[illegible]DUS LOST APPEAL CASE. [illegible]VE MEN AGAIN ABOARD SHIP

Position Taken by Immigration Officials Unanimously Upheld.

On Every Point at Issue the Five Judges of the Court of Appeal Were of One Mind.

Victoria, July 6.—The court of appeal this morning unanimously dismissed the Hindu appeal and upheld the validity of the steps the immigration officials took in preventing the landing of the Komagata Maru passengers.

The test case which the court of appeal gave a decision on this morning was that of Munshi Singh. The court has upheld the validity of the orders-in-council followed by the immigration authorities in attempting the deportation of Munshi Singh on the following grounds: 1. That the Hindu is a native of India, an immigrant of Asiatic race, and does not possess in his own right, $200; 2. That he is an immigrant who has come to Canada otherwise than by continuous journey from his native country; 3. That he is an unskilled laborer.

The court further ruled that except in the case of persons who are Canadian citizens or have a Canadian domicile, there is no power in any court to review or quash any order made by a board of enquiry, as set out in section 23 of the immigration act.

On all these points the five members of the board—Chief Justice MacDonald, Hon. Justice Irving, Martin, Galliher and McPhillips—were unanimous Ladder is Lowered at Order of Immigration Agent Malcolm Reid.

The Next Move is Again Up to the Hindus—Will Continue to Guard the Japanese Ship.

Vancouver, July 6.—Late this evening the five Hindus who have been floating around in the harbor between the devil and the deep sea, were taken aboard by the compatriarchs. Several days ago these Hindus were allowed into a boat for the purpose of conversing with relatives who came over from Nanaimo. As soon as they were in the government boat the ship's ladder was raised and despite all urgings and protests, the Hindus aboard ship refused to lower the ladder or allow the return of the five. They were not allowed to land and for several days and nights were kept in a small launch.

This evening Immigration Agent Reid went out to the Komagata Maru and tied up alongside the ship. He notified the Hindus aboard ship that the five would have to be taken on board within two minutes.

The Hindus gave way at once. The ladder was lowered and the men went aboard.

Next Move Not Known.

What the next step will be in the case, which is one of the most peculiar ever experienced in Canadian immigration circles is not known this evening.

PUBLIC HEALTH AND EDUCATION

Work of Conservation Commission Will Be Greatly Extended.

Vigorous Campaign Will Be Undertaken to Educate the Public on the Subject of Health.

Ottawa, July 6.—The work of the commission of conservation of Canada will be extended shortly along new and important lines. To the task of conserving the natural resources of the Dominion will be added the conservation of public health and the education of the general public in matters pertaining to this.

On August 1, the first number of a publication dealing with public health, public hygiene, sanitation and similar subjects, will be issued. After that date it will be issued monthly and copies distributed to all on the mailing list of the commission as well as all doctors, teachers and others interested in the work. By means of this publication it is intended to carry on a vigorous campaign for the education of the public on this question, so important to national progress. A similar campaign has been in progress in the United States for a number of years under the control of the boards of health of the different states and has been attended with marked success and a distinct betterment of conditions.

It was at one time proposed to establish a national board of health as a separate department of the Dominion government but it has now been decided that the field should be developed by the conservation commission.

When the fact is taken into consideration that out of the one hundred thousand deaths more or less in Canada last year, forty thousand were caused by diseases which could have been prevented by a proper regard for sanitation, some idea will be gained of the importance of the task assumed by the commission. The water supply will be gone into very carefully in the early part of the investigation of conditions.

LAST HOPE GONE FOR KRAFCHENKO

Law Allowed to Take Its Course—Attempt to Have Him Examined for Insanity Fails.

Ottawa, July 6.—A request for an examination of John Krafchenko, of Winnipeg, as to his sanity, was received by the department of justice today from the condemned man's counsel. It is said here that the request will not be granted as it is not based on any weighty doubt as to the sanity of Krafchenko.

BIG FALL FAIR WILL BE SUCCESS

Active Work Under Way in Interest of Provincial Exhibition.

Building Will Be Improved and Arrangements are Being Made for Addition of New Features.

Although nearly three months will elapse before the gates at Queen's park swing open to admit the visitors to the annual provincial exhibition, the directors are leaving no stone unturned to have everything in readiness for what promises to be the banner show in years.

A meeting of the full executive of the R. A. & I. society with the city council, held yesterday afternoon, the preliminary arrangements regarding the buildings at the park were discussed. During the meeting it was pointed out that with excellent crops in the valley and the upper country, together with the fact that the Dominion fair would this year be held in Victoria, the need of additional accommodation for the handling of increased exhibits was never more apparent.

As to the existing buildings, Mayor Gray and Alderman Jardine reported that plans were under way for immediate improvements, which include the re-shingling of most of the structures. The question of providing a dairy building, and possibly a transportation building, so that an automobile show could be held in connection with the fair, was left to a special committee, of which Alderman Jardine is chairman.

Manager MacKenzie reported that he had been approached by several dog fanciers with the idea of having a kennel show during the exhibition. This was held in abeyance pending the report of the special committee on buildings.

The horse show, which during the past two years has been the feature of the fair, will be better than ever according to Chairman Cunningham, of the horse show committee. He reported that through semi-official sources it was learned that Hon. Clifford Sifton, of the prairies, was planning to invade the fall coast shows with his string of hunters and jumpers. It is possible that a high jump event will be provided each night.

Hon. Clifford Sifton will be given plenty of opposition from Col. A. D. McRae, president of the Canadian Western Lumber company, who recently scoured the prairies for the best jumping stock he could find.

The first copies of the 1914 prize list were presented at the meeting and approved. The bulk will be run off the presses within the next few days and will then be mailed to prospective exhibitors.

AMENDING BILL PASSES LORDS

On Second Reading the Vote Was 273 For, to 10 Against.

Notice of Amendments Handed in Providing for Exclusion of Ulster From Home Rule

London, July 6.—The house of lords today passed by 273 to 10 the second reading of the bill to amend the Irish home rule bill.

That the house of lords would pass the bill in order to amend it in committee was a foregone conclusion, but there was surprise that only ten "Diehards" could be found to vote for Lord Willoughby De Broke's motion for its rejection.

Opposition Challenged.

The Marquis of Crewe, in winding up the debate for the government, challenged the opposition to guarantee that there would be no civil war in Ireland, even if the bill was amended to allow the exclusion of Ulster. Concerning the possibility of a solution by conference, if dropping the amending bill and breaking down the government's policy was to be a preliminary, it would be impossible for the government to accept it, but short of entailing such a sacrifice, the government was most anxious to facilitate a conference.

For himself, he did not hesitate to say that if John Redmond, the Irish nationalist leader; Sir Edward Carson, the Ulster unionist leader; William O'Brien and two or three other Irishmen, could get together, it would be a better augury for some permanent arrangement than any other kind of a conference.

After division was taken, notice of several amendments were handed in providing for the exclusion from home rule of the whole of Ulster.

These amendments, if carried, will make the exclusion of the whole province of Ulster absolute without any referendum or election and the excluded province will be placed under the jurisdiction of the new secretary of state in the Imperial parliament, whose administrative orders would require the sanction of the British parliament.

PORT MOODY OFFICIALS HAVE FINE QUARTERS

New City Hall Completed and Occupied Yesterday for the First Time—Well Arranged.

City Clerk Ferguson, Chief of Police Mills, the assessor, and engineers and other officials of the Port Moody city council entered into possession of their several offices in the new city hall yesterday morning.

The new building is splendidly situated on John street, is of imposing appearance externally, and fitted up inside in a most elegant and convenient manner. One of the most conspicuous features of the building is its admirable lighting arrangements.

The work has been done by day labor and Foreman Kerr and his workmen are to be congratulated upon the result, and the council upon their enterprise in promoting this class of work.

OTTAWA JOURNAL APPROVES DECISION

Minister of Justice Commended for Withholding Clemency in the Case of Krafchencho.

Ottawa, July 6.—The Evening Journal says editorially today "The refusal of the minister of justice to be influenced by the memorial asking clemency in the case of the Winnipeg bandit, Krafchenko, who cooly murdered a bank manager at Plum Coulee some months ago, will be approved by right-thinking people everywhere. Not to punish cold-blooded murder is to move a vote of censure on the police and good society. There are too many applications for clemancy nowadays anyway. Sloppy sentimentalists are to be found all over the country who will place their signatures on petitions to save the lives of criminals, without considering a word of evidence against them. The thing is getting to be notorious. One has only to give the slightest study to the criminal statistics of the civilized world to realize that capital punishment is in the interest of society at large. It is just as well to strongly emphasize the fact that 'gunmen' will not be permitted to thrive in the atmosphere of British law."

NEW INDUSTRY FOR BURNABY

Council Asked to Assist in Securing Box Manufacturing Concern.

If Secured it Would Give Employment to 175 Workmen—Eastern Capital Back of Business.

Burnaby stands a good chance of securing another industry situated along the North Arm of the Fraser providing the request of the concern for free water and exemption from taxation for a term of years can be arranged. Last night at the council the land concern along the river bank, approached the council with a request for assistance in securing an industry for the manufacture of boxes on a big scale for salmon and fruit canning purposes. Mr. Szameitat was responsible for securing the Shull shingle interests to locate in Burnaby and feels confident in landing a larger concern.

Boston, Mass., capital is back of the project, the Canadian patents calling for operation to be started by February of 1915. The proposed plant will be situated adjoining the property of the Shul interests, arrangements being tentatively made for the use of the wood refuse to run the boilers of the new concern. It would employ 175 hands within a year of starting up. A special committee will interview the directors of the concern in Vancouver today.

Contracts for water pipes were let to Robertson Godsen company of Vancouver and the British Mannesmann Tube company, the cost aggregating $23,882.00. A new ten inch duplicate main will be run from North Burnaby to Edmonds when once the shipment arrives.

ANNANDALE DEFENDS POSITION ON CANAL

Explains His Attitude in the Controversy With Mr. Lewis—Working for Best Interest of City.

At the meeting of the city council last night Alderman Annandale referred to the meeting of Sapperton ratepayers on June 26, when L. A. Lewis, manager of the Brunette sawmills, in the course of a speech made some charges against him. If these statements were true he had no right to be a member of that corporation because they unfitted him from taking part in the government of the city.

Alderman Annandale then controverted Mr. Lewis' statements in detail.

The canal scheme through the Brunette mill propery was explained thus:

At a meeting in the mayor's office, when Mr. Lewis was present, they took up a certain questioin and a well defined request in regard to a piece of property for industrial purposes. As chairman of the industrial committee, it was his duty to afford facilities for industries if possible. The facilities wanted were that access should be given to the deep water of the Fraser river and the council was asked if it could guarantee entrance by the Brunette creek. They were told that the Brunette mills must have exclusive right to the mouth of the creek, else it would put the company out of business. Then he made a counter proposal to Mr. Lewis to enable this industrial company to satisfy their requirements, asking if the Brunette Mill company would give an easement through its property for a canal. It was not his business, or that of his committee, or that of the council, to put any industrial enterprise out of business, but to get them in, and to keep them in business when they had got them.

Proposal Not Injurious.

His proposal would not hurt or in-

SALE OF STORSTAD COMES OFF TODAY

Expected Vessel Will Be Released After Being Sold, and Placed in Drydock for Repairs.

Montreal, July 6.—The Norwegian collier Storstad, which rammed and sunk the C. P. R. liner Empress of Ireland on May 29 and which has been under seizure by the local admiralty court since her arrival at Montreal, will be sold tomorrow. One of the conditions of the sale is that after the first bid no advance bid of less than $500 will be received. It is probable she will be released after the sale and taken to the Levis drydock for repairs to her badly damaged bow. The proposed sale is in connection with the C. P. R.'s action for $2,000,000 damages.

USE OF MILITARY FORCE BREAK AND RUIN ARMY

Lord Roberts Utters Serious Warning in House of Lords.

Declares Attempt to Force Ulster Would Result in Civil War and Destruction of Army.

London, July 6.—How was it, asked Lord Roberts in the house of lords during tonight's debate on the home rule bill, that they were faced with a situation which the army had indicated the possibility of disobedience. The answer was that there was no more a political crisis. They were face to face with a clash of principles which raised the question far beyond the realm of ordinary politics.

At a comparatively early stage in the struggle, he warned the government that any attempt to use the military force for the coercion of Ulster would break and ruin the army. (opposition cheers.)

Fell on Deaf Ears.

His words fell on deaf ears. The country might plunge into civil war or might walk slowly into it, but whichever course they took it remained civil war. They make the position of the army yet more difficult by graduating the steps so as to give each step the appearance of legality and reason, but those steps, none the less, would lead them into the same abyss later.

It would become manifest that force was to be used for the sole purpose of coercing Ulster. When that moment was reached the disaster to the army which he foresaw would come about.

Would Destroy Army.

"I tell your lordships again now, as I told you in February," declared Lord Roberts, "if this demand is renewed, the army will be brought to destruction." (opposition cheers.)

"What is it then the army has indicated its willingness to do? The army refused to shoot down men whose only crime consisted of an unconquered determination to resist forcible exclusion from a country they respect and trust."

JUVENILE PROTECTION WILL BE ENFORCED

Edmonton Prisoner Receives Caustic Lecture and Heavy Penalty for His Offense.

Edmonton, July 6.—Contributing to the delinquency of a juvenile is a very serious offence in the Dominion of Canada under the new act. The first case under the amended code has been tried in Alberta, the defendant found guilty and sentenced to a jail term of six months and a fine of $300, with an additional six months if the fine is not paid by the time the first term is up.

Harry Bernard was the accused. In sentencing the prisoner the judge was very caustic in his remarks and it was announced that in future all cases of this nature will be tried under this section of the criminal code.

WATER SUPPLY EQUAL TO BEST

Visit of City Officials to Coquitlam Lake Was Fully Justified.

Issuing of "Baby" Bonds for Sidewalk Construction Declared Impracticable

The city council met last evening and the business transacted presented no special feature with the exception of the purity of the city water, which necessitated a trip of city officials to inspect the conditions at Lake Coquitlam.

A letter from Mr. Conway was read on the result of the inspection. The letter contained a quotation from the company's analysts that the water was equal in purity to the very best in the world.

Alderman Bryson complained that the report of Dr. McQuarrie on the contamination of the water had not been reported in the newspapers. It was ordered to be published and paid for.

In justice to Alderman Bryson, who had a grievance that he was misrepresented, that the visit to the lake was made on his verbal report that the water was bad, and that when the council went to the lake they found everything all right, the mayor justified the trip. It was one of the best things the council could have done and the visit was made on the medical officer's report.

On the suggestion of the mayor a copy of Mr. Freeman's final report to the Dominion government will be sent for and the true position of the matter between the B. C. E. R. company and the city in relation to the clearing around Coquitlam lake ascertained.

The matter of an analyst and bacteriologist for the analysis of the city water and milk was referred to the water and health committee after a long discussion.

The mayor recommended fortnightly visits to the lake by the medical officer and engineer, and reports from them periodically.

"Baby" Bonds Impracticable.

Alderman Dodd reported that the issuing of short bonds for the defraying of the cost of the sidewalks the board of works had recommended at last meeting was impracticable after being looked into.

The sidewalks were accordingly ordered to be laid down in the usual manner and the board will report on the more extensive scheme later.

On the recommendation of the engineer the plans of the G. N. R. company for the railway crossing on Brunette street were approved.

Robinson Brothers' tender for the Sapperton fire hall ($1,685) was accepted.

The mayor was instructed to proceed to Victoria to submit the G. N. R. plan sfor their new depot to the government for their approval.

A letter from J. J. Johnstone regarding the neglect of Agnes street was referred to the board of works.

The B. C. Distillery's request for permission to build a box drain on Braid street was referred to the board of works for report.

PACE TOO FAST.

Burnaby Residents Petition Council to Reduce Speed of Autos.

Following the recent automobile fatality on the River road, Burnaby, the residents last night petitioned the municipal council to reduce the speed limit from 25 miles to 12 miles per hour. As this contravenes the provincial motor statute the council finds itself unable to grant the request, although it was referred to the police chief for a report.

LANDED PRISONERS IN PROVINCIAL JAIL

Provincial Constable Marshall Arrives From Powell River Where he Had Exciting Experience.

Provincial Constable Marshall arrived in the city from Powell river yesterday morning in charge of George Mitchell, sentenced to six months for a statutory offense, and Billy Williams an Indian of Sliamon. Williams was captured at Indian river on Dominion Day, after a desperate struggle, during which a band of redskins taking part in the celebration, attacked Marshall, who was saved from injury by the white men in attendance.

Williams escaped from custody about twelve months ago while on his way to serve a sixty days sentence for drunkenness. Billy has an enviable reputation as a "bad man" in the Powell river district.

Marshall, who has seen twenty years' service with the R.N.W.M.P., was easily the match of the Indian but would have come out second best in the general attack had not the whites come to the rescue.

The two prisoners were turned over to Warden Turnbull of the provincial jail for safe keeping.

FIRE PROTECTION BURNABY'S NEED

Will Endeavor to Secure Assistance From New Westminster When Occasion Arises.

The recent fire in Edmonds when two houses were destroyed, has caused the Burnaby council to ask for a meeting with the city council in order that some arrangements can be made so that the New Westminster outlying fire stations can render assistance in time of need.

Wrenches to fit the Burnaby hydrants have been supplied Chief Watson, while 1000 feet of hose will be purchased by Burnaby to be kept at teh municipal hall for emergency use.

On the recommendation of Reeve Fraser at the council meeting last night, the local department will be forwarded a cheque for $25 in recognition of its services at the recent fire.

KILLING THE SMALL DAILIES.

For some unaccountable reason which has not yet been explained the Canadian postal department seems to have a rod in pickle all the time for the newspapers. First an edict went forth from the postmaster general's office, barring the use of double-page advertisements and now comes a proposal to charge a straight rate of one-quarter of a cent per copy for every paper which goes through the mails.

The first mentioned regulation has spoiled a lot of big advertising and this latest, if it becomes law, will put the outside circulation of the smaller dailies completely out of business.

If the post office department is permitted to enforce its contention that the quarter-cent rate per copy and not a rate per pound the eight-page daily newspaper printing three hundred issues a year will be required to pay seven hundred and fifty dollars per annum for every thousand of mail circulation instead of ninety-three per year as at present.

Evidently the tentative rule was framed to get at those large city dailies which are controlled by department houses and which are used to disseminate department house advertising, but if such is the case the shot will go wide of the mark and strike instead, hundreds of smaller, independent dailies whose very existence will be in peril.

Under the circumstances it can hardly be believed that the postmaster general will enforce the regulation once the true facts of the case are brought to his attention.

Canadian flour is said to have them all trailing along behind, which is further unquestionable evidence that Canada surely takes the cake.

If Greece and Turkey go to war the fat will be in the fire and somebody will have a bone to pick after he gets the stuffing knocked out of him.

Fernie reports having celebrated the arrival of summer with a snowstorm. It would be a mis-guided man who'd start an ice cream factory there.

An eastern architect who recently prophesied that a time would come when all houses would be built of glass wouldn't have had much of an audience in the stone age.

From the way their mouthy representative was treated at the fishermen's gathering on Saturday, the I. W. W. will be able to gather the impression that wont works are not wanted on this sockeye stream.

An English style reformer says that women dress far too much. From personal observation, some of us who pass by on the street had come to the conclusion that a lot of them don't dress quite enough.

A Canadian trade commissioner in the Orient is authority for the statement that the Chinese are now clamoring for modern luxuries. Well that four hundred million or so over there should be able to raise some clamor.

ANARCHIST PLOT REVEALED IN RUINS

Rockefeller Family Target of Agitators—Severed Hand Indicates Demonstration

New York, July 6.—In the ruins of the tenement wrecked yesterday by the explosion of a bomb, which it is believed was intended for use against John D. Rockefeller or his son, the authorities found evidence today that Arthur Caron, who was killed with three others, had used his apartment as a centre for the distribution of inflammatory literature and that it was filled with deadth-dealing explosives.

A small printing press, revolutionary pamphlets and circulars, an electric dynamo, two electric batteries, cartridges and bits of steel were among the articles uncovered which tend, in the opinion of the police, to show an anarchistic plot.

Rockefeller the Target.

The demonstration, halted by the bungling of someone who was preparing an infernal machine for its mission, was planned against the Rockefeller family in Tarrytown, is the theory upon which the authorities are working.

Two of those killed in the wrecked apartment were prominent agitators who were to be placed on trial at Tarrytown tomorrow on charges of disorderly conduct in connection with the demonstration inaugurated against John D. Rockefeller, jr., as a protest against his attitude in the Colorado coal mine strike.

Fourth Victim Found.

The body of the fourth victim of the explosion was found today. It was that of Charles Berg, known in I. W. W. circles as "The Big Swede," an associate of Caron. The other victims were Chas. Hanson and Mary Claves. The woman lived in an apartment next to the one occupied by Caron and his associates.

The assertion was made by I. W. W. leaders that Caron was not a member of the organization, having recently been refused admission. Why Caron was denied a place among the Workers was not made clear.

Hand Clutches Wire.

A suggestive piece of evidence uncovered was a severed hand which clutched two small pieces of wire already for connection. The authorities believe that the owner of this hand was in the act of making an electric connection for one of the bombs and a battery when the explosion slew him.

A general alarm was sent out today for the arrest of Michael Murphy, whose real name is said to be Auspenti, who was in the flat at the time of the explosion and whose escape from death is considered miraculous. He was in the hands of the police a short time after the explosion, but before the real nature of the case was learned he was released.

None of the Dead I. W. W.

Alexander Berkman, anarchist and associate with Emma Goldman in the publication of Mother Earth, an anarchist paper, said tonight that none of the dead men was a member of the I. W. W. and that the agitation they had conducted was in behalf of the striking miners in Colorado.

John D. Rockefeller motored to church this morning at Pocantico Hills, but insisted upon walking back to his estate, accompanied only by his superintendent. There were no I. W. W. agitators about the place today.

Louise Berger declared that the three men who died in the explosion were murdered. She made this statement as she was being taken from the morgue, where she had identified Berger's body, to a police station for further questioning.

DID NAPOLEON ESCAPE AND HIS DOUBLE DIE IN PRISON

Report That He Became an Optician in Florence and Was Later Shot While Trying to Scale a Wall to See His Son, the Ill-Fated Duke of Reichstadt.

The capitals of Europe are shaken today by an astounding story being told among the diplomas that the great Napoleon did not die at St. Helena.

Every student of Napoleon is ready to declare on oath that the emperor died on May 5, 1821, in his narrow chamber at Longwood, St. Helena. A storm was rolling over the island prison, and on its wings, muttering "France—Army—Head of the Army—Josephine!" the most dazzling genius of the modern world passed out of life. To this history posterity has adhered.

But—

According to this amazing story he was the victim of a sentry's bullet while attempting secretly to scale a wall at Schaenbrunn, in Austria, in the hope of seeing his son. It was his double who died on that lonely island in the southern Atlantic—the emperor's devoted double who gave up his life in exile that his master might live.

Here is the way the story runs:

This double, his very image, had more than once been employed by the emperor to pose for him in one situation or another; sometimes to test the truth of some new story of plot against the great man's life—plots more numerous than history in the main is aware of. To the imperial police the double was known both by sight and by name, though they were not always, of course, in the secret of his comings and goings.

The day comes when, after Waterloo—the fallen emperor must sail, an exile, to the rock in the Atlantic. But he did not sail It is the devoted double who gives himself in charge of Captain Maitland of the Bellerophon; the double who settles down with Bertrand, Montholon, Las Cases, to the appalling dreariness of St. Helena.

Becomes Optician.

Napoleon, more or less transformed in style and appearance, withdraws secretly to Florence. In Florence he purchases the shop and little business of an optician. He gains the esteem of his neighbors.

The disguise of the Man of Destiny must have lacked something, for many who saw him perceived in him a notable likeness to Napoleon, and familiarly bestowed on him the name. Signor "Napoleon." Then one day the optician disappeared. Florence, in brief, beheld him no more.

To the new king of France, however, Signor "Napoleon," before departure addressed a letter, the contents of which filtered somehow from the throne; and to buy the silence of those persons who had become aware of this missive, Louis XVIII. distributed among them a large sum of money. Almost in the same house a small and rather corpulent individual, fifty years of age or thereabouts, is fired at and killed by a soldier of the emperor of Austria while attempting to scale a wall of the park of Schoenbrunn.

In Gilded Prison.

It was at Schoenburunn, it will be remembered by readers, that Napoleon's son and hope, the gentle young Duke of Reichstadt, languished—neglected by his careless mother, Marie Louise—in the most wretched of gilded captivties. Napoleon, always pining for sight and sound of the boy, had stolen to Schoenbrunn to see him.

Not unnaturaly, the affair of the sentry's bullet made some stir at the French embassy. Not unnaturally, the embassy decided to say nothing whatever on the subject. There is yet a little to relate.

The civil engineers of the village in Lorraine where the emperor's double was born carry the following legend: "Died at St. Helena," and the date is precisely that of the death of Napoleon.

Let it be added that an English lady of the aristocratic world, received in audience at St. Helena by the dethroned monarch of Europe (to whom, in his imperial days, she had been presented at the Tuileries), protested formally that she failed to recognize his in the prison or Sir Hudson Lowe.

Who wrote the "Memorials of St. Helena"—Napoleon's testimony to mankind? Was it the work of his double?

HIDDEN CREEK PAYS FROM THE JUMP

Granby Copper Company's Property in Northern B. C. Is Money-maker From the Start.

Boston, July 6.—The Hidden Creek property which Granby Consolidated put into commission a short time ago has been making a slight profit from the first. This has strengthened confidence of the management, regarding the future prospects of this acquisition.

With its three stacks running, the new smelter at Anyox, has increased its tonnage to 1,500 tons of ore daily, although by the end of the year, if not sooner, the plant should easily handle 2,000 tons.

August had been named as the month in which the first refined copper from the new property would be ready for the market, but there is already available 1,500,000 pounds of Hidden Creek product in addition to regular contributions from Grand Forks.

The company has under consideration the acquisition of a quartz property which carries copper, gold and silver values. Some of the quartz has been used at Anyox as a flux for Hidden Creek ores. Its value would be two fold—as a flux and for its precious metals contents, which would reduce the cost of handling the material.

The fact that precious metals contents of the Hidden Creek ores average richer than had been anticipated and more than cover freight charge of blister copper to New York has been the primary factor in that property showing profits.

SYNOPSIS OF COAL MINING REGULATIONS.

COAL MINING rights of the Dominion in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, the Yukon Territory, the Northwest Territories and in a portion of the Province of British Columbia, may be leased for a term of twenty-one years at an annual rental of $1 an acre. Not more than 2,500 acres will be leased to one applicant.

Application for a lease must be made by the applicant in person to the Agent or Sub-Agent of the district in which the rights applied for are situated.

In surveyed territory the land must be described by sections, or legal subdivisions of sections and in unsurveyed territory the tract applied for shall be staked out by the applicant himself.

Each application must be accompanied by a fee of $5 which will be refunded if the rights applied for are not available, but not otherwise. A royalty shall be paid on the merchantable output of the mine at the rate of five cents per ton.

The person operating the mine shall furnish the Agent with sworn returns accounting for the full quantity of merchantable coal mined and pay the royalty thereon. If the coal mining rights are not being operated such returns should be furnished at least once a year.

The lease will include the coal mining rights only, but the lessee will be permitted to purchase whatever available surface right may be considered necessary for the working of the mine at the rate of $10 an acre.

For full information application should be made to the Secretary of the Department of the Interior, Ottawa, or to any Agent or Sub-Agent of Dominion Lands.

W. W. CORY,
Deputy Minister of the Interior.

KINGSTON PEN. IS CONTRAST TO B.C.'S

Conditions in Ontario's Long Term Penal Institution Harshly Dealt With By Commission.

A contrast to the well-regulated B. C. penitentiary, located in this city, is to be found in the followign article from the Toronto Sun, dealing with Kingston penitentiary:

"Not a word was spoken. But the monotonous raps of the hammers, the sullen, whitened faces of the forms half crouching over their unhealthy, unprofitable, degrading tasks, were a mute but powerful denunciation of the system that permitted or rendered necessary such an outrage. Nothing has been said, nothing can be said, in defence of this twentieth century reproduction of the unceasing moil of the galley slave."

No, reader, it is not Russia or Siberia which is painted with these accusing sentences, says the Sun. The "forms" referred to are not necessarily desperate men who prey upon society. The seventy prisoners referred to are, some of them, young boys, and the scene is laid in the provincial penitentiary at Kingston, which was opened with the avowed purpose of reforming the individual and inuring him to habits of industry.

A commission recently investigated affairs at this penitentiary, and the above words are an extract from their report dealing with the stone-breaking shop, every feature of which was bad.

Convict's Experience.

When the convict arrives at the prison his measurements and other physical characteristics are taken. His personal belongings are inventoried, and he is finaly put in charge of the chief keeper's officer for a bath, hair cut and shave. Finally he is dressed in the prisoner garb with his number on the back of his coat.

Assigned to his cell the convict takes his place in the routine of the prison. He rises at 6:30 in the morning, washes himself, makes his bed, and at seven marches out for breakfast. This he receives in a tin vessel as he moves with the line past the serving boards in the kitchen. Returning to the cell, he eats his meal with a spoon. Knives and forks are not allowed. As he goes out to work he deposits his dish and spoon in the kitchen. At noon he takes up his dinner as he passes to his cell. There he pulls the meat apart with his fingers, eats it, and carries back the emtpy vessel to the kitchen as he goes to work. When he quits his labors at night the performance is repeated. He snatches his supper on his way to the cell, and there remains until the following morning.

Weary Monotony of Silence.

Silence is the rule throughout the day. He must not speak to an officer or fellow-convict while at work except from necessity or with respect to the work. He must not speak nor look around while in line, and, of course, he has no one to speak to in his cell. Thus the man's life in prison is divided between the cell and workshop or stone pile, with not even a break in the monotony at meal time. In his cell he is not allowed pictures or photographs of his relatives; he is not allowed to have or read a newspaper, but he is furnished books from the prison libary. If he is unable to read he must put in fourteen hours of each day alone, sleeping or meditating. On Sunday the whole day—with the exception of one hour for divine service—is spent in the cell, and when a holiday falls on Monday he celebrates it with an additional twenty-four hours of solitary confinement.

A convict whose conduct is satisfactory may receive visits from members of his family once in three months and may write to members of his family once in two months. He may receive letters from relatives or friends but such letters must be short and devoted exclusively to family or business matters. No enclosure, such as newspaper clippings, pictures, cards stamps, etc., are delivered. Christmas boxes, hampers, or packages of fruit, food or confectionery are not permitted to be sent to the prison.

"Nothing Much Above the Beast."

Thus is will be seen the daily round of the penitentiary offers little to stimulate or encourage the well-disposed convict. On the contrary, its silence and solitude must breed moroseness and resentfulness. One convict said to the commission: "If a man it battered down until he feels that he is nothing much more above the beast, now can you expect him to go out feeling better? It requires a very strong will to keep you from feeling that you are finished."

An indifferent attempt at schooling is attempted four days a week, during the noon hour. The reason for using noon hours in this way is given as being because the judge has sentenced prisoners to hard labor and not to go to school. The commission vigorously denounced the stand that it is not a duty of the state to give education to illiterate men who find their way into prison.

"It is difficult to conceive what characteristics of the building set apart for the care of the sick at the Kingston penitentiary warrant it being designated 'hospital,'" says the report. "There is nothing in the building or equipment which justifies the name. Some 36 inside cells, inferior in their arrangement to the cells occupied by the healthy prisoners, house those whose illness is serious enough to make necessary their admission. In these cells there is not effective ventilation, and save for an absolute bucket for the excretia, sanitary appliances are absent. The two baths and water closets are hopelessly out of date. Under no conditions are the patients permitted to have exercise in the fresh air, nor indeed to leave their cells for any purpose.

"The operating room (so-called), where serious cases have been, and must be dealt with as they arise, has an old wooden table but no other equipment. When your commissioners visited this room many old books lay about the floor and the place was not clean. In all there was a condition of affairs which should not have been tolerated. Again, there is to be noted an all but complete absence of satisfactory records. Although his annual reports give a different impression the surgeon in his evidence before the commission stated that many changes were necessary to make the hospital what it should be.

Papers Not Allowed.

"The regulation that no newspaper shall be allowed within the prison walls has been adopted, we are told, to prevent convicts getting information about the movements of their pals outside. This rule is in harmony with the avowed policy of the administration that the regulations of the penitentiaries are designed solely for the confirmed criminal. Because there are some men in prison who are determined to resume a life of lawlessness and because these men might obtain from a newspaper information that would aid them in their evil designs, the entire population is debarred from reading any news of the doings of the outside world.

"That the deprivation heavily handicaps a man when he tries to resume the ordinary activities of life is beyond question. The world into which he is thrown has been a sealed book to him for years. He knows nothing of its political changes, of the progress that has been made in social, industrial, or scientific devolopment. He has been 'as a deaf man who heard not, as a dumb man not opening his mouth.' His very ignorance must intensify his fear of exposure and the ostracism that inevitably follows. Had he been allowed while in prison an occasional glance at a weekly newspaper he would not now be such an utter stranger to world events. He could move among and converse with his fellows with some confidence and intelligence."

Politics Are to Blame.

In its closing sentence the commission ascribe the blame for improper conditions to politics. Many of the guards are not qualified by education or character for the position they fill. "The trouble results in great measure," says the report, "from the mode which has prevailed for years of appointing guards through political influence; and from the warden's hands being tied so that he is practically impotent to control or dismiss an official who has political influence, no matter what his offense may be." This condition has prevailed for fifteen or twenty years.

Prominent politicians and members of parliament are described as notifying the warden that he must appoint their man when a vacancy occurs, and then the warden has three months in which to report against the man's permanent apopintment, "but it is very rarely that the warden has backbone enough to do it, because he antagonizes the politcian who recommends him."

Remedies suggested are commission control, better classification of prisoners, industrial employment, more humane treatment, censured newspapers being allowed, tobacco permitted, less conspcicuous uniform, better hospital accommodation, better schooling facilities and more discrimination in appointment of guards.

SAYS VALLEY CROPS ARE LOOKING WELL

Minister of Education Returns to Victoria With Good Word From the Fraser.

Victoria, July 6.—Hon. Dr. Young, minister of education, who has returned home from a brief visit to Chilliwack, is enthusiastic as to conditions on the lower Fraser. The farmers and ranchers are in the most optimistic mood, good crops being assured. The fruit was looking in splendid shape and there is every promise of a bumper yield. The weather during his stay was very warm and it was a relief to come again to Victoria, with its refreshing breezes.

The occasion of Dr. Young's visit to Chilliwack was to participate in the Dominion Day exercises, to which he had been especially invited. There was a big procession in which floats were a conspicuous feature, the Indians of the nearby reserve having entered some floats that were most creditable.

In the afternoon the school children of the district were massed on the grandstand in the public park, and Dr. Young delivered a Dominion Day address, impressing upon the youthful minds the significance of the day they were celebrating.

CASTAWAYS ON LONELY ISLAND REACH SAFETY

Brave Men Undertake Voyage of 670 Miles in Order to Bring Word to Mainland of Islanders' Plight

On Board U. S. S. California, Lapaz, Mex., July 5.—(By wireless to San Diego, Cal., July 6).—The cruiser Cleveland returned to Acapulco today from Clipperton Island, which she left June 25, having on board Captain Jensen, his wife, two children, the first and second officers, the cook and six seamen of the American schooner Nokomis of San Francisco, wrecked on a treacherous coral reef on February 28.

From the first the position of the Nokomis was hopeless and she was abandoned the following day. The castaways were cared for by the inhabitants of the island, who only number thirty, until a threatened shortage in the necessaries of life made a trip to the mainland imperative.

Two volunteers undertook the voyage of 670 miles to Acapulco and accomplished it safely. Owing to the disorganization of all commerce wrought by civil war, no assistance from the Mexicans could be had and it was necessary to dispatch a man of war. The Cleveland was assigned to the rescue by Rear-Admiral Howard and carried supplies for the islanders, as well as brought back the castaways.

All are now on board the Pacific mail liner City of Sidney, bound for San Francisco.

SUMMER BRASSIERES.

Expensive to Buy, They Are Exceedingly Easy and Cheap to Make.

Now that the corsetless figure is in style and corsets are made so low in the bust, the average woman is obliged to wear a brassiere, or in other words, a sort of corset cover that is corded or boned to fit the form.

These brassieres are quite expensive when purchased in the shops, but they are exceedingly easy to fashion at home.

is made from allover strong eyelet embroidery. It consists of nothing more than two front pieces with boned darts and a back portion. To conceal the front closing wide embroidery beading is used down the center through which ribbon is run. A loop is left at the end for securing to the corset. Ribbon is run at the top of the brassier and forms straps over the shoulders. Another one of the brassieres illustrated is more elaborate, being of net with pretty ribbon ornamentations and floral garnitures.

The third is of embroidery allover with insertion and lace trimmings.

NEW FRIENDSHIPS.

The "Open Sesame" of Good Fellowship is Kindness and Sympathy.

A young married woman with her husband was about to leave the town in which she had been born, raised and married, to make her home in another state where an excellent business opportunity had been offered to her husband. On the eve of departure she was expressing to some of her friends her regret at leaving, and assuring them that never would she find in her new home the valued and loving friends from whom she was going away. Her old grandfather heard her, and putting a hand on her shoulder, he said:

"My dear, when you go to your new home take with you one thing. Show to every one with whom you come in contact that kindness and sympathy which is their due, and most important of all, respect the rights of others, and you will find no lack of friends and neighbors in your new home town."

The young bride took his advice, and in the new town where she and her husband make their home they find that this policy has made them friends by the score. In these words of wisdom of the old grandfather lay the key to their happiness in their new home.

RAINBOW TO ENTER ESQUIMALT DOCK

Canadian Cruiser to Get Annual Overhaul—No Word From British Sloops in Mexican Waters.

Victoria, July 6.—It is understood that arrangements have been completed to float the Canadian cruiser H. M. C. S. Rainbow into the Esquimalt basin within the next day or two for her annual overhaul. The actual date for the drydocking of the warship has not been set, but it is anticipated that she will be hauled out in the early part of the week.

Twelve months have elapsed since the Rainbow was last placed in the graving dock, and as she has been swinging at anchor in Esquimalt harbor since that time her hull is badly in need of attention. While the cruiser is on the stocks her bottom plates will be scraped and painted, and it is probable that her tail shafts will be drawn. The Rainbow will occupy the basin for at least three days.

No Word of Sloops.

Very little news is filtering north concerning the movements of the British sloops H. M. S. Shearwater and H. M. S. Algerine, which at the beginning of the year were dispatched south to the Mexican seaboard.

According to the meager reports that have reached here the two vessels will not return to the Eqsuimalt base for some time, as the Mexican outlook is none too promising. The Algerine is reported to be at San Pedro, while the Shearwater's position was last given as Salina Cruz.

The Shearwater will probably be the first to return, as she has been longest away from port. It was the Shearwater that replaced the Algerine when the latter vessel dropped her port propeller early in the year when outbound from Esquimalt to Mexico.

The vessels are to be re-commissioned following their return here, and it is expected that the new comlements will soon be arriving from Devonport.

JAP COMPANY BUILDS NINE NEW SHIPS

Two Pacific Liners of 9,500 Tons Register Will Be Ready for Panama Service Next Summer.

The Osakwa Shosen Kaisha is now building nine steamships, aggregating 37,000 tons, at various shipbuilding yards in Japan. Two vessels of 9,500 tons each are building at the Mitsu Bishi and the Kawasaki yards, and are to be completed in July and September, 1915, respectively. These big vessels are intended for the Hongkong-Victoria service and will be named the Hawaii Maru and the Manila Maru. They will be the largest yet built by the Japanese transportation concerns for the transpacific trade.

Two ships of 5,000 tons each are also in course of construction at the Kawaraki yards. When completed, in February next, these vessels will be employed in the Darien service. Two vessels of 2,000 tons each will be completed at the Osaka Iron Works by September next, while three of 1,000 tons each, now being built at different yards, will be finished about August or September.

Amalgamation Contradicted.

The reported scheme for the malgamation of the three principal Japanese lines, the Nippon Yusen Kaisha, the Osaka Shosen Kaisha, and the Toyo Kisen Kaisha has been officially contradicted as "absolutely without foundation," according to word brought by the N. Y. K. liner Sado Maru. There is, however, good reason to believe that an understanding covering the Panama canal route will be effected. Representatives of these three concerns have already completed an exhaustive investigation for the purpose of ascertaining all the factors of the situation, so far as is possible, and the Japanese government has also taken action in the matter, its inquiry having special reference to freights and ports of call.

The exclusion of Honolulu from the proposed Panama service is suggested, whilst the selection of Victoria, Seattle and San Francisco as ports of call en route to New York is favored. In addition, it has been suggested that the European line of the Nippon Yusen Kaisha should be extended to the Atlantic coast of the United States, so as to establish an all-around-the-world itinerary.

GOES TO ENGLAND TO SAVE THE KING

Boston Psychic Says Men Known to Him Hatch Plot to Drown Monarch.

Boston, July 6.—To save the life of King George is the mission of William H. Smith, a leading Boston psychic, who has sailed for England.

He had a strange vision, he said, just before sailing, of the death of King George. It reappeared to him three times, and was so vivid that he determined to warn his majesty personally of the shadow of death which Smith believes hovers over him.

Smith looks more like an athlete than a traveler into the spirit world. Of his mission he said:

"There has been a plot under way in England for two years. There are only three persons who know anything about it. They are close to the king.

"One stands very high—yes, I know his name—and if I fail to reach the king and warn him I shall see this man who has worked out this dastardly plan.

"The king will receive an invitation for a yachting trip in September. On a certain afternoon the king will be seated at a table on the after deck of this yacht. The three men I have mentioned will be with him, discussing political conditions.

"They will be drinking. A drug little known to western civilization, but similar to what we call 'eperret,' will be in one of the bottles. All traces of it disappear in water, but it holds its powerful effect in alcohol.

"This poison will not produce death but it will produce a stupor like paralysis, and as the effect of this begins to be felt a carefully planned explosion will take place in the engine room of this yacht.

"The boat will be wrecked, and everyone will jump or be thrown into the water. The king, already drugged, will be unable to save himself, and although sham efforts will be made to rescue him, he will drown.

"The moment the water enters his system all traces of the drug will disappear."

Buying out of Season

MANY buyers of every class of merchandise come to decisions with respect to their plans and purchases during the summer months.

Aware of their needs they are responsive to influences, appeals and opportunities months in advance of the season of their necessities.

An advertiser who withdraws his messages to the buyers of his wares during the summer months chills buying ardor and postpones and endangers the gathering of the fruit of his manufacturing labor.

The buyer's resistance strengthens, and the buying impulse subsides, by the withdrawal or weakening of the pressure of advertising. The restoration of adequate pressure later on is accomplished at a cost which represents no saving in advertising bills, and the chances are that many sales have been hopelessly lost in the meantime.

The buying impulse which expresses itself in pre-season buying is capable of stimulation, and it is good business on the part of advertisers to maintain during the summer months their customary newspaper announcements.

You can obtain helpful advice on advertising free of cost and without obligation by consulting the business Department of The New Westminster News.

Wills

There is a period in the life of every man when he thinks about the future welfare of those dependent upon him. Sometimes this does not come until sickness overtakes him. Then he makes a will—but it may be made under wrong influence.

Had the will been made during good health, the most deserving persons—according to the deceased's wish—would have shared in the distribution of the estate.

Do you not realize that it is your sacred duty to no longer delay making your will?

The advice of the Dominion Trust company in this matter may be of value to you. All such discussions are treated in strict confidence.

PROGRESS MADE IN CHURCH WORK

Report From Presbyterian General Assembly Shows Great Good Has Been Accomplished.

There was presented to St. Stephen's congregation last Sabbath morning by their commissioner to the general assembly of the Presbyterian church in Canada, held at Woodstock, Ont., in June last, a very interesting report showing the great progress of this section of the Christian church throughout Canada and in foreign lands. For instance, the number of members is given as 314, 832, an increase of 13,367 over 1912. The people contributed for all purposes the large sum of $5,637,099, an increase of $219,936 over last year.

The church has not only grown in numbers, and in finances, but it is more in earnest than ever in grappling with the question of Canadianizing and christianizing the large number of immigrants reaching our shores from year to year, and also in extending the gospel to heathen lands.

ROWDYISM PAYS HEAVY PENALTY

Laborer at Port Moody Narrowly Escapes Two Years Imprisonment —Also Fined $15.

Rowdyism in Port Moody is suppressed with a stern hand, even when it is excited by a patriotic celebration. On the night of July 1 the row in one of the hotel bars was such as to call for the interference of Constable Danes. After his warning had been repeated the row restarted in another part of the house and the police officer arrested C. Dominy, a road laborer, but not without a tussle, during which the constable was struck and bruised.

Next day Dominy was charged with being drunk and disorderly and assaulting the policeman in the execution of his duty. Magistrate Noble convicted and fined him $15 and costs for the drunk and disorderly act; for assaulting Constable Danes the prisoner was sentenced to two years imprisonment, but released on suspended sentence.

A companion named William George Pye, was charged on the same occasion with obstructing the police in the execution of their duty, but the magistrate found the evidence conflicting and discharged the accused.

Chief Constable Mill, who is also inspector of licenses, subsequently cancelled the license of the bartender of the hotel in which the disturbance took place.

Bartenders are supposed to control the behavior of the inmates of their bar, and to watch that no intoxicants are supplied to men already intoxicated or excited by drink.

HINDUS LOSE APPEAL FIVE MEN AGAIN ABOARD

rendered this morning at Victoria gives the ship's load a very black eye. The immigration officials are naturally somewhat elated over the result, and are now content to hold fast and let the Hindus make the next move. It is up to them to devise some other means to assist them in landing.

In the meantime the ship will be closely guarded, night and day, to see that none escape. It is hardly likely that the case will be carried up to a higher court for several reasons. First the heavy expense involved will be a drain upon those aboard, and besides the delay in the case being carried to a higher court would mean that all those on board would have to remain virtual prisoners for an indefinite period.

Hindus in a Frenzy.

There was a great noise in the Komogata Maru today—the Hindus beat the deck and rails with their clubs, beat their breasts as well and in short worked themselves into a fine frenzy. And the youthful boy scouts on board the Charlotte en route to Victoria were responsible for it all. The Hindus apparently thought that the uniformed scouts on the Princess boat were approaching them with the grim purpose of capturing the Maru and putting its passengers to the sword. Desperate resistance was resolved on, to judge from all the tom-tom noise that came from the dusky laden Jap boat.

That there might have been bloodshed on the waterfront had the Hindus tried to land today was shown when the immigration launch bearing the "solid five" Hindus marooned the other day from the Maru, aproached the wharf.

Fine Row in Prospect.

Two or three hundred white men on the shore made quite a demonstration as the boat came up, being under the impression that the Komogata Maru was landing her passengers under a favorable court of appeal ruling. But the launch simply held some immigration men and the five lonely East Indians, who had no home either ashore or afloat.

Yesterday the "solid five," otherwise known as the "lonely Singhs," spent a pleasant hour sunning themselves on the wooden buoy in the harbor to which the coal hulks tie. In the meanwhile the immigration men took their launch to the detention shed wharf and had lunch. The Singhs squatted on the bare surface of the buoy and abstractedly speculated as to the theory of transmigration of souls and the possibility of indulging in their favorite pursuit—a lawsuit—this time with Gurdit Singh, once a friend but now their treacherous opponent in the many sided game being played on Burrard Inlet.

"IN OLD KENTUCKY" COMING.

An early fall attraction in this city will be "In Old Kentucky," which starts on another trans-continental tour the last week in August. Probably no stage offering of the day holds the affections of the play-going public of America more securely than this drama of Kentucky life. It has recently ended a most successful engagement at the Big Boston theatre, the home of big things theatrically. Miss Maude Parker, who achieved signal success in the role of Madge Brierly, the heroine of the play, in Boston, and elsewhere last season, has been engaged for the forthcoming Pacific coast tour of this wonderfully successful attraction.

jure the Brunette mills in any way, and Mr. Lewis, if the council would remember, made no demur but said he would make inquiries. After a long delay the council asked what position Mr. Lewis and his company took up on the proposition. The answer was that they could not consider it—the whole scheme was impracticable and not feasible. He, Alderman Annandale, took exception to that. The Brunette mills had no exclusive right to the use of the creek and he thought they should give something in return for their enjoyment of it, something to answer to the demand for sites in that part of the city.

He had always maintained and still maintained that Sapperton was specially favored as a place for industrial purposes. As they knew, there was a cry that the price of sites in Vancouver, on the Fraser river, Eburne, etc., were prohibitive. Now he claimed that Sapperton had all the requisite facilities, at one-third of the price, for industrial sites compared with these other places—levelness of ground and all the railways that came into the province. All they wanted was access to the water and that was what they wanted Mr. Lewis to give them in return for 700 feet at the mouth of the Brunette for their exclusive use.

No Personal Motive.

Alderman Annandale repudiated with indignation the statement that he wanted to dig into the ratepayers' pockets to enable him to sell his property in Sapperton. His financial scheme for the canal was to tax the property owners benefitted.

There had been nothing in his actions in buying property at a tax sale and he challenged anyone to say that he had used his position as an alderman to further his private interests.

The mayor said the council never entertained any suspicion of Alderman Annandale's motives as being dishonorable or imputed anything to him except honorable intentions. The subject dropped without comment.

ARRANGE MEETING.

Autoists Will Meet Tuesday of Next Week to Organize Club.

At a meeting of the executives of the Progressive association to be held this evening in the board of trade room, arrangements will be made for a get-together gathering of New Westminster and Vancouver autoists to be held at the Russell hotel on Tuesday evening of next week. The idea of having such a meeting was advanced by the Vancouver Automobile club some weeks ago, the object being in formulating a "safety-first" campaign among autoists on the lower mainland. The proposed government park in Surrey at a point on the Yale road where virgin timber now stands will also be discussed.

The meeting will take the form of a luncheon, the guests defraying the expense of preparing the menu.

FREDDIE WELSH FAVORITE IN CHAMPIONSHIP BOUT

London Unusually Quiet Over R'tchie-Welsh Affair of Today—They Love Bombardier Wells.

London, July 7.—After years of waiting London tonight is going to have a genuine boxing contest between Welsh and Ritchie, with the world's championship lightweight title at stake. There is less interest being shown than one week ago when Bombardier Wells made a farce of the affair with Colin Bell. The reason of this is that Wells is popular while Welsh is by no means a hero in London. Ritchie is unknown.

The American champion arrived in the city last night from his training quarters in a northern suburb and felt confident of settling once and for all his argument with Welsh as to the championship. Located in a suite of rooms near the arena he told his friends to stake their money on a knockout.

Welsh will not arrive until early this morning coming in from Croydon where he has been training. Both are reported well under weight.

The apathy of the British public is shown by the startling odds being given. Last night's figures were 6 to 4 on Welsh although they will likely drop to 5 to 4 before the battle begins. One prominent Englishman offered to bet $10,000 at 5 to 4 odds on Welsh but found no takers.

SUDDEN DEATH GAME

Sapperton and West Ends Will Play off For Title on Thursday—Kerr Cup at Stake.

Local fans who have the idea that intermediate lacrosse has gone back in speed and endurance will likely to be found in the minority after Thursday's game between Sapperton and West Ends when the championship of the city league will be at stake in the sudden death game.

Both teams are now on an equal footing as far as games won and lost are concerned, and with East Burnaby dropping out on account of lack of players, the rival factions yesterday morning agreed to stage the title bout at Queens park on Thursday evening with the Kerr cup at stake.

There is little love lost between the two centres. There never has been and the trouble at the commencement of the season did not improve matters to such an extent as allowed the games being a little love feast.

Defeated last season by the West Ends, Sapperton appears to be determined to wipe out old scores, while the same situation applies to the West Enders in the shape of copping the trophy two seasons in succession.

Both teams are training hard for the event so that the fans can expect something out of the ordinary when the twenty-four players take the field at 6.30 o'clock Thursday night.

Carpentier and Clabby

Sydney, N.S.W., July 6.—Georges Carpentier, middleweight champion of France, was cabled today an offer of $20,000 to meet Jimmy Clabby of Hammond, Ind., claimant of the middleweight championship of the world. The offer was made by promoters of the stadium here. Clabby's latest victory was on July 4, when he won from Eddie McGoorty, of Oshkosh, Wis., on a foul in the eighth round of a scheduled twenty-round fight.

MINTO CUP LACROSSE

Two Challenges Likely From East—Nationals and Rosedales Regarded as Sure Champions.

Local lacrosse fans who have been wondering whether an eastern team will make the trip this fall in search of the Minto cup, are beginning to believe that one challenge will certainly be made with a possibility of two before the professional leagues in the east have finished their schedules.

Two teams appear to be the whole say in the cent belt, the Nationals in the Big Four having won eight straight games and the Rosedales in the N.L.U., which have won the four games played.

Both of these aggregations are formidable and with the thought of Dougay Spring, Len Turnbull and Johnny Howard being off the Salmon Belly line-up, it is expected that the necessary finances will be forthcoming in order that a series will be played on the Queens park oval.

It is very doubtful if a guarantee will be given to either team should they decide to make the trip, on account of the poor attendance at the games so far this season and the doubtful prospects of big gates, as were the rule rather than the exception in seasons gone by.

Either the Nationals or the Rosedales would give the Royals a fine rub at the present stage, although no one can estimate the strength of the world's champs when once they get right down to training. Newsy Lalonde, Pitre and Daredevil Gauthier are three men to be feared on the Nationals, although the defence of the Frenchmen does not appear to be any too strong when one takes into consideration the number of goals scored against them this season.

The Rosedale aggregation will be the dark horse. So far it has never been pressed and according to the reports of last Saturday's game Billy Fitzgerald and company sat back after the second quarter when once a comfortable lead had been obtained.

Should challenges be received it is likely that the games will be staged about the middle of September when weather conditions are favorable.

BASEBALL TONIGHT

Circle F Tackle Electrics—Slaton vs Horn—Big Crowd Coming From Millside.

Well, it's the same old story tonight boys. Circle F anxious to again grab the lead in the City baseball league, with the Electrics just as eager and willing to retain the honor of being perched on top of the table.

There will be a slight change in the line-up but nothing very strong, both managers being satisfied with let well enough alone and confident of the ability of their individual twirlers. "Dutch" Slaton, flushed with his second victory over one, Hurley, of Sumas, will essay to deliver the goods for the Electrics while either Jack Horn or Schafer will be on the mound for the Circle F.

Fred Lynch will officiate and will see that there is little dawdling so that eight innings can be played before darkness sets in.

According to a report from the Mills yesterday a big delegation is coming in to witness the fray, Manager Snap Stewart arranging for several kinds of vehicles to transport the supporters of the lumberjacks.

PORT MOODY CLUB

Officers Elected and Arrangements Under Way to Suitably Furnish Club Rooms.

A meeting of the Port Moody Social and Athletic club was held on Thursday last in the City Recreation hall. A. Flavelle presided and there was a large and representative gathering of members.

Robert Abernethy was elected president, W. Carr, vice-president, and A. McAllister, treasurer. The executive committee appointed consists of Harry Jones, L. Elsdon and D. Murray. Noel Fletcher will act temporarily as secretary and that office will be filled at a subsequent meeting.

It was resolved to go ahead with the gymnasium and bath rooms at once, and the committee was authorized to purchase the necessary apparatus and articles. Arrangements will also be made as soon as matters are ship-shape to institute a library, reading room, lounge room, etc.

There are at present over 100 members enrolled and a considerable augmentation is expected as soon as the club takes possession of the hall.

NEW RIFLE TEAM

Port Coquitlam Club Will Endeavor to Gain Possession of Mayor Roe's Challenge Cup.

A deputation from the newly formed Port Coquitlam Rifle club waited upon Secretary McKnight of the Port Moody Civilian Rifle association last Saturday. The object of the visit was to see if the new club could arrange to have the use of the Port Moody ranges for practise. Mr. McKnight will call an early meeting of his association's committee and invite the delegation to attend and lay their proposal before it.

The additioin of Port Coquitlam will make the contest for Mayor Roe's challenge cup a triangular affair—Port Moody, Port Coquitlam and Port Haney.

The rules for the Roe competition have been drawn up. They have been approved by Port Moody but have yet to be submitted to the other two associations.

F. C. B. CAVE SELECTED FOR CANADIAN TEAM VS AMERICAN

Captain of New Westminster Cricket Team Receives High Honor—Has Brilliant Record.

It remained for a New Westminster cricketer to be selected on the All-Canadian team which in August will visit Philadelphia where a two-days' match will be played against an all-star team representing the United States. F. C. B. Cave, captain of the local club and one of the most brilliant batsmen west of the Rockies, yesterday received word that he had been selected as a member of the Canadian team. Whether he will be able to accept the invitation he has not yet decided. The selection of the New Westminster skipper represents quite an honor, not only to the player but also to the city, for he is the only player west of Calgary to receive favorable notice from the selection committee.

Shrewsbury Student.

F. C. B. Cave first came into prominence in the English game by making the public school team of Shrewsbury, Shropshire, an institution which has held its own among the public schools of the old country. Born in Birmingham, he naturally drifted back to the Warwickshire city, where in August 1901, he played for Warwickshire gentlemen against a selected team from Worcestershire. He was then only sixteen years old, but his prowness with the willow early caught the eyes of the selection committee. After leaving school he played regularly for the Birmingham club, being honorary secretary of the organization for two seasons.

Colonial life gripped him when he attained his majority and coming out to Winnipeg, he soon made the crack eleven of the prairie metropolis. In 1912 he was a member of the Winnipeg Wonderers which visited all the important cricket centres of eastern Canada and the United States, the team winning all its games during the tour with the exception of the finals for the Joan Ross Robertson trophy against a Toronto eleven. It was in that year that he first paid a visit to the Germantown grounds at Philadelphia, regarded the finest enclosure for the English pastime in the southern republic.

With New Westminster.

F. C. B. Cave landed in New Westminster early in the spring of 1913 and soon identified himself with the local club. The resignation of the captain early in the season allowed the members to select Cave as the skipper, and that he performed well is shown by the fact that for the first time in years the Royal City captured the championship of the lower mainland. During the whole of last season, Cave's batting was feared by the majority of the bowlers of Vancouver and the district league, on one occasion running up a score of 176 not out, against Cedar Cottage, while another time he was responsible for 117.

On account of business reasons he was prevented from turning out with the club at the beginning of this season, but since he has made new arrangements, the club during the past three weeks has won a series of victories. On Saturday Cave again demonstrated his strength with the bat by hitting up 95 against the best bowlers on the Burrard eleven of Vancouver.

TRUST COMPANIES ARE REGISTERING

Over a Score Already Have Complied With Provisions of New Act—Public Interests Guarded.

Victoria, July 6.—The attorney-eral's department yesterday received from W. Upton Runnals, inspector of trust companies, gratifying reports respecting the operation of the new act and the manner of its reception by that section of the public most interested.

The rate of premium by the several guarantee companies writing bonds for trust companies for deposit under the provisions of the Trust Companies act, has been fixed at ½ of 1 per cent. This constitutes the lowest rate charged by these companies for any line of business, and is testimony of the belief of the bonding companies that the act is well devised to protect the public, and will prove successful in its operation.

July 1 was the date set by the act for compulsory registration by all companies who desire to engage in a trust business in the province, and they are required to put up a deposit ranging from $25,000 to $200,000, according to the amount of trust business transacted. Between twenty and thirty companies have complied with these provisions.

An important and significant feature of the registrations thus made is that a number of small companies have done so. It had been feared in some quarters that the provisions of the act would have been construed as too burdensome on the small companies, who would thus be driven out of business, but the contrary is the case, a circumstance which gives much gratification to Mr. Bowser, as it furnishes convincing proof that the act is based on sound and equitable principles.

Upwards of 100 companies which had previously been doing a trust business have chosen to eliminate the trust feature from their transactions, but will continue doing business along other lines.

One other matter may be mentioned as indicating that the act has been framed in the interests of the public—and that is that numerous inquiries have reached the inspector as to whether certain companies making a bid for business have registered under the new provisions. This is taken to mean that already the public have come to feel that their interests are better safeguarded under the new regulations than was the case formerly.

WILL HON. DR. REAUME FIND A NEW SEAT.

Political Circles Discussing Future of Defeated Minister.

Toronto, July 6—The defeat of Hon. Dr. Reaume in Windsor, where dissension in the conservative ranks allowed a liberal to get through to victory, was a fruitful topic of discussion in political circles yestreday. Just what the future course of the minister of public works will be remains to be seen. Sir James Whitney was questioned in regard to the matter yesterday, but merely stated that it had not been considered.

Hon. Dr. Reaume will be in Toronto later in the week, when, after confering with his colleagues he may give some indication of his plans. But two courses are open to the minister—to find another seat, or to resign his portfolio in the government.

The only parallel since Sir James Whitney took up the reigns of power was the defeat of Hon. Nelson Monteith, minister of agriculture, in South Perth in 1908. Mr. Monteith retired from the cabinet, and his place was taken by Hon. James Duff.

GOOD REPORT ON LABOR CONDITIONS

Dominion Gazette Contains Optimistic Resume of Business Throughout Lower Mainland

Although by no means painting a picture as bright as it might be, the monthly report of the New Westminster correspondent to the Dominion Labor Gazette shows this city to be in as strong a position as any other centre on the coast. A feature of his report is that on the crops in the valley, and also the movement to exclude the Asiatics from the fishing industry. The report is as follows:

There was little change in labor conditions during the month of May. Practically nothing was being done in the building trades or along the lines of development work. The mills and factories were running as usual, although the destruction by fire of the Royal City shingle mills threw about forty men, mostly orientals, out of employment. Many business men state that unusual quiet prevailed in their various lines, with no apparent prospect of any immediate improvement. Preparations were under way for the erection of two large buildings in the down-town district.

The farmers were busy, and weather conditions were good. Prospects for a good crop were excellent. Fishing on the river was light. A vigorous and determined movement has been set on foot to conserve the fishing industry of the Fraser to the white and Indian fishermen, to the exclusion of the Japanese, who are rapidly absorbing the whole industry along the coast.

Lumbering operations showed some improvement.

Railway construction and other improvement work was quiet and largely confined to maintenance.

Y.W.C.A. DISCUSSES COMMUNITY WORK

Conference Being Held in Muskoka Deals With This Phase of Activities.

Toronto, July 6.—A feature of the summer activities of the Y.W.C.A. being held in Muskoka, has been the emphasis laid on problems essentially Canadian. Mr. Woodsworth, of the Canadian Welfare League, in a daily course on "My Neighbor," has sought to bring home to Canadians the present problems for which they are responsible.

Mr. Statten of the Young Men's Christian Association today set forth a solution for some of the problems. Cornwall, Pembroke, and Brockville, Ontario, have organized community work, which has met with success. In Brockville the Young Women's Christian Association has for two years supplied a woman worker to look after that side of the work. It is felt that this work is peculiarly fitted to be a common field for the Young Men's and Young Women's Christian associations.

What is the scope and extent of the work? The fundamental idea is to use the existing agencies, and their machinery, and to use them very fully. In any community the church is the foremost agent; the community worker gets in touch with the church, builds up through it groups of boys, with leaders or mentors to advise these groups. A specific case will illustrate this system. A Sunday school class, which had dwindled to four and lost its teacher, sought the aid of the community work. The boys wanted to form a club. After enquiry of what they wanted to do, nineteen activities were mentioned—all of a physical nature. Later came the desire for a Bible class and a literary club, and finally the idea of philanthropic activity. The community worker suggested that the boys should themselves find a leader or mentor. By their very own effort and determination they found an excellent man, and at once enlisted his sympathies. The group is now as large as any group should be, and the boys are themselves learning to be group leaders. Groups may be formed in many centres—in factories, in schools, and wherever boys are found. The basis of the group idea is the thought that from 9 to 16 years, one of the most powerful influences is the "gang" to which the boy belongs, the other the older boy or man to whom he renders hero-worship. It is all important that the boy joins the right gang.

A chart of the development of each boy is iebng kept by community workers. Development is considered normally to take place along the four lines on which Christ developed—wisdom, i. e., desire for intellectual growth; stature, i. e., physical growth; favor with God, i. e., religious development; favor with man, i. e., the love of service. The object of the mentor or group leader is to work every boy up to the normal in these four points. The boys are distinctly interested in advancing their own development. It is usually considered that 14 to 16 years is the critical time in a boy's life, when he decides for or against Christ. Investigation goes to prove that the majority of those who belong to the criminal class make the decision about 16, and that vocations are chosen at that time.

Statistics prove these facts in the case of the boy; investigation has not taken us far in the case of the girl. Where results have been reached, the course of development and the time of decision correspond almost exactly. Those of us who know girls will agree that the "group" or the "bunch," has a powerful influence, that hero-worship, well directed, is a strong factor in girl life.

It is before the Young Women's Christian association to consider further advance in this direction. Already the club idea is a big factor in association life—it is only another manifestation of the club idea.

Eventually these groups of growing boys will become strong bodies for the education of the public conscience, for the upbuild of the national social ideals and the advance of national work to meet the immigrant problem.

Another Adjournment.

Goderich, Ont., July 6—Another adjournment was made this morning in the charges alleged against Dr. Macklin, recent Conservative candidate and Rev. Joseph E. Elliott, in the recent election contest. When Magistrate Kelly opened his court there were mutual explanations of the arrangements which had been agreed on. The magistrate said the case would certainly proceed July 9.

THOUGHT HEIRESS LOST IN CITY

Chief of Couer d'Alene Tribe Asks Spokane Police to Find His Daughter—Owns Automobile.

Spokane, July 6.—Miss Catherine Victor, aged 24, the Indian heiress, whose alleged disappearance was reported to the police last Monday evening, explains that the story of her absence was all a mistake. She is the daughter of Louie Victor of the Couer d'Alene tribe.

"You see father is not much used to the ways of the city, and after he failed to find me Monday at the expected time he thought I was lost or had gone," explained the Indian girl, in good English. "Father then forgot to tell Mr. Collins or the police about finding me and we have been together ever since. He thought when he had found me that was enough, but he should have told the others to stop the inquiry. We spent Monday night in Indian canyon with some friends and last night with a friend on North Monroe street, and were out riding in our automobile together.

"We use an automobile, for which we paid $1,700, and it is the only machine owned among the Indians on the reservation. I had some trouble in learning to run it, but it is easy now and I look after all the details of keeping it in good order. I feel that I am a careful driver and after leaving the city usualy run 35 to 40 miles an hour. Father, who is 76 years old, will not try to run it. I drive from our ranch to Spokane in two hours."

Miss Victor said she had attended the government Indian school at Chemawa, Ore., the Catholic sisters' school at the old Coeur d'Alene mission and the Blair Business college in Spokane. She says her family owns 480 acres of choice land five miles east of Tekoa.

She drove to the Review building in her six-passenger car, accompanied by her father and an Indian girl. After she had told her story they posed for a picture.

PRIEST OR PARSON THE SAME TO HIM

Remarkable Story of Swindler Who Operates Under Cover of "the Cloth."

London, July 6.—At the Cambridge bankruptcy court Saturday before Mr. Registrar Eaden, the public examination of Christopher Stanley Long was continued. The bankrupt was formerly an undergraduate of St. Catherine's college, Cambridge.

According to the debtor's own admissions in his examinations, it appears that after leaving Cambridge he engaged in various religious and social work at home and abroad. Brought up as a Nonconformist, he was desirous of entering the Church of Rome, but at the solicitation of his mother he decided to become a clergyman of the Church of England, and for this purpose was sent to Cambridge to be educated. Afterwards joined the Roman Catholic church, then became a Presbyterian, and then allowed himself to be re-converted, and so on, in most cases receiving monetary assistance.

The debtor told the court that in March of last year he had booked his passage to America, but changed his mind, drew out the money and went dow nto Devonshire and Cornwall. While staying at a boarding house at Looe, he drew a cheque for £30, which he induced the proprietress of the hotel to accept, she to retain £15 for his bill and paying £15 in cash. At that time his banking account was exhaused, and he told the official receiver he drew the cheque in anticipation of receiving a loan from a clergyman who had been staying at the boarding house. As soon as he received the £15 he went off to Switzerland. He stayed at Lucerne and changed his name to "Dr. Carlyle," posing as a doctor of philosohy, and at the hotel there he cashed another cheque for £30, from which £15 was deducted for his hotel bill, and he returned to England. He knew that at that time he had no money in the bank, but an Australian whom he met at Lucerne had promised him a loan.

"Father Barnard."

While the doctor was at Stourport he sent out circulars inviting the assistance of the faithful in founding a religious house, to be called St. Ignatious priory, at Coleford, Gloucester, and gave an address there, describing himself as "Father Barnrad, O.D.R., B.A." of the order of the Divine Redeemer, but the "order" had no existence, and the "house" was a place he had seen in the course of his rambles that had struck him as suitable. His only connection with it was in negotiations with the house agent, whom he had asked to quote him a very reduced rent which the agent refused to do. Then he went to Littledene, in Gloucestershire, and gave out that he was a Presbyterian clergyman, calling himself "Dr. Angus." He preached a sermon there, which, by request, was printed. He told a woman that he was employed by the Year universe press to write a contribution on Christian archaeolcgy, and he borrowed £20 from her to enable him to go to the Holy Land to complete his work. He did not go to Palestine and the whole story was a fabrication.

The debtor told the court that there was a clergyman at Cambridge who was desirous of giving him another chance. He (the debtor) was anxious to be doing something so that he might pay off his creditors, if it was only by a few shillings a week. He begged for the registrar to give him the opportunity of starting again.

After consultation with the official receiver the registrar adjourned the examination.

STATE'S PRISON FROM INSIDE

Chairman Osborne of the New York Prison Reform Commission Tells of Voluntary Confinent at Auburn.

New York, N. Y., July 6.—What does our modern prison system do men's bodies and souls? What manner of men live days, years and decades in the little cells barred like bear cages, under conditions that wouldn't be tolerated in any respectable zoo?

Thomas Mott Osborne, Harvard graduate, prominent manufacturer, and lately head of the New York State Commission for Prison Reform, became a common convict in Auburn penitentiary in order to find out. His book "Within Prison Walls," is a day by day account of what he found there. It bites better and rings truer because there is little sentimentality in his way of looking at the men and conditions.

Although he was a voluntary prisoner, it was arranged that he should have exactly the same sort of treatment accorded ordinary prisoners; and, except in two or three small instances, this treatment was carried through.

The Sort of Men He Found.

Towards the end of his week's stay Mr. Osborne was confined in the "jail" as the punishment cells are called, for refusing to further bloody his hands on rattan basket-making. He describes his experience under the chapter heading of "A Night in Hell." Of those who shared the dark cells with him he writes:

"I was entirely prepared to encounter depraved and hardened men . . . surely in the jail, I reasoned, I shall meet the 'confirmed criminal.'

"'And this is what I find.

"Farthest away is No. 8. . . . He is a big, good natured husky chap from the enamel shop, sent down to this place of supreme punishment because he has talked back to one of the citizen instructors.

"In cell No. 4 is my social friend, Joe; and in cell No. 5 his partner. Joe and his partner had had an altercation, with an exchange of blows. No. 2, a boy of 21 years old, while in the hospital for an operation on his ear, had been somewhat troublesome, and talked to another patient; two days after the operation he was put to work shoveling coal. But the next morning on a report from the hospital, he was sent to the 'jail.'

"He was allowed no handkerchief to wipe the running wound in his ear, and no water to wash his ear or his face.

"My feelings on this subject being rather stroug," comments Mr. Osborne, "I shall not trust myself to do more than state coldly the plain facts."

Tell Jokes and Sing.

Joe sings ditties and tells jokes to while away the time; the boy with the wounded ear sings the Toreador's song from "Carmen."

Doubtless it is natural for Mr. Osborne to emphasize the human side, and the wrongs of his fellow convicts"; but no one can read a tenth of his book and escape a fellow-feeling with him when he writes:

"This is the place where I had expected to meet the violent and dangerous criminals; but what do I find? A genial young Irishman, as pleasant company as I have ever encountered, and a sweet-voiced boy singing "Carmen."

"Is this prison system anything but organized lunacy? I fail to see where ordinary common sense or a single lesson of human experience has been utilized in its development."

Electric Household Appliances

A cordial invitation is given the ladies of New Westminster to visit the salesrooms of the B. C. Electric, in the company's terminal at Columbia and Eighth, to inspect our complete line of Electric Cook ing and Household appliances.

These appliances greatly lessen the labor of the housewife, promoting both her comfort and convenience. They are always ready for service, operating on connection with any household socket. The cost for current is only a few cents per hour of continuous operation.

Electric Cooking Applances just meet your summer demands as they can do all forms of light cooking just as well as the kitchen range. Fully seventy-five per cent of your summer cooking can be done in this manner.

THE APPLIANCES WILL BE DEMONSTRATED FOR YOU AND ALL QUESTIONS ANSWERED. YOU WILL FIND THE VISIT BOTH INTERESTING AND INSTRUCTIVE.

On "Summer Dullness"

Summer months are considered dull in most retail lines of business.

That is a fact which we must face. But let us go into the pros and cons of the subject and find out why it is a dull season.

They say the buyers go out of town in the summer. That is not so.

Some of the people do leave the city during the summer—but do you realize what a small per centage of the population is away at any one time? Eight hundred to a thousand at most. And the 19,000 who are left have as many wants in the summer as they have in the winter—and as much money with which to satisfy them.

They say people won't buy goods in the summer. That is the merchants' fault.

Do you remember when they wouldn't buy white goods in the winter time? Now they buy more white goods in January than in any other month in the year. Advertising in the newspapers made this change.

A few years ago the quietest spot on the face of the earth was a furniture store in February. Newspaper advertising has made it the biggest month with live merchants. You can sell snowshoes in August if you advertise them right.

Now let us get down to brass tacks.

The only reason why business is dull in summer time is because merchants let it be so. They let habit blind them to the business that can be had. It would not take many years to make the two weeks before Christmas dull—if the merchants quit advertising and acted as though there was no business to be had.

We know that the people of New Westminster are not all out of town—that they have the money to buy all they need—that they will buy goods out of season if they are urged to do so.
