BUILDING ANOTHER COLD STORAGE PLANT

Haysport is About Ready to Begin the Handling of Fish on a Large Scale---Buildings Have Been Erected and Wharves Provided for the Enterprise---Will Start Up in a Few Days Time.

No visitor to this city can fail to be impressed with the fact that it is to be a fishing centre of the very first importance. One of the latest of the companies to get in shape for the industry is the one at Haysport on the Skeena opposite the town of Port Essington. For months past the company, backed up by Old Country capital, as well as British Columbia investors, has been making ready for the packing and the handling of the fish that are to find their way to this station.

Quite a staff is already on the ground ready for the opening of active operations, which will begin in a few days now. It is not, of course, pretended that the works will be run to its full capacity at first. Additions will be made to it and by the time the G. T. P. has its railway running there will be a plant capable of handling an immense amount of fish at that point.

The shipping will be by the railway line when all is equipped as well as by steamer and the plant has been planned for this object. It is situated right on the line of the track. The freezing and cold storage building is placed between the wharf and the railway tracks so as to allow of the utilization of either methods of shipment. The taking in of the raw material in the way of fish will of course be by way of the water. Between the building and the car tracks is space enough to allow for the putting in of tracks to allow for loading the finished product for shipping to all parts of the world.

A very substantial wharf has been built, jutting far out into the water. One advantage that the company has in the location that has been selected is that it is on fresh water and accordingly the toredoes do not affect the piles. There is, therefore, no preservative necessary in getting the piles for the wharf and there is also the additional saving of not having to replace these every few years. This in indeed a very important feature and one that the company expects will give them no small advantage in the business in which they are launching into.

On the wharf is an iron storeroom where the stock is received and held for shipment. At the present time the company has a stock of herring on hand there to be used for bait in the operations of the concern.

The freezing and main storage plant is situated nearer the railway. The building is practically completed. It is a one-storey structure, with walls specially constructed to prevent the conduction of any heat into the place, thus keeping the temperature uniform. In this building there is provision made for the quick freezing of the fish and adjoining it are rooms for the storage in cold rooms for an immense amount of material. There is the provision in the building for the making of ice to be used by the company in its own work in stocking the steamers that are to be used in the taking of the fish on the banks, and for retail trade if that is deemed advisable to cater to. There is a capacity of thirty-five tons a day of manufactured ice in the works, while the storage capacity reaches several times that amount.

The company, however, realizes that, situated as it is, too far from any centre like Prince Rupert, there must be provision made for the taking care of those who are to be employed about the place in the carrying on of the great undertaking that they have in view.

Accordingly there has been erected a three-storey hotel on the townsite containing twenty-eight bedrooms and all the other necessary accommodation for the taking care of the public. This building is nearing completion and will be ready in a few days for occupation. It is a substantially built place, finished in the very best of style. It has been built to give a most airy appearance and at the same time there has been no trouble spared to make it warm and comfortable for the winter. It is to be equipped in the most modern way in every respect and will be maintained in the best of order.

The management realizes also that there must be accommodation in other ways than in the hotel. Accordingly the townsite at the base of the mountain has been laid out and there are about 500 lots platted and ready for sale. The townsite is limited in size and while the company is not putting on sale a speculative townsite there is provision made whereby those who require building quarters will be sold them. The Dominion government has al-

QUARANTINE WHARF

Work on this Undertaking will Likely Begin Very Soon---Engineer Here to Locate it.

Landing Place for Inspection of Vessels From Foreign Ports Will Be Constructed at Digby Island

The work of constructing the quarantine wharf will be commenced here in a very short time. W. B. Gauvreau, the representative engineer of the department of public work is in the city for the purpose of definitely locating the lines in connection with the work which will be on Digby Island between the bays upon which the marine depot is situated and the one upon which the quarantine hospital is built.

There will follow the erection of the wharf the placing of detention sheds and other necessary buildings in the locality. The quarters for the doctor in charge will, it is expected, be started at any early date so as to have all in readiness for the opening up of the trade with foreign ports which must come immediately after the completion of the G. T. P., or even before that time.

RICH ORE FOUND

Salmon and Bear River Company Reported to Have Made Valuable Find on Their Property

From the Salmon River section comes the most important mining news of the week in a new discovery of from nine to fifteen feet of galena ore on the property of the Salmon-Bear River Mining Company, says the Portland Canal Miner. Of the find, Foreman Pat Daly, who is in charge of the development, writes the Miner: "The property is looking fine. I made a new discovery of solid galena ore, apparently of good grade. It is the largest surface showing I have yet seen stripped in British Columbia of this character of ore. It is from nine to fifteen feet in width in different places. I cut into it along the trend of the lead and it has all the earmarks of being a permanent body. Have started a tunnel on the showing."

SENTENCED TO HANG

ASK RESIGNATIONS

All the Engineer's Department will Be Requested to Retire from Posts.

Council Will Then Take Steps to Replace Required on the Permanent Staff

At the council meeting last night the report of the special committee that considered questions in private session was presented. It was set forth that the resignations of the whole of the engineer's department should be called for; that the clerk's salary should remain the same, although an amendment was introduced at the secret meeting to increase it.

Alderman Morrissey said there was another amendment relative to the engineer's department that should be set forth if these others were.

The mayor contended that no motion was put.

Alderman Montgomery did not think that any motions except those carried should be put forward. He did not propose to go into all these personalities again nor bring the professional reputations of men up.

Alderman Morrissey said that it had been proposed to have the resignation of the whole of the engineer's department. From the time that these resignations were in until they were filled there would be no one in charge of the valuable property, the records of the staff etc. He would move that the chief of police take charge if this carried.

The mayor did not propose to thresh this out again.

Alderman Morrissey said he would move then that Mr. Mason, Mr. Bratt and Mr. Parker be retained pro tem and all the remainder laid off; Mr. Mason to take charge of the public works, Mr. Bratt to take charge of the clerical work and Mr. Parker to have charge of the maps, charts and records.

Alderman Dybhavn seconded the motion.

Alderman Maitland said he would leave have Colonel Davis as Mr. Mason. He favored calling for the resignation of all.

Alderman Montgomery thought this would be unfair to Col. Davis. He was not in favor of holding the engin er up to discredit before the public. It was not fair. He would favor falling in line with the proposition to have all the members of the department resign.

Alderman Morrissey could not see how the members of the staff could be regarded as being considered if every member of the staff were dismissed.

VERY SUDDEN DEATH

Matthew Dow Drydock Contractor Passed Away at his Home Yesterday.

Without Warning He Was Seized With Heart Trouble and Died at Early Hour

Citizens of Prince Rupert were shocked yesterday morning upon learning of the death of Matthew Dow, the contractor fo rthe putting in of all the preliminary work for the drydock here. Mr. Dow, who has only recently come here with his family, had made a great many firm friends in the city and was respected by all with whom he came in contact in a business and a social way.

Shortly before 6 o'clock yesterday morning, Mrs. Dow was awakened by her husband, who was then distressed in breathing. His death followed very shortly afterwards and before any medical help could be summoned. The cause of death was an affection of the heart.

While this weakness was known to Mr. Dow and his friends and on that account he could not be regarded as being in perfect health, yet there was no immediate anticipation that his end was near. He was, in fact, about the day before in his usual health.

The body is reposing at the under-

ROCK CLEARING

Offer Made to Have City Excavate From McLeod Lots for Sum of $5.000.

City Council Decides to Refuse the Offer—Engineer Opposed to Going Into Such Business

An offer was received by the city council last evening relative to clearing the McLeod lots of rock at the corner of Second Avenue and Fifth Street. The offer was to have the city clear the lots to eighteen inches below grade, the city taking all rock as to damage to building, the owner to pay $5,000 cash upon the completion of the work.

Alderman Clayton favored referring this to the city engineer and the works committee, with power to act.

Alderman Bullock-Webster endorsed the move. It might be possible then to cancel the arrangement for blasting out the rock near Market Place. This latter proposition would be costly and it might be found that it would be advantageous to act on this offer.

Alderman Kerr pointed out that he had, on behalf of Mr. McLeod, made a better proposition, to take the rock out and feed it into the crusher.

Alderman Morrissey said he was not in favor of this. It might be that the Albert Block would be ruined.

The city solicitor did not think the city had any power to act in such matters.

After some further discussion the mayor called upon the city engineer to explain the situation.

The engineer said that the main argument against this was that it was introducing a bad principle, that the city should go into the contracting business and compete with private parties in clearing lots.

The communication was received and filed.

No Applications

No applications have been received for the position of chief operator of the city telephone. It has been referred to the committee, with power to act.

CANADIAN CLUB LUNCHEON

THE DUST NUISANCE

Residents Raise Complaint that Stocks are Being Ruined by Dry Weather.

Attempt Will Be Made to Overcome the Trouble From the Blowing In of Dust to Stores

Frank D. Keeley wrote the council last evening complaining of the fact that the dust from the streets gave him a great deal of bother owing to the dust blowing into the store.

The mayor suggested referring this to the water committee, but Alderman Morrissey contended that this was work for the public works committee.

Several suggestions were considered in open council to overcome the dust..

Alderman Montgomery said that he had been looking into this. He believed it would cost about $75 to rig up a plant that would water the streets.

Alderman Douglas endorsed this. The only trouble was the water.

Alderman Montgomery said that salt water could be used.

Alderman Bullock-Webster favored a very temporary equipment to serve for this summer, after which a more permanent scheme could be carried out.

The public works committee will consider it.

WHOLE COUNCIL TO AID AS FINANCIERS

This Course Taken as Compromise Instead of Vote of Censure Being Put--Ald. Morrissey Resigns Chairmanship of the Public Works Committee---He will Serve on no Committee He Says---Ald. Dybhavn Selected

The motion censuring the mayor and finance committee for cancelling the order for the new team of horses without the consent of the rest of the council was defeated at the council last night on the casting vote of the mayor. The second resolution of censure for cutting off work on the public utilities was allowed to be withdrawn on the introduction of an amendment that the finance committee be increased to include every member of the council. Alderman Morrissey thereupon resigned his post as chairman of the public works committee and refused to act on any standing committee. The mayor named Alderman Dybhavn as chairman of that committee.

The motion of censure for cancelling the buying of horses was introduced by Alderman Morrissey and fully discussed.

Alderman Morrissey outlined the course that had been followed. The cancelling of the order for the horses without reference to the committee or the council made the members of this council mere automatons. He referred also to the fact that the mayor and the engineering department had frustrated the aim of the public works committee in completing Third Avenue. He would not stand for any such course. The hire of cartage last month had cost $1,100 alone.

Alderman Dybhavn denied that any solicitor had anything to do with drawing the motion. He thought that it would be a great saving to buy the horses.

Alderman Maitland said the horses, he felt, should have been bought earlier in the year. There was no good purpose, he thought, in voting for the motion, however.

The mayor said that while the council had passed a motion to buy a team of horses, it was on the understanding that it should be done as soon as funds were available. Mr. Clancy's letter had come in ordering a retrenchment. The finance committee had then decided that it is was wiser to defer the purchase for a few weeks. As far as the stopping of work on Third Avenue was concerned, it was because of the order passed by the council to stop work.

Alderman Morrissey wanted to know why, after the engineer was ordered to purchase the horses, that it was referred back to the finance committee.

The mayor said that the minutes of the clerk showed that the motion authorizing the purchase was that it should be done when the funds were available.

Alderman Morrissey said that once it passed to the engineer to purchase, the committee had no authority until it was referred to it by the council.

Alderman Douglas said there was no discourtesy intended. They had not the money to purchase the horses.

Alderman Kerr said he understood that the horses were to be purchased to save money.

Alderman Dybhavn said that in five months the city would have paid $800 for one team alone. Why should they not purchase their own team?

Alderman Clayton said it was a puzzle to him how the finance committee could find $1,100 to pay for team hire and was not able to find the money to purchase a team.

The mayor said that there would be a lot of things necessary if a team were bought.

Alderman Bullock-Webster said the council had considered the question of buying the team out of hydro-electric funds. It was deemed wise not to do that, because it was felt that even if the team were bought it would be necessary to have other horses hired. Relative to the planking on Third Avenue, he had taken part in a conversation on the street. He had not approved of carrying out the work of devoting funds in different ways.

Alderman Montgomery did not feel like getting excited over the financial situation in the city. There was nothing serious. The team could have been bought, he felt, out of the hydro-electric. He favored the council going into committee of the whole to deal with the finances. The finance committee was not perfect by any means. He thought it was a duty to unite and do the best that could be done.

The mayor said that Alderman Morrissey had tried to bulldoze him into forcing the engineer to go on with that work.

Alderman Morrissey said he denied it, and continued to repeat the words "I deny it" while the

SEIZED VESSELS

Captain Newcombe of the William Jolliffe Took Craft Under Customs Laws.

Nets and Wires Were Forced to Be Removed to Allow Salmon to Run Up to Spawn

Captain Newcombe of the Dominion government fishery protection service was in port for the week-end, leaving again yesterday morning. He had the opportunity last week of teaching some Alaskan residents to respect the British law and also to show some Indians that the fishing rules must be observed.

Two gasoline launches plying in the vicinity of the Naas were seized by the officer and the little vessels taken to Port Simpson, where they were turned over to the customs officer. There have been many complaints that smuggling of gasoline engines into the country about Port land Canal is followed. These two launches that were seized had United States engines in them and not having paid duty were seized.

In one of the rivers he suddenly came upon an attempt to block the river, preventing the fish from ascending to the spawning ground. The work was clearly that of Indians. Capt. Newcombe at once proceeded to have the barriers broken down and made the Indians do it themselves.

ENLARGED COMMITTEE

At the council meeting last night the decision was reached to enlarge the finance committee instead of censuring it. Under the new arrangement the committee includes all the members of the council, which ertainly makes the body large enough. It is doubtful if the increasing of a body to that size can work much good. The committee under ordinary circumstances is unwieldy and there is no question that three good men can under ordinary circumstances accomplish better work in committee than can a body as large as that selected. At the same time there was a considerable portion of the council that did not have confidence in the whole of the committee that had charge of the finances. The election of a larger body was in reality a vote of want of confidence in the old committee just as much as the original motions were. The results from the increased numbers will be watched with interest.

FISHING CENTRE

The increasing amount that is being invested in the fishing industry in this part of the province is a guarantee that Prince Rupert is to be the greatest fishing centre in Canada at least. The Skeena River is fast taking the place of the Fraser as the great producer of salmon and there is little doubt it will soon surpass the southern river in this line. But in addition to this the city and the environs of it are to be the homes of all kinds of fish-curing and packing establishments. With the building of these there will develop other industries allied to it. That of shipbuilding will become an important accessory and when the G. T. P. yards for ship-building are completed they will be in demand for the construction of a tremendous number of fishing craft of all sizes.

HOSPITAL MATTERS

City Council Is Manifesting Deep Interest in the Institution Now

Last evening at the council a letter from the hospital board was read setting forth that all indigent patients from the city were being treated free of charge.

Alderman Bullock-Webster wanted to know what "free of charge" meant. Did it mean that the city did not have to pay for medical treatment.

The mayor said it meant free of charge to the city.

Alderman Bullock-Webster wanted to know how it was that the city was being charged in a particular case.

That, it was explained, was due to the calling in of a doctor independent of the health officer, the case being critical.

Alderman Morrissey moved that the hospital board insert a clause in its bylaws setting forth this condition.

Alderman Clayton did not know what power the council had to legislate for the hospital board.

Alderman Morrissey said he would put it in the form of a suggestion then.

The motion carried.

Alderman Montgomery favored a system of collecting $1 a month from city workmen, which would entitle them to treatment.

Later in the evening a motion introduced by Alderman Montgomery and Alderman Kerr was carried recommending the hospital board to go into this question.

Ask Grand Lodge

The council last night passed a resolution inviting the I. O. O. F. Grand Lodge to meet here next year.

SEWER PROPOSAL

Burst Pipe Allows Sewage to Leak Through and Run Down Open Drain

Owing to the fact that the sewer is burst on Second Avenue, allowing sewage to drain out into the runway which crosses McBride Street near the corner of Third Avenue it is suggested that the use of the sewer be discontinued. The health officer expressed fear of trouble if it were continued. The opinion of the city solicitor was also given, in which he expressed the opinion that that was quite a serious matter.

Alderman Morrissey felt that the city had a right to prohibit the use of the sewer.

The city solicitor suggested that they have the users of this sewer discontinue and then be given a chance of putting in a sewer on the local improvement plan.

A Correction

Alderman Bullock-Webster wishes to correct two typographical errors that occurred in the statements as to the bylaws that were given the Journal by him. One has to do with the city hall bylaw. The cost of $30,000, he said, was exclusive of furniture, instead of being made to read inclusive of furniture. In connection with electric bylaw, an addition making $65,000 is read as giving $66,000.

VERY SUDDEN DEATH

taking parlors of E. L. Fisher. Arrangements are being made for the taking of the remains to Seattle, where the interment will take place.

The deceased was a native of Scotland but had lived a large part of his life in the United States. For a number of years he resided on the Pacific Coast, making Seattle his headquarters. Many large contracts were carried out by him and following the securing of this one here for the drydock for the G. T. P. he had also tendered and expected to secure a very large contract from the C. P. R. in Vancouver.

He is survived by Mrs. Dow and five children. Of these three lived here, being quite young. Two married daughters reside in Seattle. A brother of the deceased was associated with him in the work here.

PERSONALS

R. H. Bell, who has been in from Stewart for a few weeks, has returned to the city.

H. S. Clements, M. P., has gone south again after a busy few days in the city looking after the interests of the city and the district as representative. He will return to the city about July 1.

WHOLE COUNCIL TO AID AS FINANCIERS

mayor attempted to make his statement.

The mayor said that he would not be forced to do contrary to the order of the council.

Alderman Morrissey said the mayor had gone contrary to the order of the council in that very thing. He said he denied that he had tried to bulldoze the mayor, who was sitting there and saying what was untrue.

The motion lost on the casting vote of the mayor.

On the motion of censure relative to the stopping of work on the public untilities, Alderman Clayton charged that it was a serious matter that the mayor and members of the finance committee had taken the course that had been taken. It was not necessary to stop the work as was done or it would not have been possible to renew the work the next day.

Alderman Douglas suggested that this was really a censure of the bank manager.

Alderman Kerr wanted to know how it was that Alderman Douglas reported that the money was not available and when two members of the electric light committee went to the bank the money was obtained.

Alderman Douglas said it was he who got the money.

Alderman Kerr wanted to know why he did not get it before.

Alderman Bullock-Webster cautioned the council that this was a serious question. He admitted that Alderman Clayton had put up a strong point in showing that the pole line could be used for carrying a high voltage wire and thus be included as part of the hydro-electric scheme. But there seemed a doubt now upon this point also.

Alderman Morrissey recalled the fact that on the platform at election time the mayor had admitted that although a member of the finance committee last year, he knew nothing about how it was run. He had come to the conclusion that he (the mayor) knew no more this year, and that the other members of the finance committee were in the same condition. The city could not buy an apple without asking Mr. Clancy. Last year they never heard Mr. Clancy's name mentioned.

Alderman Bullock-Webster said he admitted that the name of Mr. Clancy should not be dragged in in a personal way.

Alderman Montgomery said he was not going to defend the finance committee. At the same time, he could not see that any good could be done by passing this. In amendment to the motion he moved that all the members of the council should be made members of the finance committee until this crisis was passed.

Alderman Dybhavn said he would vote for it in order to obtain more information.

The mayor said that Mr. Clancy had told him that he always obtained all the information he desired from the clerk or from himself (the mayor). Mr. Sweeney had told himself and the solicitor in Vancouver that the city of Prince Rupert was going too fast. He pleaded that they should not pass this resolution, as it would give the information to the world that the council had not confidence in the finance committee. He asked them to vote this down, not to screen anyone, but to show the world that the members of the council were working in harmony.

Alderman Clayton felt that if Alderman Douglas came to the council in his proper clothing he would come in swaddling clothes.

Alderman Maitland said that it was characteristic of places in British Columbia that they got all the money they wanted the first year but the second and third years it was cut off from the work.

Alderman Morrissey, upon the motion to make the finance committee a committee of the whole, carrying, stated that he would no longer serve as chairman of the public works committee when their duties were to usurped. Now that the mayor and the finance committee had taken the work out of his hands he would tender his resignation as chairman, and would not act on any committee.

The mayor suggested Alderman Dybhavn but the latter wanted an older member of the council named.

His name was allowed to stand, however.

OIL FUEL AND PANAMA CANAL

Oil Tapping in Latin-American States Lead to Expectation That Oil Will Be Substituted for Coal

As the Panama Canal nears completion a great deal is heard of oil tappings in various parts of Latin-America and the West Indies. Reports of rich oil strikes are becoming so frequent that one is beginning to include the use of oil as a substitute for coal in the general revolutionary changes that are confidently expected to be wrought by the canal. There certainly is excellent ground for the assumption that the powerful companies, chiefly English and American, that are developing the oil fields in the more or less close proximity of the canal and along the line of travel, will make every conceivable effort to get control of the fuel supply to the merchant fleets passing through the locks.

Trinidad, one of the most famous of Britain's island possessions, appears to anticipate not only a complete revival of its one-time prosperity, but, indeed, a new era in which Port of Spain shall become one of the great shipping centres of the world—sometning like the Hongkong of the west. Its situation on the route both of the European and South American traffic to or from the Panama Canal would seem to justify a good part of the enthusiasm with which the people of the island, and loyal subjects of King George, regard their vast resources of petroleum, taken together with the excellent and various harbor facilities, and its sheet of landlocked water whose expanse, protected north and south, is easily defended and of great strategic value.

Important as this prospect is to the shipping of the world, it is still more significant perhaps from the point of view of stimulating development of the Spanish republics grouped about the Caribbean, notably the opening up of Venezuela and Colombia, both of which countries have valuable oil fields. Colombia, like Ecuador, also has good coal deposits at fairly accessible points, a circumstance which is likely to emphasize the oil fuel propaganda.

It will be interesting to watch the commercial and industrial developments which, though unconnected with the construction of the canal, are nevertheless sure to grow out of the canal route, forming an entirely new centre of activity in the American tropics.

Oil fuel in Trinidad, as a substitute for coal, is being gradually introduced in local enterprises, notably the sugar mills, resulting in greater economy as well as efficiency.

The oil resources of that island are very considerable, as may be seen from the asphalt deposits of the La Brea pitch lake, to form which it has been calculated some 40,000,000 tons of petroleum were required. This, however, has not exhausted even the oil near the lake, the shipments of oil from that vicinity being more than 25,000 tons in January, February and March. Of other deposits on the island, that of the Oilfields Company at Port Fortin has proved a particularly rich tap.

Owing to these oil strikes, the question of land ownership has come up for discussion, as the crown still owns the island, and thereby controls the oil resources of the undeveloped area.

The government of the colony, it is believed, will shortly define its policy in regard to the new industry, which not only helps the sugar industry, but promises to give Trinidad a commanding position in the shipping that will pass through the Panama Canal.

ON INDIAN RESERVES

Those Who Are Making Homes on the Lands of the Aborigines Are Warned to Quit

A. M. Tyson, the inspector of Indian agencies for this northern part of the province, has gone south, after a visit to the interior points in company with Indian Officer "Pat" Phillipson. On this visit to the interior the inspector caused a good deal of commotion in Hazelton by reason of his orders relative to the removal of white men from the Indian reserve.

The instructions of the Indian department are to allow no residences of white men on the reserves. In ordering them off at Hazelton as well as at other points the inspector was but carrying out the instructions of the department. The residents of Hazelton, however, seem to have viewed the situation with a good deal of alarm. It does not seem to be likely that there is any trouble to follow.

Alderman Clayton took exception to the stand of Alderman Morrissey. The latter proposed to dismiss the chief engineer and retain others. The chief engineer was the man, he felt, above all, that should be retained. He thought the chief engineer should be allowed to finish the work he started.

The amendment to retain the three was lost, only Aldermen Morrissey and Dybhavn voting for it. A motion to call for the resignation of all the members of the engineer's staff was carried.

The proposal had been made by Alderman Clayton that a bylaw be introduced fixing the salary increases from yeaer to year.

Alderman Montgomery thought the position taken by Alderman Clayton was that he favored an increase to the clerk; then it was reduced; then it was to be raised again in part. It was a peculiar position.

Alderman Clayton argued it was a proper course. It showed a man exactly what he was to get.

The report was adopted and it was decided to call for all resignations by June 15.

Earlier in the evening a letter was read from Mr. Mason denying the report that he had offered to fill the post for $3,000 a year.

Alderman Morrissey was sorry that such a matter as this should come up. He had asked Mr. Mason if he would accept the position if it were vacant. Mr. Mason had said he would not be an applicant unless the post became vacant. He had said that he would not accept the position at a salary of $3,000.

Alderman Montgomery had never said anything to indicate that he favored Mr. Mason for the position.

E. W. Richards of Port Simpson is in the city.

LABOR DECISION

Privy Council Decides Against the Contention of the British Columbia Courts on Point.

Dependents Living Outside Province Will Be Able to Benefit Under Workmen's Compensation Act

Fernit, May 20.—The news has been received here by the officials of the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Company stating that the company lost its appeal before the Privy Council in the case of Kraus vs. Crow's Nest Pass Coal Company. The news given is great satisfaction to the miners, who now have established the right of foreign dependents to benefit under the Provincial Workmen's Compensation Act.

The decision is one of the most important in the labor annals in the province. A dozen more cases are awaiting in the courts for the result of the appeal. The decision releases $80,000 of deferred awards under the ruling of the British Columbia Courts.

Summer Hospital

The Port Essington General Hospital, under the superintendent of Dr. Large of Port Simpson, will open shortly for the fishing season. Dr. Large has gone to Port Essington to make preliminary arrangements. This hospital is one which is operated under the charge of Dr. Large in order to look after those who require attention during the fishing season. It is a commodious and comfortable building and well adapted for the purpose.

Dr. Alfred Thompson expects to leave for his home in the Yukon on Wednesday. The doctor is so impressed with the prospects here that, although he has property holdings in Prince Rupert, he is desirous of obtaining additional lots ready given a post office to the place, it being under the charge of Mrs. Dupuis. The government has also established a telegraph station there, which indicates that there is to be a centre of no small importance at that place.

ANOTHER COLD STORAGE PLANT

The work that has been accomplished at the station represents the energetic management of Mr. Davis, representing Davis & Worems, who have certainly made good with respect to the carrying out of the undertaking. In a comparatively short time the firm has put the plant in the best of shape for the carrying on of active work.

Mr. Massie, who has been identified with the undertaking from the first, is also on the ground and will have an important part to play in the business. Mr. Bay, who is a practical cold storage man, is on the spot and is taking an active part in seeing that the work is put in shape to begin the packing of fish. Mr. Knox Brown, also prominent in the company, is at Haysport and will have his part in carrying out the plans of the company.

In the matter of power it was expected to make use of a water supply that is found close to the works. It is not known for a certainty, however, whether there will be sufficient power represented there to carry the works through the whole of the year. If not, there will be auxiliary power provided in the form of a gasoline engine.

Haysport I., the first of the steamers that are to operate from the station, is on the banks now taking fish. In the intervening time, until the works are in good order to open, the fish are being taken care of at some of the other fishing concerns that are now becoming so numerous in this part of the province. There will be other steamers for the trawling business built as fast as the demand is created and before long there will be a large fleet of these craft. As time goes on it is the intention, it is said, to have other stations equipped in different parts of this fish producing part of the coast and at all of these there will be a supply of all kinds put up to feed the millions that are anxious to have the product of these waters. Marvels in the way of development have already been accomplished. The waters of this northern coast are becoming studded with all kinds of craft engaged in this work of catching and curing fish. But there has only been a start made in this industry. It is destined to become the greatest industry probably that this city will have.
