CONTRACTOR WINS AS TO DAMAGES

Judgment Given by Mr. Justice Clement in City Case on Ground that Time Allowed was not Sufficient---City did all that Could be Expected as to Strike---Penalizes Lawyers "Young in Practice" for Unwarranted Course.

In the Supreme Court yesterday morning the case of Watson vs. City of Prince Rupert was concluded, Mr. Justice Clement hearing the address of counsel and giving an off-hand decision immediately afterwards. The large item involved in the action, that respecting the question of liquidated damages, was decided against the city in this case although it is very doubtful if the decision of His Lordship was just as clear on this question as could have been wished for in view of the fact that it is a point at issue in practically all the disputes in settling up the contracts. His Lordship decided this case on the point that the time was admitted by the city engineer to be too short for the completion of the contract and not on the legal aspect of the right of the city to collect these damages, so that the point still remains somewhat in the dark. In view of the fact that the council sought a precedent through a judgment of the court in settling the disputes that have arisen, it is somewhat disappointing that the legal aspect on this point was not more fully dealt with.

In concluding his judgment Mr. Justice Clement reprimanded counsel for the plaintiff for their course in trying to put up a claim that there was no time clause in the contract and for attacks upon the city engineer in their pleadings. Alex. Manson pleaded youth as an excuse for the firm.

Address of Counsel

In his argument on behalf of the city, Fred Peters, K. C., on the point of liquidated damages, contended that the idea of pre-estimated damages should not be given as much prominence as was attempted. On account of it being difficult to ascertain the exact damages, liquidated damages should be assessed.

His Lordship said that to his mind there had been a fundamental mistake. The engineer in his evidence said that he thought that the six months was too short for the carrying out of the contract.

Mr. Peters pointed out that the contractor took the contract knowing all the conditions. The engineer's statement, even if it went that far, did not interfere with the contract. The contractor was bound just the same.

His Lordship said that this was a common error in judgment.

Mr. Peters pointed out that there was nothing to show that the contractor did not take all this into account and that the charge per yard was made on the basis that there was too short a time allowed.

As to liquidated damages, the contract itself, and that alone, must be looked at. Surely the contractor must be given credit for exercising common sense enough to take into account this very fact that there was a limited time to do it and that he based his tender on that. No authority could be found to vary this. There was nothing to show how much less the engineer would have charged had the time been longer.

Strike Period

As to the charging of the contractors for the strike period, Mr. Peters said he would leave the evidence as it was with His Lordship. He desired a judgment on the point.

With respect to the work on Sunday, Mr. Peters said that the Sunday Observance Law was in force in Canada. No deduction should be allowed, because they were not allowed to work on those days.

Mr. Peters alluded to the point with respect to the six months' time limit, which he said he would not argue now as it had been virtually concluded that there was the limit. He, however, had a point which he wished to raise on behalf of Mr. Woods, the city clerk, with respect to the writing in of the six months in the contract in the city hall. Mr. Woods wanted it made clear that he had no fraudulent intent.

His Lordship said this was clear. He thought he had made it clear before. He was convinced that there was no fraud intended.

Dumping on Lots

As to the dumping of rock on low lying lots Mr. Peters wanted to know why Watson, when he was first obliged to put rock elsewhere than on these lots, did not raise this objection, that he had a right to dump there. This claim was an afterthought. Watson, under the contract, was obliged to carry out the whole contract before he was entitled to get all the money. Until the rock was removed, the contract was not completed.

His Lordship said he had no evidence to show that these owners would object to the small amount of rock dumped upon their land.

Mr. Peters contended that with the money in the hands of the city, held back for the due performance of the contract, it should not be asked to take an action to secure damages as a matter of equity.

His Lordship said that the city had no interest in this land. The city was only appearing as trustee.

Mr. Peters contended that this was not a correct view. The contractor had a right to remove the material or get the consent of the owners to allow it to remain, when the money would be paid. The city should not be left liable.

Lumber Charged

His Lordship said on the point of the lumber loss he proposed to charge the plaintiff $100 for that lost to the city.

Mr. Peters said he would say nothing on the point then.

With respect to the extra removal of muskeg, Mr. Peters pointed out that this work was done a few days after the contract started. There could be little done there then. As a matter of fact, the ground was only scratched. No claim was put in until the suit commenced.

On the point of overhaul on Beach Place, His Lordship said he felt like allowing $500 to the contractor. His ground for this was that at the start there seemed to be an understanding by both the city and the contractor that these low lots would be used.

Mr. Peters, pressing for reasons for this, got from His Lordship that he regarded this work as outside the contract.

For Plaintiff

Mr. Williams, for the plaintiff, argued that the estimate fixed by His Lordship as to the value of lumber taken was too great.

His Lordship thought that $100 worth was used by the contractor.

On the retaining wall proposition, Mr. Williams thought there was loss, but His Lordship could not see it from the evidence.

To the strike, Mr. Williams gave a great deal of attention. The contended that the city authorities did not give the contractor's protection.

His Lordship said "they had other interests to look after" as well as those of the contractors. The contractors' interests were not the only ones in the city.

He added that he was still of the opinion that it was outrageous for the city to try to collect for the time the contractors lost during the strike. He, however, did not doubt but that the authorities acted wisely in the matter of the strike.

Cites Mr. Justice Murphy

Mr. Williams, still anxious to linger on the point, contended that Mr. Justice Murphy after giving judgment in the strike cases had given the opinion that the authorities had been very remiss in enforcing law

Statutory Sitting Was Held Yesterday at the City Hall—Alderman Kirkpatrick in His Place

The Board of Licencing Commissioners sat yesterday afternoon, with Mayor Manson presiding, and Alderman Kirkpatrick also present. MR. JUSTICE CLEMENT'S VIEWS AS TO STRIKE

"I would not as a judge sitting here be prepared under all circumstances when life and death were at issue to jass judgment upon the actions of the police force and the civic authorities who were on the ground and say they were neggent in their duty.

"It is probable that the very best was done under the conditions that could be done."

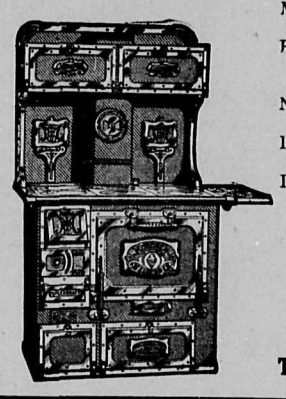
Monarch MALLEABLE The "Stay Satisfactory" Range

Good, Sound Reasons for MONARCH Economy



Monarch Ranges are built so that they can never have "air leaks"—
For around every opening into the body there is a Malleable Iron frame to which the steel is riveted.
No putty is needed in such joints. They are air tight when new and stay air tight.
If these other ranges were built in this way they might be economical too.
Investigate this matter of rivet construction versus stove bolts and stove putty. It's important to every one using or buying a range.

A MAN OF VALOR

During the progress of the suit brought against the city by the contractor Watson there has been an endless amount of time consumed by counsel admittedly "young in practice" to attach blame to the authorities in this city with respect to the strike. In a final attempt to have words dropped by the court that would imply that those in authority failed in their duty the words of Mr. Justice Murphy used at the time of the criminal action in Vancouver were cited to Mr. Justice Clement upon which to base a like opinion from the latter but it signally failed.

The remarks of Mr. Justice Murphy were unquestionably indiscreet and may be ascribed to the fact that he is young on the bench. With his many good qualities he will probably become more discreet as the years go by.

In passing, however, now that Mr. Justice Murphy's remarks indicative of a valorous spirit on his part have been brought up it may not be out of place to recall an incident in the political life of that judge when he was "Denny" Murphy which shows that the decision and valor he now seems to advocate were not always characteristic of this man.

At one stage in his political career he was given cabinet rank at Victoria and after accepting office he left the capital in high spirit, bound for his native heath, the district of Cariboo, where he was to present himself for re-election before taking up the active duties of his office. But on the way the Hon. Mr. Murphy contracted a severe cold which settled in his feet and before he got well into his constituency this apostle of valor and decision in his later days had become so thoroughly frightened that he "quit." He telegraphed his resignation to Victoria and showed himself a political coward and a "quitter."

COMMUNICATIONS

The Journal does not necessarily endorse the views expressed in this column but believes in the freest discussion of public concerns provided it is done in a proper way.

To the Editor of The Journal.

Sir:—It would appear from press reports that a certain local exponent, or supposed exponent, of the gospel, is endeavoring to constitute himself a general critic of the management of the affairs of the city. Sensational journalism, instituted to make the papers pay, is meeting with that condemnation which all exaggeration of circumstances and events, which border on the line of fabrication, deserve. Sensational utterances under the guise of Sunday services of the Lord point to a wish for popularity amongst that element in the community most prone to scandalmonging, and to Mammon as the ultimate goal. Was the statement, "The magistrate has issued an encyclical that gambling is not illegal," intended to advertise the fact, to cast a reflection on the magistrate, or to advertise the parson? If intended to advertise the fact, then from such a source it comes with ill grace; if intended as a reflection on the magistrate, it is well known to all conversant with law that gambling, initself, is not illegal and the remark of the magistrate was made to legal men present who understood his meaning as applied to the case at issue and was not intended as a headline for yellow journalism, or for individual advertising by any member of the cloth.

and order and had not put forth a proper effort to do so.

His Lordship said he could not consider this. He would not sit in judgment upon the actions of the authorities. It was evident they had done the very best possible.

Mr. Williams contended that in the interests of law and order they should have provided a force and seen that the work was allowed to go on under the contractors.

"It was surely not in the interests of law and order to have a bloody battle on the streets," suggested His Lordship. It was not reasonable, he added, to suppose that in a new place like this there were all the facilities at hand to control hundreds of men on strike.

"They could have got them," suggested Mr. Williams.

Best Done by City

"Perhaps they could," returned the court, "but after the event I am not going to sit in judgment. I would not as a judge sitting here be prepared under all the circumstances when life and death were at issue to pass judgment upon the actions of the police force and the civic authorities, who were on the ground, and say that they were negligent in their duty.

"It is probable that the very best was done under the conditions that could be done."

Mr. Williams contended that there was an absolute duty upon the corporation to provide protection.

His Lordship said he could find no authorities that went to show that this was to serve as a guarantee to contractors. He wanted to know if Mr. Williams had found any case in which a corporation had been made to pay for failing to give this protection.

Mr. Williams said that he had not.

His Lordship said he was not going to make a precedent.

Mr. Williams said that if there had been an adequate force there would have been no trouble.

His Lordship: "Well, it's easy to say that after the event."

The Judgment

His Lordship immediately proceeded to give judgment in the case. Taking the statement of claim of the plaintiffs, he disposed of the items in succession. As to the claim of $750 for removing waste from the lots, he said the city's claim was clearly one of damages. The sum which the city proposed to retain would be as trustee for the owner. No claim was before him on the part of any of the owners against the city. If the case were made out a contractor was insolvent or there was an insolvent surety or a claim against the city, a case might be made out to obtain a sum.

He would strike this claim out and order the $750 paid to the contractor.

On the old lumber count he would allow the city $100. The burden was on the city to show the amount of lumber taken. It was impossible to keep an exact account of the lumber taken.

On the point of liquidated damages His Lordship said he would give a deduction of fifty days to cover the strike period and other delays.

Would Have Reserved Decision

He could not regard this amount named in the contract as pre-estimated, but in view of the case quoted by Mr. Peters, the view might be that later authorities looked upon the point differently to what he had expressed his view.

He would have reserved judgment on this point had it not been for the evidence of the city engineer that there had been an error of judgment in fixing the time. Were the legal points the only ones, he would have reserved judgment. But according to the engineer the time was inequitable. He put the odium on the city of seeking a decision on a legal point when in the matter of justice and common honesty it had not a leg to stand on. He allowed $3,300 on this point.

On the point of $92.50 for extra removal of muskeg, he allowed that claim.

As to the allowance claimed for extras on account of the city introducing retaining walls, he found no balance of disadvantage against the contractors and decided in favor of the city.

On the culvert he found no loss to the contractors. This point was covered in the contract, the city being allowed to proceed with its work during the progress of the work.

As to Strike

As to the strike, he remained of the same opinion as previously stated.

The first question as far as the corporation was concerned was as to whom it owed a duty. It was not to the contractors alone. It was to the whole community, and even beyond that. It was a discretionary power that was reposed in it. It was a delicate question for a judge to sit in judgment after the event and call in judgment the actions of those charged with the enforcement of the law. He had found no negligence on the part of the corporation. It might very well have been in the best interests of the city. He could not see that any claim was recoverable by the contractors. The city was not responsible for damages. This did not modify in any degree his feeling as to the iniquity of the city to attempt to recover from the contractors for loss during the time of the strike.

He found that there was to be a large amount of waste to be dumped on low lying lots. Later this was wound would not be allowed. It was understood then that no waste would be deposited below Beach Place. He would allow 25 cents a yard for 2,000 yards deposited below Beach Place, or $500, on that count.

A Reprimand

As to costs, the natural order would be to allow general costs to the plaintiff, deducting that in which the other side had succeeded. This would be hard to work out.

He had therefore decided to apportion them himself.

There had been a loss of time early in the case from an unwarranted attempt on behalf of the plaintiff to establish a claim that there was no time limit and also to attach odium to the city engineer on a charge of collusion. On these points they had failed entirely, and he felt they should be penalized to an extent. He would allow plaintiff two-thirds of the costs of the action.

Alex. Manson, representing Williams & Manson, said there had been no intention on the part of his firm to cast any reflections.

"You made a distinctly ill choice of your English then," returned His Lordship.

Mr. Manson admitted that perhaps they had, but pleaded that they were both young men in practice. He did not think it should call for reduced counsel fees as there had been a lot of work involved.

His Lordship said he would allow the two of them $100 a day counsel fees.

Kelly Gets Judgment

In the case of Kelly vs. City of Prince Rupert, tried a few days before, His Lordship gave judgment immediately following the other. He gave judgment for the plaintiff with costs.

LADY BARRISTER

The Court of Appeal in Vancouver reserved judgment on the admissibility of Miss Mabel P. French to practise as a barrister in British Columbia. The appeal was against the judgment of Mr.. Justice Morrison, who decided that women were not entitled to practise law in this province under the terms of the Legal Professions Act.

J. A. Russel, on behalf of the appellant, argued yesterday that no decision could be found either in England or any British colony forbidding women to practise at the bar, with the exception of that of the Supreme court of New Brunswick in the case of Miss French herself. That court had decided that the word "person" employed in the Act did not include women. The legislature of New Brunswick thought differently and afterwards passed an act to enable Miss French to practise. Furthermore, the statutes of British Columbia provided that any barrister admitted to practise in another province should be admitted in British Columbia also on passing the necessary examination. Miss French was a barrister in another province and could not be denied the right of examination here. He further contended that the progress of the age made for the emancipation of women, and laws were intended to change with changing conditions.

L. G. McPhillips, K.C. appearing for the Benchers' Association, held that the word "person" as applied to those allowed to practise was intended to mean males only. This was shown by the fact that the pronouns "he" or "him" were always used in reference to it. He pointed out that to his knowledge in none of the courts of England had a woman ever been called; that this was the interpretation of the courts in Canada, and it was only by the legislature passing an enabling act that a woman had ever been entitled to practise in Canada. The Benchers' Association simply desired to have the position made clear.

Chief Justice Macdonald announced that the court would consider the cases quoted and reserve decision.
