MANY LIVES LOST IN FIERCE HURRICANE

SHIPS WRECKED OR FOUNDERED

HUNDRED AND FIFTY KNOWN TO HAVE PERISHED

Storm Still Raging on British Coasts —Many Wrecks in Denmark and Norway—Bodies Washed Ashore on Rock Coast sf Ireland.

(Special to the Optimist)

London, Oct. 15.—The greatest hurricane of the decade is sweeping the British coasts. Reports that are now coming in indicate that not less than one hundred and fifty persons preished in the gale of last night. The storm gained violence this morning and reports of many other disasters are expected.

The steamer Hatfield foundered in the North Sea and sixteen passengers and her crew of six were all lost.

The steamer Crawford is missiong off Hartlepool. She has a crew of twenty.

Twelve vessels are reported stranded off the East coast, and life savers are unable to go out in the terrible gale.

Many bodies have been washed ashore on the Irish coast. Wrecks are reported at Malin Head and Heron Point.

Storm warnings are issued by the Admiralty. This kept many vessels in the harbor, but yet a number went out in despite of the warning. The Admiralty is now considering the advisability of sending out warships to the scenes of the stranded vessels, in the hope of saving lives. The records for high tides have been passed on both the East and the West coasts.

Reports from Amsterdam to the effect that many wrecks have occurred in the direction of the Danish and Norwegian coasts. A cable has been received from the East Friesan islands states that a German tramp steamer foundered there and lost all hands.

Storm Felt at Cuba

Havana, Oct. 15.—A great cyclone yesterday passed over the eastern and central parts of the island, doing considerable damage, but no loss of life has been reported.

JAP LINER AGROUND

Passengers Transferred to Shore in Life Boats During Heavy Fog

(Special to the Optimist)

Seattle, Oct. 15.—While entering Seattle harbor the Japanese liner Tacoma Maru ran aground at the Fort Lawton lighthouse. There was a heavy fog on at the time and in this the passengers were transferred by life boats to the shore and came into the city on the trolley cars.

License Commissioners Meet

The Licensing Commission appointed to meet this afternoon has adjourned the meeting until Monday, 17th inst. at 10 a. m. Chairman F. Stork was inclined to go on with the meeting, but Commissioner Merryfield was anxious for adjournment until Commissioner Smith arrived. One license, that of Corley & Burgess, was even considered but not granted. The question of adjournment was again brought up by Commissioner Merryfield and it was finally decided to adjourn until Monday and expunge the minutes of proceedings so far.

LIBERAL TO MANUEL

Will Return Kingly Property Less Royal Debt to Portugal

(Special to the Optimist)

London, Oct. 15.—It is stated in a report received from Lisbon that the cabinet has decided to return all the property of the deposed King Manuel, but that the royal debt will be taken from the property before an accounting is made with him.

The escutcheon bearing the royal arms over the Spanish embassy was painted blood color on the anniversary of Ferrar's execution.

For Railway to Dawson

Ottawa, Oct. 15.—(Special)—Incorporation will be sought at the next session of the British Columbia legislature for a railway to Dawson. The proposed line practically follows the Yukon telegraph line all the way.

PARIS STRIKE NEARLY OVER

SEVERAL TRAINS WERE RUN THIS MORNING

Reservists Who Yesterday Fought Soldiers and Police Have Returned to Work—Premier Briand Now Hopes to Make PeacefulSettlement

(Special to the Optimist)

Paris, Oct. 15.—Appalled by the rioting of yesterday many of the strikers deserted the syndicate and returned to work. The fifth train on the Western line is running and the Fourth on the Northern also. The Reservists who yesterday put up such a bitter fight against the soldiers and the police, are today managing the trains.

Hundreds of arrests were made yesterday and the fact that the strike leaders were unsuccessful in bringing about a general strike has caused a depression among the men still out. Premier Briand has now the hope of being able to effect a peaceful settlement.

Paris, Oct. 15.—Up to noon today the strike condition continued to show signs of improvement, as the result of the strong measures taken by the government. With the exception of the Western railway all the lines out of this city are moving trains. Ten thousand miners met in session last night and it was feared that rioting would follow. But beyond a few minor clashes between the strikers and the thousands of soldiers patrolling the streets there were no incidents.

BOTH ON SAME DATE

Parliament and Local Legislature to Open November Seventeenth

(Special to the Optimist)

Ottawa, Oct. 15.—The Canadian parliament opens on November 17th, when the tariff negotiations with the United States will be resumed.

Victoria, Oct. 15.—It is announced that the legislature will open on November 17th. The revision of the statutes, reports on forestry, reports of insurance commission and the question of enlarging the parliament buildings will be among the business to be attempted during the session.

Church in Theatre Tomorrow

The Presbyterian church services tomorrow will be held in the Empress theatre. The Salvation Army will hold their inside meetings in the Majestic theatre.

LADIES SCORE BIG SUCCESS

WITH THEIR HOSPITAL DANCE LAST NICHT

Appreciation is Heard Everywhere Today—Dance Voted First Rate—Big Attendance—Excellent Music—Citizens Generously Help.

The first move of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the General Hospital Board has been a splendid success. Last night's hospital dance held in the McIntyre hall has been unanimously voted one of the best dances yet held in Prince Rupert.

The hall, which was generously placed at the disposal of the auxiliary for the purposes of this dance by the Messrs. Brin Bros., furniture dealers, who recently leased the building, was gaily decorated, and presented a lively and exhilarating appearance when dancing was in full swing.

Over a hundred and fifty dancers took the floor at the opening dance and at no moment in the evening did the enjoyment for an instant lag.

The music for the evening was in the capable hands of Gray's orchestra, whose services had been kindly offered free for this dance to the ladies some time before the date of the dance was even fixed.

"The music was grand," was the general opinion this morning amongst those who had attended the dance.

An excellent service of cakes and light refreshments was supplied during the evening's entertainment. The good things were provided by the members of the Hospital Board Ladies' Auxiliary themselves and were voted on every hand excellent.

Through the kindness of F. W. Hart the glasses, glassware and dishes were placed at the service of the ladies.

There can be no doubt that the persuasive powers of the ladies in winning support for the more than deserving cause in view have been thoroughly effective and their efforts have well earned their success.

The special committee of the Ladies' Auxiliary responsible for the organization of the dance consists of Mrs. Alex. Manson, Chairman; Mrs. Fred Stork and Mrs. C. H. Sawle.

All the ladies of this committee and the auxiliary rendered energetic and valuable services, but particular credit is due to Mrs. Alex. Manson, whose tireless efforts in the work of organization and the keeping up of the general interest in the dance, as well as her practical services, deserve special mention.

At the end of the dance a sale of cakes and dainties was organized and carried through for the benefit of the hospital fund.

Appreciative opinions are heard expressed on all sides today regarding the dance and the large part played in its success by the Ladies' Auxiliary. The thanks of the whole community benefitted by this aid to the hospital cause are certainly due to them, as well as to the Brin Bros. for their kindness in providing the hall, to Mr. Hart for his welcome contribution of glassware, etc., to the members of the orchestra, whose services added so much to the enjoyment, and to everyone who took a share, large or small, in making the dance the undoubted success it was.

LOST IN SKEENA'S WATERS

Bert Whincup Slips From Rail of Steamer Inlander While Going Through Canyon, Is Caught In Whirlpool and Drowned.

From the Optimist's Special Correspondent.

Kitselas, Oct. 15.—As the steamer Inlander was passing through the canyon late yesterday afternoon, Bert Whincup slipped off the guard rail into the Skeena and was drowned.

After falling into the icy water Whincup swam about two hundred yards in a frantic effort to reach the small boat which had been lowered a few minutes before for the use of the sailors putting the lines out. When about five yards from the boat, which had started promptly to his rescue, he was caught in the whirlpool and carried underneath. He was never seen again.

Whincup was about thirty years of age and came to the Pacific Coast from Chatham, England, a few years ago. For the past three seasons he had been employed on the steamer Skeena, occupying the position of night watchman. Ten weeks ago he accepted a position on the Inlander. He had become very popular along the Skeena and had many friends.

Whincup leaves several brothers living in England.

ACROSS OCEAN IN A BALLOON

WALTER WELLMAN STARTS IN BIG DIRIGIBLE

Carries Wireless With Him and Flashes Messages While Over Atlantic That Machinery Is Working Well—Has Crew of Four.

(Special to the Optimist)

New York, Oct. 15.—Walter Wellman started this morning on his attempt to cross the Atlantic in a dirigible balloon. There were no mishaps at the start and he went away in a fair wind sailing almost direct east. The balloon has a wireless on board and at noon he flashed a message that he was headed northeast along the regular steamer track and that the machinery was working first class.

Mr. Wellman has a crew of four with him on the dirigible.

Ald. Smith Returns Tomorrow

Ald. Smith was expected on the Camosun last night, as it was believed he would be here for the meeting of the licensing commission today. But Mrs. Smith went down on Monday and therefore it is surmised they would wish to spend a day or two in Vancouver and return by the Prince George tomorrow.

LABOR PARTY BEATEN

New South Wales Protests by Vote Against Socialistic Experiments

(Special to the Optimist)

Sydney, Oct. 15.—The labor government of New South Wales was practically defeated in the state elections yesterday. It has a bare majority of one vote, but four of the cabinet ministers, including Premier Wade, were defeated. The vote is a protest against the socialistic experiments of the government.

Hospital Dance Finances

The amount realized by last night's dance has not yet been computed, but owing to the fact that the expenses of the dance will be very inconsiderable it is certain that the sum realized will be a handsome one.

TRAIN WRECK IN ONTARIO

HEAD-ON COLLISION WITH A CATTLE TRAIN

West Bound Train Carrying Selkirk Centennial Delegation in Smash-up—Fireman Killed and Engineer Fatally Scalded.

(Special to the Optimist)

Carter, Ont., Oct. 15.—North bound train No. 1 came into collision this morning with an east bound cattle train. Both were going at full speed and when they met head on the engines, tenders and baggage cars of both were wrecked. Fireman Vine was killed outright; Engineer McMillan was fatally scalded. Fireman Summers, of the cattle train, was seriously injured but may recover.

The passengers were badly shaken and bruised but sustained no serious injuries. Among the latter was a delegation on its way to attend the Selkirk Centennial meeting.

Demolition of G. T. P. Annex

Rapid progress is being made now with the demolition of the portion of the G. T. P. Annex which is in the way of the second avenue grading operations now in hand. Workmen are engaged in stripping the roof and removing the framework of the building where it encroaches on the street line.

TO SPEND FOUR YEARS IN THE ARCTIC WILDS

Explorer Radford Will Carry Union Jack With Him and Plant I For Canada Upon All Unoccupied Territory Discovered

To isolate himself from the civilized world for four years, to stand the length of time in the barren white wastes of the Arctic zone, living on little else but milk chocolate and blubber, with none to converse with save his two white companions and the Eskimos, with whom he expects to make aquauintance; to undure perhaps untold hardships, all for the purpose of giving to the scientific world information and data which it does not now possess regarding the vast unexplored portion of Canada that borders on the Arctic seas, that is the intention of Mr. Harry V. Radford, the Arctic explorer of New York, who has left Edmonton on his long journey to the Northland.

The trip now proposed by Radford is one of the most extensive Arctic journeys ever planned with Edmonton as a starting point. Not since Professor Stefanson, of Harvard university, left civilization behind him a few miles north of Edmonton, some three years ago, to bury himself two years in the Arctic habitations of the Eskimos, has there been a journey undertaken from here which will be of the extent and the importance, scientifically, as will this trip upon which Radford has started.

In brief, Radford expects, within the period of the next four years, to cover a huge area of the unexplored regions of the north, in addition to spending two years in life among the Eskimos to study their habits and customs. His trip, briefly, will carry him this winter as far as Fort Smith, on the Slave river, beyond Lake Athabasca, and next year across the barren lands east of Great Slave lake, to Baker lake, at the head of Chesterfield inlet, that long arm of the inland sea, the Hudson Bay, that stretches inland for many miles westward, at the top of the Hudson Bay. This point Radford expects to reach next September, and from there he wlil continue his journey to the shores of the Arctic sea.

Radford had planned this journey for seven years. Back in his New York home, previous to coming to Edmonton, he studied the geography of the north country until he had it well in mind.

He has the various stages of his journey marked out, and has planned every detail carefully, so that only misfortune or extraordinary conditions can mar his plans.

He takes with him two white men, who are tried in the hardships of life in the wilds, and who have sworn loyalty to the explorer for four years.

Radford will carry sufficient food from Edmonton, and from outfitting points along the line to Fort Smith, sufficient to last him until he reaches the head of Chesterfield inlet the first of next September.

To secure his supplies for the next stage of the journey, which will carry him into the land of the Eskimo, he has asked the Dominion government for assistance in the shape of a relief expedition to land supplies for him at Baker lake. The government steamer goes into the Hudson Bay with police supplies during July and August. Should the government agree to send the expedition to Chesterfield inlet, which neck of the inland sea has never yet been navigated, Radford has calculated that his supplies will be waiting for him at Baker lake by the time he reaches there next September.

Radford started north by stage to Athabasca landing, thence by steamer to the head of Lesser Slave lake. He will travel to Fort Smith by the Peace river route—that is, he will make the portage from Slave lake river thence to Fort Smith, where he will winter.

Leaving Fort Smith next spring, he will follow the Slave river to Great Slave lake, and will follow the south shore of that lake to its eastern extremity, from where he will strike across country to Baker lake, at the head of Chesterfield inlet, on the Hudson Bay.

When he left New York two years ago for Edmonton, Radford was heralded throughout the West as the "milk chocolate man," the explorer who proposed surviving in the frozen north on a diet of milk chocolate. This was hardly correct, for although Radford is a great believer in the nutrition in Swiss milk chocolate, he laughs at the absurdity of an explorer attempting to survive on that alone. On the trip on which he has now started Radford will take a certain amount of chocolate with him, for he believes with Dr. Nansen, the great Arctic explorer, who also used chocolate, that this article is one of the greatest warmth-producing foods to be had. Nevertheless, Radford will take with him the articles of food that are usually carried by Arctic explorers.

All of the scientific information which Radford gathers in his journey will be turned over to the geographical department of the Dominion governemnt, and also to several scientific societies in New York, of which Radford is a member.

Radford will carry with him the silk Union Jack, made for him by Countess Grey, wife of the governor-general, with her own hands, and presented to him last year. He will also plant the Union Jack upon any new territory he may discover.

WENT DOWN WITH SHIP

Owners Refuse Compensation to Captain's Widow

Skippers all over the world are looking with interest for the final decision of the case brought by Mrs. Winnifred Jones before the County Court. It involves the question of whether a captain who is drownded because he refuses to leave his sinking ship dies as the result of an accident or as the result of a voluntary act, for which the onwers are not responsible.

Mrs. Jones' husband was master of the Liverpool steamer Providence, which sank last year off Norway. All hands except the captain were saved. He refused to leave his ship and went down with her. Mrs. Jones claims $1500 compensation for the loss of her husband. The owners seek to evade the payment on the ground that Capt. Jones' death was not an accident but a premeditated act.

DROWNED IN YUKON

Second Mate of Steamer Selkirk Lost His Life

Word was received here by the Princess Royal that Second Mate Ernie Blythe of the river steamer Selkirk was drowned in the Yukon on September 24. When the Selkirk was coming out of Thirty Mile River bound for Dawson a current swept her inshore and the stern wheel was disabled. Blythe tried to take a line ashore in a small boat, but was capsized and drowned. The Selkirk drifted five miles down the Yukon before she was sheered ashore and tied up.

A Different Proposition

"If you want to kill time, I will get my daughter to play some of her new pieces on the piano."

"By no means, my dear madam. Time is not like human beings. You can kill it without murdering it."—Baltimore American.

A Friend Indeed

Mrs. Hitts—Mrs. Knox had the audacity to insinuate that your teeth were not your own.

Miss Overton—Indeed! And what did you say?

Miss Hitts—Oh,I said I was sure they were, for you always paid spot cash for everything.—Chicago News.

An Admission

Fred—I proposed to Miss Dingleby last night.

Joe—Don't believe I know her. Is she well off?

Fred—Yes, I guess so. She refused me.—Chicago News.

In the Confusion

When landslides start, the wise ones say,
They're very hard to stop,
E'en they who start them cannot say
Just who will be on top.

HOT TIME IN THE IDITAROD

CAUSED BY SQUABBLE OVER A PIECE OF LAND

Townsite Owners Removed a Store, but Three Hundred Miners Carried It Back by Hand to Original Foundations.

Juneau, Oct. 10.—Private advices received here today from Iditarod City are that stirring times have recently been witnessed in that place.

Two men at Iditarod City had agreed to pay a certain sum for a piece of land on which they had located a store building. The property was claimed by the townsite company. When the date of payment came and the money was not forthcoming, the townsite officers obtained teams and dragged the buildings off the property into the street.

A committee was appointed by a miners' meeting to consult with the commissioner. The commissioner told the committee he could do nothing in the matter.

That night 300 men took the buildings bodily and lifted them back onto the foundations. Nothing has since been done.

LEFT ESTATE TO GOD

Testator Further Appoints Himself Trustee of Property

Worcester, Mass., Oct. 10.—One of the most unique wills ever recorded in this state was that of Charles Hastings, late of Ashburnham, filed here, who leaves real estate valued at several thousand dollars and transfers the title of the same to the Lord Jesus, appointing himself trustee of the property.

The will, which was drawn more than a quarter of a century ago, deeds several garden lots and buildings in the town of Ashburnham to the Saviour as rightful owner according to the Bible, the first book of laws.

The instrument was given, according to the Probate Court records, in consideration of the love and goodwill of the Saviour and one cent found in one of the buildings.

NAAS AND OTHER INDIANS

The Victoria Colonist makes a suggestion in regard to the treatment of the Indians of this province in which competent judges are heartliy in accord. It says:

"The Moral and Social Reform Association of Toronto has been interviewing the federal premier in regard to the rights of the British Columbia Indians, and Sir Wilfrid has referred them to the government of this province. May we venture to suggest to the Moral and Social Reform Association that they might do well to find out what they are talking about before they interfere with something that only very indirectly concerns them? The Indians of British Columbia would give no trouble to any one, if officious people would only leave them alone."

The Colonist might have done well to embrace in its sweeping denunciation of this meddling, that of a local newspaper which has stirred up some strife by its blundering discussion of the Naas Indians and their rights. But of course neither the association nor the Colonist has ever heard of our misguided contemporary

Monsieur, zee Peeking Tom editor, she may look in zee window some more, maybe.

The cleverness of the Optimist printers is strikingly illustrated in the fact that they can even make our city council look good to the outside world. Here is an item from the Amprior, Ont., Chronicle:

"The Chronicle is in receipt of a copy of a special edition of the Prince Rupert, B. C., Optimist, and the number is in every way a most praiseworthy one. Every page in the special edition is very interesting and not the least so are the engravongs of Prince Rupert's first municipal council. The first mayor is Mr. Alfred Stork, an energetic looking gentleman, just the man to suit Prince Rupert."

REWARDS FOR DYNAMITERS

OVER HUNDRED THOUSAND OFFERED FOR CAPTURE

Mayor of Los Angeles Thinks Rewards Are Too Large and Seeks to Reduce Them—Believed Eight Men Are Involved.

Los Angeles, Oct. 12.—While the search for the Times dynamite conspirators is unhampered today by any undue publicity regarding the activity of the police, divided authority seems to have created some confusion among the man hunters.

The rewards, incidentally, were reduced today by $35,000, following Mayor Alexander's statement that in his opinion the totals had reached far too large a figure. The Merchants and Manufacturers' Association, through its secretary, Felix Zehandelaar, announced that it had decided to cut its offer down to $15,000 and devote the balance of the $50,000 originally posted to other purposes. However, this reduction still leaves the amount of rewards more than any offered in recent criminal history.

From information drawn with difficulty from the police today, it was learned that the detectives believe now there were at least eight men involved in the plot to destroy the Times plant and the homes of General Otis and F. J. Zeehandelaar. The rewards for the capture of all amount to $145,000—$15,000 for each conspirator from the city and county, a total of $15,000 from the Merchants and Manufacturers' Association, and $10,000 approximately from the State Labor Federation and other sources. Absolutely nothing concerning the present status of the man hunt could be learned today.

THE OPINION OF EXPERTS

We direct the attention of investors to the opportunity for profits now offered in the better class of mining shares. Our advice is that you make personal investigation of good issue and thereby place yourself in position for some extraordinary profits.

The mining industry in the Hazelton district is on the eve of an era of unbounded prosperity—men of foresight, keen discernment and successful mining experience admit this and are investing and investing heavily.

Mining Engineers of wide experience and great responsibility all accord Silver Cup Mines their highest endorsement and confidentially predict the property will become the greatest dividend earning mine in British Columbia.

Between now and the time that this is an accomplished fact is the opportunity for large profits.—Put your judgment into action and secure for future profits a part of the treasury issue now selling at 12 1-2 cents per share.

BAPTIST CHURCH PROGRESS

Rev. W. H. McLeod's Services Tomorrow. Men's Brotherhood.

Rev. Warren Hastings McLeod, B. A., B. D., the recently appointed pastor of the First Baptist church, is taking hold of his hearers in the community of Prince Rupert and his congregations are on the increase each week. The very well attended prayer meetings which Mr. McLeod holds on Wednesdays are a feature of his work, and the Men's Brotherhood in connection with the church is flourishing.

Rev. Mr. McLeod is making this brotherhood as pleasant and open a means of friendly meeting together for men as possible. Every member of the community over eighteen years of age who receives a majority vote of the members for admission is welcomed as a member, and there are no exacting conditions of membership imposed.

On Monday night the Men's Brotherhood will meet for an open evening to all at which there will be games and refreshments.

Rev. Mr. McLeod announces for tomorrow the following subjects of discourse: at the morning service he will preach on "Shut In, or Restrained Lives," and in the evening on "Vernacular Christianity."

This latter subject he intends making of particular interest to his hearers, and a special invitation is extended to all who care to attend and hear this address.

ALASKA GOING AHEAD

Glowing Statement of Governor Clark, Made at Juneau

As the result of his trip into the interior of Alaska, a trip which occupied seventy-two days, and covered a total distance of 6,250 miles, Governor Walter E. Clark is enthused over present conditions and prospects in the northern country.

In a statement issued at Juneau, Governor Clark says, on account of his previous travels through Alaska he did not suppose it was possible for him to gain a "deeper impression of the great resources and possibilities of Alaska," but as the result of his recent trip he has "obtained a broader view and a deeper impression of these things." Coming from the present chief executive of Alaska, a man who has made a rather close study of conditions in Alaska since 1900, this statement is full of meaning.

Governor Clark believes "agricultural development will assuredly soon take place in the Susitna, the Tanana and other fertile valleys," and he thinks, too, that "the mineral resources have only been prospected, comparatively speaking." But before the devlopement of the great natural wealth of the territory can proceed as rapidly and satisfactorily as it should proceed, Governor Clark says "the building of transportation lines and the opening of the coal fields" are the two primce requisites; "transportation and cheap fuel," he says, "are the keys to the situation."

In Governor Clark's Juneau statement there is a apirit of optimism concerning conditions in the northern country which promises much good for Alaska and Alaskans. Alaska is going ahead.

FIRST CATTLE SHIPMENT

Live Animals to Be Shipped by Rail for Use of Construction Camps

Five heavily loaded freight cars left the Prince Rupert depot this morning, laden with hay and merchandize for the several camps along the line. MYSTERIOUS VISITOR CALLS ON PRESIDENT'S AUNT

Declared That He Had Overheard Plot for Assassination of American Executive—Secret Service Men Unable to Find Informant.

Millbury, Mass., Oct. 10.—An alleged scheme for the assassination of President Taft was unfolded to Miss Delia C. Torrey, aunt of the president, by a stranger who called at her home here today.

The man, who refused to give his name, declared he overheard the plotters while in Boston. As he departed he threatened to return and kill Miss Torrey if the matter got into the newspapers.

The man went away from Millbury as suddenly and as mysteriously as he had come, and tonight there is no clue to his whereabouts, although Miss Torrey immediately reported the facts to the Millbuty authorities and they in turn asked the assistance of the Worcester police.

The matter has also been reported to the secret service authorities.

WIRELESS FOR LOCATING ORE

INTERRUPTIONS IN CHAIN OF RADIO TELEGRAPHY

Presence of Ore Has Disturbing Effect Upon Hertzian Waves—Professor Shortt Sees no Reason why Discovery Should Not Be Utilized.

The value of wireless as a means of discovering ore bodies has been proved through the British Columbia chain of radio telegraph stations. The difficulties of transmitting the current in certain directions experienced by the different stations is due to the presence of large bodies of ore which apparently have a disturbing effect on the Hertzian waves.

A notable instance of this disturbance is to be found in communication between Gonzales Hill and Pachena, the nearest west coast station to Victoria. The transmission of messages between these two points is very difficult. Frequently the thread of intercourse is lost, and the only scientific reason is that the air waves pass over land in which is located a large ore body. The wireless route from here to Portland passes over the Barkley Sound district where large iron deposits are known to exist.

Similarly communications between the local station and Tatoosh is at times very difficult and in this instance the wireless route goes across the Sooke district, where also are to be found iron deposits. That distance, intervening mountain ranges, or other peculiarities of land configuration, have nothing to do with the interruption of communication is borne out by the fact that the transmission of messages between Pachena and Triangle is comparatively easy and susceptive of frequent interference.

Again it has been demonstrated that the British Colimbua stations regularly lose track of vessels equipped with wireless, when those ships, either north or south bound are opposite certain points along the coast.

Interesting comments on this phenomenon, at present caapable of but little ex planation, are made by Prof. Adam Shortt, of Ottawa, who in the course of his duties paid a visit to the wireless station at Gonzelas Hill. He says that these is no reason why wireless should not be utilized extensively for the purpose of locating ore bodies. Trials already carried out have shown that communication between two mine galleries has been lost when a seam of coal, or other ore has been reached. He believes that were prospectors to carry portable wireless apparatus, it would be possible for them to ascertain by experiment, at least approximately, the location of seams of ore, whether that ore were copper, gold, silver, iron, or indeed any other mineral. Prof. Shortt has been intensely interested in this phenomenon experienced on the Pacific Coast. As far as he knows it does not obtain at the Canadian Atlantic stations inasmuch as the majority of wireless routes there are uninterrupted by land configuration, and have a clear airway over water.

Colonel Roosevelt is announced to give two lectures on "Peace" at Harvard University. It is not expected that the Vice-President will be asked to preside.

If Moses came to Chicago, a clergyman of that city asserts that he would be promptly robbed of his tablets of stone and sent back naked to the bulrushes.

A romantic marriage took place at Wilkesbarre last week when a young couple were married standing in a canoe. After the ceremony the little craft started down the stream, the groom doing the paddling.

A Vancouver visitor remarked that while the cost of living might be higher on the Coast the expense for clothing during the winter months was trifling. "All that is required is an umbrella, raincoat and a pair of rubber boots."

ENGLAND'S ONLY BLOT

Is Her Treatment of Ireland, Says Sir Wilfrid Laurier

Ottawa, Oct. 10.—In moving a vote of thanks to T. P. O'Connor, M. P., who delivered an address on home rule in the Russell theater last evening, Sir Wilfrid Laurier said the treatment of Ireland was the only blot on England's record. He said he could not understand why England should grant autonomy to Canada and to South Africa and not to Ireland.

Hon. Charles Murphy presided. The sum realized for the cause of home rule amounted to over $1100.

CANADIANIZING GREAT WEST

PRESIDENT OF ROYAL SOCIETY ON THE SUBJECT

Declares Unity With Diversity the True Watchword for Canada—Public Schools the Great National Unifier of Races.

The feature of the postponed meeting of the Royal Society of Canada at Ottawa was the presidental address delivered in the Normal School by Prof. G. M. Bryce, upon "The Canadianization of Western Canada." No man could speak with more authority on this subject than the man who for 25 years has lived in the West and who knows it from A to Z. The address had the advantage of being a first presentation of facts to men who did not know the West as the president does. Dr. Bryce said in part:

University with diversity was the true watchword for Canada. There must be some fair average of business community between East and West. Unity of spirit grew from equality of opportunity and character and achievement, sense and worth must be the binding tie of the East and West. Union was quite compatible with political differences, thought the speaker.

One salient feature in the diversities of Canadian life was the differences of the English and French languages among the original Canadian population which had prevailed for one hundred and fifty years since Canada became English.

The mere logician demanded uniformity and said that the equality of treatment would require that German, Scandinavian and Galician should have the same official recognition as French. But treaty rights, a century and a half of usage and a large native-born section of more than two and a half millions of French-Canadians placed their claim on a different plane. Difference of language did not interfere with unity of action and was entirely compatible with Canadian unity. Nor was this unity in any way inconistent with religious differences unless those were fierce, unreasonable and un-Christian. Liberty of conscience, within the limits of national safety was the right of every Canadian. Experience proved that religion must be an element in the national life of every strong people. A nation of atheists could not continue to be a great nation.

The great national unifier, said Dr. Bryce, was the public school and the college.

Canada's great problem was the great influx of Americans into the East. Statistics showed that 15 per cent of the influx was German in origin; 35 per cent Scandinavian; 40 per cent returned Canadians or their children and 30 per cent native born Americans.

In conclusion he stated that American settlers without exception have declared their preference for Canadian laws and had also taken kindy to Canadian customs. Almost all became British subjects and then voters and were in general valuable, peace-loving law-abiding immigrants.

Even Exchange

The pretty girl was eating a peach.

"Cannibal!" exclaimed the elderly bachelor.

"Parrot!" she retorted.

For she had a dim recollection of having heard him say the same thing to dozens of other pretty girls.

If It Really Concerned Him

"You told me Mr. Hyjams was busy, but would be at liberty in a few minutes," said the caller. "I've waited nearly a quarter of an hour. Will you kindly tell me what is detaining him?"

"He's buttonin' of Mrs. Hyjams' new gown up the back, if you must know!" snapped the domestic.—Chicago Tribune.

COUNTY COURT HELD YESTERDAY

HOTEL HEATING CASE IN THE FINAL STAGES

Fight for Fourteen Dollars Over—After Hearing Lengthy Evidence Judge Young Decides to Take the Matter to Avisandum.

Olier Besner of the Knox hotel was examined by Mr. Patmore and cross examined by Mr. Bennett in connection with the case of the Prince Rupert Sheet Metal Works vs. Artaud & Besner continued before Judge Young yesterday afternoon.

It came out in the evidence that the claim for $14 for part of the work of putting in heating appliances for the Knox hotel by plaintiff had really been the outcome of a difference of opinion regarding the prices charged in the account rendered by plaintiff which Besner had paid with some little demur.

Regarding the work itself Besner seems to have given a good deal of help himself. On one occasion he asked Rowe why he took some dented pipe back to the shop for repair when it might have been repaired in five minutes on the job according to Besner's opinion. Rowe replied that he knew his own business as a metal worker best.

Besner had kept track of the men's time while on his job, but the book with his notes of this had been unfortunately destroyed in a shack fire. He maintained that he was certainly over charged in any case in the account paid even if $14 worth of work had not been included in it by Rowe.

Judge Young was quite clearly convinced of defendant's genuine feeling on this point. But he felt that the whole case was one which might almost be decided fairly either way. He did not care much for the manner plaintiff had in keeping his books entered the date of one month against work actually done in another month, but if Mr. Rowe could show that this sort of thing was usual in his method of book keeping it need not necessarily affect this particular case.

He could not understand how a certain charge of $2.50 could rightly be made for joining up seven lengths of pipe. "Why I'd almost be prepared to do that myself foe a dollar," he said, "and I'm no plumber or tinsmith either."

Judge Young took the case to avizandum.
