RECIPROCITY TO COME UP IN THE HOUSE TOMORROW

Ambassador Bryce on Way to Ottawa on Important Business---Mr. R. L. Borden to Offer Obstructive Motion---Sir Wilfrid Laurier to Lead Debate

(Special to the Optimist)

Ottawa, March 7.—It is reported that Ambassador Bryce will arrive here from Washington on Friday to confer with the Government in regard to the reciprocity relations. It is said that his object is to assure Sir Wilfrid Laurier of President Taft's earnest desire to carry the bill through Congress, and that the delay made necessary in the United States by the calling of an extra session of Congress should not prevent the Canadian House of Commons from ratifying the agreement.

Ottawa, Later.—Mr. R. L. Borden has given notice in the House that he will introduce a motion on Wednesday to the effect that as the reciprocity proposals have not been carried into effect as yet by the United States Congress, that the agreement be not ratified by the Canadian Government until it has first been ratified by the United States Congress.

Hon. Mr. Fielding took the occasion to announce in the House that the reciprocity proposals will extend to Great Britain and all the British Colonies, thereby constituting a considerable degree of free trade within the Empire.

It was also announced that Sir Wilfrid Laurier will speak on the question tomorrow.

D. CLAYTON LETS THE CAT OUT OF THE BAG

mmittee's Report on Wages of City Employees Says "Grade Men Rather Than Increase Minimum Wage."

When the city council decided to ncede the 45 cent rate to certain city ployees, the various committees were ders ood to investigate the conditions fecting the men connected with their ecial departments. Last night a port embodying the matter generally s read at council. It set forth that e committee investigating the wage te of city employees had decided that was inadvisable to raise the minimum ge rate, but that instead it had been cided to grade the men.

To this report Alderman Clayton ok exception. "I do not see the use it," he said. "It is doing just what said we would not do. It is setting wn in black and white what it had en decided to conceal—at least," he ded hurriedly, "not to take any tice of."

For a moment there was an awed ence over the council. Nobody said ything. Acting Mayor Smith studied blotting pad. Alderman Clayton t down. Then Alderman Hilditch shed to the rescue with a busily upbbling explanation that the reason r the report in black and white was cause the various committees had reed to go into the matter of the ages paid the employees of their partments, and the men's working ditions, and of course some sort of count of what had been done was cessary.

There the matter was dropped abruptly

BRANDON ELECTORS CONTENT WITH PASSING A RESOLUTION

Their Member's Action in the House in Opposing Reciprocity Disturbed Them. They Pass Resolution in Favor of Reciprocity.

(Special to the Optimist)

Brandon, March 7.—The action of Hon. Clifford Sifton, member for Brandon, in opposing reciprocity was discussed by the farmers of this constituency at a well attended meeting last night. Some were in favor of asking the member to resign. All were agreed that on this point the member did not voice the opinion of his constituents.

After a discussion lasting for three hours it was decided to pass a resolution endorsing the proposed trade agreement with the United States, and take no action in regard to Mr. Sifton. This suggestion was acted upon.

BAD INDIANS CAUSE TROUBLE

TWO OF THEM KNIFE A CONSTABLE AT LYTTON

While Arranging to Handcuff One of Them, the Other Stabbed Constable Fitzgerald With Jack Knife Man May Die.

(Special to the Optimist)

Lytton, March 7.—The authorities are out searching for two Indians who inflicted serious injuries on Constable Fitzgerald on Saturday night. The Indians were drunk and fighting. When Fitzgerald was slipping the handcuffs on one of them the other stole up behind and plunged his jack knife into the officer's chest near the heart,and then i to his arm, severing an artery.

But for the prompt aid of Archdeacon Pugh who closed the artery, Fitzgerald would have bled to death before medical aid arrived. Both of the men got away and took o the bush.

Later.—The two Indians who stabbed Constable Fitzgerald were captured this morning. The condition of the officer is still very precarious.

THEIR LAUNCH WAS BLOWN UP

CHRIS CHRISTIANSEN AND CREW HAD NARROW ESCAPE

One Man Was Flung Overboard and Rest Were Scorched. Launch Agnes Is Damaged. Accident Occurred While Filling Tank.

Last evening the gasoline launch Agnes blew up in Cow Creek, and two men on board of her were badly burned. Another man was flung overboard by the explosion, and just escaped drowning. The launch took fire, but was saved by the prompt action of the men aboard. It is said that the accident occurred through the leaving of a gasoline can open after the boat's tank had been filled.

The Agnes is a twenty-six foot launch, and is the property of Captain Chris Christiansen who was on board at the time of the mishap. Neither he nor his friends are seriously injured, but the launch had her hatches blown off.

THE BEATRICE MAIL ROBBERY

P. O. INSPECTOR HERE. AUTHORITIES ARE SILENT

Investigation Proceeding in Prince Rupert and at Vancouver. Inspector Travelled up on Steamer Beatrice. Purser Is a Clam.

"All that I can say is that Mr. Fletcher the post office inspector is here investigating," said Postmaster McIntosh this morning on the subject of the Beatrice mail robbery.

Exactly the same account of things was given by the purser of the Beatrice last night before she left for the north. He said also that he was a clam, appearances notwithstanding.

For the purposes of the investigation it is necessary to avoid publicity at the present stage. Those who have the matter in charge are politely silent.

Post Office Inspector Fletcher from Victoria, is staying at the Grand Trunk Inn. He arrived on the Beatrice last night.

CITY MUST HAVE A WATER POWER

STEAM DRIVEN ELECTRIC PLANT WON'T PAY

Investigation of City Power Plant by Ald. Hilditch Shows It to Be Uneconomical. Juice Can't Be Supplied at Reasonable Rate.

Prince Rupert had better get a water power in shape pretty soon to drive an electric light and power plant. If Alderman Hilditch is correct, the present steam plant cannot be run economically enough to serve the city's demand for light and power. With coal at $8 per ton, and the wages of the employees, etc., it has been found that the present plant cannot sell current at a profit earning price that the people would care to pay. Selling current at a reasonable price would mean that the city's revenue from it would be nil.

"We must hunt for a cheaper power at once," says Alderman Hilditch "We cannot afford to burden the telephone system with this light proposition."

City Engineer Davis has been in communication with Mr. M. A. Maxwell, Electrical Engineer of Camrose, Alta., with a view to having his expert advice on the possibility of increasing the output of light and power from the present plant. Mr. Maxwell offered to come here and advise for about $150, at the rate of $25 per day. This offer Alderman Clayton thought should be taken without delay. On the other hand, Alderman Hilditch wished the matter delayed pending the investigation of a city water power from which to derive the electrical energy which will be, and is now, required for lights elevators, and other plants in use in the city.

Alderman Clayton agreed to the delay for this purpose.

At the last outbreak the local police were found insufficient to maintain order.

"The Critical Age"

The women of Germany are profoundly agitated by the book of the season entitled "Th Critical Age." The authoress is Mme. Karin Michaelis, a woman past fifty. She is Danish by birth, but her husband is German, and she has spe t the greater part of her life in Germany and writes her books in the German language.

In this extraordinary book, of which hundreds of thousands of copies have been sold, the authoress deals with the tragedy of the woman who has passed her fortieth year. It is not, strictly speaking, a novel, but the confessions of a middle-aged woman who endeavors to tell the whole truth about herself and what she concives to be the truth about her sex. Here are some of the characteristic passages of these strange confessions:

"No man understands what the soul of a woman is in reality. No man has any idea of the inner workings of a woman's heart. Men pride themselves on understanding women and are always befooled in this respect."

"The whole truth is never spoken between a man and a woman; women are never quite sincere towards men, because they are never quite sincere towards themselves. Men can be honorable in dealing with themselves as in dealing with others, but women do not possess this capacity.

"A woman can love a man more than her own life; she can sacrifice her time her health, her virtue and her life for him, but if she is a real woman she can never take him entirely into her confidence. She can never take him into her confidence because she dare not. A man, on the contrary, even if only for a short time, can love without re serve. In this condition he allows himself to be unlocked like a chest of drawers with many secret recesses. Then he delivers himself and his past to the woman he loves, but a woman never gives more of her confidence than reason permits. Her sense of shame is quite different in character from a man's sense of shame. She would rather perpetrate an indecency than confess to a man some of her secret thoughts, which she would willingly .nd without reserve communicate to another woman."

"Every woman plays a comedy at all times of her life with smiles and with tears. Smiling is a language which none but women understand; woman smiles at a great crisis, woman passes over vices with a smile, and with a smile she reflects the greatest virtues. Men cannot smile at all; they are not deceitful enough to smile, and with the smile so it is wi.h tears. Tears are a gift from nature to women, and most women use them to excite themselves when they desire a scene."

Karin Michaelis devotes a large portion of her book to portraying the terrible grief of a woman who after passing the age of forty, still desires to be admired and loved, and still has longings for all those delicate attentions which men pay to youthful women, and which are not endered to her because her external appearance causes her to be classified among the middle-aged or elderly of her sex. This, according to the authoress, is the critical age for a woman, when she passes through a veritable inferno of mental suffering. A woman loses the outside sign of youth, but her heart does not grow old; on the contrary, her desire for love and devotion increases with augmenting years.

on the critical age of woman, are based on the life story of the heroine of the book, who after being married for twen:y-one years, obtains a divorce from her husband just at a time when she herself is entirely the critical age. She desires to be alone, to withdraw from the busy world and to enjoy complete repose. She realizes her dream of peaceful solitude and lives isolated in a remote spot.

Her real reason for leaving her husband, was that she loved another, but she deceived herself into the belief that she desired repose. Her intention was that the other man should learn nothing of her feelings towards him. She desires to see no more men at all, but just to have repose and nothing but repose. But her feelings overcome her and her loving heart cannot be lulled into that repose which her soul desires. Suddenly she is overcome by an unconquerable desire to see the man whom she loves. She writes to him that she loves him, and awaits his arrival with eager anticipation. He comes, and with him comes disillusion, for he loves her no longer. He had loved her, but his love has evaporated.

In her despair, the heroine appeals to her husband to take her back. Here, again, she experiences a deep blow to her self-esteem, for her husband is about to marry another and much younger woman. Then the heroine leaves her reposeful home, and rushes hastily through the busy world, plunging herself into a turmoil of life, and activity and excitement, in order to drown cares.

About Wrinkles

Wrinkles are not all to be charged to the account of Father Time. Many children are allowed to form them by sitting in incorrect positions or in a glare of light, and by loose hair allowed to blow continually in the face. Children, too, are often encouraged to make funny faces, which give the first-foothold to the wrinkles.

Girls of fifteen or sixteen frequently have ugly lines around the neck or a long wrinkle between the eyes. Youth overcomes the effect of these, but youth gone they stand out unpleasantly.

Wrinkles re caused by bad eyesight, nervestrain, lack of sufficient sleep, facial grimaces when talking, habitual expressions. Much laughing, quick temper, sullenness, melancholia, sarcasm all write their lines on the face. A woman told me once that she didn't mind her wrinkles, for they meant character. In spite of the disclaimer I noticed frequently, however, that she did mind them. There is no reason why anyone should like them; they are not beauti ul.

By eliminating the causes,the wrinkle itself m y be eliminated. It is possible to experience all things and yet wear a serene countenance. The secret is self-control.

TO SEARCH THE ARCTIC WILDS

MOUNTED POLICE EXPEDITION LEAVES DAWSON CITY

They Are Going in Search of Five of Their Comrades Who Are Forty Days Overdue—Feared They Have Perished.

Dawson, March 4.—A dozen mounted men of the Royal Northwest Mounted Police left Dawson today for a long search into the upper Arctic circle for a police expedition of five men, already forty days overdue from Fort McPherson and Herschel Island. Indians brought the alarm to Dawson, it being reported that the missing party left Fort McPherson a week before Christmas. The trip down to Dawson usually takes no longer than thirty days.

The missing party was bringing down mail from whalers and trappers by dog train, and it is feared that they are lost in the barren country where no Indians are wintering this year because of the unusually severe cold.

WILL TRY CHANNEL SWIM

Monty Holbein Has Now a New Leg Stroke

Montague Holbein, who has several times almost accomplished the swimming of the English Channel, will make one last effort this summer He has commenced to learn a new leg stroke by which he not only hopes to increase his pace, but also to lessen the strain on his stamina. It is called the "Northern kick," and offers an absolute minimum of resistance to the water when the legs are being drawn into a position for a kicking. Its motion increases the speed and there is not nearly the same fatigue resulting.

TO CARRY OUT FRENCH'S REPORT

MINISTER OF DEFENCE MAKES PUBLIC STATEMENT

Says Cavalry, Infantry and Artillery Will Be Increased Along Lines Suggested by Sir John French in Report.

Ottawa, March 4.—"We intend to carry out Sir John French' report so far as the whole force in Canada is concerned; perhaps not as rapidly as we would like, but not less rapidly than we have been progressing in the department in the past seven or eight years. The artillery will be recruited and increased to the strength it should have, and the cavalry and infantry also. The necessary armament will be supplied as rapidly as possible, and divisions made as the General's report suggested."

This announcement was made by Sir Frederick Borden, Minister of Militia and Defence, to the annual meeting of the Canadian Artillery Association in the Railway Committee rooms of the House this afternoon. Sir Frederick Borden stated that the report had been eminently pleasant reading to him, in so far as the artillery of Canada was concerned, and he thought should be very satisfactory to the militia as a whole. General French had not considered in his report, and had not been expected to do so, the difficulties existing in Canada as regards the forming of regiments. He had been expected to report on the force as he found it, as a unit ready to take the field, and he had done so.

MR. SMITHERS' OPINION

Chairman of Grand Trunk Not Afraid of Reciprocity

London, March 2.—A. W. Smithers, chairman of the Grand Trunk, presiding at a meeting of the English Association of American and British shareholders, said anent the reciprocity agreement, that although there might be some dislocation of individua interests for a time, he thought the effect on Canada as a whole must be good. They could not yet estimate what would be the effect of free commercial intercourse between 8,000,000 of people in Canada and 94,000,000 in the United States. He predicted a great demand for capital from Canada. Securities for all this work would form, if properly selected, some of the finest investments in the world.

HUGE SUM FOR ADVERTISING

Union Pacific to Spend $1,250,000 During 1911

Chicago, Feb. 23.—One and one-quarter million dollars are to be spent for advertising during 1911 by the Union Pacific and Southern Paccifi railroads This startling statement was made at the end of a conference of some fifty of the passenger officials of the lines interested held in Chicago recently.

Such an expenditure for advertising is unparalleled in railroad history, and indicates the great confidence of the Union Pacific and Southern Pacific railroads in the prosperity o this country.

By this appropriation President R. S. Lovett and his associates are endorsing the policy of the late E. H. Harriman. A large share of the $1,250,000 will be devoted to newspaper and periodical advertising.

More Credit for the Council

On Saturday last the Optimist gave a list of the work done so far by the city council. Since then another session has been held, and the list must be added to.

Last night the council extended the hours of the hotel bars to permit them to keep open till midnight;

Reduced the bartenders' licenses to $2.50 for six months;

Arranged to bring in an amendment to the license by-law reducing the theatre licenses.

The Mayor, who has only attended one council meeting since his election has not been heard from. The last report is that he left Victoria before the Legislature was over, and is visiting relatives in Vancouver.

Ald. Clayton's Slip of the Tongue

"You have put down in black and white what it had been decided to conceal,—at least not to take any notice of."

The above significant remarks fell from Alderman Clayton's lips last night when the report of the Committee to Investigate the Wages of City Employees was brought in. They establish direct confirmation of the suspicion that the council in their treatment of the wage question has something to conceal.

Although it is quite true that the Industrial Workers with their 111 votes put the present council (with the exception of Alderman Pattullo) into office, and that the consideration for the service was that the council should vote them increase of wages, the council owe a duty to the other electors who supported them with their votes. And they are not absolved from duty to those who did not support them with their votes.

Alderman Newton at the Skating Rink told the Industrial Workers something that did not square with the committee's resolution. Why does he not take the general public into his confidence also? If the explanation he gave the workers is a true one, it is due to the workers that the city ouncil should make that explanation publicly. If the explanation he gave the workers is a true one, it is due to the ratepayers that the explanation should be given publicly.

Though challenged to give to the public the same explanation he gave to the Industrial Workers, Alderman Newton shirked the challenge.

Abuse is no answer to the challenge. Alderman Newton and his colleagues on the council had better acquaint the public with this secret arrangement they have decided to conceal. We are all anxious to know which has been fooled, the Industrial Workers, the ratepayers, or both.

No wonder little Willie prefers to visit relatives in Vancouver instead of coming home.

The White Slave Traffic in New York

(New York Evening Post)

"The crime of which you were convicted is one before which description falters, and therefore I must be sil nt. It is a crime lower than perdition and blacker than despair. The people of this State of New York are determined, if needs be with iron boots, to stamp out this infamous crime."

This was the just and proper language used by Judge Malone in the Court of General Sessions, in sentencing a young man convicted under the new "white slave" law. And the sentence was in accordance with the language, being imprisonment for not less than ten years, with a possible maximum of seventeen y ars and six months. Every case of the kind will, we trust, be treated in precisely the spirit of Judge Malone's words and act. This infamy can be stamped out, and it will be stamped out if police and judges do their duty as it has been d ne in this case.

FEUD CAUSES TROUBLE

Liquor Selling Against Camozzi Is Dismissed

Before Magistrate Carss this morning the case of S. Camozzi charged with having sold liquor without a licence, came up. Appearing as principal witness against Camozzi was a man named Giovanni upon whose information the charge, it seems, was based.

In the course of the hearing it became evident to the Magistrate that motives of personal animosity underlay the information and evidence of Giovanni, and the case was dismissed. Magistrate Carss took the opportunity of severely warning the principals against quarrelling and advised them both to be careful in future.

Camozzi was represented at the trial by Messrs. Williams & Manson.

CROWD INSISTS ON FAIR PLAY

HELPED MAN AND HIS WIFE IN HOMESTEAD RUSH

After Camping Out, Couple Were Dispossessed by Two Men, but the Crowd Turned in and Handled the Intruders.

Calgary, Alta., March 4.—After camping on the land office steps to be the first to file on an abandoned homestead in the Red Deer River district, for five whole days and nights, Mr. and Mrs. William Faux, of Didsbury, are now having to fight hard for their position in the face of the new land regulations and two rivals, William Preston and his son, of Three Hills, Alberta.

The pair have become familiar figures on the steps during the last five days, and the gallant way in which the wife cheerfully relieved her husband and took her tedious vigil aroused the admiration of the citizens. When, therefore, an attempt was made to oust her by brute force the sympathies of the crowd were with her.

Both Preston and his son w re badly handled and they were compelled to seek protection of the police. Following this the new regulations prohibiting waiting outside land offices were read, and both parties went away but only temporarily. After dark Presto tried to steal a march on Faux but the others were awake, and ore-talled the attempt. The crowd was particularly sore upon the Prestons, who had to take refuge in the land office. They were released by the side entrance.

Amid the cheering of the crowds, Mr. and Mrs. Faux took their old position against the door and intended remaining all night. The coveted piece of land is in the Red Deer di.trict and will now be open for filing upon.

$50.00 prize to be given away now displayed in C. B. Wark's display window. See adv. 52-59

COUNCIL GRANTS LIQUOR MEN'S REQUEST

BARS MAY NOW KEEP OPEN UNTIL MIDNIGHT---MORAL AND SOCIAL REFORM ASSOCIATION MADE FUTILE OPPOSITION

ALDERMEN GIVE VARYING REASONS

Alderman Hilditch Pleads "Duty," Alderman Clayton the Increased Daylight While Alderman Morrissey Feels He Must Obey "the Mandate of the People"---Council Decides Also to Reduce Bartenders' Fees

Last ht the amended Licence By-law introduced by Alderman Hilditch passed through committee of the whole, and its third reading. Clause 12 which as amended, gives the bars the right to remain open from 11 p.m. till midnight on all week days except Saturday, has passed in spite of the efforts of the Social and Moral Reform Association against it. Clause 9, which provides that if a man gets drunk on licensed premises the proprietor must not turn him out withou a proper escort was allowed to stand. It was made very clear, however, that the man must have got drunk on the premises and not simply wandered in drunk from the street. Licence fee for bartenders is reduced to $2.50 per term of six months.

Deputation Was Heard

Bishop Du Vernet in an eloquent speech set forth the desires of the party. With him were L. W. Patmore, Dr. Kergin, and D. McLeod. This small deputation was chosen because it was felt that the case of the Moral and Social reformers would carry on its merits and not by force of weight of n mbers. The Liquor Trade was represented by a much larger deputation.

Acting Mayor Smith suggested that the deputations be heard first of all last night, and all the members of the Social and Moral reform deputation spoke at considerable length. The Bishop appealed for care of the drunken man in the interests o common humanity. He further appealed for 11 p. m. closing of the bars because the last hour of the day is the most drunken hour, and because all over the Dominion the trend is towards earlier closing of the bars, and he did not want to see Prince Ruper take a retrograde step by making the hour of closing later again.

Mr. Patmore's Protest

L. W. Patmore declared that he thought the liquor men's petition meant nothing. He did not believe that either the working class or the business men of the city were really anxious to have the bars open up to midnight. The liquor men themselves alone wanted the later hour in order to coin a little more revenue. Mr. Patmore could see little use in the extra hour to benefit the community. As for Clause 9, surely the liquor men were not trying to press that If they did then they must be desirous of selling liquor to drunk men.

Mr. D. McLeod and Dr. Kergin spoke in strong support of the principles of the Moral and Social reform party in regard to the liquor traffic in the city. Mr. McLeod suggested that the matter be referred to the people.

Heard the Liquor Men

For the liquor men J. Y. Rochester spoke briefly, and S. Corley at greater length. The appeal of the trade was for a fair deal. The liquor men he said they paid high for their licences, business was not what it might be, newcomers to the city often came at night and met with closed bars and a dreary prospect. It gave a bad impression. To have the extra hour before midnight would tend to help the city all round. As for Clause 9, the Bowser Act prohibited the sale of liquor to drunken men. It was rather hard if the bar proprietor had to look after a man who had been made drunk in a blind pig, or in his own shack with a bottle purchase of liquor.

Who Is Responsible?

Acting Mayor Smith said here lay a wrong impression. It was only if the man were made drunk on the premises that the proprietor was responsible for his safety. Not if he wandered in drunk. Mr. Corley said he always did look after drunks, and was perfectly willing to look after all men made drunk on his liquor. But you could not hire a man to see drunks home.

When the matter of the Licence came to the committee of the whole Alderman Hilditch spoke in favor of the retaining of Clause 9. After very little discussion Clause 9 was allowed to stand.

Felt It Was "Duty"

Clause 12, however, provoked more argument. Alderman Hilditch was in favor of the extra hour, not because he particularly loved the liquor men, but in the interests of the city. Prince Rupert, he said would soon be a transcontinental city. It would need the very finest hotels, and the granting of the extra hour would forward this. Alderman Morr ssey supported the extra hour as a duty to the electorate of Prince Rupert. He felt that the liquor men's long petition contained a mandate for him.

Clayton's Cute Idea

It was Alderman Clayton's bright idea that as daylight lasts so much longer in Prince Rupert in summer it is only logical that the bars shall remain open till it gets dark enough for people to want to go to bed. Alderman Clayton was inclined to give the liquor men a little latitude.

Newton for Short Hou s

Not so Alderman Newton. He was not in favor of gradually enlarging the scope of the liquor men. All Canada is in favor of sho t nin the bar-room hours. Alderman Newton was with all Canada. His idea was that the question of hours should be put up to the people along with the City Hall site selection.

"Dear me," remarked Alderman Clayton. "My much esteemed colleague, Alderman Newton, seems to have undergone a strange change of heart since I suggested that the Wages Question should be referred to a plebiscite. Rather a rapid change of front is it not?"

(Alderman Newton opposed the plebiscite idea on that occasion.)

"My Dear Alphonse!"

In reply to Alderman Clayton, Alderman Newton arose smiling. "Alderman Clayton and I," he said, "have without actually 'colleaguing,' been paddling the same boat so far, and for that reason I very highly respect the opinion of my friend Alderman Clayton. But now I think he is a little bit off." And Alderman Newton launched into a long explanation of his altered attitude to the idea of an appeal to the people as applied to the City Hall site, the liquor trade hours, and the wages question. The appeal on the latter issue he indicated that he did not support because he considered the council had promised to give the wage increase under certain conditions. The other matters were different.

"My Dear Gaston!"

After listening patiently, Alderman Clayton replied briefly to the effect that he still greatly admired Alderman Newton, and felt a brotherly regard for him, but he did not think he had a very good memory. His ideas seemed to contradict themselves.

At this point Alderman Hilditch suggested the adoption of the amended Clause 12, detailing the hours carefully. The Clause as amended carried. Alderman Smith and Alderman Newton voting against it.

Very quickly thereafter the Clause dealing with the bartenders' licence fees was settled with. The bartenders' licences will now cost $2.50 each half year. The Amended Liqour Licence By-law was then formally reported passed through committee of the whole, and went up for its third reading which it passed. Twenty-four hours must elapse before it comes into force.

A Great Lecture

An interesting evening will be spent at the League Meeting at the Methodist Church on Wednesday evening, when Rev. William Pierce of Port Essington will give his experiences in the Upper Skeena, where he has been a missionary for twenty-eight years among the Kishpiax Indians. Mr. Pierce is an entertaining speaker and every one interested in the early life of the Indian peoples should embrace this opportunity of hearing one who has seen the evolution from the grossest practices of heathenism to the better modern conditions.

The Epworth Leaguers invite the public to this evening with a veteran missionary. Come and bring a friend with you. A silver collection will be taken in behalf of missions.

Advertising Dance

Don't forget the Hard Time and Masquerade Ball on Wednesday night in the McIntyre Hall. Dress and advertise any old thing. Prizes worth competing for on exhibition in Gray's Jewellry window. Gray's Orchestra.

CLAYTON DOWN ON STRIKERS

Objects Strongly to 60 Cent Levy and Red Flag Parade

"If it is the case that the men now getting 45 cents an hour from the city are expected to contribute 60 cents a day to the strike fund, then this is a thing I will not stand for," declared Alderman Clayton last night. "Another thing I won't stand for is this parading under red flags on our streets. As a British subject I strongly object to it."

The subject of the 60 cent contribution to the strike fund would have been discussed at length had Alderman Clayton had his way last night but the hour was very late and Alderman Kirkpatrick insisted on the adjournment.
