ROUBLOUS TIMES THREATEN FRANCE

tter From the Papal See Requesting Priests to Disreg rd Government Orders May Result In Serious Clashes Between Rival Powers.

aris, Dec. 9. — France to-night s to face an alarming religious s. Reports of the pope's rejec- s. at the eleventh hour of the gov ent's final proffer, under which olic worship was to be continued r the common law, turned out to rue. The deadlock is now appar- complete. According to the s orders, declarations under the are prohibited, but the parish s must remain in their churches driven out by violence. The of confirmation of this communi- n had created a sensation both vernment and in Catholic circles. inal Lecot, archbishop of Bor- x, Archbishop Germain andothers advised compliance with the law, hastily instructed the parish s in their dioceses that their for- advice is null and void. To-day l the churches of Paris, bishops priests, after mass, read the let- om Cardinal Richard, archbishop is, communicating the directions of the holy see to the French clergy to "continue services in the churches, but to abstain from any declartions," and Cardinal Richards' own instructions, in view of the order issued by the prefect of the Seine yesterday, forbiding for the present the employment of ceremonial draperies at marriages or funerals. The church wardens, whose legal existence will expire next Tuesday, were thanked to-day from the pulpits of the various churches. Prayers were offered for the protection of God during the coming period of persecution. The government regards the action of the pontiff as little less than a summons of the French Catholics to open rebellion, as rendering the situation exceedingly grave, and possibly entailing the most deplorable consequences. Premier Clemenceau and M. Briand, minister of public worship, were in conference all day to-day. There is no sign of the government faltering, but it recognizes that it may be forced to resort to extreme measures.

With such an ous start, it should not be a t matter to ensure the pro- building becoming an accom- d fact within a month or two. e to-day is not to ask the coun- rect the building or donate a and or two dollars towards it, e to ensure such an endorsation undertaking as will warrant the in granting the institution ex- n from taxation, light and wa- s for a term of years, which is t has been asked to do.

As Bishop Ireland of the Roman Catholic church, not long ago remarked: "It has divested itself of sectarian purpose and color; its moral and social work among men is of great delight and undeniable value and it is deserving of universal sympathy and encouragement." Similar endorsation of the Y. M. C. A. work has been given by King Edward, President Roosevelt, the late President McKinley, Earl Grey, Lord Roberts and other noted men.

Ministerial Association.

A special meeting of the Ministerial association will be held in Queen's avenue Methodist church at 10 o'clock this morning for the purpose of discussing the question of moral reform in the city. The ministers have been working along this line for a considerable time, and they expect that after to-day they will have something tangible to lay before the public which will result in the commencement of the crusade against vice. The question of the advisability of changing the weekly prayer meeting night from Wednesday to Thursday will also be threshed out, and a decision one way or the other will be arrived at.

From Old Cariboo.

E. McGregor, who was a resident of this city twenty years ago, was once more in the city on Saturday. He has been for some years past at Cariboo, where he has been engaged in placer mining and has met with fair results of his labors. He recently sold out his claims and has come to the coast on a short visit before again investing and getting down to business. Mr. McGregor says that mining is the only line of work that appeals to him, and win or lose, he proposes staying with it in the hope of eventually striking something worth while.

Seriously Ill.

J. Berry came into the city on Saturday from Eureka, Cal., to look after his father, John Berry, who is ill with a combination of typhoid fever and pneumonia. The patient has been in the employ of the International Logging Co. for some time. He was taken sick and removed to the hospital, where he is now said to be improving slightly.

Worthy Cause.

The charitably disposed people of this city and Vancouver are requested to make donations of cast-off clothing, blankets, linens, etc., to the Indian hospital at Lytton, B.C. Goods may be sent to Mrs. Arthur Herring, Sixth street, who will undertake to forward them to Lytton. Toys and candies for the children's Christmas tree are also solicited.

Martin Monk and John Poingdestre were passengers to Seattle on Friday afternoon. It is rumored that Mr. Monk is figuring on purchasing a small cold storage plant in connection with his wholesale and retail fish business. They will visit Tacoma before returning.

THE BIG SHIPS

NEW YORK, Dec. 9.—In a special cable from London to-day the New York Herald has the following:

A plan is in contemplation to modify the existing boat-carrying arrangements in British warships. The change, it is said, will be made in the design of the new Dreadnaughts, already under way at Devonport and Portsmouth.

It has long been a complaint with naval men that the battleships and cruisers were lumbered with a number of boats that were never used at all. A modern warship is virtually unsinkable from stress of weather, owing to her numerous watertight compartments. Therefore she does not need these craft as a life-saving provision or for landing military. The 60-foot picket boat will be retained, as it is serviceable for torpedo attack, having a speed of 17 knots. The steam pinnace also will remain, for convenience of shore communication.

The great, bulky sailing cutters, which comparatively few blue jackets nowadays know how to handle under canvas, will certainly disappear. In this connection it is interesting to recall that the Spanish fleet came out of Santiago harbor with all their boats on board, and that several ships were set on fire in consequence, causing Admiral Cervera to declare boats on deck were a death trap to a warship going into action.

The keel plates of one new battleship of the Dreadnaught type have been laid at Portsmouth dockyard. Dreadnaught number two will be an improvement in many respects upon the existing Dreadnaught. It has been reported on good authority that her 12-inch guns will be increased in length, weight and power.

The guns of the first Dreadnaught were about 45 feet long and weighed 59 tons. The new ship will have guns slightly over 50 feet long and over 60 tons in weight, with a greater penetration than the Dreadnaught's weapons. In addition the anti-torpedo armament of small guns may be strengthened.

The size of the new ship will be between 18,000 and 19,000 tons, as against 17,800 tons of the first Dreadhaught. The speed will be about the same, and the ship will be fitted with turbine engines, four screws and two rudders.

She is one of the three battleships of this year's programme, of which the second is to be laid down shortly at Devonport, and the third is to be built by contract. The new ships should be in service early in 1909.

CRAZY MAN ESCAPES AND IS RECAPTURED

Steals Away, Boards a Train, and Enjoys Thirty-Six Hours' Freedom.

A constable arrived in the city on Saturday's delayed C.P.R. train in charge of a lunatic from Revelstoke, for incarceration in the local insane asylum. He took his charge to the Windsor hotel to feed him and await the opening of the asylum. While there, the constable was compelled to leave the man for a moment in order to get his coat, and at that moment the lunatic, with all the cunning of his class, quietly did the disappearing act. The train was just going out to the Junction at 8.30, and the runaway jumped on board and locked himself in the lavatory. There he stayed, in spite of the fact that the conductor tried the door several times. When the train was some distance past Millside, the conductor made up his mind that he was going to see what was behind the closed door, and applied his private key. The lunatic at once commenced to make most extravagant bows, and the conductor concluded that the man was drunk. As he had no ticket, the train was slowed down and the conductor put him off. The constable in the meantime had discovered that his charge had boarded the train, and in company with Detective Bradshaw, went in search of the runaway. They found that he was heading for Mission, where they caught him again without any difficulty, after he had been wandering for 36 hours. The constable who had the man in charge is said to be a most efficient officer, and has been performing similar duties for a number of years back, and this was the first time one of his charges had ever succeeded in giving him the slip. The lunatic is now safely housed in Dr. Doherty's villa.

The C.P.R. conductor has come in for a shore of criticism, as the lunatic was brought down on his train, and he knew him to be insane. The lunatic was noticed by the train crew on the return journey, near the place where he was put off the train.

The first Owl train from Vancouver on the G.N.R. passed over the Fraser river bridge early this morning, carrying a fair number of passengers, who found it more convenient to travel at night and sleep during the journey, than to leave here during the afternoon and arrive in Seattle at 10 or 11 o'clock at night. The empty train passed through on its way to Vancouver shortly after 7 o'clock last night, and left again for its distination at 11.55 p.m.

An executive meeting of the Local Council of Women will take place at 3 p.m. to-day in the board of trade room, city hall, when important business will be transacted. After the executive meeting is over, the regular monthly meeting of the same body will take place.

The Children's Aid society of New Westminster, incorporated in May last, has just been gazetted. The incorporators are R. C. McDonald, John McDonald, P. Feeney, M. A. Hayes, A. L. Lavery, D. Rabbit, A. Dontenwill, Helen Bowler.

DROWNING TRAGEDY ENDS SHOOTING TRIP

Canoe Manned By Two Young Lads Overturns at Woodward Slough—Seized With Cramp James Heay Drowns Before His Brother's Eyes.

Clinging to the bottom of an overturned canoe for several hours, watching the frantic efforts of his younger brother to maintain a hold on the one means of salvation from certain death, only to see him, seized with cramp, sink into the icy water and disappear from sight, and to be himself rescued by a passing fisherman when almost ready to die from exhaustion, was the awful experience of young Frank Heay, of 233 Sixth street.

Frank and his brother James, 15 and 13 years old respectively, went down the river with their father, who is the engineer on the Transfer, on Saturday, intending to spend the day shooting. The boys decided to hunt around Woodward's slough, and after leaving the Transfer, took a small 18-foot canoe and started out after ducks. While one of them was in the act of shooting at a flock of birds some distance away, the canoe overturned and both lads were thrown into the water. They managed to clamber on the bottom of the overturned craft, but the light canoe rolled under them, so that it was impossible for them to retain their position for any length of time, and several times they fell off into the river, but always managed to clamber back again. The boys shouted for help, but no one seemed to hear, and after a while, James, the younger of the two, was seized with cramp and fell off for the last time. His brother was too numbed with cold to render him any assistance, and he had the harrowing experience of watching his brother drown before his eyes. Frank managed to retain his hold on the canoe until a passing fisherman became aware of his perilous predicament, and came to his assistance. A search for the body of the missing lad failed to locate it, and the fisherman took the rescued boy over to his home and gave him every attention he needed.

Yesterday afternoon a telephone message was received here by Mr. Heay, this being the first intimation of the unfortunate accident that reached the city. The rescued lad returned to New Westminster yesterday evening and told his father the whole sad story. The search for the body of the drowned lad will be continued to-day by the fishermen of the district, and if it is recovered, it will be brought to this city for interment. Much sympathy is felt for the bereaved family. Mr. Heay is well known along the waterfront and among the river men, having been connected with the river steamers for many years past.

RANCHER TELLS STORY OF FERTILE AOOTSA

Great Future is Predicted for the Land of Lakes and Valleys.

J. L. Barker has arrived in the city from the Aootsa lake district, where he has invested in a ranch, and has spent the greater part of the past few years. His property is away inland 200 miles, and goods and supplies have to be portaged in from the sea board along the Bella Coula trail by means of pack horses. His property is close beside Chief McIntosh's, and Mr. Barker is enthusiastic over the country and its prospects. He and his partner spent all last winter on the ranch, and Mr. Barker says that they had a fine time. The weather was very dry and clear, and there was not a great amount of snow. They did quite a lot of trapping in the time not required in attending the stock. Caribou were plentiful, and they lived on caribou, bear and other wilde beasts of an eatable character all winter. They were the only white men around with the exception of one or two trappers, who did not make very much out of their season's work. One of the hunters had a fairly good stack of pelts by the time spring came, and he had them cached in his shanty. One day he went out to look after his traps, as usual, and when he returned he found that someone had vamoosed with the whole pile of pelts, not leaving him so much as a tail as a souvenir.

Besides their cattle, Mr. Barker and his chum have a band of sixteen packhorses, which enabled them to take in a big stock of supplies when they made a descent upon the realms of civilization. The trail is now blocked up for the season, and will not be reopened before the beginning of March. Grub was slightly expensive up there last winter, and $18 a hundredweight was asked for beans, and it was a favor to get flour at $7 a sack.

Mr. Barker states that the Aootsa country is an ideal one for stock raisers. The growth is most luxuriant, and the grass is a mixture of timothy and pea vine, and easily cuts on an average two and a half to three tons to the acre. The stock have to be fed for about three months in the year only, and even during that time there is a good deal of grazing for them on the sunny side of the slopes.

Mining is being carried on in an increasing measure each year, and the Talkwa mining claims are being developed, with excellent results, taking into consideration the scarcity of labor. Mr. Coppage, a mining expert, who was looking over the district during the past season, has stated that if the prospects for gold developed lower down as the top suggested they might do, Montana would be out of the running altogether as a mining proposition. The gold which was procurable on the surface was of a particularly rich character, and there was apparently lots of it.

Mr. Barker reiterates the statement which has been made by other prospectors in the Aootsa country, that there is absolutely no reliable map or chart of the district published, and the world in general has no idea of the country or what it is like. For instance, the map features Lake Aootsa and the smaller lake adjoining. Beyond Aootsa lake there is still another lake, larger than either, over 100 miles long, and which has not been explored in any practical manner. During the past season Mr. Barker was working with A. Collie, a surveyor from Victoria, who was working throughout the district, and therefore gathered a fair idea of the general lay of the land.

Mr. Barker is a boiler maker by trade, and is at the present time in the employ of the Vulcan Boiler works. In the spring he will return to the wilderness with a large band of cattle, which he expects will have swelled to a noble herd by the time the footsteps of civilization have so far advanced as to make fat stock a necessary and paying commodity.

To the Electors of the City of New Westminster:

Ladies and Gentlemen—Having been solicited by a large number of electors to run for the position of alderman for the city, at the election to be held on the 10th inst., I have, after due consideration, acceeded to their request, and solicit your support on that occasion. My platform is a short one, viz.;

A firm and impartial enforcement of the law and by-laws of the city. The conservation and utilization of the franchises of the city for the general benefit. Equal justice to the residents of all sections of the city in the general expenditure. As liberal an expenditure for educational purposes as the finances will allow. When a large expenditure for additional school accommodation is necessary, the convenience and necessities of all sections of the city to be considered, and impartial justice to all to be administered.

JOHN McNAB.

To the Electors of the City of New Westminster, B.C.:

Ladies and Gentlemen,—Having consented to allow myself to be nominated a candidate for Alderman in the coming election, I respectfully beg to solicit your votes and support, promising that if elected I shall to the best of my ability work for the best interests of the city.

I shall do my utmost to see that all classes of citizens, no matter what their occupation or in what part of the city they may reside, shall receive fair treatment as regards street and sidewalk and other improvements. In the matter of dealing with any of our franchises or water frontage, I shall insist that every citizen shall have an opportunity of expressing his or her views with reference to them. With respect to our by-laws, I shall use my best endeavors to have them enforced in an impartial and just way.

The matter of educational accommodation shall also receive my attention, and I shall assist in every reasonable way any effort for improvement, consistent with our financial ability.

I am strictly opposed to making a personal canvass for support, and therefore take this method of placing my position, with reference to these matters, before the electorate.

ENGINEER DROPS DEAD BESIDE HIS ENGINE

Newton Gillis Dies of Heart Failure on Board the Steamship Stranger.

Death once more visited the steam tug Stranger yesterday, and this time claimed the engineer, Newton Gillis, who entered upon his duties in that capacity only the day before. It is generally supposed that the engine stuck, and in pinching it over with the pinch bar, the lever swung over and struck him a slight blow, startling him. It is not considered that the blow was hard enough to hurt him. The shock however, affected his heart which was weak. Capt. Fenton gave the bell, and on receiving no response ran to the engine room to find Gillis lying upon the floor, stone dead.

The deceased was a single man, 38 years of age, and had been working along the river in various capacities for a great number of years. He was a first class cannery man and for the past few years has been in the employ of the St. Mungo Canning company, during the canning season. He has also filled the position of engineer and captain on the St. Mungo boats at various times. On Saturday last the regular engineer of the Stranger was sick and Capt. Fenton asked Gillis to go with him in order to help him out of a difficulty. Gillis said he did not want to go, as he was not feeling well, however to oblige the captain, he agreed to go into the engine room. They went up river on Saturday, and returned. Yesterday at 0, the boat was leaving port again, when the fatality occurred.

An inquest will in all probability be held on the remains to-day.

Not many weeks ago, Fred Hagan, who was acting as captain for E. B. Noble, who then owned the Stranger, was found dead in his bunk from heart failure.

Funeral of William Saxton.

The funeral of the late William Saxton, whose death at the Royal Columbian hospital was the result of an accident at the Small & Bucklin mills last week, took place yesterday afternoon in the Oddfellows' cemetery. Starting from Murchie's undertaking parlors, a large number of friends of the deceased followed the body to its last resting place. The services were conducted by Rev. J. S. Henderson. The pallbearers were all fellow-employes of the deceased, who had known him for a long time, and who thus paid a last tribute to his memory. A large number of floral emblems were laid on the coffin, including a splendid "Gates Ajar" tribute from the employes of the mill. Among other emblems received were the following: Wreaths, the Small & Bucklin Co., Mr. and Mrs. D. McDonald, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Todd, Mrs. E. Meiss and Mr. and Mrs. G. Wilson; sprays, Mr. and Mrs. Beveridge, Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Willard, E. Johnston, Mrs. F. Shaw and Mrs. J. Sutherland; anchor, J. Bacon and W. Hadden; heart, Messrs. McRae, House and Bacon.

TO-DAY'S WORK.

The Daily News has no "ticket." There are no burning questions; no issues upon which the electors are strongly divided. The choice of Aldermen turns upon the personal fitness of the various candidates for the position; and we do not feel that we have any mandate to pronounce upon that. Every ratepayer must settle the question for himself.

Yet there are one or two things which it may be useful to say. New Westminster is coming to its own. Compared with other places, its growth has been slow, but it has that quality which generally goes with slow growth—it is solid. There is no city on the continent which is more firmly established, or which has a more assured future.

This position is due in part to natural advantages of situation, and in part to good fortune, but for the rest to the avoidance of speculative policy and the preservation of the city's franchises. Many times New Westminster has been called "slow" and "sleepy," but the facts of to-day justify those who have steadily maintained that it would grow with the growth of the Province, keeping equal step with the progress of the times. It has not discounted the future.

To-day we elect a Council to manage its affairs for another year. Of those from whom the selection is to be made, let each ratepayer choose the men who, in his judgment, can best be trusted to pursue the same policy of sure advance which has placed the city where it is to-day. Each ballot should be marked with a view to securing the best available Council for New Westminster. It is not a question of personal favor—of liking or disliking. It is a question of the welfare of New Westminster; of the preservation of every advantage we possess, and the using of every sound and safe opportunity for advancement, the avoidance of all speculative and uncertain schemes, and the keeping of jealous guard against the encroachments of those who are on the watch—particularly in prosperous times—to exploit the public for their own advantage.

An up-country paper talks about the splendid abilities of Finance Minister Tatlow, which have enabled him "to decrease taxation, increase expenditure, and still pile up a surplus." And then it turns round and accuses another paper of lying!

Another rise in the price of lumber is predicted. It will soon be cheaper to use brick or cement for house construction, and the day of wooden sidewalks is nearly gone.

Mr. Hardman's Statement.

To the Editor of the Daily News:

Sir,—I wish to occupy a little space in your valuable paper to enable me to correct a wrong impression among the ratepayers in connection with my remarks in Friday night's public meeting, and the reference made thereto by his worship the mayor.

In the first place, I stated that the bargain made by the city council with the Dominion government for the electric lighting for the penitentiary was not a good one nor fair to the ratepayers, inasmuch as the government was getting electricity at the rate of 5c per kilowatt, whereas our own citizens and ratepayers are paying from 10c to 15c per kilowatt.

The reply of his worship the mayor to this statement was that the government was doing all their own wiring and furnishing their own meters and transformers, and in view of that consideration, a special price was made them.

Now, as a matter of fact, you all know that every ratepayer in the city

Pure salt is just as important as pure water or pure milk.
WINDSOR TABLE SALT

has to pay for the wiring of the building, and also have to pay the city a rental of so much per month for meters. The city gets the benefit of the rental, which in a few years must pay the cost of the meters, which then becomes a revenue producer.

I would therefore ask a question. Why should a government realize more favorable treatment at the city's hands than the ratepayers? I would also take up the question of the electric light plant which was owned by the city and operated by them up to the time of the agreement was made by the B. C. electric light system.

This plant, which was supposed to be doing sufficient service up to this time, represents a cost to the city of about $85,000. To-day we find that the machinery in the power house has been sold for about $7,000. The building and lot were offered in the list last month for sale at $8,000, making a total of $15,000 for building and plant, thus showing that the city has lost in connection with the electric light plant about $70,000, and I would ask the city council what they have to show for this net loss. I would also ask his worship the mayor upon what he bases his claim that the lot and buildings are worth $20,000, when it was upon the market for $8,000 within the last two months. I would also ask the mayor why the money received for machinery was not applied to the electric light debentures, but instead went into the general revenue. These are questions of vital importance to the ratepayers, and subjects which I wished to state to the ratepayers at the meeting on Friday night, but was not given sufficient time to do so.

Referring again to the deal which was made between the council and the Dominion government, I wish to point out that this was done privately, and not during any public session in open council, as far as I know.

As a candidate for 1907, I wish to say that I consider all public business should be discussed in open council, so that a full knowledge of the business transacted could be obtained.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for the space that you have kindly allowed me to occupy. I remain, yours truly,

ALF. HARDMAN.

New Westminster, Dec. 8.

Reply to "Ratepayer."

To the Editor of the Daily News:

Sir,—My attention has been called to a letter signed "Ratepayer," appearing in the Columbian of Dec. 8 inst., in which certain of my remarks at the recent civic public meeting are construed as being aimed at the city police. Had he said they were directed at the persons responsible for importing these outsiders at greatly increased salaries, who do not contribut a cent in taxes to the city, while our own taxpaying citizens, who have made New Westminster to-day what she is, are politely told to stand aside, he would have been much nearer the mark. That from 7,000 citizens we have not men with brains enough to fill our civic positions is the rebuke of those responsible for this state of affairs. As "Ratepayer" has opened up this subject, and appears anxious to stand godfather to the police, irrespective of his own interests, let us see what improvement they are to former ones

Last year it cost the city approximately $1,000 for the keep of prisoners at the provincial jail, as compared to less than $100 in former years, conditions in the city being practically the same. This year's cost will, no doubt, be something similar.

The indignation of our citizens at the manner in which the department has been conducted this past year should be a sufficient answer to "Ratepayer" as to the value of men's services.

Then we have that valuable asset, the detective—the chief's alter ego. One can scarcely see them apart on the streets. How easy to find funds for the payment of such a huge excuse!

But when our school trustees, the elected representatives of the people, appear before the city council with their estimates carefully prepared, asking for the necessary funds to provide proper school accommodation in order to protect the health of our children, and to supply all that is necessary for a thorough education of "Ratepayer's" children, if he has any, they are told, "No funds."

In conclusion, Mr. Editor, "Ratepayer" is causing himself much more concern about my election than I am. If he should lose as little sleep over it as I will, I can assure im he will rest soundly. Thanking you for space.

WELLINGTON MILLER.

New Westminster, Dec. 8.

There does not seem to be much doubt that the first bathing machine was seen at Margate and that it was the invention of a worthy Quaker named Beale, who placed his hopeful invention on the Margate beach in 1750. "The public are obliged to Benjamin Beale, one of the people called Quakers, for the invention," writes the author of "A Short Description of the Isle of Thanet," published in 1796. But it was the old story, the public became grateful after the inventor had been ruined by his enterprise. His successors had reaped the harvest. Old Benjamin Beale's widow could remember in her last days the first family that ever resorted to Margate for the purpose of bathing being carried into the sea in a covered cart. In 1803 Beale's machines were one of the institutions of Margate. It was alarmingly claimed for them that "they may be driven to any depth into the sea by careful guides."—T. P.'s London Week-

The First Teacups.

Even after tea was introduced into Europe and had come into general use teacups were scarce. At the same time coffee was introduced, but apart from Constantinople the first coffee cups in Europe date back only as far as 1645 in Venice, 1659 in Paris, 1652 in London and 1694 in Leipsic. From the first, however, the conventional oriental coffee cup, without stem or handle, was little used, and in Germany not at all. The Chinese teacup was used for tea, coffee and chocolate as well. Specimens of porcelain were undoubtedly introduced into Europe in the middle ages, yet not till the sixteenth century were cups imported from China in any great quantities, and even then it was as articles of vertu. Most of these found their way back to China again, as collecting porcelain is a lasting fad there, and high prices are paid for good specimens. The collection of Chinese porcelain, if only the genuine specimens are desired, requires immense study and knowledge, as the Chinese are skillful imitators and put numerous falsifications on the market.

Eating Fat.

Darwin relates that the Gauchos of the American pampas live for months on the fat meat of the oxen they watch over. The Eskimos can get along very well by eating from five pounds to six pounds a day of reindeer or seal's flesh so long as it is not too lean, but contains a due proportion of fat. Says the author of "Diet and Dietetics:" "Some men obliged to live a very fatiguing life, the trappers and hunters of the pampas of America and Siberian steppes, the inhabitants of very cold climates, the fishermen living on the banks of the frozen sea, can eat almost exclusively without suffering from it enormous quantities of meat or fish, but on two conditions—that the meat be accompanied by its fat and that the individual subjected to this diet lead a very active life in the open air."

A Remarkable Curiosity.

There is in Connaught, Ireland, a remarkable curiosity, which gives an example of official oversight. When the great famine of 1847 was upon the land the government of the day conceived the idea of opening a line of navigation from Galway to Ballina by way of Lough Corrib and Lough Mask, so as to avoid the dangers of the western coast. From Cong a canal was actually made to Lough Mask as part of the general scheme. The work gave a great deal of employment, and so far the canal served its purpose. But when it was completed it was found the canal would not hold water. The fact that the dock of the district is of a very porous character had been overlooked.

Rough on the Tortoise.

The tortoise is a great sleeper. One was a domestic pet in an English house, and when his time for hibernating came he selected a corner of the dim coal cellar for his winter quarters. A new cook was engaged soon after who knew nothing of tortoises. In a few months the tortoise woke up and sallied forth. Screams soon broke the kitchen's calm. On entering that department the lady of the house found the cook gazing in awestruck wonder and exclaiming as with unsteady hand she pointed to the tortoise, "My conscience, look at the stone which I've broken the coal wi' a' winter!"

The Game of Craps.

The game of "craps" is an old one. Is the word itself a corruption of the French "creps," a favorite game in the gambling halls of the Palais Royal in the eighteenth century? Bescherelle says it was a game played with dice and of English origin; that the name was sometimes written "krabs" and the word was spoken when one succeeded in throwing 2, 3, 11 or 12 at the first cast. English dictionaries shed little light on the subject, and we do not remember any allusion to the game in novels or plays of the eighteenth century.—Boston Herald.

Shetland Wool.

A curious historical legend is connected with Shetland wool. Over 300 years ago a man-of-war belonging to the Spanish armada was wrecked on one of the islands. The sailors who escaped taught the natives to make brilliant dyes from roots which they found, resembling those used for like purposes in Spain. Those persons who now wear bright Shetland knit "comforters" are unconsciously wearing mementos of the "invincible" armada.

Fruit Eating Is Healthful.

If people ate more fruit they would need less medicine and would have better health. Fruit eaten early in the morning on an empty stomach serves as a stimulant to the digestion, and apples and oranges eaten at any time in the day are good for biliousness. Stewed prunes and figs are also healthful at any time.

No Birch Rods Now.

"The road to knowledge nowadays," said the first old schoolmaster, "is too swift and too easy. It's a regular railroad."

"Yes," agreed the other old pedagogue, "and it's a railroad with fewer switches than are necessary."—Philadelphia Ledger.

Will He Make It?

A bull has forty rods to travel to reach a tramp, and the tramp has thirty-two rods to travel to reach the fence. If the bull travels one-fourth faster than the tramp, how close will the latter come to getting the grand holst?—Ottawa Free Press.

The man who is never quite sure, "thinks perhaps," "imagines," "guesses" or "presumes," is no man to trust. His foundations are built on sand.—Success.

When Bernhardt Was Fooled.

Sarah Bernhardt once fell victim to a sudden attack of homesickness while she was traveling in eastern Europe. She announced that she was going back to Paris immediately. Bucharest was the next city on the route and Bernhardt's impresario at once sent the following telegram to his advance agent, who was then in the Roumanian capital: "Wire me immediately as follows: 'Nobility and leaders society preparing magnificent reception. Minister of fine arts will be represented station. Torchlight procession, massed bands. Wire exact hour arrival.'" This telegram was duly sent and the impresario showed it to the actress, who forgot her homesickness in view of the magnificent reception awaiting her. When they arrived there were sixty solemn gentlemen in evening dress, with many decorations, on the platform, there were torches, flags and flowers, massed bands played the "Marseillaise" and the triumphal procession started for the hotel. "Are you not coming with us?" said the impresario to his advance agent, who showed signs of remaining at the station instead of going to the hotel. "No," he said. "I must look after the nobility and leaders of society. I am afraid they will bolt with their dress clothes." But the actress, so the story goes, never guessed that the sixty great men at the station were supers hired by the advance agent at 36 cents a head.

Life Saving at Fires.

If lives are in danger at a fire it is a universal rule that life saving takes precedence over fire fighting. If fire escapes are lacking or seriously obstructed all hands devote their entire energies to the work of rescuing by raising ladders, by forcing a passage through smoke filled hallways or by other emergency means. Life nets are spread and held ready for those who have not the nerve to wait for their rescuers. Life saving consumes valuable time which could be applied to advantage in fighting the flames, and the probable necessity for expending this time, governed as it is by many considerations, plays an important part in studies of underwriters. Occasionally pompier ladders or window scaling ladders are used in emergencies for making rescues. These furnish thrilling incidents for the newspapers, but are less efficient, slower and a great deal more dangerous both to the firemen and the rescued than the plain or extension ladders.—Insurance Engineering.

Honors are being stolen from me... of the great men of former days. Galilei was said to have discovered the law of isochronism of the pendulum while pursuing his studies at Pisa in 1581. Now we learn that the pendulum was used as a correct measure of time among the Arabs as far back as the year 1000.

In speaking of the play, "The Deacon," which was recently put on in the Phoenix opera house by local talent, the Phoenix Pioneer says: "Mr. Thornber's Deacon was enjoyed by everybody, more especially by the younger generation, who were present in goodly numbers and heartily cheered every appearance of their schoolmaster." Mr. Thornber is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Thornber, of this city, and has many friends here.

The last meeting of the Halcyon Whist club, which was held at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. F. Broad, Fourth street, proved to be a most enjoyable affair. There were sixteen members of the club present, and the first prize winners were Mr. E. D. Goulet and Miss Vass. Mr. L. Thornber and Mrs. Bagnall were successful in capturing second place. The next meeting of the club will be held on Monday evening, Dec. 17, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wells Gray.

When Buchanan Was King.

George Buchanan was a scholar, historian, controversialist and the best Latin poet of his age. Buchanan was tutor to Mary, queen of Scots, and to her son James, afterward James I. of England. One day he caused himself to be made king of Scotland, and this was the way of it: Having observed in James a tendency to too ready acquiescence, he drew up a paper for the royal pupil to sign. James did so at once without having read it. The document happened to be a transfer of the royal authority to Buchanan for fifteen days, and no sooner had the poet got it into his possession than he began to play the monarch, even before the king himself. James thought the man a lunatic until the instrument was produced by which he had signed away his sovereignty. This incident was used by the worthy preceptor to illustrate the day's lesson on the responsibilities of monarchs.
