STORM CLAIMS MANY VICTIMS IN THE SOUTH

Fierce Gale Causes Heavy Loss of Life and Reduces Valuable Property of Many Towns to Worthless Splinters—Goods Float Away on Flooded Streets.

Mobile, Ala., Sept. 28 (via Meridan, Miss.).—Loss of life, variously estimated at from five to fifty persons, many others injured, 5,000 houses damaged, the business quarter devastated, and the property loss of fully $3,000,000, is the effect of the tropical hurricane of the last forty-eight hours in this city.

The storm struck Mobile Wednesday midnight and raged for many hours, the winds reaching a velocity of ninety miles an hour. Water from Mobile was blown into the city by the gale, and for a time the sea stood seven feet deep in the wholesale quarter from Royal street to the Alabama river.

The loss of life is believed mainly to be among negroes.

Ships Go Down.

Shipping suffered severely. Among the steamers sunk were the . P. Schub, the Mary Staples, the Mary S. Bleescama, Coverton, Hattie B. Moore, City of Camden, the United States revenue cutter Albert and many other smaller craft. It is feared five crews of these boats were lost, but nothing of a confirmatory nature can be given at this time.

Towns Obliterated.

Mobile has been placed under control of the militia. Nobody is permitted on the streets except newspaper men and persons wearing badges. Much apprehension is felt for the suburban towns, as it is feared that they have been obliterated.

The loss of life on Dauphin island probably is heavy. Many fishermen live on Dauphin island and other outlying marshy tracts, from which no tidings have been received.

Supplies Shut Off.

The suffering in Mobile is severe. The annihilation of transportation facilities has shut off all supplies, and unless help reaches Mobile from the outside world soon, great distress will result.

Every church here was damaged. The damage to Christ Church cathedral is estimated at $40,000, and to St. Francis Baptist $10,000.

The city was put under martial law at dark on Thursday ,and no person is allowed to enter the wholesale quarter. All wharves from Frascati street, the extreme end of the city, as far up the river as Three Mile creek, are wrecks.

Telegraphic communication is paralyzed, with poor prospects of wires for several days. All business has been suspended.

Torn to Splinters.

Numerous saw mills in the swampy localities have been washed away or torn to splinters. The lumber and timbers are to be seen scattered over the city and floating down the slowly falling river.

Much fear is entertained for Fort Morgan, where the government quarantine station is situated and many soldiers live. In the city many persons and much live stock were rescued after heroic efforts. Food supplies are nearly exhausted.

Restaurants feed many, but have no supplies on hand.

Wholesale houses lost many thousands of dollars from the flood, and willingly paid as high as $1.50 an hour for common labor ,earnestly begging men to accept such pay, so frantic were they to save goods. Even at this figure few men would accept work.

Hurled Through the Streets.

Between 6 o'clock Thursday and Friday noon trees were felled and roofs were crushed by hundreds. Through the streets, carried by the terrific wind, were hurled thousands of pieces of slat, strips of tin roofing, cornices, shingles, and in fact all kinds of debris. Blinds were torn from their fastenings and windows smashed as though made of tissue paper.

The railroads have started wreckers to clean up and to repair tracks, but the task is difficult.

The office of the Western Union Telegraph Co. was six feet under water. Its batteries were flooded, and it will be some time before business can be resumed. The Postal Telegraph, while on high ground, also suffered severely.

The Cawthorne hotel, just completed, and the Sievau hotel were damaged $5,000 each, the Windsor hotel $5,000, the Southern $3,000. The Southern Supply Co. estimated its loss at $100,000. The Merchants bank, the First National bank and the Lienkauff bank were inundated.

All Hard at Work.

There is no way at present to arrive at a correct estimate of the losses, owing to the disorder.

All is confusion. The city was astir early this morning, however. The water had receded somewhat, and everybody, armed with buckets and brooms, worked hard for a restoration to normal conditions.

Goods Float Away.

Hundreds of bales of cotton floated through the main streets and were carried out to sea. At Fort Morgan, 25 miles down the bay, the wind had a much higher velocity. Towns along the Mobile and bay shore roads suffered severely owing to their exposed positions.

No word from the coast towns has reached Mobile. Along the gulf coast there were many fashionable residences, some costing $30,000.

Crops Ruined.

Fruit trees all over Southern Alabama are ruined. So also are cotton and cane. One planter said he would take $75 for his cotton crop and feel that he had got a good deal.

The roof of the Mobile medical college was blown off. The college had a valuable museum which was damaged.

Clock Blown Out of Tower.

The Mobile court house presents a wrecked appearance. The clock in the tower was blown out by the wind. The union station at the end of Government street, which caught fire several days ago, is damaged considerably. Its windows are broken and cornices and shingles are gone.

The water came so rapidly that the railroad employees were unable to remove the baggage checked for transportation. Many trunks were seen floating down the bay.

An aged negro ,discovered an old negress in imminent danger of death by drowning. Hearing her appeal for help, he quickly ran into the shop where he was employed, and seizing an unusually large tub, he placed her in it and landed her safely on dry land.

Many Mariners Drowned.

Pensacola, Fla., via Flomaton, Ala., Sept. 28.—The worst hurricane to visit this city in its history raged here anxiously all last night and this morning, and to-day, with a gale still blowing, the city presents a wrecked appearance, and the damage is estimated at $5,000,000.

The loss of life will be very heavy among the mariners, but so far only one body has been recovered, a man named George Morgan, fisherman. Other bodies are reported along the shore, but have not been recovered.

Marines Storm Bound.

Washington, Sept. 28.—Plans for sending marines from the Southern States to Cuba have been seriously interfered with by the storm along the Gulf of Mexico.

New Post Office.

A new post office has been established about half way between this city and Port Moody for the convenience of the residents in that district. The office is at the home of P. Lawson, in the Blue Mountain district, not far beyond the Blue Mountain school. As the office is on the border line between the municipalities of Burnaby and Coquitlam, it has been called by the name of Burquitlam, that being a combination of the first syllable of Burnaby and the latter syllables of Coquitlam. Mail will be delivered there three times a week—Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays

GO BACK ON CHINESE.

Nelson, B. C., Sept. 28.—At a meeting of the Kootenay Fruitgrowers Association here today a resolution was passed by a vote of 22 to 15 rescinding the motion of August last calling for the abatement of the Chinese head tax.

Plot to Kill Emperor Discovered In Palace

St. Petersburg, Sept. 28.—A well laid plot against the life of the emperor was uncovered to-day by the arrest of two armed terrorists, a man and a woman, in the quarters of one of the palace servants within the enclosure of the Alexandria palace at Peterhof. Emperor Nicholas has been expected to return to Peterhof this week, and it is presumed that the terrorists intended to seize a favorable opportunity to shoot him while he was promenading or playing with the children in the palace grounds.

TAKES AN INTEREST IN NEW WESTMINSTER

Member of Manufacturers' Party Looks Over Local Advantages for Lumber Industry.

John McClelland, a prominent lumber manufacturer of Ontario, with interests in Parry Sound, Toronto and St. Catharines, who came west with the manufacturers' excursion, was in the city on Thursday and visited a number of the local industries. He was greatly impressed with the situation of New Westminster as a lumber manufacturing locality, and regretted that his stay did not give him more opportunity to pursue his interest in local conditions. He remarked that a number of the lumbermen with the excursion party had talked of New Westminster, and expressed disappointment that this city was not included in their itinerary. He was particularly interested in the Millside industry, and predicted that it would develop into one of the most important of its kind in Canada. He compared notes with General Manager Fowle, and admitted that in the present development of the industry, with its plans for the future, there was a lesson for all eastern lumbermen to learn. Mr. McClelland was accompanied by his wife, and while in the city they were the guests of his daughter, Mrs. R. J. Burde, of Carnarvon street.

Returns from Rivers Inlet.

A. J. Martin returned to this city yesterday after an absence of over six months, during which time he was employed as foreman at the B. C. cannery on Rivers Inlet, about three hundred miles up the coast. Mr. Martin reports fish as having been very plentiful during the past season, and stated that the cannery had been worked at full speed all the season, although the capacity was 20,000 cans a day. The B. C. cannery employs about one hundred and fifty hands throughout the season, the majority being Indians and Chinamen, with white bosses to look after them. Mr. Martin will remain here throughout the winter, and intends to go out again next year.

The first telephone to be installed in the exhibition buildings was placed in position yesterday in the manager's office, and proved to be a great boon. An extension phone is placed in Mr. Keary's office, and people who wish to communicate with the manager have only to call number 17, when they will be informed that he is busy.

The Beaver came into port on Thursday evening last with the largest load of freight which had ever been carried by the vessel. Among the various items of freight were large shipments of baled hay, oats and fruit.

Hyland Defeats Hanlon.

San Francisco, Sept. 28.—Dick Hyland got the decision over Eddie Hanlon at the end of the thirteenth round to-night.

McClellan for Hearst.

New York, Sept. 28.—Mayor McClellan gave out a statement this afternoon in which he said he would vote for Hearst for governor.

CONVICT'S DAUGHTER DRAWS AND PLEASES

Crowded Audience Applauds and Laughs Many Times at the Opera House.

A packed house, and every person inside it well satisfied with the production, was the state of affairs at the Westminster opera house last night, when E. R. Salter's company produced The Convict's Daughter, a thrilling melodrama with a lot of comedy running through it.

The company carries an enormous amount of scenery, and the staging of the play was a most commendable feature. The play is highly charged with human interest, and the players are splendidly fitted to make the most of the good opportunities afforded them to create applause and laughter. They were rewarded last night with an abundance of each.

George J. Elmore, as Weary Willie, is the chief fun maker of the company, and assisted by Miss Carrie Bellmore, a charming and clever soubrette, he made enough of it to satisfy the most exacting.

Wilbur Christie, as James Blackadder, the villain, is such an accomplished actor that in spite of the unpopular nature of his part, he won the admiration of the audience on his ability.

The company is well balanced, and there is a measure of praise coming to every member of it.

An effort is being made by the manager of the opera house to book a return engagement next week.

Comedy for Fair Week.

Irving Beers will present that Gillette comedy, All the Comforts of Home, in the Westminster opera house on the first night of the fair, and on Wednesday, Friday and Saturday nights will produce Robert Hillyard's Littlest Girl, Withered Leaves, My Turn Next, Bamboozled, and others. These four famous pieces will be staged under the direction of Frank Oliver, the well-known English actor, who will play the principal roles. He will be assisted by Irving Beers, who played in the New York production of Ibsen's Ghosts; Miss Mignon Duke, late of London, Eng.; Harry Luenon, the well-known comedian; John Struthers, the Scotch actor, and others. All the Comforts of Home is one of the greatest comedies of modern times, and with such a strong cast a great production may be expected.

Buys Port Kells Ranch.

W. Shilvock, formerly of Rossland, and for the past few months of Vancouver, has purchased a choice ranch of 160 acres in the Port Kells district. Mr. Shilvock has looked the whole province over in search of a spot suited to his tastes, and had to go to the Port Kells district in order to get what satisfied him. The ranch is not far from the Port Kells station, and embraces some fine timber and arable land.

J. Moore, of Olds, Alberta, arrived yesterday with the district exhibit from that town, and immediately proceeded to arrange the space at his disposal in a manner worthy of the exhibit he is in charge of, and which he states will surpass anything ever sent out by Olds in any previous years.

PALMA REFUSES TO BE SLAPPED ON BOTH CHEEKS

Secretary Taft Finally Decides to Declare Himself Military Governor of the Republic of Cuba and American Interventior Will Forthwith Proceed.

Havana, Sept. 28.—President Palma is reported by friends who urged him to withdraw his resignation, to put aside his personal pique and disappointment and be guided solely by patriotism, to have replied: "I have been smitten on one cheek; I cannot turn the other."

Havana, Sept. 28.—That they shall make one last supreme effort to reconcile the republican differences were the instructions which Secretary Taft and Assistant Secretary of State Bacon to-day received from President Roosevelt. The American peace commissioners despair of being able to conciliate the factions, and so answered, but they came to the legation this morning determined to await the action of the session of congress called for to-day, before precipitating an American occupation. It was also decided to make a final appeal to the patriotism of every leader, regardless of whether he is affiliated with the government or the rebels.

Day of Waiting.

Havana, Sept. 28.—Up to the time that congress took a recess at 5 o'clock, this was a day of waiting. After that hour various probabilities became certainties. By half-past five President Palma had tearfully but definitely and firmly announced that his resignation was irrevocable. Following this announcement, the Moderates held a long consultation at the residence of Senator Dolz, at which it was decided that no Moderate should return to the session after the recess had been declared, thus precipitating a condition in which no provisional president could be elected. This throwing up of their hands practically would give over the control of affairs to the American commissioners. Up to that point the attitude of the commissioners also had been a waiting one.

Taft is Guessing.

Secretary Taft said on leaving for dinner that he then was in a position where he could not say anything for publication. During the day he heard various kinds of propositions and counter propositions about available and unavailable candidates for the presidency, including the extraordinary one from Zayas himself that his own election as a provisional president might result in peace. None of these proposals proved agreeable to all factions, and Secretary Taft, after the exchange of several cablegrams with President Roosevelt, also assumed a waiting attitude.

Threatens to Shoot.

Among those who visited the secretary during the recess of congress was Governor Nunez with other Liberal Nationals. They regretted that President Palma persisted in his resignation. Zayas came too, and declared that Secretary of the Interior Montalvo had five hundred soldiers in the arsenal close to the house of representatives, and was prepared to shoot him and other Liberals if they approached the house for to-night's meeting.

Intervention Now Certain.

It is certain that American intervention will take place to-morrow. Twenty-five United States marines were landed here to-night to guard the treasury building. There will be no further landings to-night, but Secretary Taft's proclamation creating himself provisional military governor of Cuba will be issued to-morrow.

Another full force of Americans will be landed to-morrow. To-night the city is policed by rural guards.

General Rodriguez, commander of the rural guards, is co-operating with Secretary Taft.

Receives Some Care.

The Esquimau kayak, or native canoe, which had been lying exposed to the inclemencies of the weather outside one of the buildings at the fair grounds, and to which attention was called in Thursday's issue of this paper, has been removed to the interior of the industrial building, and will be assigned a place of honor during the exhibition. After the fair is over it is quite likely that the kayak will be placed in the Carnegie library, which is a more fitting place for such a curiosity than any disused building in Queen's park can possibly be.

Hindoo Injured.

A Hindoo in the employ of the Fraser River mills came a croper through an open shaft yesterday and got mixed up with some of the machinery in such a manner that three fingers were lopped off one hand and a finger and thumb on the other hand were so badly smashed that they are completely out of business, and he may have to have them amputated. The unfortunate was removed to the Royal Columbian hospital as quickly as possible and speedy steps were taken to alleviate the pain.

Boat Stolen.

K. Johnson, one of the Fraser river fishermen, reports to the chief constable's department that his fishing boat has been stolen. He had tied it up at the B. C. cannery, and the last time he saw it was Sept. 26, at 1.30 a.m. The boat number was 1058, and bore the initials S. J. on the bow. The boat contained a complete net, and the owner is very anxious to have his property located and returned. The police are looking into the matter and hope soon to spot the missing craft.

Work at Sandheads.

The Goliath has been started upon its contract with the government public works department, and has now taken two scow loads of rock to the sandheads, where it will be used for strengthening the retaining walls at the sandheads. Each year the wall is more or less washed out by the action of the waves, necessitating the renovating of the walls. This year it is intended to build the walls considerably higher than they were before, and plans have been talked over which will perhaps lead to a permanent wall being constructed.

Mail Reaches Liverpool Within Contract Time

Montreal, Sept. 28.—The first Overseas Mail from the Orient to Great Britain has been delivered in Liverpool by the C.P.R. within the contract time of 29½ days. The Empress of Britain, which carried the mail from Quebec, arrived at Liverpool at 1 p.m. to-day. The mail was brought across the Pacific by the Empress of India, which left Hong Kong Aug. 30 at 4 p.m. and arrived at Vancouver at 6 p.m. Sept. 17. It was carried across Canada to Quebec in 88 hours on the C.P.R. Overseas Mail train and sent home by the Empress of Britain, which left Quebec at 3.15 p.m. on Sept. 21. The time therefore occupied in the trip from Hong Kong to Liverpool was only 29 days 4 hours 35 minutes, or 7 hours and 25 minutes within the contract time. The C.P.R. has more than filled its agreement with the postal authorities on both the east and westbound half circuits of the globe.

The Empress of Japan, bringing out the second Overseas Mail from Hong Kong, left that port yesterday at 4 p.m., and is due in Vancouver Oct. 15.

Humor and Philosophy

By DUNCAN M. SMITH

WHEN THE LIVER IS WRONG.

We sit and try to figure out
If life's worth living anyway,
If really this one sided bout
With fate does for the effort pay;
But, work the figures as we may
On every new or ancient plan,
When we have laid the pen away
We're just about where we began.

When we are young and life is fair
Love seems to be a winning card.
For fame we later set our snare,
Inviting it to our front yard.
For fortune we have great regard;
Awhile we listen to her call,
Then we grow old and wise and hard
And murmur sadly, "Is that all?"

We test each pleasure in its turn;
We play upon the different strings.
The candle at each end we burn
In trying all the different things
That hope with rosy settings brings
And offers, asking us to choose.
Each pleasure but in time takes wings
And it's the same old song, "We lose."

But when we're weary and blase
The wise man comes and says: "Oh, fudge!
You have dyspepsia, you jay.
Cut out the cigarettes and budge.
Then you'll be less inclined to judge
The world as such a vapid place.
Just take this as a friendly nudge
And put a doctor on your case."

How He Fell.

"What was this fall of Adam we hear so much about?"

"I suppose he wanted some more fruit and fell out of the apple tree."

Proving It.

There are sermons in stones,
Or, at least, we've been told
That the rocks gray and grim
Many useful hints hold.
And we realize then
They can turn such a trick
Teaching truths while you wait
When we're struck by a brick.

When No One Was Looking.

Three vegetarians had lapsed temporarily and were eating a beefsteak dinner.

"When shall we three meat again?" mused one, who was a regular cutup anyway.

In His Own Kind.

"A penny for your thoughts, Willie. I know I would get beat, but I am willing to risk it."

"I couldn't think of beating you out of a day's salary."

Protection For Him.

"Why didn't you rap that dude over the head with your umbrella?"

"I was afraid the Society For the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals would interfere."

The Foxy Simpleton.

Simple Simon met a pieman
Going to the fair.
Said Simple Simon to the pieman,
"Let me taste your ware."
"Oh," said the pieman to Simple Simon,
"Show me first your penny!"

Said Simple Simon to the pieman,
"Dear sir, I have been reading of late that pie is the cause of dyspepsia, our national ailment; therefore, if it will cause no hard feelings, I will pass it up"—thus deftly concealing from the pieman the heart rending fact that he had not any.

QUARTZ—Persons of eighteen years and over and joint stock companies holding free miners' certificates may obtain entry for a mining location.

A free miner's certificate is granted for one or more years, not exceeding five, upon payment in advance of $7.50 per annum for an individual, and from $50 to $100 per annum for a company, according to capital.

A free miner, having discovered mineral in place, may locate a claim 1500x1500 feet by marking out the same with two legal posts, bearing location notices, one at each end of the line of the lode, or vein.

The claim shall be recorded within fifteen days if ocated within ten miles of a mining recorder's office, one additional day allowed for every additional ten miles or fraction. The fee for recording a claim is $5.

At least $100 must be expended on the claim each year or paid to the mining recorder in lieu thereof. When $500 has been expended or paid, the locator may, upon having a survey made and upon complying with other requirements, purchase the land at $1.00 an acre.

Permission may be granted by the Minister of the Interior to locate claims containing iron and mica, also copper, in the Yukon Territory, of an area not exceeding 160 acres.

The patent for a mining location shall provide for the payment of a Royalty of 2½ per cent. of the sales of the products of the location.

PLACER MINING—Manitoba and the N. W. T., excepting the Yukon Territory: Placer mining claims generally are 100 feet square, entry fee $5, renewable yearly. On the North Saskatchewan River claims are either bar or bench, the former being 100 feet long and extending between high and low water mark. The latter includes bar diggings, but extends back to the base of the hill or bank, not exceeding 1000 feet. Where steam power is used claims 200 feet wide may be obtained.

Dredging in the Rivers of Manitoba and the N. W. T., excepting the Yukon Territory—A free miner may obtain only two leases of five miles each for a term of twenty years, renewable in the discretion of the Minister of the Interior.

The lessee's right is confined to the submerged beds or bars of the river below any low water mark, and subject to royalty at such rate as may be specified by Order in Council, for first year and $10 per mile for each subsequent year. Royalty same as placer mining.

Placer mining in the Yukon Territory—Creek, gulch, river and hill claims shall not exceed 250 feet in length, measured on the base line or general direction of the creek or gulch, the width being from 1000 to 2000 feet. All other placer claims shall be 250 feet square.

Claims are marked by two legal posts, one at each end, bearing notices. Entry must be obtained within ten days if the claim is within ten miles of the mining recorder's office. One extra day allowed for each additional ten miles or fraction.

The person or company staking a claim must hold a free miner's certificate.

The discoverer of a new mine is entitled to a claim of 1000 feet in length, aand if the party consists of two, 1500 feet altogether, on the output on which no royalty shall be charged the rest of the party ordinary claims only.

Entry fee $10. Royalty at the rate of two and one-half per cent. on the value of the gold shipped from the ject to the rights of all persons who have, or who may receive entries for bar diggings or bench claims, except on the Saskatchewan River, where the lessee can dredge to high-water mark on each alternative leasehold.

The lessee shall have a dredge in operation within one season from the date of the lease for each five miles but where a person or company has obtained more than one lease one dredge for each fifteen miles or fraction thereof is sufficient. Rental, $10 per annum for each mile of river leased. Royalty at the rate of two and a half per cent. collected on the output after it exceeds $10,000.

Dredging in the Yukon Territory—Six leases of five miles each may be granted to a free miner for a term of 20 years; also renewable.

The lessee's right is confined to the submerged bar or bars in the river below low water mark, that boundary to be fixed by its position on the 1st day of August in the year of the date of the lease.

The lessee shall have one dredge in operation within two years from the date of the lease, and one dredge for each five miles within six years from such date. Rental $100 per mile Yukon Territory to be paid to the comptroller.

No free miner shall receive a grant of more than one mining claim on each separate river, creek or gulch, but the same miner may hold any number of claims by purchase, and free miners may work their claims in partnership by filing notice and paying fee of $2. A claim may be abandoned and another obtained on the same creek, gulch or river, by giving notice and paying a fee.

Work must be done on a claim each year to the value of at least $200.

Should the prospector discover oil in paying quantities, and satisfactorily establish such discovery, an area not exceeding 640 acres, including the oil well, will be sold to the prospector at the rate of $1 an acre, and the remainder of the tract reserved, namely, 1280 acres, will be sold at the rate of $3 an acre, subject to royalty at such rate as may be specified by Order in Council.

TWO NEW BUILDINGS TO BEAUTIFY OTTAWA

Dominion Government Plans to Spend Three Million Dollars on Structures.

Ottawa, Sept. 28.—Upon the enlarged Major Hill park, Ottawa, between Sussex street and the Rideau canal, it is the intention of the Dominion government to erect two large public buildings at a cost which will be in the neighborhood of three million dollars. If nothing happens to upset the plans now being laid, these two additions to the architectural beauty of the capital will be under way next year, and will be completed by 1910.

As already announced, the minister of public works has decided to invite competitive designs for the new buildings, open to all Canadian architects. The award is to be in the hands of Edmund Burke, president of the Association of Architects of Ontario; Alcide Chausse, president of the Association of Architects, Quebec, and David Ewart, chief architect of the department of public works. Prizes amounting to $15,000 will be offered for the best plans, and the competitors must have their designs in by Feb. 15.

Each of the new edifices will be of stone and five storeys in height. Between them they will afford floor space of two hundred and twenty-five thousand feet, which is twelve thousand feet more than is now available in the east and west wings and the Langevin blocks all put together.

At present the government is paying for 186,131 feet of rented floor space in different parts of the city. So the two new edifices will not be far in advance of the accommodation actually required for the government.

One new block will be given up to the department of justice, the railway commission, the supreme court and the exchequer court. The other buildings will house other portions of the public service, some of which are now scattered in half a dozen different localities, and others which are very much overcrowded in their present quarters.

Senator David Takes Action.

Montreal, Sept. 28.—Senator David, city clerk of Montreal, yesterday instructed his attorneys to enter a libel action for $10,000 against La Patrie. The action will be based on the grounds that the French newspaper has in its labor columns been attacking the city clerk as an enemy of the working man, and casting unfavorable reflections upon him as a public official.

Another reason for the action for libel is that it is alleged La Patrie has published articles not only declaring that Mr. David is opposed to the interests of the working classes, but that he was devoting most of his time in Ottawa as a senator and drawing a big salary therefor, in addition to his duties as city clerk of Montreal.

Earl Grey Offers Medal.

Nanaimo, Sept. 28.—Earl Grey returned to Nanaimo last night after visiting Ladysmith and Extension, and left with Lieut.-Governor Dunsmuir on the Quadra to visit Comox, Union Bay and the surrounding country, the earl having expressed a desire to see some of the farm land of the island. Before leaving Nanaimo Earl Grey promised a silver medal to the school children for giving the best essay on the meaning of the word Nanaimo. The reception here yesterday was an immense success.

THE TIMBER "GIVE-AWAY."

The Victoria Colonist says:

"Some of the opposition newspapers are commenting upon the fact that there were 107 timber licenses issued during July, and that fifty applicants for licenses were advertising in a recent number of the Official Gazette. Eastern contemporaries remark that these cannot all be required for immediate exploitation. The present administration is acused of encouraging speculation and disposing too rapidly of the public assets. It happens, however, that an unexpected boom in timber has started up, with unusual activity in cruising. The government must administer the law as it is. If it were to refuse applications for timber under the law, the very newspapers that have raised the question would be howling about the obstacles placed in the way of investing capital. If the eastern Liberal papers depend upon their congeners in this province for a knowledge of its politics, they will be led very much astray."

What a wonderful respect the McBride government has for the letter of the law, to be sure! Everybody remembers how this was exemplified in the Kaien island business and certain other transactions. Perhaps we might also turn it the other way around and exclaim, What a wonderful respect the letter of the law has for the McBride government! It always seems to push them just the way they want to go.

Is the Colonist aware, however, that the law subjects the granting of these leases to "such conditions, regulations and restrictions as may from time to time be established by the lieutenant-governor-in-council"—which means the government; and has the Colonist forgotten the fact that similar powers have been used more than once by this same government, and with far less warrant?

And if the powers in the law are not held to be sufficient, whose fault is it? Has not this government been in power long enough to have set right anything that was wrong? Has not its attention been particularly drawn to the very subject under discussion—the policy to be adopted in order that the Province might derive the legitimate maximum of advantage from its timber resources? Did it not, only a few months ago, tinker with the laws relating to timber and land? Was it not warned, when in an earlier session it made "amendments" to the law immediately affecting the disposal of timber lands, that it was opening the door for some such state of affairs as we have to-day?

One wonders that an organ which has sworn allegiance to the McBride combination for five and twenty years should represent its members—not as Neros, fiddling while Rome was burning; there would be some force about that—but as a lot of helpless babies, sucking their thumbs while the house tumbles to pieces about their ears.

GOOD CITIZENS.

Dealing with the ever vital subject of education, a writer in an American review says:

"Obviously the making of citizens is the prime aim of public schooling, and the degree of success in it is the measure of justification of its already great cost, which is bound steadily to increase. The sarcastic cry of the British Conservative, Robert Lowe, when the suffrage was extended: 'Now, let us educate our masters,' was a reluctant acknowledgment that in modern conditions the vote, for good or ill, gives mastery. Every generation of Americans since colonial days has recognized that fact, each more intelligently than its predecessor, and the complementary fact that the masters should be educated, and that the education should be constantly more careful and thorough, not solely or chiefly, because of the general value of education, but because of the need the self-governing people have of education. We are far from getting or giving the best education possible for this purpose, considerable as the advance has been. The direction and tendency of the educational movement have been toward the right end; the actual progress has been, necessarily, slow. It will continue to be slow; but it is sure."

Each tiny grain of WINDSOR TABLE SALT is a perfect crystal—pure and dry. That is why it never cakes.

The exhibition at Victoria has had, on the third and fourth days, very favorable weather, and good attendances. The stock exhibit appears to have been the most admired department. Special mention is also made of the showing of flowers. Horse racing and "broncho busting" were the leading attractions. Many of the exhibits and also a large part of the stock will be brought over here for the provincial exhibition next week.

Speaking in Vancouver, the Governor-General referred to the story that the Princess Louise had described British Columbia as lying half way between Balmoral and heaven. The Victoria Times makes the correction that the Princess was speaking of Victoria, and not of the Province. Better to let it go, however, as Lord Grey put it. Victoria is in no danger of losing its reputation as a beautiful city. Nature has taken care that its claims in that respect are placed beyond dispute; and it can well afford to talk about the beauty of the whole Province. For this is a beautiful Province as well as a rich one. The capital, we all know, has its full share of the beauty; but all over the island and mainland there are lovely places and grand places. Majestic mountains, grand forests, rushing rivers, smiling lakes, gem-like islands set in silver seas—we have them all.

Indians on Trial.

Victoria, Sept. 28.—Nine Babine Indians charged with obstructing the officers of the marine and fisheries department in discharge of their duties, are being tried to-day by Police Magistrate Hicks-Beach at Hazelton.

Advices to this effect have been received by both the Dominion and provincial departments interested, and the necessary authority issued to hire court house, etc. R. E. Loring, Indian agent at Hazelton, has the matter in hand.

Capt. Wood Returns.

Victoria, Sept. 28.—Capt. J. Wood, United States navy, who took the floating dock Dewey from New York to Manila via Suez, reached here on the Aorangi this morning on his way home. He said the voyage was devoid of incident except the parting of the cable twice. "It was like travelling half way round the world in a big house," was Capt. Woods comment. Most of the crew of the Dewey arrived on the same ship.

Sells More Land.

J. Rabbitt has sold the balance of his holdings in the vicinity of the Providence orphanage. At the outset he had 29 acres of lan dthere. He sold two parcels of ten acres each at intervals, and last week sold the remaining nine acres, upon which he had erected a comfortable house.

Prof. Prince, Dominion commissioner of fisheries, was in town yesterday conferring with Inspector Sword. It is probable that Prof. Prince will visit the fish hatcheries on his way back to Ottawa, for which place he expects to start next week.

Mr. Holbrook, the artistic decorator who has been working at the beautifying of the arch near the C.P.R. depot, completed his work there yesterday, and will commence work on the Agassiz experimental farm exhibit stand at the fair this afternoon.

The manager of the Bank of Montreal will have the name of that institution blazoned on the building in vari-colored lights during the fair, and will also make an elaborate display of bunting on the occasion of the arrival of His Excellency Earl Grey.

D. McKenzie, of Clover Valley, is expected to arrive in the city this morning, and will at once assume charge of the stock department of the provincial exhibition. Mr. McKenzie has been official yard master at the fair for a number of years, and is especially adapted for this position.

There was a young farmer of Surrey,
Whose nerves were thrown all in a flurry.
"This line will make me rich," cried he,
"Then my best girl will smile on me"—
And off to the poll he did hurry.

The Great Northern railway will run special trains to and from Vancouver during fair week. Trains will leave Vancouver afternoon and evening, and returning will leave Westminster at 6 and 9 p.m. This will be a convenient arrangement for visitors from Vancouver. Round trip fare, 50 cents.

S. Thompson, the proprietor of Thompson's livery stables, Columbia street, has purchased Benson's blacksmithing establishment on Eighth street, and also the lot adjoining. It is Mr. Thompson's intention to tear down the blacksmith shop in the near future and erect a large livery barn which will occupy that site and also the lot adjoining.

The mineralogical specimens from the Carnegie library have been removed to the exhibition grounds, and will be placed on show during the fair. The two men who had the task of carrying the heavy cases to their place in the industrial building estimated the weight of the exhibit at about seven tons, and complained of being tired long before their task was completed.

The Vulcan boiler works is just about ready to ship to Blaine the first logging engine boiler ever built in the city of New Westminster. The boiler is 4 8 x 72, and will be part of the equipment of a donkey engine. The manager is now building another large new greenhouse heating furnace for a local firm of gardeners. If it is ready in time, it will figure among the exhibits in the industrial building at the fair.

Silver and bronze medals, as well as a handsome diploma, have been offered for competition in the automobile hill climbing contests that are to be decided here next week. From present indications, these contests will be closely watched by a large number of autoists, and the winning machine will secure a valuable advertisement as a result of conquering New Westminster's hills in quicker time than its competitors.

George Burgess, of Barnet, was a visitor in the city yesterday. He stated that he had recently returned from Kamlops and the upper country, where he had been travelling in the interests of the Barnet mill. Mr. Burgess' object in taking this trip was for the purpose of buying a number of horses for the mill, but did not meet with very much success, as he found stock very scarce in those parts and he had to be satisfied with a lesser number of horses than he had originally intended to bring back with him.

FRIDAY'S MARKET REPORT

Last week's market was a "buzzer," but this week's was "the limit," said the market clerk yesterday, and if numbers may be considered the criterion, it was certainly in no way behind other markets held in the Royal City.

Everybody was on hand either to buy or sell, and there seemed to be a regular scramble for the stalls. Buyers were tumbling over each other, and when 12 o'clock arrived there was scarcely a soul about the market, as all the vendors had sold out and cleared off up town to blow in some of their superfluous cash among the merchants.

The fruit market is advancing rapidly, and the apples were piled up on top of each other many cases deep. Gravensteins, Wealthies and other choice varieties were among the number which changed hands. Among those who sold were: N. McKay, Glen Valley; H. L. Carter, Langley; W. M. Barrett, Sumas; H. J. Ansell, Haney; Alex. Lamb, New Westminster; H. L. Frederickson, Aldergrove; J. Harding, Lochiel; D. H. Nelson, Langley Prairies, and G. A. Boyle, Mount Lehman. Martin Monk was on hand with his usual supply of fish, and among other things had a good sized sturgeon on exhibition which attracted considerable attention from those who were strangers to the product of the Fraser river. Mr. Monk also had a quantity of wild ducks for sale, which he says are particularly scarce this year. Mallards sold at $1 a brace. All the usual butchers were there and offered a select variety of roasts and boils of all descriptions, and most of them sold out.

Butter and eggs were in great demand, as usual, and the former sold for from 30c to 35c. Some sold two pounds for 65c. Eggs were somewhat scarce and retailed at 40c dozen.

Poultry was offered in large quantities. There were not so many pens of birds offered as on some former occasions, but the crates were larger and filled to the limit. Ducks were somewhat scarce. The dairy men and women were all in their accustomed places and made an early start for up town; for the first time in two weeks none of them missed the boats home.

W. Whiting, as usual, led the van along the line of choice vegetable display. His stand was filled, and the variety was about complete. Anything you did not see it was only necessary to ask for.

Celery was offered at 4 bunches for 10c.

Corn, 15c dozen heads.

Cabbage, 5c head.

Citron, 3 for 25c.

Parsnips, carrots and beets, 3 bunches for 10c.

Pumpkins, 15c to 25c each, according to size.

Tomatoes (ripe), 4 lbs. for 25c.

Tomatoes (green), 40c box.

Onions, 2½c to 3c lb.

The florists were all there, and offered pot plants and vegetables, and among other things a limited quantity of late blackberries.

An auction was conducted at the close by T. J. Trapp, at which a number of head of horses and cattle changed hands, also farm necessaries along the line of buggies, harness and similar articles.

The general tone of the market was healthy. There was a good supply of beef, and it was all sold at quotations. Mutton scarce, good demand. Veal, good supply and ready demand. Pork, somewhat larger supply than usual, with ready buyers at quotations. Potatoes were somewhat scarce with a fair demand. Onions were scarce and only sold in small quantities. Butter, good supply and ready demand. Eggs, slim supply and vigorous demand. Apples, increasing supply and good demand.

Market Quotations.

Beef, hindquarter, 8c to 8½c lb.
Beef, forequarter, 4c to 5c lb.
Lamb, 12c to 12½c lb.
Veal, 9c lb.
Potatoes, $15 ton.
Onions, $1.25 sack.
Eggs, 40c dozen.
Butter, 30c lb.
Fowl, $6 to $7 dozen.
Chickens, $4 to $5.50 dozen.
Ducks, $8.50 dozen.
Apples, 70c to $1 box.

Gorman Arrested.

Toronto, Sept. 28.—John O. Gorman, of Streetsville, a well-known Liberal worker, was arrested by Provincial Detective Rogers and was arraigned before Magistrate Denison at Toronto on a charge of conspiracy to buy votes in the Hyman-Gray bye-election in London in 1905. He was remanded after hearing the evidence, and is held on $1,000 bail.

Norman Brown left yesterday morning for Winnipeg, and will be away from home for about a month. Before returning, Mr. Brown will visit several places of interest in Manitoba and the Northwest.

There was such excitement in Four Corners as had not been known in that small settlement for many a day.

The quail on the Cornish estate were protected by the game laws from April to September and by Dawson, the gamekeeper, at all times, yet one May morning found Dan O'Connor in the Cornish preserves with a brace of quail at his belt, whereupon Dawson, summoning the sheriff from Windsor Bend, had promptly arrested O'Connor and jailed him.

Such a thing had never happened before in the history of Four Corners, and public feeling ran high. A crowd had gathered at the one store the place boasted, and their muttered threats finally merged into open defiance.

"I heerd that Dawson had kinder got his eye on a couple more o' the boys," hinted old man Pierson.

A ruffianly looking fellow leaning against the counter looked up with a heavy scowl.

"He'd better look out the boys don't get their eyes on him first," he growled savagely.

"A few birds more or less ain't nothin' to make a fuss over nohow," put in a tall, lank fellow behind the stove.

"He's got to look fer a little shootin'," mumbled old man Pierson.

The hard faced fellow against the counter straightened up and moved slowly toward the door. "He might 's well look for it; it's comin' to him," he said menacingly as he slouched heavily from the room.

The rougher element of Four Corners were used to depending upon their rifles to eke out an existence, meager enough at best, and in the lifetime of old Mr. Cornish, the former owner of the great estate, their depredations had been practically unchecked, but now a new order of things prevailed. Old Mr. Cornish was dead, and the villagers regarded the son who had succeeded him with suspicion and the gamekeeper he had appointed with sullen hatred.

The villagers were not alone in their disapproval of Dawson.

"You are making a mistake in appointing him," the doctor's daughter had declared, her brown eyes resting on the tall young man beside her.

"I don't see why," Robert Cornish had returned stubbornly. "Something has to be done to preserve the game. These fellows are a lawless set, shooting in season and out and ruining the preserves. Besides"—his voice rung determinedly—"it is my property."

"Yes," she admitted, "and yet they have so little it doesn't seem quite fair they should have no rights."

"But I'm willing they should do a certain amount of hunting," he protested, "only they must observe the game laws, and they must also realize that it is my property, not theirs."

"Do they know you will allow them a certain amount of game?"

Robert Cornish shook his head. "Not yet. Dawson advised cutting them off short until they learn to realize the estate is private property. When they understand shooting is a privilege, not a right, they will give less trouble."

Molly shook her head doubtfully.

"I know them better than you do," she said. "They are lawless and ignorant, but there is more good in them than you believe, and Dawson isn't the man to deal with them. I wish you would talk to them yourself," she went on.

There was a brief silence.

"I will—if you wish," he said impulsively. "I will do it tomorrow."

But on the morrow two unforeseen things happened. Robert Cornish was called suddenly away on an urgent business trop and Dan O'Connor bagged the quail.

It was the evening after the excited discussion at the store that Molly, prompted by an unusual feeling of restlessness, crossed the room to the window and, stepping out on the veranda, wandered down into the moonlit garden. Robert Cornish would be back that night, but of course it was no vague hope of meeting him that brightened her eyes or led her through the gate into the road, made light as day by the full moon overhead.

"Hist, Miss Molly, hist!" said a voice close at her ear.

She started violently as a small, unkempt figure crept through the hedge and stopped short in her path.

"Don't go on, miss," said the boy, with much excitement. "Don't! They are waitin' fer Dawson below, an' maybe they might do ye some harm."

"Waiting? For what? To shoot him?" asked the girl breathlessly.

"Yes, miss. The wagon has gone to Windsor Bend to meet him, an' when it comes back—well, they're waitin', miss, down in the hollow."

"But it isn't Dawson the wagon has gone to meet," said Molly in a horrified whisper. "It is Mr. Cornish."

"I guess it won't make no difference to them, miss, whether it's Dawson or the master himself. They're bent on blood."

The boy darted through the hedge, leaving the girl, white and horrified, in the middle of the road. For a moment she stood as if stunned. Then her mind leaped riotously to the chance of escape. "If I can reach the Windsor road through the cross path," she thought desperately, "I may be in time."

She turned through a broken gap in the hedge, into a field beside the road, and, breaking into a quick run, rushed through the wet grass into the thicket, over a high bank, into a tangle of blackberry bushes, whose thorns clutched at her light dress, through another gap, across a wall, whose stones slipped and slid under her feet, on again, lightly, swiftly, through a plowed field, across a ditch, over a marsh where her slippered feet sank deep in the soft, wet sod, still onward, with a passionate thankfulness in her heart as she heard the distant ring of horses' hoofs.

Could she reach him?

"Robert! Robert!" she cried desperately.

The sounds came nearer. A light road cart swung swiftly toward her.

"Robert!" she cried again. Then, as a tall young man in the cart pulled up his horses sharply, she sank, spent and breathless, beside the Windsor road.

* * * * * * *

The excitement had largely been a matter of misunderstanding, and when young Cornish had explained his plan of sharing the game, and, furthermore, had refused to prosecute the ringleaders of the disturbance, Four Corners was with him to a man.

It is hard to say which of his two next moves—his marriage to Molly or his appointment of Dan O'Connor to the position of gamekeeper—evoked the more admiration.

"Each uv 'em bein', so to speak, a stroke o' genius," mumbled old man Pierson.

The Sea a Good Neighbor to Man.

Let us be thankful that we have not got to send the sea to school and teach it to think. The sense of restfulness it gives us as we contemplate it [illegible] a good deal, I suspect, from [illegible] that here is one powerful and active creature that we have not got to train. It will take care of itself, and we can take care of ourselves and not bother about it. It will never want to vote, never blame us for misrule, never shame us with evidences of our selfishness and neglect. Restless as it is, turbulent and untamable it is a comfortable neighbor, as neighbors go. Really, is there anything else on the earth that takes care of itself? The mountains have forest fires and need land laws and game laws, the very air may be polluted with smoke and smells, the cataracts are water power and can be stolen, the forests are merchandise, the plains are real estate, but the sea is not property, not perishable, not damageable. It is the one thing that balks greed and laughs at abuse—the one thing whereof there is enough to go around, and in which no successful effort need be feared to claim a monopoly.—E. S. Martin in Harper's Magazine.

Time to Change.

"Ladies and gentlemen," said the lecturer after bowing to the first round of applause that followed his introduction. "I propose this evening to address you on the all important subject of 'the training and rearing of boys.' It is a broad subject that is demanding more and more attention every day. In the beginning, and in order to lay a broad foundation for the proper treatment of this great subject, I will"—

"Excuse me, professor," interrupted the harassed little man who was almost hidden away in the corner, "but how many boys have you?"

"Well, er, um—well, the fact is, sir, I have no children at all," stammered the lecturer.

"That's all right, then," said the little man, sinking back into his seat. "I was afeered you had a few of 'em, an' if you had I knowed it was a cinch you didn't know nothin' about raisin' 'em. You kin go ahead and I'll listen, 'cause I'm lookin' for expert advice on the subject."

But somehow or other the lecturer thought best to change the subject.

Farmer Meets With Accident.

An unfortunate accident happened to a farmer named Hornby yesterday morning as he was driving into the city with a load of produce for the weekly market. His team shied at some foreign substance on the Scott road, and before the driver could control them they had started plunging and rearing, and finished by landing the rig down a ten-foot embankment. The contents of the rig, mostly potatoes, vegetables and other marketable produce, were scattered promiscuously around the landscape, and assistance had to be requisitioned before the horses could be extricated from their precarious position. As a result of the accident, Mr. Hornby's display of goods at the market was rather smaller than usual.

LOCAL NEWS IN BRIEF.

C. H. Richardson, of Richardson's Landing, was in the city yesterday and purchased two fine cows at the market auction sale, which he took home with him on the afternoon boat.

A telegram received yesterday by Mayor Keary officially fixes the time at which the governor-general will arrive in the city. The telegram is signed H. J. S. Muskett, private secretary to Earl Grey, and reads as follows: "His excellency will arrive at 1.30 p.m. Am writing."

Adequate protection against fire is being taken at the exhibition grounds, and a number of hose reels and fire extinguishers have been placed in position in the different buildings. Stand pipes have also been placed in all the buildings, the water is connected everywhere, and every possible measure has been taken to quickly master any outbreak of fire during the fair.

Mr. Robertson, of Tynehead, has assumed the charge of preparing the Surrey district exhibit at the provincial fair. He came into the city yesterday for the purpose of commencing work on the display. He brought with him among other things a sheaf of hemp grown in Surrey which was considerably over ten feet in length, and will figure in the exhibition building. The Surrey people are going to make a big bid for first prize.

Robert Lyle, who has been visiting his niece, Mrs. W. Henderson, of this city, and his nephew, William Lyle, leaves to-day for his home near Derry, Ireland. Mr. Lyle has a flax mill in Erin's isle which he manages himself when he is there. Twice a year he takes a flying trip across the Atlantic, but while he always admires the West, he says that Erin's little old emerald isle is lots good enough for him to end his days in.

John Powers returned yesterday from Penticton, where he has been residing for the past month. Mr. Powers, who was until recently in the assessment department of the city hall, has returned here to take the position of assistant secretary of the exhibition board, a position which he has occupied for several years. He states that the Penticton district has greatly improved on account of the irrigation work done in that part by the Southern Okanagan Land Co., and that everything is now in a prosperous condition.

Good Minstrels.

For more than forty years the well-known Hi Henry's minstrels have been noted for their excellence, and the management for its sound business ways. The organization is known and popular from sea to sea, and Hi Henry has for more than twenty years been styled the "king of minstrels." It is Mr. Henry's policy to keep abreast of the times, always presenting the latest; in fact, he is the originator of many of the most sensational minstrel effects. His performance is clean, his costuming elegant, his scenery gorgeous and effective, and, being a graduated musician, he is capable of always presenting the very best in the musical line. Fifty talented versatile stars appear in the splendid programme he presents. His band is conceded even by other minstrel managers to be the very best of the minstrel profession. The changes have been so radical in his present season's programme that no one could recognize the slightest resemblance to anything ever before presented. The famous and popular organization will appear at the opera house on Thursday, Oct. 4.
