JAMFS MAY FUND SHOWS GRADUAL RISE FOR WEEK

This week a number of further subscriptions for the James May Memorial Fund were received.

For the benefit of those who do not know the purpose of the fund, it may be said that, at the instance of requests from the friends and acquaintances of James Jasper May, pioneer of pioneers in the Cariboo and Omineca, who died at Hazelton last December, The Miner will receive subscriptions, limited to one dollar, for the purpose of erecting a suitable headstone to mark the last resting place of the departed veteran, which today is a mere mound of earth, undistinguished among other such mounds.

We cannot emphasize too deeply the duty we owe to Jim May. He spent the best years of his life, from those of early manhood until advancing age compelled him to quit the trail, in blazing the way for civilization. We must preserve the memory of his achievements. Therefore, send in your donation today. All contributions wlll be acknowin our columns.

Amounts of one dollar from each of the following are acknowledged: Wm. Ware (Telegraph Creek), C. V. Smith, Stewart Norrie (Prince Rupert).

Raised Nice Amount

As the result of the tag day held on Thursday, condected by the local branch of the Red Cross Society, the sum of $44.50 was realized for the funds of the branch. The collectors were: Mrs. Anderson, Miss Cunningham, Miss Goddard, Mrs. Hogan, Mrs. Morkill, Mrs. Sealy, Miss Wattie.

These tag days, which are considered by the executive of the branch to be the most effective means of enabling everyone to contribute, will be held on the 2nd of each month, and when it falls on a Sunday or holiday the next day will be observed as tag day.

A number of citizens could be seen this afternoon gazing intently at the eclipse of the sun by the moon.

ORGANIZING FOR ANNUAL PICNIC

Committees Appointed to Arrange For July 1---Much Enthusiasm Shown

A meeting of the Red Cross was held in St. Andrew's Hall on Monday, when the following were elected as chairmen of the various committes to take charge of the arrangements for the annual picnic in Hospital Park on July 1:

Collection Committee—Mrs. W. W. Anderson.

Sports and Sideshows Committee—R. J. Rock.

Grounds Committee—Jas. Latham.

Decorations Committee—J. F. Maguire.

Refreshment Booths Committee—Mrs. J. C. K. Sealy; Mrs. Newick.

Lunch Committee—Mrs. H. C. Wrinch.

The sports committee has already commenced active work, and has drawn up a comprehensive program of foot and novelty races, and Indian horse races will be featured. Baseball games will be played, and arrangements will be made for the grand dance to be held in the evening. Cash prizes will be awarded in all contests.

The success which has attended the previous picnics, bids fair to be eclipsed this year, if the enthusiasm being displayed locally is any criterion. Each year's picnic has surpassed the previous ones, both socially and financially, and this year's, taking due regard to precedent, should surpass anything of the kind ever held in this district. The arrangements will all be made by capable hands, ensuring the even flow of the proceedings. A record attendance is confidently anticipated, if the weather man will do his "bit" and smile benignly upon us.

Among the improvements made this year which should aid in the running of the foot races is a new 100-yard track, which has been prepared in the park.

Conservation of Wheat Must be Continued Says the Food Controller

Ottawa, June 8:—Conservation of wheat and the substitution of other cereals on this continent so as to supply great amounts to countries overseas which are dependent upon us must be continued at least until the 1919 crop situation is known. Such is the effect of an announcement by H. B. Thomson, chairman of the Canada Food Board. He said: "Although the world wheat crop situation at the present time is more promising than that of a year ago, still considerable time will elapse before crops are harvested. Even if the greatest expectations are realized, the fact remains that the world wheat resources are exhausted.

GERMANY AND PEACE.

Come three corners of the world in arms,
And we shall shock them; nought shall make us rue,
If England to itsself do rest but true.
—Shakes.

It would not come as a surprise to Allied statesmen should Germany make another attempt to obtain a peace favorable to herself based upon her self-styled "victories" on the field. Therefore, it cannot be too greatly impressed upon the people of the Allied nations to keep their minds opposed to any peace that would favor Germany in any way. It is vitally necessary for the Allied peoples to turn their backs on any attempt of Germany to hold out the olive branch.

But there is the inevitable and ever-active element of the pro-German and ultra-pacifist among us, whose machinations are more to be feared than any open peace offer. The leaders of the Allies know that Germany can never win victory on the field; they are fully aware that the greatest danger lies among our own people. They do not fear German boats of military prowess, but realize the possible menace to our victory by the insidious propaganda fostered by the German government and circulated by its agents.

Time is on the side of the Allies, and Germany knows it. Every day that passes sees Allied strength grow and Germany's power weaken. Her military offensives and peace campaigns virtually admit that she is striving to make the best of a bad job, before her last chance goes glimmering.

German militarism and Hohenzollernism must be crushed. Until they are humbled to the dust, peace cannot be considered by the Allies.

On another page will be found a notice from the military Service authorities respecting documents which must be carried by male British subjects in Canada not in military or naval service of Britain or her Allies, who may reasonably be suspected of being within Class One under the military Service Act. Different clauses are given, under which certificates should be obtained by those affected showing their claim against being in Class One, and include those of age, marriage, nationality, active service, clergy, exemption, or not being within the class.

Another Lost Hope

Berlin's faith in the U-boat is broken. The great offensive is a tribute from the enemy, sealed with the blood of his bravest and best, to the success of the Allied fleets in combatting the submarine. A year ago Berlin's strategy was based on the firm conviction that if the Allied armies were held, the undersea boats would starve England, isolate the United States and win the war. That belief has gone, like the previous hope that the Zeppelin could terrorize the Allied peoples into submission. If it had not vanished, uncounted thousands of German soldiers would not be slaughtered in a useless drive against foes believed otherwise doomed to enforced surrender.—Ex.

ISSUED BY THE MILITARY SERVICE BRANCH OF THE DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE.

Ottawa, May 22, 1918.

Both the man and the woman in the above picture are helping in the fight against Germany. The soldier is on leave from the front with German trophies, while the woman is doing her part in the food fight by saving flour. The photograph, which was secured through the British ministry of food, shows how she is putting potatoes through a "ricer" and adding them to the dough for home cooking. In view of the considerable stocks of potatoes in nearly all parts of Canada, the housewives of this country can serve also by substituting potatoes in part for flour.

Hazelton Soldier Has a Narrow Escape from Death at Hands of Sub.

To be among soldiers being convoyed to England and having a narrow escape from a German submarine; is graphically described by Pte. W. Leverett, of Hazelton, who relates his experiences and sensations in a letter to his brother, Arthur, which we quote in part:

" . . . We did not go across alone; lots of troop ships and freighters, the most I have ever seen together at one time, all crowding together for protection; all well-armed, with gunners from the navy to operate them. Nothing unusual happened the first part of the trip. . . The fun started on the seventh day out. I say fun, as is seems fun now the trip is over, but believe me we gave a great sigh of relief when we set our feet once more on solid earth. Well the seventh day started, an exceptionally fine day, a dead calm. . . Everybody basking in the sun on deck; nobody thinking about Fritz, when up he popped right between us and the boat ahead. He shot, but missed us both. Talk about a noise, what with guns pounding and sirens blowing! Everybody was looking goggle-eyed at each other, expecting us to blow up any minute, when one of our own guns fired and the ship swerved, knocking us all down. Well, we thought we sure were hit when somebody shouted: "Stand by the boats!" It didn't take us long to get to them, and there we were, all lined up. . . It was some relief to find out we had not been hit, so we just stood by and watched the destroyers chasing the subs, just like terriers after a rat.

"The other part of the convoy also had an exciting time with a sub, but did not get shot at as the destroyers were too quick for them. This all happened at the same time, and to us seemed like a pre-arranged plan. I dont know how they could miss getting one of us, as the boats were as thick as flies, but well guarded, I must say. The men acted well under the strain; no panic, just white-faced and calm, waiting for what did not come.

"The destroyers claim they got one of them, but we could not tell, as there was so much happening all at one time. All I know is that we all got away safely. We didn't sleep much from there on; lifebelts on, day and night. We got one more scare just before getting into ————, but it did not amount to much, just a few shots at suspicious-looking objects." . .

TEN WAYS OF HELPING THE THRIFT CAMPAIGN

1—Cut the bread at the table as required.

2—Save the crumbs from the breadboard. You will be surprised to see how many there are.

3—Take a little less butter than you think you will need. It will probably be the right amount.

4—Eat one more potato and one less slice of bread.

5—Eat one more spoonful of porridge and half a slice less of toast.

6—If you need (?) sugar in tea or coffee take what is required to sweeten it. Do not leave a teaspoonful in the bottom of your cup.

7—Fat is scarce today. Do not leave the soap lying in the water.

8—Do not eat more than you need. Eat what you require, you will feel better and do better work.

9—Leave a clean plate.

10—Eat slowly. Food well masticated supplies more nourishment to the body, consequently less food is required.

Get Behind the Wheel of a Ford and Drive

TRY it just once! Ask your friend to let you "pilot" his car on an open stretch. You'll like it, and will be surprised how easily the Ford is handled and driven.

If you have never felt the thrill of driving your own car, there is something good in store for you. It is vastly different from just riding—being a passenger. And especially so if you drive a Ford.

Young boys, girls, women and even grandfathers—thousands of them—are driving Ford cars and enjoying it. A Ford stops and starts in traffic with exceptional ease and smoothness, while on country roads and hills its strength and power show to advantage.

Buy a Ford and you will want to be behind "the wheel" constantly.

One gallon of gasoline has done it

36 to 68 per cent more mileage

20 to 25 miles to a gallon of gasoline is a frequent occurrence with the Ford car. One man (name on request) reports an average of 33 miles per gallon for 20,000 miles. Surely this is a record that few, if any other makes of cars, ever equalled.

It demonstrates the economy of owning and driving a Ford. You can average 1000 miles more travel on Ford-size tires. The saving on oil and repairs is proportionately large. The name "Ford" stands for lowest cost and greatest service.
