Montreal, November 12—In Chicoutimi-Saguenay, Savard, Liberal, was elected by a majority of 200.

Almonte, Ontario, November 13—The recount in North Lanark gives the seat to Thorburn, Conservative by six majority.

Kamloops, B.C., November 13—Duncan Ross is defeated ay about 500 votes in Yale-Cariboo, Martin Burrell, the Conservative candidate, being elected.

Vancouver, November 13—Owing to a misunderstanding of switchman's signals two electric cars of the Vancouver and New Westminster line collided about midnight near Cedar Cottage. One car cut through the other and both were completely wrecked. The motormen, Macdonald and Jamieson, were severely injured. Among the others injured were: George Farquharson, knee sprained; Conductor Murgatroyd, face and head cut; W. H. Free, back injured; A. Gray, leg hurt and scalp wound; S. K. Johnson, leg bruised; W. G. Farquharson, ankle sprained. Two Chinamen had their faces and heads badly cut. Four other passengers received slight cuts and bruises but were able to proceed on their way after having their wounds dressed.

Hamburg, Germany, November 12—Three hundred and twenty-seven men are either dead or doomed in a burning coal mine as the result of an explosion which shattered the workings. The fire is burning fiercely and there is no hope for the buried men. Excitement about the mine is intense and among a crowd of 40,000 people are the bereaved families of the unfortunate victims. Nothing can be done toward a recovery of the bodies until the fire can be controlled.

North Bay, Ontario, November 13—The steamer Temiskaming, owing to defective boilers, blew up, throwing passengers and crew into the water. Firemen Menard and Bergeron and one passenger, McBride, are dead. Two other passengers are so badly burned that they will die.

St. John, Nfld., November 13 Final returns of the recent election show the parties now standing eighteen to eighteen. In Harbor Grace, Hon. Dawe, government candidate, is elected by a majority of one vote. A recount will be demanded.

LOCAL AND DISTRICT NEWS.

Reginald Leake Gale, deputy mining recorder, of Aldermere, is Hazelton on business, arriving Thursday evening.

Tne Hazelton hospital received $96.65, including $22.00 from the Chinese of Hazelton, as the collection taken at the special Hospital Sunday service at the English Church last Sunday.

J. C. Craig, one of the subcontractors on the Kitimat branch of the G.T.P., was in Hazelton for a short visit this week. After making a trip to Morricetown he returned down the river by canoe.

The steamer Craigflower, which has been making a valiant effort to reach Hazelton for the past two weeks, finally gave up the attempt when at Andimaul about twenty miles down the river, and after unloading her freight there returned to Port Essington.

Sufficient lumber has been secured to guarantee that Manager David Pratt will soon have the Ingineca Hotel at Hazelton ready to receive guests. The enterprise has been most unfortunate in the matter of lumber, having been held for the past six months on account of the shortage which has prevailed.

Monday morning the last of the G.T.P. surveyors left Hazelton, going down the river by canoe. In all there were about forty men in the two parties recently disbanded here. Some of the men are going to Prince Rupert, where they will be engaged in the work of surveying the townsite. Among those leaving were T. C. Taylor, district engineer, M. A. Roby and Egbert Owens.

Superintendent Rogers' road gang is now reduced to four men and they are working about five miles south of Hazelton, where the road crosses an old beaver dam. When repairs at this point are finished it is likely nothing more will be done this season. When work was suspended at the south end the road was completed nearly to the Glacier House, and from there on the road was already in fair condition.

Herb. Hankin is making one trip down the river after the mail and left Hazelton this morning. With the present trip Kitimat becomes the port at which mail for the interior will be left by the coast steamers instead of Port Essington. The next mail for Hazelton and interior points leaves Vancouver on November 18 and reaches Kitimat on the 20th. During the winter months mail will leave Vancouver on the 6th and 20th of each month.

The manager of the Kispiox saw mill was in Hazelton a few days ago and stated that the owners are preparing to secure a cut of logs the coming winter of at least half a million feet. A syndicate of white men have offered to take a contract to do the logging and it is likely they will be taken up on the proposition. This amount should afford sufficient lumber that the normal growth of the town will not be held back next year as it has in the past.

Lary Canty arrived from Aldermere last evening.

Constable Deane will shortly move into his new residence near the government offices.

BORN—At the Hazelton Hospital on November 13th, to Dr. and Mrs. Wrinch, a son.

H. P. Jones left with a party of four men early in the week for the Glacier House, where he will construct new buildings. He expects to move his family out about the first of the year.

Ice skating is now the order in Hazelton and each afternoon and evening the lake near the hospital is visited by merry parties of skaters. The ice is now in fine shape and with no snow to interfere the attraction is so great that few can resist. The only drawback is the scarcity of skates, the entire stock being bought up some days ago and still leaving quite a number of people unprovided. Tuesday and Thursday evenings lunch with hot coffee was served at the lake under the supervision of the committee.

Robert Tomlinson of Meanskinisht arrived with mail about noon today after making a remarkably quick trip from Port Essington, considering the time of the year. Mr. Tomlinson and two Indians started from Essington at half past ten November 7, with 25 sacks of mail for Hazelton and way points. Hole-in-the-wall was passed the first day, and camp was made the second night at Bateman's Landing. Andimaul, twenty miles down the river from Hazelton, was passed at nine o'clock Friday morning. This would have been considered good time even for the long days and more favorable conditions of summer; but, as it was, nearly as much time was spent on the river at night as in daylight. Fourteen sacks of mail were left at way points and, with the eleven brought through, nearly cleared up the pile which has been accumulating at Port Essington for the past month.

CONSERVATIVES WIN IN B.C.

As announced in press despatches the Conservatie candidates in Kootenay and Yale-Cariboo were both elected by large majorities, thus making British Columbia, with five Conservative members and two Liberals, the only province in the dominion to show a decided change of sentiment toward the Laurier government. It is usually a safe bet that the party in power will carry the bye-elections so there must have been powerful causes working among the voters to have brought about the defeat of Duncan Ross and Smith Curtis.

Where a number of issues are brought forward in a campaign no particular one can be picked out and given credit for a complete turn-over in the politics of a province. The questions of better terms and Asiatic exclusion had, doubtless, their influence in the past campaign, although on the latter question British Columbia is a unit, Liberals being equally vehement with Conservatives. The personalities of the various candidates have had a great deal to do with results throughout the province and the Conservatives of Kootenay and Yale-Cariboo were particularly fortunate in their choice of men. A. S. Goodeve has lived in Rossland for the past twelve years and is well known throughout the Kootenay district. The returns strikingly show in what regard he is held. The only criticism that has ever been leveled against Martin Burrel is that he is too good a citizen to ever become a first class politician.

BULKLEY VALLEY NOTES.

The dance at the Telkwa Hotel on Thanksgiving night was pronounced by everyone to be the most successful event of the kind that has yet been brought off in the Bulkley Valley. A splendid floor, good music and an attendance of all the ladies of the section insured a success which was further augmented by the careful consideration of the hotel management. The guests begin to arrive at 2 o'clock in the afternoon in two heavily loaded four-horse rigs, followed by innumerable single rigs and saddle horses, and by six o'clock the house was crowded.

Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Baker, Mr. and Mrs. Croteau, Mrs. and Miss McMillan, Mr. and Mrs. Orchard, Mr. and Mrs. Wakefield, Mr. and Mrs. Webster, Mrs. Simpson, and other guests too numerous to menton.

The music was furnished by Mr. Baker, assisted by Messrs. Covert, Wells and Spinning, and the floor management devolved on Carl Wakefield, who proved himself a past master in the Terpsichorean art.

John Dorsey has completed a large livery barn and feed stable, where the travelling public will be able to find accommodation for their horses. It is proposed in the valley to send John to Hazelton to build a livery barn, as under the present conditions a visitor to Hazelton is constantly risking prosecution by the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals under the starvation system at present in vogue.

Already John Dorsey has a sale pending and has bonded all his property at Aldermere to B. P. Cook.

Frank L. Charleson, the Telkwa merchant, has left on an extended trip to Ottawa and other eastern cities. He expects to return some time in January.

It is expected that much of the Ingineca travel in the spring will come across the Copper river by way of Aldermere, and from thence direct to Babine lake, a distance of some thirty miles.

The mail service to Aldermere is gradually going from bad to worse, and but for the kindness of an occasional traveling Siwash it is impossible to get a letter to or from Hazelton oftener than once in two weeks.

CAUSE OF SOCIAL UNREST.

The wise men of the world, who do not mix with their fellow men enough to learn much about them and their condition from observation, are constantly speculating on the cause of the spread of socialism, anarchism and infidelity in a country like this. Not long ago a case came under my observation—and it is no doubt only one of hundreds—that throws a flood of light on the subject, if one will stop to reflect. A man, whose greed seems to have smothered out all feeling of humanity, to satisfy a debt due him by a man who had left the country, ran an attachment on everything he could lay hands on. The raid took in not only all the live stock, and every chicken on the place, but even the household goods, going so far as to take a part of a sack of flour and a piece of bacon. It mattered little to this man that a helpless woman and her children were left to face starvation. He had exacted his pound of flesh and trusted to his money-bought popularity to save him from the condemnation of his fellow men. It is this tyranical spirit of oppression, parading under the name of modern business, that is causing men to question the justice of law, both human and divine. The man who is brought in contact with the business world every day knows that this man is no more a true type of the business man than is a rotten apple a fair type of a barrel of sound ones. However, just as the bad apple gives the whole barrel a bad odor, just so the conscienceless money shark does an incalculable amount of damage to society and to free institutions. The unthinking are led to believe that society is a huge conspiracy to wage warfare on, which is a thing to be condemned. Greed is indeed the besetting sin of some men, and of these whose feelings of humanity have been drowned by the love of gold, it may be truly said, "He who lets his country die, lets all things die, and all things dying curse him."—Selected.

The following story was told by an eastern man the other day to illustrate some point:

"We were hard at work building a new church," said he, "and all of us that belonged gave what we could to it. One day the priest went to Riley, who kept a saloon, 'Riley,' he says, 'you ought to give the church a handsome stained-glass window. You're doing well here and could afford it."

" 'I will,' says Riley.

"Next day he went to a place where they sold stained-glass windows. 'I want to buy one for our new church,' said he.

" 'Here's one at $100, Mr. Riley,' said the clerk. 'Too cheap,' says Riley.

" 'Would a $500 window be too dear, Mr. Riley?'

" ''Tis a cheap windy,' says Riley. 'I want the best ye have in the house.' So they sold him a $900 window. 'And what will you have on it, Mr. Riley?' they asked.

" 'Nawt'in at all,' says Riley.

" 'But, Mr. Riley,' says the clerk, 'it's customary to have something on an expensive window like this. Some nice design or motto, you know.'

" 'Well, all right,' says Riley. 'Ye might put on the bottom of it, 'Drop into Riley's Afther Mass.' "—Exchange.

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 14, 1908.

The first chapter in the construction of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway was closed when the location of the line was completed from Prince Rupert to Edmonton. To do this and do it right was a task in itself, taking four years of time and the best men that could be obtained. At times the difficulties were great and sometimes slight delays became unavoidable but the work went ahead summer and winter. Every possible route was tested to obtain the best grades with the shortest distances. Lines were run on both sides of the Skeena as far as Hazelton and on both sides of the Bulkley, as well as over the once discussed cut-off via the Copper river. Finally the present route was chosen which, crossing from the north to the south bank of the Skeena at Hankin's riffle, a short distance below Kitselas, follows the south bank of the Skeena as far as the mouth of the Bulkley and then up the Bulkley, on the south side, a distance of something over one hundred miles. From Edmonton west there are but two summits to be crossed, Yellowhead pass and the divide between the watersheds of the Skeena and Fraser rivers, the latter being so low as to be scarcely noticed. No other transcontinental railway will have such easy grades as the Grand Trunk Pacific and consequently no other railway will haul freight so cheaply.

When mining was first undertaken in the Rossland district freight and treatment charges on the ore were something over twenty dollars per ton. This was reduced to about eleven dollars with the building of the Trail and Northport smelters. But it was only with the building of the Crow's Nest Pass railway that coke could be obtained at such a price that the reductions in smelting costs, since effected, could be made. At the present time Rossland ores are being smelted at a cost of about three dollars and a half per ton and Boundary ores at about a dollar and a quarter, with coke costing nine or ten dollars per ton at the smelter, owing to the long haul from the mines of the Crow's Nest Pass district. If coke could be obtained close at hand further material reductions in smelting costs could be made.

In Bulkey valley district coal, claimed to make a coke suitable for smelting purposes, is found almost at the base of the mountains where copper and galena ores have been found. Near Hazelton good coal has been opened up within a half dozen miles of the mineral showings on Nine Mile mountain. It is useless to speculate on what lies out of sight underground but if surface indications count for anything there will be mines and big ones in this country and smelting costs on their ores, owing to cheap and plentiful fuel, will be lower than can be shown anywhere else in the province for the same character and class of ore.

Theorists have claimed that coal and mineral do not exist in the same localties but many theories in regard to mining have been upset and this is likely to be another.

KISPIOX CORRESPONDENCE

One Sunday in each year, at the Methodist Mission at Kispiox, is devoted to a discussion of the subject of temperance. November 29 is the date of the next temperance Sunday, when addresses will be made by Doctor Wrinch of Hazelton, Rev. George Edgar of Kitchecquecla, Charles Martin of Hazelton and Rev. W. H. Pierce of Kispiox. The people of Hazelton are invited to be present and will be made welcome.

At the present time there is a temperance society among the Indians with a membership of 666, taking in most of the villages along the Skeena river. If plans are carried out it is the intention to enlarge the present organization into a general temperance league which will be actively promoted by the missionaries of all the churches represented on the Skeena—Methodist, English Church and Salvation Army. The idea of a temperance movement among the Indians is to make abstinence a matter of personal choice.
