SECTION OF NELSON THREATENED BY FIRE

Kootenay City Suffers Bad Blaze, But Firemen Finally Master Outbreak.

Nelson, B. C., July 5.—At 12:50 p. m. today flames were seen issuing from the Kootenay Shingle company's mill on the east waterfront of the city. In a few moments the mill and stock of shingles and bolts stacked up alongside were a mass of flames which quickly enveloped the building of the Kootenay Engineering works, adjoining immediately on the east.

The brigade responded promptly and quickly had four streams at work, but by this time the fire had leaped across the railway track and attacked five residences, setting the north fronts all ablaze.

Strong Gale Blowing.

A strong westerly gale was blowing, making the brigade's work very difficult.

To make matters worse two fresh fires broke out to the east, caused by the flying burning shingles that were carried in some instances a mile and more from the scene of the fire.

Eight Streams Playing.

Eight streams were playing on the fire when at its height. Fortunately, the fire was near hydants with excellent water pressure. The fire brigade was handled exceedingly well and accomplished well directed work.

It was a hard, heartbreaking fight for about an hour, but by two o'clock the fire was clearly under control, though it will smoulder for a day or two. But for the fact that Nelson has fine firefighters, well equipped, and a plentiful water supply, the northeast quarter of the city at least would have been destroyed this afternoon.

Loss About $44,000.

The loss is placed at $44,000, with insurance for half that sum. The Kootenay Engineering works has been closed down for the past three months.

Fire Chief Guthrie's resignation was only accepted at last night't meeting of the council. The chief is leaving on August 1, and a successor is wanted.

CENSUS OF EMPIRE NOT UNTIL YEAR 1921 NOW

Ottawa, July 5.—The announcement that the Canadian census will be taken on June 1 next disposes of any hope of the census of the Empire being taken on the same day, at least for the next ten years.

The suggestion was made in London on behalf of the British government, which had already selected April 2 as the date for the taking of the census next year, and it is understood that representations would be made to the governments of the dominions overseas to ask whether they would not agree to a simultaneous Empire census. But so far no such request has reached the Canadian government.

It is probable, however, that the matter will be discussed at the Imperial conference next year, and that an arrangement may be come to for a census of the Empire being taken on the same day in 1921.

LIFE SENTENCE.

Poisoner of Millionaire Colonel Swope Given Hard Labor.

Kansas City, Mo., July 5.—Dr. B. C. Hyde, convicted of having poisoned Colonel Thomas H. Swope, the millionaire philanthropist, was sentenced to life imprisonment at hard labor by Judge Ralph H. Latshaw in the criminal court here today.

An appeal to the state supreme court was filed by Hyde's attorneys, and if the case is to be taken to the higher court the prisoner will be held in the county jail.

BIG AVIATION MEET WAS CONFINED TO EXHIBITIONS

No Areial Contests Were Pulled Off at Montreal—Venture Proved Money Maker.

Montreal, July 5.—The aviation meet wound up today, but not in a blaze of glory, only about a thousand people being present and the program consisting merely of two short flights by Count De Lesseps. The count is going to Toronto for the aviation week which opens there on Thursday.

Of the four Wright machines, one lies a wreck at the railway station, one has been sent to Dayton, Ohio, one, with Brookens and Coffyn, to Atlantic City and the fourth, with Johnson and La Chappelle, to Detroit.

None of the contests arranged for the Montreal meet were brought off, the meeting being confined to exhibitions. Financially, it is stated to have been a success.

New C. N. R. Grand Division.

Winnipeg, July 5.—Hugh Sutherland announces that the Canadian Northern has created a new grand division comprising British Columbia.

PHEASANTS MOVED FROM CHILLIWACK TO LADNER

Game Birds Plentiful Up River and Are Shipped to Delta for Distribution.

The Delta is being restocked with pheasants. Bryan Williams, provincial game warden, was in the city yesterday en route from Chilliwack, where he has been recently collecting some of the birds. He secured 150 young birds there and yesterday transferred them to Ladner, where they will be turned loose.

The pheasants are very plentiful around Chilliwack this year, but in the Delta they were depleted by much shooting last year and the government thought that a new stock was needed there. All through the Fraser valley, with the exception of the Delta, pheasants are very numerous.

BETTER SERVICE TO BE GIVEN BY GREAT NORTHERN

Officials of Company Give Promises and Make Reductions in Fares on Huntington Branch.

K. J. Burns, traffic superintendent of the Great Northern, was in the city yesterday and held a long conference with the publicity commissioner regarding the service on the local branches of the line on the south side of the river.

The official assured Mr. Wade that the company was doing all that it could to give satisfactory service, and informed him that a reduction of the passenger fare between here and Sumas had been authorized. The fare used to be in the neighborhood of two dollars and it has been reduced twenty or thirty cents.

He further promised that within the next two or three months the company would reconsider the fares and a further reduction in fares was probable then. Steps are now being taken by which the passenger service will be greatly expedited. It was called to Mr. Burns' attention that lately the trains have not been taking on freight at Alluvia as heretofore, and he explained that in order to endeavor to maintain the service ordered by the Railway commission some of the stops had to be cut out and this was one of them. However, on representations made by Mayor Lee and Mr. Wade, he stated that he would inquire further into the matter and see if something could not be done to relieve the situation.

Later in the day Mr. Wade received a communication from Mr. Costello, of the Great Northern, in which it was stated that a bulletin had been issued by which train No. 270 will be instructed to stop, if flagged, at Crescent, and both trains No. 270 and 273 instructed to stop at Ocean Park. It was also stated that Mr. Costello, of the Great Northern, would be in New Westminster about the middle of the month and would then go into the whole railway question with the city officials and the board of trade.

MAKE ARRANGEMENTS FOR TRIP TO COAST

Montreal, July 5.—Those in charge of the Montreal lacrosse team, which is to go to the coast in search of the Minto Cup, have about completed arrangements for the trip. The party will leave Montreal by the C.P.R. train at 10:30 Wednesday night, and will reach Winnipeg Friday night. Arrangements will be made with one of the hotels there for accommodation, and on Saturday morning the team will go sight-seeing, probably under the direction of F. Scott, who used to live in Winnipeg.

On Saturday afternoon the team will line up against the Shamrocks, of Winnipeg, in an exhibition game, and they will leave on Saturday night for Vancouver, where they are scheduled to arrive on Tuesday morning.

During the long ride on the train arrangements have been made for the players to go through exercises every morning under the directions of Chaucer Elliott. A special car will be arranged for the team, and they will likely have a special diet. The boys will have short runs on the station platforms when the train stops long enough to do this.

When the party arrives in Vancouver they will at once start practising and will use the grounds which the Vancouver club have kindly placed at their disposal.

On Wednesday the team will go to New Westminster to have a practice, and from then on there will be practices every day until the first match, which takes place on the sixteenth.

It is likely that the boys will be treated well during their trip, as several of the M.A.A.A. boys are living out there now. The players recognize that this is not a pleasure trip, said President W. E. Findlay, and all are making the trip, determined to bring back the cup.

The Montrealers will use their ordinary costume in the cup matches, and special caps will be secured with the winged-wheel on them.

LOVER OF LACROSSE DIES IN ENGLAND

Colonel M. H. Gifford Passes Away—Was Director of B. C. E. Railway.

News of the death of Colonel the Hon. Maurice R. Gifford has aroused considerable sympathy among the people of New Westminster. The reason for this is that although he saw little of the city of New Westminster, he was one of the most ardent supporters of the lacrosse club. A lasting evidence for the love of Canada's great game is on exhibition in the Carnegie library now and has been for the past two years. It is in the form of a silver loving cup, the Gifford Cup, donated by the late colonel for perpetual competition among the lacrosse teams of British Columbia, and held in this city ever since it was given.

Admired Lacrosse Team.

The first mention of the cup was made here on October 11, 1907, at a banquet given to the victorious lacrosse team. In a letter from Colonel Gifford, read on that occasion, he expressed the greatest admiration for the New Westminster lacrosse team, which he had seen in action against Vancouver a few days previously. The letter closed with a remark that will always make him affectionately remembered by the people of New Westminster: "The name of the cup appealed to me as I noticed two of the members of your team bear the same name as myself."

The late Colonel Gifford, although only 51 years old at the time of his death, had a brilliant record and was holding high positions in the financial world.

How closely he was connected with development in Canada and especially of British Columbia is shown by the fact that he was one of the most prominent directors of the B. C. Electric railway.

Sketch of His Life.

The Hon. Maurice Raymond Gifford was born at Ampney Park, Circencester, in 1859, being the fourth son of the second Baron Gifford. He was educated on H. M. S. Worcester at Greenhithe, after which he entered the mercantile marine. In 1882 he was appointed galloper for C. Lagden (special correspondent for The Daily Telegraph) in the Egyptian campaign.

He also saw service as a scout under General Middleton in the Reil rebellion (medal and clasp).

In 1893 he served as a scout in Salisbury's column during the Matabele campaign in South Africa (medal).

During the Matabele rebellion he raised and commanded A. and B. troops of Gifford's Horse, and in the fighting that ensued lost his arm. On returning to England he was created a C. M. G. by Queen Victoria in recognition of his great services.

In the Jubilee procession of 1897 he commanded the Rhodesian Horse and received the Jubilee decoration.

When war was declared against the Boers he joined the Kimberley Mounted Corps and served on Colonel Mahon's staff at the relief of Mafeking. (Medal—three clasps.)

Deceased was a brother of Lord Gifford, and leaves a widow and one son and three daughters. The boy is ten years of ago, and is the heir apparent to the title, since the present Lord Gifford is unmarried.

Great Waterways Commission.

Edmonton, July 5.—The Great Waterways Royal commission opened its session here this morning and will continue its sittings several days. Its members will then deliberate before handing down their findings.

C. P. R. OFFICIALS ARE TRYING TO AVOID TROUBLE

Conferences on Rules and Conditions of Service Are Held with Representatives of Trainmen.

Montreal, July 5.—Further conferences were held today between Messrs. J. W. Leonard and A. D. McTir, representing the Canadian Pacific, and Messrs. Muder and Berry, representing the conductors and trainmen, but no definite conclusion has yet been reached and it has been arranged to hold another conference tomorrow.

Mr. Leonard, after the conference, made the following statement: "The conference was mainly devoted to a discussion of the different rules and conditions of service in order to definitely settle the terms of the agreement which is to be arrived at. These questions naturally involve a great many details which take up lots of time and it will probably be several days yet before they are definitely settled. The discussions, however, are proceeding amicably, and there is not the slightest indication at present that there will be any trouble. A short time now should see the whole matter closed."

BRICKLAYERS ARE OUT FOR OPEN SHOP POLICY

Contractors Plants are Badly Crippled—Believe Strikers Will Lose Fight.

Montreal, July 5.—A fight to the finish appears to be on the cards between the contractors and the bricklayers as a result of the meeting of the members of the Building exchange this afternoon, when all the firms, members of the exchange interested in the fight, put up accepted checks of $1,000 each to stand by one another in resisting the demands of the union.

Open Shop Question.

According to J. H. Lauer, secretary, the fight is entirely confined to the open shop question, the matter of wages and hours having nothing to do with it.

The contractors say they will not accept the closed shop, for it would mean handing over their business to the control of men merely interested in serving their own ends.

Fifteen Hundred Idle.

Fifteen hundred men are idle, and while the contractors admit that their work is pretty well tied up just now, they declare that this situation will be remedied in the next few days and that they will eventually win, just as they won three years ago when there was a fight along the same lines.

The men say there is no fear of this, as they are much better organized now than they were then.

SECOND PRO. LACROSSE CLUB IS STARTED IN VANCOUVER

With the four strikers from Con Jones' regulars as a nucleus, a second professional lacrosse club has been organized in the Terminal City. This aggregation has been christened the Shamrocks. Home brews will predominate on the lineup, if twelve sufficiently classy men can be found among Vancouver's hundred thousand.

George Oddy, a Westminster man who has studied the fine points of the game on Queens park oval, has been named manager, and will do his utmost to develop a worth-while team. The intention is to play exhibition games against the Westminsters and the Vancouvers, the Shamrocks appearing in white jerseys with a shamrock leaf on the breast and grey trunks.

The officers elected are: Honorary president, L. B. Vandecar; honorary vice president, C. W. Murray; president, W. Hughes; vice presidents, Joseph Clarke and A. Demetry; treasurer, W. McKeown; secretary, J. McConaghy; team manager, Geo. Oddy; executive, Messrs. Walter Thomas, Frank Ronan, W. A. McKeown, E. Murray and R. J. Blake.

WINE ARCH ENEMY OF WHITE PLAGUE

Paris, July 5.—To drink beer and spirits is to encourage the development of tuberculosis, says Dr. Jacques Bertillon, the well known physician who originated the finger print system of police records. But he declares wine is the arch enemy of the white plague.

He basses his arguments on the French departmental statistics. In the northern eight departments, where beer, cider and brandy are the chief drinks, there were 230 consumption deaths per 100,000 inhabitants in one year. In Southern France, where wine is in general use, only 140 per 100,000 die of the scourge.

He finds further support for his theories in the prevalence of consumption in England, where little wine is used but immense quantities of beer and spirits. It is alcoholism of this kind that must be fought if tuberculosis is to be stamped out, says the French expert.

FIXING RESPONSIBILITY FOR BRIDGE EXPENDITURE

Representatives of Parties Interested in Conference Seeking Amicable Arrangement.

The city council yesterday afternoon held a long committee meeting at which endeavors were made to straighten out the tangle over payment for the Lulu island bridge. Mr. Howard, of Spokane, representing the engineers, Waddell & Harrington; Mr. Pim, of Toronto, for the Canada Foundry company; C. E. Fowler, of the International Contract company, and Mr. Ferrebee, of Waddell & Harrington, were present at the meeting.

The whole transaction is very much involved. There is a large bill of extras which the contractors wish the city to pay. The city objects. Disputes between the Canada Foundry company, which supplied the iron for the bridge; Waddell & Harrington, and the International Contract company are mixed up in the settlement of the case.

Good progress was made in endeavoring to straighten out the trouble and it is expected that the whole business can be arranged without resorting to the law courts for settlement.

LAW STUDENT PASSES FINAL EXAMINATION

Adam S. Johnston, Angus McColl and George Cassady Successful in Victoria Exams.

The results of the recent law examinations in Victoria show that Adam S. Johnston, of New Westminster, passed his final examination, and George Cassady and Angus McColl, of this city, passed their second intermediate examinations. The results of the second intermediate examinations are as follows: Houser, Cassady, Lockwood, McColl, McQueen, Milligan, Montgomery, Stafford and Todrick.

Adam Johnston had the second highest number of marks in the final.

George Cassady came second in the list with an average mark of seventy-five per cent, and Houser, of Vancouver, first with an average of eighty per cent.

HAGUE TRIBUNAL WOULD LIMIT LAWYERS' SPEECHES

Two More Weeks Will Be Allowed for Presentation of Arguments in Fisheries Case.

The Hague, July 5.—The fisheries tribunal asked the lawyers to finish their speeches in another fortnight.

Sir James Winter, on behalf of Newfoundland, endeavored to show the hollowness of Former Senator Turner's argument that legislation on Newfoundland fisheries favored Newfoundland fishermen at the expense of Americans. In regard to herring fishery regulations, Sir James observed that they could not affect American fishermen, because this kind of fishing was carried on in bays, harbors and creeks of territorial waters which Americans were not allowed to enter by the treaty of 1818.

Sir James argued that Newfoundland had not infringed the treaty of 1818 in forbidding Americans in 1905 and 1906 to buy herring in Newfoundland as bait for cod fishing, and from engaging inhabitants of Newfoundland to catch herring. These regulations were commercial in character.

In regard to other regulations prohibiting the use of certain nets, etc., even if the American criticism was justified, which he denied, that was no proof that the United States had a right to veto Newfoundland fisheries legislation which affected the vital interests of Newfoundland and tended to prevent Americans from abusing their privilege of destroying fisheries.

ENRAGED BULLS DASH INTO SHRIEKING CROWD

Malaya, July 5.—Another dreadful accident in a Spanish bull ring has occurred at Alhaurin.

Peasants from many miles round crowded to see a special display of a famous company of bull fighters. Some exceptionally fine animals were being paraded in the arena prior to the first engagement, and the spectators stamped their feet in enthusiastic approval.

At that moment the supports under the top tier of seats gave way, and in a few seconds half of the stands were in ruins. The shrieks and groans of the people so appalled the officials that they completely lost their heads.

Three bulls stampeded over the broken barricade, and charged into the helpless victims before the attendants were able to control them. One bull had to be killed.

Eleven persons were extricated in a dying condition and forty others were more or less seriously injured.

AMERICAN SCHOONER WINS ANOTHER RACE IN GERMANY

Warenmunde, Germany, July 5.—Westward, the new racing schooner yacht, owned by Alexander S. Cochran, of New York, added another victory to her credit in German waters today. She won the forty-three-mile schooner race from Teremunde to Warenmunde.

Emperor William's Meteor finshed second. The Hamburg, owned by Theverein Zeefahrt, and the Mermanic, owned by Dr. Krupp Von Bohlen Und Halbach, did not classify.

FORT GEORGE LIBERALS FORM AN ASSOCIATION

Fort George, B.C., July 5.—A well attended meeting of Liberals, held in N. H. Wesley & Co's. office here recently, resulted in the formation of a Fort George Liberal association. Among the initial work of the embryo association was the tendering to Sir Wilfrid Laurier of an invitation to visit Fort George district during his tour of the west and British Columbia. Other resolutions dealt with requests to the Dominion government for an improvement in the navigation of the Upper Fraser and the establishment of an experimental farm at some convenient point in the Nechaco valley. The officers of the new association are: President, W. J. Mackey; vice-president, M. C. Wiggins; secretary, John Flynn; treasurer, D. H. Rattenbury; executive committee, J. J. McGaghran, Walter Flynn, D. L. Smith, Charles Lane, William Barnett.

AMBITIOUS PROJECT ENDS IN FAILURE

Story of Pioneer Poultry Ranch at Kamloops Reveals Brilliant Financing

Starting with a capital of $900, and borrowing and mortgaging until he had debts amounting to nearly $80,000 hanging over his head, Charles K. Ulsster, an Englishman, has given up an effort to carry to completion his project of having one of the biggest poultry farms in the world near Kamloops, and has abandoned all his holding to his creditors.

Mr. Ulsster's scheme was ambitious, and, given time and sufficient capital, a good commercial proposition. Arriving in Kamloops about eighteen months ago with an even thousand dollars in his pocketbook, he set about looking for profitable investment. After some time he decided that Kamloops was just about the proper place for the establishment of a poultry farm that would shadow anything ever attempted in that line, and with this idea in view he purchased 320 acres of land on the east shore of the South Thompson, about four miles from Kamloops, paying the first installment on the property with all his available cash.

Englishmen Contribute.

With the land as an asset, Ulsster induced three fellow countrymen to interest themselves in the venture. One of the Englishmen advanced the promoter $20,000, another supplied $12,000 and the third contributed his mite of $8,000, a total of $40,000.

As soon as he had the money in hand, Ulsster negotiated a contract with the C. P. R. whereby the Pioneer Poultry Ranch, as he decided to style his chicken farm, would supply the railway company with all the eggs and feathered flesh needed on the west half of their system. The contract called for daily supplies of eggs, chickens, fowl, geese, ducks and turkeys.

One hundred thousand birds was the number which it was intended to have on the ranch as soon as the necessary arrangements were completed.

Swell Chicken Houses.

Two chicken houses were built and a third one was started. These were absolutely the finest homes ever put up for members of the feathered tribe, being 300 feet long, with cement floors, sun shades, covered and open runs, running water for drinking, and everything else that the ingenuity of man could suggest and the expenditure of borrowed money secure.

For the ducks fine swimming pools were built at a heavy cost, while the turkeys and geese were also given quarters commensurate with their dignity.

Amusements for Employees.

Before the crash came, about twenty thousand birds were purchased. To look after the comforts of this flock, a staff of forty men was engaged, at higher wages than could be secured in Kamloops. Saddle horses and ponies, a fine gasoline launch and a rifle range were some of the aids to recreation provided by Ulsster for his employees.

As soon as this lavish expenditure began to reduce the bank balance to too low an ebb, a first mortgage on the property was given C. D. Rand, of Vancouver, for $16,000. This amount did not last very long, but an equal sum was secured on a second mortgage, the storekeepers of Kamloops in the meantime obligingly giving all kinds of credit to the Pioneer Poultry Ranch.

Business Men Hit Hard.

Now that the crash has come, the Kamloops business men are carrying about $20,000 on the wrong side of their ledger, and waiting patiently for the coming of some purchaser of the white elephant which has fallen into the hands of the creditors of the P. P. Ranch in lieu of cash.

BLUES IN MANITOBA HAVE NO BUSINESS THERE

Feeling of Pessimism Not Justified by Reports of Crop Conditions on Prairies.

Winnipeg, July 5.—Despite the assurances that present crop conditions do not warrant the uneasiness which appears to prevail among a certain section of the farming communities, some pessimism still exists, notwithstanding the reports which have been issued by the railway companies regarding the wheat fields along their respective lines.

These reports show that the conditions generally are all that can be expected and, providing favorable weather reigns, there is reason many well informed persons claim, to believe that the crop this year will be as big, if not bigger, than any previous season.

The weekly report of the Canadian Northern railway is exceptionally bright and there are indications that everyone will be satisfied when the harvest is gathered in.

STREET IMPROVEMENT DEBENTURE OR REGISTERED STOCK BYLAW, 1910.

A Bylaw to enable the Council of the City of New Westminster to raise by loan the sum of One Hundred and Fifty Thousand ($150,000.00) dollars for Street Improvements.

Whereas, certain sums of money have this year been expended out of the general revenue of the city for the construction, improvement and repair of streets and sidewalks, and it is expedient that additional sums be spent in like manner, amounting in all (with the sums already spent) to the sum of One Hundred and Fifty Thousand ($150,000.00) dollars;

And Whereas, it appears that if the said sum of One Hundred and Fifty Thousand ($150,000.00) dollars, be appropriated from the general revenue of the city for the current year the rate of taxation will be excessive, and it is expedient that such excessive taxation should be avoided, and the said sum should be raised on the credit of the corporation, and that debentures or registered stock certificates should be issued for that amount;

And Whereas, for the payment of interest on the debentures or registered stock certificates, proposed to be issued under this Bylaw, and for creating a sinking fund for the payment of the said debentures or registered stock certificates when due, it will be necessary to raise by special rate, in addition to all other rates, each year during the currency of the said debentures or registered stock certificates, the sum of Seven Thousand, Five Hundred and Ninety and 32-100 ($7,590.32) dollars;

And Whereas, in order to raise the said yearly sum of Seven Thousand, Five Hundred and Ninety and 32-100 ($7,590.32) dollars, an equal rate on the dollar will be required to be levied on the whole rateable property of the City of New Westminster.

And Whereas, the whole rateable property of the said city, according to the last revised Assessment Roll thereof, is Seven Million, Two Hundred and Forty-nine Thousand and Ten ($7,249,010.00) dollars;

And Whereas, the total amount of the existing debenture debt of the said city is One Million, Six Hundred and Seventeen Thousand, One Hundred ($1,617,100.00) dollars, irrespective of the sum of One Hundred and Seventy-four Thousand, Five Hundred ($174,500.00) dollars proposed to be raised under the "Lulu Island Bridge Debenture or Registered Stock Bylaw, 1910"; the "Fire Debenture or Registered Stock Bylaw, 1910"; the "Schools Debenture or Registered Stock Bylaw, 1910," and the "Parks Debenture or Registered Stock Bylaw, 1910," of which none of the principal or interest is in arrears;

Now Therefore, the Municipal Council of the Corporation of the City of New Westminster enacts as follows:

1. It shall be lawful for the Mayor of the said city to raise by way of loan from any person or persons, body or bodies corporate, who may be willing to advance the same on the credit of the debentures or registered stock certificates hereinafter mentioned, any sum or sums of money, not exceeding in the whole the sum of One Hundred and Fifty Thousand ($150,000.00) dollars, and to cause the same to be paid into the treasury of the said city for the purposes mentioned herein.

2. It shall be lawful for the Mayor to cause any number of debentures or registered stock certificates to be made, not exceeding in the whole the sum of One Hundred and Fifty Thousand ($150,000.00) dollars, for such sums of money as may be required, not less than $100.00 each, or an equivalent expressed in pounds sterling of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, at a value of 4.866 to the pound sterling; and all such debentures or registered stock certificates shall be sealed with the seal of the corporation, signed by the Mayor and countersigned by the treasurer thereof, or by such other person or persons as may be thereunto lawfully authorized.

3. The said debentures or registered stock certificates, shall be payable on the first day of July, 1960, at such place or places as the Council of the said corporation may from time to time appoint with the approval of the holders thereof, and shall bear interest at the rate of four and one-half per centum per annum, payable half yearly on the first day of January and the first day of July in each and every year, and the debentures shall have attached to them coupons for the payment of interest, which said coupons shall be signed by the said Mayor.

4. A special rate on the dollar shall be levied and raised in each year, in addition to all other rates, on all the rateable property of the city, sufficient to pay the interest upon the debentures or registered stock certificates, and to create a sinking fund for the payment of the principal thereof when due, subject to any act or enactment respecting the same.

5. Subject as aforesaid, there shall be raised annually by special rate as aforesaid, during the currency of the said debentures or registered stock certificates, the sum of Six Thousand, Seven Hundred and Fifty ($6,750.00) dollars for the payment of the interest thereon, and the sum of Eight Hundred and Forty and 32.100 ($840.32) dollars to provide for the payment of the principal.

6. The proceeds of the sale of the said debentures or registered stock certificates shall be applied as follows, and not otherwise: towards paying the cost of the passing of this Bylaw and the issue and sale of the debentures or registered stock certificates therein referred to, recouping the treasury of the city such sums as have been this year expended in street works, or may be so expended until the proceeds of the sale of the said debentures or registered stock certificates have become available, the making, improving and repairing of such streets and sidewalks in the city as may be deemed expedient by the council, but no sidewalk or street shall be made or repaired out of the moneys borrowed under this Bylaw unless the same shall have first been approved by a resolution of the Council.

7. This Bylaw shall take effect on the day of 1910, and may be cited as the "Street Improvement Debenture or Registered Stock Bylaw, 1910."

8. This Bylaw before the final passing thereof, shall receive the assent of the electors of the said city in the manner required by law.

Received the assent of the electors on the day of 1910.

Reconsidered and finally passed in open council the day of 1910.

NOTICE.

Take notice that the above is a true copy of the proposed Bylaw which will be taken into consideration by the Municipal Council of the City of New Westminster one month from the day of the first publication thereof in the "Daily News" newspaper, which first publication took place on the 13th day of June, 1910, and that a vote of the electors of the city will be taken on the said proposed Bylaw on the 14th day of July, 1910, between the hours of nine o'clock a.m. and five p.m. at the following places, namely: The Council Chamber, Civic Building; the Fire Hall, Sapperton; and the Waterworks Storehouse, Eleventh street.

SCHOOLS DEBENTURE OR REGISTERED STOCK BYLAW, 1910.

A Bylaw to enable the Council of the Corporation of the City of New Westminster to raise by loan the sum of Ninety-seven Thousand, Five Hundred ($97,500.00) dollars for School Purposes.

Whereas the Board of School Trustees of the City of New Westminster have caused to be prepared and laid before the Council a detailed estimate of the sums required by the Board for the current year's ordinary expenses of maintaining the schools of the said City of New Westminster; and have also prepared a like detailed estimate of the sums required to meet any special or extraordinary expenses legally incurrable by the Board, which last mentioned estimate is subject to consideration, alteration and final approval by the Council, and the same has been finally approved by the Council.

And Whereas, the amount required under the said last mentioned estimate for schools amounts to Ninety-seven Thousand, Five Hundred ($97,500.00) dollars, made up as follows: Thirty-five Thousand ($35,000.00) dollars for the erection and equipment of the new Sapperton school; Two Thousand, five Hundred ($2,500.00) dollars for the erection and equipment of a school on Lulu Island, and Sixty Thousand ($60,000.00) dollars for the erection of a High school.

And Whereas, by Section 40 of the the Public Schools Act 1905, as re-enacted by Section 30 of the Public Schools Act 1905, Amendment Act 1906, any statute to the contrary notwithstanding, the Council of any city, town or rural municipality in the Province including the City of Vancouver and City of New Westminster, may in each and every year pass a Bylaw or Bylaws for levying aspecial rate of not more than Five (5) mills on the dollar for school purposes, and the Council may in addition to such rate apply any portion of the ordinary revenue to school purposes.

And Whereas, it appears that the amount required to meet the current year's ordinary expenses of maintaining the schools will exhaust the amount authorized to be levied under Section 40 of the Public Schools Act 1905, as re-enacted by said Section 30 of the Public Schools Act 1905, Amendment Act 1906, and it will be necessary also to apply a portion of the ordinary revenue for such purposes.

And Whereas, it appears that if the said sum of $97,500.00 be appropriated from the general revenue of the city for the current year, the rate of taxation will be excessive, and it is expedient that such excessive taxation should be avoided, and the said sum should be raised on the credit of the corporation, and that debentures or registered stock certificates should be issued for that amount.

And Whereas, for the payment of interest on the debentures or registered stock certificates proposed to be issued under this Bylaw, and for creating a sinking fund for the payment of the said debentures or registered stock certificates, when due, it will be necessary to raise by special rate, in addition to all other rates, each year during the currency of the said debentures or registered stock certificates the sum of four Thousand, Nine Hundred and Thirty-three and 70-100 ($4,933.70) dollars;

And Whereas, in order to raise the said yearly sum of $4,933.70, an equal special rate on the dollar will be required to be levied on the whole rateable property of the City of New Westminster.

And Whereas, the whole rateable property of the said city, according to the last revised Assessment Roll thereof, is Seven Million, Two Hundred and Forty-nine Thousand and Ten ($7,249,010.00) dollars;

And Whereas, the total amount of the existing debenture debt of the said city is One Million, Six Hundred and Seventeen Thousand, One Hundred ($1,617,100.00) dollars, irrespective of the sum of Two Hundred and Twenty-seven Thousand ($227,000.00) dollars proposed to be raised under the "Street Improvement Debenture or Registered Stock Bylaw, 1910;" the "Fire Debenture or Registered Stock Bylaw, 1910;" the "Lulu Island Bridge Debenture or Registered Stock Bylaw, 1910," and the "Parks Improvement Debenture or Registered Stock Bylaw, 1910," of which none of the principal or interest is in arrears.

Now Therefore, the Municipal Council of the Corporation of the City of New Westminster enacts as follows:

1. It shall be lawful for the Mayor of the said city to raise by way of loan from any person or persons, body or bodies corporate, who may be willing to advance the same on the credit of the debentures or registered stock certificates hereinafter mentioned, any sum or sums of money not exceeding in the whole the sum of $97,500.00, and to cause the same to be paid into the treasury of the said city for the purposes mentioned herein.

2. It shall be lawful for the Mayor to cause any number of debentures or registered stock certificates to be made, not exceeding in the whole the sum of $97,500.00 for such sums of money as may be required, not less than $100.00 each, or an equivalent expressed in pounds sterling of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland at a value of 4.866 to the pound sterling; and all such debentures or registered stock certificates shall be sealed with the seal of the corporation, signed by the Mayor and countersigned by the treasurer thereof, or by such other person or persons as may be thereunto lawfully authorized.

3. The said debentures or registered stock certificates shall be payable on the first day of July 1960, at such place or places as the Council of the said corporation may from time to time appoint with the approval of the holders thereof, and shall bear interest at the rate of four and one-half per centum per annum, payable half yearly on the first day of January and the first day of July in each and every year, and the debentures shall have attached to them coupons for the payment of interest, which said coupons shall be signed by the said Mayor.

4. A special rate on the dollar shall be levied and raised in each year, in addition to all other rates, on all the rateable property of the city, sufficient to pay the interest upon the debentures or registered stock certificates, and to create a sinking fund for the payment of the principal thereof when due, subject to any act or enactment respecting the same.

5. Subject as aforesaid, there shall be raised annually by special rate as aforesaid, during the currency of the said debentures or registered stock certificates, the sum of $4,387.50 for the payment of interest thereon, and the sum of $546.20 to provide for the repayment of the principal.

6. The proceeds of the sale of the said debentures or registered stock certificates shall be applied as follows, and not otherwise; towards paying the cost of the passing of this Bylaw and the issue and sale of the said debentures or registered stock certificates therein referred to, and all expenses connected with the issuance of the said loan, and the balance shall be paid over from time to time as required upon the order of the trustees by the city treasurer to the several persons to whom moneys are payable.

7. This Bylaw shall take effect on the day of 1910, and may be cited as the "Schools Debenture or Registered Stock Bylaw, 1910."

8. This Bylaw before the final passing thereof, shall receive the assent of the electors of the said city in the manner required by law.

Received the assent of the electors on the day of 1910.

TEXT OF ROOSEVELT SPEECH ON BRITAIN'S POLICY IN EGYPT

Critical Review of Ex-President on Britain's Policy in the East, Which Caused a Furore of Criticism in the British Newspapers.

The following is the text of ex-President Roosevelt's speech at the Guildhall, the speech in which, in return for the freedom of the City of London, he criticized as sentimental England's recent policy in Egypt. Omitting only a few introductory words of reference to King Edward's death and to the honor conferred upon the speakers, this is what Mr. Roosevelt said in part:

"I have spent nearly a year in Africa. While there I saw four British protectorates. I grew heartily to respect the men I met there—settlers and military and civic officials—and it seems to me that the best acknowledgement I can render you for what you have done for me—the best service that I can render both to you and to them—is very briefly to tell you how I was impressed by some things I saw.

Great Work Being Done.

Your men in Africa are doing a great work for your Empire, and they are also doing a great work for civilization. This fact, and my sympathy for and belief in them, are my reasons for speaking. People at home whether in Europe or in America, people who live softly, often fail fully to realize what is being done for them by the men who are actually engaged in the pioneer work of civilization abroad.

Of course, in any mass of men there are some who are weak or unworthy, and even those who are good are sure to make occasional mistakes. All of us do, and that is as true of pioneers as of other men. Nevertheless, the great fact in world history during the last century has been the spread of civilization over the world's waste spaces. The work is still going on, and the soldiers, settlers, and civic officials who are actually doing it are, as a whole, entitled to the heartiest respect and the fullest support from their brothers who stay at home.

At the outset there is one point on which I wish to insist with all possible emphasis. Civilized nations that are conquering for civilization savage lands should work together in a spirit of hearty, mutual good will. I listened with special interest to what Sir Joseph Dimsdale said about peace and good will among nations. Now, let us show by our actions and our words in specific cases that we agree with it in the concrete.

Co-Operation in Civilization.

Ill-will between civilized nations is bad enough anywhere, but it is peculiarly hateful and contemptible when those actuated by it are engaged in the same task—a task of such far-reaching importance to the progress of humanity as the task of subduing the savagery of wild men and wild nature and of bringing abreast of our civilization those lands where there is an old civilization, but where that civilization has gone crooked.

Mankind, as a whole, has been benefited by the noteworthy success that has attended the French occupation of Algiers and Tunis, just as mankind as a whole, has been benefited by what England has done in India; and each nation should be glad of the other's achievements. In the same way it is of interest to all civilized men that similar success shall attend alike the Englishman and German as they work in East Africa. Exactly so it has been of benefit to mankind that America has taken possession of the Philippines.

Those of you who know Lord Cromer's excellent book, in which he compares modern and ancient imperialism need no words from me to prove that the dominion of modern civilized nations over the dark places of the earth has been taught with widespread good for mankind, and my plea is that civilized nations engaged in doing this work shall treat one another with respect and friendship and shall hold it as discreditable to promote envy and jealousy by backbiting and antagonism among themselves.

The Four Protectorates.

I visited four different British protectorates or possessions in Africa, namely: East Africa, Uganda, the Sudan, and Egypt. About the first three I have nothing to say save what is pleasant as well as true. About the last I wish to say a few words because they are true, without regard to whether or not they are pleasant.

In the highlands of East Africa you have land which can be made a true white man's country. While there I met many settlers on intimate terms and felt for them a peculiar sympathy, because they strikingly reminded me of the men of our own western frontier in America, of the pioneer farmers and ranchmen who built up the States of the great plains and the Rocky mountains.

It is of high importance to encourage those settlers in every way, remembering (I say it here in the city) that the prime need is, not for capitalists to exploit the land, but for settlers who shall make their permanent homes there. Capital is a good servant and a mighty poor master. No alien race should be permitted to come into contact with the settlers.

Fortunately you now have in the Governor of East Africa, Sir Percy Girouard, a man admirably fitted to deal wisely and firmly with the many problems before him. He is on the ground and knows the needs of the country, and he is devoted to its interests. All that is necessary is to follow his lead and give him cordial support and backing.

Let me say that the principle on which I acted and on which I think it wise to act in dealing with far-away possessions is to choose your man—change him when you become discontented with him—while you keep him back him up.

In Uganda the problem is totally different. Uganda cannot be made a white man's country, and the prime need is to administer the land in the interest of the native races and help forward their development of Christianity. Nowhere else of recent times has missionary effort met such success. The inhabitants stand far above most races in the dark continent in their capacity. In their progress toward civilization they have made great strides, and the English officials have shown equal judgment and disinterestedness in the work they have done. They have been especially wise in trying to develop the natives along their own lines instead of seeking to turn them into make believe Englishmen. In Uganda, therefore, all that is necessary is to go forward on the paths you have already marked out.

The Interesting Sudan.

The Sudan is peculiarly interesting because it affords the best possible example—gentlemen, I am accustomed to speak with historic accuracy, and when I say the best possible example, I mean it—the best possible example of the wisdom of disregarding the well meaning but unwise sentimentalists who object to the spread of civilization at the expense of savagery. I remember that a quarter of a century ago, when you were engaged in your struggle with the Sudan, many of your people at home and some of ours, said that what was demanded in the Sudan, was complete liberty, independence, and selfgovernment for the Sudanse, coupled with insistence on complete religious toleration and the abolition of the slave trade.

I want your attention to these figures I am going to give you. We have not, of course, absolute statistics, but I am understating. The figures I am giving are less than those that the most competent judges gave me. During fifteen years before the English came, at least two-thirds of the population, probably seven or eight millions of people, died of violence or by starvation.

When the English Came.

Then the English people came in and put an end to the independence and self-government which had wrought this hideous evil—I am not in the least afraid of using words to express just the thoughts I have—restored order, kept the peace and gave to each individual a liberty which during the evil days of their own self-government not one human being possessed, save only the blood-stained tyrant who at the moment was ruler.

I stopped at village after village in the Sudan, and in many of them—most of them—was struck by the fact that while there were plently of children they were all under twelve years of age. Inquiry always elicited that these children were known as government children, because in the days of Mahdism it was the literal truth in a very large proportion of the communities that every child was either killed or died of starvation and hardship, whereas under the peace brought by English rule families are flourishing, men and women are no longer hunted to death and children are brought up under more favorable circumstances for soul and body than ever previously obtained in the entire history of the Sudan.

Crime to Give Up Sudan.

In administration, in education, in police work, Sirdar and his lieutenants, great and small, have performed to perfection a task equally important and difficult. The government officials, military and civil, who are responsible for this task and the Egyptians and Sudanese who have worked with and as directed by them have a claim on all civilized mankind which should be heartily acknowledged. It would be a crime not to go on with the work—a work which the inhabitants themselves are helpless to perform, unless under firm and wise outside guidance. I have met people who expressed some doubt as to whether the Sudan would pay. Personally, I think it probably will, but I may add that in my judgment this fact does not alter the duty of the English toward it.

It is not worth while belonging to a big nation unless the big nation is willing when the necessity arises to undertake a big task. I feel about you in the Sudan just as I felt about us in Panama when we acquired the right to build the Panama canal, and entered on that task. Worthy people came to me and said they wondered whether it would pay. I always answered that it was one of the great world-works which had to be done, that it was our business as a nation to do it, if we were to make good our claim to be treated as a great world power, and that as we were not willing to abandon that claim no American worth his salt would hesitate about performing the task. I feel just the same way about you in the Sudan.

Now, as to Egypt. It would not be worth my while to speak at all nor would it be worth your while to listen unless on the condition that I say what I deeply feel ought to be said. I speak as an outsider, but in one way that is an advantage, for I speak without national prejudice. I would not talk to you about your internal affairs here at home, but you are so very busy at home that I am not sure whether you realize just how things are in some places abroad.

At any rate, it cannot hurt you to hear my view. It is the view of one who has actually been on the ground and obtained his information at first hand; one, moreover, who is a sincere well-wisher of the British Empire, but is not English by birth, and is impelled to speak mainly because of his deep concern in the welfare of mankind and the future of civilization. Remember, also, that I who address you am not only an American, but also a Radical, a real, not a mock Democrat, and that what I have to say is spoken chiefly because I am a Democrat—a man who feels that his first duty to war against violence, injustice and wrong-doing wherever found. I advise you only in accordance with the principles on which I myself acted as an American president in dealing with the Philippines and the West India Islands.

Egypt's State a Menace.

In Egypt you are not guardians of your own interests only. You are also guardians of the interests of civilization and the present condition of affairs in Egypt is a grave menace both to your empire and to civilization. You have given Egypt the best government it has had for at least 2,000 years. The only reason I put in the 2,000 is that I happen to know the details of the government of the Ptolemies. Probably your government is better than any government Egypt ever had before, for never in history has the poor man in that country, the tiller of the soil, the ordinary laborer, been treated with as much justice and mercy, under a rule as free from corruption and brutality as during the last twenty-eight years.

Yet recent events, and especially what happened in connection with and following on the assassination of Boutros Pasha seven months ago, have shown that in certain vital points you have erred, and it is for you to make good your error.

It has been an error proceeding from the effort to do too much, and not too little, in the interest of the Egyptians themselves; but unfortunately, it is necessary for all of us who have to do with uncivilized people and especially fanatical peoples to remember that in such a situation as yours in Egypt weakness, timidity and sentimentality may cause even more far-reaching harm than violence and injustice. Of all broken reeds, sentimentality is the most broken reed on which righteousness can lean.

His Conclusions.

As I hope you feel that your duty to civilized mankind and your fealty to your own great traditions alike bid you to stay, then make the fact and name agree; and show that you are ready to meet in every deed the responsibility which is yours.

It is the thing, not the form, which is vital. If the present forms of government in Egypt, established by you in the hope that they would help the Egyptians upwards, merely serve to provoke and permit disorder, then it is for you to alter the forms. If you stay in Egypt it is your first duty to keep order, and, above all things else, to punish murder and bring justice to all who directly or indirectly incite others to commit murder or condone crime when it is committed. When a people treats assassination as the corner stone of self-government it forfeits the right to be considered worthy of self-government. You are in Egypt for several purposes and among them one of the greatest is for the benefit of the Egyptian people. You saved them from ruin, and at the present moment, if they are not governed from outside, they will again sink into a welter of chaos. Some nation must govern Egypt, I hope and believe you will decide that it is your duty to continue to be that nation.

CANADIAN MAPLE SUGAR NOT ON ENGLISH MARKET

London, July 5.—It is the boast of Londoners that everything can be obtained in the metropolis. This is so nearly true that it has passed into a proverb and acquired the authority of a tradition. But hereafter so sweeping an assertion must be qualified.

It remained for a Canadian visitor to find that one thing at least could not be bought in the capital. This gentleman, a prominent Toronto manufacturer, is visiting London and the continent with his niece, one of the leaders of society in the Queen city. They had done the rounds of pleasure and were surfeited with many banquets. Rich viands had lost their savor and the catering of the Parisian and English restauranters had satiated their palates; so much so that the lady was temporarily indisposed. They longed for a Canadian dish.

A welcome suggestion was made by the niece: "Let us have some maple syrup." A visit to a well known shop was made; but maple syrup was unknown in the lexicon of the shop assistant. Shop after shop was visited but no maple syrup was to be obtained. A visit was paid to Selfridge's, the shop of the enterprising American who has made such a stir in London. Even this house could not supply so unusual a demand. Vermont maple syrup was to be obtained, but fancy that satisfying the desire for good Canadian syrup.

The Torontonian returned to his hotel disconsolate. Meeting a fellow countryman he mentioned his experience. His friend advised him to try some of the offices of the Canadian governments. At the first call, enquiry brought out the fact that sample bottles of maple syrup were kept, and on mentioning the circumstances the Toronto man was given a supply of the product of Canada's national tree.

CITY COUNCIL AFFAIRS.

No doubt the sensational stories circulated in connection with the result of the official audit of the City's accounts were responsible for the unusual number of citizens present at Monday night's meeting of the council. Though the auditor's report was not submitted, and he denied having ever given out any information, the serious allegations which have been made were not allowed to pass unnoticed. This is a very grave matter and we are glad that the motion of Alderman Welsh for the appointment of a committee to investigate and consult with the city solicitor on the matter was carried.

Alderman Gilley is to be congratulated upon the way in which he is handling the important question of getting rid of at least some of the disreputable old shacks in Chinatown. These have long been a disgrace and a danger to the city and if a goodly portion of them are demolished and their unsanitary surroundings cleaned up a really good work will have been accomplished and every citizen will rejoice. It is to be hoped that the new building by-law will render the erection of such ramshackle structures impossible in the future.

Apropos of the general question of new bylaws, we should like to urge the necessity for the publication in a local paper of the text of every new regulation passed by the council. At present all bylaws are published in the B. C. Gazette, in compliance with the statute. But not one person in a thousand ever sees this publication, and it strikes us as unfair that citizens should be expected to be conversant with the terms of these. If they were published locally no one could rightly plead ignorance. This would save a good deal of trouble to officials of the corporation and prevent the annoyance which is frequently caused under present arrangements.

Reverting to the business at the council meeting, we are pleased to observe that both Alderman Johnston and Alderman Jardine have so promptly acted upon the suggestion made in this column that arrangements should be entered into with the B. C. Electric railway for the use of a sprinkler to water the city streets. We hope success will attend their efforts and that we may very soon see an end put to the nuisance and inconvenience which the dust now causes.

We do not quite understand why Alderman Bryson should have taken up the time of the council in attempting to make an explanation of his attitude on the bridge wire question. If he had been able to afford real enlightenment upon his position perhaps this might have been excusable. But his vaporing only serves to confirm the impression that he is himself uncertain of the object he is aiming at. Indeed, he has added to the mystery of his purpose by his cryptic utterances about certain people who will be calling for the rocks and mountains to fall over them when the auditor's report is read. Apparently Alderman Bryson is trying to outdo our Vancouver contemporary in the way of sensational statements.

REMOVAL OF BODY.

Editor, Daily News:

Sir—In your issue of this morning I see that the gentlemen of the council had a statement put before them to the effect that W. J. Walker had made several attempts to come to some arrangement with me without success re the removal of the body of my little one from one part of the cemetery to another.

I beg to state that the only offer the said Mr. Walker has made to me was through a conversation I had with the mayor. I have not heard from Mr. Walker or his solicitor in any possible way since that date. The case is not "being reopened." It has never been closed and never will be until I obtain justice.

OLD COUNTRY POLITICS.

Editor, Daily News,

Sir,—After reading your short editorial in last Thursday morning's paper (June 30) re Old Country Politics, one would be inclined to think (unless they knew otherwise) that you had recently been living in atmosphere strongly contaminated with political germs that have been so freely evident in, and connected with the "House of Lords" just lately.

It appears to me you must have forgotten the real position of the Liberal party over there in reference to their general policy. Let us go back to 1907 when Sir Henry Campbell Bannerman, the then Liberal premier, moved a resolution which was carried by a large majority in the House of Commons, to the effect that the Lords should not either amend or reject a money bill and that provisions should be made so that the will of the people as expressed through their representatives should prevail within the life of a single parliament. At this time the Liberal party had a large majority over all other parties in parliament and their hand was not forced either by John Redmond or the Labor party. Then again in the final stages of the budget debates last November and right along up to the last general election, Premier Asquith and other leaders of the Liberal party made themselves perfectly plain as to how the Liberal party stood on the question of the Lord's veto.

Take as another illustration the speech delivered by the Earl of Crewe, Liberal leader in the Lords, on November 30, last, same night and just previous to the rejection of the budget.

I will quote his lordship's own words "If the appeal to the country ended favorably to the government we shall set ourselves to obtain guarantees, not merely of custom, but if necessary fenced by statute against the indiscriminate destruction of Liberal legislation of which tonight your work is the crown." Then two days later in the House of Commons, speaking after the budget had been rejected, Premier Asquith made it perfectly plain where the Liberal party stood with reference to the Lord's veto, both in finance and other legislation on that date, Mr. Asquith moved a resolution similar to Sir H. Campbell Bannerman's, only stronger, which was carried by a majority of 215. Then again a few days after and just before the election, Mr. Asquith delivered his famous Albert Hall speech. There was nothing ambigious about that, he clearly stated if the Liberals are returned to power their first business after passing the budget would be to pass such legislation as I have already described. Now sir, I fail to see how you can make good the statement in your paper that Mr. Asquith is not following the course he otherwise would have done had he not been forced by those with whom he has made alliance, viz., John Redmond and the Labor party. All that John Redmond and the Labor party have asked and are asking now is that Mr. Asquith fulfill the pledges made by himself and his colleagues, more especially those made by the premier himself in the House of Commons on December 20, and a few days later at the Albert Hall.

My principle reason for writing this is to make it clear to those who are interested in Old Country politics that Mr. Asquith's hand is not being forced as the Lord's party are so anxious to make us believe, but that he is only following the lines so plainly stated by himself before the last election.

GERMANY OBJECTS TO PATENT AGREEMENT

Berlin, July 5.—So much dissatisfaction is felt by the German manufacturers over the workings of the new German-American patent agreement that a movement to abrogate it has been started. Under the treaty, Germany waives, in case of Americans, the provisions of its law requiring the holders of German patents to manufacture their wares in this country.

It was agreed that upon the enactment of a similar law in the United States the same preference would be given German holders of American patents. America, however, passed no such law, and the result is, that Germans are on the same footing as the manufacturers of any other nation. In the meantime, it is alleged, the American manufacturers are freely exercising their new privileges in Germany, acquiring patent rights simply for the purpose of preventing nations from competing.

It is probable that the government will be petitioned to denounce the treaty.

ARNPRIOR DRUGGIST ENDORSES D. D. D.

Canadian druggists are becoming enthusiastic about D. D. D. as they find it really cures their customers of eczema and other torturing skin diseases.

This is what Druggist Chambers, of Arnprior, Ont., wrote us on November 10, last:

"I have handled D. D. D. ever since you commenced handling it in Canada, as I know it to be good, having sold it for several years in Belt, Montana, where I found it gave superior satisfaction.

(Signed) "J. CHAMBERS."

For years doctors tried to cure eczema through the blood. As it is caused by germs in the skin itself, they were naturally not very successful.

Then came D. D. D. Prescription—a mild, soothing, yet penetrating compound of oil of wintergreen, thymol, glycerine, etc., that kills the germs in the inner skin, relieves the awful itch, and cures. We feel sure that D. D. D. will do for you what it has done for many others. Frank McKenzie, Druggist.

SAW MONTREALS PLAY AND HE IS SATISFIED

Dr. Jones Boils Down Cup Challenger's Chances to Four Short Words.

"They can't do it."

"They" refers to the Montreal lacrosse club. "It," which they can't do, means—well, everybody knows what it means.

The man who nutshells the chances of the Minto Cup challengers in four words is Dr. J. H. Jones, who has just returned from an extended trip through the eastern provinces. While in the cent belt he had the pleasure of seeing the Montreals play a hard game against the Torontos on June 11, and it was after watching their antics on the field that he decided they couldn't do it.

Dr. Jones is not a haphazard guesser, either, for he has had a long and painful—to others—connection with the game. He is the official stitcher-up and blood stauncher of the Westminster lacrosse team, and one of the privileged millions who crowd the oval while the game is in progress. While repairing heads and sopping up gore in cotton wool, he has discussed the fine points of the game with his patients and in this manner has absorbed more facts concerning lacrosse than any other non-playing member of the profession today.

Commenting on the relative merits of the playing members of the challengers and challengees yesterday, Dr. Jones said he could see nothing but Westminster, adding that he was not speaking that way because of sentiment, either, but because of reason.

"It will be a fine game when they meet," remarked the man who knows, "and there may be some anxious moments before the battle is decided, especially towards the end of the encounter, for the Montreals are great finishers. Their style of play, however, will not avail them much in this corner of Canada. They are playing the old game of hugging the ball and skirmishing around for an opening, a system which does not pay when the Salmon Bellies are the opposing players. They are not there with the necessary quick rushes.

"Taking them as a lump, the Montreals are a fine bunch of men, a little stockier than the Westminsters, perhaps. Their home is fast and classy, Roberts, who shines at inside home, being a clever and tricky player who will need watching closely by Charlie Galbraith. While Roberts is the man who scores for the Montreals, the other fielders are all to the good, and will certainly put up a swell exhibition.

"I had a chat with Captain Finlayson in the dressing room after the game and while he was quite free to discuss the trip to the coast after the Minto Cup, he would not volunteer any opinion as to the result of the matches. The same reticence to discuss this was shown by other members of the team. All the same it is evident the Montreals believe they have a good show of winning the mug, even if they are not cocksure.

"They promise themselves a good time on the coast, but the good time will not commence until after the last match of the championship series."

SHACKLETON'S EYES OPEN TO GAME OF BASEBALL

Chicago, July 4.—During his tour of this country Lieut. Sir Ernest Shackleton, the English explorer of the Antarctic regions, has witnessed a number of baseball games and has been duly impressed with America's national game. At Philadelphia, under the chaperonage of the Phillies' former president, James Potter, Sir Ernest saw his first baseball game, and after he had sat it through he said: "It is a fine game, and I was strongly impressed with the way the men pulled together. There is not so much chance for individual work as in cricket, but the teamplay is great. And I also noted the generous way the crowd applauded the good fielding of their opponents. I thought that was sportsmanlike. The game, however, seems to be a bit too scientific for sport."

Subsequently Sir Ernest witnessed a game in Chicago in which he happened to see Outfielder Sheckard, of the Cubs, make a remarkable fly catch by a headlong plunge to the greensward. The famous Englishman joined in the terrific applause which greeted the play and then said: "I now see why baseball is so popular over here. You never see plays like those in cricket or, at any rate, they come seldom. Over in England and in the colonies we cricketers can bat better than they do here, I believe, but the fielders muff the ball a lot. A catch, which seems so easy here, brings forth tumults of applause over there. The reason, I presume, is that you are coached along those lines here."

The famous explorer and lecturer-sportsman is also delightful with the base running, and has learned the technical points of the game rapidly and accurately. The constant remarks from the players during a game are a novelty to him, as in his own national sport silence is the prime factor. But the thing that most appeals to him in baseball is the wonderful fielding of the American players, which seems to be taken as a matter of course by American spectators. Taken all together, Sir Ernest considers baseball a wonderful game worthy of any nation—which may be considered a splendid tribute to baseball considering that Shackleton, apart from his scientific side, is a thorough, all-round sportsman and a noted cricketer.

MAPLE LEAFS HUMBLED BY LEAGUE TAIL ENDERS

Balmorals Prove Too Strong for the Men in Blue but Patriots Still Lead.

In one of the poorest ball games seen in the city league for some time, the Balmorals last night trimmed the league leaders, the Maple Leafs, by the foolish score of 14 to 9. There was some good playing occasionally but in the main the playing was extremely poor, all sorts of errors being pulled off in all sections of the diamond.

The Bals had it all their own way for the first three innings, the score at the end of that time being 12 to 1 in their favor. In each of the next two innings the Maple Leafs got one run while the Bals remained stationary, but in the sixth the Balmorals annexed two more. In the first half of the seventh the Balmorals went to pieces and the Maple Leafs brought in five runs. There was no heavy hitting, but any sort of a tap was good for first and on a succession of errors more than half the team came in.

In this inning Davidson, of the Balmorals, ran to first with the ball and collided with Jamieson, who was doing the base running. They met with an awful smash and both were laid out for a few minutes, suffering from severe loss of wind.

The game was called at the end of the inning on account of darkness. Sid Malcolmson acted as umpire and gave general satisfaction.

The teams:

Balmorals—Sinclair, Canfield, Howard, Davidson, Ryall, Munn, Wright, C. Smith and Smith.

Maple Leafs—Smith, Dignan, L. Handford, Jamieson, A. Handford, Storm, Anderson, Sloan and Sutherland.

CHILDREN OF DRUNKARDS.

The confused question of the relation of alcohol to health and efficiency is further obscured by the publication in England of statistics upsetting the theory that the children of alcoholic parents exhibit physical or mental inferiority.

The figures are contained in the report of an inquiry made by Miss E. M. Elderton, of the University of London, assisted by Professor Karl Pearson, F. R. S., to ascertain whether any disparity of physical development, intellectual activity, or acuteness of perception exists between the children of sober and drinking parents. To this end a total of 3,604 children in Edinburgh and Manchester were examined. The discovery was made that there is a higher death-rate among the off-spring of alcoholic than among the off-spring of sober parents, due perhaps as much to accident and carelessness as to the toxic effect of drink and that there is a slightly greater height and weight in the children of the sober.

On the other hand the inquiry showed: That the general health of the children of alcoholic parents is on the whole somewhat better than that of the children of sober parents; that parental alcoholism is not the source of mental defect in off-spring; that children of normal vision appear to preponderate in the families of drinking parents, and, in brief, that no marked relation of any kind exists between alcoholism in the parent and intelligence, vigor, or disease in the child.

No doubt the theory that the physically strongest in a community have the geratest capacity and taste for alcohol may account for the ability of their children to resist deterioration. It is possible that the higher death-rate of the children of the alcoholic leaves the more rugged to survive. But the conclusions reached that inheredity only serve to deepen the mystery of alcohol.

MAURICE BARRES WOULD SAVE OLD CHURCHES

Paris, July 5.—To save the historical old churches of France from destruction is at present the chief endeavor of Maurice Barres.

By the separation law, the question of repairing these ancient structures has become a veritable problem. In numerous country districts, the Catholic inhabitants are too poor to subscribe the necessary funds, and the municipal councils have no power to do so. Hence, when an old building dating from the thirteenth and fourteenth centuries is seen to be tottering, the authorities solve the difficulty by employing melinite.

The latest example took place near Versailles. It appears when the mayor of a commune of atheistical opinions—and they are many in France—gets the chance of blowing a church to pieces he is delighted; and the consequences are becoming deplorable.

M. Barres has taken the matter up in the interests of art and archaeology, and he is being powerfully supported in Paris.

RICH NOBLEMAN VISITS EDMONTON

Duke of Sutherland Deplores Edmonton Mud But is Delighted With City.

Edmonton, July 5.—Edmonton and Strathcona were honored on Dominion Day by a brief visit from His Grace the Duke of Sutherland, one of Britain's wealthiest peers, and probably the biggest land owner among the British nobility.

Travelling in the handsomely appointed private car "Lethbridge" built specially for the president of the Alberta Railway and Irrigation company and which has conveyed his grace across the continent from New York, the Duke of Sutherland reached Strathcona yesterday morning shortly after eight o'clock, his car being attached to the midnight train from Calgary. The Duke was accompanied by his secretary, Mr. Simpson. The visit of the Duke was of the briefest. He spent the morning driving about the twin cities, and left again for the south in the afternoon en route to Vancouver, where he has large interests.

It is almost certain that the Duke of Sutherland will buy land in Alberta, and possibly in the Edmonton district. If he buys, he will negotiate for a large tract. Although the Duke has given out nothing as to the object of his trip north to Edmonton, it is believed that he is preparing to purchase land, or acquire certain interests here, and this fact is strengthened by the fact that he was in conference this morning with one of Edmonton's prominent financial brokers, who acted as the host of the Duke in his drive about the cities and the surrounding country.

The Duke, nor those whom he confers with, say nothing as to their interests in any part of the west. To the newspapers, the only reason for his trip that the Duke has to give, is his periodical trip through Canada and over the Canadian Pacific Railway system. The duke already has large interests in several parts of the Dominion, and it is understood that he is preparing to acquire more.

Large C.P.R. Stockholder.

The Duke of Sutherland is one of the largest stockholders in the C.P.R. and has made periodical trips over the whole system. This is his first trip over the lines in seven years, and he finds marvellous improvements all over the system. At Calgary he inspected the C.P.R. irrigation work in the south country.

His grace is the first representative of real British nobility to visit Edmonton for some time. He comes of a long line of ancestrial noblemen that stretch away back to the days of the early Edwards. The Duke, although he has acquired a great part of his wealth through inheritance, has acquired immense interests since succeeding to the title of Sutherland, and these interests are scattered all over the world. He is one of the biggest landed proprietors in England, and owns immense estates in Scotland. Besides being a shareholder in the Canadian Pacific, he is interested in several lines of railways in the Old Country.

When a reported of the Journal stepped on board the car "Lethbridge" yesterday afternoon, just before the train for the south pulled out, his grace was reposing on one of the lounges in the library of the car. He rose as the reporter entered, and the newspaper man saw a dapper little man, clad in grey tweed, with clear cut, handsome features, iron grey beard, and an abundance of iron grey hair, that parted in one long sweep over the right side and a short sweep down the left side, lending a youthful appearance to the man, who is nearing sixty years of age, but who is active and alert as many a younger man. He is a type of the true British aristocrat.

The Duke had very little to say to the newspaperman. He is habitually a silent man as far as newspaper interviews go, and generally manages to avoid the reporters. During all his trip across the continent he has not granted a real interview to any of the newspapers. In fact, yesterday afternoon, after a few moments of conversation, his grace quietly slipped into his private car, giving the excuse that he was not feeling well and wished to rest.

The Duke had been immensely pleased with everything he has seen, save perhaps the condition of the roads about Edmonton and Strathcona. In his desire to see something of the district, he was bumped along several miles of the rough roads, and his opinion on the Edmonton mud was not given for publication. Perhaps, however, this was because the Duke is always reticent in talking to newspapermen, and may not be due to the fact that his opinion of the roads might not look very well in print.

Impressed With Crops.

What has impressed the Duke most in his visit to the twin cities is the wonderful progress that has been made. In spite of the impossibility of the roads, his grace managed to see considerable of the cities and the country around and expressed himself as delighted with the prosperity evident on every hand. He saw something of the growing crops, and here again he got a surprise, for he had not realized that in the north of the province such crops could be grown.

The Duke has not discussed politics on his present trip. Although he comes of a line of ancestors that have always been prominent in affairs of state, the Duke has taken very little active part in the present political crisis in England. He is an ardent follower of Joseph Chamberlain, the great Unionist, and the enemy of the Lloyd George budget.

CATCHUP MANUFACTURED FROM FILTHY REFUSE

But There Are Plenty of Pure Brands to Buy—Read the Label for Protection.

(From Pure Food Question and Canned Goods in Canadian Home Journal)

Tomatoes, says a high authority, are more extensively canned than all other vegetables put together—and all the canning is done in a period of six or eight weeks under high pressure. Tomatoes are also more extensively used in condiments, sauces, etc., than any other fruit or vegetable—the consumption of tomato catchup running into many millions of bottles annually. In canning tomatoes, there accumulates a great amount of waste—skins, cores and rot, which there is no time or inclination to care for and which falls under foot disregarded—a sour, germ-infected mess. Hundreds of thousands of barrels of this refuse made in a season would find riddance through the sewer, if sewers were available in canning localities. Tomato waste cannot be used to fatten swine, or as a food for hens, because neither will eat it. But, by the ingenuity of man, it can be and is fed to human beings, with the help of benzoate of soda.

It is scooped up in shovels from reeking floors, pulped, and put into old, second-hand barrels of doubtful origin, under conditions that would better be left to the imagination than described, and "preserved" against actual putridity with benzoate of soda. It is safe to say that no one would eat a benzoated article after seeing this material and its treatment. Tomato refuse is sold to the "interests" at about $1 per barrel, to be made into tomato catsup, soup, baked bean sauce, etc., which are eventually labelled as made of fresh, ripe tomatoes, "prepared with 1-10 of 1 per cent benzoate of soda." Other waste products of fruits, etc., undergo similar treatment and are put to similar uses in preserving. Such goods are extremely profitable, being sold to the trade at only a trifle less than goods made of the raw material.

Benzoate of soda does not "conceal inferiority," but it permits disguised inferiority and the grossest fraud. Contrary to much misleading published information, neither vinegar, salt, sugar nor spices will serve to take the place of benzoate of soda for the purpose for which it is used. With benzoate of soda present, commercial cupidity is further aided by the elimination of all need for factory sanitation and care in cooking, and as much water may be let in, to further cheapen a product, as suits the convenience of its makers. Bottles and containers need not be washed and sterilization becomes a useless expense.

This statement is verified by the United States department of agriculture (Bulletin 119, June, 1909), which says the bulk of tomato catchup is made of this material and in this way.

Those who wish to avoid the nauseating messes masquerading as pure foods under the present administration of our food laws should read all food labels carefully—including the fine print in which the humiliating presence of benzoate of soda is announced. There are plently of pure brands to buy.

BLIND PIG CAUSE OF YOUNG MAN'S DOWNFALL

Youth Ascribes Ruin to the Influence of Dens Where Drugged Liquor Was Sold.

Victoria, July 5.—Edward Leighton, a youth of eighteen, who, made mad for the nonce by indulgence in potations of fiery wood alcohol and tobacco juice in one of the many "blind pigs" that have proven the curse of Prince Rupert in its no-license days—stabbed Lillian Calvert, a young woman friend, yesterday reached the penitentiary at New Westminster, to which he has been sentenced for three years by His Honor Judge Young. The prisoner made a full and piteous confession, ascribing his action wholly to the influence of the vile stuff designated as liquor which had been sold to him by one Teddy Kruzner, proprietor of a soft drinks shop, who, like many others, has been taking advantage of human nature and the absence of licensed and regulated hotels in the G. T. P. city, to carry on a secret and illicit traffic incomparably more harmful to the community and more difficult to control in its relation to the breeding of crime in secret. This phase of the liquor traffic problem was very energetically and pertinently commented upon by Judge Young in passing sentence.

"I only regret," said his honor, "that there is not sufficient evidence now before me to convict this man Kruzner, for in my opinion a severe punishment ought to be imposed upon him. I realize that it is exceedingly difficult for the officers of the law to keep a strict watch upon these stealthy drinking places, and I hope that they will be even more active in doing so in the future. As for Kruzner, if he has any conscience at all it should be a punishment for him to reflect upon all the misery and suffering that his dealings have undoubtedly brought about."

The experience of the police at Prince Rupert during the no-license period preceding its incorporation as a city with self-governing powers, and its adoption, of the license principle as generally prevailing in this province, is not one that is likely to be cited by advocates of change in British Columbia's system of dealing with the liquor traffic. Despite the utmost activity of the police, "blind pigs" and "holes-in-the-wall" have sprung up and flourished until ferreted out by the law, these vile resorts, hidden away from the public view, dealing in alcoholic drugs and poisons of the vilest description, and subject to none of the official supervision and surveillance inevitable under the license system, have proven breeding places of disorder. According to Superintendent Hussey, the "blind pig" offers opportunities in crime and difficulties for the police which are happily uncommon in the extreme in British Columbia. In Prince Rupert alone no less a sum than $5,100 was recently collected in fines as the result of a special campaign against these underground boozing dens, to deal with which a special force of outside detectives had to be employed, sent north from this city. At least three crimes of serious character are directly traceable and these it is said would in every probability have never been possible under ordinary circumstances had the common license and regulation system of the province prevailed.

BRITISH SOCIETY TO FIGHT WHITE PLAGUE

National Association for Prevention of Consumption Begins Educational Campaign.

London, July 4.—The National association for the Prevention of Consumption is inaugurating a most important educational campaign against "The Great White Scourage."

So great has been the success of the Traveling Tuberculosis Exhibition that the council is convinced that the time is now ripe for the prosecution of a more vigorous and widespread educational campaign. With the object of raising funds for such a campaign, a special appeal committee has been appointed, over which the Earl of Derby will preside, and the Duke of Devonshire and William Waldorf Astor will act as joint treasurers.

The object of the committee is to raise an annual income of $25,000 for the purpose of promoting an educational campaign on the question of the cure and prevention of consumption. This campaign is to carried out by means of (1) traveling tuberculosis exhibitions, (2) caravans and lantern slides for small towns and villages, (3) popular lectures, (4) an information bureau for the press and public, (5) the distribution of literature.

The special appeal committee recognizes that the war against consumption depends for its ultimate success on the intelligent aid and cooperation of the classes of the community and will, therefore, seek to spread its efforts over every class. Appeal is being made for subscriptions of from one penny upwards.

HOSPITAL RUN FOR SICK DOGS AND CATS

Fine Clinic in the Basement—Second Floor Is Well Equipped Operating Room.

New York, July 5.—New York, as well as Paris, has a cemetery for its dogs and cats, though the gravestones are not as elaborate designs as the French, but plain $10 ones. There are two dog hospitals in this city.

One has a free clinic in the basement where any dog can receive attention. On the first floor is the private ward where in square boxes with wire fronts, the better class are made well. One coach dog had just had its leg set, and the white splint looked just the same as that used for a man when the place was visited.

The second floor is the operating room and the boarding place of the cats. Two tiger cats have boarded here for six years though they have had frequent visits to the country where they spend the summer. Their owner refuses to give them away and pays their board, but will not keep them at home. They look happy and contented in spite of their limited surroundings. The operating table is white and like any other. The doctor gets his training for the work in the school for veterinary surgeons, and then applies his general knowledge to the smaller animals.

RICH NOBLEMAN VISITS EDMONTON

Duke of Sutherland Deplores Edmonton Mud But is Delighted With City.

Edmonton, July 5.—Edmonton and Strathcona were honored on Dominion Day by a brief visit from His Grace the Duke of Sutherland, one of Britain's wealthiest peers, and probably the biggest land owner among the British nobility.

Travelling in the handsomely appointed private car "Lethbridge" built specially for the president of the Alberta Railway and Irrigation company and which has conveyed his grace across the continent from New York, the Duke of Sutherland reached Strathcona yesterday morning shortly after eight o'clock, his car being attached to the midnight train from Calgary. The Duke was accompanied by his secretary, Mr. Simpson. The visit of the Duke was of the briefest. He spent the morning driving about the twin cities, and left again for the south in the afternoon en route to Vancouver, where he has large interests.

It is almost certain that the Duke of Sutherland will buy land in Alberta, and possibly in the Edmonton district. If he buys, he will negotiate for a large tract. Although the Duke has given out nothing as to the object of his trip north to Edmonton, it is believed that he is preparing to purchase land, or acquire certain interests here, and this fact is strengthened by the fact that he was in conference this morning with one of Edmonton's prominent financial brokers, who acted as the host of the Duke in his drive about the cities and the surrounding country.

The Duke, nor those whom he confers with, say nothing as to their interests in any part of the west. To the newspapers, the only reason for his trip that the Duke has to give, is his periodical trip through Canada and over the Canadian Pacific Railway system. The duke already has large interests in several parts of the Dominion, and it is understood that he is preparing to acquire more.

Large C.P.R. Stockholder.

The Duke of Sutherland is one of the largest stockholders in the C.P.R. and has made periodical trips over the whole system. This is his first trip over the lines in seven years, and he finds marvellous improvements all over the system. At Calgary he inspected the C.P.R. irrigation work in the south country.

His grace is the first representative of real British nobility to visit Edmonton for some time. He comes of a long line of ancestrial noblemen that stretch away back to the days of the early Edwards. The Duke, although he has acquired a great part of his wealth through inheritance, has acquired immense interests since succeeding to the title of Sutherland, and these interests are scattered all over the world. He is one of the biggest landed proprietors in England, and owns immense estates in Scotland. Besides being a shareholder in the Canadian Pacific, he is interested in several lines of railways in the Old Country.

When a reported of the Journal stepped on board the car "Lethbridge" yesterday afternoon, just before the train for the south pulled out, his grace was reposing on one of the lounges in the library of the car. He rose as the reporter entered, and the newspaper man saw a dapper little man, clad in grey tweed, with clear cut, handsome features, iron grey beard, and an abundance of iron grey hair, that parted in one long sweep over the right side and a short sweep down the left side, lending a youthful appearance to the man, who is nearing sixty years of age, but who is active and alert as many a younger man. He is a type of the true British aristocrat.

The Duke had very little to say to the newspaperman. He is habitually a silent man as far as newspaper interviews go, and generally manages to avoid the reporters. During all his trip across the continent he has not granted a real interview to any of the newspapers. In fact, yesterday afternoon, after a few moments of conversation, his grace quietly slipped into his private car, giving the excuse that he was not feeling well and wished to rest.

The Duke had been immensely pleased with everything he has seen, save perhaps the condition of the roads about Edmonton and Strathcona. In his desire to see something of the district, he was bumped along several miles of the rough roads, and his opinion on the Edmonton mud was not given for publication. Perhaps, however, this was because the Duke is always reticent in talking to newspapermen, and may not be due to the fact that his opinion of the roads might not look very well in print.

Impressed With Crops.

What has impressed the Duke most in his visit to the twin cities is the wonderful progress that has been made. In spite of the impossibility of the roads, his grace managed to see considerable of the cities and the country around and expressed himself as delighted with the prosperity evident on every hand. He saw something of the growing crops, and here again he got a surprise, for he had not realized that in the north of the province such crops could be grown.

The Duke has not discussed politics on his present trip. Although he comes of a line of ancestors that have always been prominent in affairs of state, the Duke has taken very little active part in the present political crisis in England. He is an ardent follower of Joseph Chamberlain, the great Unionist, and the enemy of the Lloyd George budget.

CATCHUP MANUFACTURED FROM FILTHY REFUSE

But There Are Plenty of Pure Brands to Buy—Read the Label for Protection.

(From Pure Food Question and Canned Goods in Canadian Home Journal)

Tomatoes, says a high authority, are more extensively canned than all other vegetables put together—and all the canning is done in a period of six or eight weeks under high pressure. Tomatoes are also more extensively used in condiments, sauces, etc., than any other fruit or vegetable—the consumption of tomato catchup running into many millions of bottles annually. In canning tomatoes, there accumulates a great amount of waste—skins, cores and rot, which there is no time or inclination to care for and which falls under foot disregarded—a sour, germ-infected mess. Hundreds of thousands of barrels of this refuse made in a season would find riddance through the sewer, if sewers were available in canning localities. Tomato waste cannot be used to fatten swine, or as a food for hens, because neither will eat it. But, by the ingenuity of man, it can be and is fed to human beings, with the help of benzoate of soda.

It is scooped up in shovels from reeking floors, pulped, and put into old, second-hand barrels of doubtful origin, under conditions that would better be left to the imagination than described, and "preserved" against actual putridity with benzoate of soda. It is safe to say that no one would eat a benzoated article after seeing this material and its treatment. Tomato refuse is sold to the "interests" at about $1 per barrel, to be made into tomato catsup, soup, baked bean sauce, etc., which are eventually labelled as made of fresh, ripe tomatoes, "prepared with 1-10 of 1 per cent benzoate of soda." Other waste products of fruits, etc., undergo similar treatment and are put to similar uses in preserving. Such goods are extremely profitable, being sold to the trade at only a trifle less than goods made of the raw material.

Benzoate of soda does not "conceal inferiority," but it permits disguised inferiority and the grossest fraud. Contrary to much misleading published information, neither vinegar, salt, sugar nor spices will serve to take the place of benzoate of soda for the purpose for which it is used. With benzoate of soda present, commercial cupidity is further aided by the elimination of all need for factory sanitation and care in cooking, and as much water may be let in, to further cheapen a product, as suits the convenience of its makers. Bottles and containers need not be washed and sterilization becomes a useless expense.

This statement is verified by the United States department of agriculture (Bulletin 119, June, 1909), which says the bulk of tomato catchup is made of this material and in this way.

Those who wish to avoid the nauseating messes masquerading as pure foods under the present administration of our food laws should read all food labels carefully—including the fine print in which the humiliating presence of benzoate of soda is announced. There are plenty of pure brands to buy.

BLIND PIG CAUSE OF YOUNG MAN'S DOWNFALL

Youth Ascribes Ruin to the Influence of Dens Where Drugged Liquor Was Sold.

Victoria, July 5.—Edward Leighton, a youth of eighteen, who, made mad for the nonce by indulgence in potations of fiery wood alcohol and tobacco juice in one of the many "blind pigs" that have proven the curse of Prince Rupert in its no-license days—stabbed Lillian Calvert, a young woman friend, yesterday reached the penitentiary at New Westminster, to which he has been sentenced for three years by His Honor Judge Young. The prisoner made a full and piteous confession, ascribing his action wholly to the influence of the vile stuff designated as liquor which had been sold to him by one Teddy Kruzner, proprietor of a soft drinks shop, who, like many others, has been taking advantage of human nature and the absence of licensed and regulated hotels in the G. T. P. city, to carry on a secret and illicit traffic incomparably more harmful to the community and more difficult to control in its relation to the breeding of crime in secret. This phase of the liquor traffic problem was very energetically and pertinently commented upon by Judge Young in passing sentence.

"I only regret," said his honor, "that there is not sufficient evidence now before me to convict this man Kruzner, for in my opinion a severe punishment ought to be imposed upon him. I realize that it is exceedingly difficult for the officers of the law to keep a strict watch upon these stealthy drinking places, and I hope that they will be even more active in doing so in the future. As for Kruzner, if he has any conscience at all it should be a punishment for him to reflect upon all the misery and suffering that his dealings have undoubtedly brought about."

The experience of the police at Prince Rupert during the no-license period preceding its incorporation as a city with self-governing powers, and its adoption, of the license principle as generally prevailing in this province, is not one that is likely to be cited by advocates of change in British Columbia's system of dealing with the liquor traffic. Despite the utmost activity of the police, "blind pigs" and "holes-in-the-wall" have sprung up and flourished until ferreted out by the law, these vile resorts, hidden away from the public view, dealing in alcoholic drugs and poisons of the vilest description, and subject to none of the official supervision and surveillance inevitable under the license system, have proven breeding places of disorder. According to Superintendent Hussey, the "blind pig" offers opportunities in crime and difficulties for the police which are happily uncommon in the extreme in British Columbia. In Prince Rupert alone no less a sum than $5,100 was recently collected in fines as the result of a special campaign against these underground boozing dens, to deal with which a special force of outside detectives had to be employed, sent north from this city. At least three crimes of serious character are directly traceable and these it is said would in every probability have never been possible under ordinary circumstances had the common license and regulation system of the province prevailed.

BRITISH SOCIETY TO FIGHT WHITE PLAGUE

National Association for Prevention of Consumption Begins Educational Campaign.

London, July 4.—The National association for the Prevention of Consumption is inaugurating a most important educational campaign against "The Great White Scourage."

So great has been the success of the Traveling Tuberculosis Exhibition that the council is convinced that the time is now ripe for the prosecution of a more vigorous and widespread educational campaign. With the object of raising funds for such a campaign, a special appeal committee has been appointed, over which the Earl of Derby will preside, and the Duke of Devonshire and William Waldorf Astor will act as joint treasurers.

The object of the committee is to raise an annual income of $25,000 for the purpose of promoting an educational campaign on the question of the cure and prevention of consumption. This campaign is to carried out by means of (1) traveling tuberculosis exhibitions, (2) caravans and lantern slides for small towns and villages, (3) popular lectures, (4) an information bureau for the press and public, (5) the distribution of literature.

The special appeal committee recognizes that the war against consumption depends for its ultimate success on the intelligent aid and cooperation of the classes of the community and will, therefore, seek to spread its efforts over every class. Appeal is being made for subscriptions of from one penny upwards.

HOSPITAL RUN FOR SICK DOGS AND CATS

Fine Clinic in the Basement—Second Floor Is Well Equipped Operating Room.

New York, July 5.—New York, as well as Paris, has a cemetery for its dogs and cats, though the gravestones are not as elaborate designs as the French, but plain $10 ones. There are two dog hospitals in this city.

One has a free clinic in the basement where any dog can receive attention. On the first floor is the private ward where in square boxes with wire fronts, the better class are made well. One coach dog had just had its leg set, and the white splint looked just the same as that used for a man when the place was visited.

The second floor is the operating room and the boarding place of the cats. Two tiger cats have boarded here for six years though they have had frequent visits to the country where they spend the summer. Their owner refuses to give them away and pays their board, but will not keep them at home. They look happy and contented in spite of their limited surroundings. The operating table is white and like any other. The doctor gets his training for the work in the school for veterinary surgeons, and then applies his general knowledge to the smaller animals.

FINANCIAL FANS WILL FIGHT A FINISH FIXTURE

Bank of Montreal Clerks to Play Ball With Selected Bunch of Mixed Money Shufflers.

There will be developments at Queens park tonight, when a baseball team composed of the clerks in the Bank of Montreal will battle against a picked nine from the other banks in the city. The financial men have the ball fever and will forsake their ledgers and cages about five o'clock tonight to take possession of Queens park.

Both teams are confident of victory and some of the players can play. However, there are several on the lineup who, although they used to be able to throw from first to third without engaging a berth at the hospital in advance, will have to come back much farther than Jeffries didn't if they can do it tonight.

The Bank of Montreal will put Starr, the new Alert, in the box, and Fletcher has staked out a claim behind the batter. Peele, of the Royal bank, another Alert, will do the throwing for the United Banks, and Sperry, of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, will try to seize up his offerings. The umpire has not been chosen.

The teams:

Bank of Montreal—Fletcher, Starr, Cornwall, Gibson, Brown, Celery, Cotton, Ironside, Smith.

United Banks—Sperry (Cmmerce), Peele (Royal), Kydd (Commerce), Howe (Royal), Hawkshaw (Northern Crown), Mavins (Royal), Beatty (Commerce), W. Onmore (Toronto).
