SUGGESTS METHOD

Would Make Teaching More Practical.

REV. WILSON IS ADVOCATE

Reverend Gentleman Makes Impassioned Appeal on Behalf of the Sunday School Work.

To the Rev. R. J. Wilson, St. Andrews church, Vancouver, belongs the credit of broaching at the Sunday school conven tion, one of the most practical questions raised at the convention.

Rev. Mr. Wilson, speaking as a man familiar with pasttoral work among the young, made an able and even impassioned appeal on behalf of Sunday school work. He paid a high compliment to Mr. White, president of the association, and urged that the methods in teaching the truths of religion should be the same as those by which a boy is taught the chemical formula of the composition of water.

MEN AND RELIGION MOVEMENT PROGRESS

Christianity Is Taken Out of Cold Storage Says Henry Hood, Publicity Secretary.

New York, Oct. 26.—"We are succeeding in getting Christianity out of cold storage; the Men and Religion Forward Movement is sweeping the country. Results so far have been highly satisfactory."

This is the gist of a statement made here today by Mr. Henry Rood, publicity secretary of the Men and Religion Forward Movement, which was recently launched and will be carried through 76 cities in this country and Canada between now and next May.

According to Mr. Rood, who has just returned from the west, there are interested in the movement, as nearly as can be estimated, between five and six million men and boys.

The object of the movement is two-fold—to arouse the religious spirit among men and boys in the hope that they will bring it into their practical daily life, and as Mr. Rood expresses it, to release Christianity from cold storage, putting it to work in the community for the betterment of conditions surrounding men and women and children.

AMERICAN DICTA ON BRITISH POLICE

Cleveland Chief Thinks Royal Irish Finest Body—London Bobbies Patient and Polite.

London, Oct. 26.—London policemen, while patient and polite, have nothing on those of America, according to Police Chief Kohler, of Cleveland, who is here studying foreign police systems.

"All of the European police," he said, "have easy work, for they have only to deal with populations that are 'tamed' to authority."

He thinks the Royal Irish constabulary are the finest lot of policemen in Europe, but that they resemble soldiers more than civic officers.

Inevitable Happens.

Seattle, Oct. 26—The women voters' council today memorialized the county commissioners for relief from the inconvenience caused women doing duty of jurors by men of the jury who insist on smoking their pipes in the jury room. Eight women jurors have served during the current month, though with some inconvenience to themselves because of the smoke of which complaint is made. It was represented to the commissioners that on every jury there are two or three men who insist on smoking during the deliberations.

"I can't argue unless I can see my opponent," said a woman juror. "The jury room has been so thick with smoke on several occasions that I couldn't see my nearest neighbor."

All night sessions with the jurors reclining in comfortable chairs tilted back against the walls are objected to by the women. It is contended that the county should provide a separate jury room for the women where they could recline comfortably until morning. Women bailiffs to wait upon the female jurors are also asked. The memorial will be considered by the commissioners tomorrow.

Winter in Winnipeg.

Winnipeg, Oct. 26.—The first leg of winter arrived in Winnipeg today, and the weather bureau announced that the snowfall was over one inch.

ITALIAN FORCES MEET DISASTER

Liable to Be a Massacre if Turks Win Out in Present Battle—Europeans Preparing to Leave Tripoli.

Malta, Oct. 26.—Steamers arriving here report that the reverse to the Italian troops on October 23 was serious. While making a recognisance the troops pursued a Turkish outpost the Italians were surrounded on all sides, and three whole companies were annihilated. Many men are reported killed. Several officers were made prisoners, and it is said that after their bodies had been mutilated they were hung.

The return of the troops carrying the wounded to the number of 700 caused a great deal of excitement among the Arabs, who attempted to revolt. They fired many shots and wounded numbers of Italians.

London, Oct. 26—The Italian troops in Tripoli are in serious trouble, according to the Central News' war correspondent, in his first uncensored despatch, cabled from Malta. Their left wing is being desperately pressed at Sheraibatt, he adds, and if it is broken and the Turks come out victorious a massacre is likely.

European residents fear this and are making preparations to protect themselves as best they can in case their flight is cut off.

Two Elections.

Haileybury, Oct. 26.—The Hon. Frank Cochrane, minister of railways and canals in the new Borden government, will be elected in Nipissing by acclamation in the coming bye-election. This announcement was made by Cyril Young, president of the Temiscaming Liberal association.

St. John, N.B., Oct. 26.—Indications are that Hon. J. D. Hazen, minister of marine and fisheries and New Brunswick's representative in the Borden cabinet will be elected by acclamation at the nomination tomorrow. Socialists signified their intentions of putting a man in the field, but the election law demands that candidates should deposit $200 and they are short of cash.

McWaters Case.

In the assize court yesterday, Mrs. McWaters, wife of the prisoner, was the principal witness against her husband who stands charged with writing and sending threatening letters. The case is very much involved. To morrow the hearing proceeds.

Manufacturers Meet.

Toronto, Oct. 26.—An important conference of the transportation department of the Canadian Manufacturers' association with the representatives of explosives of the American Railway association, is being held this afternoon to discuss the regulations for the transportation of "Dangerous articles other than explosives." Regulations which the American Railway association would like to see adopted in Canada have already been approved of by the United States interstate commerce commission, and came into force on the first of this month. The American association has asked the Canadian railways to adopt the same regulations and the Dominion railway board has sent a copy to the Canadian Manufacturers' association and notified them that a hearing will be granted on November 21 at Ottawa. The regulations, if endorsed by the board, will become law.

Alberta Wants Second Census.

Winnipeg, Oct. 26.—Alberta Union of municipalities in convention at MacLeod today, on the motion of the mayors of Edmonton and Calgary, unanimously decided to request the government of the province to take another census of Alberta with the aid of the municipal machinery.

Comes to Invest.

Winnipeg, Oct. 26.—Leo Punkett, for two years sporting editor of the Free Press, returned yesterday from a two months' trip to Ireland and left this evening for Vancouver to invest a considerable sum entrusted to him by Dublin capitalists for investment there.

Czar Reported Shot.

Vienna, Oct. 26.—Reports reached here today that the Czar of Russia was wounded by a revolver shot while automobiling, and that his chauffeur was killed. The report, however, is generally discredited.

No Credit Given.

London, Oct. 26.—Vienna reports that the reported attack on the Czar of Russia is only another of the wild rumors that are periodical concerning the Czar. Officials here generally discredit the reports.

More Hunters.

These are the days that are laden with proofs of the prowess of the huntsman. Passing through the city yesterday were Mr. William Fitzpatrick, one of two brothers in Vancouver who are terribly afraid of publicity, but good men with the gun and best of good fellows socially, returned with 17 brace of pheasants. He was accompanied by E. J. Brown who looks after the distribution of the World in Vancouver. The huntsmen went up the line as far as Tom Hyland's ranch, and they are full of admiration for the sights they saw there.

EMPEROR LEAVES

On Way to Mukden to Claim Jap Protection.

NO SOLDIERS OF FORTUNE

Troops Reported to Have Killed Their Own General—In Battle Much Blood Is Spilled.

Shanghai, Oct. 26. — A Chinese newspapers in an extra edition today announces that the minister of war, General Yin Tchan, commanding the imperial forces, has been assassinated by his own troops. The paper also states that Canton has been seized by revolutionists. Great bloodshed is reported there.

The entire province of Sze Chuen is practically controlled by the rebels. Manchu officials, high and low, some wearing disguises, are coming into Shanghai from every quarter. All try to find refuge in the foreign concessions.

Native newspapers which are widely circulated south of the Yang Tse Kiang announce positively that the emperor and his family are prepared to start for Mukden, Manchuria where protection has been guaranteed them by the Japanese. Later, it is stated, the imperial family will be conducted to the United States.

Further Defections to Rebels.

Peking, Oct. 26.—Further defections to the rebels, including Nan Chang, capital of the province of Kiang Si, and Kwei Lin, capital of Kwang Si, have served to increase the tension here of the revolution.

Trains go down to the south laden with soldiers and equipment, but they do not return. The troops set forth with sufficient ammunition; then quantities of ammunition follow, but no commissiariat supplies There are rumors of mutinies, retreats and desertions. It is now said that the engine drivers, who previously were reported as having been shot for refusing to take trains forward, were shot because they proceeded, when the soldiers did not desire to meet the enemy.

The Chinese papers report that the troops at Cheng-Tu, the capital of Sze Chuen province, have mutinied and killed General Chang Erh-Feng, commander of the imperial forces, and joined the rebels, who now hold the capital.

Rebel Victory Confirmed.

San Francisco, Oct. 26.—Confirmation of the rebel victory over General Yin Tchang was received today from independent sources by the Ching Sai Yat Po, published in Chinatown. The cablegram says the imperial army is in a bad position as the probabilities are against relief arriving from Peking.

Other dispatches to this paper say that the foreign diplomatic body at Peking are preparing to recognize the provisional government, if the Manchus fail to crush the rebellion within three weeks. The viceroy of Canton, Chung Ming Chi, has issued a proclamation releasing the people from taxes on rice-wine, on account of the financial stress. Revolutionists have occupied the forts of Hukou, province of Kiang Si, without encountering resistance. The Tartar General Chung Chi at Nanking capital of the province of Anhui, has wired to Peking for relief.

Yielded Without Fighting.

Sianfu, capital of Chan Si province, yielded to the rebels without fighting, forcing the officials to escape in disguise. Both papers confirm the assassination of the Tartar General Fung Sen.

Acting on a report that the Chinese national assembly was trying to effect a compromise between the Manchus and the rebels, the members of the local association met and passed resolutions denouncing the assembly, which, they said, in no way represents the revolutionists and therefore has no right to act for them. Soldiers of fortune of all nationalities have been applying to the revolutionary headquarters with offers of service. So far they have been politely turned down.

Minister Is Dismissed.

Washington, Oct. 26.—Sheng Hsuan Huai, the Chinese president of the ministry of posts and negotiations, whose impeachment was demanded by the Chinese assembly because he had negotiated the foreign railway loan, has been dismissed. Tong Shao Yi has been appointed to succeed him, according to state department advices today.

Habitants to Colonize.

Winnipeg, Oct. 26.—Colonel Davidson, land commissioner and president of the Western Canada Lumber company, Winnipeg, is perfecting an active colonization movement among the French-Canadian lumbermen from the Ottawa and Gatineau valleys to British Columbia under the auspices of the Canadian Northern railway, of which company he is also land commissioner. At the Western Canada Lumber company's mills on the Fraser river there are already 200 habitant families employed and many of their friends and relatives are making preparations to leave in the spring for the far west where steady work and guarantee of good schools and churches has been made by the promoters of the invasion.

BATTLE IN MEXICO

Said to Have Been Eighty Killed.

ZAPATESTA SURPRISES ALL

Whole of War Ministry Called on Carpet—Meantime Zapatists Scatter.

Mexico City, Oct. 26.—Astounded by the realization that the forces of Zapata had entered the federal district, sacked a town and then stood off a detachment of the federal army killing and wounding more than half the soldiers sent against them, the chamber of deputies demanded that the acting minister of war and the minister of the interior appear before that body today and render full reports regarding the insurrection and what measures have been taken for its suppression.

Late yesterday afternoon came a report that substantially confirmed the news that another slight encounter between federals and rebels had occurred, this time within two miles of Hechilmico. This news increased the tension in the chamber. Francisco I. Madero shared the denunciation levelled at the government by excited deputies and the galleries applauded.

Milpa Alta today is in the hands of the government troops. Moving northward through Morelos is General Casco Lopez at the head of a considerable force. The Zapatists are scattered in small bands throughout the surrounding hills. The government officials state that the rebels are retreating toward Morelos, but the skirmish near Hechilmico indicates that a portion at least are nearer the capital than they were yesterday.

At Milpa Alta some 50 bodies remain unburied. In the Milpa Alta battle it is estimated that 85 or 90 were killed, three-fourths of them federals.

RENNIE—SINCLAIR.

An interesting ceremony took place last evening at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Sinclair, Third street, when the Rev. J. S. Henderson united in marriage their second daughter, Maude Rhea, and Mr. George H. Rennie, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. John Rennie, Keary street, Sapperton.

Promptly at eight o'clock, to the strains of Mendelssohn's Wedding March, played by Mrs. Pooke, aunt of the groom, the bridal party entered the drawing room, and took their places under an exceptionally beautiful bell of white carnations and chrysanthemums.

The bride was very handsome in a lovely gown of ivory satin, trimmed with real lace and pearl corsage, and the customary veil and orange blossoms. She wore a shamrock brooch of solid pearls, the gift of the groom, and carried an exquisite bouquet of white carnations.

The sister of the bride, Miss Gertrude Sinclair, was a charming maid in a pale blue silk dress, prettily trimmed and a large bouquet of pink carnations. Her gift from the groom was a ruby ring. Little Agnes Sinclair in a pink frock with a basket of pink crysanthemums made a dainty flower girl. Both the groom and his best man, Mr. Thomas Rennie, are popular members of the New Westminster lacrosse team.

Mrs. Sinclair was becomingly dressed in black silk. Mrs. Rennie, mother of the groom, was very handsome in a gown of brown silk trimmed with Irish lace.

After the bride and groom had received the congratulations of their friends, an adjournment was made to the dining room, where dainty refreshments were served. A large array of handsome gifts attest to the good wishes of a host of friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Rennie motored to Vancouver, whence they leave for a short honeymoon. On their return they will reside in their new home on First street.

Work at Standstill.

Prince Albert, Sask., Oct. 26.—Despite statements to the contrary work on the Hudson Bay railway is at absolute standstill. Everything is tied up tighter than a drum and it is apparent that no more construction work will be done this year. Much of the work in the country traversed by the line is of such a nature that it can be done profitably in the winter. On the Canadian Pacific all work through Muskeg county was done in cold weather, wheelbarrows being used and soft earth being cut out solid. For a long stretch the new line is through this class of land and there is nothing to prevent a vigorous prosecution of the enterprise during the next six months. Not a tap is being done at the present time by any contractor and it is not expected that any active construction work will be done for many months. It is said the contract given to J. D. McArthur, of Winnipeg, is to be investigated by the department of railways.

Laurier Chooses Soulanges.

Montreal, Oct. 26.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier stated today that he would sit for Soulanges and resign in Quebec East. The Liberals will hold East Quebec in the bye-election, their majority being large, but they would certainly lose Soulanges. To avoid that result Sir Wilfrid has decided to break with the riding which for 24 years has provided him with a seat.

SNOWDEN APPEARS NEXT TUESDAY

Comments Made on Charge in Blotter—Who Will Get Twenty-five Hundred Dollar Reward.

There are no new developments in the Urquhart murder case today and it is not expected that there will be until Snowden, accused of the murder, appears before the court again next Tuesday. The action of the police in laying a charge of murder against Snowden may indicate their possession of evidence of which no inkling has been made public. Usually when a man is arrested on suspicion, a technical charge of vagrancy is laid against him, but in this instance Snowden was at once charged with the murder of Urquhart.

There is a $2500 reward for the person supplying information leading to the arrest and conviction of the murderer of William Urquhart, but no one knows yet who will get the money in the event of Snowden's conviction. The police do not divulge the name of the Nanaimo woman from whom it is supposed they got some valuable information and there are also some others who may figure in the reward.

G. T. P. Report.

London, Oct. 26.—Mr. Smithers, presiding at the Grand Trunk Pacific railway meeting today, said that notwithstanding the heavy increase in expense the company had been able to maintain the policy of improvement indicated at the last meeting. Over $500,000 had been expended in increased wages, but the percentage of working expenses was a trifle under that of the last half year. The company will prepare to issue scrip certificates in January. The greatest difficulty now was the immense rise in the cost of labor due to the great prosperity of the last seven years.

ROYALTY PLANS FOR THE DURBAR

Children of Reigning Household Will Be Left in Charge of Queen Dowager.

During the absence of their Majesties the king and queen at the Durbar in India Princess Mary and the younger Prince will be left with Queen Alexandria, who, as all the world knows, delights in her grandchildren, and has done affection to so turned by all the young royalties. As was said by one who knew, "been Alexandra spoils her grandchildren outrageously." (Much like other grannies we know of!)

The great Kitchener Pasha is—if he admires at all—an admirer of the so-called old-fashioned woman. A friend of the Pasha's once said he had heard Lord Kitchener remark: "It is the home woman who has it all her own way."

Queen Mary will wear her Coronation robes at the Durbar ceremony, but the Koh-i-Noor will be added to the jewels in her crown. An Indian superstition says that while this historic stone brings luck to a woman wearer, for a man to wear it is an invitation to disaster, and it is partly out of deference to this belief that the jewel was not set in the crowns of King Edward and King George Some wonderful cloth-of-gold dresses are being made for queen Mary. They will be lavishly decorated with embroideries especially made in India.

Three Girls Lost.

The authorities of the Monastery of the Good Shepherd in Fairview have enlisted the aid of the police in their search for three little girls who disappeared from the convent grounds yesterday afternoon about 5 o'clock. The eldest of the girls is 14 years of age and as all three are recently arrived from Belgium and can not speak a word of English the Sisters are very anxious about them.

Death Presumed.

London, Oct. 26.—Scotland Yard, baffled after 19 years of investigation into the disappearance of William Robertson Litterdale, a west of England bank manager, has finally stepped aside for the courts, which will now listen to Litterdale's heirs and pass upon his death.

Litterdale, young, affairs flourishing, engaged to marry, disappeared a few days before his wedding day, 19 years ago.

Later his obituary appeared in the London papers, and then there came a letter from Miss B. A. H. Vining, an old love of his. The letter to Miss Chapman contained $2500 of Litterdale's money, and stated that he had died aboard Miss Vining's yacht, the Foresight. It concluded with: "He was true to you."

Since then Litterdale, Miss Vining nor her yacht have not been seen or heard of, and the courts are now expected to presume Litterdale's death.

McNamara Trial.

Los Angeles, Oct. 26.—Reports from Indianapolis today that a federal grand jury would investigate the so-called McNamara dynamiting cases supplied a theme for consideration by counsel for the defence of John J. and James B. McNamara, and attracted attention in the offices of District Attorney John D. Fredericks as well. Clarence S. Darrow, for the defence, telegraphed to Indianapolis for more information. A lull in court proceedure today while a new venire was being summoned, gave opportunity for consideration of the situation.

NO NEED FOR ALARM

Dr. McEwen Opines Diphtheria Sporadic Only.

EPIDEMIC NOT LIKELY

Few Cases that Have Occurred in the Schools Have Been Contracted Outside.

In face of the fact that four of the rooms in the Lord Kelvin school were closed yesterday—those of Miss Ross, Miss Smith, Miss Peebles and Miss Lord—because a certain pupil or certain pupils had contracted diphtheria, Dr. McEwen states that he does not believe that there is any danger of an epidemic of this disease in the city. The doctor says that there are to his knowledge but three or four cases among the school children and that there is no grave cause for alarm.

The rooms at the Lord Kelvin school have been closed as a matter of precaution in order that they may be fumigated and that everything that is possible may be done to prevent a spread of the illness.

Doctor Jones said that one or two cases had come under his notice, but that he could go on record as believing there was no immediate danger of the contagion spreading.

Everything that it is possible to do will be carried out at once and all the rooms where pupils have been who are suffering will be thoroughly taken care of. It is not supposed that any one of these rooms will have to remain closed today.

In the opinion of Dr. McEwen each case of diphtheria which has developed has been contracted elsewhere than in the city schools.

FALSE MONEY IS HELP TO REBELLION

Substitutes Counterfeit Coins for Real Money—Clever Work by Rebels.

Los Angeles, Oct. 26.—F. N. Guilerrez and Gumesindo Valenzuela, alleged by government secret service operatives to be the heads of a gang of Mexican counterfeiters, pleaded guilty in Judge Olin Wellborn's federal court today and will be sentenced next Monday.

Secret Service Agent Hasen declared the men to be the cleverest and most successful counterfeiters that ever operated on this coast. From papers seized in Valenzuela's room it appears that he was the treasurer of the Los Angeles Junta in charge of the insurrection in Lower California. This junta collected money from Mexicans for their cause. In place of the good money officers declared, counterfeits were substituted with the result that great sums of bogus coins were sent into Mexico to finance the insurrection.

CANADA AND INDIA TO BE CONNECTED

C. P. R. Considers Question of Steamship Line of Which Montreal Will Be Terminus.

Montreal, Oct. 26.—It was officially announced this morning that the Canadian Pacific railway steamship officials have under consideration at the present moment a proposal for an Indo-Canadian steamship line. It is further stated that there is every likelihood of the scheme being adopted immediately.

Montreal, it is said, will be the summer port and St. John the winter station, with Calcutta as the Indian port. With the durbar coming on, and the present prospects for trade, the new line looks to have a bright future.

Operator Takes a Hand.

Lisbon, Oct. 26.—How the royalist revolution fell, is just learned here. A woman was at the bottom of it, and she was an obscure "hello girl." Sitting at her switch board in Vinhaes, she learned of the approach of Captain Couceiro and his army. Before the invaders could cut the wires she telephoned the news in every direction at her disposal for relaying to the capital and to the republican armies throughout the country. As a result the royalist invaders were taken completely by surprise and easily put to rout. The war minister is now investigating the story of how a girl saved the republic.

Stork's Big Burden.

Montreal, Oct. 26.—An Austrian gave birth to triplets in Montreal maternity hospital today. This is the first time the stork has brought so many at once to the hospital.

SOCIAL WORK OF SALVATION ARMY

Mrs. Bramwell Booth at Massey Music Hall, Toronto, Heard by Lieutenant-Governor.

Mrs. Bramwell Booth recently addressed an audience that taxed the capacity of Massey Music Hall on "The Social Work of the Salvation Army." His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario, Hon. J. M. Gibson, presided at the meeting, which had also an element of vice-regal approval, for in reply to a message of welcome sent to their Royal Highnesses the Duke and Duchess of Connaught at Ottawa the following was read:

"The Duke and Duchess of Connaught very much appreciate the welcome of the Salvation Army Congress."

Mayor Geary and Mr. Justice Sutherland were present at the meeting and at the conclusion made brief addresses on a vote of thanks to His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor for his presence.

Tribute to Army Work.

In introducing Mrs. Booth to the big audience, Hon. Mr. Gibson said he knew of no better way to spend Sunday afternoon than to attend such a meeting as that he addressed. There was no significance in his presence as an individual, he said, but the audience could attach all the significance it liked to his presence there as the representative of the Province of Ontario. It was many years since he was a convert to the usefulness of the Salvation Army in solving the social problems of the country. He eulogized the missionary work of the army, and said: "You do missionary work which the Christian church confesses is not being done so thoroughly by their organizations. Now, I am not disparaging the work f the Christian churches or minimizing their work, but I do say that the Salvation Army is doing scial work which is not being so efficiently or successfully done by church organizations. Theoretically, the churches are doing social work, but practically the churches do not get down to the masses. In Hamilton some years ago I presided at a big meeting held in Drill Hall and at which General Booth was the commanding figure. No name is better known to the world than his, and it gives me great pleasure to introduce to this audience a member of the general's household, Mrs. Bramwell Booth."

Applause for Mrs. Booth.

Mrs. Booth on rising was greeted with prolonged applause. She said that this was in reality the first Sunday she had spent in Canada, although she spent the preceding Sunday on board the liner in the St. Lawrence river. She chose "The Social Work of the Salvation Army" as the subject of her address because it was the work in which she was especially interested and with which she had most to do. This social work, she said, was part and parcel of the world-wide Salvation Army activities. The work was now conducted in fifty-nine countries and in twenty-eight languages. Mrs. Booth cited two or three incidents illustrating and emphasizing the world-wide character of the Salvation Army's work. She said that the international character of the work enabled the Army to do great things along social lines.

Referring to one phase of this social work, that of taking care of little children, Mrs. Booth said that sad conditions had been revealed to the army in many countries. She thought conditions would be much better in Canada than in England, but she cited an incident in Toronto, which, she said, showed that conditions were not ideal here.

Reviewing the origin and growth of the social work of the army, Mrs. Booth told of how she was commissioned by General Booth to do this work in the east end of London and the misgivings she had at first. The work was a great success and she said that in London today there were 756 institutions with accommodation for over 30,000 people who were fallen, weak and needing care, morally and physicially. In conclusion, Mrs. Booth made an appeal for more officers for the work.

WHEN HE REACHES THE GOAL.

The Airman Forgets Anguish of Start and Dangers of the Journey.

"As in a balloon ascent," writes an aviator, "the airman has not the impression of rising, but it seems rather as if the earth is sinking beneath one. Everything blends together and dwindles away. Houses look like dice thrown on a billiard table, the largest cities seem like Liliputian towns, the bas-relief melts away, roads, rivers and railways appear to wind their way in a child's model landscape toy. Only the sea and lofty mountains are spared in this wholesale diminution and they always impose on the airman respectful admiration mixed with a very lively sentiment of fear.

"Intoxicated by the sight, the airman mounts and mounts, his machine pointing upward. Far beneath him the distant earth lies flattened out. Human sounds no longer reach his ear, deafened by the motor's roar. Suddenly, appalled by the utter sense of solitude, he rights his machine and planes horizontally over the hills and hollowed valleys.

"There are no more roads, nor bridges, nor barriers; forests, marshes and lakes—— for the airman no more; the road is straight and clear in all directions and on every side. It is then that man has the real sensation of flying, of having conquered the air as he has conquered the ocean, moving in it, playing in it, at his fancy, with a machine of his own invention, obedient to his slightest gesture, rising, falling, wheeling and diving with the grace and lightness of the bird.

"The danger? But it is for the very reason of the danger that man loves flying. It is because his fair young conquest threatens at every instant to destroy him that man loves it. But in the great cross-country races man has yet another delight. He has not alone the sensation of fighting against air's treacherous element, but of striving in it against other men, winged like himself."

MODERN SCIENCE AND TOOTHACHE

Torch of Scientific Research Applied to Century-Old Ailment—Should Care for Teeth.

In the fight against any disease the battle is half won when we know the germ that produces the disease and how it does it. If parents knew just what caries or decay of the teeth is, none of them would neglect taking precautons to prevent it in the mouths of their children as well as in their own.

Caries is produced by certain bacteria or germs in the mouth. If there is an unclean spot on a tooth these bacteria are able to stick there. Once on the tooth they become covered by a gelatinous or mucoid covering, the bacteria and their covering being called a "plague." Under the protection of this covering they act on carbohydrate foods, such as starch and sugar, and produce an acid. This acid produced right against the tooth at this point forms a small cavity.

Every cavity begins in this way. The idea that some teeth are "soft" and so doomed to decay is not correct. Neither is it the acid in the saliva, that produces decay. If it were strong enough to do so what would it do to the cheeks and tongue? No tooth, whatever its structure, will decay if kept absolutely clean.

If some persons have more cavities than others it is only because there is something in the form of the teeth or the nature of the saliva that tends to uncleanliness of the tooth surface. In addition, as the acid which produces decay is formed from starch and sugar, an excess of these foods in thediet may be the cause.

LUCKY LAST LOOK

It Preserved the Declaration of Independence in 1814.

SAVED IT FROM THE BRITISH.

The Precious Document Would Have Been in the State Department When It Was Burned but For Pleasonton's Final Glance Around the Room.

Comparatively few of the present generation know how near to being lost was once the most precious of our national documents, the Declaration of Independence. It was during the war of 1812. The Declaration of Independence hung for many years in a frame in the state department in the room then occupied by Stephen Pleasonton. Mr. Beaseley, commissary of prisoners of war in London, forwarded to the state department some London newspapers, stating that the English fleets and transports were receiving troops at Bordeaux, France, with the intention of operating against Washington and Baltimore. Soon after it was learned that the British fleet was in Chesapeake bay and that it was ascending the Patuxent. The officials and citizens of the little capital city were hourly expecting an attack.

Upon receipt of this information, which was a few days before the enemy entered Washington, Mr. Monroe, then secretary of state, James Madison being president, mounted his horse, rode to Benedict, a small village on the Patuxent, where the British forces were being landed, and climbed an eminence within a quarter of a mile of the village, in order to ascertain the strength of the enemy. Being convinced, after his inspection, that we had no force available that could successfully resist them, he sent a note to Mr. Pleasonton by a vidette, advising him to see that the best care was taken of the books and papers of the state department.

Acting at once upon this authority, Mr. Pleasonton purchased some coarse linen and had it made into bags of suitable size, in which he, assisted by others in the office, placed the books and other papers.

While engaged in this work General Armstrong, then secretary of war, passing the state department on his way to his own office, remarked that he thought they were unnecessarily alarming themselves, as he did not think the British were serious in their intentions of coming to Washington. Fortunately Mr. Pleasonton was of a different opinion, and observed that it was the part of prudence to take measures to preserve these valuable papers of the revolutionary government. Had Mr. Pleasonton delayed but a few days, had he followed the advice of the secretary of war, an irreparable loss would have been sustained. For the bagges which Mr. Pleasonton had placed in the coarse linen bags comprised the secret journals of congress, then not published; the correspondence of General Washington, his commission, resigned at the close of the war; the correspondence of General Greene and other officers of the Revolution, as well as laws, treaties and correspondence of the department of state from the adoption of the constitution down to that time.

Mr. Pleasonton had the bags carted to a grist mill, which he selected as a suitable depository. The mill, which was unoccupied, belonged to Edgar Patterson and was situated on the Virginia side of the Potomac, beyond the Chain bridge, two miles above Georgetown.

The last load had left, and Mr. Pleasonton was just quitting the vacant rooms when, glancing back suddenly to see whether anything had been left behind, to his consternation he saw the Declaration of Independence, which had been overlooked, hanging upon the wall. He hastily cut it out of the frame and carried it away with the other papers.

He then began to be uneasy about the place he had chosen, for if the British took Washington, which he firmly believed they would do, and very soon at that, they would in all probability detach a force for the purpose of destroying a foundry for the making of cannon and shot in the neighborhood and, of course, would consider a grist mill too valuable a thing to be left standing in a country they meant to subdue. Mr. Pleasonton therefore visited some of the Virginia farmhouses, whose owners were only too willing to loan him wagons in which to convey the documents to Leesburg, a distance of thirty-five miles. There they were deposited in an empty house, the keys of which were given to Rev. Mr. Littlejohn, who was one of the collectors of internal revenue.

Worn out with his labors, Mr. Pleasonton states in a letter, he retired early to bed that night and slept soundly. Next morning he was informed by the people of the little tavern where he had stayed that evening that they had seen during the night, the same being the 24th of August, a large fire in the direction of Washington, which proved to be the light from the public buildings, which the enemy had set on fire and burned to the ground.

When he returned to Washington on the 26th he found the public buildings still burning and learned that the British army had evacuated the city the preceding evening in the belief that the Americans were again assembling in the rear for the purpose of cutting off their retreat.—Kansas City Times.

TOMB IN A TOWER.

A Remarkable Edifice, the Whim of a Wealthy Tea Planter.

Near the well known seaport of Southampton, England, there is a remarkable edifice known as Petersen's tower. The erection is all the more singular because it marks the burying place of a certain John Petersen, a wealthy tea planter.

The man appears to have been rather an eccentric individual, and in order to prove to the world his belief in concrete as a building material set about the construction of this great tower. The building took many years to complete, but is entirely of concrete and by the time the final layers had been placed had reached an altitude of more than 300 feet. It is about forty years since the tower was erected, and its present condition is certainly a justification of the faith of the builder.

As has been indicated, Petersen left instructions that his body should be placed under the tower, and this was accordingly carried out. Another desire that the chamber at the summit should contain a light was defeated by the firm stand which Trinity House, the lighthouse authority, took on the matter. Such an illumination would have been visible for miles out to sea and would naturally have proved very misleading to sailors.—Scientific American.

PULLING THE COURT'S LEG.

A Practice the English Judge Did His Best to Discourage.

The following remarkable judgment was delivered some years ago by a magistrate in one of the English colonies:

"Pachua is hereby charged with having on the 11th of January followed the court on its rising and while said court was in the act of mounting into its buggy came from behind and, seizing the court's dangling leg, the other foot being on the step, forcibly pulled back the court, frightened the horse and nearly caused an accident. The reason alleged for this by accused is that he wanted to hear the result of an application of his. The practice by petitioners of pulling the courts by the legs is one that should be discouraged. Accused only says he is a poor man, admitting the truth of the complaint. He is sentenced to one month's rigorous imprisonment."

Strange to relate, the lieutenant governor of the province on reading this sentence felt it necessary to intimate to the magistrate that neither the sentence itself nor the peculiar phraseology in which it was couched was calculated to meet with approval from minds running in legal grooves.

Berne and Its Bears.

Berne is surrounded by the blue green river Aare, and seven bridges cross into the picturesque suburbs; the view of the Alps is one of the finest to be had. One may walk through the streets of Berne, writes an American visitor, and find constant surprises. The odd fountains will be observed with interest. They were mostly built in the sixteenth century. There are a number of public institutions worth a visit—the historical museum, museum of industry and the museums of art and nature; several libraries and the public gardens, which contain the great bear pit so universally known, to say nothing of the quaint gates and the headquarters of the Postal union. Bears have been kept on public exhibition in Berne since 1480 in commemoration of the killing of one by the Duke of Zahringen on the site of the town.

When the Guitar Arrived.

The advent of the English guitar in the eighteenth century caused the disappearance of bandores, poliphants and similar wire strung instruments, or, rather, it supplanted them, for, owing to the use of fingers, the English guitar, though smaller, could be used for accompanying the voice as well as for solo performances. The instrument, which had a decorative appearance, is frequently depicted in the portraiture of the eighteenth century. It was made in various sizes, two of the smaller "to be managed by young ladies from seven to ten years of age, the other by ladies of ten and upward."

Fish Delusions.

There are two popular delusions about fish—one that they cannot live out of water and the other that they can live in any pure water, the food supply taking care of itself. As a matter of fact, there are fish in Africa which, having to exist in absolutely dry rivers for a portion of the year, have developed lungs, while in many an amateur's aquarium fish cannot live in the water provided owing to lack of food.

Suspicious.

"Very suspicious man, they say."

"Very. Bought a dictionary last week, and now he's counting the words to see if it contains as many as the publishers claim."

True Courage.

True courage has so little to do with anger that there lies always the strongest suspicion against it where this passion is highest. True courage is cool and calm.

Cheerful.

"She's of a very cheerful disposition, isn't she?"

"Yes, indeed. She even sings while washing dishes."—Detroit Free Press.

There are few things reason can discover with so much certainty and ease as its own insufficiency.—Collier.

THE MARRIAGE QUESTION.

There are many Canadians who voted against Sir Wilfrid's government at the last election because the head of that government was of French descent and Catholic in religion. Unless men who voted thus were under the firm belief that Sir Wilfrid had subserved the interests of his country to race or church, then they were merely acting on prejudice. There was and is a strong feeling throughout Canada on the marriage question. Somehow or other it got into the minds of the people that Mr Borden would be more likely to take up the Quebec scandal than Sir Wilfrid. The marriage question was far from a leading factor in the elections but it was a factor.

There will be few dissenting voices, even among Roman Catholics, from the principle laid down in the following resolution passed by a standing vote at the Ecumenical Conference the other day:

"Resolved, that this Ecumenical Methodist Conference repudiate the principal that any church decree should have power to override the civil law, and that any marriage consummated by any lawfully authorized persons, whatever be the religious beliefs of the contracting parties, shall be valid and inviolable."

It has been well said that whatever it may be in the sight of the Almighty, marriage in the eyes of the State is a civil contract carrying with it certain obligations, for non-compliance with which definite penalties are prescribed. Clergymen in this country who perform the marriage ceremony are the agents of the State, from which alone they receive their authority to act. The State, represented by the various provincial governments, might at any time transfer the power of performing the marriage ceremony to town clerks, registrars, or other secular officials, leaving to the clergy of various denominations such unofficial supplementary rites and ceremonies as the contracting parties might desire, and without which they might not regard their union as a true marriage in the sight of God. It is to be hoped that no such drastic action will be necessary in Canada to vindicate the right of the State to control the civil ceremony of marriage. Present conditions cannot be permitted to continue. The State must be supreme, and all marriages performed by its authority must be recognized by all citizens and all churches as valid and inviolable.

It is through the central parliament that the general voice of the Dominion is heard, and it is not at all unlikely that a debate on the marriage question may be precipitated there on the assembling of the House. Provincial legislatures are entrusted with the regulation of marriage laws, but if a single province pursues an arbitrary course and there is a defiance of plain, British justice, an appeal is naturally taken to the whole Dominion. It may be that Canada will yet have a general marriage law for all the provinces. It all depends on the attitude of Quebec and the strength of public, not party, opinion. Party opinion wilts in the face of the opposition of party leaders.

THE BRITISH FARMER.

In an article published in the september number of Pearson's Magazine of London, England, the editor of The Smallholder lays a scathing indictment against the British farmer as a class. Being a prominent agriculturist expert, his case is not prepared without knowledge and is, in fact, a very strong plea for reform of the whole system of British agriculture. He calls the phrase that "English farmers are the best in the world" a mischievous lie. "The truth is," he says, "that some English farmers are today the world's pioneers in every branch of successful farming, because they have made farming a real and constructive business as much as the successful manufacturer and merchant, while the rest live on the land because they cannot do anything else." Certainly the instances he adduces, both of successful and unsuccessful farming in England, are remarkable enough to stimulate public interest in the science of modern husbandry. Nine out of ten farmers, he declares, are firmly convinced that wheat growing does not pay. But on one large farm at Sawbridgeworth, wheat has been grown continuously since 1860, returning a clear average profit of $15 an acre. Another Wiltshire farmer, on a once poor soil, has raised his average wheat yield to over 40 bushels an acre and his oat crop to no less than 80 bushels. Potato cultivation affords another valuable basis of comparison, one farmer in Staffordshire giving it up because he could never average more than five tons to the acre, while a Scotiish farmer has obtained as much as 26 tons, and never less than 16 tons per acre.

Another section of the article answers the question why Danish dairy farmers beat their English competitors. The rise of Denmark to its commanding position as a successful producer of milk and its products, is attributed entirely to its scientific methods. The Danes have an account against Britain for butter running up to $70,000,000, and sends every year pork and bacon to the tune of $40,000,000. Belgium, with a denser population to the square mile than England, produces from each cultivated acre $100 worth of food. England produces $20 worth. Altogether, the editor of The Smallholder puts up a very strong argument for radical reforms in British agriculture, and for a readjustment of the relations between agriculture and the The Journal of the Board of Agricul- The Juornal of the Board of Agriculture contains an article on the growth of the co-operative movement in Denmark, which country, largely on that account, is now second wealthiest in Europe per head of population. The first step taken in the movement was the formation of a co-operative supply store, which was folloed by a co-operative dairy. From that movement has gradually developed, until today there is not a single matter of interest affecting the farmer that is not touched by it. along with the movement has come the expansion of the small holding system, which has increased the rural population, checked emigration, and made Denmark a prosperous and industrious nation of farmers and workers.

He Got the Joker.

In the station restaurant the ham sandwiches were piled high upon the end of the counter when the 11:30 pulled in. The passengers had ten minutes to get a lunch, and the short, fat man realized this as he rushed in and called for a sandwich. The waiter picked up one the buns, and slid it half way down the counter to the hungry one. When the short fellow looked and saw there was no ham between the bun he slid it back up the counter, at the same time exclaiming, "Deal these over again, waiter; I got the joker."—National Monthly.

SPORTS

RIFLE ASSOCIATION.

The final shoot of the season will be held on Thanksgiving Day. A commencement will be made on the range at Brownsville at 1 o'clock.

The season now closing has been one of the most successful in the history of the association. At Richmond range, the team fully justified their presence among some of the crack shots of the province. The prize list in the annual shoot in September last was, thanks to the generosity of merchants and others of the city, a large one. At present, on the season's record, Mr. H. Lindahl is highest for the Mrs. Abbott's prize, with a score of 98. He has as a close second Mr. J. C. Chamberlin. The likely winners for the prize offered by Captain Vidal are J. C. Chamberlain, 661; J. H. Vidal, 655; H. Lindahl, 647. In the matter of silver spoons, one of which has been offered weekly by the association, Mr. H. Lidahl carried off 4 and Messrs. Burr, Chamberlin, Wooster and Menzies 3 each.

N. L. U. Troubles.

Montreal, Oct. 26.—There is no doubt that a great factor in the formation of the new lacrosse union is the French Canadian element. President Cousineau of the Nationals intimated today that the Nationals intended to leave the National Lacrosse Union.

Connaught Is Patron.

Ottawa, Ont., Oct. 26.—His Royal Highness the Duke of Connaught will succeed Earl Grey as patron of the Dominion Rifle Association. As the Duke is president of the National Rifle Association of Great Britain he is now head of the two leading associations of the British Empire.

FOOTBALL.

Berkeley, Cal., Oct. 26.—Clean, hard playing marked today the first game between the All-Star British Columbia Rugby team and the University of California 'Varsity fifteen, the northerners meeting defeat by a score of 21 to 0.

The game was fast and interesting all the way, but the college men showed their greatest speed in the last half when they played in the most brilliant form they have displayed this year.

The British Columbians showed great individual knowledge of the game but were lacking in team work, as this was their first game as a team. In the loose play and dribbling rushes they showed up to advantage, but the dashing defense play of the Californians broke up every attempt at passing rushes.

The 'Varsity backs indulged in a great deal of fumbling between the spectacular passing rallies which repeatedly swept the ball down the field for a score.

The teams will meet again next Saturday and the following week will see two games between the British Columbia players and the Stanford university.

Soccer Senior Amateurs.

The team that will play St. Andrews, Vancouver, on Saturday at Moody square, and the 72nd Highlanders on Thanksgiving Day at the same place, will be chosen from the following players: Sampher, McAllister, Paterson, Collier, King, Ferguson, T. Smith, Craig, McLaren, Speedie, Petrie, Chiel, Reynolds, Alsbury, Kirby and Cadzien.

COCAINE VICTIMS A GROWING ARMY

Eminent Specialist Declares Term "Snowbirds" Familiar in Under World.

Cocaine, says an authority, is now the great looming danger of civilization, and despite determined efforts to prevent its use for other than medical purposes, the consumption is rapidly increasing. So common has the practice of snuffing cocaine become that the slang term "snowbirds" is well understood in the under world to apply to the cocaine "fiends." Since its victims revel in the white powder, the term is not ill chosen. What inroads the habit has made in Canada it is difficult to say, but it is fairly safe to assume that any fad or vice that claims many votaries on the other side of the line is sure to have some following here, the number usually preserving a constant ratio to the ratio of population in the two countries. There are druggists in British Columbia who could tell a tale about the "coke fiends" who are among their customers, and doctors who could speak of their fights to help some poor unfortunate break the terrible chains of the habit.

A Habit of Great Cities.

The authority mentioned is none other than Dr. William Jay Schieffelin, president of the National Wholesale Druggists' Association of the United States, president of the American Federation of Churches, the Laiety League, the American Church Missionary Society, chairman of the Citizens' Union, the most powerful non-partisan political organization in New York State, and chairman of the New York Committee of the Laymen's Missionary Movement. He is a great social reformer, although his name does not get into print as frequently as that of some others, but more important, in the present case, he is one of the best authorities in the United States on all questions relating to the drug business. Dr. Schieffelin says that only one-eighth of the cocaine consumed in the United States can be traced through doctors and dentists, who alone are qualified to properly administer it. This esimate applies to the whole of the United States, but as the great majority of the cocaine "fiends" live in the larger cities, the proportion is much greater there. In Philadelphia, for instance, it has been calculated that 600 times as much cocaine is used by the victims of the drug as by the doctors and dentists.

The Coca Leaves.

Cocaine seems to possess the qualities of both narcotic and stimulant. As used by medical men and dentists it is a valuable local anaesthetic, especially helpful in minor surgery for treatment of the eyes, ears and throats. Its effect as a stimulant was well described by Charles Kingsley in "Westward Ho." As used by the South American Indians it satisfies hunger, deadens fatigue, and makes breathing in high altitudes easy. The Indians obtained the drug by chewing the leaves of the coca plant, which is a small shrub that grows wild in the mountains of Peru and Bolivia, and has been cultivated, recently, in other parts of South America. Modern victims of the habit, however, never see the coca leaves. They get their concentrated essence in the form of a white ordorless, bitter-tasting powder known as cocaine. This is an alkaloid manufactured from the leaves, and is produced at the rate of ten ounces from every hundred pounds of dried leaves. Five factories in the United States are now at work manufacturing the deadly drug.

The Victims of the Drug.

Cocaine is an expensive drug, and can be bought from the wholesaler for $2.75 per ounce. It is retailed by those who make a business of ministering to the "snowbirds" at the rate of $25 an ounce. A victim can and will use about $5 worth of the drug a day if he is able to beg, borrow or steal the price of it. Certainly he cannot earn it, for the man who has fallen into the clutches of this terrible drug neither works nor sleeps, and will go without food for a long time. All sense of shame leaves the cocaine takers, and complete physical and moral degradation follow if they have not preceded the establishing of the habit. If the victim can stand the shock of being deprived of the drug for some months he may be cured, but this is the only doorway of escape. Two young men who were sent to prison for six months for stealing some of the powder were cured of the habit when they regained their liberty.

Cocaine-Selling Druggists.

Dr. Scheffelin says that most reputable druggists in the large cities sell from one to three ounces a month to physicians; but that one Brooklyn druggist purchased 60 ounces in twenty days from a wholesale dealer, and an East Side druggist purchased 64 ounces in twenty-three days. He believes that only a small fraction of the druggists will knowingly sell the stuff to a "coke fiend," but even if only one were willing to make money by doing so in every city, the news would spread rapidly, and the victims would walk miles to buy it. The question must soon arise, says the Toronto Mail and Empire, if the habit continues to grow as it it has done in the past few years, as to whether the manufacture of cocaine should not be altogether prohibited, and its possession made a felony.

BALL CHAMPIONSHIP OF THE WORLD

The Philadelphia Athletics have won the championship. In the last game Mack's merry men, on home grounds, ran wild and took victory by 13 to 2. They made seven hits and seven runs in the seventh inning.

THE TELLER OF TALES.

(A memory of "Uncle Remus.")

Somewhere from over the borderland,
Came a wonderful Teller of Tales one day;
And he walked with the children hand in hand—
The children who followed him all the way,
Who loved him the best, and who loved so well
The wonderful tales that he had to tell.

For they listened, with eager ears that heard
Of the wee, wise rabbit, king of the woods;
Of the baffled fox, and each beast and bird
That the children knew—for they understood!
And ever they followed him, hand in hand,
On his journey back to the borderland.

There the way begins and the way must end,
Though his day was bright, and his sun shone high;
And the waiting friends bade the parting friend,
As he crossed the border, a last good-bye.
Oh, sad was the world that he had to leave,
But most did the hearts of the children grieve!

They have writ his name on their hearts of gold,
And ever they'll keep his memory green,
But they tell each other the tales he told
Of the strange wood-folk, by the world unseen;
For the Teller of Tales walked hand in hand
With the children over the borderland!

Farewell

The children of the Public Schools of the Province of British Columbia, will remember His Excellency, Earl Grey, as the one who so generously increased the number of the Governor General's bronze medals, from 4 to 15, who spoke so strongly in favor of Fair Play, and who yet approved such an unfair distribution of those medals there, as to amount to a scandal.

This unfairness was set out in two statements of about twenty sheets of typewriting and presented in August last. His Excellencey was informed that the proof of the unfairness, as set out, could and would be shown to him in the records of the Parliamentary Library at Ottawa (if His Excellency so desired.)

CORRESPONDENCE.

The following extracts will be sufficient to show the result. Aug. 29, 1911—"His Excellency, the Governor General, is in communication with the Minister of Education for British Columbia on the subject of your complaint. A copy of the statement enclosed in your letter to me of 24th August has been forwarded' to him." (Sgd.) D. Malcolm, Governor General's Secretary.

Aug. 31, 1911—"A copy of the statement enclosed in your letter of 30th August has been forwarded to the Minister of Education for British Columbia for his observations." (Sgd.) D. Malcolm.

Approval.

The next letter I got was dated 22nd September, 1911. "His Excellency has made inquiries into your statements and is satisfied there is no ground for complaint as to the manner in which his silver and bronze medals are distributed among the schools of British Columbia." (Sgd. D. Malcolm.)

British Fair Play.

I at once asked for a copy of the information which caused His Excellency to decide against the children; but I have not got it yet.

Enquiries.

The following evidence given by Premier McBride's Minister of Education shows what kind of information His Excellency was liable to get from that source. (B. C. Journals, 1910; page 35.)

Q. Was a letter sent from the Education Department at some time between the first and tenth of August 1908 to Dr. E. J. Offerhaus of Lansdowne about the manner of distributing the Governor General's bronze medals? A. Yes.

K. Was E. J. Offerhaus a member of the Spallumcheen School Board. A. Yes.

. Did the letter contain these words? "With reference to the awarding of the Governor General's medals, I beg to say that these are offered to pupils of schools where there is a high school established. Armstrong and Golden are the only points outside incorporated cities where these medals are competed for." A. Yes.

Q. Whose signature was attached to that letter? A. That of the Superintendent of Education.

Q. Did Ladysmith get a bronze medal in each of the years 1906, 1907 and 1908? A. Yes.

Q. Had a High school been established there then? A. No.

Q. Did Kelowna get a bronze medal in 1907? A. Yes.

Q. Had a High school been established there then? A. No.

Q. Did Cumberland get a bronze medal in 1908? A. No.

Q. Had a High school been established there for several years? A. Yes, in 1902.

Q. Did Chilliwack get a bronze medal in any of the years 1906, 1907 or 1908? A. No.

Q. Had a High school been established there for several years? A. Yes, in 1903.

Shocking.

Examples of unfairness. A bronze medal was given in 1906 to a city school district where there was no competition, and the solitary pupil with 634 credit marks ranked 48 in the province, whilst no medal was given to the city district where six passed the examination, and the head pupil with 842 marks ranked first in the province. (Neither city had a High school.)

Scandalous.

In 1910 a bronze medal was taken away from a district which had a High school for three years, which ranked 13 in merit and 14 in competition, and the medal was given to a district where there was no High school, which ranked 35 in merit and 22 in competition.

Up-to-Date.

In 1911 a bronze medal is given to a district where 7 passed the examination, whose head pupil with 631 marks ranked 55 in the province, while the district where 14 passed and the head pupil with 827 marks, ranks 3 in the province, gets no medal.

Morality.

The moral effect upon the children should outweigh any fear of offending such an education department through His Excellency's now forwarding the medals for those pupils who have been shown to deserve them.

Warning.

The foregoing shows that there will have to be an understanding with the McBride government, that these bronze medals will be distributed, in the future, according to some fixed principle, so that there will be no chance of a recurrence of anything like the incidents cited above, whilst H. R. H. The Duke of Connaught, is our Governor General.

On behalf of the pupils of the Public Schools, of the Province of British Columbia.

JOHN N. MUIR,
Barrister and Solicitor.

107 Metcalfe Street, Ottawa,
October 7, 1911.

The foreging circular, which was distributed in Ottawa, should cause every supporter of the McBride government to think seriously. (J. N. Muir.)

SOME FACTS ABOUT FARMING IN RHODESIA

More Capital Required Than in Canada—The Road to Success.

Cape Town, Oct. 25.—Some interesting and valuable particulars of farming in Rhodesia have been given to the Times of Natal by a Natalian who has been farming for the last three years in the north. He has much to say in favor of the beauty and fertility of the country, while alleging that much of the information about the country is apt to be misleading. His experience, in a measure, reflect the less attractive side of the picture, or rather he points out the difficulties and drawbacks which have to be contended with points rarely emphasized by those whose business it is to draw attention to the merits of a new country.

It is, unfortunately, ever thus and one cannot help thinking it is an error of policy. If a man understands the difficulties he has to face and still is determined to venture, he is of the right stamp. He will quickly discover the benefits for himself, and he is the type of man who will do well and prove a valuable asset to the country. The man who is deterred by merely reading of the drawbacks is not likely to succeed in any undertaking, and too often the emigrant who has only listened to the attractive qualities of the new land finds his heart fail him when he comes face to face with obstacles he never suspected.

Must Have $5000.

This Natalian says that with regard to the amount of capital necessary, it is quite impossible to make any sort of a success of farming with less than $5000, and that this sum is only of use if combined with plenty of South African experience. In the first place, the cost of living is very high, and any returns from the land cannot possibly be expected under two years. As as instance of the cost of living, flour and sugar purchased by the bag cost 8 cents per lb., paraffin $5 per case, and tea 62 cents per lb., all of these being Salisbury prices. Building material is correspondingly expensive, and although most of the settlers are content to live in native-built huts for the first year or two, a certain amount of material is necessary even for these. Agricultural implements are from 30 per cent to 50 per cent dearer than in Natal, and carriage on these to the nearest railhead has to be taken into consideration. A wagon and oxen cost nearer $1500 than $1000, and this is supposing the settler is content to start with native cattle, which are very small being about the same size as the Zulu cattle here. Large oxen (or Colnial oxen, as they are termed) cost anything from $75 to $100 each, and are sometimes difficult to procure.

Horses also are very dear, and horse sickness is prevalent almost everywhere, so that the usual method of progression is walking.

No Roads There.

Roads are practically non-existent and axes, picks, and shovels have always to be taken on the wagon, when trekking. Of course, there are roads out to some of the more settled districts, but these are only roads in so far that the trees have been cut down, and no attempt has been made to harden or improve the track in any way. A journey of sixty miles in the rainy season will often take from a fortnight to three weeks. The country is fairly well watered, although there are large tracts of land absolutely dry, except for surface water during the rainy season.

Northern Rhodesia depends for its labor supply on Central Africa, and the Native Labor Bureau brings down batches of boys, who are indentured to the farmers for twelve months. A premium of $3.60 per boy has to be paid in advance, and this pays the expenses of bringing them down. A considerable time often elapses between the application and the boys' arrival. The bureau laborers are good and willing workers, and very clean in their habits. The local boys are Mashonas, and are an irresponsible and lazy lot, and rarely stay with an employer more than three months. They are fairly good agriculturists, but the work that they are best at is cutting timber and clearing ground.

The rate of wages is from $1.20 to $1.80 per month, and in this connection is it interesting to note that the system of handling the natives is much superior to what obtains in Natal. A ticket is given to each boy at the commencement of his month, and he is paid for each completed thirty working days, so that he really only gets ten months' pay into the year.

Boys Have Passes.

Every boy is provided with a pass on which full particulars as to his name, age, and kraal are ntered, and, in addition, the names of all his employers, the time he worked for each the rate of pay, and the date and reason for discharge, so that this is a good guide when employing a new boy. These passes are exhibited to the Native Commissioner every year, and a copy of the details to date is taken, so that when a new pass has to be issued an account of the first being lost or destroyed the boy's record can be inserted.

Lions, leopards, wild cats and wild dogs are plentiful, and all stock has to be kraaled at night in lion-proof enclosures.

Fowls do very well, and eggs always command a good price, the average being about 87 cents per dozen. The fowlhouse must be sceurely made and locked up every night, or the fowls disappear as if by magic, owing to the attentions of the wild cat. Small buck are very fond of browsing among the crops in the early morning, and do not disdain to pay the vegetable garden a visit from time to time. To keep these intruders away, fencing is necessary, and this is also an expensive item. Very few of the farms are fenced, nor is the railway line, except near the towns.

There is very little fruit grown in the country, and, in consequence, fresh fruit is scarce, most of it coming up from the Cape, so that the jam-making industry is not likely to be established for some time. There is no doubt, however, that nearly every kind of both deciduous and citrous trees will grow well, although a lot of attention is necessary for the first year or two to get them well established. As regards fever, there is no doubt that there is a lot of malaria about, and most of the settlers appear to get attacks. A supply of quinine and phenacetin tabloids and a clinical thermometer should be kept at every farm, and a seltzogene or sparkle bottle for making aerated waters is also a very useful article.

Get a Good Partner.

In conclusion, it is always advisable to go up with a good partner, and it is important that the man chosen should be a thoroughly reliable individual, as, in case of sickness, he will be the only person who can be depended upon for help. The country has a great future before it, but is it no use hiding the fact that the difficulties and dangers are many, and, although this need not act as a deterrent to would-be settlers, it is as well to be prepared for any emergency that may arise, and not venture there in the hope of easily obtaining a fortune.

Such a picture, however, need not deter anyone desirous of venturing to Rhodesia. Land is obtainable under terms usually so advantageous that the settler is able to devote his capital to developing the property in his years. Experimental farms have been established under government supervision, where not only are experiments being carried out with a view to ascertaining the best crops suitable to the climate and the nature of the soil, but the intending settler is offered an opportunity of gaining some practical experience of farming knowledge before taking up land.

While on this question of farming, it is not amiss to draw attention to a memorandum just issued from the Department of Agriculture at Salisbury, on the subject of the development of the bacon and meat industries. Mr. Loudon M. Douglas, the technical adviser on animal industries to the department, has been appointed to consult generally with agriculturists in various districts, with a view to establishing a co-operative interest in these matters.

It is proposed to forward this movement: (1) By the establishment of agricultural credit associations, so that cheap capital may be available. (2) By the development of swine husbandry and bacon curing not only as the natural corollary or dairying, but as a distinct industry, dependent only upon such cereals for profitable feed. The principal cereals to be thus dealt with are: Kaffir corn, maize (or mealies), barley, oats, and beans. (3) By the creation of a meat industry which shall have for its ultimate object the export of fresh meat either to the neighboring South African Union or to the United Kingdom and Continent of Europe. In order to accomplish this it will be necessary to arrive at a knowledge of the breeds of cattle most suitable for meat purposes, and which are: (a) least susceptible to climatic diseases, and (b) most suitable for fattening on the cereals produced in the country. It will also be necessary to determine exactly what kind of sheep is most suitable for the ultimate purpose of exporting mutton.

Such a step carried to a successful issue would necessitate the erection of freezing works to be fitted with the most modern machinery. In the meantime a census is to be taken of all pigs, cattle and sheep in the country, and information obtained as to the prospect of breeding more than at present. It only remains to add that the Administration must feel very certain rigid control over the cattle fever and various diseases that afflict animals in Rhodesia to advise such a scheme.

"Parks Improvement By-Law, 1911." (No.)

A By-law to enable the Council of the Corporation of the City of New Westminster to raise by loan the sum of thirty-five thousand dollars ($35,000.00) to provide for improvement of parks in the City of New Westminster.

Whereas it is necessary to provide for improvement of parks in the City of New Westminster and the cost of such improvement will be thirty-five thousand dollars ($35,000.00.)

And whereas it appears that if the said sum of $35,000.00 be appropriated from the general revenue of the city for the current year the rate of taxation will be excessive and it is expedient that such excessive taxation should be avoided and the said sum should be raised on the credit of the Corporation and that debentures should be issued for that amount.

And whereas in order to raise the terest on the debentures proposed to be issued under this By-law and for creating a sinking fund for the payment of the said debentures when due it will be necessary to raise by special rate in addition to all other rates each year during the currency of the said debentures the sum of one thousand eight hundred and eighty-five and 30-100 dollars ($1.885.30).

And whears in order to raise the said yearly sum of $1,885.30 an equal special rate on the dollar will be required to be levied on the whole rateable property of the City of New Westminster.

And whereas the whole rateable property of the said city according to the last revised assessment roll thereof is nine million five hundred and ninety-two-thousand nine hundred and thirty-two dollars ($9,592,932.00).

And whereas the total amount of the existing debenture debt of the said city is two million one hundred and one thousand three hundred dollars $(2,101,300.00) irrespective of the sum of sixty-four thousand dollars (64,000.00) proposed to be raised under this By-law and the "Health and Garbage By-law 1911"; "Isolation Hospital By-law 1911"; "Public Lavatory By-law 1911"; and Horse Show Building By-law 1911," of which none of the principal or interest is in arrears.

Now therefore, the Municipal Council of the Corporation of the City of New Westminster enacts as follows:

1. It shall be lawful for the Mayor of the said city to raise by way of loan from any person or persons, body or bodies corporate who may be willing to advance the same on the credit of the debentures hereinafter mentioned any sum or sums of money not exceeding in the whole the sum of $35,000.00 and to cause the same to be paid into the treasury of the said city for the purposes mentioned herein.

2. 3. The said debentures shall be payable on the first day of January 1962, at such place or places as the Council of the said Corporation may from time to time appoint with the approval of the holders thereof, and shall bear interest at the rate of four and one-half per centum per annum, payable half-yearly on the first day of January and the first day of July in each and every year, and the debentures shall have attached to them coupons for the payment of interest, which said coupons shall be signed by the said Mayor.

4. A special rate on the dollar shall be levied and raised in each year, in addition to all other rates, on all the rateable property of the city, sufficient to pay the interest upon the debentures and to create a sinking fund for the payment of the principal thereof when due, subject to any Act or enactment respecting the same.

6. The proceeds of the sale of the said debentures shall be applied as follows and not otherwise: Towards paying the cost of the passing of this By-law and the issue and sale of the debentures therein referred to and all expenses connected with the issuance of the said loan, and the balance shall be paid over from time to time as required by the City Treasurer to the several persons to whom moneys are payable.

7. This By-law shall take effect on the first day of December, A. D. 1911.

"An excellent rule," replied Senator Sorghum, "but the real test of the game is to keep your friends from going back on you."—Washington Star.

GRANDMOTHERS' BEAUTIFUL HAIR

Color and Beauty of the Hair Preserved with a Harmless Remedy Made from Sage.

Druggists everywhere comment on the fact that they are selling large quantities of sage for making old-fashioned "sage tea," such as was used by our grandmothers for promoting the growth of their hair, making it fluffy and beautiful and restoring its natural color.

The demand for this well-known herb for this purpose has been so great that one manufacturer has taken advantage of the fact and has placed on the market an ideal "sage tea," containing sulphur, a valuable remedy for dandruff and scaly rashes and irritations, called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy.

The manufacturers of this remedy authorize druggists to sell it under guarantee that the money will be refunded if it fails to do exactly as represented.

This preparation is offered to the public at fifty cents a bottle, and is recommended and sold by all druggists

"What sort of a ticket does your suffragette club favor?"

"Well," replied young Mrs. Torkins, "if we owned right up, I think most of us would prefer matinee tickets."—Washington Star.
