WHALING COMPANY ACQUIRED BY C.N.R.

A. D. McRae and Col. Davidson Purchase Big Fishing Concern for Million Dollars

Victoria, Oct. 14.—The purchase of the entire holdings of the Pacific Whaling company by A. D. McRae and Colonel Davidson, representing the Canadian Northern railway, is understood from an authoritative source to have been practically completed to-day.

Negotiations for the transfer of these holdings were commenced some time ago, but there had been some delay owing to the absence of one of the principals in the transaction.

The final payment of the purchase price is to be made by December 1 of this year.

The consideration for the transfer is in the neighborhood of one million dollars.

WORLD'S CONFERENCE OF ALL CHURCHES

Cincinnati, Oct. 14.—Action taken by the house of deputies of the Protestant Episcopal convention may result in the calling of a great world's conference of all churches of the Christian faith at some time in the near future. The convention now awaits the report of those to whom the discussion of the project has been entrusted, and if the various committees report favorably it is likely that the entire committee will take steps to call such a conference.

The matter has been placed in the hands of a committee of seven clergymen and seven laymen, who will meet with a committee of seven bishops.

WOMAN DOCTOR KILLED.

Street Car Collides with Auto, Hurling Machine Fifty Feet.

Portland, Oct. 14.—Dr. Edna D. Timms, a well known physician of this city, was almost instantly killed in a collision here tonight between a street car and her automobile.

Dr. Timms' chauffeur was slightly hurt. The street car struck the rear end of the automobile as the machine was crossing Nineteenth street, at the intersection of Flanders.

The force of the impact was so great that the automobile was knocked about fifty feet. Dr. Timms' body was picked up a feet feet beyond the machine.

REFUSED TO DELIVER, THROWN FROM TRESTLE

Seattle, Oct. 14.—Because he refused to hand over his money and watch when called upon to do so by two masked highwaymen on a railway trestle near this city this morning, Joseph Morin, of O'Briens, sixty-five years of age, was thrown to the ground by the thugs. He fell a distance of twenty feet. When picked up he was unconscious and has remained in that condition since. The highwaymen escaped.

Domestic Trouble, Murder.

Everett, Oct. 14.—Ernest Wiseley, thirty-six years of age, shot and killed Mr. White, aged twenty-three, and fatally wounded Mrs. Pearl Layfield, White's sister, late this evening, afterwards making an abortive attempt to commit suicide. Domestic trouble is at the bottom of the tragedy. Mrs. Layfield's husband lives in Kalispell, Montana.

TAFT GOING TO PANAMA.

Believes Canal Problems Require His Presence.

Beverley, Mass., Oct. 14.—President Taft will sail for the Isthmus of Panama on November 10 from Charleston, S. C., on the cruiser North Carolina, accompanied by her sister ship, the Montana.

The president will be gone about twelve days. The North Carolina and Montana can make the journey in each direction in four days.

Mr. Taft has become convinced that the problems confronting the officials of Panama require his presence.

FUNDS FOR WESTERN CANADA CHURCH WORK

London, Oct. 14.—According to the Society of Propagation of the Gospel, $172,500 has been received in response to the appeal on behalf of church work in Western Canada.

Executioner Idle.

Buda Pesth, Oct. 14.—The public executioner here, Michael Bari, is complaining that he has not enough work. He has just addressed a letter of protest to the Hungarian parliament against the exaggerated humane tendencies of the day. These result, he says, in his being unemployed for the greater part of the year. He concludes by demanding either a regular salary or that there shall be fewer reprieves.

Russians Deported.

Sarnia, Oct. 14.—The twenty Russians imported to do longshore work here on steamers at Point Edward were deported under the supervision of immigration officers today.

ENGINEER FREEMAN INSPECTS FAMOUS DAM

Mayor and Aldermen Pay Visit to Coquitlam Lake with Dominion Technical Expert.

Mayor Lee, Aldermen Bryson and Gray and City Engineer J. W. Blackman paid a visit to Coquitlam lake yesterday, where they inspected the site of the proposed B. C. E. R. dam in company with J. R. Freeman, the Dominion government engineer who has just come from the east to make a thorough investigation at the lake.

The investigations of the party yesterday were somewhat spoiled by the continuous downpour of rain, but they managed to get an idea of the work done. Engineer Freeman did not complete his investigations yesterday and remained at the lake, but the city party returned to town.

Mr. Freeman, when he has completed his inquiries at the lake, will confer with Mr. Schuyler, of the B. C. E. R., with a view to submitting another report to the government.

Asked last night if he had seen any blue clay, Mayor Lee replied that he had seen lots of it; had slipped on a lot of it, in fact. He had seen lots of gravel too.

There are now two test pits being sunk at the dam. One has reached a depth of eighty-three feet and the other a depth of fifty feet. The nature of the report submitted by Engineer Freeman will depend a great deal on what kind of substratum is revealed by these test pits.

During the trip yesterday Mr. Freeman did not commit himself to any statement as to the nature of his report and the result of his investigations will not be known for some time. He will also give his opinion as to the effect the erection of the dam will have on the purity of the city's water supply.

Costa Is Freed.

Vancouver, Oct. 14.—Bernard Costa, charged with murder for killing a fellow countryman last May, while in the employ of the city in digging drains, was found not guilty this afternoon. A plea of self-defence was made. Costa was liberated.

SMUGGLING IS ALLEGED ON THE GREAT LAKES

Tramp Steamers Searched by Customs Officers—No Dutiable Goods Discovered.

Chicago, Oct. 14.—Search of tramp steamers and sailing vessels of the Great Lakes for alleged smuggled goods has been in vogue for several days, according to information which leaked out today. Three vessels have been stopped and searched by revenue cutters, and, although no incriminating evidence was obtained in these specific instances, customs officials declare they are about to put an end to what they say has grown to be a considerable illegitimate trade.

A steamer from Canada was stopped today by the revenue cutter Patrol, Lieutenant Leroy Reinberg commanding, and searched without success.

According to the Chicago customs officials, certain vessels not of the regular lines, having secured a clearance from some Canadian port, would secretly take on dutiable cargo en route, discharging it at any port to which it had been consigned.

OLD LOST MINE REDISCOVERED.

Worth Millions of Dollars and Was Lost for Years.

Bisbee, Ariz., Oct. 14.—Mexican officials at Cananea announced the rediscovery of the old Santa Fe-Teresa gold mine, one of the few really "lost" mines of the Southwest, which was known to have been worth millions of dollars, and which has been lost for many years. The main shaft is well preserved, but the timbers have been removed and the earth has moved in. The Mexican government is now making arrangements to take charge of the mine

SCOTLAND'S SONS TO VISIT NATIVE LAND

London, Oct. 14.—Charles A. Douglas, of Washington, is in Edinburgh making arrangements for a tour of representative Scotsmen, in the United States and Canada, through Scotland next summer. It is expected that the party will be made up of about two thousand persons from the United States and one thousand from Canada.

A letter of welcome has been sent by the lord provost of Glasgow to the "Internation committee of the Scots of America" who are making the arrangements. Edinburgh and Inverness also will be visited, and trips will be made through the Burns and Scot countries.

Inquest on Thursday.

Los Angeles, Oct. 14.—It was announced today that the inquest into the Times disaster will commence on Thursday.

AWFUL STORM SWEEPS THE ENGLISH COASTS

One Hundred and Fifty Lives Reported Lost in North and Irish Seas.

London, Oct. 14.—The greatest hurricane of a decade is today sweeping along the English and Irish coasts, strewing them with wreckage and the bodies of ships' crews. Reports already received indicate that 150 persons have perished in the gale, which raged throughout the night and gained in violence today.

Sixteen passengers and six members of the crew of the steamer Hatfield lost their lives when the vessel foundered in the North sea.

The steamer Crawford is missing. She was last sighted in the vicinity of Hartlepool. It is believed she went down, carrying with her twenty men.

More than twelve vessels are reported stranded on the eastern coast, with decks awash and crews clinging to riggings.

Great waves are sweeping inshore from Moray Firth, Scotland, to the Hull, and life-savers are unable to launch their boats.

Similar conditions prevail in the Irish sea and the Atlantic coast off the north coast of Ireland. Many large vessels are piled hard on the rocks of the precipitous coast and scores of fishing smacks are missing. Bodies are reported to have washed ashore at Malin Head and Garron Point.

That the loss of life and shipping was reduced to a minimum is due to the fact that weather forecasts were sent out predicting the storm. Many vessels remained in English harbors, but some put out in spite of the warning.

The admiralty today considered the advisability of sending warships to the scenes of reported wrecks in the hope that aid might be given before the stranded vessels were hammered to pieces by the big combers.

High tides are reported in the firths of Scotland and the bays of England and Ireland. Coast stations of the Royal Life Saving service report that the waves are driving inland past all previous marks for high tides.

Amsterdam, Oct. 14.—A great storm is reported to be sweeping the North sea in the direction of the Danish and Norwegian coasts. Storm signals have been set, but shipping masters here express great fear for the safety of vessels.

An unconfirmed report from East Friesian Islands is to the effect that a big German tramp steamer went ashore near Hollandt, and that the German garrison on the islands is endeavoring to rescue the crew.

UNIONISTS PLAN BIG FOOD BOYCOTT IN FRANCE

Labor Men Hope to Make Protest National—Success of Scheme Is Gravely Doubted.

Paris, Oct. 14.—The Labor Confederation, which is the supreme trade unionist body in France, is continuing an active agitation against the regime of dear food under which the masses of the people are suffering so severely.

The latest plan by which they hope to fight down the high prices is to organize a boycott. Manifestations are to be issued at once, urging the people to abstain from the use of certain commodities the prices of which, the manifestoes say, have risen through the manipulations of food trusts. Tables will also be given showing the extent of the extra burden placed by dear food on the shoulders of the workers.

It is intended that the boycott shall be a national movement. Sugar, meat and wine are to be boycotted because, say the labor leaders, the prices of these things have been raised by the "sharks of the Chamber of Commerce." People are urged to abstain from the use of sugar until the price is again normal. They are also to be urged to become vegetarians and teetotalers for the time being, in order to hit the butchers and wine sellers.

Nobody, however, takes this part of Labor party's scheme very seriously. It is looked upon as somewhat impracticable and to be simply an appeal to the love of the dramatic, so dear to the Gallic temperament, whether it concerns high politics or the buying of the prosaic potato.

There is no doubt, however, that the high prices have dealt a serious blow to the working classes, who are at no time able to do more than just make financial ends meet. To ask them to abstain still further from certain necessaries of life does not seem very feasible.

Moreover, before the boycott can be put into full operation it is quite probable that the cost of the articles concerned will have dropped to the normal.

GIGANTIC FRAUDS ARE UNEARTHED IN TACOMA

Prominent Men Arrested for Defrauding Gov't. of Land Worth $200,000,000.

Washington, Oct. 14.—Telegrams received today at the general land office announce the indictments at Tacoma, Wash., of seven men on the charge of attempting to defraud the government out of 25,000 acres of valuable coal lands near the Cunningham fields in Alaska.

The charges involve 154 entries in the English and Christopher groups.

Seattle, Oct. 14.—Charles F. Munday, George Simmonds and Cornelius Christopher, all prominent Seattle men, were arrested here late today on indictments returned by the Tacoma grand jury charging conspiracy to defraud the government on the Alaska coal cases.

They were taken before United States Commissioner W. D. Toten and were released under bonds of $2500 each.

Warrants have also been issued for the arrest of Algernon H. Stracey, an Englishman whose whereabouts are unknown, but who is believed to be in Alaska; Archie W. Shields and Earl S. Sigley. Sigley was private secretary to M. J. Henry, the contractor who was building the Copper River and Northwestern railway in Alaska for the Guggenheim company.

The accused men are charged with having conspired to defraud the government by fictitious entries in what are known as the Christopher group of seventy-four claims, and the English group of eighty-two claims.

Both groups are situated in the Bering river district, near the famous Cunningham claims.

It is charged that the conspirators contrived to defraud the government out of coal lands valued at $200,000,000.

WILL SINK MAINE IN DEEP WATER

Beverly, Mass., Oct. 14.—With the final approval of President Taft for plans for raising the battleship Maine, it is expected work on the sunken warship will soon be completed and the memorable hulk will be taken out to sea and given a deep water burial forever. It is not believed that the wreck will be placed on exhibition as one of the great national memorials.

The plans provide that the Maine shall be raised before February 15 next, the thirteenth anniversary of the destruction of the battleship in Havana harbor.

IMPERIAL FEDERATION IS NOW A PROBABILITY

Movement in English Politics Is Now Towards Devolution at Home—Now Practical Question.

London, Oct. 14.—The new movement in home politics towards a federated empire is attracting widespread attention in the press today. Llewellyn William, M. P., who next week accompanies Chancellor Lloyd George to the Welsh National Liberal council, where the chancellor is expected to make an important pronouncement, says: "Imperial unity in a magnificent federation of the most free and most progressive communities in the world is no longer a vague unrealty, but is fast becoming a practical question."

It is recognized, of course, the first step onwards must be devolution at home, which will bulk largely in the Liberal program in the future, and the road towards the greater ideal is rough and difficult, but, as Williams said: "Imperial federation is no longer in the position it occupied in the eighties."

"Tay Pay" Is Coming.

Regina, Oct. 14.—"Tay Pay" O'Connor addressed a big gathering here tonight, Premier Scott presiding. He goes from here to Calgary, then Edmonton. He will reach Vancouver about the 19th inst. At Victoria he will be the guest of Premier McBride, after which he will visit Seattle, Portland, Tacoma and Spokane, sailing for home on November 4 from Rimouski.

More Cholera Victims.

Rome, Oct. 14.—Twenty-four cases of cholera and eleven deaths during the last twenty-four hours have been officially reported. In Naples during the last twenty-four hours there have been eleven new cases and eight deaths.

Farmers Hold Crops.

Portland, Oct. 14.—That there has been no large demand as yet for cars to move the 1910 wheat crop in the Northwest is attributed to the fact that farmers have not begun to dispose of their crops, except in isolated cases, according to F. W. Robinson, general freight agent of the Southern Pacific and O. R. & N. lines today.

BACKBONE OF BIG STRIKE IS BELIEVED TO BE BROKEN

Reservists of French Army Called Out to Replace Striking Trainmen—Malcontents Are Wavering.

Paris, Oct. 14.—Appalled by the riots of yesterday and overawed by the determined stand and radical orders of Premier Briand, the rank and file of the strikers wavered today, and, desserting the "syndicate," returned to work on the trains in considerable numbers. A fifth of the regular trains on the Western railroad and a fourth of those on the Northern were operated and disorder was trivial. The backbone of what promised to be the gravest industrial clash in the history of France is believed to be broken. Wearing the sashes of the reservists, the men who yesterday fought in the streets against soldiers and police, today manned the trains. The most loyal of the strikers gathered along the Western lines, in the southern part of the city shortly after dawn, when the first trains were started. Spasmodic attempts at violence were made. Gradually the crowds diminished, and before noon trains were running practically unmolested.

Hundreds of strikers who have been thrown into jail probably will be released, but their leaders will be punished.

All day soldiers and police have been taking in the more prominent of the strike agitators. They will be tried on charges of inciting soldiers to persuade the reservists not to obey the orders to assemble, and with interfering with the employees of the state railroads. In each case the prescribed punishment is severe.

According to reports, traffic on all roads except the Northern and Western is normal. Premier Briand is endeavoring to bring about a peaceable settlement of the difficulties, and it is expected the remainder of the strikers will return to work within a short time. The strike leaders have been unsuccessful in their attempts to bring about a general strike of all unions of railroad employees, and their failure is the cause of much depression among the strikers.

BRUTALLY REALISTIC ACTING IN "THE CITY"

Curtain Rung Up Five Times at Close of Passionate Scene in Second Act of Clyde Fitch's Play.

"We certainly get all the hell that's coming to us in this life."

This is one of the last sentences spoken by Norman Hackett in his portrayal of the character of George Rand, jr., in "The City," Clyde Fitch's strong play which was produced at the opera house yesterday evening.

"The City" is not a pleasant play. It is a drama of intense realism. It brings out in bold relief the bad that is in a good man and the worst that is in a bad man and makes hideous truth stand out in her nakedness. It is a portrayal of life as it ought not to be, but is.

Westminster audiences as a rule are cold and unresponsive, particularly with dramatic productions. It is therefore a tribute to the acting of Norman Hackett and Geoffrey C. Stein that the curtain was rung up no less than five times at the close of the second act, in which acting brutally realistic startled the audience by its intensity.

Cast for the part of George Hannock, a victim of the morphine habit, Geoffrey Stein has one of the most difficult parts imaginable to interpret. Although he is not featured on the paper, he is in reality the big man in the company. The role which he has to sustain is passionate, hysterical and frenzied. To watch him pleading with his half-brother for the lethal weapon with which he has just killed his half-sister and wife "so that he may put himself to sleep" is to shudder. The climax when he rolls on the floor in a paroxysm of despair is the most intense piece of acting seen in the west for many a day.

The theme of the play is that the city will bring out the inherent qualities of men and women, good or bad. Clyde Fitch evidently believed that there is more dross than gold in the makeup of the human race and makes the evil in his characters predominate. One is a shrewd and scheming business man, another a dope fiend and another a drunkard. And the women are bad as women sometimes will be—in big cities.

There are four women in the cast, but they have merely secondary parts. It is a man's play from start to end. Gordon Van Vranken (M. Marjarino), the hopeless, helpless, drunken husband, occasionally provides an excuse for a smile during the play. For this he is deserving of thanks, for a laugh is a great relief during the progress of a play like "The City."

LOCAL MAN ENJOYS FINE TRIP ABROAD

J. B. Kennedy Talks Interestingly of Sights and Scenes in Old Lands.

"Canada seems to be the fashion over there," remarked J. B. Kennedy, of Sapperton, who has just returned from a six months' tour of England, Scotland and Western Europe. Everywhere he went the people were all talking about Canada and the possibilities there. He was told by the government agent at York and the one at Glasgow that their offices were crowded from morning till night by seekers after information concerning Canada.

These men not only seek for information, but they make use of it and thousands are coming to Canada. Mr. and Mrs. Kennedy intended to sail from Glasgow a month earlier than they did, but they could not get accommodation of any kind on any of the transatlantic boats. They had to wait a month for their boat.

Fine Exhibit at Brussels.

At the Brussels exhibition one of the greatest attractions, and undoubtedly the best exhibit, was that in the Canadian building. Mr. Kennedy stated that he was proud to be a Canadian when he saw the great display of Canada's natural resources there. The building was thronged with eager sightseers during the progress of the exhibition.

Mr. and Mrs. Kennedy left here in April, but they did not go direct to the old country, first visiting Mr. Kennedy's brother in Minneapolis and then spending some time in Ottawa. They left Montreal on the steamer Laurentic and had a good passage to Liverpool, where they only stayed a day before proceeding to London.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Kennedy had been in London before, but all the sights there were worth seeing again and so they stayed for some time. During part of their stay there they toured the city in company with George Cunningham, who was also on a tour to the old country.

Having been appointed by the board of trade as a delegate to the International congress of the boards of trade and chambers of commerce which met in London at the time of his visit, Mr. Kennedy attended one of the meetings there. The reason that he did not attend more was that all the proceedings, all the speeches and papers, were in the French language and he was rather at sea. He left London before W. Norman Bole arrived on the scene to take part in the congress.

Visited Famous Cathedral.

From London Mr. and Mrs. Kennedy went to Salisbury, where they visited the famous cathedral and then they went to Bournemouth, the great winter watering place of Southern England. They stayed there three weeks, taking side trips around the Isle of Wight and Portsmouth.

From there they went to the continent, taking in the Brussels exhibition and visiting the fields of Waterloo. Cologne, in Germany, was the next place visited and there they took a river steamer to Mayence on the Rhine. After a few days they went to Switzerland, staying for a week at Lucerne.

On visiting Paris, Mr. and Mrs. Kennedy were rather unfortunate in striking a time when the King of Belgium was a guest of the French nation. On account of his visit many of the places of great public interest were closed. They did not see the Louvre nor some of the other famous places.

Paris Is Bad Place.

"I was glad to get away from Paris," said Mr. Kennedy. "Life is too free for me there. Morals are at a low ebb."

Coming back to London via Boulogne and Folkestone, the tourists did not stay long in London, but took a trip up the east coast of England. They visited York, where they did not meet Moses B. Cotsworth. At York they attended a concert given by a musical organization which has been in existence for generations. It was one of the most pleasant of their ex-

New Campanile at Venice.

Rome, Oct. 14.—The new Campanile at Venice that is to replace the old one destroyed in 1902 is nearing completion, and it is hoped that for Christmas next year the bells of St. Mark will peal again from its top and their echoes will sound over the lagoons. So far the new tower has reached a height of 195 feet and the building of the bell turret which from the base to the cusp is seventy-two feet high, has just been started. The rebuilding of the Campanile began in 1904, since when a hundred men have worked for 1500 days and used 1,500,000 bricks.

Alberta Chief Justcie.

Ottawa, Oct. 14.—Hon. Horace Harvey, judge of the supreme court of Alberta, has been appointed chief justice of the province in succession to Premier Sifton. W. Simmons, of Lethbridge, will succeed Harvey as puisne judge.

FROM SIERRA LEONE TO CANADA WITHOUT ADDRESS

The National Drug & Chemical Co. of Canada Limited, have just received a letter from the west coast of Africa which reached its proper destination, although addressed in an extremely vague manner. The writer was evidently a native with an imperfect knowledge of English. The letter was written by a member of Second West India Regiment, and is as follows:

Sierra Leone, West Africa,
August 8, 1910.

Dear Sir—With congratulations, I address you these few lines. May it find you enjoying good time and health at present. Sir, I have received your letter. I notice the contents. Please send me one box of your Gin Pills, 2s-11. I want try it and if do me good, I will send back very early. While I am your truly same.

A. O. GREEN.
B Company, 2 W. I. R.

The envelope bears only the following inscription: National Drug & Co. of Canada Ltd., 27-29 Wellington St. West.

There is no town, city or country mentioned; yet this letter was sent from the postoffice in Sierra Leone to England, as shown by the London postmark, and forwarded to Plymouth, thence to Montreal, reaching this city on August 31, only twenty-one days after being written in West Africa.

This is an excellent example of the widespread reputation of the National Drug & Chemical Co. of Canada Limited, and of their excellent preparations which, it may be safely stated, are known in all parts of the world.

ENGLISH TRANSLATION OF KAISER'S SERMON

"The Truth as Expressed by Nature" Theme of Wilhelm's Exhortation.

London, Oct. 14.—The Berlin correspondent has forwarded to the London Daily Mail the following authorized English translation of a hitherto unpublished sermon by the Kaiser, delivered on board the imperial yacht Hohenzollern during one of His Majesty's recent annual cruises to the North Cape.

His Text.

Text—Psalm 104, vv. 1 and 2. Bless the Lord, O my soul. O, Lord, my God, Thou art very great; who converest Thyself with light as with a garment; who stretches out the heavens like a curtain.

Now we are once more upon our northern sea voyage—Sunday on the high seas, and does not our Lord speak plainly to us here? He has taken us apart from the people, far from our own, from our home, far from the multitude of those who go up to the house of the Lord. Still His hand is over all. "If I take the wings of the morning and flee to the uttermost parts of the sea, even there shall Thy hand lead me, and Thy right hand shall hold me." Thus is He in the midst of us, especially on this His holy day, in this sacred hour, at our good ship's service.

At home the church bells are ringing now and the organ is pealing. Here there is another ringing and another sound round about us. Yet it is only a ground tone that runs through the melody there as here, and says: "Come and let us worship and bow down, and let us fall upon our knees before the Lord our Maker." On the high seas we learn this more emphatically, and he who does not learn it here will never learn it at all.

The Silence of the Night.

This Sunday and this ship's service bring familiar truths to our remembrance with increased force and power. Here nature itself impresses this truth upon us:

The sun that shines upon me
Is my Lord Jesus Christ.

That sun never goes down. He is not only the midnight sun, but He shines brightly over us all, and in our hearts, even when it is cloudy and dark about us. Light is His garment, and we dare only, like Moses, to look upon His back parts, when in all His glory He passes by, but He draws us onward and upward to Himself. Thus we become partakers of His Glory. In the cool of the day, when the wind has gone down, in the silence of the night, when He spreads out the heaven as a curtain over us, studded with countless stars, then do our thoughts go out to our own home and reach upward to our eternal dwelling place; for the soul is naturally Christian. Then the passions are silent, and the troubles of the heart are allayed, and all is calm and still within us. Then there pulses through the soul a thrill of eternity—a presentiment:

How glorious that new world above,
Prepared of God and His great love.

Then do our souls reach out after that glorious liberty of the children of God which the Lord hath prepared even here on earth for all who believe in His name. When we permit ourselves to look back in spirit upon all the way by which the Lord our God hath led us, then even unconsciously we fold our hands again and again, and deeper and deeper do we enter into the blessed experience that can only express itself thus: "O, Lord my God, Thou art all glorious. Thou clothest Thyself with light as with a garment. Light is Thy way with us and with our people. Thy ways lead, even if some times through much darkness in our earthly pilgrimage, to eternal joy and blessed never-ending light. Therefore, bless the Lord, O my soul! Amen."

Let us, then, open our hearts and give good heed to this Book of Nature, which God hath set before us. Truly, they do not understand the mind of the Lord who would sever this Book of Nature from the Book of Books, the precious word of God. Nay, this book rather leads us thither. This is only the outer court that leads us into the holy place; only the hem of His garment, Who fills the whole temple. The same God, Who in our redemption has revealed His heart to us, has in His outward creation thrown His house wide open to us, His children; not that we should merely stand at the threshold, but that with joy we should draw near to the footstool of His throne of grace. The same Jesus, Who has proclaimed and brought the blessedness of the Kingdom of Heaven near us, has preached to us by the fowls of the air and by the lilies of the field. The same Paul Gerhardt, who sings to our inmost souls as none other has done; "O, Sacred Head, now wounded," and "Commit thou all thy ways," has enriched the word all that inimitable song of summer, found in all our hymn books, and which thus begins:

Go forth, my heart, and seek delight
In all the gifts of God's great might
These pleasant summer hours;
Look! how the plains for thee and me
Have decked themselves most fair to see.
All bright and sweet with flowers.

In this spirit will we also look abroad. Far from the noise and bustle of the great city, here in the stillness near to the great heart of God God and Nature, we will draw a deep breath that we may at the same time feel the mighty beating of his Father heart. Then only one note will resound in our souls: Praise the Lord, O my soul. O, Lord my God, Thou art very very great.

Just as this psalm has been called an echo of the first creative work of God, so also we are made to feel that in this land of wonders God's creative power comes before us in its primeval glory with the beauty and dew of youth. Unconsciously we fold our hands again and again, saying, O Lord my God, Thou are very great. When we look at the midnight sun we have a faint idea of the dawn of the first day of creation and the first creative word of the Lord, "Let there be light." Hence we understand the word of the psalm in a peculiarly vivid manner: "Thou clothest Thyself with light as with a garment." Then there rises in our hearts this song, first softly and low, then rising higher and higher, "Bless the Lord, O my soul."

Nature reveals God, but it conceals Him also. Nature is God's book, but only he can read aright therein whose eyes have been anointed by the Holy Spirit with power from on high; by that Spirit Who is the light beneath God's garment. Only he who hears God's heart beat, who beholds God with the eye of faith, sees that Son of God, Who hath said of Himself: "I am the light of the world. He that followeth Me shall not walk in darkness, but have the light of life."

THAT MASONIC ENQUIRY.

Montreal's Mayor Is Sued for $500 Damages.

Montreal, Oct. 1.—An interesting development has arisen out of the recent civic investigation into the connection of civic officials with the French Emancipation Masonic lodge. A claim of $500 against Mayor Guerin has been entered in the superior court by Germain Beaulieu. Claimant states that on July 20 the mayor was authorized by the city council of Montreal to hold an investigation into the accusation of C. H. Milette against the Emancipation lodge, so-called, and that, the investigation being held publicly, the defendant asked claimant, without justification, necessity or any legitimate excuses, questions of a nature to put the public under the impression that he was a Free Mason. He contends that many people were led to believe he was a Free Mason, notwithstanding that he never had any direct or indirect connection with Masonry.

Claimant further contends that the commission of investigation had no right to inquire into the business of people, not employed by the city, that defendant was aware of that, and that his questions were of such a nature as to hurt plaintiff in his honor and reputation.

ELECTRIC SIGNS MUST GO.

Montreal Board of Control Has Decided on Their Removal.

Montreal, Oct. 14.—The board of control has decided that the huge electric signs, which surmount many of the large buildings must be removed, and at a meeting this afternoon, the board passed a resolution instructing the legislation committee to draft a bylaw making such signs illegal. This action was decided upon in view of a number of the signs having been blown down during the recent big storms and their removal has been ordered because they are regarded as a menance to public safety.

LOCUST PLAGUE OUT IN MEXICO

A Former Montrealer Decribes Destruction Which is Wrought in South.

The following interesting description of a modern plague of locusts is contained in a letter written by W. G. Johnson, a former Montrealer now residing in Mexico, to friends in the east:

"Last week I went through a new experience. I had often read about a plague of locusts in the Bible. I can now speak of the distress and damage it must have caused, even in those early days.

"There had been rumors for some time that locusts had appeared about fifty miles from here, but we paid no attention to it. But one day while riding on my way to Tumbala I rode through a small cloud of them, only twenty miles from my place. Still we thought they would not come—at least we hoped not. But when we least expected them, without any warning they came in clouds. The air was full of them and it actually became quite dark for some time. There was great consternation among the Indians and Mexicans, as wherever the locust alighted they just ate everything green they touched.

"I sent about twenty-five of my men who are nearly all Indians, with tin pans, sticks and stones to run around and make all the noise they could to keep the locusts flying so as to save the corn in the fields, and, I assure you, it kept them busy for eight to ten hours. Some of the branches of the trees where they alighted simply broke off short from sheer weight. So you can form some idea of the number there was.

"The plague had now covered ten square miles or more, and everywhere it has done a great deal of damage.

"Some of the Indians who were away from home have lost all the corn which, to them, is the staff of life.

"The day before yesterday, I rode through a place called Punction, about twenty-two miles from here, where the locusts had laid their eggs, and already the grass was alive with the 'slatton' or young locusts, too small to fly, but not by any means too young to eat and do damage.

"The authorities have called on the people in some districts to turn out and fight the plague. I sincerely hope we have seen the last of them on this place."

JAPAN IS GROANING UNDER HEAVY DEBT

Burden Continues Steadily to Advance Despite Official Cries of Prosperity.

Tokio, Oct. 14.—By the contemptuous term "official frogs" the Nippon, one of the strongest of independent newspapers, does not scruple to connote those bankers and other public men who, in mellifluous tones, are never tired of insisting upon the gratifying condition of Japan.

It will be remember that toward the end of last year the financial depression increased to such an extent and reached so serious a point that Marquis Katsura had to seek the advice of the so-called "Eel society," an association of the leading bankers and business men in Tokio, in regard to the measures to be taken to effect improvement.

This coterie of genteel business men, however, declared that there was nothing in the financial situation which warranted its being regarded with pessimistic eyes, and they sang a paean in praise of the policy pursued by the Katsura cabinet. But their mouths, says the above organ, were carefully closed regarding the radical increase in the burden of taxation, which lies at the bottom of the misfortunes of Japan since the Russo-Japanese war, and they refrain entirely from touching upon this question. On the contrary, they declared that here were signs of increasing national power, and this way they sought to gratify the ministers.

In the face of this flattering insistence the fact remains, the Nippon declares, that the government issue of 4 per cent conversion bonds was virtually a failure. The conditions of the issue are so disadvantageous that it is impossible for the government to make them known without strong popular disapproval. Yet the government professes to be proud of the success of this undertaking, and publicists sing in chorus the marked financial success of the cabinet.

COST OF JAPAN'S WAR IS KEPT SECRET

Tokio, Oct. 14.—It is detrimental to the public interest to permit the Japanese people to understand the cost of war.

This at least, is the opinion of Japanese officialdom, as voiced in the explanation given as the reason for suspending a recent issue of one of Japan's foremost economic magazines.

A well known writer upon economic subjects had the temerity to publish statistics demonstrating the heavy burden placed upon the Japanese people by the Chino-Japanese and Russo-Japanese conflicts. This, in the eyes of Japan's dominant military party, was heresy—if not traitorous. Exercising its practically unlimited power of censorship, the Bureau of Police promptly confiscated and destroyed all copies of the magazine.

OUR CITY HOTELS.

Few are likely to object to the decision of the license commissioners that the hotels of this city must be cleansed and improved in such a way as to bring them up to first class character. The reputation of a city is likely to be seriously prejudiced if its hotel accommodation is not upon a scale to accommodate the probable number of visitors and not of a character to afford comfort to patrons. It is therefore of prime necessity that the hotels of this city should be cleanly and well ordered. If some of the allegations made at Thursday night's meeting of the commissioners are accurate, then there is evidently very serious need for reform.

But we consider it is due to the citizens to have more and better particulars of the places that are alleged to be not fit for use by visitors, or that are being run as "rooming houses with saloons attached." It is up to the commissioners to give substance to these allegations by informing the public which are the licensed houses in the city that are thus being carried on contrary to the spirit and wording of the statutes.

Local Man Enjoyed Fine Trip Abroad

periences while abroad and both Mr. and Mrs. Kennedy spoke in the highest terms of the wonderful music. Including the orchestra and all the singers, over 450 performers took part in the concert.

Fish Everywhere.

From York Mr. and Mrs. Kennedy went to Scotland, visiting Edinburgh, Perth and other cities. At Aberdeen Mr. Kennedy said that he saw more fish than he ever did in his life before. He thought before he came there that there could be seen more fish in New Westminster than in any other place, but there the docks were covered with all kinds of deep sea fish, the catch of two or three hundred steam trawlers. Every morning these fish are auctioned off to the dealers and the businesslike way in which this was done was one of the most interesting things that the tourists witnessed.

Saw Ancestral Home.

From Glasgow Mr. Kennedy drove out into the country to see his father's birthplace. There he saw his great grandfather's grave, the headstone still bearing a plain inscription telling the name and age of the sleeper beneath.

In Ayr Mr. Kennedy heard many stories and saw many relics of the old Kennedy clan. "Some of the things I heard did not make me particularly proud of my ancestry," remarked Mr. Kennedy. At Cassillis castle, the old stronghold of the clan, they saw a tree which tradition said to be six centuries old. It was called the Dule tree and on it evil doers of old used to be hanged in plain sight from the castle windows.

Through that section of the country, which was the home of Robert Burns, they saw many places of historic interest to admirers of the great poet.

Mr. and Mrs. Kennedy left Glasgow about two weeks ago and had a pleasant trip home.

No Record in Chicago.

Chicago, Oct. 14.—The Chicago police today declared that they have not been advised by the San Francisco or Los Angeles authorities that "J. B. Bryce" and "F. A. Berry" are wanted in connection with the Times dynamiting outrage. The names are not included in the local records and Chief of Detectives O'Brien asserted that no descriptions of suspects had been received here.

MARKET REPORT

In spite of the wet weather yesterday the weekly market was fairly well attended and there was some good business done. The supplies in most lines were short and nearly all varieties of produce were sold out early in the day.

A feature of the market was the auction sale of cattle which was held in the morning. There were many fine cattle; some of them brought here from the east for exhibition purposes, sold to farmers in the district and they all brought good prices. It was not generally known that the sale was to be held or there would probably have been a better attendance, for the cattle disposed of were really first class stock.

The fluctuations in the price of eggs was another noteworthy feature of the market. They opened at two cents above the quotations for last week, but the demand even at that seemed to be greater than the supply and at the close they sold wholesale at 50 cents a dozen, an advance of five cents over the prices last week. The retail price went up in proportion to the other.

Of beef there was the poorest supply that has been seen in the market for some time and it did not last long in spite of the wet morning. Lamb and mutton were there in fair quantities and there was a good demand for them. Veal and pork were well represented, but it all sold out during the course of the day.

There was a good demand for all classes of poultry and the supply was almost equal.

There was a large supply of apples. The demand for apples seems to be improving as the season advances and better apples are being brought in, and yesterday it was difficult to find a good box on account of the keen competition which began almost as soon as the market opened.

There was a fine display of vegetables and cut flowers.

FENIAN PLOT TO ABDUCT LATE KING

London, Oct. 14.—In a book just published in Dublin, the story is told of a Fenian plot to abduct King Edward when he was Prince of Wales.

The author is John Denvir, who was one of the leading members of the Fenian brotherhood in England. Among Denvir's associates was Capt. John McCafferty, one of the Irish-American officers who had crossed the Atlantic to take part in a projected rebellion. To Denvir he outlined his amazing scheme.

It was no less, the author writes, than the abduction of the then Prince of Wales, afterward King Edward VII., and holding him as a hostage for the purpose of the Fenian organization. The plan was to take him to sea in a sailing vessel and keep him there until the Fenian prisoners, still at that time unreleased, were set at liberty.

The prince was to be treated with the utmost consideration. The affair was not without its humorous side. McCafferty had a memorandum to spare no pains to find what were the favorite amusements of the prince, so that he might have a thoroughly good time on board.

The project never got further than the idea. Mc Cafferty soon afterward returned to America, where he died.

WATCH REPAIRS

Probably that watch of yours is not giving you proper satisfaction. You have had it in the repair shop, but, while it is running, will not run accurately. The reason for dissatisfaction is that the man who did the repairs is either incapable or doing good work or is not conscientious in his work, or, in all probability, he is gifted with both of the faults mentioned.

We have been fortunate in securing the services of a first class watchman who has taken charge of our watch repair work. A man who will tell you the truth in regard to the condition of your watch, and will repair it properly, and, as a consequence, it will not only run, but keep accurate time.

YOUTH VANQUISHES AGE AT FAST GAME OF BOWLS

Colts with Start of 150 Pins Send Old Timers to the Cleaners in Proper Manner.

At the Front street bowling alleys last night the Colts, a team composed of youthful pin smashers, made the regular bowling team look like a square inch of hoar frost at 12 o'clock noon in the Sahara desert. The Old-Timers gave the Colts 150 pins to start on, but 56 would have been sufficient for that was all that the regulars could gain on their handicap. Nobody disjointed any records, 176 pins made by O'Connor, captain of the Colts, being the highest score of the evening.

SOLMAN TROPHY IS SIX FEET IN HEIGHT

The Solman Lacrosse trophy, the new National Lacrosse Union championship cup, is the latest incentive to lacrosse supremacy and destined to become as famous as the Minto Cup. It is the gift of President Lol. Solman of the National Lacrosse union and becomes a part of the collection of the National Lacrosse club in Montreal until next year.

smith's art. It stands six feet high, a smith art. It stands six feet high, a graceful bowl mounted upon a triangle column and the whole surmounting a mahonany pedestal of decidedly exceptional design. The cup is a Canadian product throughout. The column is made af an exquisite block of onyx beautifully mottled and delicately veined. The corners are mounted with silver in conventions which harmonize entirely with the Canadian aspect followed out by the three bronze Aborigines mounted on the first ledge with the beavers, maple wreath and Dominion coat of arms below them.

The name of the cup, "Solman Lacrosse Trophy," in blue enamel, together with the bronzes of the Indian figures, Fleur de Lis and portrait of the donor against the varied coloring of the marble and the mahogany of the pedestal, gives the trophy a most beautiful and yet soft and dignified appearance.

Upon the base are mounted two lacrosse figures, every muscle true to life, and upon the front of the column itself the lacrosse insignia again appears. The pedestal will carry the names of the future winners on small silver shields.

This trophy is undoubtedly the finest ever presented in Canada for competition and is to be awarded annually to the winning team and is not to become the premanent property of any one club.

A guarantee bond of $2000 will be required from the winning club.

The trustees of the cup are: William Foran, Ottawa; Alderman Thomas McConnell, Montreal; F. W. Thompson, Toronto.

FOOTBALL.

Rovers Going to Westham Island This Afternoon.

The Rovers go to Westham Island this afternoon to play their second league match of the season. The players are requested to be at the Eighth street wharf at one o'clock sharp. So far this season the Rovers have won one game and lost one. The one win was taken from Westham Island by default while the loss was suffered at the hands of the Celtics when the Rovers did not have a full team.

It is yet to be seen this season how the Rovers are going to shape up in the league and today's game ought to provide some good data to go o n.

Dave Leith will referee the game today.

The following team will represent New Westminster: Goal, Sampher; backs, Lyons and Kirby; halves, Craig, Bruce, Borland; forwards, Hayes, Taylor, McAllister, Shawcross, Cadyzien; reserve, Ferguson.

TOMMY BURNS ORDERED TO PREPARE FOR LANGFORD

Portland, Oct. 13.—Tommy Burns, former champion heavyweight, yesterday received a cablegram from Promoter Hugh McIntosh in London, to prepare to fight Sam Langford within five months. It is to be a twenty round go. Burns said that he will be ready to take on the Ethiopian in that time. He said that McIntosh holds both his contract and that of Langford also. He declined to state the sum which he will receive for the meeting with Langford.

"I'll be ready alright by March or April," said Burns, who is here playing a theatrical engagement. "My leg, which was hurt while playing lacrosse in British Columbia recently, is rapidly mending. Otherwise I am in pretty fit condition today, and with a bit of exercise will be ready when the gong sounds.

BOWLING

The newspaper men of the city, as a means of getting a little practice before they tackle the bankers, have arranged for an individual tournament, the games to be pulled off not later than Thursday of next week. As soon as can be arranged the game with the bankers will be played. The following is the result of the draw for the first round of the individual tournament:

McKay vs. Best; Wade vs. Levy; Sutherland vs. Turner; Fraser vs. Lane.

It is expected that some sudden things will happen when the news men get going in right shape. Some of them have never bowled before, but that is a secret. They all can bowl and some of them can swear.

There will be a meeting of the Westminster Bowling club tonight at the close of the bowling for the purpose of electing officers and other business.

Rugby Game This Afternoon.

The first rugby game of the season will be played at Queens park this afternoon, when the Columbian college team will play the Vancouver high school an exhibition match. The collegians have a number of new players on the line up for this year and expect to show splendid form throughout the season. The players for today's game will be: W. Myers (captain), Draney, Priest, McArthur, Ferguson, Jewett, Stuart, Holmes, Brown, Whittaker, Armstrong, Morrison, Fakeley, Hoult and Mowat. The game is called for 2:30 sharp.

WEBB'S RECORD.

Was It Due to Luck or Some Unknown Art?

In these days of record-breaking one realizes more and more the greatness of the late Captain Webb's feat in swimming the channel.

Swimmer after swimmer, in attempting to break Webb's record, has failed to discover Webb's secret. It cannot have been purely a matter of physique; there are men who are more powerful swimmers than he was. His success lay in the fact that he was well served by the tides. What we do not know is whether this was the result of peculiar knowledge and calculated deduction, or the result of a stroke of wonderful good luck. The circumstances, too, of the swim give one to think Webb's preparations were of the simplest sort compared with the elaborate and almost luxurious conditions in which the Channel swim of today is approached. What it comes to is that Capt. Matthew Webb has established not only a unique record, but one that is "sporting" in the very best sense, and it was fitting that the memorial bust erected at Dover to his memory should have been unveiled at a recent ceremony by Lord Desborough, himself a daring swimmer, who is of the Webb traditions. The memorial has been received into the keeping of Dover by the Mayor of the town, which is accustomed to the landing af aviators from Calais, but which has never seen a successful Channel swimmer other than the late Captain Webb.—London Globe.

PASTOR A SPORT, RESIGNS.

Because Congregation Criticizes His Presence at Fight.

Pittsburg, Pa., Oct. 14.—An estrangement between pastor and congregation has come as the result of the Rev. D. A. Greene, of the Manchester Presbyterian church attending a prize boxing bout as the guest of A. C. Gumbert, former sheriff.

The preacher was recognized as he entered the hall, and took a seat within a few feet of the prize ring. On all sides were gamblers, pugilists and sports, yelling and creating an uproar. Dr. Greene left the hall as quietly as he entered, after seeing four six-round bouts.

A few days later the story of his visit to the prizefight became known. His congregation was astounded. Talk led to more talk and, as a result, the pastor presented his resignation, which was accepted.

Americans Win.

New York, Oct. 14.—Victory perched on the banners of the New York Americans today when they passed the Nationals in the last two innings of a well played contest and won the second game of the post-season baseball series, 5 to 4.

Victoria Woman Wins.

Tacoma, Oct. 14.—Miss Combe, of Victoria, today won the Pacific Northwest women's golf championship by defeating Mrs. Everett G. Briggs, of Tacoma, six up and five to play. Miss Combe played much the better golf and won without trouble.

DIRECT ROUTE FROM U. S. TO NORWAY

Christiana, Oct. 14.—The Norwegian-American Steamship Line was established here recently with a capital of 10,000,000 kroner ($2,800,000). The directors of the new line were authorized to purchase for 4,750,000 kroner ($1,330,000) the steamship Kaiser Friedrich of Hamburg, which will be renamed the Leif Erikson.

Engebreth H. Hobe, the Norwegian consul at St. Paul, Minn., was elected one of the directors and six other persons from America are on the board of advisors.

The scheme for a direct steamship line between Norway and the United States has been under advisement for a long time. The creation of the new combination may be taken as an indication of an unusual increase of emigration from Scandinavia to the United States.

WORLD CORPORATION TREMENDOUS PROJECT

Boston Promoters Have Vivid Dream of $100,000,000,000 Corporation.

Such puny organizations as the United States Steel Corporation, with its capitalization of $1,000,000,000; the Pennsylvania railroad, the largest transportation company in the world, and the ubiquitous Standard Oil trust will be completely snuffed out by the World corporation, provided the objects of the modest promoters be carried out.

This new corporation, which is still very much in embryo, means to take over, as the name suggests, the business of the entire world.

It is already talking of absorbing "upwards of $100,000,000,000' of "approved listed dividend paying securities in all civilized countryies."

In such an organization J. P. Morgan would probably count himself fortunate if he could attain the rank of senior office boy, while others of our known financiers would probably prove too small to gain access to the payroll.

It is eminently fitting that the home of the new enterprise is The Hub of the Universe, Boston. Obviously, the very centre of the globe is the logical spot from which to control the affairs of mankind.

Where Do Kings Come In?

Nothing mean will taint the management of the World corporation—it will have a soul above that.

Everybody is to be presented with shares, apparently free of charge, an arrangement worthy of the millennium the advent of such a corporation would herald. What will be done with kings, emperors and other rulers has not yet been learned, but obviously it will be—would be, rather—within the power of this corporation to make and unmake sovereigns, to break up or build up nations, to elect legislatures and perform other duties now indifferently attended to by peoples not enjoying the advantages of centralization. The scheme is Rooseveltian in its aims and ambitions.

A Few Objects.

But let the promoters speak for themselves:

"———, a Boston millionaire, has incorporated and is president of a remarkable company, called the World corporation, the object of which is to absorb and control all of the dividend-paying securities of the entire world, including practically all water and land transportation systems and the leading manufacturing industries.

"Probably the most remarkable feature of the World corporation is that as soon as practicable after the company has gained possession of all the world's industrial machinery, it is the intention to redeem all of the company's stock at par and turn the assets of the company over to the peoples of the world as actual owners in equal shares. The main eastern offices of the company are at ——— street, Boston.

The charter of the World corporation, filed in the office of ———, Territory of Arizona, is probably the most remarkable ever granted in the United States, granting even greater scope and powers than the famous Thomas Lawson Bay State Gas company charter. It authorizes a company with capital stock limited only by the number of dollars actually paid into its treasury for shares at $1 each par value in quantities from one to one million shares; permits the company to engage in any and all kinds of industrial enterprises in any and all parts of the world; to own and vote shares of other corporations or to purchase its own stock; to keep its books and account secret if desired; to incur an indebtedness equal to two-thirds of its capital stock, and exempts its stockholders from responsibility for corporate debts."

RAID BROKER'S OFFICE.

Authorities Charge Use of United States Mails to Defraud.

Boston, Oct. 14.—Federal authorities visited the office of the Redeemable Investment company, at 85 Devonshire street late yesterday, and came away with Manager C. H. Brooks, the books of the company and several thousand dollars in cash, taken under a warrant charging the company with the use of the mails in a scheme to defraud.

Mr. Brooks, according to the federal officials, was arrested in St. Louis six years ago and tried and convicted in connection with the land frauds of the Rialto, and sentenced to eighteen months in jail, but was pardoned by President Roosevelt on the ground that he had furnished valuable evidence for the government in the trial of Senator Burton.

Officers are today hunting for Rev. Norman Plass, president of the company, who is said to be on Vancouver Island, B.C., locating land. Rev. Mr. Plass was president of Washburn college, of Topeka, Kansas, for several years.

OLDEST NEWSPAPER HAS CHANGED HANDS

London, Oct. 14.—"Old Subscriber" has plenty to think over these days. There is to be a jolt in the career of the London Gazette, England's oldest newspaper, which, established 243 years ago, now is nearing its thirty thousandth number. For more than 130 years the Gazette has been printed and published by Messrs. Harrison of St. Martin's Lane, but the government recently put up the contract for public bids and the prize has been taken by the firm of Wyman & Co.

The paper was started by the court when it fled to Oxford to escape the great plague in the reign of Charles II. It then was called the Oxford Gazette. On the return of the court to London the name was changed to that which the paper has borne ever since.

Copies of the paper are in possession of the Harrison family bearing the name of the great great grandfather of the present manager, Thomas Harrison, the issues being dated as far back as 1780. The paper prints all the official announcements and advertisements under acts of parliament. It also especially announces all state events.

Years ago, before the war office and admiralty and other government bureaus gave out news direct to newspapers as is done today, it held all other news publications at its mercy, for it printed exclusively all such reports. In those days it was the first to publish war news and to obtain information on such events. It has yielded an ample profit annually to the governmental treasury.

CHOKED ON A JOKE.

Wife's Merry Retort Nearly Causes a Man to Lose His Life.

Logansport, Ind., Oct. 14.—Mrs. Charles Miller, of 1800 Broadway, never had a reputation as a joker, but at dinner she made a clever retort which caused her husband to laugh and nearly choke to death.

He was eating a peach and in laughing he opened his mouth so wide that the peach stone slipped down his throat. The stone lodged at the opening of the windpipe and Miller choked. The prompt arrival of a physician is all that saved his life.

WANT SALE OF BAD EGGS PROHIBITED

Toronto, Oct. 1[illegible].—The produce section of the board of trade has sent a petition to the Hon. Sydney Fisher, minister of agriculture, asking his assistance in procuring the necessary legislation to have the sale of rotten or decayed eggs prohibited.

"We would be pleased to have an opportunity to meet you in conjunction with the members of the Montreal board of trade, and explain our views on this question," says the petition.

The secretary, Mr. Madden, has obtained information from various parts of the province in support of the grievance.

In the presentation of their case to Mr. Fisher the Toronto wholesale men will also be supported by the Montreal board of trade, with which Mr. Madden has been co-operating and by Professor Elford, of MacDonald college, Montreal, and by Professor Graham, of Guelph, both of whom have been active in promoting the cause of purer food production on the farms of this province.

PEERS PURCHASING LAND IN CANADA

Western Tracts Are Being Acquired by Titled Men, Says Lord Harrowby.

Toronto, Oct. 14.—Quite a number of British peers are purchasing tracts of land in Canada, and others are considering the advisability of following their example. Such was the statement made by the Earl of Harrowby, who, with Lady Harrowby and his daughter, Lady Frances Ryder, arrived in Toronto yesterday, and registered at the Queen's hotel. "Whether they are buying for residential purposes or not I don't know," said Lord Harrowby. Lord Harrowby said he himself was contemplating the purchase of land in Western Canada.

This movement on the part of members of the house of lords is a result of the new land taxation system established in Britain by the present Liberal government. Many large landed proprietors, Lord Harrowby said, were cutting up their bigger farms, and many, like the Duke of Bedford, were selling large portions of their estates. In many cases where such sales had been made the new proprietors of the land had immediately increased the rents to be paid by the tenants.

German Scare Justified.

Lord Harrowby was convinced that the so-called German scare was not without justification, in view of the type of battleships which Germany was building. "If there was a German invasion, what would happen to us?" he asked. "Our land might be taken from us or taxed heavily to pay a war indemnity." In the struggle over the Lloyd-George budget, the lords had simply delayed hasty legislation. Lord Harrowby said that the peers, many of whom slaved for their country without advantage to themselves, really desired to improve the Upper Chamber. He did not think, however, that any agreement on the subject would come from the conference of leaders, which will soon be resumed. "Eliminate the hereditary principle, if you like," said Lord Harrowby, "although I do not think this would be a wise course."

Lord Harrowby is making a tour around the world by the British possessions and will travel westward. On his journey he is interesting himself in the possibilities of co-operaton in agriculture for the benefit of several English societies. He will visit the Ontario Agricultural college at Guelph today, while his wife and daughter go to Niagara Falls. He was much pleased with Toronto, which, he said, was a garden city such as many people in England were endeavoring to found. This movement in England was, however, for the benefit of artisans who lived in congested sections of great cities, which was supplemented by the government, and invested in building a model town, with parks, recreation hall and schools. Small homes were then rented at from six to eight shillings a week.

Lord Harrowby is a member of the Stafford County Council, and a silent partner in the Coutts and company's bank. He formerly held a commission in the Staffordshire Yeomanry, and before succeeding to the earldom of Harrowby represented Gravesend in the imperial house of commons.

MANUEL'S SWEETHEART.

She Tells of the Joy They Found in Each Other's Society.

Vienna, Oct. 15.—Portugal's "uncrowned queen," Mlle. Gaby Deslys, whose twinkling toes brought Manuel to his knees, and is said by some to have cost the boy ruler his fortune and his throne, today gloried in her friendship for the youthful ex-monarch.

Mlle. Deslys, who set Paris by the ears, and created a furore in London, is appearing at the Apollo Theatre here.

"Recently, in Paris, the Variete theatre offered me a high salary to appear, billed as Manuel's mistress," she declared. "I refused indignantly.

"I first met the king fifteen months ago in Paris, where I was dancing. He was brought behind the scenes and introduced to me after the performance. It was love at first sight.

"After that first meeting, we met frequently. He came repeatedly to Paris to visit me. We were always happy together in those days.

"In February of this year, his highness summoned me to Lisbon, and at his request I danced at the great charity fair of the king organized for the relief of the victims of the Oporto fire.

"I did not live in a suite in the royal palce. I stayed in a suite in a hotel near the palace, but the king paid me marked attentions and was in my company during nearly all the time I was in his capital. He even presented me to his royal mother.

"I last saw the king in August in Paris. I had a long letter from him, but a few days ago, wherein he wrote of his great joy over the prospect of seeing me again in Paris at the end of October. The king was a nice young man, proud as the proudest, and with a kind heart.

"When it was reported that he meant to marry me one Paris paper rightly said: 'Deslys will not abandon the great kingdom of the stage for the small kingdom of Portugal.'"

WENT BACK TO PRISON.

Wisconsin Woman Declines Parole After a Trial of it.

Madison, Wis., Oct. 14.—Bidding good-bye to freedom forever Mrs. Theresa Steinhauser has, of her own volition, returned to the Wisconsin penitentiary. On January 24 last, Mrs. Steinhauser, who had served twenty years of a life term in the penitentiary for the murder of her husband in Jefferson county, was paroled a few weeks ago. She petitioned to the board of control that the parole be revoked. So insistent was her appeal that, though the choice of the woman is the cause of great grief to her relatives the board finally reluctantly granted her request.

ASSIMILATION OF THE ENGLISH JEW

London, Oct. 14.—The "Daily Telegraph" says:

"It is interesting to note how rapid and complete is the assimilation of many English Jews. There is so little in these days to distinguish them from their fellow-citizens. In their occupations, in their amusements, in their aims, and in their homes they have completely identified themselves with the land of their adoption. Public schools and university life has done much; civil and political freedom has done more; complete religious toleration has done most.

"In certain localities, those wherein Jews fleeing from persecution congregate, there are still the old world customs of an Oriental people, but, generally speaking, there is little in the life of the English Jew to distinguish him from his fellow of other creeds. Perhaps this is never more apparent than at the holiday season of the year. Many still adopt the old form of summer rest—languidly passing vacation days on the parades of well-known seaside resorts; but there are larger numbers every year who take their recreation in the form of golf, fishing, yachting, motoring and shooting. Up and down the country, estates are rented for the summer months, where all the pleasures of country life are indulged in, where large parties congregate to participate in those forms of amusement known all over the world as characteristically English."

PASSION PLAY RECEIPTS WERE BIG

Berlin, Oct. 14.—The Passion Play at Oberammergau, which has finished the greatest season in its history, has produced roundly $437,500 revenue from the sale of seats alone.

These receipts represent about 150,000 visitors, by far the largest percentage of whom were from the United States. The English and French came next. Germans were conspicuously in the minority. They do not take the Oberammergauers seriously, and say that that the Passion Play is a money-making enterprise principally supported by transatlantic globe-trotters. The latter portion of their allegation is irrefutably true. Without American patronage this year's production would have been a failure financially.

All profits from the sale of seats remains in Oberammergau or the immediate vicinity. Only a pittance is divided among the players themselves. Anton Lang, for instance, received something like $2500 for six months' work. The rest is devoted to communal purposes of an educational, philanthropic and religious character. The management announces that the play will positively be reproduced in 1920.

The thoughts of Herr Lang and his wife are largely concentrated on their trip to the Holy Land next spring. Their chief concern is the fear that they will be indecorously lionized. They wish to make their pilgrimage as unobstrusively as possible.

DECLARES WAR ON WOMEN GOSSIPS

Burgomaster of a German Town to Put Check on Garrulousness.

Berlin, Oct. 14.—The thriving town of Hattersheim, in Hesse, has declared war on women gossips. Scandal-mongering women have played such havoc with the connubial bliss of the community that the burgomaster has resorted to the drastic extreme of issuing a municipal proclamation designed to check the garrulousness of the feminine population. The following is the text of his homily to the evils of gossip:

"Prosecutions for libel and slander have recently attained widespread dimensions in a certain section of our community. The consequences are bitter enmities and heavy financial sacrifices in the shape of litigation costs. The cause is usually the same. While the men folk are hard at work the women fritter away their time in gossiping and quarrelling. The training of the children is neglected and the household suffers from their lack of care.

"When the bread-winner comes home at night the day's events are untruthfully related to him. Then he must betake himself as the protector of his angry wife to the police, to a solicitor or to an arbitration court. Such is the family life of many who seek vainly for true domestic happiness. All teachings that woman should busy herself at her own fireside, drive scandal-mongers out of her house, and provide a comfortable home for her husband and children are lost on such persons.

"This is to make known that poor relief will henceforth be given only in exceptional cases to people who involve themselves in scandal prosecutions. The police have also been instructed to compile a list of these persons and warn landlords and tenants against them."

PLAN TO REMODEL BUCKINGHAM PALACE

Old Time Methods to Be Done Away With While King Is Away on Hunting Trip.

London, Oct. 14.—While the king is away shooting grouse around Balmoral, workmen have been busy on his London home now that that the queen mother has vacated Buckingham palace, and one of the meanest looking places in all London just now undoubtedly is the fore court of the palace. In the case of an ordinary house it would be called the back yard, the real front of the palace being around on the garden side, hidden from public view by the high walls that surround it.

Before taking the rooms in hand, workmen are now busy on the water supply which has always been a source of trouble, and a more untidy, dirtier drearier looking place it would be hard to find. The court is filled with men in clayey corduroys, digging into the water pipes, piling around them mounds of earth and clay.

Sometimes you will see a sort of housekeeper in rusty black come down the steps and watch the workmen with an expression of discreet disapproval. The policemen joke and chatter as they never do when they know that the next carriage may carry a king. There is a fine suggestion of a holiday, too, in the way the sentries bring their heels down on the pavements. No doubt they felt it hard that such fine fellows as they should be asked to guard a gang of navvies.

King George during his stay at Balmoral, is dispensing, so it is reported, with some of the old-fashioned methods which have outgrown their usefulness. Instead of the old plan of sending frequent messengers over the long and costly journey between London and Balmoral, his majesty is content to rely on the postoffice for the prompt and regular transmission of the frequent communication between the metropolis and the court in Scotland. Twice in every day the post-office collects all letters and parcels and forwards them by the ordinary channels, thus saving delay as well as the cost of constant relays of special messengers.

FACING STARVATION.

A Fish Famine Threatens the People of Kamchatka.

Complaints have reached St Petersburg from Kamchatka that the population of that peninsula is threatened with famine this winter owing to the scarcity of fish, which is the staple diet of 8000 Kamchatkans and their 14,000 sledge dogs. The report has caused surprise, because Kamchatka has always been considered one of the richest countries in the world as regards fish.

Since 1906, however, Japanese fishermen, by blocking the estuaries, have caught or destroyed millions of fish at spawning time, when they travel in immense shoals from the sea up the rivers. The native fishermen soon imitated this procceeding, with the result that the Kamchatkan streams are now practically denuded of fish and the poor people are facing starvation.
