RAILROADS HARD HIT.

Chicago, June 3.—At least $200,000,000 which American railroads had tenatively intended to spend the replacement of rolling stock as a result of increased revenue off freight rates they had expected, must now be used to stave off ruin, according to a statement made by Slasson Thompson, of the railroad bureau, here today.

PAPER MAKING TESTS TO BE BORNE BY THE STATE

Expense of Ascertaining Value of Plants and Woods Is Provided for in Appropriation.

Washington, June 3.—For the purpose of enabling the secretary of agriculture to conduct experiments in paper making, the house today adopted an amendment offered by Mr. Mann, of Illinois, to the civil bill carrying an appropriation of $30,000. Under this proposition the secretary is to subsidize such plants and woods as may require tests to ascertain if they will be suitable for making paper. The appropriation is made immediately available.

After Mr. Mann had stated that the price of paper had risen from $2 to $4 a ton, Representative Sweeney, of Maine, made a speech in which he charged that newspapers had "muck raked" public men who did not accept their views in favor of free wood pulp and paper.

"It is true," shouted Mr. Sweeney, gesticulating towards Mr. Mann, "that they are assaulting the republican administration and the president of the United States, and they are predicting a democratic victory in the coming election."

ENGLISH PARLIAMENT IS TO MEET AGAIN NEXT WEEK

Political Situation Appears Badly Mixed at Present—King George Keeps Posted.

London, June 3.—When parliament meets next week the public will be able to size up the political situation as it has been left by the death of King Edward and the accession of King George.

At present to all except those on the inside the situation appeas mixed. There is a good deal of talk of a compromise but this comes mostly from the opposition. No liberal of influence believes there will be the slightest drawing back so far as the veto question is concerned. The line of cleavage is so clearly drawn that to the liberal mind there is no possible ground for compromise.

One of the features of the recent debates in the house of commons was the regularity with which the new king attended, and the close attention with which he followed the various speeches. Before he left for Biarritz the late king requested his son to furnish him regularly with his impressions of the course and spirit of parliamentary proceedings. Those letters, if they were made public, would excite profound interest.

King George has, according to all accounts, not the same faculty of making friends quickly as his predecessor. Indeed, little is known as to those whom he honors with his closest confidence. But if there is any eminent man in public life to whose opinion he attaches special value, and to whose advice he might be expected to give a considerate hearing, it is Lord Carrington. The genial and tactful president of the board of agriculture was a close friend of the late king in their salad days, and he possesses an abundance of those qualities which go to make a sage and discreet counsellor of kings.

CIRCUS ELEPHANT MEETS OLD FRIEND

Remarkable Incident at Sells-Floto Circus When Animal Recognizes Hindu

An occurrence as spectacular and unique as is ever met with in fiction took place yesterday when the Sells-Floto circus gave its evening performance here. About 7:30 o'clock, before the main performance started, some Hindus came into the tent where the animals are kept. There were several in the party and they walked slowly around commenting on the animals until they came to the row of six elephants.

No sooner had Ran Singh, one of the party, seen one of the elephonts, the second largest of the herd, than he gave a shout of joy, and stepping over the ropes ran towards the beast before anyone could stop him, and before even his companions realized what he was doing.

The other Hindus thought their comrade had gone mad, and feared they were going to witness a tragedy. Instead, they saw what might have been a comedy had it not also its pathetic side. The elephant looked at the Oriental for a moment and then lowering its trunk it caught him about the waist. Instead of dashing him to the ground as the horrified spectators expected, the great beast placed Ran Singh squarely on top of its head and rolled its trunk around him with every evidence of pleasure. Ran, for his part, was never happier in his life, and stroked the huge animal's face, all the time talking to him in some eastern jargon.

The oriental and the elephant spent several minutes in this way, and the other Hindus, realizing that they were the witnesses of some remarkable meeting, crowded around Ran ,asking him questions.

As far as can be learned from one of the Hindus who talks a little English, Ran Singh had been the driver of this same elephant five or six years ago in India. In the little town of Hyderbad, Hindostan, he had taught the elephont to pile logs and had become as friendly with him as only a mahmout can become with the great clumsy animals.

One day the elephant had been sold to some one in southeastern India and he had heard and seen no more of his pet.

Three years later Ran came to Canada and for two years he has been in the province. The last two months he has been living in New Westminster and yesterday he went to the circus.

The circus management bears out Ran's story, inasmuch as they say the animal was brought from India about four years ago and before being trained to do circus tricks was an adept at piling lumber or doing heavy work.

When the managers of the show last night learned of the occurrence they made efforts to locate the Hindu but he had gone and as the time was limited they could not find him.

POPULAR STUDENT CANED AT COLLEGE

Gold Headed Stick Presented to Donald McRae by Miss Mabel Cory Last Night

The closing meeting of the Literary society of Columbian college was held last evening in the parlors of the college, President J. LeRoy Laidley in the chair. The society has had a most successful year and has been no small factor in college life.

At this, the last meeting of the year, it is customary to elect the editor-in-chief and business manager for Lux Columbiana for the ensuing year. Last evening's elections resulted in the reelection of E. D. Braden and F. A. Armstrong to the respective positions for the coming year.

Another interesting feature of the evening was the selection of the student to carry the college gold headed ebony stick for the coming year. The stick was presented several years ago by J. G. Davidson and T. H. Barbaree, both of whom were then on the teaching staff of the college.

The holders of the stick since that time have been K. C. Brown, J. R. Saint, J. P. Bilodeau, R. E. S. Taylor, W. H. Turner, C. W. Watson and E. D. Braden. The stick is to be presented to the one who, in the opinion of the students, has done the most to advance the interests of the college along all lines during the year.

Last night's choice fell on Donald McRae, of Eburne. Mr. McRae has attended the college for two years and is popular in all circles.

Miss Mabel Cory was selected as the most popular young lady and upon her devolved the task of presenting the stick to Mr. McRae.

The occcasion was also taken advantage of to present various trophies won in athletic events to lucky winners. Games and refreshments brought the evening to a close.

DANE CURES MENINGITIS.

A Hitherto Incurable Disease Succumbs to Science.

New York, June 3.—Records of another step made by science in its war on human ailments are brought to this country by Dr. H. Mygind of the University of Copenhagen, whose work on cerebral meningitis, considered incurable until the discoveries of the Rockefeller Institute in this city, has lately been attracting the attention of the medical world.

"A case of meningitis has always been believed to be hopeless," he said today, "and physicians have not even tried to cure it. I have proved, however, that it can be successfully treated by operating. I have had a large number of cases and have attained remrkably good results.

"The operation consists in opening the skull to the brain and removing the inflamed membrane. This should be done within a very short time after the trouble sets in. I get patients into my hospital and operate within forty-eight hours when it is possible."

CAPTAIN BLAMED.

Navigator Who Steamed Too Close to Rock Has Certificate Suspended.

London, June 3.—The board of trade, which has been enquiring into the stranding of the Atlantic transport liner Minnehaha on the coast of Scilly islands on April 18 last, today found Captain Leyland responsible for the disaster for steering too close to Bishop's rock in the thick weather. The captain's certificate was suspended for three months.

COLD WEATHER IN EAST HAMPERING DEVELOPMENT

New York, June 3.—Bradstreet's weekly report on trade will say tomorrow: On the whole Canadian trade reports continue favorable, even though cold, wet weather hampers developments in the east. In that section the adverse meteorological conditions have deterred city and country trade, and business in dry goods is very quiet.

Declines in wheat have unsettled the market for flour, the price of which is down 20 cents a barrel. Eggs are easier, supplies being excessive. City retail trade is easily fair and collectiois show an improvement.

The hay crop in Quebec will be a large one. Cold weather has retarded the growth of grain and other crops, but reports of marked damage to grain by frosts are thought overdrawn.

COLD WEATHER HAS NOT AFFECTED GROWING WHEAT

New York, June 3.—Dun's weekly report of trade tomorrow will say: The best news is that which comes from the growing crops. Unseasonable cold weather in the wheat belts has not caused any damage and the crop prospects in general are so good as to cause a sharp break in prices such as may lead to an improving demand for export.

DRIVING OUT THE JEWS.

New York, June 3.—The American Jewish committee today received the following cable message from Berlin: "Expulsion continues throughout Russia. At the lowest estimate 30,000 victims are involved, 7,000 of whom are from Kieff. Hilfsverein Der Duetschen Juden."

WINNIPEG TAXPAYERS ENDORSE SELKIRK FAIR

Bylaw Authorizing Grant of $500,000, to Centennial Exhibition in 1914 Is Carried Easily.

Winnipeg, June 3.—The electors of Winnipeg yesterday emphatically expressed their desire to have the Centennial exhibition held here in 1914, and their willingness to assist in bearing the cost through taxes, by passing the civic bylaw authorizing a grant of $500,000.

The bylaw obtained a tremendous majority, only 540 out of 3,016 voting against the measure.

On the other hand, the ratepayers declared strongly against the city assisting the Winnipeg General hospital to the extent of $400,000 and the bylaw failed to secure the requisite number of votes.

Egyptian Editors Flay Roosevelt.

Cairo, Egypt, June 3.—The Nationalist editors are execrating Roosevelt with picturesque Orientalism. Sheik Ali denounces him in his newspaper Al Moayad as a tryrant full of gall, a diabolical man, and a bloodthirsty butcher. Al Moayad is regarded as a moderate paper among the Nationalists. The Copic newspapers welcome the Roosevelt dictum.

EVANGELIST WAS ONCE A CONFIRMED INFIDEL

Minister Who Is Drawing Crowds to Olivet Baptist Chuch Formerly Held Different Views.

Rev. J. Willard Litch, who has been conducting services at the Olivet Baptist church, assisting the pastor in a series of special meetings, was at one time past of the First Baptist church, Vancouver, and has had other pastorates of equal importance. He is a young man of very generous gifts and splendid education. In his youth he prepared for the teaching profession.

Rev. J. Willard Litch.

Prior to his conversion he was an avowed infidel. The pastor of the Baptist church remembers well his strong statements against Christianity. But, like the great Saul of Tarsus, his conversion was pronounced and he at once began to preach the gospel to his fellows with marked ability and great success.

He is probably the greatest soul winner of the west. He will occupy the Baptist pulpit all day Sunday and every night next week at eight o'clock.

Rev. Andrew Grieve, who is a solo singer of usuaual ability, is conducting the song service and also singing solos.

ELECTRICITY AS CURE FOR MANY DISEASES

London, June 3.—Sir J. Grant, who was interviewed here today stated that the action of electricity on the human system was only in its infancy, the day was not far distant when thousands who suffering from debility as a result of imperfect assimilation of food and defective blood will have such deficiencies corrected to a remarkable degree by the scientific application of electricity to the great ganglionic blood centres.

"I feel confident," he said, "that we are at the commencement of a discovery in the use of electricity which for a year has been employed more as a toy than anything else."

COMMISSION WILL VISIT PITT LAKE

Arrangements Made to Entertain University Site Committee Here.

Although no elaborate preparations have been made for the visit here on Monday and Tuesday of the university commission, sufficient has been done to insure that the commissioners will not be given much chance to rest. The exact itinerary has not been arranged, but on Monday they will be taken to Coquitlam in automobiles. On the way they will probably inspect the penitentiary and asylum grounds. From Coquitlam they will take a trip to Pitt lake on the Paystreak, which has been chartered for the occasion.

On Tuesday the party will be driven down the River road to Eburne and the Delta and will probably return through Surrey along the Yale road.

The arrangements for the meetings and the receptions, of which there will probably be a few, are not yet made, but the great meeting at which the claims of New Westminster and vicinity will be advanced will probably be held on Tuesday afternoon.

BRISTOL ALDERMAN SEES CANADA AND IS SURPRISED

Englishman Advises British Societies to Affiliate and Publish List of Members.

Winnipeg, June 3. — Alderman Twiggs, of Bristol, England, who has been travelling through Canada in order to look into the possibilities for British commercial expansion in the Dominion and to see with his own eyes the development of this country, has returned to Winnipeg from a trip as far west as Edmonton. Alderman Twiggs says that although he was expecting big things, he had no conception of the size of Canada, its resources and its progress.

He made a suggestion that the various British societies in Canada should affiliate. Among many things they might do in common is to publish a list of their members, giving addresses and when they came from in the old land. Then a prospective settler from the United Kingdom in looking over the names would recognize some one from his own village or city. He would not feel as if he was going to a land of strangers. It would do much to secure the right kind of immigration.

Alderman Twiggs was much impressed with the value of the boards of trade in the western towns and cities. They had made his trip most delightful.

WOULD ESTABLISH CLUBS FOR YOUNG ACTRESSES

New York, June 3.—Miss Grace Griswold, who originated the role of Aunt Selina in the Chicago production of "Seven Days" has retired from the stage, to devote her time to a project of improving the condition of the young women of the theatre road. Her plan is to establish in all the larger cities, clubs for actresses who are traveling. She will be backed and supported in her work by the most prominent actresses in the country, and by several wealthy and public-spirited women in private life.

Miss Griswold, who in private life is Grace Griswold Hall, is a sister of the Rev. Dr. Francis J. Hall, a professor in the Western Theological seminary of Chicago. She is the originator of the Charlotte Cushman club of Philadelphia, from which the Three Arts club, of this city, was patterned in part.

Encouraged by her success in Chicago, Miss Griswold has determined to extend her efforts. She will go to Boston, St. Louis, Cincinnati, New Orleans and San Francisco and establish clubs there and probably in other cities. Her hope is that in a few years there will be institutions of this character in every city of size in the United States.

BENEFICIARY WAS MISSING FIFTY YEARS

Birmingham, June 3.—A romantic story underlies the will of the late Ald. Dr. Barratt, of Birmingham. The doctor provided for his son Alfred to receive the income from £8,000, but there is a proviso in the will that after the terms have been duly advertised, at the end of a period of two years from the date of the legatee's death, if the beneficiary does not appear in the meantime, his death shall be presumed and the money shall revert to the estate.

It is half a century since Alfred Barratt was last seen in Birmnigham. After he left England he was very rarely heard of. It is known that he wrote to his father occasionally, but Ald. Barratt was reserved in regard to his son. He did, however, say that there was no liklihood of his son returning to England.

HARVEST OF RATS THE GREATEST EVER

Pioneer Trader of Cold Lake Says There Will Not Be So Many Left Next Year.

Edmonton, June 3.—W. J. Price, the pioneer settler of the Cold Lake district, is in the city purchasing supplies for his trading post at the lake. Mr. Price came to Edmonton from Winnipeg, where he has been disposing of a shipment of this season's harvest of furs. He will return early next week.

To a reporter Mr. Price stated that the past winter's catch of rats in the Cold Lake district has been an exceptionally large one.

"I have handled between 10,000 and 12,000 rats myself this season," he said, "and there is the Hudson's Bay company also trading with the Indians at the lake, and shipping almost an equal number of furs."

Mr. Price attributed the heavy catch this year to the fact that prices for rats are very high. He was of the opinion that next year's harvest will not be so large owing to the fact that an unusually large number of animals have been killed off during the past season. All the Indians in the settlement have been engaged in trapping, attracted by the fancy prices that are being paid for rat pelts. For his entire shipment of between 10,000 and 12,000 skins, Mr. Price received 56 cents apiece at Winnipeg.

In addition to the large consignments of furs, he has shipped from the lake since last November five carloads of white fish valued at about $6,000. The fish are all caught during the winter by the Chipewayan Indians, of whom there is a settlement of nearly 300 living at the lake.

"The district about Cold lake," said Mr. Price, "is an exceptionally good country, which has up to the present time been overlooked by the settler. The lake, which covers an area of about 20 square miles, abounds with the best of fish and is surrounded by some of the finest agricultural land in the country. There are also large areas of timbered country covered with the best of timber. Some of the pine trees will measure two feet at the base."

At present there are between forty-five and fifty white settlers located at the lake, and Mr. Price on his business trips to Edmonton and to Winnipeg and to intermediate points along the C. N. R., is doing the part of publicity agent for the district, interesting prospective settlers in its agricultural possibilities. Coming originally from the United States, he was the first white settler to go north of the Beaver river. He went to Cold lake five years ago.

MACKENZIE SATISFIED WITH TRIP TO EUROPE

President of C. N. R. Line Says Trains Will Be Running on Main Line in Four Years.

Montreal, June 3.—William Mackenzie, president of the Canadian Northern Railway company, arrived here yesterday from Europe, where he had been engaged in important financial matters. Mr. Mackenzie expressed himself as highly pleased with the result of his mission and sketched plans for future work on the railway system.

He said that during the present year the western end of the railway should be well under way and the distance between Edmonton and the Rockies pretty well covered. A start would also be made on the section around the north shore of Lake Superior and he hoped that within four years the entire main line would be completed.

As for the Belian coal mining property proposition in which Belgian capitalists had interested themselves with Mackenzie & Mann, Mr. Mackenzie said these deposits were located about 140 miles west of Red Deer, and that they would be connected with the railway by a branch, work on which would be begun at once.

Mr. Mackenzie also practically confirmed the report that a large sum of money had been raised in Europe, but he stated that out of the $40,000,000 by far the largest issue was the Vancouver Island coal mines flotation and he added that as a railway the Canadian Northern had nothing to do with the deal, though several interested in the railway were also interested in the coal deal.

Mr. Mackenzie also said that the company was considering placing a third vessel on the Atlantic route.

LION IN LODGING-HOUSE.

Portland, June 3.—A large African lion escaped from its cage during last night's performance of an animal show at St. John, a suburb of this city, but through the presence of mind of John Isler, the trainer, there were no serious results.

Isler, in entering the cage, failed to close the door tightly, and the beast sprang past the trainer and through the door. The trainer induced the 1000 or more spectators to keep their seats while he followed the the lion. The animal, after circling the tent, ran out into the street with the trainer in pursuit. He was cornered in the upstairs hall of a lodging-house and recaged.

The lion is known as an "outlaw," and while in winter quarters at the exposition grounds a few months ago attacked his keeper.

EGG TRAIN WILL TOUR ENGLAND

Novel Poultry Demonstration For the Benefit of British Agriculturists.

London, June 3.—Today, on a campaign quite novel to England, starts the first of the English demonstration egg trains. Its official name is the South Wales Demonstration Train. It will bear aloft its title in big lettering, and on either side will be the names of the two societies which have organized the endeavor. The Agricultural Organization society, in which the agricultural co-operation of England is focussed, is one; the National Poultry Organization society, whence the idea emanated, is the other.

The train is a pioneer. Since the value of co-operation in the poultry industry was discussed, requests for depots have come in in thousands. In the last six years the society has striven to interest a rather lethargic public, and less than 30 depots have started. It is now expected that a hundred will be organized before the year is out, and this hundred represents only a percentage of eligible localities. So egg trains may be expected presently to travel east and north as well as west. The train which traverses the south of South Wales is rather like the hare in a paper-chase. It drops literature behind it wherever it goes, and a large pack, it is hoped, will pick up the trail and follow the lead.

A Scientific Missionary.

The train is first and foremost a missionary. Britain, especially Wales, is in outer darkness from the point of view of the scientific poulterer, and, in his dialect requires above all things instruction in "candling." The charge is that Wales does not know a good fowl when it sees it, which is seldom. It is innocent of the arts of cramming and of trussing even such fowls as it produces. It has yet to discover the value of the breakfast egg, and is totally unaddicted to the necessary precaution of passing each egg in front of a bright light before handing it on to the consumer.

Welshmen are unaware of the discovery, which was well known to Roman poultrykeepers 2,000 years ago—that infertile eggs remain "breakfast eggs" longer than the fertile. In short, the poultryman's art is in a bad way westward.

The missionary train is modeled exactly on its American prototype. Prairie farmers, hungry for scientific knowledge, flock even from great distances to the stopping places of the agricultural demonstration trains, which are sent out frequently by a scientific government working their scientific institutions. They find on assembling at the siding just what the Welsh farmers on the shores of Cardigan and Pembroke will find at intervals during the next eight years.

AMBIDEXTERITY IS GOOD FOR THE MEMORY

Berlin, June 3.—A movement has been started in Germany for the cultivation of ambidexterity. The idea is that the development of the power to use both hands equally well means the development of the intelligence in general and the memory in particular.

The advocates of the movement state the case thus: While right handed people have the language center on the left side of the brain, people who are ambidextrous have two language centers, one on each side of the brain. The infant begins life with two brain centers, but as the right hand is gradually trained and the left neglected, one speech center gradually grows ineffective and useless.

It is argued that by the cultivation of the left hand the capacity of the right speech center of the brain can be revived and that the intelligence can be broadened as ambidexterity incerases the utility of a human being's hands.

SEIZED A FINE STILL AND MUCH GOOD WHISKY

Montreal, June 3.—A still, worth about $2,000, three hundred gallons of whisky, and a large quantity of mash were seized yesterday in a house situated at 555 St. Timothy street, and two men who are supposed to have had charge of the still were arrested and taken to the Central station.

The house has been occupied by these people since the middle of March last. Neighbors thought it strange that they moved in at night and in a closed van, but the revenue officers got wise when a large shipment of raw whisky was reported to have taken place from the house.

The 300 gallons seized were freshly made, and are worth about $3,600. The still, which is about twenty feet high, stands on the floor of the cellar, goes clean through two floors and is two feet above the floor of the second storey. It is made nearly entirely of brass and is a very valuable piece of work.

Revenue Officer George Normandin accompanied by Special Constables Gagnon, Valade and Beauchamp, raided the place in the hope of finding more than two persons interested in it, but only two men, who are evidently not the proprietors of the place, were found mixing the mash. They were taken to the Central station, but no charge has been made against them so far.

THE UNIVERSITY SITE.

The distinguished body of scholars which has been chosen and appointed by the Provincial government to act as a commission for the choice of a suitable site for the provincial university is now engaged in the interesting if somewhat difficult task which has been assigned to it. The Commissioners have already made themselves familiar with the topographical and statstical particulars relevant to their enquiry, and having listened to the advocates of the claims of various suggested sites on Vancouver Island, has removed its sittings to Vancouver city. Here the claims of the lower mainland were placed before the commissioners on Thursday by several members of the Mainland committee.

The decision of the representatives of those localities in this part of the province which are considered as offering advantageous sites to combine together in the interests of the one. This is quite evident, for by this one it is quite evident, for by this means all the claimant localities have received an equal amount of attention. Their case was certainly put before the commissioners in a most fair and unprejudiced way and at the same time in a most thorough manner by Dr. Davidson, who admirably reviewed the many and various points which require to be considered in connection with the location of a modern university. That a state university should be placed where it will make a college course possible to the greatest numbers, that students should be within easy reach of obtaining practical knowledge of work being done in their own departments, that the faculties of the various schools should have opportunities to practice their professions outside their work as college professors, and that the university should be easily accessible from all parts of the province, were among the strong points in the admirable address of the distinguished principal of McGill College.

The Mainland committee has very properly refrained from advocating any particular site. It has confined its energies to advancing the claims of the mainland generally as the most suitable vicinity for the university, leaving the commission to form its own conclusions upon the suitability or otherwise of the several locations which have already been put forward. In the work of inspecting these sites the Commission will be occupied for several days. In the meantime the public will no doubt experience a feeling of mild anxiety as to the issue of their choice, but some considerable time must elapse before the Commission presents its report.

We may rest assured however that the claims of New Westminster and its immediate vicinity, which they will visit at the beginning of next week, will be very thoroughly and fairly considered by this distinguished body of educational experts, which has already displayed such a courteous patience and such careful attention to the arguments of those who have appeared as advocates before them.

WILL TRY TO ABATE THE SMOKE NUISANCE

London, June 3.—Sir W. B. Richmond, R. A., presiding at the annual meeting of the Coal Smoke Abatement society, held at the Royal United Service Institution, said that when the society started everything was against them. The country council was now alert, and for the most part the borough councils were reconsidering their ways and beginnings to view the smoke nuisance as an unnecessary evil.

Each year the London "particular" became rarer and of less density. The old blinding poison of smoke-laden fogs was becoming a thing more or less of the past in London. Indeed, though they had passed through almost the dampest summer and winter on record, fogs had been rare, and smoge fogs had been next to none during the last year.

Public opinion was with them, and they might promise Londoners that so far as smoke from factories and enterprises coming under the heading of the act of 1891 was concerned it would be practically eradicated. He hoped the London county council would decide to delete the word "black" from the clause. If that energetic body ruled all smoke to be unnecessary, prosecutions would be easy, quibbling as to what was black, brown or gray would cease and manufacturers would accept the situation and finally thank the council for reducing their coal bills. All smoke—black, brown or gray—was waste fuel.

We must stand ready to prove it and also prove that the difference is so marked, so worth while, that you will feel this is the flour you ought to use.

That is exactly where we do stand.

We ask you to take no risk. Buy a bag of ROBIN HOOD and give it two fair trials. If it does not prove perfectly satisfactory, so satisfactory that you, too, say, "It is really the flour that is different," you may take it to your grocer and he will give you back your money.

Will you make the trial on your next flour order?

THE UNIVERSITY QUESTION.

Editor Daily News.

Sir:—Now that the government commissioners are about to visit the Royal City, it appears to be an opportune time to recall the fact that the subject was a live one as long ago as October, 1890, when, at a convention held in Victoria, representatives from New Westminster were present in the persons of the Rt. Rev. Dr. Sillitoe, Rev. A. Dontonwill, Rev. H. Irwin, C. J. Fagan, J. J. Miller, H. M. Stramberg, A. C. Brydone-Jack, W. A. DeWolff-Smith and R. Eden Walker. Rev. E. Robson, of New Westminster, was appointed by the government a member of the council; Dr. I. W. Powell, of Victoria, being chancellor, and R. P. Cooke, of Vancouver, vice-chancellor.

The failure of the senate to convene on July 2, 1891, according to the "act respecting the University of British Columbia," relegated the subject to oblivion, the attorney general deciding that only legislative action (which was never taken) could restore the forfeited powers.

In 1904 further action was taken, but without tangible results; the present condition of the university question, however, promises something more than a spasmodic throb, and therefore it is desirable that every citizen of New Westminster should know something concerning the situation and appreciate the requirements of an university which should be for the general benefit of the people of British Columbia.

The government's decision to leave the selection of a site to an independent and non-provincial body of educational experts was a wise one, with which every person should be in accord. It is, however, well worth our while to "take stock" of our assets from an educational point of view, now that the university site has become a question of practical politics. There are too important premises to be considered: first, is the university to be residential? Second, should it be in a city, or close to one, or decidedly distant?

If residential, like Oxford and Cambridge, or Harvard and Yale, it is certainly impossible to provide sufficient area within city limits either on Vancouver Island or this lower mainland by reason of land values; furthermore, there are moral and other points also which make it undesirable. McGill is non-residential, but the existing conditions in the west do not seem to make this so desirable here as at Toronto, and similar points.

The old country practice was to build seats of learning in a good sized town with a central situation; but this is being altered now-adays, and they are being rapidly removed to more quiet districts. The same procedure is occurring on this continent, the latest instance being the John Hopkins university, which will involve a cost of $2,000,000 in its removal outside Baltimore.

Ex-President Dr. C. W. Eliott, of Harvard university, is of the opinion that the most fortunate site is a suburban one, with spacious open grounds adapted to out-of-door sports; with abundant air, light, sun, trees, shrubs and flowers." Referring to British Columbia, he opines that it should be "in the vicinity of some established town with good soil, good drainage, and in the neighborhood of

SPORTING NEWS

TEAM IS SHIFTED FOR TODAY'S GAME

George Rennie Cannot Play. Feeney Has Inside Home Position.

Manager Welsh announced last night that George Rennie would be unable to play in the game today. This leaves the team with no Rennie, an unheard of condition for the Salmon Bellies. The New Westminster team without a Rennie somewhere on the lineup is not the Westminster team, but there you are. Tom with his shoulder blade broken and George with the ligaments so badly torn that the doctor absolutely refuses to allow him on the field today are the conditions responsible.

Owing to the absence of these players there will be a general shift of positions. Pat Feeney will be tried out at inside home and he will probably make a hit there as he has been angling for the position for the past week or two. Hughie Gifford will play in front of his two brothers on the defence, Clifford Spring will play center and all the home players will move out a stage to let Pat have a pole.

There may be some changes in the line-up given below but it is not probable that they will be radical. The following is the way they stand at present.

The Teams.

Westminster	Vancouver
Goal.
Gray	Gibbons
Point.
Galbraith	Griffith
Coverpoint.
Marshall	Howard
First Defence.
H. Gifford	Clarkson
Second Defence
J. Gifford	Springer
Third Defence.
G. Gifford	Pickering
Center.
Spring	West
Third Home.
J. Turnbull	G. Matheson
Second Home.
Lintemute	Murray
First Home.
R. Turnbull	Allen
Outside Home.
R. Spring	Hennessy
Inside Home.
Feeney	Adamson

The game will start at three o'clock sharp, with Bob Dewar in the seat of judgment. If the game is no rougher today that the last one in Vancouver, Bob will have an easy job.

Players Are Confident.

The New Westminster players are confident that they can do a little better than hold their own today. It was the home that was considered weak and they managed to score four goals last Saturday. If the defence works better and the home works as well, today's game ought to come this way.

However, it is useless to assert that there is no room for doubt, for whenever the two teams meet, doubt is the only sure thing.

The Vancouver team seems to have dropped Ravey and Garvey for Springer and Hennessy.

BASEBALL FANS MUST GO TO CHURCH

Quaker City Minister and Amusement Magnates Evolve Original Scheme.

Pittsburg, June 3.—The ministers of Pittsburg and the managers of the baseball clubs which have been holding Sunday exhibition games have reached an agreement whereby the Sunday baseball games will continue and the attendances at the churches, it is thought, will increase proportionately. Hereafter, according to the manager of the A. J. Martin's, one of the best known amateur nines in the country, no person will be allowed to attend the Sunday exhibition games conducted by that club unless the patron is able to present a ticket which is obtained only at certain Pittsburg churches after the Sunday morning service. These tickets will be given only to persons who attend the Sunday morning church service. No person who does not sit out the service no matter what the length of the sermon may be, will be given a ticket.

Ball Tickets at Church.

This amicable arrangement was reached through a suggestion made by Constable Jacob Stine, of Port Vue, who not only is an ardent baseball fan, but a regular church attendant as well. He believed he had a perfect right to go to a ball game Sunday afternoon, and devised this method to force other ball players and fans, not as religiously inclined as himself, to attend church. As a result of this amicable arrangement baseball tickets will be distributed next Sunday in several local churches. Also the retaliatory steps forcing the churches to do without paid vocalists, as threatened by the baseball magnates, will be stopped. District Attorney Blakeley has promised to take no measures against the ball players unless further informations are made, and the ministers have promised to make no further informations.

Why "Home" Men?

The Toronto Telegram says: "A local paper's reference to the home field positions as inside wing and outside wing naturally raised the question of the origin of the term "home," Defence is a word which is easily understood and accounted for. In England and Australia the shooting end of the team is called the "attack," first attack, second attack, inside attack, etc. The nomenclature is a natural and simple one. Casual spectators at a match in Canada have been heard to ask, what is the "home?" And so far the question is unanswered. Possibly because that part of the team is shooting on your own or the home net."

Centrals Win by Default.

The West End Juniors failed to show up at Queen's park yesterday evening to compete in a schedule match with the Centrals, the latter consequently winning by default.

AMATEUR PUGILIST TAKES CLASS IN SUNDAY SCHOOL

Philadelphia, June 3.—It seems like a far cry from boxing to Bible study, but it is not so great as many people might suppose, as was illustrated at the banquet given to Anthony J. Drexel Biddle recently at the Hotel Majestic.

The toast master on that occasion was the Rev. Dr. Floyd W. Tompkins, one of the most broad minded men of his calling in Philadelphia. In speaking to his friends. Biddle told of the result of his first meeting with Mr. Tompkins.

He felt that he could be of some use in the world and desired, if possible, to do something for his fellow man. He asked Mr. Tompkins to suggest some way in which he could carry out his ideas. He said there was a small class of young Bible students in his church needing a teacher. Mr. Tompkins proposed that Mr. Biddle take up the study of the Bible with these young men and encourage them in their work. The suggestion met with the approval of the young millionaire.

He went to the church the next Sunday, was introduced to the class, and they started studying the sacred Scriptures together. The good work is still going on and the class, which originally numbered less than half a dozen, has increased to over 100 active, earnest Bible students, the equal of any class in the city.

The University Question.

a good sheet of water or stream, but one which promises to become great because of its natural advantages,"—particularly climatic.

Professor J. L. Todd, a prominent physician, mathematician, etc., of McGill university, Montreal, a native of this province (Victoria), writing to the press deprecates the consideration of any locality except regarding its suitability, pure and simple! "It is important that in founding it, it be placed on the most suitable site," he says; and again, "The position of British Columbia's university must be chosen without consideration of any interests, other than those of the university itself!"

Sir Donald MacAlister, F.R.G.S., etc., of Glasgow university (principal and vice chancellor), referring to the university site for British Columbia says:

"In Canada, and especially in the west, you have the opportunity of framing your ideals from the outset! In this particular instance of founding a new university to serve a great and ever expanding national purpose, it would be mere prudence at all costs to avoid, at the beginning, the imposition of limitations which in a generation, or less, will prove mere hindrances to the full realization of that purpose (i. e., establish at the start, an educational institution superior in detail to any other existing, and which shall have within its own control, the features necessary to provide higher education for a province containing several millions of people)!"

Referring to his unique past experience, Dr. MacAlister says: "I have had personal experience of a university placed in a minor country town, and also of one placed in a great city over twenty times as large. The former is a national university serving the whole country, the latter has become practically the university of a district and of local character. From my knowledge of British Columbia, I am persuaded that a university of the former kind (not city) will best meet its developing needs!"

The impress of any particular city necessarily affects the character, and individual predilections of the student for good or evil. Discipline cannot be quietly enforced, undesirable acquaintances may be formed, the ennobling spirit of love for Alma Mater is not fostered, for outside attractions are too readily attainable, and the reputation of graduate and uivesity suffer equally.

Important results of university life, are the insensible disciplining of its members, the dependence each student learns to place upon his comrades, the emulation spirit inspired by the plaudits won in the various fields of learning, and sport, from those who are not selected to compete therein. These are the characteristic factors for a successful university career; and these must be considered very cautiously, but with knowlede and foresight, in deciding the most desirable spot for this new seat of learning.

The concensus of education opinion (apart from selfish motives), demands that the selected position should be one with the greatest possible facilities for easy access from all parts of the province; not too far from transportation, not entirely out of the world.

That the amount of land allocated should be such as to permit of future enlargement to a size equal to, or beyond that, of any two existing universities, for this province possesses more features for special study probably than any others; such as agriculture and farming; dairying and animal culture; fruit growing and hybridizing; botany, forestry and entomology; geology and mining engineering; fisheries and fish culture, together with the best methods of curing and disposing of the same in a commercial sense! There are many others which will immediately strike the mind of a thoughtful observer; but, besides these, there are the arts and sciences; classics and modern languages; theology and music; all of which need special building and laboratories.

The campus, athletic fields, gymnasium, and other recreations, all require a large extent of space; whilst the economic, scientific and industrial development of the province (which should form a great feature of a provincial university) make it desirable that experimental farms and orchards be established in close proximity. Such an amount of land cannot with advantage be set apart as would be desirable—say 300 to 500 acres—elsewhere than in the Fraser valley district, and adjacent to this city.

It is claimed by some, that it is essential for the city site to be selected for practice in the learned professions, but this is a fallacy: the undergraduate needs a three or four year course of technical study at the university, and is thereby prepared to enter upon his career as a man, with his character morally and physically strengthened, so that he can face the world without risk, when transfered to the hospital or law court study! The practice at Cambridge university (where the hospital is a small one) is for the student to complete his course at the larger centres; and yet, the medical school at this great seat of learning is one of the largest, and highest esteemed in Great Britain; the practice adopted here, has been largely followed on the Continent and elsewhere.

This course is also adopted in other professional studies, particularly in the legal and engineering courses, and with equal success! Having passed through the ordinary curriculum, the more practical, or advanced, knowledge is thus added after the mind has been rendered receptive, and whilst the details are still fresh; requiring only practice and observation in the hospitals or law courts to bring out the actual capabilities of the graduate.

The question for our consideration is, can New Westminster submit a site which will fulfil these conditions; or at any rate offer equal facilities, and greater inducements, from an educational standpoint, than any other on the lower mainland.

VILLAGE DAMAGED BY FIRE.

Picnic Party Causes Blaze That Ends Disastrously.

Prince Rupert, June 3.—Metlakatla had a narrow escape on May 24 from being entirely destroyed by fire. It took the united efforts of the villagers for a couple of hours to stop the onward march of the flames.

Th fire was caused by a party of picnickers from Prince Rupert who started a bonfire in the dry grass and hay. Everything in the neighborhood was perfectly dry and the bonfire was soon licking up the hay. It spread rapidly towards the village. Everyone available turned out to render aid, but not until widespread damage had been wrought was the progress of the flames arrested.

NA-DRU-CO

Medicinal Preparations Are Not "Cure-Alls"

Neither are they intended to take the place of your physician

Reasonable Claims

To claim that any remedy will cure half a dozen, or even two or three, totally distinct diseases, is to at once discredit that remedy with every thinking man or woman.

To claim that any household remedy can take the place, when you are ill, of your physician's skilled diagnosis and prescription, is equally absurd.

We make no such claims for NA-DRU-CO remedies.

But we do claim that in emergencies when you cannot get the doctor quickly, and on the many other occasions when a reliable household remedy is needed, the right NA-DRU-CO preparation is the safest and best thing you can use.

If, for example, you feel an attack of sore throat or tonsilitis coming on, two or three applications of NA-DRU-CO Stainless Iodine Ointment will check it at once, just as NA-DRU-CO Wild Strawberry Extract will cure bowel complaint or NA-DRU-CO Toothache Gum stop a toothache.

Thus under the NA-DRU-CO Trade Mark you can get a thoroughly reliable household remedy for each of the common ills.

To put the reliability of the NA-DRU-CO Preparations beyond doubt or question, we are prepared to furnish to your physician or druggist, or to any other physician or druggist in Canada, on request, a full list of the ingredients in any NA-DRU-CO medicinal or toilet preparation.

Ask these men, who are fully qualified to judge, and in whom you place implicit confidence, all about the NA-DRU-CO line.

INQUEST A FARCE.

Investigation Into Cause of Man's Death Became General Spree.

Orillia, June 3.—It is now reasonably assured that there are no grounds for the suspicions of foul play in the death of William Fowler at Atherley, the circumstances surrounding whose death were sufficiently shocking to arouse public opinion, says the correspondent of The Toronto News.

Fowler's death was the culmination of one of the general sprees now common at Atherley as an outcome of the large gangs of laborers employed on construction work in Orillia and on the C. N. O. railway near Atherley itself.

Indignation has been accentuated by the stories current as to the disgraceful manner in which the inquest was conducted. It was held in the hotel and the coroner and some members of the jury made frequent adjournments for refreshments, with the result that the inquest soon degenerated into a farce comedy which provided hilarious amusement for the crowd of loafers. Only when the coroner was asleep could the county crown attorney make reasonable progress with the witnesses. At times pandemonium reigned and the jury could not hear what the witnesses said.

RECORD FISH CATCHES MADE AT KASLO

Kaslo, June 3.—Record fish catches were made today. The largest total for one man being 87 pounds, another was over 40 pounds. The largest single salmon up to the present this season weighed 21 pounds, but 14 to 17 pounds are plentiful. Several men are making this pleasure their source of living. The average price obtainable being 12 1-2 cents per pound and up and orders for Kootenay's famous salmon are numerous as far as Winnipeg.

RESTORING IDOL WINS THANKS OF PATAGONIANS

Indians Lose Heart With Their "God" Gone and Fear Annihilation—German to the Rescue.

Seattle, June 3.—To be hailed as the savior of a tribe of Patagonian Indians, because he restored their idol, was the experience of Capt. John von Helms, who arrived yesterday in charge of the big Kosmos liner Sisak, from Hamburg, via the Strait of Magellan.

Capt. von Helms is an enthusiastic hunter, and when his ship made a three-day stop at Punta Arenas, late in March, the captain went on a sea lion hunt with three Patagonian Indians as guides, one of them chief of the Kwumuk tribe of fishermen. The captain found these Indians in an abject state of poverty and general demoralization.

The chief explained to Capt. von Helm that his people were much afraid of the great new star, meaning Halley's comet. To make matters worse, some white men had visited them and had managed to run off with their idol. The tribe were sure that annihilation was in store for them. The men refused to set out in their boats, and the woman had let their cooking fires go out.

From the Indian's description Capt. von Helms recognized the white men as a party of authropologists sent out by a world-famous university, to study the South American aborigines.

He abandoned his sea lion hunt and went back to Punta Arenas, where he found the party of scientists busily engaged in tabulating and packing their various finds. He explained to them the state of the Kwumuks and asked them to restore the idol. At first they denied having it in their possession. Then Capt. von Helms faced them with the old Indian chief, who identified them as the thieves.

The scientists, fortified with letters to the Chilean government which made them practically immune from arrest at the instigation of the Indians, refused absolutely to return the image. They explained that it was of great value, being, as far as had been ascertained, a work of the pliocene, or preglacial period; that no idol of this prehistoric race had ever been found before, and that its scientific value should outweigh the superstitions of a few savages.

This indifference to the misery of the Indians angered the captain, and he threatened to get his crew from the ship and ransack the boxes, which were packed for a foreign museum. Then the scientists gave in, and handed the image over to the irate captain. When the Indians who had been present during the controversy saw the image they let out a whoop of joy and fell on their knees.

Capt. von Helms said he was surprised to find the object of so much scientific ardor and superstitious worship to be nothing more than a piece of black, roughly-chipped flint, in which one might imagine he saw two legs, an arm and a head. It was not two feet long. The Kwumuks bore off the sacred relic in high glee, having been assured by the captain that the new star would work them no ill. They seemed, however, to place more confidence in their restored idol than in the captain's word.

The next day a deputation of Indians brought the captain fifteen sea lion skins and a finely carved ivory box.

MUCH MISERY IN ETERNAL CITY

Rome, June 3.—Here is a tragic picture of the misery of Rome by the great archaeologist Commendatore Boni.

"The pigsties dug out of the rocks in the Via Flaminia, the inside niches and the other buttresses of the Aurelian Wall, the remains of the Temple of Claudius and of the Circus Maximus, the foundations of the Temple of Venus and Rome, and the vaults behind the Basilica of Maxentius have been invaded by a gypsy race of troglodyte instincts.

"In the tufa cellars, beneath the stone vaults, between the pilasters of such walls as the pickaxe has spared, shut in with pieces of old tins and fragments of boards, live whole families of shameless and half-naked creatures with their dirty offspring, trained to steal firewood, break street lamps, or turn cartwheels for a halfpenny.

"While all around Rome, on the banks of the Tiber and Anio, on the heights of the Via Cassia or Via Prenestina, there are, still unoccupied, uncultivated lands and deserted pastures; while the banks and institutions of credit capitalize their interest; while, in spite of the rise in rents, the revenue of the commune decreases, wasted in millions upon works which are only harmful—all this time these houseless wretches, in the horrible promiscuity of their asphyxiating cabins, in the darkness of their cellars, are multiplying ever more precocious recruits for the country's prisons.

"A systematic arrangement of existing tramway lines could easily be made to open out new suburbs, where each family would have the means to breathe and earn its living. Instead of spoiling the Villa Borghese with dens for wild beasts, let us provide wholesome dwellings for these human creatures who, deprived of light, air, water, of everything which they need, grow every day nearer beasts within refuges which are morally and physically worse than any prison."

RETIRING FORCES.

Quito, Ecuador, June 3.—The government has ordered the departure of troops for the frontier suspended and the retirement of the force now in the field, in accordance with the first article of mediation between Ecuador and Peru.

CAUSE OF ECZEMA EXPLAINED.

After years of debate medical authorities are now agreed that Eczema and other skin diseases are not seated in the blood, but are caused by germs in the skin. Myriads of microscopic animals gnaw the flesh just below the epidermis. The patient is perfectly healthy, it is only the skin that is diseased. Hence, scientists are now agreed that you must cure the skin through the skin.

The medicine must be in liquid form in order to penetrate properly, as salves and ointments clog the pores without reaching the inner skin.

The remedy that will search out and destroy the disease germs, stop the itch and soothe the healthy tissue is that mild, clean, compound of oil of wintergreen, thymol, glycerine, etc., known as D. D. D. Prescription.

The instant you wash with this soothing liquid you will find the itch relieved. We positively assure you of this. Frank McKenzie, Druggist.

Write the D. D. D. Laboratories, Department N. N., 23 Jordan Street, Toronto, for a free trial bottle, and prove it yourself.

Spring is here—how about those plants for the garden? Tidy, the Florist, can suit you to a T in anything in that line. **

Something New in Floor Wax

The easiest way to finish a floor is to saturate a soft cloth with Columbus Liquid Wax and apply lightly to the floor, let it dry for about fifteen minutes, and bring to a polish by light rubbing with a soft cloth.

No brush to push—no work—no backache. Resists heel-marks, scratching, and water will not turn it white. Goes farther and lasts longer than any paste wax. Try it! Be sure to ask for the genuine

MARKET REPORT

Although prices for most meats were a fraction lower at yesterday's market than they have been lately, the change was so slight that it was hardly perceptible. The fine weather and the circus resulted in a first class attendance and a good day's business was done. Many bedding plants of cauliflower, celery and tomatoes were sold, but the market for this class of stuff will not hold out much longer.

Potatoes seem to have reached the low ebb for the present. There was no further drop in the price yesterday, although sales continue slow.

All kinds of fresh fish, including crabs and shrimps, were on sale in good quantities and had many buyers.

There was a good supply and demand for beef. A good supply of veal was sold out early in the day.

Eggs were brought in in fair quantities and sold well, the price remaining the same as it has been for the past fortnight.

During the morning there was a first class auction sale of farm animals and vehicles.

WITH BLAZING WAGON.

Runaway Horse at Ottawa Plunges Into Canal.

Ottawa, June 3.—A runaway horse hitched to a blazing popcorn wagon, heading down Nicholas street and plunging into the Rideau Canal, a mile away, with flames of burning gasoline from an exploded gasoline tank spouting high in the air behind the terrified animal, provided an exciting spectacle for residents of Ottawa East tonight. The gasoline tank exploded as the driver was peddling popcorn in front of his wagon on Nicholas street. With the wagon ablaze and spots of burning gasoline covering the horse, the frenzied animal bolted down the street, turned into Echo drive and at the end of a mile run plunged into the Rideau Canal to escape the flames. Humane Inspector Lemoine, with the assistance of a crowd of spectators, succeeded in getting the horse, still hitched to the charred remnants of the wagon, on land. The animal, though severely burned, came through the perils of flood and fire without fatal injuries.

SNAKE LIKED HIS CARESSES.

Deleware Educator Finds Unusually Intelligent Reptile.

Wilmington, June 3.—Professor A R. Spaid, superintendent of the New castle county public schools, who is an authority on reptiles and keeps a number of them about him constantly to study their habits, has had an experience with a house snake which he considers unique.

While driving through the country he encountered the reptile, about three feet long, on the highway. Alighting, the professor picked up the snake and fondled it, whereupon the reptile coiled itself about his wrist, gently, as if appreciative of his kindness, and remained there while the professor drove several miles. When returned to the roadway the snake clung to the axle of the buggy, and then, coiling about the front spring, appeared to enjoy a continuation of the journey until a steep and rough piece of road made its position dangerous.

Professor Spaid said he never saw such an apparently intelligent reptile.
