Crippen Appeals

London, Oct. 27—Immediately after the acquittal of Miss LeNeve Barrister Newton announced that he would appeal the sentence of death passed upon Dr. Crippen, who, under this sentence, was to be hung on November 8th. The application to the court of criminal appeal was made yesday afternoon.

ANARCHIST PLOT TO RUIN FRANCE

GREAT TUMULT IN CHAMBER OF DEPUTIES

Premier Briand Discloses Plot of Anarchists and Produces Confessions of Strike Leaders Who Were in Affiliation With Them.

(Special to the Optimist)

Paris, Oct. 26.—In the Chamber of Deputies last night, after the government had been hotly attacked by the Socialists for having interferred with the strike and brought it to an end disastrous to the strikers, Premier Briand disclosed a plot that had been entered into by anarchists to ruin the country.

This disclosure made a profound sensation for the moment, which was broken by the interpolations of the Socialists and their demands for further proof. This was forthcoming by the premier's production of confessions made by the strike leaders that they had been working in affiliation with the anarchists. A great disturbance followed, several members of the Left coming to blows. Prefect of Police Lepine was attacked so savagely that his friends hurried him from the chamber.

Presented to British Army

London, Oct. 26.—The dirigible balloon Morning Post crossed from Moissons, France, to Aldershot this morning, in five hours. It came down with ease right on the parade ground and is classed as one of the most successful flights yet made. The newspaper proprietor afterward presented the balloon to the British army officials.

RECEPTION OF PREMIER

Will Arrive Here on Prince Rupert on Her Next Trip to This Port

William Manson, MP. P., last night received a telegram from Premier McBride which corroborates the press despatches published by the Optimist in regard to his visit to Prince Rupert. This telegram states that the premier will arrive here on the steamer Prince Rupert on Wednesday next, and that he will return by the same boat. The press despatch said that he would also visit Stewart, but the telegram states that as it is impossible for hin to visit Stewart this trip the people of Stewart are to be notified so that they may send a delegation to meet him here.

Mr. Manson says it is expected that a public reception will be given the premier but that the details have not yet been arranged. There is also talk of giving the distinguished visitor a reception at one of the leading clubs of the city.

BANQUET TO GEORGE W. MORROW

Whole Host of Witnesses Testify To His Admirable Characteristics As a Leading Citizen and Generous Friend, Saying Their Farewells With Honest Regrets.

They say a man is never so popular as when he is about to leave a place. That may be so, but if genuine enthusiasm is any guarantee of popularity G. W. Morrow is not only popular now, but has been all along a popular citizen of Prince Rupert. Last night's banquet to him held in the Premier hotel was a success right from start to finish.

To begin with over one hundred citizens of Prince Rupert and friends of G. W. Morrow signed the address on vellum, and couched in terms of the highest esteem which was presented to Mr. Morrow by Mr. W. Law the chairman for the evening.

In handing the address to the guest of the evening Mr. Law spoke in cordially appreciative terms of Mr. Morrow's high business ability and strong character, courage and great generosity. "No man" he said, "has given more to charitable causes in the city than G. W. Morrow. While business men might differ on many points," said Mr. Law, "everyone admired and respected a character like G. W. Morrow's."

Wm. Manson, M. P. P.

Geo. B. Tite was appointed toastmaster, and the first toast that of "British Columbia" was proposed by A. Carss and responded to by Wm. Manson M. P. P. Mr. Carss very briefly proposed the toast in a neat little speech saying modestly, that as he was comparatively youug to the province he would leave its praises to Mr. Manson.

Mr. Manson, who was greeted with cheers spoke in glowing terms of the noble prospects of the province with which all present were proud to be associated. There were representatives of the eastern provinces there, some from their neighboring republic, some from over the Atlantic and some even from Bruce County! After describing the rich resources of British Columbia, Mr. Manson said that he was sure there could be no difference regarding the government at which a smile rippled round the audience. He spoke of Mr. Morrow's great share in the work of advancing the province, saying he was one of the most energetic, and public spirited men he had ever known, and regretted the removal of Mr. Morrow and his family to Vancouver.

To the Evening's Guest

The toast of "The Guest of the Evening" was proposed by G. R. T. Sawle. In terms of the greatest good will and esteem he referred to his late partner's excellent business qualities, and further to his sterling character as a friend.

To know a man, Mr. Sawle said, one must either live with or be in business with him. He could say that he knew Mr. Morrow well, and it was a privilege to have been in business with him. "Mr. Morrow's confidence in me," he said, "is one of the greatest compliment ever paid me." He felt that G. W. Morrow is to-day the most influential man in Prince Rupert.

G. W. Morrow's Reply

A storm of cheering greeted the close of Mr. Sawle's remarks and was renewed with intensity as Mr. Morrow rose to reply. After expressing in sincere and cordial terms his appreciation of the honor done him, Mr. Morrow said he would treasure the address given him with one he had received on leaving Port Essington, and hand them down to posterity.

He explained that in consideration of the needs of his wife and family he had to go to Vancouver, and said that while his successful pursuits were well known to many, there were unsuccessful ones too known to Mrs. Morrow. He held out the distant prospect of a return some day with his family to reside again in Prince Rupert, and sincerely hoped he would live to see the city with not 5000, but 100,000 inhabitants. (Hear! Hear!).

The G. T. P. Position

Referring to the situation in regard to the G. T. P. and the city Mr. Morrow was emphatic on the line that the city needed the G. T. P. co-operation and the G. T. P. needed the city. He thought it high time that the G. T. P. should appoint an executive officer at Prince Rupert competent to discuss business directly with the business men of the city and who desires to come to the city. At present these business men had to search half over Canada for the right man to make their propositions to.

A fair and friendly spirit was the right one in which the matter between the G. T. P. and the city should be dealt with. If the G. T. P. Railway Co. were really coming to the city prepared to spend millions of dollars here then he thought the city could well afford to grant them exemption of taxation. "What Prince Rupert wants is a pay roll," he declared emphatically.

The Former Election

Referring to the election in which he had been an unsuccessful candidate Mr. Morrow said he fancied it might have been as well for himself and the city that he was defeated. He had been watching the council closely since, and thought that on the whole too much adverse ctiricism had been directed against it. He was certain that every member of the council was doing his utmost for the good of the city. (Applause). He thought the council's most serious mistake had been in once turning down the press, and this he said, was not because he had been interested in one of the newspapers, but because the best way of circulating the attractiveness and prosperity of the city was through the news published in its own newspapers daily.

Mr. Morrow renewed his thanks to the assembled company and sat down amid a storm of cheering.

A pleasing interlude was now contributed by Professor Kauffman with violin selections then followed the proposed by Ald. MacIntyre, supported by Aldermen Pattullo, Hilditch, Lynch and Barrow.

Ald. MacIntyre said this was a very important toast and coupled with the very important names in the city. But the city was to lose a good man in Mr. Morrow who was ever an optimist. The pessimist might well be spared but never the optimist. Referring to the past election, he said that many citizens then had refused Mr. Morrow because they thought they knew him. Now they might wish to reverse their decision. There was one hopeful thing about Mr. Morrow's departure. He was only going to Vancouver, and no one who ever went to Vancouver from Prince Rupert ever stayed long in Vancouver.

"We're Here Because—"
"We're here because—"

The toast of the city was drunk heartily and followed by the vociferous chanting of the old familiar chorus.

Ald. Pattullo then responded saying

Telegrams Delayed

The telegraph wire was working good this morning, after the thorough repairs following the storm, when a freight train on the Canadian Pacific, near Yale, run off the track and smashed down a row of telegraph poles. This temporarily cut off communication.

WORK ON THE BRANCH LINE

TELEGRAPH LINE TO STEWART MAKING PROGRESS

Superintendent Believes Line Will Be Completed and in Operation by Close of Year—Only Seventy-five Miles More.

The construction of the new government telegraph line form Kitsumkalum to Stewart is proceeding as rapidly as could be expected, according to J. T. Phelan, superintendent of the government telegraph service, who has just returned form a partial inspection of the work. He says that he has twenty men at work on the Kitsumkalum end, and when he left a few days ago they had reached Kitsumkalum lake, a distance of twenty-eight miles. For this distance they have the poles up and the wires strung.

The difficulty has been, he says, that of transportation. There is a government road just completed along the Kitsumkalum valley, but it is by no means a wagon road, and the best that can be done on it is to use jumpers. Also, around the lake the timber is very heavy and the work must necessarily proceed slowly.

The fierce storm of last week delayed the work of construction as the men were called off to repair the present wire. The storm raged through the Bulkley and Kispiox valleys and tore down many of the poles. Portions of the line had to be entirely reconstructed and to do this work he engaged all the competent men he could find. As an instance of the force of the storm he tells of a cow belonging to the Burns company being killed by a tree falling on the animal, trees being torn from the roots and piled up along the Kitsumkalum valley and at other points.

Mr. Phelan goes to Stewart in a few days to inspect the progress made from that end of the line. The construction gang there has already passed Goose Bay, a distance of about forty miles. This leaves about seventy miles of line to be built. The two gangs will come together at the Naas river, somewhere near Ianish. Quicker progress will be possible over these last stretches, as the nature of the country traversed is more favorable. and he hopes to see the line completed before the close of the year. But this depends on the state of the weather, as along these valleys there is always a fear of interference by very heavy snow.

"The Ladies of Prince Rupert are good cooks"; so some one remarked the other day. This ensures a most delightful Banquet at the Methodist Church next Monday evening? Are you going?

Never say die till you are dead—and then it's no use.—Spurgeon.

Two Bad Boys

The case of the two boys charged with breaking into a cabin over the bay was before Judge Young this afternoon. The Judge postponed it until the boy's parents can be notified of their position.

OPERATOR ON A BAR

Hazelton Left This Morning With Load for Hardscrabble

The stage of the water in the Skeena this morning was thirty-two inches below zero and still falling. This is about what it was at the same date last year, so that it is hoped boats will be able to move for several days yet. As a warning, however, that the season is near its close, the Operator is on a bar a mile below Kitselas. The other boats seem to be doing all right, the Port Simpson and the Inlander making very good progress.

The Hazelton left this morning for Hardscrabble. She had few passengers but a large load of freight for this stage of the water.

CHARGE AGAINST LADS

Of Breaking Into Cabin Over the Bay and Stealing Property

Two lads, have been arrested on a charge of breaking into a cabin on the other side of the bay and stealing therefrom a shot gun, an axe, a hammer, a watch and chain, a sum of money and several other articles, all of which property was recovered last night on their arrest by the city police. The case came before Magistrate McMullin this morning and the boys were committed for trial. Owing to the offence having been committed outside the city limits Magistrate Carss has no jurisdiction in this case.

MEN'S WINTER FASHIONS

Clothes Are to Be Sombre With Single Dash of Color

London, Oct. 22.—Despite the story which occurs from time to time for more color in men's clothes, sombre hues will prevail among well-dressed men this winter. The only hope for the man who likes a dash of color seems to lie in his handkerchiefs. The reign of the passionate sock is over, or at any rate, it will reign unseen, for spats have usurped its place.

"Brown is to be the leading color of the winter," said one of the leading tailors in Saville Row, "and the chief change is that coats must no longer be slit up the back. They are to be cut out fairly loose with less waist than before, still just following the lines of the figure, a roll collar, a pocket, without flap on either side, and a handkerchief pocket. Waistcoats will be cut a littlte lower in the opening, say six to seven inches between the bottom and top buttons, and the trousers will be made with the ends turned up.

"We are making many dark blue dress suits; they are barely distinguishable from black at night. Dress waistcoats must be either white pique of black velvet, made with four buttons, instead of three, with a roll collar, not stitched down, and the opening in an inverted V shape at the bottom.

The smart man this winter must carry a stick in the evening. There is a gerat revival in the malacca. The malacca cane with rhinoceros horn mounting costs from $12 to $24. Snakewood is also largely used for evening canes and camma ash, a pretty gray wood, is popular for day canes.

An innovation is the long cigarette holder. The amber cigarette holder, eight or nine inches long, with a band of blue or mauve enamel or gold, is to be the correct thing this winter.

Tie pins, if worn at all, will be small and expensive. A single black pearl, a circle of fine diamonds, emeralds, or rubies, set in platinum, alone are premissable.

Waistcoat buttons for evening wear must be mother of pearl or white enamel set in oxodized silver or platinum, sometimes with diamonds.

The man who wants to be "just it" must confine himself as regards ties to black, black and white stripes or dark blue with a large white spot. In handkerchiefs he may let himself go. The popular colors in silk handkerchiefs are violet, purple and blue.

Wines, Liquors, Ales and Beer at Clarke Bros. —4t

Census of Canada

Ottawa, Oct. 21.—Preparations are being made for the taking of the census next June. A commissioner is to be appointed for each of the two hundred and fourteen electoral districts of Canada, and the Civil Service commission is advertising examinations for census clerks who will number two hundred or more. It is expected that the census will cost a million dollars.

WINES AND LIQUORS

For Thanksgiving Festivities at the Clarke Brothers

The immense shipment of wines, liquors and beers that Clarke Bros., received this week will afford a splendid opportunity for securing your favorite drink for Thanksgiving festivities. Liquid refreshments at dinner time are an essential. A glass of Budweiser before your meal and a glass of choice liqueur after the turkey makes a man feel contented and thankful. It was with this idea in view that Clarke Bros. had their big stock arrive at this time. They have everything you may desire. —4t

LEVINE AGAIN BEFORE COURT

WHO OWNED THE HORSES IS THE QUESTION

Adjournment for Another Week for Appearance of Peter Annance, the Stewart Freighter Who Was Partner With Levine's Son.

Vancouver, Oct, 22.—The trial of A. S. Levine, who is charged on complaint of several wholesale firms in this city with obtaining goods under false pretences, was continued this morning before Judge McInnes, and again adjourned until Saturday next, to permit the presence of a witness who is now in Stewart. Levine is defended by Mr. S. S. Taylor and Mr. D. Donaghy.

H. O. Sawyer, proprietor of the Royal hotel, Marysville, East Kootenay, told the court that he had been running a packing establishment at Stewart until a month ago, when, he gave his wife a bill of sale of the horses and other equipment. He did this because Provincial Constable Sampson of Fernie told him he could not run a hotel at Marysville and a transfer business in Stewart at the same time.

Sawyer said that he was the proprietor of the transfer business prior to this, and that the Stewart Merchantile Company, with which Levine was connected, had nothing to do with the horses. In the complaint it is charged that Levine represented himself as the owner of these horses in order to get credit in buying goods in Vancouver. Mrs. Sawyer was called as a witness and produced the bill of sale.

Levine was called by the defence and retailed at length his connection with the Stewart Mercantile Company, in which he was, he stated, a silent partner. His son and Peter Annance were the record partners, while he did the buying for the firm on a commission basis. He said that the transfer business was merely a branch of the general business of the firm, and that the firm owned the horses and equipment.

Albert Levine, son of the accused, was also called, and corroborated his father's evidence. The case was adjourned on motion of the defence in order to have Peter Annance appear.

BOY SCOUTS IN CANADA

General Baden-Powell, since his return to London, has assured newspaper men that within two or three years the number of Boy Scouts in the Dominion will have reached 20,000, as compared with the 150,000 to 200,000 in Great Britain.

"I went out," pursued the Chief Scout, "for the purpose of giving advice to the organization in matters of policy, and so forth. But I found on my arrival that the main organizations were all complete. I visited seventeen centres, and found the greatest enthusiasm among the lads for the scheme. The Governor-General, I found, had taken an active interest in the movement, and the lieutenant-governors in all parts of Canada were following his example. Leading men everywhere are doing the same: Church people, education authorities, as well as the Minister of Defence. Their interest and that of the boys has disproved the idea that Boy Scouts in Canada would not be a success, because of the cadet corps in existence. Instead of that they have come opportunely to fill up gaps left by the cadets."

The Brantford, Ont., Expositor says: The Expositor has received a copy of The Prince Rupert Optimist, which contains in addition to any amount of "boom" material, pictures of the municipal 'statesmen' of the embryo city. Among the most prominent of these, of course, is that of Mayor Stork, a former Brantfordite, whose advent in the 'infant' city seems to be the most natural thing of the world."

Ald. Smith gave some valuable information last night when he told the business men of Prince Rupert that the cost of the first hundred miles of the G. T. P. was $7,000,000. At the terminus in Prince Rupert alone the sum of one million dollars has been spent and as the alderman pointed out this is the best assurance in the world that the railway company have got to make Prince Rupert a great city.

GRIEVANCE OF LONG STANDING

Mining men interested at Whitehorse, Yukon, are put to great inconvenience through the records being kept at Dawson. It would be better if the Minister of the Interior adopted the same system as in force in the Province of British Columbia and subdivided the Yukon territory into mining divisions with independent recorders for each. It is to be hoped the administration will be amended accordingly and that without loss of time.—B. C. Mining Engineer.

PRESBYTERIAN CLUB

First Regular Meeting Was a Great Success. Educational Topics

There were seventy-five pleased and enthusiastic members at the first regular meeting of the Presbyterian Club last evening. It was an auspicious opening and an excellent indication of the success which is sure to attend the organization.

The president, H. F. McRae, who occupied the chair, made a splendid opening address, outlining the prospects and ideals of the Club. He compared this organization to the old Athenian Clube where people met to tell some new thing.

The musical portion of the evening's program was an excellent solo by Mr. Stewart, and also a sweetly rendered vocal selection by Miss Craig.

Mr. C. V. Bennett gave the piece de resistance in his address on Sophocles' Theory of Life and Destiny.'" He pictured vividly some of the tragedies written by that wonderful old philosopher. The address gave the members a new interest in the learning of the Grecian Age.

Rev. Kerr followed this address with a series of pictures of Athens showing the scenes referred to by the previous speaker. He also quoted from Matthew Arnold on the same theories expounded by Sophocles.

To conclude the evening refreshments were served.

At the next Wednesday evening the program will either be an address by H. F. McRae on "New Thought" or a ladies' debate.

Punctuailty is a convenient virtue. You are going to be at the Annual Banquet at the Methodist Church next Monday night. The room is limited, the hour is six forty-five, it may be difficult to keep a place for you after the hour. Please be on time.

PLEASING CHILDREN'S PARTY

Held Yesterday Afternoon in Home of H. Hoffman

Yesterday afternnon a charming and novel display was given in honor of Master Abraham Leo Hoffman, who is just nine months old, in the house of his father, Mr. H. Hoffman. The ceremony which is known as a "Simchas Tora" party is an old established custom with Jewish families, and takes place at the completion of the Feast of Tabernacles or Jewish harvest thanksgiving festival.

All the children of the neighborhood were invited with their mothers and, seated on the floor in a circle with the baby boy in the centre, they were treated to showers of candies, sugared almonds, and other good things.

Presents and specially hand-painted souvenirs appropriate for the occasion were given to the ladies present. The party included Mrs. H. Cameron, Mrs. D. Cohen, Mrs. Burdie and Mrs. I. Director with children, also Mrs. B. Cohen, Mrs. M. Weinster, Mrs. E. A. Woods and Miss Lottie Chancell. The party broke up at six p.m., the guests and children going homewards charmed with their experience, and the good things so generously provided.

Said To Be Opium

A Chinaman by name Chu Chuck Sam charged at Kitselas with having sold opium to May Smith and fined $100 with $50 for license and $12 costs, has applied for certioriari which means the annulling of the conviction. He will probably claim the return of the fine which was paid with the other moneys if his application should prove successful. The case was under consideration by Judge Young this afternoon. Several points are involved in it, an important one being the nature of the stuff alleged to have been opium which was sold by the Chinaman.

BANQUET TO G. W. MORROW

he would avoid mentioning such a topic as the election that evening. If Mr. Morrow came back about January 1st he would hear all about that. He referred to Mr. Morrow's well-known reputation as a family man, laughinly remarking that when he and his family departed they would lessen considerably the city's population!

Ald. Barrow saying that two or three people, even though only aldermen, were enough to respond to the toast of the city paid sincere tribute to Mr. Morrow's good humor and hospitality.

Ald. Hilditch told of his own first impressions of Prince Rupert, and how he had decided to make his home here. He thought the best thing a young man could do was to put his money in Prince Rupert today. He admired Mr. Morrow. Though Mr. Morrow had been knocked down once, he had got up again. He hoped Mr. Morrow would be back soon.

Ald. Lynch said he was not so sure that Mr. Morrow would be back so quickly as they all hoped for he had noticed the magnetism of the metropolis in attracting men of Mr. Morrow's stamp. By and by of course, Prince Rupert would have the same power. He wished Mr. Morrow all propserity and happiness.

After Mr. Dawes Gilmore had given the song, "Out on the Deep," and been enthusiastically encored, the toast of "The Ladies" was proposed by Dr. Clayton who took the opportunity very happily to pay a high who had been their guest's invaluable helpmeet throughout his years in the district.

J. F. Macdonald reposnded with similar well-expressed sentiments and on Mrs. Morrow's behalf Mr. Morrow rose to reply. He said with deep feeling that he would find it difficult to speak for her on this occasion as words failed him to express fully his sense of the worth of the wife who had been by his side during his twelve years' stay amid all the early difficulties of this part of the world. As friend and wife she had been his companion and comfort, and while much might be forgotten by him his wife's share in his success he would never forget.

Cheers were called for Mrs. Morrow and heartily given.

A. J. Morris then proposed the toast of "The Industries of Prince Rupert" treating of the excellent field for investment afforded by the city, and of the pioneer work done here by Mr. Morrow.

Thomas Dunn rose to respond saying Mr. Morrow was a man amongst men who would fight to the last straw. Though he himself had taken a prominent part in the election defeat Mr. Morrow had suffered, still today Mr. Morrow had no better friend in Prince Rupert than Thomas Dunn. The most serious mistake he ever saw Mr. Morrow make was his present one in leaving the best part of British Columbia. Mr. Dunn went on to dwell on the magnificent resources of Northern British Columbia concluding with the optimistic statement that in a very short time Prince Rupert would be as big as Vancouver.

Farm Yard Imitations, by J. G. Weston gave a humorous breathing space before the next toast proposed by Vernor W. Smith, who said that few people even in Prince Rupert could realize the tremendous cost and work involved in constructing a great transcontinental railway line.

The outlay in hard cash alone required to build a line such as that in which they were all interested would stagger some. As for the other problems and interests involved they were on a corresponding scale. Just by way of instancing the meaning of his words, Mr. Smith remarked that the section of the line under construction by the firm he represented extended to about 1000 to 1200 miles and the first 100 miles was costing for grading alone about seven million dollars.

Mr. Smith went on to say most emphatically that he was convinced beyond shadow of doubt that the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway company would never change their terminus now. They had spent, and were spending still, too much money for that. To get in to Prince Rupert alone they had laid out over twenty million dollars. It was not likely that they would let that amount go for nothing.'

Mr. Smith added his tribute to those already so warmly expressed to Mr. Morrow, and in response to the toast of the "Transcontinental" Mr. Duncan Ross arose to speak greeted with cheers.

Mr. Ross said the railway originated in the minds of optimists. It was a railway of the pathfinder, ready to take chances at first on the unknown lands ahead of him. Mr. Ross told of the earliest ideas put forth about this line, and how at first poorly received they had borne fruit in the present possession of a great transcontinental all red road with double the carrying power of any other railway in Canada. And Prince Rupert was its terminus.

Touching lightly on the question of politics, Mr. Ross said that opinions on that subject varied now and then. Thus, Mr. Manson thought the present government the best possible, Mr. Ross thought the very opposite but his esteem and friendly regard toward Mr. Manson was none the less sincere.

Regarding the assessment difficulty with the G. T. P., Mr. Ross said emphatically that the G. T. P. as a corporation would take all their rights and whatever else they could get. He advised the citizens not to be stampeded, but to stand up for their rights which would be the best course for both parties eventually. (Cheers.)

The last toast of the evening that of "The Press" was proposed by Mr. Newton who spoke at some length, and was responded to by Mr. Charles Sawle briefly. Mr. Morrow then added a few clising remarks of appreciation of the work with him during his short experience in the newspaper business of Mr. G. R. T. Sawle.

With the singing of "God Save the King," and "Auld Lang Syne," the banquet broke up. Everything went off entirely successfully and great credit is due to Mr. and Mrs. Gilmore of the Premier hotel, and staff for the excellence of the catering and general success of the banquet. Hearty cheers were called for Mr. and Mrs. Gilmore before the guests dispersed and enthusiastically given.

Much credit is also due the toastmaster of the evening for the able performance of his difficult duties and to Mr. J. E. Merryfield who managed the arrangements of the banquet.

A real Home Time at the Thanksgiving Banquet next Monday evening in the Methodist Church. You are hereby invited. Bring your friend and spend an enjoyable evening. No fixed charge, a Thank Offering in behalf of the church funds.

AN

OPEN LETTER

After you have analyzed the investment field you will be convinced that in order to make more than ordinary profits, it is necessary to invest in an industry in which more than ordinary profits are possible. If you go into ordinary lines of business, or industrial investments, you will find that the profits are naturally limited by competition, supply and demand, market, trade conditions, trust combines and a thousand and one factors, so that five, or six, or seven per cent. is about all that can be expected. Apply the same money, the same time and the same talent in an industry where wealth is taken from Mother Earth, where new wealth is actually created, and where the conditions that limit the profits in ordinary lines of business are unknown, and where the profits are many times what they are in ordinary pursuits and you will find that the same amount of money will earn very much larger profits, you will make more money quickly, more easily, amd more safely than you could possibly hope for under ordinary conditions. The real and lasting wealth comes from our natural resources and the more you realize this and invest according to the natural laws of success, the more wealth you will acquire.

We submit the greatest investment opportunity you might hope for, or that could possibly be brought to your attention, is now presented in the development of the rich mineral wealth of the Interior—the mining industry in the Hazelton district is on the eve of an era of unbounded prosperity, men of fore-sight, keen discernment and successful mining experience admit this and confidently predict this district will become the greatest wealth producing area on the North American continent. The coming summer is to be one of unprecedented mining activity, vast profits will be made by those with enough discrimination in their make up to see an opportunity and sufficent push and energy to take advantage of it.

We have consistently advised our clients and friends to invest a portion of their surplus in "Silver Cup Mines," because, we believe the stock will steadily advance on the true merit of the property, the enterprise is of solid worth, of actual and substantial merit, backed and managed by men of unquestionable integrity. Whether you have $100.00 or $1000.00 to invest it will pay you to give "Silver Cup Mines" earnest consideration, a small investment will not earn a life of ease for you, but it will certainly result in the addition of a few figures to your bank balance.

To ignore this opportunity is as bad as clapping Galileo into jail for saying the world is round, it won't cost you anything to investigate the merits of "Silver Cup Mines" it may cost you some keen regrets if you don't.

Full information concerning development under way today and those contemplated are available at our office. Call or write at the earliest opportunity.

GOLD MINE ON PRINCESS ROYAL

ENCOURAGING RESULTS OF THE WORK DONE

Free Milling Proposition on Mainland Opposite Swanson Bay—Nine Claims Giving Gold Values of Five to Forty Dollars the Ton.

Vancouver, Oct. 24.—Very encouraging reports have been received in Vancouver respecting the progress of mining operations on the D. L. S. group of nine claims, a free-milling gold proposition on Princess Royal Island, opposite Swanson Bay on the upper mainland.

Development work has been prosecuted since last April when a bond on the group, which is crown granted, was secured from the owner, Mr. A. E. Cleveland, of this city by a local syndicate consisting of Judge Aulay Morrison, Messrs. A. H. MacNeill, K. C., Jonathan Rogers, A. B. Clabon, Fred M. Wells, R. J. Bealey, D. S. Wallbridge and A. E. Howard, special land commissioner of the Great Northern Railway, Chicago.

The company has acquired sixty acres of land covering the landing place, a site for a mill and a water power capable of developing 2000 horsepower. Electrical energy will be transmitted from the power-house at the falls to the site of the proposed mill, a distance of six miles.

The outcrops consist of two parallel veins about 10 feet apart occurring in a fissure zone which is known to extend for a distance of several miles. The larger vein has been developed by means of a tunnel which has been driven in on the ore for a distance of 300 feet, gaining a depth of 250 feet, and a 60-foot shaft sunk on the outcrop almost perpendicularly above the face of the tunnel.

The gold values secured for the entire length of the working varied from $5 to $10 per ton and all of which is considered good pay ore.

Since taking charge of operations, Mr. Fred M. Wells, who is a pioneer of the Rossland and Cobalt camps, drove a crosscut from a point 150 feet distance from the portal and crosscut fifteen feet of clean ore before striking the hanging wall. Careful sampling in this new strike gave average values of $15 per ton. A winze is now being sunk from the floor of the crosscut. When a depth of five feet had been attained a number of samples were taken from the bottom, the average being $28 per ton. Other samples taken in the crosscut close to the hanging wall gave a return of $82 gold per ton. Farther in the tunnel a number of crosscuts have been made in ore of the same character without striking the hanging wall. The dip is at an angle of 45 degrees and on the surface the outcroppings are about twelve feet in width. The parallel and smaller vein is about four feet wide. It has been crosscut by a 140-foot tunnel gaining a depth of 100 feet, the ore assaying from $30 to $40 per ton.

Houston Rests His Bones

After Life's fitful fever John Houston is going to sleep well in Nelson, his old stamping ground. Although he died as far away as Prince Rupert he just naturally couldn't rest anywhere except in the home town. The old-timers gave him a grand funeral and will put up a monument big enough to hold his buoyant spirit down. John Houston was a pioneer newspaper man in British Columbia, used to run newspapers like the "Arizona Kicker" and the "Iconoclast," newspapers that soaked up all the local color of the mining camps and spread it out on the printed page. If John Houston could have detached himself from the daily current of things he might have been a Bret Hart, for he had that kind of vivid eye. But he liked to be in the thick of it—so the newspaper held him and literature lost him. They don't run John Houston's kind of newspaper in British Columbia now. The honest-truth sort of thing got him into a lot of trouble in his later years. The fact was that the Last West had moved on and left him standing where he was twenty years ago. The past, that could never be again, lived mostly in his heart. He was its solitary active symbol; his old tillicums had changed their ways to suit the newer, smoother times. The rip-roaring, poker-playing Nelson of John Houston's prime is no more. Only the mountains and the beckoning gulches speak of the old, riotous Kootenay days. Nelson is as lawful and orderly now as any Ontario town. Violence has gone to sleep and the jail looks like a summer hotel. John Houston wouldn't know it.—Canadian Colliers.

Costly Dressing

She made a wry grimace with her face and hands.

SWINDLER OF HIGH DEGREE

BARONET'S SON CONVICTED OF FRAUD

Won Notoriety in British Columbia by His Issuance of Bogus Checks—Five Years Ago Was a Resident of Victoria.

News from London gives particulars of the escapades of Robert Henry Spearman, aged twenty-seven, ex-naval officer and son of a baronet, who was sentenced to three months' imprisonment for frauds at restaurants and for obtaining four pounds from Miss Violet Deane by false pretenses. Spearman is not unknown in British Columbia. Four or five years ago he lived in Victoria and achieved considerable notoriety by the manner in which he lived. He owed much money, and left for the upper country leaving behind him a trail of bogus cheques. He served nine month in gaol at Kamloops for this offence.

Spearman's method in defrauding the restaurants was to dine there, and then tell the waitress that he had no money to pay for what he had eaten. When the case was first before the court the police said there were complaints of cheque frauds against the ex-officer "all over the continent."

Spearman made a speech to the court in his defence, declaring that he had no more intention to defraud than any other gentleman going to his tailor's and ordering suits of clothes without money in his pocket to settle the bill.

A gentleman, who did not give his name, but described himself as the brother officer of accused, and recently from abroad, volunteered the statement that Spearman's assertions as to his former position were quite true. He knew, he said, Mr. Spearman led an honorable life as an officer in the navy.

Detective-Sergeant Cornelius explained that Spearman's account of his retirement from the navy was that he was adjudicated a bankrupt, all his trouble being due to extravagance. Since 1907 he had been associated with touring theatrical companies in Australia.

The magistrate said he did not know anything more difficult than what to do with a gentleman who turned swindler. Four years ago Spearman made London too hot for himself, and since then he had made foreign cities too hot. Reports of him had been received from all parts of the continent, and now he had come back to London and begun again. It was no use blinking it. He would do his best, but the whole thing seemed very bad, and prisoner would have to stay in gaol for three months.

RESTORATION IMPOSSIBLE

Former Premier of Portugal Says Effort Would Be Useless

Paris, Oct. 22.—The Temps publishes an interview with Senhor Teixeria de Sousa, former premier of Portugal, who says that while the king and his cabinet were aware of a revolutionary movement, nevertheless the minister voted that if a rising occurred they would not ask for foreign intervention, because that would be unworthy and humiliating, and also because they were convinced that any power intervening in Portugal would decline to retire after it had accomplished its purpose. The former premier is of the opinion that restoration of the monarchy will be impossible, and that any attempt to that end will be useless and liable to plunge the nation into a destructive civil war.

COLD NIGHTS

If you sleep with your window open, as you should do, you must have warm bed covering—warmth without too much weight. Cotton sheets with newspapers between would retain the heat of your body and thus keep you warm, but they would not permit mit sufficient circulation of air. The ideal bed covering, better than expensive eiderdown quilts, is the old-fashioned, all wool blanket. We have them in all weights, all sizes and all prices, and we have, as well, the eiderdown quilts and the cheaper comforters. In fact our stock of bedding is very complete and this is the seasonable weather that suggests their purchase. We shall be glad to have you look over our stock and compare.

PORTUGAL AND HER COLONIES

ALL FOREIGN INTERESTS TO BE PROTECTED

Reply to Question Is Sent by Minister of Foreign Affairs—Says Government Is in Position to Meet All Its Liabilities.

London, Oct. 22.—Replying to an inquiry in the Daily Chroncile concerning rumors that Great Britain and Germany intended to take over the Portuguese colonies, Senhor Machado, the Portuguese foreign minister, telegraphs that the republic does not intend to relinquish the least portion of its colonies.

Senhor Belvas, the Portuguese finance minister, has sent a cablegram to the London Financial News stating that the government is in a position to meet all the treasury's liabilities, and that foreign interests will suffer nothing through the establishment of the new government. The government, the finance minister says, contemplates a great reduction in useless expenditures, and will endeavor to place the country on a sound financial footing.

NELSON ASKS BIG SUM

Durable Dane's Bout With Anton LaGrave Called Off

San Francisco, Oct. 22.—Failing to reach a satisfactory agreement as to his end of the purse probably will prevent Battling Nelson from making his re-appearance in the ring in San Francisco. Nelson, at any rate, will not be a principal in this month's boxing attraction, his bout with Antone LaGrave having been called off when Promoter Griffin could not "see" Nelson's demand for a guarantee of $3,600.

Nelson announced today that unless a match of some sort was arranged for him here within the next few days he would leave for Chicago.

TOMMY BURNS ON STAGE

Is Meeting With Rare Success As Vaudeville Artist

Vancouver, Oct. 22.—Tommy Burns, the former heavyweight champion, is again within the gates of our city, though his stay will be but brief. He will depart on Saturday, only to return on Tuesday to attend the boxing tournament at the V. A. C., where he may possibly referee one bout, and then will start for Calgary, where he is appearing in the show business.

Since Tommy was last in the city he has embarked upon a theatrical career with rare success. It will, however, be suspended in time for him to go into training for his match in London next March with the Boston Tar Baby. The Canadian pugilist is a regular Midas. Everything he touches turns to glittering gold, for his appearance on the boards of vaudeville in a monologue stunt into which he introduces bag punching and the knockout has brought in the cash in a widening stream. He broke all records for the theatre he played in at Portland and could have been making his bow to big audiences this week too if his knee had not again begun to bother him. Burns is nursing this joint with patient care and hopes in time to have it as good as it ever was.

Tommy is accompanied here by his brother-in-law, Mr. Keating, a well-known coast theatrical man. They are staying at the Woods hotel.

Four Years For Richter

CATHOLIC BAZAAR

Contest For Magnificent Cane Invented by J. Fred Ritchie.

The ladies of the Catholic Church, under the efficient leadership of Mrs. J. F. Ritchie, will hold a bazaar on Friday, November 4th, opening at 3 p.m. and closing at 11 p.m.

Hustle, hustle, rustle to our Bazaar! Attractive display of many fancy and useful articles donated by Catholic ladies and non-Catholic friends; delicious refreshments; good musical program; fishing pond; raffle; popularity contest; all winding up in a dance.

Don't miss to come; there will be barrels of fun for old and young.

Have a look at the charming bridesmaid, donated by Mr. J. F. Ritchie and exhibited at Miss Barbeau's millinery store. A gilt-edge opportunity for the lucky individual to win a doll which will make the delight of any girl.

A novel and lively feature at the Bazaar will be the voting contest, at ten cents a vote, between Mayor Stork and Ald. Vernor Smith. The most popular candidate will be presented with a magnificent $75 gold-headed cane, the generous gift of Mr. J. F. Ritchie. Go and see it exhibited at Keeley's drug store. It is a beauty.

The many friends of both candidates who so gracefully accepted, are preparing to make this contest a lively one. Join right in! It will be good.

King Roosevelt

And calling the official choir to his side, he directed them to sing the national anthem:

My country, 'tis to Me
You owe all fealty—
Sing! blast you sing!
Down with Democracy.
Cant and hypocrisy,
Hail Theodocracy,
Hail to the King!

And after the chorus had been repeated, the delegation of Intelligent Voters departed and butted their brains out against the palace walls.—New York Sun.
