(Special to the Optimist)

Ottawa, Dec. 3.—The main estimates for the year, which were tabled in the house of commons last night, total $138,000,000. Among the Prince Rupert votes are:

Federal building in the city, $5000.
Quarantine station, $24,000.
Lockport wharf, $2000.
Masset wharf, $5000.
Porcher Island wharf, $2000.

REBELLION IS THREATENED IF HOME RULE CARRIES

Orangemen in Ulster Buying Arms and Ammunition and Forming Army---Betting Favors Liberals Four to One----Joe Martin's Hard Fight----Elections on Today

(Special to the Optimist)

London, Dec. 3.—On the stock exchange this morning the odds were four to one that the Liberals will be victorious in the majority of the eighty-three seats that are to be decided today and much money was taken at these figures.

Morley Helps Socialist

The campaign wound up last night in a blaze of oratory and fireworks all the principal speakers in the government and in the United Kingdom being on the hustings somewhere. Viscount Morley, speaking at Blackburn, the heart of manufacturing Lancashire, created a mild sensation by declaring that the country would do better to trust its affairs to the Socialists than to "Unionist Social Reform quacks." He was speaking for both the Liberal and Socialist candidates.

Churchill's Big Meeting

Winston Churchill spoke at Glasgow to a meeting of eight thousand. Balfour had also a meeting there, and it is stated there were ten thousand present to applaud his utterances.

Joe Martin's Hard Fight

Joe Martin, in East Pancras, is having the hardest fight ever, and it seems hardly reasonable to presume that he can win. He is opposed by the suffragette candidate Jacobs and by Hopkins, a wealthy Unionist. Both were working hard while Martin was in Canada and his statements since his arrival, alienating him from the Liberal party, he does not seem to have much of a show.

Rebellion Is Threatened

Belfast, Dec. 3.—The Orangemen of Ulster province are openly declaring they are buying arms and ammunition and that they will never sanction home rule. It is stated that at secret meetings over ten thousand have been enrolled in the "army," and that the Marquis of Londonderry and Sir Edward Carson are leaders in this movement.

POLICE CHIEF ORDERS A REPORTER OUT

Is Angry With Empire Representative for Publishing a Story and Thus Frustrating the Police in Their Plans to Arrest Dangerous Criminal--Chief McCarvell Defends Action in Statement

Following the publication of a story in last night's "Empire" which has been the means of frustrating the efforts of the police to lay by the heels a criminal who has threatened the life of Alderman Vernor W. Smith, Chief of Police McCarvell this morning created a sensation by ordering the "Empire" representative out of the court room. Some developments are likely to result.

Ordered Him Out

Magistrate Carss was holding court at the time in the tiny shack called police headquarters when the reporter of the "Empire" entered. Chief McCarvell immediately ordered him out. A little time after S. M. Newton, editor of the "Empire" entered followed by the same reporter, Mr. McKay. The editor started to address the court when Chief McCarvell orered him to take his hat off. He also told the reporter to step outside.

Editor to the Rescue

Editor Newton said he saw reporters there from other papers and wished to ask why the representative of the "Empire" was not permitted to be present.

Chief McCarvell said he objected to Mr. McKay because he had published something that had certainly hindered the police in their work and had interfered with the course of justice.

Editor Newton asked what about the interests of his paper and Chief McCarvell retorted that he believed himself acting in the interests of the public, which, as a matter of official duty had to be his first consideration. In reply to a question of Mr. Newton the chief replied that he had no objections to any other representative of the 'Empire" being present but he certainly did object to Mr. McKay.

Magistrate Appealed To

Mr. Newton appealed to the magistrate declaring that the chief had no voice in the matter. Magistrate Carss said he desired to act fairly by all parties in the matter and would therefore like to look further into it instead of making any declaration right waay. With this Mr. Newton left and in a short time another representative of the Empire arrived, whose presence was not questioned.

Statement By the Chief

After Court adjourned Chief McCarvell made the following statement:

"In serious cases such as an attempt at blackmail, it is very important that all matters connected with it should be kept profoundly secret as, if any knowledge of it slipped out it might be taken advantage of by the guilty parties and enable them to escape.

"In this case an anonymous letter was sent to Vernor W. Smith, telling him to put $800 under a designated stone near the fire hall if he valued his life. Mr. Smith got that letter on the afternoon of Tuesday. He showed it to me about five o'clock that same afternoon and I advised him to make a decoy letter; that certain money should be put in a large envelope and placed under the rock as the letter instructed. At six o'clock Mr. Smith walked direct from his office and placed the letter. Meantime I had an officer secreted in such a position that he could watch the spot.

"Just as we expected no person came that night nor the second night, but this McKay of the "Empire" made a hard scramble to find out what the letter was and having succeeded, published what he learned in the "Empire. Thereby he prevented the police from getting the person or persons who has sent the letter to Mr. Smith demanding the money at the risk of his life."

Had Denied Any Knowledge

"I may also state that yesterday knowing that several persons had knowledge of the threatening letter, I asked McKay if he heard anything about an anonymous letter to be good enough not to mention it in the paper. "I didn't hear anything about it," he replied, and asked what it was. I told him it would do him no good to know and he then said he didn't want to hear of it. I said if you do hear of it you will not publish it, and he said he certainly would not.

"So when he came in here this morning I asked him to walk out. Later Mr. Raymond, of the Empire, came in, and he was just as welcome as the reporter for any of the newspapers.

Defends His Action

"This is a private office, although court is held here when the court room is otherwise occupied. I have the right to say who shall or shall not remain in this office. Also, the court has authority to exclude all spectators and reporters if it deems such exclusion in the interests of the public and of justice. There was nothing extraordinary in expelling a reporter this morning. A similar course was taken by the magistrate, at his own instigation and not at my suggestion, in the preliminary hearing of the case of the King versus Williams, he no doubt believing that the interests of justice were being served by taking such a course.

Police Were Balked

"It is plain to be seen how the police were baulked by the foolish act of a narrow-minded reporter who had nothing else in view except making a sensational write-up for his paper. I would not be surprised if something happened to Mr. Smith in consequence of its being made public that he gave information to the police. I feel safe in saying we would have been able to apprehend the sender of the letter and to have convicted him, if the "Empire" had not warned him that the police were laying in wait for him."

MAN WHO CAN BORROW

Lots of Money, but Owns Little. Out on Suspended Sentence

Backed up by a number of witnesses of his own nationality Mike Wiskervitch appeared before the Magistrate this morning to answer to the charge of being a vagrant. Mr. Manson conducted the examination of the witnesses all of whom testified to the excellent character of Wiskervitch. They knew nothing bad against him. Nick Pavlowitch said that while accused had very little money at present of his own, his credit was good up to several hundred dollars with any of his friends.

Charles Witz who knew accused in Alaska said the same, and declared he had never seen him gambling in this city. The story of another foreign witness who had worked with accused recently wood cutting at Mile 73, tallied with these, and it was stated that accused had returned from the railway with about $150 to the good.

Magistrate Carss was, however, not entirely satisfied with the accounts of the accused's manner of living for the past few weeks, but allowed Wiskervitch to go on suspended sentence with a warning to behave himself.

INVESTORS EVERYWHERE ARE LOOKING TO PRINCE RUPERT

President Geo. H. Collins of Canadian Cold Storage Co. Tells of the Interest Created in the East ---Swift of Chicago Makes Prophecy about Prince Rupert

(From Thursday's Daily.)

George H. Collins, president of the Canadian Cold Storage company that is putting up a million dollar plant in Prince Rupert, returned on the Prince Rupert Wednesday from meeting the directors in Montreal, where satisfaction was expressed at the news that the Prince Rupert concern would be ready to begin active operations next fall. Mr. Collins visited most of the large cities of the East in the course of his journey and spoke most enthusiastically of the outlook for Prince Rupert.

Interest in Prince Rupert

"You have no idea," he observed "what a tremendous interest is taken in Prince Rupert in all the large cities of Canada and the United States I visited. It made no difference where I was, whether at Toronto, Boston, New York or Chicago, people sought me out and would question me by the hour about this port, the city, the chances for investment in lots, buildings, businesses and so forth.

Mr. Swift's Prophecy

"Particularly did I find those interested in the fish business desirous of fuller and more specific information. I may tell you that the eyes of fishing men all over are turned in this direction, and struck me was the amount of reliable information they had already acquired. This was brought to my notice in Chicago in an interview I had with Ed Swift, the owner of the finest packing house in Chicago and probably in the world. I had applied to Mr. Swift for permission to look over the most modern appliance lately added to his cold storage plant, and he not only courteously granted the permission but sent for me. We talked for an hour and although the conversation was very much of the nature of a cross-examination the exact knowledge which Mr. Swiit already had of the situation here was surprising. He concluded with the remark that Prince Rupert was bound to be one of the greatest, if not the greatest fishing ports in the world when keels and rails meet.

The Advertising Tells

"It was the same at other places, the fishing interest being fully alive to the situation, and the enormous possibilities in the fishing industry for exploitation and expansion as soon as the railway is completed. They seemed to be well posted, too, on the line of the railway; better posted than I am myself. But no wonder, for the Grand Trunk Pacific is doing a tremendous lot of advertising. At K nsas City I saw bales upon bales of the company's folders to be distributed in Kansas, Missuori and south of there.

Mr. Swift Has Expert Knowledge

"Probably Sir George Doughty's statements in regard to the possibilities of our fishing industry started this interest?"

"It may have enlivened it a little but it certainly did not start it. Sir George is a great fisherman in England, and is looked upon as an authority there; but he does not begin to know half what Mr. Swift knows of the fishing on this coast.

Other Resources Attract Notice

"It is not only the fishing, however, but the other resources of this country the moneyed people are keen on, such as coal, mineral and farming lands. British Columbia stands better today among investors and people looking for investments than she ever has, and I look for a tremendous movement in this direction to set in early next spring both of investors and tourists. I have been going east every year for a long time but I never heard this province and Prince Rupert talked about so much. People hunted me up in Toronto and Montreal just to have a chat with me about this place and northern British Columbia and you may rely upon a great influx of people of all kinds as soon as the winter is over."

PROGRESS MADE UP AT STEWART

DOMINION GOVERNMENT COMPLETE BUILDING THE WHARF

Hospital Is Now Finished, and the Provincial Government Will Be Asked to Erect a New School Building for the Town.

(From Thursday's Daily.)

William Manson, M. P. P. speaking this morning of the steps taken to incorporate the city of Stewart said the charter includes a special clause for owning and operating a telephone system. It asks for a council consisting of a mayor and six aldermen. The qualification for mayor is $500 realty and for aldermen $300.

Several meetings were held with the executive committee of the citizens' association at which various matters were discussed. A public school had been opened with twenty pupils and they are now asking the provincial government for the immediate erection of a school building. The hospital has been completed and seemed to be well fitted up to meet the needs of the district.

Railway construction was going on well and there was now a locomotive running up and down the wharf and along a portion of the road but the company was not yet giving a public service. The approach to the wharf has been completed by the Dominion government, and arrangements are now being made by the provincial government and citizens to connect this approach with some of the streets by plank roadways and sidewalks.

AUSTRALIA WANTS ALL-RED CABLE

WILL STRONGLY URGE IT AT NEXT IMPERIAL CONFERENCE

Have a Programme of Ten Reforms Looking for Better Trade Relations Within the Empire—Appropriation Voted for Delegates.

Melbourne, Nov. 28.—The announcement that the federal government did not intend to submit any proposals to the Imperial conference in London next June was received with a great deal of surprise in official and political quarters. Still greater surprise was felt today when it was announced that so far from not submitting proposals to the conference, the government would place before it no less than ten motions.

The cabinet has decided that it will urge on the conference the promotion of international trade, British goods and shipping at the same time being supported as far as possible.

Greater uniformity in company navigation laws is also to be advocated, as well as the encouragement of immigration, the alteration of the declaration of London so that foodstuffs may be removed from article 24, and the amendment of the existing naturalization laws.

The important subject of the establishment of an All-Red cable across the Atlantic ocean—the cable to be worked in conjunction with the trans-Pacific cable—is to be brought before the conference with the strongest possible recommendations of the commonwealth representatives.

RICH RESOURCES AROUND RUPERT

DESCRIBED BY G. R. NADEN IN HIS ADDRESS LAST NIGHT

Note of Warning Sounded. Are Citizens Aware That Wealth of Northern British Columbia Is Being Possessed by the Few

(From Wednesday's Daily.)

Agricultural resources, minerals, timber, coal, waterpower, fisheries, and scenery—these are the undeveloped resources that surround Prince Rupert which formed the subject of Alderman Naden's address to the Presbyterian Club last night. A noble list of wealth producers and Mr. Naden described their extent throughout the land and seas surrounding Prince Rupert, with confidence. These resources are indisputably there, and Prince Rupert is situated at the most central point in Northern British Columbia for handling them to advantage.

Wealth from the Farms

Farm produce from the fat lands in the areas watered by the Peace, Skeena, Liard and Fraser rivers with their tributaries will contribute to the prosperity of the city. Spring rains and summer sunshine on the well tilled soil in the Lakelse, Kispiox and Bulkley valleys will bring autumn harvests golden alike for their growers and for the trade of Prince Rupert.

Harvest of the Sea

Teeming seas within a few hours run of Prince Rupert harbor will pour in to the lines of waiting fish cars and cold storage plants all the finny wealth of the deep. Why over in England today Grimsby with fewer sea resources by far, has leaped from a population of 15,000 to one of 130,000 on account of the fish industry alone. Rupert will do more thinks Alderman Naden.

Mines, Timber and Water

Precious store from the marvellously rich mining districts surrounding Prince Rupert will add richly to the growing wealth of the city; and the far ranging timber tracts of the surrounding districts will immensely increase the prosperity of the business centre. Waterpower there is too, to develop, as pointed out by Mr. Williams after Alderman Naden's address, and Alderman Naden has great faith in the superb scenic wealth of Northern British Columbia to attract visitors from far and wide who will in countless ways benefit Prince Rupert.

Who Owns It Now

A note of warning, however, Mr. Naden did strike. Who owns all this as yet undeveloped wealth? he asked, and in answer he showed that a large precentage of it is being rapidly taken possession of by those who aim at holding it for speculative purposes. The timber especially has been grabbed. Where until a few years ago not 10 per cent of the timber was owned by speculators now nearly 80 per cent is so owned. It was so also to some extent with agricultural land, and other resources, and Alderman Naden held that the citizens and inhabitants of these districts which are among the richest in the empire should be awake to the direction in which they were trending—the tendency of these valuable resources to come into the hands of the few.

Might Defeat Itself

Real estate dealing in the city itself he pointed out, might by the continual raising of prices of lots, defeat its own end, the prosperity of the city, by making it increasingly difficult for the humbler wealth producer to settle here.

An interesting discussion at the close of the address, led by the chairman, Mr. H. F. McRae, was taken part in by many of those present.

The presence of licensed hotels in Prince Rupert will not keep out business, but the enacting of the Scott Act might and would.

DECKS ARE NOW CLEARED FOR THE MUNICIPAL FIGHT

Mayor Stork Retires---F. H. Mobley and Wm. Manson to Run---Hot Contest Promised

(From Thursday's Daily.)

By the announcement made by Mayor Stork this morning that his private business interests made it impossible for him to offer himself for re-election, the first definite step in the municipal elections was taken. This leaves the field open to Mr. William Manson, M. P. P., the unsuccessful candidate at the last election, and Alderman Frank Mobley. The request to Alderman Mobley was made by a number of his colleagues and citizens last night after a private meeting, where Mayor Stork announced his decision not to enter the field for next year's contest.

The Mayor's Statement

Interviewed by an Optimist reporter this morning, as to his reasons for withdrawing from the municipal contest, Mayor Stork said: "My decision was only reached after considerable thought. The office of Mayor of Prince Rupert is an exacting one, and during the past year my mayoral duties made great demands upon my time. Fortunately I was able to give all the time that my duties required, but in the forthcoming year I contemplate enlarging my business to cope with the growing demands of the city.

Would Be Away Two Months

"I shall probably be obliged to go away for a business trip for two months, and do not think it would be fair to the city for me to present myself for office knowing that I could not attend to the duties of the office for more than ten out of the twelve months. Perhaps later on when my business extensions are completed, and I have the necessary time to devote to civic affairs I may enter the arena again."

Spoke Well for Mobley

"Will you not take any part at all in the elections then?" the Mayor was asked.

"Only as an ordinary citizen," he replied. "I understand that Alderman Mobley has been asked to stand for Mayor and is considering the matter. If he should decide to run, I will support him with all my power. During his year in the Council Alderman Mobley displayed great ability and gave the city good service. If he should enter the field I will support him. He would make an excellent Mayor, in my opinion." A moment later a tap came on the door of the Mayor's office and Alderman Mobley entered.

Alderman Mobley's Decision

"Well what is your decision, Mr. Alderman?" inquired the Mayor.

"If you are still firm in your refusal to enter the field, I will run," declared Alderman Mobley.

"I am glad to hear that, and I wish you every success," said Mayor Stork as he shook the alderman's hand.

Will Make Statement Later

Asked for a statement for the public, Alderman Mobley begged for time. "My best statement, I suppose," he said, "is the record of my service in the Council, and the public knows that. Later on I will issue printed statements of my position, and will address the electors and discuss municipal problrms with them."

Asked if he knew who his opponent would be, Alderman Mobley said he had received no definite announcement, but the friends of Mr. William Manson were petitioning him to run again, and it was rumored the member would accept.

Mr. Manson Will Run

William Manson, M. P. P., interviewed by an Optimist reporter said he had no statement to make in regard to his candidacy for the mayoralty. He said: "I was presented with a largely-signed petition last evening by representative citizens requesting me to again become a candidate for mayor of Prince Rupert.

"After considering the matter I decided this morning to accept the nomination. For the present I am merely announcing my candidature and later on hope to have the opportunity of discussing municipal questions as they arise."

FIRST VOTING IN ENGLAND TAKES PLACE ON SATURDAY

Sixty Seats Will be Voted On---Unionists Expect to Gain Ten of Them---Big Fight in Manchester ---How Hon. Joseph Chamberlain Will Get a Walk-Over

(Special to the Optimist)

London, Dec. 2.—There will be sixty election contests tomorrow so that the whole country is in a state of great excitement today. The Unionists claim they will get ten of these sixty seats if they obtain, as they profess to expect, the support of the moderate voter. The big fight of the election will occur in Manchester, where Mr. Andrew Barlow, Unionist will be a candidate, he having vacated his seat for Dulwich in order to oppose Sir George Kemp, the Liberal member for Manchester.

Joe Martin's Defeat

The situation in the Midlands is very encouraging to the Liberals the party expecting to make a twenty per cent better showing there than they did last year. The Unionists are scattering a leaflet reproducing the opinion of Joe Martin recently given in the Canadian Colliers. Martin himself will have a hard time being elected for East Pancras. He had but a small majority at the last election and his attitude against the government is calculated to have lost him much support.

Wales and Scotland are expected to reinforce the Liberals very materially. The party is even looking for the return of some of the Irish seats lost in January.

Cartoons and Billboards

Everywhere the campaign is in full swing and the country is flooded with oratory and literature. Billboards are covered with cartoons, which are a marked feature in this campaign. The public, however, outside of London, is not showing the interest evinced in the last canpaign. One lack of enthusiasm is noted in the number of uncontested seats.

Chamberlain Is Unopposed

In some of the northern constituencies where there is no likelihood of a change the Unionists and Liberals have agreed not to oppose each other. In other places the candidates who secured overwhelming majorities last January have been awarded a walkover. Among the fortunate ones are Joseph Chamberlain for Birmingham West and Arthur S. Lee for Hants, Fareham division.

Ordered Him Out

Magistrate Carss was holding court at the time in the tiny shack called police headquarters when the reporter of the "Empire" entered. Chief McCarvell immediately ordered him out. A little time after S. M. Newton, editor of the "Empire" entered followed by the same reporter, Mr. McKay. The editor started to address the court when Chief McCarvell orered him to take his hat off. He also told the reporter to step outside.

Editor to the Rescue

Editor Newton said he saw reporters there from other papers and wished to ask why the representative of the "Empire" was not permitted to be present.

Chief McCarvell said he objected to Mr. McKay because he had published something that had certainly hindered the police in their work and had interfered with the course of justice.

Editor Newton asked what about the interests of his paper and Chief McCarvell retorted that he believed himself acting in the interests of the public, which, as a matter of official duty had to be his first consideration. In reply to a question of Mr. Newton the chief replied that he had no objections to any other representative of the 'Empire" being present but he certainly did object to Mr. McKay.

Magistrate Appealed To

Mr. Newton appealed to the magistrate declaring that the chief had no voice in the matter. Magistrate Carss said he desired to act fairly by all parties in the matter and would therefore like to look further into it instead of making any declaration right waay. With this Mr. Newton left and in a short time another representative of the Empire arrived, whose presence was not questioned.

Statement By the Chief

After Court adjourned Chief McCarvell made the following statement:

"In serious cases such as an attempt at blackmail, it is very important that all matters connected with it should be kept profoundly secret as, if any knowledge of it slipped out it might be taken advantage of by the guilty parties and enable them to escape.

"In this case an anonymous letter was sent to Vernor W. Smith, telling him to put $800 under a designated stone near the fire hall if he valued his life. Mr. Smith got that letter on the afternoon of Tuesday. He showed it to me about five o'clock that same afternoon and I advised him to make a decoy letter; that certain money should be put in a large envelope and placed under the rock as the letter instructed. At six o'clock Mr. Smith walked direct from his office and placed the letter. Meantime I had an officer secreted in such a position that he could watch the spot.

"Just as we expected no person came that night nor the second night, but this McKay of the "Empire" made a hard scramble to find out what the letter was and having succeeded, published what he learned in the "Empire. Thereby he prevented the police from getting the person or persons who has sent the letter to Mr. Smith demanding the money at the risk of his life."

Had Denied Any Knowledge

"I may also state that yesterday knowing that several persons had knowledge of the threatening letter, I asked McKay if he heard anything about an anonymous letter to be good enough not to mention it in the paper. "I didn't hear anything about it," he replied, and asked what it was. I told him it would do him no good to know and he then said he didn't want to hear of it. I said if you do hear of it you will not publish it, and he said he certainly would not.

"So when he came in here this morning I asked him to walk out. Later Mr. Raymond, of the Empire, came in, and he was just as welcome as the reporter for any of the newspapers.

Defends His Action

"This is a private office, although court is held here when the court room is otherwise occupied. I have the right to say who shall or shall not remain in this office. Also, the court has authority to exclude all spectators and reporters if it deems such exclusion in the interests of the public and of justice. There was nothing extraordinary in expelling a reporter this morning. A similar course was taken by the magistrate, at his own instigation and not at my suggestion, in the preliminary hearing of the case of the King versus Williams, he no doubt believing that the interests of justice were being served by taking such a course.

Police Were Balked

"It is plain to be seen how the police were baulked by the foolish act of a narrow-minded reporter who had nothing else in view except making a sensational write-up for his paper. I would not be surprised if something happened to Mr. Smith in consequence of its being made public that he gave information to the police. I feel safe in saying we would have been able to apprehend the sender of the letter and to have convicted him, if the "Empire" had not warned him that the police were laying in wait for him."

MAN WHO CAN BORROW

Lots of Money, but Owns Little. Out on Suspended Sentence

Backed up by a number of witnesses of his own nationality Mike Wiskervitch appeared before the Magistrate this morning to answer to the charge of being a vagrant. Mr. Manson conducted the examination of the witnesses all of whom testified to the excellent character of Wiskervitch. They knew nothing bad against him. Nick Pavlowitch said that while accused had very little money at present of his own, his credit was good up to several hundred dollars with any of his friends.

Charles Witz who knew accused in Alaska said the same, and declared he had never seen him gambling in this city. The story of another foreign witness who had worked with accused recently wood cutting at Mile 73, tallied with these, and it was stated that accused had returned from the railway with about $150 to the good.

Magistrate Carss was, however, not entirely satisfied with the accounts of the accused's manner of living for the past few weeks, but allowed Wiskervitch to go on suspended sentence with a warning to behave himself.

DEVOTED PRINCIPALLY TO THE INTERESTS OF WOMEN

This is a little section of the paper, which from day to day will be devoted to subjects of special interest to women. Any and all of the ladies of Prince Rupert are invited to contribute to its columns, and to take part in its discussions. Suggestions and criticisms are invited by the editor. The hope is expressed that "The Cosy Corner" will fill a social need.

SOME THINGS WORTH WHILE

Illinois Women Outline a Platform of Demands Which Are Their Inspiration

In renewing its activities the Illinois Federation of Women has adopted this platform of things to be accomplished:

"A concerted fight against billboard advertising.

"A movement to establish public comfort stations in the cities of Illinois.

"An investigation of the treatment and care of dependent and delinquent girls in the state.

"A State campaign for a sane Fourth of July.

"A movement to secure a woman physician in every public institution where there are woman inmates.

"A campaign to secure the pinewoods of Ogle County as a State forest reserve.

"A campaign for the passage of the Eastern Forest Reserve bill, establishing a reserve in the Appalachians and White Mountains.

"An effort to secure women's dormitories at the University of Illinois."

A Ghastly Craze

Those staid professors who argue out on coldly scientific grounds that women is an undeveloped creature, a sort of stepping stone between men and the savage, could find a good deal of material to enforce their arguments from the craze for ghastly relics which is one of the latest hobbies of fashionable women on both sides of the Atlantic.

The craze has broken out again in a mania to secure possession of Crippen relics, many visitors from the United States offering large inducements to secure mementoes of the crime.

It is not only the American tourists who have been going to see the home of Dr. Crippen in Hilldrop Crescent. Numerous society people have been going there with the object of securing a cutting from a plant or a bit of the wall paper from the room in which the murder is supposed to have taken place. The majority have had to content themselves with bits of mortar taken from the outer walls, as those in charge have emphatically declined to be bribed into giving even the merest trifles. It is said, however, that Mrs. Asquith, wife of the Prime Minister has obtained the pen with which Mrs. Crippen used to write her accounts for the Ladies' Theatrical Guild. It has a well used nib which no doubt makes it all the more valuable to its present possessor.

Georgina Lady Dudley a little while ago suggested to an important official at Scotland Yard the advisability of admitting visitors to see the house at Hilldrop Crescent at 60 cents a head and passing the money on to her for one of her charities. He, however, did not see the matter from her ladyship's point of view.

"You prove yourself a lady of resource by your suggestion," he said. "I believe emphatically were I to do so it would result in more profits than the Horse Show!"

Where Woman Does Hard Work

"Women are admitted at Helsingfors university and many have graduated in science, art and medicine," writes Hairy de Windt. "It seemed strange at first to see young girls walking about in white velvet caps like those worn by the students at Bonn and Heidelberg but the women of Finland have reached a stage of emancipation as yet unknown in any other country. They have, it is true, no political rights, but are frequently employed in the government service, while as regards mental and even physical employment there is very little difference here between the sexes. Go into a bank or a railway station and your check is generally cashed or your ticked handed you by a female clerk. In the agricultural districts women work quite as hard as men in the fields and in the towns are often seen sweeping the streets."

Suggestions For Housewives

When a teapot has become musty fill it with boiling water and add some strong washing soda. Let it stand for a day, and then scald it thoroughly.

Never use wood alcohol in the chafing dish lamp, or the reservoir of an alcohol stove. It will soon clog the burner and cause it to soot. Instead, use denatured alcohol, which is inexpensive, and is clean and practically non-explosive.

Launder counterpanes by washing in lukewarm suds, using a pure white soap. Then gently squeeze out the water and rinse. While wet fasten to a clean flat surface, using pins as in lace curtains. The piece must be stretched so as to have the threads of the linen running straight. To dry padded embroidery heat is necessary.

In washing small, dried fruits, such as cherries, currants or raisins, the best way is to turn them into a collander or coarse sieve and stand it in a deep pan of clear water. Rub the fruit thoroughly between the hands and change the water as often as needed. Finally hold up the vessel and turn on cold water, then spread on fresh towels to dry.

THE ELECTIONS IN BRITAIN

Before we become too much engrossed in our own electoral contests, it is a good thing to look away to the mother country and behold the spectacle of a nation in the throes of political warfare.

A man is never so clothed with grandeur, as when he rises in his strength and struggles at close grips with Fate or spends his strength battling for some moral ideal. So too, a nation, which is but a great aggregation of men and women, is rarely beheld to such advantage as when engaged in a struggle for the expression of its changing ideals. And no nation exhibits the quality of its national spirit at such a time as this as does the British people.

There are reasons for this. It would be strange were it otherwise. The title "Mother of Parliaments" binds up many pages of history. From the earliest recorded times it was the custom of the elder-men of the Northlands to gather in conclave each evening at the village moot or witenagemote or round the sacred tree, and there discuss the problems of village management. There runs a line of descent through the councils of Sleswick and Holstein, to the parliament at Westminster. Our own Council meeting at Prince Rupert is an offshoot of British institutions. It is not to be wondered at then that with twenty centuries of practice and precedent in their blood, the British electors at a time like this are an interesting study.

There is in some quarters a habit of referring to England as is she were effete, and the hey-day of her spirit had passed. The man who so speaks does not know England. Financially she is still the dominant force in the world. Over half of all the borrowed capital of the world is hers. The social changes of the last few years show how much alive is the spirit of her people.

It was significant that while other nations were talking democracy that in Britain a man of the people should come forward, and with the aid of the Liberal party give to his countrymen the most pregnant piece of legislation to ensure the workers a share of the unearned increment from land, that any country has yet adopted. The suddenness of it, seems to have misled many into underestimating the enormous significance of the Lloyd-George budget.

Less than a year has elapsed and England is again in the throes of an election contest. This time the issues are more complex. The reform of the House of Lords is being ardently advocated by the Radicals, led by Mr. Lloyd-George, who frankly admits that his desire is to take away all power from the peers. He has gone so far as to support the Socialist candidate in South London, whose ideal is the total abolishment of the House of Lords.

Home-rule for Ireland is another of the Government proposals which has been received with general acceptance, but is fiercely opposed by the Orangemen and ultra-Protestant factions of Belfast.

Against the Liberal proposals, the Conservatives are urging the promise of a tariff referendum with might and main. It is a curious illustration of the see-sawings of political warfare, this spectacle of the Conservative party of Britain holding out as bait, the promise of a referendum to the people.

How aroused are the feelings of all classes of society is seen by such incidents as Rudyard Kipling's appearance on the platform at Brighton in defence of the Lords; the attack on Winston Churchill with a dog whip at Bradford, and the stoning of his meeting at Colchester; the personalities of the Duke of Marlborough on his erst-while guest Mr. Lloyd-George, and the speech of a Presbyterian divine at Belfast agitating for non-payment of taxes to an Irish government. There is nothing wrong with the spirit of a people where such incidents are possible.

It is difficult from this distance to make any confident prophecies of the result of the elections. Most reliable observers in Great Britain, however, agree in believing that the net results will leave the parties in much the same position as before the contest.

The significance of the British elections of 1910 will be seen more clearly by the historian of fifty years hence. Five decades of Liberal teaching have done their work. The old institutions of Britain are in the melting pot. From it all is seen rising a new Britain, more strong and more beautiful for the purging fires it has passed through.

A JOURNAL WITHOUT MORALS

Whatever may be the opinion of the court and the public upon Chief of Police McCarvell's action in attempting to exclude a representative of the "Empire" from the court room this morning, there can be no two opinions upon the action of the newspaper involved.

The knowledge that there was a would-be assassin in our midst, whom the police had laid plans to catch,was known in every newspaper office in Prince Rupert It was being held a secret in the public interest, until such time as the writer of the threatening letter could be captured.

The action of the "Empire" in breaking that confidence has frustrated the plans of the police and put the whole community at the mercy of a desperate criminal.

Had a private individual acted the part of traitor to the public welfare and warned this criminal of the police preparations, it would have constituted an offence punishable by a long term of imprisonment. Is the offence any the less because perpetrated by a newspaper?

The irony of the thing is all the more apparent, because in the legitimate field of gathering and presenting news of interest and value to the whole community, the "Empire" has, day after day, right up to and including the day it broke faith with the police authorities, been badly beaten by its contemporaries.

The Empire's Up-to-date Sermonette

We thought surely we had the preachers on our side, but I suppose even the Liquor-League must have its chaplain and deacon. He must be a very old man, a champion of Joshua, whom he seems to have accepted as his hero and typical legislator. Certainly the license-legislation which he champions has a pre-historic smell. Next he will be quoting Numbers 15: 35 and maintaining that every man found gathering sticks on the Sabbath day should be put to death. Why should the shades of the Judges of Israel be summoned from their repose to stand side by side with the substantila corporal (very corporal) bodies of the liquor-vendors. He must have mistaken these shadowy forms for Temperance cranks when he expectorates such adjectives as "neurotic, nervously hysterical, prone to extreme picturing of the imagination." I'm afraid he's seeing things. His next sermon will be Numbers 21: 6.

THE FIGHT AGAINST THE BAR

(Letters in this column do not necessarily express the opinion of this paper on the subject under discussion.)

Dr. McIntyre and His Conclusions

A politician once said that: "A lie well stuck to is as good as the truth," and a poet said that "A lie that is half a lie is ever the blackest of lies." After all in the present campaign what we want is the Truth, and we on our side as well as our opponents ought to bear in mind the two preceding maxims. We can get figures to prove almost anything. We have not been able to re-find Dr. McIntyre's figures, but do not doubt their accuracy, but we do doubt the conclusions which he draws from them. They most assuredly are one-sided and misleading.

What we have found in our searching (and we thank Dr. McIntyre for setting us upon this valuable volume): that the official report of the Internal Revenue Department at Washington shows that the withdrawal of distilled spirits for consumption in 1907 was 134,031,066.7 gallons, while that for 1908 was 119,703,594.4 gallons, and that for 1909 was 114,693,578.2 gallons This means that while the United States has been increasing rapidly in population the sum total of the distilled spirits consumed has decreased in two years earl 20 miilions of gallons.

The same report shows also an increase in the consumption of fermented liquors each year until 1909 when there was a decrease of 2,444,183 barrels. In other words, the consumption of distilled spirits has been decreasing for the past three years, while the consumption of fermented liquors has shown the first decrease in 1909.

Anyone who takes into consideration the recent influx of population from Southern Europe will appreciate the difficulty of stemming the tide of consumption of these fermented liquors—a fact which Dr. McIntyre did not note before drawing his conclusions. This devotee of the Peri-patetic school would astonish the old master of logic as on such slender premises he built the overtoppling conclusion that Local Option increases drinking to an alarming extent.

If we lived in the days of the Sophists we might propound some such riddle as this: "If no relative of the son of his only uncle's brother had any interest in this 'Economics and the Bar' discussion, would Dr. McIntyre write us a brilliant argument for Local Option?"

Would-be Saloon Keeper (wiping away a tear)—I have invested $30,000 in the hope of a license. Will you be so cruel? I am undone.

A POOR KIND OF ARGUMENT

(The following is published by the Press Committee of the opponents of the Scott Act, and is not the expression of the views of this paper.)

It is very much to be regretted that we have in Prince Rupert any set of citizens willing to descend to the level of personal abuse when discussing a public question in the newspapers.

Beaten in argument, their alleged facts proved to be falsehoods, these self-styled champions of morality are now endeavoring to cover their defeat by a cowardly and unprovoked attack on the character of the license holders.

We ask any fair-minded citizen of Prince Rupert to run over in his mind the names of the license holders of this city and then ask themselves if they are the monsters of iniquity these psople would make them out to be. Are they not, man for man, the equals, morally, socially and intellectually of any of these self-appointed champions of the Scott Act? To deliberately insinuate that a decent and respectable fellow-citizen, engaged in a legitimate business, is on a par with the lowest dregs of society may appeal to a certain class of mind as good argument, but we hope that there is enough manliness and decency in the prohibition ranks themselves to prevent its repetition.

What manner of man can he be who uses the newspapers of the city to willfully hurt the feelings not only of a neighbor and fellow-citizen but his family as well, and what kind of people are they who are willing to help pay for space in the paper for this purpose. We would hate to think that the latest effusions appearing under the auspices of the Scott Act committee represent the views of any considerable portion of the community. Rather we prefer to think that the writer is one of those late arrivals in the city who are endeavoring to break into public notice through the medium of this Scott Act agitation. If it is this class of men whom the passage of the Act will bring into Prince Rupert in great numbers, then we can only say that this is alone sufficient to condemn it in the eyes of every man who loves fair play, and who refuses to subscribe to filthy abuse as a legitimate weapon in a public controversy

Look at the names appearing on the executive of the Citizens' League and then ask yourself if they do not represent the decency and intelligence of the community fully as well as the leaders on the other side. With one or two exceptions these latter have no stake in the town whatever and many of them have only been in the city a few months. That they have not even been in the West long enough to imbibe its spirit and traditions of fair play, is proved by the character of their recent utterances.

Let every decent man in the city, whatever his views may be, take it on himself to show these intemperate temperance adovcates that the West will not stand for dirty abuse of an opponent as an argument, whether the man using it claims to be a moralist or not.

If the advocates of the Scott Act cannot carry on their campaign on a decent level (and their articles to date seem to show that the level is somewhat above them) then let them acknowledge that mud-slinging is the only weapon. they are capable of handling, and people will know how to classify them For our own part we do not intend to meet them on any such ground.

The Scott Act writer in yesterday's Optimist is rather unfortunate in his choice of quotations. The question of intemperance was never mentioned by Lord Alverstone in his sentence of Dr. Crippen. Dr. Crippen was a temperance crank amd a Local Option advocate, and according to his own confession, killed his wife because of her fondness for strong drink. The poor man died for his local option principles, a martyr to the cause of temperance. The local option people are here now trying to do to Prince Rupert what Crippen did to his wife.

ANOTHER LETTER ON TEMPERANCE QUESTION

A "Liberal" Point of View

Friends and Neighbors:

I am grateful for past favors and having supplied my store with a fine line of choice wines and liquors, allow me to inform you that I shall continue to make drunkards, paupers and beggars for the sober and industrious to support. My liquors will continue to excite lust, murder, assault as the past two months have demonstrated. They will diminish your comforts, multiply fatal accidents, substitute a credit for a cash business, and make our city a resort for splendid boozers rather than for timid creatures who moralize over Home and Children—forsooth!

They will deprive some of liberty, others of reason, many of character and all of peace. They will make father fiends, wives widows, children orphans, and this matter of liquor-reform is one to which respectable citizens should show a proper indifference. I will train your sons to have a fine scorn for these neurotic, weak-kneed Local Option Johnnies and for all sentimental "Brother's Keeper" ideas.

What right has anyone to interfere with me just as my business is at the zenith of prosperity?

Allow me to inform you that you are all impressionable fools and I am,

Yours truly,
"An Honest Saloon-Keeper"

Form of Ballot Paper

Voting on the Petition to the Governor-General for the Bringing into Force of Part II of the Canada Temperance Act.

For the Petition
Against the Petition	X

Directions for the Guidance of Voters

The voter will go into one of the compartments, and with a paper there provided, place a cross thus, X in the upper space if he votes FOR the adoption of the petition (SCOTT ACT), and in the lower space if he votes AGAINST the adoption of the petition (SCOTT ACT).

The voter will then fold the ballot, so as to show a portion of the back only, with the number and initials of the deputy returning officer, and deliver it to the deputy returning officer, who will place it in the ballot box. The voter will then forthwith quit the polling station.

If a voter inadvertently spoils a ballot paper he can return it to the proper officer, who, on being satisfied of the fact, will give him another.

If the voter places on the ballot more than one mark, or places any mark on it by which he can afterwards be identified, his vote will be void, and will not be counted.

If the voter takes a ballot paper out of the polling station, or fraudently puts any other paper into the ballot box than the ballot paper given him by the deputy returning officer, he will be subject to be punished by fine or by imprisonment for a term not exceeding six months, with or without hard labor.

Don't forget that the petition is FOR the Scott Act. If you are not in favor of a dry town you must mark your ballot in the lower space. AGAINST the petition means AGAINST the Scott Act. AND DON'T FAIL TO VOTE. Every man in town entitled to vote on this question should do so. It is the most important question which will be submitted to the people for years, and means the life or death of the city.

GAVE STEAMER A MERRY SEND-OFF

There Was a Bridal Party to Wish God-Speed, and a Number of Well-Known and Popular Personages Going South.

There was a tremendous crowd down at the wharf Thursday night when Prince Rupert went out, several leading citizens having a large number of friends to "see them off." There was also a bridal party and for this party genial Captain Barney Johnson is reported to have held the boat for a few moments while the last good-byes were said.

"Barney" Was in Fine Form

But the captain of the Prince Rupert was not the only "Barney" in the limelight. There was Barney Acland, "The Great Nationalist of the North," and all the Foley, Welch & Stewart staff to see him off. They had given hin a farewell dinner, with the concomitants that make for jollity. And Barney was jolly. He has worked in the steamer department of the great contracting firm for a long time and was evidently a great favorite. He made a number of patriotic speeches on the dock. As he went up the gangplank he said: "I am coming back, boys; but long before I get here we shall have home rule for Ireland." At which there were renewed cheers for Barney and for home rule, lasting until the ship pulled out. Barney is going to British Honduras on a filibustering expedition.

A Bridal Party Too

The bridal party was Fred Henning, of the Premier hotel and his bride, nee Miss Mary Agnes Burkett. They were married at 5 p.m. by Father Rivet. Both are well known in Prince Rupert, the bride being a sister of Mrs. G. A. Sweet, and the groom well known as clerk in the Prenier hotel since its commencement. A farewell dinner was given to them at the Grand Trunk Inn and the guests at the dinner and a number of other friends were at the wharf to wish them Godspeed.

Others for the South

Another well known figure in the steamship department of the contractors' office is A. L. Brown, the chief bookkeeper. He and Mrs. Brown were leaving to spend Christmas at their home in Spokane, Wash., and they had a number of friends to shake hands with.

Captain S. B. Johnson, superintendent of Foley, Welch & Stewart, was also a passenger. He is going to the coast on a business trip and will be gone "two boats."

FOSTER'S FOOLISH QUERY

Asks Whether Cruiser Rainbow Could Defend Coast Against Japanese

(Special to the Optimist)

Ottawa, Dec. 2.—In the house of commons last night Mr. Foster spoke on the amendment to the address from the throne. He spoke against the naval policy of the government and pointed out that Sir Wilfrid Laurier had declared the coasts of British Columbia needed naval protection. Admitting that they did he would ask the people of the coast whether they thought the cruiser Rainbow was sufficient protection against an invasion by the navy of Japan. The question elicted some laughter.

THE LAW'S LONG MEMORY

Six Months Old Suspicion Solidifies to a Charge Today

Way back in July a man named G. Sheffield was suspected by the police of having obtained $6 by false pretences. He left the city before he could be charged, but the incident was not forgotten.

Under the name of Stevens the same man reappeared the other day in Prince Rupert. Sergeant Regan saw him, and this morning he appeared before the Magistrate to answer to the charge. Sheffield was also charged with having taken a lock value $3 from the property of F. Poole. "Not guilty," was his reply to the charges. His case will be further investigated.

St. Andrew's Society Note

S. D. Macdonald is Secretary of the Prince Rupert St. Andrew's Society, not Mr. Burns as mentioned in our report of the Society's successful dance. Intending members of the Society are informed of this, and will be welcomed at all times. Forms of application for membership can be had from Mr. Macdonald. Mr. Burns is one of the directors of the society who are so energetic in everything that pertains to its success.

CHIPS FROM THE HUMORISTS

"Pa, what is meant by a dealer in futures?"

"A fortune teller, my son."

Caller—I didn't know your son was at college. Is this his freshman year?

Mrs. Blunderby—Oh, no, indeed! He's a sycamore.

For a long time the visitor to the great museum stood gazing at the Egyptian mummy swathed in bandages.

"Tell me one thing," he ventured.

"What is it sir?" asked the guide.

"Was it automobile or aeroplane accident?"

"I will kill myself!" shouted the half-crazed man, struggling in the arms of the officers of the law.

"No, you won't!" said one of the policemen.

"I will, I will!" I'll commit suicide, or die in the attempt!"

Cholly—I say Tommy, aren't you going to give me your sister for a Christmas present?

Tommy—Sorry, but I can't. When I caught Mr. Spoonlate kissing her last night, she made me promise that I would not give her away.

"Humor is a funny thing," said Binks.

"It ought to be," siad the philosopher.

"Oh, I didn't mean that way," said Binks. "I mean that it is a strange thing. Now, I can't speak French, but I can always understand a French joke, and I can speak English, but I'm blest if I can see an English joke."

'Most people are," said the philosopher.

"Are what?" said Binks.

"Blest if they can see an English joke," said the philosopher. "It is a sign of an unusually keen vision."

Before the magistrate the defendant was charged with being drunk and incapable. He was a stranger in the district, but he was most acutely indignant that he should be suffering the humiliation of his present position.

"The constable seems very certain about everything connected with my case," he sneered; "but there is one weak point in his evidence. "Why"—impressively—"does he not call his fellow-officer to corroborate what he says?"

His worship turned an inquiring look upon the policeman, who vainly endeavored to conceal an expansive smile behind an ample, but for that purpose, all too small hand.

"There's only one constable stationed in the village, sir," said the officer.

"But I saw two last night!" indignantly asserted the defendant.

"Exactly!" grinned the policeman. "That's just the charge against you!"

THE COSY CORNER

DEVOTED PRINCIPALLY TO THE INTERESTS OF WOMEN

This is a little section of the paper, which from day to day will be devoted to subjects of special interest to women. Any and all of the ladies of Prince Rupert are invited to contribute to its columns, and to take part in its discussions. Suggestions and criticisms are invited by the editor. The hope is expressed that "The Cosy Corner" will fill a social need.

Social Notes

It is rumored that the Kaien Island Club has the intention of giving a grand New Year's ball, and that it will probably be on the evening of Friday, the 30th.

C. V. Bennett, with his wife and family, left on the Camosun yesterday. They are going to California to spend the winter.

George Angell, assistant to David M. Hays in the real estate business, left on the Camosun to spend the winter with his family and visit the leading cities of the United States.

In Defence of Corsets

Despite al that the doctors and physical culture experts have declared about the evils of corset wearing, a Chicago doctor, Dr. Franklin H. Martin, has come out in its defence, stipulating however, that corsets should not be designed by fashion experts, but by doctors.

"A properly constructed corset gives the woman wearing it the most artistic figure possible for her to have. In most cases of semi-invalidism a rightly made corset will lift its wearer to health and develop her figure on lines of beauty," he said before a company of doctors at a post graduate hospital clinic on intestinal diseases. He said that corsets will always be worn, but that they need only to be made properly to produce a race of classically beautiful women. He commended the current "straight front" fashion.

These are Dr. Martin's rules for hygienic corseting:

The back of the corset must be molded rigidly.

The corset must lace up in front.

The front lacing should be planned for flexibility and ready adjustment to the wearer's figure.

Measurements for the corset should be made by a physician.

Dr. Martin said the fashionable straight front and easy well made waist would produce healthy bodies.

"A corset is a splint," said he. "You would not advise a patient to go to an instrument shop and pick out his own splint for a deformed limb.

"As the corset is a splint, if the figure it is to be placed on is the proper shape to begin with, the corset should not change the outline but sustain it.

"A stout woman should have a corset that will distribute her flesh, reduce her hips, flatten her abdomen, and support her. A slight woman should have a corset that will mold her figure on artistic lines and that will prevent displacement of the stomach. Her figure will become rounded by a proper gain in flesh if the digestive organs are not hampered by an improper corset and if a proper diet is selected for her.

"The harmful corset is one that disproportionally narrows the waist and fails to support the body. Such a corset will occasion serious digestive symptoms, and, if persisted in, will produce appendicitis, serious diseases of the stomach, and finally semi-invalidism.

"On the other hand, a scientifically fitted corset is a boon to many women; without it they would never become strong, but with it they receive the necessary assistance that enables them to be transformed from unhappy apparitions and hypochondriacs without ambition to healthy women."

Three Useful Recipes

Gingersnaps.—Melt 1 cup sugar, 1 cup molasses, 1 cup lard and butter mixed; add spices to taste, and salt. Dissolve 1 level teaspoonful of soda in a cup of water, add to the other mixture, and while it is foaming stir in flour to make a dough. Leave until next day, when roll out thick or thin to suit the taste. Bake in a moderate oven, as they burn easily.

Tea Cakes.—Mix 2 tablespoonfuls of butter and 4 of sugar, add 2 well beaten eggs, grated rind of 1 lemon, 3 cups of flour, and milk to make a stiff batter last of all, add 3 teaspoonfuls of baking powder. Drop into patty cake tins, and bake in a quick oven.

Cookies.—Beat 1 cupful of shortening with 2 cupfuls of sugar, add 2 eggs, beaten without separating, 1 cupful of milk, alternated with 3 cupfuls of flour in which have been mixed 2 teaspoonfuls of baking powder. Roll out half an inch thick, and bake 15 or 20 minutes in moderate oven.

Japanese Brides

That the movement to free women from the bonds of overbearing men received but little encouragement in the sunny land of Japan is evident form the commandments given to Japanese wives on their wedding morning by their mothers. The behests are known as the "Twelve Commandments of the Bride," and read as follows:

"1. The moment you are married, you are no longer my daughter. Therefore you must obey your parents-in-law as you once obeyed your father and mother.

"2. When you are married, your husband will be your sole master. Be humble and polite. Strict obedience to your husband is the noblest virtue a wife can possess.

"3. Always be amiable toward your mother-in-law.

"4. Do not be jealous; jealousy kills your husband's affection for you.

"5. Even though your husband be wrong, do not get angry; be patient, and when he has calmed down, then speak to him gently.

"6. Do not talk too much; speak no evil of your neighbors; never tell lies.

"7. Rise early, retire late, and do not sleep in the afternoon. Drink little wine, and until you are fifty take no part in public assemblies nor mingle in crowds.

"8. Consult no fortune-teller.

"9. Be a good manageress, and especially be economical in your household.

"10. Although you may marry young, do not frequent too youthful society.

"11. Do not wear bright-colored garments. Always be neatly but modestly dressed.

"12. Do not pride yourself on your father's rank or fortune. If he is a rich man, never allude to his riches before your husband's relations."

These rules are similar to those which were in vogue in Japan hundreds of years ago.

DAILY EDITION. MONDAY, DEC. 5

THE COUNCIL S RETIREMENT

After the drum-thumping of certain people who professed to be able to see all sorts of far reaching plots to enable the members of the present City Council to remain in office, the news recorded elsewhere in this issue that two-thirds of the Council will decline the honor for a second term; should come with a wholesome humiliation.

The exactions of public life are many, especially in a community like ours at a time like this. Night after night, when other men after their usual day's work are resting by their own firesides, or enjoying intercourse with their fellows at clubs and lodges, the City Fathers had to spend their evenings thrashing out questions of grading streets, of laying sewers, of passing by-laws to look after the health and order of the city, planning out methods of raising funds to carry out improvements, and a hundred other tedious but necessary duties.

Just why it should be considered a permissible thing to abuse those who serve us it is hard to say. It can only be explained by that inverted kind of humor we on this continent possess, of finding something to laugh at in saying unkind things about the things we most revere, notably our jokes about marriage, and our foolish mother-in-law jokes.

While in every case the aldermen plead the sacrifice of business interests and domestic joys as their reasons for not seeking re-election, there can be little doubt that the habit in certain quarters of holding up our rulers to unfair criticism must make it difficult to always secure the services of the best men for public service.

Public criticism must always and should always be expected by a public man. Criticism, especially that by the press, is the public's great safeguard against incompetence and corruption. When the criticism is of the right kind it is often welcomed by the parties criticized. The Dominion Parliament recognizes this in placing the Leader of the Opposition on the salary list equally with the members of the Cabinet. As Chief Critic, his work is a valuable one.

But those journals which lack the critical faculty, and for interested ends pour vulgar abuse upon public spirited citizens cannot be too quickly hastened to the graveyard. They are a menace to good government.

PLUCKY PRINCE RUPERT!

In Center of World's Future Progress and Activity

The following reference to Prince Rupert is made in the article "Canada Growing Up" in the September issue of the Nineteenth Century magazine.

"The Grand Trunk Pacific Railway touches the ocean at the new port of Prince Rupert, near to the northern point of the seaboard of British Columbia and relatively close to the reported goldfield on the Portland Canal. Whether or not this proves to be a valuable mining district the eventual importance from every point of view, commercial, political, and strategical is clearly foreshadowed. The Pacific slope of the giant mountains is even more beautiful that the Eastern side, owing to the milder climate and more varied clothing of forest and flood. The population has been more largely recruited in recent times from the British Isles themselves, and is therefore an advanced post of the Imperial system on that ocean which is said now to be the center of the world's future progress and activity. It is worth our while to look ahead and be ready to support the courageous outpost, in case its grip of these priceless coigns of vantage be challenged."

A STRONGHOLD OF SALVATION

It was an enthusiastic service, and much enjoyed by all who were present.

The New Building

The new Salvation Army citadel is certainly one of the most commodious and well equpiped public buildings in the city. Comprising a spacious hall behind for children's gatherings the citadel occupies a commanding and central site at the top of Sixth street. Painted a cheerful red and white, the buildings are conspicuous and pleasant in appearance.

Within, the hall is the picture of comfort, and Ensign Johnstone has arranged with Mr. D. R. Morrison, the contractor, for a number of clever and convenient fittings to make the hall as far as possible perfectly adapted for its purposes. Well-warmed, well-ventilated, and with spacious speaker's platform and seats for nearly 300 the Salvation Army hall of Prince Rupert will never want for audiences.

Particularly comfortable are the chairs supplied by Mr. Macdonald of Second avenue, and a splendid feature of the citadel is the brilliant gasoline lighting system installed by A. T. Parkin & Co. who specialize in this means of lighting. The lamp over the doorway sheds a clear white light right down Sixth street, and the installation within the hall makes it bright as day.

Behind the hall are situated the residential buildings—very compact and cosy, with Ensign Johnstone's office convenient of access, and very siutable for Salvation Army business and discussions. In the short time they have had occupancy of their citadel, Ensign Johnstone and his staff have worked wonders in its equipment. The whole premises are pervaded with the hopeful cordial, up-lifting spirit of the Salvation Army at its best.

The ideal Christmas present is a Life Insurance Policy. The Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York paid a Dividend of nearly 14 per cent in 1910. See or write us for information, plans, etc., before taking Life Insurance with any other company. R. C. Bean. P. O. Box 503, 22 Thompson Building, Phone 101, Prince Rupert, B. C.

LOCAL OPTIONISTS ENTHUSIASTIC

PACKED HOUSE IN EMPRESS LAST NIGHT

Congregations Assemble After Service Showing Strong Sympathy With the Cause. Good Speech by Rev. W. H. McLeod.

Churches in Prince Rupert held a short evening service in order that their congregations might assemble in the Empress Theatre to support the Local Option cause.

When Rev. F. W. Kerr's service in the theatre concluded there was already a large gathering present. This was swelled steadily by the other congregations until the theatre was thronged, and many had to stand.

Vigorous addresses in support of the Local Option cause were contributed by A. McDonald, Dr. Kergin, W. E. Williams, W. H. Montgomery, H. F. McRae and Rev. W. H. McLeod.

Rev. Mr. McLeod devoted his address to a thorough exposure of the statements of Mayor Gluck that Local Option in Kansas was a failure. He declared how Attorney-general Trickett had faced Mayor Gluck and proved up to the hilt that the Mayor himself was in league with the hotels, and that the law had been permitted to be flagrantly violated.

Yet Mr. McLeod stated that Kansas is a striking example of Local Option success and declared he could bring young men by scores from there who have never seen a drunken amn nor tasted liquor.

Referring to Dr. McIntyre Mr. McLeod said that the genial doctor as an entirely disinterested person was a pleasure to argue with. He went on to show case after case where Local Option has benefited the business of cities not as Dr. McIntyre holds, retarded it.

Vigorously and eloquently delivered, Mr. McLeod's address aroused tremendous enthusiasm.

H. F. McRae's remarkable vision of the splendid natural resources of Prince Rupert deserting the locailty all because of Local Option was a striking and original way of demonstrating that the prosperity of this city depends on more than the liquor trade.

Every speech indeed, was a stout blow for the cause and the enthusiasm of the gathering was so great that many are now confident that the vote will go vastly in favor of Local Option for Prince Rupert.

MARINE NEWS

The Camosun, which left here yesterday morning, took a bit mmmmmmm day morning, took a big load of salmon from Claxton and also some iother fsh from this port.

THE HISTORY OF A PRINCE RUPERT ENTERPRISE

Whilst walking up Centre street from the dock the newcomer will probably have noticed an unpretentious store facing him at the head of the street. He may have read the sign "C. B. Schreiber & Company, Limited, Men's Outfitters" and passed on his way without giving it another thought; but if he has been observant he will also have noticed a small sign overhanging the street with the simple device "Jaeger Pure Wool Wear" and the thought would at once have crossed his mind that this must be the leading Clothing Store in town. Yet, though the fact that the Company holds the agency for Dr. Jaeger's Clothing, stamps it to be of the highest class, there is no other outward sign on the building to show that its history is part and parcel of the history of Prince Rupert, or that within its doors are to be found as up-to-date and varied an assortment of Men's Furnishings as can be found in any retail store in British Columbia.

Capitalized by a few enterprising engineers who were employed in laying out the townsite, the firm of C. B. Schreiber & Company was launched on its career when the only plank road led from the wharf and terminated at the Anglican Church and the and which is now our townsite was nothing but a wilderness of brush and muskeg.

At that time the population was principally composed of the engineers who were locating and constructing the railway, the surveyors who were planning and laying out the townsite, and the prospectors who were searching for new wealth in unknown districts; and it was the primary object of the Company to supply these men with really good clothing, such as boots that would wear, rubbers that would keep out water, and woolen goods that would be a protection from exposure, and when we know the climatic conditions under which these stalwart pioneers worked we know that to supply such articles that would stand the test they were put to at a reasonable price was no easy task. Yet there are many of the old timers who say that in those strenuous days they have often been thankful for a pair of "Muskeg Boots," a "Jaeger" Sweater or a "Jaeger" Blanket and felt grateful to Schreiber & Company for enabling them to buy these articles on the spot at Montreal prices.

The completion of the Pioneer's work was the advent of the business men with their wives and children, and Prince Rupert assumed more of the aspect of a city. The change was rapid but the "House of Schrieber" was prepared for it. The newcomers, bringing with them the breath and energy of some of the largest cities in the world, were not content with such goods as are usually sold in a Backwoods store and insisted that in a town of such promise as Prince Rupert they should be able to purchase high class, smart, stylish clothing at the same prices as in other cities, and today there is no store in Prince Rupert which has such a fine selection of these goods as C. B. Schreiber & Company from Ready Made Suits to Hosiery there is perhaps no store in British Columbia with such a large and varied stock.

It is unnecessary to enlarge upon the standing of the firm as a business house. The fact that they hold the sole agencies in Prince Rupert for Dr. Jaeger's Pure Wool Wear, Burberry's Weatherproof Garments, K. Boots, Atkinson's Irish Poplin, as well as that for the Vancouver Portland Cement Company and man other well known firms, and in addition are the representatives for the whole of British Columbia of the Edinburgh Roperie Company of Leith, Scotland, Jas. Turner & Sons of Ipswich, England, and the Bradford Truck and Trolley Company should be sufficient guarantee of their reliability.

The insurance and investment department of the business also takes front rank. C. B. Schreiber & Company, Limited, are sole agents in Prince Rupert for the Canada Life Assurance Company, the General Accident Insurance Company, the General Fire Insurance Company, and the Stuyvesant Fire Insurance Company. They are also the representatives of the holders of much valuable property in town and some hundreds of acres in the surrounding district, and during the recent activity in Mining Shares the Company bought and sold for clients upward of a million shares in various Mining Companies.

Thus this Pioneer Company without recourse to pretentious advertising stands today pre-eminent amongst the business houses of Prince Rupert.

Form of Ballot Paper

Voting on the Petition to the Governor-General for the Bringing into Force of Part II of the Canada Temperance Act.

For the Petition
Against the Petition	X

Directions for the Guidance of Voters

The voter will go into one of the compartments, and with a paper there provided, place a cross thus, X in the upper space if he votes FOR the adoption of the petition (SCOTT ACT), and in the lower space if he votes AGAINST the adoption of the petition (SCOTT ACT).

The voter will then fold the ballot, so as to show a portion of the back only, with the number and initials of the deputy returning officer, and deliver it to the deputy returning officer, who will place it in the ballot box. The voter will then forthwith quit the polling station.

If a voter inadvertently spoils a ballot paper he can return it to the proper officer, who, on being satisfied of the fact, will give him another.

If the voter places on the ballot more than one mark, or places any mark on it by which he can afterwards be identified, his vote will be void, and will not be counted.

If the voter takes a ballot paper out of the polling station, or fraudently puts any other paper into the ballot box than the ballot paper given him by the deputy returning officer, he will be subject to be punished by fine or by imprisonment for a term not exceeding six months, with or without hard labor.

Don't forget that the petition is FOR the Scott Act. If you are not in favor of a dry town you must mark your ballot in the lower space. AGAINST the petition means AGAINST the Scott Act. AND DON'T FAIL TO VOTE. Every man in town entitled to vote on this question should do so. It is the most important question which will be submitted to the people for years, and means the life or death of the city.

BIG BUNCH OF MASSET NEWS

GOVERNMENT WHARF NEARLY COMPLETED

Swagger Doings Prospected for Christmas Holidays. Surface Rights to Be Granted Preemptors Irrespective of Coal Locations.

The sale of a large number of sections of land, on Delkatla Bay, promises to prove the inception of a large and flourishing settlement on Masset Inlet. With a road from Cape Fife and the opening up of the centre of the large island, the site selected cannot be excelled. Delkatla Bay forms a safe anchorage for launches and small boats in stormy weather, and will eventually become the shipbuilding centre of Graham Island.

Five settlers arrived on the last steamer and will remain on Masset Inlet awaiting the opening up of the land now staked for coal and timber.

The Secretary of the Settlers' Association received word from the Lands and Works Department that at the next session of the legislature, surface rights will be granted on the east side of Masset Inlet to all pre-emptors, irrespective of the ground staked under license for coal and timber.

The new wharf on the Indian Reserve is almost finished, and will be ready for the Prince Albert to berth on the next trip. In taking soundings it has been found that fifteen feet of water is available at the lowest tide and thirty feet at high tide. A more complete wharf cannot be found in the province and it is a credit to the Dominion Government and the builder, Henry Edenshaw, of Masset.

The season for game is now being taken advantage of by numerous hunters. Wild geese and duck are in abundance. The Indians have trapped twenty black bears during the month, and will make an effort to locate caribou when the first snowfall occurs on Virago Sound.

A Christmas school social, and a sale of work, the latter in connection with the Church of England, will take place during the holidays. The ladies of Masset Inlet are preparing for the sale of work, holding weekly meetings and manufacturing a stock of fancy articles.

The members of the Masset band of Indians will entertain the Hiada's of Alaska during the holidays. The visitors will bring a brass band.

James Martin is making an addition to his store and post office. Dr. A. Ross Fraser has erected a hospital tent and the Dominion Government is erecting office buildings and a residence for the Indian Agent. It is understood that Mr. Christy will erect a residence, at Delkatla in the near future.

A large number of witnesses have proceeded to Vancouver to appear in the civil cases in connection with the staking of coal claims on Virago Sound and Masset Inlet.

It is felt that a great hardship will result from the withdrawal of the weekly steamer, and the substitution of a fortnightly service, during the winter months. The conditions are becoming different from former years, and a weekly steamer service with Prince Rupert is called for by the increasing passenger and freight business.

The timbers for the new wharf at Masset and the piles used, were all produced on the Inlet within two miles of the structure. The sawmill is in full operation, and intending settlers are purchasing quantities of lumber.

The Masset Brass Band and Choir will play and sing Christmas carols on Christmas eve; and will hold several entertainments.

GRAHAM COAL LANDS DISPUTE

BEING DEALT WITH BY MINISTER OF LANDS

Twenty People Interested Appear to Give Evidence—Hearing Adjourned to Next Thursday Week—No Appeal From Minister's Decision.

Victoria, Dec. 2.—A dispute as to priority of location of certain coal lands on Graham island occupied the attention of Hon. William R. Ross, minister of lands, for the greater part of yesterday afternoon. The parties to the dispute, Messrs. Johnson and Jessup, though acting nominally for themselves as individuals, are in reality the representatives of the extensive interests in the lands in question.

Fully twenty persons were on hand yesterday to give evidence in connection with the matter. The minister after hearing as many of these as possible, saw that he would be unable to finish the inquiry yesterday, and adjourned it until the 15th of December.

The question is entirely one to be dealt with by the minister himself, and there will be no appeal from his decision as to which party is to have the lands.

CHIPS FROM THE HUMORISTS

"We need brains in this business, young man." "You needn't tell me, that sir. Your business shows it."

"Did you ride in Charley's automobile?" "Yes, it was lovely. The constant osculation did'nt bother me a bit."

Hostess—Mr. Squibs is going to recite a comic song. Guest—I knew something would happen. I upset the salt at the dinner table.

"What makes you think she's uncultured?" "She thinks Ibsen's plays are stupid. "Well, a lot of people think so." "Yes, but she says so."

Bacon—And you say your brother has settled in Canada? Egbert—No, I didn't say so. I think he went there to get out of settling.

A Wyoming cowboy called to see Owen Wister in Philadelphia and was permitted to inspect the author's city outfit. As he casually examined an opera hat it sprang upon. "A self-cocking hat!" said the cowpuncher, admiringly. "Now, don't that beat hell!"

A story is told of a shock received by a Duluth pastor after the services the other night. He makes it a point to welcome any strangers cordially, and that evening after the completion of the service he hurried down the aisle to station himself at the door.

A Swedish girl was one of the strangers in the congregation. She is employed as a domestic in one of the fashionable east end homes, and the minister, noting that she was a stranger, stretched out his hand.

He welcomed her to the church and expressed the hope that she would be a regular attendant. Finally he said that if she would be at home some evening during the week he would call.

"T'ank you," she murmured, bashfully, "but ay have a fella."

Three of the members of the congregation heard the conversation; and in spite of the fact that their pastor swore them to secrecy, one of them "leaked."

Circus Among the Clouds

The latest amusement sensation is the "Aviation Circus," A company has been organized in New York, with a capital of $200,000, who have engaged seven aviators to give performances wherever a satisfactory guarantee is offered. The aviators will give exhibitions of lofty flying, fancy diving, circling and other aerial acrobatic feats. A special train will be chartered to carry the machines and a corps of mechanicians, and the first exhibition will be given at Richmond, Va., this week.

NEW DEPARTMENT

Hon. Thomas Taylor to Be Provincial Commissioner of Railways

Victoria, Dec. 2.—The Provincial Government has decided to create a department of railways and a bill for that purpose will be introduced at the next session of the legislature. There are now more railways such as the Canadian Northern Pacific, the Portland Canal and the V. & S. as well as electric lines which will naturally come under the jurisdiction of such a department and its work will no doubt increase rapidly. No new portfolio will be created for the present. The new department of railways will be attached to that of public works and will be under Hoh. Thomas Taylor.

THREE BIG NEW WHALERS START

FROM CHRISTIANA, NORWAY FOR THIS COAST

Are Expected to Reach Victoria Early Next March and to Be Immediately Assigned to Stations by Pacific Whaling Company.

Victoria, Dec. 1.—Three of the new whaling steamers built at Christiana, Norway, for the Pacific Whaling company of this city, left Dartmouth, on Friday bound to Victoria. The three steamers, the Green, Black and White, left Christiana together on November 19th, and will come out in company. They wil, proceed to St. Vincent from Dartmouth and will then call at Montevideo.

The work on the British Columbia coast has now been abandoned for the season, and four of the whaling steamers are tied up at this port. The steamer Germania remained at Rose harbor whaling station. Two more steamers, the Red and Blue, are expected to follow the trio now on the way within a few days. They are being brought out by Norwegian crews. Local gunners trained on the company's vessels on this coast, will be appointed to the whalers on their arrival. Captain Jack Anderson is to join one of them.

It is the intention of the company to use three of the steamers from British Columbia whaling stations and two will be sent to the Arctic to be operated from a new station to be established on the coast, near the mouth of the Mackenzie river.

ONE WEEK'S BUILDINGS

Permits Issued by Building Inspector Number Seven

Some time ago the Mayor predicted that the coming of winter would not greatly interfere with building in the city. That there is always a little doing is shown by this week's permits:

Clarke Bros. & Wormald apply for permit to erect a residence near Eighth avenue, at a cost of $200.

Wright & Peacock will build a store on Sixth avenue costing $250.

Douglas & Allison have been granted a permit to put up a butcher's shop on Seventh avenue, costing $500.

Victor Bianco is to build living rooms on Third avenue at a cost of $300.

L. J. Hoyt will erect a dwelling on Seventh avenue, value $200.

A laundry is planned and will be erected by Wong Chew on Third avenue and Green street at a cost of $1000.

The largest building contemplated is the bowling alley and pool rooms on Second avenue for which permit has been issued to Messrs. Hickey & Bain. The cost of the work is $3000.

VICTORIA LIBERALS

J. C. McIntosh Appointed as Paid Organizer of Party

Victoria, Nov. 30.—The Liberals of Victoria, at a meeting held here last night, decided to rearrange their organization in the city. Hitherto they have had but one organization covering the whole city. In future they will have a separate organization in each ward and the ward officers will be members of the central executive.

Mr. J. C. McIntosh is to be appointed permanent paid organizer. Meetings in the different wards for carrying out the new arrangement will be called by him after consultation with prominent members of the party.

A correpondent is informed that Mr. Roosevelt is a gentleman who hunts lions in Africa and was hunted by the tiger in New York, both hunts having been successful. His present whereabouts is unknown, but a letter addressed to Salt Creek might find him.
