ALL MACHINERY IS RECEIVED FOR SILVER STANDARD MINE

Big Force to be Employed as Soon as Installed==Fifteen Hundred Sacks of Ore Ready==Will Ship From New Hazelton as Soon as Sufficient Snow Comes

While J. W. Stewart was in town last week a meeting of the owners of Silver Standard mine was held here and it was decided to rush the installation of the smaller machinery and get the property in shape to work on a big scale as soon as possible.

Manager Haskins was present and reported that the development of the property had reached a point where the men were now laboring to a disadvantage until the machinery was running. It was decided to close down until the plant was all ready and then to start up with a big force.

The electric light plant, the air drills and some other smaller machinery are now all here and were taken to the mine on Tuesday and within a couple of weeks everything will be in shape. All the big machinery has been installed for some time, and when this late arriving stuff is put up Silver Standard will have the biggest plant and the biggest output of ore in the district. All the workings will be lighted by electricity, drills operated by air and everything done by machinery.

D. McLeod informed the Herald that the owners were going after ore and to make shipments just the minute that there was enough snow to run a sleigh on. They have 1500 sacks of ore ready to come down now. When the mine is started up again they will have one gang of men working on the ore and another bunch running a cross cut and doing other development work. They have more ore in sight now than will give them their money back and they will send an immense amount out this winter, and every pound of it will be shipped from New Hazelton.

In the big shaft on the No. 2 vein they are down 262 feet, and have put in a platform at the 150 foot level and another at the 250 foot level. The first one cut into some more new ore. Everything is looking exceedingly bright at the mine and it is only a matter of a short time before it will be one of the big properties in the province.

The company does not intend to wait for the completion of the high level bridge before shipping ore, but will start hauling to this point by way of the old bridge so as to get it to market as soon as possible. They will, however, cut a good snow road by way of the old saw mill and Charleson's, thus reducing the distance from the mine about three miles, and when the lake gets safe for travel they will come across that way and cut off another mile. The high road, which will connect with the Two Mile road, will not be undertaken until the spring. The winter road will, however, overcome many bad hills.

New Hazelton will have another little boom when the ore shipments start. The Harris Mines also will be shipping regularly as soon as the railway picks up their ore, and from present indications that ore will be taken from here within the next few days.

DAWSON INTERESTED

Men From North Will Erect Buildings on Tenth Avenue

Many people in Dawson City are keenly interested in New Hazelton and the doings here. One real estate man there keeps in very close touch with the town and frequently makes inquiries about developments. In a recent letter to the Herald he stated that he and his associates were prepared to build in this town just as soon as the railway company selected their depot site. It might be mentioned that they own the lots opposite the Herald office on Tenth Ave. and that is where they will build as they will then be in a direct line with the main traffic to and from the depot.

Sleighing Slow

Everyday a few flakes of snow have fallen and as the weather is cold enough to preserve it there is now a bare covering on the ground. A few sleighs have been used and on Sunday last the first sleighs were used by the freighting department to haul hay into the valley for stock. At least twenty sleighs are now loaded waiting for the snow and there is enough rails, dump cars, etc. here for double that many.

ANOTHER MINING DEAL

Great Ohio Group Will Likely Change Hands—Have Good Ore

According to statements from those connected with the property there is every reason to believe that a deal will be made this fall for the Great Ohio Group on Rocher de Boule Mountain. This group is owned by Wm. Sargent and Colin Munro. It is on the opposite side of the gulch from Rocher de Boule Mine and it has very strong showings of big copper veins as high grade as Rocher de Boule. If the deal goes through there will be big doings on the big mountain just behind New Hazelton.

New Barber Shop

Louis Seifker, the leading barber in old Hazelton awarded a contract the first of the week for a new building to be erected in this town to be occupied by him as a barber shop. It is now nearly completed and Louis will be doing business in the new stand tomorrow. He will have one of the best shops in the country and fitted up in an inviting manner. He will start with two chairs. Still the old Hazelton people come. Everyone of them is welcome and they will soon all be here.

TURNED DOWN

"Nothin' Doin'" is Answer to Offer Made to Local Merchants

Very flattering offers have been made to local business men to open up in another townsite not many miles away. Needless to say everyone turned the offer down with the remark that they wanted to be where the people are, where the money is and where the business is done. New Hazelton people have no desire to hide themselves away and starve when they can live and make some money in this town. Strange as it may seem a bunch of the old Hazelton people are moving here every week.

HORSE FELL ON REV. D. R. McLEAN

He Was Badly Injured—Toes on One Foot Turned Completely Back—Laid Up Some Time

Rev. D. R. McLean met with a very painful accident on Friday last. He was riding to Sealey when his horse fell and carried its rider with it. Mr. McLean had his feet in the stirrups and was unable to release them in time and the horse fell on top of him. Fortunately the reverend gentleman is a good horseman, and he kept the animal down until he succeeded in loosening the saddle and freed his feet. Then he let the horse up and it bolted. Mr. McLean was so badly injured that he was unable to rise, but he called to the horse and it stopped and by a little coaxing returned to its helpless owner by the roadside. Mr. McLean managed to get hold of the animal's head and pulled himself into the saddle again and rode home. A doctor was called and found that besides a badly injured arm that Mr. McLean's toes on one foot had been turned completely back. An operation was necessary to get the toes in place again and although it will be some time before he will be out again he is doing very well. It was a close call from a horrible death.

Rink Flooded

The rink was flooded last Saturday night and since then the boys have been making ice every day. It was necessary to resort to the pump, but it will be only a few days until the ice will be in good shape and ready for the skaters.

Engineers At Home

Invitations have been issued for the G. T. P. Engineers At Home to be given in Swanson's Hall at Telkwa on Dec. 6. This will be one of the big events of the season in the valley.

J. W. Stewart left last Saturday by special train for Prince Rupert where he took the steamer for the south on his way to Montreal and the old country.

Freighting has been considerably on the increase the past week. A little snow locally has enabled the sleighs to be used, while out at eighteen mile and beyond the sleighing is fine.

ACTIONS OF RAILWAY TOWARD NEW HAZELTON ARE CRIMINAL

Passengers on the Train Very Indignant at Being Dumped off Miles From Anywhere While Train Runs on Empty or With Laborers

Great indination is expressed by every passenger who comes up on the G. T. P. trains at the way they are handled at the present end of service. Although everyone knows that the rails are laid and the track is in good shape for nearly fifteen miles beyond the present terminus yet everyone is dumped off at a point miles from anywhere. There is no place to go and no shelter. Old men who have spent their lives opening up the country, women and children, weak and strong are all dumped off and told to do as they please about getting to their destination. The only people brought through to their destination are the able-bodied laborers on their way to work on the grade farther up the line. They are carried as far as they want to go or as far as the train can go and they are put off here at the very doors of rooming houses and stopping places.

It is a condition of affairs that is disgraceful to the railway company and to the whole country. The officials of the company at this end are well aware of the needs and if they have not acquainted their superiors it is a case of wilful neglect and unfits them as railway men. If the head of the road knows the facts he is unworthy of his position and it is high time the commission took a hand.

The action of the railway company towards New Hazelton, say the passengers, is criminal. It not only causes the public great inconvenience and expense, but it endangers their health and lives, The exposure during the trip by sleigh or wagon over the terrible roads is unnecessary and diabolical. The railway company will gain nothing by it as such actions stick long in the memory of the residents and business people.

It might be added the New Hazelton Citizens' Association have notified the President of the Road and also the railway commission of the facts and have asked for the service to be extended to this point, where people can at least get accommodation. Thus there is no longer any excuse for delay. Ignorance of existing conditions can no longer hold good.

RAILWAY COMMISSION TAKES UP NEW HAZELTON REQUEST

Send Message to Railway Company to Extend Service to This Point ==Citizens' Association at Work

The executive committeee of the New Hazelton Citizens' Association will meet in the Herald office on Friday night at 7.30. One of the matters to be reported will be the reply received by the secretary, E. B. Tatchell, from Mr. Cartwright, secretary of the Railway Commission. The message is as follows:

Ottawa, October 30, 1912

E. B. Tatchell, Esq.,
New Hazelton Citizens' Asso.

"Board is pressing Grand Trunk Pacific to extend passenger service to New Hazelton."

Signed,
A. D. Cartwright

This message is in response to a wire sent to the commission by the Citizens' Association requesting that body to use its good offices in urging the railway company to extend the passenger and freight service to New Hazelton immediately.

OLD TOWN HAD A SMALL BLAZE

Defective Chimney Caused Fire in Jas. McKay's House—Little Damage Done

Wednesday morning a fire was discovered in the roof of James McKay's house near the river bank. The blaze was caused by a stove pipe chimney which became too hot and set fire to the roof. An alarm was sent in and the fire brigade was soon on the scene with chemicals, and before the fire got a good headway was extinguished. Practically all the furniture was saved and only some bedding was lost. Barney Mulvaney lost his blankets and other things which were stored up stairs. The building is being repaired and by the end of the week will be ready for occupancy again.

Sunday Visitors

A large number of people from the old town were visitors in town on Sunday. It is the habit for a great many to come over on every occasion possible. Soon they will be permanent residents.

Mr. and Mrs. Bosworth left on Sunday to spend a few days in Prince Rupert.

FRIDAY, DECEMBER 6, 1912

Of all the small, miserable and childish attempts to block a movement that is for the welfare of the whole community and which will save the people of the district thousands of dollars yearly, is the attempt of one or more parties in the old town to rouse the Indians on the Hazelton reserve to rebell against the construction of the high level bridge across the Bulkley river at Haguelgate which is being built by the owners of New Hazelton townsite. Before the structure was started full permission from the Haguelgate Indians and from the Indian Department at Ottawa was secured. Where the Hazelton Indians figure in the affair is more or less in the imagination of the editor of the sheet who gave publicity to the nonsense. Locally everyone knows the disgruntled attitude of said editor, not only in townsite matters, but also politically. In his last move his aim is only too plain—to stick a knife in Mr. Clements' back and to rouse the Indians against New Hazelton.

A Diseased Mind

Was ever anything so absurd that a high level bridge, which is over two hundred feet above the high water mark, would spoil the Indians' fishing? Only a diseased mind could conceive such foolishness. Giving him the benefit of every doubt it is a dying cause grasping at the last straw of hope.

There are thousands of people throughout Canada and the United States anxious to learn when the G.T.P. will extend its service to New Hazelton and where the station will be built. The first question will be answered in a very short time, it is possibly only a matter of days. The second will follow immediately afterward. As will be seen by the front page of this issue, the Railway Commission has taken action upon the request of the New Hazelton Citizens' Association. President Chamberlain will not ignore the commission's message. President Chamberlain has been kept in ignorance of the real conditions in this district. He is now finding out some things, and we do not hesitate to say that when his eyes have been opened and he sees the great injustice that some real estate boosters have done the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway that there will be fireworks in certain quarters. New Hazelton will not only be given a train service, but it will be given a station immediately which will handle all the business for some years. The delay may turn out to be a blessing insomuch that the president himself will take an active interest and not rely upon others for his information. We in New Hazelton would welcome a personal visit from the president, or any railway man he chose to send. We are perfectly satisfied that no time would be lost in establishing a service and providing all facilities for handling the immense amount of freight which is now available at this point of the G. T. P. At the same time a stop would be put to squandering the G. T. P. money for the imagined benefit of real estate boosters.

New Hazelton Station

A pap-fed paper is not always a benefit, and it keeps the various departments at Victoria busy denying what some of the more irresponsible editors publish as statements from the Ministers. A couple or weeks ago a local contemporary stated in big letters that the old town people and his pet townsite scheme had been assured from Victoria that a bridge would be built in the spring to connect the old town with South Hazelton, an almost forgotten townsite on the brow of the hill across from the old town. Immediately the Public Works department saw the report, the Victoria papers and press dispatches all over the province contained a denial. Such a structure had never been considered by the department. However, this is only on a par with the rest of the boosting statements appearing in the old town sheet. Totally irresponsible and unreliable. Too bad that journalism in this new country should be thus afflicted.

Irresponsible and Unreliable

Complaint comes from the old town about the lack of snow. They should be thankful. Snow is hard to clear off, and the few people remaining there might have to overexert themselves.

In future they will carry a supply of fresh fish from Prince Rupert, also fresh meat and poultry. They will have everything that goes to make up an up-to-date fish market. It is no new business with them; they have been in it for years and know what the people of this district want. Fish is a luxury here now and the young men will no doubt do a big business, not only in the town, but with the mines and the railway contractors. Fresh supplies will be received at the Omineca Market twice a week, or every time the train comes up.

Geo. Frizzell, of Prince Rupert, the well-known butcher, came up on Wednesday night's train on a business trip in the interests of his firm.

Duncan Ross was a visitor in town on Thursday and he called at the new Herald building. Mr. Ross expressed great pleasure that this newspaper took the lead in erecting permanent buildings, and he bespoke every success for the paper. Mr. Ross went on out to his camp the other side of the Summit and will return early next week.

Cheap Wood

Mr. Moran is advertising on another page a large quantity of good dry wood at $2.50 and $3.50 per cord. This is quite a difference from $8, $10, and $12 in the old town. Another big advantage of New Hazelton.

The Man who Advertises

It is easy to find out where to buy your supplies. Look up the advertising columns of the Omineca Herald. The merchants who have the goods to sell and who have been able to buy right, and thus able to sell right, all have their advertisements in the Herald because they know the people read the Herald. These merchants also have something to talk about, something the people want and which they want to give them. It pays to read the Herald advs. and it pays to buy from Herald advertisers. Only good goods will stand advertising, and its good goods the people want.

John Albi was in town a couple of days this week waiting for the train to take him below. He will spend Christmas and New Year's at his home in Spokane. Mr. Albi says everything is running along fine on the contracts in the valley. All the camps are full and good work is being done.

"A barking dog never bites," the trouble with it is that nobody knows when it stops barking.

Good printing does not mean expensive printing; cheap printing is expensive in the end. If you want good work at a fair price you must see the Herald.

Overcoats for Winter at Cost

We have a quantity of Overcoats of the very best quality and material, made by Coppley, Noyes & Pandall, of Hamilton, Ontario. Preparatory to our removal to Telkwa we will sell at invoice price—McArthur's Em-

This week the office of Rosenthal, Harris & DeVoin was closed. There is no business in town now and when the Harris boys get around to it they will open up in New Hazelton.

Jas. A. Riley, who has been in charge of Harvey & McKinnon's office for several weeks, left on Thursday morning for the south where he will spend the winter. His new home will be in Pasadena, Cal. He will return in the spring to New Hazelton. As soon as Mr. McKinnon gets home, possibly next week, he will open his office in New Hazelton.

Overcoats at cost. McArthur's Emporium, Hazelton.

There have been several conferences of mining men in Salt Lake City and in Butte the past couple of weeks and they are all interested in Rocher de Boule copper claims. Wm. Sargent, one of the owners of the Great Ohio Group was in Salt Lake City and later in Butte where he met P. J. Jennings, J. H. Cowan, F. C. McKinnon and others in connection with the deal for the Great Ohio. Some of the same people are also dealing for the Highland Boy Group.

P. J. Jennings and Wm. Davis left on Thursday for Portland, Ore., where they will launch a transportation and trading company which will operate north of Fort Fraser. When Mr. Davis visited the Fort Fraser district some weeks ago he went into the possibilities of such a company very carefully and he is satisfied that there will be a big thing in it. The Fort Fraser district is one of the best in the north, and the company which Messrs. Jennings and Davis will organize will be on a big scale.

The Hudson's Bay Co. have some forty tons of freight here for their post at Fort Fraser and as soon as the snow comes they will start freighting to that point. This is the first time any freighting has been undertaken from this end to Fort Fraser but the railway contractors have cut many new roads and these with the new government roads and trails will enable the company to get through in faster time and at a smaller cost than around by the Quesnel route.

Frank Brown states that he has now opened up five veins on his Owen Lake property and the smallest is four feet wide and up to eight feet wide. Zinc is the predominating values and he has some samples that run $100 a ton. In all the veins good values in other metals are carried. It is a great concentrating proposition and one which will give employment to a large number of men. It is only eighteen miles from the Railway and the trip is easy to make at any season of the year. Soon after the first of the year Frank says he is going back with some men and finish out the winter.

Duke Harris made a business trip to Prince Rupert last week and returned home Saturday night. In speaking of the Mine he stated that the minute the G. T.P. lifted the car of ore that has been at New Hazelton for the past two months that they had a couple of cars more ready to bring down and that they were themselves working the mine and getting ore opened up so that they can make shipments regularly all winter. He was glad to learn that the railway would in a very few days adopt new tactics in regards to New Hazelton. As soon as they can get their ore to market they will put on a larger staff at the mine and they would also erect a building in New Hazelton and move their office and residence there. At the present time they are all busy at the mine.

If you are keeping poultry to supply eggs and an occasional bird for the family, is one breed best for the wants of the backyard man ?

The thoughtful man will study out the question before deciding which breed will best answer his purpose. No doubt he will want to keep enough fowls so that he can dispose of a dozen or so eggs when they are selling at a premium. Before making your choice as to the breed, you will find that the American class are heavy birds that do not mature early, and the advocates of this class will tell you of their exceptional capacity for laying in winter.

So you come to the conclusion that the American breeds of poultry are best adapted for your needs.

You will secure a good strain, everything runs along smoothly, eggs come satisfactory, and even during the coldest days you pride yourself on a 50 per cent. yield. In the early spring you will get a better average, and some days you will find a dozen eggs from your twelve hens. And then you will begin looking for a broody hen to start operations for next season's stock.

After much anxiety, on making your evening rounds, you will be surprised to find one of your hens on the nest ; you will take Biddy out, give her a thorough dusting with lice powder and place under her some china eggs for a day or so in order to see that she does not intend to change her mind. Well, before she has time to hatch out her brood, three more of your stock have taken to their natural rest.

The heavy laying has told on your birds, but as it is early in the season, you can compliment yourself on a big batch of early chicks.

But still the chicks come. Now, at a season of the year when eggs are plenty you are not able to supply your own wants. You are at your wit's end to find accommodation for the broody hens and those mothering their young. This is bringing you to think that the backyard is not the place to have a chicken farm.

And when you think of the coops that will be needed to house the growing stock, it makes you dizzy, and you finally find it necessary to dispose of some of the chicks.

Now, we all have been through these trials and our hats are still in the ring. We have all heard about breaking up broody hens; yes, we have broken them up, seen them lay a little while and then take to the nest to stay. We have also learned with regret the advice to set a couple of hens together and let one mother the bunch; but who has not run across the hen that could pick out her own flock and peck the others to death.

Now you began keeping poultry in order that you might keep yourself supplied with fresh eggs; but you find it necessary to buy from your neigbor who is a breeder of the Mediterranian class. You have learned that this breed are practically nonsitters. As they are a light bird, you would miss that plump roaster that has occasionally graced the Sunday table. It would take two of your neighbor's fowls to equal one of your own ; so that you finally hit upon the idea that it wouldn't be a bad scheme to keep a pen of each class. This happy medium has weathered the storm, and you have come to the conclusion that for the man with a small space of ground at his disposal it is better to keep at least one-half of the flock of the lightest class, as this seems to solve the problem of having eggs for your own use at all times of the year, and at the same time not to miss on Sunday the juicy roasters.

The small coop system, more so than any other plan of housing poultry, is better adapted for the keeping of the two classes of birds. Under any other plan it would be necessary to have large houses, double yards with high enclosed runs to keep the lighter breeds from raising ructions in the neighboring gardens.

It is also possible in the 3x6 coop to keep track of your layers and not much trouble to pick out the drones, so that every bird in the flock will contribute to make the keeping of poultry a profitable pleasure.

Notes on Prince Rupert Doings

In a recent sermon the pastor of the Presbyterian church made a sermon on ideal municipal politics in which he criticized the opening of the Prince Rupert pool rooms on Sundays. Mayor Newton at the next council meeting swung back at the reverend gentleman with a couple of upper cuts and a number of persons pretended to be shocked. But as the voting strength of the Presbyterian church is generally recognized to be opposed to the present mayor not much damage was done to either side.

The first run of herring appeared in the harbor last week and the first spring salmon was caught the same day. This is the earliest these fish have ever made their appearance here and the oldest inhabitants, the Siwash, say it is a sign of a mild winter. This season the herring in Rupert harbor will be fished for the first time. A local company who control most of the licenses are preparing to operate immediately. The Canadian Fish & Cold Storage Co., will also take herring this season for bait for their halibut trawlers which will be out in a few weeks.

A three million dollar scheme for sewers interested the ratepayers and agitated the politicans last week. The present council were backing up the plans of Engineer Mason and asked the property holders to vote for a by-law approving of them. The question of financing the scheme was not meted, the council doubtless being content with the statesmanship involved in ordering a handsome set of plans. The vote on Saturday, however, would indicate that the property holders are overcoming that reckless habit of passing every thing put up to them without counting the cost.

For a long time the Dominion and Provincial governments have been disputing the right to grant fore shore leases in British Columbia and applicants never know where they are at. Usually applicants get provincial leases and then go ahead with their work, but lately the Dominion officials have been insisting on Federal leases. To get a final decision on the question Premier McBride and Hon. Hazen, minister of Marine & Fisheries, have decided to make a test case of the application of G. R. T. Sawle for a foreshore lease in front of Granby Bay townsite. The case will be taken to the Privy Council. This decision involves the water front privileges of the G. T. P. in the city of Prince Rupert. The Company have provincial rights but no Federal rights. A number of other parties and companies have plants and improvements interested in the decision.

Angus Stewart arrived on the Wednesday night train to look after business interests in the district.
