REBELS IMPORT ARMS FROM U. S.

President Raises Embargo on Supplies to Mexico—Neutral Stand.

COUNTRY FREE TO SETTLE OWN AFFAIRS

Villa Says War Will Not Last Much Longer—Confident Now of Success of Revolution.

Washington, Feb. 3.—President Wilson by an executive order dated today and made public at the White House tonight removed all restrictions against the exportation of munitions of war into Mexico from the United States, placing the contending elements on a basis of equality with respect to the purchase of arms and supplies in this country.

The executive order emphasized that it was the desire of the United States to be in the same position of neutrality toward the contending factions in Mexico as were the other powers.

As Other Powers.

The text of the proclamation follows:

"Whereas by a proclamation of the president, issued on March 14, 1912, under a joint resolution of congress, approved by the president on the same day, it was declared that there existed in Mexico conditions of domestic violence, which were promoted by the use of arms or munitions of war procured from the United States.

"And, whereas, by the joint resolution above mentioned, it thereupon became unlawful to export arms or munitions of war to Mexico except through such limitations and exceptions as the president should prescribe;

"And, therefore, I, Woodrow Wilson, president of the United States of America, hereby declare and proclaim that, as the conditions on which the proclamation of March 14, 1912, was based, have essentially changed, and as it is desirable to place the United States with reference to the exportation of arms or munitions of war to Mexico in the same position as other powers, the said proclamation is hereby revoked."

Conditions Altered.

Accompanying the order, the White House ordered the following statement of explanation:

"The executive order under which the exportation of arms and ammunition into Mexico is forbidden was a departure from the accepted practices of neutrality—a deliberate departure from those practices under a well considered joint resolution of congress, determined upon in circumstances which have now ceased to exist. It was intended to discourage incipient revolts against the regularly constituted authorities of Mexico. Since that order was issued the circumstances of the case have undergone a radical change. There is now no constitutional government in Mexico, and the existence of this order hinders and delays the very thing the government of the United States is now insisting upon: Namely, that Mexico shall be left free to settle her own affairs and, as soon as possible, put them upon a constitutional footing by her own force and counsel. The order is therefore rescinded."

The End in Sight?

Juarez, Feb. 3.—"The Mexican war will not last much longer."

So commented General Francisco Villa and the other rebel leaders on the announcement from Washington today that President Wilson had lifted the embargo against the shipment of arms and ammunition into Mexico. General Villa was confident that his ability to procure unlimited arms would soon multiply the rebel victories and just as confident that the news from Washington would discourage and demoralize the federal troops, so that a speedy termination of the internal strife among Mexicans was in sight.

WEST DEMANDS REPRESENTATION

Westerners Attend Dominion Shorthorn Breeders' Convention.

Toronto, Feb. 3.—That the west feels it is growing up and should receive more consideration from the east, was once more shown when the question of proportionate strength was raised at the annual meeting of the Dominion Shorthorn Breeders' association today. President Harry Smith had suggested meeting in the west every third year as a concession to the sentiment. Secretary Pettit then read a communication from the combined breeders' associations west of the Great Lakes, which expressed the desires of the breeders concerned.

In supporting this memorial, Dr. J.

TWO STRIKERS GIVEN LIBERTY

Wm. Bowater, Jr., Acquitted by Jury—Isaac Portray Given Freedom.

Letter of Appeal from Mother of Convicted Miner Successful—Nanaimo Cases Today.

The last of the first round in the Extension coal strike cases came yesterday afternoon with the acquittal of William Bowater, Jr., after his second trial on the usual six counts of rioting, etc. At the first hearing of the charges against Bowater the jury disagreed and the outcome of the second hearing yesterday finally settles the matter and gives the young man his freedom.

Exactly the same evidence was submitted as was heard before and it did not take the jury more than an hour to come to a verdict of acquittal.

Considerable satisfaction was expressed among the union sympathizers of Extension, who will now have a holiday during the trials of the Nanaimo cases, which open this morning. Many of the union folk of Extension expressed the opinion that the charges against the remaining twenty-odd of their fellows would not be pressed, but on this point no intimation has yet come from the crown.

The Nanaimo cases open today with the trial of Bob Haddow, it having been decided by the prosecution to take some of them at least singly. In all there are 20 men under charge in connection with the riots at Nanaimo and for the crown there will be in the neighborhood of 17 witnesses, with a similar or larger number for the defence.

Convicted Miner Freed.

Isaac Portray, who was convicted at the special court of assize before the Christmas adjournment of having had a hand in the rioting at Extension during the coal strike troubles last August and who since then has been held at the provincial jail in this city, yesterday was liberated by the honorable Justice Morrison.

When Portray was brought down from the jail and stood in the dock the presiding judge informed him that, in consequence of a letter which he had received from the prisoner's mother, he had decided to give him his liberty, his sentence under the conviction being the time he already had spent in jail. His lordship said that he agreed fully in the verdict brought in by the jury, but he was showing leniency to the prisoner as a result of a mother's appeal and he hoped that the young man would profit by the experience he had gained in this trouble. With a parting word of advice to go back to his mother, the judge dismissed Portray.

The appeal of the defence in the Joe Angelo case, in which the accused was recently convicted on six counts of rioting, etc., at Extension, is not yet settled.

The matter was taken to the court of appeals in Victoria on Monday and there argument was put in on 16 counts in favor of a stated case from the trial judge, the honorable Justice Morrison. Of these 16 points points 15 were thrown out and the remaining one is still to be decided.

Three Months' Diet Test.

Montreal, Feb. 3.—Next Tuesday 30 students of the normal school of physical education affiliated with McGill university will start a three months' diet test. One section will take a meat test three times a day; 15 will resort to a meat and vegetable diet, while others will endeavor to subsist for 13 weeks upon a "strictly scientific" bill of fare. The students will show up on June 3 for medical examination and the experiment is being watched with considerable interest.

Mrs. Mundell Dies.

Winnipeg, Feb. 3.—Mrs. Mundell, wife of W. J. Mundell, died tonight at 10:30. Mr. Mundell, who is accountant of the Ogilvie Milling company, has, during his long connection with the company, become known from Montreal to the coast, and the death of Mrs. Mundell is widely felt.

CENSURE CAPTAIN OF WRECKED COBEQUID

Commissioner Makes Report on Recent Wreck—Captain's Certificate Not Cancelled.

Ottawa, Feb. 3.—The recent wreck of the Cobequid at Trinity ledge, near Yarmouth, N.S., is dealt with in a report of Captain Lindsay, wreck commissioner. The circumstances attendant to be the grave error in judgment of Captain Howson as to his real position, and also in attempting to pass within the shoal when he should have gone outside to the open bay, considering the gale blowing and the thick weather prevailing.

The captain is severely censured, but having regard to the fact that the passengers and the crew were looked after with great care following the stranding of the ship, and for other reasons, his certificate is not cancelled.

British-American Peace Treaty Almost Assured

Washington, Feb. 3.—Sir Cecil Spring-Rice, the British ambassador, had a long conference with Secretary Bryan today regarding the formulation of a peace treaty between the United States and Great Britain similar to those which the secretary was negotiating with eleven countries, six of which have actually signed the convention.

Great Britain has approved Mr. Bryan's plan in principle. It is not regarded as probable, however, that the provision for stopping the development of armaments for a year while committees of inquiry are at work, would be incurred in a British-American peace convention.

The ambassador has now almost completely recovered from the illness which afflicted him last summer and fall as a consequence of using water containing mineral salts in large proportions. He has taken up the full quota of his work at the embassy, and has had several important conferences with the secretary of state and members of the diplomatic body.

WOMAN'S SUFFRAGE MOVEMENT RECEIVES TWO HARD KNOCKS

Winnipeg, Feb. 3.—A resolution calling for votes for women in Manitoba was turned down by the legislature today on a straight party vote. Twenty-three Conservatives opposed the motion and the opposition mustered a vote of 12. The resolution was introduced by Mr. Malcolm of Birtle and was supported by Opposition Leader Norris and other speakers from the left of the house.

Premier Roblin closed the debate, declaring that he did not consider the time was ripe for the introduction of equal suffrage. He would regard the carrying of the resolution as a vote of want of confidence in the government.

State Question.

Washington, Feb. 3.—House Democrats at a caucus went on record tonight against the creation of a house committee on woman suffrage. By a vote of 123 to 57 the caucus adopted a resolution declaring this a state question and repecting the Baker resolution to create the committee.

Dentists at Victoria.

Victoria, Feb. 3.—A delegation of dentists from Vancouver, comprising the executive council of the Dental association, with several Victoria dentists, waited upon Premier McBride this morning and at a private conference laid before him their proposals of a proposed amendment to the dentistry act. The provisions of the amendment have already been fully described. The visiting dentists also had a conference with F. J. MacKenzie, member for Delta, who stands sponsor for the bill.

Clearing Winnipeg Streets.

Winnipeg, Feb. 3.—The heavy fall of snow during the past two days is affording work to a number of the unemployed. Controller Midwinter reported at the meeting of the board of control this morning that today 119 men were engaged in clearing the streets of snow in addition to 23 teams and snowplows. This is about 90 extra men and is about all the department could find room for.

VESSELS MUST BE BUILT IN CANADA

Hon. J. D. Hazen Announces Policy of Marine and Fisheries Department.

Ottawa, Feb. 4.—Estimates of the minister of marine and fisheries and the minister of customs were under review in the commons today. Good headway was made with the voting of the appropriations and a number of interesting ministerial statements were forthcoming during the discussion.

Hon. J. D. Hazen announced that in calling for tenders for the construction of vessels for the marine department he insisted that they must be built in this country.

This policy was warmly approved by Hon. Mr. Lemieux and other members of the opposition.

During the discussion for the purchase of supplies Mr. Hazen said that the government is following the same practice as that pursued by the late government. In many cities a number of firms known to be friendly to the government are asked to put in bids. He defended the practice of governments buying supplies from their friends, providing the public interest did not suffer.

Mr. Lemieux said that the Conservatives had, when in opposition, very strongly criticized Hon. L. P. Brodeur for just this sort of thing. Now they were vindicating him.

The Liberals were inquisitive about a mysterious yacht which they claimed made a trip from Montreal to Valleyfield and thence to the government yards at Prescott or Kingston, shortly after the by-election in Chateauguay.

They were apparently of the opinion that the boat had been brought by the government for some reason or another.

Hon. J. D. Reid was not able to throw any light on the craft, if such boat, he asserted, had been purchased by the customs department.

SWIMMERS HURT WHEN HUGE GLASS TANK BURSTS

Hamilton, Bermuda, Feb. 3.—While giving a performance in the Bermuda aquarium today, Annette Kellerman, the Australian swimmer, and Herbert Brennon, sustained severe injuries owing to the bursting of a glass tank containing 8000 gallons of water.

The pressure became too great and the glass front gave way with a crash. The tremendous rush of water sucked the occupants across the jagged edges of the glass. Miss Kellerman was seriously lacerated on the left side, while Brennon was gashed seriously in the arms and legs.

Brennon was removed to a hospital and Miss Kellerman was taken to a hotel.

SUPERINTENDENT OF HOSPITAL RESIGNS

Miss Jessie D. Scott Will Occupy Position Probably for Next Two Months.

The resignation of Miss Jessie D. Scott as superintendent of the Royal Columbian hospital was received and acted upon at a special meeting of the hospital board held yesterday in Mayor Gray's office. Every member of the board was present and after much discussion the resignation was accepted, the work of Miss Scott being commended on all sides by the board.

No definite arrangements were made as to when the change will take effect, President George Small afterwards informing The News that arrangements had been made so that Miss Scott will remain in control for the next two months or until a successor is appointed. No mention was made as to who the new appointee would be.

Several minor matters in connection with the new hospital building were discussed and acted upon by the board.

FOUND INNOCENT BUT TOO LATE

Member Will Give House Instances of Hanging of Innocent Men.

Second Reading of Bill to Abolish Capital Punishment Scheduled for Thursday.

Ottawa, Feb. 3.—Robert Bickerdike, member for St. Lawrence division, Montreal, expects to move the second reading of his bill to abolish capital punishment next Thursday. On that occasion Mr. Bickerdike will explain to the house his reasons for the introduction for this humanitarian measure. Mr. Bickerdike is very sincere in his opinion that the death penalty should be done away with. He believes that neither from a punitive nor preventative standpoint it is justified and considers that it is a survival of barbaric times. "I am prepared," he said, "to give to the house fifty inistances in good old England where men condemned to death and hanged were afterward found to be innocent.

"The Bickerdikes are all fairly strong on this question," he continued with a smile, "my people came from the town of York and one of our ancesters was a martyr. He was hanged, drawn and quartered. It was not as might have been expected from a Yorkshire man of these days for horse stealing; it was, strangely enough, because he refused to turn Protestant."

There is bound to be an interesting discussion in the house of commons on Mr. Bickerdike's bill and there will not be lacking among the debaters, many who are firmly of the opinion held by the member for St. Lawrence division. There will also be plenty who will uphold the old Mosaic law of "A life for a life."

ROBBER MARRIED VANCOUVER GIRL

Man With Many Aliases and Many Crimes to Record Arrested.

Wedded Edna Frost of Terminal City and Says He Is Sorry for It—Fleeced Banks.

Auburn, Cal., Feb. 3.—Check forgeries netting $40,000, two train robberies, some profitable confidence games in Los Angeles, and general criminal operations reaching into 34 counties of this state, were admitted here tonight by Jean La Bonta, a man of many aliases, who was arrested on a minor charge in San Francisco last week.

La Bonta's criminal record trails all the way from New York and he seems to have had what he considers a good time, except that he regrets his marriage in San Francisco.

"That was the meanest thing I ever did," he said, and refused to name the girl.

Clears Mysteries.

The confession cleared, to the comfort of the authorities, mystery surrounding three mail car robberies—one between Burlingame and San Francisco, October 14; another between San Francisco and San Jose, November 17, and a third between Los Angeles and Burbank, January 12. In each instance the mail clerks were forced to put their heads in mail sacks, the robber drawing the strings, bonnet-wise under their chins. Not much money was obtained in any of the robberies, but their peculiarity excited interest.

Banks Easy.

Commenting on the forged check passed on a local bank, which led to his arrest, La Bonta observed:

"The banks of California are easy. If I had another year of liberty I could double that $40,000."

His method, he explained, was to take lodgings as a workingman and get his landlord to cash what he presented as his pay check.

"In Los Angeles," he said, "I beat some boobs out of $4000. They were easy," he added, "but I'm glad I'm not going there for trial."

Under the name of Kaufman, La Bonta is credited with various crimes in Nevada.

Vancouver Girl.

San Francisco, Feb. 3.—Clyde Kaufman, alias Jean La Bonta, alias R. Manning, Frank Kaufman, J. C. Donnelly—the man arrested at Auburn—easily was picked up in the local records as having married Edna Frost, a Vancouver, B.C., woman barber, January 19.

Other identification was that La Bonta served two years in San Quentin penitentiary for grand larceny, being released in December, 1912, and the postal authorities said he served sentence in Sing Sing and in Lansing, Mich., penitentiaries.

In getting his marriage license, La Bonta said he was the son of John La Bonta, of Nebraska, and Lulia Bauer, of Ohio. Miss Frost said she was the daughter of C. M. Frost, of Illinois, but was born in Kansas.

Three rewards of $1000 each are out for the conviction of the train robber.

B. C. E. R. CASES IN SUPREME COURT

Company Appeals Judgment for Damages Awarded Vancouver Citizen—Accident on Interurban.

Ottawa, Feb. 3.—After delivery of judgment in the supreme court today the hearing of appeals in western cases was taken up. The first case heard was British Columbia Electric company vs. Ogle, in which the respondent recovered damages for injuries sustained by being struck by a tram car, which was turning out of Granville street into Davie street in Vancouver. The judge found the company neglectful in failing to give warning of the moving of the car by sounding the gong. The appellants contended that the respondent saw the car and rashly attempted to cross in front of it, and sounding the gong would not have prevented the accident. Mr. Ewart, K.C., for appellants; Mr. Taylor, K.C., for respondent. Case continued.

The British Columbia Electric railway vs. Daynes, was also taken up. Appellant was a motorman engaged in the company's interurban service between Vancouver and New Westminster, B.C., which operated on the double header system, two cars running in conjunction and on the block and staff rule. He was driving the rear car on a foggy night when it ran into the car in front and he sustained personal injuries. In an action for damages he got a verdict for $2500 on which the trial judge entered judgment in his favor. The court of appeal set the judgment aside and held the verdict of the jury perverse as the evidence showed that the accident was due to the breach of the company's running rules by appellant.

Taylor, K.C., for appellant; Ewart, K.C., for respondent.

DEFEAT EFFORTS TO BAR ASIATICS

U. S. Congress Defeats Proposed Amendments to Immigration Bill.

MIGHT EMBARRASS FOREIGN RELATIONS

Excitement Pervades House When Delicate Subject Is Discussed—Not Ready for War.

Washington, Feb. 3.—Asiatic exclusion agitation was quieted temporarily at least in the house after a heated debate today that brought both Republican and Democratic leaders to the floor with pleas for calmness and deliberation. By overwhelming votes the house stripped from the immigration bill under consideration all the amendments which would have placed a bar against Asiatic immigration.

The action was taken after Republican Leader Mann, Representative Shirley of Kentucky and other leaders made a vigorous fight to overcome the sentiment which last night expressed itself by a vote of 111 to 90 in favor of the perfection of an amendment to exclude Mongolians, Malays and negroes. The speakers insisted there should be no hasty action that might embarrass the state department in its relations with Japan.

Anti-Japanese Forces.

The house was surcharged with excitement when it met and Representative Burnett in charge of the immigration bill, forced the attendance of a quorum. The anti-Japanese forces rushed action, Representative Baker of California, presenting a substitute for a pending exclusion amendment introduced by Representative Hayes. The debate became heated, the Californians differing as to details but both manifesting certainly that the amendment would be accepted in some form.

The house was in confusion with half a dozen members vociferously demanding an opportunity to be heard, when the tide was turned by Republican Leader Mann, who from the centre of the chamber, spoke in a grave, low voice.

Delicate Question.

"I have been long enough in the house, I hope, to place the government above party. I do not believe any of these amendments should be adopted at this time. Dealing with our foreign affairs is a subject of delicacy at best. While I do not have the greatest pride in the present state department I feel that in conducting our relations with foreign countries, I am bound to rely in the first instance at least, upon the state department. If they cannot eradicate the difficulties of the situation by diplomatic relations it is time enough then for congress to act by specific legislation. I am not prepared to invite war with Japan or any other country, although if that war should come as a result of any legislation, I would not shrink from it."

The house listened in a hush of silence. Representative Mann turning to the Republican side said:

"I think now is the time for us to be cool and collected, not to be carried off our feet because we think, perchance, we can play politics at the expense of the Democratic side of the house. We owe an allegiance to our country above our party."

Amendments Defeated.

Shouts of approval from both the Democrats and Republicans drowned the speaker.

"We represent the entire country and we ought to protect at this time, even California against herself," he finally concluded amid a tumult of applause.

The debate continued, but when a vote was forced the amendments were decisively defeated.

Consideration of the bill was continued throughout the day, but no amendments of material importance were written into the measure. It was agreed to allow the immigration bill right of way tomorrow when it will be passed.

MAY TAKE NO PART IN BISLEY SHOOT

Since "Peep" Site Is Barred Canadians With Ross Rifles May Remain Away.

Ottawa, Feb. 3.—In view of the action of the war office which prevents the use of the Ross rifle since it has only a "peep" sight, and this kind of a sight has been prohibited in Bisley matches, it has been suggested from the militia department that the minister of militia loan the territorials of Great Britain a sufficient number of the Ross rifles for the use of those intending to compete in the big matches. If all are equipped with the Ross rifle then there could be no objection to its use in the big matches.

It is not believed, however, that the suggestion will be adopted and the feeling is growing that Canada will not be represented at Bisley this year.

THE CITY AND COLUMBIAN COLLEGE.

On the information given them by the delegation representing Columbian college on Monday evening, the members of the city council are facing, at a time when every dollar counts, the alternative of making a grant to the institution or of seeing it moved from New Westminster. It is unfortunate that the case was presented to the council in that manner, for, if the grant is made, it will appear to the general public more in the light of an inducement to prevent the defection of an old institution of the city than unprejudiced recognition of that institution's worth.

There is the possibility that the making or withholding of the grant asked by the college would not influence its governing body in finally determining for or against New Westminster in the matter of a permanent location. On that point, it seems, the council should be perfectly clear before taking any action and a flat statement one way or the other from the college authorities would be the sole source of reliable information.

Since Columbian college became possessed of the property which it now occupies on Frist street, that land has risen considerably in value and it may be that the branch of the Methodist church which has the oversight of its educational institutions is coming to the opinion that a move to a less congested and therefore lower priced locality, whether in this city or elsewhere, would be following a sound commercial principle.

If the grant is made for 1914 it practically will mean the establishing by the city of a precedent for similar future concessions to the college and before that is done it would be only good business on the part of the city council to have satisfactory assurance from those in a position to give it that Columbian college is permanently located in New Westminster, an assurance which it would be most gratifying to receive.

There's to be no increase in taxes this year, says the mayor. Now who will deny that things are looking up?

MAGAZINE PICTURE SHOWS LOST MAN

Lighthouse Keeper Recognizes Missing Brother's Portrait on Periodical Cover.

New York, Feb. 3.—Through a picture on the cover of a magazine, showing an ironworker sitting on the tip of a steel girder at the top of the Woolworth tower, John Kelley, keeper of the Great Point lighthouse station on Nantucket island, has recognized a long lost brother. Though there is no record of George S. Kelley, the long lost brother, it is believed that through the unions that employ men for contractors the missing man will be found.

Kelley's brother was sitting on evening in the lonely lighthouse reading a magazine, supplied to the guardians of the coast beacons by a society, when he noted the familiar face of an ironworker sitting on the girder hundreds of feet in midair. It was a moment later that he leaped from the chair, shouting: "It's George! It's George!"

So it happened that a few days ago there was received here by the editor of the magazine an inquiry for George S. Kelley, the long lost brother of Keeper Kelley, as the writer signed himself.

"It has been my ambition," he wrote, "to locate my brother for years. I knew what trade he was in. Will you furnish information to the lonesome keeper of the above (the Great Point light station)?"

The Thompson-Starrett company, which built the skyscraper, had no record of George S. Kelley, but that does not signify much, as the engagements of the structural steel workers are generally made through the unions. There were men found who had worked on the Woolworth in its skeleton days, but none could identify the portrait, and that again does not make so much difference, as there was a veritable army of housesmiths pounding and fitting and throwing hot rivets. The search is being continued among the unions, and the prospects are good for getting the brother of the skyscraper in touch with the brother of the shoals.

WASHINGTON'S NAME IS MINNIE SCOTT

State Takes Novel Method to Secure Data on the High Cost of Living.

Olympia, Wash., Feb. 3.—Proprietors of boarding and lodging houses in all parts of the state who have received letters signed "Minnie Scott" asking prices of board and room will learn when the report of the industrial welfare commission is laid before the first minimum wage conference that the information they have been furnishing was for use in the cost of living probe carried on by investigators for the commission.

Advertisements of this general form were a few months ago carried in practically all the daily newspapers of the state:

"Wanted, board and room in a private family by a working girl. Address ——, giving full information."

If complete information was not furnished the proprietor got a letter signed "Minnie Scott," asking fuller particulars. In many cases personal investigation of the class of accommodations offered was made.

After compiling the prices offered in all parts of the state it was found that the replies for board and room combined average $270.82. Segregating the places listed the commission finds that those offered as "within walking distance" of 15 to 20 minutes from the business section average $273.87, while those outside walking distance averaged $267.82.

The average price of accommodations offered was below the average of the estimate made by both employers and employees in a separate investigation carried on at the same time. The employers allowed an average of $278.38 for board and room, while employees thought $309.84 necessary.

It is stated, however, that many of the rooms offered at the lower rates were dark, not overly clean and poorly ventilated.

Miss Caroline J. Gleason, the new acting secretary of the commission, now is on a tour of Spokane, Seattle and Tacoma, making further personal investigations of the class of accommodations offered.

LUNGMOTOR FAILS TO REVIVE BIG RUSSIAN

Spokane, Feb. 3.—John Kararchuk, a Russian, aged 28, was found dead in bed at a rooming house, W51-2 Main avenue, yesterday morning. The room was filled with gas. Fellow countrymen told Paul L. Buchholz, city detective, that Kararchuk had been despondent and had given intimation of an intention to commit suicide.

The odor of gas was detected at 8 o'clock by an employee of the house. For a while it was too heavy to remain in long, even after the window had been opened. The jet of a heating stove was open and the gas flowing in large volume. The window had been closed tightly. The body of the big Russian lay across the bed. Of powerful physique, he was the picture of health.

"He was broke, could find no work and discouraged," Sam Rohlman, a fellow countryman, told Coroner S. P. Seaberg. "He said he was going to get ready to do something. He did not say what," added Sam Kalaski.

Effort to revive him was made with the lungmotor in the hands of Drs. Ingersoll and Seaberg and Steward Dare of the emergency hospital. Coroner Seaberg said he did not think it would be necessary to hold an inquest.

The body is being held pending word from a brother-in-law, Frank Mukclosko, who is now at Morrissey, B. C.

FOR BREACH OF BYLAWS WARRANT IS NECESSARY

Calgary, Feb. 3—That Alfred Cuddy, chief constable of Calgary, and all the members of the city police force have no authority to arrest anyone violating a bylaw of the city without a warrant, owing to the fact that the city council has never passed a bylaw giving them that authority, was the important decision handed down by his honor Judge Winter in the criminal district court at the adjourned case of Frank Molan, who was on trial charged with assaulting Chief Cuddy at a procession of unemployed a few weeks ago.

The case concluded before his honor last Wednesday, but the judge reserved his decision on the point of law as to whether Chief Cuddy was a properly constituted police officer. So important is the decision regarded that Sergeant Major Vickery, of the R. N. W. M. P., was present in person to watch the case for the mounted police. J. McKinley Cameron also was present during most of the hearing but Chief Cuddy did not appear.

Judge Winter said he was not quite clear what the charge was against the accused. He might have been charged with being a nuisance who had obstructed the enjoyment and peace of his majesty's subjects. If the common nuisance was defined as an unlawful act which endangered the lives, safety and comfort of the public, a different charge might have been laid. He might have been indicted for that.

SOCIALIST ROW STAGED IN CHRISTIAN CHURCH

Mount Vernon, Wash., Feb. 3.—Blows were struck and angry words exchanged in the Mount Vernon Christian church last Tuesday evening during the progress of a lecture on Socialism by the Rev. Harry Ferguson, former mayor of Hoquiam. As the result of the conflict two warrants were issued for C. E. Andreas, a local contractor and a staunch Socialist.

While Ferguson was speaking, Andreas is said to have interrupted him and used insulting language. Louis Petelle, a fellow Socialist, attempted to quiet Andreas, but the latter was insistent and a fight followed between the two. Andreas lost three false teeth and was otherwise damaged about the face. He was arrested and fined $1 and costs the following day. Later Ferguson swore to a complaint charging Andreas with disturbing the peace. Andreas had a second hearing today.

POISON ARTIST ACCUSED OF USING DISEASE GERMS

Berlin, Feb. 3.—The trial of the fencing master, Wilhelm Hopf, who is charged with having poisoned his father, his first wife, and his two children, and with attempting to poison his mother and his second and third wives, was resumed at Frankfort today.

Evidence was given by the mother of Hopf's second wife, who after divorcing Hopf married again, but had died from tuberculosis. She expressed the conviction that her daughter was infected with the tubercle bacillus by Hopf, who kept cultures of these germs. The dead woman's second husband testified that enormous quantities of bacilli were found in his wife's lung, and the physicians could not recollect in many years' practice a case in which the germs were present in such quantities.—Reuter.

SYNOPSIS OF COAL MINING REGULATIONS.

COAL MINING rights of the Dominion in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, the Yukon Territory, the Northwest Territories and in a portion of the Province of British Columbia, may be leased for a term of twenty-one years at an annual rental of $1 an acre. Not more than 2560 acres will be leased to one applicant.

Application for a lease must be made by the applicant in person to the Agent or Sub-Agent of the district in which the rights applied for are situated.

In surveyed territory the land must be described by sections, or legal sub-divisions of sections, and in unsurveyed territory the tract applied for shall be staked out by the applicant himself.

Each application must be accompanied by a fee of $5 which will be refunded if the rights applied for are not available, but not otherwise. A royalty shall be paid on the merchantable output of the mine at the rate of five cents per ton.

The person operating the mine shall furnish the Agent with sworn returns accounting for the full quantity of merchantable coal mined and pay the royalty thereon. If the coal mining rights are not being operated such returns should be furnished at least once a year.

The lease will include the coal mining rights only, but the lessee will be permitted to purchase whatever available surface rights may be considered necessary for the working of the mine at the rate of $10 an acre.

For full information application should be made to the Secretary of the Department of the Interior, Ottawa, or to any Agent or Sub-Agent of Dominion Lands.

W. W. CORY,
Deputy Minister of the Interior.

PLUCKY YOUNG WOMAN ON LABRADOR TRIP

Though few people are aware of the fact, Calgary can claim the distinction as having as a resident the only white woman who ever visited Grand Falls, at the head of the Grand river, two hundred and fifty miles from the barren coast of Labrador.

Miss Laurie Coates came to Calgary in 1909, and as the result of an interview with Dr. Grenfell, the famous Labrador missionary, she decided to visit the land where few white women have trod. She was born near Manchester, England, and left her native land for the United States nine years ago. After graduating as a nurse from St. Timothy's hospital, Philadelphia, she spent one year on the prairies of Saskatchewan, then went to Calgary, Alta.

She followed her profession in Calgary until Dr. Grenfell started his series of lectures, which will be remembered by many. After hearing of the wonderful Labrador country she decided to visit it, and left Calgary May 26, 1912, on a mission which was to make her famous. Her first stopping place on that wild coast was Battle harbor, which was reached about the end of June, after a trying voyage and many heartrending delays. The delays were caused by ice in Belle Isle straits, the ship having to make three attempts before managing to cover about 300 miles in three weeks.

Nurse in Hospital.

She remained in Battle harbor until September the same year and then went up the Hamilton inlet in Dr. Grenfell's boat "the Strathcona," that was gifted to the mission by the great Scotch Canadian philanthropist The Indian harbor hospital is transferred from its summer quarters on the island of that name to Grand Village up the Hamilton inlet—a more accessible point for the doctors to make trips to and for the patients to reach—during the winter months or freeze up as it is known.

She remained with the Grenfell mission as trained nurse till the end of the following May, which completed the term of service for which she had engaged. It was while she was with the mission that she conceived the idea of making an exploration of the Grand river. To others of the mission she was merely known as a very capable young nurse, and not until she announced her intention of trying to make the falls was she suspected of having any of the ambition of the explorer. Some tried to dissuade here from the undertaking but the fancy had seized her and she engaged the services of Fred Goudie, a native white guide.

Meagre Accommodation.

From the mission she went to the North West river and put up at the Hudson's Bay post while making final arrangements for the trip into the interior. There are no hotels in that country and the intrepid traveller has to rely on the hospitality of the traders for accommodation. Miss Coates could have sent out for a proper equipment from New York, but the delay would have been too great and she wanted to make the trip immediately after the break of the ice. She gathered together the necessary outfit through the assistance and kindness of traders and natives of the district.

Starts for the Falls.

Obtaining the canoe that Dillon Wallace had used on his expedition to find and mark the grave of Leonidas Hubbard, she fitted it out with shelter tents, provisions and rifles, to the use of which she had become accustomed, and the two set out on their journey. A remarkable feature of the trip was that she had never been in a canoe before and had never shot a living creature until fourteen months ago. In the interior the explorer relies greatly on game and birds for a change of diet and she personally shot partridge, ducks and other game fowl.

The Labrador rains came on, but Miss Coates had always been an outdoor girl and did not mind the wettings. They carried no compasses, the guide relying on his knowledge of the country. He had told her that he knew of a short cut to the falls, which no white man had tried, and it was this route they followed. They wound their way through a maze of lakes, pitching their shelter tents on the banks at night.

What would have proved a most disturbing incident occurred one night, liable to upset even the strongest nerves, but Miss Coates took it merely as a joke. While in her tent she was awakened by a black bear whose muzzle almost touched her face. Instinctively she thought of her rifle but at once remembered it was in the canoe. She thought of calling the guide but then realized that she was not afraid of bears anyhow and with an essentially feminine "shoo" she scared Bruin away, then turned over and was again sound asleep.

Disappointed in Falls.

At last they came to the end of the water route and the guide said the falls were nearly in sight. They abandoned the canoe and within forty minutes sighted the cascade. The overland trip was made on foot and all the time the roar of the cataracts could be heard, but Miss Coates says she was disappointed in them when she finally arrived at the cascades. At a little distance they made a noise like Niagara, but view dispelled that illusion. Having accomplished her mission, after leaving proof that she really had been on the spot, she commenced the return journey. The return trip was entirely without incident. Miss Coates does not know the exact distance she travelled, but estimates it at 300 miles.

She hopes to make another trip. She has already addressed the Women's Canadian Club of Winnipeg, and her trip has been described most fully in many United States papers when she returned to New York after making the great trip.

No Suffragettes There.

She draws a vivid picture of the life of the people who live on the barren coast. "There are no suffragettes in Labrador," she said with a laugh. "Probably this is so because of the fact that neither men nor women have the suffrage—there is no representative for Labrador in the Newfoundland parliament."

One could gather that the volunteer worker has to be most versatile. She related one experience she had in caring for a little girl smitten with typhoid. She acted as doctor and nurse, but despite the greatest attention the little one died. Miss Coates prepared the body for burial, helped dig the grave and as the minister was far away, the volunteer read the burial service.

Are Very Rich.

The people on the Labrador have no newspapers or concerts, and must make their own amusements, which they do in proper style. The trappers who live up the inlets and who make from $500 to $1,000 are extremely rich, because living expenses are so cheap. Asked if she was not afraid while travelling in this wild country with only one guide, she exclaimed, "afraid! Why, there is nothing to be afraid of. Everyone there showed me the greatest kindness and respect and their courtesy and help is one of the most pleasant memories I have."

Modern Beacon Fires

THE old beacon fires were the great advertising mediums of their age.

Though they could not advertise merchandise, they advertised the things of most vital interest to the people.

Placed on the summits of high hills, bearing a message to thousands of "readers," they were prototypes of those modern fires of Twentieth Century commerce—the "beacon" fires of Newspaper Advertising.

The advertisements appearing in the newspapers to-day are shining lights in the world of commerce, flashing out news and information to a waiting world.

When the modern manufacturer lights the Beacon Fires of Newspaper Advertising he places his message before the people in a way that will impart knowledge, beget appreciation and win preference for his goods.

Who can fail to see any day the gleaming messages of "Magic Baking Powder," "Standard Ideal Ware," "Sunlight Soap," "Gillette Safety Razors," "Penman's Underwear," "Infants' Delight Soap," and many others?

To the Manufacturers of Canada

Each day sees more articles given publicity in the newspapers. Are your products and your brand still in the valley of obscurity, or are they blazoned forth by the beacon fires of advertising on the high hill of public favor?

If you are doing a local business talk over your advertising problems with the Advertising Department of this newspaper.

If you are doing a provincial or national business it would be well for you to have the counsel and assistance of a good advertising agency. A list of these will be furnished, without cost or obligation, by the Secretary of Canadian Press Association, Room 503, Lumsden Building, Toronto.

Humor and Philosophy

THE SPOTLESS.

HA! Discovered!
You can bet a cent
That the spotless gent,
The one without a stain,
Is the plain,
Unassuming, near great
Candidate.
Know you not?
Great Scott,
You ought to know,
For he said so!
Take it from the candidate
To get it straight,
He is his own indorsement,
His letter of credit,
His press agent and
His own brass band.
Others may say
"Nay"
When he is mentioned as the one
Favorite son
And declare
Him a bag of hot air.
Others may opine
He would make a fine
Dog catcher or
That he would score
Heavy as a doormat
Or something like that.
As to his claims to be
The only apple on the tree,
The only cherry in the pie,
They wink the other eye.
At the suggestion that he may win
They turn away and grin.
But on his own say so
He is the whole show,
The one who
Can put through
The big reform.
He is the warm
Baby, the pippin,
The party in the swim.
Take it from him.

In Doubt.

"His father drove an ox team."

"And he drives an auto."

"Some advancement."

"Yes, but the ox team was paid for."

Evening on the Farm.
(Thirty Years Ago.)

"John, have you wound the clock?"
"Yes, dear."
"And put out the cat?"
"Yes, dear."
"And locked the door?"
"Yes, dear."
"Then you can come to bed."

(Today.)

"Rudolph, have you locked the safe?"
"Yep."
"And put the auto in the garage?"
"Yep."
"And shut off the dynamo in the basement?"
"Sure, Mike."
"All right; you can roll into the hay now."

A Warm Friend.

"I am very fond of my friends."
"Yes?"
"Why do you say it that way?"
"I notice you prefer them either toasted or grilled."

Too True.

"Some people are so perfectly honest that they won't take a single thing from your house."
"Yes; some won't even take their departure."

So Modern.

"She is the very last word in pretty girls."
"Oh, I don't know."
"But she is hand painted."

Makes Us Honest.

PERT PARAGRAPHS.

He is indeed an unpopular individual who can't be delegate to some sort of convention.

Many a useful old maid has been spoiled to make a poor wife.

Most of us like hot weather best when mercury is twenty below.

If it were not for the telephone many a woman would have to go to the missionary meeting to find out how Mrs. Blank's sick baby is.

It is a slander that women are hard to please, as witness the marriages we see made every day.

When a boy would rather carry in coal than play baseball look out for a knock out demand from him.

All men may be free and equal by a mere matter of birth but woman has to scheme for her freedom, and she doesn't care to be just equal to that woman down the block.

There are plenty of persons who are all right as long as you don't get upon the wrong side of them.

The unsuccessful person is usually the one who is just a second too late.

Dress may make the man, but in addition to that it takes a bank account and a powder puff to make a woman.

HOBBLE LINGERIE.

New Under Apparel of Crape or Silk That Is Very Smart.

A hobble underwear apparel is the latest fad in the lingerie world, examples of these unique garments having been exhibited in New York shops recently. The new lingerie is made of the thinnest fabrics to be found, the materials most in use being silk crape, chiffon cloth and finely woven silk. Fine linen, which formerly was considered the daintiest of all for underclothing, is seen no more.

The new hobble style is essential with the fashionable dresses, which fit the figure so close at the hips, knees and ankles that a petticoat, however sheer, shows its outlines through the gown.

One of the oddest of the fashionable combination suits was of thin pink crepe de chine, made to be worn with a bust supporter and no corset unless possibly a webbing hip reducer. The upper part of the hobble garment was lace edged, and it was fashioned all in one piece, the skirt part reaching just below the knees, where it was drawn into an elastic band about an inch and a half in width. This band was just long enough to dispose of the slight fullness in the combination and to hold it close to the body. It also prevented the wearer from taking steps too long for her dress.

FOR THE WINTER TABLE.

Try Casserole Cookery and You Will Add Variety to the Menu.

The housekeeper who has tested the convenience and the delicious results gained from cooking en casserole will be delighted to add to her list of recipes mutton en casserole. For this dish take two pounds neck of mutton, two turnips, carrots, two onions, one heaping tablespoonful of flour, one heaping tablespoonful of butter, twelve preserved cherries, juice of half a lemon, one tablespoonful of mushroom ketchup, four tomatoes, two cupfuls of stock, salt and pepper. Wipe the meat; then cut it into neat, small pieces. Melt the butter and then fry the meat brown on both sides. Remove the meat, sprinkle in the flour and brown it carefully, says Good Housekeeping. Add the stock and stir until it boils. Put the meat into the casserole, add the sliced onions and tomatoes, some neatly cut pieces of carrot and turnip, the stock and a little salt. Put on the lid and simmer for about two hours until the meat is quite tender. Meanwhile, with a round vegetable cutter, cut out balls of carrot and turnip, using the reddest part of the former. Cook these in boiling salted water until tender; then drain and keep them hot. Season the stew with salt and pepper and stir in the lemon and ketchup. Arrange the vegetable balls and cherries on the top and serve as hot as possible.

Scalloped tomatoes in shells are delicious as an entree. Drain the juice from one can of tomatoes. Butter a baking dish and cover the bottom with the tomatoes. Dot with butter, dredge with pepper and salt and sprinkle generously with fine breadcrumbs Arrange another layer of tomatoes and crumbs and so proceed until the shells are filled. Pour over all enough of the juice of the tomatoes to moisten well and then finish the dish with a covering of crumbs. Bake for twenty minutes in a moderate oven. Garnish with parsley and serve.

Worth Knowing.

Orange fritters are as delicious an accompaniment to broiled or fried ham as apple sauce to spareribs.

To eggs baked in individual casseroles add a slice of tomato and a sprinkling of cheese.

When serving afternoon tea try using slices of orange instead of lemon. This, with green tea especially, gives it a delicious flavor.

If rice is cooked in water it will absorb about three times its measure. If it is cooked in milk at least half as much more liquid will be necessary.

If seams are pressed over a broomstick or any rounded edge, with care in keeping them straight, there will be no shining streak to mark their length.

To brown dishes that cannot be placed in the oven heat a salamander or round iron plate with a handle attached until red hot and pass over the top of the dish, being careful not to scorch.

Recipe For Pumpkin Pie.

Stew pumpkin, cut into small pieces in half pint of water and when soft mash with a potato masher very fine Let the water dry away, watching closely to prevent burning or scorching. For each pie take one well beaten egg, half cupful sugar, two tablespoonfuls pumpkin, half pint rich milk (a little cream will improve it), a little salt. Stir well together and season with cinnamon or nutmeg Bake with a good under crust in a hot oven Some steam the pumpkin instead of stewing it.

Too Much Liquor.

Regina, Feb. 3.—Thirty-six Chinamen, one hundred bottles of liquor and a quantity of opium were seized as a result of a raid by the police on a Broad street house.

BLUNDERS OF ARTISTS.

Curious Examples In the Dome of the National Capitol.

In the dome of the capitol at Washington there are eight great paintings carefully designed and executed by the artists for the adornment of the nation's greatest building. Yet five of them are either defective in technique or in error as to natural or historical facts.

One of the best known pictures is that in which Washington is shown resigning his commission to the Continental congress. There are two young girls, almost life size, standing in the foreground. They are very pretty young girls, but one of them has three hands. One left hand rests on the shoulder of her companion; another left hand is round her companion's waist. Doubtless the artist Trumbull painted both hands to see which pose he preferred and then forgot to paint out the superfluous hand.

Diagonally across the rotunda is the painting of the baptism of Pocahontas. Sitting in the foreground is Opecancanough, the uncle of Pocahontas. He is barefooted, and the artist has given him six toes on his left foot.

In the painting of the landing of Columbus, which used to be reproduced on the five dollar banknote, the artist has painted three flags. They are very well drawn, but one is blowing east, one west and one south, which indicates a very variable condition of the wind on that famous day.

In the picture of the surrender of Cornwallis General Washington is conspicuous seated upon a white horse. But General Washington was not present at the surrender. Cornwallis did not surrender his army in person, but sent a subordinate officer to do so. Accordingly Washington detailed an officer of corresponding rank to receive the surrender. It would have been a breach of military etiquette for Washington to be present.

The fifth picture, "Signing of the Declaration of Independence at Philadelphia on July 4, 1776," is wrong only in the title. The Declaration of Independence was adopted on July 4, but it was not signed by the members of the congress until Aug 2, 1776.—Youth's Companion.

No Use For Fresh Air.

Old time doctors had no faith in the virtues of fresh air. Andrew Boorde in his "Compendyous Regyment or Dietary of Heith," published 1542, writes: "To bedward and also in the morning use to have a fire in your chamber, to waste and consume evil vapours within the chamber, for the breath of man may putrify the air within the chamber. In the night let the windows of your house, specially of your chamber, be closed, let your nightcap be of scarlet, and this, I do advertise you, to cause to be made a good thick quilt of cotton, or else of pure flocks or of clean wool, and let the covering of it be of white fustian, and lay it on the feather bed that you do lie on."—London Chronicle.

Dead Easy.

Two guests missed the first courses of a dinner at a suburban home, which had been arranged partly in their honor. Hand bags had been searched, distant homes called on the telephone for information, much nerve energy had been expended, all because the key to the trunk containing the necessary dinner raiment could not be found. Finally a locksmith from the town four miles away came by automobile, was led to the trunk, and in less than a minute the lid was turned back.

"Good work," said the maid.

"Dead easy," said the locksmith; "the thing wasn't locked at all."—New York Tribune.

Up to Date Milkman.

"What are you giving your cows now in the way of galactagogues?" asked the Irvington professor of the milkman.

"Oh," said the milkman, who has just been graduated from Purdue and is not to be stumped by any Butler college pedagogue, "their [illegible] wholly of vegetable origin, rich in chlorophyl and opulent in butyraceous qualities."

"A pint, if you please," said the professor.

"Git up," said the milkman.—Indianapolis News.

The Speaker.

It was his power of protesting that in the first place gave the speaker of the British house of commons his name. For the early members were not great at oratory and soon realized the desirability of choosing a spokesman with a ready tongue and the courage to argue with the king. Hence came the title of "speaker," which was first given to Sir Thomas Hungerford in 1376.

Fairies.

How many kinds of fairy were there? A good many. For an elf differs from a troll, who must not be confounded with a pixy Then in addition there was the kelpie, the gnome, the brownie, the kobold, the nis and the urisk (a hairy Scotch spirit).—Chicago News.

Circumstances.

You might as well expect one wave of the sea to be precisely the same as the next wave of the sea as to expect that there would be no change of circumstances.

This world has been led more by footprints than guideboards.—H. A. Porter.

BONDS and MORTGAGES

Taxes are a superior lien upon all mortgaged property. Real estate may be sold for taxes, leaving the careless holder of a bond and mortgage with no security. Insurance may be allowed to lapse; then, should a fire occur the mortgage holder has only the bare ground security. Methodical attention absolutely averts these dangers. The maker of the mortgage may default in his interest payments. Here again experience, and skill are needed to properly conduct a foreclosure. Much money has been lost and many titles have been impaired through lack of skill and experience in such matters.

No One Injured.

A narrow accident was averted on the Fraser valley line of the B. C. E. R. yesterday afternoon when the special train carrying hockey fans to the local game last night, crashed into the rear end of the Chilliwack train leaving the Veddar mountain terminus at 1:20 o'clock. The rear vestibule of the ordinary train was somewhat smashed, although slight injuries was done to the hockey special. A small curve and the wet snow probably caused the accident, the brakes failing to pull up the train in the regular period.

G. Rutherford, president of the Western Canada Livestock union, said that the eastern breeders had not been looking after the interests of breed- of the west and had thereby neglected their own best interests.

Great numbers of American farmers were coming into the western provinces bringing with them connection, sentimental or otherwise, with breeders of the United States, and unless some move was made to secure the interest and co-operation of these men their purchases of breeding stock would be made south of the line.

Would Do More Business.

"The more representation you give the western breeders the more business you will do in the west," said Mr. Rutherford. "To refuse them the representation they now deserve would be, from your own standpoint alone, a narrow sighted policy. We in the west are not coming here with a club; we do not make a demand, but a fair and reasonable request.

"While in the past we have not asked much, we wish it understood that we are no longer children. We know what we want and we have not the slightest doubt that you will deal fairly and honestly with our request."

Dr. Rutherford's petition was supported in short addresses by Dr. Bell of Winnipeg and Dr. Tolmie of Victoria.

Called Impracticable.

That the presence of a western member as an officer of the working executive of the association was quite impracticable, was the stand taken by Wm. Smith, M.P. He felt that serious consideration should be given the matter. Any hasty move at the present time for the sake of appeasing western sentiment might lead to regrettable issues. Mr. Smith advised the most conciliatory treatment of the situation.

Peter White, K.C., of Pembroke, declared the present situation to be the result of hitherto uncontrolable difficulties and not due in any way to selfish spirits actuating eastern breeders.

The matter ended in the appointment of John Gardhouse and Robert Miller as a committee representing western Canada to meet with Harry Smith, acting as chairman. This committee will attempt to reach a satisfactory settlement to all concerned.

The effect of the recent tariff revision on the livestock industry of Canada was referred to by President Smith in his address. "There has been a great advance in the value of stock, due to the Wilson measure," he said. "The only way now for the farmer to continue in the cattle business is to be a cattle breeder. The silver lining of the cloud which has for some years been over us is now very apparent."

APPOINTED OVER MAYOR'S HEAD

Attorney General Announces License and Police Commissioners for Port Coquitlam.

*Port Coquitlam, Feb. 3—Mayor Mac*kenzie and his supporters on the council are somewhat embittered over the action of the attorney general in practically overlooking the mayor's recommendations in respect to the appointment of police and license commissioners and appointing men, with one exception, not approved by the administration.

The matter was brought up at the council today by the mayor, who told of a visit to Victoria and of the names of four men whom he approved as police and license commissioners. The mayor had had a conversation with W. J. Manson, M. P. P., at the capital, who approved of the names suggested and advised the mayor to forward them to the attorney general, promising that if the names were referred again to him he would certainly approve them. The mayor left Victoria satisfied that his recommendations would be accepted, although he received a letter from the attorney general advising that it did not follow that the men recommended should be appointed by the government.

A few days later a letter containing the government's selection was received. Only one out of the four of Mr. Mackenzie's men, Alderman Welcher, was appointed. The men approved by the mayor as commissioners were Alderman O'Hanley and T. W. Greer, license; and Alderman D. E. Welcher and C. F. Lobb, police. The attorney general's selection was Alderman Hawthorne and Mr. Tigar for police and Alderman Welcher and Arthur Mars, brother of ex-Mayor Mars, for license commissioners.

In commenting on the subject in council, Mayor Mackenzie stated that he had nothing against the men appointed by the government personally, but he could not understand why his recommendation had been given such scant consideration.

CHICAGO WOMEN BECOME VOTERS

Over 150,000 Register and Are Now "Real Citizens"—Women Judges and Clerks.

Chicago, Feb. 3.—More than 150,000 women, Chicago's "newest citizens," became today legal voters of Chicago b yregistering.

While enthusiastic suffragettes predicted a woman's registration of 200,000, it is conservatively estimated that more than 150,000 took advantage of the Illinois law giving women the right to ballot for all statutory offices.

Anticipating an unusually feminine interest the election officials appointed many women judges and clerks. These experienced but little difficulty in their unaccustomed places.

It was expected that difficulty would result over the provision which requires voters to state theiri ages. As a stumbling block, this was considerably overrated. Women gave their ages nonchalantly and without any particular effort to keep those ini earshot from hearing.

Every effort apparently was put forward by men officials in charge to make the occasion agreeable to women. Polling places were made clean and attractive and flowers were much in evidence. Also in many instances the men officials refrained from smoking.

There was an abolition of class lines throughout the entire city. Society women waited in line with their maids and cooks. Mayor Harrison, with Mrs. Harrison, their cook, housemaid and chauffeur, appeared together to register.

One woman objected to registering in a barber shop and she appealed to County Judge Owens.

"I don't think I should be asked to go into a place where a man is being shaved," she complained. The court, however, declined to order the shaving stopped or the polling place changed.

PORT COQUITLAM MAYOR AND COUNCIL REDUCE INDEMNITY

Port Coquitlam, Feb. 3.—The indemnity bylaw reducing the mayor's salary by $250 annually and the aldermen's indemnity by $50 annually was finally passed by the council today.

Dr. Davis was appointed medical health officer at the salary of $400 per annum. Dr. G. A. Sutherland, last year's officer, offered to accept the position at $250, on the grounds that the most trying part of the work had been done last year.

Ten applications were received for the position of engineer and several for auditor. These were laid over for a week to permit thorough examination.

On Timber Questions.

Victoria, Feb. 3.—It is expected that within a short time Hon. W. R. Ross, minister of lands, will be prepared to submit the new schedule of timber royalties. This question has been discussed at frequent intervals with the lumbermen of the province for fully a year. Recently Chief Forester McMillan and two accountants completed an exhaustive investigation into the cost of lumber production in British Columbia, going into all branches of the industry.

Workman Killed.

Vancouver, Feb. 3.—Conrad Miller, a workman in the employ of the city, at the corner of Rupert street and Thirteenth avenue, was instantly killed this morning by a blast which went off prematurely. The man was buried under falling rocks and a shower of small stones, and it was only by a miracle that his companions escaped injury. The body was removed to the city morgue where an inquest will be held.

Jamaica's Unlucky Year.

London, Feb. 3—Sir William H. Manning, governor of Jamaica, in his annual report for the year 1912-13 refers to the visitations of drought and the hurricanes of November, 1912, which caused widespread destruction and lasting distress and says: "The island has been the sport of circumstances for some years past." During the year the imports increased by £184,925 and the exports decreased by £238,784. "These figures," the report says, "very clearly indicates the grave effect which the prolonged drought and the hurricanes of 1912 produced in the economic conditions of the colony, and the extent to which the prosperity attained in 1911 has been diminished."

CAN UNCLE SAM PROTECT THEM?

Washington, Feb. 3.—General Villa's announcement of his intention to execute Spanish residents of Torreon who have sided with the Mexican federal forces may further test the ability of the United States to enforce its policy of protecting foreign residents in Mexico.

It was pointed out here tonight that it is the general rule of civilized warfare that foreigners who participate in a war shall receive the treatment of prisoners of war and that the United States government had specifically announced to Mexican revolutionists and federals alike that it expects to see that such treatment is accorded *not only to Americans, but to the citi*zens of other countries.

The state department today learned through its consular agents that the report that the Italian consul at Guidad Porfirio Diaz had been arrested and was denied communication with the outside world, was untrue. It is stated that the consul had been merely temporarily detained by General Alvarez.

Appoints Himself Judge.

Spokane, Feb. 3.—Appointed police judge of Colville for the remainder of this year by the Colville city council, Mayor L. C. Jesseph has found himself in the position of being compelled to sign his own appointment. He declared before being selected that he did not want the position, and since his appointment has announced that he will present all the fees from the office to the city.

Prominent Lawyer Indicted.

New York, Feb. 3.—Samuel W. Kellock, a lawyer formerly in the office of Charles H. Hyde, one time city chamberlain of the city of New York, was today indicted on a charge of grand larceny. He is accused of having obtained from the state $2309 alleged to have rightfully belonged to William Henderson, a contractor, as payment for the construction of a $7000 addition to the state hospital for the insane at Central Islip, Long Island.

RODE HER ON RAIL NOW PAY FINES

Five Women Scored by Judge for Running Neighbor Out of City—Kitchen Court.

Waukegan, Ill., Feb. 3.—Five women of Volo, Ill., accused of driving their neighbor, Mrs. John Richardson out of the village by riding her on a rail, today were fined $100 each by Judge Charles Donnelly. The women were given three days each to raise the money during which time Judge Donnelly will consider the advisability of inflicting a jail sentence if the money is not forthcoming. They were unable to pay in court.

Mrs. Emma Stadfeldt, wife of the village blacksmith, and known as "Captain Emma," was accused of being the leader of the women's party. She wept bitterly when the fine was imposed.

Mrs. Richardson is the wife of a crippled village storekeeper. She had been the subject of village gossip in which the name of her brother-in-law was involved. She was tried by a kitchen court of her neighbors six months ago and apparently convicted. The women visited her home late one night, ordered her from the village and, according to her story, placed her on a rail and rode her from her home.

In imposing sentence Judge Donnelly censured the women severely. Their sex alone saved the defendants, he said, from the maximum penalty, a $300 fine and six months in jail.

ROYALS MAKE RUNAWAY MATCH WITH VANCOUVER

Vancouver Forced to Take Count 8 Goals to 2—Westminster Make Splendid Showing.

Withstanding, to a certain extent a combined attack of New Westminster in the first two periods, the Vancouver hockey team wavered and crumbled in the third session at the rink last night during which time Westminster piled up a total of six goals, completing the rout to the tune of 8-2.

The victory was emphatic. The Royals started out to win the game and after making two successful visits to local ice, the Terminals returned home last night a well beaten aggregation. Incidentally the victory of the Royals places the Victorias in the lead for the Paterson cup, both the Terminals and the Senators being tied for games won and lost although the bunch under Lester Patrick have a slight advantage in goal scoring.

Fast Throughout.

Last night's game was a blinger from the first face-off, both teams hitting a fast pace in the opening session, which later developed into a regular riot when Hugh Lehman's ice dogs once got going. There was no stopping the Royals. They skated and skated; back-checked and attacked until the Vancouver defence was in a quandary whether to pack their goal or to retaliate. Whenever they retaliated the steady defence conducted by Messrs. Lehman, Johnson and Rochon was generally too much for the visitors and no less than six counters were slipped past Parr in the closing stanza to one scored by Taylor.

Taylor and Frank Patrick were the real stars of the Vancouver team. The others appeared demoralized and once the Royals found their billet in the third stanza, the attack was kept up to such an extent that Allan Parr was kept guessing just where the shots were coming from.

New Westminster played the best game of the season. Easily the speediest team in the three club circuit, the players combined their speed with the grey matter and combination which completely baffled the opposition. There was none of the selfish individual efforts which have featured previous games. Each man appeared to grasp the situation, once in possession of the puck and if the chances looked good for an individual effort he would attempt same or else pull off the combination stuff, which invariably was a source of trouble to the Vancouver defence.

Lehman Brilliant.

Standing out in the calcium were Hugh Lehman and Charlie Tobin, although every player wearing the black and orange played a stellar game. Lehman's work placed him in the front ranks of custodians both east and west, some of the shots levelled at the Westminster skipper compelling the crowd to hold their ozone until they were turned aside. Charlie Tobin came back into form last night by playing a great defensive and offensive game throughout the entire 60 minutes of play.

Rochon and Johnson were safe and steady. Both were to be seen rushing up the ice at full speed, the former going through alone in the second period while his passes in the last period accounted for two counters. Mallen, McDonald and Oatman all had plenty of speed, in fact there was but little to choose amongst the trio.

Taylor and Patrick.

On the Vancouver team Cyclone Taylor and Frank Patrick were easily the star men. Taylor led attack after attack but found little support or a sterling defence against him when he attempted to pass the rubber.

First Period.

The opening period was a fast one throughout, good hockey being displayed on both sides, with honors even. McDonald opened the scoring for the Royals after nearly six minutes of play, when he took the pass from Oatman.

Second Period.

Westminster kept pounding away in the early stages of the second period and after several stellar attacks, the Royals were rewarded with a goal from the stick of George Rochon, the Fort William boy going through alone. Frank Patrick scored the first for Vancouver following a mix-up in front of goal.

Third Period.

With no penalties and no injuries the third stanza was expected to be a thriller. It was from a Westminster standpoint. Oatman opened the fireworks when following a brilliant rush by Rochon along the boards, the winger took the pass with perfect precision and raised the hopes of the 2000 fans with a stinging shot.

Disputed Goal.

Then followed a dispute over an alleged goal scored by Harris of Vancouver, Poulin first allowing same but after strenuous objections made by Hugh Lehman, the puck was faced off near the Westminster goal. It appears that the puck glanced off Lehman's shoulder to the goal umpire and then fell into the net. Taylor made amends by going through in quick order, but the call was answered by Mallen, Tobin, Oatman and McDonald. Tobin's goal was of a fluky nature, Charlie lifting the puck from centre ice which found a billet through a host of players.

Clean Game.

Only two penalties were handed out during the entire session, Ran McDonald raising the ire of Poulin when he checked Griffis into the boards and the same player had hardly taken the ice at the expiration of the customary three minutes before he followed up the stunt. McDonald and Griffis were evidently not friends and it cost Westminster six valuable minutes of play from a star forward.

Officials Were Good.

Of the officials, little complaint could be levelled against Poulin and Kerr. Both kept the game well in hand and although they raised a storm of protest on certain occasions, the Victoria boys gave a very impartial display.

Last night's victory for Westminster raised the hopes of the fans that a repeat will be recorded at Vancouver on Friday night when the two teams meet again.

FEDS LOSE COLE

Farrell of New York Americans Comes Through With Kale—Will Get $3300 in 1914.

New York, Feb. 3.—Leonard L' (King) Cole, who recently jumped organized baseball and signed a three year contract with the Chicago Federal league club, has jumped back to the New York Americans. Cole signed a one year contract with the Yankees today for $3300, the figures named by Cole to President Farrell on Dec. 23, which Farrell duly accepted.

The salary is the same as the one stipulated in the Chicago Federal contract, which Cole signed in Chicago on Dec. 30. The acceptance of Cole's terms constitutes a legal contract, according to Farrell. Farrell's attorneys advised him that he was legally entitled to Cole's services.

Cole declared he would forward a check for the advance money received from the Federals—said to be $500—to his attorney in Chicago, with instructions to turn it over to the club officials there.

The local American league club will take no chance of Cole jumping back to the Federals, and he will be kept here until Feb. 12 when he will report in Hot Springs, Ark., with the Yankee battery men.

President Farrell said tonight he was prepared to meet any action the Chicago Federals might bring in the Cole case, but intimated he had reasons to believe they would not go to court in the matter.

INTER-CITY GAMES

Columbias and Beavers Will Clash on Local Ice Friday Night—Skating Afterwards.

Manager Savage of the Arena company together with the officials of the amateur hockey league yesterday made arrangements to stage an inter-city hockey game at the rink on Friday night between the Beavers, possible champions of New Westminster, and the Columbias, regarded as one of the fastest septettes in Vancouver.

The game will start at 8 o'clock, a skating session being scheduled from 9:15 to 10:30. Reports of the Westminster-Vancouver game at the Vancouver rink will be received by wire at the local rink.

SMOKER ARRANGED

104th Regiment Promise Good Card for Local Fans on Thursday, Feb. 12.

Arrangements have been completed by the athletic committee of the 104th regiment of this city for the staging of a smoker in the armories Thursday night, Feb. 12 when Vancouver and Westminster talent will clash for honors. Five boxing and two wrestling events are being carded for that night, the particulars to be published later promising to be worthy of support from local mat enthusiasts.

The support of the V. A. C. and the Commercial A. C. both of Vancouver, has been promised.

SPORT CHATTER

(By the Potter.)

They make hockey players in Ottawa. During the past two seasons the New Edinburgh amateur club of the inter-provincial league has lost the following players who have made the jump to the professional ranks: Gerard, Duford, Broadbent, Benedict, Merrill, Lowery and Atkinson. With the signing of Edide Gerard, the Ottawa sport writers will be deprived of their most useful between-seasons subject.

George McNamara, a member of the Ontarios for the past two seasons has been sold to the Torontos. Jack Marshall of the Blue Shirts is determined to give Ottawa a close race, with even prospects of copping the silverware.

Both eastern and yestern rules will prevail in the world's hockey series to be staged in the N. H. A. circuit this spring. The coast rules, seven men aside with the offside section in centre ice, will prevail in one game while the abbreviated N. H. A. rule will be used in the other. The magnates will probably toss up to decide the rules for the third game.

REPLAY ON SATURDAY

Coquitlam and Rovers Will Play at Moody Park—Great Interest Displayed.

Although climatic conditions yesterday were entirely against any suggestion of soccer, the fans began to warm up once the report got around that the Rovers and Coquitlam would clash at Moody park Saturday afternoon in the replay of the Mainland cup competition.

At a meeting of the executive of the Mainland Football association in Vancouver on Monday the tie game was ordered replayed at Moody park this coming Saturday so that with any break of luck with Mr. Weather Man in the way of removing the blanket of snow there will be something doing.

While the team under Manager Grant is by no means in the best of shape, matters are not much better in the ranks of the Ranchers so that the two aggregations will be on equal footing Saturday although the home grounds should more than offset the difference between a draw or a win for the Rovers.

The Coquitlam-Rovers game means the postponement of all city league fixtures which were arranged at Monday night's meeting.

With the chances of New Westminster being mixed up in the finals every team in the league appears to be pulling for the Rovers, making a heavy campaign to get every fan in the city and district out to Moody park when the two teams clash.

Referee Leach will handle the contest, 30 minutes overtime to be played should the teams again tie at the expiration of the regular 90 minutes.

U. S. A. TO COMPETE

Palma Trophy Match to Be Held Either Rockcliffe or New Connaught Rifle Range.

Ottawa, Feb. 3.—The Palma trophy match will be held either at Rockcliffe or at the new Connaught rifle range this summer. For some years past the competition for the trophy which represents the supremacy in long distance rifle shooting of the world, has been more or less semi-occasional. Some years it has been held, and more years it has not.

In order to revive the competition the Americans sent a team to Rockcliffe two years ago to compete for the trophy, which they already held, on condition that Canada sent a team to Camp Perry last year. This arrangement was followed out and later the National Rifle association of the United States sent a letter to the D. C. R. A., suggesting that whichever nation won the trophy, it should be competed for each year alternately at Ottawa and Camp Ferry. The D. C. R. A. wrote back agreeing to this, and at a meeting of the National Rifle association of the United States held the other day this letter was endorsed.

The transportation facilities to Connaught ranges are complete and it is altogether likely that the match will be held there this year immediately following the annual matches of the Dominion of Canada Rifle association.

At the Theatres

CHORUS GIRLS' CONTEST AT OPERA HOUSE TONIGHT

Tonight is chorus girls' contest at the opera house which is in addition to the regular performance of "Lena Rivers," and the tango dance.

There will be plenty of fun and a good time is promised to all who have the opportunity of attending.

The program consists of the two act musical comedy drama "Lena Rivers, with ten complete musical numbers, the dance of the tango and then the chorus girls' contest. On Thursday night the Colonial company present the farce comedy "My Uncle from New York," continuing Friday and Saturday with a special matinee Saturday for ladies and children. The tango will hold sway the entire week giving one an opportunity of seeing just how the tango should be danced.

Has been cast
Into the past
With no regrets
And a few unpaid election bets.
And, say,
The bad taste in the mouth
Has almost gone away.
Do you remember,

How seriously we took it
When it was here?
Each little side
Tried
To make itself think
That the country
Would be on the blink
If it didn't glide
In right
Side up with care
And have votes to spare.
My,
But we were excited
And ready to bet our cash
That the country
Would go to smash
If it didn't go our way!
Today
We see things in quite
A saner light.
Plain it is now,
We freely allow,
That this grand
And
Glorious old country
Of ours
Is self saving.

NEW DREDGE FOR ARROW LAKES

Department of Public Works Asks Tenders for Steel Suction Dredge.

Revelstoke, Feb. 3.—The department of public works is now calling for tenders for the 15-inch hydraulic self-propelling steel suction dredge for the Arrow lakes, tenders to be in the office of the secretary of the department by March 3.

R. F. Green, M.P., during his residence of 30 years in the Kootenay district, has always taken a very keen interest in the matter of transportation facilities, which he considers the foundation of the commercial prosperity of every community and on his election to the house as the representative of this district, he began immediately to plan necessary improvements in such facilities on our splendid waterways. Some of these improvements which have already been installed or are under way are the beacons and lights for the guidance of mariners, the provision of wharves at all necessary points, and the proper opening up and maintaining of the regular channels for navigation.

With regard to the beacons and the lights these have been placed at 13 different points on the Arrow, Slocan and Kootenay lakes and the steamer captains are unanimous in their opinion that they are one of the greatest aids ever given them and are already petitioning for still more of them at other places.

SAYS HE THREW ALCOHOL ON HER TO BURN

Mullan, Idaho, Feb. 3.—Infuriated when he was ordered to leave the place early this morning, John A. McPherson a miner, threw wood alcohol on his landlady, Mrs. William Kimble, set fire to her clothing and tried to set fire to the house, where three children were asleep according to the woman's story told the police.

McPherson had previously attempted to beat her, the woman says. Failing, he threw the alcohol over her clothing and she started to run. McPherson, it is said, pursued her and when he overtook her succeeded in touching a match to the saturated clothes, it is declared. Mrs. Kimble was seriously burned.

McPherson returned to the house and saturated it with oil and was trying to set fire to the building, so officers say, who arrived at the scene and arrested him.

At 5 o'clock in the afternoon the Kimble house was discovered to be on fire and only the prompt arrival of the fire department saved the building. The cause of the fire had occasioned considerable speculation.

Mrs. Kimble is resting well and is expected to recover. McPherson is being held for preliminary hearing.

HENRY ALLEN GRAY, BISHOP OF NEW DIOCESE

Edmonton, Feb. 3.—Bishop Henry Allen Gray of the new diocese of Edmonton. This tells the result of the election held in All Saints church when 80 odd members of the clergy and laity of the new diocese met to appoint their bishop which will comprise the whole of the northern portion of Alberta.

Five clergy were nominated to fill the position, those being: Archdeacon Gray, Rev. W. G. Boyd, rector of the St. Faith's church, Alberta avenue, Edmonton; Dr. Richardson, the right Rev. Bishop of Fredericton, N.B., Rev. Canon Webb of All Saints and Rev. C. Carruthers of Holy Trinity, south Edmonton.

Had Narrow Escape.

Humber Bay, Feb. 3.—Death from drowning in the cold waters of the Humber bay was narrowly escaped by Harry Cornish, who fell into the river while cutting ice near the old mill. Mr. Cornish had almost sawn a block of ice off, and just as he started to jump to the main stretch of ice, the block on which he was standing separated, and he fell into fifteen feet of water. His brothers caught him when he came to the surface and carried him to a nearby pavillion, where Dr. Bull, of Lambton, revived him.

CHINCHILLA SCHOOL CAP.

Comfortable for the little chap who plays outdoors in the bitterest weather is this comfortable cap of chinchilla fabric. Attached to the hat are ear laps, which add further warmth, protecting the laddie's little ears.

Novelties in Footwear.

In many respects the changes in footwear are radical. Gold shoes we are accustomed to, but the gold boots which have been brought out have not had much of a success. High shoes are buttoned. Bronze is coming back to us from the long ago. Boots with colored leather are good, polished gray kid having a great vogue, with pearl buttons. Patent leather is used for all sorts of boots and shoes, and cut steel and enamel buttons and fancy toe tips appear on only a few of the shoes. Gun metal calf is new for walking boots, but satin takes first place for evening shoes. Buckles have superseded all rosettes and bows, and single rhinestones are the few exceptions. Jeweled heels have appeared on evening shoes, and some of the stockings exhibit a rhinestone in the center of each pattern on the instep. Insets of lace figure on many of the more costly stockings, but one cannot do wrong in wearing plain silk hose.

The Bolero For Afternoon Wear.

A new fabric of the season has been christened "kitten's ear cloth" from its resemblance to the soft, veiny appearance to be found on the inside of pussy's ear.

The afternoon suit illustrated is of this material in crow's blue—a blue

OF CROW'S BLUE CLOTH.

that is almost black in its intensity. The bolero coatee is of the same shade of velvet embroidered with iridescent beads. The sleeves are odd little chopped off affairs. The hat is of black velvet, trimmed with blue ostrich, and the black patent leather boots have buttoned tops of blue satin

KITCHEN KINKS.

To cut hard boiled eggs in smooth slices dip the knife in water.

To cleanse a frying pan which smells of onions or fish fill the pan with water and when it boils drop in a redhot cinder. Afterward rinse and wash in the usual way.

When the grate is cleaned and polished rub all over with a piece of old velvet. Old velvet is also very useful as a final polishing cloth for waxed boards and floor cloths.

Apples cut in irregular pieces will cook more quickly in a pie than if sliced, for they do not pack closely as slices do, and so the hot air comes more easily in contact with the fruit and cooking is facilitated.

PLANS THEATRE COMPANY COVERING ENTIRE EMPIRE

Ottawa, Feb. 3.—"We are not satisfied with the condition of the theatre in Canada. It is too much at the mercy of speculative men, who send you what they choose and who are not in touch with Imperial-Canadian ideals in this country. You have too many companies, which, when they come across the line from the south, suddenly become all British, and who very frequently are not British at all; and stars who are one week born in Calgary and the next in Indianapolis."

So declared Martin Harvey, the eminent British actor, who is in Ottawa. His hope is an organization embracing Canada, Australia, New Zealand, India and South Africa, so that a theatrical company will be able to start from London, playing continuously all around the world under the Union Jack. "I call that a splendid Imperial idea, and it will, please God, be realized," he declared.

ABOLITION OF TANGO IN COLLEGE HALLS.

Toronto, Feb. 3.—The absolute abolition of the Tango in college halls in this city will be fought by a large number of students and their friends despite the efforts of President Falconer to stamp out this form of dancing. Already a petition is going the rounds to bring the whole subject before the board of governors.

REVOLT AGAINST THE BAN ON SLIT SKIRTS.

Vienna, Feb. 3.—Hungarian women are revolting against the regulation issued by Field Marshall Feteke, forbidding them to appear at military balls and similar functions in slit skirts.

They refused en masse to attend the ball at the Budapest military casino, and the function was consequently postponed.

One indignant woman in an interview says: "We obey the commands of the modes from Paris or Budapest, not the commander of the garrison. We like slit skirts; besides we have our dresses and cannot afford to buy fresh ones every few days, like the wives of generals."

Unless the field marshall rescinds his order, there may be no dancing in military circles in Budapest this season.

Charged with Blackmail.

Montreal, Feb. 3.—R. M. Carsten and Martin Sames, two detectives employed by the Dominion Temperance Alliance, were today arrested on a charge of blackmail. The complainant against them is J. P. Parker, owner of the Parisian cafe, who says they said they had evidence against him of selling after hours, but would get out of town for $20 each.

Greeks Make Passionate Appeal for Justice

Charge Bulgars With Blaming Their Atrocities in Balkan War on Hellenic Soldiers.

The following passionate appeal for justice to Greece appears in a recent edition of the Atlantis, a Greek paper, published in New York:

For some time past the suffering and starving hordes of Bulgaria have been called to the attention and sympathies of the American public with emphasis and persistence—so be it—great suffering and distress undoubtedly exists—the consequence of terrible and devastating war, and the unwillingness or inability of a grasping government and a people lacking both patriotism and co-ordination to meet conditions and bring order out of chaos. Let generous America give generously if she will—Greece does not ask for alms—but she is voicing her protest against the accusations of wholesale atrocities, murder and rapine publicly and officially brought to excite sympathy and most of all to distract attention from the proved and acknowledged atrocities committed by her troops which shocked the whole civilized world.

Would Shift Blame.

By declaring themselves the victims not the perpetrators, of unspeakable cruelties and wanton destruction they have sought to "put the shoe on the other foot." Their activities in the broadcast dissemination of defamatory literature concerning the Greeks have reached every country on earth. In America they have been given unwarranted publicity and credit—unwarranted in that the dreadful results of Bulgarian ferocity are a matter of public record and are at the disposal of any one who will give the time to ascertain them.

Unfortunately the "lurid allegations" proved so colorful that they were grabbed upon with avidity by certain journalistic interests and, with no thought of the injustice involved, set forth as facts to the public. The Greeks of America are righteously indignant—they have not asked help from any other country for their destitute thousands at home—they have co-operated in strenuous self-sacrifice to suffice to these pressing needs—but they do demand and expect common justice and a fair hearing from the American people. The very paper that is now conducting a whitewashing campaign and passing around the hat for Bulgaria printed in its columns not six months ago the following: "With the exception of the Greeks, who observed the principles of humanity and Christian warfare, the Balkan peoples have shown themselves to be hordes of murderers and oavages." The present attitude of this change of conviction—for the facts remain the same—to the shame of Bulgaria, they are now a part of the history of the nineteenth century. The reason then must be in the sensational elements involved. Let the sympathizres with the "Heroes of the Balkans" urge their readers to help the stricken nation, but when it comes to denunciation of those responsible for the prevailing misery existing now, not only in Bulgaria, but all over the Balkans, let them place the blame where it belongs or else pass silently over the whole tragic subject. Have they forgotten the statements of Sid Edward Grey in the house of commons or the results of the French investigations? Yet Mr. Pichon, minister of foreign affairs, unqualifiedly confirmed the accusations and the protest of the Greek government against the Bulgarian army when with the close of the second Balkan war they began in their retreat the systematic slaughter of the Greek non-combatants in Macedonia and the looting and total devastation of the country. The first secretary of the French legation at Athens, acting under instructions of the home office, visited Serres Doxato and Nigrita, immediately after evacuation by the Bulgarians. His personal report was of the most revolting nature—hundreds of defenceless Greeks had been massacred in a manner that only fiendish Tartar ingenuity could have imagined or executed. The consuls of Austria and Italy at Salonica visited Serres, and after official inspection of the smoking ruins of the once flourishing city and the questioning of the few survivors confirmed in every detail the righteousness of the bitter protest of the Greek government.

Condemned at Home.

Even the few Bulgarian inhabitants of the devastated area gave testimony to the insane fury of their conationalists, denouncing them as assassins and bandits who spared neither noncombatant nor their own countrymen.

The wholesale and inhuman slaughter of the Mohammedan population by the Bulgarians during the Greco-Turkish war was officially confirmed by the British foreign minister, Sir Edward Grey. Sir Edward's accusations were based on the British consular reports from Macedonia and Thrace. The minister declined, however, to make public the details of the matter, contending that consular reports were confidential and moreover that he had refused to publish reports from the same consuls concerning the massacres committed by the Turks. Nowhere is there even a question of Greek atrocities.

"Forgive us, oh, ghosts of the Huns if, in an endeavor to describe the Bulgarian atrocities, we have wronged you by comparing their deeds to the traditions of horror you have left to posterity," wrote Signor Luciano Magrini, war correspondent of the Messaggero of Rome and the Secolo of Milan, after his visit to Macedonia and Thrace during the second Balkan war, when he beheld the remains of the towns and villages burned by the Bulgarians and the corpses of Greek and Turkish peasants slain or burned alive by the "soldiers of Fredinand." Captain Cardale of the British Royal Navy, accompanied one of the French officials on his heartrending mission of investigation and reported to his government scenes of unparalleled horror. The Bulgarian bishop of Drama issued a forceful protest against the deeds of the soldiers of his own country, while the newspapers of Sofia are full of admissions and even boasts that are hair-raising.

"Whosoever undertakes to defend the barbarians of Bulgaria will find himself face to face with such a mass of hideaous facts that he must find his position either ridiculous or untenable.

The fiendish fury of the Bulgar is peculiar to his race—the Tartar. He has no place among European nations. He is of the same stock as the Huns and vandals that over ran Europe.

For more than a thousand years, since he invaded and held the territory he now occupies, he has shown himself, once the surface of superimposed civilization is scratched, to be the ferocious, blood-mad descendant of the ancestors whose boast and glory was war, torture, pillage and rape, to whom the ideal of truth was a laughing-stock and the oath of honor but a means of duping an enemy.

The same conditions pertain in Central Asia today. Go find the Pekin Gazette and read the records of the Tai-Ping rebellion in China—so awful that even the Kurdish officials and the Kahns of India protested. The little brother of the Tartar does not affiliate easily with the rule of mercy and self-control.

No European could have committed or permitted such deeds as Bulgaria has set to her discredit. At her door alone lies the incredible but only too well verified slaughter of a hundred and fifty thousand non-combatant Mohammedans—women and children—drowned, burned, shot or bayonetted in his gory advance against the Turks at Loule-Bourgas. He turned his murderous frenzy against the non-combatants of Greece when the armies of that nation were driving him from Macedonia. All this is no secret. By letters, photographs, official examinations, national investigations, it is all verified. Like the Tartar that he is, the Bulgarian slays, when victorious, from sheer lust of slaughter, and when defeated he raped, tortured and slew in sheer hysteria of revenue.

The Greeks are the outposts of European civilization of which Greece herself was the mother. Never in all her annals has she shown one evidence of Tartar brutality. On the contrary, a national spirit of force and idealism, a respect for the laws that were even the expression of the aspirations of the people have from time immemorial been hers. Her armies fought against an army barbaric in its methods—she fought beside an army even more inhuman—yet she conducted her campaign according to the rules of warfare laid down by the nations of Europe. Is her honor now to be besmirched? Is she to stand by and permit her racial soul to be defiled by calumny? Shame on those who would commit such an injustice. Could the members of any nation, save the cruel Tartar, have taken as his mementoes and spoils of war portions of his victims, dried in the smoke of their burning homes? Yet this was the common habit of the Bulgarian trooper.

Bulgaria now is awake to her disgraced position among the nations. Shall she be permitted to endeavor to clear her garments from the stain of innocent blood by heaping false accusations upon her neighbors? What must we think of those who assist her in this last and most cowardly crime? The 300,000 Greeks of America call upon the millions of Americans: "Give the Bulgarians your money; we ask only your justice."

FOUR YEAR OLD GIRL DIES OF HYDROPHOBIA

Toronto, Feb. 3.—Frances Stewart, 155 Roslin avenue, Bedford park, the four year old girl supposed to have been suffering from hydrophobia, died in the sick children's hospital at 12:30 yesterday morning. Over seven weeks ago the child was bitten by a dog, but a week afterwards, through the agency of carbolic acid, she was out playing Saturday she became feverish and seemed to fear that the dog was chasing her. She was conveyed to the hospital, where she died yesterday. A post-mortem is being held on the child to determine what caused her death.

GIRLS NOT WANTED IN PERSIAN HOMES

Women in Eastern Country Treated as Chattels and Not Even Conceded Souls.

Two cradles are to be found in the Persian home, one lined with silk and satin and the other with cotton, explained Miss Ella Sykes, in a recent lecture in London. If a boy is born, he is at once accorded the privilege of the silk and satin cot; there are feasts and congratulations, and even the beggars are feted and given money. Far otherwise is the case when the baby is a girl. She is placed in the cotton cot, for her arrival is regarded as a domestic calamity, and the unhappy father, if in a bad temper, may even bastinado the nurse who comes to tell him the news.

When the boy goes out of doors he wears amulets—say a turquoise stuck into a sheep's eye brought from Mecca at the time of the annual sacrifice, because of its virtue to avert "the evil eye." He is brought up in charge of a Mullah or priest, who teaches him to read and write and say his prayers and recite from the Koran, and the art of paying compliments.

Poor Fatima, the girl, lives in a different sort of a world. If not embroidering or learning how to make sherbet, she pays a visit to the Mosque, where she can see but little in the part screened off for her. A visit to the baths is more to her liking, and here, after the customary ablution, her lips and finger tips are stained with indigo and sienna, her eyebrows outlined with gold, and her cheeks rouged and powdered.

It is to marriage that she looks for a change of her lot. The parents take the matter in hand, and when her prospective mother-in-law arrives the young maiden, having perhaps heard something to the disadvantage of the youth, takes that opportunity to signify her dissatisfaction to his mother by handing the tea and sweet-meats very rudely to her. This breaks the match, and the courtship is at an end. Again, when the young lady, with her mother, calls at the youth's house, this young gentleman is invisible, though he probably has a peephole from which he inspects the veiled maiden, though they are not supposed to see each other until the day of formal betrothal by the Mullah. The surreptitious glimpse may, however, be quite sufficient for him to say of her: "Her face is like the full moon and she waddles like a goose," or "She has made roast meat of me and all goes extremely well."

When marriage takes place she becomes her husband's chattel, and the man consoles himself by the knowledge that he can have four legal wives under the Mahometan law. Divorce is quite easy, for all he has to do is to say three times: "I divorce thee."

As in life, so in death, and in Paradise. Even to the latter place she is admitted practically on sufferance, as the Prophet has said that there are grave doubts as to women having souls at all. The apartment allotted to Fatima in Paradise is therefore much inferior to that occupied by her late husband Husan, to whom beautiful youths present goblets of unfermented wine, while houris of surpassing charm sing to him unceasingly.

ROYAL DIVORCE IS TO BE EXPEDITED

Stockholm, Sweden, Feb. 3.—The divorce proceedings pending between Prince William of Sweden and his wife, who, before her marriage, in 1908, was the Grand Duchess Marie Pavlovna of Russia, have been advanced a further step by the appointment of special commissioners who are to meet in St. Petersburg to arrange various matters arising out of the dissolution of the royal marriage.

King Gustave has commissioned Dr. Otto Hack Roland Printaskoeld, chief marshal of his court, and Dr. Harmarskjoeld, governor of Upsala, to proceed to St. Petersburg to discuss with the representatives of the Emperor of Russia the question of financial arrangements and of the custody of the one child of the marriage, Prince Lennart.

The princess, who is a daughter of the Grand Duke Paul Alexandrovitch, and a cousin of the Emperor of Russia, is in her 24th year. She recently left her husband, a son of the King of Sweden, in his 30th year, and it was reported at the time that domestic troubles had arisen.

WOULDN'T TRAVEL 124 MILES TO SEE BROTHER

Aburn, Wash., Feb. 3.—Living within 124 miles of his brother yet not visiting him for 22 years simply because of a general disinclination to travel is the somewhat unique record of Wilson Atkin, who returned Thursday from a week's visit with his brother, J. B. Atkin, cashier of the Kalama bank, at Kalama, Wash.

His brother, who for more than 20 years has been cashier of the Kalama bank, until recently was the only employee of the institution and for that reason it was impossible for him to be absent the two days that it would take to come to Auburn and return. He also possesses the same general dislike to venture from his own town so that neither had met for 22 years until the Auburn man went there last week.

BRIDGE CLOSED.

Niagara Falls Officials Take Precautions Against Smallpox.

Niagara Falls, Ont., Feb. 3.—The officials today closed the international bridges to unvaccinated persons living here and living on the American side, or living on the American side and living here. All were told that they must be vaccinated or they would not be allowed to cross the bridges.

City Health Officer Logan stated that he had taken this action to prevent the spread of smallpox to this city. The health officer across the border reported a total of 125 cases.

COURTSHIP OF BIRDS.

Remarkable Habits Enter Into the Instincts of Mating.

"Of all the bird tribe by far the most interesting in its customs of courtship and marriage is the ruff. They are a remarkable example of selection by the female, and it is possibly from a contemplation of these interesting creatures that Mr. Shaw originally got his idea for 'Man and Superman,'" said Dr. F. B. Korkman in an address before a London college.

"The ruff is a swashbuckling bird with an imposing collar or ruff of feathers round his neck and a fascinating crest of feathers on his head. His whole object in life is to please Miss Ruff, but he plays quite a passive part and can only stand and wait to be chosen, and not all of the male birds are fortunate enough to be so favored. When the time for choosing comes round the male birds take up their position on a hillside and wait for the glad moment, making themselves look as bewitching as possible.

"But of a colony of twenty-two ruffs observed only eight were chosen by the discriminating females, and of these only two—both of them very gaudy, dressy birds — were chosen time after time. One can only sympathize with the poor ruffs who were left out in the cold altogether, and hope that they accepted their exclusion with some philosophy.

"Even the London sparrow is extremely interesting in his courtship, although we live a lifetime among them without knowing it. The mating of the sparrows may be observed at any time between March and June. That sudden, fierce outburst of chattering which most of us think mistakenly is the prelude to a fight is really a courtship conducted in sparrow style.

"The cocks surround a lady sparrow, each crying out shrilly his own excellences and the shocking demerits of the others. The lady accepts all this homage by pecking furiously at all the excited suitors, but eventually she makes her choice and hies off with one, and they live happily together for the rest of the season.

"The cormorant also has a most interesting way with him. When he is 'in love' he lies down and, twisting his neck round, lays it flat along his back. And if Miss Cormorant is touched, as she should be, by this display of misery and devotion, she gently caresses with her bill the feathers of Mr. Cormorant at the point where the neck curves over on to the body, and all is well."

Book Evolution.

"Books" have progressed from the days when they were only wooden rods or bits of bark. For the derivation which connects "book" directly with "beech," both having been "boc" in Anglo-Saxon, is the favorite one. "Buchstaben," the German word for letters of the alphabet, means literally "beech staves." Many book words go back to such vegetable origin. The Latin "liber," a book, whence comes our "library," was properly the inner bark or rind of a tree, especially of papyrus. The Greek "biblon," whence "Bible" and "bibliophile," meant much the same thing. A "codex" was a block of wood, and "leaf" is obvious.

Marked by Ribbons.

Women guides and interpreters in Budapest wear a different colored ribbon for each language which they speak. They are to be seen walking about the city, waiting at railway stations and driving in carriages. Some have two or three ribbons, and others have four, five or six. Bright red represents English, a heliotrope or lavender is German, a brilliant yellow means French, a pale blue is Italian, a brown means Danish, Dutch is a nile green, and so on throughout all the colors and most nations of the earth.

Tribute To the Dog.

Whether a dog is the best friend of man cannot be answered by me, but of all the animals which have become domesticated the dog has been shown to be the only one that never knows the difference of caste, class, wealth or habitation. The shriveling, half starved dog, clinging to the wasted toiler in the humblest abode of a hungry family, will never forsake to go next door to the family that has the blue ribboned, silver belled poodle or the felt wrapped collie.—Colonel John H. Lewis.

An Eye Experiment.

The two eyes really see two objects. If the two forefingers be held, one at the distance of one foot, the other two feet in front of the eyes, and the former be looked at, two phantoms of the latter will be observed, one on each side. If the latter figure be regarded, two phantoms of the nearest finger will be observed mounting guard, one on either side.

Recreant Auditor.

"You went to sleep during your wife's speech."

"Yes," replied Mr. Meekton. "Henrietta has been rehearsing that speech for a week. I told her I had better not come here. I knew something like this would happen if she couldn't shout, 'Are you listening, Leonidas?' every now and then."

Most Likely.

Tommy—Papa, a river is fed by small streams, isn't it?

Papa—Yes, my son.

Tommy—Then I s'pose that is what makes its mouth water, isn't it?

Not a Chance.

Paying Teller—You must get some one to identify you before I can pay this check. Have you any friends in this town?

Stranger—Not one. I'm the dog catcher.

Dismiss Tippling Trainmen.

Pittsburg, Feb. 3.—Railroads in the Pittsburg district are waging vigorous warfare against tippling by employees. One line has dismissed forty and another seventeen men for breaking the rules against drinking.

It Is Service That Backs Up Advertising Most Successfully

In a very real sense every business is a public service enterprise. A man who supplies commodities to a community, whether that community is a neighborhood, a city, or the whole country, prospers only in so far as he subserves the interests of his patrons. This sounds elementary, but an amazing number of men are ignoring this doctrine in actual practice.

In the past few years the public has been swinging to this view of not only large enterprises, like railroads and public utility corporations, but of smaller institutions. The merchant, large or small, who does not sense the full meaning of this changed viewpoint is doing himself serious injustice and is "in" for many a harassing experience.

That the more progressive business men everywhere are becoming more fully aware of their public service functions is shown by such phrases as these which are occurring in greater and greater numbers in advertisements: "Our store is your store." "We pay the clerks for your service." It is only by fully satisfying you that they can satisfy us."

Many a business that is selling excellent goods and observing all the conventional rules of good merchandising is falling short of its greatest success just because the directing intelligence fails to comprehend this profoundly significant fact of business as a public service. Regarding the public as a body that exists for his convenience, the manager keys his whole enterprise accordingly. Some day he wakes up to the sorrowful fact that for some reason or other he is "out of tune."

A vivid understanding of his true position as a director of a Public Service Enterprise will enable anyone who is now groping for the mysterious reason which will explain his lack of complete success to clarify his problem, will energize the business anew and will raise unsatisfatcory service—and perhaps goods— that lose buyers into satisfactory service that keeps buyers and adds to them still others.

Advertising that is reinforced by a dynamic policy of public service is unassailable. It is practically competition proof, given a measure of experience and judgment in direction.

THE NEW WESTMINSTER NEWS

TRIED TO INSURE WOMAN HE KILLED

Damaging Evidence in Trial of Hans Schmidt, Former Priest Accused of Murder.

New York, Feb. 3.—Hans Schmidt, the former priest on re-trial for the murder of Anna Aumuller, sought to have another woman insure her life for a large amount under the name of Anna Aumuller and gave her $35 to be placed to the credit of his victim with a savings bank, according to testimony today.

This surprise was launched by the prosecution when Miss Bertha Zech, formerly the maid of Dr. Ernest A. Muret, Schmidt's friend and alleged counterfeiting accomplice, appeared on the witness stand. Miss Zech, who, according to Assistant District Attorney Delehanty, "had been spirited away to New Jersey and had been brought to New York only after much 'coaxing,'" figured in the trial for the first time.

Mr. Delehanty said he regarded Miss Zech's testimony as proof of the prosecution's claim that Schmidt had planned to murder Anna Aumuller early in 1913 and that his intention to insure the life of the girl showed "cold blooded" premeditation.

Summing up will begin tomorrow.

DRINK SILENT TOAST TO STRATHCONA'S MEMORY

London, Feb. 3.—The Canadian club drank tonight in silence to the memory of Lord Strathcona, eloquent tributes subsequently being voiced by the president, Sir Gilbert Parker, Alfred Smithers and others. Indisposition prevented Alderman Hanson presiding.

Mr. Smithers took the opportunity to reiterate his admiration of the way in which Canada had lately passed through the period of tight and scarce money in a manner which would have been creditable to a much richer and older country. She had emerged with a first class credit and would obtain all the money she ever wanted for legitimate purposes.

States in Third Place

Washington, Feb. 3.—Experts of the navy department juggled the statistics in the navy year book for 1913 to make the American navy appear inferior to the German navy and thereby set the United States down from second to third place as a naval power, it was charged today by Representatives Witherspoon of Mississippi, and Henley of Missouri.

St. Louis Next.

Indianapolis, Ind., Feb. 3.—Final adjournment of the twenty-fourth convention of the United Mine Workers of America, which has been in session here since January 20, was taken tonight. St. Louis was chosen as the convention city in 1916, over Kansas City, by a small vote.

Hon. Louis Coderre's Father Dies.

Ottawa, Feb. 3.—The father of Hon. Louis Coderre, secretary of state, died at his home at St. Ours this morning. He was a very old man and had been ill for a few weeks. Mr. Coderre was at his bedside.

Military Dinner.

Ottawa, Feb. 3.—The Paardeberg dinner will be held at government house on Saturday evening, Feb. 28. Invitations from H.R.H. the Duke of Connaught have been issued to all the officers in Canada who served in the South African war. It is the most important military dinner of the year.

Millionaire Lumberman Dead.

Hoquiam, Wash., Feb. 3.—Joseph Lytle, millionaire lumberman, died here today, aged 56 years, from an illness induced by a fall a week ago. He was the head of one of the largest lumber companies in Washington.

Record Price for Bull.

Saskatoon, Feb. 3.—Hon. W. C. Sutherland on Monday sold his famous shorthorn bull "Gainford Marquis," to H. L. Emmert, the Winnipeg millionaire. Mr. Sutherland would not disclose the price received beyond saying that he believed it was the biggest price ever paid for a bull in Canada.

Solicitor Appointed.

Regina, Feb. 3.—G. F. Blair was tonight appointed city solicitor for Regina in succession to S. P. Grosch, selected for the local government board. Mr. Blair has been a member of one of the prominent local legal firms which include W. H. Martin.

Tore Up a Bible in Church.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Feb. 3.—Members of the congregation of the Lyon street church of Christ sat aghast when the Rev. William Nelson picked up a small Bible and tore it into bits, scattering the fragments on the heads of the parishioners, to introduce his topic for the evening; "Tearing the Bible to Pieces."

Tacoma Elections.

Tacoma, Feb. 3.—Friends of ex-Mayor A. V. Fawcett, recalled three years ago and succeeded by the present incumbent, Mayor W. W. Seymour, today obtained nomination blanks from City Clerk Edwards and Mr. Fawcett tonight said he would run for mayor in April. Fawcett is the second announced candidate for mayor. E. O. Heinrich, ex-city chemist, is the other. As the author of the anti-treating ordinance, which forbids a man buying a drink for another in a saloon, ex-Mayor Fawcett won wide publicity.

Sentence Deferred.

New York, Feb. 3.—Sentencing Wm. Willett, Jr., former congressman, convicted of paying a bribe for a supreme court nomination to Joseph Cassidy, erstwhile Democratic leader of Queen's county, was deferred today until tomorrow. He probably will be sentenced along with Cassidy, convicted last night of receiving the bribe and Louis T. Walter, Jr., the go-between, also found guilty. All face a maximum penalty of two years in the penitentiary and a $2000 fine.

CARRIED BOMBS THROUGH STREETS IN PAPER BAGS

New York, Feb. 3.—The skull and cross bones as the sign by which members of a gang of blackhanders that have terrorized east siders was identified on the stand in court of general sessions by Anthony Saditys, called by the prosecution as a witness in the trial of Antonio Sylvestro accused as a blackmailer. The witness, known among his fellows as "Burke," told calmly of his own criminal acts as a blackmailer. After serving time in state reformatories, Saditys, who is only 21 years old, said he earned his living through stealing horses and wagons and by committing burglary.

"How many bombs did you shoot?"

"About 35 or 40," he replied. "I don't just remember. Some places I shot twice."

Bombs were carried through the city streets in paper bags and dynamite in suit cases.

YOUTH RUNS TWO MILES THERMOMETER 20 BELOW

Bottineau, N. D., Feb. 3.—Andrus Lokken, aged 22, had both feet frozen and was otherwise so badly injured from exposure when he ran two miles across the country last night, with the temperature over 20 below, clad only in thin undershirt reaching barely to his hips, that he may die.

Lokken, alarmed when his employer, Olaf Gutto, made alleged threats of murder against him and against Mrs. Gutto, leaped from a window of his room into the snow, and ran two miles till he reached the home of a neighbor where he was taken in almost unconscious.

Mrs. Gutto, several minutes later, followed Lokken in his flight, clad only in her nightgown and she reached the home of another neighbor, a half mile distant, and she also suffered greatly from exposure.

Jealousy caused the trouble and a quarrel between husband and wife, during which alleged threats were made after they had all retired for the night.

Butter Will Be Cheap.

Victoria, Feb. 3.—With the largest shipment of butter ever brought north from New Zealand, the Canadian-Australian liner Niagara, Captain Morrisby, arrived at the outer wharf early this morning. For Victoria and Vancouver the vessel carried 23,000 56-pound boxes of butter. The refrigerating capacity of the ship was taxed to its limit in accommodating the enormous shipment and the market will be glutted for the next few weeks. Much of the shipment will be sent east from Vancouver. The Niagara had one of the largest cargoes brought to this port from the Antipodes in a long time. The only other important item on the manifest was frozen mutton, of which there were a great many carcasses. The Niagara broke the record for the passage from Sydney to Auckland on this trip.

RADIUM FAILS AS CURE FOR CANCER

Baltimore, Md., Feb. 3.—Congressman Robert G. Bremner of New Jersey, who had radium valued at $100,000 placed in a cancer last December, is dying in a sanitarium here. It has been announced that complications had arisen and death was a matter of only a few days, perhaps hours, that only the inoditable will of the congressman was keeping him alive.

Mr. Bremner rallied today from the weakness of yesterday and insisted on working on a bill he has before congress. This afternoon he called his brother, Leith Bremner of Richmond, Va., to the bedside and telling him eh realized the end was near, requested him to take charge of the Passaic Daily Herald which he owns.

When Mr. Bremner consulted physicians here in December he was told that the cancer was so large that it did not lend itself well to radium treatment.

Mr. Bremner is a native of Keiss, Caithness, Scotland, whence the family emigrated to Canada when he was a young man. His mother, Mrs. Alex. Bremner, is living in Camilla, Ont.
