BUSY SUNDAY AT FAIR BUILDINGS

Staff Trying to Complete Details For Official Opening Tomorrow.

Sunday brought rest to only a portion of the large staff employed in different ways at the exhibition building, as there remains so much to be done before the opening tomorrow afternoon by the premier. The buildings were only opened to those having business within, and the general public visiting the grounds were not allowed to interfere with the work. The representatives of the Society of Fine Arts who have charge of that department were busy arranging pictures, while elsewhere activities had perforce to go on.

Exhibits Pour In.

Exhibits are pouring in from all parts, by rail, boat and road, and the systematizing of them all calls for considerable ability and endless patience from the manager, W. H. Lowe, and his staff. Sockeye Row is taking shape again, with tented cities and curious monsters, including an ourang outang.

The entries have not only achieved a record but the improved weather of the last couple of days has given the exhibitors confidence with the result that the displays and stock are coming in very much better.

Judges Appointed.

The judges for all the classes have been appointed, and will be on hand to commence their work. Some have not yet been announced to prevent insidious influences which occur in certain sections, however careful the management may be. They are men and women of influence in the departments they will control, and from their decision there is no appeal of any exhibitors seeking to appeal.

Given only fine weather the exhibition of 1909 will go down in history as the most successful in the long record of this society.

There will be a meeting of the local Council of Women in the board of trade rooms this afternoon, commencing at 3 o'clock. All members are particularly requested to be present.

Speaks on Organization.

A. O. Young, organizer for the American Federation of Labor, attended the monthly meeting of the Bartenders' Local Union yesterday, and delivered an address dealing with organization matters. After he completes certain business in Montana he will return to Vancouver, and do further organization work in this district.

New Lumber Company.

Ottawa, Oct. 9.—The "Canada Gazette" this week contains the name of the Citizens' Lumber Company of Lethbridge among the list of incorporated companies, with a capital of $50,000.

GREAT DEVELOPMENT IN FRASER VALLEY

A. W. McLeod Sees Great Advancement in Course of Trip to Chilliwack.

A. W. McLeod, the well known insurance man, returned on Saturday from a trip up the Fraser valley. Mr. McLeod, who was accompanied by Mrs. McLeod made the trip up to Chilliwack in a horse and buggy, and is now loud in his praise of the country. Mr. and Mrs. McLeod returned from Chilliwack on the steamer Beaver, bringing the horse and buggy down with them.

Followed Yale Road.

For the greater part of the distance Mr. McLeod followed the Yale road, and states that, with the exception of one or two stretches, he found it in excellent condition. Under the circumstances he states that he is surprised that more have not availed themselves of the opportunity offered by the splendid shape of the roads for taking this delightful trip.

Mr. McLeod states that he was struck by the advancement shown throughout the length and breadth of the valley. Everywhere new settlers are coming, and in all the districts from Cloverdale to Chilliwack, new land is being cleared, and the bush is giving place to pastures and fruit trees. And according to all indications, the present progress is merely a foreshadowing of what is to come. At the present time all eyes throughout the south side of the Fraser valley are on the B. C. E. R. Chilliwack extension, and once that is completed a great inrush of settlers, and the disappearance of vast areas of what

NEW LEADER OF PROVINCIAL LIBERALS OUTLINES POLICY OF COMING CAMPAIGN

John Oliver, M.P.P., Succeeds J. A. Macdonald---Principal Platform Planks Are Cooperation With Federal Government in Railway Construction, Free Land Grants and Enforcement of Health Act Against Orientals.

The provincial Liberals of the province gathered at the club rooms in this city on Saturday afternoon, and formally accepted the resignation of J. A. Macdonald, M.P.P., as leader of the party, and it was then announced by C. W. Munro, M.P.P., that the Liberal members of the legislature had elected John Oliver, M.P.P., as leader of the opposition.

It is understood that Mr. Macdonald will be appointed to the new court of appeal for the province. The members of the convention expressed appreciation at the work done by Mr. Macdonald in the interests of good government in British Columbia, and then passed a resolution approving the choice of John Oliver, and expressing confidence in him as leader of the party.

The Liberal Platform

A progressive and constructive platform was drafted, in view of the election which indications point to be imminent.

Reports from the different parts of the province by the convention gave assurance that the Liberals of the province were well prepared for the contest and that strong candidates would be nominated in every constituency.

In the evening a smoking concert was tendered to the visiting delegates to the convention by the local Liberal association, the president, A. E. Kellington, in the chair.

Short addresses were made by a number of the visitors, and the new leader took this occasion to outline the progressive platform of the Liberal party in the province, and the policy on which they will contest the coming election.

The three main planks of the opposition platform as outlined by Mr. Oliver dealt with the railway, Oriental, and land questions. If returned to power the Liberals will co-operate with the federal government to secure the development of British Columbia, by railway construction as opposed to the present policy of antagonism to Ottawa. As a remedy to the Asiatic problem the party undertake to strengthen and enforce the provincial health act, compelling the Asiatics to live up to the white standard.

A vigorous policy to promote the settlement of the land will be inaugurated, with free grants to settlers, and providing for preservation of the public domain.

He criticised severely the neglect of the Attorney-General's and Departments of Lands and Works to carry out their duties in the interests of the province.

The new leader also charged the present government with an endeavor to secure a snap verdict, and with misrepresentation.

The chairman contented himself with introducing the speakers.

Prospect in Vancouver.

The first speaker was G. E. Crossin, of Vancouver, one of the leading young Liberals of the Terminal City. He believed they would give the Conservatives in Vancouver a run for their money, and while they might elect two or three members if the election was called in two months, he was confident if the poll did not take place for six months the Liberals would return a solid five. (Applause.) They would go into the fight with a splendid leader in the person of Mr. Oliver, whom they knew as a vigorous fighter, a fair and honest fighter. (Applause.) He challenged them to show anything which the Conservatives had done; a mile of railway they had built, a mile of road of any consequence they had constructed. The only thing was the monumental work of the Vancouver court house. (Laughter.) Mr. R. G. Tatlow was hailed as the financial genius who had restored the confidence of the province. The government had restored it at the price of the sale of the public domain, and boasted of a surplus which should have been spent in the development of the province.

H. A. Munn, of Victoria, congratulated the party on their new leader, and Mr. Oliver on his election to that position. He spoke of the astuteness of the present premier as a politician, a man who traded upon the prosperity of the province. The financial stringency of the whole country a few years ago would be well remembered. The McBride government took the credit for the restoration of good times, but not to Mr. McBride, but to the Liberal party at Ottawa if to anyone was due the credit.

Wanted a Railway Policy.

D. Stevens, of Saanich, speaking of the financial claims of Mr. Tatlow, referred to the hundreds of thousands of acres of timber lands which belonged to the province when the Conservative party came into power. Now these timber lands were in the hands of speculators, most of whom had drawn rich prizes. He believed if these lands had been properly administered, the necessity of taxing the people of British Columbia would be eliminated. He reminded his hearers that the funds being used for election purposes by Mr. McBride and his party, were not their funds, but the property of people. For seven long years the people had not heard of the railway policy for the benefit of the province promised by the government, nor would there be one unless it also would be for the benefit of Mr. McBride and his satellites. Men who had been compelled to retire from the Conservative party were permitted to see the map and survey at Victoria, but the public were denied this right, and informed that maps had not been prepared. Nor were the lands sold at their

BLAINE EDITOR WILL WALK FOR LIVING

Blaine, Oct. 9.—Out of work and money, with a wife and six children on his hands, John Alden Seabury early this morning set out afoot in an effort to capture his per capita share of the coin of the realm. His family is at Moclips, Wash., where he published The Ocean Wave during the summer. In lieu of a newspaper job, Editor Seabury avows his intention to walk until he finds one, and as he is a pedestrian of some note, this contemporary of Weston bids fair to excel in notoriety, if not in cash, the lesser walkers of the day.

With one foot in Canada and the other in the United States on the international boundary line, a half-mile north of Blaine, Editor-Pedestrian Seabury started southward today for the Mexican international boundary line, just below National City, Cal., a distance of 1750 miles. En route he will write special atricles for the press.

Seabury says "It's National City or bust, and I can't be much worse busted than I am now."

J. A. Seabury is well known to man residents of this city.

Repudiates Interview.

Ottawa, Oct. 9.—Mr. R. L. Borden repudiates an alleged interview with him here regarding British politics and other matters.

SCALED ASYLUM WALLS, ESCAPED ACROSS BORDER

John James Ross, After Checkered Career, Seeks Protection of the Police.

A man named John James Ross, who was a patient in the provincial asylum here for some time following an attempt at suicide by chloride of potash on the steps of the Wesley Methodist church, Vancouver, has turned up in Vancouver and applied for shelter at the police station. Ross, or Coles, as he was otherwise known, used to be a car inspector in the old country, and also worked at that occupation across the line. He got into a railway accident and lost his right leg below the knee. Becoming unable to earn his living at odd jobs, he was threatened with deportation from the United States, and came over to Canada, landing in Vancouver. This was a little over a year ago. He failed to find suitable work here and growing despondent, he attempted suicide unsuccessfully. In May he escaped from the asylum by scaling the walls, and slipped back to the United States. He returned to Vancouver upon a threat of being deported. He may be returned to the asylum, though he appears quite rational in conversation.

DENIZENS OF THE DEEP ARRIVE AT EXHIBITION

D. G. S. Georgia Brings Consignment of Sea Inhabitants for Department of Fisheries Exhibit.

The Dominion government patrol boat Georgia arrived in port yesterday with a shipment of sea inhabitants for exhibition at the Fisheries building at Queen's park. A News reporter happened to walk along the C. P. R. wharf and growing curious as to the reason of a number of large tanks on the deck of the Georgia, applied for information.

The tanks contained sea water for the glass show tanks at the building, and a constant supply will have to be obtained to keep the fish alive, a task of some difficulty since this is probably the furthest distance from salt water at which it has been attempted to show live seafish.

Among the creatures brought by the Georgia are dog fish, sculpins, sea perch, crabs, starfish and shellfish of various kinds. Some of the fish died on the trip, and these will be preserved in spirits under the direction of Prof. Andrew Halkett, naturalist of the marine and fisheries department.

Brussels, Oct. 9.—The opening session of the international peace conference today was devoted to addresses on peace. Among those who spoke were English and German delegates, who favored a rapprochement between their countries and reduction in armaments.

MAPLE RIDGE BOARD COMPLETE ORGANIZATION

Officers of Board of Trade for District Chosen—Westminster Men Are Elected Honorary Officers.

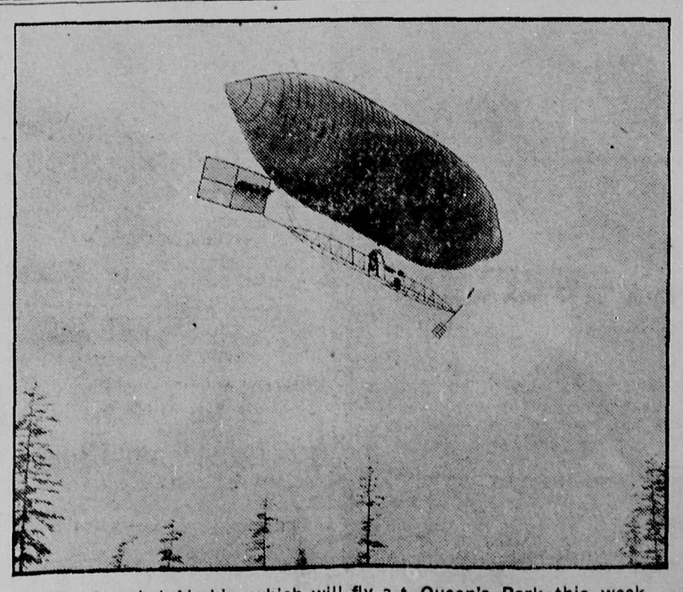
The Maple Ridge board of trade has at length been organized, the secretary of the Westminster board of trade, C. H. Stuart Wade, having worked energetically to that end for several weeks, and on Friday night his efforts were crowned with success.

The officers elected were: Hon. president, W. Manson, M. P. P.; hon. vice-president, J. A. Lee, president of Westminster board; hon. secretary, C. H. S. Wade; president, W. E. Beckett; council, Messrs. Jackson, Lougheed, Cooper, Pelletier, Patterson, Hockey, Stanley, Aikman and Dailey.

At a meeting of the council the bylaws were drawn up, and another meeting of the full board will be held on Saturday next.

Primitive Christianity.

Madison Wright, a well known evangelist, who believes that present-day Christianity is too much encumbered by forms and ceremonies, and wishes a return to the simple teachings of the early Christians, is in the city, and has commenced a series of meetings, the first of which was held yesterday. Mr. Wright is located at 305 Durham street, and is holding meetings every evening commencing at 8 o'clock. In the mornings, commencing at 11 o'clock he holds public worship, and administers the sacrament. All are cordially invited to attend these meetings.



The Stroebel Airship, which will fly a t Queen's Park this week.

SUFFRAGETTE ATTACKS MINISTER WITH HATCHET

Newcastle, England, Oct. 10.—David Lloyd-George, chancellor of the exchequer, received a popular welcome yesterday afternoon at the Palace theatre, where he gave an audience of 4000 what he called a "plain talk" on the subject of the Budget. "We are going to send that bill up to the House of Lords and get all the taxes or none," said the chancellor.

When Mr. Lloyd-George was leaving the theatre a crowd of Suffragettes made a dash toward his car. Lady Constance Lytton, who was armed with a hatchet; Mrs. H. N. Braidford, and Miss Davison, were arrested.

Early in the day four other sympathizers with the Suffragettes were sentenced to 14 days at hard labor for indulging in a window-smashing campaign at the local Liberal club this morning.

Too Much Money.

Chatham, Ont., Oct. 9.—Any old-timer who can lay any claim to having once been connected with the old Chatham fire brigade should communicate with the city treasurer. The city council has decided to pay $2 per year for life to all such men who can establish their claims. It is estimated that there are hundreds of old volunteer firemen scattered all over the American continent, and the city treasurer is likely to have his hands full. Chatham has so much loose cash she is advertising for men to come and take it away.

CHILLIWACK FOREGOES ANNUAL EXHIBITION

Could Not Get New Grounds Ready in Time, and Wet Weather Made Outdoor Show Impossible.

The Chilliwack fair which was scheduled to have taken place on Friday and Saturday of the past week, did not occur owing to the fact that the Chilliwack Agricultural Society was unable to get its new grounds in shape in time for the occasion.

Some weeks ago the society completed the purchase of twenty-three acres for use as exhibition grounds. This gives it much more space for the fair than was previously the case, the old grounds only having an area of five acres.

The buildings of the society, however, were all on the old ground, and it was found impossible to get new ones erected on the present park in time for the show. Had the weather been fine it might have been possible to hold the fair in the open air. Friday, however, was so wet, that it was decided to forego the exhibition this year.

CAR CREW AVERTS THREATENED DANGER

Conductor and Motorman Save Passengers From a Hideous Catastrophe.

The promptness and presence of mind of the crew on one of the Grandview cars yesterday afternoon was the means of turning what at first promised to be a horrible catastrophe into a comparatively trivial accident.

Car Ran Amuck.

While running on the interurban tracks out from Vancouver toward Grandview, the motorman on the car saw a runaway freight dashing down the tracks toward Vancouver at a terrific rate. He reversed, but such was the speed at which the runaway freight was approaching that it was clear that it would be impossible to get out of its way. To stop the car would have meant an instant collision, which would probably have resulted in the death of many of the passengers.

The motorman notified the conductor, and it was decided that the only thing to do was to keep the car running backward, and to rush the passengers to the front, where it was hoped they would escape the worse of the force of the collision.

The conductor immediately gave the alarm, and had just succeeded in getting all the passengers to the front of the car, when the runaway struck the rear of the passenger with terrific force.

Cars Were Telescoped.

The rear of the passenger car was completely demolished, the freight telescoping it for a distance of over five feet. Had any of the passengers remained in this part of the car their fate would have been sealed.

As it was the passengers standing in the front end of the car were badly shaken and jostled, but with the exception of a few bruises and slight cuts from broken glass none of them were seriously injured.

So great was the force of the collision that the passenger car was carried clean off the tracks, while the freight was partially derailed. A wrecking gang was at once sent out, and the track was cleared in a few minutes, the interurban traffic being little affected.

Boys Responsible.

Mischievous boys are supposed to have been responsible for the accident. The freight was standing at Central Park, whence there is a down grade clean into Vancouver. It is supposed that the boys released the brakes allowing the freight to start on the down grade. It kept on, gaining momentum until by the time it had arrived at Grandview it had got up a terrific speed.

It is probable that the B. C. E. R. Co. will make a determined effortto unearth those responsible for the accident.

REVIVE SUMAS RECLAMATION SCHEME

Board of Dyking Commissioners Wish to Take Over Government Land in Trust

Despite the failure of the recent negotiations for the reclaiming of Sumas prairie, the Sumas dyking commissioners have by no means given up hope of wresting that valuable tract of land from the grasp of the Fraser river, and according to the latest advices from upriver it appears that they are now working upon another scheme for the reclamation of the land.

Ask Government for Land.

The board of dyking commissioners now proposes to do the work itself. One of the objections to the previous schemes was that the work was to have been taken over by a company, to which large areas of the reclaimed land was to have been granted. Objection was raised to this on the ground that the corporation might use its control of the lands for purposes of speculation rather than legitimate development, and the scheme fell through.

The dyking commissioners now propose to ask the provincial government to give them the lands which it is proposed to reclaim, and which are at present owned by the province. The board wishes to hold these in trust for the municipality until the work is completed, and then to sell them. It is calculated that once the work of reclamation is completed this land will be worth a very large sum.

Financing the Scheme.

It is expected that there would be no difficulty in raising the amount required for the work on bonds on this land, and on debentures on the landowners benefited. When the work is completed the tracts in question would be sold, and it is expected that the recipts would go far toward the cost of the enterprise. The balance would be accounted for by the debenture issue.

New Liberal Leader Outlines Party Policy

right prices. They were classed as first and second class and much that was worth $5 an acre was sold to foreign speculators at $2.50 an acre. (Shame).

Arraigns Government.

Stuart Henderson, M.P.P., after a tribute to the new leader as a man who had done more for the provincial Liberal party than any other man in the province, proceeded to arraign the government for its many sins of commission and omission. The very first act of the McBride ministry when they came into office was to raise the taxes. The opposition was told the banks insisted upon it to meet the debt which existing in the days of coalition ministries, to have the honor of the province.

Everything which had been suggested by the Liberals had been claimed by the Conservatives for their credit. Everything that had been done, be it in finance, be it in law, be it in agriculture, he did not care in what branch, except in education, had eminated from the Liberal members of the house, and in the end had been adopted by the government. Time and again the lobbies had been filled by lumbermen seeking to have a definite policy adopted, and at length they were forced to come down to a definite decision on the subject, as the lumbermen suggested.

Lacks Constructive Ability.

He continued, "Mr. Tatlow is referred to as a great financial genius, and McBride is his prophet. Let them examine the record of the government with reference to the land question." There was no definite policy. The government simply put legislature on the statute books and never attempted to give it force by carrying it out. A railway policy had been promised session after session, and yet it never came. The government could do nothing when it came to constructive work. Take the marvellous solution of the water question as acclaimed by the Conservatives, one of the most important in the interior! How magnificently had Mr. Fulton, it was said, reconciled conflicting interests. When it was passed it required men to bring it into operation. These men had not been appointed, it was a dead letter.

The policy of the government of British Columbia had been absolutely antagonistic to the Dominion of Canada, and this antagonism had reacted to the detriment of the province. The government had made much of the better terms question. They used it with tremendous force at the last election. As a matter of fact the Dominion had paid out five millions more to B. C. than the province had paid in. Another bugaboo had been the Asiatic cry. The Natal act in Natal had caused an increase of Orientals at the expense of the white population. The Dominion government had introduced the best legislation in this way yet proposed, which was doing its duty. (Applauce). He hoped they would avoid making mistakes, as had been done in previous campaigns. There existed a feeling of discontent throughout the province and if they only organised properly the Liberals would turn the minority of 13 to a majority of 26 or 29, and make John Oliver next premier of the province. (Loud applause).

A. M. Pound, of Vancouver, assured the meeting that the Liberal party would go before the country with a clean cut and progressive policy, and no forged telegrams would be used.

Time For a Change.

John Jardine, M.P.P., for Esquimalt, added his tribute to Mr. Oliver the new leader of the Liberal party in the province. Mr. Jardine stated that he was at a loss to understand how the people of the province could be so easily satisfied with the present government. He felt confident that when the new platform of the party was laid before the people, they would change their opinions. When he thought of the wealth that should belong to the people that had been given away by the Conservative government, he could not but come to the conclusion that it was high time that they received their walking tickets. It was time that the people were told how they were being fooled by the McBride government. On the island the Liberals were confident that they could hold all the present seats, and he believed that the party would capture Victoria.

Dr. Hall, M.P.P., of Nelson, said the country needed a business management for the development of its great resources. The legislation of the government had been careless, and was in most cases inoperative owing to the lack of power of the executive to put the legislation enacted into force.

Tribute to Macdonald.

Mr. Oliver expressed his appreciation of the high honor conferred upon him by the Liberal party of the province in electing him as their leader, and he felt that he would be unable to live up to all the expectations of the party. He expressed sincere regret at the resignation of the late leader, Mr. Macdonald and spoke feelingly of the good work done by his predecessor while in the House, work for which he received but little credit. Referring to the remarks of a former speaker, the leader stated that the call for men of ability to work in the country's interests had been a great drain on the leading men of the Liberal party, and British Columbia had felt the drain to a great extent owing to its limited population. So while he felt regret at the retirement of the late leader from public life, yet he realized that it was to the interests of the country, in whose service he would in future fill a position of trust and importance.

Signs of Dissolution.

Referring to the criticisms of earlier speakers of the McBride government, Mr. Oliver pointed out that such criticisms were necessary that the people might realize the situation of the Liberal party in the province, and the value of the Conservative party, since their record in the past must be the guide to their actions in the future. He believed that the house was on the eve of dissolution, judging by many indications. The premier had stated that if he succeeded in making a satisfactory agreement with the Canadian Northern railway company he would appeal to the country before another session. It was shown by the unusual activity in road work throughout the province, and the feverish desire to get more into the employ of the government. While it was good to have money spent on the roads, yet he could scarcely consider it economical to commence road making at the commencement of the wet season. But why, queried Mr. Oliver, should there be all this secrecy. If the government had a good proposition to place before the electors, surely it would be better to place it before them as early as possible that they might have time to consider it properly before voting. Only a government that was afraid would resort to securing a snap verdict. This, he pointed out, had been done on former occasions by the McBride government. In addition they had made false representations to the public; in the face of this, could anything different be expected from them in the future? He was creditably informed that the date of the elections had already been set.

Peculiar Finance.

The chief argument advanced by the Conservatives why they should be reelected to power, was that they had improved the financial condition of the province. Mr. Tatlow was heralded as a financial genius, but some of the work he had done could have been beaten by a schoolboy. He borrowed a million dollars, part of which has never been used to this day. In 1908 the revenue from timber resources was estimated at $750,000. In the public accounts the revenue was shown at $2,358,000, or in other words the finance department's estimates were nearly one-third of the right figure. The boasted surplus was obtained by the alienation of the public domain. (Shame). It was estimated that there was sufficient timber licensed in the province to last for 200 years at the present rate of cutting, or in other words the government had mortgaged the timber cut for 200 years to obtain a surplus. If the timber men stated they could not clear the land in 20 years they were promptly informed that it was their own lookout. Referring to the recent sittings of the provincial forestry commission, Mr. Oliver stated that in an amendment moved to the Land act by the Liberal opposition, was fully covered every point brought before the commission for solution. The amendment was voted down by the government two years ago, but they would have to come to it yet, and would have to swallow their vote of two sessions ago.

Only one point raised at the commission sittings had not been covered by the amendment, the fair wages clause, to provide for the payment of the current rate of wages in any locality. He had suggested to the commission that the wages for the clearing of land should be white labor wages.

Correct Timber Policy.

Continuing the speaker passed on to criticise an editorial in the Daily Columbian upon the evidence given by himself before the Forestry Commission in Vancouver. The article made it appear he was snirking the question. He had always taken one line of policy, and that was to handle the timber belonging to the Crown in one regular way. Have the timber cruised and surveyed, and then, knowing what it was worth, offer it for sale. The present policy aided the speculators, or investors, he did not blame them for their action, but they profitted at the expense of the province. They invested money and took their chances, but the public suffered through the foolish line of policy.

If they came to consider the matter 85 to 90 per cent of the people of British Columbia lived in the towns and cities. Was that a healthy state of affairs? Only recently the Vancouver Board of Trade, composed mostly of Conservatives, sent a delegation to Victoria to secure the settlement of the land.

Free Land Grants.

With settlement of the land was bound up the transportation question. No reliable information about the lands could be obtained at the government offices. It was easier to know 33 years ago when he came to the province where lands were open to settlement than today. How could they expect settlers to come here while millions of acres were to be given away in the north-west. Give the settler free land, subject to residence and cultivation. (Applause). Several million dollars worth of produce which could be raised in the province was imported annually. Lands were staked by the investors in the names of people who never had been in the province and sold again at a profit.

Turning to the water question he criticised the careless drafting of the bill which had been ultimately forced

THE NEW LEADER.

We doubt if any more scathing denouncement of an existing government has ever been made than that by John Oliver on Saturday evening, at the Liberal club rooms in this city, when, in a masterly manner he exposed the absolute weakness of the ministers from the Premier down, of the present administration at Victoria. Were it not that Mr. Oliver had facts and figures to go upon, it would be impossible to believe how British Columbia has been hoodwinked the past six years. What fools the people were made of when Mr. McBride rushed to England to appear at the foot of the throne for "better terms" when he well knew that British Columbia was being treated far better than any other province in the Dominion, how he blinded the people to the real issues, and the well-merited rebute he received from his own Conservative ally, the present Premier of Ontario, Sir James Whitney.

It is impossible to conceive what deleterious effects the present administration will have on the future of the province, the lands all gobbled up by speculators, the timber licenses that have been gambled for, and practically the whole of our birthright sold for a mess of pottage.

Mr. Oliver went farther and exposed to the full the incompetency of the Lands and Works Department stating that the reports of the surveys made in 1907, were not yet ready for publication, but that prospectors in the States and other alien parts were able to secure them, and then sell to the highest bidder.

Attorney-General Bowser was roundly scored for the present state of inefficiency in his department prevalent in the province, referring to the many recent failures to capture murderers and others, and roundly accusing the department of employing for the most part, men on account of their political pull, who do nothing more than act all the time as boosters for the present government.

Taking as his caption "They talked white but voted yellow," Mr. Oliver pointed out how the Liberals at Victoria moved an amendment to the following clause "The workmen, laborers and servants employed in or about the construction of the said railway shall be paid such rates of wages as may be currently payable to workmen * * * engaged in similar occupations in the district," pleading that the word "white" be inserted in front of "workmen, etc," and how the Conservatives voted against the insertion of the word "white," and yet the whole cry of the Conservative party is that the Liberals will flood the country with yellow labor.

The Conservatives brought the alien races here to build the C.P.R., and by the grace of the present Conservatives they would still pour in, were it not for the Liberal Government at Ottawa taking a hand in their exclusion.

We could have wished that every fishermen on the Fraser had been present Saturday night to hear the plea put up for them by Mr. Oliver, on the brutal treatment meted out to them last year on the fishing licenses, and the bluff of the Attorney-General to appeal to the Privy Council, when he knew he had no case, the hardships worked on the fishermen and their families, and the refusal to pay back the fines so illegally taken.

We in this city only know too-well how the Provincial Government have opposed everything brought forward by the Dominion Government to the benefit of British Columbia. How the provincial government has been rushing to the law courts, like a pack of children, on every conceivable point, and how they have been defeated at every turn. The provincial government are afraid to go to the Privy Council on the fines illegally imposed on the fishermen, they will know the scathing judgment there will be passed on them.

Again, the huge subsidies paid to their press, in the way of advertising, that enable sycophantic journals such as the Columbian to support them blindly.

We accuse the present government of wilfully paying huge subsidies in the way of advertising, and in proof of this say that it was not to the public good, or to benefit the public, or to entail greater publicity, that pages were used in the "Week", of Victoria, and in an evening paper just published, when older journals were left out. We place the government on the same plane of business men, and what business men would spend thousands and thousands of dollars, to advertise his wares in papers of no known circulation, or continue advertising weeks after benefits could accrue? A business man advertises for results, the provincial Government uses our money to build up some of its weaker satellites.

The Liberals of British Columbia have a strong leader in John Oliver, one whose record is so clean that no one can point the finger of shame at him, one who has the statesmanship to study out policies for the advancement of the province, and one who will turn out the apology of a government at Victoria, and give us progress.

We feel sure that interest is so far awakened, that when Mr. Oliver and his lieutenants are billed to speak, every one will turn out, and we cannot see how another vote can be cast for the present government at Victoria always excepting their "henchmen."

Robertson-McCann.

A pretty wedding was solemnized at Hazelwood Farm, Albion, on Friday of the past week when S. Robertson, only son of Capt. and Mrs. Reid, was united in matrimony to Miss R. McCann, daughter of Mrs. R. J. McCann, of Maple Ridge. Rev. A. Dunn of Sapperton officiated.

The bride, who looked charming in a white silk princess gown, was attended by Miss Annette Elchinco, who was attired in a net gown which was trimmed with white silk. The groom was supported by P. Douglas of New Westminster.

Refreshments were served after the ceremony, and these having been disposed of the floors were cleared for dancing, which was kept up until the early hours of the morning. Mr. and Mrs. Robertson left on the morning train for Seattle and the Sound cities, where they will spend their honeymoon.

Among the many presents received were the following: Heintzman piano, Mr. and Mrs. Capt. Reid; table centre and ink well, Mr. and Mrs. Muench; silver teaspoons, Mr. and Mrs. P. Douglas; set of hat pins, Mr. and Mrs. H. Raeburger; tea set, Mrs. Geo. Adams; mustard dish, Mr. J. Muench; hand painted cake dish, Mrs. G. Browse; decorated china tea set, Mr. and Mrs. Elchinco; china tea pot and cream jug, Misses Blackstock; silver cake basket, Mr. and Mrs. Laird; hand painted cake dish, Mrs. K. Morrison; silver teaspoons, Mrs. Ritchie; cut-glass cake dish, Miss C. Van Brummer; rocking chair, Mr. and Mrs. J. Robertson; china, Miss Nettie Miller; leather handbag, Mrs. Ritchie; cushion top, Miss E. Robertson; cushion top, Miss A. Elchinco; china cups and saucers, Mr. and Mrs. Frew; hair comb set with brilliants, Mrs. Kendricks. The groom's gift to the bride was a beautiful gold watch and chain.

Great Advancement of Fraser Valley

Surprised at Progress.

Mr. McLeod was surprised at the progress made by the B. C. E. R. line. The steel is already into Cloverdale, and from there on to Abbotsford the work of grading the right-of-way has been completed, and the ties are being laid. From Abbotsford on to Chilliwack vast numbers of men are engaged upon the completion of the grading. This is a work of considerable magnitude. Across Sumas prairie gangs of men with steam shovels are busy raising the right-of-way to the required fifteen feet above the present level of the prairie in order to place the line beyond the reach of the waters of the Fraser.

Building New Road.

Along the base of Sumas mountain the line follows the old Yale road, and men are at work building another section of the road to take the place of that usurped by the railway, higher up the side of the mountain. This part of the road was the only one, states Mr. McLeod, which he found really bad.

Mr. McLeod saw much game along the route, pheasants and grouse being particularly plentiful, while indications are good for the duck hunters.

MONTREALS ARE CHAMPS OF THE N. L. U.

In Two Deciding Games They Scored Ten Goals to Eight For Irishmen —Will Not Be Here This Fall.

Montreals are champions of the N. L. U., and it is now practically a certainty that there will be no challenge for the Minto cup this year. Montreal cinched the championship on Saturday when they defeated the Shamrocks to the tune of five to one. In the previous game Shamrocks had defeated them by a score of seven to five, so that each team has one game apiece. Montreals, however, have the upper hand in goals, the totals scored being ten for the Montreal and only eight for the Shamrocks.

Had the Irishmen won the championship there was a possibility that they might have challenged for the cup and insisted on playing off this year, for they are notoriously a hot-headed and erratic bunch. That the Montreals, however will do anything like that is improbable. The Montreals had, indeed, threatened to tour the West this fall whether they won the championship of the N. L. U. or not, but considering the lateness of the season, it is now certain that they will not do so.

ROVERS DISMISSED FROM NATIONAL CUP

In Spite of Circumstances Westminster Boys Put Up Splendid Fight.

The Rovers were beaten at Recreation park, Vancouver, on Saturday, in the first round of the National cup, after putting up a game which should certainly have carried them to victory under any ordinary circumstances.

The main cause of the defeat was the failure of two of the principal men to turn out, and without Lyons and Viner the whole team was disorganized. When the referee called the start only seven Westminster boys took the field, and Sawyers and Lock did not put in an appearance for several minutes, during which Irvine beat Teague, and although Westminster equalized shortly afterward, Munro placed the Thistles ahead. Just before half time the other two men took the field, and although Irvine netted once more, the Rovers thereafter were able to hold their own, and throughout the second half had all the better of play and should have scored several times. Two or three times the ball hit the post, and rebounded into play, and at least on half a dozen occasions the shots of Shawcross, Robertson and Johnson missed only by inches.

Every one who saw the game on Saturday will admit that the Rovers demonstrated a better knowledge of the fine points of football, and had Viner and Lyons been in their places the Scotsmen would never have passed into the second round of the cup. Kirby undoubtedly was the best man on the line up, and Robertson would have done wonders if he had only had a fair measure of support. Burrows played well at full back.

The match in itself proved not at all a bad exhibition of football and better than the Celtic-Shamrock one which preceded it. Shaw in goal, Irvine and Forrest appeared to be the choice men on the home side. The whole team, however, lacks initiative, and wants to improve in combination before they will figure high in the league table. The Rovers had them all beaten every time on individual play.

The teams were:

Thistles—Goal, Shaw; backs, Forrest and Harley; halves, Rennie, Jas. Teed and D. Neilson; forwards, O'Hara, Irvine, D. Spence, Munro and Butchart.

Westminster—Goal, Teague; backs, Kirby and Burrows; halves, Shawcross, Sawers and Lock; forwards, Brooks, King, Johnson, Robertson and Caydzien.

Referee—D. McCallum.

DETROIT WINS SECOND IN CHAMPIONSHIP SERIES

Detroit	0 2 3 0 2 0 0 0 0	7	9	3

Batteries—Detroit, Donovan and Schmidt; Pittsburg, Camnitz, Willis and Gibson.

Forbes Field, Pittsburg, Oct. 9.—Detroit evened up the count in the world's championship series today, defeating Pittsburg in a one-sided game at Forbes field. The Detroit players batted Camnitz hard early in the game, and he was relieved by Willis in the third. Willis was hit hard in the fifth inning, and Detroit scored two more runs.

The first inning was all Pittsburg, but after that the National league champions were not in the running for a moment. Two two-baggers and a base on balls off "Wild Bill" Donovan in the first inning was the end of their ability to hit him. After this he became better every inning, and the hard-hitting Pirates were absolutely helpless before his brilliant twirling. Only three hits were made off Donovan after the first inning.

One of the sensational features was a brilliant steal of home by Ty Cobb in the third inning on the first ball pitched by Willis. Gibson was so surprised at the unexpected feat of Cobb that he dropped the ball as Cobb slid over the plate.

through and was now a dead letter. It would require an able man to interpret for the government what they meant.

Westminster Bridge.

They had no system in governmental work. Take for example the Vancouver court house. It was freely alleged that the specifications had been altered to benefit the contractors. The Nelson court house was 10 feet below the street level, and had been rendered a disgrace. The Canoe Pass bridge had never been finished, and owing to the procrastination when the ice came last year it took out seven spans. Having criticised the expensive system of road making through too much officialdom, the speaker referred to the Westminster bridge with its system of tolls, the only public highway bridge in British Columbia on which tolls were charged, and from which the government with a large surplus would not forego the tolls of $10,000 a year. The country south of the bridge had not been settled up as it should have been, and thousands of dollars was lost to the business of Westminster through the action of the government.

Talk White, Vote Yellow.

If the Liberal party was returned to office there would be a rearrangement of taxation to help the rural municipalities. (Applause). Turning to the Asiatic question and the notorious Bowser roorbach he said he would show that the Conservative party talked "white" and voted "yellow." When they sought to amend the fair wages clause in the contract with the G.T.P. Railway to read "such wages as were usually paid to men in the district," to insert "white" before "men" it was voted down by the Conservatives. When he came to British Columbia there was the same agitation as today against Oriental immigration. The restrictive legislation had been a success, as imposed by the Dominion government, and the inconsistency of the Conservatives was shown by their fear of the bars being let down, while all the time declaring that the legislation was ineffective.

Let them see that the Health Act was enforced. Regulations could be made by the lieutenant-governor in council which would compel the Orientals to put their dwellings in order and make them safe and sanitary for them and their neighbors, force them to come up to a white man's standard of living. (Applause.)

Strengthen Health Act.

One of the things the Dominion government had been considering for some time was dealing with the Asiatic question from this standpoint. The speaker had suggested this remedy to the attorney-general of the province, and offered his assistance to put the necessary legislation through the house, but his suggestions had been rejected. If the Liberal party were placed in power, it would be their policy to strengthen the health act, and provide for a rigid governmental inspection of places of abode. This would abolish the present fire traps and dens of filth, and by removing these conditions, force the Asiatics to live up to the standard of the whites. This he believed was the solution of the Asiatic question. (Applause).

It had been the policy of the British Columbia government to fight the federal government, only a year ago making the fishermen of the Fraser river a buffer between them and the Dominion government. The McBride government had said that they would carry the case to the privy council; they had not done so knowing well that they had not a leg to stand on. He had asked that the fines imposed in the test cases be remitted, but McBride and his attorney-general had not been man enough to do this. A long list of murderers and other criminals had been permitted to make good their escape; Gun-a-Noot, the murdered of Isaac Decker, and many others, through the inaction of the attorney-general's department. But what else could be expected when government appointments were being used for political effect instead of for the work of their offices.

Returning to his former statement that the McBride government had won in the last election by misrepresentation, Mr. Oliver took up the question of better terms. He had received the official returns of the Dominion government and of the provincial government, and with these before him he was in a position to say that Mr. McBride had deceived the people of B. C. to the extent of $26,000,000. This statement Mr. Oliver was prepared to defend on any platform in Canada.

Railway Policy.

Railway construction was one of the greatest problems to come before the electors. For years the opposition had been urging upon the government the necessity of inaugurating a policy of railway construction for the province, and had promised to aid the government towards this end. Yet in seven years the government had done nothing. The Dominion government, on the contrary had bonussed 1000 miles of railways in the province exclusive of the Grand Trunk Pacific, at a cost of $6,600,000. Yet the provincial government had shown no more interest in the work than if it had been in Quebec instead of British Columbia. The policy of the Liberal party would be to co-operate with the federal government in a railway policy for the province, and instead of fighting with the government at Ottawa to work with them for the development of British Columbia; this would not, however, mean that they endorse every and any proposition that was made by the federal government. (Applause).

It was the intention of the Liberal party in British Columbia, if elected to power, to show the people of the province that they could originate a policy for the province. As an opposition they had been doing much for the country by suggesting means of government, which had been used by the government, and for which the government obtained the credit. Yet if the question was one of refraining from helping the government in order to obtain power, he personally would relinquish the power, for he placed the province first and power afterwards. (Applause).

Robert Jardine led the cheering, which followed the conclusion of the speech by the new leader, and a vote of thanks was then passed to the speakers of the evening on motion of E. Goulet.

The meeting was well attended, and musical selections formed a pleasing interlude to the speeches. Those contributing were F. S. Cameron, W. Morris, W. Sayce and W. Fryer (piano).

Mr. Oliver will speak in Vancouver on Monday night, in Victoria on Tuesday night, and other points on Vancouver island during the balance of the week.

TYNEHEAD NOTES.

(Contributed.)

Robert James Paris, aged 11 years 3 months and 9 days, second youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Paris of Valley Cottage, Tynehead, B. C., died from the effects of being struck by a bar. The accident occurred at 8 o'clock Sunday evening. The two oldest boys went out to take the horses from the pasture to the barn. They had a lantern as it was quite dark. As the horse stepped over the bars the youngest boy went to put the halter on him, when, when his hind feet became entangled in the bars and he began to struggle. One of the bars was dislodged and knocked the boy down. He was unconscious when his oldest brother John called the family to his aid, and remained so until his death, which occurred on Monday, September 27, at 6:35 p.m. The deceased had many friends, as he was a bright little fellow and his casket was covered with flowers from the following: Family, wreath; Tynehead School and teacher, wreath; former teacher, Miss Jean Forrester, spray; Miss Phillips, spray; Westminster High School, wreath; Mrs. Corbett and family, spray; Katie Jardine, spray; Mrs. Fletcher, spray.

KENTUCKY'S NIGHT RIDERS AGAIN GET BUSY.

Brooklyn, Ky., Oct. 9.—After several weeks of idleness, Kentucky's masked night riders are again on the job of creating consternation throughout the state. Early today a party of men with their features hidden by long black masks, drove up to the barn of Edward Johnson, set fire to the building and destroyed 3000 pounds of valuable tobacco.

After burning the barn, the vandals cut all telephone wires in the vicinity so that Johnson could not communicate with the authorities. The men worked deliberately, but quietly, and had nothing to say to any member of the tobacco grower's family.

The night riders inflicted no physical harm upon Johnson and rode away as quietly as they came.

SALOME DANCER TO ENTER CONVENT

Mary Garden, Famous in New York, Is Heartily Tired of All Pomp and Vanity.

New York, Oct. 8.—Imagine Mary Garden, who would not let any one else play the part of Salome or Louise at the Manhattan Opera house last winter, and had a row with Oscar Hammerstein about it, preparing to become a nun.

From Salome of the seven veils to a nun with only one is a big wriggle, but somebody cabled from Paris that Miss Garden was contemplating it, and today a friend of the singer in New York received a letter from Miss Garden in which she wrote:

"I am spending all my spare time studying the Roman Catholic religion, so as to fit myself to become a nun. I am tired of all the pomp and vanity of this wicked world, and when my operatic career closes I will retire to a convent."

A little while ago stories were floated that a Russian prince was pursuing Miss Garden, intent on marrying her. That story is a bit stale now, but the nunnery one is brand new.

TRANQUILLE SANATORIUM STILL NEEDS FINANCIAL AID

The Tranquille Sanatorium for the use of consumptives in British Columbia is approaching completion and it is expected that the entire building will be in operation shortly after Christmas. The amount of money collected in aid of the structure is up to the present $107,000. A sum approaching $100,000 is still required, and while the money continues to flow in, it is probable that another crusade will be necessary.

At the end of September there were 31 patients under treatment at Tranquille, of whom one-third were incipients, the remainder being in an advanced stage of phthisis. When the new structure is completed it will be possible to handle 50 additional patients, while the erection of tents and cottages in the grounds will provide accommodation for many more.

New Westminsterites will have an opportunity to help the fight against consumption on Thursday, Tag Day.

STARVING ESQUIMAUX BECOMES CANNIBAL

An Arctic Native Kills and Eats His Child—Rescue of Wrecked Whaling Crew.

St. John's Nfld., Oct. 8.—The Hudson's bay mounted police report the cannabilism of a starving Esquimau in despatches brought by the Hudson Bay company's steamer Adventure, which arrived here yesterday with the crew of the lost Dundee whaler Paradox. The Esquimau fishing and hunting season had been a failure, and driven mad by hunger he cut the throat of one of his children and ate the little victim. When the man's neighbors learned of this they attacked him. The outcast fled to the shelter of his igloo and beat off the attacking party and escaping into the wilderness. Whether he succeeded in reaching some remote settlement where his crime was unknown, or whether he succumbed to starvation, is not known.

Disloyal to His Trust.

Edmonton, Oct. 9.—Lying in a wagon surrounded by a detachment of city and mounted police and shackled to three convicts, Spence, Oristell and Magee, whom he had helped to escape from prison at Fort Saskatchewan on Wednesday, Private Watters, R. N. W. M. P. was brought into the city last night and is now confined at the barracks. Yesterday a farmer named J. W. Reed telephoned from south of Strathcona that the men had supper there and were sleeping in a barn. Inspector Worsley, with three policemen, rushed them before Watters could pull his service revolver.

An addition of twenty feet will shortly be made to the cradle at the marine ways on Lulu island owned by Edward Mercer. This will enable the ways to accommodate larger vessels than is at present the case. Two large scows are at present under construction to be used for the transportation of suction pipes for the King Edward dredge.

The steamer Transfer will hereafter leave the Brackman-Ker wharf for Ladner, Westham Island and way points, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon instead of at 3, as hertofore, returning on the following morning. On Saturday she will make an extra return trip arriving in the city in the evening. Trips will be made to Steveston as the business warrants. **

"We are seven," was the motto of the septette of drunks who were yesterday gathered in by the police at the city lockup. Seven different nationalities were represented. Three were released on bail of five dollars each, an Englishman, a Japanese and a Finlander. Four remained in the cells, a Scotchman, Swede, Irishman and a Frenchman.

R. Morrison, the fine tenor, will sing "Success Tae Bonnie Scotland." Scottish concert, October 13.

Buy orchard lands while they are cheap and become independent. We are the official agents of The Western Home and Improvement Co., Ltd. Let us tell you about their choice holdings at Appleland. A new townsite and fruit district along the line of the B. C. Electric Chilliwack line and V. V. & E. Cloverdale to Sumas Railway. This section excells in the production of all fruits. Come at once while the best lands are selling cheap and let us show you this section at our expense. We can sell five, ten, fifteen and twenty acre tracts on easy terms. F. J. Hart & Co., Ltd. **

Arthur G. Harrison, secretary of the Edmonton board of trade, arrived Saturday with the exhibit from the Alberta city for the provincial exhibition. Mr. Harrison is much impressed with New Westminster and states that he will bring his family to the city next summer to enjoy the beautiful climate and scenery for some months. "You may say for me," said Mr. Harrison, "that I like New Westminster better than any other city on the coast.

Book your seats early for the Scottish concert.

The wise man has been taught that a bank account is necessary, but a wise man not only has a bank account, but a safety deposit box in a trust company's vault. His valuable papers will go in the vault—he does not risk them in his own house. In a safety deposit box in our vault your papers are perfectly safe from fire, burglars or any other loss. Isn't this sufficient reason why you should rent one of these boxes today? Dominion Trust Co., Ltd., T. R. Pearson, manager, New Westminster branch.

"Exhibition Week" Showing of Handsome Fall Merchandise

The store joins the period of festivities with a display that rivals the Exhibition itself in attractiveness.

This Week the Annual Provincial Agricultural and Industrial Exhibition will again throw open its portals to an admiring host. The attractions of Exhibition Week while they hold the centre of the stage, have a strong rival in Dame Fashion. Here she has established her court and her devotees are countless.

EXHIBITION WEEK HAS COME TO MEAN A FASHION SHOW IN WHICH HUNDREDS OF WOMEN TAKE PART.
