(Canadian Press Despatch)

Halifax, Aug. 2.—It is feared that the cruiser Niobe is doomed to sink beneath the waves, as her condition grows worse daily despite the efforts of the engineers and pumping steamers to keep her afloat.

Is Slowly Sinking

The pumps are working night and day without ceasing, but the water is crawling up in her engine rooms, and her hull is sinking deeper into the water. She is settling aft, and this morning not more than ten feet of her afterworks were visible above water.

In Clarke's Harbor

The wrecked flagship after being towed from the rocks was hauled towards the eastern point of Clarke's Harbor, where she now lies anchored in seven and three-quarter fathoms of water. Increased efforts will be made to keep her afloat, now that the gales are moderating, but the outlook is not hopeful.

ELECTION IN QUEBEC ALSO

Rumor that Sir Lomer Guoin will Appeal to the Electors of Quebec.

Montreal, Aug. 2.—There is now an impression in well informed political circles that Sir Lomer Guoin will appeal to the country at an early date and that the provincial elections will be over before the federal polling or that the appeal to the local and federal electorate will take place on the same day.

The question of the province's rights in pulp legislation is at stake.

SIR DANIEL McMILLAN TO OPPOSE HON. R. ROGERS

Winnipeg Liberals Get a Strong Candidate in the Retiring Lieut.-Governor to Oppose Manitoba Minister—Great Fight Promised in Winnipeg.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Winnipeg, Aug. 2.—The Winnipeg Liberals decided today to nominate Sir Daniel McMillan, the retiring Lieutenant-Governor of Manitoba as their candidate for the Winnipeg seat in the forthcoming general elections. Sir Daniel is an old campaigner in the Liberal ranks, and his candidacy is looked upon as a strong one.

To Oppose Rogers

This decision followed the announcement that Hon. Robert Rogers, Minister of Public Works in the Roblin Government, will resign his portfolio and contest the Winnipeg federal seat in the interset of the Conservative party. The contest between Sir Daniel and Hon. Mr. Rogers promises to be an interesting one.

D. C. Cameron Succeeds

Sir Daniel's term of office as Lieutenant-Governor expired yesterday, and Mr. D. C. Cameron, the well known lumberman, who has many interests on the Pacific Coast, was sworn in as his successor. Mr. Cameron was the unsuccessful Liberal candidate at the last Federal election.

Who the Conservative candidate will be is not yet definitely settled, but there are several gentlemen who are reported to be desirous of the honor. Among these are said to be Sir Charles Hibbert Tupper and Mr. J. H. Tisdale, M. P. P.

Rumor about Templeman

It is also reported from Ottawa that Hon. William Templeman will not offer himself again for nomination to Parliament. Some time ago, Mr. Templeman announced that he would not be a candidate for Comox-Atlin again, but it was conjectured that he would run for his home town of Victoria.

Duncan Ross or McInnes

The Liberal candidate for Comox Atlin has not yet been decided upon, but it will be either Duncan Ross or Judge McInnes. Duncan Ross is known to be a strong favorite in the northern part of the riding, but some of Judge McInnes' friends are desirous of securing the nomination for him.

A PRETTY WEDDING

Miss Agnes Angus Became the Bride of Mr. Norman Mackintosh Last Night.

The home of Captain and Mrs. Roberson was the scene of a pretty wedding last night, when in the presence of a score of their closest friends, Miss Agnes Rhoda Angus became the bride of Mr. Norman Mackintosh of the News editorial staff.

There was a more than usual flavor of romance about the occasion. Both bride and groom hail from Scotland, both are children of the marse, and were playmates in childhood. The bride is the second daughter of Rev. James Angus, minister of Stirling, Scotland, and the groom is the second son of Rev. William Mackintosh, minister of Torosay, Scotland. The bride only arrived in the city a few days ago, after travelling across the ocean and the continent with a party of friends.

The rooms were tastefully decorated for the occasion, and Rev. Mr. James of St. Andrew's Church, performed the ceremony. The petite bride in her pretty wedding gown, bridal veil, floral wreath and bouquet looked charming.

A moment after the marriage register was signed, a special "wedding extra" of the Daily News was circulated, giving the latest news about the affair. It had photographs of the young couple and some of the guests, together with wholesome advice to "Mack," causing a good deal of merriment.

The toast to the bride and groom was drunk in champagne and spoken to by several of their friends, who joined in the best of good wishes for their happiness.

Mr. and Mrs. Mackintosh will take a house on Seventh avenue.

CRESCENTS WON MATCH AFTER AN EXCITING GAME

They Beat the Quill Drivers Team by the Narrow Margin of 40 to 39 After One of the Best Games Seen for a Long Time

Here's the score for the second game in the local indoor baseball league:

Crescents	40
Quill Drivers	39

Last night's game played at the Auditorium was unquestionably the best played this season. Up to the last inning the score oscillated first in favor of the Crescents then in favor of the Quill Drivers. Then in the last round for the Crescents, when the score was a tie, Ives stole home from third with the result that the Quill Drivers were trimmed.

In the fourth inning the Q D's were 16 runs ahead of their opponents, but urged on by a big coterie of rooters, the Baptist Church aggregation got busy and pulled up enough to win.

The game brought out a big raft of fans. The lineup was: Crescents; Sidle, Ives, Green, Rogers, Dobbing and Daggett. Quill Drivers; Sloan Vance, Johnson, Baker, Shaveley, Tobey, Henning.

The umpires were Nelson Dunn and Mr. Shea.

The next league game is fixed for tomorrow night when the Blue Ribbons and Maple Leafs will combat.

With every berth filled with passengers and her holds loaded down with consignments of fish, the S.S. City of Seattle called in here early this morning bound for the south. She carried mail and some passengers from here.

WOMEN WILL RECALL DILLING

Seattle's Mayor Who Replaced Gill on Recall to Suffer His Predecessor's Fate.

Seattle, Aug. 2.—Recall the recall mayor, George W. Dilling and elect "Bob," Hodge, the present sheriff of King county.

That is the slogan of the recall association which has been working for the recall of Dilling for over a month. Within the next ten days, according to Mrs. Catherine Stirtan, the moving spirit of the association, there will be more than the required 15,000 signatures to bring about the recall election. Four councilmen are also included in the proposed recall.

The chief grievance against Mayor Dilling is that he has failed to institute jail reforms.

If Mayor Dilling should be recalled, it will be accomplished by the same factor which brought about his election—the votes of women.

K. I. Club Dance

One of the most successful dances of the season was given last night by the members of the Kaien Island Club in the club gymnasium. Everybody had a happy time. Professor Gray's orchestra supplied the music.

The S.S. Princess Royal will arrive from the south northbound tomorrow afternoon.

Looking Well After Trip

Looking wonderfully well after a short holiday in Vancouver and other cities in the south Mrs. A. E. McMaster returned home this morning on the S.S. Prince Rupert.

MOVING PICTURE EXPERT TAKING SCENES OF RUPERT

Mr. W. H. Harbeck Arrived on Prince Rupert Today to Take Scenes of the Harbor and City—Will Go Up the Skeena and Portland Canal

Although the weather was good and fairly bright this morning it was hardly bright enough for Mr. W. H. Harbeck, the well known moving picture artist, to take views of the harbor and city as he came in on the S.S. Prince Rupert as she steamed into this port.

On the way up from Vancouver he took a picture of the Prince Rupert and Prince George passing each other in Seymour Narrows. To do this he was landed at a convenient point on the shore and then the boats steamed full steam ahead for some distance. Then the Prince Rupert called back and picked Mr. Harbeck up.

At noon today the weather was bright enough to enable him to take a film of the fire drill on the Prince Rupert. He will likely go up to Stewart in the morning and from there will go into Alaska taking pictures along the route as often as the weather permits. Later he may return to take views of this scenery up the G. T. P. line as far as Copper River.

Mr. Harbeck is official moving picture artist to the Canadian Pacific railroad and is now under contract to take some of the best scenery along the G. T. P. steamship and railroad routes. He confesses that the scenery along the coast and in the surrounding country of Prince Rupert is the finest he has seen.

The pictures when developed will be seen all over the world.

WHAT IS RECIPROCITY?

The Reciprocity Bill is a proposal between Canada and the United States to reciprocally ablosih taxes on the food products which are exchanged across the border between the two countries.

It will mean a reduction in the high cost of living, and make food more plentiful.

It will enable the people of British Columbia to enjoy the early fruits of the Pacific States free of duty.

It will enable the fruit growers of British Columbia to market their later matured fruits in the markets of the United States at a time when they will bring the highest prices.

It will open the markets of the United States to the lumber of British Columbia.

It will open the markets of the United States to the fisheries of Northern British Columbia.

It will bring twenty thousand fishermen and their families to Prince Rupert.

It will bring prosperity to Prince Rupert.

The United States Congress has carried the bill.

All that is now required is that Canada carries the bill.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier is appealing to the people of Canada to endorse reciprocity at the polls.

To secure prosperity for British Columbia support Sir Wilfrid Laurier and reciprocity.

The mutual abolition of taxes on food is the only issue in the present campaign.

MR. BORDEN'S UNPARDONABLE OFFENCE

The unpardonable offence for which the West will wreak its well deserved vengeance upon Mr. Borden and the Conservative party, is that he deliberately forced the West to go to an election without adequate representation.

It is a political crime which will be remembered for a long time.

It means that 35,000 people in Comox-Atlin have only as much representation as 20,000 people in Mr. Borden's own Maritime Provinces. And the case of some of the prairie provinces is much worse that that of Comox-Atlin.

How does it come that a piece of unfairness of this kind is possible?

Under the British North America Act of 1867 which confederated the provinces of Canada, the Province of Quebec was given a fixed representation of sixty-five members in the Federal House. The other provinces were to be given representation in like ratio. The representation was arrived at by dividing the population of Quebec by 65. This gave the ratio of representation for all the Provinces.

In 1871, the Maritime Provinces had a large population. The West including British Columbia had very little. But slowly the population moved from the Maritime Provinces. With increasing force the tide of immigration came into the West. Each ten years in 1881, in 1891, in 1901 the great increase in Western population was shown. The present census of 1911, will outvie them all in showing the growth of population in the West.

By October, the results of the census will be made known. By October the Government will be in a position to bring in a Redistribution Bill and redistribute the seats according to the latest figures of the population. As the West has increased its population at a rate far in excess of the growth of population in Quebec it is known that the West is due to receive a large increase in its representation.

No matter whether a man believes in reciprocity or not, the claim of the "square deal" remains untouched. The right of the people of Canada to have fair representation, so that the majority may express their will, and act according to their desires, is a clear one. It is as wrong to steal representation from a number of people as it is to steal their watches and chains.

The political crime of Mr. Borden and his followers inheres in the fact that in their fear of the expressed will of the majority of the people of Canada they forced an election, almost on the eve of the declaration of the census. In their efforts to defeat reciprocity and to attain to office, they have forced the West to go into the contest unfairly represented.

Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia must enter the contest, not on the basis of their existing population, but on the basis of the meagre population ten years ago.

The man who has robbed the West of its representation, is appealing to the West to defeat reciprocity and make him Premier.

Watch the West make answer.

:: A Reminiscence of Sherlock Holmes ::

The Adventure of The Red Circle

BY ARTHUR CONAN DOYLE

Copyright, 1911, by the Century Syndicate

So it proved; for in the morning I found my friend on the hearth-rug with his back to the fire, and a smile of complete satisfaction upon his face.

"How's this, Watson?" he cried, picking up the paper from the table. "'High red house with white stone facings. Third floor. Second window left. After dusk—' That is definite enough. I think after breakfast we must make a little reconnaissance of Mrs. Warren's neighborhood. Ah, Mrs. War ren! Ah, Mrs. Warren! what news do you bring us this morning"

Our client had suddenly burst into the room with an explosive energy which told of some new and momentous development.

"It's a police matter, Mr. Holmes!" she cried. "'I'll have no more of it? He shall pack out of that with his baggage. I would have gone straight up and told him so only I thought it was but fair to you to take your opinion first. But I'm at the end of my patience, and when it comes to knocking my old man about——"

"Knocking Mr. Warren about?"

"Using him roughly, anyway."

"But who used him roughly?"

"Ah! that's what we want to know! It was this morning, sir. Mr. Warren is a time-keeper at Morton and Waylight's in Tottenham Court Road. He has to be out of the house before seven. Well, this morning he had not got ten paces down the road when two men came up behind him, threw a coat over his head, and bundled him into a cab that was beside the curb. They drove him an hour, and then opened the door and shot him out. He lay in the roadway so shaken in his wits that he never saw what became of the cab. When he picked himself up he found he was on Hampstead Heath; so he took a bus home, and there he lies now on the sofa, while I came straight round to tell you what had happened."

"Most interesting," said Holmes. "Did he observe the appearance of these men—did he hear them talk?"

"No, he is clean dazed. He just knows that he was lifted up as if by magic. Two at least were in it, and maybe three."

"And you connect this attack with your lodger?"

"Well, we've lived there fifteen years and no such happenings ever came before. I've had enough of him. Money's not everything. I'll have him out of my house before the day is done."

"Wait a bit, Mrs. Warren. Do nothing rash. I begin to think that this affair may be very much more important than appeared at first sight. It is clear now that some danger is threatening your lodger. It is equally clear that his enemies, lying in wait for him near your door, mistook your husband for him in the foggy morning light. On discovering their mistake they released him. What would they have done had it not been a mistake, we can only conjecture.

"Well, what am I to do, Mr. Holmes?"

"I have a great fancy to see this lodger of yours, Mrs. Warren."

"I don't see how that is to be managed, unless you break in the door. I always hear him unlock it as I go down the stair after I leave the tray."

"He has to take the tray in. Surely we could conceal ourselves and see him do it."

The landlady thought for a moment.

"Well, sir, there's the box-room opposite. I could arrange a looking-glass, may be, and if you were behind the door——"

"Excellent!" said Holmes. "When does he lunch?"

"About one, sir."

"Then Dr. Watson and I will come round in time. For the present, Mrs. Warren, good-bye."

At half-past twelve we found ourselves upon the steps of Mrs. Warren's house—a high, thin, yellow-brick edifice in Great Orme street, a narrow thoroughfare at the northeast side of the British Museum. Standing as it does near the corner of the street, it commands a view down Howe street, with its more pretentious houses. Holmes pointed with a chuckle to one of these, a row of residential flats, which projected so that they could not fail to catch the eye.

"See, Watson!" said he. "'High red house with stone facings.' There is the signal station all right. We know the place, and we know the code; surely our task should be simple. There's a 'To Let' card in that window. It is evidently an empty flat to which the confederate has access. Well-Mrs. Warren, what now?"

"I have it all ready for you. If you will both come up and leave your boots below on the landing, I'll put you there now."

It was an excellent hiding-place which she had arranged. The mirror was so placed that, seated in the dark, we could very plainly see the door opposite. We had hardly settled down in it, and Mrs. Warren left us, when a distant tinkle announced that our mysterious neighbor had rung. Presently the landlady appeared with the tray, laid it down upon a chair beside the closed door, and then, treading heavily, departed. Crouching together in the angle of the door, we kept our eyes fixed upon the mirror. Suddenly, as the landlady's footsteps died away, there was the creak of a turning key, the handle revolved, and two thin hands darted out and lifted the tray from the chair. An instant later it was hurriedly replaced, and I caught a glimpse of a dark, beautiful, horrified face glaring at the narrow opening of the box-room. Then the door crashed to, the key turned once more, and all was silence. Holmes twitched my sleeve, and together we stole down the stair.

"I will call again in the evening," said he to the expectant landlady. "I think Watson, we can discuss this business better in our own quarters."

"My surmise, as you saw, proved to be correct," said he, speaking from the depths of his easy-chair. "There has been a substitution of lodgers. What I did not foresee is that we should find a woman, and no ordinary woman, Watson."

"She saw us."

"Well, she saw something to alarm her. That is certain. The general sequence of events is pretty clear, is it not? A couple seek refuge in London from a very terrible and instant danger. The measure of that danger is the rigour of their precaution. The man, who has some work which he must do, desires to leave the woman in absolute safety while he does it. It is not an easy problem, but he solved it in an original fashion, and so effectively that her presence was not even known to the landlady who supplies her with food. The printed messages, as is now evident, were to prevent her sex being discovered by her writing. The man cannot come near the woman, or he will guide their enemies to her. Since he cannot communicate with her direct, hs has recourse to the agony column of a paper. So far all is clear."

"But what is at the root of it?"

HAVE You Been Getting Poor on the Money You Have "Saved" by Using Cheap Printing?

The business man who seeks cheapness as the First consideration in buying his printing, never really pays much attention to other elements in the transaction—except, perhaps, the matter of getting it done Quickly.

The money SAVED by buying CHEAP printing is money on which you have paid an absolutely ruinous premium!

It will make you poor if you persist in saving enough of it!

DEVOTED PRINCIPALLY TO THE INTERESTS OF WOMEN

This is a little section of the paper, which from day to day will be devoted to subjects of special interest to women. Any and all of the ladies of Prince Rupert are invited to contribute to its columns, and to take part in its discussions. Suggestions and criticisms are invited by the editor. The hope is expressed that "The Cosy Corner" will fill a social need.

THE SWEETER WORLD

Make the world a little sweeter,
help it on, help it on
To the sunshine and the singing of the dawn, of the dawn;
Take the daily task and do it with the will that wins the goal,
Make the world a little sweeter,
help it roll, help it roll.
Sweeter world, sweeter world,
Make is sweeter where you swing
With the spirit of your morning,
With the music of your spring.

Make the world a little sweeter for the weary and the weak,
Who have found the pathway rugged and the goal so far to seek;
Find the glory in your labor and the triumph in your care
For the equal gift of gladness, each to each a little share.
Sweeter world, sweeter world,
Help it sweeten all along
With the sunshine and the laughter
And the silver sweep of song.

Make the world a little sweeter
with the sweet of being kind,
It will help to clear the shadows and
to satisfy the mind;
Take the roses of your spirit where the blooms have not been seen,
Plant the earth where'er you wander with the fresh and living green.
Sweeter world, sweeter world,
Make it sweeter day by day
With the glory of the grasses
And the fragrance of the May.

DAILY COOKING RECIPE

Caramel Ice Cream

Place two tablespoonfuls of cornstarch in a saucepan and add one quart of rich milk and let the same come to a boil, stirring all the time. Then place in a double boiler and add one-half cupful of sugar which has been burned. Next beat two eggs with one cupful of sugar, and add to the milk mixture. When it begins to thicken remove from the stove and cool. Add one pint of rich cream and one teaspoonful of vanilla, and freeze.

A Friendly Welcome

Victoria, Aug. 1.—Upon the arrival here on Thursday morning from England of Premier McBride he will be the recipient of a welcome by the Conservative association of Victoria.

PRACTICAL HOUSEHOLD HINTS

Pots of mignotte on the window-sill are said to keep flies away, and chloride of lime on the ground below the window is also a preventive. Quasi chips soaked in water is much disliked by them, and so is borax.

Use two pieces of glass and two pictures placed back to back when passepartouting. Fasten the hangers to the cardboard of one picture, turn its face to the wall and enjoy the other.

Wine stains on table linen should be covered immediately with salt and afterwards washed out in cold water. Should any stain remain lay it over a paste made of lemon juice and salt, leave it till dry and then wash out in cold water.

After considerable trouble cleaning the brush in my carpet sweeper I went to a harness shop and bought a comb such as is used in combing a horse's mane and tail. The comb is strong, inexpensive, and cleans the brush very satisfactorily.

A most effective trimming for a dress can be secured by selecting a pattern of lace with a decided floral figure and painting the flowers and leaves with oil paints or dyes. These colors will not fade when laundered if pressed with a hot iron immediately after being painted. Paint the outline of the design in a tone slightly darker than the rest.

HE GUESSED WRONG

But Perhaps He had Good Reason for Mistaking the Sound.

The entertainer was seemingly in good voice as he bagen: "Ladies and gentlemen, having blindfolded my partner, I will now proceed to test her thought-reading powers. I have in my hand an apple. Will you kindly tell the audience what it is that I am holding in my hand?" "An apple." "Correct. I have here a watch. Kindly tell the audience what I have." "A watch." "Quite right. You see, ladies and gentlemen, it is impossible to catch her." The entertainer produced a piece of wood and a saw, and commenced to saw vigorously. "Kindly tell the audience what I am doing." No reply. "This is rather a difficult feat, ladies and gentlemen. I will try again. Can you tell me what I am doing?" said the entertainer, continuing his sawing. "Yes. You are singing." Loud applause.

Eastern papers publish a cable to the effect that someone in England has discovered that Jack Johnson is planning to lay down to Bombardier Wells. According to general gossip Wells will then risk the title only against Englishmen and Australians. Listens like a joke.

Milwaukee, Wis., July 31.—Ad Wolgast, lightweight champion of the world, has posted his forfeit for his match with Packey McFarland before the National Athletic Club on September 18.

The latest reports from Sydney, N. S. W., would indicate that Jack Lester is leaving no stone unturned in order to be at his best when he next faces Bill Lang at the Sydney stadium this month. No definite date has been fixed for the fight yet, but it will probably be late in the month. Lester has "hied himself away to the woods," as he puts it, and is doing all his training at Tarana, a country town 130 miles away from the city. Lester is remarkably confident of his ability to put Lang away next time they meet.

Tommy Burns has cabled Lester to the effect that he will be in Sydney to second him in the next battle, and Tommy has instructed his "hope" to the effect that he must not engage in any other fights "until he meets and defeats Lang." Only for these instructions Lester would have met Bill Turner, an improving heavyweight, who is just hungry for a fight and cannot obtain a battle, although he has challenged Lang, Lester and all of the other fighters in the land.

President Dugdale's announcement that an all-Coast league is closer than it has been for a long time has not caused a conflagration. The Pacific Northwest fans are getting blaze when it comes to the talk about revolution in Coast baseball affairs.

It was decided at a recent meeting of the Victoria and District Soccer Association that a guarantee of $250 and 65 per cent of the gate receipts asked for by the guarantors of the Corinthian football tour was exorbitant, and, as a consequence, it is not improbable that the famous English footballers will not be seen here. Other terms have been offered Mr. Parker of Toronto, who is looking after the interests of the Corinthians in in this country. Vancouver is finding it just as hard to come to any agreement with him.

Ad Wolgast has posted a forfeit of $1,000 to bind the ten-round bout with Packey McFarland, scheduled to take place in Milwaukee, September 16. It is said that obstacles in the way of a meeting between the two lightweights have been removed.

MUSICAL COMEDY COMING

Prince Rupert to Have Cleveland's Company Here for a Week.

On Saturday evening, Prince Rupert is to be entertained with a splendid performance of the musical comedy, "The Honeymoon Trail" to be presented by Cleveland's musical comedy company, one of the best musical companies now on the coast.

Over thirty talented singers and comedians are in the company, with elaborate electrical and scenic properties and handsome costumes.

The Honeymoon Trail is a musical play of rare and striking merit, crammed full of catchy songs. A different comedy will be presented at each performance of the limited engagement.

Prince Rupert is very fortunate in securing this talented company and will doubtless give it a "crowded house" patronage.

Serious Charge Laid

It is understood that a serious charge has been laid against Constable McArthur by a woman of the underworld. The matter was brought before the Police Commissioners yesterday afternoon at the close of their meeting, but as the officer is now on a holiday and in view of some other circumstances they do not feel in a position to deal with the matter at its present stage. The charge will probably be pressed when the constable returns.

City Council Hear Tsimpsean Light and Power Offers

Last night the city council met as a committee of the whole and discussed the proposals of the Tsimpsean Light and Power Company with Mr. R. Brutinel, the general manager, his solicitor Mr. L. W. Patmore, and the company's engineer Mr. Clark Durant.

The meeting was not open to the press, but it is understood that the offers made by the company were discussed and a report will be submitted to the public at a later date.

Two Black Eyes. Etc.

Two black eyes and a damaged nose is what Mr. A. J. Prudhomme got two days ago while working under the Savoy Hotel. He was jacking the building up when a flyer got loose and hit him across the face. His frontispiece is still very sore.

Got Even with Eavesdropper

In rural New England districts, the telephone takes the place of tea in the city, as a place where women gather and retail gossip. Walter Prichard Eaton, in "The Abandoned Farm," in the August American Magazine, tells the following story:

"It's a great blessin', 'specially if you're on a party line, said out hostess. And we're all on party lines! Wait—"

She went to the instrument, called a number, and remarked, "That you, Bessie? What's this I hear 'bout you'n Jim breaking it off?"

We watched her smile as she listened to the answer. Then she said, "How'd I hear it? Why, Mrs. Asa Parker told me."

She held the receiver free of her ear and beckoned us close. We heard distinctly an indignant voice exclaim, "Why, Sarah Bowers, I never said no such a thing!"

"I thought I'd catch her," said Mrs. Bowers, when the telephone conversation was closed. "As I told you, the 'phone's a great comfort to us all!"
