ADAMS CONTRADICTS SIGNED STATEMENT

Says It Was Made Up By Detective McPartland and Harry Orchard and That Governor Gooding Obtained Signature By Threats.

Library Legislative Assembly SEP 11 1906 VICTORIA, B. C.

Boise, Idaho, Sept. 9.—"This is to certify that the statement that I signed was made by James McPartland, detective, and Harry Orchard, alias Tom Hogan. I signed it because I was threatened by Governor Gooding, saying I would be hung if I did not corroborate Orchard's story against the officers of the Western Federation of Miners.

(Signed) "STEPHEN ADAMS,
(Witness) "ANNIE ADAMS."

The above statement was delivered by the wife of Steve Adams to ex-Governor Morrison, one of his attorneys, yesterday and the reason given for writing the statement was that Adams feared something might happen to him the last night he was in the Idaho penitentiary and asked his wife to carry the message to his lawyers.

In the district court yesterday afternoon the attorney general filed the return of Warden Whitney to the writ of habeas corpus issued yesterday. The court held the return to be insufficient and directed the release of the prisoner.

As Adams received the congratulations of his lawyers and his wife, Sheriff Moseley again arrested him on a fugitive warrant charging him with the murder of Lyte Gregory in Denver on May 5, 1904.

Adams told the story of his experience since his arrest last February and if what he says is true, and most of it is confirmed by his wife and uncle, some of the officers of Idaho may find themselves in an uncomfortable predicament. He said:

"I was persuaded into admitting the truth of some of the statements made by Orchard in his confession made to McParland, first by the threats of the governor that there was a mob waiting to hang me in Colorado, where they would send me if I did not do as they demanded, and second because I was promised to go clear if I followed directions. After I had been in jail about three weeks Thiele, a Pinkerton detective, was sent to my place in Oregon and brought back my wife and children, confining them in the female ward of the penitentiary and where I was allowed to live part of the time.

"During the time my wife has been in the penitentiary we have been held and treated the same as convicts. Last Monday J. W. Lillard, an uncle, came to see me and I asked him to get me some lawyers who would secure my release. Yesterday afternoon I was called on by Mr. Hawley, the chief counsel for the prosecution. Hawley urged me not to see any lawyer and tried to induce me to sign a statement discharging the attorneys employed by my uncle. This I refused to do. After he left, the deputy warden had me taken to the cell formerly occupied by Bond, who was hanged three weeks ago, and after being stripped and searched, was locked up."

Mrs. Adams corroborated much of her husband's story. It is stated several sensational proceedings are soon to be brought in which several of the prominent officials of the state will be called on to explain some embarrassing actions on their part.

Pope Sees Gymnasts.

Rome, Sept. 9.—Pope Pius today received six hundred French gymnasts who are here to give an exhibition.

MASSACRE OF SOLDIERS AND POLICE.

Terrorists In Polish City Take Revenge on Men Who Murder People In the Name of the Law.

Sieldlce, Russian Poland, Sept. 9.—A massacre of soldiers and police began at 8 o'clock Saturday night. Immediately afterward the troops attacked the Jews.

All today the soldiers have attacked civilians, Christians or Jews, robbing and murdering them without discrimination.

Hundreds of persons were killed or wounded.

Three streets were devastated.

It is reported that drunken reservists started the massacre.

Troops have surrounded the city and refuse access to it.

Warsaw, Sept. 9.—Terrorists Saturday evening shot and killed two soldiers guarding a government alcohol store at Sieldlce. A detachment of infantry rushed up and fired a volley into the crowd, killing two persons and wounding two.

This morning the terrorists retaliated by beginning a massacre of policemen and soldiers patrolling the streets.

At noon the imperial troops attacked the Jewish quarters, destroying the houses and shops.

It is reported over one hundred persons were killed or wounded and that the town is in flames.

A regiment of infantry has been sent from Deile to Seidelce to restore order. The Jews here are panic stricken. Alarming reports are being circulated in the city.

Attack on British Vice-Consul.

Baku, Sept. 9.—Leslie Urquhart, the British vice consul here, who was decorated by King Edward for heroism in rescuing eight men isolated at Balakahana from Tartar insurgents during the massacres of 1905, was attacked last night in the centre of the city and miraculously escaped death.

He was fired at eight times at short range, his only injuries being six slight flesh wounds. The motive for the crime has not been established but it is believed to be a revolutionary act.

Girl Assassin to Die.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 9.—The sentence of death imposed upon Zenaide Konoplianikovo, the girl who assassinated General Min on August 26 at Peterhom, who was condemned on Saturday by court martial to be hanged, will be carried out on Monday night.

INSURGENTS FAIL TO CAPTURE TRAIN

American Captain With Two Machine Guns Does Effective Work for the Cuban Government—Insurgents Draw Near to City of Havana.

Havana, Sept. 9.—Men this evening who had arrived from Paso Real, related that the armored train which left Havana Friday and met with various obstructions beyond Herradura, had been thrown from the tracks, and its 300 men, machine guns, horses and equipment had been captured. These tales were confirmed by the Western Railroads first telegraphic advices from Paso Real, and were believed to be true until authoritative reports were wired by those who had returned to Paso Real from the scene. The facts of the case are that Col. Avalos, who was believed to be surrounded in Pinar del Rio city, and the armored train made a junction east of Consolacion del Sur and the government forces to that extent are improved. The news of this fact caused much relief in official circles.

The train proceeded Saturday evening from Paso Real to 12 miles east of Consolacion del Sur, where the rails had been removed and deplaced a locomotive and three cars which had been thrown from the track. The insurgents attacked but were driven off by the use of the two machine guns handled by the American captain Webster. It is believed that many insurgents were killed, but the number is not known.

Meanwhile a large portion of Col. Avalos' force had come eastward from Pinar del Rio, for the purpose of making a junction with the machine guns corps. At Consolacion del Sur their advance was disputed by a large band of insurgents, and a lively fight ensued. The insurgents were driven off and several of them were killed or wounded. Avalos and his men continued their journey eastward this morning, and made a junction fight with the cavalry force of Capt. Ravenna, which is scouting ahead, and finally with the disabled troop train. The train has not been moved since the junction was effected, but the bridge over Santa Clara river eastward from the train was blown up today, together with two smaller ones, preventing the use of the road beyond Herradura.

As the bridges westward near Puerta Gol have also been destroyed, no trains can operate from Pinar del Rio city in either direction. Both the railroad and the telegraph line continue in use to Paso Real.

Captain Levela, one lieutenant and four privates wounded, are the only casualties reported in the Consolacion del Sur operations. There is some alarm in Havana on account of the nearness to the city of several hundred insurgents belonging to the forces of Ambert, Loynaz and Castillo, some of whom are often seen in the hills at Jesus del Monto in the southern extremity of the city. Intimations received from the bands are to the effect that they are merely waiting the outcome of the peace negotiations.

Practically all the insurgents in the provinces of Havana and Santa Clara have ceased operations for the present, in accordance with the tentative agreement with the peace commissioners.

The fourth week of the rebellion opens with the government forces better equipped and improved in discipline, but enlistments are slow.

The veterans peace committee continues hopeful of being able to persuade Pino Guerra to cease activities temporarily, but the attitude of the leading Liberals continues to perclude hopes of an immediate peace. At the Veterans' meeting today, a resolution was adopted that all peaceful means be used to stop the war, and crush it by force.

Meanwhile intervention by the United States is being discussed on all sides. Many Cubans who hitherto were not favorable to intervention now believe that it will be the only means of placing Cuba permanently in her rightful position.

A fight is reported to have taken place at Guanajay in Santa Clara province. There were fierce machete charges, and the rebels retired. Several of them were wounded and a number taken prisoners.

Paso Real, Cuba, Sept. 9.—The government troop train which left Havana Friday, jumped the track 2 1-2 miles east of Consolacion del Sur. The train was surrounded by several hundred insurgents commanded by Pino Guerra in person, and sustained a fire all Saturday night until 9 o'clock this morning. The train would have been recaptured but for the timely arrival of Col. Avalos and 40 men who had fought their way through from Consolacion del Sur. When this force arrived the revolutionists retired westward after having destroyed the bridge over the Santa Clara river and some culverts and cutting the wires near Herradura. The revlutionists are camped tonight at Arroy Cruz, west of Consolacion del Sur. Guerras' force at Consolacion del Sur and in that neighborhood numbers 2,000 men and those of the government 800. The government forces had one man killed and six wounded including Captain Ravenna who was slightly wounded. Previous to the fighting yesterday Pin Guerra sent a note to Capt. Diaz demanding his surrender. Diaz replied that he would die first.

The engagement between Col. Avalos and the insurgents near Consolacion del Sur lasted an hour. In both these fights Pino Guerra carried away dead and wounded. The troops will proceed westward tomorrow.

Ships Get Quickly Away.

New York, Sept. 9.—The Cuban Government steamer Maria Hererra, which has been loading arms and ammunition at the foot of 42nd street, South Brooklyn, this week, sailed unexpectedly yesterday, as it is supposed, for Havana. Acording to Acting Consul Antonio Atlermra, she was to ship 100 tons of arms, equipment and other munitions of war. At noon yesterday scarcely one fourth of her cargo had been put on board. It was rumored that the sudden sailing of the vessel was due to a despatch from the government in Havana, who fear that the rebels will make an attack on the town.

Kaiser Plays at War.

Liegnitz, Prussia, Sept. 9.—Two armies, each of about 40,000 began tonight to work out a theoretic problem of war under the personal supervision of Emperor William.

A state of war began this morning and troops are detraining over this region.

The blue army, under Gen. Von Lindequist, is coming from the north to engage the red forces, commanded by General Von Woyrich, who are lying somewhere between here and the Austrian frontier. The emperor with his numerous forces is spending the night at Breslau, and will start for the field of manoeuvres early tomorrow morning.

WOOSTER GOES CRAZY AND COMMITS SUICIDE

Prominent Business Man of Chicago Cut His Throat With a Razor.

Chicago, Sept. 9.—Clarence K. Wooster, vice-president of the Peoples' Gas Light and Coke company, and prominent in club and social circles, committed suicide today at his home, 500 Ellis avenue, by cutting his throat with a razor. Mr. Wooster is supposed to have been insane when he killed himself. About three weeks ago he suffered from heat prostration and during the last few days he had been under the special care of physicians.

This morning he entered his bathroom and a moment later his valet who had been instructed to keep watch over him, heard him fall. When the valet opened the bathroom door, he found Mr. Wooster lying on the floor dying, with a deep gash in the throat, and a razor lying at his side.

ENRAGED HUSBAND ATTEMPTS MURDER

Bursts Into Room Where His Wife Is With Another Man and Uses Knife.

Pittsburg, Sept. 9.—Lawrence B. Cook, member of the Pennsylvania legislature from the fourth district, who was nominated by the Republican party yesterday, today was perhaps fatally stabbed by Andrew McMillan, a justice of the peace and one of the wealthy residents of Carnegie. Cook, who became famous, during the legislature, for being the author of the Greater Pittsburg bill, met Mrs. McMillan on the street and the two went to a house in Lawn street. While they were in the room McMillan burst open the door and engaged in a struggle with Cook. During the battle Cook was stabbed a number of times and is now in a critical condition in the Mercy hospital, while McMillan is in the Oakland police station, held without bail.

DIRECTORS DECIDE TO STAND THE LOSS

Will Subscribe Over Three Million Dollars to Repair the Wreck of the Real Estate Trust Company of Philadelphia.

Philadelphia, Sept. 9.—All of the directors of the Real Estate Trust company which was wrecked by its president, Frank K. Hipple, who subsequently committed suicide, principally through heavy loans made to Adolph Segal, a promoter, on flimsy collateral, have agreed to Receiver Earle's plan for re-organising the company. Today Mr. Earle received a telegram from Mr. Mitchell, the only member of the board who is away from the city, agreeing to the proposition that the directors contribute the amount deemed necessary by the receiver. Mr. Mitchell expressed his willingness to bear his portion of the burden. The other directors had previously assented to the plan.

Receiver Earle spent today working on the details of his proposition. He hopes to be able to present it to the directors tomorrow. He also expects to call a general meeting of stockholders and depositors, in order to thoroughly acquaint them wtih his purpose.

The loans to Segal made by President Hipple aggregate more than $5,000,000. Securities are believed to be worth about $2,000,000. Consequently the directors will subscribe something more than $3,000,000. Mr. Earle emphatically denied published statements that he advocated certain men for the office of president of the reorganised company.

A statement issued tonight by Rev. Dr. Roberts, clerk of the general assembly of the Presbyterian church, announced that besides the $30,000 in trust funds of the trustees of the church which were lost by the company's collapse, deposits amounting to about $130,000 are involved.

Death Valley Miner Holds Up Passengers

Fresno, Cal., Sept. 8.—Walter Scott, the Death Valley miner, held up twenty-eight men with a Colt revolver in the buffet smoker on the southbound "Owl" last night, shortly before reaching Fresno. He claimed that he had been insulted by three of the men in the car and when he reached Fresno he left the train, forfeiting his ticket to Los Angeles and declaring that if he remained on board honor would compel him to kill the men who had insulted him.

According to "Scotty's" story, he was spending money with a lavish hand, buying drinks for everybody in the car. He was not known, but the manner in which he was spending his money started a conversation about "Scotty," and the three men who afterward told him that they were three New York bankers, asserted that "Scotty" was a thief and a "fourflusher."

Scott took up his own defense. One of the men made a movement toward his hip pocket and Scott drew his revolver and compelled every man in the car to put up his hands over his head. Then he told them who he was, flourishing his wad of bills and offered to bet any amount that the men who said he was a thief were liars. The conductor of the train partially pacified him, but Scott was still in a hot temper when he got off the train at Fresno.

A story told by one of his fellow passengers is that "Scotty" attempted to break in upon the private conversation of the three passengers, who resented his intrusion. A quarrel ensued and Scott finally whipped out a big revolver and compelled everybody in the car to hold up their hands while he heaped verbal abuse on the men with whom he had quarreled.

EASTERN MEN AFRAID OF WESTERN UNIONS

Believe Trades and Labor Men of This Country Are All for Socialism.

Montreal, Sept. 9.—Alphonse Verville, M. P. of Plumber's Union, J. E. C. Tardiff, president of Montreal Trades and Labor council; Gustave France, of Jacques Cartier Typographical Union, and A. Anderson, of the Amalgamated Society of Carpenters, left last night for Victoria, B. C., to attend the coming convention of the Trades Unions of Canada. The labor men were given a send-off at the station. It is feared that the western men will make a united effort to commit the congress to the principles of Socialism. The Montreal men will fight for pure and simple trade unionism.

GAS WORKS EMPLOYES ARE SEVERLY BURNED

Sudden Rush of Flame Envelops Fourteen Men While They Are at Work.

Toronto, Sept. 9.—Fourteen employees of the Consumer's Gas company were severely burned at the works today. Men were engaged in raising the massive lid of a purifier box when there was a sudden rush of flame which enveloped all those engaged in the task. The box had become overcharged with gas. James Fargetier, machinist, who was examining the box at the time, had a marvellous escape, getting off with inhaling some of the flame. Other victims were burned about the face, neck or lower parts of the arms which were exposed to the sweep of the flames.

AMERICAN OARSMEN OFFER NO EXCUSES

Candidly Admit That the Cambridge Crew Was too Strong for Them.

London, Sept. 9.—While keenly disappointed at their failure to defeat the Cambridge crew, the Harvard oarsmen are offering no excuse. England's crack university crew, Captain Filley and men, candidly admit was too strong for them. The Americans rowed their best, took advantage of every lesson they had learned since reaching England, and did not lose hope until Cambridge crossed the line; their only wish now is to have an opportunity of meeting the wearers of the light blue in American waters.

The race is being discussed everywhere, and the opinions as to the cause of defeat of the Americans are as diversified as are the views expressed.

The Harvard men are devoting their last week in England to pleasure. They paid a visit today to Emanuel college, Cambridge, where John Harvard was educated.

SPREADS KNOWLEDGE ABOUT CONSUMPTION

Rev. Dr. Moore of Ottawa Tells of the Good Work He Is Engaged In.

For three years and a half, Rev. Dr. Moore of Ottawa stated in an interview, he has been travelling and lecturing in the interests of the Canadian association for the prevention of consumption. During that time he had covered the whole of the Maritime provinces, part of Quebec and part of Ontario. He had also circulated 2,500,000 of the little booklets on "How to Prevent Consumption." His plan of work is to secure a voters list in the own or city which he visits, and with its aid he sends through the mail copies of the booklet to the people. As a result he has received many intimations that the scheme has resulted in much benefit to sufferers, and a more intelligent course of action on the part of the friends of the afflicted ones.

In addition to addressing the citizens, the doctor aims wherever possible, to address the pupils in the higher grades of the public schools and the students in the colleges.

The doctor has experienced general sympathy, and ready support almost wherever he went. The clergy, the medical fraternity, and all people in public positions were very ready with their aid and approval. Of the press, he could without appearing to flatter, not speak too highly. It was almost without exception, ready to place the matter before the public in the form of announcements of lectures or by means of reports of lectures, thus enabling him to reach thousands who would otherwise possibly remain in ignorance of the work he was engaged in.

On leaving the coast, Doctor Moore's programme called for visits in the interests of his society to Revelstoke, Rossland, Cranbrook, Ashcroft and Fernie. After that other points would be arranged for, before returning to his work in the east.

Humor and Philosophy

By DUNCAN M. SMITH

PERT PARAGRAPHS.

Contracting debt expands your indebtedness.

An excellent way to keep your friends from becoming too much attached to you is to freely criticise them for their own good.

Modern preachers ought to learn to give merely an indeterminate sentence of matrimony.

Some people do not live beyond their means because the grocers are on to them.

A brand of prosperity that the unfortunate would feel is the kind that most people are interested in.

They are never bothered with the tipping system on the frontier.

There are people so disagreeable that they find harmony only in discord.

The money that you haven't got is the only kind that is tainted.

A genius is an abnormal man who works at it and is glad of it.

Just a Dream.

I dreamed one night that black was white,
That fishes grew on trees,
That fast was slow, that high was low,
That elbow joints were knees;
That that steak was coffee cake,
I dreamed ices were ice cream,
That noodles fat, that this was that—
That lean was a dream?
Say, wasn't that

I dreamed that eggs had wooden legs,
That sauerkraut was sweet,
That whistles rang and maidens sang
A ditty with their feet,
That trees could walk and spoons could talk
And no one lost their bets,
That pains and aches and rattlesnakes
Were really household pets.

I dreamed that mice gave good advice
To all who came to buy
And that the bill was less than nil
And likewise twice as high,
That womankind was quite resigned
To one cheap dress a year
And that the moon came up at noon
And wigwagged with its ear.

I hold that dream in high esteem.
Still be it understood
I only dreamed I dreamed that dream,
But that is quite as good,
For it's the kind I have in mind
Stored underneath my hat
Should ever I feel called upon
To dream a dream like that.

Without a Guide.

"I think man should follow the dictates of his conscience."

"That is the trouble. Most of us lay our conscience aside when the assessor calls and then go away and forget where we put it."

Stranger Than Fiction.

A woman has just died in New York at the modest age of 105 who has lived for many years on a diet of bread and milk.

One by one are our pet superstitions shattered until we rather expect it, but this is a case that is almost beyond believing.

Our regulation woman who lives to the age of 105 or even 117 has put in the larger part of her last half century in paying attention to a clay pipe and the kind of tobacco they grow in the hills. Sometimes, too, she has been in the habit of taking an occasional nip at something from a bottle, but this, however, is not necessary. In the case of a man we sort of expect it, though.

If many more cases of this kind show up it will shatter the notion that the good die young and incidentally will deprive our prospective centenarians of lots of fun.

Locating Them.

"He loves to sit alone at night and listen to the music of the spheres."

"The Spheres, eh? I never heard of them. I suppose that is the name of some musical family that lives next door."

Self Preservation.

"Which do you think is the most valuable of our senses?"

"Touch, cultivated till it is so sensitive that you can tell beforehand that you are about to experience it."

Happy Days.

"Having the best time I ever had in my life now."

"Why, what has happened?"

"All the bill collectors are off on a vacation."

Her Reason.

"She's a very enthusiastic girl."

"Yes; she considers effervescence appropriate to her type."

THE KING.

The Governor-general did but echo the sentiment of civilized humanity when he said, replying to an address at Nelson the other day, that "the people of all lands now know and recognize all that has been done by King Edward in the cause of the world's peace. King Edward is, in fact, not only the peacemaker but the peacekeeper of the world, and that circumstance has rightfully endeared him to the hearts of British citizens all the world over.'

It is interesting to look back now to the prophescies that were made twenty years ago that the line of British sovereigns would end with Queen Victoria. The esteem in which the queen is held, said the wise ones, will prevent any movement in her time; but after her, the republic. Who talks of a republic now? Not only has Edward the Peacemaker won for himself a place of lasting honor on the world's scroll of fame, but he has demonstrated the fact that the British form of monarchichal government furnishes greater guarantee of assured freedom and honorable progress in strength and influence, than any other form of government which the wit of man has devised.

When you want BLACK silk, you don't say "a spool of silk." When you want Windsor Table Salt, say so—"WINDSOR."

THE LABOR DELEGATE.

J. Ramsay Macdonald, M. P., whip of the Labor party in the British House of Commons whose sailing from the old country on a round-the-world trip was chronicled in the Daily News some weeks ago, is due to arrive in the province this week. He was at Winnipeg on Labor day, and while there talked about his trip and its objects to a reporter. His object is, in a word, to get posted. What he can do to promote harmony and good understanding among the labor parties throughout the empire, he will do; but his own words are that he comes rather to get advice than to give it. That he has been taking notes and forming conclusions is evident from the following sentence in the Winnipeg interview: "There is very little democracy in the United States. There is plutocracy, the political machinery, the independent executive. In our constitution there is plenty of democracy; the will of the people is supreme. Our government is democratic to the finger tips, and more wholesome than that of the United States. In the United States the tactics of the advanced party should be looked upon as a revolutionary party. The same in Germany, with a reichstag that expects only what the Emperor gives. In England; we have gone beyond the Marxian stage. We don't believe in class war or economical determinism. We believe in taking hold of society, and gradually altering its constitution. For instance, we want to reform taxation, so that unearned property will go largely to the state."

A month ago, the ancient Court of Love had its annual session at Dunmow for the awarding of the historic flitch of bacon. There were as a matter of fact, two flitches, duly represented by counsel, as defendants; and there were two couples to claim them, as plaintiffs. They had a judge, too, and a jury (six maidens and six bachelors), and there was a lot of fun. The judge made bad puns; the counsel for the defence was severe in his cross-examination, and one of the plaintiffs proved to be mistress of repartee. But the reporter fears that the ancient glories of the occasion are passing; he complains that it was vulgarised by the addition of a baby show and various others attractions, which robbed the occasion of its old-world flavor.

We learn from an exchange that "three miles of steel steamers are under construction at the shipyards of the great lakes." The count used to be made by tonnage, and the plan of measuring them up, like so many yards of ribbon, seems a little odd; but the length of a boat is the first thing mentioned as a rule in these days. Eight of the new vessels are to be 600 or a trifle over 600 feet in length, with cargo capacity of 12,000 tons. The fact that "three miles" of such are building at a cost of over $11,000,000, gives one an idea of the immense traffic of the inland seas.

In view of their latest achievements it looks as if those high priced lacrosse players who make up the Vancouver senior twelve will be worth about 20 cents as an attraction at the big exhibition. Something like $1500 is what they thought they were worth earlier in the season.

Fall Millinery Opening

TAKES PLACE ON

Tuesday and Wednesday

Sept. 11th and 12th, '06

A new department has recently been added to our already progressive establishment—that ofhat trimming.

Although we have for several years sold a great many ready-to-wear hats—and, having secured a competent artiste in the person of Miss Keith, formerly of a leading Vancouver store, and prominent eastern establishments—have now opened the new department.

Several hundred stylish hats will be on exhibition including a number of genuine New York pattern hats—also a large stock of trimmings, including the new shades in silk and couche velvets, silks, birds, feathers, wings, quills, pompoms, aigrettes, ospreys, etc.

Many of—though not all—the hats are large in size—the Empire leading—Gainsboroughs are good also, and so are the quaint, high crowned models of a century ago.

Empire green and dark red—lead the colors—next come taupe, a brownish grey, then follow browns, blues and crushed blackberry shades.

Among the veils are flowered lace veils, tuxedo net veils, chiffon veils, motor veils, and thin meshes which are advocated for rainy weather.

During the millinery opening a special display of Dress Goods, Silks, Ribbons, Novelties, Linen Draperies, Coats, Suits, etc., will be made. You are cordially invited to attend.

This evening a large party of the young people of the Olivet Baptist church will journey to Vancouver to participate in a rally of the Young Peoples societies of the Baptist churches of New Westminster and Vancouver, in the Fairview Baptist church.

Mrs. Whitworth of Ladner, came late to the city on the Rithet on Saturday evening and left yesterday on the C. P. R. express for Toronto where she will spend a season with friends. Her extensive line of customers at the weekly market will be served by a representative during her absence.

There will be no meeting of the city council this evening, but it is likely that a committee meeting will be called during the week for the purpose of meeting John Ankers, who will attend and explain why he went to Langley without leave. Other matters will also be attended to.

The boys are getting down to practice in anticipation of the final contests in connection with the church guild baseball series of games. If the West End Methodists defeat the Presbyterians the Baptist boys will have to play off with them for first place. If the Methodists lose, the Baptists will be at the head of the series for this year.

Tomorrow evening, the Right Rev. Bishop Montgomery, secretary of the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel, will visit this city and will be presented with an address from the executive of the Synod for this district. The meeting will take place in St. George's hall and it is expected that during the evening his Lordship will give an outline of the work he is engaged in.

The deciding game for the lacrosse championship in the intermediate series will be played at Queen's Park on Saturday afternoon, when the East and West end teams will again cross sticks. Neither of the teams have had much practice lately, but if the weather is favorable, the boys will be out every evening this week so as to get into shape for Saturday, and they expect to be able to put up a good game when they meet on the field.

Buyers for the city lots that were not disposed of at the auction sale of lots held some time ago still continue to be found, and City Treasurer McQuarrie says that he has callers nearly every day who are anxious to invest in property. Several parcels of land have been disposed of since the sale was held, and Mr. McQuarrie expects that the demand will continue for some time to come.

SOMETHING TO SELL

By Francis A. Corey

Copyright, 1906, by W. R. Caldwell

At the ringing of the doorbell a blush blended suddenly with the happy smile on Elizabeth Mellen's lips. It was Teddy Davenport, of course! Hadn't he called regularly at this hour of the afternoon for weeks and weeks?

"I'm so glad you've come, Teddy," she cried, giving him both her hands.

She always had for him this warm, impulsive greeting. But Davenport was not responsive for once. The slender, jeweled hands were quickly released. His lips wore no answering smile. There was a new line in his face.

"Something has gone wrong, Teddy," she said in her quick, direct way.

"Yes."

"Is it so very, very bad?"

"As bad as it well can be," he groaned.

Elizabeth paled a little. Teddy was not one to take alarm at nothing. But instead of asking what troubled him she drew a little nearer and said:

"Let the unpleasant news wait. I want to talk of something else. Yesterday we were debating whether we would announce our engagement at once or not until next month. Why not settle the question now?"

"That's the very thing I came to talk about!" he exclaimed. Then he went on hurriedly, before she could make any response.

"Elizabeth, I'm glad now that we took no one into our confidence. 'Twill make things easier and better for you. You are no weakling; you may as well have the truth straight out. I very much fear that everything will have to be given up."

She looked at him for a moment as if stunned. "What—what do you mean?"

"You know, dear, nearly my whole fortune was put into Lookout mine. I so wanted to double it. Then I'd be as rich as you. A man likes to have as much money as the woman he weds. So I took a desperate risk. Everything promised well at first, but I've just had a wire from headquarters. The mine has gone smash—water, you see—utterly worthless. Nobody would take it as a gift."

HE STARED HARD AT THE HALF DOZEN DOCUMENTS.

"Oh, Teddy, I'm so sorry!" she said.

"Of course it means financial ruin. I'll have to begin again at the bottom of the ladder. It may take years to work my way up. It would be unjust to you to ask you to wait. I will not do it. I give you back your promise. You are free."

A sudden trembling of the white lips showed what the words cost him. The look on his haggard face went to Elizabeth's heart. She was deeply in love with Teddy Davenport. She loved him for his handsome face, his manliness, his courage and strength, his high notions of honor. With a swift, impulsive gesture she slipped two slender white arms, lost at the elbow in enchanting frills of lace, about his neck.

"But I don't want to be free," she cried. "Oh, what a goose you are, Teddy! As if I hadn't money enough for us both and wouldn't deem it a privilege to share all I possess with you!"

He released himself resolutely from the clasping arms.

"Yes, Elizabeth, I know you would do it, and willingly, if I would permit the sacrifice. But I will not. How can I take so much and give nothing in return?"

"You will give yourself. That is enough."

"Not from a man's standpoint. Don't tempt me. I had this fight out by myself before I came. I shall always love you, always be true to you, but until fortune smiles again we can be only friends."

Elizabeth loved him the better for his unyielding firmness and pride. After he had gone she stood for a long time at the window, the light gone out of her beautiful eyes. What a pity that so paltry a thing as the loss of fortune should wreck the happiness of two lives! Could nothing be done?

Suddenly a thought came to her like an inspiration and she acted upon it at once. Crossing the wide hall to a small room at the rear of the library, she took the telephone directory from its shelf, ran her finger down the long column of names until she came to the letter S. Then she called up Mr. Sanford of the legal firm of Sanford & Rollins, and the following conversation took place:

"Mr. Sanford, you have charge of Mr. Theodore Davenport's business affairs?"

"Yes."

"Is it true that his Lookout shares have greatly depreciated in value?"

"Excuse me, madam. That is a private matter. I cannot discuss it with a stranger."

"You needn't be afraid. Mr. Davenport has just gone from here. I'm Miss Elizabeth Mellen of Gramercy Park."

"Oh—ah—yes!" It was curious—the change that had come into the voice at the other end of the wire. "Of course, then, it is quite unnecessary to keep anything back. The mine is in very bad shape—even worse than Davenport is aware."

"I'd like to have a talk with you, Mr. Sanford, if I may. Can you call at my house this evening at 8 to meet my business manager?"

"I will come with pleasure, Miss Mellen."

"Thanks. Of course you understand that Mr. Davenport is not to know of this."

"You can rely upon my discretion."

"That is all. Goodby until 8."

The following afternoon Elizabeth sat waiting with flushed cheeks and shining eyes. On the stroke of the clock Teddy bounded up the steps. Without giving the servants a chance to announce him, he rushed into the drawing room and caught her in his arms.

"Such wonderful news, my darling!" he cried joyously, kissing her. "Sanford has sold my Lookout shares at par to somebody with more money than brains! The mine can't be in such a hopeless condition as I was led to believe. Sanford dropped a hint that the new owner has been investigating privately and knows what he's about. Well, he's welcome to make what he can out of it. It's off my hands, thank heaven! And now we will announce our engagement as soon as you please."

"Then let it be tomorrow, Teddy," Elizabeth murmured, with downcast eyes.

There was a punctured silence.

"I—I have a prejudice against long engagements," she whispered presently. "Why not be—married—in three weeks?"

"You darling!" he cried.

* * * * * * *

At the first stop on their wedding journey Elizabeth dived to the very bottom of her trunk for a mysterious package. With this tightly clutched in hands that shook a little in spite of herself, she confronted her husband of an hour.

"Teddy," she began rather tremulously, "it is the custom to make gifts on an occasion like this. Suppose you and I inaugurate a new departure. I have something to sell if you can be induced to buy."

Smiling into her solemn face, he asked teasingly:

"Is it a kiss?"

"Of course not. How absurd! But—see for yourself."

He stared hard at the half dozen documents she spread out on the table; then as the truth dawned slowly upon him his face grew white.

"These are Lookout mine certificates made out in your name! Elizabeth," he cried sharply, "explain! What does this mean?"

"Oh, Teddy, forgive me," she pleaded, kneeling beside him in the adorable humility of a proud but loving woman. "I couldn't give you up. I could not. And I saw a way out of it, thank heaven. I bought up these shares of yours secretly"—

She stopped, silenced by a bitter cry.

"And I'm a poor beggar after all," he groaned.

"Nothing of the sort," she declared eagerly. "You've been too busy getting ready to be married to watch the market reports, I suspect. Lookout shares touched par three days ago, and they went up three additional points yesterday. You've made a hundred thousand"—

GAME DISAPPOINTS VANCOUVER PEOPLE

Lacrosse Team From Terminal City Gets a Good Drubbing at Queen's Park.

The hope that had been entertained in the Terminal city that the New Westminster lacrosse team had finally ceased playing winning lacrosse, and that the Vancouver teams had at last secured a chance of winning a few victories before the close of the season, was dashed to the ground Saturday afternoon, when the Vancouver team went down to defeat with a score of eleven to one against it. To tell the truth, nobody except perhaps the losers, was very much surprised at the result of the game, and there were few supporters of the home team that expected anything else than a victory from the red and blue brigade. The result of the Labor Day game was due to the fact that the Westminster team had become careless in their practices, and had not been taking care of themselves. With two trainers to look after them now, there is little chance of such a defeat being registered against them again this season.

Saturday's game could not be considered brilliant lacrosse by any means. There were a few shining plays among the members of the home team, but they were not called upon to exert themselves at any stage of the game, and the consequence was that they took things easy right through the match. The Vancouvers did not have the ghost of a chance at any stage of the game, and long before half time, they had given up all hope of winning, and maintained a defensive play for the rest of the match. The one man who did his best to save the day for the Vancouvers was Gibbons, the goal tender, but all his efforts were in vain, and he received very poor support from the defence, which allowed the Westminster men to crowd in upon him time after time.

The match was enlivened by several fistic encounters, several men being ruled off for this reason. Bryson and Springer clinched in the second quarter, and had impressed marks on each other's faces before they were finally separated. Springer was in an aggressive mood, and pleaded hard to be allowed to continue the fight. The referees penalised both of them thirty minutes for fighting, and they retired to the fence, where they remained until the commencement of the last quarter. Douglas, Godfrey, Feeney and J. Gifford were also penalized for fighting during the game, and several other small scraps were interrupted before any damage was done. Bert Galbraith showed a strong desire to have a fistic argument with one of Vancouver's players, and it took Tommy Gifford a long time to persuade him that the fight had better be delayed until a more favorable occasion. Bert announced his intention of having it out after the game, but the fight did not materialize.

The summary of the goals:

First Quarter.

1. Westminster—J. Gifford. . . .6 min.
2. Westminster—Wintemute . .2 min.
3. Westminster—Feeney . . . . .2 min.
4. Westminster—W. Turnbull. . 7 min.

POLICE COURT RECORDS.

Editor Daily News:

Sir—In the Daily News of Sept. 1, an interesting item appears on "Heavy Traffic in Booze," showing the number of convictions secured in the police court in New Westminster during the month of August, with a total of 105. This certainly shows a busy month for Chief McIntosh and his force.

Now, as the Columbian has seen fit in a rather sensational way to give an impression of an alarming neglect of duty on the part of the Steveston police force, it will perhaps interest many of your readers to see the police force record for Steveston, for the same month, published side by side with the New Westminster record. The public will then be able to judge for themselves.

The Steveston list is as follows: Drunk and disorderly, 65; vagrancy, 4; supplying liquor to Indians, 10; gambling, 37; putting salmon offal in the Fraser river, 3; assault, 8; unlawful possession of firearms, 1; theft, 2; violating B. C. game act, 1; profane languge, 1; disorderly house keeping, 3; furious driving, 1; liquor in possession, re Indian act, 1; total, 137. Number of convictions in favor of Steveston, 32.

Notes From Langley.

Langley, Sept. 8.—Mrs. J. McGivern returned home to Vancouver on Friday

Mrs. Calder and Douglas Calder left for Montreal on Tuesday.

D. Nelson of Langley Prairie has already shipped four tons of fruit this year.

The constant rain of the past few days, while good for the root crops has done harm in other directions. Grain in stock, waiting for the thresher, has been soaked, and may be lost, while a quantity of fruit, plums and prunes, has been cracked and spoiled.

Rev. J. A. G. Calder, for some time pastor of the Langley Presbyterian church, has resigned, and left yesterday with his family for Montreal.

Miss C. Potter leaves today for the Northwest.

Grouse and duck are scarce, but deer are plentiful. A number of people from town are up here for the shooting.

There was a wedding here the other day, K. Morrison and Miss M. Browse being the contracting parties.

Owing to a scarcity of teachers willing to accept the stipend offered eight schools are vacant in the district.

PREACHER REALIZES HIS DREAM OF DEATH

Is called Upon to Preach Sermon That Came to Him in His Sleep.

Newark, N. J., Sept. 8.—Rev. Oscar H. Brune, pastor of the First German Lutheran church, announced yesterday as he began funeral services over the body of Miss Frances Lorna Wadsworth, that he would preach as nearly as possible the same sermon from the same text as he delivered in a dream two months ago over the dead body of the same young woman

Mr. Brune said that just two months to the day prior to the drowning of Miss Wadsworth in the surf at Bradday, he dreamed that she was before him dead, and that he was preaching her funeral sermon.

The impression of the dream was so strong that he related it to his wife the following day. He recalled that his text in the dream sermon was "Be Ready Also," and he used that text yesterday and as nearly as he could recalled the words of the sermon of his dream.

Visitor From Summerland.

J. M. Robinson of Summerland, one of the prime movers in the opening up of the now famous Okanagan valley, was in the city on Saturday. He stated that the valley was rapidly filling up with the most desirable class of settlers. The site for the proposed Baptist college was being cleared and was one of the most desirable locations in that part of the country.

The college had started work in temporary quarters with Prof. Campbell in charge. The movement was much appreciated, as the residents of the valley have hitherto been compelled to send their sons and daughters away from home to secure any advanced instruction. While in the city Mr. Robinson took in the New Westminster-Vancouver lacrosse match and also visited his sister, Mrs. George Gray.

Rains Help Out.

The recent heavy rains have been much appreciated by the people of Chilliwack who were beginning to fear that they would have to build a new landing stage for the Ramona and the Beaver. The sand bars were filling in the channel so rapidly that it was only with greatest difficulty that the steamers could affect a landing. The rains have had the effect of causing a noticeable rising of the water. The Chilliwack residents are looking with longing eyes for the arrival of the government dredger the King Edward, to once more clean out the channel.

Yacht Race Speculation.

Marblehead, Mass., Sept. 9.—With the elimination of three of the aspirants for the Roosevelt cup after yesterday's races, the question among the yachtsmen at Marblehead today was which of the three remaining contenders, the American yachts Vim and Auk, and the German yacht Wannssee would win tomorrow's fifth race on the American-German series. The first week of the racing closed with the New York boat Vim having two legs in the cup, and the Auk, of Boston and the Wannssee one each.
