FEAR RENEWAL OF MASSACRES ON LARGE SCALE

Order Has Been Restored at Bialystok, But Activity of Terrorists Still Continues—In Spite of Official Attempts to Quell the Storm, the Imminence of an Armed Uprising Is Russia's One Topic.

London, June 17.—The Daily Telegraph this morning prints a telegram received from Helsingfors, [illegible] Sunday afternoon, and signed [illegible] Vinaver and four other Jewish [illegible]mbers of the Russian parliament. [illegible]e telegram says:

"The outbreak at Bialys[illegible] clearly was the beginning of an [illegible]ganized massacre, similar to the [illegible]y October days. Only energet[illegible] intervention can prevent a ter[illegible] catastrophe. Peril is imminen[illegible]ppeal to all influences to help us."

Revolution Is Glorified.

Moscow, June 17.—The imminence of an armed uprising is the one subject of conversation in the hotels, cafes and public gardens. In spite of their prohibition by the police, meetings made up from 8,000 to 10,000 persons are held daily in the suburbs. At all of these revolution is glorified. The prefect today ordered the boulevards to be occupied by troops in order to prevent revolutionary processions.

Terrorists Still Active.

Warsaw, June 17.—A band of terrorists this morning held up a mail wagon between Kronsniewice and Klodawa. The terrorists killed the driver and his horses and two soldiers who were escorting the van, plundered the mails and decamped. At 9 o'clock this evening five terrorists shot and killed a police officer and his wife while they were walking in the street. The assassins escaped. The Jews of Warsaw are uneasy, but at present there is no indication of an anti-Jewish outbreak.

Order Has Been Restored.

Bialystok, via Warsaw, June 17.—Order has been restored. The three delegates sent here by the lower house of parliament have arrived and begun an investigation of the disturbance. Though the number of dead has not been definitely ascertained, it is presumed several dozens of persons were killed.

Officials Talk of Peace.

St. Petersburg, June 17.—The pitiable affair at Bialystok has apparently burned itself out. No further bloodshed was reported today and no more is expected, even by the radicals who are satisfied that the authorities are now in control and will do everything possible to prevent a renewal of the excesses. This confidence is based on the action of the governor of Grodno, who is hated and distrusted by the bureaucrats and who, after investigating the situation at Bialystok, took the unprecedented step in order to prevent a spread of the massacres, of telegraphing the authorities of all towns within the Jewish pale, denying the alleged official reports that the disorders were due to the wanton throwing of bombs at a Christian procession by Jewish revolutionists.

Priests Calm the People.

This measure, aided by the Catholic clergy, who today throughout Russian Poland addressed their congregations imploring them not to believe reports spread broadcast for the purpose of stirring up bloody excess, was efficacious in calming the agitated spirits among the Christian population. The Catholics of Warsaw cancelled a great religious procession which was to have been held today in order to avoid the chance of a conflict.

Verge of Gigantic Upheaval.

The general situation, however, is hourly growing more disquieting and the country seems to be on the verge of another gigantic upheaval. In St. Petersburg and Moscow the populace is greatly excited and nothing is talked of except a general political strike which would bring the government to its knees. The proletarian leaders who have been preparing for months for a blow, believe the moment has come to strike. The government has openly refused to accede to the demands of parliament and a rupture is imminent there. The ultimate plans of the leaders depend upon the success achieved but if the government is brought down, it is not doubted they are determined that they and not parliament shall take over the reins of government and forever enjoy the fruits of victory.

GOOD NEWS FROM THE MIDDLE WEST

Winnipeg, June 17.—Despatches received to-day from Rosthern and surrounding points in the Saskatchewan grain area say that the standing wheat is heading out in fine shape. All accounts agree in stating that a magnificent crop is now practically assured, and that unless abnormal weather change intervenes, the Canadian Northwest will this year experience the most prosperous period in its history. The estimated output of grain will place all previous records in the shade.

STRIKE BREAKER ASSAULTS NEWSBOY

Lad's Nose is Badly Smashed By Angry Telephone Lineman Who Resents Questions About "Scabbing".

Harry Hughes, the corpulent newspaper boy, is nursing a broken nose, the result of running up against a telephone lineman who objected to being called a scab, even if he did not belong to the union. The trouble happened yesterday about ten o'clock, while Hughes was delivering his morning papers. He was walking down Columbia street, when, according to his story, he noticed a man laughing at him. He got into conversation with him, and discovering that he had come over from Vancouver to attend to the telephone wires, he inquired whether he was one of the scabs. The man took objection to this, and (still according to the latter's story) struck the boy a staggering blow across the face, breaking his nose.

The assault was witnessed by a number of people, and on their advice, Hughes laid a complaint against his assailant. Detective Bradshaw arrested the man, who gave the name of Andrew Harris. He was afterwards released on a substantial bail, and will face the police magistrate this morning.

Dr. Hall, who attended to the injured lad, said that the nose was broken right across, and that while he had set it straight, unless the boy was very careful until the nose had knitted, there was a possibility that it might not heal properly. The boy might be disfigured for life as a result of the blow. He thought that a terrific blow must have been struck to break the nose in such a way.

FISHERMEN WILL NOT ACCEPT THE CANNER'S OFFER

Nothing Less Than Five Cents a Pound For Spring Salmon Will Keep Them at Work—One Cannery Offers to Pay This and Contract to Take the Whole Season's Catch.

The fishermen are in open rebellion against the canners, who offer them only 4 cents a pound for spring salmon for the rest of the season, commencing today, and as a result of a meeting held under the auspices of the B. C. Fishermen's Union in the Liberal Hall on Saturday afternoon, they have decided that they will not sell any fish at a lower rate than 5c a pound. If the canners refuse to pay that sum, then the fishermen intend to quit and take up other work.

The decision arrived at at the meeting spread rapidly, and it was known in Vancouver almost as soon as here, where the action of the fishermen was strongly commended by those in the business. An interested party arrived here soon after the meeting was over, and made the fishermen an offer to buy up all their catch at the uniform rate of 5c a pound for Windsor's Unique Cannery, with the understanding that even if the other canneries came to time and offered the higher rate, the Unique should have the preference and be supplied with all the fish captured. Several contracts were made, although several of the men decided to wait until the canners had been given a chance to reply to the terms proposed by the men.

The Unique Cannery intends to pack all the avilable salmon for the German market, and it claims that it has a sufficient number of orders on hand to dispose of the whole season's catch. This is the reason why it wishes to contract with the fishermen for the whole output of the season. From the energetic way in which its representatives were canvassing among the fishermen, it is evident that they mean business, and that they are prepared to battle with the combine for all the available spring salmon.

The Lark, Capt. Tillman Herring's tug, was chartered to go out on the river early this morning, and cruise among the different boats, for the purpose of acquainting the owners of the proposal male by the Unique Cannery, and ascertain their views on the subject; at the same time offering to buy all the fish they might catch at the rate of 5c a pound.

On the other hand the canners are firm in the stand they have taken and refuse to pay more than the price they offered in the first place. The general opinion among them is pretty well summed up in the remark of one of the largest canners, who, on being asked by a representative of the Daily News on Saturday afternoon whether they were taking any steps in view of the decision arrived at by the men, replied: "We are not going to call a meeting, or anything of that sort. There is nothing to discuss. We have made the price for this season as high as we can afford to and we are not going to change it. The fishermen will have to be satisfied with it."

RAISE $43,920 FOR MISS ELLEN TERRY

British Popular Tribute to the Celebrated Actress Takes a Very Substantial Form.

London, June 17.—A dinner was given at the Hotel Cecil tonight in honor of Ellen Terry. The 200 guests included persons prominent in the theatrical world. Winston Spencer Churchill, during the course of a brilliant eulogy of Miss Terry's genius, said he considered it regrettable that Great Britain had no national theatre. Miss Terry replied to Mr. Churchill's remarks and to other complimentary speeches and after thanking all persons concerned in the testimonial to her, said she believed the overwhelming testimony of affection and homage she had received was due greatly to the intention of the public to honor Henry Irving and herself together.

It was announced that the total sum realized for the Terry jubilee fund, including the receipts from the benefit performance at Drury Lane theatre and subscriptions raised in America, amounts to $43,920.

CALL SOVEREIGN PLAIN "MR. KING"

Norwegian Democrats Take no Delight in Approaching Reception to Haakon VII.

Christinaia, Norway, June 17.—Trondhjem, yesterday a city of fishermen, is today a capital. Many of those who will participate in the coronation of King Haakon have already swelled the population, and others are crowding north by steamers and trains. The gaiety over the confirmation of the country's new independence will reach its full tide Tuesday, when King Haakon, Queen Maud and the baby Crown Prince Olaf reaches Trondhjem. All over the country floats the flag of Norway—the white bordered blue cross upon a field of red—testifying to the fealty of the people.

The radical Republicans object to the new monarchy and insist on calling Haakon "Mr. King", but the great majority genuinely welcome the new order of things with re-awakened patriotism.

Wins a Thousand.

Vincennesf, June 17.—Frank Kramer, the American bicycle rider, today won the city of Paris Grand Prize, valued at $1,000.

Railroad Washed Out.

Pekin, June 17.—While the northern portion of the province of Chi Li is suffering from the most severe drought since 1900, the southern extremity is experiencing serious floods brought on by heavy rain. The Hankow Pekin railway for thirty miles and several smaller stretches of the line below Shentinfu have been destroyed, and traffic has been suspended since last Friday. Some weeks will be required to repair the line.

SEDDON'S BODY LIES IN STATE

Wellington, June 17.—The steamer Owestry Grange, bearing the body of Premier Seddon, who died on board the vessel shortly after it left Sydney, June 10, for New Zealand, arrived here at 11 o'clock Saturday night. Thousands of persons were at the wharf and witnessed the landing of the casket. Today the body is lying in state. The funeral will take place here next Thursday.

KILLED BY WILD PITCH.

New York, June 17.—Struck by a wildly pitched ball while watching an amateur baseball game today, Moran Doran, 21 years old, was rendered unconscious and died within a few hours.

Trolley Derailed.

Fairfield, Conn., June 17.—A trolley car bound west, when about to enter Bridgeport from Fairfield this afternoon, jumped the track at a curve, ran along the roadway about seventy-five feet and overturned. Of the twelve passengers, four were pinned beneath the car.

Charles Weidlich, of Bridgeport, was crushed to death.

Five persons were seriously injured. The motorman and conductor were arrested and will probably be given a hearing tomorrow.

Train Robbers Appeal.

A. B. McIntyre, the counsel for Miner, Dunn, and Colquhoun, the three train robbers who held up the C. P. R. mail car near Kamloops, applied for a new trial on June 16 before Justice Irving. Mr. McIntyre, counsel for the prisoners, made two objections both of which were overruled by Justice Irving and the appeal will be taken before a full court.

REBELS HAVE BUT TWO DAYS GRACE

Durban, Natal, June 17.—Two of Chief Siganda's sons have surrendered to the Natal forces. Nearly all of Chief Bambaata's folowers were killed in the recent fighting. Col. Mackenzie, of the Natal contingent, has given the rebels, who are leaderless and scattered far and wide, until June 19 to surrender saying that otherwise they will be shot if captured.

SAILORS' NARROW ESCAPE FROM DEATH

The "Lucy Jane" Is Wrecked on Her Way to New Westminster.

Capt. McIlhenny, of the good ship Lucy Jane, and his assistant, Enric Brierman, hailing from Steveston, had a narrow escape from drowning, and lost their vessel, at Cowichan Gap the other day. The Lucy Jane was loaded with shells for Brackman & Ker, New Westminster, and met disaster early on the trip to her home port. She started with a westerly wind, but when about two miles from Shell Island this suddenly shifted and began to blow a small gale from the northeast, compelling her to seek shelter. She ran for the islands, but when close inshore, the wind again suddenly changed, coming with hurricane force, and as it was impossible to beat off shore, both anchors were let go. The sea, which got up rapidly, swept clean over the little craft, carrying awy her cabin, and she began to fill. Then the cables parted and she was swept on the rocks, wher the big seas soon broke her up.

Capt. McIlhenny and the boy lost everything but what they stood in. They were being well cared for by Mr. Allison, keeper of the light at Portier Pass, when the News' correspondent met them. Asked if he was going to give up his dangerous trade of shell gathering, Capt. McIlhenny said no; he would get another boat. He was sorry that the Lucy Jane was gone, but he would make the best of it, and hopes soon to be on the river again with a load of shells.

TARTARS ARE AT WAR.

Tiflis, June 17.—A telegram received today from Igdarie in the province of Erivan, says that the warfare between Tartars and Armenians is spreading with increasing violence. Troops and Cossacks have been sent from Tiflis.

TWO BANDS ENGAGED FOR TRAMWAY PICNIC

Music Galore Will Be Supplied When B. C. E. R. Employees Have Their Annual Outing.

Music galore will be supplied to the employees of the B. C. E. R. Co. when they go out on their annual picnic Wednesday, as the city band has now been engaged in addition to Leslie's musical organization. Both bands are in first class shape, the city band having been practicing every evening for several weeks. The class of music now being supplied by the city band is said by competent judges to be better than at any previous time in its history, and there is no doubt that it will surpass itself on the occasion of the tramway excursion. The programme for the sports was drawn up at a meeting on Saturday, and it includes several good races between the different branches connected with the shops and cars. The ledies are not neglected, and races for the gentler sex are being made a feature of the attractions this year. The prize list is both substantial and varied, and members of the sports' committee say that there will be no lack of entries in any class.

Chicago, June 17.—The steamer Henry H. Rogers was launched at South Chicago yesterday. Miss Marion H. Rogers, niece of the Standard Oil vice-president, broke the bottle of champagne on the bow of the craft. The Rogers is 600 feet long, with a carrying capacity of nearly 15,000 tons.

:-: A SUNDAY SERMON :-:

By Rev. T. Wardlaw Taylor, M.A., Ph. D.

Mark 9:24: "Lord I believe; help thou mine unbelief." Down from the Mount of Transfiguration, with its night of prayer and blessed communion and glorious vision, Jesus came into the morning of the cold and hard realities of his earthly mission. Although his face no longer shone with the heavenly splendor, its light glowed within his heart. In his ears still rang the approving voice of the Father. Strengthened, as by a mysterious sacrament, he entered upon the final stages of that long Via Dolorosa which led Him to the cross; and straightway found that the burden borne so long must be carried to the end. Still must his toil be given to half-hearted unbelief. "O faithless generation, how long shall I be with you? How long shall I suffer you?"

In all his teaching Christ insisted upon the necessity and power of faith. He taught his disciples to expect large results from faith in every department of life. Under the most diverse circumstances he demanded faith from men as the condition precedent of blessing. Is it the working of a miracle, the recovery from disease, the answer to a prayer, the forgiveness of sin, entrance into the kingdom, the demand is ever the same—faith. Touching the eyes of the blind, He cried: "According to your faith be it unto you." Astonished at the trust of the centurion, He said: "Go thy way; and as thou hast believed so be it done unto thee." Rejoicing in the humility of the Syrophenician, He answered, "O woman great is thy faith; be it unto thee even as thou wilt."

In our own day, many would ascribe virtue to any and every kind of faith. We have revolted against the conception of Christianity as a system of dogma. True faith is something more than the reception of doctrines and creeds. At the same time, however, it is also something more than religious confidence. If we are not warranted in demanding in the name of Christ that men believe the most possible, as little are we justified in seeking a minimum, and lending our support to those who are only willing to believe the least possible. In itself faith, or trust, or confidence, is neither right nor wrong. In itself it is simply natural. Whether it is resonable or unreasonable, wise or foolish, good or evil, depends upon its object. Is that object right or wrong? It makes the most momentous difference, for time and for eternity, in what we put our trust. There is a religious confidence which is evil. Such is the easy careless trust in the love of God entertained by the man who thinks lightly of his own sins. Such too is the faith of the man who relies on some experience of bygone years; a supposed conversion or a sacramental rite; and is content to live in sin. The faith which Christ accepts is faith in the truth.

It is the fashion to deprecrate doctrine. It is easy to declaim against the creeds of the churches, and it is as popular as it is easy. But no ingenuity of men can ever divorce truth and life; right living and right thinking. The doctrines of the churches are only the systematic statement of truths which have moulded the lives of men. Apart from their influences upon conduct they have no vitality. Everything which elevates life above the material and the sensual, above the love of pleasure and the most sordid worldliness, is contained in the perception of some truth. By the necessity of his intellectual nature man must systematize the truth. If he is intelligently to say what it is that has uplifted his life, he must formulate that truth, make it into doctrine. And if he would abandon ancient doctrines, he can only do it by putting in their place new doctrines of his own. But, while some form of doctrine is the result of the perception of truth, it does not follow that a saving faith must accept a whole system of truth. All that is necessary is a firm grasp upon enough truth to establish a living connection between a needy human soul and a loving Saviour.

It was in a heathen country, surrounded by ignorance and degradation, that Jesus met the father of the demoniac. Was he Jew or Gentile? We know not. All we know is that bitter cry of exceeding need, at once so ignorant and so helpless. "If thou canst do anything, have compassion upon us and help us." Jesus answered "If thou canst! what means that word 'if thou canst?' All things are possible to him that believeth. Straightway the father of the child cried out, "I believe; help thou mine unbelief." And the loving power of Jesus went forth to bless and save. The cry of that agonized father was not a prayer for blessing despite felt unbelief. Ignorant, doubting, he clung to Jesus and cast himself upon his mercy. He placed himself in the hands of Christ, and Christ accepted his feeble faith. And whether it is ignorant or enlightened, that is still the faith which saves. Christ accepts every sinful soul which commits itself to his redeeming power.

Men have varying capacities for faith and trust. Some believe easily untroubled by questionings and difficulties. Some must weigh and ponder every argument, sift and turn every possibility, and only reach their conclusion slowly and painfully. Some hold their opinions firmly, without doubts or fears, while others, burdened with the memory of past mistakes, or conscious of their own weakness, are easily shaken by the opinions of their fellowmen. The strength of any man's faith can not be judged by its outward manifestation. A faith beset by doubts and difficulties, a faith apparently weak and hesitating, simply because it is conscious of its own limitations, may yet be a stronger principle in life than a faith that has never known any doubts. How differently did Christ meet the faith of men. He never treated two exactly alike. How he tested and tried the disciples by the seaside. How he probed the faith of the Sidonian woman. How he broke down the self-sufficient courage of Peter. And yet with what tender patience he met the doubts of Thomas, and with what a loving condecension he answered the troubled cry of the father of the demoniac. Strong or weak, confident or hesitating, he took them all. There is joy and comfort for every man in the thought that Christ accepted all who were willing to trust themselves to His hands. He accepted their belief despite their unbelief.

Our Lord took men as he found them, but He did not leave them so. Confident or trembling, he so dealt with them that He might lead them out into the light of a full Christian experience. The minimum of faith may bring a man to Jesus and save his soul, but no man who is content with the least that he can believe has ever really met with Christ. As in the days of His earthly ministry Christ was never satisfied to leave men in an ignorant uninstructed faith. His mission in the human heart is still to teach and enlighten. If we will learn of Him He will lead us through all our doubts and difficulties into all truth. A firm persuasion of the truth of the gospel, a confident reliance on Christ, an assured hope of salvation, are within the reach of every Christian who will follow the guiding hand of His Saviour. To be content to rest in doubts, to regard as matters of indifference any department of Christian faith, is to be recreant to Him who is "the light which lighteneth every man." All the happiness and all the fruitfulness of the Christian life belong to the man who has won past his doubts to clear and definite conception of the truth in which he stands. The temper which would hold lightly the faith of the fathers is a weak and fruitless thing. That man alone is strong who holds firmly that which he believes to be the truth once delivered to the saints. Whatever may be the problems of our day or the difficulties of our own hearts, let us not be content with any vague and shadowy faith. Whatever our belief, let us cry "Help thou our unbelief" and He, who is the same yesterday, today and forever, will hear even as he heard of old.

GLEN VALLEY NOTES.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Mr. Brennan, of New Westminster, is in Glen Valley on a business trip.

Mrs. W. Knox was down in the village last week, and paid a short vist to Mrs. G. McKay.

C. Warren, opposite R. McDonald's estate, has men employed in clearing land. He has about five acres cleared, and intends to clear up the whole 160 acres this summer.

P. McMillan, who bought property here a few years ago, is making rapid progress on his place. He has one of the best farms in the district. He is now busy clearing land and expects to have about ten acres of new land ready for the plow next spring.

A. Kent, who rented Mr. Blackwell's place this spring, got his dyke finished last week. He is now putting in ten acres of fruit trees.

Andrew Bodalley, son of W. S. Bodalley, met an ugly customer last Friday. Going out after supper as usual, to bring home his calves, he saw one of them, as he supposed, behind a bush and strolling towards it, found himself up against a bear. The bear showed an intention to attack him, and probably would have done so had the lad run away, but he stood his ground and emitted a war-whoop that made the brute change its mind. Early next morning some hunters started on the bear's trail, but failed to find it.

HEARS CHAMBERLAIN IN BRITISH HOUSE

Returned Local Traveller Is Captivated by Imperial Joseph's Eloquence.

After a six months' absence, during which he has visited many of the principal cities of Europe, Mr. C. A. King returned to New Westminster last week, as he expressed it, "glad to be home again." In the course of his travels, Mr. King has visited England, France, Germany, Hungary and several of the other continental countries. He was in England at the time of the general elections, and he had the pleasure of hearing "Joe" Chamberlain speak in the house on the question of the exclusion of the Chinense from South Africa. Mr. King says that he is by far the best public speaker he has ever listened to.

After spending some time in England, Mr. King and two companions, Messrs. Collins and McAllister, of New York, who accompanied him throughout the tour, crossed the Channel and travelled to Paris, arriving there in time to witness a few of the riots that were in progress in connection with the separation of the church from the state. From Paris the party travelled to Germany, but owing to the pronounced Anglophobia prevalent in that country, they did not stay long, although they were always well treated by the authorities.

While at Buda Pest in Hungary, labor troubles broke out, and Mr. King saw a few real continental struggles between capital and labor. He describes the people of that country as being very ignorant, and says that the richer classes are little better than the laborers.

He returned to New York on June 10, having left Liverpool on the 1st, making the passage in nine days. Mr. King took part in the South African war, going out with the second Canadian detachment. He has travelled a great deal, and is making preparations for another tour through the states in about three weeks.

THAT FISH STORY.

The Colonist of Saturday had a "special" from Ottawa which concluded with the following paragraph:

"An order-in-council makes it unlawful to take sockeye salmon from the Fraser river, Gulf of Georgia and Juan de Fuca Strait between July 10, 1906, and August 25, 1906, and between July 10, 1906, and August 25, 1908."

Except that the third "1906" should be "1908" this is the order which was passed a year ago, and the first—the 1906 part of it—was repealed last November, at least so the papers said at the time. How it come to be printed in the Colonist as a special dispatch from Ottawa is a mystery; but it had the effect of creating some uneasiness in fishing circles here on Saturday.

The Columbian, with its usual reckless eagerness to make a point against the Ottawa government, instead of quietly pointing out that the dispatch was a self-evident blunder, printed a "scare" story under a four column heading, in which the statement is made that the old order in council is still in force. That is a mistake, so far as the part of it referring to this year is concerned; that, as stated, was repealed last November.

These campaigning sheets ought to confine their sensational inventions to political matters; commerce and business should not be interferred with.

AN INTELLIGENT CRITIC.

From a copy of the Rochester (Australia) Express which a friend has been good enough to hand us, we make a few extracts which will be read with interest. The article from which the "information" about Canada is taken was copied by the Express from another Australian paper, leading to the inference, as no comment is made, that the editor supposed it to be really information, and not what it is—mere lying. The speaker is an Australian who has paid a visit to this country. He says:

"Canada! Phew! Don't ask me about it. Give me Australia every time. The Canadian Government knows how to advertise. I saw immense piles of attractive literature and phamphlets, ready to be sent out to all parts of the world. When you get there the Government looks after you like a brother, takes you out to the land for almost next to nothing, and then wallops it on to you when you want to return, charging 5 cents (2½d) a mile for hundreds of miles. They more than get even with you there. Land! Why, when you take up a section they give you 160 acres of prairie land for nothing. If they gave me 1,160 acres tomorrow for nothing I wouldn't take it. I'd sooner have 1000 acres of Barooga than all the agricultural land in Canada. The Canadians generally are a frowsy, ignorant lot; perverse as pigs, and just about mentally as equal."

There is more of the same brand. A winter storm which the visitor experienced is described as showing the climate of Canada; an ignorant person who did not know that Australia is a British colony, is a fair sample of Canadian intelligence, and so forth. Then the talker attacks the loyalty of Canadians, admits a little improvement over Eastern conditions in the West, and (most appropriately) closes by "bumming" a drink from the reporter. These are the concluding sentences: "Generally speaking, the agriculturists of Canada are a hand to mouth lot; they are as poor in pocket as they are in intelligence. No, no more Canada for me. They are a disloyal lot, ready to secede to America tomorrow. The split-up will come some day. As you go west you find Chinamen in almost every domestic position, but towards Vancouver the people improve. There's money to be had in Vancouver, and I was not behind in getting hold of the 'almighty dollars.' But the cold filled me up. It's just as cold there as it is dry here at the present time. Our representative took the hint, and the interview (and the draught) ended."

It is said that wherever there is a poison, beneficent Nature supplies also the antidote. In this case, the Express supplies it in a leading article on the same page from which the above extracts are clipped. The subject is certain proposed land legislation. The price which the settler has to pay for his lands is so high that the ordinary man cannot meet it; for the first two years (the payments are spread over a number of years) the instalments mount up to "hundreds of pounds." In the proposed legisltaion the "main consideration is making it easy for the settler during the first year or two, when he has to establish a home and obtain a living from the land. If the seasons are at all adverse (and so far the present season has every appearance of being so), the task is a difficult one. The Act was framed for the purpose of assisting those people on to the land who cannot afford to obtain it under dearer conditions, to provide for them a title to as much of a competence as their energy or good fortune will permit. Already the settlers at Resdown, like other communities, have found the conditions heavy, and there has been some talk of moving." And the only possible remedy is to spread the payments over a longer time.

The country, we are told, has made a "huge outlay for irrigation and the acquisition of landed estates" and this will be a dead loss unless it can put people on the land and keep them there. It would therefore appear that, setting off Australia's droughts against Canada's winters, this country, with its free homesteads, is still to be preferred to Australia with its payments of hundreds of pounds per annum for land on which a living can be made, provided the seasons are not adverse. Nor should the manifest advantages of Canada be disregarded because it may be possible to find within its borders a person here and there who does not know that Australia is a British colony, or a reporter who is not awake to the necessity of inviting the passing stranger who entertains him with a traveler's yarn to "come and have something."

OPPOSITION TO HILL RAILWAYS.

The Ottawa Citizen prints a long interview with a conveniently anonymous "authority" on western matters, who bewails the effect of the building of the Hill railway lines in most doleful fashion. Here is a sample paragraph:

"Manitobans and British Columbians, who will profit by Mr. Hill's outlays, cannot be expected to judge the question dispassionately. They are good Canadians, none better; but it is hard to overcome the influence of matter over mind, of pocket over patriotism. Anyhow, a heavy responsibility rests on Ottawa Ministers and members in setting aside the national policy of keeping the West attached to the East and in allowing Mr. Hill, from the standpoint of transportation, to make the West a dependency of the United States. It does not require a prophet to see that, though encouraging him to enter the West and take possession of its carrying trade, we have not merely done serious injury to the interests of Eastern Canada, but paved the way for political changes that may result in reducing the Dominion to its original dimensions—Upper and Lower Canada and the seaboard Provinces. This is the supreme danger of the new situation, and I venture to predict that it will be soon upon us."

The Winnipeg Free Press quotes this and proceeds to deal with it as follows:

The utterer of this plaintive wail does well to speak behind the veil of anonymity as "a Westerner." Here in the West there are no Westerners to be found who take any stock in such talk as his. His anxiety lest Western Canada should secede from the Dominion will only provoke a smile in this part of Canada. The history of the attempt of the government of Sir John Macdonald a quarter of a century ago to coerce Manitoba into subjection to the C. P. R. monopoly shows that a sure way to bring about the "political changes" which the anonymous gentleman "ventures to predict" in the Ottawa Citizen would be for the East to attempt to make the West its vassal and tributary.

The right view for the East to take is the view expressed by the Montreal Herald, a Liberal newspaper. Says the Herald: "We have to accept the "condition and make the best of it. "We have to accept Mr. Hill, too, "since the west and he will have it so. "What we have to do is to make sure "that the cheapest path, as it is the "most direct, from the Canadian "prairies to the European market, will "be through Montreal and Quebec, St. "John and Halifax."

All the governments of British Columbia up to and including the Turner administration, which fell in 1898, were mere figureheads, having nothing more than a "perfunctory responsibility" and appear to have been principally concerned with "their egotistical opinions of themselves." The Semlin, Martin, Dunsmuir, and Prior governments cut fantastic capers before high heaven to a chorus of ridicule from "Canada and the British Empire." Then came the McBride government, bursting in a blinding flash of supreme genius upon an astonished world—or words to that effect. All of which valuable information we have acquired from the Nelson Canadian. The editor has mistaken his vocation; he should devote himself to the writing of history. Such talent as his is simply wasted in a newspaper office.

THE CITY BEAUTIFUL.

Editor Daily News: One of the surest indications of thrift and prosperity in a community is the effort on the part of its citizens to make their homes and surroundings beautiful. The well-painted house, the trimmed hedge, the neat flower beds and the well kept lawn are the indices on the part of the householders of a desire to make one place above all others what it should be, home, sweet home. It is to be regretted that the city council has made no effort to encourage and stimulate the growth of this praiseworthy sentiment, and has not only done in the past, but is at present doing, damage to the city that will take years and thousands of dollars to rectify. I allude to the excavations that are being made in different parts of the city. Take Eighth street for example. What could be more unsightly than the disfigurement made there? This was repeated over near the park, and adjoining the Columbian Hospital, and is now going on on Thirteenth street above Seventh avenue. It is simply disgraceful. If earth is wanted for filling in, why not cut down some of our numerous hills? Then, if the adjoining lots were terraced, no harm would be done and the streets would be improved.

What more naturally beautiful location could be had for a park and recreation ground than the crescent. But what is it? Muck and rubbish. The various school grounds are very little better. Speaking of schools brings up the subject of the proposed wing which is estimated to cost $10,000.

Abraham Lincoln once said: "No man is good enough to rule another except with that man's consent." That is not the opinion of our school trustees. They have carried out their plans so far and have asked for tenders without requesting in any way the consent or opinion of those who have to pay. No doubt they are doing what they are legally entitled to do but the citizens should ask speedily that the law be so amended that no work of this kind could be done without the consent of the people. Our laws must be very lax indeed to allow such power unrestricted in the hands of men who do not seem to care what the people want. It will be said "more school accommodation is wanted." That may be, but should all the accommodation be centralized? Would not he wants of the city be better served by having two or three school houses at, say $3,000 each, in the outlying parts of the city, than one in the central? Of course doing away with the wards was the first step towards centralization. It was a retrogade movement of at least 100 years and no city can afford a backward movement of that extent without being a sufferer. If they would centralize all the eyesores as well instead of scattering them all over the city, it would add much to the beauty of the place. How, I ask would any of the aldermen like one of those muckholes or eyesores adjoining his residence? I claim they have no right to inflict on another one in another part of the city that which they would not willingly accept for themselves. Trusting others will agitate these matters and try and have them rectified I am, sir, yours truly,

M. W. MINTHORNE.

N. W. Forrest, who recently renovated the interior of the Brunette Saw Mill company, has just contracted with the Fairview Lumber company for the whitewashing of their establishment in Vancouver. He will be leaving in a few days to commence the work.

There will be a meeting of the merchants of the city in the Board of Trade room tomorrow evening in connection witheir proposed picnic. All merchants interested are requested to be present, as important matters will be brought up for discussion.

The steamer Charmer arrived in port on Saturday evening from Victoria. A general cargo was brought in, consisting of sixty tons of cement and a large amount of merchandise, a part of which was consigned to Chilliwack.

That the oysters that were brought out from Prince Edward Island and other eastern points and planted on the British Columbia coast are thriving, was ascertained by Fisheries Inspector Taylor on his last voyage up the coast. In one spot the oysters were multiplying rapidly—a rare occurrence indeed, they being the first eastern oysters to multiply on the British Columbia coast.

Two carloads of pipes, which arrived on Friday from the Pacific Coast Pipe company of Vancouver, will be taken up to Harrison lake this morning by the steamer Beaver. There they will be put into use by the Canadian General Electric Power company of that place. The pipes are mostly a foot or two feet in diameter. Ten thousand feet of lumber will also be taken up the lake from the local mills.

Yesterday was observed as Rose Sunday at the Queen's Avenue Methodist church, and appropriate sermons were preached by Rev. W. H. Barraclough, who spoke to the children in the morning, and took for his evening subject "The Lessons to Be Drawn from Flowers." Many beautiful similes were presented to the congregation in the course of the sermon. Flowers were said to be emblems of purity, innocence and grace, and true symbols of a glorious resurrection.

Edward Cowperthwaite, the agent for a large English syndicate which purchased the Mallory copper mines a few weeks ago, has posted an application for 15,000 inches of water from West creek near Burrard inlet. The application was posted in the office of Water Commissioner Fisher yesterday. This seems to indicate that in a short time the syndicate will have its mines in operation by using water power from West creek.

A small fire broke out yesterday evening at the rear of the Burr Block, Columbia street, and the firemen of No. 1 hall were given a run to the scene of the outbreak. Some rubbish that had been accumulating for a long time had by some means caught fire, and an alarm was turned in. The hose and chemical wagons were quickly on the scene, and in a few minutes the fire was under control. The blaze burst out just after the church services were over, and a large crowd was soon on the spot.

The senior lacrosse game scheduled to take place on the 23rd inst. between the Maple Leafs and the Westminster lacrosse team is in danger of falling through, as the Leafs have asked to have it postponed until a later date. The local team has offered to play the game on July 7 instead, but the Vancouver team has a game on in Victoria on that date, and does not seem disposed to change. No doubt the Terminal City boys think that they stand a chance of winning in Victoria, while their finish here is a foregone conclusion.

Some time ago Frank Latham, steward of the steamer Ramona, reported to the police that his bicycle had been stolen. The missing wheel has now been recoverd and is at the police station awaiting the return of the owner. It appears that Mr. Latham left his wheel on the B. & K. wharf just before starting out on one of his trips, and on his return found it missing. In the meantime the wheel had been taken by mistake by some party, who, upon discovering his error, communicated with the police and handed the wheel over to them.

The ladies of the West End Methodist church held their annual lawn social at Moody park Friday evening, a large crowd attending in spite of the threating weather. Strawberries and cream, ice cream and the usual refreshments were sold by the ladies from a booth under the large shade trees which adorn the park. A long programme of sports entertained the crowd, a sack race being run by the boys which was won by Messrs. C. C. Adams and N. Newmen. The ladies' race was captured by Miss Annie and Miss Bessie Green. The pastor, Rev. A. J. Brace, who was clerk of the course, won the 100-yard dash. Altogether the social was a great success and the ladies went home tired and happy after their hard day's labor.

Plumbers and Plumbing Regulation By-law, 1906.

A By-law to license and regulate plumbers and to provide for the appointment of plumbing inspectors and to provide for the plumbing and drainage of buildings.

Whereas it is desirable and necessary to license and regulate plumbers in the City of New Westminster, and to provide for the appointment of plumbing inspector, and to provide for the effective plumbing and drainage of buildings;

Therefore the Municipal Council of the Corporation of the City of New Westminster enacts as follows:

1. The Council may from time to time, as occasion may require, appoint an Inspector for plumbing and any such Inspector shall be under the supervision of the Board of Health and be given renumeration for his services as the Council shall determine.

2. A Board of Plumbing Examiners shall be appointed annually by the Council. The Board shall be called together by the Plumbing Inspector, who shall be Secretary of the Board, at such times as the Council may find necessary.

3. In case any dispute arises under this By-law as to whether any person or persons employed by any licensed master plumber is a regularly educated practical and experienced plumber, as in this By-law is provided, the Plumbing Inspector may notify the said workman to appear and be examined before such Board of Examiners, whose decision as to the competency of such workman shall be final and conclusive.

4. Certificates of competency may be granted by the Board of Examiners to any plumber producing proof satisfactory to them that the applicant has undergone satisfactory training and due examination, and in absence of such proof to any applicant who shall after an examination before the said Board be considered by them to be competent, and such certificate shall be recorded in the office of the plumbing Inspector, the person receivng the same paying a fee of $1.00 therefor, and such plumber shall be a registered plumber of the city.

Provided that the Chairman of the Board may grant, on being satisfied with the competency of any journeyman plumber applying for the same, a temporary permit to such plumber for a period not exceeding thirty days, which permit shall confer on such plumber the same privilege for that period only as if he held a certificate from the Board of Examiners.

5. Under and immediately after the passage of this By-law, and in every ensuing year on or before the first day of July, any persons desiring to carry on business or trade as a master plumber within the City of New Westminster shall take out a license, which license shall be posted up in the office or shop of the master plumber at all times, for which he shall pay at the time of the issuing thereof a sum of $20.00. Except as hereinafter provided, any person may take out a license under the provisions of this By-law on behalf of a partnership, firm or company of which he may be a member.

6. No person shall receive such a license unless he has a place of business within the City of New Westminster, and furnishes a bond binding himself to the amount of $500.00 with at least two sureties in the sum of $250.00 each to the satisfaction of the Finance Committee, or a bond to the same amount from a guarantee company, that he will employ only registered plumbers who have received and hold a certificate of competency from the Board of Examiners to do all such plumbing work as he may engage to do, and whether he is a practical plumber himself or not, will not permit or allow any such work to be done in connection with the business except by such registered plumbers, and that he will not violate any of the terms and conditions, rules and regulations contained in this By-law, or in any other By-law which shall come into force from time to time in the City of New Westminster respecting plumbing, drainage, sanitary matters and water works within the said City.

7. Every person desiring such license shall file with the Inspector of Plumbing, a petition in writing giving name of applicant, and in the case of a partnership, the name of each member thereof, together with the place of business, and asking to become a licensed master plumber, and said petition shall be accompanied by the bond and fee hereinbefore mentioned.

8. Any change in firm or location of the business shall be promptly reported to the Plumbing Inspector, and the license shall be kept in a conspicuous place at the location of the business.

9. When any member of a partnership or company is licensed individually for the partnership or company, the license may be issued in the name of the firm, co-partnership or company, the said license setting out the names of the members of the firm, co-partnership or directors of the company and the date the license was granted, and no license so granted shall be transferable except with the permission of the Plumbing Inspector.

10. All licensed master plumbers shall be held responsible for all acts of their employees in connection with their business for which such bond and license is issued.

11. Every such bond and license shall be for the year current at the time of the granting thereof, and shall expire on the 15th day of January next succeeding the date of issue.

12. Upon satisfactory evidence furnished to the Plumbing Inspector that any master plumber has been twice convicted by the Police Magistrate, or a Justice of the Peace, of any violation of the provisions of this By-law, or any of the By-laws respecting plumbing, drainage, sanitary matters, or water works, his license shall be, ipso facto, forfeited and returned to the Inspector.

13. Any master plumber whose bonds and license may become forfeited shall not again be entitled to a license until the said declaration of forfeiture shall be revoked by the Plumbing Inspector and if such master plumber is carrying on his business in co-operation, or as a member of a company, the co-partnership or company shall not carry on the business of plumbing from the date of such cancellation.

14. Before proceeding to construct re-construct, alter or change any portion of the plumbing, drainage or ventilation of any building, the owner, his agent, or the master plumber constructing the same shall file in the office of the Plumbing Inspector an application for a permit therefor, and such application shall be accompanied with a specification or abstract thereof, in a blank form prescribed and supplied for that purpose by the Plumbing Inspector, stating the nature of work to be done, and giving the size, kinds and weights of all pipes, traps and fittings, together with a description of all closets and other fixtures, and a plan with a description of the locality sufficient for identification, and showing the drainage system complete. Plans must be legibly drawn in ink on a scale of 1-8 in. to the foot; provided, however, that this clause shall not apply to small repairs which do not alter the plan of the plumbing.

15. A permit shall be granted or refused within seven days from the time of filing of the application, and the permit of the Plumbing Inspector (if granted) shall be valid for six months from the date of issue.

16. If the Plumbing Inspector shall find that the said plans and specifications do not conform with the rules and requirements laid down in respect to plumbing and drainage in the By-laws of the City of New Westminster, he shall not issue any permit for the plumbing and drainage, and it shall be unlawful to proceed therewith.

17. After a plan or specification has once been approved no alteration or deviation from the same will be allowed, except with the written consent of the Plumbing Inspector.

18. From and after the passing of this By-law every owner, or agent of an owner, of any building, doing or causing to be done, any plumbing in such building shall, on the same being passed by the Plumbing Inspector be granted a certificate that such plumbing has been done in accordance with the City By-laws, and on being requested to do so shall deliver such certificate to any person proposing to purchase or occupy such building.

19. No part of any plumbing or drainage work shall be covered or concealed in any way until it has been examined and approved of by the Plumbing Inspector, to whom notice must be sent when the work is sufficiently advanced to be inspected, unless in the case of drainage below the surface of the ground, which the Inspector has failed to inspect within the five working hours next ensuing after being notified, then the ground may be filled in, in case of an emergency affecting the public safety.

20. All materials must be of good quality and free from defects and the work must be executed in a thorough and workmanlike manner.

21. The arrangement of soil and waste pipe must be as direct as possible.

22. The soil, waste and ventilating pipes and traps must, where practicable, be exposed to view for ready inspection at all times and for convenience in repairing. When necessarily placed within partitions or in recesses of walls, soil, waste and ventilating pipes must be covered with woodwork so fastened as to be readily removed. In no case shall they be so placed as to be absolutely inaccessible unless under written permission from the Plumbing Inspector.

23. When the ground is made or unsound the house sewer shall be of medium or standard cast-iron or brass pipe, with joints properly caulked with lead.

24. In sound ground, providing it is outside of the building, hard salt, glazed, vitrified pipe may be used; each length shall be wetted before being laid and the space completely filled with cement mortar, made in the proportion of two of good, clean, sharp sand and one of the best Portland cement, except in wet ground, when a gasket shall be placed around the spigot and forced down to the bottom of the socket and finished with mortar cement, as described above. Each pipe must be cleaned out with a mop after being laid. The different lengths must be laid in perfect line on the bottom and sides. All connections must be through "Y" junctions.

25. Any soil pipe passing through a building, or beneath the floor of a cellar or basement, shall be of cast-iron or brass as in section 23, and shall extend to at least five feet outside the building, and no wall shall be built leaning solidly upon the same.

26. Every vertical soil pipe shall be cast-iron or brass, and shall extend a sufficient height above the highest window, roof, or coping, or light shaft, to the satisfaction of the Plumbing Inspector.

27. No rain water down pipe, or chimney flue shall be used as a ventilator for any sewer trap, soil or waste pipe, or as a soil or waste pipe.

28. Each building in which a water closet is placed shall be provided with a main ventilating pipe of cast iron or wrought iron pipe, galvanized, of not less diameter than four inches, which shall be carried at least two feet above the highest window, opening or light shaft.

29. Soil or main ventilating pipes in an extension must be carried to and above the roof of the main building, when otherwise they would open within 40 feet of any openings of the main or adjoining house.

30. No soil pipe shall be less than four inches in diameter. A waste pipe receiving the discharge of five or more sinks shall not be less than three inches in diameter and shall have two-inch branches.

31. When lead pipe is used to connect fixtures with vertical soil or waste pipe, or to connect traps with main ventilators, it shall not be lighter than:

1¼ inches in diameter, 5¾ pounds per yard.

1½ inches in diameter, 7 pounds per yard.

2 inches in diameter, 8 pounds per yard.

2½ inches in diameter, 10½ pounds per yard.

3 inches in diameter, 13½ pounds per yard.

4 inches in diameter, 24 pounds per yard.

Trap vent pipes shall be of brass, lead, cast or galvanized wrought iron. All traps and fittings shall be equal in quality and thickness to the pipes to which they are attached.

32. All cast-iron pipes must be of the best clean grey metal, free from sand cracks, honeycomb, porous places, air holes, or other defects, and of the grade known as "Standard" which may be used below all fixtures, and for ventilating pipes the grade known as "Standard" of the heavy quality. In buildings over three stories in height the lower three stories must be fitted with the grade known as "medium." The following will be accepted:

Standards 2, 3, 4, 5, 6 inches in diameter.

Below fixtures 3, 4½, 6½, 8½, 10, 20 pounds per foot.

Above fixtures 3, 4½, 6½, pounds per foot.

Medium 5½, 9½, 13, 17, 20 pounds per foot.

All fittings used in connection with such pipes shall correspond in weight and quality. All such pipes and fittings to be coated inside and out with tar and asphaltum.

33. Before being accepted, all plumbing work shall be tested by water or other test approved by and made in the presence of the plumbing inspector. All defective material shall be removed and replaced, and bad workmanship made good, at the expense of the master plumber doing the work.

34. All joints in iron or brass sewer pipe, soil pipe, waste pipe and ventilators shall be made with a gasket of oakum, and lead, hand caulked, and be perfectly gas tight.

35. All connections of lead with iron or brass pipe shall be made with a brass ferrule of the same diameter of the lead pipe, put in a hub of the iron pipe and caulked with lead. The ferrule shall be connected with the lead pipe with a wiped joint. Vent and flush pipes of water closets shall be connected with brass couplings.

36. All connections of lead, waste and vent pipes shall be made with wiped joint.

37. All water closets, urinals, sinks, basins, wash-trays, baths, and all tubs or sets of tubs, adn hydrant waste pipes shall be separated and effectively trapped, except when a sink and washtubs immediately adjoin each other, in which case the waste pipe from the tubs may be connected with the inlet side of the sink traps. Urinal platforms if connected with the sewers must also be properly trapped, vented and automatically flushed with water from a supply tank.

38. Tanks shall be placed as near the fixtures as practicable, and in no case shall a trap be more than two feet from the fixture. All traps must have a cleaning out screw on the under side.

39. All waste pipes from fixtures other than water closets shall be provided at the outlet with strong metal stringers, and all sinks shall be provided with approved grease traps, except when such fixture is to be used for other than household purposes.

41. All traps shall be protected from syphonage by a ventilating pipe leading from the highest and outer portion of the trap, either separate or joining the main ventilating pipe, above the highest fixture, or by a sealed syphon preventer, which will only be allowed if in the opinion of the inspector it is impracticable to provide otherwise.

42. For traps in water closets the branch vetnilating pipe shall not be less than two inches in diameter, and not less than three inches for a building of three stories or more in height. Where a bath or basin, or both, are in the same room with a water closet, the vents for the same may join the closet vent above the fixture. In no case shall more than three water closets communicate with the same ventilating pipe unless it is over two inches in diameter.

43. Overflow pipes must discharge into the open air and may have a flap on the end to keep out draught.

44. Every safe under a wash basin, bath, urinal, water-closet or other urinal, water-closet or other other fixtures, shall be drained by a special pipe unconnected with a sewer, waste or soil pipe, discharging into the open air.

45. No drain pipes from refrigerators shall be directly connected with any soil pipe, waste or sewer.

46. Water-closets shall not be placed in an unventilated room or compartment. In every case there shall be an opening to the outer air. All water-closets shall be supplied with water from special tanks, and the water from these shall not be used for any other purposes. No water-closets shall be directly supplied from the water mains or service pipes. Water closet cisterns shall be fitted with ball taps, etc., to prevent waste.

47. Where the trap of a closet is above the floor, the connection with the soil pipe shall be made with brass and rubber approved floor flanges.

48. Overflow or discharge pipes from tanks for drinking water shall never be directly connected with any soil, vent, waste pipe or sewer.

49. No closet or any other convenience which allows the escape into the house of air or gas which has been confined in any part of it, or from the drain or soil pipe, or which allows the accumulation of filth in or about it, shall be fitted up or used.

50. All water pipes must be protected from injury or settling.

51. The plumbing inspector shall have the power to enter upon any premises and examine the plumbing, ventilation and drains, and should the same, in his opinion, be in an unsanitary condition, may notify the owner, or his agents, to have the same put in a sanitary condition, and any person neglecting to do so forthwith, to the satisfaction of the pumbing inspector shall be liable to the penalties of this by-law.

52. The plumbing inspector is also authorized to receive and place on file drawings and descriptions of the plumbing and drainage of buildings executed in the City of New Westminster, prior to the passage of this by-law, and examine and give a certificate, if in accordance with the provisions of this by-law, upon request by owners of said buildings.

GAMBLING BY MAIL.

Great Business Transacted by Betting Agencies in Holland.

Gambling by post within the last few years has attained enormous dimensions. With the advent of the flat racing season in England, the postoffices of towns in Holland, such as Middelburg and Flushing, which normally kept in stock sufficient stamps to supply a population of 20,000 persons, have to lay in sufficient to meet the requirements of 100,000. From this fact alone it will be apparent that gambling by post is profitable to the Dutch, even though it spells misery to thousands of foolish persons here.

It is about thirteen years, says the London Daily Mail, since the first betting agency was established in Holland. When turf commission agents after a few years sojourn at Calais and Boulonge were forbidden France they looked around for a fresh haven not too far from England and finally requested permission to transact their business in Holland. It was granted.

In August, 1892, one office was opened at Middelburg, and another firm also commenced at Flushing.

The Dutch themselves care little about betting, especially on races; and even racing itself has little hold upon them, the number of horse races during the year being comparatively few. It is not remarkable, therefore, that these new betting offices were looked at askance by the Dutch, and even now after they have been transacting affairs for thirteen years, the natives know little of the business that goes on.

Altogether there are some twelve firms in Middleburg and Flushing. One man has ninety people employed in his office, but this "business" is not confined to horse racing. One of the first betting agents to start work in Holland now employs from thirty to forty people purely for racing bets, and he has his own printing offices, which in the season are glutted with work.

The staff commences work at about 9 o'clock in the morning, and often continues until after 10 at night, the reason for this being the arrival of the evening mail at about 7 o'clock. This mail contains the thousands of letters and papers arriving at Flushing by the day boat for the betting men, and these letters are usually answered so as to catch the evening mail.

The number of letters received by one firm alone before a big race amounts to thousands a week. For some time previous to a race like the Cesarewitch a thousand and more letters arrive daily, all containing larger or smaller amounts of money.

The busiest days in the year are in the spring, the Sunday before the Lincolnshire handicap, and in the autumn the Tuesday before the Cesarewitch. Thousands of commissions for double and treble events are executed at the time of these races in connection with the Grand National in the spring and the Cambridge and the Duke of York stakes in the autumn.

The amount of money received is naturally a secret between the managers of the office and the proprietors, but in busy times it is certain that the amount is not less than $2,500 and often rises to $5,000 and more in a single day.

Firms that receive bets, or organise "gambles" other than those connected with the turf, have been known to receive altogether as many as 30,000 letters in a single day—practically all from England. The Saturday evening mail especially overwhelms the postoffice with letters, and all hands are requisitioned to sort them out. The sum of money received by these agencies, however, is not so striking as the number of letters. From a shilling to five shillings is the usual amount sent, while purely betting letters sent to other offices often contain $500 or more a time.

Enormous sums are spent by betting agencies on advertising their schemes. Two of the principal betting agencies each spend $10,000 a year on stamps alone, and their advertisements in papers and circulars in 1905 are said to have cost them between $15,000 and $25,000.

Will Stretch Cable.

The work of replacing the telephone cable across the river is to be begun tomorrow morning, and will be completed in a short time. The new cable will be considerably heavier than the old one, and will consist of eight pairs of wires instead of six. This increase is in view of possible extensions, and as the result of the increase of telephone users on the other side of the river. It is expected that the new cable will meet all demands for some time to come. The work of stringing the wires on the poles placed in position during the last two weeks will also be commenced this week, and the B. C. Cannery and the Industrial Cannery will be equipped with the new wires.

POUNDEKEPER TELLS A SAD TALE OF WOE

Complains That Duties Were Too Numerous and Pay Far Too Light.

Poundkeeper Murray, or Ex-Poundkeeper Murray, which ever is the more correct style of designation, has a double barrelled grievance; one barrel is aimed against the mayor and city officials; the other, and by far the more deadly, is levelled against the Daily Columbian. Mr. Murray called at the office of The News last night, and, in discussing the characteristics of the news published by the afternoon sheet, used language as picturesque as expressive. The paragraph to which he takes strongest objection, because of its very personal application, appeared on Saturday, and ran as follows:

"Poundkeeper Murray has handed his resignation to Chief McIntosh and the city will have to look for another cowcatcher. He gives no reason for the step, but it is understood that he thinks the job too strenuous. The corporation purchased a horse for Mr. Murray a short time ago to curtail his physical exertions, but still the poundkeeper is dissatisfied."

Now this, says Mr. Murray, is a pack of inaccuracies. In the first place, while it is true that he has resigned, his resignation went into the mayor and not to the chief; in the second place, he did not resign because his duties were too strenuous, but rather because he considered he had not been justly treated by the city. In the third place, the city had not been by any means bought a horse for him; it had merely purchased an animal for which he was himself to pay in the fall. Taken all in all, Mr. Murray considers that the Columbian's tale, to say the least, is slightly untrustworthy. As a proof of his contention that he has not been fairly treated, the ex-poundkeeper recites the following list of his duties:

1. To act as poundkeeper, and patrol the streets early in the morning and late at night, on duty from 4 a. m. to 10 p. m.
2. To report at the police station twice a day, being sworn in as a special constable.
3. To watch for bicyclists riding on the sidewalks.
4. To act as park constable on Sunday afternoons.
5. To watch for trees overhanging the sidewalks.
6. To pay for his own horse at the end of the pound season.
7. To draw $60 per month.

This, Mr. Murray thinks, is sufficient ground for nursing a very determined resentment against the city. He says moreover, that his resignation is final unless the city is prepared to come to his terms and make a more satisfactory arrangement concerning the scope of his duties and the rate of remuneration.

WHERE HENRIETTA SHINES.

Theatre patrons in this city will rejoice in the announcement that Henrietta Crossman will be seen at the Westminster opera house on June 20th, when she will present her latest New York hit and greatest success the sparkling modern comedy, "Mary, Mary, Quite Contrary." Of all the successes this famous actress has made and they are many and conspicuous—none has equalled her triumph in this comedy. No such praise was ever before bestowed upon her as has come from her portrayal of Mary in the comedy, "Mary, Mary Quite Contrary." The theatre-going public is familiar with Miss Crossman's delightful gifts and attainments. Those who have not already enjoyed her work have heard of it, so they know the charm it possesses. But in nothing Miss Crossman has done was she so fascinating, so alluring or was her winsome personality so engagingly exploited as in this modern comedy. Beyond all question in "Mary, Mary, Quite Contrary," she has scored the greatest hit of her many triumphs. It goes without saying that this actress will have an excellent company and the play will be beautifully staged. Miss Crossman never fails along these lines. Her name is synonomous with all that is highest and best in dramatic undertakings. Her visit will be justly regarded as a notable theatrical event of the season.

A SURE SIGN.

Montreal, June 17.—There is a rumor here that the papal representative in Washington is to be replaced, and that his successor will be the ablegate in Canada, Mgr. Sharretti. It was noticed at the Sacred Heart convent the other day that the ablegate had wonderfully improved his English and the supposition is that his excellency has had the Washington post in view.

INK SLINGERS AND COUNTER HOPPERS

Meet in First Struggle for Baseball Supremacy—Lineup Kept a Close Secret.

Several juniors played baseball in senior company for the first time in their lives last Saturday at the game which took place at Queen's Park between the Counter Bouncers and the Ink Slingers. There were a few members of each craft present among the motley gathering that assembled to watch the game, and these were pressed into service, as only the captain of each team appeared on the field prepared to play ball.

Small boys who were practicing lacrosse had their sticks taken away from them, and were ordered to face the pitcher. No lineup of the teams was available, and an analysis of the play carefully compiled by the reporter was snatched away before he could leave the grounds. The score was 12 runs to 2 in favor of the nine who slashed at the ball under Ryall's captaincy, and they would have made more runs had it not been that they were too tired to play. The captains of the contending teams say that in the future they will have all their men delivered on the ground by the express companies, so as to be sure that they will be on hand when wanted.

CIRCUS LEAVES A KANGAROO BEHIND

It Is Dead, However, and Soon Makes Its Presence Known to Human Olfactories.

The last trace of the circus disappeared on Saturday evening, when the city scavenger was called upon by the chief of police to collect and dispose of the carcas of a kangaroo which had been lying on Tipperary Square since Norris & Rowe said good-bye to New Westminster. The dead native of the antipodes had been a strong attraction for the small boy every day for some time, but within the last few days, the attraction became too pronounced to be pleasant, and the police were notified. The kangaroo has not got a pleasant odor at the best of times, but when one has been dead several days, it takes all of even a hardened scavenger's courage to approach the carcas.

WOMAN LECTURES ON LIQUOR EVILS

Fiery Denunciations of the Hideous Traffic Pour from the Lips of W. C. T. U. Representative.

Great interest has been taken among local temperance people in the visit here of Miss Emma J. Page, of Tacoma, who is lecturing in connection with the convention of the W. C. T. U. that takes place this week at the Queen's Avenue Methodist church, and the sacred edifice was comfortably filled last night on the occasion of her first address. Miss Page spoke after the evening sermon, and a majority of the large congregation remained to listen to her remarks.

Miss Page has been connected with the work of the W. C. T. U. for many years and in the course of her lecturing tours has visited eighteen states in America, and is now on her first visit to Canada, speaking last night for the first time in British Columbia. Recently she has been more actively connected with the Band of Mercy organizations, and juvenile work generally, but has again taken up the work of lecturing on behalf of the W. C. T. U.

In her opening remarks, Miss Page plunged immediately into her subject, and in the course of her forty-five minute speech, the liquor traffic came in for some very strong condemnation, and the apathy of a certain class of people in regard to it was severely criticised. Her discourse was pletnifully interspersed with anecdotes and stories tending to show the widespread ravages of the liquor traffic, frequent references to biblical allusions and texts, and was listened to throughout with rapt attention on the part of the audience. In part she said:

"Every heart needs to be aroused against this hellish business, and it is the aim of the W. C. T. U. that every woman in the land shall take an active part in suppressing the traffic. We shall not be satisfied until every saloon in the land shall have been closed, and to do this we must have the co-operation of every Christian man and woman of every denomination. In my opinion, if the liquor curse could be wiped off this continent, the churches would very soon have a far greater influence on the masses of the people. As long as there are fathers to turn into fiends, mothers to debauch, boys to send hellward, girls to degrade, and souls to sink into sin, just so long will it be necessary for all right thinking people to work together for the closing of the saloons.

"It is not enough to go up into the sanctuary Sunday after Sunday, join in the prayers and sing Psalms. This is not the kind of service that counts. The Lord says, 'Is it such a fast as this that I have chosen?' It was rather 'That ye loose the bonds of wickedness, and let the oppressed go free, and break every yoke.' That was God's command to which they should all hearken.

"There is nothing so deterrent to the work of the church as the liquor traffic. It is the greatest stumbling block. Business men and corporations are one in their denunciations of the liquor business, as they realize that nothing robs them of more profits than this curse, and in every business of reputable standing today, it is a recognized fact that the total abstainer will always get the preference, because he can always be depended upon at any time, while the drinking man is apt to fall at the critical moment.

"We must grapple with this tireless, remorseless, pitiless foe in real earnest. We must stamp out the saloon before we can hope to relieve the misery that exists all around us. The saloon is responsible for more crimes than even its most inveterate enemies can imagine. They are dragging girls down by the thousands every year, and this is being done openly, in supposedly Christian communities, where any other kind of crime would be immediately resented; yet this goes on day after day, and not a hand is raised against it by the citizens.

"The cry of the desperate, 'Oh, if the saloon were only closed, I might be a man again.' How often is this heard in every city and town. This cry of your poor oppressed brother, dragged down with this terrible craving for strong drink calls unto you for release. It calls for immediate action on your part, and it must be a concerted action. Boys are being snared in saloons by hundreds of thousands on this continent, and nothing is being done to stop it. The people look to the churches to stop this evil.

"The saloon men are amazed at your patience. A commercial traveller engaged in the liquor business, speaking of it to a friend some few days ago said: 'It is a hellish business, and I am surprised that the church people have stood for it so long. I detest the business, but as long as they allow the saloon to run, and there is money in it, I am going to make what I can out of it.'

"Right in this city, you are allowing sixteen saloons to run six days every week, putting temptation in the path of your children and husbands, when you know that by a concerted effort on your part, you could have them all closed at the next election, for, mark my word, the liquor traffic in British Columbia shall fall just as soon as you will unite against it."

At the close of the lecture, pledges were signed by those present. A collection was taken up on behalf of the W. C. T. U., and the meeting closed with singing and the benediction.
