FINANCE COMMITTEE ON VARIOUS REQUESTS

Schools Only Will Take Precedence Over the Woodworth Lake Power Proposition It Is Stated---Other Proposals for Aid Will Receive Attention Later--Publicity Not Decided

At the meeting of the city council last evening there was a good record made in the matter of expeditious transaction of business. The meeting was all over in about thirty-five minutes, which is certainly keeping up the record that was established last year very well. The principal business that came up was that of the report that was presented by the finance committee. This appeared to be a preliminary report dealing with the question of the estimates and giving a warning to the various bodies that have been seeking assistance this year what there is to expect along these lines.

A report was presented along the lines of the request that was made by the school board relative to the expenditure that would be needed this year for the carrying on of the schools. The finance committee reported in favor of the grant of the $22,585 from the taxation of the year which it is presumed is independent of the estimated grant that comes from the Government at Victoria and which will bring the total expenditure for the schools up to about $30,000 as was requested by the board to cover all contingencies.

Another report that was made by the finance committee was along the lines of the representations that had been made so far for assistance in the various civic undertakings outside of the general expenditure of the city council. These were placed as follows: Schools, $22,585; publicity proposal of Board of Trade, $10,000; exhibition purposes, $5000; hospital requirements, $10,000.

The committee reported that in its opinion only the schools should take precedence over the Woodworth Lake hydro-electric proposition. It was recommend that in the striking of the estimates that the school request should be granted in its entirety. In the matter of aid to the hospital there would be need of meeting the requirements up to the limit given. On the question of the publicity scheme, however, it was represented that the board should first ascertain what the C. P. R., the Union Steamship Company, the Northern Steamship Company, the G. T. P. Development Company, and many other orgaizations of a local character or which were interested in this matter of publicity should be prepared to do. When this was ascertained then the council would be prepared to proceed along sane lines and decide what could be done to jointly aid in this undertaking for giving the city outside advertising.

PRINCE RUPERT CLUB ELECTION

OFFICERS NAMED FOR ENSUING YEAR AT ANNUAL MEETING LAST NIGHT.

H. P. Wilson Is Named President For the Year—Others on the Board.

The annual meeting of the Prince Rupert Club was held last evening in the rooms of the organization. There was a good attendance of the members present to take part in the proceedings. The annual reports showed a most prosperous condition of affairs.

The main interest centred about the election of the officers for the year. The affairs of the club are in the hands of a committee of ten, who are elected annually. The ten that received the highest number of ballots last evening were as follows: Harry McLeod, A. T. Broderick, J. H. McMullin, S. P. McMordie, F. G. Dawson, A. Carss, Frank Mobley, J. A. Kirkpatrick, H. P. Wilson, George D. Tite.

Subsequently at a meeting of the directors that were elected, the officers for the ensuing year were elected. They were as follows: President, H. P. Wilson; vice-president, A. T. Broderick, secretary, Harry McLeod.

Starting on Building.

M. Albert is starting work on his new building, which will be erected at the corner of Third Avenue and Fourth Street on the Bank of Montreal property. He will likely put up a building only one storey in height, as the lease is for five years.

QUESTION OF TAX ARREARS

CITY SOLICITOR REPORTED UPON SITUATION RAISED BY LETTER.

The Swanson Bay Pulp & Paper Co. Will Have to Pay What Is Due.

At the meeting of the city council last week a letter was read from H. G. Helgerson relative to the taxation that was claimed from the Swanson Bay Pulp & Lumber Co., which was represented by Mr. Helgerson. It was pointed out in the letter that the taxes that were in arrears covered about three years and were not known to the agent. The city solicitor reported upon the situation as it was presented last evening at the council.

His report went to show that it was practically impossible to do anything in the matter now. The ordinary courts of revision had been held each year and there was no machinery for readjusting the matter now. The sum was placed at $3,515.41. This covered arrears for the years 1911, 1912 and 1913.

In one instance only was there any mistake made and that was with respect to the wharf property. Here during the time that Williams and Manson had been the agents, which agency had ended only a few months ago, there had been a wrong charge made on this part of the property owing to the fact that the charges were made for three times the space that was held by the company. By a mistake this still stood at the original amount. It should be reduced to the amount that was agreed with Williams and Manson when

WHITE'S PLANS TO FLY ACROSS THE ATLANTIC

Mr. Grahame White doesn't believe that the Atlantic Ocean will be flown this year, but he has an idea that such a thing is no longer visionary, and he is planning to attempt it in the summer of 1915. "I have already perfected a scheme," he says, "to build the necessary aeroplane, but I decline to discuss its construction, size or proposed horse power. I hope to use a British engine, and the only thing that so far has deterred me from making the attempt was the lack of support. The trip trip would take from forty to sixty hours and could be made without alighting for petrol. I expect to carry from three to six persons. The starting place is a moot point, but the landing should be made in New York."

Only a short time ago, Mr. White declared the feat virtually impossible at the present stage of aviation. He also was quoted as saying recently that it would take a triple hydroplane with four 250 horse-power engines, so that if one or even two stopped the flight would continue.

A. W. SMITHERS ADVISES TRIP HERE

The Chairman of the G.T.P. In Speech Gives Advice Relative to the G.T.P. Route---Official Pays Compliment to Canada as Field For Investment

The cable has told you doubtless of the great banquet held at Westerham, birthplace of General Wolfe. It was a great event both from the standpoint of the man who wants to honor the Empire's heroes, and from that of the man who wishes to contrast the Canada of that day with the Canada of today. There were many good speeches made at that banquet, but the general verdict is that one of the best was made by Mr. Alfred W. Smithers, the chairman of the board of the Grand Trunk Railway system, who drew a striking picture of the progress which has been made, and which is going to be made, by the great Dominion of Canada.

Mr. Smithers said in part:

I feel it is a great privilege to have been asked to take a part in honoring the memory of Wolfe. A citizen of the British Empire would be dull indeed who did not feel a thrill go through him when standing in Wolfe's native town, hearing witness to his memory, and within a stone's throw of the house in which he was born. I feel that thrill tonight, as I have felt it every time when I have stood on the Plains of Abraham and realised the scene of his great victory and heroic death. What a wonderful thing for our country that at that critical time in our history we should have had such a prime minister as the first great Pitt, and that he should have had the courage and the insight to appoint and wholly trust the supreme command of the expedition to Quebec to the young general whose memory we are celebrating tonight. What an opinion must Pitt have had of Wolfe's skill, his devotion, his courage, and his glorious spirit. But surely the great minister must have had anxious doubts as to whether the frail and often suffering body would stand the wear and tear of carrying out the tremendous task required of the young general. The great minister showed his sagacity and his faith, and the great soldier nobly repaid the trust placed in him by his skill, courage and resource. He gained a glorious victory, and in the moment of victory, died a glorious death, and as a result, a glorious country came under the rule of the British Crown. It is to the toast of that country of which Quebec was the key, and which is now known as the Dominion of Canada, that I am asked to reply tonight.

Results of Wolfe's Achievement.

So many eloquent tongues have discoursed on the beauties and resources of the Dominion that one

TRADE OF CITY IS ADVANCING RAPIDLY

Customs Returns for Month of January Indicates That This Port Is Making Remarkable Progress---Almost Six Times the Receipts That There Were Collected a Year Ago.

In every avenue by which the pulse of the commercial life of Prince Rupert and of this great country that is tributary to the port can be judged there is a most vigorous life manifested. The customs returns is one of the surest methods of testing the development in trade and this method of test for the month of January just passed is most gratifying.

While the receipts at the local office for January, 1913, were $6,566,-27, they jumped in January, 1914, to nearly six times that amount, reaching the sum of $37,421.59. This increase is certainly most gratifying. It is indicative of the tremendous work of opening up a new country like this as well as the increased demands for the general business of the territory that is represented by this port.

It may be urged that the customs returns for this month that has just passed were largely increased by the arrival in port of considerable steel for the drydock. While this did have its effect in no small measure, yet the returns show also that there has been a large increase in the general business. At the same time the steel shipments indicate an investment here on the part of the Grand Trunk Pacific which is to be permanent and which will assist in no small way to stimulate still further trade increases.

From now on these shipments of new material to be used in the permanent works in the city and the district will be ever increasing. There will also be arriving heavy machinery and equipment for the different industrial enterprises that are to be built up here. With this will come increased returns in the customs and a corresponding increase in the commercial business that is being done in this part. It is Prince Rupert's growing time.

GERMANS HAVE FORMED SOCIETY

THE VEREIN GERMANIA ORGANIZED HERE TO PROMOTE GOOD FELLOWSHIP.

Officers Have Been Elected in the Organization—Will Form Singing Society.

Prince Rupert is to have a fully equipped German society. There are in common with most of the places along the coast a number of German speaking residents of this city. In order to cultivate a better feeling of fellowship among the different residents it has been decided recently that there should be a society formed. Prince Rupert has now succeeded in having a Verein Germania organized in the city and it is hoped before long that this will develop into one of the most enthusiastic organizations that there is in this city.

For the purpose of organization a meeting was held in the Westholme Theatre when the following were elected as officers of the society:

President, George Werner; vice-president, P. Lorenzen; treasurer, R. Priegnitz; secretary, C. Ehling.

It is proposed to organize a singing society in connection with the Verein for the cultivation of good old German lieder entertainments of various sorts also projected in this connection.

Permanent quarters will be secured as soon as possible. All German or German-speaking residents of Prince Rupert who may wish to become members are invited to make application to any of the officers of the Verein.

PERJURY CHARGE BEING HEARD

JUDGE YOUNG IS HAVING EVIDENCE TAKEN IN CASE AGAINST McFARLANE.

The Old Slander Evidence Is Again Under Review to Some Extent.

Yesterday the greater part of the evidence in connection with the charge laid against L. W. McFarlane arising out of the McLeod- vs. McFarlane slander proceedings was heard. One witness remains to be heard this morning. The case is being tried as a speedy trial before Judge Young. W. E. Fisher appears for the Crown in the prosecution of the charge. L. W. Patmore is defending the accused.

A good part of the morning was taken up with the hearing of technical evidence relative to the first trial out of which this arises. W. E. Burritt as registrar gave evidence in this way. H. Graves, the stenographer at the trial, was also called and read from his notes various parts of the evidence. Alex Manson, the solicitor in the original action, also gave evidence. There were also examined H. M. Daggett and J. H. Rogers relative to what took place at different meetings of the parties concerned.

The informant in the case, R. J. Abbott, was on the stand for some time and was still on the stand when the case resumed in the afternoon. He told during cross-examination of his wife having some money borrowed from Mrs. McFarlane. They had paid it back and had borrowed money elsewhere for the purpose. To Mr. Patmore he would not admit that that was the start of the trouble between the Abbotts and the McFarlanes.

During his cross-examination, R. J. Abbott admitted to Mr. Patmore that he had been doing some spying upon Mr. McFarlane since the trial. He did not see all that he did. He would keep more than one man busy to keep track of McFarlane he said. He had rushed down from church to inform Alex Manson that McFarlane was leaving the city. He denied that he shouted across the street to M. J. McNeill that, "We have got the serpent at last."

Witness said that he laid the information against McFarlane in this case.

Mr. Abbott denied that he had "camped" in Alex Manson's office after the case giving information. He had been in the hall and the room adjoining in the court house when Mr. McFarlane was being examined as to his property. He might have been up there three times or only twice.

In reply to questions of Mr. Patmore, witness said that he had a brother here whom he introduced as Clark. He had said that McFarlane would meet that brother later. He had not said that the brother would beat his head off.

Witness said he had made statements that a woman had repeatedly gone into his house. He could prove that.

Rev. W. H. McLeod testified as to the conversation which he overheard between Rev. W. Scott and Mr. McFarlane in Mr. Scott's rooms. He told of hearing Mr. McFarlane say the hotel man had the stub of a

THE FISHERIES.

The organ of the Liberal party in the city has now turned its attention to the question of the fisheries of this coast. To do this requires, we would think, a good deal of trepidation. If ever a question was bungled by a government it was the fishery question on this coast by the Liberal government at Ottawa. We would be almost inclined to think that the government at Ottawa at that time had been trained as statesmen in a similar school to that which it is now said by the local organ is conducted in this province at the annual conventions of the Liberal party.

When the Conservative party came into power it found the whole of the fisheries of this northern coast in the hands of the Japanese. One of the first acts of the party was to right this state of affairs. It is true that the matter cannot be completely reormed at once. It required some time, but the Government is taking the means to right the injustice and the indignity that has been allowed to develop under Liberal rule. The time is coming when under the Conservative Government there will be no more Japanese engaged in the fishing industry. Under the Liberal rule there are not wanting evidences that the naturalization papers for the Japs under which they obtained their licenses were held in bulk, and issued to any Jap that was convenient, the Oriental taking the name of the particular paper. The Conservative Government is going to wipe out these Orientals in the fishing trade on this coast, and while this is being brought about pains are to be taken to see that only the right man gets the licenses that are issued. For this purpose a system of photographing the Japanese is to be followed and the photo attached to the naturalization paper.

The Liberal party may be good at passing resolutions and conducting the kindergartens for statesmen, but when it comes to getting down to real reforms it is the Conservative party that has to be looked to.

FATHER HOGAN.

In the passing of Rev. William Hogan of the Anglican Church there has been removed one of the most interesting characters on this coast. He was familiarly known as Father Hogan and the term seemed to fit him well. It was a rugged type of Christianity that constituted the life that this well-known missionary lived. It was essentially adapted for the frontier with none of the fine points that so often drive the ordinary man from the church. At the same time there was no compromising on the part of Father Hogan with the world. When occasion demanded it the missionary, as was often shown in practice, could "cast out devils" by physical force when it was found impossible to "convert sinners." He was, in spite of all, beloved by everyone. He was a physical giant with a strength that made him absolutely self-reliant at all times. He was a man well adapted for the special work that he had to carry out here on this coast. There were none that he could not meet with credit to himself. When rebuke was necessary it was given as from a father, when encouragement was necessary it was with the sympathy of a woman. In the death of the veteran missionary the church loses an eminently strong man for the task he had to perform.

DIVERS AFTER BODIES.

Norfolk, Va., Feb. 2.—A diver went down today in a choppy sea for the bodies sunk in the Dominion Liner Monroe. None came to the surface. It is felt that by diving is the only hope of finding any of the bodies pinioned in the wreck in 15 fathoms of water. If any bodies are found a special steamer will be sent for them.

On Municipal Committee.

W. Manson, M.P.P. for Skeena, is a member of the standing committee of the legislature on municipal matters.

Sent Wreath to Funeral.

The L. O. L. of this city sent a large wreath by the steamer Quadra this morning to show their respect for the late Rev. W. Hogan, of Masset. The deceased was a life-long Orangeman himself and the local order marked the occasion by paying this last tribute to his memory.

Called East.

There left last night on his way east G. A. McNicholl, the industrial and colonization commissioner of the Grand Trunk Pacific. Mr. McNicholl received a message only yesterday from headquarters requesting him to come east to Montreal on important business. He will be absent about a month it is expected, visiting Montreal and Ottawa in connection with business.

An Explanation.

In connection with the arrest of the two who go under the name of Tessier, it is be understood that they are in no way to be confused with George Tessier, proprietor of the Royal Pool Rooms, nor with his wife, who controls the Osborn House. Owing to the fact that the names given by those under arrest are the same as that borne by these well-known residents of the city there has been some danger that those who do not know the circumstances may become confused in the matter.

Miss Ethel Gray has gone to Seattle to take a further course in dancing.

G. B. Hull, Dominion Government engineer here, has gone east to Ottawa to confer with the public works department and with H. S. Clements, M.P., on matters affecting this district.

FOUGHT MOROCCO TRIBES.

Tetuean, Morocco, Feb. 2.—A hundred Moorish tribesmen fell in a stubbornly contested battle with Spanish troops at Benisalem. The Spanish report losses of 4 officers and 22 men killed and 4 officers and 116 men wounded.

CANNOT RECOGNIZE CLAIM.

The City Council Acting on Advice of Solicitor Refuses to Consider Any Damages Due.

The city council last evening refused to consider any claim for payment due on account of the death of the late Mr. Thomas. The claim was made through the law firm of Carss and Bennett and had been referred to Fred Peters, K.C., the city solicitor. The latter made a report last night in which he contended that the coroner's inquest showed that there was no negligence on the part of the city or any city official. The company that carried the insurance policy for the city was appealed to in the matter and refused to recognize any claim upon it. The time limit in any event had long ago expired and he could not see that the city could do anything.

The report of the solicitor was received and filed and the solicitor will be informed in the matter.

A. W. SMITHERS ADVISES TRIP

feels it is almost impossible to say anything new. Its climate, its prairies with their wonderful fertility, its forests, its lakes and mountains, and its mines have been so often described. Still, there are a few broad facts worth dwelling upon for a moment—calculated to bring out and emphasise the results of Wolfe's achievement.

When Wolfe took Quebec in 1759 the population of England was probably about 6,500,000, or 1,500,000 less than the population of Canada today. The population of Canada at the death of Wolfe must have been—barring the red man—only a few thousands. Today it is nearly, if not quite, 8,000,000, and the population of the United Kingdom, which was approaching 7,000,000 in 1759, is today 45,000,000.

So you see mother and child have grown wonderfully, and are still growing, and if they are true to the traditions of their race, and continue to pursue a broad and enlightened policy, will go on growing and prospering. For consider, all the prosperity of Canada, which has had such a marvellous growth during the last ten years, has all been derived from a mere fringe of the land capable of cultivation, and there are millions of acres untouched and capable of producing the finest wheat, oats, barley, and fruits with which to support, many times over, the population existing today. The great results to date have been achieved by the work and skill and enterprise of the Canadian people, and by the use of capital borrowed chiefly from the Motherland.

Canada Under Recent Strain.

There are some people today in this country, who in somewhat parrot fashion, are taking up the cry that Canada is going too fast. I do not think they realise that Canada has been going through a most difficult time for at least eighteen months, and that the crisis they talk of is to a great extent passed. In the full tide of a great development, Canada was caught like a ship carrying full sail in the storm of scarce and dear money, caused by war and apprehension of larger and wider war in Europe, and I say unhesitatingly she has stood the strain magnificently. I know of no country suddenly confronted by tremendous difficulties which has ever come through a difficult period so well.

Another cause of dear money has been that new countries of the world have been developed during the last ten or fifteen years as never before, and this has led to an immense development of trade, and consequently to an immense demand for capital. It may be necessary for the whole world to go slower, for a while till capital again accumulates, but under modern conditions and with a more peaceful outlook, that will soon happen, and I am confident that no country will take a longer or surer stride forward than the Dominion of Canada. As I have often said before, the world wants what Canada can best supply—not luxuries, remember, but food for the people—and there will be a continuous immigration into that country to break up the millions of acres yet untouched of some of the finest soil in the world. I have continuous applications from people wishing to go to Canada, and I ask them—do you wish to go on the land or into the cities? If they say the land, I say—if you are prepared to work, go by all means, and a good living and future independence await you. If to the cities, I say—the competition is as great there as in this country, and you must be specially equipped and fitted to make headway there as you must be here. And to all who go out I say—be adaptable; do as the Canadians do, and don't tell them how we do things in Kent or Surrey. Go out and be determined to be a willing learner to fit you for entirely new conditions.

A Word to the Holiday Maker.

May I say one word more, to the innumerable holiday makers who every year leave our shores for rest and recreation: Go to Canada. From London, Liverpool, Glasgow, Bristol and Southampton you can board a magnificent liner—a floating hotel—and in six or seven days you will find yourself at Quebec, Montreal, Halifax or St. John; and in the summer of next year you will be able to travel from Quebec by the Grand Trunk Railway, and the new Grand Trunk Pacific Railway to Prince Rupert on the Pacific Coast. You will be able to cross the Rocky Mountains with no more difficulty than you would experience if you were going from London to Edinburgh. You will see the magnificent scenery of the Rockies, with Mount Robson (13,700 feet) towering above all; the scenery of the rapid Fraser River; concluding the journey with 150 miles of the most glorious views of river and mountain scenery as you skirt on the railway the banks of the Skeena River into Prince Rupert. At Prince Rupert you will find a magnificent harbor, available in all weathers and all tides, and a well-equipped steamer—probably the Prince Rupert or Prince George—to take you through the inland passages forming some of the finest coast scenery in the world—all calm water, with never-ending vistas of mountains, valleys and water—for a distance of 500 miles to Vancouver. There you will find a great city and harbor, and another great railway—the Canadian Pacific—ready to bring you back over the Selkirks and the Rockies, again feasting your eyes on the most magnificent scenery. You will, on either railway, going both East and West, see the boundless prairies.

I hope I have not wearied you. I have tried to give you a bird's-eye view of the great Dominion with which it is my privilege to be connected. I urge my countrymen to go out there, and see things for themselves, and I am certain that the more intercourse increases between the peoples of Canada and the Motherland, the greater will be the prosperity to which both peoples will attain.

cheque connected with the charge that he (witness) had received $500 from an hotel man. It turned out later that Mr. Burgess was supposed to have it.

Mr. McFarlane had distinctly told Mr. Scott that an hotel man had called him (witness) in and told him of witness accepting a bribe. Later he had said it was Mr. Burgess who had told him this.

Mr. McLeod told of the conversation at the hotel. Mr. Burgess said he never saw the stub of the cheque. He did not recall Mr. McFarlane saying anything about the stub at the time.

At the trial witness said he recalled Mr. McFarlane saying that Mr. Burgess turned to Mr. McLeod (witness) in the room, saying, "McLeod, you got the money and you know it, and you've never said a word against gambling since."

Cross-examined by Mr. Patmore, witness said he took notes as to the conversation he overheard in Mr. Scott's room. He used those notes to refresh his memory that evening and the next morning. He had not the notes now. They might be somewhere about the house.

Witness said that during the conversation it was made clear that Mr. Farlane said that Mr. Burgess had said that he had seen the stub of the cheque. Witness said that Mr. Burgess in reply to his question had said, "If you got the money, Mr. McLeod, you would know it and nobody else."

C. Burgess, being sworn, testified that at the conversation at the hotel Mr. McLeod asked him if he thought the hotel men or the people believed that he (Mr. McLeod) got that money. Witness had replied that he could not answer that question. If he got the money, no one would know better than he (Mr. McLeod).

Witness could not recall anything being said about the stub. He did not call McFarlane in off the street to tell of this rumor.

Cross-examined, witness said that he did not know of McFarlane contradicting the statement that he had not been called in off the street. Witness did not remember any conversation with McFarlane as to McLeod not preaching against liquor.

Mrs. R. J. Abbott testified that she had been present on an occasion about April, 1912, when Mr. McFarlane said that Mr. McLeod was going up to Mrs. Robinson's every day.

Cross-examined, witness said that she had the clearest recollection that it was not said that he went up nearly every day, but that it was every day.

At 4 o'clock the court took a short adjournment awaiting the arrival of Rev. W. J. Scott from the steamer Princess Maquinna that had just arrived.

At 4:20 court resumed with Mr. Scott on the witness stand. He testified that Mr. McFarlane had told him that the hotel men had the stub of the cheque.

When they went down to the Royal Hotel, Mr. Burgess was very much pained that this had been spoken of at all. He had said that he had had it from Mr. Goodman that there was a cheque, but he (Mr. Burgess) had never seen it. Witness had a strong impression that at the trial McFarlane swore that Mr. Burgess had said that Mr. McLeod got the money.

Cross-examined, witness said that the impression was that the hotel men had the stub. He (witness) had got the impression that it was Mr. Burgess that had the stub, but Mr. McFarlane did not say so.

The attitude of Mr. Burgess at the meeting at the hotel was one of not believing in this. That was his impression.

An adjournment was taken at 4:35 until 5:15 in order to allow another witness, D. McLeod, to arrive from Smith Island.

Upon resuming an adjournment was asked until this morning at 10 o'clock, as the witness had not arrived.

WELL KNOWN PIONEER DIES

REV. WILLIAM HOGAN PASSED AWAY AT HIS HOME AT MASSET.

One of the Best Loved Missionaries in North Called to His Reward.

A wireless message received from the Queen Charlotte Islands on Sunday evening conveyed the sad intelligence to his friends here that Rev. William Hogan has passed away after a rather short illness. Well known all along the coast, "Father" Hogan, as he was more generally called, was a general favorite. He leaves a wife and one daughter.

Rev. William Hogan was born in Ireland over sixty years ago. He was educated in Trinity College, Dublin, and then became a schoolmaster in that city. Stirred to the call of missionary work, he arrived at Metlakatla in June, 1893, and was ordained deacon in the same year, and made a priest of the Church of England the following year by Bishop Ridley.

For five years he taught school at Metlakatla and helped in other church work, especially at Inverness Cannery during the summer time. In 1898 he went to Masset, and together with Mrs. Hogan, who often nursed the sick, did valuable work among the Haidas. In August, 1899, he went to Port Simpson, where he took charge of the work amongst the white people. For over ten years he labored there and through his warm-hearted Irish hospitality won hosts of friends, now scattered over the world.

In December, 1909, he returned to Masset and took up the work among the settlers in the northern half of Graham Island, as well as looking after the Haidas on the Indian Reserve. He took the keenest interest in the building of a new church in the new town and used to row his boat Sunday after Sunday to fill his appointments.

QUADRA GOING TO MASSET.

Miss Hogan Will Reach Her Home by the Dominion Government Vessel.

Miss Hogan, who had been called from Hazelton by the illness of her father, has been unable to reach him until by special permission the Canadian Government steamer Quadra was specially ordered to take her to Masset.

Miss Hogan started for the Queen Charlottes aboard a fishing steamer about an hour before the news arrived here of her father's death. The vessel was obliged to return, however, and Miss Hogan spent all day yesterday in the city, the guest of Bishop and Mrs. DuVernet.

Last evening in the Anglican Church, Bishop DuVernet paid a splendid tribute to the valuable services that had been rendered by Mr. Hogan. He referred to the fine feeling that had always existed between them in the church work.

Carried Mail.

A special mail was sent to Masset by the Canadian Government steamer Quadra last night when it was learned that she was making the trip to the Queen Charlotte Island point.

Hospital Meeting.

The first meeting of the Hospital Board for this year will be held today. It is expected that the officers for the ensuing year will then be selected and the committees named.

CONFERENCE ON WITH PREMIER

JOHN REDMOND AND AUGUSTINE BURRILL CLOSETTED WITH ASQUITH.

The Irish Leader May Be Only One to Pull Government Out of Position.

London, Feb. 2.—John Redmond and Augustine Burrill are closetted with Premier Asquith at the latter's official residence. It is understood that the Government has made another offer to conciliate Ulster before any heated debate in Parliament runs into flame.

An admittedly dangerous situation is said to exist. It is generally thought that John Redmond holds the key to the position. The Unionists say they would not be surprised to see Mr. Asquith riding for a fall before the Home Rule Bill has again been reached in case the Irish leader should refuse the concessions considered necessary by them.

ASSERTS HE IS SON OF LORD STRATHCONA

James H. Smith, of Boston, Asserts He Will Claim to Executors.

Asserting that he is the son of Lord Strathcona and Mount Royal, late high commissioner for Canada, James H. Smith, of Brookline, Mass., will take steps, it is said, to obtain recognition of his interest in the vast estate. Mr. Smith refused to talk about it, but his wife said sounsel had been engaged to represent him in presenting his claim to the executors of Lord Strathcona. Mrs. Smith added that no court action would be begun unless friendly overtures were without avail. She declared there was no doubt that her husband was the legal son of Lord Strathcona.

"He is a full brother of Mrs. Margaret Charlotte Howard, of London, who is recorded as Lord Strathcona's daughter and heir," she said. "Mr. Smith was in constant communication with his father."

Splendid Team.

The Imperial Oil Company has a magnificent team of horses now in use in this city. The intention is to have a complete outfit shortly.

QUESTION OF TAX ARREARS

The finance committee agreed with the report and reported upon its adoption. This the council did.

POLITICAL UNREST IN THE OLD LAND

CHIEF PARLIAMENTARY CORRESPONDENT OF UNIONISTS GIVES UP POSITION.

General Trouble Brewing in Connection With the Political Parties.

London, Feb. 2.—A. P. Nicholson, for many years chief parliamentary correspondent of the Unionist party, claims to have given up his position because he is unable to accept certain methods which members of that party in parliament are adopting. These include the plans for calling in a campaign against the Government.

Mr. Nicholson has gone temporarily to the Daily News. Writing on the Unionist plans, this may likely stir up considerable unrest in political circles. The Unionists, according to him, have circulated agents throughout the country to be ready for a general election in May. It is intimated here that it is the intention of the Unionists to bring about a dissolution by creating disorders in the House or in some other way.

Parliament will meet next week for its third session. Under the Parliamentary Act if the session is brought to an untimely end the two years work which the Liberal party has spent so much time on, such as the Home Rule Bill, which the Lords refused to assent to, will be fruitless. If the present parliament is dissolved during the course of the forthcoming session the Government even if returned to power will have to begin in Parliament and proceed all over again.

ON SERIOUS CHARGE.

Furriers Will Have to Answer in Police Court for Alleged Disorderly House.

The city police have under arrest George Tessier and Clara Tessier, who have been connected with the furrier on Third Avenue. The pair this morning will have to answer to a charge of conducting a disorderly house on Second Avenue, where they lived.

For some time, in fact ever since their arrival in the city, there have been suspicions on the part of the police that all was not as it should be. An eye has been kept on the place and Sunday night they made a raid on the quarters with the result that the two whose names are given were placed under arrest. The woman is out on bail, but the man remains in the cells. They will be charged with drinking and other offenses.

ALEX. TURNBULL WARDEN.

Mr. Alex Turnbull, former lacrosse star, received word from the Provincial Secretary's Department several days ago of his appointment as warden of the Provincial Jail at New Westminster, in succession to J. D. Brymner, who will be superannuated.

The appointment becomes effective on February 1. Mr. A. McKercher, next in seniority to Mr. Turnbull, becomes head jailer. Mr. Turnbull has been in the service of the department for fifteen years, during which time he has rendered a good account of himself.

Mr. Brymner has been on sick leave from his duties for some time past.
