RETURNS WITH TALES OF WEALTH AND DEATH

Captain Scott Back From Trip Through Peace River Country in Depth of Winter—Tells of Land of Great Promise and Simple Tragedies in Pioneer Ranks—Probable Railway Route of E. D. and B. C.

After travelling over 600 miles by dog team and three times as far by rail and steamer, during which time four of the party became afflicted with snow-blindness, Mr. James Scott, of Agnes street, an old timer of this city and better known as Captain Scott, returned on Saturday, bringing with him an interesting story of the Peace River country and his experiences there.

Not only does Capt. Scott bring an interesting tale of travel, but a story of development and information concerning a railroad of the near future that will prove of vital importance to New Westminster.

There has been much speculation concerning the probable route of the Edmonton, Dunvegan & B. C. railroad which is at present building out of Edmonton towards the Peace river and in this connection the captain offers a solution which at once appears feasible and practicable.

From Dunvegan the captain suggests the railroad will proceed to Hudson's Hope, thence to Fort McLeod, over the Giscom Pass and thence to Fort George, where it would connect with the Pacific Great Eastern, which ultimately will run into Vancouver and New Westminster. It would also link up with the Grand Trunk Pacific to Prince Rupert.

Another supposition, says the captain, is that the railroad will go from Dunvegan to Fort McLeod, thence to Findlay Rapids, branching from the Peace river Prairies through the Yukon country to Dawson, the other branch going to Fort George.

Productive Country.

Gold, silver, galena, wheat, barley, oats, hay, clover, potatoes and all kinds of vegetables are a few of the things that are to be found in the wilds of the north.

"The average man has no idea," said Capt. Scott, "of the prospects and opportunities that are to be found in the Peace River country, although people are beginning to realize the advantages more and more and I expect to see a large amount of development during the coming summer and next fall. The arrival of the railroad will open up a large amount of hitherto beginning to make preparations to trek virgin country and settlers are already to the great prairies of the Peace river.

"In the lake Babine country we found good silver and galena prospects which have been operated on a small scale all winter. From there we went to Tacla lake where there are also some first class silver mines and high grade ores being prospected.

"It this point I might mention that there is a good wagon road being opened from Tacla lake to Silver creek, which with navigation from Stewart lake to Tacla lake will give this district and the Ominica mines cheap transportation for the large hydraulic and dredging machinery which I expect will be taken in there this year.

"There has been a large number of leases taken up on the old creeks which were worked 35 and 40 years ago and at the present time there are three or four men on each, who are getting a little gold.

"I also expect to see a large amount of prospecting done as far north as the Osilinca river, where we met a large party of prospectors taking in supplies."

Northern Tragedies.

It was at this juncture that the face of the usually genial captain lost its smile as he recalled the story of a tragedy that befell two men, who, without food, snowbound, and 50 miles from the nearest camp, started out in a last attempt to cheat death.

In this one of them succeeded, as he reached Old Hogem in a starved condition, and was fed by a Bear Lake Indian.

Search was then made for his companion, who was later found frozen, about six miles from the place which proved a haven for the one who escaped.

On the forks of the Osilinca, Captain Scott and his party came upon an old cabin, on the door of which was nailed a sign bearing the words, "Douglas and Rigby left here on December 23, 1912, without grub," and in those few words was written another tragedy of the north. It was on his return that Captain Scott learned of the fate of the two young men.

The Climate.

"In the Peace country," went on the captain, "there is a beautiful climate, and although we experienced weather at 40 below zero, we camped on bare ground on April 15."

"Bear ground?"

"Yes, both."

"At Fort Grahame it is possible to grow barley, oats, potatoes and all kinds of vegetables, and Fort Grahame, by the way, is north of the 56th, being on the north fork of the Peace river, which is also known as the Findlay river.

"It was the fine weather that proved our undoing, for the sun shining on the white snow, affected the eyes of the party and at one time my four companions were practically blind. I left them at Hazleton where all are slowly recovering."

MORE FIGHTING ON NAVAL BILL

Liberals at Ottawa Certain to Move Six Months' Hoist.

Deputy Speaker to Be Grilled and Torrid Times Are Expected at Parliamentary Post-mortem.

Ottawa, May 11.—The naval bill has successfully made its stormy passage from committee of the whole house. Speculation is now centering on what is likely to occur on the third reading, which will be taken up Monday or Tuesday. There is no doubt that the Liberals will move the six months' hoist and that the amendment will be debated until the closure rules are again offered. The final division will come late Tuesday or Wednesday night; then there will likely be more scenes.

It is stated tonight that there is also strong probability of a parliamentary post-mortem as an aftermath of the proceedings of early Saturday morning and that Deputy Speaker Blondin will be the central figure. The Liberals, it is said, will charge that the rules are according to the dictation of members of the house. This the ministerial members will deny, with the probable result that the debate is liable to wax warm.

Handling Big Grain.

Ottawa, May 11.—On May 2, according to statistics furnished by the department of trade and commerce, 13,402,921 bushels of wheat were in store at terminal elevators at Port Arthur and Fort William and public elevators in the east, as compared with 16,967,870 bushels on May 3, 1912. Of all grains the amount in store was 28,084,207, as against 23,014,550 in 1912.

FOR ADVANCE IN EDUCATIONAL LINES

Encouraging Reports at Annual Meeting of Women's Educational Club.

Encouraging reports regarding a general advance along educational lines throughout the province were read at the annual meeting of the members of the Provincial Women's Educational club of Columbian college, which was held in the college building on Saturday afternoon. The gathering, which was attended by a large number of members from Vancouver, was one of the best ever held.

The feature address of the afternoon was delivered by Mrs. Chown, wife of the new superintendent of education among the Methodists of the province, who urged the members to work more and more for better education and to remember the fact that it was needed in other fields than Methodism alone. Mrs. Chown spoke of the needs of Columbian college and urged the members of the club to work towards placing it on a still firmer foundation.

Other addresses were made by Mrs. W. T. Reid, the retiring president, Miss Evans of Vancouver, Principal Hetherington of Columbian college, and Rev. A. M. Sanford, the newly appointed principal of that institution.

The officers elected were as follows: President, Mrs. T. R. Pearson, New Westminster; first, vice-president Mrs. J. F. Betts, Vancouver; second vice-president, Mrs. Humber, Vancouver; third vice-president, Mrs. W. T. Reid, New Westminster; corresponding secretary, Mrs. C. Watson, New Westminster; recording secretary, Mrs. J. Bryson, New Westminster; treasurer, Mrs. Derbyshire, Vancouver.

High tea was served by the members of the local branch of the club, the Vancouver members leaving by special car about 7 o'clock in the evening.

GETS WHISKEY AND LOSES HIS FOOT

An investigation as to where Alexander Donald, an interdicted person, received liquors and who the parties are who supplied them will be set in motion by the provincial police under Chief Dunwoody this morning, following an accident which took place at about 10 o'clock Saturday evening at the Thorn road station on the B.C.E.R.

Donald is at present lying in the Royal Columbian hospital minus his right foot and also suffering from a broken shoulder and severe scalp wounds.

The man is said to have boarded a Vancouver interurban car earlier in the evening, probably mistaking it for a Twelfth street car, and the conductor, discovering the error, put Donald off the car at the North road station giving him instructions to take the first car coming from Vancouver.

Little was thought about the incident until 10 o'clock when Motorman McKillam, in charge of cars 1221-1226, felt the train strike some object and when it was pulled up, the crew discovered Donald lying between the tracks and the platform, his right foot smashed to pulp and blood streaming from his head. He was immediately placed on one of the cars and brought to the B. C. E. R. depot where the city ambulance was waiting to take him to the hospital.

The scene of the accident is in district lot 172, owned by the provincial government and therefore under the supervision of the provincial police.

This is the second accident that has occurred at this point within the past six weeks, a laborer in the employ of the B. C. E. R. losing his life there a short time ago by being struck by a car near the curve in the tracks.

PREPARING TO CLEAN UP SLATE

Great Britain and United States Will Settle Old Claims With Aid of France.

Washington, May 11.—Great Britain and the United States will begin to clean the diplomatic slate Tuesday when the international tribunal for the arbitration of the outstanding pecuniary claims between the two nations will hold its first meeting here under the presidency of Henri A. Fromageot of France. This tribunal, created by a special agreement in 1910, will settle judicially claims of private persons of the two nations, some of them dating back to the war of 1812.

There has been no judicial settlement of any such claims since 1853. The claims listed for hearing at the opening session of the tribunal are chiefly those in favor or against Canada. They relate to seizures of American fishing vessels and Canadian sealers, collisions, contracts in the Yukon territory, South Africa and India and other subjects.

The tribunal consists of, besides President Fromageot, the national arbitrators, Sir Charles Fitzpatrick, chief justice of Canada, and Chandler P. Anderson, formerly counsellor of the department of state. The American claims aggregate $4,330,000; the British $2,966,000.

Go Out Together.

Seattle, May 11.—David Johnson, a machinist, 24 years old, and his 23-year-old bride of six months, were accidentally asphyxiated in bed when a hose attached to a gas fixture broke early today. They were dead when found by neighbors who investifated the escape of gas. Mrs. Johnson was formerly Hannah Erickson, and was the daughter of a Minnesota farmer.

POURING THROUGH CANADA'S GATES

Five Thousand Settlers for West Pass Through Calgary Yesterday—Majority Come to Coast.

Calgary, May 11.—This has been the busiest day ever experienced at the railway depot in Calgary. No fewer than eight trains from eastern ports arrived here with settlers from the old country. It is estimated that 5000 persons passed through here. The majority went right through to the coast, including a large party brought out by the Salvation Army. Many went north and quite a number stopped off in Calgary. Two trains the Imperial Limited and the Vancouver Express came in three sections, while the Soo Line tomorrow morning will come in two sections. The reason for the great crowd of new settlers was the arrival of a large number of ocean vessels at the ports at one time. There were huge crowds at the depot all day to welcome friends and there were many interesting scenes. Of all the thousands who came in only seven went to the immigration hall.

GETTING TOGETHER ON BRIDGE PLANS

Important Conference Between City, Premier and Railway Men.

On Tuesday Proposed Annacis Island Structure for Trains and Traffic Will Be Discussed.

Just what the Canadian Northern, the Great Northern and the provincial government intend to do in regard to New Westminster's harbor plans and just what the city intends to ask from each of the big transportation companies and the government authorities will probably be unfolded at a meeting to be held in the city hall tomorrow afternoon. Sir Richard McBride, premier of British Columbia, and a native son of the Royal City, will be present at the meeting, together with Mr. L. C. Gilman of Seattle, vice-president of the Great Northern, and Vice-president Hoult of the Canadian Northern.

While the proposed bridge across the main channel of the river from Annacis Island to the Surrey bank will be the chief matter under discussion, a general talk regarding the whole situation covered by the harbor plans will also be indulged in.

The bridge which the city desires to have built with the aid of the Great Northern and the provincial authorities, with a possibility of the Milwaukee road being also included in the scheme, provides for a double railway track, together with a road bridge for vehicular and pedestrian traffic, constructed above the steel tracks on the same idea as that followed out by the Fraser river bridge.

The Milwaukee interests were interviewed by ex-Mayor Lee last summer while on his way to England, but it is not expected that a representative of the company will be present at the meeting to be held tomorrow. According to reports the Milwaukee road will enter this province by way of the Great Northern tracks, so that it is possible that Vice-president Gilman of the latter road may have something to say with regard to this rumor.

The meeting will open at 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon.

UNCLE SAM AND THE NAVY RACE

Plans Building $20,000,000 Battleship as a Compromise Between Two Warring Factions.

Washington, May 11.—Congress will be asked next year to appropriate for one battleship—a mammoth dreadnought, displacing 40,000 tons and costing about $20,000,000, according to tenative plans of the navy general board, made public today.

In the debate on the naval bill this year, members of congress particularly interested in the navy, became satisfied that with two extreme factions, one advocating two or three first class battleships a year, and the other with "no battleships" as a slogan, an overwhelming majority on both sides could be counted upon to vote for a single dreadnought.

This one battleship, however, will be a monster, if the board's plans materialize. With a displacement of 40,000 tons she would easily rank as the largest and most formidable craft of war in the world. The plans call for a speed of 25 knots an hour.

Just what the armament would be has not been announced, but it certainly would be equal to that of the last ship authorized, which is to carry a main battery of twelve 14-inch guns, mounted in four turrets, three guns to a turret.

VISITS FIRST BATTLEGROUND

Luke McCarthy Arrives in Calgary to Prepare for Pelky Fight.

Calgary, May 11.—Luther McCarthy, who fought his first fight in Calgary two years ago for a purse of $25, now a star of the first magnitude in the fistic firmament, arrived in the city today to prepare for his fight with Arthur Pelkey on May 24.

McCarthy has established his training camp at Ogden and will begin active work tomorrow. He spent most of today visiting his old haunts around Calgary where he started his pugilistic career. He rode out to the scene of his first battle two years ago which was then a mile outside the city limits and found the district covered with houses and a street car line running through the place where he met Joe Grim on April 17, 1911.

MANILA SWEPT BY TERRIBLE TYPHOON

Manila, May 11.—The worst typhoon experienced in eight years struck the islands today, causing many deaths and wrecking several small steamers and numerous lighter craft.

The known fatalities at sea total 58, but the total death list from the storm is swelling with incoming reports.

It is believed no Americans have lost their lives.

COURT SITS DOWN HARD ON LAWYER

Mr. Potter Stood Not Upon the Order of His Going When Magistrate Spoke.

D. S. Potter, a local lawyer was ordered to be ejected from the police court by Magistrate Edmonds on Saturday and saved this ignominious form of removal by hastily gathering up his papers and hiking thither.

Despite frequent admonitions and warnings, Mr. Potter continued to disregard the court's rulings and persisted in conducting his defence of the case in what his worship considered an objectionable and obstructive manner. This finally exhausted the patience of the magistrate and lead to the order for his removal.

Mr Potter was defending a Russian named Joseph Kettleman who was ultimately acquitted of a breach of the blasting bylaw, whereby the roof and window of a house on Nanaimo street was damaged. Another Russian pleaded guilty to a similar charge and was fined $10 and costs in addition to paying for the damage done the house.

Mr. Patter kept objecting to questions on various pretexts, until at length his worship ordered him to sit down and close up.

Mr. Potter kept objecting to questions easily subdued. He a little later turned his legal light upon the bench and objected to the magistrate putting questions which had been answered before.

"Sit down, Mr. Potter," ordered the magistrate, "the court has a perfect right to ask any question it thinks proper."

"I want to say that the witness has answered the question before," persisted the redoubtable Mr. Potter, adding that he intended to conduct the case properly.

The Court—You must conduct yourself properly too, if you intend to practise in this court.

"I know how to conduct myself as well as you do," retorted the irate Mr. Potter.

Then the bricks fell down and the magistrate ordered Mr. Potter's removal upon which the latter retreated precipitately from the menacing embrace of Officer Johnston.

SEVENTEEN LABOR UNIONS IN CITY

Butchers and Musicians Add Their Organizations to the Rapidly Growing Total.

Two more labor unions came into existence yesterday, which brings the total number of locals in the city to 17, with prospects of the 20 mark being passed before another month has passed. Yesterday afternoon the Amalgamated Meat Cutters' and Butchers' Workmen of North America was formed, more than three-fourths of the total number employed in New Westminster being passed at the organization meeting held in the Labor Temple. A charter will probably be applied for within the next two weeks when several more charter members will be enrolled. The officers elected were: President, J. H. Whitelaw; vice-president, E. Morrison; secretary-treasurer, W. K. Caine; guard, F. Simpson; delegates to the Trades and Labor council, W. K. Caine, E. Morrison and J. H. Whitelaw.

Last evening a local of the Amalgamated Federation of Musicians was formed with 20 members. Officers elected were: President, James Innes; vice-president, James Cameron; secretary-treasurer, E. C. Peck; sergeant-at-arms, H. Nass; delegates to the Trades and Labor council, Al Miller, G. Claire and Ed. Peck.

At both meetings speeches were delivered by Vice-president D. S. Cameron, of the Trades and Labor council, Organizer Knudsen and others.

TWO NEW ROADS FOR NORTH LAND

Pair of Railways for Upper End of B. C. to Be Launched at Next Session in Ottawa.

Ottawa, May 11.—Notice is given that application will be made to the parliament at the next session for an act to incorporate a company under the name of the Atlin Railway Company, with power to construct a railway commencing at or near the town of Atlin and following a generally southerly direction to a point on the Taku river, where it intersects the international boundary and also from a point on the line easterly to the southern end of Teslin lake.

Application will also be made to parliament next session, for an act to incorporate a company under the name of the Naas Valley & Northern Railroad Company, with power to construct a railway, commencing at a point at or near the mouth of the Naas river and following in a general direction along the valley of the Naas river, to the Stickeen river and northerly, following the shore of Teslin lake to the junction of the Yukon territory.

WEIGHT OF ISSUE IS FORCED ON JOHNSON

California's Governor Between Somebody and the Deep Sea on Anti-Japanese Legislation—Every Pressure Brought to Bear by Washington to Have Him Kill the Bill—Japan's Ambassador Makes Protest.

Washington, May 11.—The federal government's final effort to delay alien land ownership legislation in California was made tonight when Secretary Bryan, in the name of President Wilson, telegraphed Governor Johnson, notifying him that the Japanese ambassador had earnestly protested against the bill passed by the California assembly and urging that the governor postpone action by withholding his signature.

Secretary Bryan's telegram was as follows:

"The president directs me to express his appreciation of your courtesy in delaying action on the land bill now before you until its provisions could be communicated to the Japanese government and considered by it.

Chinda Protests.

"His excellency Baron Chinda, on behalf of his government, has presented an earnest protest against the measure. As you have before you but two alternatives, viz., to approve or to veto, it will avail nothing to recall to your attention the amendments suggested to the legislature; and as the president has already laid before you his views on the subject, it is unnecessary to reiterate them. He passes over questions affecting treaty rights for two reasons, first because the bill passed by the legislature is avowedly intended to conform to treaty obligations, and, second, because any conflict complained of would be a matter for the courts. But the president feels justified in expressing again his desire that action on the subject be deferred for this season, and he expresses the desire the more freely because the legislature can be reconvened at any time if the welfare of the state requires it. He is fully alive to the importance of removing any root of discord which may create antagonism between American citizens and the subjects of Oriental nations residing here, but he is impelled by a sense of duty to express the hope that you will see fit to allow time for diplomatic efforts. The nations affected by the proposed law are friendly nations—nations that have shown themselves willing to co-operate in the establishment of harmonious relations between their people and ours.

"If a postponement commends itself to your judgment, the president will be pleased to co-operate in a systematic effort to discover and correct any evils that may exist in connection with land ownership by aliens."

A Last Resort.

The decision of the administration to urge Governor Johnson to use his power to veto to postpone any land legislation was reached after a series of conferences between the president, Secretary Bryan and John Bassett Moore, counsellor of the state department, and frequent calls at the department by Ambassador Chinda. It was realized that any further attempt to have the bill enacted by the California legislature amended would be fruitless, since Secretary Bryan's trip to Sacramento was unavailing and the legislature is to adjourn next Tuesday.

Until Governor Johnson's reply is received, the government probably will make no reply to the protest of Japan further than to acquaint the ambassador with the fact that every possible effort has been made to have action in California delayed pending a settlement of the problems involved by diplomacy.

Whether or not the governor complies with the administration's request, there probably will be important diplomatic negotiations between the United States and Japan immediately. If the land bill is vetoed, the president and Secretary Bryan will have to undertake to carry out their promise to accomplish through diplomacy the ends sought by the Californians. There has been no intimation of what may be expected in the event the governor gives the bill his signature. However, a test in the courts is regarded as a certainty if the law becomes effective, and in spite of the silence at the White House and state department there still is talk outside of the possibility of employing the referendum as a means of delaying the effectiveness of the proposed law for at least nearly two years.

Johnson Not Hurrying.

Sacramento, Cal., May 11.—Governor Johnson received the communication from the secretary of state at a few minutes before 10 o'clock, but declined to make any comment upon it other than to say that he would formulate his reply as soon as possible.

"Will you telegraph your reply tonight?" he was asked.

LOST OVERBOARD BUT REACHES SHORE

Remarkable Rescue of Lady Passenger—Unable to Swim—Cannot Tell How Accident Happened.

Prince Rupert, B.C., May 11.—Additional information regarding the disappearance of Mrs. Carroll Ask from the steamship City of Spokane, while it was off this port on the night of May 6, and the later finding of the woman ashore, brings to light several remarkable facts.

Mrs. Ask went overboard a few miles below Lowe's inlet more than half a mile from the shore. She was wearing night clothes and reached the beach far from any habitation.

During her wanderings of the night and early morning, until found by fishermen, she several times came near perishing from exposure. When rescued by Captain Dahl of the fishing launch Lark the woman was on the point of collapse.

Mrs. Ask was unable to explain how the accident happened. After being several hours in the hospital and having somewhat recovered from her experience she said she had no recollection of leaving the boat.

Her story is that with her husband and children, who is a well known Alaska lumber merchant, she embarked from Skagway for Seattle, where she expected to have an operation performed for tumor. The cabin she occupied being too close, Mrs. Ask said she went on deck for air. That is her last recollection until she reached the shore.

She declares she never was a swimmer, but after striking the water managed to navigate the half mile to shore in the cold waters of the inlet without drowning.

Found Drowned.

Portland, Ore., May 11.—Charles Gauld, president of Gauld & Co., and a prominent business man of this city, disappeared Friday last from the suburban residence of his physician, while suffering from the result of a nervous breakdown. His body was found today in the Willamette river. Mr. Gauld was born in Old Meldrum, Aberdeenshire, 49 years ago.

POLICE FIRE ON MOB OF RIOTERS

Gang of Foreigners Storm Jail and Constables Have Warm Time—Situation Is Acute.

Fort William, Ont., May 11.—The strike of street car employees assumed serious dimensions tonight when, during an attack on a coal dock police station by a mob of strike sympathizers, a Hungarian named Mike Smorak was instantly killed and John Fulk seriously wounded. The trouble started this evening when cars being operated by strike breakers were derailed, the crews forced to flee and windows and woodwork smashed to kindling.

Following a parade organized by agitators, one of the cars was derailed and toppled over when it struck the curb.

Landi's arrest was resented by the mob which grew to over 2000 people and an hour after the officers had placed him in the cells the storm broke.

A well directed stone crashed through one of the windows, followed by a furious fusilade and windows and doors were broken down. A big pile of cordwood added fuel to the riot and when the mob began to batter down the frame structure Sergeant Taylor, with five constables, lined up at doors and windows and fired a volley into the air.

This had no effect on the mob who made a rush for the doors to rescue their countryman. Another volley was fired and when the mob drew back Smorak was lying dead on the

WOMEN AND PROGRESS.

The present time is essentially an age of unrest, an age in which we scarcely realize as we chronicle or note the birth of some new invention, how much that invention together with our present legacy of swift transportation, wireless telegraphy, and so forth, will contribute to swell that unrest of which the world is beginning to complain.

But, like most things, unrest has two sides to it. Nothing has been accomplished without kicking, and so long as the kickers kick to grow, and not to destroy, they must contribute to the advancement of science and to the general progress.

One regrettable form of the unrest which has invaded the world of womenkind appears to be showing no sign of slackening in the British Isles, and, from a recent outrage in Stanley Park, Vancouver, it appears that the malady of the suffragette is far reaching. The times have changed and men and women in them, but we do not think that violent methods here or in England will enhance the cause of women's suffrage among the bulk of the people.

The flame of burning country homes or of public parks is not the light that has shone forth from the leaders of world stirring movements. The self-sacrifice of a Christ, the martyrdom of the Ridleys and Cranmers, the devotion of the Florence Nightingales is far removed from modern publicity hunting.

But unrest in feminine circles also has its cheering aspect and here again the movement is not confined to one country or place. We have only to look upon recent events in our own city to see faithfully reflected some of its results.

In very large measure by the energy of Westminster ladies there has now been established here a branch of that noble Victorian Order of Nurses which throughout Canada is performing immeasurable good, especially among those least favored by fortune's smiles. Then again there is now established here a branch of the Young Women's Christian Association, an institution whose merits it is unnecessary to enlarge upon.

These are but two new shoots of progress in our midst. There are many other branches of women's endeavor which for long have been doing good unobtrusively and which are enlarging their influence with the city's growth.

We have no doubt that more good things are in store for Westminster by reason of the energy and devotion of her daughters and housewives, and among them it may not be too much to hope that the Girl Guide movement will receive that attention which so admirable an institution should command from a city of Westminster's size and prestige.

It is now some ten days since the new telephone directories were issued to subscribers in the Vancouver district. To date no copy of this desirable publication has been received by patrons of the company in New Westminster.

Due to a typographical error the whole sense of our comment upon the bylaws in last Saturday's issue was reversed. The second paragraph should have read that "there is this year NO unusual departure being made" in regard to the bylaws as was the case last June when the harbor improvement bylaw received so enthusiastic an approval.

THE MONEY MARKET.

Want of confidence is not the cause, and it will not be the effect of the present money stringency in Canada. The money stringency is altogether the result of prosperity.

The sustained demand for funds is due to the great volume and activity of business. Now that lake traffic has started, the circulation of money will be accelerated. The sixty wheat-laden vessels that recently left the Canadian head of the lakes had cargoes aggregating upwards of 12,000,000 bushels, which had been stored in their holds all winter.

In the elevators at Fort William and Port Arthur 16,000,000 bushels more awaited the opening of navigation. The money supplied by the banks for carrying this grain will soon be returned to them. Other business started by the spring movement will bring on similar realizing and repayment of loans.

It is gratifying to know that the country has such great reserves of grain and other commodities to forward to market when the lake freight rates come into effect.

The banks have also been carrying many considerable floating debts for towns and cities. The municipalities in question have been awaiting a favorable opportunity to dispose of debenture issues.

The market for these is improving, the competition of American bond houses being a helpful influence. The floating debts will in due course be liquidated, and the return of the moneey to the banks will place these in a better position to assist trade and industry. The great railway and industrial corporations are preparing for further developments, and capital on that account will be brought into the country.

The president of the Canadian Pacific Railway company says that in the near future the large sum of $100,000,000 will be expended on the company's system, and that financial arrangements for that programme of construction have long been made.

The wages fund in Canada this year will be greater than ever. Money will become easier, but the banks will have all they can do at moderate rates.—Toronto Mail and Express.

DRINK NOT NECESSARY FOR A "MIXER."

Secretary of State William J. Bryan has long been known as a Chautauqua lecturer and as a staunch temperance advocate, though his abstemious convictions never led him to the extremity of voting for the prohibition candidate for the United States presidency.

Speaking in Philadelphia the other day, Mr. Bryan said that in the course of his career of more than a quarter of a century in active politics he had never found it necessary to take a drink. This testimony is important, coming from a man who is such a companionable man as Mr. Bryan, such a "mixer," such a delightful story teller, and a man whose whole capital has been the popularity he enjoys with the average American citizen.

That a recluse, a misanthrope, or one who associates constantly with temperance people and church goers might never feel the temptation to loosen the stretched bow of temperance principles will be readily believed.

From such a practical man of the world as Mr. Bryan has become in the past few years the testimony is of the utmost importance, and is an evidence of a remarkable change in the habits of a great people in a couple of decades.

FIRST THINGS.

Origin of Gypsies.

The first official recognition of the presence of gypsies in England is contained in an act prohibiting their itinerancy, dated 383 years ago today. Bands of gypsies appeared in Germany, Italy and France early in the fifteenth century, but it is to be supposed that they did not reach England in considerable numbers until the early part of the sixteenth century.

The law referred to commanded Englishmen to refrain from all intercourse with the dark-skinned tourists, and during the reign of Charles I. thirteen persons were executed at one assize for having associated with gypsies. In both England and America, up to comparatively recent times, gypsies were treated as vagrants, and often persecuted.

There are many theories in regard to the origin of gypsies, but the one most generally accepted is that they are descendants of low-caste Hindus expelled by Timour about 1398.

Despite their association with other peoples, the manners, customs, superstitions, visage and appearance of the gypsies remain practically the same as when they made their first appearance in Europe five centuries ago, and they continue to make the same pretense of a knowledge of futurity.

THE HUMAN PROCESSION.

(By O. Terence.)

Captain Kettle's Creator 47 Years Old Sunday.

All magazine readers who like their fiction to have plenty of dash, ginger, adventure and red gore in it are familiar with the literary works of C. J. Cutcliffe Hyne, the young English novelist, who will celebrate his forty-seventh birthday today.

Of course, some people are not young at 47, but Mr. Hyne assuredly is—a youth with all his best years before him. The creator of "Captain Kettle"—perhaps the most popular fiction character of the day in the red-blooded, virile class—is no parlor performer.

He has visited all of the out of the way places of the earth, with the exception of the poles, and now has a difficult time of it in accomplishing the task he set himself years ago of covering 10,000 miles of new ground every annum. He is a civil engineer, although he has not worked much at that profession of late years, and as a navigator he has his own Cap'n Kettle "lashed to the mast."

If there is any part of the seven seas he hasn't navigated, he would dearly like to know it. He has mining interests in Mexico, and has traveled through the wildest sections of that country. On other trips he has visited Canada, the United States, Central America, the Congo Free State, the Gold Coast, the Arctic Sea, Russian Lapland, Algeria, southern Morocco, Asia and Australia.

His full name, abbreviated for literary purposes, is Charles John Cutcliffe Wright Hyne, and he was born in Gloucestershire on May 11, 1866. His education was acquired at Cambridge where he was a famous oarsman, rowing in the winning university trial eight in 1887.

His first novel, "The New Eden," was published in 1892. He made his big hit in 1898 with "Adventures of Captain Kettle," and the valorous Kettle has since made his reappearance in two other books. Big game shooting is Mr. Hyne's favorite recreation.

A pall of sadness so dense and dark as to obliterate from view the upper stories of Waco's towering skyscrapers, enveloped the eleventh congressional district of Texas a couple of months ago.

The sorrow was due to the news that Congressman Robert Lee Henry, representative in Washington from the eleventh Texas district, had been turned down cold in his aspirations for a place in President Wilson's cabinet. All of the unofficial cabinet pickers had slated "Bob" Henry for the portfolio of attorney-general, and as early as January it was stated definitely and finally, that President-elect Wilson concurred in the choice, and that the trusts had better look out, for the champion trust-buster of the universe, with all the big guns of the department of justice at his command, would soon take the war path.

Events did not eventuate as predicted and Mr. Henry, on this, his forty-ninth birthday, is still a congressman. Grand old Texas was given a place in the cabinet, but the lucky man was Congressman Burleson, of Austin, now postmaster-general.

While "Bob's" neighbors in Waco were quite naturally disapopinted, not to say peeved, they have become reconciled for their congressman, through his trust-busing and money-devil chasing activities, is still able to command a lot of front-page space.

Last month Mr. Henry introduced his measure forthe drastic amendment of the Sherman anti-trust act, which provides that malefactors of great wealth who monopolize, combine or conspire to monopolize "any part of interstate commerce be deemed guilty of a felony punishable by imprisonment from two to ten years."

Whereat the monopolists remarked in unison, "Ouch!" Mr. Henry also seeks to nullify the "rule of reason" written into the law by the United States supreme court.

The Texas solon admittedly knows more about the rules and regulations governing parliamentary procedure than any other man living. Personally he is a tall, thin man, with keen eyes deeply set beneath a bulging brow. His college yell is that of the Southwestern University of Texas, where he was valedictorian of his class in 1885. His first office was as mayor of Texarkana.

Twenty years ago he began fighting the money devil as assistant attorney-general of the Lone Star State. He went to Washington in 1897, and has remained there ever since, with the exception of the intervals between congressional sessions, when he goes back to Waco and tells his constituents what's what and why.

As an orator the Texan is "there with the bells on," as may be judged fro mthis sample, chosen at random from this sample, chosen at random changing the date of inauguration day:

"Let it be when the earth's icy mantle has been wooed by golden sunshine into a carpet of verdure rivaling the kaleidoscopic grandeur of old ocean's emerald—when myriad millions of scurrying snowflakes round yonder dome have been transmuted into seas of April blossoms everywhere, 'neath nature's elements in peaceful accord.

"Here in this capital, robed in the splendor of spring and with a beauty unrivaled in all the world—when God has summoned His favorite season to smile and speak welcome—we will induct into his exalted station the loftiest official in the greatest republic within the tide of time."

Even a Republican would have to admit that that is "some oratory."

Another distinguished American lawmaker who will receive birthday congratulations today is Senator William Alden Smith, of Michigan, who is fifty-four.

What is New Thought? This is a question a lot of people are asking just now, and they are respectfully referred to Elizabeth—Elizabeth of Holyoke. New Thoughters differ as to whether their creedless creed was invented by Elizabeth—meaning Mrs. Elizabeth Towne—or by Ella—meaning Mrs. Ella Wheeler Wilcox.

Certainly Mrs. Towne—but all us New Thoughters call her Elizabeth—was somewhere around when New Thought was thought of, even if she didn't originate it, and for fifteen years she has been one of the cult's foremost preachers. Elizabeth was born in Portland, Ore., forty-eight years ago today, but, thanks to thinking New Thoughts, she doesn't look a day over forty-seven.

An admirer describes her as "rosy as an apple, with a smile that shows two rows of white teeth and lights up a pair of glinting hazel eyes," and adds that "unlike many people with mission, she contrives to keep both plump and charmingly dressed."

Optimism, prosperity, and walking on the sunny side of the street, are among the basic principles of Elizabeth's philosophy.

CANADIAN HISTORY TODAY

MAY TWELFTH.

During the Revolutionary war immense sums were spent by the representatives of the British government in keeping the Indians in good humor.

John Allen, the agent of Massachusetts sent to rouse against England the tribes of the St. John river country—then part of Nova Scotia—complained that "the great advantage the Britains has" in dealing with the Indians, through "their large and good supplies puts me in the greatest difficulty how to act," and in the same letter added "as to the goods, they merely scoff at it, the British goods is so superior."

The same story of British generosity to the red man comes from Fort Niagara. For instance, Colonel Bolton, who was in command there in 1778, wrote under date of May 12th in that year, "I have drawn a bill for £14,768 9s. 5d. in favor of Mr. Pollard"—a merchant at Niagara—"for sundries furnished the savages, which Major Butler thought absolutely necessary, notwithstanding all the presents sent to this post last year."

In the following year, another Indian account at Niagara amounted to nearly six thousand pounds, but apparently the goods for the Indians were purchased for government "at a most exorbitant rate from traders."

An act that was of immense benefit to Canada, although directed against British subjects, was passed 129 years ago today. Having been victorious in war, the people of the infant republic turned blithely to the task of punishing those in their midst who had remained true to the English flag, and death, confiscation of property, flogging, tar and feathering, and imprisonment were dealt out to the loyalists.

The act referred to as passed by the New York legislature on May 12, 1784, enumerated every possible way in which a loyalist could have assisted the "enemies of the republic" and declared all such guilty of high treason. With the state thus turned into an engine of persecution, the loyalists fled to Canada. Thousands of them, in boats, vehicles of all kinds, and on foot, flocked into the northern land where the banner of England still floated, and aided largely in the settlement and development of the great Dominion of the future.

The larger number, some 30,000, occupied lands in the future provinces of New Brunswick and Nova Scotia, while some 10,000 settled in what is now Ontario, and other thousands made their homes along the St. Lawrence and in the present eastern townships of the province of Quebec.

The New York law and other measures of persecution were boomerangs that redounded to the benefit of the empire.

Manitoba was formed into a province forty-three years ago today. At that time the province had a population of 2,000 whites and 10,000 Indian half breeds.

The battle of Batooche, which practically ended the Riel rebellion, was fought on this date in 1885.

Today is the anniversary of the birth, in 1794, of Sir George Cathcart, commander of the troops and militia south of the St. Lawrence from 1837 to 1844.

Hon. Charles J. Doherty, statesman, jurist, and legal authority, was born in Montreal fifty-eight years ago yesterday. He was educated at McGill university, from which he graduated in 1876, and became a full-fledged barrister at the age of twenty-two.

In the years of practice and study that followed he accumulated a great stock of legal lore, and was often called upon to solve knotty legal problems. In 1890 he became professor of civil law at his alma mater, and afterward assumed the chair of international law.

His career as a jurist began in 1891, when he was appointed to the Quebec province superior court. He left the bench in 1906, and two years later entered the house of commons. With the formation of the Borden government he was given the portfolio of minister of justice.

Sir John Campbell Gordon, seventh Earl of Aberdeen, was appointed governor-general of the Dominion twenty years ago last Sunday. Lord Aberdeen remained in Ottawa five years, and his conduct of affairs was highly popular and successful.

Before coming to Canada the earl was for a short time the lord-lieutenant of Ireland, and gained an immense popularity in that island, to which he returned in the same capacity in 1905.

The earls of Aberdeen hold a number of titles, the oldest, baronet of Nova Scotia, dating from 1642.

Eighty years ago yesterday the ship Lady of the Lake, bound for Quebec, was wrecked on an iceberg and 215 lives were lost.

America's Oldest University Celebrates 362nd Birthday Today.

Long before the English colonists on Massachusetts Bay appropriated funds for "a college or schoole" to be built at New Towne, and thus laid the foundation for Harvard university—long before the great French churchman established the grand seminary at Quebec—America had an institution of higher education, the Royal and Pontifical university of San Marcos at Lima, Peru.

Founders' day will be celebrated today at this most ancient of new world universities, for it was on the 12th of May, 1551, just 362 years ago today, that King Charles V. of Spain and Pope Paul III. chartered San Marcos university, giving an endowment of $350 to the infant institution.

This seem an insignificant sum, yet Harvard was started with an appropriation of less than $2,000. The priors of the Dominican order, who had accompanied Pizarro on his invasion of Peru, were the first teachers, and established the lecture halls of the university in their monastery at Lima, the ancient "City of Kings."

A score of years later King Phillip II. ordered that the university be separated from the Dominican order, and a few years later the first university building was erected. Earthquake, fire, and foreign foe, have since destroyed several buildings of the university but each time the institution has risen from its ashes or its ruins.

The last occasion on which San Marcos suffered was in 1881, when Peru and Chile were at war. Chile was victorious, and its army entered Lima, using the main hall of the historic university as a stable for their horses, destroying a part of the library and performing many other acts of vandalism unworthy of a civilized people.

For several years the classes were assembled in private homes and store rooms, but in 1886 the university buildings were restored to their original condition and reopened, amidst public rejoicing.

Once under the control of the terrible Tribune of the Inquisition, which stifled all freedom of inquiry and scientific investigation, the university of San Marcos—or St. Mark, is now an abode of liberalism. The republic exercises a controlling voice in its management, through its contribution of funds, but the rector or president and the dean are seldom interfered with in matters of internal policy.

Work is now in progress on a group of magnificent new buildings to house the new world's oldest university. These edifices will be architecturally among the most beautiful of their kind in the world, and will be laid out in the quadrangle form adopted by so many colleges in North America.

The medical college building is now occupied, and others are nearing completion. A lovely site in the suburbs of Lima has been chosen for the new structures, affording a perfect setting for the gems of the architect's art.

Since its establishment over three and a half centuries ago, San Marcos has exercised a profound influence in South America, and many of the great men of the continent have claimed it as their alma mater.

No less than three presidents of South American republics, and countless other men influential in government, literature, journalism, law and other professions, hold diplomas from the old university. With improved facilities San Marcos will probably become more influential than ever.

Last year San Marcos university acted as host to the International Students' Congress, and entertained delegations from all the colleges and universities of South America, as wel las a number from North American and European institutions.

FASCINATING WORK IN GROWING ROSES

Prize Essayist Gives Valuable Hints To Amateurs—Best Varieties For Making a Start.

The News publishes herewith the forst prize essay written by James M. Hull, of Hamilton, in the competition for prizes offered by Hermann Simmers, of Toronto, and R. B. Whyte of Ottawa, which is as follows:

The amateur is sure to encounter difficulties in growing roses. If, however, their culture is once commenced it will be found hard to give up, as their attractions become more and more fascinating as the years go by.

Start in the right way by selecting an open situation, with shelter, not too near trees. Otherwise the roots o the trees will rob the roses of their required food.

The ground should be well drained. I dig about two feet deep and put in a layer of cinders, stone or any other material, for drainage, and on the top of this manure, well packed down, and then the soil. Keep the fine soil mixed with some well decayed manure, for the top. Raise the bed above the surrounding soil.

Roses that are budded will grow stronger and will give better bloom than roses on their own roots. Nevertheless, I prefer roses on their own roots.

There is no danger of suckers growing from below where budded.

When planting budded roses, the bud should be three or four inches below the surface. This will tend to prevent the suckers springing from the roots or from the bud.

The Soil Required.

The soil for the rose bed, especially for hybrid perpetuals, should contain some clay, as it retains the moisture longer than where all sand is used. Tea roses require warmer and lighter soil, such as sand and leaf mould. The loose soil from sod is good.

Plants from the nursery, if not grown in pots, should be set in warm water for a day, in case the roots are too dry. Many roses are lost through the frost having become dried out before planting.

Puddle the roots in thin mud, and set them firmly when planting. Rake the top soil loose. It should be kept loose all summer, especially after rain. If a crust forms on the soil it prevents the air getting at the roots, which the health of the plant makes necessary.

Do not cultivate too deep. When the bed is well made the roots are near the surface. All the cultivation it will need for a few years is a top dressing. Bone meal or very fine sifted wood ashes, or coal cinders, are good, when fine.

They keep the top soil open and loose. I use bone meal and also manure from the hen house. It is spread a few inches from the plants. If placed too near it is apt to burn the plants. The manure contains an amount of ammonia which helps to kill the insects that the rose is subject to.

Insect Pests.

A fine spray from the hose early in the season is good to keep the plants free from insect pests. Tobacco solution controls the aphis or green fly. Apply it with a whisk, and in such a manner that it will reach the under side of the foliage, as well as the top. There are many other solutions that are good. I have found the foregoing sufficient.

The perpetual roses should be pruned well back, but with tea roses only the weak wood requires to be taken out after growth in the spring. My favorite roses are hybrid teas, a cross between tea and perpetual roses. They have all the good qualities of both parents, and continue in bloom all summer. I have cut bloom as late as November.

The winter protection I give tea roses is to drive small stakes around the plants. These are filled in loosely with leaves. Around this is placed a course litter from the garden, which helps to keep the leaves from blowing away.

There are so many good roses, it is impossible to name them all. I will therefore mention only a few of the best and easiest to grow:

Perpetual—Kark Druschki, white; Mrs. John Laing, pink; Paul Neyron, deep rose; Baroness de Rothschild, pale pink; J. B. Clark, deep scarlet; Madame Plantier, white.

Climbers—Dorothy Perkins, pink; Crimson Rambler, crimson; Baltimore Bell, pale pink; Perfection, pale pink; Prairie Queen, rose; and many other beautiful new varieties which prolong the season.

The climbing roses are used for covering the fences. They are a splendid background for perennials, which I use in between the rose plants, as they come in bloom after the June roses are through blooming. When garden space is limited, as mine is, bloom may be continued all season with the help of perennials.

TWO HUNDRED SHADE TREES PLANTED OUT

Nelson, B. C., May 11.—Two hundred shade trees have been planted in boulevards in various parts of the city by the men employed by the Nelson Improvement association to carry out the work when it was found that the demand for the trees on the part of citizens was so small that they could not be disposed of in the ordinary way.

This means that aproximately 175 lots have been beautified by the association. Although the exact cost has not yet been ascertained it was stated that the expense of doing the work was comparatively small and later in the year the association may discuss plans for carrying out improvement work of this nature in a similar way next spring.

DOUKHOBORS MEAN TO GROW MANY TREES

Nelson, May 11.—Eighty thousand fruit trees, chiefly apples, will be planted out by the Doukhobor society in the Kootenay river district this spring, and during this year not less than five hundred acres of land will be cleared and placed in readiness for planting, according to John Sherbinin, business agent for the society.

Construction of a new jam factory at Brilliant will be carried out during the year, while the society has engaged a jam-making and canning expert from the southern United States to take charge of the Nelson factory. He is expected to arrive within the next few days.

Mr. Sherbinin stated that the Doukhobors would again plant out a large quantity of tomato plants this year, having found the crop a profitable and successful one in the district.

A SONG OF VIOLETS.

But from ashes odors rise
Of sweet violets dead;
Silenced song the memory plies
And from ashes odors rise,
Will you not recall the sighs
And our words once said,
When from ashes odors rise
Of sweet violets dead?

Dear ,the world lies bleak before
Black looms death beyond;
Joys are fading more and more;
Dear, the world lies bleak before,
What holds any man in store
If he break Love's bond?
Dear, the world liesb eak before,
Black looms death beyond.

Here are purple violets
Born to die for you.
Born to grace my triolets.
Here are purple violets,
Let them deaden all regrets,
Just for this they grew.
Here are purple violets
Born to die for you.

They shall do as I would do,
Die beneath your smile,
Such a grace is granted few.
They shal ldo as I would do.
Live and perish just for you,
Live their little while,
And then do as I would do,
Die beneath your smile.

STOMACH OF SHARK YIELDS QUEER MIXTURE

New York, May 11.—The whale that swallowed Jonah was a kindly disposed creature compared with the shark caught by Mrs. W. B. Rowland, of this city, in the harbor of the Antilles, off Cuba.

When it was ripped open its stomach revealed a number of articles from which those romantically or morbidly inclined reconstructed a gruesome tragedy of the sea.

Among the articles were seven gold hairpins, two silver garter buckles, one tortoise shell side comb, two butts from a pair of French heels, remnant's of a seaman's boot, one can of tomatoes, unopened; metal nameplate and piece of wood from a lifeboat.

NEVER TOO LATE TO TACKLE GARDENING

Soil Must Be Kept Clean and in Good Condition—Tomato Growing Made Easy.

It may occur to the home gardener that the season is too far advanced to do anything with his vacant ground this year, but this notion should be banished from his mind at once even supposing there is a fair amount of work to be accomplished in preparing the soil.

Last year good heavy crops of potatoes, peas, beans, cabbages, turnips, squash, etc., were grown, although not seeded until the first week in June. Even then the seeds had some unfavorable weather to contend with, owing to lack of moisture, as in that month there was little or no rain.

A watering can sprinkler, with water judiciously applied, and the heat of June last season, however, made those seeds which did sprout fairly jump out of the ground in good time. The amateur should not, therefore, despair of having something in return for his work, even although he may be somewhat late in getting the seed sown.

What has been done one season can possibly be done the next. If there is one thing more than another in gardening to be kept in mind, that is to keep the soil clean and in good condition. After heavy rains the soil becomes caked on top, and as soon as this condition is observed it should be broken up by the rake.

This permits the sun's heat to penetrate and encourage the growth of the plant. At the same time this light cultivation destroys weeds to a certain extent.

Notes on the Tomato.

The tomato, although a native of a tropical climate, is by no means so tender as the cucumber or squash, etc. It, however, revels in heat and sunshine, and sometimes a heavy crop of fruit of good quality can be obtained from plants grown in a suitable position in the open air. Whenever it is possible set out the plants against warm walls, preferably facing south, or if this cannot be done, some artificial shelter should be erected to protect them from the north winds. In order to make the most of the season and secure as heavy a crop as possible the plants, when put out should be around eighteen to twenty-four inches in height, and if already well in blossom so much the better.

No hard and fast line can be drawn as to when it is safe to plant out, the cultivator must be guided by his own opinion and circumstances, but around the end of May or the beginning of June it may be reasonably expected that the frosts have disappeared for a few months. When planting the roots should be disturbed as little as possible and should be buried to a depth of not more than three inches, and the soil made quite firm about the roots without being too firmly pressed about the stem.

After being planted a watering in the usual way should be given, but after that it is best to keep the soil rather dry for some time, especially where the roots have a good run. If in the least overwatered the plants will make too much growth, whereas if moderately dry they will grow steadily and become fruitful from the first.

Soak Them Well.

On the other hand, of course, this must not be carried to excess, or the plants will wilt and drop their blossoms, when a good watering is consequently the obvious remedy. Giving water in small quantities is not a good way of dealing with the tomato. The best plan is, should the soil become dry, and no signs of rains, then to give a thorough soaking, sufficient to reach every fibre of the roots, and after that no more until it again becomes really necessary.

The use of liquid manures, after the fruit has set and commenced to swell, is highly beneficial, no matter how good the soil may be in itself. The demand made upon the roots, when the plant is well laden with fruit, is so great that it will not be found an easy matter to over-feed (in reason) and probably the best form, at this time, is in liquids.

These can be applied from the following: Stable urine, diluted with four times its bulk of water; sewage of almost any kind, house slops, soap suds, all are beneficial, and if used alternately will give better results than if one of the liquids be used constantly.

Training Should Get Attention.

In many cases the matter of training receives scant attention, in this part of the province, especialy amongst those who go in for growing outside. This matter should not be neglected or carelessly performed, if the best results are to be expected. Experience has proved in many cases that the single stem method is by far the best. Under this system the fruit is produced and ripened earlier, as well as being finer in quality. Good results certainly can be got from two or three stem plants, but where the season is short, the former system should be adopted as far as possible.

A tomato plant, with one stem, carrying three or four trusses of fruit, each a pound or two in weight, has quite enough to do to swell and ripen those perfectly. Plants with three or four stems have more growing to do before any fruit is formed, so that there is a saving effected in point of time, which is really the object aimed at by the home gardener.

As the plant grows, side shoots or growths are produced, and should be cut or pinched out as soon as seen, or if not one and all will continue to extend again, branching in their turn, and will result in too thick foliage and shoots.

The plants should therefore be looked over carefully and frequently, and these new shoots cut out and the legitimate stems tied up to sticks or whatever may have been placed to support them.

LOVE LETTERS SELL FOR HUGE AMOUNTS

Dealers Have Heated Duel Over Browning Relics While Friends Look On in Dismay.

London, May 11—At the second session of the Browning sale held today at Sotheby's the originals of the love letters which passed between Robert Browning and Elizabeth Barret previous to their marriage in 1846, numbering 248 from the former and 287 from the latter, passed into the hands of Frank T. Sabin, brother of Jos. F. Sabin, the New York dealer, for $32,750, while the poet's old friends looked on in dismay.

The first bid was $3,000 and the contest developed rapidly into a duel between Bernard Quaritch and Frank T. Sabin. After $10,000 had been reached, the two men capped each other's offers by $250, Sabin finally winning.

A curious old green leather case, and an inlaid box that held the two sets of letters and added the flavor of romance to the occasion were passed about almost reverently.

Messrs. Quaritch and Sabin met in another duel for the autograph manuscript of Mrs. Browning's "Sonnets from the Portuguese," Mr. Quaritch getting the manuscript for $5,560 and also the original manuscript of Mrs. Browning's "Aurora Leigh," for $4,650.

One hundred and forty letters of Browning to Miss Isa Blagden went to Mr. Quaritch for $1,800.

Good Prices Secured.

Mr. Sabin bought the original manuscrip of "Herve Reil," for $250, a note book of Mrs. Browning's with 58 for $360, her manuscript criticizing her poems (some of them unpublished) husband's poems for $480, and some early drafts of sonets for $3,100.

Mr. Hornstein, another dealer, purchased the manuscript of Mrs. Browning's "Prometheus BBound" for $310, the autograph manuscript of her "Essay on Mind," for $960 and the "Asolando," Browning's last volume of poetry published on the day of his death, for $4,950, after a fight with Mr. Quaritch.

Many New York literary people attended the sale, including Mrs. R. W. B. Browning, the painter's widow, silent and inactive; Mrs. Stephen Wheeler, the chief present day authority on Walter Savage Landor, looking for Landor items; Mr. and Mrs. Wilfrid Meynelnel with their son, Everard, friends of Browning; Miss Helen Angela Rossetti and Mrs. Wm Allingham.

The last named made an effort to secure a packet of 25 of her husband's letters to the poet, but failed.

CURE FOR OBESITY

Doctor Discovers Most Valuable Cure For Stout People.

Berlin, May 11—An extraordinary treatment for obesity has just been put forward by Dr. Max Kauffmann, a lecturer of the Halle university, who claims that it is a most valuable cure for stout people.

He has, it seems, substantively injected patitnts suffering from excessive corpulence, and even fatty heart, with a solution of paladium (a metal of the platinum group) made colloidal, or plastic, and utilized in a parafine solution. Two injections weekly, it is said, produce a daily loss of two pounds weight, not only without ill effects, but with a feeling of pleasant relief.

WHERE RALEIGH FIRST PLANTED THE POTATO

Dublin, May 11.—Lismore Castle, which has been the scene of the recent festivities promoted by the Duke of Devonshire, is many of the many picturesque strongholds for which Ireland is justly famed.

It stands on a rock rising steep from the famous river Blackwater, and so sheer is the fall from some of the windows that, according to local trdition, James II., though at one time a sailor, started back in horror when conducted to an opening from which he was able to take a view of the surrounding country.

One of the favorites of the Duke's several country residences, Lismore is endowed with many historical associations. To begin with, not only the castle but the neighborhood, is full of memories of Raleigh and Spenser.

The estate at one time actually belonged to Sir Walter, and was sold by him to the Earl of Cork, and it was in the lovely gardens that Raleigh planted the first potato, and that Spenser is believed to have written much of the "Faerie Queene." It is surrounded by a very fine park, thickly wooded, in which is a new avenue nearly two hundred feet long.

Lismore became the property of the Duke of Devonshire through Lady Charlotte Boyle, daughter and heiress of the fourth Earl of Cork.

ROMANCE.

I will make you brooches, and toys
for your delight,
Of bird-song at morning, and star-shine at night.
I will make a palace fit for you and me,
Of green days in forests and blue days at sea.
I will make my kitchen, and you shall keep your room,
Where white flows the river and bright blows the broom,
And you shall wash your linen, and keep your body white,
In rainfall at morning and dewfall at night.

RANK OUTSIDER WINS BIG DERBY

Donerail Breaks Course Record and Hits "Iron Men" Hard—Paid $184.90 for $2.

Louisville, Ky., May 10.—A new champion three year old of America leaped into prominence today and the Churchill Downs Derby course record was broken before the largest crowd that ever witnessed a Derby here, when Donerail, a Kentucky colt, nipped Ten Point at the wire and won the thirty-ninth renewal of the Kentucky Derby.

The winner, never having shown startling ability as a two year old, paid $184.90 for $2 in the pari-mutuels betting. The time was 2:04 4-5.

The field was larger than had been predicted, eight starters facing the barrier, and spectators who have witnessed runnings of the Derby for years, interesting alike for its turf prominence and sentiment of Kentuckians, say it was one of the greatest exhibitions of a real horse race ever presented at a Kentucky Derby contest.

ENGLAND REMEMBERS "ANGEL OF MERCY"

Nurses and Soldiers Unite in Honoring Memory of Florence Nightingale—Dead Three Years.

London, May 11.—Nurses in London and throughout the British Isles are preparing to celebrate tomorrow the birthday of Florence Nightingale and the several memorials to her memory, as well as her grave will be covered with floral tributes.

In addition to the homage paid by members of the profession to which she gave so glorious an inception, the army in whose interests she worked will not be unmindful of its dead benefactress.

England has erected and planned many memorials in honor of Florence Nightingale, the "Angel of Mercy," who was born in Florence, Italy, 93 years ago on Monday. The city of London's memorial, which occupies a place in the lobby of the Guildhall, assumes the form of a marble statuette three feet in height.

Miss Nightingale is pictured as setting out on one of her errands of mercy. The "Lady of the Lamp" is shown, bareheaded and in the simple gown of the Victorian period, standing with a candle in her left hand, while with her right hand she is shielding her eyes from its light.

It was at Scutari, recently the scene of such stirring events, that Miss Nightingale had her first experience of the terrors of war. It was during the Crimean war, when the hospitals of the Bosphorus were crowded with sick and wounded, that Miss Nightingale, who had early manifested an intense devotion to the alleviation of suffering, volunteered to go out and organize a nursing force at Scutari.

Lord Herbert accepted her services and she immediately departed with 34 nurses. She arrived at Constantinople on the eve of Inkerman, in time to receive the wounded into wards already crowded with 2500 patients and a few months after her arrival in the Near East she had 10,000 sick and wounded men under her care.

In 1855, while in the Crimea, she was herself prostrated, but refused to leave her post to go home and on her recovery remained at Scutari until Turkey was evacuated by the British. After the war was over a fund of a quarter million dollars was raised to enable Miss Nightingale to establish an institution for the training of nurses.

Full of years and honors the "Angel of Mercy" died in 1910. The nation offered her family the honor of interring the dead heroine in Westminster Abbey, but in accordance with Florence Nightingale's own wishes, she was laid to rest in the family burying place.

ECHO OF MYSTERY ACROSS CONTINENT

Possible Clue to Elsie Siegel Murder Problem Unearthed in Oakland Chinatown.

San Francisco, May 11.—A key to the mystery of the murder of Elsie Siegel, grand-daughter of General Franz Siegel, who met a horrible death in New York's Chinatown on June 18, 1909, is believed to have been found in the city of Oakland, Cal. In searching the rooms of Lee Dor, a Chinaman who was arrested recently by the federal authorities, charged with having opium in his possession, the officers found a complete set of press clippings describing the death of Elsie Siegel in New York four years ago, together with a number of photographs of beautiful white women.

Prior to the discovery of the press clippings and photographs, Lee Dor had been released under a $1000 bond to answer to the charge of having opium in his possession. His present whereabouts is unknown.

Lee Dor's interest in the murder of the beautiful girl who taught Christianity to the Mongolians of New York, sufficient to make him keep the press reports of the tragedy for four years, has stirred the police of San Francisco and Oakland. John W. Smith, special agent of the United States treasury department, who unearthed the evidence against Lee Dor, has definite views upon the subject.

"Lee Dor tried to convince us that he had no knowledge of English," said Smith, "but it is significant that a Chinese who pretends no knowledge of our language should so treasure the reports of a murder that took place in New York four years ago. It also is interesting that he should have gained the acquaintance of many white women, as the photographs found in his possession would lead one to believe."

FORT GEORGE KEEPS NEW CITY'S NAME

Battle Between Townsite and Railroad Company Settled—"Prince" George in Back Seat.

Vancouver, May 11.—By the handing down of a decision on Saturday the long drawn out controversy regarding the situation of the Grand Trunk Pacific station at Fort George and the naming of that station has been settled.

According to the ruling of the railway commission the station must be on the western part of the Indian reserve within three thousand feet of Fraser avenue, the eastern limit of the original townsite. The name of the station, by the decision must remain Fort George, and cannot be changed, as proposed by the railway company, to Prince George.

The hearing before the railway commission at Ottawa occupied two days and an additional two days were taken up by the board in digesting the evidence which an imposing array of counsel had put in.

The Grand Trunk Pacific had first made application to have the name of the proposed station changed to Prince George. Attorney General Bowser refused permission for this in a decision at Victoria some days ago and he is now upheld by the railway commission.

Plans had been prepared by landscape architects for the railway company showing the station near the eastern end of the Indian reserve which the company had purchased and far away from the present town and settlement at Fort George, where there were miles of graded streets and over 1000 inhabitants.

The Natural Resources company and Mr. George J. Hammond, of Vancouver, applied to the railway commission to have the location of the station changed to a point that would be useful to the present town and their own townsite. In this application they were naturally backed up by the citizens of Fort George.

By the decision rendered on Saturday they have been completely successful.

In the proceedings at Ottawa there was an imposing array of counsel. The railroad company was represented by Messrs. W. G. Biggar, K.C., A. Fripp, H. H. Hansard, W. D. Hogg, K.C., and R. B. Bennett, K.C. The applicants were represented by Messrs. R. A. Pringle, K.C., Clive Pringle and George Henderson, K.C.

The contest that has been ended by the decision has been going on for practically the last four years.

Coronation Amnesty.

On the occasion of a coronation, the royal clemency is usually extended to some classes of offenders. When our present King came to the throne all deserters from the army or navy were pardoned, and allowed to come back to their homes if they had left the country.

The Gray Kangaroo.

Perhaps the most remarkable of Australia's fauna is the big gray kangaroo, which, measuring seven feet from nose to tail, can clear ten yards at a jump and travel faster than a horse.

London's Houses.

The houses of London alone could more than accommodate the entire population of Switzerland.

SUFFRAGE POT KEPT A-BOILING

Riots in London, Fires in Scotland and Stone-Throwing in Ireland All in One Day.

London, May 11.—Another suffrage riot took place in Hyde Park this afternoon. The men's league for women's suffrage had been given permission to hold a meeting. Several prominent workers addressed a crowd of several thousand from a truck, but the crowd kept up a running fire of interruptions, shouting "Go home and make bombs," and remarks about the burning of churches and the attempt to blow up St. Paul's. After half an hour's endeavor to get a hearing, the league gave up and the speakers were about to withdraw when the crowd broke through the police ranks. The police had difficulty in protecting the speakers and eventually had to escort them to the station for safety.

In the meantime a suffragette had planted a flag on the Park Lane side of the park where fashionable people promenade and started speaking. Men destroyed the flag and jostled the women until the police rescued them. The Rev. Howard J. H. Truscott, vicar of St. Catherine's at Patcham, which was destroyed by fire recently, held service in the public hall today and spoke at length regarding the fire. He said:

"There is no use to talk to me about flashes of lightening or gas. Some person did this with malicious intent."

He said he had received hundreds of letters, some of them from suffragettes, who repudiated such dastardly acts.

Scots Wha' Hae.

Dundee, Scotland, May 11.—An examination of the ruins of Farington Hall, which was destroyed by fire yesterday, has revealed ample proof of incendiarism. The chief constable of the city has received by mail a copy of the paper, The Suffragette, inscribed: "Farington Hall—a protest against British tyranny. Blame Asquith and company."

The mansion, which was the property of Henry McGrady, a former lord provost of Dundee, will require $100,000 to rebuild.

Dillon Was Rash.

Dublin, May 11.—John Dillon, member of parliament for East Mayo, surrounded by a band of suffragettes opposite the Mansion House on Saturday told them he would vote against them every time. Early Sunday morning Mr. Dillon's residence was bombarded with stones. Many windows were smashed.

Due to Cool Off.

Washington, May 11—Unseasonably high temperatures are not expected to prevail the coming week over any portion of the country, according to the weekly weather bureau bulletin issued today. In the plateau region and the extreme northwest it will be cooler by Monday night with frost *in the latter section and by the middle of the week it will be cooler in the plains states, the upper Missis*sippi valley and the upper lake region. Showers will occur early in the week over the northwest and central west.

LOVELY LITTLE THING.

Dublin, May 10.—A tin canister containing 42 gunpowder cartridges was found tonight in the lavatory of the Empire Palace theatre.

The cartridges were padded all around with cotton wool soaked with oil. A cotton cord, also oil soaked, was attached to the canister, and the cord was burning when the bomb was found. A girl, formerly employed at the theatre, was arrested. Nothing is known to connect her with the suffrage movement.

TREAT CANCER VICTIMS WITH RABBIT SERUM

Fifty Patients Show Improvement After First Inoculation—Too Soon to Draw Conclusions.

Boston, May 10.—A marked improvement has been noted in the condition of fifty cancer patients who have been innoculated with the rabbit serum recently discovered by Dr. Howard W. Nowell, of Boston university.

That is the substance of an announcement made tonight by a committee of five physicians connected with the Evans memorial department of clinical research at Massachusetts hospital. Within 48 to 96 hours after the first innoculation, the report says, all the patients were made so comfortable that opiates have been dispensed with.

While some of the patients have shown a gain in weight, Dr. Nowell stated that sufficient time has not elapsed to draw conclusions.

He does not advise anyone to take his treatment where surgery is possible, and with his fellow physicians recommends "that at least a year should be passed before definite statements may well be made."

Dr. Nowell admitted today for the first time that he had apparently "cured" many rabbits of cancers with a virus obtained from a human malignant growth. He disclaims, however, that he has a cure for "the world's second greatest scourge."

"In all except one of the cases under treatment or observation as yet," Dr. Nowell said, "it is impossible to say any direct action has been made upon the size of the growth as far as reducing that size is concerned. On the other hand there is no increase in the size. In the one exception the growth has lessened.

"As soon as I am able to demonstrate that I can stop the growth then I shall know that my material is having a direct effect upon the condition of the patient."

Answering queries from physicians, the committee announced that a few cases would be received for treatment, but for the present no "hopeless cases with extensive involvement of important organs" would be considered.

FLIES HIGH AND BREAKS THE LAW

French Aviator Soars Over London, Which Is Against Regulations—3000 Feet Up.

*London, May 11.—The French air*man, Marcel G. Brindejone Des Moulinais, arrived at Hendon this afternoon after a flight from Bremen. The aviator left Bremen at 8:40 o'clock Friday morning in a monoplane. He made a stop at Brussels and resumed his flight at 10:40 this morning. At Calais he took on a fresh supply of petrol and crossed the channel at great speed and at a high altitude.

Passing Dover and Canterbury he struck the Thames near Gravesend and followed the river to London. He flew over the city at an altitude of 3000 feet and arrived at Hendon at 3 p.m.

Flying over London is unlawful, but the aviator apparently was ignorant of this, and probably the offence will be overlooked. The passage across the channel occupied 20 minutes, which is a new record.

Behind THE FOOTLIGHTS

All the acts that are to appear at the Royal theatre this week are of the "big time" brand and were personally selected by Manager Gillis from a large list of acts playing the circuit at the present time.

A big circus feature will head the bill for the first part of the week starting with today's matinee. The turn consists of a lady and two gentlemen and they present a thrilling acrobatic and hand-balancing novelty. They are receiving a good salary and consequently they have not neglected carrying all the necessary apparatus which goes to make their turn one of the real equilibristic features of vaudeville.

Josh Dale is going to present his own inimitable rip-roaring non-sensical novelty in the same winning manner that he has been doing for the past ten years. He was one of the big features with Primrose & Dockstader's minstrels.

The Royal management prides itself on the wonderful picture program secured for the current show. There will be a two reeler entitled "Will-o-the Wisp," which bears the Kay-Bee title; a Thanhouser educational comedy entitled "Express C. O. D." in which a number of rabbits figure prominently; and last but by no means least two of the ever welcome Keystone comedies which have proved to be so popular in this city.

"FRECKLES."

Just how a youth, with but one hand, could knock out a husky camp cook and later could stand and shoot tirades at a still huskier man of the woods, a villian by the way, after that same youth had been badly crushed by a falling tree, was difficult to grasp, but that was exactly what Freckles did as the hero in the play by that name which appeared at the opera house on Saturday evening.

The production was greeted by a fair house, not overcrowded by any means, and who, in fairness to the players it must be said, enjoyed the greater part of the performance.

Julius Velie, who played the leading role, has a well modulated voice and his songs, which were mingled with the action, were well received. John S. Marble as Duncan, the head teamster of McLean's timber gang, a happy old Scotchman, with Dignan Meredith as his happy old wife, were both good.

The play was far from exciting, although the acting of Black Jack, the timber thief, really did arouse the animosity of the audience, who in turn admired the defiance of Freckles, the guard of the Limberlost.

ground and Fulk was seriously wounded. In the meantime the central police office had been notified of the trouble and an auto dashed up just as the crowd moved back, but only brought two additional policemen. However, the foreigners had had enough and the police were able to remove Landi to a safer place out of reach of the mob.

The situation is a serious one and is at an acute stage following meetings and parades organized by agitators.

Ore for the Week.

Nelson, B.C., May 11.—Ore production in the Kootenay and Boundary district last week amounted to 53,462 tons, making a total for the year to date of 933,231 tons. Smelter receipts for the week were 47,393 tons, and for the year to date 822,727 tons.

SAPPERTON DEFEAT CITY IN CUP FINAL

East Siders Win Out by Score of 2-1—Last Game of the Season Well Attended.

Displaying a shade better football than their opponents, the Sapperton soccer aggregation of the City league defeated the City on Saturday afternoon and thus retain possession of the City league cup for another season.

Although Sapperton were the favorites, the score of two goals to one just about represents the play. Their combination was of a higher order than the city eleven, the individual efforts of the latter coming to naught against the well balanced defence of the east siders.

Crooks opened the scoring for Sapperton after 17 minutes of play, a faulty clearance by Battson allowing the centre forward to net the sphere on the rebound.

The City came back in the second half and following a corner kick, one of the Sapperton halves handled the ball with a resultant penalty. McAllister did the needful to equalize on a rebound shot.

A few minutes later Speedie for Sapperton missed two open chances, but his partner made amends immediately following another poor clearance by the City custodian. This ended the scoring.

For the victors, Gray, who played with the B. C. E. R. in the senior amateur league this season, was easily the star of the game, Hunter also doing good work.

McAllister and Marshall, the two backs of the City, played stellar ball but this was counteracted by the absence of Rattray in goal and a weak half back line.

The crowd was one of the best seen this season and uncorked their enthusiasm during the progress of the game. The line-up was as follows:

Sapperton — Greveney, Patterson, Gray, Craig, Lambden, Hunter, Chiel, Speedie, Crooks, Aylesbury and Gamner.

City—Battson, McAllister, Marshall, McLaren, Hogg, King, Petrie, Hague, Barnes, McLeod and Leigh.

Referee, Jack Phillips.

Interior Baseball.

A four league baseball league, to be known as the B. C. Interior Baseball league, has been formed in the upper country, taking in Vernon, Kamloops, Revelstoke and Kelowna. Thirty-two games will be played, the season opening in Kamloops on Wednesday, May 14, and ending Sept. 3 at Vernon. It is possible that the league leaders will be pitted against the champions of the B. C. league of the lower mainland towards the close of the season.

LACROSSE TEAMS START REAL TRAINING

Both Salmon Bellies and Senior Amateurs Prepare for Opening Battles on May 24.

With less than two weeks intervening between now and the opening game of the Coast lacrosse league, Manager Gifford and his Salmon Bellies will commence real training this evening at Queen's Park in order that the boys will be in the pink of condition when Manager Jones and his cohorts from the Terminal City invade New Westminster.

So far the players have been taking things easy, the object being to get the team more in condition rather than perfect the combination and stick handling work, but from now on the home and defence will be pitted against each other, while it is probable that the senior amateurs will stack up in a practice game against the pros., providing Managers Gifford and Turnbull agree on this.

Two weeks ago the prospects of Con Jones gathering a team capable of giving the Royals a close race were slim indeed, but his captures during the past week are not to be scorned and until the first game has been played the fans will not be in a position to gauge their strength.

Mickey Ion, the fleet defence player, is still holding out for more salary and has informed Manager Jones that he will not sign for less than $1500. Just how Ion will emerge from the fight remains to be seen, for under the new commission idea neither New Westminster nor any of the eastern clubs can sign him up without a release from Con Jones.

Turning to the Senior amateurs, the local boys will be taken in tow by "Dad" Turnbull in real earnest this week. The new ruling of the intermediate league to allow any of their players to engage with the Seniors allows the manager to rely on a permanent twelve once they are set in motion and when the curtain is raised in the Capital City on Victoria day it is expected that New Westminster will be well in the running for the championship of the Pacific Coast Lacrosse league.

Shortest Title Bout Was Fought Eleven Years Ago Today.

A pugilistic title changed ownership in the shortest time on record at Fort Erie, Ont., across from Buffalo, eleven years ago today, when Frank Erne lost the lightweight championship to Joe Gans.

A short time before Erne had committed pugilistic suicide by training down to 128 pounds for his fight with Terrible Terry McGovern, the featherweight champion. For days before the bout he went without food and practically without drink. The baking out process weakened him to such an extent that McGovern found him an easy victim.

Erne had not recovered his strength when he met Gans in Canada, with his lightweight title at stake, although he had trained faithfully, and the weight was placed at 135 pounds, at which Erne was at his best.

If brevity is wit, the Gans-Erne fight was a rip-roaring farce. Frank landed a couple of taps, Joe responded, and then they went to a clinch. As they separated Gans shot over his left to Frank's jaw, and it was all over but the shouting.

Joe was "plum flabbergasted" by the suddennness of his victory, and for several minutes was unable to realize his triumph.

Joe held the title for six years when he lost it to Battling Nelson, and soon after succumbed to tuberculosis. Erne went to England and cleaned up a lot of money before retiring from the ring to become a fight manager in Paris and New York.

Southern trapshooters are now on the hike for Montgomery, the Alabama capital city having been awarded the Interstate Association's eighth southern handicap tournament, to be decided during the three days beginning tomorrow.

A thousand dollars in added money has been hung up for the shoot. Pennsylvania trapshooters will also have a state shoot tomorrow and the two following days, under the auspices of the York City Gun club.

Following the important horses shows in Tonronto, Montreal, Vancouver and other Canadian cities, the annual Ottawa exhibition will be inaugurated today, and continue through the week.

This is one of the big society and sporting events of the year in the Dominion capital, and it is expected that all records will be broken in excellence of entries and in attendance.

Memorial for Champion Cribb.

English boxing fans, thaving erected a memorial to Jem Mace, are now agitating the erection of a monument to perpetuate the glories of another mighty pugilist, Thomas Cribb, who was in his prime in the first quarter of the nineteenth century, and who died at Woolwich, England, sixty-five years ago Sunday, May 1, 1848.

Cribb's first appearance in the arena was in 1805, when he defeated George Maddox in a bout lasting over two hours. He became the recognized champion and the idol of the sporting world in 1809. Cribb's two greatest battles were with Jem Belcher, a former champion who had, like Jeffries, retired for a time and then tried to come back, and Tom Molineaux, a Virginia negro of the Jack Johnson type.

The veteran Belcher was by far the superior of Cribb in cleverness, and during the early part of the battle landed at will on his big and clumsy antagonist. Cribb was game, strong, and durable, and it the end wore Belcher out.

Cribb nearly met his Waterloo when he fought Molineaux, who was a full-blooded African, of remarkable cleverness. At first Cribb held the upper hand, but later the tide of battle changed, and the big black man forced the fighting. In the twenty-eighth round he sent the champion to dreamland, but in a squabble that ensued Cribb recovered, and the referee permitted the bout to proceed. The ring was pitched in the open, and the men fought in a cold December rain.

Cribb had greater endurance than the black, and in the end Molineaux gave up and refused to fight longer. After the Belcher and Molineaux battles Cribb reigned supreme until his voluntary retirement, when Tom Spring assumed the title.

Coney Island was the most important place on the map thirteen years ago Sunday, for it was on May 11, 1900, that Jim Jeffries and Jim Corbett settled their argument at that place.

The champion put the soporific kibosh on the pompadoured ex-champion in the twenty-third round. Three years later Corbett tried it again at San Francisco, and on that occasion lasted only ten rounds.

LOCAL CRICKETERS WIN THEIR GAME

New Westminster Trims Cedar Cottage by 147 Runs to 81—Detailed Score.

The New Westminster Cricket club started their season in full swing Saturday afternoon by registering a creditable victory over the Cedar Cottage eleven on the Moody park grounds, the Royals batting up a score of 147 against the visitors' 81. The uncertainty of the weather forced both captains to field a team below strength. F. A. Rose and G. Irving made excellent scores for the locals assisted by Messrs. Dunford, Wells and Money.

T. Reed and J. Phillips appeared to be the only batsmen able to withstand the onslaught of the Westminster trundlers, the rest of the side being dismissed for a paltry nine.

G. BURR MAKES ANOTHER CENTURY

Civilian Riflemen Showing Great Form on Brownsville Ranges—Second Century in Eight Days.

For the second week in succession Mr. George Burr notched a "century" on the Brownsville ranges Saturday afternoon at the weekly shoot of the Civilian Rifle association. Mr. Burr's score of Saturday was even better than that made the previous week in that he made a possible on the 600 yard range, while his former possible was registered from the 500 yard location.

A tricky wind puzzled several of the marksmen who were heading for high scores. The century made by Mr. Burr entitles him to three more silver spoons, six in eight days, which constitutes a record among local marksmen.

The following were the scores:

Sensational Finish at Detroit.

Detroit, Mich., May 11.—After tieing the score in the ninth by a rally which produced three runs, Boston took a desperate ten inning game from Detroit today by a 5-4 count. Neil Ball, running for Carrigan, slid home with the deciding tally when Hooper bounced an infield hit to Vitt.

It was a fast, thrilling, splendidly played game from start to finish, and the result was in doubt until Speaker brought the game to a conclusion by dashing into left centre and capturing Crawford's line drive. Louden was on third and Bush on second when Speaker made the catch. Score:

SOCCER SMOKER SET FOR FRIDAY

High Jinks at Colonial Hotel Will Wind up Football Season—Big Time.

The annual smoker of the various soccer clubs of the city to be held in the Colonial hotel next Friday evening promises to be one of the sporting events of the season, the committee, handling the affair having met with every success in rounding up vocal and instrumental artists who will keep things moving with the usual vim that attends such gatherings. The soccer season in the city during the past winter has been one of the most successful and enjoyable known for a number of years. The class of soccer has improved wonderfully, while several new stars have been uncovered.

Friday's event will be an open one and not limited to just the players alone.

Any enthusiast of soccer and of any sport as a matter of fact is invited to attend the gathering, the contribution being set so as to cover just the actual expenses incurred by the commissiary department.

HOW MAJOR LEAGUE CLUBS ARE FARING

Weekly Review of Baseball Situation—Surprises General Last Week.

New York, May 11.—Followers of major league baseball were treated to a series of thrills last week. In the National league race, the surprising rise of Brooklyn was continued with a spurt that sent Dahlen's men from fourth to second place. Pittsburg shot down close to the bottom of the percentage column. Boston gave its followers a welcome surprise by winning four straight and dropping but one game in the week.

Johnny Evers and his Cubs fared badly in Brooklyn, but handed the Giants a thorough trouncing in the first game of the series between the old time rivals. Something is sadly amiss with McGraw's combination, which after more than a month of play is a bad fifth in the pennant race. Weak stick work and loose fielding have been glaringly in evidence. Dahlen has the Brooklyn machine working smoothly and is making a strong bid for the lead.

The St. Louis pitchers are holding Huggins' team well up in the race. Weakness on the mound seems to be the trouble with Cincinnati. Philadelphia is still going at a speedy clip.

American League.

The sensation of the week in the American league was furnished by New York. Chance's erratic band, after being consistently maltreated by the eastern clubs, jumped west and took three out of four games from Detroit.

Philadelphia seems to be going better than any other team in the race, although Washington and Cleveland are playing at top speed. Chicago is playing fairly consistent ball. St. Louis is better placed in the race than was expected. The Boston world's champions are playing far below form.

In Detroit Jennings has a difficult problem to solve. Box weakness is the Tigers' main complaint, although the infield situation is worrying Hughie. Frank Chance also is worrying over the New York infield and these facts seem responsible for the persistent rumors that Hal Chase might be traded to Detroit. Jennings obviously could use Chase to splendid advantage.

Work on Silver Creek Trail.

Mr. R. Bonson, road superintendent, Dewdney, has promised that the work on the trail to Silver creek will be begun this week from Coquitlam. The district is partly in Coquitlam and partly in unorganized territory.

GOVERNESS RULES IN SUNNY ITALY

Plain "Miss Brown" Has Remarkable Influence Over Royal Children and Their Parents.

Rome, May 11—"Miss Brown" is governess to the Italian royal children. Her Christian name is of secondary importance; in fact, no one at the Quirinal or other Italian royal family knows her by any other title than the foregoing.

Yet, in a sense, this plain Englishwoman (the qualification does not apply to her looks), whose name suggests a middle-class descent rather than anything approaching high lineage, is one of the most powerful women in Europe.

"How is this possible?" a press correspondent asked a high court official.

"It is simple enough," was the answer. "Miss Brown rules the royal children, the royal children rule their mother, their mother rules the king. Is there anything unusual in family life in such a chain of association?"

If Miss Brown finds little Princess Mafalda wants this or the little crown prince wants that, she refers the request to the queen if she judges it a proper one. The English lady has a remarkable influence with the queen, who is devoted to her, and she has the entire care of the royal nursery and the training of the four children, whose ages range from 5 to 11.

There are other governesses of different nationalities, but they all defer to Mis Brown, who has the first and last say in all matters connected with the children.

"I don't like the Austrians," said little Crown Prince Humbert, the other day, "and I wish you would make papa get my grandpapa of Montenegro out of all that mess. What right has a big country to bullya little one?"

This was one request Miss Brown put upon the shelf for further consideration. Meanwhile Count Gianotti, prefect of the palace and grand master of the ceremonies, died. He was a familiar of the royal palace and greatly beloved of the royal children, with whom he used to romp like a schoolboy.

Since then there has been the question of appointing his successor. Here Miss Brown's power makes itself felt. The person to whom the succession would have naturaly reverted is not in favor either with the children or their English governess. So the contingency of putting him out is formidable. Mis Brown works upon the maternal feelings of Queen Helena.

"The children will never get on with ——," she declares, and gives other strong reasons against his nomination. The queen in her turn puts pressure upon the king. And the upshot of it is that the important post of prefect of the palace remains vacant and is likely to remain so until a candidate more favored in the nursery comes forward.

GERMANY MUST KEEP GOOD SWORD READY

Berlin, May 11—Crown Prince Fredick William, in writing a preface to a book, "Germany in Arms," published today, in which he is reputed to be the author, exhibits himself, the future German Emperor, as an unbeliever in the possibility of ever abolishing war.

He declares that diplomacy may delay and occasionally avert conflicts, but "the sword will remain the final and decisive factor until the world's end."

In another passage he says:

"Only with the support of our good sword can we maintain that place in the sun which is due to us but which is not willingly accorded to us"

The author points out Germany's unfortunate geographical position and warns his countrymen that the German army and navy must be kept continually at the highest point of efficiency. He says that increasing commercialism, and the desire for riches threaten to destroy the old ideals, "since for the undisturbed earning of money one needs peace at any price. History shows that the nations in which commercial interests have decided their policy have ended ingloriously."

He appeals to all Germans to be ready to sacrifice their blood and their possessions, and continues:

"Then the world may be full of devils arrayed in arms against us, but we shall conquer."

SIXTEEN-HOUR DAY.

London, May 11.—People who do not find a day of twenty-four hours long enough would have had far more reason to complain had they lived about forty-six million years ago.

Then the day, as Prof. Turner pointed out in a lecture as the Royal Institution in London on "The Movements of the Stars," was only sixteen hours, though there were twenty-nine days in the month.

Some 10,000,000 years before that the day was ten hours in length, and going back still further in the recesses of time, it was reduced to one hour. That was when the earth and the moon were close together—when they had only recently parted company, in fact, and had started on their career as separate bodies.

The principle applied to a large class of bodies in the sidereal system—the double stars. Astronomers konw two two stars in the sky so close together that it has never been possible to separate one from another, even through the best telescopes, though it is known that one of them is considerably brighter than the other, and it is supposed that one is describing an orbit round the other.

At the other end of the scale there are some stars that have not completed their orbit in the century since they were described by Herschel. Some of them might occupy 200 or 300 years, and there are even instances in which the orbit would occupy thousands of years.

The cause of the changes in the length of our day, said Prof. Turner, was the effect of the tides on the earth's rotation. The moon raised two tides—one one side side because she pulled away the water from the earth, on the other because she pulled away the earth from the water.

THE FEWER CLOTHES THE BETTER HEALTH

If Men Lived as the Soudanese Do They Would Always Be Healthy

Some years ago, says Montgomery Irving, Pl. D., in the Toronto Star, I lived for a time, and fought against, the wild Soudanese in that far off land of burning sun and dried, baked sand, and since that time I have never ceased to marvel at the busy, active lives led by these strange warriors.

Whenever it was possible to see, either in daylight or semi-darkness, these restless people could always be observed "on the move." The Soudanese that I came in contact with believed in the old medicine man theory, but in spite of their ignorance, I never saw or heard of a single one of them being sick or even indisposed unless wounded in battle.

They possessed nerve, the like of which the greatest hero of modern times would be very proud of. They were as fleet of foot as a stag; mould ed on the lines of a Greek god, and brave to a fault. These men wore little or no clothing.

Their skins were like the finest of satin, without a blemish. They rarely, if ever, caught cold, because they were nature's own children, while we, or most of us, are nature's own cranks or "stuffed-up coddles." If all men moved about and exercised as the Soudanese and other wild tribes do, there would be more health enjoyed and less clothing worn.

Silly Hat Custom.

Some men will insist upon wearing a straw hat on a certain date, no matter if the ground is a foot thick of snow, and likewise they would discard summer headgear on a certain date, though it were possible to fry a steak by the heat of the sun on the sidewalk.

And the same silly custom prevails in respect to overcoats. When once this heavy garment is put on, nothing could persuade the average man to go out a single day without wearing it, no matter if the heat of the sun parboiled or roasted him.

One bright sunny day a well known business man presented himself for physical instruction so thoroughly overheated that he was ready to drop, and because overcoats were not yet called in, and to prevent himself from catching cold. I observed that when he was removing his clothing that he wore the following garments: One sleeveless undershirt, one long-sleeved woolen undershirt, one Oxford shirt, cloth vest, a buttoned woolen sweater with long sleeves, an English morning coat a heavy furlined overcoat, and a silken arrangement about the neck, to say nothing of the heavy garments that covered his lower extremities.

Were a man sentenced to wear this awful amount of health-killing clothing for some offence it would be considered nothing less than slow murder.

Tips from the Women.

To the casual observer women dress far more reasonable than men irrespective of the frightful things we see in the shop windows called "corsets."

Though the "peekaboo" waists were not made for the sake of health, nevertheless, if the skin is allowed a certain amount of air and light it is more likely to thrive and remain healthy than if always covered, therefore in summer and winter too, for that matter, the "peekaboo" has more value than some people imagine. In winter we wear certain articles of clothing to prevent conduction radiation and evaporation of heat from the skin, and in hot weather to promote it.

If those who now bundle themselves up in clothing would take a regular form of exercise, eat plain, nourishing food and sample all kinds of weather, they could find that they could wear considerably less clothing, feel all the better for it, and less liable to take cold.

The writer has only owned five overcoats in his life, and he has had but little use for these. Coddling up always kills if practiced long enough. Man is a fresh air animal. He can live weeks without food, days without water, but little more than two minutes without pure air. Therefore, if he insists upon passing most of his life indoors, with the steam heat going at full blast, al the windows closed, the gas eating up the oxygen, and his body covered with the same clothing that he wears out of doors, it is only reasonable to suppose that he will soon be a fit subject for nearly every disease on the calendar and must sooner or later pay for his folly, perhaps with his life.

CRYSTAL GAZER SENDS A WHOLE FAMILY MAD

Paris, May 11—The danger of consulting a crystal gazer has just met with a terribly tragic illustration in the little village of St. Remy in the department of Deux Sevres.

The trouble began with the death of a pig that died without apparent cause on M. Gauthier's farm. The owner consulted a sleepwalker who had the reputation of being a clairvoyant, and who, after gazing into her crystal, declared that evil pirits had entered the Gauthier house and unless they were driven forth all the farm stock would perish and the family become mad.

The village priest was at once asked to come and exorcise the demons. He refused, saying that the church would not stoop to co-operate with a crystal gazer.

The other morning the whole family went suddenly mad, one of the daughters being first afflicted with hallucinations. The sons went to the preist's house and brought him by force to the farm, where he was shut up and ordered to pray. Meanwhile the Gauthier family, armed with torches and cudgels, pursued the evil spirits through the rooms.

She stated that after some words he told her to leave the house, or he would kick her out. He said she should be in jail and she was a miserable looking creature. The prisoner said if he were given a chance he would go back to England, never to come to an Irish football match again. The recorder said he would hardly attend a match for some time. COLUMBIA

Graphophones and Grafonolas are without a peer in the musical world. They are capable of reproducing not merely one class of instrumental music, but every class of instrumental music with a fidelity that is no less than flawless—the violin, the 'cello, the harp, the flute, the clarinet, the cornet—all the wind instruments, all the instruments of bands and orchestras—all the instrumental music of all the world.

Not only this, but the human voice is now so perfectly recorded and so flawlessly reproduced that the home without a COLUMBIA has become as incomplete as a piano without a keyboard. "HEARING IS BELIEVING."

MILL BURNS.

Silverdale Lumber Company's Plant Goes up in Smoke.

The shingle mill of the Silverdale Lumber company at Silverdale, near Ruskin, was destroyed by fire on Saturday evening. The fire in the mill, which adjoins the C. P. R. main line, tied up one of the westbound transcontinentals for over 30 minutes. The shingle and lumber mill had a capacity of about 40,000 feet per day and is owned by the Smith-Shannon company.

Going at It Again.

This afternoon at 2 o'clock the Burnaby council will hold a special session which promises to be interesting. The question of the kind of pavement to be used on the various streets that are to be improved will be brou ht up, and the recommendation of the engineer discussed. It was on this point that Councillor Macpherson at the last regular meeting threatened to talk all night and thus forced an adjournment.

ARCHBISHOP IN ST. PETER'S

Holds Confirmation Services—Fifty-Eight Enter Communion.

Archbishop Casey, Vancouver, conducted a series of services in St. Peter's (R.C.) church yesterday, confirming 38 children and 20 adults in the course of the day.

His Grace held first communion mass at 8 a.m., and at 10:45 High Pontifical Mass was celebrated, Father Beck singing the mass.

At the end of the mass the archbishop confirmed the following:

Girls—A. Dynes, M. Wale, K. Burns, E. Callaghan, L. Wenz, W. Wright, K. McPhaden, K. Fromey, G. Hill, B. Sorenson, L. Corbin, G. Robbins, A. Apele, M. Howe, I. Harvey, I. McEntte, G. McEntte, V. Smith, M. Anderson, V. Parent, C. Patrick, M. Medina, E. Colton and G. Shears.

Boys—W. Barron, A. Carrier, E. Williams, R. Pidgeon, E. Fradere, P. LeBrun, Geo. Wentz, W. Dynes, L. A. Managhan, A. Lessard, A. Morrow, W. Tucker, L. Corbin and B. Naud.

In the afternoon the archbishop visited St. Louis college, St. Mary's hospital, the Convent and the Providence Orphanage, delivering addresses in each institution.

After the Benediction service in the evening about 20 adults were confirmed.

OBITUARY.

PHILLIPS—The funeral of Mrs. Serena Phillips, who died Friday afternoon, will take place this afternoon from the Murchie undertaking parlors at 2 o'clock. Interment will take place in the city cemetery, the pastor of the Lutheran church at Sunbury officiating.

ROSS—The death of Miss Catherine Ross, a resident of this city for the past 10 years, occurred in the Royal Columbian hospital on Saturday noon. Deceased was born in Scotland 70 years ago, coming to Ontario in the 60s. Deceased formerly operated a ranch at Mount Lehman. She is survived by one brother, Mr. Hugh Ross, of Ferguson, B.C., who has been notified of the demise of his sister and will probably arrive in the city today to take charge of the funeral arrangements. Deceased resided at 326 Hospital street.

LANNING—Word was received in the city last evening of the death of Mr. W. J. Lanning, a well known citizen of Ladner, which occurred at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon. His daughter, Miss Mabel Lanning, is a student at Columbian college. She left for her home last night.

Finishing Pitt River Road.

The Pitt River road is expected to be entirely completed this week. The rocking and rolling of the last section between the Canadian Western Lumber company's gate and the Brunette bridge is all that remains to be done. About 4000 yards of rock have been used in the work.

House in a Stump.

That there are uses for the stumps that once supported giants of the forest, other than to be blown sky high into neighboring lots is evidenced in a pretty little house facing Burnaby lake. A door has been cut in the side of a big hollow stump there which forms the lower floor of a summer cottage a la Swiss Family Robinson. The upper storey is now being erected on top of the stump.

Some Fish Story.

Not all the fish stories are true, but this one, as related by a tourist to Langley district yesterday, happens to be vouched for by the man who made his super off the fish in question. An angler in one of the little streams in that favored district spied a fine salmon, but in spite of repeated invitations to partake of the dainty worm at the end of the line the fish paid no attention, and after a while took refuge under a tree that spanned the creek. The local Walton, who must have had experience in tickling trout in some far off Scottish burn, stretched himself noiselessly along the tree and dived his arm into the water. There was a flash of scales in the air and a change in diet at a nearby farm last night.

OLD TIMER OF BANFF HAS PASSED AWAY

Banff, Alta., May 10.—A Banff old timer passed away this morning when Mr. Sidney Patrick Anson Cartwright died in the Brett hospital.

He was a familiar figure in Banff streets, being badly crippled with rheumatism due to the hardships of campaigning in his youth. He was a member of the Ashantee expedition and was decorated with the Victoria Cross by the Queen on his return from the front, he having shown conspicuous bravery in the attack on Coomassie when he was shot twice. He lived at Souris, Manitoba, for a few years. At the time of his death he was 50 years old.

CINCINNATI TRACTION EMPLOYEES WALKOUT

Cincinnati, O., May 11.—Not a wheel of any car operated by the Cincinnati Traction company is turning tonight. The strike of the newly organized union of street car employees thus far has been successful even beyond their own hopes, inasmuch as they have blocked all traffic.

Citizens today were using every other mode of conveyance except street cars to reach their homes in the suburbs. As yet the strike has been a peaceful affair.

The traction officials, while admitting that two-thirds of their men had suspended work, contended that they could have operated some cars had they desired, but deemed it advisable not to subject their men, who had remained loyal, to insults and jeers of the crowd, as well as possible violence. The street car employees are striking for recognition of the union, increase in wages and shorter hours.

Loosens a Little.

London, May 10—Disbursements by the government have brought easiness in money. Discounts are inclined to be weak, but there is no demand for long dated bills owing to fears of stringency in the United States in the autumn. A stiffening in Berlin discounts has been ignored here. On Tuesday there will be available in the open market £8,400,000 South African gold, most of which is expected to go to the Bank of England.

ANNUAL MEETING OF Y. M. C. A. TONIGHT

New Directors Will Be Elected—What the Institution Is Doing for Men and Boys.

The annual meeting of the Y. M. C. A. tonight at 8 o'clock will be of unusual interest. New directors will be elected replacing those in office for one year only and a series of reports by the chairmen of the several committees will show the extent and effectiveness of the local institution, which is but one of more than 2,000 similar centres in North America, with a total membership of over half a million and property holdings aggregating nearly ninety million dollars.

The business in which the association has engaged for 66 years with increasing capital of men, experience and equipment is directed by some 40,000 business men who have themselves won success.

The membership is part of the nation's life from school days to university hall, the mine to the manufactory, the railroad to the rural district.

Some 3000 men expert in the science of directing Christian service are trained in its institutes, conferences and schools.

The men whose capital is their hands and their skill are in the association in large numbers. From 22 to 60 per cent. of many city memberships are from the ranks of industry. The evening classes are full of them.

Railroads, construction companies and business houses stand behind the institution purely because of increased efficiency in their employees, freedom from accidents, regularity and reliability being factors in securing dividends.

In 600 gymnasiums some 300,000 men and boys are drilled for physical excellence and efficiency and nearly 10,000 volunteer leaders are instructed in the methods of exercise and laws of health, of recreation, of life saving and sanitation and right living.

These men are putting their time and training at the service of society, the shop and factory, in play ground and for Sunday school boys. Thirty thousand boys have been taught to swim and the local motto is "Every man and boy in Westminster a swimmer, and every swimmer a life saver."

It is, too, more than a club or brotherhood. It is essentially a Christian institution. It operates a straight-to-the-mark gospel method of bettering men—the method that has worked swiftest and surest has been used with increasing power. Twice as many men as five years ago are engaged in doing it. On committees for doing distinctive religious work are more than 20,000 men and boys.

The Westminster association is planning a boys' camp, tennis, baseball and probably lacrosse league, water polo, swimming classes, harriers' hikes, and many other of Director Sovereign's 600 specialties.

Study classes in life problems, shop meetings and other activities of educational spiritual value are being considered and the work for the men and boys of the Royal City.

The attendance at the annual meeting will be a test of the real interest in this splendid and progressive institution.

Members are urged to be present and bring their friends. Ladies are cordially invited.

THEY WOULD SPEAR TROUT.

Several Soaked for Offence in Burnaby—Other Cases in Court.

Edmonds, May 11—The second conviction for spearing trout was obtained by the Burnaby police on Saturday when Lawrence Mason, Sydney Kenyon, William Chapman and two orientals, One Hung and One Lung, were fined $10 and costs each by Magistrate Beatty. Accused were discovered spearing the fish in Burnaby lake and Still creek.

It cost Naras Singh just $15.60 for allowing four kine to stray over the public highways.

For blasting without giving warning Munsha Singh, another Hindu, was mulcted $10, together with $3 costs and $10 damages.

John Rudgien, arrested in Vancouver, on a warrant for non-support of his wife and family, was given one month in the provincial jail with hard labor.
