WATSON HISSED IN PROVINCIAL HOUSE

MEMBER IS TOLD TO "DO IT NOW" WHEN HE SAYS HE WILL RESIGN IF OPPOSED TO McBRIDE POLICY IN FUTURE.

Victoria, March 1—Premier McBride definitely announced in the house yesterday evening that the government would not reconsider its decision to pass a bill to enable South Vancouver to be annexed by Vancouver this year.

When Watson (Vancouver) rose after the premier's address on a question of privilege to deny that he, as had been reported in a Vancouver paper, was opposed to the government's course in the annexation matter, he was hissed from the galleries, which were crowded with delegates from South Vancouver and Vancouver.

After order had been somewhat re-established, Watson said that as soon as he found himself not in accord with the policy of the government he would resign.

"Do it now," shouted several voices from the gallery.

At this stage the speaker threatened to clear the gallery, whereupon the tumult subsided.

The Companies' act passed its third reading.

The house will probably adjourn today.

PRESIDENT TAFT GIVES NEGRO GOVERNMENT JOB

Important Position in Department of Justice Allotted to Colored Bostonian—Salary Is $5000.

Washington, March 1.—President Taft yesterday afternoon named William H. Lewis, a Boston negro, assistant attorney general of the department of justice. [illegible] in the position.

The job carries with it a salary of $5000 a year.

EYE REMOVED AND REPLACED.

Girl Hit by Bullet Recovers After an Amazing Operation.

New York, Feb. 28.—Elsie Cokal, four years old, who was shot in the head ten days ago, and whose eyesight and hearing at the time were believed to have been ruined, has been discharged from St. Joseph's hospital, Yonkers, as completely cured. The girl's rapid and wonderful recovery was due to a delicate operation performed by Drs. J. F. Larkia and George M. Patten, of the hospital staff. The left eye was removed from its socket and replaced without injury after the bullet in the child's head had been taken out.

Elsie's home is in No. 32 Prospect street, Yonkers. Ten days ago she was playing in a room where John Sedor, a boarder, was cleaning an old revolver. The weapon was discharged accidentally and the bullet struck the child at the side of the left eye. She was taken to the hospital, and the physicians at first believed she was dying. She regained consciousness, however, but was unable to hear anything or to see out of her left eye, although the bullet had not broken it. It was seen the removal of the bullet and the cleansing of the wound might save the child's life. The success of the operation was even greater than the physicians had hoped. Not only did Elsie regain strength rapidly, but her eyesight and hearing came back. When she left the hospital she seemed in perfect health.

HUNDRED SHACKS BURNED.

Woman Lost Her Life in Blaze at Fairbanks, Alaska.

Fairbanks, Alaska, Feb. 28.—One woman was burned to death in a fire that destroyed one hundred shacks in the restricted district at Cleary City early today. The fire department fought the blaze, which is believed was of incendiary origin, for two hours, but could not check it.

No Prohibition This Year.

Boise, Idaho, Feb. 28.—Prohibitionists today abandoned all hope of putting Idaho in the prohibition column at this legislative session following the failure of the measure in the senate that would have referred the prohibition constitutional amendment to the people. The senate voted 13 for and 10 against, while a two-thirds majority vote was necessary.

Lectures on Aeronautics.

Berlin, Feb. 28.—It is officially announced that not fewer than eleven German universities and technical schools will institute lectures on aeronautics during the summer half year. Special attention will be given to technical problems connected with the flying machine, its structural principles and practical management.

PRICE OF CHEAP TEAS WILL BE RAISED HERE

Cup that Cheers and Costs Little Will Cost a Little More—Coffee Also Due for a Boost.

That the retail grocery trade of this city will raise the prices of the cheaper grades of tea and coffee is almost a foregone conclusion in the opinion of some merchants spoken to yesterday on the point. Prices within the past month have jumped up in nearby cities, and as the local dealers must safeguard themselves, an increase in the prices of these comestibles will be made.

Common grade tea is short on the market, but this is not through a demand for the article, said a Westminster merchant yesterday. Growers generally have been doing away with this class of goods of late years as it has been found that better grades can be grown for the same price as the common stocks, and naturally a better price is commanded.

"As a matter of fact," remarked the merchant, "the decrease in the demand for the cheaper class of teas has been most marked in Westminster. Until lately the higher grade tea has been called for and this has had the effect now of sending the price up, at least to the dealer, so that we have to pay more for it without getting any of the increased cost back from the customer."

The increase in the price of coffee will have an effect in this city, but just how much the dealer was not prepared to say as he could not tell what class of that drinkable was consumed generally.

TO KILL EVERY DOG IN TOWN.

Perryville, Ky., Council Issues Drastic Orders of Warfare.

Legington, Ky., Feb. 28.—Five hundred Perryville dogs must die! This is the order of the council of that place.

Shortly after dark a few evening ago a large brown dog of the setter breed, appeared in the midst of the quiet town. He attacked Jesse Webb, a prominent citizen, and then proceeded to cause a panic among the women in [illegible] Peny's department store. A [illegible] had eight bullets in his body.

The animal is thought to have been affected with rabbies, and after a night of warfare among the 500 dogs of the town, the council ordered them all killed in order to prevent further trouble in case they had been bitten by the strange dog.

FERNIE COAL MINERS WILL NOT GO ON STRIKE

Local Grievances Between Operators and Workmen all Adjusted—Situation at Frank Also Normal.

Fernie, March 1.—There will be no strike of coal miners at this place or at Frank. A report was sent out a few days ago from Winnipeg that serious trouble was brewing, but since then conditions have mended.

The trouble was purely local. All grievances have now been adjusted.

HUNDREDS OF HEADS OF CATTLE SUCCUMBED

Cardston, Feb. 28.—Unusual climatic conditions have prevailed here for some time and more especially for the last two weeks. Low temperature, with the wind from the northeast, has brought snow, not of the light, flakey kind, but snow which, when piled like dunes of fine sand, was a mass of minute icicles, each finer and more pointed than cambric needles. These minute icicles fell and covered the land to a depth of several inches. Then the wind changed and came from the west, and its fury increased until one could hardly stand against it. The minute particles of snow were caught up and hurled through the air in a blinding manner. Window sills were filled. It seeped through the crevices under doors. It whirled from the eaves of houses and piled upon each front two, four and six feet deep. Lost children were rescued from the streets, crying. The rancher sat by his fire and worried about his cattle on the prairie without being able to give aid. But morning came and the wind ceased; but its havoc had been something terrible.

Hundreds of head of cattle were frozen to death and buried beneath the snow. As many as sixty head of cattle were found dead, bunched together and buried in one drift a little to the west of here.

James S. Parker, of Mountain View, the Church ranch, situated on the west, both suffered severe losses. William Henderson, also of Mountain View, had cattle smothered while bunched together, seeking shelter from the storm.

THE AUDIT ONCE AGAIN

The question of the position of Auditor Cotsworth has been made even more uncertain than before by the report presented by the Finance committee to the Council on Monday night; whilst the question of that official's remuneration has been presented in quite a new phase. We are very glad to see that determined opposition was raised to the proposed payment of $900 to the auditor for his services up to December 1910, and incidental expenses, and that by virtue of this action the matter will now have to come up for further discussion.

The public is certainly entitled to have a full and complete statement of what is covered by this item. If the auditor is to be paid a salary from April to December 1910 inclusive, it should be fully explained first why such payment is due, when we have the fact that in May last the auditor was only permitted to continue the work he had commenced upon the distinct understanding that he would "do this without any pay, providing he was paid up to date." He was paid for those services at the princely rate of $40 per day, in all $1800. Now the public is asked to foot a bill for $900 more for the time the auditor is supposed to have been putting in at the City Hall since May last. But he was away in England for two months or so, and what, we should like to ask, is he to be paid for this time?

We observe that the committee now estimate the worth of the auditor's services at only $50 per month! This is indeed a come-down from $40 per day, and shows that the value of the auditor's services prior to May last must have been much over estimated.

Another point upon which the ratepayers are entitled to information is as to what the auditor has accomplished during the past ten months, and if this is worth even the sum of $50 per month? A fortnight ago we were told that the audit for 1909 was completed by the issue of the auditor's report and that a balance sheet for that year had been prepared. Where is this balance sheet and when will it be handed down? We have not yet been informed by whose authority the auditor's report was printed and circulated throughout the city just prior to the civic election. This demands an answer also.

Until now the public was not made aware that the auditor was working on the books and accounts of the city for 1910. Our understanding was that Mr. Cotsworth was appointed for special work and not as permanent general auditor. If this is so, how does it come about that he has taken over the work of the general audit and superseded Auditor Walker? When and by whom was such an appointment made, we should like to know? What is the salary to be and the conditions of service? Also when was Auditor Walker, who held office under the Civic affairs bylaw, dismissed from his position? Again, it should be known by whom Mr. J. B. Rushton was appointed to assist the auditor, and whether he was appointed by the latter or by the council, and who is paying his salary?

We regret to find that Mayor Lee considered it necessary to go out of his way on Monday night to make a violent attack on "one of the newspapers of the city" for its criticism of the action of the mayor and council in regard to the affair of this audit, and of Mr. Cotsworth for the way in which he has performed his work. We assume that the News is meant, and join issue with Mayor Lee upon this charge and deny that we have ever dealt with this subject in any but a fair and proper manner. We have, from the very beginning, criticised both the council and the auditor, perhaps severely, for we considered and still consider, that the whole business has been little better than a [illegible] upon the citizens, and that the matters in [illegible] shall continue this [illegible] Lee.

Nor does the [illegible] his worship to seek the appointment of a commission at all alarm us. [illegible] by the way, what does the mayor mean by stating that half has not been told? If some part of the facts that should have been brought to light have been withheld, why is this special audit put forward as complete? Is not the Mayor himself acting improperly in allowing this audit to be passed off as complete when there are yet some important facts which have not been disclosed?

We should be delighted to see the whole question of the city finances properly enquired into by such a commission. Then certain facts which are at present shrouded in mystery, as well as the other half of which the Mayor speaks, would be brought to light and the citizens correctly informed upon the position of affairs and the methods of civic administration.

The integrity of the press has never been called to account so much as it was Monday night by Mayor Lee of our city. The mayor assumed, why, we do not know, that our paper was biassed in the favor of certain persons, to obliterate our fair sense of dealing with matters concerning the welfare of the people. The mayor never made a greater mistake. We know he has made many breaks that we have tried to soften, but when he goes to work and accuses a newspaper of being coerced in its judgment, he makes the mistake of his life.

As regards the recent so-called audit, the Daily News has no fault to find with an audit, it welcomes it as the natural corollary of a new mayor taking office. If the new mayor did not insist upon a proper audit of the works of his predecessors, how could he know how the finances stood—but this by the way. What we want to know how is it that during the past year orders for furniture fittings, etcetera, have all been placed to the order of Lee's Limited? We all know that Mayor Lee was the owner of this firm, before its incorporation; whether he has any connection with the firm at present is for the people to find out, but what we do know is this: that Lee's Limited has been paid hundreds of dollars for supplies, while such firms as Fales, Denny & Galloway, have received little or nothing.

We may be called to account as acting small in referring to the above, but we are forced to, forced to because of the insinuations of Mayor Lee.

Mayor Lee would have it that we are subsidized. By whom, we would like to know; he would have it that we dare not open our mouths, he would have it, that because he can presumably close the mouth of the Columbian by advertising pap, that he can also close ours—a great mistake. We represent the people of New Westminster, not Mayor Lee, we are watching every cent that is expended, not Mayor Lee, we are here to publish the true accounts of our city, why, therefore, is Mayor Lee troubled? Mayor Lee says: "If they want things pushed to an issue, let it go ahead and perhaps they will be a little sorry they had forced matters to an extreme." Who will be sorry? The inference is the Daily News. Rubbish, go ahead. We represent the great public. We want everything published, and we demand that a royal commission be held.

Cowardice is a word unknown in the annals of the press, the press has a reputation unsullied, the press is, we hope, incorruptible, and let the press demand thorough investigations when they are called, and let their honor be forever vindicated.

REGULAR DAVID HARUM.

Judge Has Horse Put Through Paces, Then Awards Judgment.

Chicago, Feb. 28.—Judge Hosen W. Wells is some sort of a David Harum, Not that the judge is given to horse trading, but he is considerable of a judge of horseflesh. C. B. Cohen asked him to give a judgment for $200 against H. L. Burlop yesterday, alleging Burlop's horse, while running away, had injured his animal. The court adjourned to Michigan avenue, and Cohen was ordered to put his horse through his paces. Then the court awarded him $27.

LENTEN OBSERVANCES COMMENCE THIS MORNING

For Forty Days All Good Catholics Will Avoid Undue Indulgence in Worldly Pleasures.

Today is the first of the third month and it ushers in the beginning of Lent. In all Catholic churches throughout the world special services will be held.

The celebration can be traced back to the third century, but at that time there was much confusion as to the period which the fasting term should occupy and it was not until two hundred years later that a definite time was set. From time to time, however, the exact number of days have been altered since then, but for many years now the period has been forty days.

Whilst at one time the severest regulations were in vogue for the carrying out of the prescribed routine to be observed, Lent is now so changed that there are few resemblances to the ancient hard and fast rules. The Irish people, whilst amongst the most devout Catholics, are permitted by their church to call a halt on St. Patrick's Day, on which day they may enjoy themselves in any form, but immediately afterwards a return to the Lenten observances must be made.

FORTY THOUSAND TREES.

Doukhobor Society Will Plant on Large Scale This Season.

Nelson, Feb. 28.—Tree planting on an enormous scale will be carried out this season by the Doukhobor society, according to John Sherbinin, agent of the colony at Brilliant, who was in the city purchasing supplies and attending the sessions of the short course in horticulture.

Altogether 40,000 trees have been ordered for this year's planting by the colonies at Brilliant and Grand Forks. Mr. Sherbinin states that the principal industry of the Brilliant colony at the present time is logging, the men being in the bush on the various areas owned by the society on the south side of Kootenay river between Slocan Junction and Brilliant.

Oppose Reciprocity.

[illegible]—Clifford Sifton, in [illegible] declared himself as strongly opposed to reciprocity. He said he had come to the conclusion that he could not follow his political leader in this matter; this step should convince the people of Canada that he considered the proposed agreement most important.

B.C.A.L.A. MEETING IS ADJOURNED TO MARCH 10

Members Postpone Business Out of Respect for C. A. Welsh in His Time of Bereavement.

Rising amidst an impressive silence at the Vancouver hotel yesterday evening at the special meeting of the B. C. A. L. A. committee, Con Jones said: "Gentlemen, it is with a great sorrow that I address you at this time. As you all know we were called here to straighten up the correspondence of the latter end of last season, and also make preparations for the annual general meeting which is to be held next month. This afternoon I heard with keen regret of the death of the mother of our dear friend Mr. Welsh. What that man has been to both his club (Westminster) and also the association everyone who follows our national sport knows, and therefore it were well that at this time I should not go into the subject. It would only be the right thing at this juncture if we adjourned our meeting of tonight out of respect to our brother in his time of bereavement. I would therefore ask that some member move accordingly."

Matt Barr (Vancouver)—The news of the death of Mr. Welsh's mother makes it imperative that we, as members of the Lacrosse association, cannot meet tonight and I move that we adjourn until the evening of Friday, March 10. I further move that this association forward to the relations of the late Mrs. Welsh a wreath."

Mr. Jones formally seconded the resolution, which was carried.

Secretary Lynch was further instructed to send a letter of condolence to Mr. Welsh.

THREE THOUSAND ARE DYING DAILY

STARVING CHINESE REDUCED TO EATING DOGS AND CATS—HOUSES ARE TORN DOWN IN SEARCH OF FORGOTTEN FOOD.

Shanghai, Feb. 28.—A missionary who arrived today from the famine district, where he has been engaged in relief work, states that 3000 persons are dying, and that 350,000 are wholly dependent for food on the foreign relief committee.

In many places dogs and cats are being killed for food.

Houses are being pulled down by the occupants and the debris closely examined for anything that can possibly be eaten.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 28.—Pei Chanlintze, about fifty miles from Harbin, is being ravaged by the plague. The deaths there are reported to number 200 daily. The disease is raging at Kirin, Hulancho, opposite Harbin, and at Bodune, 100 miles southeast of the Manchuria capital.

Bread riots have occurred throughout the stricken districts. The foreign consuls are preparing to leave.

Troops have refused to go into plague infected sections.

The Chinese emperor has reprimanded the Manchurian authorities for not having dealt more energetically with the situation. The far eastern press is filled with apprehensions of a recrudescence of boxerism.

COOPER URGES WAR ON SNORTING SEA LIONS

Alberni, B. C., Feb. 28.—Sea lions in thousands are roaring and snorting in the waters of Alberni canal and Barkley sound. They are devouring fish in numbers beyond calculation, and not being content with the hordes they eat alive they pursue their work of awful destruction by either frightening others to death in the water, or causing them to jump ashore where they must die anyway.

This startling information was given with adaptable dramatic fevor and ample elaboration to the Port Alberni board of trade by A. [illegible] during the regular session [illegible] last Monday night. [illegible] them and believed it all to be true.

It was not with the idle intent of merely providing melodramatic entertainment for his fellow members that Mr. Cooper so vividly pictured the reported operations of the ruthless destroyers. He urged a declaration of war on the sea lions, and suggested that both Dominion and Provincial governments should be asked to furnish the sinews by means of bounty.

Probably it was that the terrifying news was sprung too suddenly, and the listeners did not have sufficient time to recover from the awe with which they were stricken, but for some reason the meeting was adjourned without any show of desire for belligerent action. Only one voice was raised in support of Mr. Cooper's plea for a demonstration of hostilities against the annihilators of the defenceless fish, and that was the voice of Thomas Rowley, a man who has won some local fame as a fighter of sea lions. Mr. Rowley intimated that there were more attractive occupations, but that if the government saw fit to issue a call to arms by hanging up a substantial bounty he would be tempted to undertake the mobilization of an aggressive fleet and make the surface of the sea run red with the blood of these roaring, snorting monsters.

The question may be brought up again at the next regular meeting of the board.

NO OFFICIAL NEWS OF "OLD BILL" MINER

Ottawa, Feb. 28.—No word has yet been received by the justice department or the Dominion police by way of confirmation of the report that Bill Miner has been captured in Georgia. Any proceedings in the courts of the United States will be watched by the Dominion authorities, but in view of the fact that Miner will probably have to serve a term for his more recent offences in the United States, it is not likely that he can be brought back to Canada at present. However, the officials will not make any definite statements pending the receipt of information from Georgia.

HINDU ATTACKS MORALS.

Arouses an Audience of Pittsburg Women to Violent Protests.

Pittsburg, Pa., Feb. 28.—A Hindu student named Satya Deva, while lecturing before a body of women in the chamber of commerce, made what was considered an unjust comparison between the Hindu women and American women. He attacked British methods of government in Hindustan, and deplored that missionaries insisted on forcing more religious institutions on his people and fewer industrial schools. The result was that Satya Deva narrowly escaped mobbing at the hands of indignant Pittsburg women. As it was, he received a most scathing tongue lashing and was glad at the end to cut his lecture short. Deva precipitated trouble by the following remark:

"You Americans talk about immorality in our country. I can point you to one province in India where there are only forty men. The rest are women, and I defy any one to say he ever saw those women take a drink of liquor. Yet there are plenty of drunken women in America."

Several women were on their feet at this remark. Mrs. Frank Johnson, of Sewickley, who spent many years of her life in India as a missionary, got the floor and she protested against what she considered this insult to American womanhood.

"Don't you accept my statement?" asked Satya Deva blandly.

"No, I don't accept your statement," blazed back Mrs. Johnson, and many other women joined in her protest. There was much bitter open discussion by the women as the Hindu student made other assertions relating to morality.

TRAIN LOAD OF HAY.

Bittern Lake Farmer Glutted the Calgary Market.

Calgary, Feb. 28.—Robert Ochsner, owner of the big ranch whose broad acres skirt the shore of that pretty little sheet of water in northern Alberta, known as Bittern lake, has been a city visitor for the past few days on an unique errand. He is a big hearty German, and in keeping with his size, does thing on a large unprecedented scale. A few cars of hay at a time keeps the ordinary dealer busy, but Mr. Ochsner didn't fully realize this when he shipped a solid trainload of his choice upland hay to Fernie. The value at Fernie would be about $4000, so he went ahead of his train to arrange delivery. However, on his arrival he found that he had made a mistake, so managed to get a wire through in time to hold the shipment at Calgary, having heard this was a great distributing point. The local market was glutted for the time being, so he sold the shipment to Messrs. W. A. Stevens & Co.

UNFIT MEDICOS CROWD THE COUNTRY

AMERICAN MEDICAL COLLEGE IS TOLD THAT COUNTRY HAS TOO MANY HALF-TRAINED MEN PRACTICING MEDICINE.

Chicago, Feb. 28.—"The medical profession is overcrowded. It is not overcrowded by the survival of the fittest, but by the survival of the unfit."

This statement was made today by Alexander Hugh Ferguson, president of the Chicago Medical society, in an address of welcome to members of the American medical colleges, who began a three days' meeting today.

"With a population of about 90,000,000 in North America, we have at least 120,000 persons who are legally licensed to practice medicine," continued Dr. Ferguson. "This is about one to every 800 inhabitants. In England the proportion is one to 1250; in France, one to 2175, and in other countries the proportion is still more favorable to the medical profession. To sum it up, we don't need more doctors, but we do need a better brand.

"It is my deliberate opinion that this evil, which is due to a large number of irresponsible medical colleges, would be remedied by free medical education. The latter must be standardized, systematized and glorified."

GREECE FACES MANY INDUSTRIAL PROBLEMS

Condition of Child Factory Hands Among the Questions that Await Solution.

Athens, Feb. 28.—Like Great Britain, Greece has also its problems of constitutional reform. The last senate is chiefly celebrated for having voted itself double pay before it was finally dissolved. The new second chamber, it is thought, will be merely a council of state, meeting only on occasions of extreme national difficulty, but its formation, powers and even the number of its members are still matters of the merest conjecture.

The present chamber, it is thought, may continue in operation as long as June or July and the later weeks of its endurance will be devoted to the discussion of new legislation. The most pressing questions are those of the reform of labor and manufacturing conditions, the status of the operatives and the relations of employer and employed. Trade unions and their mutual support in cases of dispute will receive attention and the health question, more especially as it is affected by conditions of labor, will form the subject of serious debate. Compensation to workers injured during employment, conditions of labor of women and children are other subjects which will call for attention. The last is one of the most important matters in the life of the state, for child labor is commoner in Greece than in any other civilized community. Here the little workers are at the mercy of the most unscrupulous employer, and under-developed, emaciated child workers are to be seen on every hand. The existence of the shoe blacks and errand boys is little short of a national disgrace. These unhappy little wretches are to all intents and purposes the chattels of a man who farms them, under a yearly agreement, from their parents. They are herded together, thirty or forty of them in one room underground, half fed, scantily clothed, exposed to all weathers and their earnings are not their own, but are appropriated by the wretch who has paid their callous parents a small sum for their services.

NO VICE DISTRICT, MAYOR DECLARES

PORTLAND EXECUTIVE SAYS HE IS UNEQUIVOCALLY AGAINST SUCH THINGS—ABHORS GRAFT —PURITY ARGUMENTS RULE.

Portland, Feb. 28.—A petition which is now being circulated asking for the establishment of a restricted district, is bitterly opposed by Mayor Simon. He says he is unequivocally against such a district.

"The more I study the social evil problem," said the mayor, "the more strongly opposed am I to a restricted district, it furnishes an opportunity for petty officials to 'graft,' and 'grafters' are the main supporters of such a scheme.

"I know of my personal experience since I have become mayor of this city that certain men tried to have a district of this kind formed for the sole and only reason that they wanted to make a big graft out of it.

"While there is some truth in the contention of good people that to close the disorderly houses has a tendency to scatter the unfortunate women, it is not of sufficient weight, in my judgment, to overcome the numerous arguments of great importance on the other side."

BOTHA MAKES DENIAL.

Says South Africa Has No Intention Of Abolishing Preference.

London, Feb. 28.—The London morning papers are much excited over the reported intention of the Union of South Africa to propose at the Imperial conference that contributions toward local and Imperial defence should be substituted for a preferential tariff.

Premier Botha and Dr. Jameson, the Unionist leader and ex-Premier of Cape Colony, however, in response to telegraphic enquiries, both wired stating that there was no intention to raise the question of the abolition of preference on British manufactures at the conference.

CHILDLESS MOTHER'S ODD PLEA FOR BABY

Cincinnati, Feb. 28.—Moses Einhorn, father of Nathan Einhorn, a tailor, did not die in vain, in the eyes of his son and daughter-in-law and their friends. Instead, he is their emissary to heaven, bearing a plea that his son's household may be blessed with a child. When he was buried they wrapped around his finger a bit of white ribbon, to remind him of his duty before the Great Throne, and as young Mrs. Einhorn tied it, she prayed:

"Give me a son, O Lord. Let me not die childless."

She was joined in this plea by about fifty women who surrounded the body. The symbol of the white ribbon is based on the theory of Einhorn's religion that a child is a divine gift, and that motherhood, which has been denied Mrs. Einhorn, is a blessing from above.

RINGS UP 25 FARES; PUNCHES CONDUCTOR

Passenger Knocks Car Man Through Window After Protest.

St. Louis, Feb. 28.—The fare register on a Wellston car standing on the loop at the Western terminus sounded a "riot call" at 1:30 a. m. and conductor Thomas A. Pearson, in a front seat writing his report, saw a well-dressed man on the rear platform.

"Here, stop that," cried Pearson, "I'll have to pay a nickel for every ring."

"What do I care," replied the man, as Pearson reached the platform.

"Well, I care a whole lot," said Pearson.

The eccentric passenger knocked Pearson through the back window of the car and fell upon him, cutting his own hand on broken glass.

While Pearson was extricating himself the stranger wrapped a handkerchief about his wounded hand and ran away. He was about thirty years old. He had rung up twenty-five fares.

Vancouver's Industries Become Visible

ON NORTH SHORE WITH SECURING OF DOCKYARD

Industrial Supremacy of City Assured by Promotion of Great Manufacturing Centre at Roche Point---Vancouver Vim Obtains Benefit Accruing From Vancouver's Natural Advantages

VANCOUVER ENERGY WINS BIG DOMINION SUBSIDY

Prince Rupert, St. John. Victoria, Montreal and Quebec Still Asking for What Vancouver Has Secured

As the spinal column is the mainspring of the human body, so is Manufacturing Industry the mainspring of Municipal existence. Dress a man in the finest clothes, put money into his pockets, give him the golden key that will open the doors into the most select circles—it is useless without that mainspring. He is a case without works; a bauble to be cast aside and eventually to sink into oblivion. The same argument applies even in a greater degree to municipal life. Certain combinations of circumstances result in a number of people congregating at a given point; they build their homes and places of business, and follow their usual avoations. The natural consequence is that a village springs into existence. If the people are endowed with sufficient "backbone" the village will give place to a town, and in the process of time the town becomes a city. Should the natural advantages be great (as they are in Vancouver), the city will continue to grow for a time in spite of a lack of energy and push on the part of its citizens; but a time always comes when the natural advantages become exhausted and, in consequence, the city stands still for a while, and then slowly but surely revolves the other way. All through the United States and Canada towns, villages and cities are on this retrograde movement, and in ninety-nine cases out of every hundred, instead of the excuse of "hard times," it is the simple fact that the citizens lack the backbone necessary to improve on and assist the natural advantages of the place. Sometimes a foolish father gives his son so much money that the boy grows into manhood without the slightest knowledge of how to fight his way in the world. Without a moment's warning the "old man" (the natural advantages) fails, the son is thrown on his own resources (which are nil), and in consequence begins to revolve the other way, and often drops out of sight. Some cities have so many natural advantages that the citizens get to feel that all they have to do in life is to enjoy them. After a while the "old man" fails them and they, like the "son," soon get the backward gait, while other towns who have no "old man" to assist, rely on their own pluck, energy and backbone, each citizen putting his shoulder to the wheel, go past the more favored but "supine" cities and beat them to a frazzle. ("Frazzle" is a good word.)

There was a time when Vancouver was in great danger of being like the son with the "old man behind;" but that time has, I trust, passed away forever, and from this time forward she intends to make the best of everything that Nature has blessed her with, and in the future she will be known not only as a great seaport, but as one of the great industrial centers of North America.

The Imperial Car Company requires assistance to carry out a great work for this city, a work that will not only stamp Vancouver as a great industrial center, but at the same time will enrich every man or woman who will put good money into it. Already the company has shown itself capable of great things. Commencing with nothing, it has bought and more than half paid for one of the most beautiful townsites in the world today; a townsite with as many natural advantages as can be found anywhere in North America.

This company last year went to the Dominion Government and proved its claims to such an extent that it was given nearly $1,100,000 to assist it in its work, while Prince Rupert, Victoria, St. John, Montreal and Quebec, who asked at the same time, "are asking yet," and some of them will ask forever. Why was Vancouver more favored by a Liberal Government while still represented by one out of the fold (a Conservative)?

It was simply and purely that our company went after that subsidy just like it goes after everything else it requires, namely, went after it with a determination to "get it" and stay with it until it does. Is this not the sort of company to tie up to?

There are other things the company wants that are just as good as the subsidy. Will you come and help, and receive your share of the profits? Don't put this paper down till you have read all this page, and then come in and see us. We are going to win, anyway. Everyone will tell you that now, but we need you to help us, and in doing so help yourselves and families.

WHAT WE REFUSED

What is Vancouver's gain is another city's loss. Less than six months ago one of the largest cities in the Western States held a series of meetings of its chamber of commerce, and after going fully into every detail of our proposition, including our sleeping car patents and their possibilities, made a representative of our company the offer of 500 acres of land as a site for our car works and the city to take $250,000 of our stock on condition the Imperial Car Company locate its works in their city. The truth of this statement we can prove beyond a doubt to any interested party. We simply withhold the name of the city from a feeling of courtesy, while, on the other hand, it is only justice to our company that the people of Vancouver should know this, and to a certain extent give our company the appreciation which is its due.

IMPERIAL CAR COMPANY MAKES A BIG PROFIT

Shares Will Shortly Be Marked Up to Par---Important Negotiation on Eve of Successful Conclusion

THE ANNOUNCEMENT

A short time ago the Imperial Car Company informed the readers of the daily papers that the purchase price of its shares would be raised from $50 to $100, which is the par value of its stock. It was also stated at that time that the reason for this important step would be given shortly. Young companies, like young cities, or young business men, encounter many hard problems in the earlier stages of their existence, and the Imperial Car Company has been no exception to the rule; but by constantly keeping a sharp lookout ahead, we have avoided every rock, and are now comparatively in smooth water. We can prove beyond a doubt that we have made a profit during the past year of $2,000,000, and we do not believe that any other company in Canada, outside of the C. P. R. or the C. N. R., can truthfully say as much. We have just been reading the twenty-first annual report of one of Canada's best fire insurance companies, in which the president congratulates the shareholders for being worth $750,000. Think of it—after twenty-one years of hard work. The Imperial Car company has enriched its shareholders in ONE YEAR to the extent of nearly $2,000,000. Is that not a sufficient reason to raise the price of its shares? We think it is, and at the same time, something to be proud of. This is one of the reasons, however: The company has succeeded in financing all its capital for the building of the DRY DOCK. This has caused the company a great deal of hard-headed thinking in the past few months, and is certainly a great burden lifted from its shoulders. These and a number of other things have been the cause of the company's determination for the change in price. Therefore, after the 20th day of March, 1911, no one will be able to buy one share of the treasury stock of this company for less than $100, being the par value of the shares.

A LITTLE TALK ON IMPERIAL MINES

Some people would rather buy into a speculation than a sure thing. This sounds funny, but it is true as it is funny. For instance, we find people who would rather buy Oil Shares on the off chance of after boring several thousand feet into the earth they MAY STRIKE OIL, at the same time they know it is a slim chance, and that not more than one out of every 500 ever really do strike oil. The same thing applies to mines. There seems to be a certain spirit of speculation dormant or otherwise in all natures. I confess to have it myself largely developed, and have to constantly keep a check upon my nature in this respect, so I do not for a moment condemn anyone given to this sort of thing; rather I sympathize with them.

By this explanation the reader will understand how intensely interested I am in "Imperial Mines." The company has a gang of men constantly at work drifting a tunnel into the mountain, and every time one of the men came into town I examined the samples as if they were nuggets of pure gold. We are now some 75 or 80 feet in, and there is absolutely no rock, just a pure body of iron ore in high grade, full of streaks of yellow copper, and every day marks an improvement. One thing is proven beyond doubt: The Imperial Mines are one vast body of iron and copper ore, millions and millions of tons in extent. Many of our shareholders who profess to understand these things claim that our mines will be the most profitable part of our business. Situated only eight miles from the center of the city of Vancouver, the tunnel of the mine is literally at our very door. However rich the mine may be, the fact remains that shares in the Imperial Car Company will reap a dividend from every asset owned by the company.

HOW TO FINANCE A BIG PROPOSITION

"When are you going to begin work?" is asked me every day. "We are nearly half done now," we answer. We are well into the financial part of the work, and when this is completed we consider the whole thing half and more than half accomplished. There are a number of methods of raising money with which to finance an undertaking, namely, selling shares in the proposition to the public, selling guaranteed bonds to investors, and borrowing money by mortgage on the property at certain rates of interest.

For instance, every time we sell a share we are taking in a partner in the profits. He may be a cantankerous person who will make trouble in the company, and in addition the company must pay a large commission to the agent who sells the shares.

The sale of bonds is much better from a company's standpoint, as the bondholder has nothing to say in the business, and receives no profit except the interest on his bonds. Borrowing by mortgage is the best plan of all, but in order to be in a position to do this the company must have assets at least three times the value of its loan. One of the strongest loan companies in Canada has been looking into our proposition. They have sent sent their representatives here, who stayed a week looking over everything, and the report is so favorable that the company have practically promised to advance us all the money we require to carry out our extensive plans. Should we be successful in closing this deal, the company will immediately raise the price of the stock to $250 per share and take the Treasury Stock entirely off the market.

BRINGS INDUSTRIES FIRST, SELLS LOTS AFTERWARDS

Ordinary Real Estate Selling Methods Reversed by Corporation Which Is Erecting Manufacturing Centre Across Inlet

The Imperial Car Company claims to be in a position to make more money from a real estate standpoint for its shareholders than any other real estate concern in British Columbia. Listen: The ordinary real estate office generally does business as follows—They first look out for a sub-division, and then form a syndicate to purchase it. This done, it is then resubdivided into lots and sold to you and me for certain advanced prices, we holding our lots until the city grows out to them or a railway goes through the place, or something else happens to increase the values, in which case we unload and try it again.

Now, notice the difference: The Imperial Car Company buy up a whole townsite in a locality commanding nearly two miles of deep sea waterfrontage. It buys this at a time when no one felt it was of much value, consequently the price was practically nothing compared to its present and future value. In place of waiting until the city or something else builds out to it, the company commences to build a real industrial town itself. First, the company gets the Red Fir Lumber Company to undertake to build the most modern sawmill on the Pacific Coast on the property. Next, it secures from the Dominion Government a subsidy to build the largest Dry Dock on the Pacific Coast on the property, then it commences to build a steel car works on the property that will employ to begin with 250 and in the future 2500 men. These and a number of kindred industries will soon line the shores of the townsite, and naturally have raised the value of the company's townsite to a remarkable degree. The company will have, before it stops buying, about 10,000 lots, and will not offer any for sale until a value has been reached that amply repays the company for its farsightedness. The beauty of all this is that every shareholder will receive the full benefit of every dollar of increase.

Now, my friend, when you take a notion you would rather buy real estate than "shares," remember, the best real estate you ever bought is shares in the Imperial Car Company.

In two years time the whole of this townsite will be cleared and its streets graded, and the hum of busy factories will be heard all along its shores, while ships from all over the world will be waiting their turn to enter the vast dry docks and shipyards.

Incidentally we might say that one of the largest companies in England have taken an option on 900 feet of our waterfront, and are bound in five years' time to have shipyards costing a million dollars, employing possibly 3000 men, and capable of builing either Dreadnoughts, or what is still better, the largest merchant vessels afloat.

Do you desire a portion of this great profit for yourself? We think you do, and the only way is to come in and secure your share before it is too late.

A LAST WORD

Investor or Speculator, whatever you may be, are you not convinced, after reading this page, how worthy is the project we place before you?

You can purchase until March 20th shares in this, the best and safest company in British Columbia, a company that is richer by $2,000,000 than it was a year ago, a company that cannot help by the natural trend of events but make an equal amount next year, a company that has been endorsed by the Dominion Government to the extent of $1,062,000, and a company that is located on the borders of Vancouver, a city with a greater future than any city in the Dominion of Canada. It will only be a month till the shares will rise 100 per cent, and if (and it seems very likely) our loan is completed, the stock will go at once to $250. No sane man now doubts the future of the Imperial Car Company. Its success is as sure as the success of the city itself. If you do not know enough about it, come to see us. We shall be glad to show you every detail.

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 1, 1911.

PARTLY POLITICS.

Mr. Foster, speaking in Hamilton the other night in denunciation of the reciprocity pact, recalled his journey to Washington in 1891. On that occasion the United States asked that Canada should open her markets to United States manufacturers and should discriminate against Great Britain. The proposition was rejected by Mr. Foster; quite properly. Neither in 1891, 1911, or any other time would Canada stand for any such arrangement.

Still. Mr. Foster went to Washington in 1891. What did he go there for? Mr. Foster skates around this point; but the fact is that he went there hoping to make just such an arrangement as has now been made. If Secretary Blaine had made Mr. Foster, in 1891, the proposition which Secretary Knox made to Mr. Fielding in 1911, it would have been accepted joyfully. The Conservatives throughout the campaign of 1891 repeatedly declared that they would get reciprocity in natural products with the United States; more than this, they claimed that they were the only party which could get this boon for the Canadian farmer. Sir Charles Tupper, speaking only three days before polling day, said:

"I say, Sir, that the means of obtaining fair reciprocal trade arrangements with the United States would be utterly defeated, if the party who were now professing to carry out a thing they knew to be an utter delusion, could obtain power. But, Sir, with my right honorable friend sustained, as he will be, when he goes down on the 4th of March to Washington, in response to the invitation received from the United States, of which I am able to speak personally, when he goes down there, strengthened by the electors of Canada, then, I say, the prospects are very good indeed."

If reciprocity in farm products will be so injurious to Canada in a national sense now, would it not have been still more deadly twenty years ago, when Canada was a mere framework of a nation, in place of a real nation as she is now. Yet, Sir, John A. Macdonald, Sir Charles Tupper, Mr. Foster and the other leaders of the Conservative party—men who certainly were not fools—strove to secure this enlargement of trade relations with the United States in the expectation that it would be a national benefit.

Does not this suggest that a good deal of the opposition to the reciprocity arrangement is political? It is undoubtedly true that there are many Canadians who are honestly opposed to the proposed interchange of natural products for reasons which are entitled to respectful consideration, but the Conservative leaders are not in this class.

If the United States government had made an offer of free trade in farm products to the Canadian government and had been told that this country wanted no further business relations with them, Mr. Borden, Mr. Foster, Mr. Roblin, and the rest of them would have been lifting their voices to heaven in denunciation of the folly of Sir Wilfrid Laurier and his colleagues. A short and straight road to office would have been opened to them; and they would have travelled it joyously.—Winnipeg Free Press.

ENLARGE THE CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION

Two members only now comprise the Civil Service Commission of Canada. These men conduct all examinations for entrance to and promotion in the Inside Service at Ottawa. During the three years of its existence, the commission have worked out the details of the system as they had previously been worked out at London and Washington. They seem to have done their work well, though neither gentleman had had previous experience with civil service conditions.

Now that the time is ripe to bring the Outside Service under the commission, it is probably advisable to consider what increase will be necessary in the personnel of the commission itself. The Outside Service is much more numerous than the Inside Service, and it is widely scattered. To look after this great body of public servants, provide candidates for new positions and for vacancies, arrange examinations for the necessary promotions, and to do justice to every public servant and every public service, a large commission will be necessary. Three commissioners there certainly should be; five may be advisable.

The first new commissioner should be one who is thoroughly familiar with the Outside Service, someone who has shown throughout his career exceptional ability and exceptional zeal. His practical experience would be a guarantee to the Outside Service itself, that the new regulations and the new administration would be sympathetic. At the same time, his record would be a guarantee to the government that his attitude will be politically friendly and that fads and innovations will not disturb a quiet and amicable working out of the new regulations.

If it is intended to bring only the larger cities under the commission at first, one new commissioner would be sufficient, provided that the one is wisely chosen. In that case, he might be selected from among the best and most prominent civil servants in Montreal, Toronto, or Winnipeg.—Canadian Courier.

TUBERCULOSIS IN PRISONS.

About 20,000 Infected Convicts Annually Discharged in New York.

(From The New York Tribune.)

Dr. J. B. Ransom, physician to Clinton prison, outlined in an address before the Medical Society of Jurisprudence what the state of New York had done to combat the white plague within the prison walls. The inroads of the scourge were first recognized in 1889 at Clinton prison, and Dr. Ransom was then selected to take charge of the work of fighting it.

"There is no essential difference," said Dr. Ransom, "in the question of tuberculosis as related to prison populations and its relation to the general community populations. In this country alone more than 100,000 persons are annually discharged to the general community. More than 16 per cent are infected with tuberculosis, which makes a total of from 15,000 to 20,000 of this class annually discharged to the general community in this country."

Dr. Ransom then cites important statistics showing the possibilities of the work he has engaged in. He said the maximum death rate in the prisons of the state of New York was reached in 1891, the figures then being 2021.6 deaths in 100,000 living. In 1910 the rate was reduced to 160.8 in 100,000, which was about the figure obtained in the general population of the state in 1909.

This decrease was entirely due to the improved living conditions of prisons and the application of modern methods of treatment. But much more important than the death rate figures were the results to the living, and these were indicated by the following statistics: Apparently cured, 21 per cent; disease arrested, 26 per cent; improved, 40.4 per cent; unimproved, 5 11-100 of 1 per cent; died, 6 44-100 of 1 per cent.

"All states should follow the example of Texas and Massachusetts in the establishment of special sanatoria or farms for the transferring of all tuberculosis cases from penal institutions of whatsoever nature," said Dr. Ransom. As an adjunct to the treatment of the incarcerated prisoner there should be some form of supervision and treatment for the tuberculosis prisoner after he leaves prison."

MAY KILL LEPROSY.

Doctors in Louisiana Leper Colony Are Working to Develope Serum.

New Orleans, La., Feb. 28.—The discovery, isolation and culture of the bacillus of leprosy just announced by Drs. C. V. Duval and Maurice Couret, of the pathological department of Tulane university of this city, and the experiment made with bacilli shed a great deal of new light on the origin, spread and contagion of leprosy and promise as an early result a serum that will give protection against the disease.

In the world-wide investigation which has been carried on for years into the nature of leprosy, physicians in Louisiana have had an important part. They have had good opportunities for research because the state maintains a leper hospital at Indian camp in Iberville point. Nowhere else has greater progress been made in the extermination and cure of leprosy.

Some forty lepers are now gathered at Indian camp and all except a few are steadily improving in health. Three years ago Dr. Irodene Dyar, the physician of the home, and one of the best authorities on leprosy in the world, announced that four of the inmates had been cured. Altogether eight have been dismissed as cured. The treatment has been simple enough, consisting of good living conditions, good food, frequent hot baths and a few of the medicines recognized as beneficial to lepers. At the present rate of progress another decade will probably see the end of leprosy in Louisiana through the cure of the milder cases and the death of fewer patients in whom the disease has progressed too far for effective treatment.

The germ of leprosy is said to have been discovered as far back as the 70's and its discovery has been announced from time to time since, but the experiments were never carried to a conclusion. It was found impossible to isolate and cultivate the germ and, therefore, to provide a serum. Now the experiment has been carried to its full limit and the remedy ought to be soon in sight.

SPORTING NEWS

ALIEN BUG COMES TO BITE CITIZENS

FANS OF ACKNOWLEDGED STANDING SUBJECTED TO ANNUAL TREATMENT—GET BUSY AND TALK BALL.

The bright sunshine of yesterday hatched it. It came soaring up from the south, hummed and buzzed over Queens park for a minute, then, dissatisfied, it flew downtown and stung Ernie Sinclair, paid a like attention to Brother Art, winged next door and inoculated Ellis Turner and Clarence Stein, held up a pool game while it prodded Bones Sharp, then got out on the street in time to subject Sid Malcolmsom to the proper treatment, following this up with attacks on Herb Ryall, Bill Sayce, F. O. Canfield, Owen, several Smiths, some Browns, no Joneses, but many others whose names have not yet been reported to the authorities. Then it curled up inside a catcher's glove and enjoyed a brief respite.

IT was the baseball bug!

For the season when business must take a back hand and give way to the more serious business of playing ball is almost upon us, and it behooves the faithful to foregather and make plans for the season of 1911.

Alerts Are First.

As befits the champions of 1910, the Alerts have been the first to make arrangements for the holding of a reorganization meeting. This will take place on Thursday evening at eight o'clock, in the Conservative club rooms, when officers for the year will be elected and arrangements made to capture the mythical pennant of the 1911 season.

The Balmorals, prodded into activity by their vice president—without doubt the laziest officer on the elected board of the Bals—decided last night that Friday, March 3, at eight o'clock in the evening, and in the far corner of W. E. Sinclair's store, would be about the right time and place to get together and discuss ways and means of keeping their standing in the Westminster league, or bettering it if possible. By these presents all interested are hereby warned to attend.

The date of the annual meeting of the Westminster Baseball association has not yet been set, but this will take place about the middle of this month.

Clovers Want a Match.

The Clovers, of Vancouver, who organized about a week ago, are already looking for early season victims, and have forwarded a challenge to this city. If the Alerts can get into shape in time, a game will be played at Queens park a week from Saturday.

The Maple Leafs, the third team in the city league, has not yet set a date for their annual meeting.

FAMOUS WRESTLER IS STRONG FOR RUSSIAN

New York, Feb. 28.—William Muldoon, once one of the greatest of wrestlers, saw George Hackenschmidt, the "Russian Lion," for the first time the other night, when the great foreign star wrestled an exhibition bout at White Plains, N. Y., near which place Muldoon has his famous health resort.

Before Hackenschmidt went on the stage he gave the famous old-timer a half hour in private, demonstrating to Muldoon his remarkable development and physical perfection. Muldoon went over the "Lion" thoroughly, and at the close of his tests, mild as they were, the veteran expressed himself as being of the opinion that "Hack" is the most marvelously developed and about the nearest to being the perfect man of any specimen he ever saw.

"Hackenschmidt is the embodiment of everything that is wonderful in physical development," Muldoon said afterward. "He fairly astonished me, because I was utterly unprepared for what I saw. I naturally expected that I would find just merely a strong man, like a great many of the foreign athletes that come to this country."

BURNS HAS WRESTLED WITH 6000 OPPONENTS

Farmer Burns appeared before the Omaha fans the other night, celebrating his fiftieth birthday and probably his last wrestling match. He threw Oscar Wasem in two straight falls. The first came in nine minutes and the second in eleven minutes.

Burns not only put on his wrestling exhibition and match with Wasem, but gave a short talk on the wrestling game and its value to health. At intervals he demonstrated his talk by the help of an assistant, showing the different holds used.

"I have wrestled 6000 people in my life," declared the veteran of the game, "and I consider it the greatest game in the world. I can box, in fact I could beat most of the alleged boxers of today, but I consider it brutal.

"The people of this country must learn that health comes first. Honesty should be placed alongside with health. The way in which the public can get square wrestling is to demand it."

Farmer Burns also commented on the wrestling tangle of today. "Gotch is the champion of the world, having defeated the three greatest men, Zbyszo, Mahmout and Hackenschmidt. Zbyszo and Mahmout were thrown fairly and they admitted it. Hackenschmidt lost because he was a coward and quit because he knew he was losing."

WESTMINSTER WINS SECOND CUP SERIES

LOCALS BEAT VANCOUVERS IN NO. 2 MATCH FOR CHAMBERLIN TROPHY—HARLAND, REID AND GRANT THE HEROES.

IT HAS HAPPENED. Last night before a big gathering, the second of the series of five matches at billiards for the Chamberlin trophy between Vancouver and Westminster teams was played in Bert Fletcher's parlors on Sixth street and in the result the locals won by the odd game. The play all through was of a high order and those who witnessed the match, including the mystic circle expert, carried away food for deep digestion.

Charlie Coldicott, playing against Crossfield, was the game eagerly watched, and to the surprise of the multitude the local champion bit the dust, so to speak. At no stage of the game was he in the lead and only once did he get on level terms. From that point it was Beavers to chocolate on Vancouver, as with a mighty useful break of 52, Crossfield jumped to the winning post and the result was never in doubt.

Grant (Westminster) found the soft thing from the Terminal City. He was bumped into Reynolds, who apparently took the long journey from the big town for the sake of the voyage.

Reid played a greatly improved game from that of last week and accounted for Shotton by 52 points. Both kept close together all the way through and though Shotton could not get a Shott-on (help) towards the close he gathered the elephant's tusks together in a manner that showed that he was no novice at the pole pushing pastime.

Harland was the pet of the night, and he, by a series of well thought out plays, turned what was almost a disaster to his team into a great and glorious victory. When the marking board showed the scores: Clifford 183, Harland 169. Clifford gave a safety miss. Settling down to steady play Harland slowly but surely scored, and went on until the full score was signalled on the board.

The two A's, Anderberg and Addie, played a consistent game, but our A was behind at the finish by 35 points.

Returns:

Grant (W.) 200, won from Reynolds (V.) 69.

Reid (W.) 200, won from Shotton (V.) 148.

Harland (W.) 200, won from Clifford (V.) 194.

Coldicott (W.) 156, lost to Crossfield (V.) 200.

Anderberg (W.) 165, lost to Addie (V.) 200.

BUYS PLAYER FROM ARMY.

Atlanta Baseball Magnate Purchases Release of Soldier for His Team.

Atlanta, Ga., Feb. 28.—President Heisman, of the Atlanta Baseball Association, has invaded the ranks of the army for material, in much the same way as managers go after players from other teams.

He has made arrangements to purchase the release of Washington Johns from the army, after Johns had signed a contract to play with Atlanta. The player formerly was on the team here, but quit to go into the army. It was on his request to discard the khaki for a baseball uniform that the contract was made.

PLAYING FOR FOOTBALL.

Central and Lord Kelvin Boys in Struggle for Pigskin Given by Tim.

A series of six football games is being played by the boys of Lord Kelvin and Central schools, the prize being a football given by Tim Mahoney, thirty-third degree soccer enthusiast and famous as a referee and authority on the sport.

Two games have already been played, the Kelvin kickers being victorious in each case. The next game takes place on Saturday afternoon at Moody Square.

St. Louis Wins.

In a football match played at Moody Square yesterday afternoon, the St. Louis college team defeated an eleven from Lord Kelvin school, by the score of three goals to one.

TRIPE CAUSES MURDER SCARE.

Red Drops From Satchel Alarm Ferry Passengers.

New York, Feb. 28.—Two Italians, with caps drawn over their eyes boarded the 11:40 a. m. municipal ferry boat for Staten Island. Each carried a satchel. Dark red drops dripped from each satchel.

"A Black Hand murder," whispered a fat man, turning pale and laying a trembling hand on Patrolman Frank M. Roth.

"Murder!" cried a woman to Roth, pointing to the satchels. "I lost a relative in Boston that way."

"Stop the boat!" shouted Roth, sprinting aboard, followed by the fat man, the woman and a dozen other shuddering persons. The news spread quickly, and when the bluecoat commanded the Italians to halt everybody was shuddering. Even the engines in the boat throbbed.

"Open those satchels!" ordered Roth.

The Italians were somewhat slow to comply, and the patrolman ripped the bags with his pocketknife. The satchels fell and up rose a cloud of steam. Roth looked inside, then he straightened up.

"Tripe!" he said.

The Italians swore and gathered up their delicatessen material, and the boat proceeded.

The woman who had given the alarm said she is Mrs. John Gallagher, of 486 Ocean avenue, Jersey City. She refused to tell who the relative was who was murdered in Boston.

INDIAN BIRTH RATE IS WELL MAINTAINED

Creston, B. C., Feb. 28.—Last Sunday R. T. L. Galbraith, Indian agent at Fort Steele, paid Creston a visit and on Monday and Tuesday held long conferences with the Creston Indians. Mr. Galbraith was on a tour of inspection and had just returned from the Windermere district, where he had made an inspection of the reservations in that region. He stated, in the Windermere district the snow was much deeper than at Creston and it was a great deal colder. In speaking of the Indians at Creston, Indian Agent Calbraith stated that the birth rate was keeping up well and the general health of the native sons was good, very few cases of consumption and hardly any sickness. In speaking of the difficulty the Great Northern railway was having with the Indians and public generally for trespassing on the railway, Mr. Galbraith threw new light on the subject when he stated that by the building of the railway a public trail between Creston and Port Hill had been obliterated and the Indians as well as the public generally were consequently put to a great inconvenience Mr. Galbraith took up the matter of opening up the road to Port Hill with Superintendent of Roads G. M. Benney and the superintendent informed him that the matter of building a road and bridge between Creston and Port Hill was now before the government and it would be built in the near future. By the completion of this road and bridge to Port Hill, travel from Creston to Port Hill would be possible at all times of the year.

In speaking of the reported wholesale slaughter of deer by the Indians, Mr. Galbraith stated that he thought the reports in that connection had been greatly exaggerated, but he had instructed the Indians that they must obey the game laws strictly. In referring to the general conditions of the Indians he stated that he found the Indian cattle in a flourishing state and there was ample hay to put them through till spring.

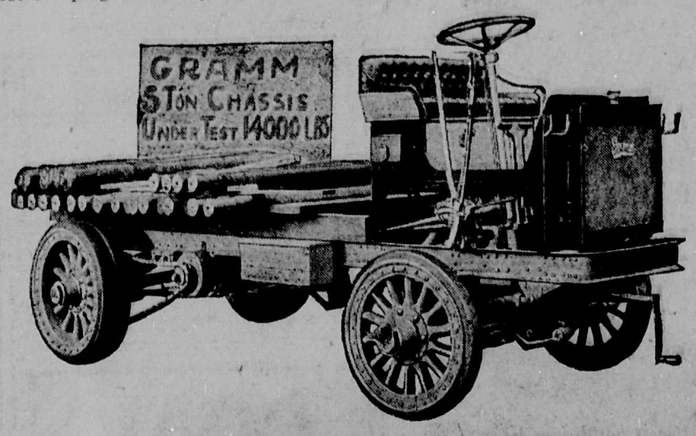
Five Thousand Dollar Truck Purchased By Gilley Bros., Ltd.

Westminster is certainly looking up. What with an auto fire appliance, and the desire of the leading merchants to make use of this mode of loco motion for business purposes, there will be soon in this city a large number of such vehicles. Prospective buyers will watch with the keenest interest the progress of the big three-ton truck which reached here yesterday for Gilley Bros. Ltd.



The makers of the truck, the Gramm Canadian Motor company, of Walkerville, Ont., are the only firm making a specialty of this work in the Dominion, and Messrs Gilley's purchase is the first of its kind to come to the west. F. C. Myers, manager of the motor department of the A. G. Brown and Jamison company, of Vancouver, who are the Gramm firm's agents in Vancouver, was over here yesterday trying out the truck which has a capacity of fifty horsepower, and cost $5000. The truck, which is a handsome structure, will be the forerunner of many more in the city, of that the builders are convinced. In the words of Mr. Myers, he has not yet struck a town where the possibilities were so great and the openings so many as in Westminster. New industries were springing up every day, and the move on the part of Messrs. Gilley Bros. to be thoroughly modern was a commendable one.

The frame of the truck is constructed from five-inch rolled channel steel, which is joined at the corners by steel castings and rivetted by 5-16-inch iron rivets. The channel steel used weighs 6½ pounds per foot. The length of the frame assembled is 197 inches, and the width 42½ inches outside. The weight of the truck is approximately 5000 pounds. Should the truck prove a success, Messrs. Gilley Bros. will give orders for four more.

INDIANS FORM PART OF AUSTRALIAN EXHIBIT

NINE CANADIAN ABORIGINES LEAVE ASHCROFT FOR ANTIPODES, WHERE THEY WILL BE SHOWN AT FAIRS, ETC.

Ashcroft Journal: The aborigines of this fair Dominion gathered together in large numbers at Ashcroft on Wednesday to witness a great event in their lives, nine of their number embarking on the afternoon train for a prolonged trip to Australia amidst great excitement and goodbyes in Indian fashion from numerous friends and relations. It takes a good deal to induce an Indian to leave his native soil, but an offer of $35 and $40 a month for about eight months, together with other inducements in the shape of wonderful things to be seen and so forth, proved too much for the dusky people to refuse.

These nine Indians, from the Bona

These nine Indians from the Bonadrawn from Ashcroft, Lytton and Lillooet. A company has recently been formed in Australia, capitalized at $25,000, for the purpose of exhibiting Canadian Indians in Australia and New Zealand, thus correcting the erroneous idea prevailing there that our Indians are a wild, savage lot of uncivilized Red Skins with fierce countenances and features and skins about them. Lieut.-Col. J. Stacy spent a few days in Ashcroft this week in connection with the scheme, having already visited Lillooet and Lytton drawing Indians from there together with as many curios, Indian implements and by-gone costumes as were procurable, as every effort is being made to represent the aboriginals' life past and present, in true colors

Henry Cargile has charge of the Indians and has accompanied the Colonel on his trips. Joe DeShields from Lillooet, will act as interpreter for the party. One Wednesday afternoon the Ashcroft contingent embarked in charge of James G. Bain. Indian Mary was the most prominent figure, and will probably be decked out as an Indian Princess in her gay robes and beads. One of the less fortunate "bucks" who was left behind, while one of his family was going, signified in truly Indian fashion with plenty of waving of arms and hands accented by ferocious exclamations that he would rather have a noose strung round his neck than to let him go, but the young buck left and the excited gentleman did not carry out his threat.

Joe Pasco, a noted old Indian character, of Ashcroft, figured largely in the general excitement, he expressed himself strongly when play bystanders tried to persuade him to join the adventurous crew and took their endeavors in earnest.

No doubt these Indians will be decked out in costumes that are no longer worn by them or even seen nowadays; if they are not presented to our Australian cousins as we are accustomed to see them they will probably not be able to form a correct idea as to the present day native in Canada.

The party left Vancouver on Friday by the S.S. Zealander, and will touch Honolulu and the Fijis on their way. It is to be hoped that the sight of swarms of the scantily clad and pitch black Fijians will not cause a panic amongst the so-called savage North American Red Skins.

LA PATRIE MAY CHANGE ITS COAT

SIR WILFRID LAURIER'S LEADING FRIEND TO JOIN EDITORIAL STAFF OF AN INFLUENTIAL FRENCH PAPER.

Quebec, Feb. 28.—Much interest was aroused in political circles today by the announcement that Thomas Cote would shortly join the staff of the Patrie newspaper. What his exact position will be is not yet announced, but it is believd that he will become the political director of the paper and the appointment is regarded as significant and as indicating that Mr. Tarte's paper will give its full support to the Laurier government. Mr. Cote was formerly political manager of the Presse. He is a close confidant of Sir Wilfrid Laurier and has been entrusted with a number of important missions of late years, having been one of the Canadian representatives at the Brussels exposition, and also being secretary on the Waterways commission. When the late Mr. Tarte was the guiding spirit of the Patrie, the paper was strongly Protectionist and the Tarte traditions have hitherto been lived up to in the conduct of the paper. Under the able management of Mr. Tarte's son, Joseph Tarte, the Patrie has become one of the most influential of the French-Canadian dailies and has hitherto pursued an independent course in politics, having lately been outspoken in its opposition to certain features of the reciprocity arrangement. Much curiosity is expressed as to whether Mr. Cote's appointment will mean a change in this respect.

Ferrie's Mayor Resigns.

Fernie, Feb. 27.—Mayor Bleasdell sent his written resignation as mayor to the city clerk Saturday and at a special meeting of the council Saturday night, J. L. McIntyre was elected to act as mayor until an election can be held to name a successor.

LET PEOPLE RULE OR HIRE A KING

SPEAKING IN BEHALF OF RESOLUTION FOR DIRECT ELECTION OF SENATORS, RAYNER ADVOCATES U. S. MONARCHY.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 28.—If we can't govern ourselves, let us have a king, was the meat of an address by Rayner, of Maryland, in the senate today, speaking of the resolution for the direct election of the United States senators.

"I would rather trust the people than a legislature," said Rayner, "and I consider the carrying out of this resolution would be the great political reform in a generation.

"If the people haven't the intelligence and the capacity to select their own representatives then we had better submit a constitutional amendment and change the government to a monarchy. If the people must have political slave masters let us invest them with royal power, for it will have been shown that the republic is a failure.

"One senator has said that the resolution before this chamber would wreck the constitution and founder the ship of state. I venture to say that no amendment will ever be made to the constitution that will impair the spirit of that instrument. The ship of state will easily weather a gale that has practically spent itself in this chamber. It may be necessary to change pilots, to jettison part of the cargo, the shores may be strewn with stranded hulks, but, armed with manhood and courage, the honor of the nation and the ship of state are safe."

"THE KISSING GIRL."

Whistlers Revel in Song Hits of "Kissing Girl."

Of the twenty-one song numbers with which "The Kissing Girl" abounds are many which will be freely whistled after its presentation here.

Harry Hermson, the comedian, has as his allotment of the "goodies," "Good Old German Beer," a rattling drinking song that vies with Gustav Luders' "Old Heidelberg" in "The Prince of Pilsen," and a stirring song and chorus, "On the B—— on the Bou ——on the Boulevard."

Miss Texas Guinan has dainty numbers in "A Little Band of Gold," and "Kiss the One You Love."

Thomas Whiffen has two catchy ones in the pompous "Major General Pumpernickel" and a patter song, "The Hair of the Dog That Bit You." Venita Fitzhugh has a fine romance in "Love Is Like a Rose;" she also sings a waltz song that shows to great advantage the brilliant quality of her pure colorature. Ida Fitzhugh has a quaint German folk song full of humor.

COURT DEMANDS AN INVESTIGATION

JUDGE WHITFORD WANTS THE CHARGES THAT HE WAS PAID $3,000 BEFORE SENTENCING MINERS PROBED.

Denver, Feb. 28.—District Judge Whitford appeared today in the criminal court here and demanded a grand jury investigation of statements made before a legislative committee by Mrs. Margaret Miller that she had handed Whitford $3000 in cash three days before he sentenced sixteen miners to jail for contempt, incurred in violating an injunction issued by him.

The statement of Mrs. Miller was made before a committee investigating impeachment proceedings brought against Whitford by the Federation of Labor. She alleged that a man, whose name was not revealed, gave her the $3000 and asked her to hand it to Whitford, giving her $10 for her trouble. She said this man was formerly an agent for the Mine Owners' Association of Cripple Creek. She asserted that her conscience inspired her to appear voluntarily before the committee and tell her story.

Mrs. Miller is out of the penitentiary on parole, having been sentenced to serve a term on the charge of having killed Mrs. Sarah Alt, of Cripple Creek.

Judge Whitford appeared personally in court, recited in full the charge made against him by Mrs. Miller and said:

"If this charge is true I should not be impeached, but indicted, convicted and sentenced to the penitentiary for the full term of the statutory period."

Criminal Judge Bliss promised to consider Judge Whitford's request.

NEW WILL OF TOLSTOI.

Trustees Are to Buy Land With the Proceeds of Property.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 28.—It is reported that another will of Count Leo Tolstoi has been discovered, and that it prevents the intended disposal of his literary property to his widow.

Soon after Tolstoi's death a will was found, but the one recently discovered is of later date, it is said, and renders the first one void.

The new will, if the reports are correct, leaves all the great author's literary property to trustees, who are instructed to devote all the profits to the purchase of land to be divided among the peasants of his old estate.

According to the former will, the Countess Tolstoi was to receive all the estate and all the profits from Tolstoi's books for the next twenty-one years.

PLAGUE RAVAGES ADD TO FAMINE HORROR

JOHN F. CONNELL, RETURNED FROM ORIENT, DESCRIBES THE NEEDS OF CHINESE—OUTSIDE MUST HELP THEM AT ONCE.

Seattle, Feb. 28.—Not only does death from famine stalk in the Yangtse valley of China, but death by the pneumonic plague is reaping a terrible harvest in Manchuria, says John Jerome Connell, who has just arrived in Seattle from a stay of eleven years in the Orient.

Mr. Connell is of the firm of Connell Bros., importers and exporters of Seattle and Oriental ports. His brother, Morris J. Connell, is a well known resident of the city, and is in charge of the firm's business offices at 77 Marion street.

Manchuria's Fearful Death Rate.

"Those who have not visited the Yangtse valley and Manchuria, cannot realize the terrors that now exist in those sections. Our Shanghai office, where I have had my headquarters for the last eleven years has just received a report of the plague's terrible ravages in Manchuria. This report says the death rate from the plague has reached 100 out of every thousand of the 15,000,000 people living in Manchuria.

"With the ground frozen from eight to fifteen feet deep and intense cold weather prevailing, the people are dying so fast that they cannot be buried. The bodies are left to lie where they fall after death comes.

Railway Traffic Stopped.

"All traffic has been stopped on the Chinese railway between Peking and Shanghai Kwan at the Chinese wall to prevent the spread of the plague, which is an extremely contagious disease.

"While I have not visited the famine-stricken districts in the Yangtse valley since the present famine has existed, I know well of the terrible conditions existing. I was in Shanghai at the time of the famine four years ago, and at that time gained a personal knowledge of famine's terrors in this densely populated valley. Four years ago many were the living skeletons I saw, men, women and children, who, with their gaunt bodies, drifted in small boats down the river.

Numbers Beyond Computation.

"It would be impossible to even estimate the number of people famine-stricken. Millions live in the Yangtse valley, and undoubtedly millions are starving, and to add to the sufferings brought on by hunger the weather is intensely cold, a fact which few over here realize.

"The famine was brought on by one general failure of crops in the valley last year. It has existed in terrible form in many districts since last November. Some districts have suffered worse than others, as each district has passed laws prohibiting the shipment of food out of the district, and one district a little more fortunate than another has guarded its scant food supply, while the people in the other starved.

Only Hope From Outside

"The only hope of alleviating the suffering of these millions of people is for relief from the outside. The Chinese government no doubt will send in relief, but much more will be needed and the need will continue until the new crops are harvested next June.

"The relief work being done in Seattle and throughout the United States is badly needed and most commendable in every way."

Mr. Connell, who with Mrs. Connell, is stopping at the Perry, will be here several days before leaving for the east.

Seven freight cars were derailed early yesterday morning at Hatzic, but only slight damage was suffered. One car, containing a large quantity of dynamite, had the end torn open, several boxes of the explosive being thrown out. Fortunately the dynamite did not explode.

This evening, at an adjourned meeting of the Westminster Presbytery, to be held in St. Andrew's church, an illuminated address will be presented to Rev. Alex Dunn, who was for thirty-five years a missionary on this coast. A large number of old timers are expected to be present at the ceremony.

The journeymen barbers of this city are seeking to increase the price of hair cuts from twenty-five to thirty-five cents, and make the charge for honing razors fifty cents instead of twenty-five. On the occasion of the severing of his connection with the Royal City Mills, where he had been employed for about fifteen years, Alderman A. W. Gray was yesterday evening presented with a handsome Morris chair, the gift of the company and the employees. James Young, accountant at the mills, made the presentation after a short speech in which he referred in complimentary terms to Mr. Gray's many accomplishments.

Commencing today, the whole territory within the city of Westminster will be served by mail carriers, F. A. Dailey having been added to the delivery force in order to permit the extension of the system to the limits of Sapperton and that section of the town between Eighth and Tenth avenues. Sapperton will be attended to in the morning and the other district in the afternoon, only one delivery each day being made. Postmaster J. MacDonald makes a request of the residents of those districts that they have their mail in future addressed to their street and house number, this being necessary in order to facilitate delivery.

The star witness for the prosecution in the case against John Toouey, who was charged before Judge Howay as being the man who held up and robbed with violence Harry Howell, of Vancouver, broke down yesterday when the case was called. Before the magistrate, Howell had sworn that prisoner was the man who held him up and on that evidence Toouey took his trial, but yesterday Howell was not sure that his previous evidence was correct. On the witness stand Howell repeatedly stated that he would not be positive just who throttled him two weeks ago on McNeely street. "If," he said, "I am wrong, I beg a thousand pardons." Without calling on the prisoner, who had pleaded not guilty, the court discharged Toouey from custody.

The funeral of Miss Jessie Roy, who died early yesterday morning, will take place this afternoon from her father's residence, Ash street.

The funeral of Mrs. D. Welsh, who died on Monday evening, at the age of sixty-six, will take place at half past two o'clock this afternoon from the residence of her son, C. A. Welsh, Sixth street. Interment will be in the Odd Fellows' cemetery, Rev. C. W. Brown officiating.
