MISERY FOLLOWS SOUTHERN STORM

Heavy Rains and Wind Cause Suffering to the Homeless People of Mobile, Ala—Lighthouses Washed Into the Sea.

Mobile, Ala., Oct. 1.—Haunted by the recollection of the great storm which has just passed, sustaining further injuries and increased financial loss from a heavy rainfall to-day, and fearful of what to-morrow may bring, the residents of this city to-day had a most uncomfortable twelve hours, and retired for the night filled with foreboding. Many residents were at times in a state of panic over the dispatches from Washington which directed that storm warnings be displayed along the Florida coast. Many structures were so weakened by the blow of Wednesday that they might not withstand a second attack.

Business houses to-day sustained severe loss from the heavy rainstorm which set in shortly after midnight and lasted twelve hours. Scarcely a building has a roof capable of keeping out the rain. Many have no roofs at all, and during the storm the water poured down through elevator shafts, leaking roofs and upon unprotected upper floors, ruining considerable merchandise.

At his office in the city hall, Mayor Lyons sat at his desk with his feet drawn up under his chair to keep them out of the water, and wore his hat to keep the rain from falling on his head.

The roof of the city hospital was leaking badly, and the mayor dispatched an emergency corps to make repairs. The relief committee agreed to-day that contributions from the neighboring sections of the country would be accepted for the aid of the sufferers in towns in the southern part of the bay.

Louisville & Nashville brought trains into the city from the north for the first time since the storm.

The Norge (Norwegian) was reported lost, but the crew were all saved, being picked up by a passing steamer.

Additional Results.

New Orleans, Oct. 1.—The deaths of Lighthouse Keepers Neil Nelson and Andrew Hunson, and the washing of their lighthouses into the sea, were reported to-day by Lighthouse Inspector Sears. Fourteen dead and as many more missing is the result of last Thursday's hurricane in the vicinity of New Orleans.

The Brighter Side.

Pensacola, Fla., Oct. 1.—A feeling of cheerfulness after days of gloom prevailed to-day. The destroyed portions of the city wharves will be rebuilt on a larger scale.

The death rate reaches 33.

To-day the cutter Penrose, loaded with provisions, made a trip the entire length of Santa Rosa sound, where they found many hungry and destitute families, who were given provisions.

The Louisville & Nashville railroad company learned to-day that two trains loaded with freight and the engines were left on the track by the crews, when the water put out the engine fires and were washed into the bay and lost.

Presents for Indian Chiefs.

London, Oct 1.—Lord Elgin, the colonial secretary, informs Lord Strathcona that the King is graciously pleased to present portraits of himself and Queen Alexandra to British Columbia Indian chiefs received by the King at Buckingham palace on Aug. 13.

Roubaix, France, Oct. 1.—Five persons were killed, two were mortally and five seriously injured as a result of a boiler explosion which occurred in the Etienne spinning mill here to-day.

COSSACKS COMMIT AWFUL ATROCITIES

Exhaust Themselves in the Work of Beating Innocent Peasants to Death, and Then Compel Them to Slay Each Other.

Kjerson, Oct. 1.—Ninety-seven peasants were tried here to-day on the charge of having devastated the estate of M. Krivoshein, ex-minister of railways.

Sixty-three were sentenced to imprisonment, while thirty-four were acquitted.

The trial brought out a recital of the horrible atrocities committed by the authorities upon the accused. The chief of the district, accompanied by Cossacks, reached the estate soon after the devastation. All the peasants on the grounds were at once gathered in. No investigation was made. The chief invited priests to administer the last sacrament to the prisoners, and then ordered the Cossacks to beat them all to death. The butchery lasted for four hours. Twenty-three peasants were killed and 130 were mutilated. The Cossacks, then thoroughly tired out, compelled the peasants to continue flogging each other, and men had to beat their own brothers, sons and fathers. The victims of this slaughter were innocent, those really guilty having escaped by flight. In spite of these revelations, the court pronounced sentences as above.

OFFICIALS DELIGHTED WITH PRINCE RUPERT

Grand Trunk Pacific Men Return to Vancouver From Trip to Kaien Island.

Vancouver, B.C., Oct. 1.—C. M. Hays and other officials of the Grand Trunk Pacific returned to-day from Kaien island on the Princess May. They said work was being rushed on the wharves at Prince Rupert, adding two or three thousand more feet. Men will be working all winter. They are delighted with the harbor. Mr. Hays says it is the best on the Pacific coast. He was non-committal as to when actual construction from this end will begin. He says the company will have to build to Vancouver.

Joseph Smith Arrested For Having Five Wives

Salt Lake City, Utah, Oct. 1.—The president of the Mormon church, Joseph F. Smith, was arrested and bound over to the district court to-day on the charge of living unlawfully with five wives. The complaint was sworn to by a Mormon deputy sheriff, the warrant was served by order of a Mormon sheriff, and the committing magistrate also is a Mormon. Smith was arraigned immediately after his arrest and waived preliminary hearing. After being bound over, he was released on his own recognizances.

PROVINCIAL FAIR OPENS TO-DAY.

Everybody Gets Busy, and the Royal City Takes on a Festive Appearance---To-day's Programme.

The Royal City is already in gala dress in anticipation of the festivities of the day. Flags, bunting and evergreens figure very prominently in the patriotic display. At 7 o'clock this morning River Pilot Captain Rogers will leave for the mouth of the river on board the Georgia, and will take charge of the D.G.S. Quadra, on which will be the governor-general and other government officials, and the Thistle, on which will be Lady Grey and her party. The two vessels will then proceed to the C.P.R. wharf, where they are expected to arrive at 1.30 p.m. The vice-regal party, fourteen in number, will disembark and will be received by the mayor and aldermen, J. B. Kennedy, M.P., and T. Gifford, M.P.P. Carriages will be in waiting, and amid the inspiring strains of a patriotic selection, played by the Citizens' band, the company will pass through the business section of the city to the exhibition grounds.

Opening Ceremony.

The opening ceremony will take place at 2 p.m. in front of the agricultural building, where an address of welcome will be presented to their excellencies from the city and another from the R. A. & I. society.

Among the invited guests on the platform, in addition to the distinguished visitors, will be Lieut.-Governor and Mrs. Dunsmuir and Mrs. Belyea, Bishop and Mrs. Dart, T. J. Trapp (president of the society) and Mrs. Trapp, Mayor Keary and Mrs. Keary, Ald. and Mrs. Howay, Ald. and Mrs. Adams, Ald. and Mrs. Davies, Ald. and Mrs. Jardine, Ald. and Mrs. Henley, Ald. and Mrs. Garrett, Ald. Shiles, Judge and Mrs. Bole, G. D. Brymner and Mrs. Brymner, Sheriff and Mrs. Armstrong, W. H. Ladner (vice-president), J. B. Kennedy, M.P., and Mrs. Kennedy, Thos. Gifford, M.P.P., and Mrs. Gifford, Premier and Mrs. McBride and any member of his cabinet or of either the local or federal houses of parliament.

Business Section Gay.

The business section of the city presents a festive appearance. The arch at the foot of Eighth street, through which the vice-regal party will pass, is tastefully arranged, and will look doubly pretty at night when lit up with its festoons of electric lights.

Columbia street is festooned with the flags of various nations, and the British flag and the Stars and Stripes in many places wave side by side.

The merchants have, many of them, got well into the spirit of the thing and are vieing with each other in the manner of their window decorations.

C. A. Welsh has prepared a special window showing the Swan soap premiums. In the centre of the display is a revolving pyramid illuminated by electric lights all the colors of the rainbow, and as the pyramid revolves the lights are constantly changing in a beautiful and interesting manner.

In the window of Atcheson's tailor shop is arranged a tasteful display of presents which will be donated to the winners in the Caledonian sports. The window is tastefully draped with Scottish plaids and the presents also rest upon the same class of material, giving the window a particularly rich and finished appearance.

The windows of Johnston's big shoe house give a metropolitan appearance to that part of the street. The display attracts the attention of every passer-by. It is in keeping with the perpetual enterprise of the firm.

The B. C. E. R. office is festooned with bunting in addition to its electrical display.

The Bank of Commerce building has been ornamented by streamers of patriotic color.

Anderson & Lusby have arranged a display of cutlery in their windows in the form of archways, and nestling in the center of one of the archways is a colored picture of the King and Queen in their robes of state.

Sinclair's shoe store window has been brightened by the addition of patriotic colors and electric light effects.

Many of the other windows in the city will be equally ornate if indications materialize. In nearly all the stores last night clerks were hustling around behind closed blinds in the busiest manner.

Best of Music Promised.

The city band, under the leadership of J. W. Rushton, is doing a considerable amount of hard practising, and will render music of a first-class character throughout the exhibition. The organization has been considerably strengthened for the occasion, and will turn out each day from 25 to 30 strong. W. Kendrick, a new player of exceptional merit, has been secured and has taken up his permanent residence in the city. He will play solo cornet. Among other players will be H. Belford, of Seattle, who is considered to be one of the finest players on the coast, and J. S. Brown, baritone. The programme of music for the evening band concert will be as follows:

Canadiin Anthem—The Maple Leaf.
March—Beau Ideal ..... Sousa

Warship in Port.

H.M.S. Shearwater arrived in port about 4.30 yesterday and anchored off Sixth street. A number of the tars had shore leave last night and were distributed throughout the city. A considerable number of them found their way up to the Eagles hall, where the band boys were practising. They will remain at anchor during the progress of the fair.

Final Meeting of Board.

The final meeting of the board of control of the R. A. & I. before the opening of the fair was held last evening in the manager's office at the exhibition grounds, when all details connected with the important annual event were finally settled. Mr. Muskett, the governor-general's private secretary, was also closeted with Mr. Keary for a long time, when all the arrangements in connection with to-day's vice-regal visit were submitted to the secretary for his approval.

Finishing Touches.

The finishing touches were being placed to many an exhibit last night, and anxious exhibitors spent all night arranging and rearranging the display of their wares, until they at last hit

CUBAN STUDENTS RAISE A RUMPUS

March Through Streets of Havana and Shout "Down With American Control"—Governor Taft Sugarcoats the Pill.

Havana, Oct. 1.—The first anti-American demonstration occurred in Havana this evening at 7 o'clock, when one hundred and fifty academy students and other youths straggled through some of the down town streets shouting,

"Viva the Cuban republic."

"Down with American control."

This demonstration was not treated seriously. The crowd received few accessions.

The executive committee of the Moderate party has issued a manifesto strongly inferring that the American commission is to blame for its intervention. It summarizes the attitude of the party, eulogizes President Palma, his action and resignation, reiterates the legality of the last elections, and denies all responsibility for revolution and the results thereof.

The manifesto asserts that the basis presented by President Roosevelt's commissioners were practically the same as those presented by the Liberals.

The Moderate leaders say that intervention already was an accomplished fact before their withdrawal from congress. The document says also that the commissioners sent a letter to the speaker of the house stating positively certain conditions as essential for the person eligible to the presidency.

General Machado, of Santa Clara, has issued a circular urging all patriotic Cubans in the field to lay down their arms and to return to their homes, protect life and property from the wandering marauders in the Santa Clara province, and to molest no one who has served the government.

Taft Makes a Speech.

Havana, Oct. 1.—Governor Taft today visited the university of Havana and participated in the annual opening. He presented the diplomas to the successful students and made a speech explaining the spirit of American intervention, which was enthusiastically applauded.

Mr. Taft in his address said: "It recently has fallen to the lot of the people of the United States, who have struggled along the road to popular government and fallen down and picked themselves up again, to aid some countries who have not had that experience in coming to the enjoyments and the benefits of popular government. The republic of Cuba has progressed so rapidly in the last four years as to almost intoxicate the believers in popular government. It was like the growth of a tropical plant which needed cutting in order that the stalk might gain strength. Perhaps it is necessary that the Cubans should be warned that the foundations of self-government must be broad and solid rather than high and conspicuous. It is saddening to me to be called to Cuba, and still sadder to President Roosevelt, who is so identified with her liberation, that we are here at the time of a stumble in Cuba's progress toward popular government, but it has given us an opportunity to assure you in the name of Roosevelt and the American people that we are here only to help you. With our arm under your arm, we are lifting you again on the path of wonderful progress you have travelled. We shall, I am confident, be able to point with pride to the fact that the United States is not an exploiting nation, but that she has such deep sympathy with the progress of popular government as to be willing to spend her blood and treasure in the spread of such principles."

BRITANNIA FAILS TO MAKE REPORT

All Balloons But One In the Big International Contest Are Heard From, and Missing Man May Be the Winner.

Paris, Oct. 1.—A semi-official announcement of the result of the competition for the James Gordon Bennett cup for international aeronauts was given out to-night as follows:

Winner—Lieut Frank P. Lahm, of America, with the balloon United States.

Second—Signor Von Willer, Italy, with the balloon Elfe.

Third—Count de la Vaulx, France, with the balloon Walhalla.

A definite and official announcement of the result will not be issued until a verification that the rules of the contest were carried out has been obtained.

Only One Missing.

With the exception of C. S. Rolls, in the Britannia, all the balloons which left Paris yesterday are now accounted for. The Britannia has not been seen since she was reported from Cranbrook.

The City of Chateauhoux, carrying Jacques Balsao, one of the French contestants, has come down at Singleton, in Sussex.

Rolls May Be Winner.

Later—Lieut. Lahm's apparent victory may be changed when Hon. C. S Rolls, one of the English contestants, is heard from. Rolls' landing has not yet been recorded, and there is some doubt regarding his relative position. Considerable anxiety is felt for his safety, although his experience and caution are regarded as certain to bring him safely to the ground. Up to the present time, however, the performance of Lahm and Hersey, in the balloon United States, in reaching 15 miles north of Scarborough, England, is the best record attained by any one of the fifteen starters.

Sheridan Floated.

Honolulu, Oct. 1.—The U. S. transport Sheridan, which ran aground on Barbers Point island off Oahu, was floated to-day, but as it was apparent the Sheridan was about to founder, she was beached.

Back at Washington.

Washington, Oct. 1.—President and Mrs. Roosevelt and three of their children returned to Washington this afternoon from their summer home at Oyster Bay, L.I., where they have spent the past three months.

James Targett Makes Sure Target of Himself

Edmonton, Oct. 1.—On Saturday afternoon James Targett committed suicide by shooting himself through the heart with a double barrelled shotgun. The unfortunate event occurred in a stable on Ninth street about 4 o'clock, and from evidence discovered the deed was most deliberate. He was found sitting in a corner of the stable with the muzzle of the gun pointed towards his side with the "forearm" in his hand, which he evidently removed to reach the trigger and discharge the contents of the gun. He had $1,200 in the Bank of Montreal and had $36 in his pocket when he killed himself.

J. H. Gillis Arrives.

J. H. Gillis, a transcontinental pedestrian, arrived in this city last evening on a short visit to his cousin, J. Gillis, a salesman employed by the T. J. Trapp Co. Mr. Gillis left North Sydney, N.S., about eight months ago on a walking trip across Canada, and arrived in Vancouver last week, none the worse for his arduous task. The trip was undertaken as the result of a wager, Mr. Gillis being of the opinion that he could walk to the Pacific coast and return to North Sydney in twelve months, but he now finds that it is impossible for him to do this, and has abandoned the idea of getting back within the year, though he is determined to make the return journey on shanks' pony, and promises that he will not steal rides on freight trains.

This walking wonder, as he sometimes styles himself, stands about six feet three inches in his stocking feet, and is rather slightly built for his height. He is bronzed by long exposure to all kinds of weather, but states that he is in the best of health, and certainly looks like it.

Brand New Minstrels.

From the rise of the curtain until its fall, or for two and a half hours, one solid round of laughter greets the bristling, scintillating programme of Hi Henry's new minstrels, which contains an extensive and varied selection of leading character and vaudeville favorites, together with fine singing, rich scenic effects and the latest and newest electrical prismatic effects, beautiful costumes and good music. Nothing more can be added to all these to produce what the public appreciates and sustains—a real first-class minstrel show. Hi Henry presents this kind of a show, and it will appear at the opera house on Thursday, Oct. 4.

A resident of the Delta district has imported from San Juan island a number of Bob White quail and has turned them loose in the Delta district. The person who imported the birds is very anxious that sportsmen should refrain from shooting the birds in order that they may have a chance to make a home in the district and propagate their species.

JACKSON APPEARS AND IS REMANDED

Preliminary Hearing of Murder Charge is Postponed for Eight Days.

Chester Jackson was formally remanded for eight days yesterday morning in the police court, where he was charged with murder in the first degree. Jackson is suspected of having, in company with A. M. Munn, caused the death of G. A. Gilley about two years ago. The prisoner entered no plea, and it is not likely that any developments will take place until Munn, who is at present under arrest in Yakima, Wash., has been brought to this city. The police decline to give out any information concerning the third man who is under suspicion, but admit that his arrest may take place at anytime.

Valuable Horse Injured.

While a handsome Clydesdale stallion, the property of Messrs. Galbraith & Sons, of Brandon, was being moved from a car last night in the vicinity of the C.P.R. station, it stepped to one side and fell from the level of the car floor to the track. The manager at first feared that the animal's back was broken, as it lay so still upon the ground. After a few minutes the horse struggled to its feet with the assistance of a few bystanders, but for a long time was apparently unable to move, so it was tied at a spot near to where it fell and left there to regain its wind. Later on it was coaxed as far as the stable, where it was left for the night. The animal is a valuable one, and was only recently imported from Scotland.

Austin Shooting Case.

The Austin shooting case came up before Capt. Pittendrigh, S.M., yesterday morning. The accused is charged with shooting with a gun at William Davidson, a neighbor, with intent to do him grievous bodily harm. On being arraigned the prisoner pleaded not guilty and asked for a speedy trial. The application was granted, and the prisoner was released on giving personal recognizance of $500 and providing two sureties for the sum of $250 each. The case will be heard on Monday next at 11 a.m.

COLUMBIAN HELPS RUNNERS.

On its front page of yesterday's issue the Columbian condemns the practice of Vancouver hotel men of sending runners up the line to secure custom for their houses; and on its inside pages it has a whole lot of advertisements touting for these same Vancouver hotels and other houses.

Quite right to condemn the false statements of the "runner," but very inconsistent to turn "runner" itself!

New Westminster hotels have made special provision for the fair, and are ready for crowds of extra guests, who will certainly be as comfortable, to say the least, as at Vancouver hotels, and who will find that they will save money and inconvenience by staying here.

The hypocritical pretences of the Columbian are contemptible. If it was sincere in condemning the "runners," why did it seek the patronage of the hotels which employ those runners?

Exhibition visitors can have all their wants supplied, at most reasonable rates, at the hotels and business houses of New Westminster, which is admitted to be a cheaper place to live in, by ten to fifteen per cent., than Vancouver.

LIBERALISM.

The advocacy of "adequate protection"—a phrase which is understood to mean a return to a tariff which would be protective rather than revenue producing; a schedule of duties having a rising rather than a falling tendency — by several of those who have spoken for the Canadian Manufacturers' association, has stirred up the Toronto Globe to an enunciation of Liberal principles. Starting from the position that "Liberalism is a principle, not an expedient," it points out that, lapses and compromises to the contrary notwithstanding, the Liberal party is bound by its principles to the enactment of legislation which will give to all men not only freedom of opportunity, but equality of rights as citizens, before the law. For this principle Liberals have fought, for this principle they will fight, so long as the world endures. The Globe points out that the great natural industries — agriculture, lumbering, fisheries, mining — benefit by freedom of trade, and of course must suffer from the opposite policy.

Having in mind probably the charge so often made that the Liberal government adopted the tariff policy of its predecessors, the Globe says:

"The Liberal leaders who have had most to do with tariff matters hold to the principle of freedom in trade as being economically sound, but the industrial conditions created both in Canada and in the United States by the expedient of a high protection tariff led them to continue to Canadian manufacturers in a more moderate and more stable form a considerable measure of protection beyond the revenue requirements of the country. But that does not mean that the Liberal leaders or the Liberal party have accepted high protection as the fixed and ideal policy for Canada. They have not done that. They will not do that."

Such a declaration from the leading Liberal paper of the Dominion, on the eve of a session which is to have tariff revision as its leading feature, is very significant. There have been indications that the Conservative party intended to shift its ground. It has been inclined to let the tariff issue lie, contenting itself with the claim that the policy was its own and that the Liberals had adopted it; but now it seems inclined to go back to the advocacy of high protection. To do so would be to attract the support of "great and powerful corporations which are forever seeking special privileges which conflict with public interest." The Globe's pronouncement may be taken as an indication of willingness to take up the gage of battle if the Conservative party chooses to throw it down. Its words have the ring of a call to battle. "For Liberals," it says, "to surrender their fundamental principle now and to accept in its place the expedient of high protection would be to court the defeat they would richly deserve and from which there could be no escape. The principle of Liberalism, even though it were betrayed to-day, would reappear and reassert itself with new authority to-morrow, and other men to whom it would be the conviction of their lives would carry it to a certain, enduring and not distant victory."

TO-DAY.

The opening of the annual exhibition to-day by the Governor-General of Canada, the representative on this continent of His Majesty the King, is an event of more than local importance. This exhibition is in fact, as well as in name, provincial. It is intended as an illustration of and a stimulus to, the agricultural, horticultural and industrial development of British Columbia, and it fulfils its function more and more fully every year. New Westminster has put a lot of hard work and hard cash into the effort to make this exhibition what it should be, and it has a right to claim the credit due to success.

Lieut.-Governor Dunsmuir also visits New Westminster to-day for the first time since his appointment. His welcome will certainly be none the less hearty on account of the fact that the building of the New Westminster bridge as a provincial public work was determined upon during his premiership and, it is understood, largely because of his personal advocacy of the project.

Victoria's annual fair, which closed on Saturday, is pronounced a success by the papers at the capital. The Governor-General and Lieutenant-Governor visited the fair on the closing day.

A Visitation.

Now come the fall elections.
Some states have 'em.
And some, more favored by Providence,
Miss 'em.
It is a good miss.
Once in two years is enough
To try to convince the dear ones
And your mother-in-law
That you are crazy.
States that used to have 'em
Once a year
As regularly as ague
In a swamp country
Have cut 'em out
And survive the operation
Very nicely.
This idea of saving the country
Too often
Is all wrong.
It would be all right
If the country appreciated being saved,
But it doesn't.
The reward
Is totally inadequate to the labor.
About all a man gets out of it
Is a cheap cigar
And a head next morning.
Don't worry about the country,
It can save itself.

Couldn't Foresee It.

"Have you heard the latest?"
"No. I didn't know it was out yet."

Both Ways.

"I hear you were called up on the carpet yesterday."
"No; I was called down there."

The Rural Sister.

The rose that's born to blush unseen
May feel as proud as though it were
A hothouse plant and doomed to do
Its blushing at one-fifty per.

Depends on Accommodations.

"I never can sleep on the cars."
"It must be rather awkward to slumber in a box car."

20th Century Brand Garments

It's a great idea---when a merchant asks Ten Dollars for a Suit---the Buyer offers Six and the Merchant "takes him up." The question is, what does "he" get? If "he" means the merchant, HE gets the man's Six Dollars and his suspicion for everymore. If the "he" is the man

HE GETS LEFT.

If that merchant could afford to sell the garment for less than he asked why he did not name the lowest price at once? Is that merchant reliable? Can you afford to risk his judgment? He certainly takes quite a load on his shoulders when he attempts to carry trade that way.

We guarantee that you will pay here fully as much as your neighbor---and just as surely you'll pay just as little.

We further guarantee you your money back on demand if you find your purchase unsatisfactory when you get home

IF YOU BUY HERE YOUR SAFE. If you are interested in Fall Suits, Overcoats, Hats and Men's Furnishings we want to show you our handsome lines. If you pay less elsewhere, you'll get less value.

Dredge is Now Ready.

The dredge King Edward is now ready for business, and in the course of a couple of days will once more be in full swing. Yesterday the pontoons, pipes and couplings were brought up from the bone yard in a long string and were tied up near the government wharf. The crew of the Samson was engaged in hoisting on board that vessel huge stone anchors, five in number, which will be used for anchoring the dredge and the pontoons in their positions by the bar. The huge stone anchors, which weigh in the neighborhood of two tons each, have been drilled and have iron eyelets placed on the upper side and bolted on the under side.

In about a week the King Edward's new pump, which has been under construction at the Schaake Machine works, will be ready for installation. Yesterday a bunch of workmen were busy on the government wharf putting the body of the pump in position and partially putting it together.

Fire Alarm on Steamer.

There was a little fire alarm aboard the City of Nanaimo yesterday soon after it entered the river. The smoke stack became overheated and set fire to some of the surrounding woodwork. The crew were immediately ordered to man the hose, and soon a good sized stream was being poured on to the smouldering woodwork from the hurricane deck. The passengers behaved calmly, and there was no confusion of any kind. It was only a few minutes after the fire started when the last spark was out.

LAND REGISTRY ACT

Take notice that an application has been made to register William Cassidy as the owner in fee simple, under a tax sale deed from Coquitlam to William Cassidy, bearing date the 4th day of November, A.D. 1904, of all and singular that certain parcel or tract of land and premises situate, lying and being in the District of New Westminster, in the Province of British Columbia, more particularly known and described as subdivision lots 1 and 10 of block 15, of part of lot No. 385, group 1, map 141, New Westminster District.

You and each of you are required to contest the claim of the tax purchaser within forty-five days from the date of the first publication of this notice upon you, and in default of a caveat or certificate of lis pendens being filed within such period, or in default of redemption before registration, you will be forever estopped and debarred from setting up any claim to or in respect of the said land, and I shall register William Cassidy as owner thereof in fee, and I hereby state that publication of this notice in a daily newspaper for one week will be good and sufficient service thereof.

To EDWARD A. POAT.

Hill Tires Runaways.

Considerable excitement was caused on Columbia street last evening by a runaway team, which was hitched to a buggy, and driven by young Harold Colbeck. The team took fright on Columbia street, and dashed along at a mad rate, Colbeck sawing at the lines for all he was worth, but without succeeding in making the horses lower their pace. When the runaways arrived at the foot of Eighth street, the driver managed to head them up the hill, and after this it was a case of sit back and let the horses get tired. The steeds had not proceeded far up the hill before they decided that Eighth street was better adapted for automobile hill climbing contests than as a speedway for a runaway team, and accordingly slowed up and became docile and tractable once more.

Humor and Philosophy

By DUNCAN M. SMITH

PERT PARAGRAPHS.

Many people who think that they are musical cannot be rated as good thinkers.

A habit is something that you couldn't help if you would and often wouldn't help if you could.

Strength and price do not always go together—for instance, in a cigar.

The small boy thinks there is some compensation in living in a desert, as no switches grow there.

It takes a lot of nerve and gall to boost yourself and knock the other fellow at the same time, but many men play the game that way.

Be clever, and people will forgive you for not being good.

He who knocks and runs away will live to be an expert knocker.

Don't judge a man harshly. You might want to borrow money of him some day.

The reason why so many people are so uninteresting is that their habits are mostly secondhand.

Don't be afraid until you have to be, and then don't.

There is something of a difference between winning because you work and working because you win.

Don't borrow trouble. If you have the habit that bad, borrow money.

Sometimes it is worth while being sick just to see how badly scared you can get.

The only man who ever understood women died before he was born.

The less a pessimist knows the louder he roars.

Some people are never pleased unless they are displeased about something all the time.

The 'Bo.

The sun shines out through autumn air
On seas of corn to pick,
And stacks of work are everywhere,
But I won't turn the trick.
'Twould surely be a holy show
And of bad judgment smirk
If I should labor. No, ah, no!
I am not built for work.

It's not for me—the heavy task
Of cleaning up the street.
An old box car is all I ask,
Where I can rest my feet.
The thought of labor makes me sick;
My stunt is just to shirk.
I know a larger, smoother trick.
I am not built for work.

The honest farmer glares at me
As through the country lane
Or dusty road I travel free
From sordid loss or gain.
No care have I for spoiling crop;
For me no terrors lurk
In pouring rains that never stop.
I am not built for work.

The sound of work on every hand
Falls on my careless ear.
I wander through the smiling land
With neither hope nor fear.
I have a strange philosophy
That's free from quip and quirk;
It whispers soft and low to me,
I am not built for work.

Don't Scowl.

Don't scowl. It spoils faces. Before you know it your forehead will resemble a small railroad map. There is a grand trunk line from your cowlick to the bridge of your nose, intersected by parallel lines running east and west, with curves arching your eyebrows, and, oh, how much older you look for it! Scowling is a habit that steals upon us unawares. We frown when the light is too strong and when it is too weak. We tie our brows into a knot when we are thinking and knit them even more tightly when we cannot think. There is no denying there are plenty of things to scowl about.

Fine Sense of Propriety.

"Have you any Richardsonaries?" asked the quiet looking stranger of the salesman in the bookstore.

"Richardsonaries?" queried the salesman, with a puzzled look. "Er—I think not. Oh, you mean dictionaries!" he said as the eye of the stranger rested on a pile of Standards and Internationals.

"Perhaps that is what you call them," said the stranger meditatively; "but, you see, I am not familiar enough with 'em to call 'em Dick."

Thought He Was Harmless.

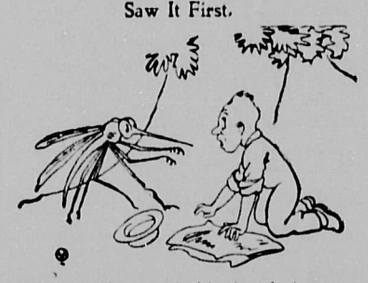
"I understand you met Jones in a saloon last night and bought a horse from him for about half its value."

"Yes, I got a good bargain."

"It is a shame to take advantage of a drunken man."

"I didn't know he was loaded."

Saw It First.



Although the day is blazing hot,
I know a quiet shaded spot
Where it is cool the whole day through,
But the mosquitoes know it too.

Progression.

"How is she getting along with Charley?"

"Quite rapidly. She calls him by his first name now."

"Hopes to call herself by his last name later on, I presume."

Her Advantage.

She couldn't bake or sew or mend
Or make the carpet sweeper whirl,
And so she wouldn't wed a man
Who couldn't keep a hired girl.

PROVINCIAL FAIR OPENS TODAY

upon the happy combination that pleased and delighted them. In every building the scene was the same—carpenters working at top speed, putting the finishing touches to stands, and clearing away unused lumber; many of them working all night so that their tasks might be finished by 1 o'clock this afternoon, and everything be in perfect order when the vice-regal party appear.

Ladies Get Busy.

Until yesterday there were very few ladies to be seen on the grounds, but they arrived in full force early in the morning and spent all day there supervising the arranging of the exhibits in which they are interested. A favorite corner for the fair sex is the space devoted to the exhibition of fancy work, and here over a score of ladies worked willingly all day, getting everything fixed up in the proper order.

Manager Besieged.

Callers at the manager's office have increased in number every day since his office was moved up to the grounds, but the limit was reached yesterday, when the outer office was literally besieged from morning until nearly midnight. A large number of tickets were sold at the office yesterday, while exhibitors' passes were distributed by hundreds. No one will be admitted to the grounds this morning without a ticket, and the call for tickets was consequently very heavy yesterday.

Beautiful Addresses.

The ornamental work on the addresses to be presented to his excellency is the work of J. H. Vidal, and is said to be the finest specimen of this class of work that this gentleman has yet produced. The representatives of the press have not been permitted to see the addresses, neither have they been informed of the text, so that no description can be given of them.

Young Irving Makes Hit.

New York, Oct. 1.—Henry B. Irving, son of the late Sir Henry Irving, made his first appearance before an American audience to-night at the New Amsterdam. Lindsay, Ont., Oct. 1.—The body of R. H. Hopkins, who has been missing since Wednesday night, was found floating yesterday morning about four miles north of Lindsay. Search parties were at work night and day since the finding of his empty launch about half a mile from where the body was found.

ARTIST GETS NERVOUS AND COMMITS SUICIDE

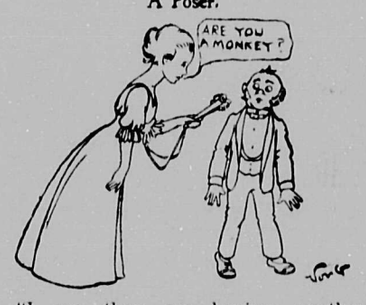
Disorder in His Apartments Causes New York Herald Man to End His Life.

New York, Oct. 1.—John C. Baker, 38 years old, head of the art department of the New York Herald for several years past, committed suicide to-night in his apartments in Central park west by shooting. The suicide was due to extreme nervousness immediately induced because his apartments were in a state of disorder owing to painters being at work there.

Killing Wild Ducks In China.

One Chinese method of killing wild ducks consists in placing calabashes on the water in great numbers. After awhile, when the ducks have become used to their presence, the hunter puts one over his head with holes, so he can see, and, with the rest of his body under water, approaches the ducks. Seizing one of them by the legs, he quickly pulls it under water, wrings its neck, fastens it to his belt and takes his next victim.

A Poser.



"I see they are having another monkey party at Newport."

"Say, how do the girls tell which is monkey and which is dude?"

All Right.

"I thought you said that Bragger is a man of veracity."

"Oh, he was just talking about himself last night. He never lies about any one else."

How It Happened.

In life he was the very best
That ever didn't float.
He sang a song; he made a jest,
And then he rocked the boat.
