EMPRESS WRECK MAY BE RAISED

Public Desirous That All Bodies Possible Should Be Recovered.

Smypathy Being Shown for Captain Anderson of the Storstad—Inquiry Will Be Held at Quebec.

Montreal, June 5.—No further developments in connection with the disaster to the Empress of Ireland have come to light within the past 24 hours. The public has settled down to await with patience the official investigation which is to be begun on June 16, with Lord Mersey as chairman of the inquiry, though individuals continue to discuss the divergent statements about the shipwreck made by Captain Kendall of the Empress and Captain Anderson, of the Storstad. Some of the sympathy that was spent upon Captain Kendall at the outset has since been diverted to Captain Anderson, and the latter has many supporters here.

There is confusion in the public mind as to whether the investigation is to be held at Montreal or Quebec, but Ottawa dispatches to the Montreal newspapers late today mentioned Quebec as the scene of the inquiry.

It is believed by many people here that the Empress may be raised, although the C. P. R. officials have been careful not to make any statements to confirm this belief. Such a move would have the approval of the public, which seems anxious that all the bodies possible should be recovered from the wrecked vessel, no matter what the cost. Possibly divers will be employed to extricate the imprisoned bodies, and the ship blown up after the bullion in it has been brought out.

PEACE MEDIATORS HALT IN WORK

Delegates Are Working Oue General Peace Plan—No Conference Held Yesterday.

Niagara Falls, Ont., June 5.—Still without any intimation of what General Carranza's answer would be on the question of constitutionalist representation here, the mediators and the American and Mexican delegates spent the day working out details of the general peace plan.

There were no conferences but the American delegates remained in their apartments on the American side studying all the various phases. They re familiarizing themselves with much data which Washington is sending on to them about individuals mentioned for the new provisional government.

FRESH HERRING CAN BE EXPORTED

Important Changes Made in Fishing Regulations Which Affect This Province.

Ottawa, June 5.—The Canada Gazette contains notice of some important changes in the fisheries regulations of British Columbia. Up to the present the export of fresh herring has been prohibited, the object of this regulation being to prevent herring being exported to be converted into fish scrap and oil. Recently a demand has arisen in the United States for fresh herring in small packages, packed in ice. The new regulations will therefore allow the export of fresh herring packed in boxes containing not more than 200 pounds.

Another change provides that no one shall fish with nets or with any implement for commercial purposes in Spanish Arm, inside of a straight line drawn from Hatch Point to James Point, nor in Cowichan Bay inside of a line drawn from Cowichan Head to Serpentine Point.

SOLDIERS TO VISIT SEATTLE.

Annual Potlach Will Be the Occasion of a Two Day Sojourn.

Preparations are under way for the 104th regiment of Canadian militia to visit Seattle during the annual potlatch ceremonies. The great showing made by the New Westminster regiment at the Vernon camp has enthused the officers to the extent that negotiations are under way with the potlatch officials which will probably culminate in an agreement being arrived at whereby the 104th will be entertained over two days in the Sound City.

The idea is being greeted by the rank and file with much pleasure as this will be the first time in years that the local regiment has been invited to attend a celebration outside of Canadian soil.

FINAL ARRANGEMENTS FOR AD MEN'S MEET

All Committees Have Entertainment — Plans Completed and Will Give Visitors Time of Lives.

The various committees connected with the reception of the delegates attending the convention of the Pacific Coast Ad. Men's association, to be held in Vancouver next week, will make the final arrangements early next week.

Very few details are to be completed by the New Westminster committees, the heads of each department reporting practically everything in shape for what is to be one of the most interesting days for the visitors during their stay on this side of the international line.

Many New Wetminster people are planning to attend the Vancouver celebration earlier in the week, the Royal City being represented in the pageant by the May Queen and her attendants.

DUN'S REVIEW IS OPTIMISTIC

Dominion Trade Centres Show Upward Tendency of Business.

Normal Demand Noted in All Staple Lines With Enccouraging Prospects for Future.

New York, June 5.—Dispatches to Dun's Review from branch offices of R. G. Dun and company in leading trade centres of the Dominion indicate a tendency toward improvement in some lines, owing to favorable weather, although the change is not especially marked, and there is still much conservatism.

Montreal reports but little change in wholesale trade. Sorting up business in dry goods is light but an average volume of fall orders is being received. Footwear moves slowly, but leather is in better demand, while there is a fair distribution of groceries and hardware, paints, oils, etc.

The situation at Quebec shows considerable improvement and merchants in most all lines are optimistic.

Toronto reports a fair volume of trade at wholesale, although there is a marked disposition to defer purchases until crop results are more definitely known. Retailers of dry goods are carrying fair sized stocks and are not ordering very liberally, while footwear and clothing are rather quiet. There is a normal demand for groceries, however, and with good building prospects, hardware and materials are being taken in satisfactory amounts.

Little change is noted in local trade conditions at Hamilton, but taken as a whole business in seasonable lines is well up to the average.

Situation in Far West.

The situation in the far west and northwest seems to indicate an improvement in confidence in the future becoming slowly but steadily pronounced.

Winnipeg reports that the feeling among merchants is much better than for some time and that a number of leading lines of late have shown decided improvement.

There is a fair demand for seasonable merchandise at Saskatoon and continued increase in activity is expected from now on.

The discovery of oil in the vicinity of Calgary had a stimulating effect on general business and a considerable increase in the call for staple lines is reported.

Conditions are normal at Regina and a generally buoyant feeling appears to prevail in business circles.

Gross earnings of all Canadian railroads reporting so far for May show a decrease of 14.2 per cent as compared with the earnings of the same roads for the corresponding period a year ago.

Commercial failures in the Dominion this week numbered 30, against 32 last week and 31 in the same week last year.

CYCLONE MISSES PASSENGER TRAIN

Hospers, Ia., June 5.—A Cyclone swooped down upon the farm home of James Allen late this afternoon, seriously injuring Mrs. Neth Hoogeterp and her three children. A farm hand by the name of Sorenson is missing. A Chicago and Northwestern passenger train, missed the cyclone by a few minutes. It was stopped by wreckage along the tracks. The storm followed a day of intense heat and came up suddenly. It moved in a westerly direction, cutting a swath one hundred yards wide.

WEATHER REPORT.

Lower Mainland and New Westminster: Light to moderate winds; mostly cloudy and cool with showers.

MEMBERSHIP FEE REDUCED TO $5

Progressive Association to Inaugurate a Vigorous Campaign.

Annual Meeting Adjourned to June 26 When Important Transportation Announcement Will be Made.

The annual meeting of the Progressive association held last night in the board of trade rooms did not deal with the annual reports and election of officers on account of the unavoidable absence of several officers, but the question of reduction of the membership fee was taken up and the following resolution unanimously carried.

Moved by R. Sutherland, seconded by J. W. Cunningham, that clause 4, section 1, of the constitution be amended to read as follows: "The annual membership fee shall be $5 per annum payable in advance, or if paid two half yearly installments shall be $3 each half year."

President Allan Purvis in a letter regretting his inability to attend the meeting suggested that an adjournment be made for two weeks at which time he expected to be able to make an important announcement regarding transportation. The suggestion was acted upon, the meeting being adjourned until Friday evening, June 26 for the completion of business.

A special committee consisting of Vice-president W. T. Reid, D. S. Curtis, J. Dorgan, J. W. Cunningham and A. Sprice was appointed to arrange for the closing up of the past year's finances, there being a number of accounts to adjust, and to make a canvas for members for the coming year.

The members were unanimous in considering that the association should receive a large addition to its membership at the new rate, and hope for a large turn out at the adjourned meeting, when arrangements will be completed for carrying on the work in a more vigorous manner than ever.

PUBLIC SERVICE FOR S.A. VICTIMS

Impressive Scene Witnessed by Thousands in Royal Albert Hall.

Relatives and Friends of Lost Salvationists Take Part in Memorial Exercises.

London, June 5.—One of the most impressive scenes ever witnessed within the walls of London's vast halls, took place tonight at the Royal Albert hall, when a public memorial service for those who had lost their lives on the Empress of Ireland, was held by the Salvation Army. The immense hall, with its capacity of 15,000 people, was filled to the doors, chiefly with Salvationists and friends, and also a large number of the general public.

The service opened with a pathetic procession that will long be remembered by those who saw it. It consisted of the international staff of songsters, carrying their distinctive flags, followed by those members of the Canadian contingent to the international congress who had happily travelled across by other vessels. Then followed the relatives and the friends of the lost Salvationists and commissioners and their wives.

Men and women wore white sashes and in the centre of the arena were vacant chairs, to the number of the lost members, a white sash resting on each.

The Canadian Pacific railway company was represented by George McLaren Brown, H. S. Carmichael and A. E. Versey, of the management department.

The song "Give Me Wings of Faith to Rise," was then sung, and prayers offered by Commissioner James Hay, of Australia, and Staff Captain Catherine Booth.

MEN'S CLUB FORMED.

Organization in Connection With St. Alban's Anglican Church.

The St. Alban's Men's club in connection with St. Alban's Anglican church, East Burnaby, was formed on Thursday evening at the home of P. B. Brown, the charter membership reaching 20 at the organization gathering. The objects of the association will be to assist in all matters connected with the church, especially the outdoor and indoor social events.

The officers elected were as follows: President, P. B. Brown; vice-president, H. Sworder; secretary-treasurer, W. Watkins; executive, M. Sworder, F. Hughes, A. Campbell, Clarence Mawhinney, L. E. Walker, and Chas. B. Brown.

On Monday evening next the members will gather at the church and put in two hours work improving the grounds.

"TAG DAY" TODAY FOR R.C. HOSPITAL

Every Citizen Expected to Contribute to a Worthy Cause.

Buy a Tag and Wear it, Set a Good Example to Others—Columbia Street and Queens Park.

Money well bestowed will apply to that given today in aid of the Royal Columbian hospital when the members of the Women's Auxiliary of the institution post themselves at their allotted stations and sell tags. Every person, whether high or low, rich or poor, is within range of the appeal which will be made today. No set sum is asked by the organization having charge of this annual tag day, it being expected that everyone will give according to his or her means.

New Westminster can be thankful that there is no surfeit of these tags days which have become objectionable in some cities on account of the frequency and purposes under which they are held.

The tag day in aid of the local hospital has become a fixture in the city and year after year as the population increases and the needs and worth of the institution become to be more generally recognized and realized so also has the sum subscribed increased in proportion.

The splendid work of the Auxiliary in undertaking certain duties, which, while under the sphere of the hospital, cannot well be undertaken by the officials of the institution, is well known to the citizens of New Westminster. The axium, "it is the little things that count" especially applies to the work in aid of which the citizens are asked to contribute.

The ladies will be found stationed at various points in the business section and will be plentifully armed with the small tags. In the afternoon another corps of willing helpers will direct operations atthe lacrosse game at Queens park, meeting at the home of Mrs. Mackay, First street and Third avenue.

It is the earnest wish of the auxiliary members that all who contribute to the fund will wear the tag throughout the day. By this means persons will not be approached a second time and the sight of such tags will be an incentive to others to arm themselves and assist this most worthy object.

WILL WORK CREWS BOTH DAY AND NIGHT

Business With the B. C. Manufacturing Co. Takes Strong Upward Tendency.

There is at least one manufacturing firm in the city that is not crying out against the financial depression. This is the B. C. Manufacturing company, whose plant is located on Lulu island. Orders have been issued to start a night force commencing Monday next which is expected to run through the summer or until the demand for fruit and salmon packing cases slackens.

The new order will affect some 50 men, who have been engaged in the city, the rule of giving preference to New Westminster residents being strictly adhered to.

The plant which is located near the Lulu island bridge, has received a superabundance of orders during the past few days which it would have been unable to fill had not the night force been engaged. A large portion of the product will be shipped to the northern canneries and also to the upper country for the fruit crop which is estimated to be the largest in the history of the interior.

THISTLE SOCIAL CLUB.

Summer Season Inaugurated Last Night in Labor Temple.

The Thistle Social club opened its summer social season last night with song and dance and the bagpipes in the Labor Temple. About 60 couples were present. In the course of the evening D. Borland, secretary for the past year, was presented with a silver mounted silk umbrella, with the motto of the club engraved on the mounting.

D. S. Cameron, the president, made the presentation and alluded to Mr. Borland's excellent services to the club and to the great esteem in which he was held by his fellow members. They all regretted his resignation but were forced to accept it. The pipers then played "Will Ye No Come Back Again."

WILL LAY THE DUST.

Coquitlam Appropriates $250 to Oil Pitt River Road.

The Coquitlam council has voted the sum of $250 for the oiling of the Pitt river road, conditionally upon the government contributing the rest of the cost. An effort will be made to secure the use of the New Westminster oiler, at once so that the road may be in good order to impress the Pacific advertising men, on their way to the Colony farm, with a due sense of Coquitlam's fertility and beauty and excellent civic administration.

DECKS CLEARED FOR TOLLS VOTE

U. S. Senators Expect to Close Debate Today and Vote on the Bill Early Next Week.

Washington, June 5.—The senate tonight cleared the decks for the vote on the tolls exemption repeal and leaders were hopeful that the general debate on that subject may be brought to a close tomorrow and the bill and all the amendments proposed to it disposed of early next week.

After listening to speeches far removed from tolls all day, the senate recessed until 11 o'clock tomorrow when the exemption bill will come up automatically to the exclusion of all other business.

Senator Cummins' is expected to conclude his speech on the subject and leaders hope that Senators Poindexter and Lafollette, who are understood to have prepared speeches, will conclude before adjournment tomorrow night. Then the way will be opened for a vote on the amendments Monday and it was believed tonight that the bill itself might be reached Thursday.

MIND AND BODY WELL NOURISHED

Christian Endeavor Delegates Enjoy Addresses and Banquet.

Efficiency Campaign to Be Inaugurated in Various Cities—Officers Elected—Program for Today.

The B. C. Christian Endeavor convention began its session of yesterday morning at half-past seven o'clock in the Queens avenue Methodist church, with a prayer service conducted by Rev. F. W. Kerr of St. Andrew church, New Westminster. Over fifty attended.

During the day delegates continued to report and in all 150 represenatives signed the roll.

At nine-thirty Rev. Dr. A. K. McLennan delivered an inspiring address on the "Best Christian Endeavor Methods," which was followed by an earnest and instructive discussion.

W. J. Shortt, vice-president, spoke on the relations of the church and the Christian Endeavor societies, and Miss Hardman on the C. E. in relation to the juniors. A pastor's conference on C. E. work in churches followed, and an adjournment was then made for luncheon.

In the afternoon the proceedings were opened by an address on "Efficiency in C E. Work" given by Miss Luella Dyer, president of the Seattle union. Miss Dyer outlined the standards set forth by the international convention and mentioned that since the convention had last met, 10,000 new societies had started with over one million members. She stated that the work of the next few years would be on the lines of an efficiency campaign.

The Wandering Boy.

"How to interest the gallery churchgoer in C. E." was the subject of an able address by the Rev. A. Raeburn Gibson, president of the Victoria C. E. union. The first question, he said, to be considered was who were the gods. They were, he answered, the wandering boy, the indifferent one, the timid one and the transient visitor, the fallen ones, the down and outers, and the unhappy. What was required to interest them. They were willing workers with clean hands, pure hearts and wise heads, quick eyes, ready tongues and swift feet. The force behind it all was combined of love, faith and sympathy, courage, tact, zeal, and above all, the power of the spirit. The speaker dwelt upon the excellent training to be gained by the efficiency campaign. He mentioned they were going to take up the efficiency campaign very strongly in Victoria, and he challenged Vancouver to a contest as to which was going to get the greatest number of experts by September.

He expressed the opinion that the method of interesting and developing young people by means of social events was played out, and the literary evening might with advantage, also be dropped, in connection with C. E. meetings. All their power should be concentrated on personal work. The key of the whole situation was love towards one's fellowmen.

"Big things Endeavors are doing" was Dr Scott's theme. Among many excellent objects none was of more Huerta Optimistic.

Mexico City, June 5.—Persons who spoke to President Huerta today say he is very optimistic over the outcome of the peace negotiations at Niagara Falls. The belief was expressed that the end of the difficulty was near and that there soon would be a resumption of diplomatic relations with the United States. It was persistently rumored in political circles that General Jose Refugio Velasco would be appointed minister of foreign affairs and that the other vacancies in the cabinet will be filled tonight.

WILL CONTINUE THE CAMPAIGN

Carranza Is in no Hurry to Answer Note of the Mediators.

Conference of Constitutionalist Leaders to Be Held Shortly at Saltillo.

El Paso, Tex., June 5.—It probably will be several days before General Carranza will arrive at Saltillo and issue his answer to proposals of the mediators at Niagara Falls.

It was announced today by his agents that General Villa will leave Chihuahua City tomorrow to confer with the constitutionalist commander in chief at Torreon, where Carranza remained today. The bureau of information at Juarez issued a news bulletin saying that General Gonzales, commander of the eastern military zone, was on his way to Saltillo to meet Carranza.

Carranza and Villa at Torreon are expected to confer about the relative positions of Villa, commanding the northern military zone, and General Natera, recently appointed by Carranza as head of a newly formed central zone covering territory through which Villa was expected to move on his march toward the national capital. The new zone places Natera in command of the campaign against San Luis Potosi, which Villa originally was expected to attack following his victories at Torreon and Saltillo.

The constitutionalist agent here and advisers of the revolutionary party returned today from a visit to Chihuahua City.

From them the impression was given that the appointment of Natera had occasioned no friction and that the campaign in the south would be continued promptly and with complete cooperation of all of the leaders. This situation occasioned early today an interview with General Villa in which he denied that there existed any ill-feeling on account of the creation of the new zone.

LEAVES CHILD TO TERRIBLE FATE

Portland, Ore., June 5.—When a seven passenger automobile, driven by Mrs. Wm. E. Frazier became stalled while crossing the railroad before an approaching train today at Clackamas, near here, Mrs. Frazier, who was driving and four passengers, leaped out, leaving three year old Louis Frazier alone in the tonneau.

The locomotive struck the auto and smashed it to kindling, parts being hurled 50 feet. When the train was halted a quarter of a mile farther on, little Louis was found on the engine pilot, clinging to the rods. The child's right leg was broken but that was the only injury.

WILL IMPROVE THE MUNICIPALITY

Port Moody Council Preparing to Make the City Still More Attractive and Up-to-Date.

A special meeting of the Port Moody city council was held yesterday at which three sidewalk bylaws, under the local improvement act were reconsidered, adopted and ordered to be registered. The sidewalks are to be laid down on east Kyle street, from Clarke street to St. George St., on west Kyle street and on the north side of Short street from the intersection of Douglas and Murray streets to the C. P. R. turnstile.

Two construction bylaws were introduced and conducted to their final stage and the council will meet on Monday evening to finally reconsider and adopt them in due form.

The streets embraced in these latter bylaws are John street from Moody street to Charles street and connecting streets; Clarke street from Albert to Moody street and connecting streets. They will be graded and rocked and the approximate cost of both is $45,000.

Under a bylaw passed by the city all construction work must be done under the local improvement act, and only maintenance or ordinary repairs are allowed to be paid out of general revenues.

Opposed by Taylor.

Alderman Taylor was strongly opposed to all this work being done under the local improvement act, and he took a lot of convincing before he could be made to understand that the council had no alternative.

Either the work had to be done under the act or nothing could be done this year.

The mayor explained that they might make a path into someone's home on the recommendation of the engineer, but nothing else. The people had voted that all construction work must be done under the local improvement act, after a meeting at which it had been fully explained.

Alderman Taylor said it would destroy the credit of the municipality

THERE'S SOMETHING WRONG.

People across the international border who try to view things political through clear glasses are becoming more convinced every day that the Wilson administration is losing ground in public favor. The general public, rightly or wrongly, believed, or was led to believe that the advent of a Democratic government would accomplish the result desirable, viz., the improvement of living conditions. The Democrats, in some instances driven by the president to fulfill their engagements, have done most of those things they promised to do to reduce the cost of living and improve circumstances all over the country; but, unfortunately for the Democrats, the expected developments have failed to come off. They scratched the match and held it to the fuse but nothing has fizzed. Therefore, says the man in the street, sometimes referred to as the great silent vote, "something is wrong." When "something is wrong" it means that the government is due for some blame and, since the Democratic party happens to be the government at the present moment across the line, it's up to the D. P.

The president, by those who stop to think, will be held free from most of this responsibility for failure, the reason being that Mr. Wilson has done his level best under the existing state of affairs. The existing state of affairs includes, among other items, such men as Bryan, the secretary of state, and Daniels, the secretary of the navy. They and others like them represented certain wings of the party which had to be recognized and they were included in the president's advisory board, but they have failed, like Belshazzar, to tip the scales at the required weight and the loads which they have failed to support have dropped on Woodrow Wilson's shoulders.

Under the increased pressure the president has done work which future generations will recognize as wonderful even for an untrammeled hand, but the superhuman is beyond the powers of Woodrow Wilson and history will read the paradox of the successful president who headed an unsuccessful administration.

That's exactly what we ARE worrying about.

WOMEN HAVE LIVELY EXPERIENCE WITH BANDIT

Dillon, Mont., June 5.—Mrs. S. F. Patterson, wife of a wealthy business man and rancher of Dillon, and her guests, Mrs. L. A. Williams and three little daughters of Spokane, had a lively experience with highwaymen last night. While returning to the Patterson country home, a few miles from the city in an automobile they were accosted by two masked men riding gray horses. They were ordered to stop the machine and deliver over their valuables.

"We want your money," one of the holdups said.

Instead of stopping the machine Mrs. Patterson threw on speed and ran the auto into one of the horses, throwing the rider beneath the wheels. Had she not then thrown on the brakes the man would probably have been killed, but she feared the anger of the other holdup if she injured his companion and stopped the car.

Mrs. Patterson jumped from the machine and ran to a nearby residence, where she telephoned the sheriff's office and the chief of police. After she left the bandits commanded Mrs. Wilson to drive the automobile away from town at their instructions. She told them that she did not know how to run the car, and one of the men threatened to kill her. She begged him not to shoot her for the sake of her children.

When the bandit became convinced that she could not operate the car he left her and, with his companion, rode off into the darkness.

Honor Furth's Memory.

Seattle, June 5.—All the street cars of the Puget Sound Traction, Light and Power company stopped for two minutes beginning at 3 o'clock, simultaneously with the beginning of the Masonic funeral ceremonies of the late Jacob Furth, president of the company. The honorary pallbearers at the funeral were former business associates of Mr. Furth, whom he designated when he knew his end was near. The body was cremated.

VICTORIA BOY HERO OF EMPRESS WRECK

Quebec, June 5.—Every such disaster as that which befell the Empress of Ireland, seems to bring out at least one man who stands out above all others in coolness, resource and courage. These are the men who control mobs, and who bring order out of chaos.

The survivors unite in laying such honor on the shoulders of Dr. James F. Grant, 1913 graduate of McGill, the ship's doctor. They praise the manner in which he aided the terror-stricken, kept hope alive in the breasts of those who were bereaced of loved ones, calmed the ravings of those to whom the shock had for a time made insensible to those human attributes which make heroes, went about among the rescued and gave them treatment not only for their physical injuries, but also for the terrible mental shocks which had been enduced.

The doctor was pulled from a porthole by those who stood on the side ofthe ship after she had canted right over. He slid into the water as the great hull dropped from beneath him and swam out to the lights of the collier which had wrought the tragedy. He was picked up by one of the boats of this ship, and in this he returned to the scene and aided in the rescue work.

Then he boarded the Storstad and out of the confusion that made the grimy collier a place of horror, brought a semblance of horror that meant much. Women died as they reached the deck, and he took charge of the bodies and ordered where they should be laid. Down in the engine room foreigners for the most part were shrieking and screaming in the terror that had not yet left them. And there were women there, trying to warm their chilled bodies and dry their draggled clothing.

He quieted the riot of the foreigners. All over the ship he went, earning that praise that afterwards was unanimously granted him. Dr. Grant is still young, very young indeed, but his features were stamped with capability.

Upon being asked for the story of the disaster, he told it. There were some interruptions. Women wanted him for a moment, women whose nerves had not yet become readjusted since the terrors of the night.

He would excuse himself for a moment and then, returning, he would smile gently and resume his narrative.

MORE RESTRICTIONS ON JEWS IN RUSSIA

St. Petersburg, June 5.—Fresh and severe restrictions on Jews in Russia are in prospect, notwithstanding the pledges recently given by the new minister of finance, M. Bark.

It is known that Jews have already been made ineligible for directorships of mining companies and certain others of an analogous kind. Now this restriction is to be extended to all branches of industry and notably to the timber trade, which is of such importance in Russia. Regulations to this effect have been drawn up and aprpoved by the council of ministers.

Discontent is general in business circles, and espeically among the leading bankers. The policy now adopted is criticized in the severest manner as not only contrary to the assurance given by the minister, but as in contradiction also to the undertaking given by the minister of commerce at the opening of the trades congress.

A detachment of the Sixth regiment arrived Sunday morning at Ladysmith and will take the place of the 88th detachment, transferred to Nanaimo.

SYNOPSIS OF COAL MINING REGULATIONS.

COAL MINING rights of the Dominion in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, the Yukon Territory, the Northwest Territories and in a portion of the Province of British Columbia, may be leased for a term of twenty-one years at an annual rental of $1 an acre. Not more than 2,560 acres will be leased to one applicant.

Application for a lease must be made by the applicant in person to the Agent or Sub-Agent of the district in which the rights applied for are situated.

In surveyed territory the land must be described by sections, or legal sub-divisions of sections and in unsurveyed territory the tract applied for shall be staked out by the applicant himself.

Each application must be accompanied by a fee of $5 which will be refunded if the rights applied for are not available, but not otherwise. A royalty shall be paid on the merchantable output of the mine at the rate of five cents per ton.

The person operating the mine shall furnish the Agent with sworn returns accounting for the full quantity of merchantable coal mined and pay the royalty thereon. If the coal mining rights are not being operated such returns should be furnished at least once a year.

The lease will include the coal mining rights only, but the lessee will be permitted to purchase whatever available surface right may be considered necessary for the working of the mine at the rate of $10 an acre.

For full information application should be made to the Secretary of the Department of the Interior, Ottawa, or to any Agent or Sub-Agent of Dominion Lands.

W. W. CORY,
Deputy Minister of the Interior.

FASHION NOTES.

Although on these cool days in early June we find it difficult to realize that the bathing season is almost with us, and consequently bathing suits are to be considered seriously. Yet such is a fact, and it is well to be prepared for the lovely warm days which may surprise us at any moment. And let me advise you not to allow these days to arrive without being the possessor of a suitable bathing costume for the week-end visit to the salt water. Some of the suits noticed in the shops this year are very pretty indeed, and many of them are made up in silk, taffeta being the favorite. The styles are flounced over the hips, and the colors are gray or sombre, as your fancy may dictate. The skirts are not too narrow and the silhouette is very modish indeed and why not? Must we be forever condemned to bathe in navy blue flannel trimmed with white braid, while the rest of the world is aflutter with change and variety?

Taffeta as has been said is a much favored material, and can be used in any tone desired, but in almost every case the dark shades are combined with the brighter colors, as for instance black with trimmings of apple green, or taupe combined with Roman stripe. The printed taffetas are also used a great deal, and make most beach costumes, particularly when combined with plain tone silk. Other fabrics used for these costumes are brocades, moire plaids, silk poplins, lussahs and satin. Many silk and cotton fabrics are also used, and besides these we have a wide choice in brilliantines, Sicilians, mohairs and serges. Materials which have long proven their service as a surf fabric. Some even use the heavy cotton materials, but I do not think the cotton goods ever prove entirely satisfactory. When you have finally decided upon the material and style of your bathing costume you will realize that this is only the beginning of your preparation for your dip into the sea there are numerous little and big accessories, and everything must match. For instance the cap, this is smartest made of the suit material, and the favorite design this year is a tam shape with rabbit ears in a contrasting material. Of course there are many other styles, some being in the shape of frilly caps, others are made after the style of children's linen hats, with scalloped edges about the face, and a wide band across the top, which narrows into two shapes that button under the chin, and are also scalloped on both sides. These caps are of course rubber lined, and this brings us to the real rubber caps, which, after all, is the most suitable for our sea bathing, proving itself practical as well as pretty, for it can be pulled down well over the hair, thus protecting it from the salt water. Belts and sashes have also been fashioned out of thin soft rubber used for the caps, and as a final touch to the chic bathing costume there are some very natural looking flowers, usually big half open roses, made entirely of this rubber.

Bathing sandals comes in silks, kid or satin, and are very attractive on the beach, but low shoes of canvas are really the most serviceable for the water. The wraps to be worn to and from the bathhouse are made in various ways but the styles most liked are either the new cape designs or the raglan kimona sleeve styles. Long silk sweater, provided with a knitted sash are also a most convenient thing to slip into when coming out of the surf. Oriental silk coats are occassionally seen on the beach, the rage for things oriental at the present moment being responsible for this very unusual departure.

PAULINE PRAGUE.

IRELAND COULD SUPPLY ENGLAND WITH MEAT

London, June 5.—Although there is no immediate shortage in the world's meat supply so far as London and England are concerned, there is much talk at Smithfield as to what may happen in the near future.

"Wholesale prices are fluctuating every day, but this does not affect to any extent the retail prices," said H. W. G. Milliman, superintendent of the Central markets, yesterday. "In spite of the cult of vegetarianism, people in England seem to be eating more meat and wasting more than they did twenty years ago. And the meat supply has not increased proportionately to the demand. It is of interest to note the remarkable growth and decline of North American supplies to this market. In 1876, 5,513 tons, principally presh beef, were received from America, and these supplies increased in volume year by year until they reached 140,000 tons in 1903. Last year the quantity of beef received from North America was smaller than the total thirty-seven years ago.

"I look upon Ireland as the future country for producing meat. At the present time much meat is produced, though it is not fattened there. But I look forward to the time when Ireland will wake up to the full possibilities of the English meat market."

FIVE HUNDRED POUNDS FOR TELLING LIE

What a Sensational Old Country Paper Must Pay for Libelling Young Lady.

London, June 5.—In the king's bench division yesterday, before Mr. Justice Atkin and a special jury, Miss Violet Schmitz, a young lady residing with her parents at Brighton, sued Bowerman's Press, Limited, printers and publishers of a publication called "Modern Life," to recover damages for an alleged libel. The defendants did not appear.

A. Neilson, counsel for the plaintiff, said that the libel complained of was contained in the issue of "Modern Life" on November 15 last. There was no appearance by the defendants, who were the printers and publishers of the journal, which was one of those ephemeral publications which contained garbage that appealed to a certain section of the public. The libel complained of was vulgar and brutal beyond belief. He did not know who were the responsible persons connected with the paper, and the shadow of the horsewhip or an Ald Bailey prosecution might have influenced their annonymity.

Miss Schmitz was a young lady not 21, and at the time of the publication of the libel resided at the Old Manor House, Hove. She entered into the social life of Brighton, and was a member of the committee of a small dancing set known as the Friday club. It was in respect of one of these dances that the libel was published. Under the headings: "Other People's Indiscretions" and "What Rumor Says," there appeared:

"A wild sensation was caused on Friday night at a dance by the smart little Brighton dance club known as the "Friday club,' 'which holds assemblies at the Old Ship rooms, by the appearance of one of the lady patrons, Miss Violet Schmitz, of the Hove Manor House. (We give her name as the lady has evidently no objection to advertisement). She wore a dress which, though doubtless 'le dernier cri,' seemed more suitable for the Moulin Rouge or the Bal Bullier than for comparatively sedate Brighton, of the thinnest crepe de chine, a delicate pink in color, and its transparency left very little to the imagination of the onlooker. It was a bit of a 'scream,' as the Yankees say, and many of the more modestly-minded guests literally held their breath."

The paragraph also referred to "the long slits up the side which showed a pair of silk stockings and the lace of the frills of some nether garment." These statements were absolutely incorrect, and Miss Schmitz was entitled to substantial damages for the wrong which she had suffered.

Miss Schmitz in her evidence, said that the statements in the libel were absolutely false. The dress was made by her usual dressmaker, under the superintendence of her mother.

The jury found a verydict for the plaintiff, and assessed the damage at £500.

Judgment for the plaintiff accordingly, with costs.

"RAISING THE WIND" IN GERMAN ARMY

Court Trials Show How Money Sharks Get Their Hooks on Foolish Young Officers.

Berlin, June 5.—The trial in which a number of money lenders are charged with fleecing young army officers was delayed today, owing to the illness of one of the accused. From the indications given when the preliminaries came before the court of first instance, No. 1, yesterday, it will be several days before the end is reached.

The witnesses for the greater part are young officers of good family, including several of title, and although the accused are not charged directly with usury or with any other infraction of the laws relating to money lending, the whole case shows what shifts young officers are sometimes reduced to when it is a question of having to "raise the wind."

No fewer than thirteen prisoners appear for trial. The chief count is one of fraud, but several of the accused are charged on lesser counts indicating complicity. The prosecution allege that the leading spirits among them set to work on the understanding that a large percentage of the younger officers garrisoned on the western frontier are frequently in need of ready money, and that in spite of many such scandals in recent years they are frequently only too willing to accept the help of some unknown money lender rather than put the matter plainly before their parents; also—and this is perhaps more important—that they are often far readier to pay exorbitant rates of interest than come into public notice and private reproof by taking the responsibility of prosecuting those who may enter into illicit relations with them as regards moneylending.

Moneylenders' Devices.

The prosecution alleges that several of the prisoners founded a fraudulent agency, described as "commercial agents," almost, it not exclusively, in order to prey on impecunious officers. The method was not so much to supply money as to pass off a quantity of goods—cigars, boots and shoes, and wines, in several specific instances—which were then to be passed on to a moneylender, who lent or "advanced" the officers' money on this guarantee to the extent of about a quarter of the value of the goods.

This procedure was employed when they entered into relations with the officers on the promise of securing them loans of ready money within a short delay. The prosecution alleges that none of the prisoners was in a position to make any such promise of a loan, none of them having the disposal of even the smallest fortune.

The case has special interest, inasmuch as it is the third of these trials "en masse" since the notoroious Treuberg trial. It is also a point of interest that one of the prisoners has already been in prison two years under remand, it having taken all this time for the prosecution to complete its case.

ENORMOUS DEMAND FOR "FRUIT-A-TIVES"

1,152,000 Boxes Sold Last Year.

Six of These Fruit Liver Tablets for Every Man, Woman and Child in the Dominion.

In seven short years, "Fruit-a-tives" has become the most famous and the most widely used medicine in Canada that has ever been introduced to the people of the Dominion. Even those who take "Fruit-a-tives" regularly and recommend these famous fruit juice tablets to their friends, probably have no idea of the enormous number of "Fruit-a-tives" that are being used by those wishing to regain their health.

Last year, over eight thousand gross boxes of "Fruit-a-tives" were sold. As there are one hundred, forty four boxes in a gross, this means that over one million one hundred thousand boxes were sold in 1912. And this year, this number will be still further increased.

This means a box of "Fruit-a-tives" for every six persons in Canada, or six tablets for every man, woman and child in the country.

"Fruit-a-tives" are sold in every section of the Dominion. On the rugged Atlantic coast, throughout the Maritime Provinces, among the French in Quebec and the English in Ontario, all over the great Prairie Provinces and on the shores of the Pacific, "Fruit-a-tives" is the best selling medicine in stock.

This is true because "Fruit-a-tives" gives results. For chronic Constipation, Indigestion and Stomach Trouble—for bad Blood, Skin Eruptions and Eczema—for Rheumatism, Sciatica and Lumbago—for Kidney, Bladder and Urinary Troubles—"Fruit-a-tives" cures when nothing else will.

In the head office in Ottawa, are hundreds of letters and photographs from grateful men and women who have been cured of sickness and suffering by "Fruit-a-tives." Many of these letters and photographs have been published by permission and have induced other sufferers to try "Fruit-a-tives." This is one of the factors in the demand for "Fruit-a-tives," which is now sold in every city, town, hamlet and cross roads store.

50c. a box, 6 for $2.50 trial size, 25c., at all dealers or sent on receipt of price by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

WILLS

There is a period in the life of every man when he thinks about the future welfare of those dependent upon him. Sometimes this does not come until sickness overtakes him. Then he makes a will—but it may be made under wrong influence.

Had the will been made during good health, the most deserving persons—according to the deceased's wish—would have shared in the distribution of the estate.

Do you not realize that it is your sacred duty to no longer delay making your will?

The advice of the Dominion Trust company in this matter may be of value to you. All such discussions are treated in strict confidence.

LOCAL FRUIT APPEARS

Strong Demand for Cherries, Strawberries and Gooseberries.

Local strawberries, cherries and gooseberries made their first appearance for the season in the market yesterday and were eagerly sought after. The supply was equal to the demand for some time and prices ruled from 25 cents for two boxes to 10 cents a box for strawberries and cherries, and gooseberries 10 cents per pound.

Langley and Ladner were the sources of the early fruit. Flowers also were in profusion and the stalls presented a gorgeous appearance. There was little variation in the prices of farm produce from that of last week, and the supplies were good. There was an exceptionally good attendance of farmers.

LUMLEY IS CHAIRMAN.

MOOSE STILL UNDEFEATED: ELECTRICS LOSE FIVE-FOUR

B. C. E. R. Make Costly Errors—A. Gay Brings in Winning Run at End of Sixth.

Circling around like an aeroplane, several different kinds of horse shoes settled down on the Moose at Queens park last night which allowed the herd to spill the beans in the shape of defeating the Electrics. The final score was 5-4, at least three of the Moose tallies being let in on errors in the infield.

Up to the fourth inning Manager Bill Graham occupied the players' bench all alone, wearing a stoical gaze and chewing holes in a brand new briar as he witnessed his pet athletes cutting wide swaths in the atmosphere at the puzzlers dished up by one, Slaton. The score at that period was four for the Electrics and a lone one to the credit of the Moose.

After Jack Horn had disposed of the jinxers in the one-two-three order the riot set in, four errors, three by Silver, allowing two runners to cross the pan. Score 4-3 for Electrics.

Huhnke Tied the Score.

The Electrics failed to start anything in the opening of the fifth but in the second half Huhnke circled the bases, getting on through an error by Slaton, stealing second and making third and home on two more fumbles.

The same old story is told in the last of the sixth, when Marmont was given transportation to second on Decker's poor peg, after the first sacker had beat the ball to first. August Gay connected with the next ball up allowing Marmont to come home with the winning run.

The largest crowd of the season was on deck to witness the battle between Slaton and Horn and although the former lost out there was no comparison in the heaving of the two pitchers. Slaton struck out Billy Weingartner and Jack Gay three times straight and but for wretched work close in would have won hands down. Credit must be given Horn who tightened up in the last three stanzas.

Wyard made the feature hit of the game, knocking the ball over the club house with a man on second.

The Electrics missed Whyte and Neilson, the former more especially. Johnke, who caught in place of Whyte had a tendency of dropping the ball at the critical moment, at one time allowing Huhnke to steal home from third thus tying the score. The teams fielded as follows:

Electrics—Shay, Papke, Wyard, Silver, Decker, Johnke, Heppenstall, Slaton and McCabe.

Moose—Weingartner, J. Gay, Williams, Huhnke, Windblad, Marmont, A. Gay, Horn and Handford.

Score—	R.	H.	E.
Electrics	4	8	8
Moose	5	5	4

Batteries: Salton and Johnke; Horn and Huhnke. -p'outnSlokC and Huhnke; umpire F. J. Lynch.

SHAMROCK IV IS SCOW TYPE BOAT

New York, June 5—When the Shamrock IV. was aid down at Camper and Nicholson's yard Sir Thomas Lipton said that she would be a surprise to all. Now the yacht has been launched and those who saw her in the yard declare that she is a remarkable looking vessel and yachtsmen on this side who have read a description of the yacht saw that Nicholson has again shown himself to be a bold designer. He has turned out a freak to race under the American rule, and if the Shamrock IV. is successful and should win the America cup the American rule of measurement will have to be reframed.

The American rule when it was adopted was aimed chiefly at the scow type of yacht and such penalties were inflicted that it was thought no one would dare to build a vessel that would incur these heavy penalties. Nicholson studied the rule. He was not familiar with it as were American designers who had been building under it for ten years and the first yacht he has turned out to race under the American rule is an out and out freak.

Those experts who saw the yacht agree that she must be fast. According to Thomas Fleming Day, who was at the yard, she will spread about 10,000 square feet of canvas. Assuming other things beingn equal this will mean that she would have to allow several minutes time to the Resolute, which spreads about 8,000 square feet. If the other measurements of these two yachts are about the same the difference of 2,000 square feet would mean an allowance of eight minutes. This, however, would not be the allowance, because it is certain that the Shamrock's displacement will figure higher than that of the Resolute and as there is a premium on displacement the rating of the Shamrock and her allowance to the Resolute will be cut down.

The only questions in the minds of experts on this side is whether the yacht can cross the ocean safely and without being knocked out of shape and strained. Her planking is very thin, but her framing is strong. She probably will be strengthened for the ocean voyage.

Sir Thomas Lipton's objection to the old rule was that it developed a freak and that he risked the lives of his men in sending them across the ocean in a freak yacht. He declared that he would not build another freak, because he was practically outbuilt before he left the other side. A race was arranged under a rule supposed to develop a yacht of wholesome type, and now Sir Thomas is coming with a freak to sail against yachts whose hulls at least are of normal design.

The mistake that has been made, according to one designer, is that the New York Yacht club insisted that the water line length should be named, and that designers should not be limited to size of sail area. If the American rules had been used as they are in different clubs things would have been different. There would have been a limit to sail area then and each designer would have turned out a vessel of the same rating and a sane and sensible vessel.

Should Sir Thomas win the cup it will be raced for next time under the British rules. Those rules insist on strength of framing and plating and have developed good, galesome vessels similar to the schooner Westward.

SIR THOMAS CONFIDENT

English Yachtsman Believes He Will Capture Cup.

London, June 5.—In response to an invitation for his opinion of Shamrock IV on her showing in Thursday's sail stretching trip, Sir Thomas Lipton said tonight:

"Shamrock IV came up to my fullest expectations during her trial yesterday. She will do still better and I have every confidence in her success. The four leaves will do the trick."

SPORT CHATTER

(By the Potter.)

Eastern lacrosse prices will prevail at Queen's park this afternoon in the third game of the B. C. L. A.

Skinner Poulin's Victoria amateurs stack up against the V. A. C. at Vancouver this afternoon. The loss of McDougall and McDonald has weakened the capitals considerably although a close battle is expected.

Johnny O'Leary and Frenchy Vaise should make a good go at the Steveston arena on Saturday, June 20. The Canadian lightweight title will be at stake, although both boys hail from the other side of the line. Both Vaise and O'Leary have victories registered over Joe Bayley, the former lightweight champ, and anyone who can get away with a decision from the Victoria scrapper earns his money.

The Victoria team of the Northwestern league will be strengthened during the next week, having secured a Cuban named named Calvo who was with Washington last summer. A general switch of positions is likely to take place in the near future, errors by the fielders being responsible for defeats when Steele and Narveson had the games on ice.

Joe will not play with the Salmon Bellies today. The aspirant to a position with the world's champs, has as yet failed to show up for practice, being too busy assisting one of the West Dewdney league clubs.

Bob Cheyne and George Tuck will be the officials at today's game at Queen's park. So far this season the referees are having a real cinch as compared with previous years when Con Jones was fighting for the cup.

McGregor and McDougall, two home players who were with Con Jones two seasons ago, have rejoined the Tecumsehs. For some unaccountable reason neither player showed up much with the green shirts although it was well worth the price of admission alone to see George Rennie and McGregor hold sprinting races up and down the field.

A big crowd will gather at Scarboro Beach, Toronto, this afternoon when the Nationals and Toronto clash for the first time this season. Both clubs are hitting a mid-season pace.

With the departure of Jack Smith, of Columbian college, who leaves for his home in the east next week where he will enter Toronto university in the fall, New Westminster loses an athlete who has made a mark in the city and district during the past three seasons. Smith has starred with the college track and basketball teams, made the soccer eleven and was one of the best players turning out with the rugby squad. This week he tried his luck with the West End lacrosse team at Ladner, scoring one of the five goals.

Pete Schneider, Seattle's star twirler, was nearly grabbed by the Chicago Federals on Thursday and only by the barest chance was President Dugdale enabled to come to terms with Pete, who left on the evening train for Cincinnati. Had Schneider made the jump to the Feds Seattle would not have got a cent for the sale. Charlie Fullerton, the game buster of the Giants will again take the mound, being moved from guarding second.

Fred Clarke's Pittsburg Pirates are travelling fast—downward.

Arthur Shafer, the former New York Giant, who refused to report at the spring training camp, will probably assist the Los Angeles club in the Coast league, providing John McGraw will lift the suspension. Shafer's home town is Los Angeles and he wants to help the team out of the rut.

LACROSSE TEAMS WILL BREAK TIE AT QUEENS PARK TODAY

Salmon Bellies and Vancouver to Mix in Third Game of Series—No Change in Line-up.

With eastern prices prevailing and prospects bright for fine weather, the lacrosse fans should get their fill at Queen's park this afternoon when the Salmon Bellies and the Vancouver Athletics clash in the third game of the season. One of the two teams must jump into the lead after today's game, the win of the Royals at Vancouver last week giving the clubs one victory each.

The same line-up of both clubs will stand for today's game, both Managers Pickering and George Rennie feeling satisfied to present the same formation as that of the opening game.

Whether the Vancouver defence will be able to fathom the attacking methods employed by the cupholders remains to be seen, reports coming from Vancouver to the effect that stiff practices have been indulged in during the week in the endeavor to fill the loopholes taken advantage of last Saturday.

An improvement in the visitors attack is expected, neither Crookall or Peacock, the duo which did the damage in the initial game, showing up very strong at Athletic park last week.

With any decent kind of weather this afternoon's struggle should uncork more speed than has featured the two games played. The teams have been under training for some time and nothing should prevent them from uncorking mid-season form. The Royals at any rate are liable to hit a fast clip from the first face-off and one has to hear of the Athletics fading away from lack of endurance.

Bob Cheyne and George Tuck will act as officials, the face off taking place at 3 o'clock sharp.

George Trapp Captures Four of Nine Events at Y. M. C. A.

George Trapp made a general clean-up at the swimming competition held in the Y. M. C. A. tank last night, taking no less than four of the nine events. Trapp won the 25 yard swim, the senior 50 yards, fancy diving and the long plunge. George Ross captured the 15 yard beginners' race; S. Reid the 25 yard open, while the 30 yard race on back was taken by A. Wagstaff. C. Butler was first in the pyjama and candle race for juniors, while D. Robson was first in the senior night shirt and candle event. A good sized crowd was on hand and thoroughly enjoyed the exhibition, which was under the direction of G. I. Sovereign, physical director.

important than the training of young people for future Christian service.

Banquet Served Delegates.

At 6 o'clock the delegates to the number of about 150 sat down to a sumptous banquet. There were no speeches, but interesting conversation was a much more pleasing substitute.

At the close of the culinary proceeding a vote of thanks to the local society for its hospitality was proposed by Rev. G. C. Pidgeon, Vancouver, and seconded by Rev. Mr. James, Vancouver.

At eight o'clock there was an excellent song service by the union choir, and devotional exercises, and an address by Rev. Mr. Pidgeon. Special music of a high class was rendered by the delegates from Victoria, and Miss Eileen Gilley sung a beautiful solo.

New Westminster Thanked

Towards the close of the proceedings, President Rankin said he could not leave New Westminster without moving a cordial vote of thanks for the kind reception given them in that church by the management of the Queens avenue Methodist church.

They all heartily appreciated it. When they were first invited to New Westminster, some people, not present, said to him, Westminster could not handle the convention. They had not only handled it, but had given them one of the best conventions they had ever had. Every detail was carried out in the most excellent manner by the most capable and willing workers.

The delegates accorded the vote of thanks by standing and applauding.

A resolution was carried unanimously and ordered to be transmitted to the provincial government, directing their attention to the great mass of unemployed in their cities and requesting the government to devise some comprehensive scheme to afford these men an opportunity of settling on the land, and provide them with such assistance as would enable them to clear the land and earn a livlihood thereon.

Rev. Mr. Abott seconded, and the resolution was carried unanimously.

The benediction closed the meeting.

The sessions are creating great interest and attracting big audiences.

Officers Elected.

The following were the office bearers elected to the provincial union:

President, J. S. Rankin; first vice-president, W. J. Shortt; second vice-president, A. J. Kidd; third vice-president, M. K. Manson; Treasurer, Miss Chassin, Vancouver. The secretary was left to the selection of the president.

Ministerial committee, Rev. Dr. McLennan, Rev. Dr. Scott, Rev. Dr. Sittzer, Kelowna.

Miss Mackenzie was re-elected junior superintendent, Vancouver; Miss Reid, junior superintendent of Victoria and Miss Hardman, junior superintendent of New Westminster. A junior superintendent for Nanaimo remains to be appointed.

Tomorrow's program is as under:

Saturday, June 6.

7.30 a.m.—Early morning prayer service, led by Rev. Dr. Crosby, pastor Olivet Baptists church, New Westminster, B. C.

Notice re Dilapidated Buildings.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the following resolution was passed by the Council of the City of New Westminster on the twenty-eighth day of May, 1914:

"Whereas, it has appeared by evidence submitted to this council that the frame building and attachments known as 31 Blackie street, situate upon Lot Twelve (12) in City Block Eleven (11) in the City of New Westminster, is a nuisance and dangerous to the public safety and health; and

"Whereas, notice was given to George Mead and Reuben Elley, Executors and Trustees of the Cash Estate, Gordon E. Corbould, K.C., and Joseph R. Grant, owners of the said property, and to the occupiers of the said building to show cause at a meeting of the Council on the 30th day of March, 1914, why the said building and attachments should not be torn down or removed and upon hearing those of the owners and occupiers of the said building who appeared at the said meeting and adjournment thereof and the said buildings and attachments on the said lot not having been pulled down or removed by the owners, agent, lessee or occupier thereof respectively;

"Now, therefore be it resolved and declared that the said frame building and attachments known as 31 Blackie street situate upon Lot Twelve (12) in City Block Eleven (11) in the City of New Westminster, is a nuisance and dangerous to the public safety and health and that this Council doth order and it is hereby ordered that the said building and attachments on the said lot be forthwith pulled down or removed by the owners, agent, lessee or occupier thereof;

"And that this order shall be published in The British Columbian and Daily News, New Westminster, for a period of five (5) days;

"And that in case of default by such owners, agent, lessee or occupier to comply with the said order within such period of five (5) days then this Council doth order that Thomas Turnbull, Building Inspector of the City of New Westminster, do and he is hereby ordered and directed to pull down or remove the said frame building and attachments at the cost of the owners thereof and that payment of such costs and all expenses incidental thereto be enforced against such owners by the said Building Inspector in accordance with the Statute in that behalf."

LET BRITISH COLUMBIA FLOURISH BY HER INDUSTRIES
MADE IN B.C.
MANUFACTURERS' ASSOCIATION OF BRITISH COLUMBIA

DOMINION BUYS MANY U.S. GOODS

Britain and Canada Take Five-Twelfths of Entire American Industrial Output.

Ottawa, June 5.—Twelve principal countries of the world form the market for four-fifths of United States exports—the United Kingdom, Canada, Germany, France, Netherlands, Italy, Cuba, Belgium, Japan, Mexico, Argentina, and Brazil. To the United Kingdom alone the exports in 1913 amounted to 597 million dollars, or practically one-fourth of the grand total of 2,466 million exported n that year; to Canada, 415 million dollars, or practically one-sixth of the total; and to all British territory, including Great Britain and her colonies, 1,134 million dollars, or 46 per cent. of the total exports, states the review of foreign commerce issued by the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce, Washington.

Exports to the United Kingdom do not show as rapid gains as those to other parts of the world, the totals for 1903 and 1913 having been 524 million and 597 million dollars, respectively.

Rapid Growth in Trade.

To Canada the growth in exports is much more rapid, from 123 millions in 1903 to 415 millions in 1913; to Germany, from 194 million to 332 million; to France, from 77 million to 146 million; to tht Netherlands, from 18 million to 126 million; to Italy, from 35 million to 75 million; to Cuba, from 22 million, to 71 million; Belgium, from 47 million to 67 million; Japan, from 21 million to 58 million; Mexico, from 42 million to 54 million; Argentina, from 11 million to 53 million; Brazil, from 11 million to 43 million; British Australasia, from 33 million to 52 million; Spain, from 18 million to 31 million; Russia, from 16 million to 25 million; and those to China, from 19 million dollars in 1903 to 21 million in 1913.

The above figures, comparing the value of United States exports to each of the principal countries taking three-fourths of thetotal, illustrate sharply the relative growth in tht movement to American countries. While the exports to the United Kingdom show but slight gain (14 per cent.) and those to other principal countries of Europe an increase of approximately 75 per cent., those to five principal countries of America—Canada, Mexico, Cuba, Argentina and Brazil—show an increase of over 200 per cent.; those to Japan, about 175 per cent.; those to British Australasia, 58 per cent., and those to China, but about 10 per cent.

Canada ranks second among foreign countries as a market for United States goods, and the variety of articles forming the 415 million dollars' value of exports thereto is very great. Manufactures as a whole form by far the largest part of this grand total, machinery alone amounting to 36 million dollars.

IT'S GAMBLING NOT FARMING

Agricultural Authority Points Out Risks Taken by Men Who Leave Land to Take Care of Itself.

People cannot build fine cities in Western Canada, stroll along the streets, smoke expensive cigars, and visit the show, while the farm land is allowed to run to seed. This was the purpose of an address at North Battleford by Dr. J. G. Rutherford, superintendent of agriculture for the Canadian Pacific Railway. He is another authority among many, both east and west, who are preaching the gospel of mixed farming. It cannot be ignored. It is a matter of great importance to the entire country. Mr. M. M. Sclanders, of Saskatoon, the other day said that the two most tragic aspects of merely wheat growing are that at least one-third of the cultivated land in the three prairie provinces is summer fallowed each year, and that the wheat growers themselves indulge in winter fallow. Professor E. W. Elliott, principal of the government agricultural school at Olds, Alberta, is impressing upon his students the advantages of having live stock on the farm. His school is discouraging the idea that a farmer can grow wheat alone and live. Professor Elliott even ventured to say that the wheat farms of the west at present are not paying expenses.

The remedy for the illusion cited by Dr. Rutherford at North Battleford, is mixed farming on a sensible plan. "We have gone into the extensive occupation of land," he said, "and not for the intensive farming of it." Western farmers are losing large sums of money by selling their wheat and exhausting the soil, instead of feeding their grain to stock. The man who tears up a few thousand acres with a steam plough, seeds it, waits for results and spends his winter in California, Dr. Rutherford correctly described as a gambler and not a farmer.—Monetary Times.

LIFE OF SOLDIER LIKE MOVIE FILM

Col. N. W. Flaisig of Alhambra, Cal., Captured by Brother in Civil War and Wrecked on Cannibal Isle.

Seattle, June 5.—To have circled the globe seven times, fought in the Civil War, been captured by his brother, escaped from the famous Andersonville prison, been shipwrecked on a cannibal island, been present at the recent capture of Juarez and to have been in the employ of one firm for 64 years, seems more like a fairy tale or a blood-stirring adventure story than a review of the events in the life of one man. All these and many more minor experiences have occurred during the life of Col. N. W. Flaisig, of Alhambra, Cal., who is a guest at the Savoy hotel.

The hero of these thrilling adventures is in Seattle representing the firm of William Crowley & Sons, of Redditch, England, whose service he entered on January 1, 1850.

Born in Moniteau county, Missouri, Colonel Flaisig left home when he was but 11 years of age to see the world. Since that time he has never ceased his wanderings and is now satisfied that he has accomplished his aim. In seven trips around the world he has visited nearly every place of note and although twice retired on pension, the wandering spirit within him will not rest, and now at the age of 76 years he is making his rounds as a travelling salesman.

His first trip of any consequence was made directly after his leaving home when he embarked for Africa on a slave trading vessel. While in Africa, he became a favorite of the old chief with whom his employers did business and was offered twenty of the prettiest girls in the kingdom as wives if he would remain as the chief's adviser. Much to the surprise of the chief he refused the offer. After one more slave trading trip to Africa, he disembarked at England where he secured employment with William Crowley & Sons. He has served under three generations of employers.

Four Years of Service.

On April 19, 1861, he answered Abraham Lincoln's first call for volunteers and served with the Ohio regiment until December 14, 1864, when he received an honorable discharge. During the war he engaged in 32 battles and won a commission as colonel.

E. N. Flaisig, a brother of Colonel N. W. Flaisig, who also attained the rank of colonel, and who has served in many other subsequent wars, including the Balkan, Greek and Spanish-American conflicts, and who is now in the service of General Pancho Villa in Mexico, fought under the Confederate flag and at the battle of Franklin the brothers met.

E. N. Flaisig, the Confederate colonel, seeing that his forces outnumbered those of his brother, sent a note to the latter requesting that he surrender. The reply, which he received has been preserved and is as follows:

"Colonel E. N. Flaisig will please accept the compliments of his brother, Bill, who wants to say that if you take these forces it will be after one of the d——est fights you ever had."

After a hot battle the Confederates won and Colonel N. W. Flaisig was taken prisoner. Later he was placed in the famous Andersonville prison, from which he escaped through the aid of friends and the kindness of the guard.

Wrecked on Cannibal Isle.

On his return to civil life he reentered the employ of William Crowley & Sons, and on his first trip was shipwrecked on a cannibal island. The party of survivors was large enough, with the aid of barricades and small arms, to keep off the natives, but Colonel Flaisig was an eye-witness to the death of two of his companions, who went on a foraging tour.

From that time on he has led his usual wandering life, traversing the world and selling needles. Although owning the controlling interest in two California banks, besides being sole owner of the Rosario gold mine at Sonora, Mexico, and possessing valuable property all over the United States, Colonel Flaisig refuses to retire as two attempts at retirement have proved to him that his restless spirit would not be satisfied with quiet life.

His latest adventure happened recently in connection with Mexican troubles. In Texas the law prohibits citizens playing cards, so he and a party crossed the Mexican border for a "little game." It was after 10 o'clock when they attempted to return and the sentry refused to let them pass, as martial law prohibited a crossing of the border after 10 o'clock. The party went back to cards and early the next morning heard shooting.

In an automobile they approched the scene of the danger with stray bullets flying in all directions, but arrived safe in the city of Juarez just in time to witness its capture. During the day before the attack Colonel Flaisig missed his brother and could not explain his disappearance until he heard the shooting. After the battle he called up General Villa and asked if his brother was among his forces. He was.

Three scrap books in the possession of Colonel Flaisig, containing clippings from leading papers throughout the world, letters from famous men and the autographs of Presidents Garfield, Theodore Roosevelt, William H. Taft and many of the statesmen of the Civil War period, are among his valued relics of his wonderful experiences.

Factions Settle Trouble.

Douglas, Ariz., June 5.—Practical settlement of the differences between Governor Jose Maytorena and Pesqueira factions in Sonora have been reached, it is reported here today, following an agreement of the governor to issue a call within a few days for the election of members of the new state chamber of deputies to take the place of the legislature dissolved by him over a year ago.

ADVERTISE IN THE DAILY NEWS

One Can of Salmon Equals Thirteen Eggs

A circular issued by the bureau of fisheries at Washington, D. C., contains some information on foodstuffs which gives a high place of importance to the red salmon, large quantities of which are shipped in tinned form from British Columbia. This fish is said to be richer in fuel and body-building materials than any of the meats which housewives most affect. A comparative table of prices for corresponding amounts of nutriment is given as follows:—

13 eggs, strictly fresh	$ .30
1 1-5-lb. steak, sirloin	.40
1 2-3-lb. mutton, leg	.40
14-oz. chicken, average	1.00

It is further pointed out in the report that, while meats are inspected, they are handled by many people afterwards, exposed in the makret place, and may be decayed and infected when the consumer gets them. On the other hand, the salmon come directly from the cold waters that are their habitat, are washed and delivered fresh to the mechanical cleaner, whence no human hand touches them, until, dressed and minus heads, tails, and fins, they find their way into the sanitary cans and are cooked.

FOREMAN DEAD; MURDER CHARGED

Boss of Road Gang Dies After Being Struck With Peavie Handle—Workman Held.

Spokane, June 5.—E. Pyritz, road construction foreman, who is alleged to have been struck by Riley Tyler at Freeman, Wash., last Friday, died at the St. Luke's hospital yesterday afternoon. A formal charge of murder will be placed against Tyler this morning, the authorities state. Tyler has been held in the county jail since Friday without a charge, awaiting the outcome of Pyritz's condition.

The dispute that led to Pyritz's death occurred last Friday morning when he was in charge of a gang of graders leveling the new state highway. Tyler was driving one of the scrapers. It is said that Tyler knocked down the grade stake three successive times and Pyritz reprimanded him. Hot words followed and the men came near to blows. The trouble was apparently settled, and the men went about their work.

At the end of the day's work Tyler approached Pyritz, asked for his time, and then left the building. Pyritz was seated on the foot of the bed reading a newspaper when Tyler came into the room armed with a heavy peavie handle. Without a word he is alleged to have struck Pyritz down.

Other employees, rushing into the room, and, little realizing how seriously their foreman was hurt, chased Tyler out of the camp. Later they saw that Pyritz was dying, started pursuit and held Tyler until the arrival of Deputy Sheriffs Dave Hyatt and J. J. Conway from Spokane.

In a statement to Sheriff Stone last night Tyler admitted striking Pyritz and said. "He talked to me like no other man ever did. I came from the east, and there we do not stand for anything like that."

RAILROAD WILL DO MUCH FOR ALASKA

Pioneer Nome Man Declares Transportation Is All Rich Northland Needs for Development.

Seattle, June 5.—"The building of a main trunk line railroad spells big things for Alaska. It means the development of tremendous natural resources that are now undreamed of and the inauguration of countless new industries that have not yet been conceived. Together with Charles E. Herron I have taken options on a number of properties in the territory and will develop them to the producing stage. In these deals more than $1,000,000 may be involved. In fact one of the properties we are considering will run close to seven figures."

Thus Major L. H. French, soldier, miner, financier, author, doctor of laws and medicine, pioneer railroad builder and founder of a dozen constructive enterprises, answered a direct question: "What are you doing in Seattle?"

Major French played a prominent part in the early development of Nome and was one of those who fought the Noyes gang, when an attempt was made to steal from the miners by illegal procedure the rights of their discoveries. Judge Noyes and a number of his receivers and officials were finally landed in the penitentiary. The incidents formed the plot for Rex Beach's story, "The Spoilers." Beach at this time was a foreman on Major French's gold claims, one of which was the famous No. 5, Anvil Creek.

Besides opening up a number of mining claims, Major French built several big ditches in northwestern Alaska, among them the Cedric and Solomon river waterways. He purchased the Wild Goose Railroad, a fifteen-mile stretch of steel rail running from the beach to Anvil Creek, and extended the system ninety miles into the interior. He afterwards built the Northwestern & Cuban railroad. He is a guest at the Arctic club and leaves for the north next Saturday.

Road Will Open New Projects.

"It has been intimated, major, that you are in some way interested in the proposed Alaska railroad?" The statement was an interrogation.

"There isn't anything to that," he said. "I am not now interested in any railroad in Alaska. I am just going back to the north to 'look see,' as the Eskimos say, to visit Governor Strong, to shake hands with old friends and to look at the properties Mr. Herron and I have optioned and make arrangements for their development. The construction of the government railroad and the opening of the coal lands which must follow to give the railroad tonnage, will make a number of big propositions available.

"There are many big things in Alaska, but their inaccessibility and the inadequate laws together with the lack of a good local coking coal, have prevented their development. Alaska is now, more than ever, a land of opportunity in reality and not in theory.

"The secret of the whole thing is transportation—good railroads and good wagon roads. With these and available resources, such as the coal and the maginficent hydro-energy that is now running to waste, great things are in store for Alaska."

CANADA AND ITS AUTO INDUSTRY

Cannot Meet Cheap American Makes—Absence of English Cars Is Source of Surprise.

Montreal, June 5.—During the past twelve months Canada has imported over seven thousand motor cars from the United States, the total value of which was slightly over $9,000,000.

Five years previous Canada bought only 385 cars from United States makers and their value came to $700,000. In 1913, which was far from one of the brightest commercial years, the records show an importation of 913 cars over the number for 1912.

There are between fifty and sixty thousand motor cars at present in the Dominion, and the average price runs between $1,500 and $1,700. This takes into account the preponderance in all sections of the Dominion, and for all purposes, of the low-priced cars, together with those of Canadian manufacture which are in the relatively high-priced class.

Canadian manufacturers have never attempted, as yet, to dispute the sovereignty of the American car of $1,000 or under and have confined their efforts to makes of heavier and more elaborate design and power.

At a recent meeting of one of the leading Canadian companies, where the year's turnover had not been particularly encouraging, an effort was made by certain shareholders to stampede the management into the cheap car field. The reply of those in charge was that the additional machinery for such a purpose would cost nearly $200,000 and the chances of successful competition would even then be distinctly uncertain. It is quite unlikely, therefore, that the standards or prices of Canadian cars will undergo any radical change in the near future.

Few English Cars.

The absence of the English-made automobile on the Canadian market continues to excite the wonder of foreign visitors. Under the preferential tariff, cars from the old country enjoy a reduction of duty from 35 to 22½ per cent. ad valorem. The importations, however, are almost negligible—something like two per cent.—in comparison with the annual sales of domestic and United States makes.

Motor trucks make a good deal of progress in the larger Canadian centres, particularly trucks of the heavy tonnage class. Retailers requiring a half-ton or quarter-ton maximum usually purchases a low-priced passenger car and use the chassis and engine as foundations for any special body they wish. While hundreds of auto deliveries may be noticed in the bigger centres, the contagion has been confined far within the predictions of a few years ago, the horse still preponderates in the bulk of retail delivery. Electric pleasure cars of both Canadian and United States makes have upheld a steady sale in the cities, but are little used elsewhere.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH SHOWS HEALTHY INCREASE

Woodstock, Ont., June 5.—The most encouraging report in many years with reference to the growth of the Presbyterian church in Canada was made to the General Assembly by its clerk yesterday afternoon. The report showed that the denomination now has over 300,000 communicants and for all purposes it raises over $5,000,000 each year. There were over 10,000 Presbyterian elders in the communion and over 4000 preaching stations. During the past year 18,000 communicants were received on profession of their faith and about 25,000 on certificates from other churches. The net gain in membership during the year was 13,367. The financial depression which has existed in all parts of Canada during the last twelve months did not affect the work of the church in any respect.

PRIMITIVE CURRENCY.

Nails, Eggs, Tobacco and Codfish as Mediums of Exchange.

A curious medium of exchange in Scotland not many years ago was handmade nails. This is equaled by Switzerland, where eggs are still current coin. Eggs would be rather risky coin to deposit in the bank for several reasons, but not so wheat and oats, which have been used for all purposes of sale and purchase in Norway and have even been banked. The national corn crop of Mexico is maize and not very long ago formed the chief money of that republic.

In the time of our ancestors tobacco was used almost exclusively in Virginia instead of gold and silver. In Newfoundland dried codfish was at one time a great medium of exchange. It had the advantage of keeping indefinitely, and it is said that the Newfoundland miser got as much pleasure from the odor of his possession as though it were from Araby.

In savage lands they used more curious things as money. Salt circulated in Abyssinia; cubes of beeswax were the medium in Sumatra, cubes of tea were used in Tartary; in some of the Portuguese possessions the coin consists of straw mats. In the islands of the Pacific they depend upon feathers, while in Madagascar the natives count their wealth in iron shovels. China has had varied forms of currency, not the least curious being the coins made of clay, while Japan used the slightly more expensive substance resin.—New York Sun.

VELOCITY OF LIGHT.

Roemer's Early Calculations Have Stood the Test of Time.

The first astronomer to demonstrate satisfactorily the speed of light was Ole Roemer, a Scandinavian scientist, who read his immortal paper on this subject before the Academy at Paris July 22, 1675. Roemer's calculations and conclusions have stood the test of time and subsequent investigations on all important points.

Knowledge as to the velocity of light was of tremendous importance to astronomical science, since it enabled astronomers to estimate accurately the enormous distances with which their science deals. Roemer found that light traveled at the rate of 186,000 miles in a second. The sun, being distant from the earth 92,000,000 miles, flashes light to us in eight minutes and fourteen seconds.

Yet the sun is a near neighbor compared with the so called fixed stars, which in reality move with inconceivable velocity, although the most powerful telescopes will not show that velocity as anything but rest. Beyond the outskirts of our insignificant solar system are other systems, and beyond them still others, so far as the sight of man, aided by instruments, may bridge the ghastly chasm of the infinite.

Distances beside which the immense line stretching from earth to sun is an invisible point are now measured by means of Roemer's special discovery as to the velocity of light.—Exchange.

The Stone of Infamy.

In many Italian cities there formerly existed what was called "pietra d'infamie," or a stone of infamy for the punishment of bankrupts. In Venice one stands near the Church of St. Mark, and in Verona and Florence they are near the old markets. On a day in carnival week the old time custom was to have all traders who had become bankrupt in the preceding twelve months led to the stone, and one by one each stood on its center to hear the reading of a report of his business failure and to endure the reproaches heaped on him by his creditors. At the end of a certain time each bankrupt was partly undressed, and three officers took hold of his shoulders and three others of his knees and, raising him as high as they could, bumped him on the stone deliberately twelve times "in honor of the twelve apostles," the creditors crowing like cocks while the bumping proceeded.

Full Information.

In the smoking room of an eastbound Pullman, the other evening there were two men—one of them grouchy, the other one receptive. After smoking two indifferent cigars the latter said to the former:

"How far are you going."

"Buffalo," acknowledged the other one, taken off his guard.

"Is that so? Well, Buffalo is a great town. I have a cousin living there, and I've been there myself several times. The last time was twelve years ago and over. Er—what are you going to do in Buffalo?"

"Change cars." — Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Willing.

Outside one of the recruiting depots in an English town a sergeant saw smart young milkman and, thinking to get a fresh recruit, said. "You man, would you like to serve the king?"

"Rather!" said the milkman eagerly "How much does he want? A pint?"

Cynical.

"I always said that political rival of mine would stoop to any falsehood. Now I can prove it."

"How?"

"He sent me a message saying he congratulates me on my election."—Washington Star.

Then He Stole.

Prudent Swain—If I were to steal a kiss, would it scare you so that you would scream? Timid Maiden—I couldn't. Fright always makes me dumb.

ADVERTISING TALKS

The News is the Morning Paper of New Westminster and the Fraser Valley. See that your business announcements appear in its columns.

In the course of these articles I have not hitherto touched upon the comparative advertising opportunities of local dealers and the multiple store company—an organization that operates a chain of stores in various towns. The general outlook for the retail dealer is regarded as discouraging, and by many this condition is attributed to the increasing number of multiple stores.

Their competition is very hard for the ordinary retailer to meet. The big trader can buy in larger parcels than the small one. He is in the same position with regard to the manufacturers as a wholesaler. He thus secures for himself the middleman's profit. The ordinary retailer has to pay the middleman's profit. His own margin is therefore reduced or else he must charge higher prices to the public, and in either case he is hurt. Sometimes the big multiple store company actually becomes a manufacturer of part or all the goods which it handles.

In some trades again, firms originally established as manufacturers trading with retailers have opened stores of their own. They thus enter into competition with their own customers, or, as sometimes happens, abandon altogether wholesale business in favor of retail. The competition which they can give the ordinary store keeper is very severe. It would look on the face of it, as if the multiple trader had everything his own way, but there is one thing which he cannot do, and the fact may be commended to the customers of retail traders as well as to the retail traders themselves. What the multiple store company cannot do is to give every branch the same direct, personal supervision, the same intimate study of the wants of the people, as the storekeeper who is himself a member of the community in which he operates. The latter has grown up among the people of the town. He is one of them. He knows their needs and can meet their tastes with a more intimate understanding than the proprietor of a large chain of stores, all of which have to be conducted more or less according to one pattern.

Finaly the single store retailer or the retailer whose stores are confined to one or two in a single town can always advertise far more efficienctly and far more profitably in proportion to this turnover than the multiple store company. The latter may be able to afford larger advertising appropriations. He has the capital to use larger newspaper space at the start, but his profits per cent. upon newspaper advertisements will always be less than the profit per cent. upon the newspaper advertisements of a local dealer if the latter will give to the work of his advertising the direct personal attention which his local knowledge enables him to use effectively.

Although the multiple store company can employ expensive advertising assistance there is every reason why the advertisements of the local store keeper should be better; and in point of fact the newspaper advertising done by multiple store companies is generaly both wasteful and inadequate. It must necessarily lack the benefit of local knowledge, town by town, such as every retailer has at his disposal.

WILL INVESTIGATE COAST FISHING

United States Takes Steps to Straighten Out International Tangle On Puget Sound.

Washington, June 5.—Dr. Hugh M. Smith, commissioner of fisheries, left today for Seattle to investigate fisheries conditions on Puget Sound and in international waters, especially with regard to the American-Canadian joint fishing regulations provided in the treaty which is now hung up in the senate.

Final arrangements have been made for the departure from Seattle June 8 on the revenue cutter McCulloch of the three experts chosen by the government to investigate the seal rookeries on the Pribiloff islands in Bering sea. The three are Dr. George H. Parker, profressor of biology at Harvard; W. H. Osgood, of the Field Museum of Natural History, Chicago, and Edward A. Prebbye, of the biological survey, department of agriculture.

The returns to Great Britain and Japan, were killing allowed, would be far greater than $10,000 a year. The foreign governments and the department of commerce all want to learn if a closed season is absolutely necessary.

When the closed season law was under consideration two years ago it was opposed by the department of commerce, which maintained that there is an excess of young bull seals which ought to be killed, but congress took a different view.

"SENIOR STICK."

Honors Awarded at Columbian College Last Night.

The highest honor bestowed by the student body of Columbian college, the "Senior Stick," was last night awarded to Miss Ruth Wilcox and William Beattie, the voting taking place at the college "prom." The event was in the form of an open literary gathering, the keenest interest being shown when the result of the polling was announced. Others well up in the running were Miss Eva May, Miss May Mitchell, Miss Violet Dinsmore, Jack Smith and J. Hobden.

Not a Stock Buyer.

H. E. Leash, who has just returned from the Calgary oil field, and with whom an interview was published yesterday, does not wish himself understood as having done any plunging in the Calgary oil maelstrom. He looked thoroughly over the field and from an experience drawn from several years of prosperity, he was able to draw several valuable pointers.

Eagle Memorial Services.

Members of local Aerie No. 20, F.O.E., will hold the annual memorial services in the lodge rooms and at the cemetery on Sunday, June 7. Rev. F. W. Kerr will made an address and Rushton's band will be in attendance.

Fatal Frisco Fire.

San Francisco, June 5.—Fire, originating in a paint shop at Polk and California streets at 8.30 o'clock tonight, spread rapidly before a high wind, destroying five one and two-storey buildings and reached an apartment house. A woman, an invalid, is reported to have perished.

and the mayor rejoined it was the other way about.

Clerk Ferguson—You cannot do it in any other way except by repealing the bylaw and that cannot be done this year.

Alderman Taylor then said he would prefer to have the matter decided before a full meeting of the council.

Alderman McNiece said they must have a three-fourths majority to get it passed, which could not be done if he and Alderman Taylor voted against it.

The mayor explained that would only han g it up for thirty days, and the people opposed to it would have to get a petition signed by 51 per cent to kill it. The absent alderman (J. H. Maclean) was strongly in favor of it.

Contract vs. Day Labor.

The opposition then dropped and the discussion diverged into the advantages or disadvantages of contract and day labor, which ws settled by a motion that the work should be done either way, as the board of works might determine, under the supervision of the engineer.

In regard to Clarke street it was explained that some of the property holders would have to raise their buildings on account of the work. As they might not see their way to do this at once, an understanding was arrived at that these proprietors would be consulted, and if they objected the work would be delayed for a month or two.

The council then considered the lease of the city recreation hall to the Port Moody social and athletic club.

After discussinig the clauses the lease was approved and ordered to be signed by the mayor and clerk.

By the lease the club administers the hall for the benefit of the citizens The rent is $50 a month, and while the council will have to pay the usual rate for any meeting it holds there, all entertainments are subject to the approval of the council, and the council has also the preference to the use of the hall, provided there has been no pre-engagement. The latter contingency is guarded against by a proviso that, previous to any engagement it shall be ascertained whether the council desires it on that particular date.

The temporary money bylaw, nominally for $5000, but of which only $3000 will be operated, was finally adopted and registered.
