JUDGE ORDERS JURY DISMISSED

Remarks of Juryman Reported in Court—New Trial Ordered.

Two Cumberland Miners Charged with Rioting and Assaulting Police Officer.

The jury in the trial of two Cumberland miners was suddenly discharged yesterday after it had listened to a whole day's evidence and had retired to bring in a verdict. This was because of a statement made by a reporter for a Vancouver paper and to a certain extent corroborated by Provincial Constable Exley, which said that a juryman had expressed views that Mr. Justice Clement later decided made him unfit to act. John and James Connors, the accused, were therefore remanded until Monday for a new trial.

The statement handed to J. E. Bird, counsel for James Connors, said that on Thursday at noon before the crown had finished its case in the Goodwin trial, Juryman Goldstone had said: "We must uphold the police officers, regardless." The juror then turned to the reporter and said: "We are going to send that man to the quad." Asked what he meant, Goldstone continued: "We are going to send him to prison because we must uphold the police officers." He also said: "The police are protecting us and we must protect them and the other jurors are of the same opinion."

Officer Exley remembered hearing this juryman say that the police protect society, "and we must protect the police," or words to that effect.

The reporter who made the statement was not in court, but his lordship considered the matter sufficiently serious to call the jury in. The police officer repeated his statement and Juryman Goldstone rose. What he had said was: "The police protect the public and the public must protect the police." He thought that was all right to say. The judge said this was enough to show him that Goldstone was unfit to act. He was dismissed from further duty and the remainder of the jury discharged from acting in that case. His lordship regretted Goldstone had not obeyed the injunction to speak to no one of the trial while it was on.

James and John Connors were remanded until Monday at 11:15 a.m. for trial.

Charged With Assault.

The Connors, who are brothers, were charged with rioting and assaulting a police officer in the performance of his duty. Provincial Constable Hanney testified that on the night of July 19, a crowd of 30 or 40 men, all excited, went up Dunsmuir avenue at Cumberland and as he walked up the street he heard a man called Naylor shout "Head 'em off boys." This he thought was meant for the special policemen. Where the crowd had gathered 300 or 400 strong he saw Constable McArgle being assaulted by a man, Goodwin.

When making his way to help, the witness was grabbed by the shoulder by James Connors, one of the men in the prisoners' box. Because of this interference Goodwin escaped. When arresting James Connors, John had interfered.

Counsel for the defence questioned witness who said he wore no uniform, only a badge.

He had known the Connors, one by the last name and the other by sight, previous to the trouble. He had never been introduced to the brothers. He did not remember that the charge of assault upon another officer and that of assault upon him, witness, being taken up.

Consul for defence had just received a message that a man named McAllister was coming on the next boat to say he was the man who had hit the blow for which Goodwin was convicted on Thursday. Would that change his evidence relating to the trouble in which he said he had seen Goodwin?

Witness said it would not.

Joseph McArgle, in the crowd at Cumberland had seen James Connors; he knew him by his last name only. Witness saw John Connors step in and interfere when Officer Hanney was trying to arrest James Connors.

To counsel for the defence witness swore he and Officer Hanney had not discussed the evidence they would give even though they had been together daily for the past week at the trial here.

Crowd Grew Larger.

Charles McTaggart, a provincial constable, was also on duty in Dunsmuir avenue at Cumberland on the night of July 19. As the crowd went toward the city hall it grew larger and noisier. It dispersed two or three hours after the trouble. This they did upon advice from their friends. Their friends were not all union men. One was a company official. He did not hear Naylor tell them to go home.

Geo. W. Wallace, a mine engineer, had come into Cumberland late on July 19 and with Cave and others had been in the party which was the centre of the crowd. Cave had been struck. The crowd remained on the scene after the party had escaped.

"Head Them Off."

H. G. Cave had been in town with Wallace and others and after the Muir-Moore fight had met Naylor of the union, and James Connors was behind. They had a few words and after going a few feet heard a shout

ONE KILLED WHEN TWO TRAINS MEET

G. N. R. Eastbound No. 4 Meets Work Train Head-on.

Whitefish, Mont., Oct. 31.—A head-on collision this morning between Great Northern train No. 4, eastbound, and a work train about half way between Stone Hill and Rondo, resulted in the death of Fireman Guy Carr and the possible fatal injury of Engineer Warren A. Jones, of the passenger train.

Engineer M. C. Sullivan and Fireman L. W. Mise, of the work train, were also injured. One passenger, two mail clerks, two waiters, one cook and one dining car conductor were brought here this evening suffering from minor injuries and placed in a hospital. The engine of the passenger train went into the Kootenai river. The baggage and mail cars went into the ditch, but the rest of the coaches remained on the track.

Did He Confess?

Some sensational evidence is expected to be brought forward in the murder trial of Herman Clark and his partner, Davis, who will be tried in the Vancouver assize court next week on a charge of murdering Police Constable Archibald of Vancouver some months ago. Clark, who attempted to commit suicide in the provincial jail last week, is understood to have made a confession as to his connection with Davis.

County Court Cases.

Two civil cases and two chamber applications were heard in the county court yesterday. The civil cases were John Reid vs. F. C. Lane and Hera vs. Constantlea. Enov vs. Guylepal and Barnet vs. Beaton were the chamber applications. His honor Judge Barker presided.

Engineers Threaten Strike.

Winnipeg, Oct. 31.—It is highly probable that within the course of a few days the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers will make demands on the C. P. R. regulating a new schedule. The officials of the C. P. R. and the brotherhood have not been in agreement for some time and a strike seriously threatens the company on all lines west of Winnipeg.

Better Claims Case.

Ottawa, Oct. 31.—J. E. Martin, K.C. Montreal, counsel for the Dominion government in the British Columbia better claims case, is here consulting with the minister of justice in the preparation of the federal side of it. When the reference is ready for hearing by the commission, a chairman will be selected by the colonial secretary owing to the failure of two other members to agree on a choice.

CLAIMS REALITY OF RITUAL MURDER

Sensation in Trial of Mendel Beiliss for Death of Christian Boy.

Professor of Kiev University Cites Similar Cases—At Least Four Implicated.

Kiev, Russia, Oct. 31.—Those who had been expecting sensations from the testimony of the experts in mental diseases at the trial of Mendel Beiliss for alleged ritual murder, were rewarded today by an anti-Semite diatribe from Prof. Sikorski of Kiev university, who abandoned pretense of the scientific limits of study of mental diseases in expressing his belief that Andrew Yushinsky was murdered by blood ritualists. The witness refused to be interrupted by the court who vainly attempted to stop him on the vigorous protests of counsel for the defense.

After describing historicial similarities in alleged blood ritual murders, which he claimed always were committed by more than one person, Prof. Sikorski declared that in the killing of Yushinsky at least four persons and possibly five or six were concerned. The professor asserted that the number of stab wounds in cases of alleged ritual murder always was seven, or the multiple of that number, carried out in accordance with a pre-determined plan, and of this the Yushinsky murder was an example.

Prof. Sikorski said this type of murder was not the myth of police prejudice, but a reality of the 20th century. Such murders only occurred when Jews resided among Christians and only Christian boys were selected as victims. The guilt of these Jewish fanatics, he added, had been shown in similar cases at Saratov and other places. The Jews contributed to increase suspicion against their fellows, the professor concluded, by taking measures to defend themselves, by raising suspicion against others on the discovery of the crime, by seeking to bribe them to assume guilt and by doing everything possible to prevent the trial of their co-religionists and to hinder the regular course of justice.

INCOME TAX LAW EFFECTIVE TODAY

Will Bring Millions into Public Treasury of United States.

WALL STREET IS IN STATE OF CONFUSION

Washington, Oct. 31.—The income tax, the most revolutionary revenue raising power conferred on the American government since its foundation, starts tomorrow upon the path that is to bring millions into the public treasury.

No one in the treasury department believes that the regulations so far formulated are perfect, but they will stand until some one proves that they should be changed and officials are not inclined to believe that expert lawyers employed by big corporations particularly concerned with collection "at the source" of income on bonds, mortgages, salaries, etc., have failed to understand them.

Officials believe that the regulations they have put out are framed in the only way to safeguard the government's interest.

The man in the street who makes more than $3000 a year and who is personally responsible for his share of the tax does not need to worry about his payment for the present. The operation of the law affects only banks, corporations and others responsible for payment on bonds, mortgages, salaries, which they are bound by the law to withhold, "at the source." The amounts so withheld are not payable immediately to the treasury and the money from the tax will not begin flowing into the treasury vaults for many months. The tax for 1913 is to be collected from March 1, shortly after the constitutional amendment was ratified until December 31.

Wall Street Excited.

New York, Oct. 31.—That part of New York which is referred to vaguely as "Wall Street," is in a state of confusion tonight for once in its career. The new income tax law becomes effective tomorrow and some of the highest priced lawyers, bankers and corporation officials in the world confessed that they were at sea as to its meaning.

The chief source of trouble is that portion of the law which provides for the collection "at the source" of the income derived from interest on bonds, mortgages and certain other obligations. Banks and corporations are required to withhold this tax, in making payments of interest due to holders of securities. More than $30,000,000 is due tomorrow in November interest payments in New York.

The ruling in question has given rise to endless confusion. In cases in which bonds are not registered, the names of their owners often are not known to the banks or the fiscal agents to whom coupons are presented for payment. The identity of the owners must be established to determine whether the tax is to be deducted. Certain exemptions are allowed under the law. Six classes of exemptions have been defined. Every lawyer and bank officer in New York has life made a burden by clients who wish to know which of the six forms of exemption apply to their particular cases. There are no precedents to apply to.

Whatever the outcome, it is predicted that many suits will be instituted with the government to test the law.

Separate Schools Question.

Ottawa, Oct. 31.—Provincial School Inspector Summerly is not likely to make any more inspections of the separate schools in Ottawa. He said today that he had visited no separate schools since the incident at Garneau school when the pupils, all Catholics, walked out of the school as soon as they saw him. Inspector Summerly has received no instructions from Toronto with regard to making further school inspections.

Taken to Hospital.

Answering a police call last evening Officer Pittendrigh and Patrol Driver Guttridge discovered a man lying full length at the corner of Fourth avenue and Sixth street, bleeding from the head through coming in contact with a rock on the side of the street. After being attended to by Dr. McQuarrie, he was taken to the Royal Columbian hospital. The police state the man was intoxicated at the time.

To Speak at Y. M. C. A.

H. C. Hunt, financial secretary of the Vancouver Y. M. C. A., will speak tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock to the regular Sunday men's meeting at the local association. Special music will be given.

Boys Rang Church Bell.

"The curfew shall not ring tonight" might have held water years ago, but the ingenuity of modern youth has relegated this allegation to the w.p.b. This was proven last night when Hallowe'en observers set the bell of a local church a-ringing.

PLACE ORDERS FOR STEAMERS TO PLY FROM PORT MANN TO SAN FRANCISCO

London, Oct. 31.—According to latest advices from Glasgow, the Canadian Northern railway company has placed orders with the Fairfield Shipbuilding company of Clydebank, for two turbine vessels of 20 knots speed. It is stated that the two steamers, which will be known as the Duke of Connaught and the Duke of Clarence, will form the nucleus of a new line which will ply between Port Mann, the C. N. R. port on the Fraser river, just above New Westminster, and San Francisco, calling at Vancouver and possibly at Victoria en route.

In view of the fact that they are being constructed in a British shipyard, the vessels will be debarred from engaging in the United States coastwise trade. They can, the transcontinental trains at Vancouver or Port Mann, to San Francisco, San Pedro and San Diego direct. But on their northbound voyages the Canadian Northern vessels will only be able to take passengers and freight destined for Canadian or European points.

It is supposed that the steamship company anticipates competing with the Oregon shippers for a share of the grain traffic between California and Mexican ports. The new line will also afford travellers quick transportation between California and Canadian points and on to ports in Great Britain. Passengers will be able to connect with the transcontinental trains at aVncouver or Port Mann, which will carry them much faster than the United States railroads to Montreal. From the latter port the Canadian Northern steamships Royal Edward and Royal George will carry them to Bristol and London.

Thistle Club Dance.

Members and friends of the Thistle Social club to the number of 75 couples enjoyed a Hallowe'en party in St. George's hall last evening when a varied entertainment consisting of dancing, vocal selections and a lantern competition held sway until the early hours. Miss J. Sinclair captured first prize in the competition with John Annal taking second honors.

Not on Naval Issue.

Ottawa, Oct. 31. — Hon. T. W. Crothers, who is the representative of Western Ontario in the government, is the only minister who has given an interview on the South Bruce by-elections. He attributed the result to the personal popularity of the Liberal candidate and the personal house to house canvass he made of the constituency. Mr. Crothers does not interpret the result as an indication of sentiment either upon the naval or reciprocity questions.

GROCERS SHORTEN TERMS OF CREDIT

Issue Notice That Goods Must Be Paid for in 15 Days.

RETAILERS FOLLOW WHOLESALERS' LEAD

Nearly Every Grocer in the City Reaches This Decision and Sign Compact.

After several meetings and much discussion this week the grocers of the Retail Business Men's association of New Westminster have decided to shorten terms of credit to their customers, and have signed the statement given below.

In making this move the grocers have tried to make it clear that it is not intended to be an arrogant or suddenly conceived idea. It is merely a matter of good, sound business. Trade conditions have, they say, made it imperative, and when recently all wholesale houses shortened terms of credit from 30 to 15 days, the only thing to do was to carry this along to the consumer.

This is the way the statement now being printed in circular form, will read:

All accounts are due and payable on the ..... day of the following month in which the goods have been supplied. Any customer not having paid the previous month's account by this time will not be supplied any further by any of the undersigned merchants until the amount that is due or part due shall be paid.

INDICATE BUSINESS STABILITY OF CITY

Statistics for October Are Very Satisfactory—Building Permits Show Increase.

While the figures are not as high as those of a few months ago, the monthly returns for October as compared with the corresponding month in 1912 continue to show the stability of New Westminster as a business centre as compared with other cities in the Dominion.

An increase of a little under $2000 is recorded at the building inspector's office, in the total building permits taken out during the month of October. The figures are: October, 1913, $105,305; October, 1912, $103,535.

Crown timber receipts took an upward trend, indicating that collections are somewhat better than they were last year. For the past month $8315.66 was taken as compared with $5637.66 in October, 1912.

Dominion Lands.

Dominion land receipts show a decrease, this being explained by the fact that last year 11 sales were made, which made up the entire total, while last month's figures are simply collections from ordinary homesteading. The figures were: October, 1913, $169.60; October, 1912, $724.19.

Mining receipts also show a decrease, $128.30 being taken in last month as compared with $135 the corresponding month of 1912.

The customs receipts fell down, although this was expected owing to the present slackness of trade. The figures were $23,787.94.

An increase in the number of births is recorded in the vital statistics, 25 new citizens making their appearance than during October, 1912. The figures are:

	1913	1912
Deaths	50	47
Births	77	52
Marriages	39	45

One hundred and thirty-seven cases were handled in the local police court during the past month according to the report of Chief Bradshaw. Of this number 87 were styled under the drunk charge, breaches of the Indian act coming second with 17.

CONGRATULATES OFFICERS AND MEMBERS OF REGIMENT

Col. Duff-Stuart of Victoria, accompanied by Capt. Foulkes, paymaster for the district, and staff, was in the armories last night and inspected A and B. companies of the 104th regiment. At the conclusion of the inspection he addressed officers and men and expressed pleasure at the growth and efficiency of the local detachment.

Under Capt. Leslie Smith and Capt. Haines the men were put through the company movements and the manual. They paraded in full dress uniform and both companies mustered almost full strength. Later the visiting officers made an inspection of the orderly room. They congratulated those in charge for the efficiency of the system.

Today the officers go to Chilliwack and Abbotsford to inspect the other companies there.

MOTHER OF THREE GUILTY OF MURDER

Mrs. Bessie J. Wakefield Convicted for Killing Husband.

New Haven, Conn., Oct. 31.—Mrs. Bessie J. Wakefield, of Bristol, mother of three little children, was found guilty today of murder in the first degree for her part in the killing of her husband, William, last June.

No woman has been hanged in this state since 1736.

Evidence in the trial showed that Mrs. Wakefield and her paramour, James P. Plew, conspired to get rid of Wakefield. While Mrs. Wakefield took her children out for a walk, Plew partly drugged her husband, took him out for a walk and then shot him to death. A knife was driven into the body and a rope placed around the neck to give the appearance of suicide.

Mrs. Wakefield then reported to the police that her husband was missing and she feared that he had ended his life. An investigation resulted in the arrest of the couple and both confessed.

May Move Lightship.

When the committee of the board of trade meets this morning it will consider the objections of the Progressive association to the removal of the Sandheads lightship, as advocated by some Vancouver mariners. The Progressive association has objected very strongly to the change and with the assistance of Capt. Boyd has drawn up a letter of protest.

Want Insurance Rates Reduced.

With the civic water system in Port Coquitlam completed the council of that city and local insurance men are seeking a reduction in the local insurance rates. At the meeting of the council yesterday the matter was brought up and the clerk instructed to write the Mainland Board of Underwriters giving them full information concerning the water system and the protection it offers in case of fire. A reduction in the rates will be suggested.

MRS. LIND SAVED TWO FROM ARREST

Gave Up Her Stateroom Where Legislators Hid While Officers Searched in Vain.

New York, Oct. 31.—The steamer that arrived tonight from Vera Cruz with Mrs. John Lind, wife of President Wilson's special envoy, brought also two Mexican legislators who owe their liberty, if not their lives to her quick wit and generosity. To save the two Mexicans from arrest in Vera Cruz, Mrs. Lind hid them in her stateroom and sat up all night on deck until the boat left port and the officers of the Huerta government had gone ashore.

A week ago the cables brought word that the Ward liner Morro Castle had been detained at Vera Cruz while Huerta's agents searched for eight rebellious members of the legislature of the state of Vera Cruz. When the Morro Castle arrived here tonight only those aboard knew that two of the eight deputies had escaped arrest. These two, Adolfo Domingues and Miguel A. Cordora, say they will stay in New York until Mexico becomes a safer place for the opponents of Huerta.

Mrs. Lind said that her husband, the special envoy, had expected to come home after the Mexican elections. Now she did not know when he would come.

Ruse Failed.

"We expected that the Morro Castle would sail from Vera Cruz," said Mrs. Lind, "at 4 o'clock on the afternoon of October 22. Then Captain Hall was subpoenaed to testify regarding the flight of Dr. Francisco Vazquez Gomez who had sailed on the Morro Castle several months before. Later we learned that the real reason for the detention was that the government wished to search the ship for eight state legislators from Yalapa. They arrested six of them aboard, but they did not find the others, and let us run away.

"While the search was going on the Minister of War came aboard and said that I was a spy and that I was with them in their plot to help them. I was taken ashore and brought before the minister of war. He said to my stateroom. Take the [illegible] This man is my husband. ONE MORE CHANCE TO BUY GAS PLANT

Jas. Cunningham Changes His Mind—Wants City to Have Works.

GIVES HIS WORD IN PLACE OF OPTION

Terms of Agreement Same as Previous Offer—Petition for Bylaw Complete.

For Sale—One gas plant. Price $150,000. Buyer to take possession immediately. Apply James Cunningham, owner.

If people of New Westminster see this sign hung on the red fence in front of the Cunningham illumination factory they need not elevate eyebrows, for the city has been given one more chance to become owner of the plant, franchise, good will and all, for the sum of a mere $150,000. This Mr. Cunningham confirmed last night.

"But didn't you say just after the last bylaw was lost that you wouldn't offer the plant for sale on any consideration, and that you would run it as long as you were on deck?" Mr. Cunningham was asked.

"Ah, yes," laughed Mr. Cunningham, "but that was just to show you my spunk. We can all use our own judgment and I have reconsidered that! this is the best thing for the city.

"We don't want any rash expenditures after this. One gas plant is enough. Why, it would make us silly to have two; there isn't a city in Canada where they have two gas plants."

"What about that $10 option; is that renewed?"

"No sir, it is not. The city hasn't got any money for options. Mayor Gray had to dip down into his own pocket for the last one. I have given my word it will be all right. Options are useless things anyway. What do you think?"

"It is right you are willing to accept the whole $150,000 in bonds" was the next query.

"No, the arrangements are the same as before. Just about the same as before."

"Are there any differences at all?"

"None to speak of; just about the same."

Later in the evening Mr. Cunningham phoned The News office to give further assurance that there would be no option.

A citizens' committee of men favorable to the purchase of the Cunningham gas plant yesterday secured more than the one-fifteenth of names of ratepayers required. Over 230 names were placed on the petition for resubmission. This number is said to include names of some men formerly opposed to the purchase.

SHOULDERS BLAME FIXED ON GOODWIN

Cumberland Man Wires He Is Guilty of Assault for Which Convicted Miner is to Be Sentenced.

Although Richard Goodwin, a Cumberland miner convicted here on Thursday of assaulting a police officer, comes up for sentence at 10:15 o'clock this morning, he may still be freed. A telegram from Cumberland came to J. E. Bird, his counsel, yesterday, saying that a man who asserts it was he who struck the blow for which Goodwin was found guilty, was leaving for New Westminster on the first boat. So great is this. This man's name [illegible] to be McAllister.

According to Mr. Bird, McAllister says he will not allow Goodwin to go to prison for a deed committed by someone else. "I struck that blow," McAllister is said to have stated, "and I will not see an innocent man suffer for it." HIS FIRST ERROR.

In his handling of the Mexican problem President Woodrow Wilson of the United States seems to have been credited with his first real error in the game of running the United States, which is some record, considering the fact that he has been playing steadily ever since he moved into the White House and has been at the bat off and on all season. But it does look as thought he had fallen down on the Mexican squeeze play. However, you can't expect a man to be perfect in every position and the number of chances Wilson has accepted, compared with the small record of errors chalked up against him entitles him to be catalogued as a Ty Cobb of statesmanship.

Wilson made a clean hit when he announced that sordid money considerations would have no weight with him in outlining his policy towards the troublesome republic. The U. S. ambassador to Mexico, Henry Lane Wilson, tried to throw the president out at first with the trade consideration argument, but Woodrow beat the ball to the initial sack by half a league. He stole second on his flatfooted refusal to recognize Huerta because Huerta was a murderer and he made third in safety when he forced the bombastic ruler of Mexico to let John Lind land at Vera Cruz as his personal representative. But that old timer, the Monroe doctrine, seems to have caught him at the plate. The umpire yet may give him the benefit of a close decision, but all the points of the play known at present show a majority against the runner.

When Wilson took his stand for a new brand of diplomacy, a brand from which the dollar sign had been removed, he stamped himself as having the makings of a great statesman, but the burden evidently has been too heavy to carry and he has been forced to fall back on a reiteration of the hands-off clause of the Monroe policy. His declaration made in Mobile the other day also has weakened his position instead of strengthening it.

In this last mentioned pronouncement the president of the United States declared that his country never again would seek one additional foot of territory by conquest. If that had been a new political gospel it might have got by, but it is old and it has that lack of punch characteristic of senile decay.

In 1846 President James K. Polk said practically the same thing, yet after that Mexican war New Mexico and California became a part of the United States.

In 1896 President Grover Cleveland remarked that Uncle Sam's ample and diversified domains precluded all dreams of conquest. A few months later President William McKinley characterized forcible annexation as criminal aggression, but when the Spanish-American war was ended the Castilian minister was forced to sign a protocol by which His Catholic Majesty relinquished to the United States Cuba, Porto Rico and the Philippines.

Wilson says, as his predecessors have said, that the United States does not want any more territory, but he will find, if it comes to another war with Mexico, that the beaten nation pays for its defeat in territorial concessions. That's the unwritten international law and that's the way it will stand till war is abolished.

In making his Mobile declaration the president of the United States has been unfortunate enough to bring forward again an idealistic policy impossible of realization, which naturally followed his stand for moral diplomacy, but which has, like the ungrateful dog, bitten the hand that fed it.

PREPARE FOR WINTER.

The season is changing!

Do you realize it? Are you prepared for it?

An old-time physician once said, "Begin the winter right, before it starts, and you'll be pretty apt to keep right till summer comes again." There is more in that than may at first appear.

Beginning right means preparing in time!

Don't wait til lyou have first caught cold before you put on your warm underwear!

Don't wait till your feet have been soaked in the first rain, with the probable cold and rheumatic twinges afterward, before you buy and put on your strong winter shoes!

Don't leave the small but necessary repairs to the basement furnace until after the first cold snap!

Don't forget that exercising briskly in cold or even damp air, is usually harmles, but that sitting in a cold or damp house, or in wet clothes, is very likely to be followed by any one of a number of winter ills.

Keep the house well ventilated even in the stormiest weather, always remembering that the sleeping apartment should be the airiest in the house.

Keep as great a variety of food on the table as you can all winter long, not forgetting that nutritious food makes heat.

If a contagious disease is making headway in your neighborhood, keep yourself and the children out of overheated, stuffy places where large numbers of people congregate.

In short, begin the winter with the doctrine of prevention, and the question of cure will very largely take care of itself.

TEACHERS ARE TOLD TO WORK WITH THEIR HEARTS

Portland, Oct. 31.—"Teaching will not afford anyone the abundant life if they use it as a makeshift," President W. T. Foster of Reed College, told the county institute teachers yesterday.

"If a teacher is not satisfied let him step out and try the newspaper or some other vocation. If he finds that teaching is best for him he will go back to it with the words of Paul in his heart, 'Whereas I was blind, now I see.'

"Horace Mann said of a $100,000 school that was built that the money would not be wasted if a single boy was saved. One who has no ideal to light him on his way cries out against the routine of the life of teaching, teachers' meetings, reports and other features. He cries out because he does not understand. If he could only look on routine as one of the compensations we would be helped for routine makes us accomplish more work in less time. The teacher who goes to work with the professional spirit will not have time to enter all the diversions, social and other, that abound. But he can and must give time for the self-improvement necessary to make him a good teacher—or, in fact, any teacher. He must not go too hard at routine, however. Teachers owe it to themselves to get out into the open air under God's blue sky a day like this."

H. M. Skidmore, chairman of the day, introduced a resolution for simplified spelling, which was adopted.

FIDO HAS HARD TIME ON TOUR

Dogs Entering United Kingdom Must Go Into Quarantine for Six Months.

London, Oct. 31.—The heavy fine imposed on an American visitor recently at Folkestone for a breach of the dog importation regulations has drawn considerable attention to the subject of the restrictions imposed with regard to the entrance of canine visitors to the United Kingdom.

An official of the board of agriculture and fisheries, interviewed by a press representative yesterday, remarked that all dogs brought in from abroad were subjected to six months' detention in quarantine on the premises of a veterinary surgeon. There were five such quarantine stations in Great Britain but the premises of any veterinary surgeon approved by the board might be used for the purpose. The cost of such detention fell upon the owner of the dog. Subject to the board being satisfied as to the improbability of the dog having contracted an infectious disease prior to its arrival in this country a license to remove it from quarantine could be obtained in three months, but it would still be liable to three months' inspection. Even if the intention was to take a dog to Calais by one boat and bring it back by the next these quarantine regulations would be enforced.

The efficacy of the regulations was proved by the fact that rabies had been absolutely stamped out in this country. There was not the least likelihood that such regulations would be relaxed, and people owning or interested in dogs had recognized the need for stringency. The long period of detention was due to the fact that rabies was a disease of slow incubation. The board had actualy had information of a case in which the period was nine months. The usual period was three weeks or less. During the past year 700 dogs had passed through the quarantine stations.

He did not think that many people attempted to evade these regulations by smuggling in dogs. There were not more than a dozen or so instances annually of attempts to evade the regulations. No doubt from time to time small dogs were anaesthetised and smuggled through in muffs and boxes but most dog owners complied with the regulations.

SOMEBODY SLUGGED DOC WITH BIG BEER BOTTLE

Seattle, Oct. 31.—Lured to a lonely spot on Second avenue north between Valley and Aloha streets by a bogus sick call, Dr. T. D. Sayre, 433 Denny Way, was assaulted and seriously beaten about the head with a beer bottle at 8:15 o'clock last night. The providential arrival of Louis Hensel saved the physician from what he believes would have been fatal injuries. Enmity aroused because of recent litigation in which the physician took part was assigned by him as the cause for the attack.

In his report to the police, Dr. Sayre declared that some one called him by telephone at 8 o'clock last night, asking him to hurry at once to 900 Second avenue north to attend a serious case of illnes. Arriving at the corner of Valley street, Dr. Sayre descended from an East Queen Ann car and started to walk north. He had proceeded but a few steps when a man darted from behind some shrubbery and struck him several violent blows over the head.

With the first blow Dr. Sayre shouted for help and Louis Hensel, a jeweler, whose place of business is in the Hinchley block and who had descended from the same car as Dr. Sayre, hurried to the spot, also shouting for help. The physician's assailant dropped the beer bottle and took to flight. The jeweler was able to furnish an excellent description of the man.

Dr. Sayre was assisted to his home and reported the case to the police. He suffered serious cuts and bruises, but no serious injuries.

Investigation disclosed that there was no serious case of illness in the 900 block on Second avenue north. Despite a declaration of the physician this morning that robbery may have been the motive for the attack, the police are investigating on the theory that malice inspired the bogus telephone call and the subsequent assault.

ROTHSCHILDS WILL FIGHT ROCKFELLER

Battle of the Giants Is On in the Oil Fields—British Interests Buy in California.

Seattle, Oct. 31.—Two big California oil companies—the Union and the General Petroleum—have been sold to a British synidcate for $110,000,000, the deal, according to press dispatches, being consummated in London yesterday by Eugene DeSable.

The deal means that there is no longer any doubt that the Rothschilds through the Shell, British Imperial, Royal Dutch and other petroleum companies intend to invade the Pacific coast in deadly earnest and to give the Standard Oil Company the battle of its life for control of the oil trade.

Through an investment of about $1,500,000 made in Seattle more than two years ago, by the Shell interests, it was concluded that Seattle was to be made the theatre of battle. Since that time, however, big interests have been secured in California, and stations have been established at other points along the American and British Columbia coast line.

Nearly a year ago a local paper printed a story in which it was stated that the Union Oil company and other California companies had been taken over by the Shell interests. The dispatch received yesterday would indicate that the final payments have been made.

According to the telegram the Union Oil company, with its wide petroleum fields, its subsidiary pipe line companies and its great fleet of oil-carrying steamships, barges and sailing ships will pass from the control of Lyman Stewart and his family and become merged in the gigantic British corporation, financed by the Rothschilds.

The Union Oil company deal is to be made on a cash basis, while the General Petroleum company will change hands through an exchange of stock.

DECLINE IN SMALLPOX BENEFIT TO CONSUMPTIVES

London, Oct. 31.—At the present time the number of smallpox cases in this country has dwindled to a very small figure. Most of the principal cities and towns, including London, can show an absolutely clean record.

The need of accommodation for consumptive patients under the national insurance act is urgent, and thus smallpox and other hospitals available are everywhere being utilized for this purpose. Nuneaton smallpox hospital, for instance, which cost £10,000, has never had a patient, but will be transformed into a sanitorium for consumptives. At the request of the local government board, acting on behalf of the London county council, thre managers of the Metropolitan asylum board consented in December last to provide accommodation for consumptives under the act in their three smallpox hospitals. At the present time they have about 400 consumptives in those hospitals under the London authority, and 100 cases under the Middlesex authority. Downs school hospital has been wholly allocated for this purpose, as has a portion of the Northern hospital.

Dangerous Writers And The Evil They Do

On the evil influence of some present day writers the London Standard has the following to say:

The suicide of Wallace E. Baker off Manhattan Beach raises interesting questions of education and psychology. Baker was 23 years old, and said that he was impelled to take his life because Shaw, Ibsen and Strindberg had told him the truth about the artistic temperament.

No one knows the effect of a cleverly constructed play or a brilliant essay. It may stimulate the minds of those who see the one or read the other, but is just as likely to depress the mind that is educated in such a way that it just feels the borderland—the student, say, who has just got his degree at Oxford, Cambridge, or London. This is just at the time when a student of 22 or 23 may have come more or less brilliantly through three years of crowded life and hard work. His brain is most sensitive to literary impressions. He is just at the outset of an intellectual life. He is in the position of the famous senior wrangler who, as soon as he saw the list which assured him of his degree, exclaimed: "Now, thank God, I am qualified to begin to learn."

It is one of the axioms of a teacher's training that irony is not understood by children, and that sarcasm should never be used in a school. The wit and charm of the disillusioners, such as Ibsen and the rest, pass over the heads of children, who cannot understand irony. It is fun for the disillusioned but happy people who have left their 'varsity days some ten or twenty years behind them. It is equally fun for the well-read elderly lady or gentleman who has, without a university training, absorbed knowledge of the world. But such works have one wicked "striking point." The thinking person of 23, feeling his way into the world of intellectual life, is subject to the trouble of misunderstanding, and his brain is strangely free from what physiologists in another sphere of work call immunity.

Boys and girls who are intellectually level with the average person of 22 should chew Shaw and Ibsen and Strindberg very fine before they swallow. Then they can either spit them out or digest them as they choose. At any rate they are not worth committing suicide about.

SYNOPSIS OF COAL MINING REGULATIONS.

COAL MINING rights of the Dominion in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, the Yukon Territory, the Northwest Territories and in a portion of the Province of British Columbia, may be leased for a term of twenty-one years at an annual rental of $1 an acre. Not more than 2560 acres will be leased to one applicant.

Application for a lease must be made by the applicant in person to the Agent or Sub-Agent of the district in which the rights applied for are situated.

In surveyed territory the land must be described by sections, or legal sub-divisions of sections, and in unsurveyed territory the tract applied for shall be staked out by the applicant himself.

Each application must be accompanied by a fee of $5 which will be refunded if the rights applied for are not available, but not otherwise. A royalty shall be paid on the merchantable output of the mine at the rate of five cents per ton.

The person operating the mine shall furnish the Agent with sworn returns accounting for the full quantity of merchantable coal mined and pay the royalty thereon. If the coal mining rights are not being operated such returns should be furnished at least once a year.

The lease will include the coal mining rights only, but the lessee will be permitted to purchase whatever available surface rights may be considered necessary for the working of the mine at the rate of $10 an acre.

For full information application should be made to the Secretary of the Department of the Interior, Ottawa, or to any Agent or Sub-Agent of Dominion Lands.

W. W. CORY,
Deputy Minister of the Interior.

MUST WAKE UP TO HOLD TRADE

British Manufactuers Losing Business Because They Are Not Alive.

London, Oct. 31.—The passing of the Balkan storm cloud must be proving a tedious process to the man-in-the-street. For British engineers and manufacturers it should provide an unequalled opportunity for the organization of new and effective campaigns. There is much to be done in the near east, and continental manufacturers are alive to the fact.

There are three matters upon which British engineers will have to take immediate action if they wish to save themselves some of the trade, which has already a tendency to drift towards foreign manufacturing centres. These three matters have been treated far too lightly during our recent period of industrial activity. They refer to adequate local representation, willingness to study local requirements, and the various deposit systems now in vogue in eastern government, municipal, and private contracts. The first two questions have been raised before, and have been the subject of repeated appeals by resident British consuls. The last is also by no means new, but it is a matter of finance rather than engineering.

Reliable Agents Wanted.

Some day British engineers may fully realize the value of having reliable agents in all countries where machinery is in demand. Even in our own colonies opportunities have been given to foreign enterprise through the absence of experienced British agents. Britain may have the finest materials and workmen in the world, but the old-time policy of waiting at home for deputations from abroad is of no value in an age of competition. Travelers for continental engineering firms, equipped with a knowledge of several languages and a "desire to please," are now finding their way into the remote places of the earth. Continental engineers realize the value of advertisement. British engineers will have to fall into line.

The second matter is largely one of this "edsire to please." British engineers and manufacturers are still dangerously conservative. They know best. Now it is not always advantageous to "know best." Local requirements often demand implements which show a departure from standard patterns. Sometimes these modifications are the outcome of sentiment. In any case the client is likely to derive greater satisfaction from the fulfilment of his personal demands than from an attempt to teach him what we may term "his business."

British engineering firms have not shown a great anxiety to modify to order their standard designs. Their attitude would be understandable if no competition existed, but today German and other foreign engineering firms are modifying their designs and are actually providing free samples of their products.

If the British engineer can meet these new tactics without any alteration of his existing methods then all is well. But, however much he may have been successful in his own colonies there are indications that he has not yet grasped the situation in the Balkans. These indications come from men on the spot.

Local Comments.

Writing from several districts, Balkan correspondents to a special supplement of the "Near East" are almost unanimous in an appeal to the British manufacturer for a revision of his methods. A correspondent in Servia says:

"The difficulty found in developing business with Great Britain is caused by the refusal of British manufacturers to accept the usual Servian conditions of payment which continental manufacturers cheerfully accede to. Continental firms also, in every branch of trade, furnish such goods as are conformable to the wants of the country, and at regular intervals send travelers to Servia who, with the local agents, visit customers. In this way the manufacturers become personally acquainted with their customers' wants and with the changes taking place in the country's commerce.

Eczema Is Only Skin Deep

Proven by D. D. D.

A few skin troubles originate in the blood. But very few. Dr. Evans, ex-commissioner of health, and a famous writer on medical subjects, says:

"We shall begin to make headway with skin disease when we learn two things; first that skin disease does not come from impure blood; second, that so-called blood purifiers have no such action."

Get busy then and clear up your skin. Stop the itching and burning.

Drive out those pimples.

Make up your mind to start now and give yourself a smooth, velvet complexion.

You can do it with the aid of the wonderful D. D. D. prescription—a cooling, refreshing lotion—not a salve or grease—it soothes your tender skin, opens the pores, drives out the old impurities and gives you a skin like a baby, smooth and clear.

All druggists have D. D. D.. We sell it on a positive no-pay guarantee.

You don't risk a cent. Don't suffer another day. Call at our store today. Ask also about D. D. D. Soap—best for tender skin.

SEER DOES NOT BELONG TO UNION

Spokane, Oct. 31.—J. J. Jefferson, self-styled preacher and seer, who looks 35, but gave his age at 75, when arrested Saturday and charged with vagrancy under the city ordinance describing fortune telling as a crime, was yesterday locked in jail in default of $300 bonds.

Jefferson, who is distinguished by a luxuriant growth of hair hanging to his shoulders, appeared at the police court with a large Bible beneath his arm and entered a plea of not guilty. It was announced additional evidence against the prisoner had appeared and the case was put over until later for investigation.

Mrs. Belle Grev of the Granite block saw Chief McAlpine vesterday. She said she called upon Jefferson last Friday at his apartments in the Carlyle hotel.

Mrs. Grey, according to her story, told Jefferson she had obtained a divorce from her husband and that he had disappeared after being ordered to pay her alimony.

She says Jefferson promptly said he could see the husband after placing his hand on hers and gazing off into space for a time. He then told her the missing spouse was in Nebraska or Kansas, but could be positively located and the alimony covering a number of years collected if she would pay $300. Mrs. Grey said she protested she could not afford so much so the price was obliging reduced to $200, then to $100, and finally to $50 on condition the sum be paid Sunday afternoon.

"He told me he would not eat until my former husband was located," she said. "He said he would go into a trance Saturday night and remain in it until Sunday afternoon, when I should come and awaken him and give him the $50."

After completing arrangements for the trance Mrs. Grey says Jefferson asked $3 to tell her fortune and finally came down to $2, after which, she says, he did a "fair job."

BOY OF TWELVE YEARS IS STORE BURGLAR

Colville, Wash., Oct. 31.—Gordon Thayer was brought to the county jail charged with the burglary of the Bukhart store at Daisy Saturday morning. Gordon is a youth of 12 and when apprehended stoutly denied any knowledge of the crime.

In his hasty inspection of the cash register the youngster left a newspaper which he had taken from the mails during the day. This gave Sheriff W. L. Woodward a clue. Also the youth in crawling through a window left a thread of his trousers upon a projecting nail. This small fragment was compared with the clothing the boy wore and matched under a microscope.

Confronted with this evidence the boy broke down, confessed the burglary and told where he had hid the money in a can. Sheriff Woodard found $32 in the cache, which was returned to the proprietor of the burglarized store.

The boy's father, J. L. Thayer, came to town today and asked for the care of the boy pending the return of Judge W. H. Jackson, when a charge will be filed against the lad in the juvenile department.

MINE PRESIDENT SUED FOR FORTY THOUSAND

Spokane, Oct. 31.—E. J. Carter, who asked the court last week to dismiss injunction proceedings against C. L. Cowell, president of the Marsh Mining company, filed suit in the superior court yesterday asking damages of $40,000 from Cowell. He charges that Cowell violated a contract which would have given Carter 400,000 shares of mining stock.

In his petition for an injunction last week Carter charged that Cowell, as president of the Marsh Mining company, entered into an agreement with the Pohlman Investment company giving it an option to purchase 400,000 shares of stock at 25 cents a share. He announced that he and Volney D. Williamson took over the option, but the mine president failed to open up the lower levels as provided in the option.

In his complaint yesterday Carter makes similar charges. He says Williamson has refused to become a party to the action.

He announces among other allegations, that the mining company has failed to make the shaft below No. 3 level. He says the stock is worth 35 cents a share.

PETITION TO FREE BARNEY O'NEIL

Moscow, Idaho, Oct. 31.—Whatever may have been his faults, guilty or innocent, it is evident that B. F. O'Neil, former president and principal owner of the State Bank of Commerce at Wallace, Idaho, has many friends in Moscow who sympathize with him.

Citizens from all walks of life and members of all political parties affixed their signatures to a petition circulated here yesterday for O'Neil's pardon. Many today went out of their way to find the petition and to sign it.

If the people of other towns sign as generally as they are doing in Moscow Barney O'Neil will have presented to the Idaho board of pardons the largest petition of the kind ever filed in Idaho.

"There appear to be none who doubt that Mr. O'Neil was technically guilty of the crime for which he was convicted, but attribute his downfall to bad judgment rather than criminal intent," stated W. G. Barge, who has the petition in charge in this county.

NAVY CLERK WORKS NEAT FRAUD DODGE

Seattle. Man Calls for. Government Contracts and Lets Them to Himself.

Seattle, Oct. 31.—Reaffirming previous revelations of remarkable frauds which he asserts were perpetrated in connection with the furnishing of supplies to the Puget Sound navy yard while he was chief clerk in the navy pay office in this city, J. A. Kettlewell today in the federal court laid bare the details of a scheme whereby he personally, after receiving calls for certain supplies from the navy yard submitted bids under the name of a fictitious firm, awarded them to himself and then filled contracts.

In his position in the navy pay office Kettlewell was in charge of sending out proposals for supplies, opening bids, making the awards and handling the payment of the account. By this means he made bids under the name of "Lyman Evans & Co." for quantities of ferromanganese, he testified, and awarded them to this fictitious firm.

Under a vigorous cross-examination by Attorneys Will H. Morris and Bert Schlesinger for the defendants, Kettlewell admitted that prior to the date for the opening of the sealed envelopes containing the bids of other firms he had slit open one of the competing bids, examined it, and then remailed it to the navy pay office.

Then, after he had awarded the contract to himself he wired to a firm in Colorado to obtain the material wherewith to fill the contract, he said.

Kettlewells' disclosures came after Judge Jeremiah Neterer ruled that the government witness could be questioned concerning events which were pertinent to the case, or which involved the defendants. At the same time the court declared that the rights of the witness would be protected and that he was not compelled to incriminate himself.

Meyer Brought Into Testimony.

Edwin F. Meyer, one of the defendants in the navy yard conspiracy case, was brought into the testimony by Kettlewell unexpectedly.

"The defendant Meyer was equally implicated with me in this," he asserted.

"Who told you to say that?" Attorney Morris demanded.

"No one," Kettlewell replied. "It's the truth, and that's all I'm trying to tell. I am not trying to evade anything."

Clay Allen and C. F. Riddel, representing the prosecution, protested strenuously against the examination of Kettlewell concerning any other alleged frauds or conspiracies than that in the present trial. Judge Neterer let down the bars for the defense to a certain extent, but instructed them not to plunge into details which would incriminate the witness.

Attorney Schlesinger for the defense gave the firset intimation today of the lines to be followed by the defendants in refuting the governments evidence when he declared that, regardless of Kettlewell's testimony, all of the matters in which the former chief clerk had been involved would be brought out by witnesses for the defense.

"We will show that certain of these defendants had been threatened by Kettlewell," Schlesinger said. "Their business was threatened. These matters are bound to come before the jury: the government can't keep them out."

HONOR WOOD FARM FOR JAIL BIRDS

Lazy Husbands, Vags and Other Petty Offenders Will Push Buck Saw.

Spokane, Oct. 31.—Convinced that the time has arrived when the county should establish an "honor wood farm," where vagrants, lazy husbands and petty offenders may harvest the 2,000 cords of wood required annually to warm the county buildings and the homes of those depending on charity, the board of county commissioners yesterday voted to attempt the venture and will take preliminary steps to select timber land tomorrow.

While the prisoners and lazy husbands will be obliged to cut the county wood as soon as the land is selected and quarters are erected the commissioners also plan to maintain summer jobs for petty offenders. The men will be obliged to remove stumps and clear land after the wood has been cut.

Officials Indorse Move.

Justices of the peace, county officials and superior court judges indorsed the move.

"While some delay might be caused if the sheriff were opposed to the plan he has offered to assist in the work and will provide a deputy to take charge of the men," said C. H. James, chairman of the board.

"Any court will have power to sentence men to work on the farm for any length of time desired. Only the petty offenders, lazy husbands or 'vags,' however, will be committed to work on the wood ranch.

Place Men on Honor.

"Each man will be placed on his honor, although a competent deputy sheriff will supervise the work. Lazy husbands will be allowed to work on the farm, but their earnings, $1.50 a day, will be turned over to their families."

The board estimates that an average of twenty men will be available at all times for this purpose. It is estimated the county would be required to expend nearly $10,000 for wood without the "honor wood farm" in operation in time to furnish the supply. It is argued the innovation will not only make Spokane a discouraging place for "vags," but that the county wood supply may be had at a reduction.

EGGS ADVANCE TO SIXTY CENTS

Hen Fruit Scarce at Market—Good Attendance—Normal Supply in Other Lines.

Trading at the city market yesterday morning was up to the standard of the past few weeks. The attendance was normal. There was a good arrival of poultry and vegetables and the buying each of these lines was satisfactory.

Eggs were scarce and on a good demand they advanced five cents, little difficulty being experienced by the majority of sellers of "strictly fresh" in securing the advanced price of 60 cents a dozen.

Good quality spuds brought $16 a ton, while the market quotations for medium grade stood at $14. There was little enquiry for lower grades.

In the meat department veal and pork were the most plentiful.

Other prices were:

Turkeys, per lb	35c.
Chickens, per lb	19c to 21c.

"Head them off; don't let them get away this time." Then Reynolds, a miner, had said: "Where's that gun of yours?" He had said none was needed with "that bunch." A blow on the side of the head had staggered him.

After the noon adjournment Cave again testified. He said he had been convicted of assaulting a miner.

Jas. M. Brown, a fire boss previous to the strike, then took the stand. He had heard Cave challenging James Connor on the night of the 19th. Cave had threatened witness and when the latter had said he was too light, Cave had said: "Trot out the biggest man you've got."

He had followed Officer Hanney through the crowd and had seen a man reach out, grab Hanney by the shoulder and tear his coat. The officer turned and accused James Connors of tearing his coat.

Witness hesitated to tell who it was tore the coat. "He is a close relative of mine," he said. The name was not given. But it was not James or John Connors. Witness was certain.

Examined by Mr. Taylor, Brown said there were 12 or 15 men with Cave that night. This was earlier in the evening. When the big row started there were about 150 union men and he had seen but one non-union man. This was Cave. It was an excited crowd.

J. E. Bird, for the defence, in addressing the jury pointed out the first seen of James Connors was when he went up the street to the big crowd. Mr. Bird said if the crown had wished, Brown, the fire boss, could have been made tell who this relative of his was. The crown had been lenient, however. Otherwise the unnamed man might have stood in the prisoners' dock instead of James Connors.

Arthur Leighton of Nanaimo, representing John Connors, said if James Connors had been wrongly seized for tearing the coat, John was justified in interfering. It was obvious most of the crown's witnesses held animus towards the prisoners.

For the crown A. D. Taylor, K.C., showed how Cave and party had three times been accosted by miners. If James oCnnors had not torn the coat he would have protested arrest.

In charging the jury his lordship pointed out it was not a question of the right or wrong of the island labor dispute. Incidentally he obpected to the word "scab"; the sooner such an obnoxious term were forgotten the better for B. C. Not ten minutes after they retired the jury was recalled and discharged.

WORK OF VICTORIAN ORDER OF NURSES

Miss M. Ard MacKenzie, General Organizer, Visits Westminster—Tells of Progress.

New Westminster was visited yesterday by Miss M. Ard MacKenzie, organizer for the Victorian Order of Nurses for Canada, who is on a tour of the Dominion visiting the various branches in the different provinces. While in the city yesterday Miss MacKenzie was the guest of Mrs. W. S. Collister, where a meeting of the executive of the local branch was held yesterday afternoon.

Interviewed by The News the organizer, whose headquarters are at Ottawa, expressed herself well pleased with conditions in the order throughout Canada and more especially in this city, where she believes the worth of the organization is just beginning to be felt by the medical fraternity.

Speaking of the work being done in the country Miss MacKenzie stated that the fund collected by the Duchess of Connaught and which now amounts to $225,000, is at the disposal of the order. This sum has been placed in trust as an endowment fund, the interest being used in the advancement of the order especially in districts where the expenses exceed the income.

Then again, explained Miss MacKenzie, the Lady Minto fund is being treated the same way for the purpose of making small grants toward constructing small hospitals.

This is the second visit of Miss MacKenzie to this city, she having been present when the order was organized some six months ago.

"There is a wrong impression existing among many of the citizens of the various places I have visited," explained Miss MacKenzie to The News. "We pride ourselves in not being a charity affair altogether, although many people who could well use the services of a nurse, feeling they are asking charity. We go to both the people of moderate means and to the poor."

Concluding her interview, Miss MacKenzie paid a compliment to the executive of the local order and also to Nurse Downham, who has charge of the work in the city. The organizer leaves for Ottawa on Wednesday next and expects to arrive there about the end of November. She left on her western trip on August 17.

SUICIDE FOUND IN FRASER MILLS

Body Discovered Hanging to Steps of Freight Car—Believed to Be J. McCue.

The body of a man supposed to be that of J. McCue, of Coquitlam, was yesterday morning found hanging by a rope round his neck, to the steps of a freight car on the C. P. R. Westminster branch line about a quarter of a mile east of the Fraser Mills depot. The gruesome discovery was made by J. Beattie, conductor on the night shunting train at 4 o'clock in the morning. The case is believed to be one of suicide.

The shunting train was engaged in switching cars in the neighborhood when Beattie, while walking along the top of the car in question noticed the body hanging limply from the side steps. He immediately notified W. R. Stanton, chief of police at Fraser Mills, who had the body removed to Murchie's parlors in this city. Papers found in the clothing lead to the belief that the man is J. McCue.

The papers also indicate that the man was from Coquitlam, but whether from Port Coquitlam or the municipality is not known. An endeavor is being made by Chief Stanton to discover further information about the man in order to positively establish his identity.

The body is that of a workman. The clothing was fairly substantial, but only 15 cents in silver was found in the pockets. An inquest will be held later. Neither the police of Port Coquitlam nor the police of Coquitlam municipality are able to trace any man by the name of J. McCue.

The official description of the man is: About 5 feet 8 inches in height; weight about 175 or 180 pounds; dark hair and dark complexion; probably a Scotchman.

If ever that ladies' hockey team gets really organized there will be enough in the coffers, taken from the fans to fit up a public or private ward at the Royal Columbian hospital. The project is worthy of support from the management of the Arena company.

Additional Locals

Purchase Bank Site.

The Royal Bank has purchased a site for a building on the corner of Clarke and Queen streets, Port Moody. The site is in the centre of the business district of the city.

In Effect Tommorrow.

The new time table on the Central Park line, extending the service to 20 minutes during certain hours of the day, will go into effect tomorrow, Sunday.

New Factory.

The Grinnell Glove company of Vancouver, has decided to establish a glove and leather goods factory at the corner of Mars street and Wilson road, Port Coquitlam. The factory will employ ten people at the outset but later, if business warrants, 40 people will be employed. The complete process of manufacturing gloves and other leather goods from raw hides will be conducted by the concern. Operations on the factory buildings will start shortly.

Auction Timber Tract.

One of the largest areas and perhaps one of the most valuable timber limits ever placed under the hammer, will be auctioned off in the crown timber office on Wednesday next when some 6.92 square miles of timber land amounting to 4428 acres, located on Spuzzum creek, between Yale and North Bend will be sold at the upset price of $13,082.91. While the lumber trade at the present time has fallen off considerably, it is altogether likely that some spirited bidding will take place before the immense tract is sold. E. W. Beckett, crown timber agent, will have charge of the sale.

Addition to Hotel.

Tenders are being called for the addition to the Holbrook hotel in order to comply with the new provincial Liquor act. This will be in the nature of a one storey addition thus bringing the total rooms to 36. Messrs. Gardner and Mercer have prepared the plans and are allowing selected contractors to figure on the project. The new addition will be of brick. The building is owned by an English estate, some delay having occurred owing to the length of time consumed in the passing to and fro of correspondence.

Remove Barricades.

Acting on its own initiative, the C. P. R. has removed the barricades from Moody street crossing, Port Moody, much to the gratification of the residents of that city. The city had applied to the railway commission for an order causing the C. P. R. to open the crossing, but the fact that the barricades were removed made the application unnecessary.

Smoker Postponed.

Owing to the fact that it clashed with a citizens' dance in celebration of Hallowe'en, the smoker of the Port Coquitlam troop of B. C. Horse was not held last evening. The Hallowe'en dance which was held in the agricultural hall was well attended despite the inclement weather and a pleasant evening was passed.

Cat Turns on Gas.

Who ever heard of a cat turning on the gas and attempting to do away with itself? This happened in the Burr block last evening when one of the tenants, on opening the door discovered the feline sitting near an open jet just on the point of collapse. By upsetting a water pail, the cat had accidentaly turned on the gas.

Bridge Nearly Completed.

With the exception of the laying of the tracks on two of the units, the C. P. R. treble track bridge across the Coquitlam river is now completed. The tracks are being laid at the present time. The entire three units of the bridge will probably be in use in about two weeks. The Hamilton Bridge Co. are the contractors for the work.

"HOCKEY PLAYERS NEED COMMISSION" SAYS HERN

Former Star Goal Tend Thinks Puck-chasers Have Opportunity to Control Hockey Situation—Refers to Baseball Players' Fraternity Plan.

Riley Hern, former star goaltender of the Montreal Wanderers, is of the opinion that the newly organized hockey commission is a poor proposition without the players having a commission too.

"Naturally," said Mr. Hern, "the new commission is good for the owners of the clubs. It gives them a firm grip on every professional hockey player in Canada who intends to remain in the game. The hockey player will in this way be to a great extent powerless to regulate salaries. He will either have to take what he is offered or appeal to the commission, and if the commission's ruling is not satisfactory to him, he will either have to play or retire.

"Now, there is one way that the players could lessen the power of the commission considerably, and incidentally show that they are a strong organization. They could inaugurate a players' fraternity. The baseball players' fraternity in the United States has been a great success, and I believe that if the professional hockey players of Canada do not organize some kind of a commission this winter, they will benefit by this season's experience and form such a strong organization next season that they will have a whole lot to say about what's what in hockey.

Slap at Present Commission.

"If a commission of this kind were organized, the present hockey commission would lose much of its power. To make it a success, it would need to include the three big leagues—N. H. A., Coast leagues and the Maritime league.

"This commission would have a whole lot to do with regulating salaries. It could work like a big union. If it were found that the present commission was not treating any certain player or players properly—not giving him enough salary, for instance—every player in that particular league could go out on strike, and the commission would be behind them.

"I am in a peculiar position to criticize; but even so, I cannot help believing that this players' commission or fraternity is imminent.

"There is one thing that I have always emphasized," said Mr. Hern, "and that is that the magnates seem to overlook the fact that hockey players do not have to play hockey for a living. Many of them have other vocations, and could get along very well without playing hockey. If they play, they want to be properly reimbursed."

ENTER NEW LEAGUE

Local Cricket Club Will Be Member of Mainland League Next Summer.

At a meeting of the Westminster Cricket club held Thursday evening it was decided to enter a team in the Mainland Cricket league next season, F. C. B. Cave being elected a delegate to the next meeting of the organization to be held on November 9.

This action will bring to this city a better grade of the summer pastime in that only the best teams in the Vancouver district will be members and before the Royals would enter it was necessary to make a guarantee of a well equipped ground.

New Westminster captured the Taylor cup this past season in the Vancouver and District league, but several of the teams which comprised the Vancouver league will be dropped as not being strong enough for the Mainland organization.

Unless they show better combination the soccer team from the R. C. H. S. is liable to slip another cog in Vancouver this afternoon.

THREE SOCCER GAMES

Moody, Sapperton and Burquitlam Parks Are Engaged—Burnaby-Bankers Exciting Interest.

Six of the city league teams will be seen in action this afternoon after a lay-off of two weeks caused by the Iroquois cup contests being staged last Saturday.

Bankers vs. Burnaby is exciting the most interest owing to the showing made by the latter team last winter when they managed to break even in points with the financial students in both games played.

Manager Stacey, of the Bankers, has gathered together a strong line-up which includes two members of the rugby club, who are idle this afternoon. Harry Tidy will officiate at this game, having resigned from the City club in order to be eligible on the referees' board.

The Bankers' line-up will be as follows: Clark, Stacey, Shildrick, Walker, Hamilton, Allison, Whiteside, Wilson, Dibbs, Dunford, Pitcairn.

Rovers vs. Sapperton.

At Moody park the Rovers and Sapperton clash for the first time with the chances favoring the former. Manager Grant was uncertain of his line-up when seen yesterday, but mentioned that a strong aggregation would be trotted out.

Ralph Forrester, of Burnaby, will handle the game, which starts at 2:45 o'clock.

Will Go to Burquitlam.

The City eleven will make their first appearance on the Burquitlam grounds at 3 o'clock this afternoon. This will be the opening home game of the suburbanites, the City taking no chances of dropping the two points. The players will take the 2 o'clock or the 2:30 o'clock Sapperton car and walk the rest of the distance along the North road. Ashworth will be the referee.

Even Emmett Quinn, president of the N. H. A., realizes the strength of the Pacific coast organization He comes through with the information that Skene Ronan is due for the coast or will have to stay out.

With the Baseball Players' Fraternity and a Players' Hockey commission, what is this country coming to anyway.

WIN BY ONE POINT

Adanacs Defeat Tigers in Last Minute of Play—Hustlers Go Down.

In one of the most exciting games ever staged on the basketball court of the Y. M. C. A. the Adanacs last evening nosed out a win over the Tigers by a one point margin in the last minute of play.

In the second encounter Crescents defeated the Hustlers 27 to 15 in a rough and tumble affair, during which fouls galore were handed out by the officials.

The Tiger-Adanac battle was the feature of the evening for ending the first half with an adverse score of 9 points, the Tigers slowly crept up to their opponents and two minutes from time saw both teams even. Tigers then notched a goal from the foul line which gave them the lead, only to lose out by a field throw.

Joe Evans and Jack Smith handled the first game with G. I. Sovereign and C. Kirkland officiating in the second.

MOVING PICTURES OF THE ROCKIES

Expert Off on Big Job—Will Snap Colony Farm Stock When He Gets Back.

Victoria, Oct. 31.—How to take moving pictures from the cowcatcher of a C. P. R. train in the Rocky mountains is the question that is agitating the mind of H. A. C. Sintzenich, who has been engaged by the provincial government to take films of the various industries of the province and also a number of scenic views. Mr. Sintzenich, who has been here for some time in connection with this important commission, has left for the mainland, clad in a manner that is calculated to render him impervious to the hard weather which he expects to encounter.

Since coming to the province several months ago Mr. Sintzenich has been somewhat unfortunate in regard to weather, the conditions frequently proving other than propitious for animated photography. Despite this difficulty, however, Mr. Sintzenich has taken a number of wonderful films, and many of these have been dispatched to London to be printed and exhibited.

The trip which Mr. Sintzenich has just set out upon will probably be the last of the series made by him through the province. He is going through the Rockies, and will call at Grand Forks in order to take pictures of the mining there. Proceeding to Field and Revelstoke, he expects to secure some unique films of the scenery. On his way back he proposes calling at Coquitlam in order to obtain representative films of the government stock farm. He expects that the trip will occupy about three weeks' time.

On the last occasion on which Mr. Sintzenich ventured to take pictures in the Rockies he had two instruments, one for color and the other for black and white work, attached to the abridged platform in front of the engine. Almost obscured in fur and wool he stood there while the train rattled on and turned the crank of his machines, which were recording in the one instance, forty pictures to the second, and in the other sixteen pictures to the second. When weary of the task and almost exhausted from the cold he was rescued by the driver and fireman, who thrust hot tea and cake down his throat. There was no forcible feeding about it, either, he declares.

HE GOT BACK HIS WATCH WITHOUT HELP

Seattle, Oct. 31.—S. Ramstad, residing at the Welcome hotel, South Jackson street, had a busy time last night, which included a round of some of the South-of-Yesler thristoriums, the loss of his watch, a visit to the police station, and the recovery of the timepiece. Likewise Ramstad engaged in fistic combat.

In one of the south end saloons Ramstad accumulated a seemingly respectable survivor of better days as a companion and eventually permitted him to share his room. Later in the night he awoke and found his "friend" and the Ramstad timepiece had disappeared. Ramstad hurried to police headquarters and complained of the theft. He then organized himself into a searching committee of one.

At 4 o'clock this morning a voice over the telephone thus addressed the man on the desk.

"Just tear up that complaint about the watch. I got the ticker back, and I got somebody's goat along with it."

Fat Is Ridiculous

Overfat men and women, mortified and humiliated by the publicity of conspicuous rolls and billows of fat, are gradually learning that through the discovery of an eminent physician the burden of overfatness is taken from them, leaving the figure attractively proportioned, the flesh firm, the skin smooth, and the general health vastly improved, without dieting, exercise or resulting wrinkles or flabbiness. There is no equal and no substitute for the famous Marmola Prescription, but there is a new and more convenient form—a tablet form of this safe fat remover. Marmola Prescription Tablets contain the same harmless, effective ingredients as the original prescription that has enabled so many thousands of uncomfortable men and women to reduce their weight evenly and steadily at the rate of a pound or more a day. An exceptionally large case of these Marmola Prescription Tablets is sold by all druggists at 75c or sent you direct by the Marmola Co., Farmer Bldg., Detroit Mich., on receipt of price.

SHORTER HOURS FOR THE HOUSEMAID

Victorian Pleads Case of Hired Girl Before the Labor Commission.

Victoria, Oct. 31.—The lot of the domestic servant was brought to the attention of the labor commission by Inspector of Customs Marchant at the session at the parliament buildings. He suggested that the women in service should have a limit of a maximum number of hours, and be paid extra for overtime.

Mr. Marchant also briefly advocated the single tax system as a means of bringing land under production and limiting unemployment.

Mr. Marchant pointed to the difference between the treatment accorded to the Oriental and the white helper. The hours of service were well defined for the Oriental domestic, he declared, but not for the white girl, and in view of the fact that this class of labor was the most defenceless in the province the commission should recommend legislation limiting the maximum number of hours and fixing the principle of paying extra for overtime. He believed there was an abundance of while help to be obtained, which would be available if the social ostracism now existing was removed and the girls given fair treatment. This system of parental rule which prevailed where girls were employed was unjust in that they did not get sufficient rest and recreation. The ordinary general servant earned from $20 to $30 a month here, so that the terms were not bad compared with those of store girls so far as salary was concerned. Two half days a week, he thought, should be given the girls, the hours of labor generally lessened, and time and one-half paid for overtime.

OBJECT TO BARRING NEGROES AS JANITORS

Spokane, Oct. 31.—Resolutions denouncing the position of Custodian A. G. Alexander of the city hall for his recommendation barring negroes as janitors were taken last night at a meeting of negro voters at the office of E. A. Stokes. The action of the civil service commission in rejecting the recommendation of Alexander was at the same time lauded.

Custodian Alexander yesterday stated in defense of his position, that "colored men made good janitors only when a man stood over them when they were employed in the work. All of the big buildings of the city have had to take on white help and it is our experience that colored help does not get the results," continued Alexander. "However, instead of firing 20 men we have let out only about six since the building was opened last May. I am entirely satisfied with the new plan adopted by the civil service board of trying out janitors before they are employed. By this plan any undeserving man can be gotten rid of without the formality of filing charges."

NORA GETS DAMAGES.

But First She Got a Needle in Her Foot.

London, Oct. 31.—A parlormaid named Nora O'Gorman, belonging to Tralee, Ireland, was yesterday successful in an action brought in the Aldershot county court under the Workmen's Compensation act against Captain Edgar P. Conway, of Farmborough. O'Gorman in December last was cleaning Mrs. Conway's bedroom when a needle penetrated her foot. She suffered much pain, and was disabled from work. In March last she was twice operated upon at a Cork hospital. Evidence showed that part of the needle remained in the bone, but that the pain of which she still complained, ought to disappear in about three months. The defence was that the plaintiff disobeyed the orders of the doctor called in by Mrs. Conway, and that she refused to submit her foot to an X-rays examination and also refused to go into a local hospital for an operation. The plaintiff denied this. Judge Harington awarded her 8s. 10d. per week from the date she left the respondent's house, with costs.

AT ANY RATE THEY DON'T SEEM HAPPY

Spokane, Oct. 31.—While Marie Anderson, who seeks a divorce from Peter Anderson a wealthy Chewalah rancher testified yesterday in the court of Judge William Huneke that she did not wear a slit skirt the husband declared that when he came to Spokane he found his wife arrayed in one.

Mrs. Anderson declared it was a modest dress, of ordinary fabric. The husband testified it was a slit skirt of expensive design and said that his wife declared the "country about Chewelah was too slow for me."

Anderson said he was obliged by his wife to leave his valuable ranch and come to Spokane, where he secured a job making beds and doing the work of a chambermaid at the Valentine hotel. He said he found his wife was associating with other men and no longer cared for him.

She testified that he cursed her because she wanted him to kiss her at one time. She said he became angry when she wanted him to go to a dance.

The attorneys waived arguments, Judge Huneke took the case under advisement.

BOYS ROB POST OFFICE.

Youths Wanted Cigarettes and Broke In.

Portland, Ore., Oct. 31.—Two well-dressed youths, giving the names of Bert Jackson and Earl Smith, who carry papers and articles of jewelry which would indicate they had been students at the university of Washington, are held by the federal authorities here, charged with robbing the postoffice at Aulauf, a station on the Southern Pacific in Douglas county.

Both boys say their homes are in Seattle and admit the names they give are fictitious. They say they were beating their way to San Francisco and broke into the postoffice and store to get cigarettes and took the stamps and money order blanks as an afterthought. Their pleas to be returned to Seattle were disregarded.

FREE LEGAL ADVICE FOR MONTREAL'S POOR

Montreal, Oct. 31.—Free legal advice for the poor of the city is the latest beneficient scheme put forward in Montreal, and a Legal Aid society has already been tentatively organized, according to the announcement yesterday afternoon by A. G. Brook Claxton, K. C., who spoke at a meeting of the Charity Organization society.

In the course of an address on "The Relation of Landlord to Tenant," the speaker averred that a number of prominent members of the bar had expressed their willingness to promote the cause of free legal aid. A committee had already been formed, composed of C. M. Holt, K. C., Arthur Vallee, and Mr. Brook Claxton, and the work of organization was proceeding apace.

Speaking of rental relations, Mr. Brook Claxton pointed out that the wiest plan for the tenant to pursue was to get a written contract for his dwelling. He did not believe in "understandings," because they were almost sure to be misunderstandings.

"We have a population growing more rapidly than the houses," he said in conclusion. "As long as this is so, the tenant wil have trouble to get his rights easily."

WOMAN DIES IN TAXI ON WAY TO HOSPITAL

Portland, Ore., Oct. 31.—While being rushed from the North Bank station to St. Vincent's hospital in a taxicab this morning, an elderly woman having in her possession a railroad ticket signed "Mrs. Nell A. Smith," died of heart disease before the hospital was reached. The woman, who was about 68 years of age and apparently of German extraction, alighted from a Spokane train at the North Bank station and was suddenly taken ill. She was attended by City Physician Fred J. Ziegler, who ordered her sent to the hospital. She was dead before the cab reached the institution.

The woman bore no marks of identification with the exception of the name on a through ticket reading from Spokane to San Francisco. The body is at the morgue.

FOURTEEN BURNS ON BABY BOY'S BODY

Colfax, Wash., Oct. 31.—Kenneth Taylor, the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Slade Taylor, narrowly escaped being burned to death late Saturday night at the home of his grandfather, M. A. Rose. The child had been put to bed and an electric light left burning hanging on the head of the bed.

About 10:30 a loud report was heard in the child's room and investigation showed the bed a mass of flames. The child was taken from the bed and the flames were extinguished with difficulty. Fourteen burns on the child's face, hands and body were dressed by Dr. St. Sure, and it is now thought he is out of danger.

Portuguese Barbers.

In almost all foreign countries the gentlemen whose business it is to cut hair have some peculiar sign whereby they seek, more or less successfully, to remind the passerby that he needs a haircut. Nowhere, perhaps, is this sign of the trade more distinctive than in Portugal. It is twofold. Sometimes a huge pair of scissors, sometimes a horse's tail, gracefully dangles over the threshold of the hair-cutting emporiums. The latter is by far the most popular, and is especially noticeable in Oporto. It naturally suggests that one's hair is growing inordinately long, and nobody cares for an excess of hair—except the rising poet. —London Strand Magazine.

Predigested Letters.

A woman who went to a hospital for the purpose of undergoing an operation asked for two postcards on the day the operation was to be performed. After having written on both cards she addressed them to her husband and asked her nurse to mail the one it was best to mail the next day. The nurse glanced at the cards and saw that one of them read as follows: "My Dear Husband—I have had the operation and am doing nicely. Will be at home in a week or two."

On the other card was written: "My Dear Husband—I have had the operation and am sorry to tell you that I did not survive."

The Merit of Pauline.

Pauline, who had been attending school for two weeks, was telling her parents about the naughtiness of her classmates.

"That's bad," said her mother, "and did the teacher have to speak to you too?"

"No'm," said Pauline; "she had to speak to all the class but me this afternoon."

"Good," replied her mother. "What did she say?"

"Why," answered Pauline, "she said, 'Now, children, we will all wait until Pauline is in order'."

The Juice of the Grape.

The Arabs say that when the first grapevine was planted the demon Iblis sacrificed a peacock on the spot where the plant was set. As soon as it began to sprout forth he sacrificed an ape over it. When the grapes began to appear he slaughtered a lion, and when these were ripe he offered up a pig; hence it is that he who drinks wine feels at first as proud as a peacock and becomes subsequently as tricksome as an ape, as bold as a lion and at length as stupid as a swine.

Bold In War.

The word Gumboil when used as a surname has nothing at all to do with any part of the anatomy. It denotes that its first bearer was a man of considerable importance and great power in the state. It is derived from the Norse word "gumbald," which itself has nothing to do with any affliction, but means "bold in war."

Quite Accidental.

Small Boy—Mother, please give me another lump of sugar for my coffee. I've dropped the one you gave me. Mother—Where did you drop it? Small Boy—In the coffee.

Modern Julius Caesars.

There are at least two Julius Caesars in London — one a chemist in Paddington, and the other a Holborn Viaduct pearl merchant.

TAKES IN PHOTOGRAPHY.

Simple Tricks by Which the Camera Is Made to Lie.

It is well known that the nearer an object is to the camera the larger it appears in proportion to other objects in the picture, and by taking advantage of this fact some astonishing pictures may be obtained, particularly if a lens of somewhat short focus is employed. Not long ago the writer saw reproduced in a popular magazine a photograph which was described in all seriousness as depicting a cabbage of gigantic proportions.

Doubtless most people who looked at the picture were deceived, for the cabbage partially obscured a whole family of five or six persons who stood somewhere in the background. Yet in reality the vegetable was of only ordinary proportion and merely looked large in proportion to the human beings because of its nearness to a lens of short focus.

In the same way if a fisherman has caught a fish six inches long it may be made to appear gigantic in the photograph. By means of his rod and line the fisherman may hang the fish a good six or eight feet nearer the camera than he himself is, and the lens does the rest.

Very laughable caricature photographs may be made by simply moving the "swing back" of the camera out of the perpendicular. Your friends may be made to look like reclining giants or dwarfs with big heads. In fact, an almost endless variety of quaint deformities may be devised by varying the elevation of the camera and the angle of the back. Care must be taken, however, to "stop down" the lens as much as possible in order to bring the whole picture well into focus. This, of course, means that a good light is required; otherwise the exposure must be a long one and your model may move and spoil the picture.

The Bogus Beggar.

Several prominent literary men of Paris conceived the idea of making investigations among the beggars on the boulevards by disguising themselves as members of the begging fraternity and soliciting alms. They succeeded beyond their utmost expectations, both in discovering fraud cases of counterfeit cripples and blind men, and by the liberal fees which they themselves received. A good story is told of a number of these bogus beggars calling upon the Duc d'Aumale, with appeals for relief, to each one of whom the duke gave 5 francs. At last, however, a genuine beggar appeared, to whom the duke said: "I have received about twenty mendicants of letters to-day, and I recognized them all, in spite of their rags, but I don't know you. You must be a bogus literary man. Get out!"

Minister's Parting Shot.

The minister had just reached his farewell sermon to the congregation with whom he had had much trouble.

"How beautiful," said a visitor to one of the deacons, "and how appropriate for a farewell sermon."

"Think so?" said the deacon gruffly.

"Why, yes. What better text could he find than 'In my Father's house are many mansions. * * * I go to prepare a place for you.' By the way, where is he going?"

The deacon smiled sourly as he answered, "He becomes chaplain of the state penitentiary."

A Queer Servian Belief.

To hatch a chicken by holding an egg for the allotted time in the left armpit is believed in Servia to be a certain charm against violent death, more especially if the bird be swallowed whole forty days after it comes to life. A robber who had devastated the district of Kolubara for many years was, writes a Belgrade correspondent, known to have accomplished both these feats, which accounted for the apathy of the peasants in pursuing him, persuaded as they were of his invulnerability. He was finally, however, killed by the mounted police, thus discrediting a time honored Servian superstition.

Bruises on Furniture.

Here is a method which has been of great use in removing bruises from furniture: Wet the part with warm water; double a piece of brown paper five of six times; then soak it in warm water and lay it on the dent. Apply a warm (not hot) flatiron until the moisture has evaporated. If the bruises are not gone, repeat the process. You will find this very good, and if the surface of the furniture is not broken the dent will disappear and leave no trace.

The Aloe.

In Africa the leaves of certain species of aloe provide material for bowstrings, hammocks, fishing lines and ropes. With the Mohammedans the aloe means much. For instance, those who have returned from a pilgrimage to Mecca hang it over their doors as a sign that they have made the great journey.

Her Cleverness.

She Mary Graham is certainly a very clever woman, yet she has little to say.

He—That's where her cleverness comes in. She leads a man to believe that she thinks he is worth listening to.

How It Was Becoming.

"That dress is becoming, my dear," said the man who thinks he is a diplomat.

She looked at him coldly for a moment and then replied:

"Yes. It is becoming threadbare."

Scalding a Brand.

To scald a brand is to make a brand look old. The way to scald a brand is to put a wet cloth on the animal where the hot brand is to be placed. The brand will show plain and the hair is not burned.

And Now He Doesn't.

Howell—Do you like congregational singing?

Powell—I did until the cats in our neighborhood adopted the idea.

Mileage Books Legal.

Washington, Oct. 31.—The sale of interchangeable mileage books with the requirement that the coupons be exchanged for tickets was held by the interstate commerce commission as not to be in violation of the law.

B.C. OPENS EYES OF PHILLIPE ROY

Canada's Commissioner in Finance Tells of What He Saw in This Province.

Paris, Oct. 31.—The Hon. Phillipe Roy, Canadian commissioner at Paris, has just returned from a two months' trip to Canada. He expresses himself greatly pleased with the result of the journey, which was undertaken with the object of noting the latest change in the development of the country.

Mr. Roy spoke of his astonishment at the progress made during the three years since he was last in Canada. Among the many signs of this progress, perhaps the most striking were the efforts being made by the several provincial governments to complete the works undertaken to provide more harbor accommodation, in view of the anticipated increase of trade in the near future.

As M. Roy visited every province in Canada in the course of his two months trip he was able to note this activity in St. John, Quebec, Montreal, Vancouver and Victoria, and found everywhere the same optimism and well-founded faith in the future of the country. M. Roy was also much impressed by the rapid construction of railroads all over the country, opening up new country for settlers, such as the Peace river district in one of the richest parts of Canada, which will be opened next year.

The commissioner was able to get a good insight into the work of the C. P. R. in the task of double tracking all over Canada. M. Roy also visited the new work of construction now carried on by the Grand Trunk Pacific transcontinetal railroad from Edmonton to Fort George. In traversing the country from Fort George to Ashcroft he was surprised to see so much land available for agricultural purposes. Many people on this side of the Atlantic believe that the lumber, fish and mining industries are the only natural resources of British Columbia, but in a three weeks' visit to the numerous valleys of that province the commissioner was convinced that there was a vast area of agricultural land to be opened up.

BIG SALMON SHIPMENT COMES FROM ALASKA

Seattle, Oct. 31.—Completing a special southeastern Alaska cannery voyage, the big freighter Latouche, of the Alaska Steamship company's fleet, arrived here yesterday with 75,000 cases of canned salmon, the largest single shipment to come from the north in two years.

Very little of this year's product is being stored in the north, and the Latouche, the Seward and the Cordova, all of the same company, will practically clean up the packs of the Moira sound, Taku, Santa Ana, Port Beauclerc, Kasaan, Quadra, Excursion Inlet and Shakan canneries.

The Latouche went only as far north as Juneau on this trip, confining her voyage to southeastern Alaska cannery ports.

The freighter Seward, which took a full cargo of coal from Seattle for the Prince William Sound country, left Cordova Friday. She has about 1,500 tons of copper ore from Prince William Sound mines and will bring 42,000 cases of salmon from the Pacific American Fisheries company's cannery at Excursion Inlet for Bellingham.

The freighter Cordova, which is also on the way south, will bring 35,000 cases of salmon from Shakan, in addition to copper ore loaded at Prince William Sound ports.

BREAD AND WATER IS CONDEMNED

Punishment for Industrial School Children Comes in For Severe Criticism.

London, Oct. 31.—D. Blackley, who represents Haggerston, aroused considerable discussion at the meeting of the education committee of the London county council at Spring Gardens yesterday by a motion with reference to punishments in the council's industrial schools. Mr. Blackley moved: "That it is inexpedient that children in industrial schools should be punished by the deprivation of a regular meal; and that the special schools sub-committee be instructed accordingly." He said it would probably be a surprise to some members of the committee to know that this punishment was in use. It came to him quite as a revelation when visiting industrial schools. On fifteen occasions between March 5 and June 30 there were cases when there was an absolute deprivation of the regular meal and the substitution of bread and water. ("Shame!").

He was convinced that the people of London had given no mandate to mete out such treatment to any children in their schools, particularly the children in their special schools, who had not the advantage, as other children had, of parents at home. The custom was an exceedingly bad one, and should be abandoned. It was wrong morally to bring this form of punishment into their schools. It was degrading to the child, it was degrading to the committee, and it was a mismanagement of the fund that they administered.

Mrs. Phillips, chairman of the special schools sub-committee, said Mr. Blackley was under a misapprehension as to why this punishment was meted out. Some form of punishment must be given to these children at certain times, but they were not deprived of a whole meal. Sometimes they were not allowed jam or cake, but no child was ever deprived of a meal in these schools. Some children were given bread and water in very extreme cases, and that was only for one meal. But they were deprived, as a punishment, of "extras" which made the meal more palatable.

The question was referred back for a report.

Milled in a Wonderful Way

ROYAL STANDARD

The pick of Canada's wheat crop is ground into flour by the Royal Standard milling process. Each grain is cleansed and passed in a golden stream over many sets of rolls, each grinding gently and a little finer. From one machine to another, untouched by human hands, sifted through fine silken mesh and automatically packed into sacks branded "ROYAL STANDARD." This is the flour for you—creamy, nourishing, pure ROYAL STANDARD.

HARD PROBLEMS OF FIJI ISLANDS

Natives Claim Possession of Land and It Can Only Be Leased From Them.

Montreal, Oct. 31.—"The Fiji islands are a crown colony, and when they were annexed by Great Britain, the land was supposed to have been ceded to the queen," said R. A. Harricks, a sugar planter from the islands, in an interview yesterday.

"But it was not taken over by Sir Arthur Gordon, the then governor, and the natives took possession of it," he added.

"Now that there is an agitation for the crown to take over the lands, tht natives say they have been in possession so long they should not be disturbed and that is the view adopted by the home office.

"The land policy of Fiji has been the stumbling block in its progress for land cannot be bought from the natives, only leased. The government is, however, taking over the unused lands from the natives, and is dealing with them direct. But being a crown colony, without much land belonging to the crown, it is difficult to raise money, and although we wanted recently to raise £2,000 to open up our roads, the home office would not agree to it."

Mr. Harricks is spending six months touring through Canada and the United States, with his wife and two children.

The chief industry of the islands is sugar cane planting, he said.

"The plantation and mill work is all done by imported coolies from India, under an indenture system, and they are well protected by the government. At present there is a commission out there, sent out from the old country, inquiring into the conditions, and they are finding that the coolies are living in an absolute heaven compared with their own country.

"There is an executive council and a provincial council in control of the islands, and the governor selects ten men as heads of department to govern. A few weeks ago the council was added to by the election of six representatives chosen by ballot, but naturally they are always in the minority, and the heads of department always follow the governor. Now we are trying to increase the people's representatives to eight."

The population of Fiji is 80,00 natives, 40,000 Indians and a few thousand whites.

WHOLE VOLUME OF GOOD STORIES SPOILED

Watertown, N. Y., Oct. 31.—With the capture yesterday of a white bear, the first ever taken in the Adirondacks, the mystery of the legend of the "ghost bear," told in the lumber camps north of here, has apparently been cleared.

The animal was caught by Henry Johnson, of the settlement of Hague, in the heart of the mountains. The animal is of the average size of bruin and almost snowy white. Its capture came as the result of jokes that had been aimed at Johnson for months when he reported having seen a white bear. A dozen traps were set and today the animal has been nabbed.

The animal is thought to be a freak specimen of the black North American bear.

CAUSES OF DEATH NOT FOR PAPERS

Health Officer Denies Reports Privilege of Scanning Mortality Returns.

Spokane, Oct. 31.—As the result of complaint by local physicians, the cause of death in death returns filed with the city health office, will not be given to the newspapers by Health Officer J. B. Anderson. Dr. Anderson says this order is in line with a ruling made about a year ago by the state commissioner of public health, under which the right of newspaper reporters to scan death returns was denied.

J. M. Knight, proprietor of the New England Unkertaking company, says reporters have a perfect right to look over death returns while they are in his possession, that he has always permitted this practice and that no order to the contrary has ever reached him from the state board of health.

"The order to keep the cause of death from the papers was adopted in the interest of more accurate returns as to deaths," said Dr. Anderson. "We found that the publication of the cause of death had given offense to a few physicians and that the practice of using subterfuge in the returns or minimizing the real cause and giving only a contributory cause had been adopted. Doctors in some cases do not want the families of their patients distressed or offended by the cause of death being published.

"The laws of the state provide a penalty for the pyhsician who divulges the nature of a patient's illness and in publishing the cause of the patient's death we are making the doctor do indirectly what he has already been forbidden to do under another law. A death certificate, under a ruling of the state board of health, belongs to the family or relatives of the deceased and not to the public, but it is required by the public as a measure of safety in the preservation of the public health.

"If a man dies of alcoholism it is not pleasant for his relatives to see this in print and really serves no good. Yet, the official information is of value in dealing with such cases in the future, and to my mind it is better to avoid publicity and get the facts than to give publicity and take the chances of not having an accurate and truthful report made."

Under the administration of former health officers all birth and death records were open to public inspection.

THE UPSTAIRS SITTING ROOM

There are many women who go through life without a dressing room or boudoir for their own personal use, but there are few who do not long for one, and even when the limited space of a house makes it impossible for the women of the household to have individual boudoirs there is often one upstairs room which could be made into a sitting room or dressing room for their collective use.

It could be supplied with a comfortable couch, where breakfast or other meals could be taken by any one tired or ill, with a few easy chairs for lounging and resting, with good light and a bookshelf for magazines and books, with a writing table or desk, with a well stocked work table, a sewing machine—if it is to be used also as a sewing room—and a pier glass.

It could hardly be equipped with a row of dressing tables, one for each daughter or cousin or aunt or mother who used it, as these would make it crowded, so the actual dressing would still have to be done in bedrooms. But it would prove a haven where its collective owners could go for help and advice, to see whether their dresses were on as they should be, to "get hooked up," to rest and read and get away from the tediousness of the bedroom when illness kept them upstairs.

HOUSEWIFE'S LIST.

An Easy Way to Save One's Time and Temper.

The following list if tacked up on the inside of the closet door where brooms, dusters, etc., are kept will be found a great comfort to the housewife:

Empty every wastebasket every day. Empty them on an open newspaper (and fold it up at once) in the room where it is—never in or near the kitchen or dining room. This prevents scattering of small things and saves time and energy.

Change water in any vase of flowers each day. This is necessary for health.

When sweeping a room don't lay dusty articles on the bed. Dust first. This keeps that much dust out of the room after it is cleaned and prevents the dust from sifting through the sweeping cloth underneath them on the bed. Cover them over well.

Never put brooms or feather dusters away before shaking them out well. Keep dust cloths clean.

In setting furniture from one room into another for cleaning don't put one piece on top of another and don't jam them too close together. Scratches and mars come more easily this way than in a year's wear.

Never let a sign of dirt remain on the piano keys. Don't wait for cleaning day.

Illustrated are shown two new utensils for cooking vegetables and eggs. The double basket is used for cooking asparagus or corn. It separates in the center, and the vegetables may be dropped on the serving dish without danger of burning the hands of the cook. The egg basket with hourglass attachment will be found very convenient for boiling eggs.

Khaki Pudding.

Six apples, one lemon, one ounce of butter, one ounce of candied peel, two ounces of sugar, three eggs, one-half gill of water and one-half pound of pastry are the ingredients required. Peel, core and slice the apples; put them into a saucepan with the sugar, the grated lemon rind, butter and water. Stew till tender, rub through a sieve and add the yolks of the eggs. Line a buttered pudding dish with the pastry and put in the stewed apples. Bake in a moderate oven till set. Beat up the whites of the eggs stiffly, then gradually add to them three tablespoonfuls of sugar. Put this meringue on top, decorate with candied peel and bake again until the top is a pale yellow color.

Good Polishing Cloth.

Velveteen which has served its purpose as a dress or blouse should be preserved and made into polishing cloths. In this connection velveteen is almost as good as chamois leather, and cannot only be used for obtaining a fine polish on satin wood and mahogany furniture, but as a means of brightening silver and plated goods When soiled the velveteen may be successfully cleaned by washing it in soapy lather.

To Freshen a Feather Boa.

If you have a feather boa that has become rather limp looking because it has been out in damp weather, try this means of freshening it. It is best to try it, too, as soon as you come in:

Take a bowlful of boiling water, sprinkle into a handful of ordinary white salt and then when it is dissolved shake the feather boa in it.

New Trial Denied.

Atlanta, Ga., Oct. 31.—Leo M. Frank, sentenced to hang for the murder of Mary Phagan, was denied a new trial today by Judge L. S. Roan, who presided over the trial at which Frank was convicted.

SCOTLAND TO SELL TO UNITED STATES

Linen and Wool Goods Manufacturers Benefit by New American Tariff.

Edinburgh, Scotland, Oct. 31.—In the Fifeshire linen trade, shipments *of goods to the United States are be*ing made in larger quantities since the new duties have been fixed. A good all around business is anticipated with America, buyers are being carefuly nursed, while personal visits are seen to be part of a manufacturer's program at present.

In flax, of the new crop, there has been more business passing, and prospects are most satisfactory. As a result of the reduced duty on wool and woolen goods, nearly all the spinners are keeping all their machinery going, and dyers have the prospect of excellent business. The demand for hosiery and kitted woolen fabrics is well maintained, employment in the nuemorus factories being most satisfactory.

British manufacturers of agricultural implements may benefit to some extent by the new tariff—for people who have gone from this country to America, engaged in agricultural pursuits, could, if they wished, procure for themselves British made goods at a reasonable price, an indulgence hitherto impossible owing to the high tariff.

Owing to the world-wide shortage of cattle, which the changed tariff does not affect, it is anticipated that the new tariff will make leather somewhat dearer in this country. Hitherto Britain has practically been the world's market for hides, but now America may take a bigger share of the supply. It is thought, however, that tanners in this country will benefit by the change.

Biscuit manufacturers in Edinburgh are confident that the tariff revision is the forerunner of considerable increase in trade. Formerly manufacturers in this country did a large export business with the United States but the high tariff reduced this practically to nothing. One large biscuit manufacturer is already in communication with a firm in America with whom he formerly did business amounting to several thousand pounds. British-made biscuits are considered to be far superior to biscuits made in any other part of the world.

The rubber industry in Edinburgh gives work to a vast number of people. In spite, even, of the old tariff, rubber goods made in Edinburgh maintained their market in the United States, but with a reduction of at least 20 per cent., great extension of trade is certain. Owing to the tariff motor tire manufatcurers on this side have been debarred from competing with the American product, but it is anticipated that efforts to find buyers in the States will now meet with success and a new outlet be thus obtained. Already the orders from American houses, wihch awaited the passing of the bill, are increasing the business of Edinburgh trade.

The book printing industry, which forms one of the chief occupations in Edinburgh, is naturally filled with speculation as to the probable effect on the trade of the revised American tariff. The head of one large firm expressed the view that it will undoubtedly have a great and beneficial effect, not only on the printing trade of Edinburgh, but on the country in general.

One important Edinburgh firm with a house in New York has found it con*venient, even under the old tariff, to* buy its paper in this country and send it out to America, and with the new conditions it will, of course, be even more profitable for British manufacturers to export to America. Printing ink is also among the articles upon which reduction of duty has been made, but it is the opinion of a representative of a leading Scottish firm, who for five or six years had a branch in New York, that it is not possible to compete profitably in ink with the Americans, under any tariff whatever.

THIS COON USED GUN NOT RAZOR

Darkey Shoots Up Club and Wounds Two—Breaks Up the Dance.

Spokane, Oct. 31.—Two men received dangerous bullet wounds and a bullet passed through the lapels of the coat worn by a third when Lemuel Lindsey, negro, said to have been mad with jealousy, entered a negro club at 105 1-2 Sprague avenue at 11:30 o'clock last night, just before the beginning of a dance, and began shooting.

Lee Chambers, 106 1-2 Spokane street, was struck by the first bullet, which shattered his collar bone and pierced his left shoulder, lodging in the flesh at the back. Warren Tyler, 22 First avenue, who was sitting by the stove in the large room, received the second bullet in the thigh of his left leg after it had passed through the coat of David Stark, proprietor of the club.

As the gunman aimed a third time at his first victim Stark seized him and the deflected bullet went through the floor. The man was then overpowered and disarmed and placed under arrest by Officer Walter Lawson, who was attracted to the place by the shots.

The wounded men were attended at the emergency hospital by Dr. R. I. Newell. Chambers was taken to Sacred Heart hospital and Tyler to his home.

Thomas Chisholm, of 831 Riverside avenue, says about 30 men were in the room awaiting the arrival of women for the dance. He said Lindsey came upstairs to the door and beckoned to Chambers, who went toward him. "Lindsey said to Chambers, 'I'll fix you for your dirty tricks,' and began shooting," said Chisholm.

The crowd in the hall made exit in terror through rear windows and down the back stairway, while others, unable to reach the exits, hid behind pieces of furniture and the stove.

What Do You Suppose Is Reason For This?

In view of the fact that the B. C. Electric has dropped from a fifteen to a twenty-minute schedule on its New Westminster-Vancouver interurban branch, the following announcement from Victoria is rather interesting:

An announcement of great interest and importance to al lthose who live along the line of the B. C. Electric Saanich interurban, or adjacent thereto, was made yesterday, to the effect that, commencing on or about Saturday next, an improved schedule will become operative. The new train service has been arranged entirely with an eye to meeting the requirements of working men and others who desire better facilities for reaching the city of Victoria at more convenient hours, and while it is hoped that conditions will warrant making it permanent, it is explained that the venture is purely experimental, everything depending for its continuance upon the degree of success which attends the operation of the augmented service.

GROUP INSURANCE FOR SEATTLE BANK EMPLOYEES

Seattle, Oct. 31.—Officers of the Scandinavian American bank yesterday took out group life insurance for sixty-two officers and employees of the bank, the amount of insurance running from $1,000 to $2,000, according to the length of service of the employees. A total of $80,000 in insurance was provided for the employees, the bank itself paying all premiums and obligating itself to keep up the premiums in the future.

Though several big eastern financial institutions have taken out group insurance for the benefit of their employes, the Scandinavian American bank is the first institution on the Pacific coast to adopt the plan. The policy was written by Walter C. Henry, of the Aetna Life Insurance company.

The plan of group insurance, recently conceived by some of the life insurance companies is more liberal than individual policies, both as to the size of premiums and the examination of risks.

Bankers who have adopted the policy of taking out group insurance for their employees claim that the move encourages the men themselves to carry extra insurance and brings the institution and its employees closer together. Interest in the welfare of the employes is reflected by the writing of the policy.

Money Always Talks

Earn $150 a Month More Than You Get Now

Read This Message Through to the End!

We want every reader of this printed message to ask himself: "Do I want to rise above the ordinary, commonplace existence that goes with a small, limited income? Have I a desire to BE SOMEBODY in this world, to attain a place among the SUCCESSFUL men and women who really accomplish something?" Most of us have. The world has no use for failures, but it applauds SUCCESS.

YOU CAN SUCCEED—You can make more money than you are now earning.

You can increase your income in the amounts we named above. Oh, yes you can. Don't say "I simply can't see how I can do it." That one remark is the earmark of failure. The "I can" and "I will" person is always welcomed by the handmaiden of SUCCESS. What are you today—a salary slave, a wage earner, or depending on the meagre profits from some small business; do you run a boarding house, or wait on table, or clerk in a store or any one of a thousand and one vocations that allow you but the mere necessities of life? WHY NOT DO BETTER? WHY NOT BE SOMEBODY? Yes, you can! This printed message is the opportunity, is the open sesame to bigger, brighter things: it is the calling of OPPORTUNITY—the fabled old lady who visits us so very, very seldom.

Why not be associated with SUCCESSFUL men and women who have adopted a profession that is not alone lucrative, but is pleasant, educative, performed at will and can be successfully accomplished by any person who can read, write and observe. No, dear reader, we are not going to ask you to join a correspondence school and TRY FOR THE UNATTAINABLE. Nor to buy a batch of technical books that few, very very few persons, outside the authors can understand. Listen, read and let this truth soak in, permeate!

We are an organization of SUCCESSFUL men and women photoplaywrights banded together for mutual benefit of each member. We are co-operative, we are SUCCESSFUL. We hand out to you your message of success. WE MAKE YOU SUCCEED. The technical work WE DO. Few people are mentally trained for that part of the work. But EVERY PERSON is trained by nature to provide the ground work, the skeleton on which the trained expert builds his finished product. You are staring now at a safe, sane and sure method. we ACTUALLY NEED YOU. Probably you cannot realize this. But the fact remains; because with us, this motto holds: "One for all and all for one."

We have grown from a mere affiliation of a few souls buying experience dearly—right here on the ground, where 57 actual problems in motion picture companies are rolling up film footage many thousands of feet a week. We have assisted each other, have taken in a few more from time to time. MAKE THEM SUCCEED, be sane we brook no failure. And now we are ready to extend the branches of this unique organization into the western states and accept a limited membership from each section, each state. The newsboy, the freshman, the out-of-the-ordinary happenings that occur daily in every habitable spot in this country are ALL WORTH MONEY. Catch the idea? We relieve all the harassing details from your shoulders; we care for the mechanical and its attendant detours by experts. WE are on the spot and know HOW. Often we ourselves purchase.

Let us repeat, BE SOMEBODY. Get away from the failure of a limited salary or wage or business, into pleasant work, a profession that is overpaid work, a profession in the phraseology of Mr. Webster, Maker unknown, was to salary. There is plenty money for all, but for the persons who will use opportunity and for who plenty work is waiting NOW. Write us today, take that first step to your place in the sun, take the first step to your place on the photoplay stage of life. Come with us. If you think you should know more, if you think a little more money would be welcome, if you think you have the ambition, if you think you have the energy, if you think you have the perseverance, if you think you have the desire to be SOMEBODY, write us today.

Social and Personal

For the first time since her wedding Mrs. A. W. Gray entertained her many friends in the city to a delightful "at home" held at her residence, 226 Second street, yesterday afternoon. The guests numbered 200 and Mrs. Gray was assisted in receiving by her mother, Mrs. Davidson, and Mrs. A. E. Kellington. The decoration arrangement was very effective indeed and fitting for the Hallowe'en occasion. The dining room was graced with pink chrysanthemums, while pink roses and smilax adorned the tea table. The ices were served in the den, which was daintily arrayed with crimson chrysanthemums. The door was opened by the May Queen, Miss Jean McPhail, and her maids of honor, Miss Eva Mosdell and Miss Kathleen Drew, all dressed in their beautiful regal coronation robes. They were assisted by little Miss Myrtle Brown. Mrs. C. A. Welsh and Mrs. F. J. Lynch assisted in the drawing room, while the ices were served by Mrs. C. A. Bourne and Mrs. T. Gifford, jr. Mrs. W. Gifford, Mrs. Dr. McKay, Mrs. Jos. Henley, Mrs. J. B. Jardine, Mrs. J. S. Bryson and Mrs. E. Savage poured the tea, while assisting also in the serving were Mrs. Arkle, Mrs. S. Brown, Miss Julia Gifford, Miss Lord, Miss Birtch, Miss Savage, Miss Wright, Miss Cross, Miss J. Davidson and Miss Nellie Davidson.

Alderman John F. Langan, of Port Coquitlam, is away on an extensive private business trip to the east. He was yesterday granted ten weeks' leave of absence by the Port Coquitlam council.

L. M. Richardson, manager of the Royal bank and president of the board of trade, together with his wife, are expected to land in Montreal some time today after spending the past few months in England. Mrs. Richardson will visit friends in Ottawa, her husband returning to this city direct.

Miss Warwick, 609 Agnes street, will receive on Wednesday next and on the first Wednesday of the month throughout the season.

About thirty friends of Miss Carrie Smither paid her a surprise visit last evening at her home on River Drive games and music taking up the evening. Refreshments were served at a late hour.

Rev. O. B. Anderson left yesterday for Redlands, Cal., where it is understood he will accept a new pastorate. On Tuesday evening last Rev. Anderson was presented with a purse of gold as a token of esteem from the members of the Sapperton Baptist church and a few outside friends.

A Halloween party consisting of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Johnston, Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Goulet, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Welsh and Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Pearson motored to Point Grey last evening where they were entertained at a large gathering of Vancouver, New Westminster and Point Grey people.

Mrs. C. A. Welsh received about 300 of her Vancouver and Westminster friends on Wednesday afternoon at her pretty home, Ernrae, 227 Sixth street. The decorations in the dining room partook of a Hallowe'en nature, autumn tints predominating. The table was spread with a cluny cloth in the centre of which was a beautiful hand painted bowl overflowing with assorted fruit. Streamers of smilax, autumn leaves and yellow ribbon ran from the dome to smaller baskets of fruit which were fashioned out of pumpkins. In the drawing room vases of yellow chrysanthemums were the principal decorations where the hostess received in a becoming gown of black velvet. Mrs. Howard Welsh and Mrs. A. E. Clarke, of Vancouver, assisted in the drawing room; Mrs. A. C. Shallenberger served the ices in the den under a canopy of autumn leaves, assisted by Miss Opal Clarke, or Vancouver, and the Misses Ruth Agar and Katherine Renshaw; Mrs. George Dearing, of Vancouver, and Mrs. T. Gifford, jr., poured tea during the first hour and were followed by Mrs. A. E. Kellington and Mrs. McKay. The young ladies assisting in the dining room were the Misses Julia Gifford, Anna Morrow, Evelyn Cunningham and Susie Clarke, of Vancouver. Mrs. Frank Pearson, accompanied by Mrs. Tyson, rendered solos that were greatly enjoyed. Miss Rachel Welsh, daughter of the hostess, was at the door. Cameron's orchestra of harp, violin and flute played most acceptably during the afternoon.

Mrs. R. E. Walker entertained in honor of her daughter, Miss Minna Walker, on Wednesday evening. Progressive rum was played during the early part of the evening, the winners of the first prizes being Miss Mary Keary and Mr. Harry Raikes. The consolation prizes were carried away by Miss Marjorie d'Easum and Mr. Leonard d'Easum. After a very enjoyable supper the room was cleared and dancing was kept up until after twelve. Among those invited were Miss Vyvian Rickman, Miss Nona McKenzie (Blaine), Miss Mary Keary, Miss Jessie Allen, Miss Isa Macdonald, Miss Gertrude Gaynor, Miss Beatrix Minchin (Vancouver), Miss Corbould, Miss Marjorie d'Easum, Mr. Tuckwell, Mr. Hutcheson, Mr. Cawley, Mr. Dunford, Mr. McGregor, Mr. Minchin (Vancouver), Mr. Harry Raikes (Vancouver), Mr. Leonard d'Easum, Mr. Arthur Creighton and Mr. Annandale.

Mrs. V. C. Brimacombe and her small son, of Haney, have been the guests of Mrs. Brimacombe's sister, Mrs. H. V. Ardagh, for the last week.

Mrs. C. B. McAllister left suddenly for the east on Saturday last, being called home on account of illness.

Mrs. M. M. Matheson, 135 Columbia street east, will receive the first Wednesday and Thursday of each month during the season.

Mrs. Arthur Trapp will receive with Mrs. T. S. Annandale for the first time since her marriage on Tuesday next, from 4 to 6 o'clock.

Mrs. R. G. Rae, nee Miss Eunice Pride, for the first time since her marriage, will receive with her mother, Mrs. W. A. Pride, 1103 Hamilton street, on Wednesday, November 5.

On Thursday afternoon the Political Equality league held a tea at the residence of Mrs. Tuckwell, 714 Fourth street. Mrs. Bryan, of Vancouver, spoke, and Mrs. Tuckwell also addressed the gathering.

Miss M. Ard MacKenzie, organizer for the Victorian Order of Nurses, with headquarters in Ottawa, was the guest of Mrs. W. S. Collister yesterday.

Alderman F. W. McNeice and family, of Port Moody, are making a few days' visit to Vancouver as the guests of Mrs. McNeice's mother.

Mrs. Edwin H. Johnston, 322 Third street, will receive on Tuesday, November 4, and on the second Tuesday for the remainder of the season.

LADIES!

Don't fail to visit the demonstration of the Utility House Dresses in Our Store Windows and Store on Friday and Saturday.

The lady will demonstrate in our show windows during Friday and Saturday the complete reform of the house dress now as a garment of Beauty, Utility, and Comfort. We have a complete stock now to supply your requirements in many pretty colors and materials.

Priced from $1.75 to $3.00

It will appeal to you as it has to thousands of women who will accept no other. We have a good range of very choice materials and patterns.

It is typically a Utility garment as it is practical for every kind of service—a house dress, negligee or apron. Also a slip-on over other garments.

It is shown in a wide variety of materials such as crepes, plisses, silks, challis, voiles, lawns and fancy flannelettes, in a good range of styles at interesting prices.

Let us demonstrate the many features of this pattented garment. You will like it.

THOUSANDS OF WOMEN

are demanding the "UTILITY" garments because of their simplicity of adjustment, their cleverness of style and the very attractive designs used.

Only two buttons required to put the garment in readiness. No undergarments are visible as in the case of the old kimono.

When one side is slightly soiled it can be reversed with the clean side on top.

All these desirable features are to be had at prices no higher than you are in the habit of paying.

Become a wearer of the "UTILITY" and you will become enthusiastic in its praises. See our big display.
