented the authorities from obtaining the information they hoped for in connection with the murder. The further investigation of the killing is in the hands of Deputy Prosecuting Attorney Edgar J. Wright.

A peculiar feature of the case is the attitude of the boy Wilhelm, who testified at the inquest that he heard his father struggling in the barn with some strange men, presumably peddlers. Deputy Prosecuting Attorney Wright says the story he told at the inquest differed in important details from that he gave Deputy Attorney Roberts on the day of the murder.

Mrs. Werner was known in the neighborhood of her farm as a dead shot. Stories of her prowess with the rifle are current in the vicinity of her home.

The authorities are puzzled by the difference in the character of the wounds on the body of Werner. There are a total of 27 wounds in the head, throat and abdomen. Some of the cuts were the smooth, clean wounds of a knife; others were ragged, ugly and bruised. A mattock found near the body bore marks of its use in the crime.

On the theory that a murderer would be unlikely to change weapons during the commission of a crime, the deputies working on the case believe more than one person had a direct hand in the killing.

ANNUAL GATHHERING.

B. C. Branch of Women's Missionary Society Meets in Chilliwack.

Chilliwack, March 8.—A gathering of great interest to the members of the local branch of the Women's Missionary society of the Methodist church is announced for May 5, 6 and 7 next, to be held in the Chilliwack Methodist church. About 100 delegates from different parts of the province are expected to be in attendance at this annual gathering of the British Columbia branch of the society. The visiting ladies will be entertained as guests in the homes of those friendly to the work undertaken by the society.

IRISH GHOST STORIES.

House Built on Fairy Path All Broken To Pieces.

A Dublin correspondent sends an extraordinary dispatch in regard to a collection of ghost stories which the Rev. St. John D. Seymour, rector of Cappawhite, County Tipperary, has received. He is writing a book on psychical phenomena and advertised for records of "experiences." The replies he received were more numerous than he had ever, even in his most hopeful moments, expected.

"I have received," he said, "more ghost stories than I could get into a single book." He went on to relate a specimen "fairy" story which he obtained from a man at Port Arlington, Queen's County:

"A man near here saved $2,500 and built himself a house on a fairy path. During his first night in the house all the furniture—chairs, beds and crockery—moved as if on wires, and after an hour everything was broken, and the man himself was seriously hurt. Having spent his life's savings on the hous, he determined to live in it. When he recovered from his injuries he again went to live in the house. He had a similar experience, and finally he had to leave."

A justice of the peace, G. H. Miller, of Edgeworthstown, County Longford, related the following experience:

"During the winter of 1875 I was riding a horse past the old ruins and burial ground of Abbeyshuile, on a bright moonlight night. In the middle of the churchyard I saw what I took to be a policeman in a long overcoat. He walked toward me and suddenly disappeared. I could see no trace of him. Afterward I learned that it was not a policeman, but a monk, whose ghost appeared there so often that after dark people would go miles out of their way to avoid passing the churchyard."

A woman told the following uncanny story of a haunted castle in the south of Ireland:

"When we went to live in the castle we could hear people talking in every room, and in every hall and corridor, but no explanation could be found. Often and often we heard terrible fighting in the glen beside the castle the hideous roar of angry voices and the clashing of steel. No person would go down the glen after dark.

"One night I was sitting talking with my governess when I heard a step coming upstairs slowly. I went out and met the figure on the landing—it was the figure of a woman. She walked past me, hurried to a window at the end of the landing and, with a shriek which I shall never forget, she fell heavily to the ground outside."

Kitchener's Power.

In Egypt Lord Kitchener exercises unfettered power, and so is wholly unconcerned about the views of the Imperial Government, for, unless they coincided with his own, he simply would not carry them out.

Lord Kitchener understands that the Egyptian native is impressd by pomp and trappings, and so he always drives in an open victoria, preceded by running syces (grooms) in gorgeous liveries and accompanied by outriders. His lavishness with Government money, it is said, is only equalled by his frugality with his own. Kitchener does the whole work of the Egyptian Government himself and ignores the Khedive's existence. He works 15 hours a day and rarely, if ever, accepts social engagements.

He is a terror to his subordinates, judging them solely by results, without fear or favor. He gives only the curtest acknowledgement when they do well and is severe when they fail.

Hindu Chief Installed.

A new ruling chief, the Maharaj Rana Udai Ban Singh, chief of the Rajput State of Dholpur, has been invested with full ruling powers. The ceremony of investiture was performed in a durbar at the palace lately, when Sir Elliott Colvin, Governor-General's Agent in Rajputana, attached the "sarpech" (a jewelled ornament) to the young chief's turban and presented him with a sword. The agent also read a letter in which the Viceroy congratulated the Maharaj Rana on the assumption of the duties of his high position. "Rest assured," the Viceroy added, "that in time of doubt or difficulty you can count on my friendship and support."

Where Do They Go?

You have read of the men of the Volturno who rushed the boats and were knocked back by the captain. What becomes of such men in after days? Do they hide in shame from their fellows, fearful that they may be recognized and their infamy proclaimed? A public librarian once told me of a man who came to him for a book on notable shipwrecks. He searched the pages eagerly, then pointed out a passage referring to a seaman who tried to take a women's place in a lifeboat, and had been shot by the captain. "I'm that man," he declared, proud that his exploit should appear in print, and offered to show the shot wound to support his claim!—London Chronicle.

Effectually Lessens Crime.

There is scarcely any crime in New Zealand, largely because they make a strenuous effort there to arrest, try, convict, hang and bury a criminal within two weeks of the commission of his crime, if this be murder, or, if not a hanging offence, to get him as quickly as possible into a disagreeable prison, where he will have to work hard and fare upon bread and water.

Most Decidedly In.

Mrs. Pankhurst, the English militant, said at a luncheon recently:

"We are all jail birds, all of us English militants.

"I calleed one afternoon at Mrs. Cobden Sanderson's.

"'Is Mrs. Cobden Sanderson in?' I asked the butler.

"'Yes, madam,' he answered, gravely, 'in for seven months.'"

DOES BLESSING OR CURSE AWAIT THEM?

the advance of the movement in Europe, Mayor Cotterill turned his attention to America and the Pacific coast. His uppermost thought in connection with the latter was the need of preparing for the reception of the vast host of immigrants who were expected to locate along the Pacific slope with the opening of the Panama canal.

A Curse or a Blessing?

"What are we going to do with them?" and "What are they going to do to us?" were the questions asked by Mr. Cotterill. "If we meet them with ramifications of evil and vice we are going to give them a cursing rather than a blessing," he said, "and they will bring to us a danger and a threat."

With what was being done in British Columbia in preparation for the traffic brought by the Panama canal Mayor Cotterill was not acquainted, but all along the United States Pacific border there was great activity. Wharves were being built, harbors improved, lands irrigated in preparation for new business and settlers, and the temperance workers were preparing to get rid of the saloon.

To Vote on Prohibition.

In Washington, Oregon and California during the year a vote would be taken on the question of prohibiting entirely the sale and manufacture of liquors in these three states. Authority for these contests had been secured through the temperance workers getting up a petition signed by 10 per cent. of the voters of the three states.

The women would vote on the question and with their assistance the temperance people expected to make things lively for the liquor interests during 1914, asserted Mr. Cotterill.

Making Progress.

"We can truthfully say that there was no era in the past in which the temperance movement was ever going forward, so solidly, hopefully and rapidly than it is today," said Mayor Cotterill in sizing up the world-wide situation. In illustration of this assertion he referred to the advance of the international temperance congress established 28 years ago at the last convention of which, held in Milan, Italy, 1100 delegates representing 32 nations were present. The fact that the congress was held in Italy in which the manufacture of alcoholic liquors was one of the staple industries was a tribute to the great progress being made, the speaker considered. Only six years ago the first representative of Italy had attended the congress of temperance while at the last gathering 50 to 75 Catholic priests from Italy and nearby Catholic countries attended.

After detailing the history of the congress Mr. Cotterill sketched the advance in the different European countries. In Germany, a country the name of which was almost synonimous with beer, there was only one recognized total abstainer in 1887, while today there were 150,000 people in the temperance ranks.

The movement in Germany, the speaker stated, had been initiated by medical men who, recognizing the physical affects of liquor, had issued a proclamation advocating its disuse.

In France Also.

Similar auspices had also marked the opening of the movement in France, a country that was suffering a stupendous penalty for the debauchery it was inflicting on other countries by its great alcohol production. This penalty was a birth rate less than the death rate, a slow process of race suicide.

Dwelling on the situation in France, Mayor Cotterill said that recently a special commission appointed to investigate the cause of the decreasing birth rate had discovered that the nation's loss of vitality was due to the use of alcoholic beverages daily—the great common use of light wine cultivating the appetite for stronger liquors was at the root of the evil.

Of the countries that had made the greatest progress along prohibition lines the speaker mentioned Norway, Sweden and Iceland which had practically abolished the sale of liquor.

In Canada and U. S.

In Canada and the United States the movement was gaining ground fast. Ten states in the union with a population of 17,000,000 were now dry while in others the local option law prevailed and was used to advantage by temperance workers.

Speaker Thanked.

Mayor Cotterill was accorded a hearty vote of thanks at the conclusion of his address, the movers and seconders expressing their great appreciation of his efforts on behalf of the movement.

GARRISON AT ROME READY FOR STRIKE TROUBLE

Rome, March 8.—The head of the police was today personally supervising measures to prevent or repress disorders during the general strike of workmen which is called for tomorrow. The entire garrison in Rome will be kept in readiness for duty. With the troops and police 15,000 men will be available for duty.

While the announced object of the strike is a protest against reforms introduced in the Rome hospitals, it is said to be really the outgrowth of a desire to test the strength of the workmen's organizations.

LIVES AND THE LEVER.

Duties and Cares of the Colliery Engine-Winder.

Amongst the great heroes of the world the humble Sam Chambers is not reckoned, for his case is too common, though he cut his life short to save those of his fellow-men. Employed as an engine-winder at the Marlborough Pit, at Clown, Derbyshire, Eng., he was winding up a cage containing a number of men, when he was seized with a sudden illness.

In his distress, he bravely stuck to his post until the cage had reached safety, and then fell to the floor, dying shortly afterwards.

The average person knows nothing of the life of the men such as poor Sam Chambers, yet every day they prove they are true heroes. No man has a more harassing or nerve-straining task than that by which these gallant men earn their daily bread.

We hear of the strain of driving a tram or locomotive, yet no engine-driver has such a frightful strain on his mind as the man at the winding-levers of a coal-pit.

The engine-winder passes his life out of the lime-light, and is seldom thought about, although each day the life of every man who goes down the pit, or comes up, is in his hands. He does not see the men, nor do they see him, but if he turns round even for a few seconds, many lives may be lost.

From the engine-house pass two great steel cables to the big wheels, or pulleys, erected over the pit-shaft. They come from an enormous drum. As this revolves, a cage descends while another is drawn to the surface. While one rope is winding on at the bottom of the drum, the other is winding off at the top, so that when one cage is on the landing-stage at the top of the pit, the other is at the stage at the bottom.

The engine-winder, or "puller," usually sits on a little, high stool, generally without any back, so that the man must pay attention to his work. Opposite each hand is a level, similar to those in railway signal-boxes. The object of one is to admit steam to the engines, and so start the winding; the other reverses the motion. He has a brake-lever at his foot.

Facing the man is a huge dial, standing on a massive pedestal, commonly known as the "clock-face." The large white figures on this black dial start from zero at the top, increasing until they reach the "6 o'clock" position, and then decreasing until they reach zero again. The "clock-face" bears a single hand, which points to the figures showing the position of the cage in the shaft.

As the ponderous engine turns the enormous drum, the man keeps his whole attention fixed on the clock-face. When the hand shows that the journey is nearly over, the "puller" slowly puts on the brake. Then comes a warning bell to denote that the cage is nearly at the top.

For accurate measurements, the man then turns his attention to chalk-marks on the drum. As soon as one of these marks reaches a certain position, down goes the puller' foot, and the engine is brought to rest immediately.

No other person is allowed to take the winder's place.

When he requires rest, he gets out of his chair and stands, as a change from the monotony. Generally he has to take his meals a mouthful at a time. When he is lucky he may obtain a rest of thirty seconds now and then, in which to eat his food. It is not unusual for him to take home the meal he brought, untouched.

Blonde Esquimaux Irish.

The Rev. C. F. O'Leary, pastor of the Catholic Church of Notre Dame, who recently returned from a visit to Ireland, is convinced that the white Esquimaux discovered by Vihjalmur Steffansson are in reality descendants of early Irish settlers. "It is my belief," said Father O'Leary, "that St. Brendan and his monks settled in America in the sixth century. Many historians believe this. Brendan was a great mariner, as well as a great student, and with his missionaries were going out by the scores from Ireland to Germany, Italy, France and other countries. The Norwegians formerly called America 'the Lesser Ireland,' and we have the evidence of Brendan's discoveries in the sea which long was named for him Mare Brendanicum."

Peril of St. Paul's.

In an article in "The Peril of St. Paul's" in the Architects and Builder's Journal, Mr. J. M. W. Halley states that the weight of the cathedral dome down to the top of the piers is 32,000 tons; that the piers consist merely of a covering of Portland over a core of rubble; and that the dome leans over a few inches to the southwest, a deviation from the truth which has increased in recent years.

"Wren through lack of knowledge of design inadvertently left too small a margin of safety in his supports. The building is not at rest, as the continual breaking of cement proves, and the slightest alteration might have disastrous result." Excavation should be prohibited, Mr. Halley suggests, in a definite area around the cathedral.

Coffin Dining Table.

"There is overcrowding in Malmesbury, and there are houses where, in case of death the living and the dead have to be in the same room," said Canon McMillan, vicar of Malmesbury, preaching before the mayor and corporation in Malmesbury Abbey. "I have seen a coffin used as an extemporized sideboard with plates and other things upon it, and I have seen, although I am not prepared to say, whether in Malmesbury or elsewhere, the living family dining on the coffin of the dead."

BURNABY SCHOOL BOARD.

To the Editor The News:

Sir—It has been reported to me that at a meeting of electors at North Burnaby at which Messrs. Burnes, Campbell, Churchland and Herd were present, Mr. Burnes stated that the minute book of the board could not be found, and further that he had been unable to obtain information from this office.

May I ask yau kindly, in fairness to myself, to state that these statements are not entirely correct. The minute book has left this office only to be audited and on the occasion when Mr. Burnes informed me that he had been to the municipal hall and it could not be found I went next morning to the hall and found it with other school books, in the vault. Further, I may state that not in any instance during my term of office has any information whatever been refused to any ratepayers, including Mr. Burnes.

Thanking you in anticipation of your kindness in inserting this correction in your valuable paper, I remain,

A. J. BARHAM.
Secretary School Board.

CHEESE FACTORIES SOON WILL RESUME OPERATIONS

Within the next few weeks several hundred cheese factories will be opening, hundreds of farmers will be preparing to milk thousands of freshly calved cows. Logically this beginning of a new season is the time to commence keeping records of production of cows separately. Just a knowledge of the total yield of milk from the whole herd may give the owner an idea of the average yield per cow, but that does not give quite enough information. There may be a thousand pounds of milk difference in the total yield of two cows for the season which would be unnoticeable in the small difference in the appearance of their two milk pails daily. Often the difference is far more than a thousand pounds, yet all cows are lumped together, good, poor and medium, all alike, when taking merely an average.

Since keeping records of individual production, many a dairyman has increased the average of his herd by 1500 to 2000 pounds of milk or more, because he has been able to detect the poor, unprofitable cows that masquerade as real dairy cows. On application to the dairy division, Ottawa, milk record forms and instructions are supplied free. Write today and begin the new season right, with the object of keeping none but profitable cows.—Dominion Department of Agriculture.

WAS PUNK AFFAIR

Alleged Prize Fight Pulled Off at Steveston—Cowler Wins in Second from Martin.

In one of the rawest joke boxing bouts ever perpetrated on British Columbia fight fans Tom Cowler, of Nanaimo, knocked out Denver Ed. Martin at the Steveston arena Saturday afternoon in the middle of the second round. There have been good and poor fights pulled off on the lower mainland, but Saturday's goes down in history as of the punkest brand, a discredit to both the contestants and the promoters alike.

Martin, who has acquired a rep through the States as a scrapper, floored Cowler twice in the opening stanza, but the Nanaimo miner swung a right cross to the jaw in the second which finished the "smoke." Referee Hume McDonald was perhaps as much of a surprised person as anyone and failed to start counting until five seconds had gone by. When the count of nine was reached, Martin's seconds threw water on their man which prompted McDonald to raise Cowler's hand. Martin, in the K. O. round, appeared to be thinking of the small crowd on hand and looked around for a soft spot to drop on.

In the preliminary between Billy Weeks and Bob Bracken, the crowd was handed it even worse, Bracken being in wretched condition and figured the affair was of the fifteen round route. It was announced from the ring that Billy Weeks and Frank Mantell would meet on March 17 in a fifteen round affair. Mantell obtained a decision over Weeks several weeks ago.

Sapperton 2, Burnaby 1.

With the grounds in fine shape and overhead conditions the best of the season Sapperton and Burnaby put up a good argument at Sapperton park Saturday afternoon in a league fixture, the former winning 2-1. There was very little to choose between the two elevens, although only for stellar work between the sticks by Birchfield, the Sapperton custodian, the suburbanites would have won, the Burnaby forwards testing the goalie again and again. Chiel officiated to the satisfaction of both teams.

R. C. H. S. Defeats Cadets.

The Royal City high school soccer eleven emerged victorious over the Seaforth Cadets at Clark's park, Vancouver on Saturday in the first round for a new Junior Alliance cup, donated by Con Jones. The score was 2-1, the locals coming from the rear in the second half. Cedar Cottage and the B. C. E. R. won their games in the same contest.

British Isles Defeated.

The curtain was rung down on Vancouver and district rugby at Brockton Point, Vancouver on Saturday, when the All-Star Canadian fifteen defeated a selected team representing the British Isles. The score was two tries to one converted goal, or six points to five.

Vancouver Wins.

Ottawa, March 8.—Frank Patrick's all-star Vancouver-Westminster hockey aggregation had but little difficulty in defeating Ottawa here last night in a six-man game, the score being 7-3.
