QUARANTINE CAMP IS UNPOPULAR

Bellingham Authorities Have Trouble With Negroes Employed by G. N. R.—Clash Between Officers and Blacks Expected---Leaders Armed and Openly Hostile.

Bellingham, March 7.—Surrounded by vicious negroes, Dr. Martin, county health officer, and Deputy Sheriff Woody took their ground in the hospital African camp north of Ferndale yesterday afternoon while their lives were threatened by leaders among the black men, who objected to being driven back into quarantine, from which they escaped yesterday.

Today Dr. Martin and Deputy Sheriff Woody and Welsh will attempt to arrest four or five of the black men and bring them handcuffed to Bellingham. The negroes are armed and a clash may occur between them and the authorities, who go fully prepared for emergencies. When Dr. Martin and his deputies left Bellingham at noon they were weighted with handcuffs and guns. Dr. Martin says he accomplished what he set out to do yesterday, but he did so in the face of an unveiled defiance. The negroes objected to being kept in quarantine, but Dr. Martin is determined that they shall not be scattered through the country and endanger the health of others.

A number of the Africans were in Bellingham yesterday, but the Great Northern, their employer, shipped them back to the quarantine camp, where fifty of them were ordered arrested by City Health Officer Hunt. Dr. Martin went to the camp to see that the quarantine regulations were obeyed and he met with a decidedly hostile reception. Several of the black men are armed with knives and guns, says Dr. Martin, and he considers their presence in the camp dangerous to discipline and strict quarantine. These leaders foment rebellion, and it appears to Dr. Martin that the only safe course to pursue is to arrest and incarcerate them.

Car Kills Woman.

Seattle, March 7—Mrs. James R. Brackett, of Bothell, was instantly killed a few minutes before 10 o'clock this morning when she jumped from a Madison street cable car which had left the tracks at Terry avenue. Her body was horribly mangled beneath the wheels of the rear trucks. The woman's husband, who was riding on the car with her, witnessed the accident.

Boys Kill Teacher.

Molebo, Okla, March 7.—Because he attempted to whip a boy pupil, Perry Evans, a teacher of the country school north of here, was assaulted today by a number of male students and injured so that he died a few hours later. The young men who committed the assault are under arrest.

DEATH SOON FOLLOWS SUDDEN INSANITY

Unfortunate Man Brought to Asylum in Straight Jacket Does not Live Long.

Working as usual in the woods around Vernon on Monday morning, stricken suddenly with a strange illness, going violently insane within a few hours, brought down to New Westminster in a straight jacket in order to protect himself against his own self, taken to the provincial asylum for the insane, and dying there only a few hours after being admitted, is the sad story of the passing away of Clark Abstom Stevenson.

G. Chambers, who, in company with A. A. Stevenson, accompanied the unfortunate man to this city from Vernon, gave a News reporter some particulars concerning the sad affair last evening. Mr. Chambers had been working with the deceased for some time, and the two men were fast friends. On Monday afternoon, it was noticed that Mr. Stevenson was acting strangely, and within a few hours he had developed symptoms of insanity. He was brought to Vernon, but upon arriving in that town, became unmanagable. He smashed a butcher's stall in one of the streets, and the police had finally to place him in a straight jacket. Mr. Chambers was sworn in as special deputy to bring the unfortunate man to the asylum.

On the way to this city, Mr. Stevenson had to be closely watched in order to prevent him from doing himself an injury, and his escort had practically no sleep during the journey. On arriving in New Westminster the man was immediately taken to the Asylum, where every attention was shown him. In spite of this, he died during the night. It is surmised that an abcess formed on the brain, and that this caused insanity and later death.

The deceased was only twenty-seven years of age having been born in Prince Edward Island. The funeral will take place in the Oddfellows' cemetery at half past two this afternooon, the Rev. Dr. Rugg officiating. W. E. Fales has charge of the funeral arrangement.

PROPOSE BASEBALL LEAGUE.

Willow Wielders Desire to Form Amalgamation With Other Clubs.

There is a movement on foot among the local diamond dusters to agitate for the forming of a baseball league, embracing Vancouver, Victoria, Nanaimo and New Westminster. The formation of such a league would greatly facilitate the holding of matches between the different clubs, besides bringing them in closer contact with each other. A meeting will be held shortly at which the question will be discussed at length.

The idea of having a baseball league between the four cities is not a new one by any means, having been discussed several years ago, and such a league having existed for a certain length of time. With the increased interest that is being taken in baseball, the local supporters of the idea fully believe that it will be realized before the season will have very far advanced.

PARLIAMENT OPENS WITH IMPOSING POMP

Lieut.-Governor Dunsmuir Performs Ceremony—Party Caucus Discusses Taxation.

Victoria, March 7.—With all the pomp and ceremony which is usually displayed on such occasions, the legislative assembly was opened this afternoon by His Honor Lieutenant-Governor Dunsmuir. The glorious sunshiny day added to the ceremony, and the parliament buildings were decorated with flags and bunting. His Honor was escorted to the buildings by a guard of honor of officers and men of the Fifth and Sixth regiments, and immediately entered the legislative room and read the speech from the throne. The room was crowded by members of society from Vancouver, Victoria, New Westminster and other provincial towns and cities, and most of the members were present. After the reading of the speech from the throne the house was adjourned till tomorrow.

Victoria, March 7.—The Government intends very early in the session to deal with the question of taxation, with the view to easing the burden on the people. The matter was discussed at an informal caucus of the Government party held last evening.

Although only the general outline was given, the assessment on improved real estate will be reduced. It is understood to be the intention to allow the wild land tax and income tax to stand. The Government hopes to introduce a bill tomorrow.

OFF ON A HOLIDAY.

Travel Will Be Chief McIntosh's Occupation for Five Weeks.

Accompanied by Captain Johnston and Mr. McLeod, of Vancouver, Chief of Police McIntosh will leave today for Vancouver Island, where he will prospect around for the next few weeks. In spite of published reports, the chief stated last evening that he had not yet started on his journey, and that he was not going to Aootsa Lake. He said that the trails in that part of the country were impassible at this time of the year, on account of the heavy snow drifts, and that it was impossible to travel on the Bella Coola roads because of the difficulty of obtaining horse feed. The objective point of the three prospectors is the north end of Vancouver Island, what they expect to do there the chief refuses to divulge. He admitted that he knew of a good thing in that section, and that he was going to look it up. Whether the good thing is minerals, timber or land, the chief is keeping to himself. He may cross over to the mainland after he has satisfied his curiosity as to what is going on in the north end of the island, but even this is doubtful.

Questioned as to what he intended to do when he returned, Chief McIntosh said that his resignation had not yet been dealt with, and on this account he could not express an opinion. It is not likely that the chief's resignation will be accepted, and the inducement of a higher salary is certain to be offered to him on his return to civilization five weeks from today.

BRAZEN TORY BRIBERY TRIUMPHS

Conservative Government is Returned to Power in Manitoba With Large Majority --- Disgraceful Debauchery of Foreigners---Beer Dispensed in a Church.

Advices from Winnipeg proclaim the most corrupt political campaign ever waged by the Conservative party. The Conservative machine has strained every nerve, and used every expedient to debauch the electorate, and no price was too high, no step too low to procure a vote for the Government.

The Election Act was openly violated, on College avenue in the basement of a foreign church, beer was distributed broadcast, and votes openly bought at $5.00 per head.

Yesterday morning the Liberal candidate, Alex. MacDonald, endeavored to secure special constables to put a stop to the wholesale bribery and corruption, but without success. No special constables were available for opposition candidates.

Foreigners have been purchased in batches and voted together by election agents of the Conservative candidate. In North Winnipeg the machine left no stone unturned to defeat Mr. MacDonald, the Liberal candidate.

That the above tactics have had the desired effect is evident from the reports received.

Latest election reports from Manitoba show Conservative majority of 26 to 10.

Attorney-General Colin Campbell, Morris, elected by a narrow majority of two, while Provincial Secretary Dr. McFadden was defeated by a large margin in Emerson. Constituencies of Dauphin, Gladstone and Rockwood are yet to hear from. Elections in Gimli and Gilbert Plains will be held in a week's time.

The following are the Conservative returns up to a late hour last night:

Constituency	Elected
Brandon	Dr. McInniss
Dufferin	Hon R. P. Roblin
Manitou	Hon. R. Rogers
St. Boniface	Joseph Bernier
Hamiota	Wm. Ferguson
Winnipeg, North	J. F. Mitchell
Winnipeg, South	J. T. Gordon
Winnipeg, Centre	Thos. W Taylor
Portage La Prairie	Hugh Armstrong

The defeat of E. Brown, leader of the Liberal party, came as a surprise to those most conversant in Manitoba politics, but is but another instance of the power of money in the hands of an unscrupulous faction, and the lust for political influence which has been the slogan of the Conservative party from time immemorial. D. H. McFadden, the government member for Emerson, was defeated by George Walton.

SMITH CANNOT FIND HIS WIFE AND EFFECTS

Alberta Man Searches for Relatives and Farm Implements Without Success.

LOST—A wife, a mother-in-law, a brother-in-law, two wagons, one democrat, four horses, a number of farm implements, and sundry other articles. Finder please return to Mr. Smith.

For the past few days, Mr. Smith, recent arrival from Alberta, has been making anxious inquiries concerning the mysterious disappearance of Mrs. Smith, her mother, and her brother, who arrived here about two weeks ago with part of the farming stock belonging to the Smith family. Mr. Smith decided to move to British Columbia some time ago, and sent the family ahead of him with a carload of goods, intending to follow them after closing up his business in Alberta. He received word from his wife after she had arrived in New Westminster, but since that time he has heard nothing of her. He can find no trace of the family in this city and is considerably worried over their mysterious disappearance.

One solution of the problem which has been advanced is that a farm may have been secured by the advance party of the family, but Mr. Smith does not think this probable, as they would hardly close any deal without consulting him. He intends to continue his search alone for a few days longer before calling any outside help, but in the meantime would be glad to hear from anyone that his wife and relations are safe and sound.

Annoys the Kaiser.

Berlin, March 7.—Eugene Kupke, a chorus singer of the Royal Opera company became suddenly demented last night at a concert given in the palace at which all the ambassadors and most distinguished persons in official life were present. During a pause, while refreshments were being served a drum was beaten, giving the military signal to "assemble."

The guests hurried to their seats and the Emperor, who was much astonished, asked the conductor, Richard Strauss, why the signal had been given. Strauss explained that it was the act of an insane person, who had been forcibly removed.

Kills Divorce Industry.

Pierre, S. D., March 7.—The House passed the Senate bill requiring a residence of one year in the state and three months in the country before beginning a divorce suit, with all hearings in open court. This law kills the divorce industry of the state.

RUSSIAN EMPRESS ARRIVES EARLY

Stringent Precautions Taken by Scotland Yard to Prevent Attempt on Her Life.

London, March 7.—The Dowager Empress of Russia arrived here this morning and was greeted at the railroad station by her sister, Queen Alexandra, the Prince and Princess of Wales and the staff of the Russian embassy. The empress reached London half an hour earlier than the time publicly announced. The expediting of the Empress' arrival was, it is understood, planned by the police who have taken stringent precautions for her protection.

While the officials of Scotland Yard have little fear that the anarchists in London will jeopardize their chances of obtaining an asylum in England by any attempt upon the life of the Empress, they are taking no chances and every possible avenue of attack will be guarded. From the railroad station the Dowager Empress and the Queen drove to Buckingham Palace.

THE UNWRITTEN LAW

Brothers Who Shot Sister's Betrayer Congratulated By Judge.

Culpepper, Va., March 7.—After being out an hour and a half the jury in the case of James and Philip Strother, on trial for the murder of William F. Bywaters, returned a verdict of not guilty.

The announcement of the verdict was the signal for an outburst of applause which Judge Harrison quickly silenced. James Strother reached for the hand of Walton Moore, one of his counsel, and Philip was quickly surrounded by friends. Mrs. James Strother, overcome by emotion, fell into her husband's arms.

Judge Harrison addressed the jury as follows: "Gentlemen of the jury, I thank you for a verdict which I think will be approved by the public. It is an established precedent in the State of Virginia that no man tried for defending the sanctity of his home should be found guilty."

After further words of approval from the bench the jurymen left the court room.

Bywaters attempted to desert his wife, a sister of the Strothers, immediately after a forced marriage and he was shot by the brothers.

Iowa Bank Looted.

Dubuque, Ia., March 7—The safe in the Farmers' Bank at Masonville, Ia., was blown open early to-day. The robbers took $4,000.

POOR CONSTRUCTION CAUSES WONDERMENT

La Salle Street Tunnel Roof Was Only Twenty-Four Inches Thick.

Chicago, March 7.—That the roof of the old La Salle Street tunnel has not been broken through by the keel of some vessel of deep draught, was a subject of wonderment yesterday, to the engineers who are superintending the destruction of the tunnel. When the dynamiters who are working across the river, blowing up the structure bit by bit, came to the main roof of the tunnel, it was discovered that the brick arch which "held up the river," is barely two feet in thickness.

In the absence of the original specifications, which have been lost, traction authorities have supposed that the roof varied in thickness from four to six feet, and, secure in this assumption, have allowed street cars loaded with humanity to pass through without a thought of danger.

SPILL SCATTERS COIN IN FRISCO STREETS

Treasury Wagon Breaks Down and $3,000 Fall Out--Crowd Hunts for Money.

San Francisco, March 7.—One thousand persons yesterday fought and scrambled for possession of $3,000 of Uncle Sam's money that was spilled from a sub-treasury wagon which broke down at Commercial and Kearney streets.

A heavy guard of soldiers accompanying three wagons of coin on their way to the Presidio to pay off the officers and men formed a cordon around the scattered silver, and with drawn bayonets, drove off the crowd. All the coin was recovered from the mud and slush except $32. For this a big crowd hunted during the remainder of the afternoon and found $30 of it before night came.

The soldiers remained on duty long after the bulk of the coin had been recovered.

IMMENSE STRIKE MAY AFFECT PACIFIC COAST

Portland Mill Workers' Struggle With Owners—Liable to Become Very Serious.

Portland March 7—The Evening Telegram to-day said that should the demand of local mill workers for better wages and working conditions be refused by the mill owners the entire industrial life of the Pacific Coast may become involved.

It is said that the Industrial Workers of the World, a labor organization of increasing power on the Pacific Coast, is back of the movement. If the owners do not concede the demands of the men, workers in all allied industries, including lumbermen, loggers, carpenters, stevedores and others will be called out, and if that method does not result favorably to the mill workers other industries will be drawn into the battle and ultimately the entire coast will become involved.

There are no indications to-day that the mill owners will make concessions to the men, and some of the mills may close down entirely.

SUCCESSFUL SUPPER.

Conundrum Feast Proves Attractive To Many Young People.

The conundrum supper given under the auspices of the Y. P. S. C. E. and the Bible class of St. Andrew's church last evening proved to be most successful, over two hundred sitting down to the good things with the puzzling names provided for them. Although only a nominal charge was made, the financial committee reported a most satisfactory balance in hand after the evening was over. The money thus obtained will be spent on needed improvements to the lecture hall.

After the supper had been duly discussed, an enjoyable free and easy concert took place, the following assisting. Miss Muirhead, song; Miss Henderson, two piano solos; Miss McMillan, song; Ben Robb, song; Messrs. Henderson and Laidlaw, piano duet; Mrs Corbett, song. The entertainment wound up shortly after ten o'clock.

Sail for Panama.

New York, March 7.—Fifty-three representatives in Congress who desire to know for themselves the condition of the Panama Canal, sailed today for Colon. With them went Lieut.-Col. Goethals, the United States army engineer, who will undertake the construction of the canal, and Major Gaillard, of the United States army, who will assist Col. Goethals.

DIVER SEES DAKOTA RESTING ON ROCKS

Salvage Possible Only if Wind, Weather and Gear Are Found Adequate.

Yokohama, March 7—Representatives of the Underwriters' Board who again visited the scene of the wreck of the Great Northern steamship Dakota, which ran ashore in the Bay of Tokyo March 3, report that salvage work is possible if time, weather and gear are adequate, but the fear is expressed that equinoctial gales will preclude this.

A diver who visited the Dakota returned here this afternoon. He says the vessel is in the greatest danger. She is resting on four rocks, her rudder is ten feet above the water, the foot of her second mast is on a level with the sea, she has three large holes in her port side and there are smaller holes in her starboard side. In addition part of the vessel's side is bent in. The Dakota apparently passed through a ridge of rocks shaped like a vise, the upper parts of the rocks being turned in.

A portion of the Dakota's mail is still on board.

Louis Hill Visits.

Louis Hill, son of James J. Hill, the big railway magnate, is to arrive in New Westminster at five o'clock this morning on his special train. Mr. Hill has been travelling westward for several days past, but the course pursued by his train is so erratic that no one can predict where the train will be at a certain time. When Mr. Hill is ready to leave one town and proceed to another, he issues his instructions, and the engineer pulls the lever. While the special train is travelling, a number of freights are sidetracked until it has passed. While Mr. Hill is in New Westminster, some definite announcement will most likely be made concerning the future intentions of the G. N. R., with regard to future developments in this city, and no doubt the proposition to establish car shops on Lulu Island will receive due consideration from Louis Hill.

Contract Typhoid Fever.

New York, March 7.—The battleship Connecticut, of whose crew a large number contracted typhoid fever while cruising in the West Indian waters, arrived here today. It has been reported that 65 members of the crew were stricken with the disease and of these 15 were in a critical condition. All of the sick men will be landed at the navy yard today and transferred to the naval hospital there, where preparations have been made to receive the sick.

SHOULD INCREASE PENSIONS.

Incapacitated Canadians Should Receive More Money.

Toronto, March 7.—Responding to the toast of "Daughters of the Empire," at the Paardeberg Day dinner of the South African Association, in the St. Charles Cafe, Surgeon-General G. Sterling Ryerson, remarked that the Imperial Government should increase the pensions of the five Canadians who were incapacitated through wounds in the South African war.

Col. Ryerson said that these men, one of whom is totally blind, are receiving a pension of fifty cents a day, which amount he considered was very scanty for them to live upon.

He also thought that $100,000 in the patriotic fund at Ottawa, which was not now being used, should be distributed so that these men could be self-supporting.

Big Sawmill.

Spokane March 7.—The Edward Rutledge Timber company, said to be backed by the Weyerhauser syndicate will erect an immense sawmill near Coeur d'Alene, Idaho, costing $1,000,000. The plant, which will be the largest in the Inland Empire, will be one of the most fully equipped in the West.

Dick's Bluff."

Nanaimo, March 7.—In the survey which Frank Shepherd is now making across the Island, he has named the bluff over which Jim Dick recently fell, narrowly escaping death, "Dick's Bluff." The name has now been officially recorded.

Close to the bluff is one of the finest and most perfectly formed specimens of "Lyre" trees ever seen on the Island, photographs of which Mr. Shepherd has taken and sent to a number of friends.

HARRIS RECOVERS FROM LOCKJAW

For Eighteen Days Life Was Sustained by Liquid Taken Through Tube.

Peterboro, March 7.—A remarkable cure of lockjaw is reported at Nichelis hospital.

John Harris received a trivial injury some 15 weeks ago and complications set in. For 18 days his jaws were tightly locked and his only sustenance was in liquid form, taken by a tube inserted where a tooth had been removed.

Circulation of the blood was also stopped for some time and his death was expected at any moment. Yesterday Harris resumed work as foreman polisher in the Peterboro shovel factory.

GERMANS GO CRAZY.

Insane Teuton Murderously assails Fellow Settler.

Battleford, March 7.—A horrible occurrence has been revealed near Eagle Lake, in the German settlement. A settler named Kuscher had both feet frozen and while being treated in the house of a neighbor named Ryder went insane through suffering.

He attacked Ryder while the latter was asleep and nearly murdered him with an iron bar, beating him so that he will be disfigured for life.

The arrival of neighbors saved Ryder's life and the maniac was overpowered and bound. He was taken to another house and his sufferings were so terrible that a man named Stubbert, who was nursing him but dared not free him, also went insane and blew out his brains. Kuscher afterwards also died.

Correspondence School Has no License to Do Business by Mail.

Toronto, March 7.—The International Correspondence School of Scranton sued W. J. Brown, of London, for a balance due on a course of instruction.

The company lost in the trial court and appealed to the Divisional Court who confirmed the trial court's decision.

The Judge took the grounds that the International Correspondence School were doing business in Ontario without a license.

The Bonnie Brier Bush.

Of all the book plays that have been done in New York the past three years, the adaption of "The Bonnie Brier Bush," was undoubtedly received with the greatest favor. The dramatization of Ian MacLaren's Scotch tales was done by James MacArthur, editor of "The Bookman," and Augustus Thomas, the author of "Alabama," "Arizona," "The Earl of Pawtucket" and "The Other Girl."

The part of Lachlan Campbell, the old Scotch shepherd, is known as one of the greatest characterizations of the present era in theatricals, and has been pronounced by critics a masterwork.

The scenic enframement is promised to be an adequate portraiture of the scenes from which Ian MacLaren's stories were taken, and the company this season is fully up to the high standard maintained in the past and includes many of the original cast also many others of note in the theatrical world and numbers in all nineteen people. The entire original Kirke La Shelle production has been purchased by Messrs. Shipman & Colvin, and a treat is in store for those who witness this beautiful play which appears here on Saturday, March 9 at the Opera House.

LANGLEY ITEMS.

Increased Rates Annoy Farmers.

Langley, March 5.—Miss Yorkson, of Fort Langley had the misfortune to fall and put her shoulder out of joint. Dr. McEwen, who was called, replaced the shoulder and had Mrs. Yorkson taken to Cloverdale hospital for further treatment.

Robert Taylor, who has spent the winter at W. G. Brice's, of Port Kells, left quite recently for his farm in the Northwest.

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Yeomans, of Snohomish, Wash., paid a visit to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Yeomans, of Lower Langley, last week.

Mr. Charles Yeomans spent a couple of days visiting in Snohomish, Washington.

Mrs. W. C. Fry is in the hospital in Vancouver for treatment.

The general meeting of the Patrons of the Hammond Creamery was held on Thursday last, at Hammond. A number of the Langley farmers were present. A good deal of dissatisfaction has been caused by the increase of express rates on the C. P. R. The increase amounting to 2½c per gallon on the milk.

THE LEGISLATURE.

The meagre bill of fare contained in the speech from the throne delivered by His Honor the Lieutenant Governor yesterday at the opening of the session promises little. The Government is thankful for the continued prosperity which it has allowed to come. Everybody is thankful that the Government has not the power to restrict our markets or prevent the export of lumber, minerals, and fish; but even if it possessed the power to do so, we need have no fear that it would have energy enough to exercise that power. There is not an item in the speech showing that the Government in taking the initiative to induce settlement of the vacant lands of the province, their exploration and survey, and the forming of an energetic bureau of information respecting vacant lands such as has existed in Manitoba and Ontario for twenty years. No effort is promised to properly place the immigration which will force itself our way, but the intending settler is left to the tender mercies of those who have exploited large areas of the public domain, and in many cases the "don't know; don't know," meted out to him in the departments will turn him back in disgust.

The one item in the speech worth anything is that referring to the amendment of the Assessment Act, for the purpose of reducing taxation, which it has raised unnecessarily against the advice of the Opposition in the last house.

In the matter of "Better Terms," the Government would do well to have a full statement of claim prepared by persons competent to handle the subject and submit it to the House, to be dealt with, not as a party question, but as British Columbians presenting a solid front to the other provinces, seeking for the adjustment of the financial balance of the Dominion. Let us hope that, as some previous governments were stirred to action by the Opposition; so now, the gentlemen to the left of the speaker, may instil some life into the party that has taken credit for our prosperity, yet has done nothing to bring it about, and let us further hope, that the railway policy promised session after session in the last House, may make its appearance ere this session closes.

TIMBER REVENUE.

When in the past people heard about the impending timber famine they consoled themselves with the thought that somebody would invent a substitute for wood. Many changes have been made in construction, but still wood remains as vital a necessity as ever. One of the chief causes for the increasing demand for wood is the great increase of railway mileage on this continent. The increased cost of timber has caused some railways to experiment with steel ties, and the Pennsylvanian Railroad was one of them. Now, however, as a result of the recent great accident on that line which the investigation committee attributed to the rigidity of the steel ties that company is likely to return wholly to wooden ties. This simply means that the increasing demand for ties will not be checked, and that it is the duty of those who have our forests in their care to see that provision is made for supplying this need. If we would think but half a minute we would realize that it is not to the interest of British Columbia or of Canada that substitutes for wood should be discovered. We possess the best forests in the world, the largest area of land suitable for permanent forests, and if we only arrange to renew the crop the revenue to the Province from this source will be a continually increasing one.

WINDSOR SALT—because it's pure, fine, clean, dry, piquant—is used by most people all the time. 132

The Toronto section of the Manufacturers' Association have begun a work which is better than charitable. Because of high rents and overcrowding, they have decided, in the interests of their own business, to organize a company to erect one thousand cottages. These are to be sold to workmen by monthly payments of fifteen dollars extended over a period of twelve years. They are not philanthropists, but theirs is sound common sense.

Apparently the British government's campaign against the Lords is beginning to be felt, and the peers are setting their house in order. According to dispatches, a conservative peer, Lord Newton, has introduced a bill to alter the composition of the upper chamber. Acording to the telegraphed synopsis of the measure, he plans "to remove the excessive preponderance of hereditary peers by stipulating qualification through service to the state or previous election, and provides for a certain number of elected peers and for the nomination by the crown of life peers, these not to exceed one hundred in number."

ALL OVER THE HOUSE.

Treatment of the Hands—How to Keep Them In Good Condition.

For perspiring hands the following lotion, applied several times a day, will be found beneficial: Four drams each of borax and salicylic acid, two ounces each of glycerin and diluted alcohol, one dram of boric acid. Rinsing the hands in alum water will sometimes allay perspiration. The hands will become wrinkled if the skin has a tendency to excessive dryness, for which condition and to retain the suppleness of the fingers the following massage cream will be found a pleasing remedy: Lanolin, 100 grams; liquid paraffin, twenty-five grams; ten drops of extract vanilla with one drop of oil of roses. A delightful cosmetic jelly is made by soaking for three days thirty grains of gum tragacanth in seven ounces of rosewater. Strain and add one ounce each of glycerin and alcohol, then half a teaspoonful of borax, in the order given. A piece of pumice stone should be on every toilet table to remove stains from the hands.

Kitchen Wisdom.

Carpet tacks and hot soapsuds are effectual in cleaning fruit jars and bottles. Cover the vessel tightly and shake well.

Boil the corks of the pickle and catchup bottles and put them in the bottles while hot, so that when they are cold the bottles will be tightly sealed.

Alum or common salt dissolved in boiling water and poured into cracks and crevices forms a sort of cement, kills vermin and preserves the wood.

To turn out any preparation of foods which have been stiffened with gelatin dip the mold entirely in warm (not boiling) water and turn it downward on the hand, shaking it gently until it slips down. Then gently place it on the dish.

A Good Scotch Broth.

This dish is particularly suitable for cold winter days. Cut into small pieces from one to two pounds (according to quantity required) of lean meat from a neck of mutton. Put this into a large stewpan or casserole, add bones, then pour over a quart of water. Let it come to a boil very slowly and then allow it to simmer for two hours. Place it aside and when cold remove all fat and take out bones. Put it again in casserole, add three ounces of pearl barley and a little salt, also about three ounces each of carrots, turnips, celery, onions and potatoes, all cut into small pieces; a little finely chopped parsley and a bunch of herbs. Let it come tender. Remove herbs, add seasoning to taste and serve hot.

A New York Street.

"If you ever hear a person bragging about his knowledge of New York streets just ask him to tell you where Old Broadway is and see what he says," said a man about town. "I've tried it for the last year, and ninety-nine out of a hundred will look at you in amazement and think you've lost your senses. When I tell them there really is such a street they begin to guess, and every guess is in the downtown district and generally in the vicinity of West Broadway.

"When I tell them that Old Broadway begins at Manhattan street and runs north for five blocks, stopping at One Hundred and Thirty-third street, they are surprised. I've tried this with persons living within a few blocks of this street, and the name is just as much a surprise to them as it is to others. Every one seems to think Old Broadway is simply a New Yorker's affectionate way of speaking of his famous street and can't believe that the name really appears on any street corner."—New York Sun.

Flowers and Scents.

"Identically the same scent," says a writer, "may occur in plants belonging to widely different families. For instance, the distinctive smell of violets occurs also in the snowflake, the stocks, a spurge laurel and the blue water lily of the Nile. On the other hand, closely allied plants may emit scents differing greatly in nature and appealing to the tastes of different insects. Among the spurge laurels one species smells of vanilla, another of violets, another of lilac and yet another of cloves. Flowers which exhale the delicious smell of honey in the comb appeal particularly to bees, butterflies and the moths which fly by day, as the humming bird, the hawk moth and the gayly colored burnet. The coarser and more powerful scents of the hawthorn and elder are the special alurement of the beautiful green rose beetle and other flower loving beetles, while butterflies leave this class of scents severely alone."

High Priced Bumblebees.

Many years ago the farmers of Australia imported bumblebees from England and set them free in their clover fields. Before the arrival of the bees clover did not flourish in Australia, but after their coming the farmers had no more difficulty on that score. Mr. Darwin had shown that bumblebees were the only insects fond of clover nectar which possessed a proboscis sufficiently long to reach the bottom of the long, tubelike flowers and at the same time a body heavy enough to bend down the clover head so that the pollen would fall on the insect's back and thus be carried off to fertilize other flowers of the same species. The bumblebees sent to Australia cost the farmers there about half a dollar apiece, but they proved to be worth the price.

Tailored Garments

This is to be a light colored season. Greys never were so popular before as they are now. By greys we mean those indefinite and definite light shades which shade from cream to black and white. No wonder they are so cool, pretty and serviceable; and these garments are nicely made.

Tourist and short coats, tailored suits and skirts. Bolero coat and Eton styles, showing the Gibson effect; Some of Mannish tweeds, others shepherd checks, ad infinitum.

Grey Novelties

More than popular; extremely stylish. In Paris and New York they are seen everywhere, people being attracted no doubt by their smartness, comfort and serviceability. A considerable quantity of produce for the weekly market was brought into the city yesterday afternoon. Indications point to a heavy day's business being transacted at Lytton Square today.

At a meeting of the Bricklayers' union held in Vancouver, the rate of wages for the two cities was fixed at $5 a day. Owing to the scarcity of men, it is probable that many will receive an even higher rate.

The number of rifle enthusiasts who are signing the list in the possession of T. S. Annandale is increasing daily. The advantage of using the rifle range across the river has not been lost sight of by the local sharp shooters.

The excavating for the foundation of the gymnasium, at the Columbian College, is now completed, and if the weather continues to hold fine the work will be rapidly proceeded with, as it is desired to have the building completed as soon as possible.

A meeting of the Cricket club will be held in St. George's Hall on Monday evening at 8 o'clock. All interester in the furtherance of the sport are requested to be present. Arrangements will probably be made for a game on Easter Monday at the meeting.

When the children's class was moved from the Central school to the Library building it was feared that trouble would ensue. Ald. Johnston, chairman of the library committee, reports that so far all is well, no complaints have been heard, and the kiddies are models of propriety and behavior.

Three transgressors lined up before the police magistrate yesterday morning, and pleaded guilty to having partaken of too much strong drink. Fines of $2.50 were imposed in all cases. Two settled immediately, but the third man still remains at the police station figuring out ways and means of raising the money.

Arthur Wise, who is to meet J. Taylor on a wrestling carpet in Vancouver on Friday of next week, is practising hard at the local training station. Wise is in good form and there is every reason to believe that he will come off with flying colors. He is training under supervision of Chief Watson and Tom Cunningham. While wrestling at the fire hall yesterday, Cunningham sustained a severe fall, which resulted in the loss of a tooth.

The New Westminster Gun club recently met to make preparations for the annual Good Friday shoot. The meeting was well attended, and the lovers of the gun went into details with marked enthusiasm. It was decided to secure a Leggart trap for the Good Friday shoot. A cash sum was voted for prizes. The treasurer's report for last year showed more money received and spent than any preceding year, but there is still a balance on the right side.

Opposition to the Stave Lake Power company's application for 75,000 inches of water is expected. The company is now in possession of 75,000 inches on the Stave river. Should the new application go through it will make a total of 150,000 inches of water from Stave river. Whether or not objection will be raised will depend largely on the amount of water the river contains, and the lumber and importance of interests which would be affected by the grant.

Ralph Wilson's house, corner of Sixth street and Sixth avenue, which has been unoccupied for some time, was found yesterday to have been entered during the absence of the family in Victoria. Some of his relatives who live almost opposite, noticed that the curtains had been pulled aside, and immediately informed the police. Acting Chief Bradshaw investigated, with the result that he discovered that some young lads had been amusing themselves by throwing things around in the house. Although nothing had been taken, some damage had been done. The boys have confessed to their wrongdoing.

Funeral of J. A. Calbick.

The funeral of the late John A. Calbick took place yesterday afternoon, the body being interred in the Oddfellows' cemetery. The funeral service at the residence was conducted by the Rev. W. H. Barraclough. The funeral was largely attended, twenty-six members of the brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers following the body to its last resting place. The pall bearers were all members of the trainmen's union. A large number of beautiful floral tokens of sympathy were laid on the coffin by sympathising friends. The trainmen's union sent a large floral emblem, a broken wheel, while smaller tributes were sent by many Vancouver and New Westminster friends.

HAPPYLAND REHEARSELS.

Amateurs Faithfully Practice Their Parts for Coming Entertainment.

Rehearsels for "A Trip to Happyland," the musical comedy which is to be given Thursday and Friday of next week are held nightly in the Assembly hall, and the spirit which the aspirants for Thespian honors put into their work augurs well for the success of the performance. Several catchy songs and amusing novelties are introduced in the trip to the land of mirth, and Mr. Evans, musical director, predicts for this play an even greater success than that which attended the performance of Cupid in Posterland.

Among those who will take leading parts in the cast are the following: Miss Weart, as Priscille; D. J. Davis, captain of the guard; J. P. Bilodeau, general of the army; Mr. O'Brian, railway magnate; Mr. Peele, Inspector Schultz; Gowan Macgowan, Judge Who-say; A. W. Gordon, the Army; H. Davis, Doolittle; Miss A. Corbould, Janey; Miss G. Corbould, fortune teller; Miss Hoover, Colleen Bawn; Miss Lund, Happland; Miss Lewis, Heart to let. Nuns Are Fined.

Nantez, France, March 7.—A police court judge has inflicted fines of $3.20 on each of twenty-seven Usurline nuns and a fine of $5 on the mother superior for refusing to quit their convent. The defendants pleaded that the grounds and the buildings belong to the order, which has been authorized to carry on educational work.

The prosecution insisted upon obedience to the act of congregations and at the same time gave warning that further refusal by the nuns to leave the buildings would be followed by ejection.

Irish are Annoyed.

San Francisco, March 7—Indignant at the refusal of the management to withdraw an alleged offensive character from a musical farce, a crowd of Irishmen visited the Davis Theatre last night and renewed the riotous scenes enacted last Monday night. The outburst in the theatre consisted of throwing eggs, fruits and other articles at the players, in the tramping of feet, in hissing and in heated calls for the players to leave the stage.

FOR THE LITTLE ONES.

Game of Fisherman Furnishes Fun and Exercise.

To play the game of fisherman mark off two lines across a clear piece of ground about twenty-five feet apart. Then let all the children count out to see who is to be the fisherman.

The fisherman must stand between the two lines of players and repeat the following rhyme:

Swim, little fishes, from the river to the sea!
Swim, little fishes—one, two, three!

At the word "three" all the children, or fishes, must run across his territory to the land beyond their opponent's line while they run he (the fisherman) must catch as many as he can.

Those who are caught now become fishermen and help him catch more fish. The game goes on as before, the fishermen all repeating the rhyme in concert until all the fishes have been caught.

Fierce Sea Monster.

Have you ever heard of a hammer headed shark? This fish is distinguished by the singular shape of its head, having the appearance of the head of a hammer. The eyes are gray and projecting, and when the fish is irritated the colors of the iris are like a flame. The most common species are long and slender in body, which is gray, and the head is black. It is usually about eleven or twelve feet long and weighs up to 500 pounds. It is bold and greedy for blood and is often found around ships even near the coast.

It has not the strength of an ordinary shark, but is more ferocious and can strike with as much force The sailors frequently have hair breadth escapes from this dangerous creature of the seas.

Senator Stone Anticipated.

"I hold in my hand," said Senator Stone in the course of an eloquent address to the senate.

"Knew he'd say that sooner or later," commented one of the experienced students of legislation in the press gallery. "Now in a minute he'll say, 'Within the range of my voice.' Watch him."

"Within the range of my voice," Senator Stone began his next sentence.

"Fine," said the student in the press gallery. "Next comes 'I desire to state.'"

"I desire to state," said Senator Stone a minute later. By this time the press gallery was in convulsions. "Watch for 'In the last analysis,'" whispered one of them.

A minute later "in the last analysis" came. Bets were offered and taken as to whether Mr. Stone's next paragraph would contain "but on the other hand" or "if it were not for the fact." The man who bet on the latter won, but two sentences further on came "but on the other hand."—New York Times.

THE DEVILFISH.

Its Ability to Change Its Own and the Water's Color.

"I was lying on a rock watching the movements of some crabs which kept retreating [illegible] the water as the tide rose, when sudden[illegible] a crab dashed frantically from the water, and out after it galloped—there is no other word for it—a devilfish nearly two feet across," writes an observer from Avalon, Cal. "The animal continued the chase a short distance, lifting its tentacles in the air in a sort of overhead motion; then, finding pursuit hopeless, it withdrew with a peculiarly unpleasant, writhing, gliding motion characteristic of these animals. Upon reaching the water it stationed itself just at the edge, so mimicking the color of the bottom that when I glanced away and looked suddenly back I could not at once distinguish it. This devilfish had the appearance of a cat watching for mice, and when a crab was seen it would shoot out a long, attenuated tentacle and attempt to seize it. By carefully insinuating my way to the water's edge I quickly grasped the specimen and after a short struggle tore it from the rocks and secured it.

"At various times I had from three to five devilfishes in an inclosure where I could watch them change color and test their strength. In confinement, if the tank bottom was dark, they assumed various tints, generally a dark reddish brown, but the largest one was a tigerlike creature, about three feet across, with a ground of livid white covered with black or dark gray blotches, giving it a truly fiendish appearance, especially as the eyes were conspicuous and appeared to emit lambent gleams. The change of color was marvelous in its rapidity. In a special tank in which two of these prisoners were confined they occupied the corners, facing outward, with arms either coiled under or above them. At any offensive movement on my part, presenting my hand under water, the color scheme would change. A blush appeared to pass over the entire surface, and in a large squid I can only compare it to heat lightning—a rapid and continued series of flushing and paling, from deep brick red to gray.

"It was very evident that the animals differed much in pugnacity. Some did not resent my touching them; others merely threw a tentacle in my direction, while one never touched me, but directed its siphon at my hand under water and sent a violent current in that direction, apparently endeavoring to blow my hand away. It was fascinating to observe the range this water gun had and how by seeming intuition the devilfish could direct it at my hand as I slowly moved it about while attempting to attract the animal's attention in an opposite direction."

When Hoops Began.

When were hoops "in" for the first time? According to Strutt, "trundling the hoop is a pastime of uncertain origin, but much in fashion at present" (1801). Dr. Murray's dictionary, incidentally remarking that the original hoop affected by boys was a barrel hoop, gives no English reference to it earlier than 1792. But the hoop was well known to ancient Greek and Roman boys, who called it a "trochus" (wheel). Their hoops were made of bronze, and representations of them on gems show that they were driven by a little hook with a wooden handle, very like the modern boy's hoop stick. This was called by the Greeks "elater" (driver) and by the Romans "clavis" (key). Sometimes the ancient hoop had bells attached to it, and modern London may be glad to be spared at least that exasperation.—London Chronicle.

Unfortunate Omission.

One of the most singular instances of punishment for an oversight was that shown by the commitment of an almanac maker to the Bastille in 1717. It was made out by order of the Duke of Orleans, regent during the minority of Louis V. of France, and read as follows: "Laurence d'Henry, for disrespect to King George I. in not mentioning him in his almanac as king of Great Britain." How long this unlucky almanac maker remained in prison is unknown. The register of the Bastille, examined at the time of the revolution, failed to throw any light on the subject.

Beards and Battles.

Shaggy locks and patriarchal beards have proved highly inconvenient things on the battlefield. Does not history record that Alexander ordered the Macedonians to be shaved lest their beards should give a handle to their enemies? Peter the Great was also a friend of the barbers, for he not only ordered all ranks to be shaven, but caused officers to go about to cut off the beards of offenders by force.

His Second.

She—I must say I don't believe in "warmed over" love. He—Well, there's one thing sure—a widower's second love is always worth more than his first. She—The idea! He—I mean his second ladylove is always worth more money than his first.—Philadelphia Press.

Womanly.

"What," she asked, "is your idea of a womanly woman?"

"One," he replied, "who takes the comb out of her back hair every little while and gives it two or three upward scrapes and then jabs it in again."—Chicago Record-Herald.

Last Night's Play.

Last night at the Opera House, Pierce R. Benton presented "A Cowboy's Girl," to an appreciative audience. Evidently the idea of vice vanquished and virtue triumphant still retains its old popularity. The various characters were well rendered, Mr. Benton himself providing the necessary comic relief as Judge Boliva and his bunch of Musical Junk after Act III. was very clever and greatly applauded. As he would say: "How do I know? Because I was there."

The part of the Cowboy's Girl was played with much spirit by Miss Ruby Sutz, while Miss Annette Grey as the deceived wife played a difficult part with much grace and the necessary restraint. But why particularize further when all were good.

Negroes Replace Japs.

Bellingham, March 7.—Tempted by the big demand and higher wages offered for this class of labor in California, the Japanese railway laborers who were placed on the Hill lines throughout the State of Washington a few years ago, are leaving for the South by hundreds.

This exodus has crippled the railways somewhat and the companies are now importing negroes from Missouri and Tenessee to take the place of the Japanese. Eight hundred negro workers have already arrived and have been placed on the Great Northern in Northwest Washington. In all two thousand negroes will be brought to this state by the Hill companies.

The men are paid $2 a day, while the Japanese received $1.30, yet maintenance of road foremen declare that the negroes accomplish twice as much as the Japanese and are the cheaper even at the advanced wages.

WALKER IS CAPTURED.

Crook Sought Here is Found in Sacramento.

Sacramento, March 7.—Pinkerton detectives say they have located Absconder W. F. Walker of New Britain, Conn., in this city, where he has been in hiding since February 21. They expect to take him into custody within a few days.

He is wanted for the embezzlement of $565,000 from the Savings Bank of New Britain.

This is the second reported capture of Walker within a week. Last Sunday a Pinkerton sleuth visited New Westminster in search of the fugitive but failed to find any trace of him.
