REFUSES TO ADMIT THAT CUNNINGHAM IS THE WHOLE SHOW

Ald. Henley Waxes Warm Over Demands of Local Hardware Merchant—Mr. Speck Comes in for a Round of Condemnation.

James Cunningham's application for the rebuilding of a sidewalk on Cunningham street was the spark that set the fire works flying in the council chamber last night, and for a few minutes, the ire of the chairman of the board of works was roused against the hardware magnate who had requested the council to reconstruct the sidewalk on Cunningham street that had been burned down at the time of the fire in 1898, and about which a petition had been presented to the council in the early part of the year, but as nothing had been done about the building of the sidewalk, Mr. Cunningham repeated his application.

On the question being put to Ald. Henley, as chairman of the board of works, inquiring what had been done about this particular sidewalk, he arose from his seat, and assuming a striking attitude expressed himself in no measured terms. "Mr. Cunningham cannot drive me," he said, "and I am determined that I shall do right by the public before I shall listen to any individual who may feel inclined to dictate to me. There are other ratepayers besides James Cunningham, even if he does not appear to think so, and I would sooner resign my seat on this council than submit to that man." And to add emphasis to his words, Ald. Henley brought his fist down forcibly on the desk in front of him, and waited for someone to rise and champion the cause of James Cunningham, but there was no Daniel present among the city fathers.

Plumbers' By-Law.

The matter was finally referred to the board of works to report. On motion of Ald. Howay, the Plumbing and Plumbers' by-law was passed after two small modifications in clauses 16 and 56 had been duly agreed by the council. The By-Law was accordingly ordered to be signed, sealed and published according to law.

Sixth Avenue Wins.

A question by Ald. Adams as to what steps the board of works had taken to repair Sixth avenue, from Tenth to Thirteenth street introduced an interesting controversy as to what was really the most dangerous and broken up street in the city, and with the exception of the chairman of the board of works who plumped in favor of a street leading from Queen's avenue to Royal avenue, the council were a unit in according this unenviable distinction to Sixth avenue.

Ald. Adams gave a graphic description of the street, drawing vivid pictures of logs and roots standing two feet high in the middle of the roadway and lamenting the awful fatality that would inevitable occur to the fire brigade if they chanced to travel that way. The awful impression created upon the Vancouver visitors who arrived in the city by that road was demonstrated with telling force.

Size Reduced.

Ald. Howay next took up the tale of woe, but considerably lessened the effect when he reduced the size of those logs by one half, and when a minute later Ald. Garrett announced that he had seen a root there at least six inches in height, the chairman of the board of works began to look cheerful once more, but Ald. Adams undertook to show any doubting Thomas the identical stump, two feet in height, and offered to do it that night. It was decided to take his word for it.

Ald. Henley promised to have an estimate prepared for the council at the next meeting, showing the cost of the repairing of the street.

Water Trough Question.

The question of the water troughs for horses and dogs that had been discussed at the last meeting again came up, when the chairman of the water committee announced that he was ready to turn on the water as soon as the board of works had the troughs ready. The matter was discussed at some length, and it was decided that the work should be carried out as soon as possible, the mayor suggesting that new troughs be built in place of repairing the old ones. Ald. Henley suggested a novel way of economizing on the water supplied to the troughs, which he had studied in private, but no motion to this effect was made.

Alex Speck's Letter.

Alex Speck forwarded the following letter to the council, asking for the extension of the electric light wires to certain houses on Sixth avenue and Sixteenth street.

To His Worship, the Mayor and Aldermen.

Gentlemen: On May the 6th I put in a request to have the electric wires extended to the house now already wired for connection on Sixth avenue and Sixteenth street at this meeting. My request was referred to the city electrician for a report on same.

Since the request was sent in you have had three regular meetings and so far nothing has been done or said concerning same.

I had asked your honorable body at a previous meeting before May 6th, and it was referred to the city electrician to report which he did. Replying in a report to the effect that there was only one house that wanted the electric light and that was the house I had already wired for Mr. Tait. Knowing that there were others that wanted the electric light in their homes, I took the trouble to find out how many more would have it installed. I brought a list of four (collected) living between Fourteenth and Sixteenth streets.

The report that the city electrician brought to your honorable body was that it would cost $52 to extend the wires and that the revenue from the one house would be about $12 a year and it would take four years before the city could get back the cost of the wiring. At this rate I would not blame the city in not making the extension. But as the report of the city electrician is not correct as I have proved it, puts quite a different aspect on the case as the cost of the extension would be returned to the city within a year instead of four, as was stated by the electrician.

I trust you will give this matter your prompt consideration and oblige, yours very respectfully,

ALEX SPECK.

Aldermanic Wrath Rises.

After the letter had been read by the clerk, it was decided to discuss it under the head of new business later in the evening, and when it again came before the council, Mr. Speck came in for some strong condemnation on the part of several of the alderman. Ald. Davies introduced the matter, and gave a reason for the electric wires not being connected with the houses on those streets where there were not sufficient houses to warrant the expense to the city. He remarked that the whole matter had been threshed out before the council on previous occasions, and he did not see the use of discussing it any further.

Denounced by Ald. Howay.

Ald. Howay next took the floor, and in scathing terms denounced the action of Mr. Speck in sending the letter

LIVES LOST IN DELUGE

Odessa, June 4.—A thunderstorm of extraordinary violence accompanied by a deluge of rain swept the city and district today. Seven persons were drowned, and four were killed by lightning which set fire to a number of buildings.

NATURALLY SO

(Vancouver Province.)

Behind the operations of a force of surveyors on the north bank of the North Arm of the Fraser River between Eburne and New Westminster, people who have property interests in that locality declare that they can see the hand of the Great Northern Railway.

The surveying force is certainly at work. At first it was declared that the British Columbia Electric Railway Company was seeking another route for a line between Eburne and New Westminster. When it became known that the electric railway people would not father the surveyors, the guessers knew for certain that it was the C. P. R., that was doing the work. That railway company, unfortunately for this idea, made its surveys of a line along the north arm of the river years ago, and is not making any others at present.

But this elimination of possible railway builders leaves only the Great Northern in the field, and no information can be gained from any authoritative source in connection with that company.

What use the Great Northern Railway could have between New Westminster and Eburne unless it had intentions for the utilization of some waterfront on the North Arm in the vicinity of Eburne, is a mystery. It is well known that with a small amount of dredging a channel for deep-draft vessels conld be made from the Gulf to Eburne.

On Howe Sound, from Eagle Harbor toward the Squamish River, the Vancouver, Westminster & Yukon Railway surveying force is again at work. It is declared that the final lines for the railway are now being run. Over a year ago a preliminary survey was made along the shores of Howe Sound, and on the North Vancouver shore of the Inlet final lines were run.

MERCHANTS DECIDE TO HOLD A PICNIC

Attractive Programme of Music and Sports Will Be Arranged—Plumper's Pass or Mayne Island to Be Scene of Festivities.

Mayne Island or Plumper's Pass will be the locality chosen for the merchant picnic this year, and arrangements are being made at present for a sufficient number of attractions on the occasion of the holiday to make it a success.

The meeting held last evening in the board of trade room at the city hall was not very largely attended but the lack of numbers was made up for by enthusiasm of those present, and the sparse attendance was not attributed to any apathy on the part of the merchants with regard to the project, but rather to strong counter attractions, as several of the merchants had gone out with the Masons on their excursion to Mission.

The secretary reported that the C. P. R. had offered to place the steamer Charmer at the disposal of the merchants for the day of the picnic and after some discussion he was requested to confer with the officials regarding further particulars in connection with the hiring of the steamer Charmer.

Among the attractions that will be present will be an efficient band, probably the City Band, though this has not been decided as yet. Lacrosse enthusiasts will organize a match between teams representing different trades, and the devotees of the bat will find a diamond laid out for them when they arrive at their destination. Trap shooting will also be indulged in, and prizes will be awarded for the best shots. Amateur fishermen will find a large number of boats at their disposal, arrangements having been made whereby a large number of small boats will be towed to the scene of the picnic from New Westminster. The inner man will not be neglected as a refreshment booth will be installed, at which ice cream and similar refreshments will be served.

The date has not been definitely decided upon as yet, but it was agreed that it would be held on a Wednesday, when the stores will remain closed all day. The fare for the round trip will be $1.00, while children under 12 will travel for half price.

Another meeting will be held on Tuesday evening, when final arrangements will be made. A large attendance will be looked for at the next meeting.

STRIKERS AMBUSH COMPANY GUARDS AND BULLETS FLY

Five Hundred Shots Are Exchanged in Fifteen Minutes, and Guardians of the Peace Are Forced to Scamper From Battle Field.

Steubenville, O., June 4.—The first conflict between the striking coal miners and the guards at the United States Coal company's mines took place at 1 o'clock this morning. Four men, two guards and two strikers were wounded, two fatally.

The miners had prepared an ambuscade for the guards in the woods midway between Plum Run and the Bradley mines, and as the sixty-three armed men marching single file, came along a miner ahead shot in the air.

At the signal the 250 strikers who were hiding behind the rocks and trees opened fire from the hill side on the guards in the hollow. Many of the latter at once broke ranks and fled back to Plum Run, but others stood their ground and returned the fire.

The battle lasted fifteen minutes and more than 500 shots were exchanged. The firing only ceased as the guards' ammunition was exhausted. The guards then retired to Plum Run.

The ambuscade was arranged last night because of an alleged assault upon an Italian union miner who refused to work.

Sheriff Vorhees has gone to the mines. Before leaving he telephoned the adjutant general at Columbus to be ready to send troops if needed.

An engagement between guards and strikers took place at Glenn's Run mine No. 2 during the night. All the men imported there had left, but the strikers and guards got to clashing in arguments which led to blows and then shots. Nearly thirty-five shots were fired. During the battle Supt. T. E. Young, of Cleveland, who was at the mine directing the guards, was slightly wounded.

Three new lumber mills have started construction in East Kotenay at Yahk, Jaffray and Elkmouth on the Crow's Nest line, and others are projected.

Jailed for Stealing Tires.

Quebec, June 4.—Complaints have been made of late that a large number of new railway ties belonging to the Inter-Colonial had been disappearing, and on Saturday Chief Detective Williams of the I. C. R. arrested three residents of St. Jean Chrysostome, who were brought before Judge Chauvemu and sent to jail for one month without the option of a fine.

BURGLARS BLOW SAFE IN RAILWAY STATION

Bold Attempt to Rob Canadian Pacific Company Is Made At Rossland.

Rossland, B. C., June 4.—The outer portion of the door of the safe in the Red Mountain railway depot was blown off by burglars at an early hour on Sunday morning. The outer sheathing of the door was blown off but the inner portion held its place and frustrated the attempt of the burglars to loot the strong box.

The ticket money drawer was opened and the papers from drawers and desks scattered all over the place.

The burglars did not secure a cent, as it is the custom of H. P. Brown, agent of the company, to deposit all money and valuables in the bank each afternoon.

This is the first attempt at safe cracking that ever occurred here.

Major Watts Explains Mexican Mine Trouble

Washington, D. C., June 4.—The following report has been received at the war department from Major Watts, dated at Naco, Arizona, June 3.

"My information as to the trouble at Cananea is as follows: Mexican employees of the Greene Copper company struck for higher wages and made other demands. A large number of employees went to the company's yard and tried to induce the non-union strikers to quit work and they were peaceably dispersed. Two American brothers named Metcalfe resisted the action of the strikers and went to the roof and shot and killed four or five Mexicans. The strikers then broke into the house and killed the Metcalfe brothers. This is the Mexican's story.

"The story of the officials of the Copper company differs somewhat. They claim that the trouble is socialistic and due to labor agitators.

"The total casualties are two Americans and about fifteen Mexicans killed.

"I talked with Mr. Greene over the telephone this morning. He says that the Mexican troops are there and have everything well in hand and that no more disorders are anticipated. I am informed that the Americans have resumed work."

THE WAY OF GOD

Sermon By Rev. A. J. Brace, Pastor of the West End Methodist Church.

"And whither I go ye know the way."

"I am the way, the truth and the life."—John 14, 4and 6. (Revised version.)

Last week in discussing Heaven and its location we incidentally noticed that Heaven is where Christ is. To-night we discuss the way to God and Heaven. As Richard Baxter suggests in his sublims "Saints Everlasting Rest" it is vain to think so much about heaven as to forget the way to it There is a vital connection between the present and the future. If we are to know Heaven there is a way to it. Therefore to get to Heaven we must know the way, as no man ever blew into heaven by accident. God's laws are reasonable, rational laws of cause and effect and we must apply them as such. Believing this it is of the utmost importance that knowing the way we follow it to the best of our ability and grow in knowledge by the grace of God.

Some say, live good lives, live moral lives, be good to the poor, pay one hundred cents on the dollar. It is none of these. All of these are included but deluded is the mortal who thus follows a phantom shadow of the reality so pertinently expressed in the text. Christ not only revealed the joys of heaven but plainly revealed the way to it in the words of the text, "and whither I go ye know the way."

In other words, the way for all is the way Christ went. His way of life, the way home to God, was distinguished by:—

1. The place that God had in it. God held the preeminent place in the life of Christ on earth. This is evidenced by the many prayers of Christ to His Father. Only once in the long list of simple but wholehearted prayers of Christ, did He address His Father in any other way than "Father," that was on the cruel cross of Calvery, in the lonely agony of the hour when he bare the sins of the world, and the face of God was hidden, He cried in the dread anguish of his soul, "My God, my God, why hast Thou forsaken Me?" He loved to pray. He spent whole nights in prayer. Robert Speer, who has studied the subject most devotedly, says the "recorded seasons of prayer of Christ are as frequent as His public addresses." What a sublime lesson to all men. Surely if prayer occupied such a place in the experience of Christ, it is the way to God for us. The revised version, in connection with the sad Gethsemane scene suggests He "proyed strainingly," so strainingly that the blood was diverted from the regular channels and oozed from His brow and crimsoned His flowing white robes. Like Enoch, He walked and talked with God naturally and simply. This is the way home to God.

II. The will of God was His, not only as a rule of conduct, but it was the spring, the impulse, the initial force of every action. He was not anxious for this life and its baubles. Earthly rank and honor had no fascination for Him. He lived simply to please God. It was said of Enoch "before his translation he had this testimony that he pleased God." Christ had this testimony only in a grander, fuller, more sublime sense. In His earliest life He made known His resignation to God by His statement to His parents "wist ye not that I must be about My Father's business?" Truly this is the way of God.

III. He loved humanity. Detached from the world in a sense, He had the most affectionate interest in the lives of men. He had a divine compassion for human want and sorrow. He looked for their human support in the time of suffering. He fed the hungry, relieved the poor, healed the sick, inspired the weary and heavy-laden. He loved the worst of sinners. Truly is this the way of God, to love suffering humanity as He did. Too often today, even in our own city by so-called christians, do we hear disparaging remarks of the Jap, the Chinese, the Siwash, as if they had no souls. All this is absolutely wrong, and in such objectors is none of the spirit of Christ. Color and creed make no difference to God. He made all alike. Significant was the remark made by a colored husband to his wife as she lay dying with the glory of God in her soul, suffusing her countenance in spite of the objections of some professors of religion to this color, "Never mind, Dinah, praise the Lord, we'll all be white up there."

Priscilla Leonard, in "The Prayer of Self," expresses the same strong sentiment:

One knelt within a world of care
And sin, and lifted up his prayer:
"I ask Thee, Lord, for health and power
To meet the duties of each hour,
For peace from care, for daily food,
For life prolonged and filed with good
I praise Thee for Thy gifts received,
For sins forgiven, for pains relieved,
For near and dear ones spared and blessed,
For prospered toil and promised rest.
This prayer I make in His great name
Who for my soul's salvation came."
But as he prayed, lo! at his side
Stood the thorn-crowned Christ and sighed
"O, blind disciple came I then
To bless the selfishness of men?
Thou askest health, amid the cry
Of human stress and agony.
Thou askest peace while all around
Trouble bows thousands to the ground;
Thou askest life for thine and thee
While others die; thou thankest Me
For gifts, for pardon, for success,
For thine own narrow happiness.
Nay! rather bow thine head and pray
That while thy brother starves today
Thou may'st not eat thy bread at ease,
Pray that no health or wealth or peace
May lull thy soul while the world lies
Suffering, and claims thy sacrifice.
Praise not while others weep that thou
Hast pever groaned with anguished brow.
Praise not thy sins have pardon found
While others sink in darkness drowned.
Cans't thou give thanks while others nigh,
Outcast and lost, curse God and die.

"Not in My name thy prayer was made
Not for my sake thy praises paid.
My gift is sacrifice; My blood
Was shed for human brotherhood,
And till thy brother's woe is thine
Thy heart beat knows no throb of mine
Come, leave thy selfish hopes and see
Thy birthright, of humanity.
Shun sorrow not; be brave to bear
The world's dark weight of sin and care,
Spend and be spent, yearn, suffer, give,
And in thy brethren learn to live."

We usually know where a man is going by the roal he takes . The same applies regarding spiritual things. He who is habitually wicked expects nothing else but condemnation. "He that is filthy let him be filthy still."

Suppose a so-called Christian man resents the Divine will as the compelling element of his life and follows his own sweet will in business and at home, with employer and employed, and pays no deference to the will of God. Is such a man on the way to God?

Suppose a so-called Christian has tastes and habits that coincide with the non-Christian and he prefers their association and life in contradistinction to the fellowship of spiritually.

Suppose a so-called Christian man thinks and and cares wholly for self, forgets his brother man, and is wholly absorbed in attending to No. 1, Is such a man on the way to God?

There is infinite pathos in the complacency of the so-called Christian and the way he lives and expects to slide some day into everlasting bliss. Why, he wouldn't fit there. He would feel miserable in Christ's company and long to get out. There is tremendous truth in the saying: "Heaven or hell is what a man makes it." For being creatures of choice we largely shape our own future.

Well you may say the standard is t oo high. How can any man enter heaven. Not a bit too high. "I am the way," Christ says, "the truth and the life." The secret is to know Christ and His life. The man who finds Christ has made a more wonderful discovery than gold bearing quartz on a Rocky Mountain ledge or a rich placer strike in the Yukon. Christ is the Way; not a church or priest. Here is our fight against sacerdotalism. It is blasphemous for any priest to pretend to forgive sin or mediate for man. We must personally find Christ as Luther did and defied the whole Romish system.

So simple is the way that men miss it. Prof. Alexander a short time ago told us that his little girl coming home from Sunday school wouldn't believe the teacher when she said "God is everywhere. He can see you right down through the roof and see through your ceiling." Why, said the little five-year-old child, "if God is everywhere He doesn't need to look down through the roof, He is here now." Praise God for the truth of it and the simplicity of the whole gospel.

LAYFIELD INVENTS A CEMENT MACHINE

Manufactured Material Is Being Used in the Construction of a New Residence.

James Layfield, a one time resident of this city, but now of Vancouver, has just invented a new machine for the manufacture of cement blocks, it being the only machine that takes the core and outer plate off the moist block, after moulding it, without the aid of nuts and bolts and is called the reinforced cement block machine. The Canadian patent for it was received a few weeks ago, the one from the United States being expected daily. A small residence is being erected on Sixth street near the limits for G. Salt, of Burnaby, Mr. Layfield and A. V. Crisp of Vancouver, being the contractors, the material that is being used for construction of this residence being cement blocks manufactured by the new machine. The new building will have two walls, an inner and an outer one, with an air space of about three inches between them. The cement blocks in these walls are set in mortar, one upon the other, and are connected with the blocks in the opposite wall by strong bands of steel which are firmly imbedded in the cement. By allowing it to harden around them when drying the contractors claim that it is impossible for dampness to penetrate through this wall, owing to the current of warm air that will be kept circulating upwards from the inside of the dwelling, and out through ventilators for that purpose. This material is also much cheaper than bricks, as no lathing is necessary only on the inside partitions. The inside of the outer wall being very slightly groved so that the plaster will adhere to the hardened cement. Steps are now being taken in Vancouver toward the forming of a company for the manufacturing of the machine and blocks.

A Wardrobe Hint.—Never put clothes away nubrushed, nor forget to pull and straighten out gloves, to roll up veils carefully; and never sit about in a walking dress indoors, are golden rules to remember for the preservation of clothes.

Mildewed Linen.—To remove mildew out of linen, rub the linen well with soap, then scrape some fine chalk and rub it also on the linen. Lay it out in the air. As it dries wet it a little, and the mildew, after a second application, will disappear.

To Color Your Kitchen.—A very pretty pink coloring for kitchen or pantry walls can be made by dissolving whitening in cold water and adding enough permanganate of potash to give it the desired shade. Add a little liquid glue and apply as you would whitewash. It looks extremely well if carefully applied.

Never Leave Food in Tin Cans.—Fully half of the cases of poisoning from using tinned foods arise from their being left in the tins after opening. Whether you need all that the tin contains at once, or only part of it, the whole should be turned out immediately onto a plate or dish.

Good for Flowers.—The grounds of coffee left after using the liquid are an excellent ingredient to mix with the earth used in flower pots. Our grandmothers' custom was to put it on the surface also, in order to keep the earth moist, and they had roses in bloom all the year round in their windows.

Zinc may be kept like burnished silver by rubbing it hard with a mixture of soft soap and fine sand, afterward polishing it with a little oil on a soft rag, adding sometimes a drop or two of alcohol to the oil. The secret of keeping this metal bright is regular and daily hard rubbing.

Skinnig Beets.—A quick and easy way to skin a beet it to put it in cold water as soon as it is cooked. Draw the hand gently down each one and the skin will drop off at once.

To Wash Oilcloth.—Never use a scrubbing brush to wash oilcloth, and neither soda nor very hot water if you wish to preserve the paint.

To Remove Red Iron Rust.—Cover the spots with salt, moisten with lemon juice; let stand a time adding more salt and lemon. If not successful with these, use for fast colors muriatic acid. Spread the cloth over a large bowl of hot water, touch the dry spots with a drop or two of the acid. When the rust disappears rinse several times in clear water and then in water in which there is a little ammonia.

She had just accepted him, and they were blissfully discussing the "might-have-beens."

"Darling," he inquired, in the tone of one who knows what the answer will be; "darling, why didn't you accept that little donkey of a fop?"

"Because," she answered, dreamily, "I loved another."

THE BROTHIER CASE.

We notice that the release of Brothier, whose name, by the way, our lineotype persisted in misspelling yesterday, is used deliberately as the foundation for an appeal to that feeling which the average man naturally entertains when he hears that one whom he feels to be deserving of the most severe punishment, gets off with less than his dessert. This appeal to feeling is plainly opposed to that very justice in the name of which it is paraded. If a man, convicted upon improper or insufficient evidence, is detained in prison because he is known to be a person of bad character, a precedent is established full of the greatest danger to the liberty of the subject. In this case, the only proper course is to wait quietly until the facts are known, then if it appears that justice has been tampered with, let condemnation fall where it is deserved.

LOOK FOR AN ELECTION.

An opinion seems to be gaining ground that the McBride government is preparing to spring a general election on the country, and that the keen hunt after "graft" in which the conservative papers are indulging just now is to some extent inspired by a hint of this. There are certainly a number of reasons why the government should prefer not to face another session of the present parliament; there are also a number of signs which would appear to indicate that an election is at least "on the cards" —the junketing trips of certain ministers for example, and the comparatively large appropriation for public works.

Speaking of public works appropriations, reminds us that one of the government organs is shouting these days that the McBride government has not misappropriated a single dollar. A full answer to that vainglorious boast would occupy more space than can be given to the subject now; but one wonders whether the organ in question ever heard of the last provincial general election. It will be remembered that the present government had but lately come into power, and was moaning over the bad financial condition of the province and devising schemes for the raising of money; and it will also be remembered that these schemes were found to include a piece of the most astonishing financial blundering recorded in the history of the country (which is saying a good deal) as well as oppressive taxation and the starvation, for a couple of years, of public works. Yet the government which was devising these things, and which proceeded to carry them out—the government which went to the country with the cry of "economy' on its 'lips—was guilty of the most shameful waste of public money, the most unblushing purchasing of votes with public funds, thrown away, absolutely wasted, under pretence of road work.

We are told that but one attempt has been made to fasten odium upon the McBride government, and that attempt failed. Kaien Island is the "attempt" referred to. Now if the statement had been that of the matters on account of which odium has attached itself to the government, the affair of Kaien island is the only one as to which a formal investigation has been attempted, and that the government, by abuse of its party strength, in the house succeeded in partially burking that investigation, it would have been much nearer the truth.

Whether we shall have a general provincial election this year or not will depend entirely upon the estimate of chances which the members of the government, or the majority of them, may form. To gather material for that estimate is no doubt the main cause of the holiday trip, at the taxpayers' expense, which two of the ministers have been enjoying for some little time. The country can rest assured that no consideration of the public interest will be allowed for a moment to influence the decision of the government. The election will be held if the holding of it appears to give better promise than would the meeting of the present House again of enabling the government to cling to the power they have abused. That is the sole question. Nothing else will be considered.

SCIENTIFIC POLITICS.

In the course of his speech in the Senate, on the question of the necessity for reform in the constitution of that body, Sir Richard Cartwright made a little excursion into the domain of scientific politics—a region which is marked "unexplored; probably mountainous and difficult," on political maps; but one, nevertheless, in which some folk believe the people will yet find sovereign remedies for many political ills. Sir Richard in that part of his remarks to which reference is here made, is reported as follows:

He now approached the chiefest and hardest task, of declaring how they should bring the Senate into touch with the people of Canada, how they had best act so as to remove the partisan complexion which the Senate had under the present system of nomination, and obtain proper proportionate representation for each party. If the Senate was to have real power entrusted to it, it might depend that in some form or shape, either directly or indirectly, that power would have to be derived from the people. Speaking for himself alone, he had been convinced that our present system of representation was radically faulty, and that in some important respects it was not merely vicious in theory, but vicious in practice. He was the last man to dispute the right of the majority to rule, not did he desire in the slightest degree to dispute the right of the majority to have a majority of representatives; but he did dispute the right of the majority to arrogate to itself an unfair proportion of representatives of the people. "I will illustrate my position. It was not fair, for example that a party controlling 100,000 votes should return 150 representatives, and that those who controlled 90,000 should return but 40. Yet that was what had occurred again and again, under the present system. It was all very well to say that the system was as fair for one side as the other. It offered, as no other system did, a steady and perpetual premium to gerrymander and corruption."

Sir Richard advocated as a means of preventing the temptation to gerrymander, or to use money corruptly, the adoption of a system of grouping constituencies on the plan of one man one vote. They might be grouped by twos, threes, fives, or adopt a modification of these systems. The result would be that under no possible conditions could the minority be deprived of a resonable proportion of representation. Sometimes they might obtain a little more than they were fairly entitled to, sometimes a little less, but in the long result the two parties would ultimately be represented in almost exact proportion to their real strength.

There are other ways of accomplishing the same object, but the plan outlined by Sir Richard seems on the whole to be the more generally favored by those who have studied the subject—that is, taking Sir Richard's outline as an outline, and not as a complete plan. The main objects which should be aimed at are, to give representation on the floor of parliament to every political group which musters enough voters to constitute a reasonable basis of claim to such representation; to prevent corrupt practices at election; and to make "gerrymandering" impossible.

Suppose British Columbia, for Dominion election purposes, to be a single constituency, returning seven members, every elector having the right to vote for one candidate only. That, we take it, is the sort of thing Sir Richard referred to. In the particular case of this province, situated as it is, and at its present stage of development, there would be many objections of what may be called a local nature; but these do not effect the argument, as we are merely putting the case by way of illustration. It seems pretty clear that direct corruption—the buying of votes—if not killed would be very materially lessened. True, votes could be bought for this or that party; but the worst corruption is generally in favor of, or against, this or that candidate; and the result would be too uncertain to justify large expenditure. Such a system, too, might be expected to put canvassing on a rather higher plane. Principle and policy, rather than personality, would form the subject of debate. To convince a liberal voter that the candidate of his party in his own particular corner of the country was unworthy of confidence, would simply throw his vote to some other liberal candidate—an end which the conservative canvasser would not care to spend breath or effort in attaining. Within the parties, too, there would be an influence towards purer politics, as the voters would not be shut up, as they now are, to the alternatives of voting for a party candidate whom they considered unfit, voting for a candidate opposed to them politically, or abstaining from voting altogether.

The system outlined by Sir Richard would give the gerrymander its death-blow, of course, and it would also prevent numerically respectable minorities from being swamped. Take for instance a group of five of the present constituencies in each of which there is a small liberal majority. That group will be represented in the house of commons by five liberal members, although forty per cent of the voters may be conservatives.

Take, again, the groups which belong to neither of the great parties. At present we may have, say, a labor candidate and a socialist, besides the regular party candidate, in any constituency, with the result that the member is returned by a minority of the voters. The system outlined by Sir Richard would put an end to that sort of thing. Suppose the total vote of a "grouped" constituency, divided by the number of members to be returned, gives 3,000. Then any party which commands 3,000 votes has a right to be represented and if it is careful not to dissipate its strength by trying to get more than it has a right to, it can return a member. Under the present system, on the other hand, its votes being but a small fraction of the total in any one of the single constituencies out of which the "grouped" constituency would be formed, it is hopelessly muzzled.

A free miner, having discovered mineral in place, may locate a claim 1500x1500 feet by marking out the same with two legal posts, bearing location notices, one at each end of the line of the lode, or vein.

The claim shall be recorded within fifteen days if ocated within ten miles of a mining recorder's office, one additional day allowed for every additional ten miles or fraction. The fee for recording a claim is $5.

At least $100 must be expended on the claim each year or paid to the mining recorder in lieu thereof. When $500 has been expended or paid, the locator may, upon having a survey made and upon complying with other requirements, purchase the land at $1.00 an acre.

Permission may be granted by the Minister of the Interior to locate claims containing iron and mica, also copper, in the Yukon Territory, of an area not exceeding 160 acres.

The patent for a mining location shall provide for the payment of a Royalty of 2½ per cent. of the sales of the products of the location.

PLACER MINING—Manitoba and the N. W. T., excepting the Yukon Territory: Placer mining claims generally are 100 feet square, entry fee $5, renewable yearly. On the North Saskatchewan River claims are either bar or bench, the former being 100 feet long and extending between high and low water mark. The latter includes bar diggings, but extends back to the base of the hill or bank, not exceeding 1000 feet. Where steam power is used claims 200 feet wide may be obtained.

Dredging in the Rivers of Manitoba and the N. W. T., excepting the Yukon Territory—A free miner may obtain only two leases of five miles each for a term of twenty years, renewable in the discretion of the Minister of the Interior.

The lessee's right is confined to the submerged beds or bars of the river below any low water mark, and subject for first year and $10 per mile for each subsequent year. Royalty same as placer mining.

Placer mining in the Yukon Territory—Creek, gulch, river and hill claims shall not exceed 250 feet in length, measured on the base line of general direction of the creek or gulch, the width being from 1000 to 2000 feet. All other placer claims shall be 250 feet square.

Claims are marked by two legal posts, one at each end, bearing notices. Entry must be obtained within ten days if the claim is within ten miles of the mining recorder's office. One extra day allowed for each additional ten miles or fraction.

The person or company staking a claim must hold a free miner's certificate.

The discoverer of a new mine is entitled to a claim of 1000 feet in length, aand if the party consists of two, 1500 feet altogether, on the output on which no royalty shall be charged the rest of the party ordinary claims only.

Entry fee $10. Royalty at the rate of two and one-half per cent. on the value of the gold shipped from the ject to the rights of all persons who have, or who may receive entries for bar diggings or bench claims, except on the Saskatchewan River, where the lessee can dredge to high-water mark on each alternative leasehold.

The lessee shall have a dredge in operation within one season from the date of the lease for each five miles but where a person or company has obtained more than one lease one dredge for each fifteen miles or fraction thereof is sufficient. Rental, $10 per annum for each mile of river leased. Royalty at the rate of two and a half per cent. collected on the output after it exceeds $10,000.

Dredging in the Yukon Territory—Six leases of five miles each may be granted to a free miner for a term of 20 years; also renewable.

The lessee's right is confined to the submerged bar or bars in the river below low water mark, that boundary to be fixed by its position on the 1st day of August in the year of the date of the lease.

The lessee shall have one dredge in operation within two years from the date of the lease, and one dredge for each five miles within six years from such date. Rental $100 per mile Yukon Territory to be paid to the comptroller.

No free miner shall receive a grant of more than one mining claim on each separate river, creek or gulch but the same miner may hold any number of claims by purchase, and free miners may work their claims in partnership by filing notice and paying fee of $2. A claim may be abandoned and another obtained on the same creek, gulch or river, by giving notice and paying a fee.

Work must be done on a claim each year to the value of at least $100.

A certificate that work has been not, the claim shall be deemed to be abandoned, anad open to occupation and entry by a free miner.

The boundaries of a claim may be defined absolutely by having a survey made and publishing notices in the Yukon Official Gazette.

Petroleum—All unappropiated Dominion Lands in Manitoba, the Northwest Territories and within the Yukon Territory, are open to prospecting for petroleum, and the minister may reserve for an individual or company having machinery on the land to be prospected, an area of 1920 acres for such period as he may decide, the length of which shall not exceed three times the breadth. Should the prospector discover oil in paying quantities, and satisfactorily establish such discovery, an area not exceeding 640 acres, including the oil well, will be sold to the prospector at the rate of $1 an acre, and the remainder of the tract reserved, namely, 1280 acres will be sold at the rate of $3 an acre subject to royalty at such rate as may be specified by Order in Council.

College Musicale.

In the music room of the Columbian college last Friday evening pupils in the musical department in charge of Miss Claxton, and the Girls' Glee Club, also under her direction, gave a musicale to a number of their friends; assisted by readings from Miss Myrtle Starrett, pupil of Miss L. Burns, and Miss Evelyn Brown. At the close of the programme refreshments were served by a number of the young ladies.

Though Miss Claxton has been in connection with the college but one year, and this being the first attempt of most of those taking part in the programme, their execution, attack and memorization showed careful work, both from teacher and pupil.

The Glee club is also to be commended in the work it has done since organization in January last, its closing number, "Estudiantina," being especially appreciated by those present.

Following was the programme:

Bach—Prelude No. 1, Miss Margaret Carroll; No. 2, Miss Florence Nevin.

Schumann—(a) Lied, (b) Soldier's March, Miss Florence Curtis.

Hitz—Pastorale, Miss Ethel Brown.

Chopin—Preludes Nos. 20 and 7, Miss Constance Brett.

Ferber—Affection, Miss M. Carroll.

Borowski—La Coquette, Miss F. Nevin.

Nevin—Duet, "Country Dance," Miss Blanche McDonald, Miss Constance Brett.

Lange—"Wild Rose," Miss M. Carroll.

The Girls' Glee club gave Wagner's summer Lacomes' college song, "Estudiantiaa,' also a chorus of seven "Merry June" and a duet, "When Life Is Brightest," by Miss Jenny Marshall and Miss Gertie Wells.

Readings, "Nellie's Gift," Miss Myrtle Starrett.

"Mr. Crandle Has Lent the Umbrella," Miss Evelyn Brown.

Wanted—Three or four unfurnished rooms; good location; gas and bath preferred. M. B., Box 53.

WILL SOON COMMENCE TO BUILD SANITARIUM

Dr. C. J. Fagan Makes Announcement at Meeting of Anti-Tuberculosis Society.

Dr. C. J. Fagan stated at he quarterly meeting of the local branch of the Anti-Tuberculosis society held yesterday afternoon, that a building for the treatment of incipient consumptives would be commenced within a month, and that the site would be decided at a meeting to be held at Vernon in the near future.

Dr. Fagan said also that he was very much encouraged with the work of the society during the past three months, and he urged the formation of a junior auxiliary to assist in obtaining funds to deal with local necessitious cases, while the work of the main society would be more particularly concerned with the raising of funds for the building of a sanitarium. He also urged the local doctors to give educational talks to the school children and other interested people, and acquaint them with the subject.

The treasurer's cash statement showed that the society had $376.80 in the bank, of which $217.75 was the net proceeds of the concert held on April 15. The sum of $156.25 was shown to have been collected by the society's official collector, Miss Stevenson, who also stated that she had been promised $50 worth of lumber to be used in the building of the convalescent home.

After an informal discussion it was decided that the meeting should adjourn until the first Monday in September, when the next quarterly meeting will be held in the board of trade rooms. It was also decided that a meeting for young people would be held on June 20, at 4 o'clock at the same place. Drs. Kenney and Walker were present, as well as a representative gathering of ladies interested in the work of the society.

LONG AND HIGH LEAPING.

Over the Backs of Elephants, etc., by Athletes with the Norris & Rowe Circus.

One of the most intensely interesting acts with a circus is the long distance leaps of the athletes. Over the backs of camels, elephants, dromedaries, llamas, etc., the trained athletes spring on to a matress to receive their bodies. It is a beautifully graceful act and not at all as easy as it looks. The performer takes a short run to a spring board and with a high leap in the air sails over the backs of the beasts ranged in line. To miscalculate the distance would mean a broken neck. It is notorious that more performers have lost their lives doing this act than in any other branch of the business. For that reason the act has not been attempted of late years for all circuses have omitted it from their programs. However, Norris & Rowe heard many complaints last year from their patrons on account of the act being omitted so they determined to re-introduce it, but at the same time they have engaged performers who were formerly recognized champions in this particular class. These men have survived and say they are not at all afraid to continue it for another season and take chances on being injured. Precaution will be taken to avoid accidents and it is promised that the act will be a thriller. Interspersed with the long and high leaping will be a paradox in the funny work of the clowns burlesqueing the act. The comical fellows have made some happy hits with their comedy which the audience can appreciate all the more after witnessing the hazardous feats of the trained athletes. The Norris and Rowe Circus will exhibit at New Westminster Friday, June 8th.

LIQUID STONE AND ITS USES.

Concrete is the new medium of the engineering wonder-worker. First he builds the gaunt sky-scraper, with a wooden mould of the desired width about the thin steel girders. Into this mould he forces the liquid stone, and waits a few hours for it to harden. Then the wooden shields are removed, and there stands a smooth wall, which grows harder with the passage of each day and will withstand a greater pressure than granite or steel itself. Or he builds a great bridge, leaping a hundred and fifty feet at a single span, of slender steel rods, forces concrete inside the temporary wooden skin which marks the desired shape, and has, next morning, a structure of strength and beauty, which will defy all the power of winds and waves alike. Or, where twenty years ago a tall chimney would have have been built up, brick by brick, and a dozen feet in thickness at the base, he spins his steel spiderweb, pours his liquid stone into a thin shell of less than a dozen inches, and behold a slender structure towering hundreds of feet into the air and strong enough to stand anything short of a cyclone!

DISAPPOINTED LOVER MURDERS HIS RIVAL

Attempts Also to Kill the Girl and Then Puts End to His Own Life.

Christopher, Ills., June 4.—Roy Veach returning from a buggy ride with Stella Dial, last night, was shot twice through the head and killed by Reuben Stewart while in a frenzy of jealousy. Stewart also attempted to shoot the girl but she fled. He then shot himself and died in half an hour.

Fortunes in Eggs.

The enormous value attaching to the eggs of birds which have become extinct has been recalled by the accident that has befallen the specimen of the great auk, which constitutes one of the treasures of the Scarborough Museum. Kept securely guarded in the safe, it was recently placed on public exhibition. By some means or other it has become cracked, and its value has been depreciated by more than £60. These eggs, which were as plentiful as the ordinary chickens eggs in the early part of the last century, are now worth small fortunes. The highest price realized for a specimen was £315, paid by an enthusiastic collector in North London, who now boasts four of these eggs, representing a total value of £1,415.

The stories associated with the disposal of some of these specimens are highly romantic. In 1879 a Scotchman picked up two eggs at an Edinburgh sale for 16s each. A little later he parted with his bargains for no less than £480. Another specimen purchased for £40 realized subsequently £160 from an American collector. There are only about eighty of these eggs in existence, of which the British Museum possesses twelve, representing a value not far short of £5,000.

Valuable though the egg of the great auk is, it canhot compare with that of the epyornis or moa, which thrived in Madagascar some two hundred years ago. The egg is about twelve inches in length, and the number known to be in existence can be counted upon the fingers. When the first specimen was brought to Europe in 1851 it roused the greatest excitement. There is one specimen preserved in the British Museum which was obtained in quite a romantic manner. It was picked up in 1897 floating in a bay off Madagascar. Its value is incalculable, since it constitutes one of the most extraordinary relics of its type.

Senator Foraker, in discussing a rather unfair attack that one statesman had made upon another, said:

"This reminds me of the young man from the country who went upto New York to take a course of boxing lessons.

"He chose for his instructor a notably hard-hitting heavyweight. The heavyweight said to him, as the first lesson began:

"Now, I may hurt you a little, but you mustn't mind. And you, in return, hit me as hard as you can. Don't be afraid. I shan't bother.'

"And he smiled maliciously.

"And the malicious smile still lingered on his lips as—bang!—with a crashing blow on the jaw the heavyweight went down.

"He rose painfully.

"'That was a soaker you gave me, and no mistake,' he said; but, by the way, what is that in your glove?'

"'Oh, it's only a horseshoe,' said the pupil, chuckling. 'I just put it there for luck.'" for New Westminster and district is better today than it has ever been at any time within the past ten years.

With deep water vessels and steamers coming up the Fraser river and giving New Westminster her rightful place in the shipping world.

The coast Kootenay railroad a long felt want is now an assured thing and will open a vast tract of country for settlers in the near future. The opportunity for acquiring sites for homes as evidenced by the result of the sale of property held by the city last week, is unsurpassed by any city on the Coast, justly entitles New Westminster to be called the city of beautiful homes.

The country round is fast settling up with from five to twenty acre holdings, of which class of property we make a specialty and have a large number for immediate sale.

We have forty-two acres fronting on the Fraser river and Great Northern Railroad connection, deep water, price only an acre. Grand site for an industry.

to the press before submitting it to the council. This he characterized as an attempt on the part of the writer to bulldoze the council into granting him the light, and he was of the opinion that the letter should not have been received by the council under these conditions. Several of the other aldermen having expressed a like opinion, it was finally decided that the letter should simply be received and filed, or in other words, that no further notice should be taken of it.

Band Question.

Ald. Jardine reported for the finance committee that Messrs. Rushton and Jackson, who had written a letter to the council last Monday week with reference to the City Band, had agreed to be present at the next meeting of the council, when the matter will be gone into.

Ald. Henley presented his report for the board of works, dealing mostly with sidewalk repairs and constructions. This was received and filed.

Poundkeeper Reports.

Poundkeeper H. Murray submitted his monthly report, showing that during the month of May he had impounded 10 cows and 3 horses; that 8 dogs had been destroyed; pound fees amounting to $19.50 had been received, and 240 dog tags had been sold, and a revenue for the same of $276 had been received. Report received and filed for reference.

New Fireman.

J. H. Watson, chief of the fire department, submitted his report for May, showing that three fires had occurred during the month, little damage being done in each case. He also reported that Mr. Pentland, who has been appointed driver at No. 1 fire hall had changed his mind, and was not going to take the position. He therefore recommended that James Best be appointed to the position, as he was well acquainted with the streets. The report was received and filed for reference, and the recommendation of the chief with reference to the apopintment of James Best was adopted.

Request Considered Unreasonable.

W. H. Minthorne wrote asking that a sidewalk be laid on the east side of Thirteenth street, between Fifth and Sixth avenues. This request was described by the chairman of the board of works as unreasonable, as there were only two houses on that side of the street, and a good sidewalk was laid on the other side of the street which could be used. The mayor suggested that the matter be referred to the board of works to report, and a motion to that effect was accordingly made and carried.

The New Saw Mill.

L. A. Lewis, manager of the Brunette Saw Mills, wrote confirming the conversation had by him on Thursday with the council with reference to the company's intention to build another mill on their property on the site of the old can factory. The letter was received and after some discussion between Alds. Adams and Jardine, and Mayor Keary, was referred to the finance committee to report.

Leslie Asks For Grant.

A. S. Leslie, bandmaster of the Fife and Drum band wrote asking the council for a small grant to help his band to secure suitable uniforms, mentioning that his band was composed of seventeen players, and that he thought that $13 per man would be sufficient. Referred to the finance committee to report.

Cook Wants Reduction.

E. W. Cook, bill poster, wrote asking for readjustment of the bill posting by-law, and also asked for a reduction of the bill posting license, as he considered that he was paying too high a price for the size of the city. This was referred to the finance committee to report, Ald. Jardine remarking that the by-law had been amended to please Mr. Cook some time ago, and that he could not expect to have it altered to suit his convenience every time he wished it.

Before the council adjourned, the mayor again referred to the improvements needed on Sixth avenue, and Ald. Henley again promised that the estimates of the cost would be ready by next Monday.

At a meeting of the B. C. The first Sunday in November will be observed as Anti-Tuberculosis Day throughout the province, and on this date collections will be taken at the churches to help forward the crusade that is now being carried on against this dread scourge.

This was decided at a meeting of the Ministerial Association which was held in the Queen's Avenue Methodist parsonage yesterday morning.

The following were appointed to conduct services at the jail on the dates mentioned: June 10, Rev. W. H. Barraclough; June 17, Rev. Dr. Rugg; June 24, Rev. J. S. Henderson; July 1, Rev. Mr. Owen.

The Rev. J. S. Henderson was appointed to convey the association's greetings to the W. C. T. U. on the occasion of their annual convention here on June 20 and 21. The convention will be held in the Queen's Avenue Methodist church.

It was also decided to extend the association's congratulations to Principal Sipprell, of Columbia College, on the occasion of the degree of D. D. being conferred upon him by Victoria University of Toronto.

The announcement was made that the Rev. Messrs. Rochester and Shearer, representing the Lord's Day Alliance, will visit New Westminster towards the end of June, when they will hold meetings in one of the city churches. This will be the Rev. Mr. Rochester's first visit to the Coast, he having recently been appointed western secretary of the association for Canada. He was formerly a Presbyterian minister, stationed at Kenora, Ont. The Rev. Mr. Shearer is secretary of the Lord's Day Alliance for Canada, and he will meet many old friends here.

There were present at the meeting the Rev. Messrs. Barraclough, Henderson, Brace and Capt. Sainsbury of the Salvation Army. The Rev. A. E. Hetherington, B. A., was also present, and was elected a member of the association.
