HILLS OF ADRIANOPLE ABLAZE WITH BATTLE

Bulgarians Close in on Turkish Garrisson--Fierce Fighting and Heavy Sacrifices Mark Continued Success of Allied Armies—Greeks Capture Servia—Wounded Arriving in Belgrade. Kirk Kilisseh Is Holding out.

London, Oct. 23.—The news from the seat of war tonight tells of the continued successes of the allies. The Servians have captured Novipazar and are virtual masters of Kumanova. The victories, however, have been purchased at heavy sacrifices.

The situation in Thrace is becoming clearer. A great battle is being fought over a wide semi-circular front before Adrianople, upon which the Bulgarians gradually are closing in. On the east, they have occupied Vasilika and Tiemovo and are continuing their advance southward.

Desperate Encounters.

On the west the Bulgarians, according to official Sofica accounts have reached the Arda river, close to Adrianople, which is being bombarded vigorously. Already the two outer forts have fallen. Some positions north of Adrianople are said to have been taken, after fighting of the severest character.

Of the army in the centre, operating in the direction of Kirk-Kilisseh, there was no news today and evidently that fortress is holding out.

It is significant that tonight's Constantinople despatches which say a dire result is expected tomorrow, have a less confident tone than previous despatches from the capital. They admit a heavy struggle is in prospect, in which both sides are showing the utmost bravery.

Information concerning the Montenegrin progress is meagre, but the Turkish authorities claim that Scutari has been reinforced and is safe.

Albanian Autonomy.

A Saloniki despatch says the Malisseri tribes are offended because the Montenegrin commanders are proclaiming the sovereignty of King Nicholas in the captured Albanian towns. They demand that King Nicholas give a guarantee that he will evacuate Albanian territory and secure autonomy for Albania. So far they have received no satisfactory reply, and it is reported that they are refusing to fight further for the Montenegrins, whose advance has been thereby checked.

The next news of the Greek campaign should be an important battle around the town of Servia, whither the Turks have retreated from Elassona. The Turks have been reinforced from the north.

Servians Take Noripazar.

Belgrade, Servia, Oct. 23.—It is officially announced that the third Servian army today captured the town of Novipazar after fierce fighting and great sacrifices.

The Turks are retiring from Kumanova, but the town is still in their hands. The Servians have surrounded it, although the Turks hold an important position dominating the town.

The second contingent of wounded, numbering 180, arrived here this afternoon. Big crowds cheered as the transport wagons passed. All the schools are filled up as hospitals.

Greeks Meet Stubborn Resistance.

Vienna, Oct. 23.—The Czar of Bulgaria while riding at the front of his force, fell from his horse and broke his arm, according to despatches received here today.

Reports from Athens say a Turkish force is stubbornly resisting the advance of Greek troops.

The four torpedo boat destroyers purchased in England, have arrived and will start immediately for Pyraeus to join Admiral Countouriotis' fleet in the Aegean Sea.

Russian Reservists Called Out.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 23.—In spite of official denials, the Russian reserves in the northern Caucasus, including Cossacks, and in Trans-Caucasia, have been called out for service.

Thousand Killed.

London, Oct. 23.—Contradictory reports continued to pour in here today regarding the situation at Adrianople, where Bulgarian and Turkish troops are locked in a terrible battle. Thousands of men, latest reports say, have been killed and wounded on both sides.

It is regarded as almost certain here that the Bulgarian advance has been checked, although advices from Sofia declare the Bulgarians are again advancing. Reports from Constantinople on the contrary, say the Bulgarian forces are disorganized and indicate that the invaders attempted a flanking movement east of Kirk Kilisseh, and fell into a trap.

Still in Progress.

Paris, Oct. 23.—Conflicting reports were received here today concerning the clash at Kirk Kilisseh between the Turkish and Bulgarian forces. It is the belief of diplomats here that the battle is still in progress. The Kirk Kilisseh clash is considered as the biggest battle since the Russo-Japanese war.

Closing in on Scutari.

Budapest, Oct. 23.—Montenegrin troops are closing in on Scutari, according to despatches received here today. A fierce battle is also in progress about Tarabosch.

Athens, Oct. 24.—1:45 a.m.—The Greeks have occupied the town of Servia and have also captured the bridge over the river Aliakmon (Indje Karasa), thereby cutting off the retreat of the Turks.

The government has dispatched the king's congratulations to the commands and troops.

Heavy Fighting General.

Constantinople, Oct. 23.—Heavy fighting continued all day along the line from Adrianople to Kirk-Kilisseh, but a decisive result is not expected until tomorrow evening. Both sides are displaying the utmost bravery and determination.

The press correspondents left here today by special train and are proceeding to the frontier. The foreign military attaches will leave for the front on Friday.

Advance of Bulgarians.

Sofia, Oct. 23.—Another Bulgarian army has invaded Turkey, this time along the shores of the Black sea. After occupying the coast town of Vasilkem they captured Tirnovo and are now advancing southward upon the important town of Visa.

The prisoners taken by the Bulgarians say the vigorous offensive movement of the invaders took the Turks by surprise. The Turks are demoralized, ill-fed and badly disciplined.

In the Raslog district also the Bulgarian troops are marching southwards. The Turks have burned several large villages on the banks of the River Struma.

Greeks Occupy Lemnos.

London, Oct. 23.—The occupation of the Turkish Island of Lemnos by the Greeks troops is complete, according to advices received by the Greek legation here. Strategists regard the island as a valuable base for operations.

TRIPLE MURDERER IS STILL UNTAKEN

May Have Died of Wound—Reticent Wife Watches Fruitless Police Efforts.

That Cy McLaughlin, the triple murderer of the Nicomen island district may possibly have died of the wound received from the rifle of McNeill, who was one of the three persons killed, was the opinion expressed by Senior Constable Gamon, who returned from the man hunt yesterday morning where he had charge of the different posses.

Although no trace of McLaughlin has been found, the provincial police will keep up the search and every possible exit is being closely guarded.

A peculiar feature of the affair is the extreme reticence maintained by the wife of the murderer, she apparently being well pleased at the fruitless efforts of the police to locate their quarry.

Pressure of business at the provincial office and the close proximity of the fall assizes compelled Mr. Gamon to turn over the command to a subordinate officer.

ACROSS CANADA TO BE WILBY'S THEME

Pathfinder Revists City—Pictures Developed Here Will Be Exhibited Widely.

Mr. Thomas Wilby, pathfinder and pioneer transcontinental motor tourist, was back in the city yesterday settling up some matters with the Canadian Highway association, under whose auspices the long journey was made. The intrepid autoist was looking trim and fit after his strenuous time of the last few weeks.

While here he supplied Mr. P. W. Luce, secretary of the Highway association, who has just returned from the convention at Winnipeg, with some very interesting statistics regarding the tour. In the neighborhood of 250 photographs were taken altogether on the journey, which occupied in all forty-nine days. Eight days of the time was spent resting or making repairs, the net time occupied being forty-one days.

A distance of 3900 miles was traversed at the average rate of 95.13 miles per day. Fourteen miles was the least for one day, while 185 was

BECKER'S FATE SEALED TODAY

Counsel Completes Summing up--Jury's Deliberations now Begin.

"The Brains Behind the Gunmen"—Three Underworld Witnesses Will Not Go Free.

New York, Oct. 23.—The fate of Police Lieutenant Charles Becker, charged with the murder of the gambler, Herman Rosenthal, will rest with the jury tomorrow. Counsel for both sides completed today their summing up, and all that remains to close the case is Justice Goff's charge to the jury.

Becker heard himself characterized by John F. McIntyre, his chief counsel, as the victim of a conspiracy plotted by Jack Rose, "the hell of the assassins," and by Assistant District Attorney Moss, as "the brains behind the gunmen, with a tremendous motive for murder."

Crooks and Murderers.

The defence centred its attack on the state's case almost wholly on Rose's testimony which Mr. McIntyre denounced as "unworthy of belief because Jack Rose testified to save himself from the electric chair. He characterized the corroborated witnesses as "crooks and murderers"; the state's case he summed up with a declaration that District Attorney Whitman, "actuated by ambition," had fathered a prosecution framed up by crooks.

Assistant District Attorney Moss resented the implication that Mr. Whitman had any other motive than duty for seeking the conviction of Becker and denounced "the vilification of counsel for the defence" as revealing the "desperate straits to which he had come."

Attorney Gets Angry.

Mr. Moss accused Mr. McIntyre of misrepresenting the evidence to the jury, impelling Becker's attorney to jump to his feet and shake his fist in the face of his opponent as he uttered an indignant denial.

"If Becker did not have a motive for the murder, why did he want to get an affidavit from Rose two days after Rosenthal was dead?" Mr. Moss asked. "The truth is Becker did not know how things would go. He got an affidavit from Ross to silence him. He got Ross to swear his own life away, so he couldn't testify against him."

Schepps an Accessory.

Sam Schepps, Mr. Moss conceded, was an accessory after the fact, but had come forward to testify that Becker had thrown "his pal, Rose, to the dogs."

Answering Mr. McIntyre's declaration that the four gunmen, yet to be tried, might go free, even if Becker were convicted, Mr. Ross said:

"Have no fear that you will ever meet these four men on Broadway."

Mr. Moss denied that Rose, Vallen and Webber had been given immunity. "Their stipulations do not protect them from prosecution if they fired a shot," he said. "To say that these men are testifying to save their lives is to befog the issue."

FUND IS SWELLED AT ENTERTAINMENT

The fund for the relief of Mrs. Joynson, widow of the guard who met his death while preventing the escape of two desperate convicts at the provincial penitentiary two weeks ago, was increased by the sum of $50 as a result of the excellent entertainment given last evening by the 104th regiment at the armoury on Sixth street. Every number on the lengthy program was well carried out, and the fair sized crowd which attended were glad to contribute to the fund. A feature of the evening was the clown work of Tommy Little, regimental bugler, who filled in every gap, and managed to keep everyone in good humor at all times with his amusing antics.

Only two athletic events were on the program, and both were of a high order. The wrestling match between "Snowball" O'Connor and Mathews, both of the 104th, proved one of the stellar events of the evening. Mathews, unknown to most of those present, proved a surprise, as he obtained the first fall in three minutes, using a half nelson. Snowball was known, and was expected to have little trouble. The second fall went to O'Connor in 3:35 as a result of a crotch and arm hold which Mathews was unable to wriggle away from. Three minutes of fruitless endeavor failed to result in the deciding fall and the match was called a draw by the referee, Captain Cunningham. Both men showed lots of speed and

LABOR COUNCIL SHOWS ITS HAND

Candidature for Mayoralty of Alderman Gray Receives Endorsement.

Fight Against Consumption—Land Registry Conditions—Colored Immigration.

Alderman Gray's candidature for the mayoralty for 1913 was endorsed by the Trades and Labor council at its meeting last night by an almost unanimous vote. Resolution to this effect was made on a motion by Delegate A. Hogg, who thought that the laboring men should thus show their appreciation of the services rendered them by Alderman Gray.

Delegate Grant thought the motion should be deferred for about a month, but Delegate Dodd said it was time for the Labor Council to show itself adding that the chief object of the resolution was to discourage others whose names had been mentioned as probable candidates for the mayoralty and whose election, he believed would be nothing short of a calamity for the city.

A Memorable Day.

An endeavor will be made to make the coming Sunday a day to be long remembered in labor circles, on account of its affiliation with the fight against the ravages of the great white plague—consumption.

Arrangements are being made to have the labor men meet at the Temple at 7 o'clock on Sunday evening with their wives and families and march thence to St. Andrew's church where Rev. J. S. Henderson will preach a special sermon on the subject. No effort will be spared to make the gathering one of the most memorable ever held in the history of local laboring men.

In Capable Hands.

The council strongly endorsed the action taken by the Progressive association with regard to the state of affairs existing in the local land registry office, but it could not find itself in a position to appoint a delegate to act with a deputation to wait upon the attorney general. Secretary Grant was instructed to write Mr. K. Myers, secretary of the association, stating that the Trades and Labor council felt sure that the matter was in capable hands.

The committee on political matters was instructed to advertise by means of dodger and theatre sign the qualifications necessary for a voter and to request City Clerk Duncan to keep his office open on Saturday night of this week and Thursday and Friday of next week between the hours of 7 and 9, for the convenience of working men who wish to register.

Labor Day Convention.

An effort will be made to get the B. C. Federation of Labor to hold its next Labor Day celebration and convention in this city, and a committee was appointed to induce all the local unions to affiliate with the Federation.

Some reference was made to the alleged inadequacy of the B. C. E. R. tram service in the city during rush hours, and the secretary was instructed to write the company requesting that better accommodation be provided for people coming to and from work.

Object to Maltese.

A protest was registered against the intention of the provincial government to assist in bringing Maltese laborers out to this country, and a resolution will be forwarded to the government voicing disapproval at the importation of colored labor of any nationality.

Emphatic protest was also made at the alleged action of the government in discriminating against the miners of Vancouver Island as the result of which they were now on strike. A copy of the latter will be sent to the premier requesting an investigation into the miners' complaints and conditions.

Organize Workers.

For the purpose of organizing all unorganized workers it was decided to hold a mass meeting in the Labor Temple on Tuesday, October 29. Arrangements for the gathering were left in the hands of the organization committee.

The entertainment committee reported that it was making arrangements for the holding of a dance and smoker during the early part of December. Preparations will also be made for the holding of a benefit concert for a case of destitution cited by Delegate Dodd.

SIR WILLIAM MEREDITH FOR ONTARIO JUSTICE

Toronto, Oct. 23.—Announcement is made here today that Sir William Ralph Meredith will receive the appointment as chief justice of Ontario to succeed the late Sir Charles Moss.

Sir William, who is at present in Europe gathering data on workmen's compensation, is not expected to return to Canada before Nov. 15. His appointment may not be announced until his return.

He is 72 years of age and is regarded as a judge who has no superiors in Canada.

FELIX DIAZ REBELLION GOES OUT IN DISGRACE

Death Penalty Waits Rebel Leaders and one in ten of Soldiers--Less Than 100 Killed and Wounded--Combatants Hopelessly Muddled---Three Rebellions Still Flourish in Mexico--Orozco's End Imminent.

Vera Cruz, Mexico, Oct. 23.—The revolt of General Felix Diaz, nephew of the exiled president, has been short lived. The town of Vera Cruz, which he occupied with about 2000 adherents for several days, was captured by the federal forces today. The casualties were few.

The federal columns, commanded by Colonel Jiminez Castro and General Joaquin Beltran, entered Vera Cruz from the north and south. There was slight opposition to their advance. Colonel Castro, with less than 50 men, captured General Diaz, whose 300 men at police headquarters refused to fire at his command.

Weak Kneed Rebels.

The revolutionists in the barracks have not yet surrendered. They say they will hold out until the last man is killed. However, the weaker spirit seem to be trying to escape.

The killed and wounded number less than 100. No foreigner was hurt. Desultory firing continued after the federals entered the town. Instead of a great battle everything was in a muddle. Rebel and federal encountered each other in the streets without one knowing which side the other was affiliated with, as uniforms of all were alike.

Colonel Wounded.

Colonel Jiminez Castro was shot in the leg during the first firing. Colonel Ordaz, of the 21st infantry, who joined General Diaz with his troops in the revolution, has disappeared, but an active search for him is being made.

The rebel officers have disarmed and many have been made prisoners. It is thought probable they will be ordered shot by summary court martial. It is announced the soldiers will not be punished.

The United States cruiser Des Moines sent Lieutenant Burns and Assistant Surgeon Cohn ashore to attend to the wounded.

Will Pay Penalty.

Mexico City, Oct. 23.—General Felix Diaz, Colonel Jose Diaz Ordaz and all the officers of the rebellious troops and marines will be haled immediately before a court martial and doubtless will suffer the death penalty. Orders have been issued for the convening of the court, which will be presided over by General Beltran.

General Diaz, although not now a member of the army, is amenable in such a court under the law which provides for such a trial of any civilian under like circumstances.

Decimate Troops.

The soldiers of the rebellious troops will be decimated—one in ten being executed. They will be chosen by lot to pay the penalty for all.

This information was imparted officially tonight.

Washington Astounded.

Washington, Oct. 23.—News of the recapture of Vera Cruz by Mexican federal forces and the surrender of General Felix Diaz and his staff with practically no show of resistance was received with astonishment in official circles here. It is generally believed this event marks the complete suppression of what had been looked upon as the beginning of a general rebellion investigating entirely new elements.

Zapata Dangerous.

The downfall of the Diaz movement leaves three rebellions in operation in Mexico, headed respectively by Zapata, Arguilar and Grozco. It is presumed the government forces employed against Diaz will be concentrated upon Aglar, who is likely to be driven back into the mountains, that the pursuit of the small bands into which Orozco's force has broken up will be resumed and that the only really serious undertaking confronting the federal army will be in connection with the Zapata rebellion.

WOOD BLOCK PAVING IS LAID IN CITY

The first wood block ever used in Westminster for paving purposes was laid at the corner of Fifth avenue and Fourth street yesterday morning on the section of Fifth avenue which is being paved. The contractors who were responsible for the interesting event were Messrs. T. R. Nickson & Co., who will proceed to pave the rest of the road in the same manner.

Other pavement and street improvement jobs throughout the city are moving ahead gradually. On Twelfth street the sidewalks on both sides of the street have been laid while the paving of a considerable section of the highway has been completed.

MANY METHODISTS WILL GATHER HERE

When Banquet Is Given in Honor of Dr. Chown, Who Takes Charge of Churches.

It was decided at a meeting yesterday afternoon held at the Columbian college that a banquet be tendered to Rev. Dr. F. Dwight Chown, who is coming from the East to reside permanently in Vancouver and to take charge of all the Methodist churches and also the preliminary plans of the proposed Ryerson college which will be affiliated with the provincial university at Point Grey. November 14 was the date set for the banquet which will be held in the gymnasium of Columbian college, commencing at 7 o'clock.

Representatives from nearly every church in the New Westminster and Vancouver districts were present at yesterday's meeting, as also was the Ryerson college board.

Dr. Chown will be the principal speaker at the banquet and it is expected that his remarks will be of the utmost importance to the Methodist churches in this district and that he will have something to say regarding the plans for the new college building. Invitations are being sent out to every minister in the district and New Westminster will be invaded on that day by one of the largest gatherings of churchmen that has ever been brought together in this section of the country in connection with the Methodist church.

The ministers of the city together with Messrs. D. S. Curtis, Reid and C. G. Major were appointed a committee to perfect the arrangements regarding the banquet.

TAX COLLECTIONS REACH BIG AMOUNT

Nearly $300,000 Garnered to Date—$53,987 Due Before December—Treasurer's Report.

The city treasury has been enriched to the extent of over a quarter of a million dollars this year as the result of collections made on property and local improvement taxes.

The total sum of $293,376 has been garnered to date, while there is still some $15,000 expected to come in before the year is ushered out. As far as volume is concerned the property collections were naturally the largest, the total being $256,100. Of this $12,800 was for former years, while $34,000 is still outstanding for 1912, and $10,957 for former years, making a total of $44,957 still due.

The local improvement tax collected amounts to $27,276, of which $35,786 was for this year, and $1490 for former years. A total sum of $9030 still remains unpaid, $6988 being for this year and $2042 for former years. In both property and local improvement taxes the total sum of $53,987 remains unpaid.

The collections under the local improvement tax and the sums still outstanding are divided into the following classifications: Sewer, collected $22,500, outstanding $3069; cement walks, collected $8063, outstanding $1429; road pavement, collected $1916, outstanding $1125; roads and walks, collected $4207, outstanding $1386. The figures were computed by City Treasurer J. J. McKay in his report to the finance committee of the council.

THE ELEVATOR BOY.

In Chicago He Made Rapid Progress In Becoming an Expert.

The first day he is occupied mainly in learning how to run his elevator.

The second day he is so delighted with his position that he makes every effort to give all the information asked of him.

The third day he gets his uniform and begins accustoming himself to telling the passengers to step lively.

The fourth day he learns how to advise anxious inquirers to look at the bulletin board or ask the starter.

The fifth day he is so thoroughly versed in the duties of his position that he can run the car past people who are yelling "Down!" or "Up!" and three floors away from them waft back the gentle admonition to punch the button. Also, he is now able to carry the nervous passengers two floors too far and then refuse to go back.

The sixth day he is an adept and demonstrates it by sliding the door quickly in the face of the man who is a second late, also by stopping the car and dropping a couple of floors to take on the stenographers with huge blond rats, who haughtily omit pressing the button.

He is now a real elevator boy and wonders what right the public thinks it has, anyway.—Chicago Post.

CHEERFUL MENDELSSOHN.

The Pioneer in Good Conducting and the Boy Joachim.

The art of good conducting began with Mendelssohn. The Leipzig Gewandhaus owes the greatness of its orchestra to him. He was a hard taskmaster, but, according to the words of Joachim, he earned the good will and respect of his men by his thorough knowledge, says the Music Magazine.

He was sane and rational, preferring a cheerful mood to gloom. Johann Kruse, formerly second violinist of the Joachim quartet, once told a little story of Mendelssohn's conducting in London, where he was always a favorite.

"Mendelssohn was to bring out the boy Joachim, then about twelve or fourteen years of age," he said. "At that time Joachim played Bach and Beethoven like a master. He began to rehearse the Mendelssohn concert with the orchestra when suddenly with boyish impetuosity he turned to the conductor and said, 'Herr Mendelssohn, I am sure there is a mistake in the orchestration here.'

"The cheerful and sunny Mendelssohn replied, 'Well, this is a good time to correct it, my boy,' and the error was found and corrected."

Two Curious Knives.

When Sheffield first became famous for its cutlery a peculiarly shaped knife, designed for a variety of uses, was made with great care and sent to the agent of the Cutlers' company in London. On one of the blades was engraved the following challenge:

London, for thy life,
Show me such another knife.

The London cutlers, to show that they were equal to their Sheffield brothers, made a knife with a single well tempered blade, the blade having a cavity containing a rye straw two and a half inches in length, wholly surrounded by the steel; yet, notwithstanding the fact that the blade was well tempered, the straw was not burned, singed or charred in the least! It is needless to add that the Sheffield cutlers acknowledged themselves outdone in ingenuity.

Byles on Bills.

Among the humorous memories connected with English judges is one of Justice Byles and his horse. This eminent jurist was well known in his profession for his work on "Bills," and as this gave a fine opportunity for alliteration his associates were accustomed to bestow the name on the horse, which was but a sorry steed. "There goes Byles on Bills," they took pleasure in saying, and as the judge rode out every afternoon they indulged daily in their little joke. But the truth was that the horse had another name, known only to the master and his man, and when a too curious client inquired as to the judge's whereabouts he was told by the servant, with a clear conscience, that "master was out on Business."

The French Imperial Guard.

The Imperial Guard of France was created by Napoleon I. when he became emperor in 1804. It was formed by a merger of the "guards," the "convention," the "directory" and the "consulate." It consisted at first of 9,775 men, but was afterward considerably enlarged. In the year 1809 it was by the emperor's order divided into the old and young guards. In January, 1814, it numbered 102,706. It was dissolved by the Bourbon Louis XVIII. in 1815, revived by Napoleon III, surrendered with Metz to the Germans and was abolished by the government soon after.

Robert Browning.

Of Robert Browning toward the close of his life Frederic Harrison in his memoirs has this to say: "He was all things to all men and all women, always at his best, always bringing light, happiness, generosity and sense into every society he entered. I think him the happiest social spirit whom it has ever been my fortune to meet."

His Retirement.

Friend—I haven't seen you for some time. Poet—No. Fact is I have become a good deal of a recluse lately. Friend—I feared so. How much do you owe?

He that speaks of things that do not concern him shall hear of things that will not please him.—Arabian Proverb.

FINDING A PAWN TICKET.

Sometimes It May Be Just Walking Into a Trap.

"While walking through one of the prominent streets the other day," said an innocent looking individual, "I espied an important looking piece of paper on the sidewalk and, picking it up, found it to be a pawn ticket for a diamond scarfpin which some careless person had apparently dropped.

"According to the ticket, the pin had been pledged several weeks before for $15. 'How am I to find the owner?' thought I. 'Shall I take it to the pawnbroker? Perhaps if I do the owner will never see it anyway. The pin must surely be a good one and doubtless worth three times the amount for which it was pledged. Why not appropriate it to my own use?'

"The name on the ticket was Brown, and my conscience was relieved when I found several hundred of that name in the directory. I soon made up my mind and started for the broker's office. I asked to see the pin before redeeming it, stating that I had bought the ticket, and upon the payment of 25 cents was allowed to examine it.

"It looked all right to me, although I am not a qualified judge of diamonds, so I paid the principal of $15 and the interest of $1.80 and the pin became mine.

"The next day I showed it to an expert, who declared it to be worth far less than the amount I had paid for it.

"'It is a trick of some people,' he said, 'to defraud unwary persons like yourself. The scheme consists of issuing tickets for spurious pieces of jewelry for amounts many times in excess of their value and dropping them on the sidewalk in different parts of town where unsuspecting persons might find them and redeem them, as you did, thus yielding a handsome profit to the perpetrators.'"—Philadelphia Record.

AN HOUR'S WALK.

You Would Hardly Think It Meant Traveling 85,253 Miles.

Have you ever thought of the distance you travel when you are out on an hour's stroll? Possibly you walk three miles within the hour, but that does not by any means represent the distance you travel. The earth turns on its axis every twenty-four hours. For the sake of round figures, we will call the earth's circumference 24,000 miles, and so you must have traveled during the hour's stroll 1,000 miles in the axial turn of the earth.

But this is not all. The earth makes a journey around the sun every year, and a long but rapid trip it is. The distance of our planet from the sun we will put at 92,000,000 miles. This is the radius of the earth's orbit—half the diameter of the circle, as we call it. The whole diameter is therefore 184,000,000 miles, and the circumference, being the diameter multiplied by 3.1416, is about 578,000,000.

This amazing distance the earth travels in its yearly journey, and dividing it by 365 we find the daily speed about 1,586,000. Then we get the distance you rode around the sun during your hour's walk, divide again by twenty four, and the result is about 66,000 miles. But this is not the end of your hour's trip. The sun, with its entire brood of planets, is moving in space at the rate of 160,000,000 miles in a year. That is at the rate of a little more than 438,000 miles a day, or 18,250 miles an hour.

So, adding your three miles of leg travel to the hour's axial movement of the earth, this to the earth's orbital journey and that again to the earth's excursion with the sun, and you find you have traveled in the hour 85,253 miles.

Eccentric Tides.

Owing to the effects of shore lines and other influences which are more or less obscure it is very difficult to account for the peculiarities exhibited by tidal waves in various parts of the world.

Interfering waves cause once a day tides at Tahiti and in some other places, while on the other hand in the harbors back of the Isle of Wight and in the Tay in Scotland there are three tides in a day. The latter have been ascribed to overtides, produced by the modification of tidal waves running ashore and resembling the overtones of musical sounds.—New York Sun.

Made the Sea Run.

"Ah, yes," murmured Miss Screecher after the first selection at the musicale, "I have had some exciting experiences. Coming over here from London a terrible storm arose, and I had to sing to quiet the immigrants. You should have seen the heavy sea running!"

And the big, rude man in the pink necktie gazed out of the window.

"I don't blame the sea," he muttered.

Longing.

He—What a glum and dismal wife you are! I don't belive you could be lively or pleasant to save your life. She—I may be a dull wife, but just give me a chance and see what a merry widow I would make.—London Stray Stories.

The Only Fear.

New Merchant—How big an ad would you advise? Advertising Man—That depends on how many tons of customers your store floor will sustain. You wouldn't want 'em to break through into the cellar, of course.—Puck.

Beastly Weather.

Wickler—Beastly weather, isn't it? Stickler—Why will you use those idiotic expressions? How can the weather be beastly? Wickler—Well, it's raining cats and dogs.—Philadelphia Press.

Humor and Philosophy

By DUNCAN M. SMITH

PERT PARAGRAPHS.

THERE are only seven jokes in the world, but they have been made over so many times that their own mother wouldn't know 'em.

Every dog has his day, but the nights belong to the cats.

Some women are born with happy dispositions; others marry good natured men.

No woman thinks much of a social function to which she isn't invited.

The man who is unapproachable after a good dinner has either a bad disposition or dyspepsia.

When a man doesn't feel sleepy in church these hot days he begins to worry over the state of his health.

Women seldom agree over the neighbor's baby, the state of the schools and the new minister.

When the joke is on us jokers seem the most foolish, inconsequential and most easily to be dispensed with folk in the world.

Impractical.

If life were always springtime
And it were always May,
That young and tender season,
How could we harvest hay?
We need July, my brother,
And August has its use
As well as late September
To make the world produce.

If it were always springtime
We couldn't raise a crop,
And those who live by eating
I fear would have to stop.
We need the other seasons
To make the pumpkins thrive
Without the pies and so forth
How could we keep alive?

The seasons are not only
For us to sit and say
"My goodness," to each other,
"But it's a lovely day!"
We have to use the weather
For making corn and wheat,
Potatoes, peas and onions
And other things to eat.

Of course it's mighty pleasant
To watch the buds of spring
In all their grace and grandeur
Their vernal offerings bring,
But it is quite as pleasant
To walk across the field
And see them in the harvest,
A fat, substantial yield.

Longed For a Sensation.

"I thought you said you intended to marry."

"I did and I do."

"Why don't you, then?"

"Can't find the right sort of girl."

"None good enough, I suppose."

"You needn't sneer. It isn't that."

"What then?"

"I want to find one capable of driving me to drink."

Might Be Looking at It.

"Are you the man who advertised a dog for sale?"

"Yes."

"Can I see the creature?"

"Sure; any time."

"Pardon me, are you the dog?"

Some Advantage.

"He came to this town a tramp."

"And how did you come?"

"I was born here."

"Then he had the advantage of you that he did bring some clothes along."

The Bookkeeper.

"Does your husband get enough exercise?"

"Oh, yes!"

"How does he take it?"

"Well, I heard him talking about running up columns all day."

His Reason.

"Come go on a fishing trip with us"

"Thank you; no."

"Why not?"

"I can do myself up cheaper and have more fun at it."

The Universal Tool.

"How are you going to repair that boat? We came away and forgot to bring the tool box."

"Never mind. My wife has a hair pin."

The Bill Collector.

"Money is hard to get these days."

"Yes, and I notice by observing some of you tightwads that it is hard to let go of too."

Not For Moderns.

The pies that mother used to make
Were all right in their way.
But they would give the stomach ache
To weaklings of today.

Are you one of those to whom every meal is another source of suffering?

Na-Dru-Co Dyspepsia Tablets will help your disordered stomach to digest any reasonable meals, and will soon restore it to such perfect condition that you'll never feel that you have a stomach. PREDICTS GERMANS WILL MAKE ATTACK

Lord Roberts Says Teutons Will Strike When Ready and Not Before.

London, Oct. 23.—"Germany will make war," was the title of an impressive speech made by Lord Roberts last night. He said:

"Now, just as in 1866 and in 1870, war will take place the instant the German forces by land and sea are by their superiority at every point as certain of victory as anything in human calculation can be made certain.

"Germany strikes when Germany's hour has struck, that is the time honored policy of her foreign office. It is her policy at the present hour, it is, or should be the policy of every nation prepared to play a great part in history.

"Under that policy Germany has within the last ten years sprung as at one bound from the weakest naval power to that of the greatest naval power, save one, upon the globe. Today every British warship and British merchant vessel thrills in all her iron nerves to that mighty presence.

"The fact is we have lost command of every sea but one—the North Sea—and our supremacy over that sea is now a matter of doubt. In other words whereas your forefathers traded as their right on every sea, you now only trade by the suffrance of other powers.

"We may stand still. Germany always advances, and the line along which she is moving is now most manifest. It is towards complete supremacy by land and sea.

"Contrasted with our own apathy or puerile spasmodic efforts impressive is this magnificent unresting energy. It has the mark of true greatness, it extorts admiration even from those against whom it is directed.

"We have a fleet, but that fleet is rapidly becoming unequal to the fleets by which we may be opposed and by the inadequacy of our land forces it is maimed and hampered in its very nature as a fleet."

PARSON INSTITUTES SCHOOL FOR LOVERS

Will Teach Art of Bedmaking and Provide Facilities for Courting.

London, Oct. 23.—Instruction in the art of bedmaking, facilities for courting, and free legal advice are among the attractions which the Rev. George Hooper, of Leeds, proposes to offer as inducements to the masses to attend his chapel.

Mr. Hooper explained that he did not at all object to young men and girls courting in his chapel. "On the other hand," he said, "I am disposed to encourage them. I would far rather have them making love to each other in the chapel than in the streets or places even less desirable.

After all, there is nothing very strange in the desire to encourage love-making under the best conditions." Mr. Hooper stated that the establishing of a league for lovers in connection with the mission, and the women helpers will act as chaperons. He also wants a solicitor who is willing to devote two evenings a week to advising members of the congregation as to their worldly affairs.

Mr. Hooper said he intended to make a specialty of the teaching of bed-making.

"A good many women," he continued, "have no more idea of making up a bed properly than they have of flying. My little spaniel makes his bed a great deal more sensibly than do many so-called housewives.

"Nine times out of ten, among the poorer classes, you find that the flocks in the mattresses have been shaken into a lump. I am going to have a bed down at the chapel, with bed clothes complete, and we shall give practical demonstrations of how a comfortable bed may be made.

"Bad bed-making, like bad cookery is at the root of much domestic discord.'

Differsnt in Walla Walla.

Walla Walla, Wash., Oct. 23.—"Kissing cops" have been appointed to guard the Central Christian church here. They will be stationed in the dark and quiet vestibules of the church to discourage love-making by young couples during services.

The trustees of the church decided that the vestibule was not a proper place for members of the congregation to demonstrate that they were following the exhortations of the pastor to "love one another."

ROOSEVELT BACK AT SAGAMORE BAY

Expects to Be Back in Campaign Within Few Days—Unattended for First Time.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., Oct. 23.—The quiet rountine of life at Sagamore Hill was resumed today by Colonel Roosevelt and his family as though it had not been interrupted by the attempt to assassinate the former president.

For the first time since he was wounded eight days ago, Colonel Roosevelt was unattended tonight by a physician. There was no one in the house except members of the family and servants, and the colonel spoke hopefully of being able after one day more of rest, gradually to resume his work.

Four physicians were with the colonel on his arrival today and after they had dressed his wound they told him that the one essential thing was complete rest. If their directions are observed, it is believed complete recovery is probable.

Dr. Alexander Lambert and Dr. Scurry L. Terrell, who accompanied Colonel Roosevelt from Chicago, were joined in New York by Dr. Joseph A. Blake and Dr. George E. Brewer. After examination they said the wound was still wide open. They spoke of the possibility of infection, and added that they were unable to say whether it would be possible for him to resume campaign work.

Although his physicians would make no promises, Colonel Roosevelt was confident that he would soon be back in the campaign. He expressed his intention of going to Madison Square Garden, New York, to speak on Oct. 30, even if he had strength to say only a few sentences.

STOCKHOLDERS CONTRIBUTE.

United Canadian Oil Company Shareholders to Fight Suit.

Winnipeg, Oct. 23.—A meeting of the stockholders of the United Canadian Oil Company was called last night in the Labor Temple to discuss the proposition to contribute one cent per share towards the expenses of the law suit now being heard in Los Angeles, Cali., in which the shareholders, through S. W. Beatty, of Winnipeg, hope to recover the money they have put into the company.

The defendant in the Los Angeles case is William Moore president and manager of the company. The chairman reviewed the history of the concern, and said that suspicion was first aroused when a circular was received by the Winnipeg shareholders asking for their proxies that he might get control in California and said that when Mr. Beatty went to California, Moore fought his efforts to hold the control, declaring that Moore finally offered to drop out if Beatty would take over the management without investigation.

It was alleged that the stock, though non-assessable, apparently became assessable under the California law until it had reached par value. The meeting was unanimously in favor of contributing the one cent per share to fight the case in the California courts and most of those present paid up in cash.

G. H. PERLEY TAKES PLACE IN CABINET

Will Be Minister of Works Until Successor Is Named for Hon. F. D. Monk.

Ottawa, Ont., Oct. 23.—The Hon. F. D. Monk is no longer minister of public works. The Prime Minister today at noon drove out to Government House and placed the minister's resignation in the hands of His Royal Highness. The resignation was duly accepted.

Mr. George H. Perley, minister without portfolio, who was so successful and efficient in the summer as acting prime minister, will administer the department of public works until Mr. Monk's successor is appointed.

Mr. Perley is not altogether new to the department, as he has repeatly administered it during Mr. Monk's absence. Towards the end of last session Mr. Perley found himself acting minister, with the task of putting the supplementary estimates of the department through council. He mastered the details so as to be able to explain them to his colleagues with a rapidity that astonished the officers of the department. The department will shortly have a new French-Canadian minister as its head.

Mr. Monk spent the earlier portion of the day in the finishing up of his desk, then bidding good-bye to the officers of his department. He left for Montreal by the afternoon train, and will go to Atlantic city for a rest.

Before leaving he made the following statement:

"I was absolutely pledged that nothing of such a character as was contemplated with regard to the naval question would be done without consulting the people, so that even if it had been somewhat more urgent, still we would have had to claim for the people the right to express their opinion. I do not think that the government would have had to declare itself on the problem and then throw the responsibility upon the people, but it seems to me that the prime minister, wth the information obtained in England, could lay the proposals before parliament, then have adjourned for five weeks and permit the people to pronounce on such a serious matter.

"I felt I had no other course open, and to waive my right to keep my promise to the people would have been a betrayal of their trust in me. In every part of the country we abide by the judgment of the majority of the people. We now, therefore, place the solution of the problem in the hands of the eight other provinces, but I believe, for my part, that if the matter had been carefully expounded in Quebec, that the verdict would not have differed materially from that of the other provinces.

As far as being of assistance to the Mother Country, such a verdict rendered without an election would have been of far more weight and influence than the decision of the government and the party in parliament. My own belief is that when such a problem is set before the people and not trammelled by political considerations their judgment is invariably right."

Cabinet Candidate.

Ottawa, Oct. 23.—The name of Louis Coderre, Conservative member for Hochelaga, is being mentioned in connection with Cabinet vacancy. He is a lawyer of considerable ability and popular with the rank and file of the party. It is believed that he would have no difficulty in carrying the constituency.

WILL CHANGE LAWS ON NATURALIZATION

London, Oct. 23.—The question of peculiar anomalies of the naturalization laws was raised in the House of Commons tonight, when Sir Edward Grey declared that persons naturalized in Canada did not thus become British subjects in the strict sense of the term; they were only naturalized as within the limits of the Dominion.

Replying to a further question, Sir Edward said that those inequalities had been recognized, and a measure will be introduced during the present session which will seek to make a uniform law for the whole empire.

STEADY DEVELOPMENT.

Announcements of forthcoming development are matters that we in Westminster have grown accustomed to, and, looking back upon the record of fulfilment it will be noted that very few of them have failed to materialize. The list of new industries which have begun operations in this city and district during the present year is an important one, while the roll of those who are making preparations for so doing is even longer.

It has been known for some time that at Port Mann the C. N. R. would erect car shops in due course, but the definite announcement of Colonel Davidson before leaving for the East, that this work is very shortly to be taken in hand is welcome news both for Port Mann and for Westminster. The output of ten cars a day which is mentioned will give employment for a large number of skilled artisans and there can be no doubt that from the establishment of this important industry Westminster will gain much.

It would be a good thing if some means were adopted for showing the people of this city the great heritage they possess in the Fraser river. Some day pleasure steamers will run clear to Hope, but to anyone with the slightest imagination the sight of the great expanse of water above the bridge cannot fail to bring visions of illimitable development.

And this is but one of many similar stretches of deep water which will bear sea going ships. Development above and below Westminster steadily proceeds, while in the city itself while no tangible sign has yet been made, work upon the harbor scheme is making headway.

CASE AGAINST WOMAN SUFFRAGE.

"The 6,000,000 working women in the wage-earning class are better protected today in male suffrage than in equal suffrage states. No equal suffrage state has won the temperance fight, and in these states lies the stronghold of Mormonism. These facts invalidate the argument that where women vote temperance and purity will inevitably prevail."

The above is quoted from an illuminative letter written to the New York Sun by Grace Duffield Goodwin, president of the District of Columbia Auxiliary to the National Association, opposed to woman suffrage.

Mrs. Goodwin points out that women should hold a higher position than that merely of man's political and industrial equal; that she must be a privileged worker under laws made to favor her physical weakness, so that nothing may interfere with her fitness for the duties of motherhood. Always, she argues, sex in industrial and political life is woman's handicap.

The influence of woman would be less potent, says Mrs. Goodwin, were her actions liable to the reproach of partizan feeling. Were women allied to a party, by virtue of their voting strength, they could not be considered as disinterested workers for the common good. Those qualities which make woman mistress of the home, which purify her influence and which sustain her as an acknowledged power in her allotted sphere, would, in the opinion of this woman, be distorted and nullified if given cheap publicity in political life, and if bandied about the political arena in the form of party arguments. Woman's present work is sacred, she is given the headwaters of the nation in trust, and, in venturing into political life she is "but sailing paper ships on the great seas of man's legitimate endeavor," contends Mrs. Goodwin.

After reading the calm logic of Mrs. Goodwin's argument against woman suffrage, one is inclined to think that such a woman might well be given the right to vote, that she might make better use of the privilege than is made by men. But Mrs. Goodwin recognizes that there are many men who do not exercise intelligently and honestly the privilege of the ballot. She points out that, under general woman suffrage, the danger from this class of voters would be doubled, especially in the case of ignorant and indifferent foreign immigrants in the country.—Ottawa Evening Journal.

WOULD EXCLUDE ALIENS.

Governor Marshall Advocates More Stringent Naturalization Laws.

San Francisco, Oct. 23.—Governor Thomas C. Marshall, of Indiana, Democratic vice-presidential candidate, wound up a flying two-day campaign in California by advocating tonight the exclusion from the United States of all aliens who are not of a character to amalgamate with the American people.

This argument was accepted with noisy approval by audiences which the Indiana executive addressed in San Francisco just prevous to his departure for Oregon, where he is scheduled to speak tomorrow.

"I am unalterably opposed," said Governor Marshall, "to the granting of citizenship to any race of aliens which by habit and by nature is absolutely unfitted to amalgamate with the American people. I believe in encouraging immigration to this country of those peoples who will not alone understand and appreciate our institutions, but, who, more than that, are eager to adopt these institutions as their own. For such people we have room for opportunities. But for the people who never can mingle in political affairs, business or in a social way with Americans, I say, 'Don't grant them citizenship.'

"The time has arrived in some parts of our country when this issue is as great as any other one that I can name to you tonight. The Pacific Coast particularly is concerned with it and in the East at Lawrence, Mass., recently, we have had an example of what a certain class of immigrants can come to under certain conditions. We must take steps to stop that sort of thing and stop it at once."

WILL ORGANIZE.

Meeting Called to Form Dominion Medical Council.

Ottawa, Oct. 23.—The first meeting to organize the new Dominion Medical Council was summoned today by Dr. Roche, the secretary of state. The summons, which is issued under the Canada Medical Act, calls for gathering of delegates at Ottawa on the morning of Thursday, Nov. 7.

The meeting is to comprise representatives of several provincial medical councils, representatives of universities, representatives of homeopathic physicians, and three members yet to be appointed by order-in-council.

The Canada Medical Act was passed in 1902, after years of effort by Dr. Roddick, formerly M. P. for one of the divisions of Montreal. It could not go into effect until all provincial legislatures had approved of it. This has taken ten years. Now the way lies open to the formation of the Dominion Council for formulating of rules, etc., regarding examinations, etc. The act commits work of organization to the Minister of Agriculture but Mr Burrell has asked Dr. Roche to take it over, he having been one of the champions of the act when it was before the house.

The representatives of British Columbia are Drs. R. E. McKechnie, Vancouver, and R. E. Walker, New Westminster.

HOT REPLY.

Bulgarian King Sends Sultan Bag of Pepper Before War.

London, Oct. 23.—The correspondent in Paris of the Daily Telegraph sends the following story:

"When the Sultan of Turkey gave orders for the mobilization of his troops he send to the King of Bulgaria a sack of millet with the following letter:

"'Ferdinand Effendi—Mobilize if you like, but be assured that there are as many soldiers in Turkey as there are grains of millet in this sack. Now if you wish, declare war.'

"King Ferdinand's reply was in kind. He send a very much smaller sack, filled with tiny grains of the most virulent red pepper of the country. With it went the following declaration:

"'Dear Mr. Sultan—The Bulgarians are not numerous it is true, but be assured that to stick your nose into their affairs is like sticking it into our national condiment. Try it and see. They will sting you so sharply that the whole of Asia will not be able to save you.'"

COTTERILL EXPECTS MAJORITY OF 4000

Portland, Ore., Oct. 23.—W. C. T. U. workers here today are discussing the salient points of the stirring speech made before their national body by Mayor Cotterill, of Seattle. Cotterill told of the efforts that are being made all throughout the state of Washington to heighten the moral atmosphere. He referred to the recall petition that is being directed against him in Seattle, stating that the voters would this time sweep him into office with a majority of 4000 instead of 400, his marginal figure in the last election. He stated that the work being done by the W. C. T. U. is similar in a good many ways to the Good Templar plan founded by himself.

TOO MUCH POLICE WORK IN GERMANY

Berlin, Oct. 23.—There is either something wrong with the laws in Germany or there are too many of them. Statistics just published reveal that Germany is not the autocratically self-disciplined nation it has been reputed to be, for one person out of every twelve has been convicted in the course of the past year of some transgression or other.

There are so many signs of "Verboten," which means "prohibited," everywhere one looks, that there should be fewer infractions of the law in the empire than elsewhere. Yet there are more.

One girl out of every 213, one boy out of every 23, one women out of very 25, and one man out of every six have had trouble with the law and have been punished accordingly.

the highest. Ten miles were made on the average to one gallon of gasoline.

From here Mr. Wilby will proceed to Winnipeg, where he will deliver the first of a course of lectures on his trip. The pictures, which were developed by the official photographer of the Highway association in this city, will be posted along the walls of his lecture room and in addition some lantern slides will be made from them. As the headquarters of the Canadian Highway association, the pictures of the tour made in Westminster will be given a conspicuous position and a great deal of publicity should thus accrue to this city.

After leaving the prairie centre Mr. Wilby will go to Ottawa where he will meet the premier and urge the establishment of a Dominion publicity bureau. From that point he will make a tour of a number of the eastern cities delivering lectures. Later he will invade the United States. Subsequently he will pursue the same mission in the old country and other European countries. It is expected that his work may be rewarded by the Royal Geographical society.

During the course of his coming travels, the autoist, who is a literary man by profession, will complete a book he is writing on his experiences during the cross-Canada trip. Mr Wilby has already completed two volumes on trips he made in the United States, both of which are being widely read.

During yesterday's visit the autoist traced the route of his transcontinental journey on the wall map of the Canadian Highway association offices The Reo auto has been shipped back to Halifax, while the drivers, Haney and Wise, have also left for the East

CROWN PRINCE HURT.

Heir to Russian Throne Under Medical Care—Silence as to Cause.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 23.—The condition of the Russian crown prince is causing the greatest anxiety at the imperial court and among the general public. Although information is published in bulletins, the strictest silence is preserved in regard to the nature of the accident met with by the Grand Duke Alexis.

That it was a serious one is indicated by the telegraphic summons sent to Dr. Rauchfuss, the court physician, who attends the imperial children, to proceed at once to Spala in Russian Poland, where he arrived yesterday.

Rossini's Memory.

Rossini's memory was lacking in retentiveness, especially in respect to the names of persons who had been introduced to him. This forgetfulness was frequently a cause of amusement whenever Rossini was among company. One day he met Bishop, the English composer. Rossini knew the face well enough and at once greeted him. "Ah, my dear Mr.—" but the name escaped his memory, and to convince him that he had not forgotten him Rossini began whistling Bishop's glee, "When the Wind Blows," a compliment which "the English Mozat," as Bishop had been dubbed, recognized quite as readily as if his ecclesiastical surname had been mentioned.

Where the King Sat.

English vergers no longer turn an honest shilling by admitting spectators to see royalty at church. But some years ago one in a certain country church thought of something even better. King Edward had been occupying one of the pews, and after seeing His Majesty depart the clergyman return to find a brisk business going on. The verger had seen a way to assist the church restoration fund by charging loyal parishioners a few pence each for the privilege of sitting for a moment in the place still warmed with the royal presence, and he was astonished when the vicar summarily stopped the traffic.

Antique Styles.

Masculine fashions are often perpetuated through the gradual acquisition of a gentleman's cast off clothes by his servants. A powdered footman of to-day wears the costume of a George II. dandy, and the present lord mayor's coachman is dressed exactly like a nobleman of the time of George III. A page boy, with his three rows of buttons, wears what was known in the early years of the nineteenth century as the Dutch skeleton suit, the fashionable wear for boys of the upper classes.—London Standard.

She Snubbed Napoleon.

Mme. de Chevreuse, a representative of one of the noblest families in France, declined the honor which Napoleon wished to confer on her, that of being maid of honor to his sister-in-law, the queen of Spain. The afterward became Josephine's dame du palais, but always affected to look down on the imperial court. One day she went to a reception at the Tuileries blazing with diamonds. "What splendid jewels!" remarked Napoleon. "Are they all real?" "Mon Dieu, sire, I really don't know, but at any rate they are quite good enough to wear here!"

The Genuine Article.

"I understand that Mr. Grabwell started in life by borrowing $50. You must admire a man with courage like that."

"No, I don't," replied Mr. Growcher. "The man I admire is the one who had the courage to lend him the fifty."—Washington Star.

FLOWER CARNIVAL IS NOW ASSURED

Large Number of Burnaby Residents Attend Meeting—Officers Elected —Plans Underway.

Edmonds, Oct. 23.—The Burnaby Flower Carnival association was formally launched this evening when a goodly number of citizens gathered in the municipal hall and elected officers for the year. Mr. B. G. Walker was in the chair and outlined the scheme which he hoped would place Burnaby on the map as an horticultural district.

There were many features connected with flower shows, he stated, but perhaps the greatest of all was the spirit which was thereby imparted to people and especially the children to go more and more into this interesting and inspiring work.

The attendance was very gratifying for the second meeting and the selection of officers could not have been bettered. The following were elected Honorary president, Sir Richard McBride; honorary vice-presidents, Reev. J. W. Weart, Mr. J. D. Taylor, M.P New Westminster, Mr. H. H. Stevens M.P., Vancouver, Mr. Carter Cotton M.P.P., Richmond constituency, Mr W. E. Scott, deputy minister of agriculture; president, Mr. W. S. Rose vice-presidents, H. Sworder, H. W Mansfield; secretary-treasurer, W. S Vivian; directors, A. McPhee, D. C Patterson, E. B. Stride, W. A. Dashwood-Jones, C. P. Legge; executive committee, A. Puttick, A. Scott, C. P Legge, E. B. Stride and W. A. Dashwood-Jones.

It was decided that a membership fee of $1 be charged, which will be open to all.

The executive committee will draw up plans, set the date of the flower carnival, which is to be held sometime next summer, and arrange other details. Another meeting will be called in the near future when the different committees will set out and prepare for one of the finest horticultural shows that has ever been staged in this section of Western Canada.

FIVE PLAYERS ARE ALREADY SIGNED UP

Manager Frank Patrick Will Order Machinery for Ice Making Plant —Provisional Officers.

Definite word was given out last evening by one of the officers connected with the Westminster hockey team that five of last year's players have already been signed up and that Lester Patrick, who is now returning here, is angling for three more.

A glance at the following list, and any fan who takes an interest in the Canadian winter game will realize that the Royals will stand a mighty good chance of duplicating their feat of last season when they nosed out ahead of the Vancouver and Victoria septettes in the last lap and gained possession of the Paterson cup, emblematic of the Pacific coast hockey championship.

"Big Moose" Ernie Johnson, Harry Hyland, Ken Mallen, Ran McDonald and Jimmy Gardner have been signed up.

Sue McLean and Hugh Lehmann have yet to name their club, but the next few days will decide whether they will again be wearing New Westminster uniforms this coming season.

Manager Frank Patrick was yesterday in the city, on his return from San Francisco, and he was instructed to go ahead and order the necessary machinery for the ice-making plant. The tenders for the building which is to be erected alongside the horse show building at the park are being called for, and contracts will be let within the next few days. The building will be 50x80 feet and the tenders are alternative, either concrete or wood.

The plans for the opening game have yet to be set, but within the next two weeks the officers of the Westminster Arena will be in a position to give out the probable date.

It is possible that the local rink will not be finished in time for the opening of the hockey season, but arrangements have been made with Frank Patrick for the Royals to practice on the Vancouver Arena in the meantime. All the players signed up by the magnates will have returned to the coast early in November and real training will immediately be begun.

Provisional officers of the Westminster Arena Co., Ltd., were elected at a meeting held on Tuesday evening. These were: President, Charles A. Welsh; vice-president, L. A. Lewis, secretary-treasurer, C. A. Bourne. Directors, Messrs. L. M. Richardson, E. H. Savage, Nels Nelson and Frank Patrick. These are only provisional officers. Another meeting will be held before the season is opened when permanent officers will be elected. Several other well known business men are interested in the project and they are doing their utmost to provide the citizens of New Westminster and district with all the exhilaration of the winter skating, not forgetting the finest hockey games to be seen in any part of the Dominion.

ROYALS TAKE THREE.

Defeat Reliance Bowling Team of Vancouver by Big Margin.

New Westminster bowlers made a clean sweep of the intercity series against the Reliance septette of Vancouver on the Front street alleys, taking the three games with good margins.

While three of the Royals topped the 500 mark, none of their scores were exceptionally brilliant, although their opponents, with the exception of Boyland, could not compare even with these. Boyland with 569 had high aggregate, tying with Sloan for high score with 193.

Charlie Steel rolled a steady game all through and was high man for the Royals with 534 to his credit. The following scores tell the tale:

Steel	180	164	190	534

IMPROVING TEAM

More Rugby Players Rolling Up—New Appointments.

Despite the reverses the club has sustained so far this season, the Westminster rugger players are by no means a disheartened lot and this was demonstrated last evening at a meeting held in the United Service Club rooms. Several new players were mentioned as having signified their intention of trying out for the team and the present members will probably have to show up in the best of form if they wish to make the fifteen.

A change was made in the officers last evening. Mr. A. B. Lloyd was elected captain, vice Mr. A. Marcon, who has found it impossible to turn out every Saturday, while Mr. H. Savage was elected to the position of vice-captain.

An additional office was created in the shape of a team secretary whose duties will be to arrange the details of gathering a team together and also to arrange for practice dates. Mr. V. E. Andrew was elected to this position.

No game is sceduled for Saturday afternoon on acount of the Vancouver-Calgary contest which will be played on the Brockton Point grounds. Many of the Westminster players and supporters have signified their intention of making the trip.

Practice will be held early next week for the game to be played at Queens park on Saturday, November 2.

JACK JOHNSON'S WHITE VICTIM GIVES EVIDENCE

Chicago, Ill., Oct. 23.—The testimony of Lucile Cameron, the white girl whose association with Jack Johnson, the negro pugilist, caused an investigation by the United States authorities to ascertain if the Mann act had been violated, is said to have been the most direct the federal grand jury has been able to obtain. It is said that the girl, who has turned against the negro, made highly damaging statements.

At the close of her hearing the girl became hysterical. She will appear before the jury again tomorrow. This afternoon she yielded to the pleadings of her mother, Mrs. Cameron Falconet, of Minneapolis, and consented to return to her home, renouncing the negro.

The morning session of the jury was occupied with stories of Mrs. Cameron Falconet, Jack Curley, fight promoter; Hank Kenny, Johnson's former sparring partner and F. E. Danielson, a white saloon-keeper.

It Was Changeable.

One of the large Kansas City stores owes its success in a great measure to its policy of exchanging goods if returned in a salable condition. An exception is made when dress materials have been cut from the bolt. One day recently a customer purchased ten yards of a two toned silk, which the clerk assured her was the most fashionable fabric of the season. When she reached home with her purchase she decided, on reflection, that a woolen material would be more serviceable. Accordingly she returned to the store the next day and requested the exchange. The clerk explained that it was an impossibility, as the goods had been cut.

"Why, I bought this with the distinct understanding," remonstrated the woman, "that I could return it. Did you not tell me it was a changeable taffeta?"

The exchange was made.—Kansas City Star.

"THE CHOCOLATE SOLDIER."

"The Chocolate Soldier," still the conquering hero in the vast army of light operas that assail the American and European theatres, will be the attraction at the Opera House this evening. It is no idle boast to predict that the throng of admirers who come to greet him will be fully as great as in other cities, for the charming warrior never wears out his welcome.

The superb operatic mixture of Viennese melodies and Celtic wit and satire, with Bulgarian scenes, manners and customs forming a splendid background of romance is the work of Oscar Straus, the composer of Vienna, and Bernard Shaw, the Irish wit and playwright, from whose romantic satire, "Arms and the Man," the libretto of "The Chocolate Soldier" is derived. It is chiefly the music which has given the opera its remarkable reputation. Such melodies as "My Hero," the waltz refrain which is the dominant theme of the entrancing score, "The Letter Song," "That Would Be Lovely," and "The Chocolate Soldier" are still monopolizing the memories of thousands.

Wild West Life.

Pictures that have been attracting a great deal of attention this week on account of their genuine character are those being shown at the Edison theatre depicting scenes on the famous 101 Ranch.

The films are amongst the most unique ever put on here and include views taken of a round up of 15,000 cattle, branding operations and an exciting buffalo hunt from real life.

ROYAL THEATRE

Let it be said that the Royal management is not afraid to spend the big part of its takings in artists' salaries. Besides having the highest priced act on the bill that has ever appeared in this city there will also be shown two of the best features in the novelty line that ever graced a stage. These new turns open this afternoon and appear the rest of the week on the same program with Arnold's wild animal novelty.

BABE LENHART
A very clever eight year old character change artist, who opens at the Royal theatre today for a three days' engagement.

Advance reports on Babe Lenhart are far better than on any act that has been booked to appear in the Royal theatre up to the present time. She is the highest priced juvenile artist in the world and that is saying a lot. She draws down $100 every week that she works. Babe Lenhart holds the distinction of being the only vaudeville artist that works one week and then rests one week. When booking this act Mr. Fisher, the booking agent, had to sign contracts to this effect. Many managers have been made more flattering terms for a second week's engagement, but have found out to their sorrow that this is one act in a thousand that they cannot engage a second week. Babe Lenhart has her own maid and makes all changes of wardrobe in full view of the audience.

Hessie, the whirlwind comedy juggler, will be the other act to complete the program. Hessie is the man who catches apples, potatoes, etc., on a fork. First these articles are distributed in the audience and then thrown at him. He never makes a miss no matter with how much speed they come. New pictures will complete the program.

Mabel Hite Dead.

Record Divorce Appeals.

Ottawa, Oct. 23.—There was no less than four applications for divorce made to parliament last week. This is believed to be the largest number of divorce applications ever made in a single week and brings the total for the year up to 37, which is a Canadian record.

AND WHEREAS to provide for the payment of interest and the creation of a Sinking Fund for the payment of the said principal sum of $250,000.00 it will be necessary to levy a special annual rate sufficient to raise the sum of Thirteen Thousand, Eight Hundred and Eighty dollars and Eighty-seven cents ($13,880.87) the amount to be calculated annually on the whole of the rateable land comprised within the Municipality.

NOW THEREFORE the Municipal Council of the Corporation of the District of Burnaby enacts as follows:

1. The Miller's Ghost

A Story of Garibaldi and the One Thousand

By F. A. MITCHEL

The union of the Italian states that occurred during the middle of the last century was accomplished by the united efforts of three different leaders who, strange to say, were not at all in accord, and in the case of two of them there was great antagonism. These three men were Victor Emmanuel, king of Sardinia; Count Cavour, his prime minister, and General Garibaldi. The king acted as a rallying head for the Italian people, Cavour's splendid diplomacy prevented the interference of foreign powers, and Garibaldi struck the blow.

When Garibaldi, at the head of 1,000 volunteers, landed on the Sicilian shore to support the revolution in that island and advanced eastward he fought a battle in which he was victorious, and the supporters of his enemy, the king of Naples, commonly called Bomba, retreated to Palermo, where the king's main army was located, protected by a fleet of war vessels in the harbor.

During this fight, when Garibaldi was advancing, an Italian soldier, Giuseppe Guardet, was captured by Bomba's troops. This Guardet was as much of a genius in a small strategic way as was his general in leading armies. Guardet was sent forward with other prisoners in the direction of Palermo that they might not be retaken by their advancing comrades. But in any event soldiers in retreat do not make the best of guards, and Guardet, who had been wounded, pretending that he could not keep up with his captors, lagged behind and when he saw that he was unobserved by those hurrying on ahead of him sank down behind some bushes.

If the prisoner had been in the rear instead of in advance of the retreating army he would have needed only to wait for Garibaldi to come up. As it was, he must conceal himself till the main body and rear guard of the royal troops had passed on. As soon as he ceased to hear the confused sounds of the guard ahead of him he sprang up, notwithstanding his wound, which was not in a vital part, and ran as fast as his legs could carry him into a wood beside the road on which he had been marching. Sicily is a mountainous country, and he was on a slope at the foot of mountains, a stream running through it down to the plains below. Following this stream he came to a water mill.

Guardet found the mill deserted except for a donkey hitched to a post, on whose back were several bags of flour evidently intended for delivery. Inside grain and flour were in bags and in heaps.

The fugitive, seeing that he had found a good hiding place, threw himself down on the bags of flour to rest and, being exhausted, fell asleep. He was soon awakened by voices and, starting, ran up a pair of stairs to the upper part of the mill, where he found a large heap of flour. The voices came nearer till he could hear them directly below. Guardet burrowed into the flour, leaving only a breathing space for his nose at the back part of the pile, where it would not likely be noticed. The comers were chattering below, and the hider soon learned that they were Neapolitan soldiers. He had been missed almost as soon as he had dropped behind, and these men had been sent back for him. Noticing that the mill was a good hiding place, they searched it. When they came up the stairs Guardet withdrew even his nose under the flour and held his breath. They did not think of looking for a man in such a place, and Guardet had the satisfaction of hearing them go away.

As soon as he was free to come out from his hiding place he did so, white as the flour that had shielded him. Going into a little room where the miller kept his accounts, he found a fragment of looking glass fastened to the wall and by it saw that his face was like that of a corpse. Wiping the flour from his forehead with his hand, which was covered with blood from his wound, he left a smudge of blood coagulated with flour. Then the idea of playing the part of a ghost, if necessary to effect his escape, occurred to him, and he dabbed himself here and there with blood, and with some ink he found beside the miller's account books blackened the sockets of his eyes.

Surveying his image in the mirror, he lost all fear of capture, for, knowing well the superstition of Italians, he felt sure he could easily put to flight a whole army of them.

The sun was now low behind the mountains, and Guardet concluded to sally forth with a view to working his way backward to rejoin his comrades. Leaving the mill, he saw the donkey still patiently standing tied to the post, and it occurred to him that there was no need for him to walk when he could as well ride. To heighten the ghostly effect he emptied the bags of flour over his steed, with the exception of one bag, which he left in its place for a saddle. Then, mounting, he guided the little beast down to the road.

There he hesitated. If he rode toward Garibaldi's army and failed to frighten the coming Neapolitans it would be all up with him. It might be better in the end to go the other way. Being of a venturesome disposition, the latter course pleased him the better, and he decided to go with the current instead of against it.

He had not proceeded far before he heard the jabber of voices, the rattle of side arms against canteens and tin cups, denoting that some soldiers of the retreating army were ahead of him. Thinking they would afford him a good opportunity to make his experiment of playing ghost, he urged his charger on till he came in sight of four men, whom he suspected to be those who had been sent back to find him. Hearing the patter of the donkey's little hoofs on the road, they turned.

For a moment they stood paralyzed.

"Santa Maria!" whispered one to the other. "It's the miller. He must have been murdered."

"Go back," cried out Guardet, "and bury me! King Bomba's men have left my body in a thicket near my mill. I will haunt you till you place it underground and put a cross over it."

As he spoke he kept on at the same pace. The soldiers recoiled before him to the side of the road and as soon as he had passed began to consult as to what they should do. Not one of them dared to stand against the threat he had made in the miller's name, and, trembling, they retraced their steps and spent hours in a fruitless search for his body.

Meanwhile Guardet, encouraged at his success, rode on, keeping at a safe distance behind the advance of the retreating army, till he came to the top of a declivity from which he could look down on Palermo. He saw King Bomba's flag flying over the palace, the Neapolitan ships of war in the harbor, besides several war vessels flying the British flag. He noticed the enemy's camps and, considering their extent, could not conceive how his general could prevail against them. He observed their positions and saw that they were on the farther side of the city, while the declivity on which he stood led down to the narrow streets on the hither side that had been left without protection. All this he considered, and it occurred to him that it would be well for his general to know what was before him.

By this time darkness had come on, and he determined to take advantage of it to ride back to inform Garibaldi of what he had seen.

There was another road leading toward the revolutionists which joined the one on which they were advancing Guardet made for this road. Just as he was about to ride into it, looking over an open space, he saw the dark forms of men marching westward.

"Aha!" exclaimed Guardet to himself. "A force is moving by this road either to strike the general on the flank or cut him off. We shall see about this."

For some distance the road on which these troops were marching lay over partly open ground, and Guardet hovered on their flank. He appeared now and again to the soldiers as a white mass moving in the same direction as themselves. He was minded to block the road before them to delay or turn them back, but he remembered that their leader would be at their head and, being of superior intelligence, was not likely to be frightened by an apparition. So he fell back to the rear with a view to detaching some portion of the force. When the dawn was far enough advanced to enable the troops to see him he put himself on the road between the main body and a company marching a short distance in the rear. A bomb dropping among them could not have more effectually scattered them.

Without waiting for them to investigate him Guardet, who every moment was becoming more convinced of the importance of bearing the information he possessed to his general, crossed from the road on which the Neapolitans were marching to the one on which Garibaldi was advancing and during the morning took position at a point where the general must pass. He had not waited long when the head of the revolutionary column came in sight. Guardet rode to meet them, and the skirmish line melted away like ice under the rays of a hot sun. Guardet kept on causing a commotion in the little army till he approached the general and his staff.

"What's this?" the general demanded. "Who are you who have rigged yourself like a phantom?"

"I am Private Giuseppe Guardet, taken in yesterday's fight by King Bomba's men. I escaped and hid in a mill. That's what gives me a ghostly appearance. I have been to the crest of the hill overlooking Palermo and have noted several features that it may be well for you to know."

"What are they?"

"There must be 20,000 troops in Palermo, but they are all near the palace at the other end of the city. There is a fleet of war vessels in the harbor, some of them bearing the English flag."

"English?"

"Yes, general."

"Go on."

"The part of the town nearest the foot of the declivity is unguarded. You may find an entrance on that side."

"Anything else?"

"A force has been sent out to intercept you. It is marching by another road."

"They have gone on a fool's errand. Thank you, Private Guardet. You cut a ridiculous figure, but you have brought me valuable information."

The general rode on, and Guardet took position beside the road. As the soldiers passed, now knowing that he was harmless, he was greeted with shouts of laughter.

History tells how Garibaldi after a long fight on the streets of Palermo finally forced the evacuation of King Bomba's army, thus striking the first and the main blow for Italian unity.

THE PATIENT HOTEL CLERK.

As He Is Viewed From the Commercial Traveler's Standpoint.

Hotel clerks are a suave, polite, hard pressed, very busy class, wearing fine raiment, diamond studs and occasionally the smile that won't come off; likewise the air of a millionaire minus the cash.

They can answer more questions in five minutes than an occult lawyer can in two hours and have to; can keep their temper like a graven image and bang the office bell and yell "Front!" with the tone and jar of a steam calliope. Hotel clerks were originally counts with nothing to count. The hotel's entire responsibility rests on their fashionably garbed shoulders, while the landlord sits in the back office, and they can say "Four-fifty, please," for two meals and a room as if it were a nickel.

They survey the arriving guest as a hawk would a left alone chicken, gauge how high priced a room he will stand for with the accuracy of tested scales, and when it comes to the size of his wad there is only one case on record where a skilled clerk ever had to "guess again."

Their nerve is chilled steel, poise that of Gibraltar, endurance like the rock of ages. They can give cards and spades to a drummer on the fine art of polite prevarication and beat him to a frazzle; can preach a sermon, lead in prayer, time a horse race and umpire a ball game.

It has been said that no human being can do two things at once, but this is a rank blunder, for a skilled hotel clerk can do five—viz, answer two questions, size up an arrival, hand out stationery and yell "Front!" all in one breath; also repeat the performance ten times a minute. Their two most valuable assets are fluency of smiles and ability to recall the name of every "once was" guest.

Hotel clerks catch all the latest jokes and stories on the fly. Their fund of good humor is exhaustless. Their faces must reflect morning sunshine persistently and continuously to hold their jobs down, even in spite of kicks thicker and more exasperating than "skeeters." And how many and what fool ones most of these are none but those doomed to yell "Front!" every five minutes and keep smiling will ever know.

There are a few public servants who in due time earn a halo. And of these the always patient hotel clerk is one.

What Beat Sandy.

A native of a town on the coast of Scotland, when the contract for lighting the first three steamers fitted with electric light at the local shipyard was completed, formed one of a social party gathered to entertain the electricians. In a burst of candor and comradeship he was overheard saying to one of the wiremen:

"Mon, Peter, efter workin' wi' you on they boats I believe I could put in the electric licht masel', but there's only one thing that—that—bates me."

"Aye, and what is that, Sandy?" said his interested companion, willing to help him if it lay in his power.

"Well, mon," said Sandy, "it's just this—I dinna ken hoo ye got the ile tae rin along the wires."—London Ideas.

ADVERTISING and the New World

WHAT populated America and made its growth one of the wonders of the world's history? Advertising. People heard of the opportunities in the new land, and, believing their material welfare would be bettered here, came.

What populated the farms of the West and made their rapid development the wonder of the century? Advertising.

The government and the railways were not content to wait until the farmers came one by one and discovered these fertile lands for themselves.

They advertised---and accomplished in a few years what in former days would have taken several generations to discover.

What has made cities grow in ten years as they have never grown before? Advertising and its results.

What has made it possible to build up big businesses in a few years where it used to take a generation of steady effort? Advertising.

What has made it possible for a manufacturer to introduce new goods in every corner of the continent in a few weeks' time, where it formerly required years of hard work? Advertising.

Advertising has changed the face of the map. Advertising has revolutionized the methods of doing business. Advertising has magnified the possibilities of business far beyond anything our most optimistic forefathers ever dreamed of.

Advertising has brought to the humblest home comforts and conveniences that were unknown to kings in former generations.

Advertising has raised the standard of living, simplified the manner of living, reduced the cost and time and trouble of supplying our daily needs.

Advertising has made a new world. It has been the greatest civilizing force in the world's history.

Advertising has brought the man in the backwoods in touch with the centres of art and literature and business and made him feel at home with the world.

Advertising brings the world's markets to the very hearth of every home and brings those who have needs to where their needs can be best supplied.

Advertising is today a dominant factor in every home, in every factory, in every business office. Like electricity, we have always had it in the world, but only lately have we found out what a tremendous power it is. Little by little it is being applied here and there, in all manner of ways to help the civilized human race.

The development edition of the Saturday Sunset just to hand contains an illuminative and concise article upon New Westminster and the Fraser valley by Mr. Kenneth Myers. If reliable facts and figures presented in a pleasing manner count for anything New Westminster should be considerably profited by this excellent article.

The Educational club will hold a meeting in the science hall of the Royal Columbian college this evening at 8 o'clock. The feature of the occasion will be an illustrated lecture by Professor A. E. Hetherington, principal of the college. All those who are interested are requested to attend. A silver collection will be taken.

The city health department is now in possession of a tank pump which was ordered some time ago for the purpose of cleaning out septic tanks and cesspools throughout the city. It will be put in use as soon as the component parts are placed together.

Do not fail to attend the annual Thanksgiving supper at Knox Presbyterian church on Friday evening. A hot supper will be served from 5:30 to 8. Concert following with Westminster and Vancouver talent contributing. Miss Cave-Brown-Cave will be among those taking part in the program. **

Mr. J. W. Jellett, manager of the Dominion Bank of Vancouver, was in the city yesterday making arrangements with regard to the opening of the bank branch here. The fittings for the interior of the new office, plans for which have been prepared by Messrs. Gardner & Mercer, architects, will be equal to any in the city. Accommodation will be made for eight men and a branch manager.

Under the auspices of the New Westminster Croquet and Bowling Club, a card party will be given at St. George's hall on the evening of Friday, the 25th, at 8 p. m. Tables will be arranged for bridge and progressive euchre. Tickets, price 50c may be had from members of the club. **

The new High school building is now beginning to loom up on the horizon and take more tangible form. The outside walls of the first floor of the structure have been practically completed and it will only be a matter of a few days before the second floor is started. The corner stone laid by the Duke of Connaught when he visited the city on September 21 looks very well, now that the surrounding brick work has been erected.

Hon. W. Norman Bole, K.C., Messrs. George Cunningham, sr., George Blakeley, W. A. Anderson, Peter Peebles, D. E. MacKenzie, M. J. Knight, F. J. Lynch and J. Stilwell Clute, the delegates from the local Conservative association, have gone to Revelstoke to attend the convention of the party in this province which starts today and comes to a close tomorrow. President H. L. Edmonds, of the local association, and Mr. F. J. MacKenzie, M.P.P., have already gone up country, while Mayor Lee, who is at present in Revelstoke attending the Union of B. C. Municipalities, will remain over for the Conservative gathering. The party will be back on Saturday.

PUT FINISHING TOUCHES TO MAGNIFICENT ARENA

The Horse Show building or Arena at Queens park is now in the last stages of completion. A gang of 36 men is at present engaged in putting the finishing touches to the interior of the structure but it is expected that they will be through for good in a few days.

As there was no necessity for rush as in the first case with regard for getting the roof on in time for the exhibition, the finishing work is being executed in a most thorough and excellent manner and the building, when finally out of the contractors hands, will rank of one of the finest west of Winnipeg. Experienced men who have viewed the structure give unstinted praise to its architecture and workmanship.

The interior fittings have certainly taken on an improved appearance compared with what they were at the time of the fair and the seating sections have been made as comfortable and easy of access as possible. One of the striking features of the structure is the box arrangement. These have been given most desirable locations and have been splendidly fitted up. Outside, the building has a very imposing and at the same neat and symmetrical appearance, reflecting great credit on its architect and the contractors.

CLERK OF WEATHER AT UNUSUAL GAME

Together with the weather the rainfall has been most remarkable during the last week or eight days From October 15 to noon yesterday the city hall instruments registered the most unusual total of 3.71 inches, which compares with 1.83 inches for the whole of October last year. The figures for the month to date are 4.62, while only 1.72 fell in September.

The heaviest fall was recorded for the 24 hours ending last Saturday noon when .98 of an inch was registered. At the present rate this month promises to eclipse the total rainfall for August, which was nearly six inches, and to create a new high figure for October several years back

STRAYING STEED SETS EXPENSIVE PRECEDENT

Edmonds, Oct. 23.—A horse which strayed along the highway and also damaged the boulevard was responsible for the charges brought in this morning before Magistrate Walker, fines being handed out in each case. Mrs. K. Fitzpatrick was mulcted $10 and costs in the first instance, while Mr. Percy Fitzpatrick was fined $10 and costs together with $6 damage for the second offence.

This is believed to be the first case of its kind in Burnaby where a person was fined for damaging a boulevard.

SNOWSTORM AND HAIL WITH LIGHTNING STORM

Edmonds, Oct. 23.—Although certain portions of Burnaby are well known to have greater and longer periods of real wintry weather than either New Westminster and Vancouver, the snow flurry that accompanied the electrical storm last evening was a poser to many people residing in the vicinity of Edmonds.

Hail stones followed by snow appeared on the ground. It did not last very long, however, and preparations for the holding of a summer flower carnival went on apace this evening.

KAID BELTON RESIGNS: WILL ENTER BUSINESS

Ottawa, Ont., Oct. 23.—Kaid Belton, famous for his war exploits in Morocco and for the past year attached to the permanent militia force in Canada, has resigned his position with a view of taking up a business appointment in the United States.

Lieutenant Belton was appointed by the Minister of Militia and Defence last year to help in the organization of the cadet force in which he took a great interest.

MacKenzie Bowell Hurt.

Toronto, Oct. 23.—While descending the stairs of the Albany Club yesterday, Sir MacKenzie Bowell, former prime minister of Canada, tripped and fell twelve steps to the landing below. He suffered an abrasion of the nose and superficial injuries on the chest. He is enroute to Toronto from the west. His accident is not serious.

FUND IS SWELLED BY ENTERTAINMENT

each was successful in getting out of holds which looked to the crowd to be good.

The three round boxing go between Messrs. Horn and Mitchell, also members of the company, was a fast event in which no decision was rendered. Both men got in some good work, and it would be difficult to state which had the better of the argument. Johnny Lees, a former aspirant for the lightweight belt, was the third man in the ring.

The first event of the evening was a basketball game between the 104th Hustlers and the 104th Rustlers, the latter organization being something of a close corporation. It is made up of five Sangster brothers. The family party suffered defeat last night by the close score of 7 to 6. The game was a good one and the crowd had plenty of chance to cheer for its favorite.

Contributors to the musical end of the program were: Messrs. Harrison, Jameson, Lawrence, Sergeant Major Wheeler, Mrs. Terry and Mr. Speedy.

Colonel W. A. Johnson had charge of the events, assisted by the other officers of the regiment. The program was arranged by the officers and men, all of whom donated their services. That they were able to add so substantially to the fund is greatly to their credit.

With the contribution of $50 from the 104th regiment concert and a few smaller contributions the Joynson fund has now bounded past the $900 mark, and has started on its way to the $1000, which it is hoped will be attained in a short time. Apart from the concert subscriptions $18 came in from four different sources, showing that the needy widow and her family are not forgotten.
