INVASION OF FRUIT AREAS NEAR THE CITY

Valleys Along the Line of the G.T.P. Will Fill Up Rapidly ---Many are Already Making Their Way in--- Rich Returns for Those who Venture.

It has become a settled fact that the valleys tributary to the G. T. P. will be the next great fruit area. In the southern parts of the province an immense demand has been created for fruit lands that can offer nothing like the inducements to the fruit grower that these northern areas possess. In the south the districts most sought are those where an irrigation scheme has to be carried into effect with all the expense which that involved. Along the route of the G. T. P. such a treatment is not essential and consequently the individual fruitgrower has an opportunty to work independently of all others.

During the past few years there has been a very decided influx of settlers into these valleys. The settlements are reported in fact to be far greater than most of people imagine. That there has been quite a move upon the land is shown by the fact that a request has been made for a regular mail service to a point thirty-five miles up the Kitsumkalum valley where a body of settlers wish to have regular postal service.

The construction of the G. T. P has had its effect in inducing this settlement. Work is afforded the men who thus take up land. They are able to get employment a part of the year with the company or are able to earn a no inconsiderable amount by taking out ties for sale to the G. T. P., the sale serving a double purpose in clearing the land and in earning ready money.

The cost of clearing the land of the stumps has been put at about $75 to $100 an acre on an average. Immediately it is cleared it is ready for the planting of fruits. The fact that small fruits thrive so well in this climate is of great advantage to the homeseeker. Instances are on record where from a quarter of an acre of land over $400 has been made out of strawberries. The market is an unlimited one, divided among the railway camps, the mining camps and the city of Prince Rupert. But independent of these there would be a market in the south for the fruit, owing to the fact that the strawberries ripen in this latitude several weeks later than they do in the south, thus coming on the market when the fruit of the southern districts of the province have passed.

Under these conditions there are rich returns for the settlers who devote their attention to the fruit industry. The different valleys contiguous to the railway line are extentive enough according to the best reports to support a very large population. At Kitsumkalum, for instance, which is but a continuation of the valley from Kitimaat, and which extends into the Naas country, there is an area which has been tested with good results.

The small fruit end of the business is but a small part of the industry. It will always be auxiliary to the growing of apples, etc., and during the early years of settlement may be made the main source of revenue while the trees are coming into bearing.

That the fruit growing industry is a most remunerative one, has long since been proved. In the northwest parts of the continent the most prosperous settlements are those where fruit growing is the staple industry.

At North Yakima, Wash., west of Spokane, 689 cars of fruit were shipped in 1910. This does not include the express shipments, which would make 50 cars more. There are also about 125 cars of apples held in storage. Figuring the average car at 640 boxes, and the boxes at $1.50 each, the returns on apples alone in that section were $950,000.

North Yakima was not known as a fruit district a few years ago. It has come forward within a very few years along these lines.

What is true of North Yakima may be easily duplicated in the case of several extensive valleys in the Skeena district and through Prince Rupert will flow the greater part of the business, adding to the importance of this port.

OBEYING THE LAW

Chief of Police Reports Upon the Condition of Affairs During the Past Month.

War Was Waged on Those Who Were Violating the Laws, with Gratifying Results

The police commissioners held their regular monthly meeting on Wednesday in the city hall, there being present M. M. Stephens, who acted as chairman in the absence of the mayor, and Ald. Kirkpatrick.

A report from the chief of police stated that gambling had been wiped out. Some of the places with the reputation along that line were closed and the proprietors out of the city. A war had been waged on "blind pigs" and about thirty had been closed up. A number of charges of selling liquor without a license had been brought up. Six of the nine charged had left the city rather than face the consequences. In the matter of keepers of cribs, there had been decided action taken and these had been closed up.

The resolution of the Prince Rupert Moral and Social Reform league commending the work done, was presented at the meeting.

Chief McCarvell asked leave of absence for a few weeks, stating that he would defer leaving until Sergt. Philipson had become better acquainted with his duties and could assume charge.

The salaries of the patrolmen were raised to $100 a month and the sergeant an $105 a monht.

HOSPITAL MEETING

Subscribers to the Funds of the Institution Will Meet This Evening.

Full Attendance Is Asked for in Order That Necessary Business May Be Done

There will be a meeting of the Hospital association in the court house this evening, this meeting being made necessary by the fact that the attendance on Tuesday evening last was not sufficiently large to constitute a quorum All who contribute $5 or more to the funds of the hospital are entitled to rank as members and take part in the meeting as members of the association. At the meeting representatives of the members on the board of directors will be elected.

The additional grant, of $2500, made by the provincial government, has put the finances in fair shape, but considerable will be required to carry on the affairs. It is important that all should attend the meeting tonight and become acquainted with the work of the institution.

THE PRICE OF COAL IS TO BE INVESTICATED

Resolution Passes Legislature at Victoria Calling for a Full Enquiry by Commission Into the Causes for the High Rates Charged for Fuel.

(Special to The Journal)

VICTORIA, Feb. 3.—Consideration of the price of coal to the British Columbia consumer and appropriate measures to be adopted in investigating the causes operating to produce the present coal prices, furnished the text of a debate in the legislature yesterday. The result was the adoption of a resolution urging the provincial government to appoint a royal commission to make inquiry into coal mining and marketing generally.

In permitting the resolution to pass, Premier McBride pointed out that constitutionally the responsibility in this matter unquestionably rested with the Dominion government.

Dr. McGuire M. P. P., of Vancouver, having in two previous sessions introduced resolutions in which appeals were made in vain to the Federal government to take the matter up, yesterday appealed to the provincial government to institute an inquiry by royal commission. His resolution is as follows:

"Whereas it would appear that the cost of coal to the consumer in the Province of British Columbia is out of all proportion to the cost of production; and whereas, owing to the abundance of the coal deposits in this province and the proximity of the sources of supply to the market, the cost of coal to the consumer in British Columbia should be much less than at present is the case; and whereas the excessive price of coal in British Columbia has the effect of retarding and preventing the establishment in this province of industries depending upon a fuel supply; and whereas much of the preduct of the coal mines of this province is being exported to foreign markets and sold at a price that enables it to compete with coal from other countries in such foreign markets and whereas a belief exists that there is an understanding between the persons or corporations controlling or owning such coal mines to maintain the high prices now being charged to consumers in this province:

"Therefore, be it resolved, that an humble address be presented to His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor by this House, praying him to consider the advisability of appointing a Royal Commission to inquire into the following questions:

"1. Whether or not a combine or understanding exists among the coal producers, or any of them, of this province to establish and maintain prices charged for coal?

"2. Whether or not coal is being sold by producers, or any of them, for consumption outside British Columbia for a less price than that sold for consumption in the province?

"3. Whether or not the prices charged by the producers, or any of them, for coal consumed in British Columbia is excessive?

"4. Whether or not the prices charged by the producers, or any of them, of coal in British Columbia bears a reasonable proportion to the cost of production?

THE BEST OF CITIES

Dr. A. A. McIntyre Longs to Be Back to City of Prince Rupert.

He Finds California Has Lost a Lot of Its Charms After Dwelling Here

Dr. A. A .McIntyre, writing to a friend in the city from San Diego, shows unmistakeable signs that he is homesick for this place. He is more and more impressed with the great future of this city, the more he sees of the south. The climate of this place also appeals to him and it is to be expected that he will soon be seen again on these streets.

In the course of his letter he says:

"Allow me to tell you that you have to travel a good many hundred miles south before you get a better climate than Prince Rupert. From there to San Francisco there is very little difference as far as climate is concerned. It was raining some when we left home, but it was literally pouring in Vancouver and Seattle and in Portland it came down in torrents. In southern Oregon and northern California we encountered a genuine snow storm, and in San Francisco we had four days of rain and wind, during which my better half had two umbrellas turned inside out, and after having been blown across the street a half dozen times, she gave me two hours to pack up and get tickets for Prince Rupert. For once I obeyed, but I got the tickets the other way on. After a night's run in a fast train, the sight of orange groves, amid the rays of a semi-tropical sun, plainly told us that we were in the south land. California does not appeal to me now like it did on my first visit here. Then I came from the frozen prairies of Alberta, but coming from Prince Rupert it is different—the contrast is not so great. Anyhow a whiff of Prince Rupert ozone is worth a ton of San Diego sunshine.

"Everywhere I go I find a great interest manifested in Prince Rupert. Right here in San Diego I have had several inquiries about conditions there. Probably Morrow and McCaffery have been doing some missionary work for us.

"I notice a great advancement since I have been here last—seven

PUBLICITY CAMPAIGN

Board of Trade Make Move in That Direction to Meet Demands

Secretary Reports That There Are Increasing Demands Upon Him For Information

The Board of Trade at its last meeting on Tuesday evening decided to take steps towards advertising the city in a systematic way. It was suggested that a pamphlet be prepared on the subject, giving information such as is sought for.

This action arose out of the announcement by M. M. Stephens, the secretary of the board, that he was constantly receiving inquiries. The replying to these had grown to a magnitude that made it prohibitive to reply individually to the letters.

It was decided to appoint an advertising committee to go into this matter. The committee consists of W. P. Lynch, W. M. Law, J. G. Scott, R. A. White and G. W. McKeison.

The subject of better postal facilities was dealt with. The criticism of existing affairs was not directed towards the postmaster, but it was felt that the department should provide some more modern facilities than now exist. A committee consisting of J. G. Scott, R. A. White, G. F. Brandt and M. M. Stephens was appointed to go into the matter with the postmaster.

A. E. McMaster suggested that a case of grains, etc., showing the productiveness of the interior should be placed on the wharf so that all who arrive could see it at once. He thought this would assist materially in advertising this part of the province.

This met with favor and will probabl be put into effect later on.

A finance committee was appointed as follows: A. E. McMaster, J. H. Thomson and H. P. Wilson.

A bylaw committee was also named as follows: F. Stork, W. P. Lynch, D. H. Morrison, W. M. Law and F. Mobley.

RECIPROCITY WITH THE UNITED STATES

The Main Features of the Proposition Which Has Been Agreed to by Representatives of Both Countries.

The reciprocity agreement between Canada and the United States, which has been put before Parliament and Congress for ratification is occupying the public mind in a marked way.

The following is an outline of the reciprocity agreement as announced by Mr. Fielding in the House of Commons:

"Reciprocity on leading food products such as wheat and other grains. Dairy products; fresh fruits and vegetables; fish of all kinds; eggs and poultry; cattle, sheep and other live animals.

"Also certain commodities now free, such as cotton seed oil by Canada and rough lumber by the United States.

"Tin and tin plate, now dutiable are made mutually free. Barbed wire fencing now exempted by the United States. Some raw materials such as mica and gypsum, which enter into numerous industries, are to be made free by the United States.

"Printing paper is to become free on removal by the provinces of the restrictions on exportation of pulpwood.

"There are to be mutually reduced identical rates on secondary food products, such as fresh meats canned

ONTARIO TIMBER

Holders Wish to Retain Their Rights to These, Taking Advantages of New Growth

One of the biggest problems facing the Province of Ontario today is the question of how the Crown may reserve or acquire, in whole or in part, timber territory which passed under license many years ago, and is still under license, though the timber which was bought when the cutting rights were disposed of has long since been marketed.

Sales in recent years are subject to a time limit, but sales of 25, 30, 40 or 50 years ago contained no such provision, and present holders of these limits—many of which are cut out and fit only for reforestry—claim that as long as they pay the ground rent, a purely nominal charge of $5 per mile per year, they they should be permitted to hold these old limits in take and benefit of regrowth This notwithstanding the fact that he land on which this timber grows belongs to the Province and is in the Crown and the added fact that the timber originally sold has in most cases long since been cut away.

Province to Share Profits

The contention of the Crown is that legally these licenses could be terminated at the end of any license year. In equity, however, this would scarcely be a proper action, as some of these licenses have changed hands repeatedly and are now held by parties who purchased in good faith, possibly in recent years, and whose licenses, as a matter of fact, are usually held by banks as security for advances for operating expenses. Confiscation of these old licenses, therefore, would, it is pretty generally admitted, be a hardship, and the government will, it is felt, be obliged to consider some modified action which will result in securing to the Province an interest in these old limits, and at the same time not work a hardship on limit holders or unduly disturb established mercantile relations.

Some time ago a large and representative deputation from the Canadian Lumbermen's association waited upon the minister of lands, forests and mines. It was obvious that they were present upon business in connection with their own interests, but at the conclusion of the interview they had nothing to say nor would Hon. Mr. Cochrane be interviewed.

The information is that the lumbermen fell back upon their old contention of perpetual rights, whereat the minister quietly suggested the possibility of being obliged to raise the ground rent to about $200 a mile and the imposing of a size limit of say fifteen inches, below which it would be illegal to cut. At the same time he told his hearers, some of whom were personal and political friends, just what he thought of "stove-pipe" lumbering, and said that the average drive today was painful to look upon.

Half Interest for People

On these old licenses the dues average about one dollar per thousand, and as a feeler one of the lumbermen is said to have suggested that at the end of thirty years it might not be out of the way to allow the government the munificent sum of three dollars instead of one dollar. This suggestion was altogether too modest for the minister, who intimated that the lumbermen would have to think of the Province as well as of themselves and that before very long Then one of the visitors proosed tentatively that the Province might be alowed a twenty-five per cent interest at the end of thirty years if settlement were kept out absolutely and the Province met half the cost of protection against fire. Then it is asserted that Hon. Mr. Cochrane made the significant statement that, as the Province owned the land, and the purchasers of the limits never bought the small stuff, which was not in existence at the time of the original sale, the people had a right to expect a half interest in these limits at the end of thirty years of reforestry.

The minister further intimated that at that time modern forestry methods should be adopted, and only matured timber taken out. Under such an arrangement the Province might justify the bearing of half the cost of fire protection—just as it at present bears the entire cost on timber in the Crown—and it would, of course, be necessary to exclude settlement entirely from districts which might be given over to reforestry.

CENTURY OF PEACE

Proposal for Erection on Boundary Bluff of Monument to Commemorate Centenary

It is sugegsted that a monument of peace be erected on Boundary Bluff, on Point Roberts, on the International line, and overlooking the waters ofthe Pacific on the Gulf of Georgia. The promoters of this idea are the Peacemakers' association of the State of Washington. The object and purpose of its erection is the commemoration of peace between all neighbors for the period of one hundred years, with the promise of peace for all future generations.

Part of the plan is to ask the two governments to grant and donate to the public a strip of land at least one mile wide on each side of the boundary line, extending from Boundary Bay to the Gulf of Georgia, as an international ark, the two governments appropriating $100,000 each. The monument is to be built by popular subscription, and the specifications call for a circular, concrete shaft 112 feet high.

Work on the monument, as well as the construction of the various park buildings should be commenced at once to be completed by 1914. It has been suggested that a similar monument be erected on the line at Lake Champlain.

AUTO REGULATIONS

Stringent Rules are to Be Enforced Under the Proposed Measure.

Attorney General Bowser Is Prepared to Enforce Care upon Drivers of Motors

A bill to regulate the operation of motors with promise is now before the legislature, having been introduced by the attorney general. The measure is regarded as quite a drastic one by the motormen. The apparent aim is to overcome the danger of accidents which have been all too common of late.

The attorney general, explaining his bill to regulate the use and operation of motor vehicles, said it was quite a departure from the existing act. There was no desire to be unnecessarily severe or drastic, but the first principle of the bill was that pedestrians and those who were driving or riding animals must be protected. There was nothing in the act which a fair and honest motorist need fear. It was only directed at the reckless and against them it would be strictly enforced. It was felt by the superintendent of provincial police and the department that the regulations should be brought up to date. The bill would not be forced at any great speed through committee and opportunity would be given to any persons interested to make representations regarding its provisions.

Mr. Bowser said that all must recognize that this was an age of rapid transit, but for all that public safety must be protected and the rights of pedestrian and vehicular traffic respected. This must be recognized by motorists. The code of regulations now drawn up he believed to be a complete one.

While cities would still control the licensing of autos for hire, power was taken away from them to in any way affect speed. This was done because of the varying speeds which different municipalities fixed, and the advantage of having one standard of speed throughout the entire province. This the bill fixed at ten miles an hour in congested parts of cities and in wooded country, nad twenty-five miles an hour in open country. Where a street car had stopped to let off or take on passengers a motor must slow down to four miles, and bridges must be crossed at slow speed. A fee of $10 would be imposed for registration, not to apply this year to those already licensed, nor to foreign owners, but the latter must report to the police within six hours of arrival. The revenue would all go to the department it being considered unfair that the municipalities should collect the fees while the province enforced the law. Chauffeurs would be licensed, and no person under seventeen would be allowed to drive. The numbers must be displayed on the front lamps and in letters at least four inches high on the back of a car. In the case of a horse being ridden or driven, the person with it was superior to the driver of a motor. In case of accident the person driving the motor must go back and give number and name of owner and chauffeur, as well as reporting the matter to the police within six hours in the city or twenty-four hours in the country. Owner and chauffeur were alike responsible in every case, and the onus was on them to prove they were not guilty of an offence.

THE WORLD'S HORSES

Estimate Made of the Number That There Is in Existence at the Present Time

It has been estimated that of the 100,000,000 horses in the world, about 80,000,000, or four-fifths of the whole number exist in the temperate zones, and that nearly all of these are to be found in Occidental countries.

The remaining twenty millions, scatered about the tropics, are said to be but poor representatives of the animal as it is known to the peoples of America and Europe.

The horse's carrying capacity ranges from 150 to 200 pounds. The llama can carry from 50 to 200 pounds; the donkey from 100 to 200 pounds; the ox from 150 to 200 pounds; and the elephant from 1,800 to 2,500 pounds.

REAL ESTATE ACTIVITY

The grading of the streets of Prince Rupert with the consequent revelation of what the city will look like when it assumes important business proportions, is having its effect upon the real estate market on the commercial centre of the city. The advance of the work on Second avenue to a point where the general levels of it can be seen, affords an opportunity to picture the general character of the completed thoroughfare.

There have been those who have criticised the city's site and who, after a casual glance over the location have come to the conclusion that there can never be anything but confusion with respect to its streets. These critics will now have their prophecies rudely upset. A walk along Second avenue even with the work no further advanced than at present, shows a grade that any city might feel proud of. For one block between Second and Third streets there will be a grade of about 5 per cent or a rise of one foot in twenty. For the remainder of the distance between McBride to Lynch's, the grade will nowhere else be more than 3 per cent. The street in fact will be practically a level one. In this respect it will be the envy of the other coast cities, like Vancouver, Victoria and Seattle.

What is true of Second avenue will also apply to Third avenue and First avenue, when the work is advanced on these thoroughfares. The grades on those strets will be very similar to those on Second, so that in the business section of the city there will be a condition of affairs as far as street grades are concerned, that will be difficult to duplicate by any other city.

With the work completed the real activity in business real estate may be expected to commence. There are few who can, while a townsite is in the rough, picture the true situation after the grading is done. The inability on the part of the general public to do this is what has led to most erroneous views to prevail as to the future character of the streets here.

It must be remembered that the G. T. P. spent an immense sum on the proper laying out of the townsite The best of landscape gardeners were employed, so that the results might be the most satisfactory. Probably some mistakes were made but it has been found that in a general way the plans have worked out well.

Values of lots have advanced very rapidly where the grading has been undertaken. By the time the spring opens and the work along the different avenues is still nearer completion, there will be commencing an inrush of prospective investors into this northern district. The city will appeal to these in an altogether different light to that in which it has appealed in former years before the grading was undertaken. The inducement to purchase will be correspondingly increased and there can be little doubt that the spring will open up with an active demand created for real estate, especially in the business section.

THE HERRING FISHERIES

The line of men and boys employing their spare time in catching herring along the wharves of the waterfront is but the beginning of an industry that will in a few years yield its milions of dollars and employ thousands of men.

We do not mean to refer in this to the whole fishing industry. We refer to the one branch of it, the herring and the curing of it.

In reaching this conclusion it is not necessary to draw examples from other countries. An example is afforded right in this province where, within a few years' time the herring industry was built up from practically nothing to an enterprise furnishing a revenue last year of about $1,000,000 and employing close upon 1,000 men directly.

This is in the harbor of Nanaimo, where it is not pretended that the most is made out of the industry. The monopolizing by the Japanese of a very large part of the business has had injurious effects and there has been lacking the stimulus which would come from other lines of the fishing industry being capable of development such as exists here.

About seven or eight years ago Nanaimo boasted a little floating shed where a few herring were kippered and smoked in a very antiquated way. In addition to that the industry was given over to a few Indians who filled their boats by using a stick with pointed nails driven in, upon which the herring were caught as this primitive gear was drawn upwards through the water and deflected towards the canoe. An experiment was tried with respect to this line of industry and in consequence the salting of immense quantities for bait to be used by the New England Fish company followed. Then was evolved the more remunerative work of kippering the herring and of treating them in other ways for export trade. While the industry has not been nearly as vigorously pushed as it should have been, yet a very considerable line of business has been built up.

For the year just closed, according to the reports prepared by the Dominion Fishery inspector, there were 55,600,000 pounds of herring salted in Nanaimo harbor. In addition to this 260,000 pounds were utilized as fresh fish and 15,000 pounds were smoked. This is exclusive of 1,840,000 pounds used as bait and which represents the poorer quality which is cheaply handled.

For the salted herring an immense trade already awaits the industry in the Orient, the price being low, representing about $17.50 a ton, but the labor of treating herring being very little. The more remunerative branch of the business is that of smoking, which brings the value of the herring from one cent a pound to twelve cents a pound.

The vaule of the herring industry last year to Nanaimo is put by the department of fisheries at $977,400, exclusive of that taken for halibut bait, which would put it easily over the $1,000,000 mark.

Prince Rupert, which is considered by those best acquainted with the facts, to be far ahead of Nanaimo as a herring fishing centre, has othera advantages that the southern city has not. It will be better situated as far as shipping facilities are concerned and should be developed to a far greater extent. The herring is but a small portion of the fishing industry that will go to build up vast enterprises here. It can be carried out on small capital and give good returns. In Nanaimo about 600 men find employment in the herring trade.

THE JARDINE INCIDENT

The legislature at Victoria has had the amusement of hearing John Jardine, the member for Esquimalt, explain his differences with the Liberal leaders in British Columbia, and tell how he fought Hon. William Templeman to a finish last fall in a real pugilistic encounter in the office of the public works department in Victoria.

This has been followed, it appears, by the repudiation of Jardine as a Liberal and a demand made by the Liberal association, of Esquimalt, for his resignation as a member.

We will not undertake to defend Jardine or his course. He is in no sense a power in the politics of this country. His resignation would be nothing to lament on the part of the province and an appeal to the electorate if he did resign would result in the placing of another Conservative in the legislature.

Jardine won his election because he tacitly renounced the policy pursued by the Liberal party in the last election. It is true that John Oliver tried out the effect of that wonderful railway map of his in Esquimalt early in the campaign, but Jardine was too practical a politician and was being managed by the wily Charlie McIntosh, who was too good a judge of public opinion not to know that "that map" of Oliver's was something that could never succeed in catching the electorate. Jardine and his manager, therefore, practically repudiated the Oliver leadership and its many weaknesses and ran their own campaign which was in support of the McBride railway policy where votes were to be gained in that way and by appealing to the local sentiment with respect to the navy and were ready to show Esquimalt harbor crowded with warships again, due to the Liberal policy at Ottawa. Jardine practically ran as an independent candidate. Had he not, he would not be in the legislature today.

Now comes the announcement that John Oliver, the compiler of "that map," is recalling the record of Jardine as a grafter who overcharged the Dominion government for painting the quarantine station at William Head. The statements of John Oliver will cause no surprise. But knowing all this why did the immaculate Mr. Oliver sit through the life of one parliament with this grafter as one of his colleagues and why did he go into the constituency at the last election and recommend the people of the district to elect him as their representative? If Jardine is not fit to represent the riding now, neither was he fit to do so when he sat side by side with Mr. Oliver and devised means for defeating the Conservative government, for the William Head episode dates back many years.

THE HOSPITAL

Ther should be a very full attendance of the Hospital association this evening. This is an institution that appeals to every citizen. It is one of the most practical methods of evidencing a philanthropic spirit. The hospital under present day conditions has come to be looked upon as an absolute necessity. Its doors must be open to those who cannot afford to pay as well as to those who can contribute for the attendance given. Prince Rupert as the centre of a vast district where works which are somewhat hazardous are to be carried on will require a first-class hospital. The present institution is the beginning of what will have to be enlarged from time to time to meet the pressing demands.

CARNEGIE'S GIFT

He Has Endowed Institute Bearing His Name to Extent of $25,000,000

Andrew Carnegie's announcement of the addition of $10,000,000 to the Carnegie Institute endowment fund, makes a total of $25,000,000. The addition was made, he said, because the work of the institute had been unexpectedly satisfactory. He believes that results heretofore only dreamed can be obtained. This announcement brings the total up to the $200,000,000 mark.

It was also announced that Prof. Hale of the United States observatory on Mount Wilson, California, had discovered 60,000 new worlds, through a new telescope more powerful than any one ever built . Commenting on this declaration, Mr. Carnegie said:

"The whole world will soon be listening to the new oracle on the top of Mount Wilson. In the new telescope is a lens 100 inches in diameter. I hope I'll live long enough to hear the revelations coming from Prof. Hale.

"The Carnegie institute had a large endowment, before its success had warranted of $25,000, but I believe that the results of its research will pay in service to the world more than tenfold.

"The work of the institution in one instance, cleared from blame a sea captain who had run his vessel on the rocks, and probably saved other vessels from one to three degrees out of the way."

Carnegie's instituption was chartered "for the promotion of investigation in the broadest and most liberal manner possible." Its activites cover the entire world and it sends scientific expeditions everywhere in the advancement of science.

COAL MINE REGULATIONS

Operators Present Their Views Before Minister of Mines—Oxygen Gas Supply

An influential deputation, representative of the coal mines operators of British Columbia, and including Messrs. Graham, Stockett, Ashworth, Sutton and Russell, a few days ago, interviewed Premier McBride with regard to the suggested relaxation and amendment of certain of the features of the Coal Mines Regulation Bill, which is now before the legislature on motion for second reading. Associated with the first minister (and minister of mines) in receiving the delegation were Mr. R. F. Tolmie, deputy minister, and Mr. F. H. Shepherd, chief inspector.

The deputation members directed their remarks to certain desired amendments to the act as now before the house, and were assured by the Premier that their representations would obtain earnest consideration before the measure in question becomes statutory law.

With reference to one matter in consideration, it is understood that the operators directed attention to the difficulty at present experienced in securing an adequate and dependable supply of oxygen for the Draeger life-saving apparatus recently installed in provincial colliery centres. The government was urged either to provide for provincial manufacture of this essential, or to make such arrangements as wil lfacilitate its economical purchase. In all probability, if the necessary plant is available, the government will assume the manufacture as in the general interest of the miners' protection.

Objection was also taken to the width of discretionary powers accorded by the act to provincial inspectors, particularly with regard to the closing down of mines suggested to be dangerous.

News of the Province

CHEMAINUS—The lumber cut for the Chemainus mills for 1910 is slightly smaller than the previous year, totalling 35,000,000 feet. The shipments totalled 33,000,000 feet. The company is carrying about 20,000,000 feet of lumber in stock. Shipments from the mills during the past six months have been mainly by rail, as the export business has been very dull.

VANCOUVER—At the first meeting of the water committee of the 1911 civic administration with Ald. Crowe, chairman, presiding, the announcement was made that the $40,000 voted by the people for the extension of tne ctiy's water system would be inadequate to carry out much desired improvements and that it would be necessary to submit another bylaw at an early date asking for a sum of approximately $223,000 to complete the Seymour Creek intake.

VICTORIA—Mrs. Wilhe'mina Ellen Georgina Ellis, wife of Thomas Ellis, until five years ago one of the best known ranchers in the Penticton country, died suddenly at the family residence, Gorge road. Mrs. Ellis, who was 63 years of age, arose in her usual good health, but at 11 o'clock she was seized with heart failure and passed away almost at once. For the past five years the family have resided on the Gorge road. Mrs. Ellis was a native of Ireland, and during her residence in this city was widely known and respected. Besides her husband she is survived by one son, F. G. Ellis, and seven daughters, Mrs. Patrick Burns, Mrs. Cooke, Mrs. Lefroy and four single daughters, residing at home.

DUAL LANGUAGE

Trouble Over Railway Ticket That Is Not Procurable in the French Language

One of the first conflicts respecting the Lavergne law, passed at the last session, occurred recently, and as a result actions for damages will be instituted by Mr. Trudel, notary, of St. Roche, against the Quebec & Lake St. John Railway company and against Conductor Richard. Mr. Trudel resides at Charlesbourg, but comes to Quebec every day, and on Saturday morning he asked the railway agent at Charlesbourg , for a ticket printed in both languages.

As there were no such tickets to be secured, Mr. Trudel refused to purchase any other and got on board the train. When Conductor Richard came along Mr. Trudel informed him that he had no ticket and the conductor offered to sell him one but as it was not printed in French he refused to accept it. As a result he was ordered off thetrain at Limoilou station and had to walk into the city. He has given his solicitor instructions to issue writs against the company and the conductor.

The bill to compel the railway companies to print their tickets, time-tables and other information for the public in French as well as English, was first introduced in the Dominion parliament, but the opposition to it was so pronounced that the measure was soon abandoned. When it was passed by the Quebec legislature the railway companies expressed strong opposition to the law and, as stated in despatches, they decided to ignore it, and ,if necessary, carry the case to the Privy Council.

The railways claim that the enforcement of the law would be expensive and vexatious to them and also that it is ultra vires of the legislature, the regulation of railways lying with the Dominion parliament and having been deputed to the Dominion railway commission.

MARINE NEWS

COTTAGE CITY LOST

Reports as to the condition of the Cottage City at Cape Mudge indicate that she is a total loss The wreck lies over in her starboard side, washed by a strong swell on Cape Mudge reef.

The Cottage City was going about half speed when she struck heavily, the strong flood from Seymour Narrows having set her on the reef. The passengers were greatly frightened and many rushed for lifebelts and hurried to the boats, waiting until they were launched. Capt. Jansen and some of the officers ran to the boat deck and told the panicky passengers they were not in danger. The steamer was pounding meanwhile and listed over. Capt. Jansen decided to lower the boats, and there was quite a rush for places, but when the officers standing at the falls shouted "Women and children first," this soon stopped, and the boats were lowered without much excitement, all geting away in good shape despite a heavy swell.

CAPE MUDGE LIGHT

Today's wireless reports record the fact that the Alameda, a passenge rsteamship of the Oceanic company, on its way to Alaskan ports from Seattle, grounded at Cape Mudge early this morning. She has floated again, uninjured.

The Cottage City is reported to be past salving. Cape Mudge is proving, therefore, a dangerous point.

At the Shipmasters' association, in Vancouver, at a recent meeting, a resolution was passed recommending that the ligh tat Cape Mudge, where the Cottage City struck, should be moved farther east to the top of the bluff. It was stated that this matter had been agitated many times before.

WHALING STATIONS

Preparations are already being made by the Canadian North Pacific Fisheries cmopany for the coming season. Ten vessels will be operated this year, five of which were in use last year; the Orion, St. Lawrence, Sebastian, Germania and William Grant. Five are now on the way from Norway; the Red, the Green, the Black, the Yellow and the White. The William Grant and the Sebastian are now receiving their annual overhauling, and when they are launched the other three of the old fleet will be hauled out, scraped, cleaned and painted. After this work is completed, the steamers will be assigned to their different stations.

By the time the season opens four stations will be ready to prepare the captured whales for shipment; the Sechart, the Kyuquot, the Rose Harbor and the new Naden Harbor station, now in course of construction.

The Grand Trunk Pacific steamer Henriette is now under charter to the fisheries company, and is engaged in carrying the materials and supplies for the new station. The Petriana recntly purchased from the Northern Steamship company, will carry the finished products from the various stations. Her name will be changed. With ten steamers engaged in whale fishing, the Canadian North Pacific Fisheries is fully justified in anticipating the largest season's catch in history.

C. P. R. ADOPTS OIL

The C. P. R. steamer Princess Charlotte will be laid up for several weeks and besides being extensively overhauled will be equipped with oil burners. She will be the second of the fleet to have this more economic system for steam generating installed, the first being the Princess May, which is at present lying alongside Bullen's wharf. In turn the Princess Victoria will be laid up and fitted with this modern plant, and it is understood that the greater number of the vessels will, before the present year has elapsed, be oil burners.

Oil has been found to be more efficient as fuel for getintg up steam, and it is also a money-saver in the boiler room. Although the C. P. R. fleet will have to secure oil from the United States for the present it is hoped that the Canadian fields will shortly be producing oil for the Princess line.

Joseph Heavonor, son of the mail carrier on the Skeena, died yesterday at the King George hotel. He was 16 years of age. The body will be removed to Port Essington for interment.

IN PYGMY LAND

Some New Features of New Guinea Told by Explorers in Country

Further exploration of the island of Dutch New Guinea by the party led bzy Mr. Goodfellow, and including Captain Rawling and Dr. Eric Marshall, shows the country in a more unfavorable light than ever; it is clearly a place to be avoided.

Part of it is "virgin jungle never before trodden by the foot of man; to its hidden depths the natives are complete strangers; the pygmies from the hils avoid it; and the natives from the lowlands fear it. The outskirts and more open parts bordering the river are frequented by cassowary (a kind of emu), boar and wallaby (a small variety of kangaroo), and are the haunt of the greater bird of paradise, whose shrill, joyous call enlivens these dark depths. Less than a mile from the river it is impossible for a man to stand at any spot without being touched on every side by tree stems.

"It is the haunt of all creeping things, from the deadly puff adder to the greater, yet comparatively harmless python. Noxious insects abound, and leeches swarm on the saturated, moist-ridden trees and undergrowth. Everything decaying; no air seems to circulate there, and what little there is foetid and stifling. Dismal, dark, dripping! Four weeks' arduous work has resulted in the cutting of 5,900 yards (3½ miles) of road."

The inhabitants of Dutch New Guinea are not an attractive race. "The native woman," says Dr. Marshall, "'drags up' the children, cuts the firewood, brings in the sago, works the canoes, occasionally proving her skill as a warrior in the family and village quarrels, and always coming off best with her tongue. She is usually content with a strip of bark cloth. When in mourning she dispenses even with this. The male sex predominates, and most of the men have to be content with one wife.

On the death of a man, the widow, clad like Eve, but as ugly as Satan, crawls around the grave wailing and chanting, performing weird movements with arms and body, which may or may not be meant for dancing."

The explorer also adds some fresh particulars of the mountain pygmies "Further inland," he says in the foothills of the mountains, we have discovered a still more primitive race. Pygmies, or little men, averaging 4 feet to 4 feet 8 inches in height, wild ,shy, and treacherous little devils; these little men wander over the heavy jungleclad hills and mountains, subsisting on roots and jungle produce, hunting the wallaby, pig and cassowary, and fishing in the mountain torrents."

KELLY AS A BOSS

The Former Leader of the Reform Section Explains the Situation Here

Joseph Martin, member for St. Pancras in the Imperial House of Commons has been telling of the working of the Liberal party in British Columbia before the commission investigating the irregularities connected with the Chinese immigration.

No one can deny that Mr. Martin knows whereof he speaks. His statements bear out what has long been supposed to be the condition of affairs. In his examination, the following took place:

"I noticed in an interview with you in the press on the subject of graft, and in that you referred to this commission. Have you any information wtih regard to graft in Chinese immigration?" asked Mr. McCrossan.

"I don't think I said anything in particular about this commission. What I referred to was the graft going on to my knowledge in this city between the government and the people the government put in charge —Mr. Kelly, for one."

"Do you know anything about graft in smuggling opium or Chinese?"

"I believe graft has permeated every department. The only thing I know is this: Every department in which the government spends money in British Columbia, I believe is affected. Everything goes through a local organization of which Mr. Kelly is the head, and you practically have to buy everything you want. I don't know of any frauds unless you call that fraud."

"Do you know of any appointments to the Chinese or customs departments that were bought?"

"I know that Mr. Kelly has had the personal say with regard to all government business in the province. I have been told tha the gets this and in return supplies the government with campaign funds at election time."

Mr. McCrossan—Which cannot be proved?

Mr. Martin—If I had charge of an investigation I could prove it to the hilt, without any question. I would call a lot of people who would have knowledge. I have been told that there is graft in every department in which Mr. Kelly saw a dollar to be made. Nobody could get a dollar or a contract from the government in the last nine years except through Mr. Kelly. This, in my opinion, points to a general scheme of fraud.

Mr. McCrossan asked for names.

"I would suggest Mr. Kelly as a witness, Mr. Templeman and Mr. Ralph Smith, M. P. I don't suppose you would get much out of them, but there are others who know. From time to time since I have been living here different people have suggested things to me, but it would not be fair to these people now to ask them to prove their statements. They open up a field for investigation."

"But that is all outside the scope of this enquiry," said Mr. McCrossan.

"Then, I don't know what you brought me here for," replied Mr. Martin.

"You might include Sir Wilfrid Laurier in that list of witnesses I suggested," added Mr. Martin. "He is the causeof the whole trouble. He could put an end to the whole thing in five minutes by refusing to take Mr. Kelly's appointments. As it is, I can hardly say that there is a Liberal party here. It has disappeared in a cloud of smoke."

In Vancouver the enquiry has become general: "Has anyone seen Kelly." It is not expected that Mr. Kelly will be seen until after the smoke clears away.

TO BUY RANCH

Trades Council Will Purchase Farm Where Men on Strike May Be Cared for

A committee of the California State Building Trades council will be entrusted with the purchase of a big ranch to be used as a base of supply in times of industrial warfare, according to Secretary Tveitmoe, of the council.

Thirty to fifty thousand acres will be purchased and strikers or men out of employment will be cared for on the ranch, according to the plan.

"We hope to secure the ranch within the present year," said Tveitmoe. "Not only do we expect to employ idle members on it, but its produce will increase our strike funds, we believe."

Tveitmoe said the ranch plan had been widely discussed in labor circles before this, but so far as he knew had never been put into operation.

Rivers was bellowing through the telephone to his wife, six miles away.

"If you'll raise the window," said Brooks, "you won't have to use the telephone."

CANNERS PREPARING

Big Season is Expected in the North This Coming Summer.

The Plate Is Already Ordered and Early Start Will Be Made

British Columbia salmon canners, in preparation for the canning season this year, which is expected to equal in results that of 1910, have spent oer $1,500,000 for equipment and supplies. Tin plate, solder and lead for the salmon cans, boxes, nets and gear are all included in this amount which is about the largest ever put out by the canners of the province for their business in an "off" season. The tin plate for the greater part is coming from the old country on the steamers of the Holt and Weir lines, and will arrive early in March.

Although some of the canners had more equipment remaining at the close of the season last year than was anticipated on the whole the year's results were regarded as very satisfactory. This year in the north a heavy catch is anticipated, although it will be one of the light seasons for the Fraser river canneries. Several of the northern canneries are no wundergoing overhauling. By the advent of the fishing season in June they will be in readiness for operations. Cannery hands will be sent north early in April to prepare the boats, nets and so forth.

THE BEST OF CITIES

years ago. Then they had twenty-thousand people; now they have forty thousand. In seven years Prince Rupert will have fifty thousand.

"Here they have built a city on nothing; we have everything, including climate. The more you look into the factors that go to build other cities, the greater future you see for Prince Rupert."

In the course of his letter the doctor says he was glad to get the word while in Los Angeles that Mayor Manson had been elected with a strong following. "The result," he says "is exactly what I predicted before I left. The new council is composed of good timber nd there are enough of the old birds on the roost to teach the fledglings how to fly. With a mayor of Mr. Manson's ability and parliamentary and municipal experience and a council composed of representative men, the citzens of Prince Rupert may well feel proud."

FRUIT GROWERS COMBINE

Exchange in Victoria District Will Work Co-Operatively If Merchants Do Not Buy

That the Victoria Fruitgrowers' exchange will open a retail institution to sell fruit to the consumers at reduced prices if the grocers of the city do not support them in buying all fruit from the exchange and not from the farmers, was the unanimous endorsation of the members at the annual meeting. The association offered to immediately grant $30,000 for this purpose, but it was decided to allow the grocers more time to enter the proposition.

In many respects the co-operation of the grocers is an advantage. The local fruit upon the market will be of a better grade. At the present much fruit bought by the grocers from the farmer direct is not desirable. It is the intention of the exchange that the best be on the market. And from one central distribution point the standard of the product will be protected. Should the grocers, however, fail to join the exchange in this, a retail market will be established by the exchange. This is inevitable.

Mr. Thomas Brydon was elected to the president's chair and Mr. Drummond was re-elected the secretary. There was a large number of delegates present.

The financial statement showed that the net earnings of the association had been trebled during the last year. The association is now in its third year.

SPORTS

VANCOUVER'S TEAM

Twenty-eight players have been signed by Bob Brown, the hustling manager of the Vancouver Baseball Club, for the 1911 Beavers, and he expects to add a few more players to the list before the call to them to report for the spring training is sent out. The Vancouver magnate is figuring on winning the pennant this year and is building up a strong team. He is well fortified behind the bat and his pitching staff looks good enough for any Class A club, but infield hequires strengthening.

HOW CANADIANS WON

Old country exchanges just to hand tell of the Oxford-Canadian hockey team European tour which began most auspiciously by their winning the international tournament at the Pale-Nord in Brussels. Four countries were represented—Belgium, Germany, Prussia and Canada. The tournament lasted from December 29 to 31, at which time the Canadians had won all three matches with ease. On December 29 they beat Prussia 20 to 2; on December 30 they beat Germany 10 to 1; and on December 31 they beat Belgium 13 to 2. When the Canadians left for Berlin from the Gare du Nord on the Sunday morning, a pious member of the team nicknamed them the Benjamin Boys for each man carried away a silver goblet in his valise, while Captain Lanctot took charge of the handsome silver Challenge cup. The tabulated result of the tournament was as follows:

| Team. | Wn. | Lt. | —Points— For | Agt. |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| Oxford - Canadians | 3 | 0 | 43 | 5 |
| Berliner Schittschub Club | 2 | 1 | 21 | 18 |
| Brussels Ice Hockey Club | 1 | 2 | 12 | 21 |
| Charlottenburger Sport Club | 0 | 3 | 8 | 40 |

The Canadians made this excellent showing in spite of severe handicaps. First and foremost, there is the difference between European and Canadian hockey rules. Here on the continent, as in England, hockey is played under offside rules somewhat similar to those of association football. Forward passing is perfectly legitimate and freely resorted to. There is no offside as long as the recipient of the puck has one man of the opposite side and the goalkeeper between him and the nets. Then there is a semi-circle marked out in front of the goal, within which the puck is dead, and nobody but the goalkeeper can touch it. Secondly, the margin of the ice at the Pole-Nord is not boarded, and many a wing rush was checked by the puck going out of bounds. In the third place, the Canadians had never played together as a team before.

White floor matting may be scrubbed with bran water. Put two pints of bran into two quarts of water and boil it. Strain, and, when cool, use for scrubbing the matting.

THE COST OF COAL

Representatives of Mining Companies do Not Believe That Prices Will be Reduced.

Increased Cost of Production Leaves Little Hope for Lower Rates for Fuel

Instead of the cost of coal decreasing in British Columbia there is every likelihood of an increase in the price in the near future, in the opinion of Mr. T. Stockett, general manager of the Hosmer Coal mines. His opinion in this respect sustained by Mr. James Ashworth, who as general manager of the Crows Nest Coal company, operates an organization which has a monthly output of 110,000 tons.

"If," said Mr. Stockett, "a royal commission is appointed to inquire into the cost of coal, its members will receive some startling information as to the cost of production in the west. With the increase in the cost of figuring the wages of miners have to be raised and necessarily the cost of production becomes greater. The history of the coal mining industry all over the world shows a continual advance in the cost of the product, nad instead of there being any prospect of a reduction I see every indication of the price advancing still further. Not only is there an increase in the wages of the miners but also in the cost of supplies, and these two factors the price of which is steadily increasing, will mean that he cost of coal will eventually go higher than it is at present."

In bearing out the foregoing statement made by Mr. Stockett, Mr. James Ashworth said that the reciprocity arrangement with the United States, if it went into effect, would help the coal industry of the province. A further market would be provided for coke especially by the wiping out of the duty which is at present 90 cents on every ton of coke exported. The coal operators of the province expect to find a market for coke in Idaho, Washington and Montana.
