EIGHTY VESSELS ARE TIED UP ALONG COAST

Deadlock Between Owners and Engineers Means Rest for Indefinite Period.

San Francisco, Feb. 25.—Twelve schooners in the lumber traffic on the Coast were withdrawn from the sea today by the special committee of the Ship Owners' Association that is handling the vessels during the present controversy with the marine engineers. This makes a total of over eighty vessels laid up out of 101 on the whole coast. Ten of these 101 are owned by independent operators, who have announced their intention of running their vessels under the engineers' rules, and but a few more vessels remain on the sea subject to the control of the ship owners' committee.

Before the end of the week every vessel except those belonging to the Casper Lumber company, the Cruise Lumber company, the Estabrook Lumber company and the Loop Lumber company, will have been laid up.

To date 180 marine engineers have been thrown out of employment in the past week. Most of them have already sought employment elsewhere. A meeting of the special committee of the ship owners was held yesterday. It was admitted by a member of the committee that efforts were being made to induce the independent lumber companys to join in the tie-up. All have so far refused to negotiate with the strike committee.

The interment of the remains of the late Mrs. Howard Taylor, of Ladner, took place at the Odd Fellows' cemetery yesterday morning. The funeral was delayed pending the arrival of Miss Jennie Taylor, a daughter of the deceased, from the east. The steamer Transfer brought a large number of the friends of the late Mrs. Taylor from Ladner, and six of these acted as pall bearers. The casket was covered with floral tributes as it was borne to the grave. The service was conducted by Rev. Mr. Oswald, of Sapperton.

AUSTRALIA ANXIOUS TO ENTER BIG FLEET

Melbourne, Feb. 25—Australia wants the American fleet of battleships, now on its way to San Francisco, to come to this country. The government already has given the matter due consideration and a letter has been sent to President Roosevelt inviting the fleet to visit the chief Australian ports in the hope that "such a visit would mark a new era in the history of this part of the world."

As yet no reply has been received here, but the prime minister, Alfred Deakin, has issued the following statement:

"The federal government, realizing the significance of the visit of the American fleet to the Pacific and the importance of future developements of the appearance of such a great body of warships, decided last December to send a cordial invitation to the President of the United States inviting the presence of the fleet at the principal Australian seaports. If the invitation be accepted the reception given the fleet at Rio Janeiro, Valparaiso and Callao will be eclipsed by Australia. The visit would make a new era in the history of this part of the world."

SATURDAY'S SOCCER GAME HAS TO BE REPLAYED

The soccer game of last Saturday between the Rovers of this city and the Thistles of Vancouver, will be replayed on Vancouver ground on Saturday next, in the semi-finals for the D. C. cup. The game, it will be remembered, was played to a draw, one all both goals being from penalties. At a meeting of the Vancouver District Football association on Monday night in Vancouver, the above decision was reached, after all the circumstances had been considered. The claim made that the game should be given to the Rovers on account of the referee failing to enforce his ruling in the case of the goalkeeper of the Thistles, was mentioned, but no action was taken, the referee stating that he had merely told the player that he would rule him off if he fouled again. The decision that the game must be replayed in Vancouver was given on the ground that the game should have been played out here. It is claimed, however, that the referee's ruling on Saturday was given from a book which differs from those in use by other referees. The game next Saturday will be a double header with the National cup tie between the hSamrocks and the Nationals.

The gathering of the team for the game is in the hands of Alex. Turnbull, vice-captain of the Rovers, and will be practically the same as was selected for last Saturday's game. If they wish to win and so enter the finals, the boys can do so; they are capable of delivering the goods to any team in western Canada, but they cannot do so unless every man on the team reports at his post, and on time, with the intention of winning firmly graven in his mind. Boys, go in and win for the honor of New Westminster.

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS FAIL TO OCCUPY RESERVED SEATS

Although sixty seats had been reserved for them at the opera house yesterday evening, where they were to witness the performance of "Kerry Gow," the Knights of Columbus failed to put in an appearance, the bookings being thrown back on the hands of the management after 6 o'clock yesterday afternoon. There appears to have been some misunderstanding among the Vancouver members of the order, who were to form the bulk of the contingent to attend the show, all the officers denying having authorized the advance agent of the company, Mr. Gibbons, to have the sixty seats reserved for them. The seats set apart for the Knights were for the most part sold at the door to parties who had neglected making an advance purchase of the necessary pasteboards.

VICTORIA HAS MANY CASES OF DIPHTHERIA

Victoria, Feb. 25.—An epidemic of diphtheria is prevalent in Victoria, there being eighteen cases now. The physicians say there never was so much diphtheria here before as this winter. The schools have not been closed as yet, but if the disease becomes more general, such measures will be taken.

Several children in the orphans' home have died of diphtheria in the last week. A school inspector is about to be appointed to visit all schools and pupils.

"This Is My 72nd Birthday"

Elihu Vedder.

Elihu Vedder, the venerable artist, mural painter and modeler, was born in New York, February 26, 1836. After studying art for a time in New York he went to Paris in 1856 and studied under Picot. The next four years were passed in Italy, where he studied the work of the old masters. In 1861 Mr. Vedder returned to the United States and remained for four years. He then went abroad again and has since remained a resident of Rome, except for occasional visits to America. Mr. Vedder is spoken of as the most typical American artist transplanted to the Eternal City. While remaining thoroughly American in manner of speech and feeling, he has adopted many Roman ideas and habits. Possibly the artist's best known work consists of his illustrations of the Rubaiyat of Omar Khayyam, which he produced in 1884. Mr. Vedder also did five decorative panels and the mosaic Minerva in the new Congressional Library at Washington. As another proof of his versatility the artist has recently completed two volumes containing prose, verses and illustrations, together with recollections of his artistic life in America, Spain, Germany and Italy.

OLIVER AGITATES FOR WHITE LABOR ON RAILWAYS

Member for Delta Will Move That Constructing Companies Be Required to Give Bonds That No Asiatics Shall Be Employed—Criticizes Attorney-General's Absence From House.

Victoria, Feb. 24.—The white labor question is not by any means settled. Notwithstanding that the taxation exemption bill has gone through, the opposition is determined to make it impossible, if the government can be induced to agree, for any but white men to be employed on the construction of railways which are to receive an indirect subsidy of $1000 per mile. Mr. Oliver has given notice of the following motion:

"That in the opinion of this House no railway company should receive the benefit of exemption from taxation unless and until they shall have entered into a binding contract with and given security satisfactory to the lieutenant-governor in council that only white labor will be employed upon the line of railway to be exempted during construction and in operation of the line of railway so exempted during the period of exemption."

The bill to amend the settlers' rights act is being brought in by Mr. Hawthornthwaite. As pointed out at that time, it proposes to take some hundreds of thousands of acres of coal lands from the E. & N. Railway company and give the coal under them to the settlers who hold the surface rights in all cases where the land was taken up before 1887. It also offers those who have claims under the old act but who neglected to file them, another opportunity. Mr. Hawthornthwaite further gives notice of two labor measures, one regulating the hours of labor in marine and shipbuilding works, the other those of telegraphers and signalmen on railways.

That the end of the session is well in sight became evident when the resolution was passed today that the House sit in the evening as well as in the afternoon.

The premier announced that it was not the intention of the government to bring down any legislation on the subject of settlers' rights, which means the government does not intend to extend the provisions of that act. The matter, he said, was only decided a few days ago.

After congratulating the minister of finance on the budget speech, Mr. Oliver, referring to the statements of the attorney-general, said that the Indian reserves were received by the corporations, not at the hands of the federal government, but at the hands of the provincial. He contrasted the statements of the attorney-general with those in the News-Advertiser, the one stating that the Lemieux agreement is of no avail and the other stating the arrangement was the best possible under the circumstances.

He contrasted what the attorney-general had promised in relation to enforcing the immigration act with what had really happened, and his statement that the Dominion government was seeking the release of the arrested Japanese when the organ of the government had stated yesterday morning that the government had come to no decision respecting their release. And the Conservative newspapers also stated that 23 or 25 Japanese had landed in the city of Victoria since the passing of the act and not a single officer of the provincial government was on hand to meet them and they had been allowed to scatter into boarding houses. Mr. Bowser had said they were taken in charge by his officers to the boarding houses, but Mr. Oliver persisted that it was there they were hunted up by the provincial officers.

Referring to the attorney-general's absence from the House last week, Mr. Oliver said he was then engaged as a counsel for Heinze and not on official business, Heinze's interests being opposed to those of the province.

Turning to the budget, he pointed out that the five per cent. bond issue was at a time of temporary financial depression, and that the opposition had taken the ground that only enough should be taken to meet the then present liabilities, but there was at least $400,000 more requisitioned than required.

The finance minister denied this and said there were two overdrafts at that date, of $411,000 and $[illegible],000, and the interstate suitors' funds, which had been used, $150,000, making $850,000, which was absolutely necessary, leaving $150,000 to conduct the business of the country from March 1 to July 1.

Mr. Oliver retorted that according to his friend's statement there was still $300,000 in excess, as the public accounts showed that on June 30 we had $525,000 on current accounts. To this the finance minister replied that that was taxes and that the suitors were entitled to 3 per cent., which was earned by lending the amount to the banks. But Mr. Oliver persisted that they did not have to replace the fund at the time mentioned and that the fund was always coming in and being checked out of the treasury.

On the subject of the surplus, he pointed out that the government had alienated nearly half a million acres to obtain it. He gave figures in proof of the depletion of the timber reserves and said that while there had been an increase in the timber cut of 36 per cent., there had been an increase in timber licenses of 482 per cent. And in less than two years it had become necessary for the government to make the most drastic changes in the system of timber licenses. The change was so sudden it must have taken away the breath of those engaged in staking timber and the subsistence of those papers which were living on the advertising incident to the timber speculation. He would not hurt the feeling of the proprietors of those papers by mentioning them, but his statement could be proved on reference to the files in the library.

Contrasting the grants for roads, streets and bridges to the opposition members, as compared with governments supporters, he asked, naming some well known Conservative strongholds, whether they were more deserving than other constituencies he mentioned.

DEMOCRATIC NEW ZEALAND LEADS IN LEGISLATION

"New Zealand, the Home of Democracy" was the subject of Miss Murcutt's lecture to a large audience at St. Patrick's hall last evening. The chair was taken by Alderman Garrett, who briefly introduced the lecturer. Miss Murcutt is a powerful speaker and carries conviction with her words. She treated her subject from several heads, arguing from all that New Zealand has a form of government which this and other countries would do well to emulate. It was the land of advanced legislation. Steps that other nations were yet regarding as in the experimental stage had been tried by New Zealand and found to be operative. Miss Murcutt mentioned in particular the land legislation, government ownership of railways, public trustees, state insurance, compulsory arbitration, the old age pension act, the franchise for women, and the great success which had been achieved along the lines for local option.

OKANAGAN DITCH TO IRRIGATE 300,000 ACRES

Grand Forks, B. C., Feb. 25.—The Southern Okanagan Land company, which is digging a big irrigation ditch a distance of fifty miles from Penticton to Osoyoos, has already planted some 35,000 fruit trees on the newly irrigated lands and expects to plant 30,000 trees this spring. It is claimed that this ditch will irrigate fully 300 000 acres of ideal orchard lands.

ENGINEER LEBARON LEAVES FOR SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA

Francis J. Le Baron, the expert consulting engineer called to this city to report on the improvement of the Fraser river, and who, while here was retained by the city to examine and report on matters connected with the water system of the city, left yesterday afternoon for California. He will go direct to San Francisco and from there into the mountains to report on a placer mining proposition, after which he will return to his home in Cleveland, Ohio, for a short rest. Later the eminent engineer will visit the Massachusetts coast and lay out the plans for a new harbor. Another large work that will occupy the time of Mr. Le Baron in the coming year will take him to Hayti, in the Hawaiian islands, where a large fruit concern requires his assistance in the formation of a harbor and the planning of 35 miles of a railroad into the interior of the island.

Mr. Le Baron has had many and varied experiences while engaged in his trade, visiting almost every portion of the American continent with the exception of Western Canada, to which country this was his first visit. While engaged in reporting on a timber concession in Nicaragua, that country furnished him with numerous experiences of the methods adopted by revolutionists in their periodical attempts to change the government. He himself was fortunate enough not to become engaged in the actual troubles, but gained an insight into the turbulence of the southern republics. The country, he states, has a superb climate and nature has lavished upon it the greatest of her gifts, only good government is necessary to make it flourish.

CENTRAL PARK DANCE AND SOCIAL A SUCCESS

The interior of the agricultural hall at Central Park last night was the scene of one of the most pleasing social functions of the season, the basket social and concert given by the officers and members of the Uniform Rank of the Knights of Pythias, of Vancouver and New Westminster. The cars during the late afternoon from both cities poured in their contingents of gaily dresed ladies and their escorts, and by eight o'clock the large hall, brightly decorated, was thronged.

A short musical program opened the evenings entertainment, Past Grand Chancellor A. H. Ferguson in the chair. Especially pleasing were the songs by Miss Edith Laird and Miss Helena Crake, whose selections earned well merited applause. Baskets sold readily and the bidding was brisk, a goodly sum falling to the cash box of the treasurer. In view of the fact that at previous dances, many of those present have failed to purchase, and the management on this occasion found it necesary to charge an admission fee of fifty cents, which was refunded to all who purchased baskets. When, as the evening wore on, the concert gave place to the dance, over a hundred couples took the floor and to the strains of dreamy waltz music or swinging two step, the hours chased the night into morning. A few of the dancers left for their homes by earlier cars, but the majority were to be found on the specials supplied by the B. C. E. R. leaving the park at 2 o'clock.

The baskets were auctioned by Bro. Miller, who proved such an excellent hand at the auctioneering at the social in this city. The highest price realized was paid for a New Westminster basket, ten dollars, and the lowest was two dollars. Altogether, after all expenses were paid, some seventy dollars was added to the funds of the society. Rushton's orchestra furnished the music, while Miss Vesta Bent proved an accomplished accompanist.

Power Company to Light Towns.

Grand Forks, B. C. Feb. 25.—Word has reached here today from Night Hawk, Wash., that the Similkameen Falls Power and Development company is now supplying light for domestic use to the towns of Night Hawk and Oroville, as well as supplying the working mines around Night Hawk. This company now has a capacity of 500,000 horse power and is in a position to do an enormous business.

BIG SHIP SAILED UP FRASER IN EARLY DAYS

Vancouver Paper's Sudden Discovery of Navigability of River Stirs Memories.

"For the first time in the history of the Fraser river a large coaster and former deep-sea sailing vessel has passed up beyond the confluence of the Fraser and Pitt rivers to take cargo. Today the Vancouver steamer Henriette, owned by Mackenzie Bros., is loading ties and lumber at Port Haney and tomorrow she will drop down to Port Hammond to take similar cargo, all of which is destined for the use of the White Pass & Yukon railway and will be taken to Skagway by the Henriette.

"Deep-sea vessels have taken cargo at New Westminster and at Millside, but this is the first instance in which a craft the size of the Henriette—about 1000 tons gross—has gone as far upstream as Port Haney. The Henriette experienced no difficulty in navigating the channels of the river and no special survey had to be made before she ventured up the river beyond Millside. On her trip downstream the Henriette will take the tide at its highest."

So says a Vancouver daily, with a blissful disregard for facts, of the damage that may accrue to the shipping interests of the Fraser river and the future of New Westminster. The Henriette is neither the largest nor by any means the first ocean vessel that has navigated the waters of the Fraser river not to Port Haney only, but for fifty miles further, without difficulty or special surveys. The above item was shown to several men who have been in close touch with the progress of the river and the country for the past half century, men in a position to know more of those matters than the representative of the Vancouver paper. These men, in the days before the disastrous fire of 1898, saw the largest of the liners of the Pacific ocean, the San Francisco and the China boats, sailing regularly to and from points on the river, frequently anchoring at Fort Langley and even more remote points, all above Haney. And the channel even then was of the best and did not require that special surveys should be made. As early as 1858 the Seabird, a liner of 1200 tons loaded within ten miles of Agassiz, sixty miles above New Westminster, and sailing with the high tide made the trip to the ocean with safety, carrying a cargo to Panama ports. Joe Armstrong, well known on the coast, reports seeing no less than fifteen large deep-sea vessels anchored at Port Langley in one night.

The river is as good now as it was then, and with the completion of the great works for the deepening of the channel through the "sandheads," there will be formed such a harbor as not even Vancouver itself can show, easy to navigate, free from excessive currents, capable of accommodating every vessel, no matter what its size or draught, on the Pacific coast, and in addition providing what no other harbor on the coast can boast, fresh water, in which neither barnacle or teredo can live. For such a harbor Seattle is willing to spend millions, but New Westminster has it for nothing, and the future, in the opinion of all except the ignorant or egotistical, will find the Fraser river again crowded with vessels of every nationality, of every class, loading and unloading at its wharves, heralding the name of New Westminster to every port on the coast lines of the world.

A proposition to start an amateur photographic club in this city is being fostered by Lionel Haweis, of the Royal studio, who will be glad to hear from any party interested in the scheme. The object of the club would be to mutually help the members, exchange work and ideas, and impart useful advice to beginners in this popular pastime.

GRAIN EXCHANGE NOW SLIPSHOD CURB MARKET

Winnipeg's Pride for a Generation Totters to Its Fall---Bucket Shops Active.

Winnipeg, Feb. 25.—The Winnipeg grain exchange has adopted an attitude of masterly inactivity. Beyond the broad fact that official quotations of western Canadian grain are not available and that the market which has set prices for a generation has now become no more than an unreliable and unofficial curb affair there is nothing to record. Rumors are, of course, plentiful.

Fort William is known to be making a bid for the exchange and there is an opportunity of an Ontario charter available. In the meantime bucketshops and grain houses with wire connections in Chicago or Minneapolis are doing an immense business.

Reports of dissatisfaction from elevator men and farmers are coming in from all parts of the country as there are now no official quotations to set the price of grain at numerous internal elevators and farmers are reluctant under present confused conditions to ship carloads of wheat to Fort William.

The most curious feature of the situation is the immediate future of the $200,000 exchange building now in process of erection on Lombard street. It is the biggest white elephant in the city.

Weber Production

When a Weber production is announced at a playhouse it is always a foregone conclusion that an attraction far from the ordinary is about to hold the boards, which is evidently the case in this instance when Joe Weber's most pretentious effort, "Dream City," comes to the opera house March 2.

"Dream City" is from the pen of that clever and versatile author and libretist Edgar Smith, while the music is considered to be Victor Herbert's masterwork.

As the funny and eccentric German comedian, who is lulled into a dream of the greatness and future of his Long Island farm through the volubility of a smooth tongued real estate agent, Mr. Weber has been more than fortunate in finding a counterpart and worthy successor in that clever and inimatable comedian Little Chip. Little Chip's work and versatility in "The Babes In Toyland," "Wonderland" and other big productions is too well known to need further comment save it to say that in "Dream City" he has succeeded in making the hit of his career.

The role of Nancy, the German farmer's daughter, is in the capable hands of that finished and magnetic little comedienne Mary Marble.

The Jehu of Bombay.

In no city in the world is there a public vehicular system so irresponsible and so dangerous to human life as in Bombay. Even were the gharrywalla a jehu of ordinary intelligence the principle of allowing Europeans to be chased by two or three gharrywallas "sahibing" for a fare would be an affront to the civilized public of the city. But the Bombay gharrywalla is notoriously the most stupid individual to be found on the earth's surface, while as a coachman he is the personification of cruelty to his horse and of disregard of the public safety.—Bombay Gazette.

Not In His Line.

Smart—I'm thinking of a trip abroad. Knox—Oh, come now! You can't afford that. You're not accustomed to that sort of thing. Smart—Ha, ha! I simply said I was thinking of it. I can afford to think, can't I? Knox—No. That's what I meant when I said you were not accustomed to that sort of thing.—Philadelphia Press.

A Slight Disadvantage.

She was only ten years old, little Margaret, but there were two younger children, and she had already taken upon her shoulders some of the responsibilities of life, but did not pretend to enjoy them all.

"Where are Helen and Agatha?" asked a visitor, who found Margaret sitting on the doorstep alone one afternoon, looking particularly sober.

"They've gone off to have what mother calls 'mischief' and they call 'fun,'" said the solitary one.

"And you didn't go with them," said the visitor, with a hint of sympathy in her voice.

"Oh, no," said Margaret, with a sigh; "mother trusts me so dreadfully! I can't have much of any fun."—Youth's Companion.

Owners of the Townsite of PORT MELLON, Howe Sound, 25 miles from Vancouver

THE FISCAL AGENTS HAVING DISPOSED OF THE FIRST 100,000 SHARES, NOW OFFER FOR SUBSCRIPTION THE SECOND 100,000 SHARES OF THE PREFERRED STOCK OF THIS CORPORATION IN BLOCKS OF 100 AT $1.00 PER SHARE. EACH 100 SHARES ENTITLED TO A BONUS OF 15 SHARES OF PREFERRED.

The first 100,000 shares carried a bonus of 25 per cent. of Preferred. The Preferred Stock is entitled to a dividend of 7 per cent. commencing November 1st, 1908, but unlimited as to further dividends. That is, after 7 per cent. has been paid upon the Preferred and Common, both stocks thereafter participate equally. There is no good reason why the Preferred Stock should not pay from 30 to 50 per cent. dividends.

We have purchased a large tract of land on Howe Sound, 25 miles from Vancouver, where we are now rushing the work on the first unit of our plant, which is to have a weekly capacity of 40 tons of wrapping paper. This modern mill when complete will be capable of turning out 180 tons of news and 270 tons of wrapping paper per week. In order to make this great industry possible we have been granted the water rights of Rainey river, which is capable of developing from 3,000 to 6,000 horse power.

Within thirty days the directors and fiscal agents have secured sufficient subscriptions to more than build the first unit of this modern plant, which we hope to have in operation within four months.

Within one year the stock of this company will be selling at five times its present value. Then it will be too late to buy. The experience of every industry has demonstrated that the time to secure its stock is in the embryo stage, before a wheel has been turned. REMEMBER, there is no watered stock, no inflated values, or huge promoters' profits in this enterprise. The books of the company are open at any time for the full inspection of the public.

Unlike most corporations, instead of allowing from 15 to 25 per cent. for sale of stock, the entire commission, brokerage, sale of stock, literature, advertising, etc., is limited to 10 per cent.

PAYMENTS.

10 per cent. on application 15 per cent. on allotment; balance in eight equal calls of thirty days each.

The public are cordially invited to visit our demonstrating plant, 313 Cordova street, Vancouver and witness the manufacture of wood pulp and paper.

NOTICE

Citizens of New Westminster:

Gentlemen,—I beg to inform you that it is very necessary that all backyards and premises should be properly cleaned and made sanitary. From the reports I have had from the Sanitary Inspector, and from what I have witnessed with my own eyes, there are numerous places along the different streets that have got to be cleaned up within a very short space of time.

I might particularly mention that the lower part of Carnarvon street, between Eighth and Tenth streets, and also Alexander and Blackie streets are in a most unsanitary condition, as well as many back-yards in the principal part of the city behind the business apartments. It is quite unnecessary for me to mention any names, but all you have to do is look in your own yards and you can tell at a glance whether they are sanitary or not. This work must be done before the 15th of March, 1908, or I shall be obliged to take the necessary steps to see that the work is done satisfactory to the Sanitary Inspector.

I trust that this notice will be accepted without any prejudice, as any broad-minded citizen knows that the population of the city has been steadily increasing in the last two or three years, and if we want this good success to continue, we want to show the newcomer this city in a good, clean, sanitary condition, and avoid critisism.

Yours truly,
(Signed) E. J. FADER,
Chairman Health Committee.

TRAINS NOW PASS UNDER HUDSON RIVER

Gigantic Undertaking, Conceived Twenty-five Years Ago, Is Now Accomplished

New York, Feb. 25.—With interesting ceremonies and prominent participants, accompanied by the playing of bands and the cheering of thousands, the great steel tube under the Hudson river, connecting New Jersey and Manhattan Island, was formally opened to traffic today. President Roosevelt, in the executive mansion at Washington, pressed a button that flashed the signal for the first car to start through the tunnel. On board the first train were Governor Hughes, of New York; Governor Fort, of New Jersey; the mayors of New York City, Hoboken and Jersey City, and the officials of the construction and rapid transit companies that have made the great undertaking an accomplished fact after a quarter of a century had elapsed since the project was first conceived.

The first train covered the distance of three and a quarter miles in less than fifteen minutes. Arriving at the Nineteenth street terminal of the tunnel system the distinguished participants in the dedication ceremonies repaired to Sherry's, where an elaborate banquet was spread in further celebration of the important event.

The opening of this tunnel, known as the south tube of the North river tunnel system, marks the completion of the first section of the great underground railroad system that is to connect New York City with the New Jersey side of the river, and which will do away with the slow ferry boats that for years have carried the tens of thousands of passengers that cross the North river daily.

The great terminals at Hoboken, Jersey City and Newark on the New Jersey side will be transfer points for passengers from the various railroad and trolley lines that make a network spreading over the entire northern part of New Jersey. When all sections of the new underground system, with its eighteen miles of tunnels, are in operation, these points will have direct rapid transit communication with the heart of New York City. The cost of the enterprise is figured at nearly $60,000,000.

2. This By-law may be cited as the "Laundries Regulation By-law, 1900, Amendment By-law, 1908."

HIS WORSHIP'S LAPSE.

"They are much exercised over scoops, and poor devils, have to be subservient to their masters."

This undignified language came from the lips of the Chief Magistrate of the City at the Council meeting on Monday night, in one of those erratic outbursts for which he has become famous.

It hardly measures up to the dignity of the position he was occupying at the time, presiding as he was at a regular Council meeting, especially when, at that sitting he had again and again brought the members of the Council down under the "rules of order." We have no desire "to crack" his worship and shall never discuss him personally, or even his actions as Chief Magistrate except as we conceive it to be in the public interest. The subject under discussion at the moment was one in which this paper has used the utmost caution and has not flaunted it before the public with that abandon with which members of the Council did, prior to election time, on more than one occasion. If the Council really wishes to lessen criticism it should abandon the closed door policy, because, although everything may be free from suspicion, the "in camera" suggests that all is not right, and once you arouse the suspicion it is hard to satisfy the public that there is no cause for that suspicion.

Alderman Johnston may not have been in the strictest sense in order in rising to speak the second time on a motion, but we think the public interest would suffer if such an arbitrary rule were enforced and we commend the alderman's common sense in at once moving to amend this rule.

We think Mayor Keary forgot himself for the moment, when he expressed a wish from the chair, that Alderman Johnston's motion would not pass, and to be kindly to his worship, we wonder what would have happened were the positions for the moment reversed.

We shall commend or condemn his worship and the members of the Council as we think their action is for or against the public interest and hope at no time to descend to the personal in these criticisms.

DISORGANIZED TORILS.

The weak and disorganized Opposition at Ottawa cannot have any appreciation of the delay they are causing in the transaction of the nation's business and the increased cost to the country because of their tactics of obstruction.

Hopelessly doomed to failure they make heroic efforts, sitting after sitting, to find some shred upon which to weave party capital for the general elections, and as a result they suffer well deserved castigation and exposure, at the hands of the able men who are on the right side of the Speaker.

Mr. Foster after making one of his characteristic speeches finds it convenient to take the train for Toronto to avoid his just deserts, Mr. Borden slinks away after the House gets into supply at midnight and leaves the party whip, Mr. George Taylor, to lead the forlorn few, who became refractory and refused to admit Mr. Taylor's leadership.

Mr. Boyce knowing that obstruction by "bluff" would avail them nothing, because they could not produce the goods, objected to continuing the martydom, when the Opposition leaders had gone away, or had taken to their beds, leaving the remnant of their ranks a laughing stock to the country.

If the Opposition ever hopes to succeed it must find a leader and strong lieutenants who will be able to control it for effective service or at least make a semblance of control on the floor of the House.

WHERE ARE THEY AT?

The Tory cry is that the timber of the West is being given away, the prices realized being, they assert, too low.

On the other hand they charge fraud because the highest tender was written in two different hands and showed a trace different in the inks used.

There is no disputing the fact that the highest tender secured the limits and that the National Exchequer had received the full estimated value for them, where then is the knavery charged?

A return is asked to be made to the old order of things which existed prior to 1896 under which the country did not realize anything for these valuable assets when they were hurriedly parcelled out to the favorites of the Tory administration.

Martin's Mining and Water Cases.

We have received from the Carswell Company, Limited, of Toronto, volume 2, part 2, of Martin's Mining and Water Cases. This is the work of Mr. Justice Martin, of British Columbia, and brings the reports up to the end of last year, such recent cases as Bole vs. Roe and the decision of the court of appeal in the Slocan Star mining case being reported. The present part is the first to include water cases, the first volume and the first part of the second volume containing only mining cases. Appendix C containing a table of proclamations and statutes relating to water rights is a useful feature.

We think the publishers might pay more attention to the paper that is used. Page 572 and the following page are not printed on similar paper.

Is there a page omitted at the end of the book? We cannot find any appendix A, and apparently the first page of the appendix B is No. 3, so that the appendices contain no pages 1 and 2. The work is valuable as a reference book to parties interested in the matter with which it deals.

The new dipper dredge under construction by the Dominion government for use in the harbor at Victoria, had no delay occurred, would have been launched last week. The non-arrival of a guide, held up in the car, no doubt by the winter blockades on the C. P. R., has necessitated the postponement of the launching until a later date. The work of construction, however, is not in any manner affected and the dredge will, as originally intended, be ready by the first of May.

It took three men to take Mrs. Greig, a sufferer from mental aberration, to the asylum yesterday and even then they had their work fully cut out. Mrs. Greig was accompanied to the city by her husband from their home in Vancouver, but not until an endeavor was made to induce her to get into the rig that would take her to the asylum did she appear to understand that she was to be placed under restraint. The task proved too much for the husband, and Chief McIntosh and Detective Bradshaw were called to assist. The insanity of the patient takes the form of a belief that relatives, far distant, are conversing with her. W. H. Gallagher, of Vancouver, was brought to the city during the day by a Vancouver city constable and taken to the asylum.

"BOTHER IS BUSINESS."

Fascinating Novelties That Have Come to Stay.

Just at this season when folks are apt to say that trade is slack, that there is nothing doing, and when, owing to the prevalence of "the grip," there is every inclination to do less (if that were possible), it is encouraging to remember that it is in the slack season that the trade of the year is born. August plans for December, February thinks for June; and as the year brightens the store windows gradually recuperate from the aftermath of Christmas.

But of all street shows it has been the impression that the photographer, all the world over, finds himself harder up than most of his neighbors for novelties, until such a show as Mr. Hawels is at present putting up at the Royal studio comes to their notice.

The handsome display of photographic mirrors and toilet sets, as much as the report that these dainty articles were being given away, induced a reporter to pay Mr. Hawels a visit.

"Yes, it is quite true. I give them away."

"But how do you do it?"

"With both hands—by the score. You should come up here one fine Saturday afternoon and witness the process. Later on," continued Mr. Hawels, "when people begin to realize that there is no fake, I shall be giving them away by the score—perhaps by the hundred, with more hands than are at present at my disposal."

"But did you not advertise a club of only two hundred?"

"Oh, that was hopeless to dream of three days after we got started. The applications I had during the first fortnight were sufficient to fill three such clubs, and there are others.' I wanted the thing to be exclusive; but, short of giving offence, that was found to be impossible."

"You have the monopoly of these mirrors, I suppose?"

"Yes, and I never want a better. They are going like hot cakes. First come, first served."

"And now tell me, Mr. Hawels, do you never have any bother over those tickets?"

"Bother is business," replied the photographer laconically with a shrug. "By which I mean that explanations would not be so necessary if people would only be good enough to read their tickets. There are Offer No. 1, and Offer No. 2. Each ticket calls for one or the other; not both. Neither more, nor less; just that."

"And the mirrors really are given away?"

"My dear fellow, I'm awfully glad to have seen you, but I'm frightfully busy just now."

"Free?"

"Yes, quite free. I don't sell them at all."

"And your profit—?"

"Is on the photographs."

"Which don't cost any more than usual?"

"They cost me a good deal more, I assure you. Someone has got to pay for the mirrors, and I pay for every one."

A Singular Mollusk.

A singular light giving creature peculiar to the waters of southern California is the phyllirhoe, a sluggish mollusk. So plentiful are these light giving denizens of the deep along the Californian coast that those who have undergone the experience say a night on these waters is awe inspiring. As the boat passes along one can see in the waters under it countless forms, passing and repassing, each giving forth its strange, weird light. But beautiful and impressive as this strange sight is to the beholder, the light giving powers of these animals are disastrous to themselves, since the light emanating from them attracts the attention of marauding fishes, which seem to relish a light meal at any time.

Always After Us.

"No matter what we do, there is one class of people who will always be after us."

"Who are they?"

"Posterity."—Baltimore American.

Although the world is full of suffering, it is full of the overcoming of it.—Keller.

The Ways of the Moonshiner.

The ways of the moonshiner are pretty much the same everywhere. A suitable location consists of a secluded spot with water in abundance. It is important, should he ever be called upon to defend a case in court, for the question of the ownership of the land upon which the still is located, to be involved in doubt; hence the moonshiner gets as near the line of his own land or the land he controls as possible. The stills are primitive affairs and are often made complete in the neighborhood in which they are operated. With two or three square yards of sheet copper the still maker requires but a few hours to make the "b'iler." Home-made hogsheads are usually used as fermenters, and the only thing that the illicit distiller has to send "off yander arter" is the worm. Being difficult to secure, the moonshiner prizes his "worm" highly, and that part of the distillery is usually taken away when the operator leaves.—David A. Gates in Metropolitan Magazine.

Homestead Regulations.

Any even numbered section of Dominion lands in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded by a person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section of 160 acres, more or less.

Application for entry must be made in person by the applicant at a Dominion Lands Agency or sub-agency for the district in which the land is situate. Entry by proxy may, however, be made at an agency on certain conditions by the father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister of an intending homesteader.

The homesteader is rejuired to perform the homestead duties under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year for three years.

(2) A homesteader may, if he so elects, perform the required residence duties by living on farming land owned solely by him, not less than eighty (80) acres in extent, in the vicinity of his homestead. Joint ownership in land will not meet this requirement.

(3) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased) of a homesteader makes permanent residence on farming land owned solely by him, not less than eighty (80) acres in extent, in the vicinity of the homestead, or upon a homestead entered for by him in the vicinity, such homesteader may perform his own residence duties by living with the father (or mother).

(4) The term "vicinity" in the two preceding paragraphs is defined as meaning not more than nine miles in a direct line, exclusive of the width of road allowances crossed in the measurement.

ADVERTISE IN THE DAILY NEWS

A MILITARY DESPOT.

The Experience of One Private in the German Army.

The following is the experience of a German army private:

During the second maneuvers I was sent on ahead to select quarters for my company. The police supply the names of householders who are expected to shelter the soldiery, and I had to decide on the number of men who should be assigned to each place.

It seems that our major dispatched a courier with a message for our captain. For some reason or other the message was not delivered. The next day the captain called me out and in the presence of the whole company rebuked me for not delivering the message.

"I did not receive any message," I ventured.

"Shut up your mouth, you liar!" he thundered. And again he bellowed, "Why didn't you deliver that message, you"—

I told him a second time that I had not received any message. The captain's temper broke all bounds. With an oath he rode his horse at me full tilt, hurling filthy names at me the while.

When he had ridden right up to me—I fully expected he would run me over, but I dared not move—he suddenly reined in his horse and, drawing a long dagger from his belt, shouted, livid with passion, "I have half a mind to stick this through your vile body, you schweinhund!"

Once more he asked me about the message, and once more I answered him.

"Then five days' confinement and bread and water be your punishment, you liar!" he retorted.

He repeated the question several times and increased my term of imprisonment each time I answered in the negative until my term of imprisonment equaled fourteen days. I was placed under arrest. Next day I was released.

I afterward found that the captain had discovered his mistake, but he never referred to it.—World Today.

BIRTH OF A "GASSER."

Noise of a Blowing Well Drowned All Other Sounds.

In the Broadway Magazine is a story by Rupert Hughes concerning the oil wells of Texas. He tells of the birth of a "gasser."

"It screamed like the death cry of a thousand panthers." He says: "The long steel cable has been sent flying like a twine string. A great length of pipe has been hurled against a tree and wrapped around it. The derrick was almost hidden in a white haze. A geyser of fine sand was streaming upward and eating away the lofty crown block.

"Seth knew what it was. He found Tom, and they gesticulated at each other. They made faces, but no audible sound. Their voices were vain as candles in the full sunlight. Each was trying to yell the same thing.

"'She's a gasser, blowing her head off.'

"Men gathered from everywhere and acted like crazy folk, working their jaws and delivering no message.

"They were soaked, drowned, obliterated in a sea of intolerable noise.

"A mile away at the railroad station the passengers were equally made dumb by the uproar. If a man wanted a ticket he had to write out the name of the station. An engine rolled in with a bell that rocked without sound and a whistle emitting puffs of white steam that no one heard.

"The animals of the region were greatly disturbed. There was much breaking of harness on the part of horses, and one or two galloped about under empty saddles. Their riders were doubtless stuck in the mud somewhere, head first.

"A few pigs wandering here and there had sniffed at the noise and returned to their luxurious wallows in the oily muck."

How to See the Wind.

Take a polished metal surface of two feet or more and with a straight edge. A large handsaw will answer the purpose. Take a windy day on which to make the experiment, paying no attention to atmospheric conditions, for such an experiment can be as successfully made on a clear day as it can on a cloudy one, and the results will be equally good in summer and winter. The only thing you need to look out for is that you do not attempt to "see the wind" on a rainy or murky day, as conditions are then very unfavorable. When everything is in readiness, hold the metallic surface at right angles to the direction of the wind—i. e., if the wind is in the north hold the metal east and west, but instead of holding it vertical incline it about 42 degrees to the horizon. When this has been done sight carefully along the edge of a sharply defined object for some moments and you will see the wind pouring over in graceful curves almost like water.

Mugwump.

"Mugwump" was an old Algonquin word for a chief, which was used in a seventeenth century Indian Bible to translate "centurion," "captain" or "duke" in the English version. It was borrowed by the New Englanders as a nickname for most superior persons, very like the English "great panjandrum," and first applied in its special political sense to Republicans who deserted their party on grounds of principle at the presidential election of 1884.

BERNARD DALY, BEGORRAH, IS A BROTH OF A BHOY

Ever a staunch favorite, "Kerry Gow" lost none of its old time charm by its interpretation at the opera house yesterday evening by Bernard Daly and his supporting company, a majority of which by long association with the roles which they present have acquired an almost perfect delivery of their lines and complete control of the stage business. As the central figure, Bernard Daly made an impression that will ensure him a ready welcome to any city he has visited on his present circuit, his typically Irish speech and quaint mannerisms tending to compel the attention of the audience from start to finish. In "Kerry Gow" Daly has found a vehicle which affords him ample scope for the exercise of his phenomenally high and pure tenor voice, the ballads of the Emerald Isle introduced during the evening invoking round after round of well merited applause.

Clara Dalton, whose sweet face early in life captivated the heart of Dan O'Hara, on this occasion Daly, filled her part creditably, although a little more vivaciousness would not have been out of keeping with the character of the colleen. The other two ladies in the cast, Anna McNaughton, as the sharp tongued Mrs. Doyle, and Marie Curtis, the very English little jockey who misused his h's, won honors in their dancing skit in the piece de resistance, the smithy scene, which, by the way, deserved more handclapping than it received.

Valentine Hay, the vulture money lender, together with his henchman O'Drive, found splendid exponents in J. H. Huntle aynd James Ryan, both having difficult roles to interpret, while the irascible Major Gruff and the old Irish squire, Patrick Drew, were well cared for in the hands of R. A. Bresee and John Farrell. Other minor parts were all in capable hands.

The audience was one of the largest which has attended a theatrical production here this season, several Irishmen being noticed among those present.

BROWN ALIENS ATTACK WHITES AT BELLINGHAM

Bellingham, Feb. 25.—Surrounded by twenty enraged Japanese and Filipinos, led by Pedro Lagar, formerly a spy in the employ of the United States in the Philippines, the lives of four white employees of the Washington Saingle company here were only saved by the timely arrival of a platoon of police.

Trouble had arisen between the white and brown men over some trivial matter, and the former brought the difficulty to a climax by squirting a fire hose on their opponents. The Japs and Filipinos armed themselves with clubs and, chasing the four white men into a corner amongst the buildings at the yards of the single mill, they proceeded to beat them without mercy. A telephone call brought the police, and wholesale arrests followed.

Lavery's cake and fruit store, Columbia street, was broken into some time during Monday night, the intruder indulging in a hearty bun feed at the expense of the proprietor. Having allayed the pangs of hunger, the amateur Raffles appropriated the contents of a box of Old Sport cigars and spent a pleasant half hour in meditating upon the uselessness of locks, bars and bolts before taking his departure. The only clue obtained so far is an empty bottle, which was found on the floor, and from which the police deduce that the daring buneater is not a good judge of whiskey.
