INDUSTRIAL WORKERS TO MAKE PROTEST TO COUNCIL

Men Resent the Sidetracking Move and Demand That the Council Keep Their Pre-Election Promises ---Will Send Deputation to Council

At a business meeting of the Prince Rupert Industrial Association held after the general mass meeting on Sunday night it was resolved that the Association go on record as in favor of the rejection of the idea of an appeal to a plebiscite on the part of the council. To this resolution was added a further resolution that the council be held to their promises made prior to their election. These resolutions were carried unanimously, and will be presented to the city council tonight.

Representatives of the P. R. I. A. will attend the session of the council tonight, and after the council adjourns a meeting of the workers will assemble at their hall to discuss the council's attitude. The feeling that an effort is being made to sidetrack the question of the increase by the appeal to a plebiscite is strong with the workers. At last night's meeting there was also expressed the question "Has the city council the power to refer this matter to a plebiscite when there has been no publicly expressed opposition to it though opportunity was given for contractors or others to say their say against it?" This power the P. R. I. A. feels the council has not.

Last night's general meeting was thronged. The secretary was kept busy the whole time enrolling new members, about fifty of whom joined. There is a growing attendance of women workers, and as the organisation of the P. R. I. A. includes all wage-earners a strong membership of women wage-earners is confidently anticipated.

RUSSIAN TROOPS PREPARE FOR WAR WITH CHINA

Are Concentrating on the Chinese Frontier---Britain and Russia Are At the Parting of the Ways in International Relations

(Special to the Optimist)

St. Petersburg, Feb. 20.—Orders for the concentration of troops on the Chinese frontier preparatory to the seizure of the Chinese district of Kulfja have been ordered. This step was ordered as a result of the reply from China to Russia's note. The reply of the Chinese government falls far short of the Czar's demands An ultimatum may be expected to issue at any moment.

London, Feb. 20.—Any action which Russia may take in the present Russo-Chinese deadlock may be expected to seriously affect the official relations of England and Russia. For some time past England has stood at the parting of the ways in regard to Russia, and the present Russian aggression is looked upon as an abandonment by the Czar of England's friendship. England has always been understood as the friend of China. The breach is all the more serious because of the obvious fact that Russia is co-operating with Japan.

While Russia has advanced the plague as a reason for proclaiming martial law at Harbin, the move is accepted in British official circles as the first step to bring about hostilities with China.

An Interesting Debate

"Resolved that a lawyer is justified in defending a criminal whom he knows to be guilty" is the subject which will be debated at the Baptist Church tonight at 8.15, by the Presbyterian Club and the Baptist Brotherhood.

LIGHTING PLANT HAS MADE GOOD

ILLUMINATION OF BUSINESS CENTRE IS EFFECTIVE

Efforts of Mr. T. Burns and His Foreman, G. R. Mackenzie, Have Been Rewarded. General Satisfaction Expressed at Result of Their Work.

Quietly, and without ostentation of any kind the city electric lighting system has stolen upon us. Close on the end of last week a test of the plant was made. On Saturday night the illumination of the business section was in full swing. Mr. Burns of the city engineer's department, who has had charge of the plant from the first and who has wrestled with many difficulties which only an engineer can fully estimate, deserves credit for the result of his work. His aim all along has been to make the plant as reliable as he possibly could. During the past few days he has bestowed unceasing care upon the ticklish final details of adjustment of the electrical apparatus, and all along he has not spared hours of night as well as day work when necessary.

In the erection of the plant, from the removal of the B. C. boilers from their old site to the present one, and through all the business of placing them in position, and setting the machinery on its foundations, Mr. Burns has been assisted by George R. Mackenzie as foreman, and G. R. Mackenzie has taken a thorough interest in the whole work. He has stayed with it to good purpose, and done his share of worrying how to get the best possible out of the materials at command. The erection of the tall sheet iron chimney stack was carried out by him successfully, the boilers he placed in position, and the erection of the engine was in his care. The fact that the engine has run with absolute smoothness and efficiency since George R. gave the big flywheel its start off on Friday night is proof that his work is good.

Comment throughout the city now that the light is really started is all in praise of it. The difference is great in the heart of the business district, and the lighted avenues seen from the high terraces of the town add greatly to that promise of metroploitan prosperity which everyone notices in the gleaming lights of Prince Rupert by night.

LONGSHOREMEN HELD A SOCIAL

THEIR FIRST EFFORT WAS A GREAT SUCCESS

Coon Songs, a Banjo, Talks on Trade Unions and Reciprocity and Some Good Boxing Bouts Proved Good Entertainment.

Under the auspices of the Prince Rupert branch of the I. L. A., a very enjoyable social was held on Saturday night in the Industrial Hall. Cordial invitations had been extended to the various unions of the city to be represented, and these were well responded to.

The evening's enjoyment was largely contributed to by many good singers, members of the I. L. A., and their friends. Particularly po ular was the performance of the favorite Coon Comedian "Splotas," otherwise known as Hock Dennis who with banjo and voice kept the fun alive as he has so often done in Dawson in the golden days.

Brother Madlem of the Owls' Society gave an interesting address on Organisation and Fraternalism, pointing out to those present the advantages of working in unison. Mr. Casey of the P. R. I. A. in a strong speech emphasised the principles of his society, and appealed for a broader basis of union for the wage-workers. W. H. Montgomery made the Reciprocity question the theme of his address, and spoke strongly in favor of Free Trade principles.

Several good three round boxing bouts were engaged induring the concluding hour of the evening, and aroused keen excitement. Among those who contested were Battling Swede and Gunboat Jack who are to meet again tonight at the Kaien Island Club. Their bout on Saturday was an exciting event.

President for the evening was Mr. W. A. Denny to whose exertions as organiser the social owes much of its success. A large turnout did justice to the fun and refreshments liberally provided, and this the First Longshoremen's Social in Prince Rupert was voted a thorough success.

CHORUS OF PROTEST AGAINST RECIPROCITY

CONSERVATIVE PRESS OF BRITAIN FEELS CERTAIN THAT CANADA WILL RENOUNCE IMPERIAL IDEA IF RECIPROCITY CARRIES

NINETEEN TORONTO MERCHANTS OPPOSE IT

They Look With Fear Lest Trade Channels Should Develop North and South Instead of East and West--Also Fear Lest the Ties of Empire Should Be Loosed---Also Lest Unrestricted Reciprocity Should Follow Successful Working of the Treaty

(Special to the Optimist)

Toronto, Feb. 20.—Protesting that if the reciprocity proposals are carried out the channels of Canada's trade would be diverted North and South instead of East and West, nineteen prominent merchants and bankers of Toronto, former supporters of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, placed themselves on record today as opposed to the reciprocity treaty.

They also stated in their resolution that they were of opinion that reciprocity would weaken the bonds of Empire, because unrestricted reciprocity would be sure to follow after the first treaty had been working some time.

McNeill Feels Nervous

London, Feb. 20.—Alexander McNeill, ex M. P., one of the original promoters of Imperial Federation in Canada writes as follows in the London Times, "Canadians, saturated as they are with affection for the land of their fathers, and with loyalty to the common Empire, would deeply deplore the rejection of the great Imperial policy, and of the incalculable trading advantages which must then pass into the hands of our astute commercial rivals."

Thinks We Are Slipping Away

Sheffield, Feb. 20.—The Daily Telegraph says: "The programme of the coming Imperial Conference is a general warning to us in Great Britain. Canada's silence is most significant and sinister. It seems as if she were on the point of slipping away from us."

A Grave Imperial Crisis

Manchester, Feb. 20.—The Earl of Derby urges the unionists here not to commit themselves yet as to whether the reciprocity agreements between Canand and the United States, interferes with tariff reformers' programme in England. Professor Pewins says he has discussed the position of affairs with Mr. Jos. Chamberlain who thinks that a grave crisis within the Empire has been reached.

London, Feb. 20.—Correspondents in Paris of the London papers quote Letemps today to the following effect: "This relaxation of bonds that connects England and Canada looks bad. It completes a new picture already sketched, with other traits of England appearing more hestitating but less realistic."

A "Swell" Wedding

Fashionable New York had something to interest it during the week when Miss Vivian Gould became the wife of Baron Decies. Miss Gould is 18, and her English husband 44 years old. For sumptuousness and lavish display, the wedding is said to have outdone anything of recent years.

Miss Gould is said to have looked particularly young and girlish and appeared perfectly unconscious of the interest taken in her finery. She was attired in a magnificent gown of white duchess satin, in semi-empire style and heavily embroidered with silver roses. The court train was eight yards long and was edged with an embroidery in seed pearls and silver, following the designs of bunches of rose leaves tied together with a lover's knot. The veil of Brussels net was fastened to the coiffure with a tiara of orange blossoms. Miss Gould carried a bouquet of orange blossoms and white bride roses. She plans to wear her bridal gown at the coronation of King George and at her presentation to the English court in June.

The bridesmaids' gowns were of white chiffon over white satin, trimmed with festoons of sea green ribbon. The gowns were in the high waisted empire style. The hats were of white chiffon, trimmed with green. The bride's dress was made in Paris, as was the rest of her trousseau, on which she spent, according to a reliable report, the sum of $40,000.

Those who like to follow the elaborate weddings among New York's millionaires estimate the total cost of Miss Vivien's transformation into Lady Decies at close to $75,000, to say nothing of the dowry of several millions that she will take to her titled husband

The wedding presents were among the most beautiful and costly ever received by a New York bride, although they did not equal those received by her sister, Marjorie, at her wedding to Anthony J. Drexel last April. The costliest present was from the bride's father, the coronet of a baroness, which Lady Decies will wear at the coronation of King George. The coronet is tipped with nine pear-shaped diamonds. He also gave the bride a long chain of diamonds, while Edward Gould, her uncle, gave her a diamond corsage ornament. Mrs. Gould gave her daughter a necklace of diamonds, a sautoir of pearls, a diamond and ruby ring, and a pearl ring. The country seats over which Lady Decies will be mistress are Kilcorney, Ireland; Sefton Park, Slaugh, England and Beresford Lodge, Kent.

Horrors of Forced Feeding

Miss Sylvia Pankhurst, a noble member of a noble family, spoke on "Life in a London Prison," in Winnipeg last week.

This is how a lady describes the impressions made on her by the lecture:

"She is a beautiful, refined young woman of 22. Her voice is musical, her manner free from self-consciousness, and the chief charm of her speaking lies in her earnestness.

"Very simply but powerfully she told us of her prison experiences. She was one of the first to suffer for the cause. She and other suffragettes were forced to strip; they were searched; they had to scramble for prison suits which were thrown in a heap on the floor. Miss Pankhurst's description of their prison garb was most amusing and pathetic; but when she described the cells and the food we felt the horror of it all, the sacrifice and the suffering. After submitting to this sort of thing for some time, the suffragettes came to the conclusion "We are political prisoners. Why are we not treated as such?" Now you know political prisoners are allowed their own clothes; they are allowed visitors; in fact, they can do almost anything except leave the prison. So the suffragettes refused to strip and submit to the indignities which they considered degrading. Their clothes were literally torn from them. they were thrown into filthy cells.

"Later one of their number, a woman who had influential friends, refused to take food. She was tempted with delicacies, but remained firm, though day by day she grew weaker. It was found she had a weak heart. If she should die, her friends would probably make trouble, so she was released. Other suffragettes tried the same plan, but Asquith ordered them to be forcibly fed. Forcible feeding sounds harmless to one who knows nothing about it. It is so severe that it is seldom resorted to—except in the case of suffragettes. A tube is forced through either the nose or mouth into the stomach. There is serious danger of it going astray and injuring the lungs or heart, and it always causes serious digestive troubles. When the tube is being removed it feels as if the whole nose and throat were being torn out. To show the seriousness of the ordeal, Miss Pankhurst cited two cases of common criminals who were forcibly fed. In one case a man died after the second feeding. In the other case a woman committed suicide after the second feeding. Yet hundreds of delicate, refined women have suffered this for the cause, and hundreds are prepared to do it again."

OUR DAILY RECIPE

Bonita Pudding

Quarter of a pound of castor sugar, two eggs, two lemons, six sheets of gelatine. Beat the sugar and yolks of the eggs together until quite smooth, then add the grated peel of one lemon and the juice of two. Put the gelatine to dissolve in a tablespoonful of hot water, and whilst it is dissolving, beat the whites of eggs to a stiff froth. Now add the gelatine to the other ingredients, and lastly add the beaten whites. Whisk it well together until it begins to set, then pour into a glass dish and decorate with whipped cream, cherries, and angelica.

VANCOUVER WORLD'S IDEA OF RECIPROCITY ISSUE

Says Arguments Against Answer Themselves—We Must Have Cheap Food if We Are to Have Manufactures.

Now that the agitation against reciprocity is beginning to simmer down a bit, it is seen that the case against it is made out entirely by the special interests which may be affected. That is the trouble with giving special interests privileges in the first place. Once granted, and they are deemed granted forever. Indeed, the country which aids its infant industries is fortunate if they do not acquire sufficient strength to wring more and more aid from it as the years go on.

So far as British Columbia is concerned, the arguments against reciprociyt almost answer themselves. If this province is to become a manufacturing province, it must have cheaper food. Indeed, nothing strikes us as more ridiculous than that a province which notoriously has to import the greater part of the food it consumes should be deemed to be opposed to any legislation which will make expenditure for food fall more lightly upon the consumer. As to our great exporting industries, the lumber trade seems quite satisfied with the situation, while the American market will be opened to our fisheries.

"Were it not that the Government at Victoria sees some chance to make a little political capital, and that the word has gone forth to its royal press, we should hear very little indeed, in this province at all events, of opposition to the treaty."—Vancouver World.

THE MOTHERS

(By Harold Trowbridge Pulsifer)

The Mother.

Daughter of mine, bride of my son,
Radiant-eyed from the love you have won,
Little you dreamed of the long sweet
years,
The fledging hopes and the half-thought fears,
The spoken joy and the hidden tears;
Little you dreamed—and less you knew
How much of my life I gave to you.

The Bride.

Mother of mine, so long unknown,
You that have called my boy your own,
What can you know of the love I bring,
The hope in my heart, the lilt and swing
Of life new-touched with an angel's wing?
Mother of mine with the lonely eyes,
Has my love meant no sacrifice?

The Mother

Daughter of mine, bride of my son,
Flushed with the hope of your life begun,
What have you known of vigils kept
In the desert land where Hagar wept
When God forgot and the angels slept?
Whence came the light within your eyes
That makes your face so mother-wise?

The Bride.

Mother of mine, I saw your smiles,
The tear-wet flowers of tender wiles,
Is the garden of life for you less fair?
Is the rose of love no longer there?
What is the hope I cannot share?
Mother of mine, who have loved so well,
Are mother-hearts born with the marriage bell?

The Mothers.

Sister of mine in motherhood,
How can he dream of the half we know,
We that have kept and understood
The lover's law of sun and snow?
How can our boy, so wistful-eyed,
Child that he is in mother-land,
Fathom the depths of love and pride
That guard his life on either hand?
Love as old as the ancient hills,
As new as the youngest flower—
This is the living spring that fills
His child-heart hour by hour.
We that are mothers of one have been
Mothers of all since time began,
Holding the cross of the whole world's sin,
For the love we bear to the child in man

Yobino Gives up the Detective Business

New York, Feb. 18.—Raphael Yobino, a Brooklyn furniture dealer is convinced today that it is useless for a fat man to play detective. Yobino was recently robbed of a $75 pair of earrings, two gold watches and $50. He resolved to be his own thief-catcher and placed three marked bills on a table in his bed room. Then he crawled under the bed. Harry Koss, 15, entered the room, Yobino says, and took the money. He tried to pursue the boy, but couldn't. He twisted and wriggled but the more he struggled the tighter he became wedged under the bed. The neighbors pulled him out with difficulty.

MISS LENEVE LOSES

London, Feb. 19.—Judge Evans today awarded the estate of Dr. H. H. Crippen, hanged for the murder of his wife, Belle Elmore, to Mrs. Theresa Hunn, of Brooklyn, N. Y., a half sister of Mrs. Crippen.

Crippen bequeathed his property to Ethel Clare Leneve, for love of whom he killed his wife. Judge Evans declared the will invalid on the ground of public policy.

Loyalty, Imperialism and Reciprocity

Conservatives both in this country and in Great Britain make a great parade of their loyalty and their Imperialism. That, as the Victoria Times has pointed out, "is part of their stock-in-trade with which to bamboozle the electorate," That kind of appeal to patriotism which Dr. Samuel Johnson described as, "the last resort of the scoundrel," has been suddenly brought to the front by a sudden turn in the reciprocity discussion. It is a noteworthy and significant circumstance.

It was the Hon. George E. Foster who raised the annexation cry in the House of Commons while discussing the reciprocity treaty—Hon. Geo. E., an ex-professor of political economy, an ex-finance minister, ex-manager of the Union Trust Co., a man with a reputation as an astute financial critic—who raised the cry to blind and unreasoning passion. The incident is illuminative. It looked like the last resort, if not of a scoundrel, at least of an economist hard driven to find valid reasons for opposing reciprocity. It is no wonder that some of the more responsible Conservative journals have refused to take up the cry, and flout the idea that Canada's loyalty to the Empire is threatened by the prospect of better trade relations with the United States.

But in raising the cry that annexation will follow reciprocity, the Conservative party are stone blind to the facts of history. They forget, if some of them ever knew, that in 1891, a Conservative government under the late Sir John A. Macdonald, instituted negotaitions for the bringing about of a somewhat similar reciprocity treaty as that now before the people of Canada and yhe United States.

The correspondence connected with those negotiations was made public at the time of the dissolution of the sixth Parliament in February 1891. At that time Lord Stanley was Governor-General of Canada, and he wrote to the Secretary of State for the Colonies, a letter, summarising the principal points upon which the agreement was desired. These provided for (1) a renewal of the reciprocity treaty of 1854, with certain modifications; (2) reconsideration of the treaty of 1888 with respect to the Atlantic fisheries, so as to allow fishermen of either country to purchase bait and ship cargoes on either side of the line, free of duty; (3) mutual protection of Atlantic mackerel fisheries from spoliation; (4) relaxation of coasting laws; (5) mutual salvage and saving of wrecked vessels; (6) relaxation of sea board laws of both countries; and (7) arrangements for settling Alaska boundary dispute. The most important clause was the first, providing for the renewal of the reciprocity treaty of 1854 under which, grain, bread, flour, all manner of meats, seeds, vegetables, fish and fish products, poultry, eggs, hides, furs, butter, cheese, ores, coal, pitch, timber an lumber, fire ood, dyestuffs, flax, hemp, tow, raw tobacco and several other articles, were admitted free.

The treaty of 1854 which Sir John A. Macdonald sought to have revived, and the present treaty now before the two countries are not identical. But they are substantially alike. Of all men in the world to know the facts of the case, Hon. Geo. E. Foster is the man, for exactly twenty years ago to the month, when the measure was before the Cabinet, one reads in an old Ottawa Citizen, dated February 7th, 1891, "The campaign opened yesterday when Sir John A. Macdonald, Hon. Geo. E. Foster, Hon. Mackenzie Bowell and others addressed a huge meeting in the auditorium at Toronto." Reciprocity as advocated by Sir John Macdonald and his Cabinet was not unknown to Hon. Geo. E. Foster in those days.

Apparently the members of the Conservative party did not consider reciprocity sure to lead to annexation in those days, even though Canada was a fledgling among the nations and annexation was openly advocated in some quarters. Neither did the framers of the National Policy, who ruled the country from 1878 to 1896 appear to consider a renewal of the reciprocity treaty of 1854 a violation of the National Policy, nor a menace to our Imperial relations.

For Hon. Geo. E. Foster and his henchmen to attempt to raise the cry of annexation today, when Canada has become a nation with a national spirit, is absurd to the limits of foolishness. There is no disproving the cold facts of history.

John Mitchell Angry

New York, Feb. 18.—John Mitchell once president of the United Mine Workers of America, is an angry man today through the action of that organization in excluding him as a member of the National Civic Federation, from its future counsels.

Mitchell today declined to say whether he would resign his $5000 a year position with the Civic Federation in order to retain his membership with the miners.

"I have telegraphed the convention protesting against its action," he said. "That is all I will say now."

While Mitchell would not be quoted further, it was plain he was thoroughly disgruntled.

It is estimated that Goodwin's 27 months of wedded life to Miss Goodrich cost him $800,000.

OVERLAPPED HIS LOT

Neighbors' Dispute Finds Its Way to County Court

Before Judge Young this morning, the case of Humble vs. Mackenzie came up for trial. Plaintiff Mr. W. G. Humble, sues G. R. Mackenzie for damages, due to his house having been built so that a portion of it hangs over Mr. Humble's lot. The lots are in the neighborhood of the skating rink. W. E. Williams appeared for the plaintiff and C. V. Bennett for defendant.

Defendant stated that as soon as he was made certain after a survey made by Mr. Agnew, that his house was encroaching on his neighbor's lot, he had taken steps to have it moved.

Cross-examined by Mr. Williams, defendant denied that any aggressive attitude had been taken up by him over the encroachment. He had not declared that not a shingle or plank of his neighbor's should as much as touch his lot. Nor had he ordered a carpenter down off a ladder because the foot of the ladder had been in his lot.

Before deciding the case Judge Young expressed the desire to view the lots in question, and went out there this afternoon.

SOCIALISM AND CHRISTIANITY

REV. W. H. M'LEOD SAYS THEY NEED EACH OTHER

They Are the Two Great Altruistic Forces in the World Upon Which the Better Condition of Society Depends.

That Christianity and the great Socialist movement are the two great altrui tic forces on which the redemption of the world from poverty and injustice depends, and that neither could succeed without the aid of the other, was the conclusion reached by Rev. W. H. McLeod last night in a vigorous dermon before the Baptist Church, on "Christianity and the Social Problem."

Briefly sketching some of the awful tragedies of want caused through unemployment, as he had witnessed it in the large labor centres of the United States, he showed how while the church had been engaged in counteracting the effects, many of the sociologists had been at work trying to cope with the causes of poverty.

He disagreed with those socialists who looked for a great revolutionary change. The social body was like the human body. When a man became ill he could not step into a new ready made body; he had to find out the cause of his malady, stimulate his vital energies, and acquire a new body by slowly recreating the old one. So with society, it was to be recreated by slow evolution rather than by a sudden revolution.

The Christian Church he said needed the co-operation of the Socialist movement to make its efforts practical; the Socialist movement needed the Church to keep its ideals lofty. With a cooper tion of the two great forces, which at present he confessed viewed one another with a great deal of distrust, the coming of a more heavenlike kingdom upon earth would be made possible.

The sermon was listened to by a large congregation, who followed the preacher with deep interest.

Victoria, Feb. 18.—At the close of this month, Dr. J. A. Macdonald, LL.D., editor-in-chief of the Toronto Globe, who is now touring in California, will pay this city a visit and arrangements are being made by the Canadian club to give a luncheon to the well known journalist in this city.

In 1909 at Glasgow he received the LL.D. degree and in the same year was a representative of the Imperial Press conference. CHIPS FROM THE HUMORISTS

"I told a friend of mine to sing instead of brooding over his troubles."

"Good advice"

"I don't think so. Every time he gets a little bit worried now everybody in the building ha to suffer"

"What is the difference between firmness and obstinacy?" asked a young lady of her fiance.

"Firmness," was his gallant reply, "is a noble characteristic of women; obstinacy is a lamentable defect in men."

"So you wish," asked the father of the beautiful heire s, "to assume the bonds of matrimony?"

"Yes," replied the titled foreigner, "if you will guarantee that they will pay regular dividends."

"Then wealth doesn't bring happiness?"

"No. Since we inherited money my people don't want me to loaf in the grocery. And I can't get no comfort out of loafing in a bank. The hours are too short."

Man Wants but Little

What a man wants in a woman is somewhat as follows:

She must be a dream of beauty.

She must be an angel with the smile of a seraph and a great mass of magnificent hair—all her own.

She must possess a perfect temper and never raise her voice save in a song.

She must be a splendid housekeeper and not require any servants.

She must love children and be able to tend to them.

She must be a fine musician and have a mind stored with all the intellect and wealth of ages, but must never get the idea that hubby hasn't the superior intellect and doesn't know everything.

She must dress in the latest fashion but must spend no money in doing so.

She must be interesting, elusive, gay, of a deep religious nature, lively, modest, retiring, self-sacrificing, brilliant, fascinating, but a lover of home and fireside preferring the society of her husband to anything else on earth, but not worrying when she doesn't get any of it.

That is all that most men require.

WHOSE WAGON IS IT;

Complicated Question of Ownership Before Judge Young

Before Judge Young Saturday the dispute between Jim Petroff and Pete Glomitch over the ownership of a wagon, came up remitted from the police court where the charge of unlawfully appropriating the wagon had been preferred against Glomitch. Judge Young after hearing evidence decided to dismiss the criminal charge. The ownership question is complicated, there having been evidently a partnership between the men though no documents exist relating to it. But both men seem to have laid out money over the wagon, and the question of whose it really is, remains to be decided by the court.

STEWART CITIZENS ANGRY WITH PREMIER McBRIDE

Now They Have Seen Premier's Letter of Refusal to Mr. Manson They Find It Hard to Reconcile With His Promise of Last November

The indignation felt by the citizens of Stewart at the Government, for refusing them incorporation, in face of the promises of aid given by Hon. Richard McBride to the Stewart deputation, continues unabated. The Portland Canal Miner comes out again this week with the headline over its front page, saying "Stewart Citizens Demand Right of Self Government."

As if this is not enough to make their indignation clear, the Miner has also the following to say editorially:

"In a letter addressed to T. J. Vaughan Rhys, chairman of the citizens' committee, Mr. Manson, M. P. P., says that the government will not grant Stewart incorporation during the present session and quotes a letter received by him from the Premier as follows: 'I beg to acknowledge your favor of January 26th with reference to the request for the incorporation of Stewart. On a survey of the situation the government considers that it would be better to defer for the present the incorporation of Stewart as a city. Under the terms of the general act, incorporation can take place during the recess of the legislature if it be found advisable to do so.' Bearing in mind the Premier's well known integrity and directness of purpose The Miner finds it somewhat hard to reconcile this letter with the assurance that he gave the delegation which went to Prince Rupert and interviewed him on this subject last November. Either the members of this commission were deceived themselves or else they deceived the people of Stewart, for they reported at a public meeting held on November 17th that if the people of the old townsite wanted incorporation they had the assurance of Mr. McBride that the same would be granted whether or not the Mann interests were included.

BENNETT'S MOTION KILLED

Committee on Foreign Affairs Do Not Agree With Him

(Special to the Optimist)

Washington, Feb. 18.—The Committee on Foreign Affairs speedily settled Congressman Bennett's motion to arrange for the annexation of Canada. Realising that it was only brought forward to arouse British opposition to the reciprocity treaty, they promptly put it to the vote in committee and reported. at once. It was killed by nine votes to one. Bennett himself was the only one who voted for it.

The Kaien Hardware Company have secured the agency for Prince Rupert and Northern B. C. for the famous Monarch Stell Ranges which are made in Beaver Dam, Wis. They now have a full stock on exhibition in their store.

Pointed Questions by the Kingston Standard

"Is free access to a great market like the United States not as desirable to Canada as access to any of the other markets for which we have so long contended?

"If our farmers can sell more goods at higher prices than ever in their history is this privilege to be denied them merely because it is offered by our next door neighbor?

"Are we so skeptical of our own loyalty to Great Britain that we cannot trust ourselves to enter into closer commercial relations with a neighbor, lest thereby we be weaned away from the mother country? Is it of such stuff as this we are made, that it is feared we will sell our birthright for a mess of pottage?—Kingston Standard (Conservative.)

Niaraga Fruit Growers Support Reciprocity Proposal

After all the reports of the alleged hostility of fruit growers all over Canada to reciprocity, it is interesting to read the report of the Stamford Fruit Growers' Association at Niagara Falls.

Reciprocity came up for discussion and one man, Egerton Morden, the veteran nurseryman and fruit-grower, who was Fruit Commissioner for Ontario at the Pan-American Exhibition, combatted the statements of the protectionists. He completely knocked out the loss of the western market bogey by showing the advantage to be obtained through free access to the markets of 40,000,000 Americans living within five hours' ralway radius of Niagara Falls.

Secretary Thomas R. Stokes said that reciprocity was the best thing he had ever heard of. It was like a 50 per cent raise in wages. He declared it was the only salvation for the grape and berry growing industries of Ontario. He asserted that the whole opposition came from the "ten million dollar canners' combine," and the wine manufacturers, and the buyers who catered to the Canadian markets.

Nobody dared put a resolution opposing the treaty. The whole sentiment was overwhelmingly in favor of recoprocity. Many declared they would help arrange a counter-deputation to Ottawa to support the passage of the bill
